Pooch polling grates police

By M.B. Dillon Ward
staff writer

Canton's pooch population is causing elephantine problems with township police.

The patrol officers' union, objecting to the fact that assigned reserve officers are conducting a dog census, last week obtained an order to show cause from Wayne County Circuit Court.

"We feel it's an unfair labor practice by the employer violating the whole spirit of the contract. The job should be done by animal control officers and part of our unit. We don't want people coming from outside," said Jerry Radovic, business agent for the Police Officers' Association of Michigan (POAM), representing Canton.

Canton's patrol officers currently are working without a contract. Negotiations are ongoing.

The long-discussed canine tally got under way July 11 in an attempt to recoup what Police Chief Jerry Cox estimates to be $40-$50,000 in lost annual revenue. Only about 600 of the township's approximate 12,000-15,000 dogs are licensed, he said.

The union action took Cox by surprise.

"I don't really know where their big problem is. No one has expressed it to me. I feel the township's position is sound," the chief said.

According to Cox, the department "has not violated the contract in terms of its intentions, nor have we done anything in conflict with what we've discussed over the last six to eight months."

"The issue has gone before the township board on several occasions, and at no time did the union express concern or any objection at all."

DESIGNATING RESERVISTS to survey all 19,000 Canton residences isn't allowed by the contract, maintains Radovic.

Management has the right to schedule reserves as long as "full-time certified employees are called and used first for overtime and call-in time" when special events arise. A full-time employee is exempt from overtime only after completing 20 overtime hours in a week's time, he added.

Furnace explodes Blaze injures 1

A 32-year-old Canton man suffered second degree burns over 50 percent of his body Friday when the gasoline he was using to clean his kitchen floor seeped into ducts leading to the furnace — causing the furnace to explode, the Canton Fire Department said.

Bakor Ghelani of Pointe Drive was rushed to St. Mary's Hospital and then transferred to the University of Michigan Burn Clinic in Ann Arbor Friday afternoon. He was listed in fair condition later that day.

Ghelani was trying to clean the floors after removing the kitchen carpet when the fumes from the gasoline he was using seeped into the cold air duct and caused the furnace to explode, firefighters said.

A neighbor, who did not want to be identified, said she heard the explosions and saw Ghelani run from the house.

"His hair was still on fire," she said. "He asked me to take him to the hospital. I called the fire department and I couldn't talk fast enough. My mind was going fast but I couldn't talk fast enough."

The witness said she was visiting a neighbor when she heard two loud explosions. She went to the window to see what happened.

"I looked and said, 'Oh my God,'" she said. "I saw black smoke coming from the house and he ran over to me."

"I finally got him to lay in the shade by a tree."

The two-story colonial received extensive interior damage, firefighters said.

Chat leads to help for handicapped

A lot of ideas are conceived as friends exercise their elbows while conversing over coffee or cool drinks and enjoying each other's company.

Not too many of the ideas hatch. Handicapped young people in Michigan can be glad that Canton's Franz A. Brenner, a member of Plymouth Elks Lodge No. 1780, BPOE, has worked to make a thought he shared with a college friend become reality.

The Elks Club, an all-male, non-profit organization, has long been a friend to youth and the sick, donating funds for summer camps and scholarships, and gifts for the hospitalized. Money is raised primarily through meals served at Elks lodges throughout the country.

"We pride ourselves on giving scholarships to regular kids who are excellent students," said Brenner, a Livonia insurance agent.

"It occurred to us that nothing is done for the special needs kids — those with speaking and hearing disabilities — and the mentally impaired."

"After these kids graduate from high school, federal and state funds and Social Security dry up."

After some checking, Brenner was amazed to discover how little the handicapped are helped by the Lions, Shriners, Rotary and other service groups.

Making some contacts and completing some paper work at the lodge and state levels was all it took for Brenner and the Elks to establish the Gold Key Scholarship for high school seniors.

Sponsored by the Plymouth Lodge,

Livonia Churchill High School graduate Kelly Joyce Otter and Richard Rettinger from northern Michigan recently became the first recipients of the award. Otter, whose hearing impairment requires her to lip read and wear two hearing aids, will use her $2,000 renewable scholarship to attend the University of Michigan. She'll pursue a psychology degree this fall.

Rettinger has a learning disability that prevents him from reading well. He'll attend Ferris State College to study certified mechanics.

The Elks in Michigan this year are granting scholarships to 71 financially qualified students — contributions valued at $72,900. Several seniors from

Man faces drug charge

A 20-year-old Taylor resident was charged with possession of LSD after being arrested July 13 for shoplifting in Meijer's Thrifty Acres, on Ford Road in Canton, police said.

Gary Earl Chambers was arrested and taken to the Canton police station where he began choking. Police said they recovered a small, brown glass vial which contained 75 small pills, according to the report.

The pills were taken to the Michigan

State Police crime lab and found to contain LSD.

Chambers was arraigned on July 14 before Judge Dunbar Davis and pleaded not guilty, police said. He was held in lieu of $5,000 cash bond.

Possession of LSD is a felony punishable by up to four years in prison or $2,000 fine or both.

Chambers was initially arrested for allegedly stealing chrome lug nuts, police said.

IN PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP the fire department responded to 14 reports of fallen wires, Fire Chief Larry Groth said.

Likewise the township called in all its fire personnel to monitor the lines, which caused only minor fires such as a wooden fence, Groth said.

Representatives from the Detroit Edison Co. couldn't be reached Friday for comment on the number of residents without power due to the storm. Power supposedly was lost in several subdivisions due to falling limbs hitting power lines.

In all three communities, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton, the civil defense sirens were activated to warn residents of the National Weather Service's tornado warning.

The sirens are sounded when a funnel cloud has been spotted in the area. They are not sounded for a tornado watch, as well as "all clears."

The second blast of the sirens heard Thursday indicated an extension of the tornado warning.

Pilot Jabara recounts moments before crash

By W.W. Edger staff writer

Suppose you were flying with friends in a single engine plane at an altitude of 6,000 feet and all of a sudden the engine stopped. How would you feel?

Well, that's the predicament that Jim Jabara was in recently on his way to Ohio. For a few seconds we just couldn't believe the engine had stopped," Jabara said in recalling the experience. "It always had worked well before and there was no warning of its failure.

"We had nothing to do but glide down in the hot weather. And that kind of weather isn't conducive to ordinary flying."

Was he, or his friends, afraid with the thought that the crash could be fatal?

"I was too busy to be frightened," Jabara said, "I got to work with my copilot to get ready for anything that might happen."

"ALL MY life I have been an optimist and this was a time when that feeling came in handy. I just got the feeling that we were going to land safely. Even when we hit the ground and hit the trees, and lost both wings of the plane, I was still the optimist."

That attitude helped a bit for when the group landed all the damage Jabara had to show for the crash was a few scratches on his cheek and head.

He was more fortunate than Nat Sibbold, the radio man from Battle Creek, who suffered a damaged back. None the worse for wear, Sibbold is back on the job, though wearing a brace on his back. But, as he put it, "I'm still hobbling around."

from the airport that was its destination when the engine "died."

"WE WERE just delighted with the trip up to then," Jabara said, "and were planning on what we would do after we checked out of the airport."

"No one ever expected any untoward incident to happen. Then came the silence of the engine. At first we couldn't believe it. But there was nothing we could do but hope. And that's what we did. We hoped we would land without any serious injury."

"Even when we lost the wings there was no fear of serious injury, and death was far from our minds."

When his listener remarked, "You were lucky," Jabara smiled a bit and answered, "Not lucky, the whole thing was a miracle."

'Tiger Town' hits home an upbeat theme

By Carol Azizian staff writer

CEHEV KEVORKIAN whirrs into his cluttered hotel room/office, picks up one of four lines ringing simultaneously, lights a cigarette and listens.

"My sources from all the UAWs are coming through," he responds, in a rapid-fire conversation. "I'm on it. I'm on it. Things are looking fine."

Sporting a baseball shirt, shorts and jogging shoes, the casually dressed second unit producer of the movie "Tiger Town" then races around the room, handing out "Pennant Day" tickets to film buffs and just plain Detroit folks eager to appear in a crowd scene.

Kevorkian, a former Lathrup Village resident, flew in from Los Angeles to orchestrate "Pennant Day" — the grand finale of the much-heralded film "Tiger Town."

He has just convinced head honchos from the UAW to round up auto workers to fill sections of the Tiger Stadium stands.

"Local UAWs have been extremely cooperative in helping me organize a scene with 6,000 people in this city and allow them to see how a Hollywood production works."

A FORMER industrial filmmaker and director in Detroit, Kevorkian believes the city has unlimited movie-making potential.

"Detroit's a great place to make movies. It has untapped resources — locations that have never been on film, talented actors and experienced crews."

"It was Kevorkian who provided producer Susan Landau with names of Detroit movie crews he's worked with on previous films.

The high-energy Beverly Hills, Calif. resident — now in-house producer for Alex Karras and Susan Clark's company, Georgian Bay — was the associate producer for the television production "Jimmy B and Andre" and "Word of Honor," both filmed in the Detroit area.

"Although Los Angeles and New York natives make up the majority of starting roles and top crew spots in "Tiger Town," most of the supporting cast and crew are from the Detroit area.

"The film — shot entirely in Detroit — will premiere on cable TV's Disney Channel in early October, to coincide with the World Series. Local affiliates airing the movie include Booth Communications in Birmingham and Omnicon in Plymouth.

"It's a fascinating film about a child's impression of the adult world," Kevorkian said.

"Trying to recreate the excitement of the Tigers winning the pennant is very challenging."

Kevorkian's enthusiasm is shared by cast and crew alike. Perhaps the most enthusiastic of all its supporters is the film's writer/director Alan Shapiro.

AN AVID baseball fan, the 25-year-old Los Angeles resident spent the first 15 years of his life in Detroit and then Bloomfield Hills, where he attended Anover High School.

"It's an extremely affectionate and loving film about the Detroit Tigers," said Shapiro, who hopes his first big movie will put him in the major leagues.

"I've always wanted to do a baseball movie. When I thought about baseball, I thought of the Tigers — a team that hadn't won a pennant since 1945.

"I thought about an over-the-hill former great and I remembered my childhood hero — Al Kaline."

Kaline, like the fictional movie character Billy Young — played by Roy Scheider — broke into the big leagues in 1954, but didn't realize his ultimate dream of winning a pennant until 1968.

Shapiro, just like the ballplayer's devoted fan, 11-year-old Alex, is a baseball nut.

"I've always been a major Tiger fan," he said, adjusting his Tiger baseball cap.

"Most of the people in this town got wrapped up in the '68 World Series. I wanted them to win so desperately."

Shapiro recalled, "I thought that if I sat in a certain way, I could will them to win."

THAT'S EXACTLY what Alex — played by Justin Henry — does in the movie version.

Alex's love of baseball has been nurtured by his father, "a gentle man with a bad heart" who frequently takes his son to Tiger games. When Alex's hero, Billy Young, strikes out at a home game, his father consoles him. If you really believe, his father says, there's always hope and you'll be able to make something happen.

After Alex's father dies, the boy directs all of his energy toward helping his baseball hero win the pennant. By concentrating on the ballplayer and wishing hard enough, Alex believes he has power over Billy's performance.

Sneaking into the Tiger locker room, Alex leaves a note for the aging ballplayer: "You can do it, Billy. You've just got to believe."

"This is a very positive film," stressed producer Susan Landau. "It's a simple story about believing and hoping."

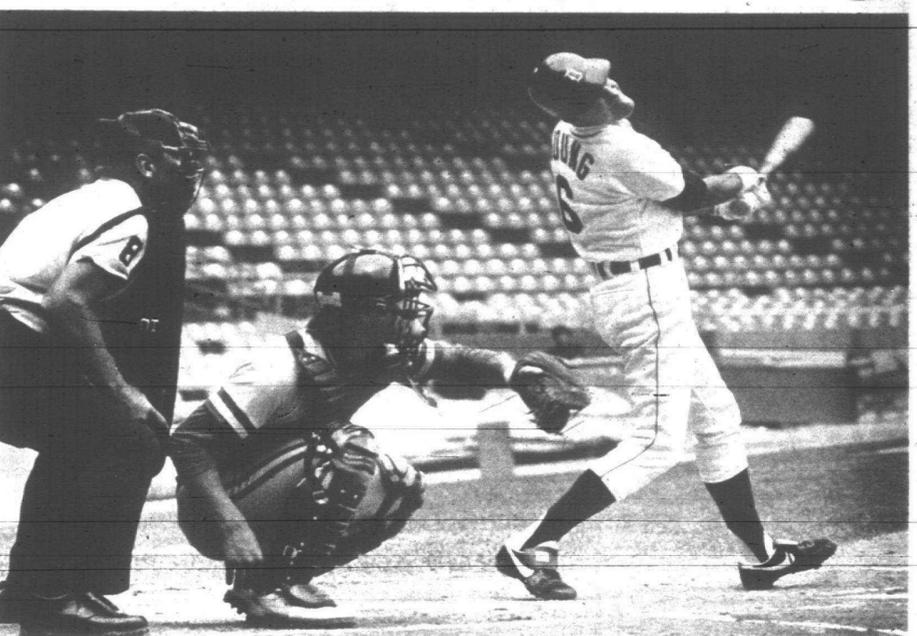

"There are no new twists in this story," she added. "It has a happy ending. Characters change and grow."

"But every kid who sees the film will feel something. They'll learn that by thinking and working, they can make something happen."

LANDAU, a New Yorker, is a "fanatical baseball fan" who believes nothing could be greater than making a movie about baseball.

"I'd like to see it. I was trying to find a movie to do together," she recalled. "As soon as he mentioned baseball, that was it."

She approached Scheider, another baseball nut, and got the ball rolling.

Roy Scheider (above) grimaces as he swings and misses the ball during the filming of a scene for "Tiger Town" at Tiger Stadium. At right, Chev Kevorkian fields phone calls in his hotel room. "Things are looking fine," he tells a caller.

The Plymouth-Canton school district has been awarded scholarships worth $5,000 for each of four years.

IT'S LIKELY Brenner's Gold Key award soon will catch on among other states' Elks lodges and be given to handicapped children nationwide.

Canton was the site of the Elks' recent Hoop Shoot contest, in which one million youth take part throughout the country each year. Sharpshooting free throwers win a $1,000 first prize — which they may spend as they please.

Children with diabetes and speech and hearing impairments who live in the Plymouth-Canton area also have a friend in the Elks. Diabetic children are enjoying complimentary stays this

Canine counting upsets cops

Assigning patrol or animal control officers to conduct the census would have cost too much, Cox says.

"We planned to use reserves primarily because we don't have a sufficient number of sworn officers. We would have had to do it (the census) on an overtime basis, which would have pushed the cost up to $15 an hour," he said.

Reservists are earning $3.82 hourly. "It also would have depleted our resources and manpower by working people 15 hours a day on an extended basis."

A show cause hearing will be scheduled before Wayne County Circuit Judge Robert J. Colombo pending a determination by the Michigan Employment Relations Commission.

People whose dogs are found to be unlicensed will be issued a violation. If, within 15 days, they fail to acquire a $5 license from the township clerk (proof of vaccination against rabies is required), the court will be notified.

"The court has been asked not to accept pleas of guilty until and unless a person has acquired a (dog) license and vaccination," said Cox.

Maximum penalty for the misdemeanor infraction is a $500 fine or 90 days in jail, or both.

Though annual dog censuses are required by law, this marks Canton's first.

"Since 1979 when I began monitoring this, we've lost up to $50,000 a year, which is what it costs for animal sheltering, licensing, pick ups and responding to animal-related requests and dog bites," he said.

SAVING THE ROOTS
When dentures are needed, any supporting bone in the gums can help make them fit more comfortably. This includes whatever tooth roots can be saved. They act just like pilings do in supporting a building.
Sometimes metal attachments are made for dentures and roots, so they can connect together. Or a thin, shaped metal cover is attached to the root, designed so that it fits into the denture for additional support. Saving the roots helps in other ways. Some people lose their sense of feel when their teeth are closed because they've lost all of their roots and surrounding nerve fibers. When some roots are retained, they keep this sense of touch when their teeth are in contact.
There is another advantage: It helps prevent further loss of bone by reducing wear on the jawbone itself. Because of this stronger support, the dentures not only fit better, they tend to last longer before they have to be refitted.
Just like whole teeth, however, the health of the roots must be maintained as long as possible. This makes regular checkups even more important for denture wearers whose roots have been saved.

You've heard that before ... perhaps even said it yourself. It's easy to ignore the minor ache or pain, just as it's easy for your chiropractor to treat the minor ache or pain. However, let the pain persist and worsen, and your healing process becomes more difficult. That increasing pain is a signal that the condition is gradually degenerating into a severe ailment. Residents speaking out on group home issue

The Michigan Court of Appeals has ruled that there should be no limit placed on the number of group homes for the mentally ill located in one community.

I agree with the court's decision. If more people would give their time to understand and possibly help these people they might find that there is a great satisfaction giving of themselves to others in need.

homes being in Canton or anywhere else for the mentally retarded. From what I know and what I've heard they've caused no problems and it's probably given them a lease on life that they couldn't have gotten at Northville, which is probably the only other place in our community that houses these people.

handicapped and disabled people does not overburden our communities resources or cause undue harm to our neighborhoods. Canton doesn't place a limit on the number of ethnic or racial minorities living in the community nor does it place a limit on single parent families which become part of our community.

living together in regulated environments as families within our community. I do not agree with the decision. I think that homeowners should have some rights also. There are so many homes vacant in Canton that you have no chance selling your home at all if you have one in your neighborhood.

Michigan should stop sleeping on this issue and get it resolved, and I say democratically — by vote. Put it on a ballot. I think that if the state continues to solve problems undemocratically Michigan will not be a very nice state to live in.

Yes, I do agree with the court's decision. I feel all people have the right to live where they want to. I don't mind a group home in my neighborhood because we do have one and I feel that they have done as much good, if not more for our community, for our own area where they are. And I'm very much for group neighborhood homes.

I agree with the court's decision. I managed a group home in Canton and had the opportunity to learn of the value and great need for these homes. I would not mind if one were located right next to me.

Odds against SEMTA's tax

SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN Transportation Authority officials are in the midst of public hearings on the proposed 1990 transportation network.

SEMTA drumbeaters have to sell the Legislature on putting the issue on the ballot. So far the Legislature has ignored the issue while waiting for the public to simmer down following the income tax increase.

Bob Wisler

Whatever the value of public transit, SEMTA's chance of winning voter approval of a tax increase falls somewhere between the chance of the Detroit Lions winning the NFL football championship and Wayne County's employees throwing a testimonial dinner for County Executive William Lucas.

OAKLAND COUNTY has taken advantage of SEMTA's precarious position to wring some concessions out of SEMTA regarding transportation in that area.

At the heart of the matter is the mistrust of doing any kind of traveling to Detroit or through Detroit, a xenophobic view of that city as a place to avoid.

SEMTA HAS been in trouble ever since Ronald Reagan took over as president. Before Reagan, the federal government was willing to underwrite half the cost of operating public transit.

Many Oakland officials feel that the county should be getting quid pro quo — each dollar of taxpayer funds put into the SEMTA system should go back to Oakland County in the way of services.

It is much like people whose children have grown up refusing to approve funds for schools which will no longer serve their children. Public transportation, they say, is not their problem.

Despite a number of cutbacks in employees and services, SEMTA is facing big trouble. Even before going to the voters, AT THE HEART of the antipathy toward SEMTA is the plan for a light-rail rapid transit line from Detroit to

As one Oakland County resident said at a SEMTA hearing recently, every family she knows has at least two cars, so who needs a transportation system? Besides the commuters served during rush hour, the system serves mostly the elderly and poor people without cars.

One of the most valuable lessons she taught him came shortly after his father passed away. We had been a tight-knit little family and now the leader was gone and Mother faced the gigantic problem of carrying on without him.

Learning parents' lessons

NOT ALL the lessons that The Stroller learned as he traveled along life's highway are those he was taught in school.

It was designed with the help of Ford Motor Co. engineers. Costs of the program were underwritten by the No. 2 automaker.

Associates Dean of Engineering Edward Fisher said the program was worked out with Ford to help industry meet the increasing technology challenges of foreign competition.

the stroller W.W. Edgar

Of times those that have proved most helpful were those that were taught at his mother's knee or in quiet chats with his father.

On another occasion The Stroller's father sent him alone to the county fair a few miles away in the city. He was given full instructions as to where to get the street car for the return ride home and the time he was expected.

After an enjoyable day at the fair, he took the street car at the appointed time and returned just as he was told.

At the heart of the matter is the mistrust of doing any kind of traveling to Detroit or through Detroit, a xenophobic view of that city as a place to avoid.

It was common practice then for the men of the town to take a walk downtown to get the scores and to sit at the counter enjoying a piece of pie and a glass of milk.

These are the kind of lessons one isn't taught in school and, oftentimes, they are the most important in life.

To 'catch up' programs U-M Dearborn tuition hiked 9%

The University of Michigan Board of Regents has approved a 9-percent increase in student fees for U-M Dearborn, effective with the fall semester.

that the increase in student fees will generate $643,000 in new revenue for the 1983-84 fiscal year.

considerable loss of interest, through delayed release of funds, plus the increased cost of nearly everything to run a campus cannot be overcome by a single 8.5-percent increase, Jenkins said.

We probably could have lowered it," the Chancellor added. Jenkins said that the additional revenue will allow U-M-D to pay faculty and staff an average 5-percent salary increase, the same as the other two U-M campuses.

Regents approved a request to increase U-M undergraduate student fees from $764 per semester to $833 per semester (full-time, in-state).

Graduate fees also will increase from $814 to $887 (full-time, in-state).

THE CHANCELLOR said a primary task will be to continue the trend begun this year of reducing the rate of increasing costs for tuition.

"We must do whatever we can to persuade our legislators that too much of the cost of their education (46.7 percent for 1983-84) has been passed on to students," Jenkins said.

In addition, undergraduate students students electing 15 hours or more will pay an additional $39 per semester based on a reorganization of the fee structure approved by regents earlier this year.

The 9-percent increase corresponds to a 9.5-percent increase for U-M's Ann Arbor campus and an 8.6-percent increase for U-M's Flint campus.

"Seven executive orders (budget reduction and delays in funding) and congressional action will be necessary to meet the budget deficit this year.

The budget according to Jenkins, also includes an 18-percent, or $75,000, increase in student financial aid.

Automotive engineering

WSU has new degree program

Wayne State University will introduce a new interdisciplinary master's degree program in automotive engineering this fall.

"America's engineering workforce has not been trained in computer-based technology," said Plaster. "Even engineers out of school only a few years were trained for what is not antiquated technology, particularly with respect to computer applications.

WSU faculty participating are from the Departments of Computer Science, Computer Engineering and Mechanical Engineering.

Registration set at U-D

The University of Detroit will hold fall-term registration Wednesday, Aug. 31, to Friday, Sept. 2, in Calihan Hall on the U-D McNichols Road campus in Detroit.

SUMMERTIME...AND THE GRILLING IS EASY

Serve Wild Rice Tomato Salad Stars and Simply Special Wild Rice Salad with succulent duckling, for an easy, elegant barbecue. Even cleanup is hassle-free, thanks to the unique One Touch system now found on Weber Barbecue Kettles®, that sweeps away accumulated ashes without a mess.

Everyone loves a barbecue, and when the weather's warm, most everything tastes better cooked over the coals. At the start of the season the standard items are paraded out to sizzle temptingly on the grill, but as the summer barbecue days wear on, enthusiasm for these predictable menus wears off.

This year when you light up the coals, expand your barbecue horizons with succulent duckling and elegant Oriental Long Grain and Wild Rice accompaniments. They're far from the usual barbecue fare, but just as easy to serve.

Duckling has always been a popular restaurant menu choice, so it's no wonder that at-home use of duckling is becoming more widespread. Cooks everywhere are discovering its pleasing affordability, versatility, and ease of preparation.

Duckling can grill outdoors virtually unwatched for the greater part of its cooking time, if it's cooked in a barbecue kettle. With the cover in place, flames cannot flare, and the charcoal burns evenly. The duckling cooks quickly, without turning, and comes out moist, tender, and with a fantastic flavor. Because duckling requires so little preparation before grilling in a covered barbecue kettle, serving it is almost like a day off for the cook.

Always the preferred accompaniment for duckling, long grain and wild rice provides a welcome menu addition to any barbecue meal. Serve prepared according to package directions, or combined with seasonal vegetables for a great-tasting side dish to be kept warm on the grill. For a very new special-effect menu enhancer, Original Long Grain and Wild Rice is unequalled as the starting point for cool, refreshing, make-ahead salads. The 23 carefully selected herbs and spices which have made this rice mix so popular as a hot accompaniment are just as flavorful when chilled for a savory salad. Teamed with crunchy, colorful vegetables and a light dressing, the chewy, nutty-flavored wild rice-long grain white rice combination provides an exciting new-dimension salad experience year 'round.

When duckling is on the barbecue menu, plan ahead to grill an extra one for a "trendy" duckling-long grain and wild rice salad later in the week. Try it one of two ways, as you prefer: use the meat from a whole duckling, or serve only the meaty breasts from the grill, saving the remainder of two ducklings for the salad. Either way, Wildly Delicious Duckling Salad is sure to enhance your reputation as a creative cook, and no one need know what a breeze it was to prepare.

EASY KETTLE BARBECUED DUCKLING

- Center an aluminum drip pan, about 18 x 12 x 2-inches on charcoal grill. Drip pan may be made of heavy duty aluminum foil.
- Place an equal number of charcoal briquettes (see chart) on each side of drip pan. Coals should not touch pan.
- Remove drip pan. Ignite charcoal. Leave cover off until coals have a light coating of gray ash, about 30 minutes. Make sure both sides are burning evenly. Replace drip pan.
- Position cooking grill in kettle with handles directly over coals.
- Wash thawed ducklings and dry with paper toweling. Sprinkle body and neck cavities with salt. Place breast side up on cooking grill, directly over drip pan.
- Cover kettle and cook with all drafts open about 2 hours or until drumstick meat is tender, adding additional charcoal briquettes to each side of drip pan (see chart) after 1 hour of cooking.

But lem'n limes aren't selling

2-tone fruit a perfect blend

When I first saw the two-tone fruit piled high in a grocery bin several years ago, I was momentarily stunned. I picked up a couple, looked them over like a new toy, glanced at the sign in disbelief, dropped them and walked on.

Unfortunately, Herman Lucerne has had that kind of luck trying to win over the public to his freak of nature.

In 1971, the South Florida grower stumbled on the fruit in the rotting tangle of a lemon patch in the research area where he was attempting to develop a lime with an extended shelf life.

Lucerne walked over to what he believed was a healthy, deep green, Persian lime tree. "But when I cut one of the limes open, it had the texture of a lemon."

CLOSER EXAMINATION revealed that the roots of a "rough lemon" tree and the lime tree had fused, trying to survive drought conditions that had decimated much of the citrus crop.

The lem'n lime was born.

Lucerne air-grafted 100 new plants from the mother tree and began cultivating them. "It was amazing. The cuttings started to bloom and some bore fruit the first year."

"We have a hearty, thin-skinned fruit that is much juicier than either a lemon or a lime," Lucerne explains. "The lem'n lime can be used in place of either fruit and the taste is very similar to the lime."

However, the lem'n lime is not as tart as a lime nor as sour as a lemon.

Since Lucerne was granted a patent in 1973, the patch to success has been clogged with thorns.

A DEAL with a major soft drink company to purchase 100,000 cuttings to promote its lemon-lime drink fell through. Dreams of steady markets in major U.S. cities failed to materialize. Without those major markets, for the last several years much of the lem'n limes were unpicked, preventing many new buds from maturing properly on 500 acres of trees.

Most lem'n limes are sold outside Florida because, according to merchandiser Nick Turmes Jr., "produce people here say it looks like the lime since they can't see any real difference, why try it."

"It's rather funny. We sell so many to New York and even Japan."

The fruit also is shipped to buyers in Texas, Colorado, Ohio, Massachusetts, Mississippi and Canada.

But Lucerne isn't giving up. "We need several more years under commercial conditions to be sure what they'll do."

Consumers unable to purchase lem'n limes can do a little blending of their own, thanks to the faithful lemon and the prolific lime.

LEMON-LIMEADE
1/2 cup lemon juice, about 2 lemons
1/2 cup lime juice, about 2 limes
1/2 tsp. grated lemon peel
1/2 tsp. grated lime peel
1/2 cup sugar

Combine all ingredients in small jar with lid. Cover, shake well and store in refrigerator until serving time. Yields about 1 1/4 cups. Drop half-dozen ice cubes in tall glass, add 1/4 cup lemon-limeade base after shaking and pour in 1/4 cup cold water. Stir and drink up.

LEMON-LIME FRENCH DRESSING
1/2 cup olive oil
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup lime juice
1 tsp. white vinegar
1 tsp. honey
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. paprika
1/4 tsp. dried ground marjoram
pinch of cayenne pepper

Combine all ingredients in small jar with lid. Cover, shake vigorously until blended and refrigerate until ready to use. Yields about 1 1/4 cups. Shake well before using. Especially good on avocado salads.

Cool choice: apricot mousse

Light and refreshing as a summer breeze, rich and satiny smooth is this Apricot Mousse pie made with apricot flavored brandy.

APRICOT MOUSSE PIE
1 tbs. unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
3 eggs, separated
1 can (14 oz.) apricots, drained and chopped
1/2 cup apricot flavored brandy
1/2 cup sugar

9-inch graham cracker crumb pie crust

Dissolve gelatin in cold water. In top of double boiler, beat egg yolks and cook until thick. Remove from heat and add chopped apricots, apricot brandy and dissolved gelatin. Cool mixture to room temperature.

Whip egg whites with sugar until stiff and fold in mixture. Pour into pie crust and chill. Pipe border of whipped cream and garnish with apricots, if desired.

Cool off with iced coffee

It's summertime and the livin' is busy, with sports, parties and activities for the entire family.

When the heat's on, cool off with rich, robust coffee... on ice. Nothing beats the summer treat like a cold, tall glass of iced coffee. It's tasty, refreshing and, enjoyed "basic black," is also low in calories. Furthermore, it's easy to make.

Whether you choose brewed or instant coffee, the secret to full-bodied iced coffee is to make it stronger than you normally do for hot coffee. For ground coffee, brew it double strength, using 2 tablespoons of coffee and 1/4 measuring cup (6 fl. oz.) of fresh water for each serving. Pour the hot coffee into tall ice-filled glasses.

For delicious instant iced coffee, put one rounded teaspoon of instant coffee in the bottom of a tall glass. Using a small amount from one cup of cold water, dissolve the coffee thoroughly. Then gradually add the rest of the water, stirring well. Add ice and cream and sugar, if desired.

HERE'S MORE good news: iced coffee can be the basis for many different and creative beverage variations.

Relax at poolside with an iced coffee float. Simply place a scoop of your favorite flavor ice cream in a tall glass of iced coffee and garnish with a cherry, fresh fruit spear or chocolate shavings.

Top off your next dinner party with iced coffee laced with an assortment of your guests' favorite cordials. Garnish with whipped topping for a fitting finale to a sultry summer evening.

Why not add a little spice to your life? Add a dash of cinnamon to hot, brewed coffee, then pour over ice. A dollop of whipped topping finishes off your version of iced cappuccino. Try serving it with an artfully arranged platter of fresh summer fruit for a delightful treat any time of the day or night.

SUMMERTIME, and neighbors are heading in all directions. Shelly Breda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Breda of Academy Court, Plymouth, attended a ballet conference at Michigan State University. Shelly was among the more than 200 ballet students from across the country who joined the 12nd annual Cecchetti Ballet Conference this month at M.S.U.

The dancers received rigorous instruction from a host of well-known professionals — former leading ballerinas and nationally renowned choreographers. Highlight of the conference was a public performance under the direction of Alain Dubreuil, principal dancer with Sadler's Wells Royal Ballet, London, England.

Shelly, 13, is a student at West Middle School. She started out taking "kinder ballet" when she was 3 and studies ballet and toe at Miss Jean's Dance Arts Studio in Livonia.

TERI MICHELINI, daughter of Robert and Jeanne Michelini of Clare Blvd., is employed by the Mackinac Island State Park Commission — this summer. She is working as a hostess at Fort Mackinac. Teri is a second year in a row. She explains to tourists the history of the buildings restored by the park commission. Sometimes she serves as a cashier at the entrance to the fort.

Teri is studying pharmacy at the University of Michigan. She graduated from Ladywood High School in Livonia in 1979.

KATHY KISTLER and Jesse Seay, both of Plymouth, are enrolled in the string division at Seminar 83 at Western Michigan University. Both are violinists.

Kathy, a student at Ladywood High School, is the daughter of Roland and Jeanne Kistler of Dunn Court. Jesse's parents are Royal and Joan Seay of Parkview Drive. They will be in Kalamazoo until the end of the month for the summer which emphasizes chamber music. Western's 32nd annual summer music camp is the original chamber music program for high school students in Michigan.

Jesse attends Plymouth Canton High School.

JULI SILBER, a 1983 graduate of Plymouth-Canton High School, is leaving this month for a year of study in the Philippines. She will live in the city of Davao on the island of Mindanao.

Juli is being sponsored by the Canton Rotary Club as a youth ambassador of the United States to the Philippine Islands. On her return, she will enter Michigan Technological University in the field of engineering.

She is the daughter of Robert and Joyce Silber of Rockledge, Plymouth.

TIM MICHALIK, son of Camille Michalik of Ann Street, spent a week at La Salle Academy, Long Island, N.Y. He attended the National Leadership Training Center for student leaders, designed to increase self-understanding and confidence. Tim was selected to go along with two other students from Redford Catholic Central High School. Tim is student council president. Scott Ronan of West Bloomfield, vice president of the student council, and Joe Manuoso of Redford, senior class president, also attended.

They said it was a wonderful experience. They met students from all over the country and from Puerto Rico. They took part in workshops to help them develop a sound philosophy of leadership and increase their skills in communication, problem solving, group process and organization.

The Long Island center is one of four in the United States. Others are in Texas, Colorado and South Carolina. The National Leadership Training centers are sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, Office of Student Activities, and the National Honor Society.

NICOLE AND SHANTAL Lakatos of Beck Road, daughters of George Lakatos and Karen Lode, participated in the Albion College Summer Adventure. Students ranging in age from 9-16 have the opportunity to combine computer science, Shakespeare and canoeing. They choose six academic subjects and four recreational courses. They go on field trips, an overnight campout and free swim is available daily.

During the evening, campers participate in campfires, games, parties, dances and group activities specifically planned for each age group level.

AND THE BRIDGE players find the Plymouth Cultural Center a cool spot for a game of party or duplicate bridge. There were seven tables in play last Thursday afternoon for the party bridge session.

Ray Genz came in first and Norma Carroll was second.

C.L. Cook and Frances Peters had high scores the week before.

After a long wait, Christopher Lightfoot is home.

Miracles do happen: Christopher is home!

By Michele McElmurry special writer

Although he weighs only 6 pounds, 14 ounces, Christopher Lightfoot may be considered among life's toughest fighters.

Born March 14 — 14 weeks before his expected birth date — and weighing a mere 2 pounds, 10 ounces, the tiny infant defied the odds and has overcome countless setbacks in his struggle for life.

"He's been through a pretty rough time," Jeff said. In addition to his little brother's premature birth and his mother's long absence, Brad experienced the family's move from the familiar house on Arthur Street in Plymouth to a new house on Taft Road in Northville. Both Jeff and Deborah are Plymouth natives. Their parents are Jay and Leona Leavenworth of Plymouth, and Don and Ethel Lightfoot who now live in Thomasville. Jeff teaches in Northville American Elementary School.

He credits the hospital staff with helping his family through its most difficult challenge. "The doctors were upfront with us. They told us that Christopher could go at the snap of a finger."

He also points out that the hospital was very liberal with visiting hours, allowing the family to sit with Christopher hours at a time.

Christopher was 7 weeks old before Deborah held him. Jeff was not allowed to hold his son until he was 9 weeks old.

TROUBLE FOR the Lightfoots began at the end of January when Deborah started bleeding. An ultra sound test revealed the development of a placenta previa, and Deborah was admitted to the U-M intensive-care unit.

Deborah's problems intensified while in the hospital, and March 1, unable to stabilize the young mother, doctors delivered Christopher.

"When he was born he cried. Everybody in the operating room grinned right there. They knew he was going to be OK," said Jeff, explaining that Christopher had a better prognosis at birth than some full-term babies.

To try to prevent a collapse of the baby's underdeveloped lungs, doctors inserted a tube into the tiny infant only moments after his birth.

He did not cry again until the end of May. In the weeks that followed, Christopher's condition deteriorated. His weight dropped to 2 pounds, 2 ounces. By April he had developed chronic lung disease and eventually would endure six lung ruptures within three months.

"Things went downhill from mid-March to early May," Jeff said. In addition to the lung problems, the Lightfoots constantly worried about other problems prevalent among severe "preemies" such as intestinal upsets, jaundice, intracranial bleeding and infection.

Deborah's condition also was a concern.

IF CHRISTOPHER'S survival seems a miracle to the Lightfoots, an even greater blessing is the probability of his leading a normal life with few complications.

"He stands an excellent chance of having no side effects," explained Jeff, while noting that within a year Christopher's lungs will be fully developed.

Mentioning that crib death could happen tomorrow, but we can't worry about it," Jeff said.

As a precaution, a visiting nurse checks Christopher's vital signs two or three times a week. The Lightfoots also take him over to U-M Hospital once or twice a month.

"We are trying to do things as normally as we can," the parents said. They took him to Northville's Fourth of July Parade and to the zoo.

Realistically, Christopher is a month old, but he has the social development of a 4-month-old," Jeff said.

WHILE CHRISTOPHER'S life is priceless, the hospital cost of caring for premature babies is phenomenal. On a bookshelf in the Lightfoot's family room is a 65-page printout for 16 weeks of care in the Neonatal Care Unit. The totaled figure comes to $138,000.

Jeff is staying home with his two young sons while Deborah is back on her job at Ford Motor Co. Looking at his younger son, Jeff admits that some of his views have changed because of Christopher.

"You know, abortion is legal in this country through the second trimester. Christopher was born in the second trimester. I used to be very liberal in my views about abortion. I can't be any more."

He said he credits his son's survival to medical advances made in the past few years as well as the care given by the staff at U-M Hospital.

"They took a baby in its second trimester, and he'll lead a normal life. Five years ago, he probably wouldn't have made it."

Christopher's dad, Jeff, is adept at changing his small son's diapers.

They plan a July wedding in the Old Village gazebo in Plymouth.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Plymouth-Salem High School and Central Michigan University and is employed by the Garden City School District. Her fiancé is a graduate of Garden City East and is employed by Hydromatics.

Stanwood-Whelan

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Stanwood of Plymouth announce the engagement of their daughter Susan to John Whelan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Whelan of Midland. The bride-elect is a 1978 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School. Her fiancé graduated from Midland High School in 1973. Both are graduates of Michigan State University and are employed as registered nurses at St. Luke's Hospital in Milwaukee. A November wedding is planned.

Fountain-Melnik

Esther Ann Fountain wore her mother's wedding gown for her June 11 wedding to Joseph Paul Melnik II. The Very Rev. Canon Joseph Shary officiated at the service in St. John Ukrainian Catholic Church, Detroit.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Fountain of Northville are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Melnik of Canton Township.

The handmade wedding gown of white satin and Chantilly lace had a Victorian neckline and long sleeves with points at the wrists. The bride carried the sixpence that had been carried by many brides in her family and a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids, white roses and silk agapanthers.

Krista Fidler, cousin of the bride from Quebec, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Cheryl Fountain, Jacqueline Hilliard and Kathy Blum. The attendants wore ivory blouses and pink taffeta skirts with French ribbon cummerbunds. They carried bouquets of white roses, agapanthers and baby's breath and wore headpieces of agapanther and baby's breath. Flower girl Anna Maria Guvera wore an ivory taffeta tea-length gown and carried a small replica of the bridesmaid bouquets.

Jeno Melnik, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Ushers were Donald Fountain, Brian Fountain and Jason Crowther. Christopher Vidak was ring bearer.

More than 200 guests attended the garden reception at Botford Inn which was followed by a candlelight dinner in the carriage house. The couple traveled to Seattle, Vancouver and cruised to Alaska for their wedding trip.

The bride is a graduate of Northville High School and the Mercy School of Nursing in Detroit. She has been employed as a registered nurse at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. Her husband graduated from Plymouth Salem High School and earned his bachelor's degree at Western Michigan University. He is district manager of Woodland Oil Co. in Traverse City. They are living in Suttons Bay.

By Tim Richard staff writer Key Oakland County commissioners are unhappy with the political terms of a public transit plan being approved by the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA).

THE DISAGREEMENT between the Oakland County and SEMTA boards could undermine the fate of SEMTA's 1990 transit plan, with its light rail corridor on Woodward, and the regional operating tax increase needed to run it.

Dem chief charges firm aided recall

A state investigator is probing charges by an area Democratic leader that a Sterling Heights company illegally helped the committee trying to recall Gov. James J. Blanchard.

Charges were filed by Donald F. Tucker, chairman of the 18th Congressional District Democratic Committee. He is a Birmingham resident with law offices in Southfield.

He named Detroit Plastic Molding Co.-of Sterling Heights in the complaint. James A. Breen, company attorney, said, "We have not seen a copy of it, nor has anyone here in our offices. Until we have an opportunity to see it and review it, we wouldn't want to comment on it."

Tucker charged the company illegally solicited funds for a political committee from impermissible sources, failed to register under the campaign finance act, coerced employees and made illegal "in-kind" contributions through use of its payroll records.

WEBSTER BUELL, director of the compliance division in the Michigan Department of State, said staff investigator Ann Corgan had been assigned the complaint.

"This is the only one that has arisen out of the recall movement," said Buell, who said his office has largely cleaned up its backlog of cases from the 1982 election.

First step will be to determine if there is evidence of a violation of the act. If there appears to be a violation, he said, conciliation is attempted. If conciliation is impossible, the case would go to an informal hearing before a departmental hearing officer.

Finally, Secretary of State Richard Austin would determine whether the case should be referred to Attorney General Frank Kelley for prosecution. Punishments could range from jail and a $1,000 fine to civil penalties, but Buell declined to classify the Tucker charges until an investigation is complete.

TUCKER'S CHARGES arose from a letter the company sent to employees saying that Blanchard recall petitions, which "you should be interested in signing," would be circulated in the plants. It cited Blanchard's successful effort to raise the personal income tax to 6.35 from 4.6 percent.

The letter said the company was "enclosing a pledge for those of you who can make this pledge of $250" to the Recall Blanchard Committee. The pledge card was on stationery of Detroit Plastic Molding Co.

Tucker's statement charged: "The language, its format and method of presentation tends to be coercive, creates at least the illusion (sic) and fear that contribution and support is a condition of employment or the fear of financial reprisal or job discrimination for failure to contribute, especially since the employee knows that his or her employer will know who and how much each contributed or did not contribute."

Oakland University has classes all over

Classes include accounting, economics, mathematics, philosophy, political science, management, sociology, anthropology, journalism, computer science, rhetoric, art, English, statistics, art history and studio art.

A schedule of fall semester classes may be obtained by calling the OU extension program at 377-4010.

During the fall semester, students may take extension classes for one time without admission to the university by registering in the classroom at the first session. Students not admitted, as well as those admitted to the university, pay tuition and purchase books the first night class.

Hotspots keep Hotshots firing

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

The climate suited the event. Temperature and humidity both read in the 90s Thursday — outside. Inside Central Middle School they seemed even higher.

In weather like that, one would expect to find every kid in the Plymouth-Canton area cooling down in a pool or lake or at least under a sprinkler.

But inside Central Middle School, a dozen youths ranging in age from 9 to 15 were dribbling a basketball frantically about and firing shots desperately at the basket almost as fast as they could get their hands on the ball, as sweat soaked through their T-shirts.

What were they doing? Competing to see who was the hottest "Hotshot" in the third session of this year's Pepsi Challenge/NBA Hotshot contest, sponsored locally by the Canton Parks and Recreation department. The first two sessions were July 12 at Eriksson Elementary School and July 13 at Field Elementary.

THE RULES of the game: boys and girls in three age divisions — 9-12, 13-15 and 16-18 — have one minute to see how many points they can score by shooting from five designated "hotspots" around the basketball court. The more baskets scored the better, but the player with the most buckets isn't guaranteed of winning the contest. That's because five bonus points are awarded for shooting once from each hotspot. Another 10 are added if two shots are taken from each hotspot.

Layups score two points, but only two are allowed. Other converted shots range from two points (from 12 feet) to five (from 24 feet).

Players with practiced routines usually fare best, according to Bob Dates of the Canton Parks and Recreation department.

"They've got it down to a science," Dates said of those who advanced into the regional competition last year.

"They have a routine they practice every day, (but) if the ball bounces the wrong way it throws their whole routine off."

NOTHING SEEMED to bother M.J. Ewald's routine in the opening session at Eriksson Elementary. Competing in the boys' 13-15 division, Ewald set a point record for the Canton competition, piling up 87 to win going away. The previous best was 86, posted by Brian Dugas in the 13-15 boys' division a year ago.

Dugas went on to score 93 points in the regional competition, but it wasn't enough to advance any further. Dugas was again competing in the 13-15 division this year, but his best score of 71 in the second session at Field wasn't enough to overtake Ewald.

Other division champs included another Ewald: Tracey Ewald (boys 9-12) was high scorer in all three sessions, with a best total of 49 at Central. JoAnna Wiklund was the winner of the girls' 9-12 group with 52 points, while Amanda Bell captured top honors in the 13-15 girls' group with 33 points.

Marvin Loveless scored eight points to win the boys' 16-18. No 16-18 girls competed.

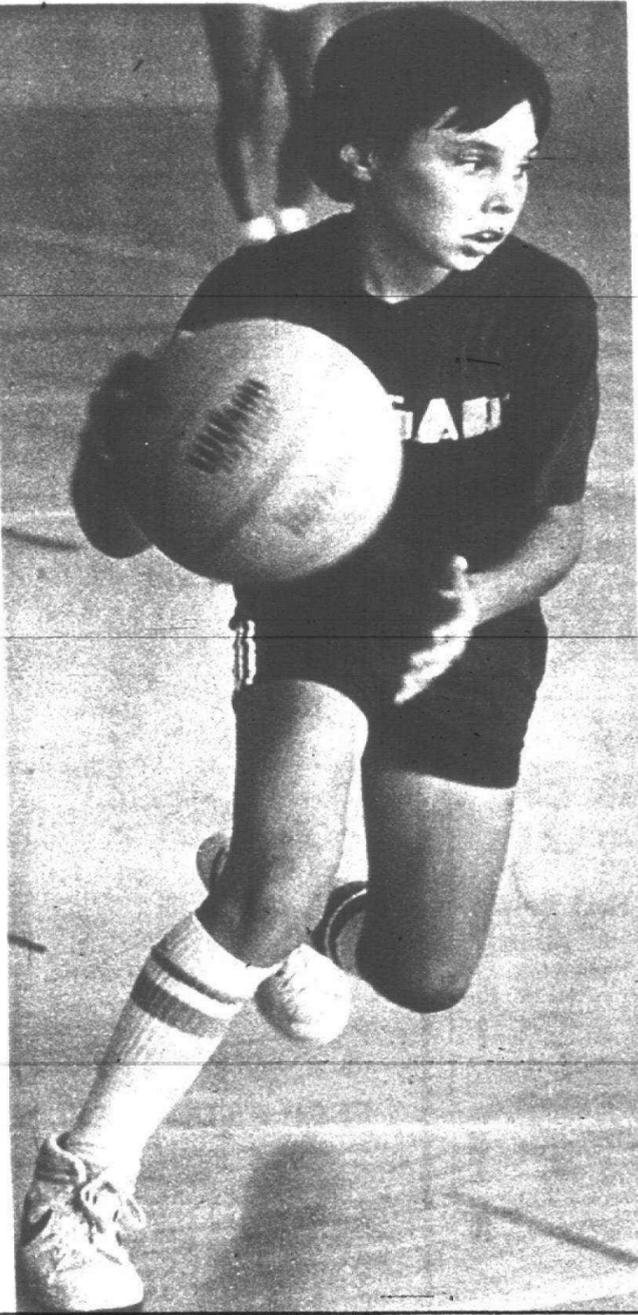

FORTY-EIGHT youths registered for the competition, although actual participation was less. "This is a specialized activity," Dates said. "You're not going to get as many kids. That number (48) is about average."

Dates added that in his five years of running the program, registration has "never been more than 50."

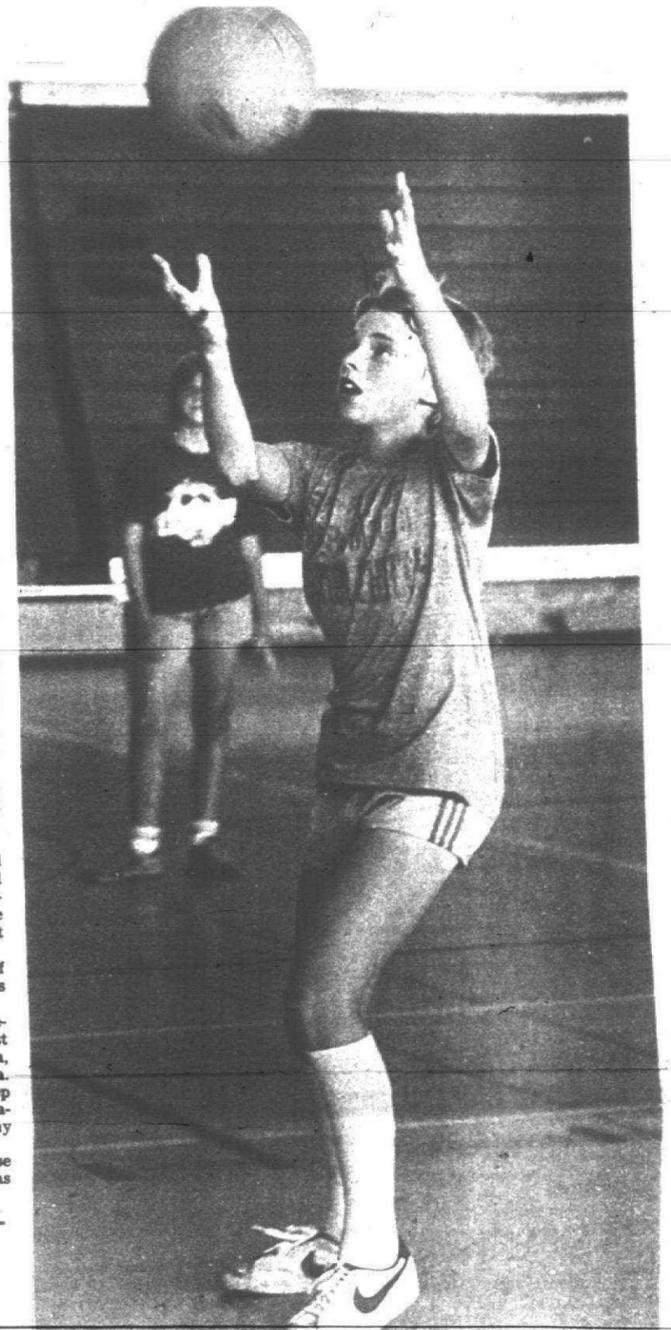

Division winners advance to the regional competition this fall against champions from the lower peninsula, northern Ohio and northern Indiana. Division winners in each category keep advancing until the final step: the national championships in April or May of next year.

It's a long road, certainly. But those that make it will be forever known as the best of the "Hotshots."

Brothers M.J. Ewald (right) and Tracey Ewald (left) each won division titles in the Hotshot contest, sponsored by Canton Parks and Recreation. M.J.'s win came in a record-setting effort of 87 points.

Realigned infield boosts Adray team toward title

By Brad Emons
staff writer

One simple move could be the determining factor in Livonia Adray claiming its fifth straight Livonia Collegiate baseball crown.

Livonia virtually eliminated Redford-Westland Adray from first-place contention with a 1-0 victory Wednesday night at Ford Field. The win gives Livonia, winner of 10 straight, a 19-5-1 record. RWA, meanwhile, slipped to 15-6-3 with five games remaining on the regular-season schedule.

Coach Ron Hellier said the "big change" in the team's turnout "was moving our infield around."

Hellier's new alignment finds Don Dombey at third base, Randy Baringer at shortstop and Pete Rose at second base.

"We were struggling up the middle,"

Hellier said. "We had Baringer at second and Dombey at short. Rose was doing a good job at third, but they were all shortstops, so we decided to make a switch.

"Dombey likes third better, anyway, but Rose never played second before. But he's coming around."

SINCE the move, Livonia has turned seven double plays, Hellier said.

And defense was the name of the game in the win over RWA as pitcher

Greg Kuzia allowed only one hit, a second-inning single to Jim Zentgraf, in 6½ innings of work to gain the victory.

RWA threatened to tie the game in the bottom of the seventh when Kuzia walked John Hetkowski and Pat Sipple. Hellier, however, countered by going to the bullpen as fireballer John Recker answered the call with one out.

The hard-throwing right-hander from Farmington, bound for the University of New Mexico, struck out Carl Ruffino for the second out and then walked Tony DeMare to load the bases. He then got Phil Shailer on an force out (short to second) to end the ball game.

It was his fifth save of the year."

LARRY PETROWSKI, who allowed just five hits in seven innings of work, was the losing pitcher.

Livonia scored the game's only run in the first when lead-off man John DePillo singled and later scored on a wild pitch.

Hellier hopes to keep his team tuned up for the double-elimination playoffs, which begin Sunday at Ford Field.

"We wish the playoffs were now," Hellier said. "What you have to be concerned about is when you start the playoffs, it's a new season. Even the fourth-place team has a chance, and everybody is shooting for the top team."

Canton star signs with Morehead St.

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Examine the prospects. Consider your own talents: a fine high school baseball player, one of the best in the league. Strong hitter, exceptional fielder. Somebody out there has got to be interested, right? So what do you look for in planning your baseball future? Get drafted by the pros, first.

Forget it. As Plymouth Canton baseball coach Fred Crissey says, "Outfielders are not a high priority. You have to be a superman to be drafted."

What's next? The colleges. But there's a lot to consider.

Academics are foremost, of course. On the field, the questions are: Will you play? How good is the team — a national contender? And, certainly, what kind of scholarship will they offer you?

CANTON'S BRYAN CAPNERHURST was faced with those decisions and the school that held most of the right answers for him was Morehead State in Morehead, Ky.

Capnerhurst, a letterwinner at Canton for three seasons, signed with Morehead State a week ago. He'll receive two-thirds of a full scholarship.

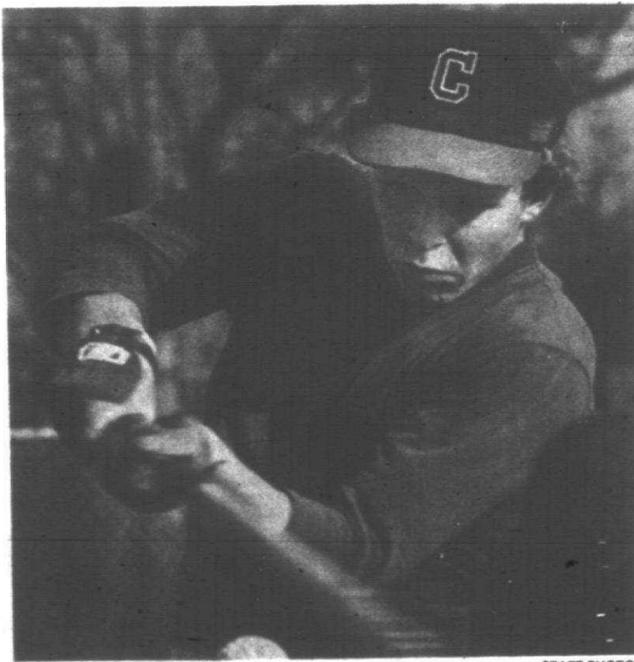

"Steve Hamilton, who played 13 years for the Yankees, will do really well by Bryan," said Crissey. "They were looking for a left-handed hitter, an outfielder or first baseman. They got a good one."

Capnerhurst batted .368 for the Chiefs in his senior season, knocking in 25 runs. He was an All-Western Lakes Activities Association choice and was selected to the All-Observerland first team.

As strong as he was at the plate, Capnerhurst, who is currently playing for the Canton Elks Connie Mack League team, was not all-hit and no-field. His defense was as strong as his offense.

Seals plan victory spree at CP games

By Brad Emons
staff writer

They're not looking for a pat on the back just for trying.

Eighteen members of the Tri-City Seals are out to win in the fourth National Cerebral Palsy Games, which begin Sunday at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth.

The Seals are co-sponsored by the Tri-City Therapeutic Recreation Program and Easter Seals.

"I've been involved since 1977 and the biggest difference is the advances in equipment and attitudes in training," said Mary Beth Watkins, one of the team's coaches and director of the Westland-based Tri-City program.

"We've practiced every Saturday since November and we've had two practices a week since we've been able to get outside," she added. "They've put a lot into it, and it's great to see."

"We feel we have a good team, but it's going to be competitive. We'll do our best, though."

THE MICHIGAN contingent consists of 73 athletes and 34 coaches.

The Tri-City competitors were required to raise $372 to cover a major portion of their expenses for the trip.

The team will leave at 8:45 a.m. Saturday for Texas on American Airlines flight No. 156.

Action kicks off Sunday at TCU with swimming and soccer, both wheelchair and ambulatory.

Other sports include track and field, rifle, archery, tricycling, bicycling and weightlifting.

National participants will have to a chance to qualify for next June's (16-30) International Games in Nassau County, N.Y. Over 50 countries and 2,000 athletes in three divisions — cerebral palsy, amputee and blind — will participate in the event.

Tri-City will send three competitors to TCU with international experience.

MARGO MADDOX, who attended the 1982 Internationals, will compete next week for Tri-City in the 100-meter dash and ambulatory soccer.

Tom Lee recreates '50s sound with Big Daddy

By Ethel Simmons staff writer

RECORDING an album done in nostalgic '50s style was a lot of fun for singer/songwriter Tom Lee, a former Bloomfield Hills resident. Lee usually records his own songs and says, "But you leave your blood on the page." But with other members of the California-based band, Big Daddy, he found it a real pleasure to sing and play on the album "Big Daddy: What Really Happened to the Band of '59."

A '50s rock band, Big Daddy was asked by Rhino records to do an album of the oldies. Lee and the guys took the suggestion one step further — and have recorded contemporary song hits in the groovy style of 30 years ago.

To top it off, "We took all the ballads and made them rockers," Lee said. "We took all the rockers and made them ballads."

SONGS ON the album that has been getting airplay locally include "I Write the Songs," "Bette Davis Eyes," "Super Freak," "Star Wars," "Whip It" and "Ebony and Ivory."

On the flip side, the selections are "You Don't Bring Me Flowers," "Hit Me with Your Best Shot," "The Rose," "Just What I Needed," "Hotel California" and "Eye of the Tiger."

Lee, who sings bass, does vocals and back-up guitar on the album. He's featured on the vocals for "Ebony and Ivory" and "Eye of the Tiger."

Before joining Big Daddy, Lee was in a band called Citizens, whose gigs included opening for the Doobie Brothers in 1981 in Charlevoix. Since going out to California, Lee has been singing as a solo and recording with Big Daddy, the band he joined some six months ago.

One of Lee's songs that has just been published is called "I'm Just an Automobile." Of the publishers, he said, "Their job is to get it (the song) to a star. The pie is split one half to the publisher, one half writers' royalties."

DESCRIBING "I'm Just an Automobile," the songwriter said, "It's about a guy who gets transformed into a car. It's kind of a new wave song."

Lee received important recognition as a composer when his song "One of the Americans" was runner-up, in 1981, in the Top 40 category at the American Song Festival, an international competition.

Lee was married in May to Wanda Van den Ende, who also is from Bloomfield Hills. His wife is a photographer and a seamstress, who used to work for a Rochester dress designer. They live in Van Nuys, Calif.

THE GUY with the most beautiful body in the Birmingham-Bloomfield area is Marcos Zartari, 26, an attorney from Birmingham. Zartari, who competed for his title in a Bloomfield Body Beautiful contest at the Kingsley Inn, weighed in at 205 pounds on his six-foot one-inch frame.

Runner-up in the contest was Michael Bouchard, 27, a policeman from the Birmingham-Bloomfield area. He's six foot one and weighs 170 pounds.

A team challenge also was offered in the contest. The Hamilton Place Athletic Club beat out the Franklin Racquet Club/Nautilus for the trophy.

Judges for the contest were members of the all-women Kingsley Club, a group organized by the Kingsley Inn for professional and business women.

'We took it one step further. We took all the ballads and made them rockers. We took all the rockers and made them ballads.' — Tom Lee

The plot of "Staying Alive" is sort of a Rocky on Broadway, with John Travolta playing dancer Tony Manero, who gets his big break in a New York show.

Musled Travolta energizes scene in 'Staying Alive'

It took six years and a walk across the Brooklyn Bridge for Tony Manero to make the change from a no-future disco dancer to an unemployed, but hopeful, Broadway booper. In "Staying Alive" (PG), the sequel to the immensely successful "Saturday Night Fever," John Travolta resumes his role as Tony, with some changes. Sylvester Stallone directed the movie and worked with Travolta to give him a beefier image. Last anyone sees it, the camera moves in for a lot of close-ups of Travolta flexing his biceps, pecs and (last shot in the film) glutes maxims. Stallone's fascination with photographing male muscle works to the detriment of the dance scenes. He gives us a lot of quick cuts using medium shots and some close-ups. What we should be seeing is the choreography — the whole figure and its relationship to others, with just a few close-ups for interest.

STALLONE'S IMPRINT also marks the story itself which he wrote with Norman Wexler. "Saturday Night Fever" offered more than Travolta's good looks and exciting dancing. It had an extra dimension of depth in the social fabric it unveiled. It developed Tony's environment with his Italian-American home, his dead-end job and blue-collar friends. That extra dimension is missing in "Staying Alive." The story has the Stallone simplicity stamp. It's Rocky on Broadway. Rocky wanted his shot at a title bout; Tony wants his shot at the lead in a Broadway show. The only complication of plot — if you can call it that — is whether Tony will act decently toward the humble dancer who loves him or whether he will dump her for the snooty lead dancer in the show (who, we know, is using him). The two he respects the most are Cynthia Rhodes who plays his girlfriend and Fionola Hughes who plays the prima dancer. These two newcomers are both very good, very credible.

NOT AS MUCH can be said for the music, except for the title song. Much of the music was written by Stallone's brother, Frank, who also has a small part in the movie. Neither his music nor his performance are worth a second thought. What "Staying Alive" does have to offer is a lot of energy and a lot of dancing. It culminates in a spectacular finale with a long dance sequence called "Satan's Alley." Again, it is photographed with too many quick cuts and medium shots. The emphasis was given to special effects, with electric flashes of light, whip-like snaps and bursts of fire. The idea is a passage through hell that ends with an ascent to heaven. Anyone but Stallone would be embarrassed by such a hairy cliché. He overcomes this deficiency and others by creating and maintaining a supercharged atmosphere of excitement throughout the film. What emerges from this is Travolta's very charm and the high-energy, hard-driving dancing with its sexy physical message.

In the sequel to "Saturday Night Fever," newcomer Cynthia Rhodes is the Broadway gypsy dancer whose rival for Manero's affection is the show's prima ballerina.
