Burglars shatter peace of church

By Mary Klemic
staff writer

Divine Savior Catholic Church is nestled in a peaceful, wooded area between Hix and Haggerty roads in Westland. But the tranquil setting was shattered somewhat over the weekend.

In a break that is under investigation by Westland police, a variety of electrical and musical equipment was taken, and a hard oak cross, handmade by one of the parishioners, was pried off from the front of the church and partially burned.

"It's such a neat, neat place, and the people are nice, and then this has to happen," a church secretary said. "We feel like we've been violated."

"Maybe if someone does hear something (about the break-in) they can call the police or the church."

AMONG THE items taken in the break-in were 10 microphones, cymbals, a bass guitar, music stands, cord and a music mixer, according to police.

"The only things they didn't take was what they couldn't get through the hole in the ceiling," the secretary said.

Police said the thieves entered the church, located at 39375 Joy, through the roof between 9:30 p.m. Sunday and 7 a.m. Monday and broke into an office. Once inside, the burglars threw pictures and wall hangings on the floor, tipped over flower pots and set off a fire extinguisher. Lawn mowers were filled with sand and rolled into the woods.

The amount of damage resulting from the burglary was unknown earlier this week. But the burning of the cross is the most costly part of the break-in for church members, the secretary said.

THE CROSS, measuring between eight and 10 feet, reportedly was taken to the back of the church, where it was set on fire. The fire was still smoldering when the break-in was discovered by a custodian Monday morning.

"It's a shock that anybody would do that," the secretary said. "The cross is a symbol of our faith."

Police said that "Lucifer," "Death" and "666" were found written in sand at the church. The figure "666" has been associated with the devil.

Divine Savior was dedicated in 1977. Many of the 560 families in the parish come from Westland, Canton, Plymouth and Livonia.

The incident was not the first break-in at Divine Savior. Burglars took $2,000 in collection money from the church in January 1982. That burglary is still being investigated by police.

Anyone with any information about the break-in is urged to contact Westland Police Sgt. Emery Price, 721-6311, or Divine Savior Church, 455-3621.

Teachers on job as talks continue

'It's been two years since teachers had a raise, and to offer 3 percent now is pretty insulting in light of the (schools') financial situation as the district describes it.'

— Tom Cotner
former PCEA negotiator

By M.B. Dillon Ward
staff writer

In an action that riled chief union negotiator Tom Cotner to the point of resigning, teachers voted 394-291 to begin work this week — even though negotiations with the school district remain at an impasse.

The Plymouth-Canton Education Association's (PCEA) decision not to strike came at a 6 a.m. union meeting Monday, just prior to the start of school. Union officials favored a strike, calling it the district's best offer "an insult."

At issue is a salary reopener clause in the teachers' two-year contract, which expires at the close of the 1983-84 school year. A no-strike clause included in the agreement is credited with the avoidance of a work stoppage. Unions representing transportation, cafeteria, and secretarial workers, teachers' aides and custodians had agreed to act in accordance with the PCEA, and reported to work as scheduled.

Talks broke down after bargaining sessions Thursday and Friday. Both sides are petitioning the services of a mediator from the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC).

Because MERC mediators are backlogged, it's not yet known when bargaining will resume.

DISTRICT NEGOTIATORS had drafted a two-year proposal featuring a 3 percent raise the first year, a 5 percent increase the second year and various language changes.

The PCEA two-year counterproposal called for a 3 percent raise and a 3-5

Prison officials seek 5 escapees

Police and prison officials are searching for five men who escaped from the Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo) Monday night during an exercise session.

The men were inmates of DeHoCo's cellblock compound on Five Mile Road in Plymouth Township and were serving varying sentences up to one year.

"We feel the escape was something the men had planned for some time," said Emmett R. Baylor, DeHoCo director.

The men had not been captured as of Tuesday, however they are not considered dangerous, Baylor said.

The men escaped about 8 p.m. Monday by climbing a fence and breaking through some rusty barbed wire. Correctional officers watching the perimeter of the fenced-in exercise area fired a warning shot in an unsuccessful attempt to stop the men.

The men found a "weak area" — the evening exercise session outside and some rusty barbed wire — and capitalized on it, according to Baylor.

"By state law the inmates must be allowed to go out and exercise once a day," he said.

Although the men were being held in what DeHoCo officials call maximum security, Baylor said, "it's nothing like maximum security at other prisons."

Men in the cellblock section of DeHoCo are wanted on felony charges by other police departments or have been determined to be hostile, Baylor said.

PRISON TERMS at DeHoCo can't exceed one year and usually stem from misdemeanor or high misdemeanor convictions.

Future exercise sessions at DeHoCo were being canceled until the barbed wire was replaced around the exercise area, Baylor said Tuesday.

The escapees were identified as:

- Mark A. Partin, 21, white, 5-foot-8-inches, 155 pounds, brown hair, blue eyes, with tattoos on both arms.
- Timothy K. Taylor, 24, white, 5-foot-9-inches, 150 pounds, brown hair, and blue eyes.
- Garnet Harper, 19, hazel, 6 foot, 166 pounds, brown hair, and hazel eyes.
- Donny W. Ison, 32, white, 5-foot-8-inches, 155 pounds, brown hair, brown eyes, with tattoos on both arms.
- Keith J. Wideman, 18, black, 5-foot-4-inches, 140 pounds, black hair, and brown eyes.

Anyone with information about the whereabouts of these men is asked to call the local police department or DeHoCo at 459-2500.

Patton named to head Lowell

Patricia Patton has been appointed principal of Lowell Middle School replacing Dr. Gary Faber who recently accepted a position as principal of West Bloomfield High.

The appointment was made at a special meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education Monday night.

Patton has served for the past four years as an area coordinator at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) where she has had responsibilities in the area of discipline, and for the departments of counselling, skills for living and libraries.

Before her work as an area coordinator she was a learning specialist at Central Middle School. She also had participated in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District's administrative intern program and had taught junior high school for five years in Livonia.

Her educational background includes bachelor of science and master of arts degrees from Eastern Michigan University. She is enrolled at EMU in a program leading to the specialists' degree in administration.

COMMENTING ON the appointment, board President Glenn Schroeder said, "We are happy to have Mrs. Patton fill this position. This is again an example of the quality of the people we have serving us here in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools."

In addition to her teaching and administrative experience, Patton has served on a districtwide testing committee and a middle school philosophy committee. She holds a teaching certificate with qualifications in English and social science.

She, her husband and two children live in Superior Township and her hobbies include gardening and handicrafts.

"While I will miss the many outstanding people with whom I've worked at the CEP," said Patton, "I am looking forward to the opportunity to work with the fine staff at Lowell."

There are very exciting things happening in instruction in the Plymouth-Canton Schools, and I'm pleased to be a part of those activities at the Lowell Middle School."

Party store wins disputed liquor license

By M.B. Dillon Ward
staff writer

A group of defeated homeowners is bracing for problems it expects to encounter in the wake of a ruling by the state Liquor Control Commission (LCC).

The LCC has granted an appeal made by businessman Gorgis Odish, approving his plan to build a party store near the James Gallimore Elementary School on Sheldon Road south of Joy.

Despite the Canton Township Board's recommendation against it, Odish obtained a package liquor license and will sell party supplies, deli-style food, paper products and alcohol at the store, to be located between Gallimore school and Canton Calvary Church.

Residents fear the business, to be built adjacent to the school playground, will attract undesirables and encourage the use of alcohol. Problems with traffic, loitering and littering are also anticipated by the majority of Forest Homeowners Association's 215 members, said Nancy Zelek, who serves on Gallimore's PTO and on the association's board of directors.

Odish's triangular parcel, bordered by Sheldon and Sheldon Center Roads, was zoned for commercial use about 15 years ago by the township, she said. Residents, however, hold that subsequent and extensive residential development in the area renders the zoning out of date. They consider the establishment "neither necessary nor desirable."

LAST MARCH, the township board advised the LCC of its opposition to Odish's development. The location is "inappropriate, considering the desirability of establishing a location in developed, commercial areas in preference to isolated, undeveloped commercial areas; the attitude of adjacent residents and property owners, and distance from the public school for minors," wrote the officials.

Neither board members nor the township zoning appeals board, however, attempted to rezone the parcel.

The LCC denied Odish's first request shortly afterward due to his failure to provide a site plan and because of strong opposition to the development by residents, state representatives, school officials, the Gallimore PTO and Canton Calvary Church. Odish drew up a site plan and appealed.

The LCC rescinded its initial decision, granting the license subject to several restrictions.

"While the commission is sympathetic to any resident's attempt to preserve the nature of their neighborhood," wrote the LCC, "... the geographic location of the (proposed) business appears to be in accordance with local ordinances and previous community planning. Thus the commission will not substitute its judgment for that of the township zoning officials."

"As to the proximity of the applicant's proposed location to Gallimore School," it continued, "... any type of commercial development of this site poses some type of potential problem or concern for the operation of the school and the well-being of its students. But the mere retail sale of alcoholic beverages, particularly where no consumption occurs, ... poses no greater threat than would many other types of retail business.

LCC RESTRICTIONS that Odish agreed to, include:

• Ensuring that the store is not built within 500 feet of Gallimore School building or the Canton Calvary Church.

• Starting up business within one year.

It's Gov. Miller—for a day

David Miller is a sophomore at Kalamazoo College, but for one day last week he was governor of the state of Michigan — almost.

Miller, 19, is a Michigan Youth Corps (MYC) member from Canton who spent his summer working at Maybury State Park in Northville. He requested a visit with Gov. James Blanchard as part of the Youth Corps' "Project Stepping Stone."

The project encourages MYC workers to spend a day on the job with someone in an occupation of interest to the worker. Miller wants to be a politician when he graduates, thus his request to visit Blanchard.

"I thought I'd be asked up here, but I didn't expect to see the governor," Miller said at the Capitol last week. "I've been pretty busy."

Busy he was, as the political science and economics major attended press conferences, met with a slew of state government officials in addition to the governor, and answered questions for reporters who seemed almost as interested in him as in Blanchard.

"I met so many people, it was incredible," Miller said. "I think I met everybody who works for Gov. Blanchard."

Miller said his day was fun despite the hectic schedule. He said the worst part was television interviews, which made him nervous at first. However, after several interviews, he relaxed.

"I'm pretty good with people," Miller said in response to questions about why he finds politics appealing. But after his grueling day in Lansing, he added, "I don't think I want to be governor. It takes a special person to be governor."

Miller said he thought a position in the state Legislature would be more to his liking.

Liquor store ruling saddens neighbors

Residents were promised Odish's reator Bob Olson "will personally get out there and guarantee the safety of kids walking past the store on their way to school," as well as "other things that are physically impossible," said Norma Tims, a director of the Forest Trails Homeowners Association.

"Basically the best we can hope for is that the requirements are adhered to and that we have cooperation in making sure that this operation is everything they've promised."

The subdivision board has appealed in writing to the township to ensure that all local codes and ordinances are specifically and exactly met by Odish's operation.

"Really, there's nothing we can do. He (Odish) is within the letter of the law," said Tims.

Future of DeHoCo in question

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

The fate of the Detroit House of Correction (DeHoCo) facility may hinge on Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano's ability to convince state officials to permit double bunking at the new county jail.

The DeHoCo facility, on Five Mile Road in Plymouth Township, could be abandoned when the new county jail opens, depending on the double bunking decision and a lawsuit concerning the responsibility for DeHoCo prisoners.

If the county must take the responsibility for housing the prisoners, and if Ficano can double bunk at the new jail, DeHoCo most likely will be a "prison of the past."

The new $52 million county jail, being built near Detroit's Greektown section, is expected to open in October. However, funding and construction delays may push the opening date back to April or May of next year.

The Michigan Department of Corrections has denied Ficano's request for double bunking at the new jail, but he plans to ask the state legislature to enact enabling legislation.

Without double bunking the new jail can hold 1,500 prisoners. With double bunking, Ficano said another 350 prisoners can be held.

THE DEHOOCO prison population averages about 700, while the current county jail facilities average about 900. Ficano needs at least 1,600 beds at the new jail if he is given the responsibility for DeHoCo prisoners.

The Michigan Court of Appeals reportedly is waiting for a decision on the double bunking issue before addressing a lawsuit regarding the responsibility for DeHoCo prisoners.

The county brought the case to the appeal court late last year, after the Wayne County Circuit ruled in a summary judgement — that Detroit could proceed with plans to close DeHoCo or turn it over to the county.

The county's appeal asks that a full hearing be conducted on the issue.

"They are not attempting merely to close DeHoCo. They are trying to abrogate the DeHoCo enabling act of 1861," said Douglas Dimity, assistant corporation counsel for the county.

The county maintains the prisoners are the responsibility of Detroit since many of them committed crime in Detroit.

Included in the case is the state corrections department. Dimity said the state has exercised strong powers of control in the setting up of the new jail.

The county believes the state shares in the responsibility for the prisoners since it has the power to inspect and regulate the jail, he said.

Ed, "but districts found they had absolutely no control over it. They couldn't bring revenues into line with it."

Asked about the district's headline stance on vision coverage, he called it "another fringe that unacceptably escalates."

TO COTNER, the COLA plan seemed advantageous to the district. Payments could be withheld until the end of the year, enabling the district to invest and earn interest on the money for nine months, he said.

Salary adjustments proposed by the teachers would have set maximum pay at $34,338. That compares to top-of-the-scale wages of $35,830 in Wayne-Westland, $34,190 in Livonia, $35,730 in Garden City (which pays COLA) and $34,657 in Farmington, added Cotner.

PCEA officials are currently reorganizing and have yet to name Cotner's successor.

Teachers reject strike vote

Norm Kee, assistant superintendent for employee relations, last week called the offer "a double dip."

"Many of the factors that determine COLA are already paid by the district. For instance, health insurance is very vital in whether the cost of living goes up or down. The district already has to pay rising health insurance costs, yet the union wants some sort of COLA in addition," Kee said.

Also, he said, the PCEA is asking for a standard of living adjustment that isn't fiscally sound. While COLA payments traditionally are computed according to a base salary — $17,000, for example — the PCEA "is asking for a percentage applied to wherever they are on the scale."

"A lot of things about the proposal aren't truly COLA, and that's why we object to it. COLA used to be a factor in bringing about settlements," he added.

Wayne board puts off hospital veto

Wayne County Commissioners have again postponed considering trying to override county executive William Lucas' veto of a bill designed to keep the Wayne County General Hospital under county control. The commissioners voted 7-5 last week to postpone the matter... The ordinance, proposed by commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster, would ensure that the hospital remain under a board of institutions. It passed by a 11-2 vote of the board.

Alcohol education 'dry day,' could save lives

Drinking is the American way of life and those who avoid alcohol are, at the least, out of the mainstream. That's the impression conveyed by advertisers who plump their products on TV and in magazines.

High school students may think it's cool to guzzle a beer or two after a football game or on the weekend but it is a dangerous direction. One sure way to be set straight is to see the smashed cars in which people were killed in liquor-related accidents.

Over the years, the organization has helped thousands of drinkers change their lives and become productive, useful citizens. Many public schools have organized anti-smoking committees in which students are trained to give programs to junior high and elementary school pupils on the dangers of smoking.

ORCHARDS AND vineyards once thrived in the Troy area. Potato and vegetable farms were located along Route 128, and rich tobacco fields were found in the metropolitan area around Raleigh and Durham, North Carolina.

State Youth Job Corps: They did something right

IT'S EASY to find things to cuss in government — taxes, bureaucracy, the law's delay, the insolence of office, taxes, business regulation, taxes.

AT FIRST, there were some negative thoughts. Gov. James J. Blanchard's name was used too prominently on some Youth Job Corps materials to suit some people.

And so it is with the Michigan Youth Job Corps. Our own impressions are that the 18-21-year-olds applied themselves diligently to even menial roadside work. The impressions we hear from local officials are that the young folks performed yeoman service.

BY LAW, the Youth Job Corps Program expires Sept. 30, the end of the current fiscal year. That is as it should be. Such programs should be re-evaluated before they are automatically continued and encrusted in the bureaucracy.

King plus 20: Integration is only a dream

More than 250,000 people marched in Washington, D.C. last weekend to honor the famous "I Have a Dream" speech given by Martin Luther King 20 years ago. This weekend hundreds of people with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) will arrive in Detroit after walking from southern Ohio in a voters' registration drive.

Nick Sharkey Birmingham's appeal is pending before the U.S. Sixth District Court in Cincinnati. Most suburbanites are sophisticated in dealing with blacks. Loud threats are not uttered. No houses are firebombed. Obscenities are seldom used.

2 politicians: a difference in problems

The two most interesting politicians in the state at this point are Gov. James Blanchard and Wayne County Executive William Lucas. Each started the year in a new job with a new staff and facing a host of inherited problems.

Bob Wisler

for a tax increase. Although he did mention the possibility of a 1 percent county tax increase, he quickly conceded that public approval of a tax increase was almost impossible and dropped discussion of the subject.

From Troy to Ann Arbor State has its own silicon center

California has its Silicon Valley. Boston has Route 128, and North Carolina the Research Triangle. Not to be left out, Michigan has what some have come to call the Silicon Ridge.

high tech Ronald R. Watcke

Coupled with large endowments from the private sector, the universities were able to attract some of the most sought after scholars and scientists in the country and from abroad. Looking at a map of the United States, one can readily see the Silicon Valley represents high technology in the West. Route 128 around Boston depicts the East, and the Research Triangle portrays high tech in the South.

SEMTA will consider big cuts

Facing a $15 million deficit, the board of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) plans to meet Sept. 13 — if not sooner — to trim the SEMTA budget.

Large buses would be reduced from 278 to 175 and small buses from 145 to 100, possibly causing problems for some school districts which use the vehicles to transport children.

The ruling came after a trial over a 1978 election in which voters turned down proposed low-income senior citizen and family housing. The City of Bir-

SEMCOG looking for alternatives to landfills

By Kathy Parrish
staff writer

People count on them for advice on getting rid of the 15,000 tons of garbage thrown out daily in southeastern Michigan.

Sometimes, though, Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) officials weren't quite sure what their own policies were — because they didn't have any.

So SEMCOG brought 40 solid waste experts together June 28 for a daylong brainstorming session. Just two months later, their guidelines were accepted by SEMCOG's executive committee — and are on their way to general assembly action Oct. 26.

If adopted, the policies would help SEMCOG and local governments make decisions on important solid waste management issues like whether to use landfills. It would also give the regional agency "effective, coordinated input" into the process of amending Public Act 641, Michigan's Solid Waste Management Act.

"We are asked to speak with the voice of the region on these issues," explained Patrick Brunett, SEMCOG's manager of land use and environmental programs.

"But we really had never adopted our own policies on them. We knew most of the issues, so it was just a matter of clarifying them."

The 22 policies address water quality and environmental protection elements of solid waste disposal, with special attention to siting of landfills and management of landfill sites.

SEMCOG URGES FINDING alternatives to landfills, calling them the "least desirable method of dealing with solid waste." Reasons given were that landfills take up land, increase truck traffic and produce noise, litter and odor.

But a landfill moratorium was vetoed during the original planning session, which brought together more than 40 technicians and citizens interested in solid waste management issues.

"We need landfills for part of our disposal system. There's no way to get around them," said Brunett, explaining that even when trash is incinerated ash still remains.

"But we must be sure local governments are involved in the process and that it's the most environmentally sound."

Backing local control, the proposals recommend that each county handle its own disposal needs within its boundaries or negotiate with counties it exports waste to.

Communities would participate in making decisions about solid waste management, with sites conforming to local land use planning and zoning requirements.

Local governments could inspect operating standards and there would be mitigation measures such as landscaping and truck routes to make facilities more acceptable.

SEMCOG's recommendations also urge that funds be available to host communities to defray costs for activities related to landfills and other disposal facilities. And communities which dispose of their neighbors' waste would get monetary or other compensation.

"THERE ARE some excellent landfill operators, who are very good neighbors," said Brunett. "But in some cases there are problems. What we think needs to be done is provide a system that assures cooperation."

While emphasizing local control, the policies also request that Michigan "strive to bring an improved approach to solid waste management" through adequate, competent staff for planning, permitting and enforcing the programs.

SEMCOG in turn would put together a common data resource by examining the seven Southeast Michigan county solid waste management plans and those of adjoining counties. It would also help set up pilot source separation programs, helping homeowners separate out their recyclable trash.

Brunett, who is hopeful that the policies will be adopted by the 134-member general assembly, is pleased to get the guidelines on paper.

"Anything we do for the environment is major," said the SEMCOG employee, estimating that such a proposal usually takes 12 to 18 months to complete.

"I'm very pleased with the process; that we were able to get together, pick each other's brains and deal quickly with this very important issue."

Conference set for parents of gifted kids

Seminars and workshops of interest to parents of gifted children will be presented during the fifth annual Conference on Gifted Education. Sponsored by Roeper Review and The Academy of the Gifted, the conference will be Saturday, Oct. 29, in Roeper City and Country School's Birmingham campus.

YOU HAVE UNTIL SEPTEMBER 16 TO STOP PAYING DOCTOR BILLS.

GM employees can change from old fashioned health insurance coverage to Health Alliance Plan. But only between September 1st - 16th.

That means if you wait, you won't be covered the way you should be. By the leading health care plan of its kind in Michigan.

When you join HAP you're covered — completely. In the doctor's office and in the hospital. Even for regular check-ups, minor illnesses and allergy tests.

And you're covered for emergency care wherever you are: when you're away on a business trip or a vacation or when your kids go away to college, you're covered as completely as you are at home.

And when you belong to HAP, you choose your own HAP doctor. You can go to a brand new health center opening in Plymouth just in time for you to join. Or you can choose one of our 9 other health centers all over town.

In short, with Health Alliance Plan, you get all the professional, personal care without all the aggravation of claim forms and doctor bills.

(And if you don't work for GM, ask your employer when you'll have a chance to change to HAP.)

How to help your child succeed in high school without becoming PTA president

Editor's note: Mary Brown, who has taught high school classes for the past 15 years, experiences a perennial eagerness to "start fresh" every September. With the belief that many students and parents feel the same way, she passes along suggestions that can be used to guide students through the next year of school.

By Mary Brown
special writer

It's hard to believe that within a week we'll be trading watermelons for pumpkins and lemonade for cider. Beach bags will surrender to shiny new lunch buckets, and mothers no longer will have to cope with the plaintive wails of "What can we do now?"

Instead, parental thoughts will turn to the beginning of the school year, and their concerns will veer away from subjects like water safety and toward issues like academic achievement.

Somehow, knowing how to help your child succeed in elementary school wasn't too difficult. Everyone knew that insistence on regularly scheduled homework time, conscientious attendance at parent-teacher conferences, and occasional stints as room mother were all helpful strategies.

It's not so easy once the child reaches high school, however. Teen-agers tend to respond in monosyllables when asked about school, and many a parent has accepted the assurances of his child only to be shocked and disappointed when a mediocre or downright horrible report card appears.

Coming up, therefore, are a number of ideas the concerned parent can use to help his youngster really benefit from the high school experience. The suggestions are easy to follow and not especially time-consuming and may help any parent to guide his child in making the most of those crucial high school years.

EXAMINE THE CURRICULUM

A majority of high schools offer at least some flexibility in the courses a student may choose. The wide variety can be enriching, but also very confusing to student and parent alike.

Would Shakespeare or Current History be the best choice? What's the difference between Reading Techniques and Reading Skills?

A curriculum guide lists courses and gives an explanation of the course content and prerequisites and usually is easily attainable.

Read course descriptions carefully; titles can be confusing. A course in American Culture, for example, may sound like a humanities course, but may really be a course for slow learners which explores pop culture.

Try to determine the difficulty of the course, so that your child is placed according to his abilities. Discuss your child's goals and plan a program with the whole curriculum in mind.

UTILIZE COUNSELORS

A 10-minute phone call once a semester to your child's counselor can provide you with answers to some very important questions.

For instance, what college entrance tests will be given in the following months? What are the graduation requirements for this particular high school? How should PSAT scores be interpreted? How will your child's grades as a freshman and sophomore affect his college admissions applications? Which teachers are especially good in a particular area?

In addition, many counseling departments regularly publish helpful newsletters which bear careful reading.

ATTEND OPEN HOUSE

This one seems obvious, but it's surprising how many parents don't take those one or two evenings each fall or spring to investigate the world their children inhabit 160 days a year.

Your attendance at open house says to the most rebellious teen-ager that you do care. Even mediocre students are pleased in their lives, and most are eager to hear their parents' impressions of their teachers.

It's fun to compare notes about Mr. Johnson's pendulous ear lobes or Mrs. Jones' nervous twitch, but, more importantly, attending open house gives you a better idea of what's going on during those hours your child is away at school. You find out precisely what your child is studying and meet the persons who influence him each day.

Knowing your child's teacher also gives you an advantage should there be a problem. You've already met each other on neutral ground, and this former pleasant introduction will help in any more tense situation.

BE AWARE OF POLICIES

The scam is familiar to any high school teacher. Progress reports and report cards are mailed home but are never seen by parental eyes because enterprising teens have removed them from the mailbox long before parents arrive home.

Know in advance when report cards are distributed, when mid-marking reports are mailed home, and watch for them. If you do get a communication, always call immediately. Prolonged hesitation may mean that it's too late in the marking period to remedy the problem.

And if your halter-clad, 15-year old sets off for school barefoot, know what to say.

Be aware of dress codes, procedures for dropping and adding classes, and disciplinary approaches, before the fact. Most school rules are clearly outlined in materials sent to the parent before school opens each fall.

Take 10 minutes to go over them with your teen. It will be time well spent.

BE STRICT ABOUT ATTENDANCE

It's a wonderfully bright, blustery weekend in early January, and the slopes of Upper Michigan beckon invitingly in your imagination, but answering their call involves taking an extra day on the weekend.

There's nothing innately wrong with missing school one Friday because the family is going up north for a mini-holiday, but frequent absences for similar reasons lead to a very casual attitude about attendance.

Be somewhat sticky about allowing your child to be absent for non-medical reasons. Accumulated absences mean missed lectures and assignments, and school quickly plummets on the list of priorities for the young socialite.

Hours which are not spent in class are hours spent elsewhere, away from adult supervision and outside of your knowledge. In general, become familiar with school attendance requirements and follow them to the letter.

LEARN TO DEAL SUCCESSFULLY WITH TEACHERS

The days of the straight-laced school marm, complete with glasses and graying bun, are long dead. Today's teachers range from rather hip ex-Earth children to conservative business types.

It's really best to approach your child's teacher as the qualified, competent professional he is, rather than as an infallible god or highly paid baby sitter. The large majority of teachers are reasonable human beings who truly have your child's best interests at heart.

When you have a question or complaint to voice to an instructor, a threat to call the school board usually won't work; most teachers won't be the slightest bit intimidated and simply will regard you as a crackpot.

Also, don't automatically regard your child's version of an incident as necessarily accurate in all regards. Adolescents are renowned for tunnel vision. Ask, instead, for the teacher to explain his grading criteria before you challenge a grade; request that he describe a disturbing incident in full before you point an accusing, defensive finger.

Almost always you'll find that you and the teacher are closer than you think in your standards and goals.

If, on the other hand, after several incidents you're beginning to feel that your child's teacher is indeed incompetent or unfair, don't be too hesitant about discussing the problem with a department chairman or administrator.

School principals want happy parents, and the adage about the squeaky wheel is as true in education as elsewhere.

Before seeing or phoning an administrator, however, accumulate data carefully and be sure to present your case in a concerned, cooperative manner. And while you're working out the problem, be scrupulously careful about the way you discuss the teacher in front of the child. All he needs is one hint from you that you regard his teacher as ineffective or inept, and his attempts to cooperate with that teacher usually will quickly evaporate.

LIMIT OUTSIDE JOB HOURS

Most teen-agers today are terribly eager to get a job. The extra dollars open a wonderful world of freedom and fun to the adolescent eager to join the adult world, and the unique form of education that only a job can provide is undeniably profitable in a different sense.

Too often, however, the teen becomes overly enthralled with his new spending power, and soon earning the money to enrich a spring wardrobe or to bankroll a trip to Florida can become far more important than succeeding in school. It's your job to see that this doesn't happen.

Keep tight control on the number of hours your teen is allowed to work each week, and make sure that those hours don't include too many late-night shifts.

Make keeping the job contingent on keeping up grades.

BE ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT EDUCATION

Help your child to see the sparkle of learning. Encourage him to take every opportunity to attend field trips, and use television shows to reinforce his classes.

Moan and groan with him at exam time, but try to help him realize that strenuous effort has its own rewards. Every once in a while, pick up something he's reading for history or English or challenge him to teach you to solve a quadratic equation.

Your interest shows that you consider what he's doing to be valuable, and that you regard his success and happiness in school to be of paramount importance in your family life.

Don't forget that one of the most important functions of school has nothing to do with reading, writing and arithmetic. School provides children of all ages, and particularly the adolescent, with countless opportunities to practice social skills.

Help your child to see that he might just be learning something about life in his attempts to handle the compulsive cheater sitting next to him, or in his efforts to deal with a perpetually cranky teacher.

Encourage him to attend football games, concerts, school plays, but realize that most high school students don't date regularly, and that for every prom queen, there are 500 quiet young girls waiting to bloom.

Be enthusiastic about the social side of school, but don't push, and don't expect too much.

IF IT APPEARS to you that "Common Sense" should really have been the title of this article, you're absolutely right. Helping a youngster through his last years of compulsory schooling needn't be difficult or overwhelming.

A good knowledge of the school's offerings and requirements, regular communication with the school, and a commitment to understand and work with your teen all can combine to make his high school years pleasurable and rewarding for everyone.

Who has time to watch soaps?

Canton chatter Sandy Preblich

981-6354

Well the children are all back in school — hopefully. And now those of us who don't have preschoolers or a full-time job away from the home, are faced with what they call the "empty nest" syndrome. Now is when the husbands think we settle back and start some serious soap watching.

But for those of us in the know, now is the time we settle back and start some serious reading. Reading of notices coming home from school. Did all the kids get all the shots ($20 a visit minute)? Do you or don't you want the little darlin's fluoridated (approximately $7)? How about a dandy package of photos? You'll naturally want the full package (grandparents you know at $7-$8 per)?

And how about insurance? You know if you don't get it they'll fall and break something within the first week! Where else can you get that kind of coverage for this price? Blue Cross should be so cheap. Now don't forget there is sure to be a book fair soon and the weekly readers with those dandy 65-cent books with free posters if you order a mere three cute little books.

OF COURSE, the really bad part is, all this comes after you mortgage the house to pay for the vacation, and held the garage sale to get the infamous "back-to-school clothes," and boots and coats. And don't forget to pick up the exact size notebook that each teacher likes. And pens, both ball point and felt tip. Pencils — lead and marking — crayons, glue, erasers and a back-pack or tote bag to carry all the treasures.

Come on, Mom, you might as well throw in stickers. Now you multiply this by the number of children you have and pray Christmas comes late this year! Well, you're all set until the fundraiser starts. Thank heaven we have free education here. I mean who could afford it?

Then, after you have sorted out all the back-to-school instruction sheets for each child, from each school, it's time to settle down and decide what committees you'll join, which class you'll be a room mother for, and which class you'll just aide in. Once you get that cleared away, you're almost home free. Just get the car pools set, and bowling, soccer, ballet, tap, basketball.

football, religion, etc. all balanced out so your child doesn't have to be in two places at once. And don't forget to pay "small" fee. As always multiply that by the number of children you have.

Well, now you're ready to attend your first meeting. Don't forget to get the dog his/her fall haircut. Now, how about that soap opera? All that was my way of telling you what most of you already know. That is what most of you have been up to this past week, this and more I'm sure. I thought I should chatter about that a little bit since you'll never get recognition for it and this column is to write about the people who never get mentioned in the national news. Yet what we do is time-consuming and important!

Now on with the news! LET ME TELL you about a very nice lady, who raised a very nice family, and had a very nice party.

Eleanor Roman of Sunflower Park was rewarded this past weekend by her daughters and husband Stanley. I'm not going to say what happy birthday this was, but I'll give you a hint, it ends with an "O."

Eleanor's daughters Linda Whiteaker, Debbie Lang, and Veronica (Ronnie) Roman gathered to celebrate a little early with Debbie's husband, Mike, and daughters Sarah and Erin. Ronnie's friend Brian, and Eleanor's favorite, Stanley, her husband. She received a beautiful pair of earrings from her daughters, roses from Brian, and a bouquet delivered to her at work from her grandchildren.

Linda's husband, Bob, was unable to attend because he was out of town, but they managed to finish off the fresh banana cake from the Gallery of Cakes on Telegraph without his help. Since this will not be published until after her actual birthday, I can tell you that Stanley, her husband, will be taking her out to dinner and she will receive his gift the same day.

So, from all of us, a happy birthday! If your mother had a birthday and you didn't call me, it's never too late. DON'T FORGET to sign up this week for bowling at Superbowl. And let's all get behind the Walk for Recreation.

For those of you who haven't heard about it, I'll try to brief you. A very good suggestion was made in an effort to help support our recreation department in view of the increasing drops in available funds from all levels of government. The plan is a true and true one, and it seems very suitable to the situation — a simple Walk for Recreation fund-raiser.

Each participant signs up friends and family to sponsor them, then shows up on the appointed day, which is Saturday, Sept. 24. Each walks the appointed route between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Now what could be easier?

Thanks to the terrific cooperation of so many local businesses and civic groups in our community, this is shaping up to be a little more than your usual walkathon. All participants will receive their own little award just for being the special person they are by trying to help.

Don't wait folks, that's not all. There will be special prizes such as savings bonds, and jackets. That's right. And shirts. Did you think that was all? Wrong. It may be enough, but it's not all. They will be giving away a new bike. All this is to be awarded in accordance with the amount of pledges each person receives.

Well, Canton, here we have an activity the whole family can get in on. It doesn't last all day, it doesn't start too early or run too long. And what family hasn't spent at least four hours walking around the fair grounds or a shopping mall within the last week or so? It won't be dull either. There will be special guests and entertainment throughout the day.

Just imagine, you could walk around (you don't have to go fast because it's not a race). You can walk with whomever you wish, and just talk all the way. You could watch your children walk in front of you with whomever they want. Now if you not convinced, how about this, you can keep your taxes down. Oh yes, all this is good for your health.

Now, wouldn't this be a good way to say thanks to ourselves and Canton for the summer activities our children have enjoyed. So let's go Canton. It's your town, your kids, your home, your fun, and your taxes, so get over to township hall, register and pick up your pledge slips. See you at New Towne Plaza Sept. 24 at 10 a.m.

Thomas E. Trask, Pastor

What's happening wonders this youngster as he strains to peer over his peers.

Monica (Sissy) Hallaway, 4, gets a chance to use the hose.

Fireman Carl Furmanek helps Jason Devereaux, 6, try on a fire coat and helmet.

Everyone got a chance to play fireman.

Firemen's visit sparks an interest

A siren calls

YOUNGSTERS learned about the dangers of fire in an exciting way recently at the vacation Bible school sponsored by the Nativity United Church of Christ, 9435 Henry Ruff, Livonia.

Livonia firefighters arrived at the church with an attention-getting fire engine to teach children some practical ideas about safety. The firefighters mingled with the children and explained the simpler side of fire fighting.

World class thrills for the kids included holding onto a hose as water shot out and trying on a fireman's suit and hat.

And probably from now on when a fire siren wails at night, they will know their firefighter friends are on the job protecting them.

Staff photos by Dan Dean

Firemen explained to the Nativity vacation Bible class how important it is to wear a hat when you're a firefighter.

Do we behave cruelly in the name of God?

Using God to endorse dehumanizing behavior is not a very attractive proposition. Most people do not like it at all when they read about children being allowed to die in the name of religion. They are even more appalled when other children are beaten in the name of God.

However, the real issue is much larger than deprived or damaged children. Rather, it has to do with using religion, whatever its label, to justify intrusion into and violence toward the life of another.

Those who beat their children "because God told me to punish them," or who deprive little ones of ordinary medical care "because God does not approve of doctors," are really not acting any differently than what has in many quarters come to be acceptable human behavior.

And that precisely is the name of the game when we dare to determine who can live and who cannot whether the victims of our judgment have been born too long or have not yet seen the light of day. Victims are victims regardless of the sincerity of those who play God.

Cultic fanaticism will always have room to poke its head where consistency concerning life issues is not present. Such consistency has not been one of our strong suits. Those who slaughtered native Americans in the name of building a nation are called heroes while the Indians who defended their land are classified as savages.

FOREIGN opponents are imperialists but when we topple a government with covert assistance to insurgents that is to save the people who do not know what is best for them. When an abortion decision is made, that is a woman exercising her right to privacy but when a parent in the name of religion deprives a child of medicine that is murder.

When rebels arise in El Salvador, that is to be stopped in the name of freedom but when rebels arise in Nicaragua they are supported.

Not only do we dare to play God, we seem to do an extremely poor job of it. Perhaps we might consider learning to be responsible human beings with a certain sense of consistency about life-death issues. Such a climate may be less likely to spawn the kind of cultic fanaticism which frightens all of us.

Landorf series at St. Damian

A new film series featuring best-selling author Joyce Landorf will be presented by St. Damian Religious Education Office on six consecutive Thursday evenings beginning Oct. 6 and ending Nov. 10.

The new series, entitled "His Stubborn Love," addresses the problems common to many women who are trying to balance marriage, career, children, work and are quietly suffering from the conflicting demands on their time and their identities.

Rev. Robert Schaden

These travesties of religion are really no different than a group in uniform being convinced that killing in the name of patriotism is noble and a deed to be honored.

Such happenings are simply a case of people being convinced that the horror for which they are responsible is justified because of some higher god.

Festival celebrates fruit of the vine

Niagara blossoms as a wine-producing region

When you think of wine, do you think about the Canadian side of the Niagara River? If not, you may be surprised to know that wine is being taken very seriously here in the Niagara area.

The Niagara Grape and Wine Festival will take place Friday, Sept. 23, to Sunday, Oct. 2, in and around St. Catharines, a city on Lake Ontario within 10 minutes drive of both Niagara-on-the-Lake and Niagara Falls.

If you haven't seen the Falls lately, or if you are still planning your first visit to the Shaw Festival in Niagara-on-the-Lake, you might want to combine these well-known attractions with a winery tour and some grape-stomping festival activities.

Fruit farms have flourished on the Niagara Peninsula ever since the United Empire Loyalists crossed the Niagara River to stay with the British crown after the American Revolution. Wine has been made here for many years, but it was considered undrinkable by continental or world standards until recent years.

The native labrusca grapes make excellent table grapes and grape juice but have never suited the tastes of wine lovers accustomed to the vinifera grapes of California and Europe. This was also true of the grapes grown in the northern United States. Grapes that would survive the winter were considered to have a "foxy" taste.

ALL OF these areas have blossomed in the last 10 years because they have grafted European vines onto local roots, creating a hybrid wine grape that is closer to that popular vinifera taste. During the last few years, they have also grown "pure vinifera" grapes like Riesling and Chardonnay, defying the old wisdom that said "they'll never survive the winter."

They don't survive winter easily, so Niagara wines with familiar vinifera names are more expensive than those made in California. You might not want to spend the money necessary to drink them on a regular basis, but the vineyard and wine-tasting experience available in the Niagara area greatly enriches the travel experience there.

The Niagara Grape and Wine Festival features 200 events, including a Grande Parade, grape-stomping contests, lots of wine-garden experiences and wine-tasting tours.

Saturday, Sept. 10, launches almost two weeks of warm-up before the festival officially begins: wine history displays at St. Catharines Historical Museum, a variety of wine-and-cheese parties, dances, sports events, and open-air wine gardens.

On Friday, Sept. 23, they'll crown the Grape King, the grape grower chosen by a panel of experts as operator of the finest vineyard in Canada. The Grande Parade is at the other end of the calendar, on Saturday, Oct. 1. Winery tours are available throughout the two-week festival. Your $3.50 ticket will take you on a driving tour through the area, on a tour of both a vineyard and a winery, and includes sample tastings of local wines.

Charmes, where entrepreneur Paul Bosch defied all the local wisdom by planting pure viniferas prolifically in 1978.

The most interesting tasting room is a Bright's, where you can try several popular wines in a room lined with the wood of old wine casks. Bright's started planting hybrids in the 1930s. They are one of the largest producers of popular wines in Canada. If you tend to order a wine spritzer (wine and soda water) from the bar, try their spritz wines, a combination of sparkling red or white wines and spring water. If you like dry white, try the new L'Entre-Cote.

The Niagara Peninsula was planted with 24,000 acres of grapes in 1982, producing 64,815 tons. Half the vines are still the native labrusca, which is used for juice, sherry, port. The Wiley Vineyards make marvelous grape juice as well as combinations like apple-pear, grape-apple, cherry-grape, cherry-apple. You can taste them in an adjacent private home and buy them on the spot or not.

YOU CAN buy wine, of course, at any of the vineyards. The vast majority of the wines are hybrids, still or sparkling, and cost from $3 to $6. The viniferas cost more and are in much shorter supply.

For information on the Niagara Peninsula area, contact the Canadian Government Office or Tourism in Detroit at 963-8686. For information on the Niagara Grape and Wine Festival, contact Box 1444, 164 St. Paul St., St. Catharines, Ontario L2R 7J8. Telephone (416) 688-0212 during business hours prior to Monday, Sept. 19; the festival tour booth direct at (416) 934-0156 during the festival.

The Niagara Grape and Wine Festival will start later this month in and around St. Catharines, which is 10 minutes' drive from both Niagara-on-the-Lake and Niagara Falls. If you haven't seen the Falls lately, you might want to combine that well-known attraction with a winery tour and some grape-stomping festival activities.

Bridge picked as theme for St. Lawrence cruise

Theme cruises aboard cruise ships are becoming more and more popular every year.

An example is a contract bridge cruise which will start aboard the Canadian Empress lake cruiser Sunday, Sept. 25.

The three-day, two-night cruise will be launched from Kingston, Ontario (located on the northeastern tip of Lake Ontario), at the height of the fall color season. The Empress cruises the historic waters of the St. Lawrence River and the Thousand Islands.

D.H. "Doug" Clark, a life master and certified bridge director, will host the cruise, which is sanctioned by the American Contract Bridge League.

Adjusting to bifocals takes time, practice

Dear Jo:
I have been fitted with my first pair of bifocals and am having a problem adjusting to them. When I walk and look down at my feet I get off balance and am afraid of a fall. Could you give me some suggestions as to how I can adapt to them?

Mrs. K.

Dear Mrs. K.:
Most of the many millions of people who wear bifocals have had to make some sort of an adjustment to them in the beginning, so you are not alone.

First of all, make sure that your frames have been properly adjusted so that the lenses are in the correct position. Do not hesitate to return to the professional who fitted you with them for an adjustment.

It is important that you wear your bifocals continuously for the first week to two, even though you may feel you don't have to wear them for certain activities. When walking, avoid looking down at your feet. You're right, this can cause you to lose your balance, and I'm sure you don't usually look down at your feet when walking anyway.

Lastly, one of the hardest things to do with new bifocals is to read the newspaper. To do this, fold the paper into half or quarter size and move the paper rather than your eyes until you are able to read it comfortably.

In a few weeks time, you'll wonder how you ever "coped" before you had your bifocals. Good luck.

Dear Jo:

I had a thorough physical exam, including several tests, by my doctor four months ago. I haven't heard anything back from him or his office. Should I just presume that I am fine and all that tests were normal?

Concerned

Dear Concerned:

Presume nothing. Call the office and make an appointment for a followup visit. You are responsible for our own health and you should know the result of your physical examination and the tests.

Dear Jo:

My mother, age 74, has had some mental problems over the years, but has always been able to manage pretty well on her own. She says she is fine, but we (the family) all see changes in her appearance and lifestyle. Should we be worried about her? How can one tell if a person is mentally ill or not?

Miss R

Dear Miss R.:

Your letter does not give me enough information about your mother's physical and mental health for me to know whether you should be worried about her or not. Since you and your family have noted some changes, perhaps some straight talk with your mother about how she feels and how she is managing is necessary. A professional physical or mental evaluation may be needed.

To answer your question as to how you can tell if a person is mentally ill or not according to the psychiatrist, Eric Pfeiffer, mental illness is present when a person is unable to meet his or her physical, mental and/or social needs, or can do so only with pain, suffering, and considerable personal discomfort. Although some older people are mentally ill, mental illness is not a part of growing older. Should any of these apply to your mother, you should assist her in getting help.

Red Cross: blood need 'critical'

American Red Cross Blood Services, Southeastern Michigan Region, is experiencing its second serious blood shortage of the season.

Late August is usually a difficult time for blood collections due to warm weather diversions for donors. This year's collections have fallen dangerously, resulting in what is termed a "critical" shortage by the Red Cross.

Hospitals are being requested to postpone elective surgery so that emergency blood needs may be met. All blood types are needed, especially types O and A.

Blood can be donated by anyone ages

17-65 who is in general good health and weighs at least 110 pounds. Donors are being encouraged to bring a friend or relative along to donate with them.

Donations are accepted from the Livonia Donor Center, Bell Creek Office Plaza, 29691 W. Six Mile, Suite 100 C, Livonia. Hours are 2-8 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Thursday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Friday; and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. For an appointment, call 422-2820.

pet of the week

Thadius, a Siamese-domestic mix, is a 2-year-old, grey, neutered cat who's been wormed.

Daisy, a mixed terrier, is described as liking children. She's been spayed, is housebroken, has her shots and has been wormed. Both these animals can be adopted from the Kindness Center at 37255 Marquette, Westland. Call 721-7300.

Wanted: talent to teach talent

WHAT D'YA MEAN University of MICHIGAN? It probably should be the University of Florida-Michigan extension. Or University of Illinois, Ann Arbor branch. Or even — hold tight to those maize and blue hats, you Meechigan rooters — Michigan's own Ohio State University.

A glance at the Wolverine football roster explains all. One-hundred sixteen players. Twenty-three hail from Ohio, another 10 from Florida and 11 others from Illinois.

Know how many Michigan natives are on the team? Forty-one. Just over one-third of the total. Not many. And don't believe for a minute it's because Michigan State out-recruited U-M. They didn't.

The reason is that Bo Schembechler didn't recruit heavily in the home state. He said he wasn't going to. He said he wasn't going to because the talent just wasn't there.

THAT ISN'T exactly correct. A decline in population has no doubt robbed the state of some talent. But there's still a lot remaining.

What isn't around is the talent to teach the talented.

Coaching is on the decline — in all sports, not just football. Reasons vary, but the bottom line is traceable to that decline in population.

A wage-earner leaves the state to look for work elsewhere. He takes his kids with him. Schools close, school teachers are laid off. And with the teachers go the coaches.

After all, 10 years ago teachers did all the coaching. Bob Atkins can testify to that. Atkins quit coaching football at Redford Union in 1976 and his replacement, Harvey Heitman, was the first coach ever hired who was not teaching at RU.

There are currently 35 coaching positions at RU. Of that number, only six are filled by RU teachers. Turnovers make any basketball or football coach cringe. And although the context changes, the turnover effect is the same on high school athletic directors.

"OUR AVERAGE turnover rate is usually about five or six a year," Atkins said. However, this year he had to search for 12 new coaches — nearly one-third of his staff.

In Rochester, teachers filling 22 coaching positions were pink-slipped. "Some have been called back," said a relieved Bill Seltz, AD for both Rochester and Adams high schools.

Layoffs are only part of the problem. The reason for a decline in quality coaching certainly stems from falling enrollment and limited finances, but the affects are just now surfacing, like weeds cropping up in a deteriorating garden.

"I'm concerned with what's coming around the corner," said new Farmington school district AD Ron Holland. "There's just no training ground for coaches any longer."

Here's the pattern of evolution: Student enrollment declines, so fewer teachers' jobs are available. College students discard futures in teaching. For decades, it was the teachers who coached. Now there are fewer teachers. And fewer coaches.

With level of play becoming more intense, coaching becomes a year-round profession. Burnout takes its toll, retiring coaches after 10 years instead of 20.

Replacements? Layoffs have robbed the teacher ranks, already shrunken by a lack of new teachers. Hence, a shift to non-teaching coaches.

ALL SCHOOL SYSTEMS have shown a vastly increased number of non-faculty coaches. And in general, those coaches aren't as effective. Nor do they last as long, which compounds the problem and increases the turnover rate.

And makes the AD's job never-ending. "It's like going fishing," was how Atkins described his search for non-faculty coaches. "Sometimes you catch a whale, sometimes a minnow or a carp. Or maybe just an old inner tube."

The coaches from the business world often are unaware of the complexities involved with the job. The pay for coaching is terrible: $1,500-$2,500 for head coaching positions, $500-$700 for assistants.

Divide that into how many hours a coach works and the resulting figure might even make the National Labor Relations Board take action.

All that time with so little payback. Add in the hassles of holding a 9-to-5 job while trying to coach and the sacrifice can become too great.

TEACHERS ARE prodded — oftentimes unprepared or unqualified — into coaching. "Before, you used to have to wait your turn, you watched and studied and learned at the freshman or junior varsity level," Holland said. "Now you can get into any level of coaching in a high school almost immediately."

Summation: Lack of quality coaching equals lack of developed athletes. Holland agreed with Schembechler's assessment of Michigan football talent: "The level of skill and technique isn't as good as in, say, Florida or Texas."

But he, like Atkins and Seltz, was not without a solution — encourage college students to get into coaching, no matter what their field of study.

Seltz and fellow Oakland County ADs like Norm Quinn of Bloomfield Hills have enlisted computers to help link the problem. Available coaches are listed by sport and qualification in a system kept at Quinn's office.

Yet, the slide will continue. It is not a problem solved easily or quickly. The state's overall coaching talent will continue to plummet unless other answers are found.

Plymouth resident Bobby Smith, a key member of Wayne's Jamies team, belted out five home runs in 10 pitches to win the Massey Home Run Derby last Sunday.

Fall's not just for football anymore

By Chris McCosky, staff writer

WHEN YOU THINK of high school sports in the fall you think of football, girls' basketball, and maybe soccer.

That, perhaps, is because in terms of spectator appeal, those sports are most popular. All the preseason hype and hoopla is directed toward how Tom Moshimer's team will do in football, or if the Canton girls can beat the Salem girls in the opening game of the basketball season; those are things that make the headlines.

Meanwhile, running over hills and through forests with blisters on the bottoms of their feet, are more than 100 relatively anonymous athletes, both male and female, trying out for the Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem cross country teams.

THEN IF YOU stroll out behind the school, you will see another 30 or so athletes, all female this time, whacking a tennis ball back and forth. With the exception of a sensational sister combination from Salem (Wendy and Chris Gilles, who have left the scene), these athletes go about their business in relative obscurity.

The athletes of these so-called "minor sports" are cognizant that they will not automatically become household names by running cross country or playing tennis. They know this going in and they don't expect much publicity.

This article is by no means intended to buck tradition. But, what the heck, here is a brief preview of the 1983 cross country and girls' tennis teams at Canton and Salem.

CROSS COUNTRY

More than 50 runners have shown up for practice for Salem's new head coach Tom Williams. That was his first surprise of the season.

His second pleasant surprise was the progress of senior Phil Madis.

Madis, who didn't run cross country last season, is pressing junior Scott Steiner as the team's number one runner. Steiner was the team's top runner as a sophomore last year.

Williams thinks his team will improve upon its fourth place finish over all last year. "I think we will be stronger this year. We lost four runners who all ran in the 16-minute range last year, but we will be more balanced this year," he said.

Besides Steiner and Madis, Williams is counting on juniors Bill Morely and Eric Pederson, along with sophomore Tony Atwell to contribute this year. Junior twins Bill and John Keros have been impressive as has freshman Tom Foley. Senior Carl Gansler and sophomore Steve Estey have also shown improvement.

The Salem girls' cross country team, which placed first in their division, third overall, will have five All-League runners returning.

Seniors Shelley Simons and Michelle Donnelly, along with sophomores Trish Donnelly, Erica Basher and Laurie Swierd will all be back.

Another promising runner is junior Amy Miyazaki, who ran track last year.

"We have the talent to compete with anybody," Williams said. "Churchill is the premier team, but we are going to be tough."

Salem will open the season at Cass Benton Tuesday, Sept. 13, in a triple meet with Canton and Ypsilanti.

CANTON CROSS COUNTRY coach Jim Hayes, entering his fifth season, is looking to improve upon an eighth place finish overall last year.

He lost one runner to graduation and two others, who would have been returning seniors, decided not to run this year.

Hayes will have senior All-Division runner Tim Collins back this year. Collins, whose best time last year was 17:15, was the top runner for Canton last season. He will be joined by senior Todd Gattoni, who was Canton's second best last year.

Seniors Brian Zubatch and Keith Biddinger are expected to contribute as are sophomores Keith Rosol, Eric Rudzinski, and Bob Teller. Juniors Jim White and Ken Chance, along with senior Jim Kim have also shown improvement.

"We will improve rapidly," said Hayes. "Right now, I'm not sure where we stand. A lot depends on how hard they worked over the summer."

The Canton girls' team is thin in numbers. Currently, only five girls are on the team: juniors Kelly Murphy (All-Division last year) and Jan Alvarado, and seniors Ruth Ann Trout, Ida Williams and Maureen Brophy.

"There are a couple others who may come out. Anyone interested is more than welcome," Hayes said.

Hayes said he was pleased with the number of runners, 35, that came out for the team. However, "In terms of quality, we'll just have to wait and see. Quality will come from those who worked for it," he said.

GIRLS' TENNIS

Canton tennis coach Carol Michaels lost nine players from last year, but insists her team isn't looking too bad.

Canton finished in a four-way tie for first place in the Western Lakes Western Division last year, but wound up fourth overall. The majority of that team has graduated.

Michaels will place her hopes on seniors Linda Sarafin, Julie Sparks,

Jamies takes Massey crown

Jamies, Class A men's softball champions from Wayne, fought off a valiant surge by Livonia's Studio Lounge to win the annual Massey Tournament of Champions Softball Classic last weekend in Plymouth.

Jamies, after losing 7-5 to Studio Lounge in the semifinals, rebounded in the championship game, 11-10. Jamies was 5-1 for the tourney.

The Plymouth and Canton teams, Don Massey Cadillac, Dooney's, Stans Market and Canton Sports, were all knocked out of the tournament early. Yet, thanks to Bobby Smith, the host city had something to be proud of.

SMITH, A PLYMOUTH native playing for Jamies, won the home run derby sponsored by Budweiser. Smith banged five out of 10 pitches over the fence to win the derby.

Smith was also a key man in Jamies' 11-10 championship game victory collecting two hits in three at-bats.

It looked as though Jamies might sweep through the tourney undefeated. They jumped ahead of Studio Lounge 5-0 in the first inning of the semi-final game. Studio had already lost once and was facing elimination.

The Livonians, however, blanked Jamies the rest of the way and rallied to win 7-5. Ron Griffin was the big gun for Studio, going two for three with a two-run home run. Tim Kelley had two hits also.

Smith and tournament Most Valuable Player Mark Morgan, staked Jamies to an 11-8 lead going into the final inning of the championship game. Morgan, who batted .500 in the tourney, hit seven homers and knocked in 18 runs, went two-for-three and blasted a long home run in the championship contest.

STUDIO WAS FAR from finished. Trailing by three in the seventh, Griffin quickly reduced the margin to one with a two-run homer. Studio put its next two runners aboard, but a line drive through the box was caught and turned into a rally-killing double play. Ironically, the runner doubled off had just entered the game as a pinch runner.

Griffin and Terry Johnson each had three hits and a home run for the losers.

Romaine Party Store of Livonia finished third in the 12-team tourney played at Massey Field in Plymouth.

Jamies' pitcher Andy Coppola staved off a furious rally by Studio Lounge in the seventh inning of the championship game to preserve an 11-10 victory in the Massey Tournament of Champions softball classic.

Schoolcraft soccer Christoff hopes for good year

By C.J. Risk
staff writer

It's a problem few coaches — even on the high school level — ever face. A rebuilding year every year.

But that's what it goes at the community college sports level. And it's something Schoolcraft College soccer coach Larry Christoff has become accustomed to.

"You got to go through it every year," said Christoff at a team practice last week. "The years I had four players returning I was able to go to the national championships.

"But there aren't many (teams) that can do that."

CHRISTOFF PAUSED just long enough to send the large contingent of players on their way in another of a long series of sprints around the field. It was a muggy 90 degrees, but Christoff still drove his players at an exhausting pace.

If Schoolcraft is destined to lose a game this year, the reason won't be a lack of conditioning.

SOCCER

"We may get beat," Christoff, now in his ninth season, said, "but we'll never lose a game. We'll always be in it."

A year ago, the Ocelots posted a 10-3-1 record, missing the league title by a half-game. Macomb Community College won the championship but was eliminated early from the national tournament.

DESPITE LOSING all but one start, Christoff expects Schoolcraft to once again battle Macomb for the crown.

"It's been basically Macomb and us the last few years," Christoff estimated. "They're always tough. It runs in cycles. We're not necessarily strong, but we're balanced all the way around. That balance comes from a large array of players. Thirty-three is the current count, with the roster still growing.

Others expected to play extensive roles for Schoolcraft are, at the forward positions, Emanuel, Murua of Redford Temple Christian and Northville alums Chris Koenig and Doug and Greg Marshall. Dan Laurie of Livonia Stevenson will play at midfield and at forward, Jim Rhoad of Franklin is slated for midfield and Rick Ajluni of Livonia Churchill will be a defender.

THE KEY POSITION, according to Christoff, to fill is in the net.

"We've always had very good goalies here," the Ocelot coach said. "If we don't have one, we'll make one."

Those currently being "made" into goalies are Andy Bunting of Farmington and Ken Stamsbesky of Dearborn. Schoolcraft, which has a 242-32-12 record since the sport's inception in 1968, opens its season at Lakeland Community College Sept. 17. Key dates on the schedule are Sept. 28, when the Ocelots host Macomb, and Oct. 19, when they travel to Macomb. Nov. 12-13, the Inter-District tournament in Chicago, and Nov. 22-26, the nationals in Trenton, N.J.

Rich Kromm fired up to be a Flame

Son of ex-Wing coach eyes NHL Rich Kromm inks pact with Calgary Flames

By C.J. Risk
staff writer

Sunday will depart for the team's training camp, which opens Sept. 11.

For about 90 minutes a day, four days a week, Rich Kromm plays a rugged, exhausting game of four-on-four hockey at Redford's Ice Arena.

The other three days of the week he lifts weights. He constantly conditions his body, fervently believing that a sound body will lead to a clear mind.

Kromm will need that clear mind to absorb the numerous "little things" it takes to make the jump from professional hockey's minor leagues to the National Hockey League (NHL).

Kromm, a 19-year-old Livonian, was selected by the Calgary Flames in the second round of the 1982 draft. He signed with the Flames in June and on Saturday, Sept. 10, at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Classes are being offered for everyone age 4 through adult. They will be held after school, before school, and in the early evenings.

Classes will cost residents of the Plymouth-Canton school system $20. For non-residents, the cost will be $24. The classes will run for eight weeks.

For more information, call 455-6620.

WILLIAMS WINNERS

The sixth annual Randy Williams Memorial Golf Tournament, which took place Aug. 20 at Fellows Creek, attracted 108 golfers.

The winners of the three-man scramble were Gary Rothert, Paul Rother and Ken Tioff.

Second place went to John Gilles, Charlie Heid, and Mike Kisabeth. Mike Cordon, Nelson Keller, and John Strunski took third. Gary Balconi won the closest to the pin trophy and Larry Wells hit the longest drive.

Funds raised by the event go toward the establishment of an educational fund for the children of cancer victims in the Plymouth area. Other funds will aid Plymouth Salem and Canton high school state qualifiers with traveling expenses.

That's what comes easiest for me. "What I have to work on is my fitness."

Kromm will have time to think about what he can do to improve his game on the drive to Calgary, a trip he plans to make in two or three days. It's a long, tiring journey, but easier than the road Kromm plans to trek in the next few weeks — one he hopes will lead to the NHL.

After graduating from Redford Catholic Central in the summer of 1981, he played for the Windsor Royals Junior B team. After one season he headed west to play for Portland, the team with the highest NHL draft rate.

SEVERAL OPTIONS remain open for Kromm. Should he not make the rather long leap to the NHL with Calgary, he would return to Portland for another year at the amateur level. After this season, he would play somewhere in the Calgary system — at Peoria or Colorado or for the NHL team.

His choice is obvious. And he knows what he needs to do to make it to the NHL.

"Forechecking and backchecking are what I do best," he analyzed. "That's the way I play. There's nothing fancy in what I do. I just dig into the corners.

Rich Kromm started playing hockey at 7 and has competed in leagues throughout Canada and the U.S., "wherever my dad was." He caught the eye

Payne fights exhibition in Livonia

A challenge such as this cannot be avoided.

In fact, the local boxers fighting Monday look forward to their bouts, knowing full-well that the fight will be a long and difficult one. Indeed, it has lasted for decades already and still the battle rages on.

If ever there was a team boxing event, this is it. Among the local fighters who will appear at the parking lot of the Charisma Beauty Salon on Five Mile and Newburgh are Craig Payne, the No. 2 rated super-heavyweight in the nation, featherweight Mike Dardini and middleweight Steve Darnell, all of the Livonia Boxing Club.

Joining them will be members of the Westland/Garden City Boxing Club, the Eighth Street Gym, the Crowell Boxing Club and the Detroit Street Services Club.

The opponent for each fighter is a common one: Muscular Dystrophy.

BOXING

THE BOXING EVENT will provide more than funds for the fight against MD. For Payne, the exhibition will serve as a valuable tune-up for the North American Boxing Championships Sept. 18-17 in Houston. Payne will face the top fighters from the U.S., Canada, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic and Mexico, as well as other Caribbean nations.

Dardini and Darnell will use the bouts to prepare for the upcoming Michigan Amateur Boxing Federation Championships in Lansing. Dardini is returning from the Ohio State Fair Boxing Championships, where he won his first bout, then had to withdraw because of a badly cut lip. Darnell will be trying to come back from knee surgery performed earlier this summer.

THE FUND-RAISING EXHIBITION will run from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Boxing is only one of the scheduled events. Twenty-five of metro Detroit's top hairstyling salons will have representatives at the benefit cutting hair for $5 and $10. Entertainment will be provided by live bands, dancing girls, clowns and magicians.

For further information concerning these events, contact the Schoolcraft College athletic office at 591-6400.

It will be an event worth attending. And all proceeds go toward knocking out MD.

Lots happenin' at S'craft

The September sports calendar at Schoolcraft College is already crowded with events, not all concerned with the college's own sports teams.

The non-Schoolcraft College portion of the sports agenda starts Sept. 10, when the school hosts the 21st Annual Michigan Swim Officials Association workshop for the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

A brief look at the fall line of 'minor sports'

Kristen Smith and Pam Anderson, as well as junior Missy Lloyd and sophomore Lisa Hays to pick up the slack in 1983.

"We may be weaker at number one and two singles, but we might be stronger in number three and four singles. Same as last year, we will hope our doubles will pull us out," Michaels said.

SPEAKING OF HAVING to overcome losses: Plymouth Salem girls tennis coach Judy Braun will have to do without two of the best tennis players in the state, Chris and Wendy Gilles, who opted not to play high school tennis this year.

"I don't want to get into that again. It's been printed once. We suffered a loss. It's best to just leave it at that," Braun said.

The Gilleses were not the only players lost to the team. Six seniors from last year's team graduated.

"We lost the whole team, not just Wendy and Chris. The whole complexion of the team has changed. We have to start from scratch," Braun said.

The good news is, Salem is not without talented netters. Senior Lisa Maggio, Cathy Graham and Pam Swain, plus junior Barb Hanosh figure largely in Braun's plans for 1983. Newcomers Sue Kwon and Anita Toth, who has yet to appear at practice, should also contribute to the team.

"It's really hard to say right now how well we will do. We haven't had every-one out for practice yet. I assume we will be strong in singles, but I really don't know," Braun said.

Changing guard

Western Lakes has new basketball look

By Chris McCosky and Brad Ernors staff writers

KIM ARCHER is gone. So are Sue Ferguson and Alice Short. Jacquie Merrifield is gone and so is her coach Bob Blohm. Things will be a little different on the Western Lakes girls basketball scene this season. Walled Lake Western, spurred by the emergence of 6-foot-3 junior center Val Hill seem ready to take their place atop the Lakes Western Division, while Farmington Harrison, stung by the losses of Short and Ferguson, may find themselves rebuilding this year.

Not everything will change in 1983. The Lakes Division title will again be contested by Plymouth Salem, despite the loss of Merrifield, and Bentley, minus Archer.

Other teams apparently on the upswing are Livonia Stevenson and Walled Lake Central. Though the Western Lakes Conference lost some of its top talent last year, players like Hall, Pam McBride, Dawn Johnson, and Laurie Day, are ready to step into the limelight in 1983.

PLYMOUTH SALEM

Bob Blohm, who won more than 100 games in five seasons as Salem's girls basketball coach, has left his job in the very capable hands of Fred Thomann, who has been the head coach of the Rockets' boys hoop program for 12 seasons.

With a trio of returning starters the caliber of Pam McBride, Dawn Johnson, and Fran Whittaker, Thomann has a sound base to build his team.

McBride, a 5-foot-5 guard, is an excellent ball handler and perimeter player. The All-Observer pick shoots well and plays aggressive defense. Johnson, who will swing between guard and forward, will be counted on heavily for both scoring and rebounding.

"Dawn is just a super athlete," Thomann said. "Her vertical jump is as good as any girl I've seen. And she is a true jump shot shooter."

Whittaker, used mainly in a supporting role last year, will play forward-guard and be a key rebounder.

Senior Kelly Bemis, who is currently injured, and Mary Beth Weast, a junior, are fighting for the off-guard spot.

The seniors, Michelle Dawson, Cathy Schinker and Terri Lesniak, are doing battle for the other forward spot.

"We have three fine players to build the team around," said Thomann. "We have good quickness and this team will be a good defensive team. They are getting better daily and they are going to continue to get better."

The only possible weakness, Thomann said, will be rebounding. "We don't really have the one dominant rebounder," he said.

FARMINGTON HARRISON

"What a difference a year makes." The saying is much more than a tired cliché for Harrison coach Gary Sine. It's a harsh reality.

After losing two All-Stars from last year's 18-5 Western Division championship team, the aforementioned Ferguson and Short, as well as two other starters, Sine enters 1983 hoping at best for a .500 season.

"We will have to slow down the offense this year and be more patient. Last year, we could do anything we wanted to. We will have to play good defense," Sine said.

On the bright side, Karen Sklar, who was a starter last year until she got hurt, is healthy and looking sharp. She is a 5-foot-9, senior forward with a good outside shot and good quickness.

Junior Darla Payne, at 5-foot-5, will be the center. At the guard spots will be sophomores Michelle Wise and Jennifer Hughes.

But, the key to the team could be the development of freshman forward Jenine Whittimore. "She is a very strong player who can go to her right and to her left. She is going to be a good one," Sine said.

Junior guard Jodi Bennett and sophomore forward Dana Dinkins will see a good deal of playing time this year also.

"We have some quickness and more depth than we had last year. We will be able to press more. But, we are very young. If we play 500 ball, I'll be very happy," Sine said.

PLYMOUTH CANTON

Canton coach Phyllis Cunningham-Mulroy is trying to mold her small, young players into an aggressive, scrappy team. It's the only way her team will succeed in the unrelenting Western Lakes Conference.

"We have been working really hard. We will be playing at a height disadvantage most of the time. We will have to become a more scrappy, hard-fighting team," said Mulroy.

The team will also have to rely heavily on the outside shot for their offense. Luckily, senior Lou Ann Hamblin, junior Lisa Russell, and sophomore Diana Knickerbocker all possess deadly outside shots.

Mulroy has five seniors coming back from last season, but they saw only limited playing time. Three sophomores will also see action.

Nancy Gray is likely to share time at the guard spot with Hamblin, Marie Krashovetz and sophomore Beth Prigg. Knickerbocker, Tammy Badlong, Kathy Ross and Lisa Russell will play at forward. Senior Sue Opatry, at 5-foot-10, will play at center.

"We don't really have a post player. We will be hurting on the boards. The key for us will be defense. We have really focused on playing a tough man-to-man defense," Mulroy said.

FARMINGTON

Bruce Brown may not have the best basketball team in the league, but he certainly has the most worldly.

Farmington, coming off a dismal 1-20 showing last year, has picked up transfer students from Indiana (Jill Taylor) and Finland (Tuja Parttia) this season. The transfer students may add to the team's culture, but it's not likely that they will improve their win-loss record.

"We will be a lot better team," said Brown. "Unfortunately, everybody in the conference will be better, too."

Rhonda Lancaster, a junior guard, is probably the most talented player on the team. Joining her at guard will be Julie Dunn, Kris Rogers, currently injured, will also see some time at guard. Laura Ramberg and Alyse Fortune, a transfer student from Massachusetts, will start at forward and Jill Waterman will play center.

"We have a lot of kids back, but we still are very inexperienced. We are far behind in the mental aspects of the game. They just haven't played enough," Brown said.

Farmington got beat by as many as 70 points in games last year. That won't happen this year. The team should be more competitive, but still a ways away from being a contender.

LIVONIA BENTLEY

"Laurie Day will be the key to our season," said coach Tom Lang. "As captain, we have to look to her for leadership. She has an awful lot on her shoulders."

Day, a 5-8 senior, was an All-Observer pick last season. She is one of three starters back and is moving from guard to forward.

Juniors Lonnie Payne, who will be the point guard, and Sheri Wolfe, a forward, are back for their second varsity seasons.

Replacing All-American Archer, bound for Michigan State, is the biggest headache for Lang.

"It's nice to have three back, but nothing will ease Kim's loss," admitted Lang. "We won't be able to dominate the boards. We're short, but you just don't know according to the other teams. I know that we won't have any easy games."

Theresa Aragona, a 5-10 senior, moves into the center slot after playing back last year. Bridget Nicole, a 5-6 senior, will probably be the fifth starter.

"Theresa is good defensively — excellent in the man-to-man," Lang said. "And Bridget is good on defense and is an outside shooter."

Lang can also expect help from sophomores Kelly Kowalski and Amy Weber (slowed of late by an ankle injury).

LIVONIA CHURCHILL

The Chargers return four starters under new coach Roger Springsteen. Churchill is coming off a 2-16 season.

Guards Amy Brow and Patty Schmidt return along with forward Gal Mundie and 5-10 center LaDonna Sevakis.

Springsteen, who spent five years at Churchill as an assistant, said, "We'll be more of a transition (running) team instead of a pattern team."

Newcomers expected to help include last year's leading scorer on the JV, sophomore Sherri MacIntyre, 5-10 sophomore Jacki Wozniak, and freshman Tracy Greenwald.

"Tracy was very impressive this summer," said Springsteen. "She's very aggressive and will fit right in with the kind of basketball we want to play."

"We have a good mix of players and we have some talent to be a decent basketball team. I think we can be competitive in the Western Division."

LIVONIA STEVENSON

First-year coach Wayne Henry probably has the youngest team in the W.L.A.A., but he's not fretting.

"I don't want to say it's a rebuilding year," said Henry, who was the JV coach last season. "We hope to come on as the season goes along and maybe do something in the Western Lakes playoffs."

"We have only two back from last-year's team, but I'm not writing this season off."

The returnees are both forwards — Sandy Wain, a senior, and Amy Rozman, a junior.

Up from last year's 15-5 JV squad are 6-0 Lisa Bokovoy, 5-9 Mary Kay Hussey, point-guard Cindy Schmidt, Chris Schemanske, Julie Niemiec, Pam Griffin and Shannon Snyder, Junior forward-center Joan Frysinger, a transfer from Okoska, and senior guard Liz Gargaro round out the 11-member unit.

"We don't have a big center, but we have nice size with our forwards," said Henry. "I think we'll have a strong bench. Anybody will be able to come off and contribute. We have some athletes and we'll have a good attitude."

Blazers unveil new '5' tonight

Livonia Ladywood kicks off the prep girls' basketball season at 7:30 tonight against Dearborn St. Alphonsus in its home opener.

The Blazers are coming off a 22-1 season under coach Ed Kavanaugh. Ladywood reached the Class B quarterfinals last season before being ousted by St. Joseph's.

Other area teams will swing into action Tuesday night.

Zoo Fun

No zoo visit is complete without photographs of the animals and the people, so naturally at the 1983 Carrier Night at the Zoo on June 24th, there were some really nice photos taken.

Special features this year were Elsie's Borden Train and Elsie herself. Rounding out the extra special features were the Moslem Clowns Shriners Unit of Detroit as well as the Moslem Highlanders Shriners Unit of Detroit who serenaded with their bagpipes.

A lovely, enjoyable evening and part of the fringe benefits of being an Observer & Eccentric carrier.

3 ways to invest and save for college

If you have children in college, you already know how onerous the experience can be. It's even more frustrating if it is too late to do something about it. So the key is to give money to your children while they are young.

The purpose for giving a gift should be clear. A gift is not taxable to the recipient.

Also, you can give each child up to $10,000 a year ($20,000 per couple) without incurring any federal gift tax.

However, the main purpose of giving a gift is to shift earning assets from your high tax bracket to the low tax bracket of your children.

THERE ARE THREE ways in which you can gift your earning assets. The easiest and cheapest way to make an outright gift of money to a small child is to set up a custodial account under the Uniformented Gift to Minors Act (UGMA).

To open an UGMA account, you just get a Social Security number for the child and ask a banker, broker or mutual fund manager to open an account in the child's name.

Someone will have to act as the account's legal custodian — a relative or friend usually, but preferably not someone who intends to contribute money. If a donor-custodian dies before the child reaches the age of majority, the property goes into the donor's estate.

The second way of giving a gift is to set up a Clifford Trust, which is a short-term trust in which the earnings from your assets accumulate in the child's name, but you maintain the firm right to reclaim the principal.

The biggest liability is that you must wait at least 10 years and one day before taking your principal back. If you make an early withdrawal, you must pay back taxes on any earnings from the money.

THE THIRD WAY of giving a gift is to lend money to your children, com-

finances and you

monly known as a Crown loan. It is an interest-free loan that the child must repay whenever you ask. If the child is under the age of majority, you will have to set up a trust in which to deposit the money.

Because you can get at the principal anytime, a Crown loan is more suitable for youngsters nearing college age than is a Clifford Trust with its 10-year holding period.

One important caution: Once you give money to a child — even an infant — there is no legal way to get it back. Therefore, care should be exercised in giving gifts to children.

Don't decide on investments just to avoid paying taxes

today's investor

Thomas E. O'Hara

of the National Association of Investment Clubs

My parents died and left the children a farm that we sold in July 1983. My part is $29,000. My share of the inheritance tax value increase is $4,500. Will I have to pay a capital gains tax on the increase? Will I have to pay federal or state tax?

How could I invest this money best to create a living estate and shelter it from possible taxes at the same time?

It would seem that the standard exemption would eliminate any need for you to pay federal taxes on your inheritance, but that is not my field, and I would suggest you cover that question with your attorney or tax man.

As to your question on investing the money and sheltering it from taxes, let's talk about the latter item first. While no one likes to pay taxes, they are a fact of life, and we believe it is best not to base one's plans on making the payment of taxes a major consideration in your decisions.

When you are in an upper tax bracket, tax planning becomes more important. When you are not in an upper bracket, the possibility of saving a meaningful amount on taxes is seldom worth its possible effect on an investment decision.

I DON'T KNOW anything about your personality's ability to tolerate investment risk. If you are the kind of person who is frightened by the movement of stock prices, then I would divide the $29,000 into five roughly equal parts and buy Public Service Co. of New Mexico, Standard Oil of Indiana, R.J. Reynolds Industries, Cesebrough-Pond's and Public Service of Colorado.

These companies should give you an increase in income through the years and appreciation from growth and shouldn't have much risk on the downside. To make the most of their potential, I would reinvest their dividends in the companies through their dividend reinvestment programs or put them in the next companies I have listed.

If you are still quite a young man, and if you can tolerate fairly wide price changes in stock, then I would divide the money among Air Products & Chemical, Trinity Industries, W.R. Grace, Blount Industries and Avco Corp. Those stocks should have a little more appreciation prospects.

Filmmaker completing his newest project

Hingle and scriptwriter Dick Joy go over a scene, in parlor of the Henry Ford Birthplace, one of the sites used in the orientation film.

Lawson enjoys all phases of motion-picture work but especially editing the film.

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

THE EDITING PROCESS is the part of filmmaking he enjoys most, said Will Lawson, head of film production at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Dearborn.

Since the beginning of August, Lawson has been editing a 15-minute orientation film that will be shown to museum visitors beginning in October. The village's first orientation film was shot earlier this summer with character actor Pat Hingle as host-narrator.

Lawson, who selects cast and crew for the village's film projects, said of Hingle, "I had him in the back of my mind all along."

Hingle has worked for General Electric, doing TV spots as Tom Edison. He also did a one-man show as Edison. The veteran performer seemed a natural to interpret Greenfield Village to the public.

"WE HAD ONLY two days to work. He had 10 minutes of screen time. It was quite a bit of work. He really did a superb job," Lawson said.

Lawson, a Birmingham resident, has been with Greenfield Village since 1975. Although he has worked on many films in his career, he is proudest of "La Grande Vitese," which he wrote and produced back in 1972.

"I think it's the best thing I've done," he said of the 16-minute film story about Alexander Calder's stable sculpture at Vandenberg Plaza in Grand Rapids.

Lawson received the opportunity to do the motion picture when he was working as in-house filmmaker for the college's public relations office.

He compared the Calder film — which was done "for people to experience the making of the sculpture" — to the orientation film shot at Greenfield Village. In both, he tried "to create a little bit of mystery. We don't want to lay things out for people."

Lawson said the orientation film takes a philosophical approach, creating a frame of reference for the museum's collection.

"THE 240-ACRE museum covers 150 years of industrial history. Emphasizing the Industrial Revolution, it shows the change from farm to industrial culture.

The orientation film begins with someone growing up in the 1930s, then goes back to preindustrial times. The village is used as a stage and buildings as artifacts to tell the story.

The film is trying to clarify something about Henry Ford as a person growing up in this age of transformation.

Visitors will see the film in a new theater being built at the museum. A permanent part of the setting will be a Ford personal-history museum, an exhibit area dedicated to Henry Ford.

Lawson said that during shooting of the orientation film with actor Hingle, "We really put him to the test and worked long hours. I found him to be the most professional person I've ever worked with."

The only time Hingle became impatient was with unnecessary delays. "He's really a stage actor at heart. When he's ready, he expects us to be ready."

HINGLE IS a familiar face to TV viewers and has appeared on such shows as "M*A*S*H" and "St. Elsewhere." He also makes about a half-dozen movies a year. Recent stage roles include Big Daddy in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" at the Los Angeles Civic Theater.

Other noted actors who have worked at Greenfield Village include E.G. Marshall, James Whitmore and Burgess Meredith.

Lawson is executive director of the museum's orientation film. He is also the writer, photographer and crew of 18 people.

"My love in filmmaking is in post-production," he said. "When I'm editing, I forget about lunch hour."

Lawson has been a resident of Birmingham since 1954. He went to Birmingham schools, graduating from Groves High School. He attended Grand Valley State College in Allendale for five years, studying psychology and fine art.

"Ever since age 14 I've been working in film. I worked summers for a Detroit motion picture producer," Lawson said. He did industrial films for the automotive market and worked for the tourist council. He was a production assistant and editing assistant. "I spent a lot of years at Ross Roy," he said.

At Greenfield Village, he does color photography for publications and has a routine production schedule for TV news clips including public service spots.

A ONE-MAN department, Lawson hires the people necessary to make each film. Usually, he will be the cameraman and hire one or to production assistants and a sound man.

Lawson said a library of films about the village is provided free for group presentations, service clubs, classrooms and travel agents.

Many film projects require a lot of research by Lawson. "You need research necessary to develop the visual story," he said. When the Harvey Firestone Estate was moved from Ohio to the village and an 18th century Saltbox House was moved from Connecticut, he did careful research before filming.

"The only time (Pat) Hingle became impatient was with unnecessary delays. He's really a stage actor at heart. When he's ready, he expects us to be ready."

Jazz stars to perform

There's something for everyone at the Montreux-Detroit Kool Jazz Festival, which runs through Monday. For fans who like to tap their toes to the big-band sound, or get out on the dance floor while the music plays, the J.C. Heard Orchestra is featured from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday at the B... J.C. Heard plays the drums, during a recent concert on the summer jazz series at the Bloomfield Township Public Library.

State fair wine judge faces many temptations at tasting

When some gustatory duty is to be done. A judge's lot is not a happy one. Happy one? With due respect to the noble adversaries of the "Pirates of Penzance," it is indeed tough to be an evaluator of others' efforts, whether in the form of piracy or winemaking. Consider: A wine judge must begin at 9 a.m., with the prospect of continuous drinking over six-eight hours. He faces 50-70 wines in a stretch, making decisions about each. A judge must reconcile his judgments with other judges to arrive at some kind of consensus. These differences can get turbulent at times. He must not make ugly faces when the wine is bad. That's considered bad form, a sign of moral weakness. Above all, a judge should not get smashed. The temptation is there as the day drags on for some, but again, good form must hold. ARMED WITH all these admonitions and anticipations, I recently (Aug. 23) again joined a group of 19 others at the Michigan State Fair to assault the 107 entries that Michigan winemakers considered worthy of peer competition. The group included national dignitaries such as Leon Adams, Craig Goldwyn and Ruth Ellen Church and local talent like Jeremy Eggers, Dick Sheer, Torkild Nielsen, Bill George and Ray and Eleanor Head, all under the squaring of Chief Stan Howell. The good news is that 1983 saw the award of 10 gold medals, up considerably from the two issued in 1982. This was, in all likelihood, attributable to a more benevolent mood by the judges this year, with a lingering sense of guilt—having carried over from last year. The wines were probably no better, no worse, than they have been over the past few years. That means that the industry is holding its own, at least. The chardonnays were again all rejected (no awards), but the Rieslings fared well, as did the Vignole entries. The Reds continue to fare poorly, only Foch showing some competitive quality. The 1983 winner? Easy, Chateau Grand Traverse captured four of the 10 golds. And this from a winery often rumored to be going out of business, a troubled enterprise over the years. The 1983 loser? Easy, Tabor Hill, often a winner, this year barely showed in the lesser medal categories. BEST OF SHOW went to Fenn Valley for their 1982 Select Late Harvest Vignoles. They also had a gold winner for their 1982 Reserve Vidal Blanc. Grand Traverse awards were for their 1981 and 1982 Late Harvest Rieslings, their 1982 Botrytised Berry Special Selection (whew!) Riesling and their 1981 Ice Wine. (Suspicion is very strong that the panel this year had a remarkable preference for sweet wines. Individual Gold Award winning winners were L. Mawby (Vignoles), Good Harbor (Vignoles), Bronte (Baco Noir) and St. Julian (May wine, May Wine). Well, it was quite a day. At least, there were no garlic or onion wines submitted this year, but the panel that tasted the peppermint wine (Heferminz Dreh from Frontenac) was a long time regaining their palates. My favorite wine? It only got a silver, due wholly to the stubborn position of a couple of tasteless fellow judges, but it was a grand one that deserved gold. It was the St. Julian Frankenhuth Champagne, the first tasted during the day, long before palate burn-out set in. A remarkable entry, wine fermented in "this" bottle. Maybe a judge's lot is not so bad after all.

Free lunchtime concerts due

A series of free lunchtime concerts, sponsored by Manufacturers Bank, will be held during September at Hart Plaza and the Washington Boulevard Mall in downtown Detroit. The concerts, in honor of the bank's 50th anniversary, will feature local musical groups performing during lunchtime Monday, Sept. 12, through Thursday, Sept. 15. The Detroit Police Department's Blue Pigs Band will start the series at Hart Plaza, offering a variety of songs and comedy routines on Sept. 12. The Pastiche Wind Quintet will be the featured group Sept. 13 at the Washington Boulevard Mall. Bird — Trane — Sco — Now, a group that started as an after-school activity for local music students, will perform Sept. 14, also at the Washington Boulevard Mall. The Borderline Express, a bluegrass and soft country group, will play Sept. 14 at Hart Plaza.

Palms to screen vintage films
The 2,955-seat Palms Theatre in Detroit will reopen Wednesday, Sept. 14, beginning with a nostalgic seven-week review of vintage films highlighting Columbia Pictures 50th anniversary. Joseph Papp's Public Theatre launched the same program earlier this summer in New York. "Salome" and "Loves of Carmen," in new Technicolor prints, are the opening double-bill offering. Hollywood classics such as "Lawrence of Arabia," "Bride on the River Kwai" and "From Here to Eternity" will be shown. The Frank Capra films "Lost Horizon" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" will be the closing attractions of the film retrospective. The theater will operate seven days a week (Wednesdays-Thursdays, Fridays-Saturdays and Sundays-Tuesdays) during the Columbia retrospective, featuring three different double bills every week. What separates "Psycho" from a run-of-the-mill hatchet-horror story? For starters there's Alfred Hitchcock's variations on the theme: He starts the story with a subplot, thereby confusing the audience and shrewdly establishing groundwork for the shockingly lurid shower scene. He also takes clean-cut Anthony Perkins fresh from the role of an innocent, All-American in "Tall Story" and transforms him into the manly, acal villain. Perkins, too, enhances his role with some unscripted bits of acting menace. Then there's Bernard Herrmann's brilliant musical score, which rattles the nerves while remaining true to the film's constant bird imagery. Put it all together and here's one of the best horror films ever made. Janet Leigh, Vera Miles, Martin Balsam and John Gavin co-star.

like most schlock-horror pictures of the day did. Instead, the director, in effect, filmed a stage play. Unfortunately, when seen on the two-dimensional TV, the film comes across rather dull and one-dimensional. Still, it's a pleasure just to look at the beautiful Grace Kelly and a joy to watch John Williams unravel the murder scheme of miscreant Ray Milland, even if the plot is too complicated for its own good. Robert Cummings also stars.

"Charade" (1963), noon Wednesday on Ch. 9. Originally 114 minutes. Talk about complicated plots. "Charade" offers a terribly implausible script and plot twists. Once again, though, it's gratifying to view the performances of Cary Grant, who, at 59, appears most dignified. Audrey Hepburn, who, at 34, was never more graceful, and the fine supporting work of Walter Matthau, George Kennedy, James Coburn and Ned Glass.

This etching is an example of the unusual work of Brian Watkins. The artist chooses scenes from different photographs and combines them in one etching.

Images combine in unusual etchings

Artist has worked 3 years on process

Chances are that you would never recognize the scenes depicted in Brian Watkins' zinc-plate etchings. The often surreal images exist only in his mind's eye — until he combines scenes from different photographs to produce a tantalizing new picture.

Watkins, a Plymouth native, combines elements of scenes as diverse as VFW members planting flags in a local cemetery to street scenes in Amsterdam's red-light district.

IN THE print "Dating is for the Birds" he utilizes an archway photographed in Sweden, a house photographed in Detroit, an embracing couple from Hamburg, West Germany, and bats from Plymouth to produce one haunting and memorable scene.

Watkins' etchings are produced differently from the more traditional styles of etching.

He works with a 35mm camera and high-speed black and white film and produces grainy negatives.

These are enlarged to the size of the finished etching on a high-contrast graphic arts film. Traditionally an artist would use a halftone screen to produce the intermediate tones in the final print.

Because of the coarse grain of the original negatives and their high degree of enlargement, Watkins is able to bypass this screen and hold much more detail in the final print.

Watkins cuts apart the enlarged graphic arts film and assembles the pieces to form a new image. Using this technique he is able to create any scene that his considerable imagination can invent.

The final assembly is rephotographed. The large film positive transparency that results is placed in firm contact with a zinc plate that has been coated with a light-sensitive emulsion. The film and zinc plate package is then exposed to ultraviolet light.

THE LIGHT hardens portions of the plate in relation to how much passes through the film. Watkins places the zinc plate in an acid bath that etches away the unhardened portions of the plate.

The image that results on this plate is a relief image. Watkins inks this plate each time he produces an etching. The ink that he carefully wipes on the plate is deposited in proportion to the depth of the etched image.

Thus, shadow areas will hold more ink and print darker, while midtones and highlights will hold less, printing lighter.

The inked plate is placed on damp etching paper, then placed on the bed of the etching press. Watkins spins the large-spoked wheel and the plate and paper pass between the heavy rollers of the press.

Carefully separating the paper from the inked plate, Watkins inspects a proof of "Dating is for the Birds." That work, which combines several elements, is shown above. The press which Watkins uses for his work is in Schoolcraft College's art department.

The etching paper is then carefully removed from the plate. After the etching dries Watkins signs and numbers each finished print.

BECAUSE the plate wears each time a print is pulled, Watkins limits each edition. He is careful to retire and destroy worn plates.

Watkins' work has grown in complexity in the three years he has worked with this process. He began with single image etchings then learned to add and combine images.

The artist has exhibited at the Blixt Gallery in Ann Arbor and the Atelier de Photographie in Plymouth.

Some of his recent works will be on display at an informal open house during Plymouth Fall Festival, Thursday through Sunday, Sept. 8-11, at the Atelier, located at 281 Union Street in Plymouth.

Good portfolio is key to an artist's job

This is another in a series of lessons on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing. He has taught for eight years and operates an art store, Art Store and More, 18774 Middlebelt, Livonia. Messing encourages questions and comments from readers. You may write him at his store or c/o Observer Newspapers, 23352 Farmington Road, Farmington MI 48024.

By David P. Messing

With my hair greased back and my best (only) suit on I snapped my portfolio together and marched straight from a college campus to my first job interview.

My degree in fine arts is one half advertising design and one half sculpture. That means I can wear a suit and look like a commercial artist, or wear a flannel shirt and bluejeans and look like a sculptor.

But this interview was for an illustrator so I suited up for the occasion.

With a shiny face and a head full of confidence, I sat before the man who was to interview me. Even though he was a thin little fellow, who nervously bit his nails, he completely disarmed me with his first question. He asked: "What do you have in the way of product illustration?"

The room got hot and my tie seemed awfully tight. I had nothing in my portfolio that could be considered product illustration. So I figured I would dazzle him with the quantity of "A" marks I received. I rapidly pulled pieces of artwork out of my portfolio and began laying them all over this poor fellow's desk, lap and office.

SAVING the best for last, I slowly pulled out my detailed drawing of the human body, everything in proportion, every bone muscle, cartilage and tendon properly labeled. I even forgot to erase the big red "A" on the cover sheet.

Then with a stoic monotone voice he asked, "But can you draw a toaster?" ... So there we were he was thinking "I don't care what you got an 'A' on. Can you do commercial art?" and I was thinking "Hey man, what planet are you from! If I can do all these lessons and get good grades of course I can draw toasters?"

We were both right. He was right in wanting to see something showing my ability to fill his specific need. I was right in knowing that I could do that type of artwork. But I presented a very weak portfolio and sadly enough was totally unaware of its deficiencies.

A degree is certainly important, but your portfolio is what will get you the job! Looking back at many freelance interviews I had, I do not recall anyone ever asking if I had a degree in art. But I certainly remember at most interviews, the statement, "Let's see what your portfolio looks like."

A WELL-ROUNDED portfolio is your life's blood if you are a free-lance artist or hoping to land a job with a prospective employer. A degree is proof that you have fulfilled the requirements to receive a certificate in a specific area of learning. Your portfolio is proof that you have the ability to do artwork worthy of payment.

A good portfolio is one of quality and not quantity. I always say (starting today), "Pick out the best and leave out the rest."

You never want to qualify or make excuses for anything in your portfolio. For example: "Here's an ad I did for my school paper. I know the eyes on the girl are a little off and I misspelled 'sale,' but I was in a hurry." Or, "Here's a portrait of President Ford when he was in office, but I haven't found time to finish"

Only the best you can do should be in your portfolio.

"A picture is worth a thousand words." This saying seems to fit so well in regards to a portfolio. When you are showing your portfolio, regardless of whether you are chattering a blue streak or saying very little, your

Unusual shots win oohs, aahs

All photographers like to have their egos stroked with the "oohs" and "aahs" of appreciation by those who see their pictures.

Positive feedback serves as an incentive to make you want to go out and shoot more photos.

How can you improve your pictures to get such positive acclaim? One way is to always be on the lookout for the unusual, which, most often, is right there in front of you.

As you look through the viewfinder of your camera, really begin to "see." For example, a shadow cast by an early morning or late afternoon sun can add that extra touch to your shot.

BACK LIGHT can transform your subject into an unusual, dramatic silhouette. How about an unusual cloud formation or perhaps an approaching, thunderstorm?

A keen photographer's eye can isolate a small detail or pattern that will produce a photograph of unusual quality. Even using backgrounds effectively will add important impact to your shot.

And keeping your eyes open for an exciting splash of color may be the final ingredient for that special shot.

Don't overlook reflections either and pay close attention to careful framing and composition, all of which will generate those "oohs" and "aahs."

USING your camera's controls creatively can add the unusual to your pictures, too. Slow shutter speeds can blur the action and give a misty, dreamlike appearance to subjects such as flowing water.

Fast shutter speeds will freeze the action at its peak. Remember that your aperture control regulates depth-of-field that in turn can be used to get an unusual look to your pictures.

Even candid shots will capture that unusual expression that is so elusive in posed portraits.

For you vacationers, put your traveler's vision in gear and be on the lookout for the unusual. An obscure street scene or other out-of-the-way image will add impact and interest to your travel photographs.

In summary, it's okay to deviate from the norm in your photography. Being a little "unusual" in your thinking will reward you with pictures of which you'll be proud.

With care in composition, Monte Nagler was able to transform an ordinary country road scene into an unusual image. Note that he waited until the car was exactly at the top of the hill before he tripped the shutter.

Portfolio is the key to a job

Impression or lack of it, is 99 percent by the looks of your work. JUST THINK, perhaps one of your pieces might be the one that sways a decision for you, or against you. Fighting? Not really. Imagine what an actor or an actress must endure at an audition. They, regardless of how talented they may be, are only considered for moments at a time. Their total ability could not rightfully be presented in the stress of a live audition. But as an artist you can pour hours of drawing, and redrawing if necessary, to make your portfolio the very best representation of your ability in art. So what is a good portfolio? In the field of commercial art, it may have a small representation of some of the basic media. That is to say, your best pen and ink drawing, pen and ink watercolor or oil painting, etc. But most certainly you should have commercial looking pieces of artwork. For example camera-ready artwork, like pen and ink drawing of some product. One nice way to do this is to create on a product, like an electric drill or hair dryer etc. and render it in pencil, pen and ink with half-tone screens, black pencil on coquille board, gray wash, watercolor and airbrush. IN AN automotive drawing strive to show accuracy and cleanliness of line without sacrificing artistic style and looseness. Don't forget a good cartoon. This shows your full range of ability, and cartoons are a very good money-maker, especially if your cartoons have a particular style. Style in cartooning is a visual expression of your own particular manner of lines and shapes. Though it is good to be influenced by the style of other cartoonists, it is a definite "no-no" to copy the style of another artist. ARTFUL HINT: Offer something as unexpected as your own fingernail color in a mat in your portfolio. To fix this, you lightly mist some water onto a folded piece of paper towel. Then scrub the entire mat. This will rework the tooth of the mat and when dry, restore uniform color to the mat.

Q. I am having fits trying to draw my baby grandchild. How do you draw babies? A. Babies are very difficult to draw especially if you try to draw them in lines only. Always draw them in shades rather than lines. As far as proportions go, the eyebrows are at the half way point of the head. The bottom half is the hard part because all those cute little features are located there. So divide the bottom half into fourths. The bottom of the eye touches the one-fourth line. The bottom of the nose touches the half-line. The lips are just up from the three-quarter line and the chin is at the bottom. Don't forget the usual double chin. Be sure to make the lips and the nose about the same width and remember to keep the eyes wide apart. Drawings are from "Walter Foster Book #197: 'Drawing the Head' by Andrew Loomis."
