Board maps sale of industrial property

By Ariene Funke staff writer

Canton officials hope to sell 125 acres of township-owned vacant land along Haggerty Road north of Ford.

Prompted by nibbles from interested developers, the Township Board last week authorized a new appraisal on the land, which Canton bought in the late 1970s, said Dave Nicholson, economic growth coordinator for the township.

"I have talked with more than one developer who is interested in all the property for industrial use," Nicholson said. "They are interested in developing an industrial park." Other developers are interested in individual parcels, said Nicholson. Canton purchased the 125 acres at a total cost of $813,000, he added.

TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS hope to attract industrial development — and improve the tax base — by installing storm sewers and paving along Haggerty north of Ford. They believe the $2.9 million improvements project will be the key to industrial growth in the area.

Arrangements are being made for the sale of bonds to finance the paving project. Affected property owners along Haggerty will pay a special 10-year tax for the improvements.

The area in question is zoned for industrial use, but sparsely developed. Township officials have long hoped to develop Haggerty into a bustling industrial corridor, according to Nicholson.

Nicholson was unsure of the details surrounding Canton's purchase of the 125 acres back in 1977-78. He said the land was purchased from a bank on a land contract arrangement at about $6,500 per acre, and the purchase is almost paid.

"The intent was to get it developed and back on the tax rolls," Nicholson said.

LAST WEEK'S Township Board action authorizes Nicholson to seek bids for an appraisal and to hire the most qualified firm with the lowest bid. Trustees set a $10,000 cap for the appraisal.

"We do presume the acreage will revert to private ownership in the near future," said trustee Robert Padgett. "We have to know (the land's) true market value so we know if our marketing strategy is on target," Padgett added. "So in the final analysis there won't be one tax dollar spent on this project."

Treasurer Maria Sterlino voted against the motion, saying the township board should have the final say on awarding the appraisal bid.

Here's explanation of tax appeal board

By Dan Bodene staff writer

Many Canton homeowners thought it would be a tooth-and-nail battle at the Michigan Tax Tribunal to appeal property assessments that will determine their 1983 tax bills.

The appeals weren't as traumatic as expected. Nobody had been hired to defend the assessments.

Why not? Too expensive. Ironically, that's the reason for the appeal process. Here's how it works:

Property tax bills are based on assessments that "lag" a year behind. The tax bill that comes this December is based on the assessment made last year.

Assessments are mailed in February. If a homeowner doesn't agree with the assessment, the first opportunity to appeal it is with the local tax board of review.

Canton's assessments for the 1983 tax bills were set after a private company was hired to appraise residential property. Wayne County Appraisal Company (not connected with Wayne County government) did the appraisals for $175,000.

Canton (and Plymouth Township) officials felt the previous year's assessments done by the county were not completely equitable. Canton officials felt a parcel-by-parcel appraisal was the fairest way to judge property values.

SOME HOMEOWNERS still thought the assessments were too high, however.

Canton's Tax Board of Review was almost as busy this year as last year, when a record number of irate property owners came to protest 1982 assessments.

Some of the homeowners at this year's board of review still didn't feel they got a fair shake. The next step for them was the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

The tax tribunal this summer has been hearing appeals for the 1982 assessments. Judge Lee Clark, who heard many of the appeals from Canton, said the tribunal is still working through the "huge number of appeals" for 1982.

However, a change in procedure allowed homeowners to protest 1983 assessments along with 1982 assessments. The change wasn't publicized too well — county and local officials didn't even know about it. Consequently, most people didn't know they could argue their 1983 assessments this summer.

Normally, the agency which completed the appraisals is on hand at the tribunal to defend its findings. Usually, the county does the assessments and defends them at the tribunal.

Not this time, in Canton's case. CANTON FINANCE director Mike Gorman said, "Wayne County Appraisal wasn't supposed to attend those hearings. They weren't hired to. It was felt that it cost too much."

Judge Clark said, "I was initially surprised, but I think we got it ironed out. Things were in a state of transition. I was hearing 1982 appeals because we were behind from last year, and a representative from the county was there (to defend) those, but he was not prepared or authorized to discuss the '83s."

The judge said that with information from the county representative and the homeowners, he had enough to fairly consider the 1983 appeals.

Canton's reluctance to send a Wayne County Appraisal representative to the hearings was understandable, Judge Clark said. "Townships don't get that much out of the tax dollar, and they have to defend their assessments. That really puts a burden on the township," he said.

Gorman says most homeowners who attend the tax tribunal are well prepared to defend their cases anyway. It's likely the absence of a representative from the appraisal company didn't adversely affect the 1983 appeals, he added.

Most homeowners at the tribunal come armed with information on comparative home values. That information is readily available from local real estate companies. Homeowners researching an appeal can either copy information from real estate listing books, or get a computer printout on comparative home appraisals.

Gorman said only 20-25 people filed to appeal their 1983 assessments. Judge Clark estimates less than 15 came to the tribunal, and not all wanted to appeal 1983 assessments.

The small number of appeals that were granted are not expected to lower township and school tax revenues very much.

Gorman said, "Since this happened, we've made arrangements with the county to handle appeals at the tribunal."

AIDS fear unfounded, says Red Cross chief

By Scott Adler staff writer

It began with what appeared to be a few isolated incidents in Los Angeles in 1981 and has spread into the most extensive disease detection effort in history.

The AIDS (Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome) epidemic has caused a tremendous stir among the gay and heterosexual populations across the country.

AIDS attacks its victims by breaking down the immune system, leaving their bodies defenseless against a host of infections, including forms of cancer and pneumonia. There is no known cure or treatment and its source also remains unknown.

The high-risk groups — male homosexuals, intravenous drug users, immigrants from Haiti and hemophiliacs — make up 1,545 of the 1,641 known victims who have suffered from the disease.

Despite the lack of affliction to the non-high-risk groups, fear about contracting the often-fatal disease is wide-spread.

Dr. A. William Shafer, director of the Red Cross in Southeastern Michigan, said blood donations to the Red Cross have "decreased significantly" even though the chances of contracting the disease by donating blood are zero. Shafer spoke at the Canton Rotary Club meeting Monday.

oral quarrel

U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services Margaret Heckler recently said that "AIDS is our No. 1 health concern and the epidemic is our No. 1 priority." Her department has spent $14 million this year and requested another $12 million for 1984 researching the disease.

This week's Oral Quarrel question is: Do you think AIDS is our No. 1 health problem and should the government do more about it, if anything?

Judge's ruling coming Monday in MESC case

A ruling is expected Aug. 8 on whether a Plymouth woman should be bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court on a charge of embezzling $7,500 from the Michigan Employment Security Commission office in Canton.

Henrietta Graye, 60, of Wolf River was charged in May with embezzlement over $100. Graye, an eight-year MESC employee, worked as a clerk in the Canton branch office on Ronda Drive, near Joy and Lilley.

More than 10 witnesses — mostly employees of MESC — have testified at several preliminary hearings in 35th District Court before Judge James Garber, said C. Charles Bokos, Graye's attorney.

Several legal issues, raised by Bokos during witnesses' testimony, will be addressed before Garber's decision on binding Graye over for trial.

IN HER position, Graye was responsible for collecting delinquent unemployment payments from employers, Bokos said. Graye is charged with allegedly collecting funds, altering receipts and pocketing the difference over a two-year period, police said.

Child dies in freak accident

A 9-year-old physically impaired Canton boy died Tuesday of injuries suffered when a skateboard he was riding was struck by a neighbor's car.

Danny Prince, an orthopedically handicapped child, often used a skateboard to get around the neighborhood, said his father, Alan Prince.

The mishap occurred Tuesday on Creekview, police said. The neighbor, a 19-year-old man, apparently didn't see the low lying skateboard as he backed out of a driveway.

Danny was taken to Oakwood Hospital-Canton Center and later to University Hospital in Ann Arbor where he died.

Funeral arrangements were completed by Schrader Funeral Home in Plymouth; visiting hours are 2 to 9 p.m. today (Thursday). Graveside services will be Friday at Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens, Novi.

A memorial service will be held at 7:30 Sunday evening at Geneva United Presbyterian Church in Canton.

Danny is survived by 13 brothers and sisters, his parents, Alan and Judy and his grandparents. He was an adopted son who came to the family out of the last days of the Viet Nam war, one of the last of the airlifted refugees.

Danny was to begin classes at Miller Elementary this fall, his father said.

Health services continue despite budget cuts

Dr. Cecilia Thomas checks the teeth of 3-year-old Rachel Christiansen under the watchful eyes of her mom, Karen, at the dental clinic operated by the county health department.

"It'll be a lot quieter in here on Friday," said Dennis Dillworth, director of the Wayne County Health Department, as he toured a crowded well-baby clinic at the department's Westland facility.

BEFORE LUCAS came into office, he was talking about laying off another 10 percent of the workforce. Dillworth said that Lucas changed his mind after reviewing the situation.

County monitors environment for potential health problems

Being on call is something the environmental division of the Wayne County Health Department takes seriously. Take last Saturday, for instance.

BESIDES ITS general environmental division, the county health department also operates units concerned with public health enforcement, communicable diseases and family health services.

Unfounded fear of AIDS keeping blood donations down

"The risk has been blown out of proportion for those who aren't in the high-risk groups," he said. "There is an epidemic among the high-risk groups, but not among the non-gay community."

"THE FEAR of contracting AIDS by donating blood is unfounded and irritating," says a spokesman. "The risk to blood donors is non-existent because the Red Cross uses disposable needles that are thrown out after every use, Shaffer said."

A blood recipient does have a chance of contracting the disease, he said, but the chances are only "one in a million or less."

In order to stop the AIDS-contaminated blood from getting into the population, the Red Cross has taken action to stop AIDS carriers from donating blood, Shaffer said.

In Michigan, six in the Detroit area, Dr. William Ross, a general practitioner in Plymouth said he has received "a lot of calls" concerning the AIDS problem.

Ross said that he is aware of the problems that AIDS has caused and said he is prepared to take care of it diagnostically. He has attended seminars on AIDS, its diagnosis and research, he said.

Joan Petroski, clinical manager at Oakwood Hospital Canton Center, said there have been no inquiries about the disease from possible victims.

"I think a lot of the publicity it has gotten has given the public a better understanding of the symptoms," she said.

"I haven't had any cases yet, but I have received about two dozen calls from young men who are concerned that they may have the disease," he said. "Young men who are curious about the symptoms. Sometimes they have a friend they are concerned about, but that usually means they are calling for themselves."

Supersewer

Proposed sewer becoming not so super

By Arlene Funke and Gary M. Cates staff writers

The fate of Wayne County's Super-sewer plan once again is questionable, with discussions centering on splitting the project into two parts.

The new idea calls for a smaller version of Supersewer to handle sewage from the downriver communities, while expanding the northwestern suburbs' sewage lines to the Detroit waste treatment plant.

Originally, plans called for one system to handle both the northwestern suburbs and the downriver communities. However, funding and legal issues brought those plans under fire from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

At stake are hundreds of thousands of dollars already spent on engineering studies and the development of growing communities currently at full sewage capacity. Two such communities are Plymouth and Canton townships.

"The city of Detroit has taken a position against Supersewer, and the DNR has supported it," said Maurice Breen, Plymouth Township supervisor.

"THE REASONING they are using is that Detroit has exclusive rights to our sewage because of contracts we have with them to handle our sewage," Breen said.

"However, the truth is that we have contracted for a specific capacity and no more. We have asked for additional capacity, and we were told there was none available, unless we purchase it from another unit of government," he said.

Plymouth Township, like Canton, sends sewage to the Detroit treatment plant. The problem, however, is that Detroit relies on someone's verbal assurances," he said.

posedly are at full capacity. "The DNR has claimed we're already over capacity. We have a letter on file from the DNR that says we can no longer build in the township if we don't stay in Supersewer," Breen said.

Yet, the DNR is asking the western Wayne County communities in the Supersewer plan to drop out and commit to a project to expand the pipelines to the Detroit plant.

"To tell you things are better-skelter and confused is to put it mildly," said Jim Poole, Canton Township Supervisor.

Canton and Plymouth township officials want to see a breakdown of the cost figures on the new pipeline expansion project before they make a commitment.

"I DON'T think any community will be able to intelligently make a decision. I think there will be a lot more accomplished if a lawsuit is filed," Poole said.

Breen believes the DNR stance on Supersewer is a "gotcha" against the participating communities.

"The Wayne County Economic Development Corp. has been supporting industrial growth in Plymouth Township, and now the county is turning around and saying we have to stay with them for the sewage. But we are at full capacity," Breen said.

"What are we supposed to do? We can't just sit here and watch new industry go to other communities because we don't have the sewage capacity."

"The key to the whole thing is very simple: We're now relying on someone's engineering studies that say Detroit's plant can handle any increase from out here. That's not a fact. I don't know that a community out here should rely on someone's verbal assurances," he said.

"Beyond that fact, we need to know how and who is going to handle the increased capacity in the pipes (to Detroit)."

"I DON'T really care if it goes into Supersewer or Detroit. If Detroit does, in fact, have the capacity it would save us some money. But there are no dollars available right now for the increasing of the pipes to Detroit."

"It sounds good, and I've said in theory from day one that I'm in favor of it," Breen said. "But no one has guaranteed that they are going to build the pipes and what it's going to cost."

Schools set '83-84 objectives

Board members, administrators and staff in the Plymouth-Canton school district have their work cut out for them, although the start of school is still about a month off. Plymouth-Canton School Board President Glenn H. Schroeder presented board objectives for the 1983-84 school year at Monday night's board workshop.

Baseball cards stolen from collector's show

Nothing is sacred anymore. Even a person's baseball card collection isn't safe from theft - just ask a recent participant at the 14th Annual Plymouth Sports Collector's Show. More than $2,500 worth of sports memorabilia fell prey to hot little hands during last weekend's show at the Plymouth Hilton.

School calendar

Mark your calendars: Aug. 30 is the first day of school in the Plymouth-Canton district. Teachers and school administrators agreed late last week on the 1983-84 school calendar. Some parents may have received mailings from the district which listed incorrect dates, said administrative assistant for community relations Richard Egli.

'Sun belt' turns sandy for ex-Michiganians

Nick Sharkey

THE MAN on the other end of the phone told me, "It's hot in cowboy country, and I want to come home."

He works in Oklahoma and wants to return to Michigan. He was looking for a job.

A day later it was an old friend who had fled Michigan eight years ago and now lives in Utah. She is the mother of three children and wants to raise her family near her parents and sister.

"I know the economy has improved in Michigan during the past year or two," she said. "Not too many businesses are expanding, but at least people are being replaced when they leave. Can you help?"

Later in the week I heard from former Michigan residents living in Denver and Houston and hoping to find work.

IT'S NOT unusual for newspaper editors to be contacted by persons seeking work. Journalism is oversaturated with eager applicants.

But this was unusual. Usually, the applicants live in the state and do not want to relocate.

Only once in the past two years had I received an inquiry about a job from a Michigan native living in a sun belt state — until last week.

I'm not sure what, if anything, my unscientific survey means. It would be a mistake to read too much into it.

During the past few years, I have heard too many false promises about Michigan being on the road to recovery. The "Say Yes to Michigan" campaign is more hype than real. I've heard economic pep talks by incumbent elected officials trying to hold onto their jobs. I've listened to the chamber of commerce speakers urging positive statements about Michigan.

Frankly, it's empty. Michigan, especially this region, has been in serious trouble. The joke was "Will the last one out of the state turn off the lights?" Unfortunately, it was too true.

BUT IN THE past few weeks, there has been a change.

Last week the three major auto companies announced near-record profits. People are being re-

Like swamp creature, M-275 lives

LIKE A SWAMP creature from a B movie that refuses to stay dead, the proposed M-275 freeway keeps clawing its way out of the burial muck and emerging, oozing with slime, into daylight.

The non-existent freeway's latest gasp occur in a planning document just issued by the Oakland County Department of Public Works entitled "Summary of Development, 1982."

It looks dull, with all its gray prose, columns of statistics and repetitious maps. Don't let it fool you. A lot is going on.

IN A NUTSHELL, while growth in most of southeastern Michigan has come almost to a standstill generally, Oakland County, with about 22 percent of the region's population, is getting 40 percent of the housing development.

But the growth isn't even across Oakland's 900 square miles — not by a long shot. The opening paragraph says:

"In 1982, residential and non-residential growth in Oakland County continued to occur in communities contiguous to the I-696 (east-west) corridor to Lansing, the I-75 (north-south) corridor to Flint and the proposed M-275 corridor from the city of Novi north through Independence Township."

M-275 was to have been a freeway in roughly the Haggerty Road corridor in western Oakland County. If built, it would connect I-275, which connects Monroe with Novi. Together, the I-275 and M-275 connection would provide one gigantic bypass around Detroit and most of the two or three rings of suburbs around Detroit.

M-275 HAS been shot down in Lansing more times than you can count and delayed for years.

Yet the area shows clear popularity in the county's statistical charts. Whether it's because land owners and developers have the idea attached to their brains like a tumor, or whether it's because it is simply a charming, lake-studded, semi-rural area, or both, it would be hard to say.

Despite the fact that silver bullets have penetrated its hide and stakes have been driven through its heart, M-275 emerges. Says the county report:

"Residential growth has also occurred within non-sewered areas of the county (proposed M-275 corridor), measured in part by the number of septic tank permits issued and mobile home development in this growth corridor."

"Current population and household projections also indicate that communities along the proposed M-275 corridor will experience a significant population over the next two decades (1980-2000)."

A LITTLE LATER we find that financial institutions have the same kind of attraction for the mythical freeway.

"Approximately 65 percent of the financial institutions established, approved or pending approval in Oakland County during 1982, are located in communities served by the I-696 freeway. The balance of bank and savings and loan development has taken place along the I-75 and proposed M-275 corridors."

I have referred to M-275 as a zombie-like swamp creature. That's environmentalist talk, of course. Environmentalists say M-275 would wreck fragile wetlands and the headwaters of lakes and rivers. They say our overall population isn't growing and that it's wasteful to build a multi-million dollar freeway to accommodate mere population shifts.

Try to tell that to developers. To them, M-275 is Lazarus risen.

The pitfalls of a part-time legislature

THE PART-TIME Legislature Committee has come up with a humdrum. The committee wants to limit each session of the Legislature to four months and make the job of legislator certifiably part-time by limiting the salary to $15,000 a year.

This would be a big comedown from $31,000 now being paid for what some claim is a full-time job and others say is a nine-months or less job.

No matter how appealing the idea may be at first glance, I'm agin' it.

THE IDEA OF a part-time Legislature is appealing all right. The less time legislators have to spend in Lansing, the less time they would have for considering ways to dispose of our money.

Michigan's history is full of examples of part-time legislatures which refused requests by full-time governors to raise taxes or institute new taxes. And the state's burgeoning payroll growth began about the time that the Legislature began to be considered full-time.

There is something to be said for making sure that legislators do not have good reason to hang around Lansing most of the year.

Like most such atmospheres, the Lansing legislative atmosphere is one of talking about big programs, eating big lunches, having big cocktails, trading votes, making deals, considering what particular voters, making deals, considering what particular voters, making deals, considering what particular voters, making deals, considering what particular voters...

A CASE CAN be made that part-time legislators would be spending most of their time in their hometown area going through all the pains, pitfalls and

Take a vacation and unwind — you may find peace of mind

FOR ANY of you still skeptical about spending money on a summer vacation — stop debating. Get away if you can afford it at all. More than likely, you deserve a breather.

You can travel first class to an exotic spot overseas, or pack up the kids and camp in a nearby state park. The benefits are largely the same.

All of us need a respite from the routine and the regimen of work. Without the chance to once in a while refresh body and spirit while wading in a northern lake, or taking a dock watching the sun sink its evening glow into the sky, or to meet new friends and think new thoughts — we can become as stale as last week's peanut butter sandwich.

I found out quite by surprise that in exchange for a walk in the mountains, peace of mind can be yours.

OUR FIRST day in Colorado began with a 9 a.m. exercise class offered in our holiday package. Robel, our tanned instructor, began the workout by inter-gating us. He was trying to assess the amount of stress in each of our lives (and having skied 21 winters in the Colorado Rockies, he seemed to pity us urbanites).

"You're on vacation — a time you should use to relax, be good to your body, get in touch with yourself, get to know yourself," he said in a thick Swiss accent.

"Breathe in as much of this mountain air as you can and take it home. No matter what you're doing, inhale through your nose and breathe out through your mouth."

(After just one whiff of the kerosene fumes omnipresent at Denver's Stapleton Airport, I wished I had a tank full of pure mountain air for the journey home.)

As much as my muscles craved some heavy-duty stretching and flexing, I opted to run first thing each morning. You really couldn't call my first attempt a run though. It resembled a slow walk.

At 9,300 feet and climbing, my sea-level loving lungs struggled to contend with what seemed like oxygen-less air. I had as much energy as the lethargic looking riding horses I passed at the roadside Crested Butte Stables. After one look at them, I was convinced that a three-mile trip was plenty.

NEXT DAY I got serious. The old mining town of Gothic, six miles away, was an intriguing destination — home to the Rocky Mountain Biological Labs. Scientists and students from around the world study high altitude wildlife and plantlife there each summer.

Getting there proved to be among the highlights of my trip. The pavement gave way to a narrow rocky road that chisels away, was an intriguing destination — home to the Rocky Mountain Biological Labs. Scientists and students from around the world study high altitude wildlife and plantlife there each summer.

Dems oppose secret aid to Nicaragua

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes July 21-28.

HOUSE

COVERT AID — By a vote of 213 for and 214 against, the House rejected an amendment making it difficult for the Reagan administration to continue supplying covert military aid to rebels fighting the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua.

The Democratic proposal sought to soften a Republican move to keep the aid flowing unless the Sandinistas stopped providing covert aid to leftist rebels elsewhere in Latin America.

It expressed the sense of Congress but did not mandate that the Sandinistas stop their aid. It was offered to HR 2760, which was headed for final passage.

Sponsor Michael Barnes, D-Md., said "the policy of trying to overthrow the Nicaraguan government is illegal, ineffective, escalatory, counterproductive and unnecessary."

Opponent Don Ritter, R-Pa., called it "immoral to pull the rug out from under those who are fighting for democracy and their rightful heritage as part of the original Sandinista revolution."

Members voting yes wanted to stop or curtail secret U.S. aid to the Nicaraguan rebels. Voting yes: Dennis Hertel, D-Detroit; William Ford, D-Taylor; Sander Levin, D-Southfield; William Ford, D-Taylor; Voting no: Carl Parsell, R-Plymouth; William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

LIMIT — The House rejected, 170 for and 246 against, an amendment to limit the number of U.S. military advisers in El Salvador to the present complement of 55. It would have thwarted the administration plan to send 70 more advisers to the Central American nation.

roll call report

The amendment was offered to the $200-billion fiscal 1984 defense authorization bill (HR 2969) that later was sent to conference with the Senate.

Sponsor James Shannon, D-Mass., termed it "an absurd idea that our advisers can travel into the field with Salvadoran troops and not become involved in combat themselves."

Opponent Dan Burton, R-Ind., said President Reagan "is the commander-in-chief, and we should give him the support that is necessary to deal with a very, very difficult problem right now."

Members voting yes were opposed to additional U.S. military advisers in El Salvador. Voting yes were Hertel and Ford.

Voting no: Parsell, Levin and Broomfield.

SENATE

MX — The Senate gave President Reagan a victory by rejecting, 41 for and 58 against, an amendment to delete funding for the MX missile.

The vote kept $2.5 billion for buying the first 27 MX missiles in the fiscal 1984 defense authorization bill (S 675), a $200-billion measure later sent to conference with the House.

Both houses now tentatively have approved the MX to replace the Minuteman as the next-generation land-based missile, despite Pentagon uncertainty

'Whistle blower' helps stymie hike in heating aid

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Art Suchodolski isn't a lawmaker, but the West Bloomfield auditor is one reason the Michigan Legislature adjourned for the summer without solving part of the welfare budget problem.

"It seems to me someone needs to do some homework," said Suchodolski, who has done years of homework on the home heating aid portion of the Department of Social Services budget.

He thinks it's worse than a waste, and he had quite an impact when he said so to the state Senate Appropriations Committee in June.

THE UPSHOT: The legislature in its closing days was split in three camps and deadlocked on what to do with $43 million of the $2.1 billion DSS budget.

Gov. James J. Blanchard wanted to raise the welfare benefits level 5 percent; the camp of state Rep. David Hollister, D-Lansing, wanted to plunk it into home heating aid; and Republicans wanted to use it on job training for welfare recipients.

No point of view had a majority, and lawmakers were itching to get out for the summer.

"The $43 million was put in a special line which may be appropriated," explained Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, a member of the appropriations but from 1972-76 he was a senior internal auditor with Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. in Detroit, where one of his responsibilities was the credit division.

Art Suchodolski
"do some homework"

When he began blowing the whistle about irregularities in DSS approval of gas bill payments for welfare accounts, he found himself shifted to other duties and finally fired by MichCon.

"I pointed out that the welfare recipients were pocketing the money," Suchodolski said. They had no worries because the state paid off the heating bills with a second appropriation — in other words, it paid the same heating bill twice.

In fact, the situation was even worse than it seemed at first glance because basic heating aid was 50 percent state and 50 percent federal funds, but the supplemental aid was 100 percent state money.

MichCon was collecting its money either way and had no incentive to go after the errant customer.

The welfare recipient got a double benefit: extra benefits and no worries about turning down the thermostat.

FOR YEARS Suchodolski has been writing letters to state and gas company officials.

Wayne Circuit Court dismissed his suit against MichCon, and the state Supreme Court turned him down on appeal in 1982. But his story became a chapter in a book by Alan F. Westin called "Whistle-Blowing: Loyalty and Dissent in the Corporation."

When he read in the newspapers this spring that welfare payments were an issue in the legislature, Suchodolski called Sen. James DeSana, D-Wyandotte, appropriations chairman, and was invited to speak to the committee.

"I said, 'You're proposing to increase the payment? The abuse in that program is substantial.' They kinda went back and said, 'Maybe we should take a look at it,'" Suchodolski said after the hearing.

There's no chance the state can pay the aid directly to the utility. A 1978 letter from then-DSS Director John Dempsey to Suchodolski says that federal regulations provide that "payments must be made to the grantee or his legal representative, with no restrictions imposed by the state agency on the use of funds by the individual."

HOLLISTER, known as the legislature's leading advocate of social services, proposed that heating aid be boosted from $1,300 to $1,700 a year. The Lansing lawmaker's goal is to avert all utility shutoffs to the poor.

In the House Appropriations Committee, Blanchard's proposed 5 percent general benefit increase was beaten down 10-9 when four Democrats joined all six Republicans to oppose.

The House panel then adopted Hollister's heating aid plan on a 12-5 part line vote.

Welfare recipients marched on Lansing to demonstrate their needs, but back-room negotiations between leaders of both parties in both houses failed to reach agreement.

What happens if lawmakers fail to agree in September on what to do with the $43 million? Answered one: "It won't be spent."

CENTRAL MIDDLE School parents will continue their P.O.P. (Parents on Patrol) program when school opens in September. The pilot program initiated in mid-April did exactly what they had hoped.

It was at a PTSO meeting at Central that parents were made aware of the troubles at the school. Revelation of organized theft, drugs, alcohol and general misconduct was a mind-boggling experience. Concerned for the safety of their children, they called a special meeting.

More than 350 parents turned out for the March PTSO meeting. Students were being harassed in the hallways between classes. They were wandering around when they should be in class. They jammed the locks on the exit doors so unwanted people could enter the school. Merchants complained of shoplifting.

Students were congregating on the porches of the Veterans Memorial Building next door to the school. They were smoking. Teachers, parents, school administrators and a large majority of the students wanted a school they could be proud of.

Parents on Patrol was an outgrowth of that meeting. Principal Greg Owens and assistant principal Pat Moore were encouraged by the cooperation and welcomed it.

They worked with the parents who volunteered to help monitor the hallways. Because of the layout of the old building, with its turns and annexes, keeping an eye on pedestrian traffic in the halls is no easy job. Carl Berry, then Plymouth police chief, also assisted in a training session.

THE P.O.P. WENT into action April 18. The art department at Central made their special badges. The 25 parent volunteers — working parents, homemakers, unemployed parents — spent from half an hour to six hours a week at the school. Many had been involved in their children's schools at the elementary level. With more than 900 seventh, eighth and ninth graders enrolled at Central, they were ready to pitch in and "clean up" the middle school.

They were there in the morning to help supervise in the bus unloading area. Before, during and after lunch hours they helped monitor halls, check lavatories, and checked unlocked classroom doors when classes were not in session. They patrolled the school grounds and adjacent off-campus areas. At 2:50 p.m., the conclusion of the school day, they were there for supervision of bus loading and the off-campus area adjacent to the school gymnasium.

"The kids were cooperative and basically receptive to POP," said one of the volunteers. In the two months it was in operation before the end of the school year, the situation at Central was improved — vastly. Administrations at other middle schools in the district were interested in the program.

Parents and other interested adult volunteers are invited to attend a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 18, in the Central cafeteria. It will be an informational and training session for the patrol for the 1983-84 school year.

GREG OWENS, Pat Moore, the teachers, parents and students at Central coped effectively with a bad situation by working together. They say they will continue until they have the Number 1 school in the district.

CORRECTION: We referred to Brooklane Golf Course, Sheldon and Five Mile, as a par 3 course in a story about the new retirees golf league. Thanks to Jeffrey, assistant pro at Brooklane, we stand corrected. Brooklane is an 18-hole, par-60, executive course.

LOTTIE HILES called with a response to Lynn Pierce's question about what to do with old newspapers and magazines.

Lottie said they take all their old newspapers to the Michigan Humane Society Kindness Center on Marquette in Westland. The papers are used as floor coverings in the cages and pens. The telephone number at the center is 721-7300. They use just newsprint — not the shin type of paper in magazines. The Hileses deliver their magazines to convalescent homes in the area.

Becky Koehl and Kristen Minke paint clown faces in a crafts project at day camp.

Amy Friday, 9, of Canton peels carrots to add to the menu of pizza and salad.

Lori Anderson (left) of Canton and Mary Clarke of Northville fan coals to encourage their campfire so they can cook their lunch.

Scouts, Brownies take to the woods in Maybury Park

Brownie and Junior Girl Scout day camp is in full swing this week at Maybury State Park with about 200 girls taking to the woods.

The Juniors have been working on badges — horse lover, music lover, or theater lover. They have been learning leather crafts, making leather bracelets and scarf ties. They are cooking outdoors and will sleep overnight in tents in the park.

The Brownies are working on crafts and learning outdoor skills such as fire building and fire safety. Nature awareness and simple first aid are taught. And they, too, will learn about outdoor cooking.

This is the second day camp session this summer at Maybury Park. Single sessions in the past could not accommodate all the girls who signed up for the day camp. For the first time, two camps were planned, one in July, and the second in August.

MARNA Adamian and Eileen Dunn are director and assistant director of the second session. Ruby Monk and Nancy Hammond headed the July camp.

Theme for the identical programs was "Under the Big Top." Each day began and ended with a flag ceremony attended by the entire encampment. Each unit was color coded with matching flags and neck scarfs for its group.

Special activities included a professional juggler teaching the girls simple juggling techniques. They sang familiar songs and learned new ones at the "Singing Tree."

The day camp was arranged by the Plymouth-Northville-Canton Area Association of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. Girls from the three communities attended. A special unit of boys, sons of the adult volunteers involved in the day camp, was organized at each session.

Lunch bags hang on clothesline between trees as the Girl Scouts learn the art of firebuilding.

Summer brings success stories

Talk about a whirlwind! How about some success stories about Canton kids?

Let's start with Michelle Monk, a 13-year-old student at Lowell Middle School. Michelle competed for the first time last fall in a tap dance competition in Taylor. Then at our very own Center Stage in Canton on Mother's Day, her group took fourth runner-up in the state competition, which qualified them for the national in Louisville.

So off to Louisville they went — Michelle, her mother and of course the 10 other girls in her group and their escorts, all from the Robert Lee Dance Studio in Garden City. The girls are ages 10-13. They stayed two nights and three days at the Holiday Inn Convention Center and had an experience that they will not soon forget.

There they stood on the stage, dressed in beautiful shiny aqua costumes. A sleek black ruffle draped over one shoulder fell gracefully across the front and down to the opposite hip with sequins glittering all the way down. And to add that special touch, a long black feather in their hair with a perfect stripe of aqua piping down the center of the feather. There you have the look of success and succeed they did. They came in third runner-up in the national competition. Congratulations Michelle.

I'M NOT the first to wish her congratulations. As a matter of fact, she received a long distance phone call from her 16-year-old sister, Vicki. Vicki is making some news of her own as she has been learning, practicing and now appearing all over the Boston area with the 27th Lancers Drum and Bugle Corps. She won a spot on their Color Guard Squad after auditioning last spring.

The Corps started competing in June and has been making guest appearances and competing since then. They made their one and only Michigan appearance in Fort Huron Aug. 1, but the big finish is in Miami, Fla. for the Drum Corps National Finals Aug. 14 to 20. The top 12 rated groups will compete for the top national position.

You will be able to see Vicki this year as she appears as the drum major for our own Centennial Educational Park Marching Band — 174 members strong, strutting their stuff.

As usual, nobody can make it that far on their own and here is where the community pulls together and helps out. The Canton Jaycees and the Canton Rotary Club pitched in and partially sponsored her trip. What would we do without you guys? Always there when we need you. Thanks for this and for all the times we forget to say it.

Now, watch this family go. What a great summer they have to look back on. As I hear it, next year may be even busier as their brother Chris, 10, from Erikson School, is becoming heavily involved in Scouting and that's one group that can really take you places!

SPEAKING of going places, Eric Thomas of Miller School also has been in New England this summer — Amherst, Mass. to be exact. He has just returned from a beautiful, real horsepunch New England summer with his grandparents, Bob and Hilda Adams.

Eric did all the wonderful things that make families fun. He helped his grandfather with all the household chores that only a grandparent has the patience to teach a young trainee. He even spent some time working in the family custom-made furniture store. Eric's Mom told me he did manage to find time to take a few dips in the swimming pool. But only after he finished riding the horse, you understand.

Oh, Eric, how a few thousand of us envy you. Hope you had as much fun doing it all, as I had telling about it.

But Eric is not a selfish guy. He brought his grandparents back to Michigan and showed them a great time here with his sister Amy (also from Miller School). His grandparents were here for two weeks and they enjoyed every minute, including a visit and tour of Hiram Walkers of Canada.

I remember asking you for ideas for short trips people could take this summer, and this sounds like one some of you might really enjoy and perhaps don't know about. Or, as I mentioned before, something you might have forgotten about.

So let me pass it on to you now, with special thanks to Judi Thomas for the tip. The tour ends with an "open bar" and is held only once a week. You might want to give them a call ahead of time, to get the details. The next time someone pops in this summer and you're run out of ambition for one more trip to Greenfield Village, try it. Sorry, but understandably no children are allowed.

Actually, I think the whole thing was a reward for Judi's dad who helped them put in the dreaded "sprinkler system." How lucky she is to have parents who come all this way and ask for work to do while they're here. I told Judi if they should come by unexpectedly sometime and she hasn't got anything planned, I'd be happy to try to drum up "something" for them to fix at my house (like my whole house). Only trying to be neighborly you understand.

JUST A QUICK note to welcome Vernon Peck back to his feet after suffering a nasty broken ankle. With all the dangerous hazards we have going in the world today, I really think it was unfair for him to have been zapped by the grass on a golf course.

We can protect ourselves from poisons, guns, rakes left on the lawn, chain saws, my pancakes, and we are even working on keeping the world from nuking itself to death.

But who would have expected grass to become vicious and start picking on innocent people. Well we are sorry it did, and sorry you had to suffer, and we are very glad you're feeling better.

AH BUT you're not alone. For as I type this column I have just been called to pick up a friend at the hospital, a nurse no less. Judy Karpiński has just been zapped by the "stick that goes in the sliding door-wall so thieves can't get in." Catchy name eh?

Michigan Osteopathic Medical Center (MOMC) has dedicated a $1.6 million addition to its Child & Youth Mental Health Hospital in Detroit, making possible services for up to 35 youngsters.

The hospital building, which opened last fall, also has 60 beds for short-term inpatient care.

The addition — including a gymnasium and facilities for classrooms, activity rooms and therapy — was built with a grant from the United Foundation Capital Fund Division.

MOMC hopes to relieve pressure on state mental facilities by providing psychiatric care at the community hospital level, said Barbara J. Clark.

Clark, MOMC vice president administrator for mental health services, said there are 6,000 patients in overcrowded state facilities. The nature of the overcrowding problem can be seen at Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital, a state hospital built to house 600 patients, but often providing services for more than 1,000 at one time.

Since the late seventies, MOMC has worked with the state to reduce the number of patients in Michigan mental hospitals by providing beds at the community hospital level.

Maybe we could, or should, have a contest and name that stick, especially if it's going to become a dangerous item to have around.

I just realized, not only did I forget to mention that it broke Judy's toe, but I'm out of space.

Nowicki-Smelewski

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene T. Nowicki of Chadwick Drive, Canton Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Lynn, to Steven Smelewski, son of Melton Smelewski of Union Lake and Carol Smelewski of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The bride-elect is a 1978 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School.

They plan to be married in June 1984.

Arts council plans show

Planning the annual artists and craftsmen show is almost a year-round project for the Plymouth Community Arts Council members. Committee members gathered recently at the home of Donna Harwood, who is chairing the event set for Sept. 10 and 11 in Central Middle School. Chairing individual committees are Michelle Dorrington (standing left), admissions; Doris Chatterley, market master; Dee Schulte, name tags; Barbara Sprague, publicity; and Jan Gattoni, facility; co-chairmen Rosemary Kramer, (left) and Mary Corridore are seated with Donna Harwood.

Krauss-North

Jennifer Lynn North and Philip M. Krauss II exchanged marriage vows June 5 in Martha Mary Chapel in Greenfield Village, Dearborn. The Rev. Eugene Ransom officiated. Donald and Patricia North of New England Lane, Canton Township are the bride's parents. Philip M. Krauss of Brookline, Mich., and Betty J. Krauss of Inxter are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride's white organza gown was trimmed with Chantilly lace and pearls. It had a chapel-length train. She carried a cascade of white roses and greens. Marsha Olsen was maid of honor and Cathy Candiaky was bridesmaid. They wore pink taffeta and white lace gowns and carried bouquets of white and pink roses. Faith North, flower girl, wore pink taffeta and white lace. She carried a white lace basket of rose petals.

John K. Barton was best man and Craig Krauss was groomsmen. Jeff Krauss and James Barton were ushers. The couple traveled to Mackinac Island on their wedding trip. They are living in Adrian where the bridegroom is an admissions counselor at Adrian College. He is a graduate of Adrian with a degree in political science. His bride attended Adrian College and graduated.

from the Fashion Institute of Technology in New York in 1983 with a bachelor's degree in business and home economics.

Kerszulis-Sciba

Mrs. Virginia Kerszulis of Dearborn Heights announces the engagement of her daughter, Sharon, to Darryl J. Sciba, son of James and Carol Sciba of Plymouth. The bride-elect is a 1978 graduate of Bentley High School. She is employed at Garden City Medical Center. Her fiancé graduated from Plymouth High School in 1973 and is employed by AAA Insurance Co.

They plan a late September wedding in St. Kenneth Catholic Church, Plymouth Township.

new voices

Sally and John Cunningham of Erik Pass, Plymouth, announce the birth of their son, Ryan Lee, July 17 in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. They have two older sons, Eric Lee, 9, and Adam Lee, 6. John Cunningham teaches English at Plymouth Canton High School and is gymnastics coach at the school.

church bulletin

- WARRENWOODS WESLEYAN
 New pastor the Rev. William F. Kinnam and his wife Donna, will be welcomed Sunday to Warrenwoods Wesleyan Church, 6615 Venoy, Westland.
 Regarding it as a new chapter in the life of the church, congregation members have planned an installation and celebration that will begin at 9:45 a.m. with a film showing of C.S. Lewis' "Narnia Chronicles." It will continue at 11 a.m. with service at which Kinnam will speak on new beginnings.
 Kinnam obtained a master of ministry degree from the Anderson School of Theology in Anderson, Ind., and a bachelor of arts in theology degree from Marion College in Marion, Ind.
 His pastoral experiences began with a three-year term as an associate pastor in New Jersey and as assistant pastor and youth director for two years in Marion. He also pioneered a Wesleyan Church in Houston, Texas.
 His most recent assignment was as an admissions officer and instructor at the United Wesleyan College in Allentown, Pa.
 Donna Kinnam grew up in Maryland, and graduated from Marion College. Both she and her husband, as college students, were included in "Who's Who in American Students."
- UNITY OF LIVONIA
 Doug Bortoff, minister at Tri-City Unity Temple in Bay City, Mich., will be the guest speaker at special summer services Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 6 and 7, at Detroit Laestadian Congregation, 290 Fairground at Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. He will address the congregation at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and at 6 p.m. Sunday.
- SACRED HEART BYZANTINE CATHOLIC
 Blessing of the fruit will be celebrated Friday through Sunday in Sacred Heart Byzantine Catholic Church, 29125 Six Mile Livonia. It will commemorate the transfiguration of Jesus Christ. Each church family is encouraged to bring a small basket or bowl of fruit to church for a blessing, and then take it home to be eaten as gifts from God.
 The fruit will be blessed during the Holy Day Liturgies and during the 6 p.m. Saturday Vigil Liturgy and the Sunday 10 a.m. Divine Liturgy.
- UNITED ASSEMBLY OF GOD
 The film, "People of Refuge," will be shown during the 6:30 p.m. service at United Assembly of God, 42021 E. Ann Arbor Ter. in Plymouth. The movie deals with the kind of compassion that recognizes when people are lonely and need comfort.
- SS. SIMON AND JUDE CATHOLIC
 Table space is still available for those wishing to sell arts and crafts at the Silver Jubilee festival Aug. 11-14 at SS. Simon and Jude Catholic Church, 32500 Palmer, Westland. Those interested may contact Nora Pawlus at 722-8397 or Frank Pekala at 527-5322.
 Festival hours are 6-10 p.m. Thursday, 6-midnight Friday, noon to midnight Saturday and noon to 10 p.m. Sunday.

Christ-Savior Lutheran plans new addition

Ground-breaking ceremonies will be held Sunday for new addition to Christ Our Savior Lutheran Church of Livonia.

The new addition will include the renovation of the present parish hall into two classrooms, the addition of three more classrooms, offices for five church workers, a library, parish hall/gymnasium, kitchen, restrooms and storage areas.

The building committee, chaired by William Kalitta, has been working since February with architect Gordon Merritt of Merritt and Callum, Architects of Farmington. The Adair-Chadwick Co. will be constructing the building.

Bells to signal call to prayer

In observance of the 38th anniversary of the bombing of Hiroshima, area Presbyterians will pause briefly in prayer at noon Saturday.

The call to pray for peace follows the adoption recently of a resolution by all churches of the Detroit Presbytery that recalls the fact that Saturday is the 38th anniversary of the detonation of the first nuclear device in warfare and is part of the church organization's anti-nuclear efforts.

Taking part in the observance that calls for the ringing of church bells 98 times are St. Paul Presbyterian and Rosedale Presbyterian churches of Livonia and Plymouth Presbyterian Church. All are affiliated with the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.).

Bloodmobile sets area stops

A Red Cross bloodmobile will visit Livonia on Sunday, Aug. 7, and Redford on Tuesday, Aug. 23.

The Livonia stop will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at Kenwood Church of Christ, 20200 Merriman. For an appointment, call Sergio Gaillat at 261-2094.

Redford Community Hospital, 25210 Grand River, Redford, will be the location of a visit from noon to 6 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 23. For an appointment, call Anna Stalman at 531-4500, ext. 32.

Donations are accepted every week-day and Saturdays at the Livonia Center, Bell Creek Office Plaza, 29691 Six Mile, Livonia. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Friday. Saturday hours are from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.
 For an appointment, call the center at 422-2820.

ELF: power, greed and a frightening giant

By Rev. Robert Schaden special writer

Despite the innocent and almost fairy tale sound of its name, ELF is no little thing. For those not familiar with Project ELF, the three letters stand for extreme-low-frequency. They refer to the radio waves of a communication system designed for our Trident submarine force.

The project serves as a prime example of how easily we can move from talking about defense to planning for war with most people oblivious to the deadly difference. One day we are talking about defending ourselves against the terrible Russians - most of whom are as frightened as we are - and the next day we are referring to a first strike weapon by such an innocent handle as ELF.

The designers and the backers of ELF may insist upon the national security aspect of ELF (a much disputed assumption) and speak of the project with pride. It's called national pride, making all as wholesome as apple pie. However, I do not personally find the ability to begin a nuclear war anything deserving of pride.

OUR NAVY, to whom Project ELF

... admits that ELF has no retaliatory role and could be easily sabotaged. Thus it's only purpose can be to provide us for those not familiar with Project ELF, the three letters stand for extreme-low-frequency. door for a much more extensive project which will eventually plant some 3400 miles of ELF cable in upper Michigan and Wisconsin.

Obviously, there is money to be made and that item, as is so often the case in the human condition, has a way of blurring whatever objectivity might be brought to bear. There is no secret that much of the lobbying for the project has been done by corporations that will profit from the project.

GTE Sylvania is the prime contractor and the local utilities are not at all disappointed in the projected one-million-dollar-a-year electrical bill.

As if the money, the "red-baiting" talk of patriotism and the ultimate danger to the preservation of peace were not enough to rally the efforts of ELF, the process of pushing it on the people of our Upper Peninsula is hardly worthy of the democratic process.

Although two out of three people have voted in recent referendums, the Michigan Natural Resources Commission voted 5-0 to grant an easement to the Navy for ELF, implying as they did that the use of land was not their responsibility.

Not only is ELF no little thing, it becomes a frightening giant in the hands of moneymakers who will have it no other way.

State offers festivals, fairs for every taste this summer

SUMMER IS A festive time of the year in Michigan, and this week we'd like to update you on some of the many festivals occurring statewide this month.

DEARBORN'S THREE-DAY FESTIVAL, called Dearborn Homecoming is Friday through Sunday at Ford Field, a huge green spread given to the city long ago by Clara Bryant Ford, wife of the first Henry. There will be carnival rides, a juried art fair, a Polish festival tent, an Italian Bocci festival and lots of other goodies.

Friday includes an oldest, battle of the bands; Saturday, reunion picnics for graduates of all Dearborn high schools, whatever the year, dance competition, highland games, Scottish festival-heritage-tattoo; Sunday, picnics, pioneer tent, fife and drum corps, summer jazz, festival of games, historical pageant etc.

It's quite a splash. Call 943-2320 for homecoming information. Ford Field is in West Dearborn. It borders Cherry Hill to the north or can be reached by walking two blocks north of Michigan Avenue.

THIS WEEKEND ALSO you'll find lots of events in southeast Michigan: the Monroe County Fair ends Saturday, it's Scandinavian Festival and Festival of India at Hart Plaza, German Day at Macomb County Park. Sunday is an old-fashioned ice cream festival at Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society in Pontiac.

Saturday is the final day of the county fairs in Caro, Lincoln, Bay City, Monroe, Harrison, Alma, Mason and Lowell, as well as of the Milltown Festival in Grayling.

The Ionia Free Fair and the U.S. Coast Guard Festival (Grand Haven) end Sunday. And: Nautical City Festival, Rogers City, Heritage Festival, Vassar, Polish Festival, Boyne Falls; Country in the City Celebration, University of Michigan campus, Ann Arbor; Chocoley Summer Festival Marquette; Lake Gogebic Summerfest, Bergland; Baraga County Fair, Pellike. All this weekend, Saturday and Sunday.

Sunday only, all of the above or an Indian Pow-Wow, at Cross Village, a classic car show at Meadowbrook Hall in Rochester or an old-time threshing bee at the nature center of the Delano Homestead in Kalamazoo.

TAKING NEXT WEEK OFF? There are county fairs all week in Jackson, Mt. Pleasant, Coldwater, Bad Axe Cornma and starting Monday in Belleville, Goodells, Cassopolis, Gaylord. Tuesday through Saturday, Aug. 13, in Manchester; Wednesday through Saturday, Aug. 10-13, in Atlanta and Mio.

Abbott's Magic Get-Together is on Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 10-13, in the high school gym in Colon. That is a famous, fun event. If you or your kids like magic, don't miss it.

Well, we got through one week. Too bad there's nothing much to do on a summer's weekend, and some run midweek, so you can pick and choose to accommodate your vacation schedule.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Wherever you vacation in Michigan this August, chances are there will be a county fair or festival nearby. Some of the festivals run for a week, some just for a weekend, and some run midweek, so you can pick and choose to accommodate your vacation schedule.

Tiger trip is planned

Can-Am Travel has a large block of tickets to the Detroit Tigers-Toronto Blue Jays series in Toronto Labor Day Weekend, Sept. 2-4. All tickets are field level and available in conjunction with Can-Am Tours. Contact them locally at 353-9740 or toll-free at 1-800-482-0629.

Travel photos workshop's focus

Lisl Dennis, considered by many to be the country's top travel photographer, will lead a series of one-week Travel Photography Workshops during August and September in New Mexico. The workshops will be held in Santa Fe starting Saturdays, Aug. 27, Sept. 3, 17 and 24. The fee of $785 covers accommodations at La Posada, a southwestern-style inn; an opening reception; Sunday brunch; and a final dinner. Air and most meal costs are on your own.

The workshop will include formal instruction and photo critiques, day trips (with lunch on location) to Taos, a ranch museum called Las Golondrinas and the ghost towns of Madrid and Cerrillos.

Dennis is the author of "How to Take Better Travel Photos" and "Travel Photography: Developing a Personal Style." She is a photography columnist at Lens Magazine and a regular contributor of photographs to Town and Country, Ultra, Modern Photography, and Travel/Holiday. She was named Travel Photographer of the Year by the Society of American Travel Writers in 1981 and is a member of the American Society of Magazine Photographers.

For a brochure, write to Travel Photography Workshop, P.O. Box 2847, Santa Fe, N.M. 87501 or telephone (505) 982-4972.

In one day the average person inhales 15,000 quarts of air.

Road Commission is overcharging, says Lucas staff

A Wayne County board committee is investigating complaints that the county's autonomous road commission is overcharging its parks division for use of equipment.

"It would be in our best interest to go to an outside source for rental or purchase of equipment," said a report from Martha Sorensen, a member of County Executive William Lucas' staff. She indicated the Wayne County Road Commission charges were three to 20 times normal.

But the report was termed ridiculous by parks superintendent Edwin E. Mika and David L. Jackson, assistant director of administration.

The road commission builds and maintains county roads from state gasoline and weight taxes. But its parks division is funded to the tune of $960,000 by county general government.

LUCAS ASKED the county board's ways and means committee to deny an appropriation of an additional $500,000 to keep county parks open beyond Aug. 15.

Mike said the parks would not be closed as of Aug. 15 but that all maintenance and supervisory personnel would be withdrawn if the funding weren't approved.

The CEO staff report, released Monday by ways and means Chairman Clarence R. Young, D-Detroit, compared rates from the state, Oakland County and private industry in concluding the road commission was overcharging the general fund for parks equipment.

EXAMPLES:

- The parks division is charged $1,946 per week for a pickup truck. The cost of leasing a Ford F-150 for a month would have been $255.

- The parks division was charged $3,028 a week for a dump truck. It could have been leased privately for $830 a month.

- A garbage packer cost parks $4,307 a week. Kent County and Oakland County parks pay $20,000 a year, not including labor.

The researcher said she was unable to get exact specifications for each piece of equipment, but noted that "machinery used in other park systems were compared."

Madonna is enrolling

Madonna College is conducting fall registration from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday in the administration building. The college is at I-96 and Levan Road in Livonia.

Classes start Tuesday, Sept. 6. Madonna offers associate and bachelor's degrees in more than 50 career-oriented programs. Graduate courses for master's in administration also are available. Students may choose day, evening or weekend classes.

Persons not admitted previously should contact the admissions office.

Students registering through Friday, Aug. 19, are required to pay 50 percent of their tuition that day. They will be billed for the remaining 50 percent Thursday, Oct. 13. Tuition for most undergraduate courses is $65 per credit and $100 for graduate credit.

Who cares for the kids?

JUST SUPPOSE: All high school sports for the coming year were canceled. Lots of folks around these parts wouldn't like that, I'll wager. Somebody's bound to ask sensible questions like, "Why? Millage failures?" The answer: Nope, that's not the reason. "Teacher strikes?" Wrong again, quiz kid. Keep trying. "The kids just aren't interested in sports anymore — is that it?" Strike three. Sports are as popular with kids as ever.

GIVE UP? Well, here's a hint. The canceled sports events wouldn't be without replacement. An exciting new melodrama would take their place on these sports pages. A good title for it would be, "Battle of Bureaucracies".

I know what you're thinking — this Risak guy has gone off the deep end again. What the heck is he talking about?

I admit it sounds like a ludicrous scenario. Unfortunately, it also happens to be entirely possible.

WHAT I'M TALKING about is something that happened last week. The group that reigns over the state's sports programs, the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA), filed suit against the U.S. Department of Education and the Office of Civil Rights, charging that Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 does not apply to athletics or programs not directly receiving federal funds.

What does all that mean? First off, Title IX has been hailed as the great sports equalizer. Because of Title IX, sports programs for girls have expanded tenfold.

So why would the MHSAA do such a dastardly thing? Are they opposed to girls competing in sports?

NOT AT ALL, says Vern Norris, MHSAA director.

"We're not against Title IX, nor are we opposed to the Office of Civil Rights," Norris said in a telephone conversation Monday. Norris repeated that statement several times.

"That is a misnomer as to why we filed the suit," he continued. "The reason we filed suit was because the Office of Civil Rights told us in June that we had to change sports seasons by Sept. 7."

The OCR? What do they have to do with this? I'll tell you what. The OCR made their ruling in answer to a complaint filed in 1982 by the Coalition for Non-Sexist Education against the MHSAA, five school districts and the Michigan Department of Education.

The complaint alleged that the MHSAA discriminates in the scheduling of girls' sports seasons, in representation of women and minorities on its decision-making committee, and in various other practices.

THE OCR decided the Coalition was right. They told the MHSAA that girls' sports seasons would have to be played during the time of year that was traditional for that sport.

Which meant girls' basketball would be played in winter, instead of the fall, because basketball traditionally is a winter sport. Other sports must follow suit (swimming in the winter instead of fall, etc.).

"They gave us no leeway of any kind," Norris protested. "There was no way to negotiate on anything."

Such a ruling, Norris pointed out, would throw the upcoming high school sports seasons into total confusion.

"The thing they don't know is that all sorts of contracts are signed with officials for playing dates," Norris said. "Schedules and sites are already set. It's kind of unrealistic to try and change all that now."

THAT'S TRUE. But the MHSAA is not entirely innocent in this matter.

What aggravates members of the Coalition that filed suit is the kind of "Catch-22" attitude adopted by school systems and MHSAA officials.

Norris said that in a 1981 referendum, "88 percent of the schools said they were satisfied with the split seasons as they were." He added that the MHSAA "administers programs at the wish of the schools."

Which means the MHSAA does what the schools tell them to, right? But Coalition members say that when they ask school administrators why the seasons can't be changed, they're told the MHSAA dictated when the sport will be played.

The MHSAA's decision-making committee is much more powerful than Norris suggests. There is no other group to check its power. If a certain school's administrators disagree with an MHSAA ruling, for instance, there isn't a lot of room for appeal. The only leverage they have would be to quit the MHSAA. That would prove very little.

IN A NUTSHELL, the Coalition wants more representation for women and minorities on the MHSAA decision-making committee (currently, three of 19 members are women) and girls' sports played in the season they were meant to be played.

The MHSAA, according to Norris, believes the school systems should be able to decide what sports will be played when, and only they should have power over such decisions. He also believes in the democratic process in selecting committee members.

The Elks' Bryan Capnerhurst tried to stretch a single into a double but was thrown out in Monday's first game against Brighton. Capnerhurst belted a two-run homer in the first inning of the second game to spark a 7-2 Elk triumph.

Elks open tourney with win

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Bucky Blake's pitching kept his team in the game long enough for the big guns to start booming as the Canton Elks opened the Connie Mack Baseball Regionals with a 3-2 triumph over Rochester yesterday at Marshall High School.

The win put the Elks into the tourney's winner's bracket for the second round. That game will be at 4:30 p.m. today at Marshall High. The opponent will be either Lincoln Park or the Pontiac district winner.

If Canton wins today, they will earn a bye into the final four. John Nissen or Rick Berberet, a recent roster addition, will pitch for Canton.

Blake was untouchable for the first six innings of the contest, shutting out Rochester on three hits while walking none. But the Elks had just as many problems with Rochester southpaw John Kozmik, who kept them off the scoreboard through four innings.

In the fifth, Canton's Jim Dillon was inserted as a pinch-hitter for Jeff Olson. Dillon responded in the clutch, slamming a solo homer to stake the Elks to a 1-0 lead.

Canton added two more runs in the sixth as Bryan Capnerhurst and Marty McCarthy singled and Tim Michalik doubled, scoring both runners and giving the Elks a 3-0 advantage.

State gridders strut stuff

By Chris McCoaky
staff writer

The rivalry hasn't yet reached University of Michigan-Ohio State, or U-M-MSU proportions, but it's getting there. At 2 p.m. Saturday, 80 of last year's top high school senior football players — 40 from the east side of the state, 40 from the west — will square off at Michigan State University's Spartan Stadium in the third annual Michigan High School All-Star football game.

The game, initiated by the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association to showcase the state's finest high school football talent and to raise money for various charity organizations, has gone beyond being just a friendly little game of tackle. The players are out to win and win big.

"They (the West squad) are cocky. I think some animosity is starting to build up between the teams," said Bob Stebbins, a tight end from Livonia Franklin, one of 10 players on the East team from the Observer & Eccentric service area.

AS EVIDENCE OF his statement, Stebbins relayed this story: Both teams eat their meals in the same dining commons, though they are staying in separate dormitories on the MSU campus. To decide which team gets served first, the teams have a cheering contest — the team with the loudest cheer eats first. At dinner last week, the West shouted a rather obscene chant maligning the East's masculinity. While the West enjoyed the laugh at the dinner table, Stebbins said the East players resolved to get the last laugh come Saturday afternoon.

"We want to win. That is our main goal," said Farmington Harrison's Ken Kish, who along with Livonia Franklin's Richard Popp, will share the quarterbacking duties for the East.

The East and West have split the two preceding games, the East winning in 1981, 6-3, and the West last year, 25-22.

This year's contest will pit the high-powered passing attack of the East against the patient, powerful ground attack of the West. Both teams are loaded with strong defensive players.

BESIDES STEBBINS, who will attend Central Michigan this fall, Kish who will go to Albion, and Popp who will attend Wayne State, other area players on the East squad are: David Blackmer (University of Wisconsin) from Harrison; Brian Munson (Bowling Green) and Bob Martz (Notre Dame) from Bloomfield Hills Lahser; Jeff Gatt (Hillsdale) from Redford Catholic Central; Mark Nichols, (MSU) from Birmingham Brother Rice; Jack Walker (U-M) from Westland John Glenn; and David Houle (MSU) from Plymouth Salem.

Please turn to Page 3

Dave Houle, a stand-out at light end for Plymouth Salem last season, will represent the area in the Michigan High School East-West All-Star Football Game Saturday at MSU's Spartan Stadium. Houle should get used to his surroundings: he'll play for MSU this fall.

Adray rolls over MNB

It's like a runaway freight train — who wants to step on the track and try to stop it?

Livonia Adray, the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League regular season champ, is the runaway that has whisked non-stop through 16 straight opponents.

The most recent victim was Michigan National Bank (MNB). Adray had little trouble disposing of MNB in the first round of the Livonia Collegiate playoffs, steaming to a 10-3 victory Sunday at Ford Field.

The victory raised Livonia Adray's record to 25-5-1 and vaulted the team into the winner's bracket against Wendy's of Ann Arbor in a game played last night. Wendy's qualified in the winner's bracket by upsetting regular season runner-up Redford-Westland Adray, 4-0, Sunday at Ford.

MNB AND REDFORD-WESTLAND met in the loser's bracket contest last night. The winner of that game will play the loser of the Livonia Adray-MNB contest Friday at 5:30 p.m. at Ford.

The championship will be at stake in Friday's 8 p.m. contest at Ford. If necessary, a final league playoff game will be played Saturday at 5 p.m.

At stake is an AAABA regional berth in the loser's bracket contest last night. The winner of that game will play the loser of the Livonia Adray-MNB contest Friday at 5:30 p.m. at Ford. The championship will be at stake in Friday's 8 p.m. contest at Ford. If necessary, a final league playoff game will be played Saturday at 5 p.m.

LIVONIA ADRAY got strong pitching from Mike MacDonald, who hurled the first seven innings against MNB and allowed two runs, walking three and striking out four.

John Recker relieved MacDonald in the eighth and surrendered one run while striking out two and issuing two walks.

Hitting heroes for Livonia Adray included John Judge, who smacked a pair of doubles to drive in three runs. John DePillo added a solo homer in the fourth and a run-scoring sacrifice fly, while Don Dombey collected two hits in four trips.

Pat Martin was the first of five MNB pitchers, lasting four innings and surrendering six runs.

Elks capture district title
Blake, who struck out four, tired in the seventh and allowed a triple, a double and a single as Rochester scored its final runs. Blake survived the rally to finish the game and claim the victory.

OUTSTANDING PITCHING and timely hitting is what got the Elks to yesterday's regional tournament.

Monday, the Canton squad wobbled slightly before asserting itself in winning the Allen Park district title, beating Brighton in the final contest, 7-2 at Champane Park.

Brighton forced the issue by beating Canton, 3-1, in the first game Monday. That gave both teams one loss in the double-elimination tournament.

But in the last game, the Elks' pitching was the difference, as it had been throughout the tournament.

"Pitching certainly was the difference," Racer agreed. Statistics proved him correct.

IN THEIR FIRST tournament game last Thursday, Mike Battaglia fired a three-hitter in blanking Pontiac, 4-0. Later that day, Jamie Chilcott took the mound and shut out the Livonia Angels, 11-0, again allowing just three hits.

Friday, John Nissen, a recent addition to the team, hurled a six-hitter as Canton advanced to the tournament semifinals with an 8-1 triumph.

The set up a dramatic showdown with the team Racer felt was his team's biggest rival, Garden City. The Elks proved equal to the challenge by nipping Garden City, 2-1, behind the combined three-hit pitching of Bucky Blake and Mark Bennett and Ed Jan Capenerhurst's two-run blast in the third inning.

AFTER THE WIN over Garden City, Racer admitted his team was "a little tired and a little overconfident" in its first game against Brighton. Consequently, Brighton struck for three runs in the bottom of the first inning and the Elks never recovered.

Kids ignored
Caught in the middle, of course, are the kids and the sports. Many coaches believe girls' basketball is fine right where it is. Good coaches can double up and coach both, and there's no conflict in use of gyms for practice. Media attention would also be greater in the fall than in winter, when girls' basketball would compete directly with boys.

WHO WILL WIN? The only decision issued at a hearing scheduled last week in Ann Arbor was a change of venue to the west side of the state, date to be determined.

Both sides insist they are in the right. If the courts uphold the Coalition's complaint, and the OCA's ruling, it could throw the entire upcoming sports season, for both boys and girls, into chaos.

Which makes me wonder: Has either side asked, or considered, what the athletes think?

Junior baseball improving
This season provided something new for the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League - a competitor.
The PCJB House Team reached the semifinals in a pair of recent tournaments, a feat past PCJB squads had failed to accomplish.
In the Monroe Tournament, the PCJB House Team upended Trenton, 10-0, and Tecumseh, 9-4, before losing to Toledo, 6-2. Wins against the PCJB American League squad (9-1) and Monroe (9-6) followed before Toledo sidelined the House Team by a 9-6 margin.
The PCJB House Team used pitching and defense to excel, allowing opponents only a 210 batting average while committing just one error.
More success followed at the Allen Park tournament. The Cantor, Koufax team was the first to fall as

Wings eye revenge
While the Detroit Red Wings have struggled on the ice in recent years, no other National Hockey League team has been able to hold a bat to them in softball.
Up, the Red Wings have won two of the last three NHL softball tournaments. Those Wings have consistently beaten just about everybody.
Except the All-Stars of the Canton Muscular Dystrophy Softball Tournament.
The tournament is this weekend, with Class B and C teams vying for honors. All proceeds go to benefit the MD Foundation.
On Sunday, a tournament All-Star team will challenge the Red Wings. It will be the fifth year the Red Wings will participate in the tournament.
So far, the All-Stars are 4-0. It's never been easy, however. Last year it took a home run in extra innings for the All-Stars to emerge victorious.
This year's game is at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at Griffin Park, on Canton Center Road between Ford and Cherry Hill. Admission is whatever you wish to donate to help in the fight against MD.

Is world title next for Finlan fastballers?
Finland Agency of Livonia, the 1983 Michigan Women's Major Fastpitch Association champion, took another step to a possible world title by finishing second in a regional qualifier July 23 and 24 in Madison, Wis.
Finland was defeated in the title game, 1-0, by C&S Products of Buchanan, Mich. a team it beat out during the regular season, there was still rejecting. The top two teams in the tourney, the Great Lakes regional, advanced to the American Softball Association's upcoming world tourney in Salt Lake City.
Finland drew a strong first opponent in the Wisconsin tourney, the Greater Milwaukee Bankettes, the Wisconsin softball

state champions in the Major Division and a team that had made the world tournament 15 years' running. No problem: Finland's shut 'em out, 3-0.
Finland's lost the next game to the Flint W.K.s, 2-0, then won two in a row, 2-1 over Nakoma, the Wisconsin Class A champions, and 3-0 over The Farms. That set up the title game, which was decided on a rare error by Finland's in the first inning.
Finlan may have finished second, but star Laura Houle, a Central Michigan standout during the college season, finished first in the Most Valuable Player voting.
Houle's fielding was sharp throughout, as was her hitting, particularly a game-winning home run in the bottom of the ninth in the 2-1 win over Nakoma.
Finland's, PLAYING as Oasis Golf Center this past weekend in the Livonia League, continued its winning ways with back-to-back shutouts that kept the team in a tie for first place with the Birmingham Eagles.
Jan Boyd four-hit Motor City Prescription in a 5-0 whitewashing, fanning 14 players for her strikeout high of the season. Jody Humphries supplied all the power that was needed with a lead-off home run in the second inning.
Shelly Larned then scattered three hits in a 4-0 win over the Dreamers, which gave her four shutouts and four victories on the season.
Oasis and Birmingham tangled Wednesday night for the league title. The game story will be in Monday's edition.

East takes on West in grid star game
Two Livonia Franklin coaches who believe Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes head coach Mike Boyd run the East squad, Armand Vigna will be the offensive coordinator and Gerry Cullin will be an assistant coach.
The team has been living and working out in East Lansing since July 28, and the consensus is that the teams are ready to go.
"We have had to install an offense and a defense in the short time we've been here," said Vigna. "But, with six school football players and offers a coaches, we can do both simultaneously. The defense, at this point, is way ahead of the offense. But, we're going to have a real healthy passing attack."
"THOSE WHO COME out are going to see an exciting, wide-open football game," Vigna added. "The game is going to showcase the things these players do best. No one is going to come out and play conservatively in a game like this. I know we're going to come out smoking."

Officials from the coaches association are expecting a crowd of more than 10,000 for the game. The game will be televised for the first time, on WDIV Channel 4.
Tickets are $3 in advance and $4 at the gate. Proceeds from the game will go to the coaches association Scholarship Fund, the Shriners' burn center for children and to the Ronald McDonald House.
The game is for everyone. For fans, the game showcases the top high school football players and offers a preview of the future college stars. For the coaches and local charities, it's a chance to raise some much-needed money.

But, the game is really for the players. It's a chance to meet and play against the best players in the state. It's a chance to get in shape for college. And for those who haven't been signed by a college, it's a chance to showcase their skills.

Jeff Gatt summed it up best: "For me, it's an honor to play in this game."

Benefit runners reach bridge

By C.J. Riskak staff writer

It wasn't easy, not by any means. But the enthusiasm of the supporters of the Detroit to Mackinac Olympic Relay was more than enough to keep the Schoolcraft College-sponsored team pounding the pavement.

The relay started last Thursday at Hart Plaza in downtown Detroit. By the time it concluded Sunday, the runners were jogging up to the Mackinac Bridge — a distance of 301.4 miles.

running

The Schoolcraft team consisted of 12 members, together with a few others who joined in along the way. Several times during the race, more than one member of the team was running, so that Schoolcraft piled up 506.2 total miles.

"Five people ran the entire last leg," said Schoolcraft athletic director Mary Gans, who drove the team's motor home during the race. The final leg covered eight miles.

"We were the only group that went all the way," Gans said. "So you can see what kind of interest there was."

INTEREST INDEED. So much interest that Tom Allen recruited his 13-year-old brother, Mike, to run a pair of three-mile legs.

Another team member, Jeff Mongrain, ran on Thursday and Friday, drove back to Detroit to play in a band Friday night, then rejoined the team Sunday in Cheboygan to finish the run.

"Some of our runners did exceptionally well," Gans said, remarking that "the heat was tremendous. Especially Friday, and that was an 80-mile day."

The team stopped in Birch Run the first night and in West Branch the second. On the third night, 10 miles from Gaylord, they did suffer a breakdown — but it wasn't any of the runners. This breakdown was in the motorhome.

"Someone got out of bed and fixed (our transmission) for us between one and five in the morning," Gans said.

That wasn't uncommon, according to Gans. Support was everywhere, especially from the Action Distributing of Livonia, sponsors who were responsible for aid stations that supplied water every two to three miles of the run "all the way to Mackinac," Gans said.

"THEY REALLY deserve a lot of credit," Gans said of Action's support. "They were instrumental in all of this."

Once the runners reached Mackinac, the Miller Distributors (including Action) presented a $50,000 check to benefit the Olympic Training Center.

Top runners for the Schoolcraft team included Tobin Jones and George Haddock, who ran over 73 miles each. Jeff Bristow totaled 65, Tom Allen had more than 51 and Greg Young and Margo Kazia hit 50 apiece. Russ Gans, the Schoolcraft athletic director's son, ran 47.5 miles. Others on the team included Sonny Gavoov, Ellen Henry, Joe Queen, Mike O'Toole and Mongrain.

By the time they reached Mackinac, all 12 team members had one thing in common: "They were very tired — exhausted," Gans said. "Most of them slept all the way back to Detroit."

It was a well-deserved, and much-needed, rest.

"Good Old Days" return

One of the most unusual sports promotions of the year will take place in the bowling establishments in greater Detroit over the weekend when they celebrate the "Good Old Days."

This is the weekend when they turn back the pages and sell bowling for 25 cents a line and serve hot dogs for another quarter. That's the same price it cost for a line, or a dog, 25 years ago.

It is estimated that more than five tons of the wieners will be served over the three-day period, starting on Friday.

One of the largest orders for the hot dogs came from Woodland Lanes in Livonia, where more than 2,000 of the frankfurters and buns will be eaten while the pins are being knocked down.

"This is the 10th anniversary of the 'Good Old Days' promotion."

WITH THE interest shown in the Ladies Pros tournament at Satellite Bowl, there is a possibility that the women will give the Detroit area a permanent spot on the schedule to roll what they have chosen to call the Detroit Open.

No decision is expected before the end of the year.

AS USUAL, the Gavie Sweepstakes, which annually usher in the new bowling season, will be held on the Friday prior to Labor Day.

The sweepstakes were inaugurated 40 years ago and are one of the most popular one-night events on the bowling calendar.

in the pocket

by W.W. Edgar

LARRY FRANZ, one of the veterans of the all-star circuit, proved he is ready for the new season when he posted a perfect game in a 9-2 series to pace the trio league at Bel-Air Lanes.

Next to him in the high game race was John Kohler, who found the pocket for a 288.

In the Bel-Aire high school league, Debbie Stralkowski rolled a 600 series on games of 211, 198 and 191.

Soccer tournament

The Ukrainian Sports Club heads the men's entrants and the Farmington Angels the women's entrants for the U.S. Soccer Federation's region two tournament of champions this weekend at Brighton.

Region two encompasses Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North and South Dakota.

The Ukrainian Sports Club is the host club and is the Bonanza Division champ of the Michigan Soccer League. The Michigan Soccer Association is co-hosting the tournament.

The Ukraine Sports Club is the 1982-83 Michigan Amateur Cup champion, as well as victor in the 1983 MSA tournament of champions.

For information on the tournament, which will be in Detrovo Park, call the Ukraine Sports Club at 893-8640.

Musician succeeds as financial planner

By Ethel Simmons staff writer

FOR 20 YEARS, Don Haas was a musician with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, but early on he realized that career was not going to earn him the kind of living he desired financially.

So while he continued to play in the orchestra's trumpet section, he also began to study the life-insurance business. That led him to a second career, which he expanded until today it encompasses the entire field of financial planning.

Although his clients are from all walks of life and professions, many of them represent areas of the entertainment business, especially the world of music.

He has handled life and hospital group insurance and a tax-sheltered annuities program for the Detroit Symphony and for orchestra members on an individual basis. Many DSO members and other performers today are his clients for insurance, investments or his full financial-planning services.

HE IS FINANCIAL advisor to the internationally renowned orchestra conductor Sixten Ehrling, who formerly conducted the Detroit Symphony. Other clients include Nathan Gordon, DSO principal violist, and his wife, Marjorie, a professional singer and organizer of the Picoe Opera Company.

Haas has handled investments for Julius Elku, who used to play string bass with the DSO, and his wife, Elizabeth, the orchestra's harpist. Just recently Haas began to work with the Elkus on their entire financial planning.

Haas had stayed with the orchestra until, 10 years ago, when he found himself wandering, while playing, "What am I doing here?" His insurance and investments business had grown to the point where he needed more time than he had available away from orchestra rehearsals and performances.

A Birmingham resident, Haas is a registered investment advisor with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Recently he joined the firm of Brode, Landsberg, Meisel & Haas, handling financial planning for the other partners' clients as well as his own.

His offices are in a high-rise building at 3000 Towne Center in Southfield, looking out on a busy traffic network and the Lawrence Institute of Technology.

THE DEOR IS tasteful, and one wall is filled with framed diplomas and other professional designations. On a pedestal is a small statue of "The Thinker." Haas himself is trim and dresses in conservative suits at the office. His hair and mustache are attractive and neat.

Not all of his music-world clients represent the classical scene. One is a drummer who plays in a dance combo. Haas asked him what he thought was the role of financial planner, and quoted him: "Entertainers - no matter whether they are big or small time, usually end up broke. Your job is to prevent that."

Another client is a Dixieland trumpet player, who once led the Queen City Jazz Band. The man is a psychologist by profession and an Air Force major. Being transferred to Germany for two years, the major hopes to continue with his avocation as a Dixieland musician in a band there.

Haas said it's important, when someone makes a move, to "put things in order" financially and to "revamp their plans based on a new economy and the inflation rate."

Because traveling is so much a part of their lives, many entertainers find it difficult to keep up on their own with financial matters. "Traveling on the road, doing one-nighters, it's hard to know what's happening to the stock market," Haas said.

HE DOES encourage his clients to keep up on financial activities by reading the newspaper business section and watching the Dow-Jones industrials.

He smiled as he recalled an experience with a local cocktail-lounge pianist who was a client. "All his life he avoided getting it and living," Haas said.

The client wasn't quite ready, mentally, to make any investments in the stock market, even though Haas expected the market to go down, which would have meant some profits.

"I had to explain what to look for," Haas said. When the client discovered he could have made some money if he'd invested, he started watching "Wall Street Week" and reading other sources of stock-market information.

"Not liking it, but doing it," was how Haas explained the man's reaction to paying attention to financial news.

Back in 1969, Haas and several other DSO musicians formed a rock group called the Symphonic Metamorphosis (later, the Metamorphosis). The group toured and made two albums with London Records before deciding it wasn't going to become really big and disbanding in 1972.

THIS BACKGROUND, however, helped Haas conduct a class on the financial management of a rock group. The class was held during a two-week rock seminar on the Oakland University campus near Rochester, as part of a School of Music summer program.

Haas clients don't include any bands. Musicians change groups frequently, and he is likely to represent them as individuals.

Kirk, one of Haas' three children, is a young talent with the Actors Alliance Theatre Company in Southfield. Does Dad manage his finances? "There's not too much finances to manage with him yet," Haas said. He added that Kirk is not only a performer with the acting program but also manages its office procedures and ticket sales.

The guys in the ever-popular Four Freshmen vocal group have been personal friends of Haas for 25 years. Bob and there were more expenses, he went back to Wayne State University for a master of education degree.

Don Haas gave up a career as trumpet player with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra to go into insurance, investments and financial planning. His clients include many personalities in the entertainment field. Haas' skyscraper offices with Brode, Landsberg, Meisel & Haas are in Southfield's Towne Center.

Then he read a book on life insurance and began to study in that field, taking off from there into other financial areas. "I left the music business at age 43," he said.

Conductor Sixten Ehrling has been a client for a dozen years and Haas also worked with him as a musician with the DSO, but Ehrling has always been formal. "It was always Mr. Ehrling and Mr. Haas." Only until a year ago did Ehrling suggest they get on a first-name basis.

Old favorite stays the same

By James Windell special writer

This has been a summer of catching up on old favorites. Last Saturday night, it was at the Meadow Brook Music Festival.

I remember Andy Williams from the early days of the outdoor music theater when he was gaining a reputation and it brought in — during the early days of the 1970s — Johnny Mathis, Chicago and Andy Williams. Back then, old smoothie Andy Williams, on both his TV show and on the concert stage, was velvet of voice and low of key. He sang wonderfully romantic pop tunes with Henry Mancini's becoming his trademark.

The TV show has been gone for a few years now and he hasn't made an album in ages. He's even cut back on his Las Vegas appearances. So what's he up to these days and what are his concerts like?

Andy Williams is still an old smoothie who delights the Meadow Brook crowd.

review

The hair is whiter on the 54-year-old crooner. Part of the fun of catching up on old favorites is to be reminded how well they do certain things. Williams not only sings the romantic ballads well, his voice sounds controlled and warm, no matter what note he's singing.

HIS CHEERFULNESS and charm still win an audience over — although this one at Meadow Brook was won over before he sang his first note. He can make holding hands with a middle-aged lady from Brownstown, while he croons "The Hawaiian Wedding Song," touching, rather than trite.

If the whole evening is a bit syrupy and lacking in musical excitement, the trademark Mancini songs, such as "Moon River" and "Days of Wine and Roses," are still sung. And for a lot of people who braved the blazing temperatures for this concert, that was pretty high on the agenda anyway.

Williams' show was a bit short, at least the warm-up act was entertaining. Young Los Angeles comedian Jerry Seinfeld did a half-hour stand-up routine that was very funny and perfectly tuned to the kind of audience that would be impatient for Williams.

Seinfeld, a fresh, clean-cut young comic, found the funnybones of the audience with clever bits about flying on commercial airlines, lunch meats and Florida.

"My parents are in their 60s," he said, "and they're moving to Florida."

"They don't want to, but they have to. It's the law. If you're in your 60s, you have to move to Florida."

Cultures share ethnic event

The Scandinavian Ethnic Festival and the Festival of India will be presented Friday-Sunday at Hart Plaza in downtown Detroit.

Opening ceremonies are around 6 p.m. Friday, with activities continuing until midnight. Hours are noon to midnight Saturday and noon to 10 p.m. Sunday.

The flag ceremony will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday, with Scandinavian Festival Queen Terri Jarvi on hand. Jarvi was a representative at the "Festivals Around the World" contest.

After opening ceremonies, the Riverview Windwood Quintet will play traditional and Scandinavian music. The Scandinavian Symphony Winds and the DIBias Brass group will perform throughout the weekend.

Kirby stars

Stand-up comic/impressionist George Kirby is appearing through Saturday at Gino's Surf Supper Club, 37400 Jefferson, Mount Clemens. Entertainment fee is $8 Sunday and tonight, $10 Friday-Saturday. Kirby's repertoire of impersonations includes James Cagney, Humphrey Bogart, Marlon Brando, Pearl Bailey, Joe Williams, Edith Bunker and Gregory Peck. Kirby's career has spanned four decades from Chicago's South Side to the Las Vegas strip.

Second runs Tom Panzenhagen

"Boy on a Dolphin" (1957), 9:30 a.m. Sunday on Ch. 4. Originally 111 minutes. Sophia Loren makes her American film debut in a memorable one as a 30-year-old bride who is in the wet T-shirt department. The film itself is not so memorable, but the scenery — the Greek Isles included — is fabulous. Alan Ladd and Clifton Webb co-star. Rating: $2.95.

"Captain Newman, M.D." (1963), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 126 minutes. Stewart Gregory Peck holds together this taut drama about mentally unbalanced war veterans, while Eddie Albert and singer Bobby Darin give the offset performances of their careers. Tony Curtis and Larry Storch provide some comic relief; Angie Dickinson and the love interest. Somewhat predictable but very well executed. Rating: $2.95.

"Night of the Gypsy" (1964), 12:30 Monday night on Ch. 7. Originally 118 minutes. How can anyone consider Richard Burton a poor actor? He's marvelous in John Huston's "Night of the Gypsy," the sullen, sexually frustrated tour bus operator caught among the clutches of provocative Ava Gardner, prim Deborah Kerr and teen-vixen Sue Lyon. The interplay between Burton and Lyon — one-third of this movie — is better than anything James Mason and Lyon managed in all of "Lolita" two years earlier. Rating: $3.45.

"The Candidate" (1972), 12:30 p.m. Tuesday night on Ch. 7. Originally 109 minutes. Here's the film every presidential contender should see. Robert Redford, Peter Boyle, Melvyn Douglas, Don Porter and Allen Garfield star in the Michael Ritchie film that demonstrates how politics can corrupt the most idealistic of candidates. Rating: $3.

"Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" (1966), 12:30 Wednesday night on Ch. 7. Originally 129 minutes. Burton's back and better than ever in this Mike Nichols film from the Edward Albee play. Elizabeth Taylor co-stars, along with George Segal and Sandy Dennis, in a picture that's a bit hard to take but a must-see for devotees of the conversation film. Rating: $2.95.

"Play It Again, Sam" (1972), 2 Wednesday night on Ch. 4. Original-

Exhibit features black folk art

Performances of rural blues and traditional gospel music, lectures, gallery talks and demonstrations of Afro-American arts are among the free August events at the Detroit Institute of Arts to complement the museum's exhibition "Black Folk Art in America 1930-1980." Three Sundays of music from 3:30-4:30 p.m. will feature Jim Brewer, blues guitarist, Aug. 14; Herbert Picker and the New Light Celestial Choir, Aug. 21; and Blind Jim Davis, 90-year-old blues pianist, Aug. 28. All music events are free and co-sponsored by the Founders Junior Council and the museum's Performing Arts Department.

Wood Carving: 'It's you against the wood'

exhibitions

By Mary Klemic
staff writer

It started with Raggedy Ann and Andy and a cowboy boot.

The figures were among the first carved by Roy Sipes of Westland.

"I saw a carving show about 10 years ago and said, 'That's what I want to do,'" he recalled.

Now a member of the Livonia Woodcarvers club, Sipes teaches others about the craft, which he says is popular these days.

MARGENE JOHNSTON/staff photographer

Wood carver Roy Sipes of Westland is hard at work on a new carving. Below is part of the work he likes best, a bar-room scene complete with a dozen figures and such accessories as a piano with keys.

"It's you against the wood," he said. "You're trying to release an image from a block of wood."

CARVERS HAVE different methods and approaches to the work, according to Sipes.

"Some will attack the wood, and others love the wood," he said. "Some are very violent and very aggressive. They leave whittle marks that show in the wood. Others smooth it over and over."

"Somebody might work 10 hours on a little piece, while somebody else might work 50 hours."

Hard woods, such as walnut, oak and mahogany are used in woodcarving, along with such soft woods as bass wood and pine. The selection of the wood is important, according to Sipes.

"I like whittling, and I use pine or bass wood for whittling," he said. "Once I got a piece of pine that was too hard. I couldn't carve anything. It takes experience."

THE CARVINGS can be finished with oil or acrylic paint, shellac, varnish, stains or oil that bring out the wood grain.

Tools used in the process include whittling knives, gouges and chisels. Sipes often uses a band saw as well.

"The sharpening of the tools is a lost art," Sipes said. "There are people who can't sharpen their kitchen knives."

Tools are sharpened on flat stones that are treated with honing oil. The tools must be sharpened "every 10 hours or so," Sipes said.

"You have to hold the tool just very carefully, in the right position," he said.

Novice woodcarvers often carve a dog, duck or cowboy boot, Sipes said. "Once they get that worked out, they try something else," he said.

Sipes now prepares patterns of Raggedy Ann and Andy for his woodcarving class, and gives them to students for an early assignment.

MARGENE JOHNSTON/staff photographer

From humble beginnings, wood carver Roy Sipes has gradually become more skilled with his carvings. He now makes these lifelike figures spending hundreds of hours producing the desired effects. Sipes' work, along with the carvings of many other carvers, will be on display this weekend in Livonia's Eddie Edgar Sports Arena.

"I tell my students, 'We use an awful lot of woodchips and Band-Aids,'" Sipes laughed.

ONE OF HIS works that he is proudest of is a Western saloon scene, complete with cowboy figures, wooden floor, rickety piano and cards. Sipes spent all winter carving the 12-figure piece. Each figure was made from a $4 block of wood.

"It's a labor of love, and it's fun," he said.

The Livonia Woodcarvers' organization is one of the largest of its kind in the world, according to Sipes. It has 300 members from 40 area communities.

"There's a real good mix — retirees, women and children," Sipes said. "We help each other. It's a self-help group. We're out to promote the art as a craft."

Anyone who is interested in woodcarving or would like to learn more about it is welcome to join the Livonia Woodcarvers, Sipes said. Club members exchange information on wood, equipment and techniques. The club meets at 7:30 p.m. on the third Tuesday of every month at the Senior Citizen Center, Five Mile and Farmington roads.

The Livonia Woodcarvers Club will present its ninth annual woodcarving show this Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 6 and 7, at the Eddie Edgar Sports Arena, 33841 Lyndon in Livonia. The show will run from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free. The juried show will feature 100 carvers from the midwest and Canada.

Sheets make great canvasses

This lake scene was done by Karen Meneghin of New York City.

More than 50 artists turned ordinary white bed sheets, donated by K mart Corporation, into works of art full of vitality, color and imagination to benefit Meadow Brook Art Gallery on the campus of Oakland University.

The sheets will be auctioned off at an Aug. 13 picnic on the Meadow Brook Hall lawn, complete with a picnic supper and tickets for the Detroit Symphony Pops concert following.

Last year's event, also with hand painted and decorated sheets, was so successful that this year's co-chairmen, Rosanne Schussel and Kathleen Phillippi, decided to continue with a good thing, adding a few variations of their own, especially the name, "Sheets and Champagne."

The sheets are on display in Meadow Brook Gallery Aug. 10-12 and visitors may place silent bids on any or all of the beauties. Tickets for the picnic are $60 per person. Marion Handelman is president of Meadow Brook Gallery Associates.

Mary Beard-Detroit, a contemporary artist from West Bloomfield, switched from her usual contemporary approach to do this group of ladies for her contribution to the Meadow Brook Art Gallery benefit.

Set personal goals

Commitment is necessary for success in art

By David P. Messing
staff writer

Who are you? Are you a youngster dreaming of a career in art? A college student working towards a degree in art? A middle-age person wondering about your ability to start or improve in your artwork? Are you a retiree and considering art as a hobby?

Your art, whoever you are, is totally up to you. There are many choices you can make. But commitment is what is necessary for success in your art.

Commitment means that there are no other alternatives, your mind is set and your success is certain. But what is success? It has nothing to do with money. It is merely the result of what you hoped for. So "what is hoped for," is again very personal and individual.

One artist hopes just to be allowed to show his or her work, while another hopes to win a blue ribbon. How good it is that in the same show both can become successful, neither looking to the other in arrogance nor envy.

LET ME quickly interject a thought about art shows. Don't be too proud or too depressed about the outcome of an art show. Usually if you place well or win a ribbon you think, "Boy, that judge knows good artwork when he sees it." And if you win nothing you think "that jerk couldn't judge a turtle race." Since art can hardly be defined, then "good" art "better" art and "best" art, is three times as hard to define. So the judge must define "good," "better," and "best" according to his own definitions based on his own experience.

Your art is a very personal expression. It reflects your feelings and attitudes, the way you see and the way you render. A spoken word is soon forgotten, a recorded word is not often read, but a work of art is an expression always visible.

Many times your work can even express much more than you intended. For this reason I do not often title my works because titles limit the feelings of the viewers. For example: I did a "small show" once, where I showed a large painting of a lion lying in the grass. Some people said how fierce and strong the lion looked while others said how cute and peaceful he seemed to be. Humble soul that I am, I took credit for both interpretations.

So if success is the result of what you hope for, then hope for the best that you can do in each media. If you fail in one or two, go on to another. Also hope and commit yourself to the idea that you can draw anything. No one wants to be a "horse artist" or a "shack and barn and sometimes flower artist."

ANYONE WHO can draw any single thing in nature can draw any other thing in nature. There are many more individual shapes in a basket of fruit than in a horse's head or even a human head. But the increase in the critical placement, don't be afraid of it, merely find out how to learn more about it.

There are learn to draw books on just about everything. Also seek out artists you admire and ask them about the subject you wish to draw. Once your mind understands it than quickly your mind can draw it.

Do you know you might be able to draw realistically. You might even have the ability to draw photographically. Quite a few of my students have that ability and many never even knew it. All they needed to know was perhaps how to rough in a drawing and how to use all the hardnesses of pencil.

Because pencil is about the easiest media to achieve photographic results. Then through technical training they can learn to achieve realism in most any media. Even though realism is most often admired by other artists, and especially by non-artists, it is not something to be sought for by the advanced artist.

THE ADVANCED artist is somewhat accustomed to the "oos" and "ahhs" of viewers and somewhere in his or her mind the compliment of photographic realism doesn't quite sound as good.

Expression is more the goal and what must be done to reach it. Here the artist abstracts, or selects what he or she will render rather than draw every detail. In college my friend Chuck and I played badminton all the time. As friends, we would laugh and enjoy each others company until there was a badminton net between us. Then we were gladiators, and war, pestilence and famine floated back and forth as we played.

Art requires commitment

Even in this heated battle of racquet and birdie, we usually behaved like gentlemen. Except when we really needed a point. We had a "dirty" point. On the serve, you simply look to your left and lightly tap the birdie to the right just over the net. It usually worked.

TO THE advanced artist, photographic realism is like that "dirty point." It is always available and it usually works. But why not express something, or exaggerate some feature or color to achieve a mood.

Now I am not talking about the strange non-objective paintings which are collectively known as abstract art. Even though I do have an appreciation for them I feel an artist must first be able to achieve realism as his credentials. In other words if you can't draw it photographically you are not qualified to abstract it.

Much of the sale of this type of work is based on the ignorance of the buyer. How dramatic, on the other hand, can be the abstract work of a qualified artist who knows just what shapes and colors he needs to express his feelings.

Hope and commit yourself to the idea that you can draw anything... Anyone who can draw any single thing in nature can draw any other thing in nature.

I recently painted a watercolor of a coyote. I wanted to show that he was very much a predator, but also very much hunted for bounty. I lengthened his legs to make him long and lean. Ruffed up his mane as if he was to attack or act in defense. I painted his eyes in a yellowish stare as if he were looking to kill or about to be killed.

ARTFUL If you have trouble with white ink and other opaque ink colors separating in the reservoir of your technical ink pen, just a "B" in the reservoir, this will keep the ink mixed. This hint came from John Frost, Livonia. Thanks. If anyone has any helpful hints for our readers, mail to David Messing, 1874 Middlebelt Road, Livonia 48152.

His shadow below him, rather than being a glow, is all washed in red as if from a recent kill. His head and front parts are merely a wash. Now all of this is abstracted and selected from a photo, but not so much that it lost its appearance or familiarity to viewers.

Pre-Columbian exhibit impresses

The new show of pre-Columbian art at Donna Jacobs Gallery of Birmingham reinforces the cliché about painters being rewarded.

The jaguar-spouted vessel above is from the Ica Valley, Peru, 700-800 A.D. It is one of several excellent pre-Columbian pieces.

Jacobs said she has been waiting for a long time to do a full show of this kind of art in her gallery which specializes in antiques. Finally, she said, a large group of first-rate pieces became available and she went for it.

Instead of the available pre-Columbian broken or fragmented pieces, she opted to wait until she could show a much rarer collection of intact figures, bowls and artifacts.

The gallery is on the second floor, 574 N. Woodward, Birmingham. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday.

Visitors will marvel at the condition of many of the works in the show, all but one of which are ceramic. Most were burial pieces which accounts for the good condition.

In simplest terms, pre-Columbian means anything in the Americas before Columbus — Mexico, South America and Central America.

Because animals were so much a part of the life and culture of the pre-Columbian civilizations, as expected, a great deal of care was lavished on depicting them. In fact, the animals seem more artfully shown than the people. The bodies of dogs, pumas and parrots, for instance, are rounded, well proportioned and easily recognizable.

The earliest pieces are two figures, male and female, from the Machallilla culture of Ecuador, 2700-1600 B.C. These illustrate the use of scarification as body decoration.

The latest piece in the show is a silver flask — Chiclayo, North Coast, Peru, 1200-1400 A.D.

Most of all, this splendid exhibit bridges a wide time gap. The ancients suddenly become human and understandable and our knowledge of history grows richer and more enduring.

Q. I want to send some of my cartoons to a magazine. What is the most accepted means of drawing them?
A. The two most common ways of doing cartoons for a magazine would be pen and ink wash and pen and ink with texture screens. Cartoon A was done in ink. For the gray wash I used a brush and diluted my ink with water. Cartoon B was a scene where a little boy added grass clippings to his father's paint. The black outlines were again done in a quill pen but the grays were done in texture screens.
The father's pants were 80 percent of black and the gray of the wall was 20 percent. Texture screens come in hundreds of textures and many percentages of black. There is also a selection of large and small dot patterns. If your artwork will be reduced greatly it is best to use a middle to large dot pattern. For cartoons it is usually best to use illustration board or at least a good grade of Bristol paper.
