Hearing on tax rates

Budget benefits cops

staff writer

Canton residents could have a new police station and more officers on pa-

As a prelude to the upcoming budget review, the Township Board next Tuesday will hold a public hearing on proposed tax rates to finance the police

The board also will set the tax rate for the general fund, which pays most of the township's other bills. Residents may express their opinions, beginning at 7 p.m. in Township Hall on Canton Proposals call for an increase in the police tax, with no change in the fire and general fund tax rates. The Township Board sets the tax rates and approves the budget, which takes effect

"We will take written comments if people don't want to show up (at the hearing)," said finance director Mike Gorman. "The budget is basically the same as previous years. There should be no change other than an increase in service, if anything.

HIGHLIGHTS OF the proposed budget call for:

· Hiring nine civilian dispatchers to handle police and fire calls. This would free up existing officers - who now day administrative duties.

 Proposed salaries for employees would be increased 6 percent.

ACCORDING TO Gorman, the Township Board has authority to reduce the supervisor, clerk and treasurer to part-time. The issue also could be placed on the ballot.

The police, fire and general fund have separate taxes, set each year by the Township Board. While the general

Teens taunt merchants

By Arlene Funke staff writer

A small group of loitering, destructive youths is creating havoc and driving away customers, say merchants at the Pine Tree Plaza shopping center on Joy east of Haggerty.

While most young customers shop for snacks and play video games, others steal, break windows and vandalize vacant buildings, shopkeepers say.

But two store managers insist they aren't going to knuckle under to the teens, and are attempting to reverse a five-year problem at the shopping cen-

Cash sought for sewer plan

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

Plymouth Township is going ahead with plans to get a $3.8 million cash advance to design a parallel sewage interceptor for the seven communities cut from Supersewer.

The township board, in a 7-0 vote Tuesday night, authorized supervisor Maurice Breen to sign an application with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) for the advance.

Breen, and other officials, including State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth Township, met with DNR representatives last week and were reassured the funds should be available by Oct. 1. Although the money will be channeled through Plymouth Township, the design project will take in the townships of Canton, Van Buren, Northville, and Commerce and the cities of Wixom and Novi. These communities are included due to population requirements.

"The purpose of the cash advance is to allow the seven communities expelled from Supersewer to design and develop a plan for the presentation of a sewage system," Breen said.

"It's the only game in town as far as the seven communities I mentioned are concerned. If we don't get this, we're out of business as far as economic development in these communities.

THE SEVEN communities, referred to as the northern branch of the original Supersewer plan, claim they were forced by the DNR to participate in Supersewer planning.

Additional sewer capacity is needed in many of the communities, since engineering studies show the current interceptor - owned by Wayne County and tied into the Detroit sewage system is over its capacity.

Supersewer would have tied the northern communities into a massive sewage system planned to run south into the downriver area. The southern communities are continuing with a scaled-down version of Supersewer.

The parallel interceptor plan will keep the northern communities tied into the Detroit system, with a new sewage line running next to the Wayne County interceptor.

"Theoretically, if everybody is right, it would be cheaper to build to Detroit

(than going with Supersewer)," Breen said

The cost of building the parallel interceptor - estimated at $109 million - could be defrayed if suspected pollution problems in the existing interceptor are corrected at the same time.

WITH THE cash advance, Plymouth Township must develop a grant application for the construction of the new sewage line. That application needs to be completed by next October if the project is to receive 75 percent federal funding. The remaining 25 percent would be borne by the seven local com-

ST STATE legislatures in America meet three or four months, then go home for

In six months of sweating and straining, the Michigan Legislature produced an incomplete budget and a personal income tax increase with no provision for property tax relief.

The legislature next week will start its second session of the year. It's supposed to face all the problems it pushed aside from January to early uly as it dealt with the fiscal crisis.

Far be it from us to criticize what seems to be a bipartisan position. We only hope that this fall the

THE JOBS, as we see them, are these: · Medical costs. Forty percent of the state budget is social services, and half of that is Medicaid. Medical costs have been leaping up 10 or 15 percent a year, in good years and bad, whether people are working in the factories or standing in the unemployment line. Two committees had planned to address the problem this summer. There has been little sign of activity. Knowledgeable people say Michigan's rate of hospitalization per filness or injury is far higher than comparable states. If we are to avoid starved colleges and another tax increase in four or five years, the state needs to get a handle on Medicaid and medical costs and quickly.

• That $43 million. In spring lawmakers were split three ways over what to do with that amount in the social services budget, and they never resolved the question. The options: raise welfare benefits, raise home heating allowances or train welfare recipients for jobs. (We expect it may be asking the impossible to suggest it not be spent at all.)

 Economic development. Step 1 in recovery was the state government's own fiscal crisis. Step 2 was the summer jobs program. Now Gov. Blanchard's proposal for a Michigan Strategic Fund deserves to be addressed. Can a state bureaucracy really be a source of venture capital to infant industries? Should it? Or will the money be spent politically? Stay tuned.

 Transportation. Here the legislature's record is dismal. Essentially, what needs to be done is that Lansing must give regional transit authorities leeway to go to their own constituents and ask for operating money. So fearful are many lawmakers for their jobs that they won't even allow local option proposals to go to the voters. Meanwhile, the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority. for one is foundering.

"THIS IS A free country," the old saying goes But freedom doesn't mean officials who have taken an oath of office have the option of walking away from their duties, no more than a parent can walk away from the responsibility of caring for a child

Here's how to develop better local boards

SUBURBAN newspapering is tougher than big city newspapering in one important way.

Suburbia has a glut of civic organizations to keep tabs on. What's more, the organizations don't simply complain to City Hall to solve their problems. though that's sometimes necessary. Rather, our civic groups solve the problems themselves.

Whatever we can do to help them, we try to do. Today's helpful advice is to look at a program Schoolcraft College is offering called Building Better Boards. It's a series of seven workshops on what a board of directors does and some of the better

The fee is $15 per workshop. You can sign up for one, two or all. Get your own brochure and registration form by calling Schoolcraft's continuing education office at 591-6400 Ext. 409.

I've served on a few boards and committees well. I hope. But I can attest that fellow members and I would have been better off with some of the Building Better Boards workshops because they don't teach most of this stuff in college, even in the master of business administration program.

BUT LET'S let the brochure speak for itself, and you make up your own mind.

'A. Board Membership. Saturday, Sept. 17, 9-11:30 a.m. Who should sit on a board and why. How do you approach new members, get them involved and keep them involved . . . Richard J. Hayward,

E. Parliamentary Procedure. Saturday, Oct. 29, 9-12 noon. Can you organize and chair meetings efectively? Do you know how to make a motion? Make recommendations? . . Specific problems Louise Saks, registered parliamentarian.

F. Board Roles and Administrative Roles Thursday, Nov. 3, 7-10 p.m. Where does one begin and the other end? How can the board and staff best work together? Paul Y. Kadish, Schoolcraft board of trustees: Allan Breakie, executive director, Garden City Hospital

IF I HAD been organizing these workshops, I would have had one on board evaluation of an administrative officer.

Annual employee valuations are a big thing these days. It's tough enough to do them one-on-one. It's even tougher for a board to conduct an evaluation. But I can't have my way all the time. This list of workshops is dandy as it is. And if you devote a lot of time to civic work, it won't hurt to invest three hours making yourself a better board member and

Bill Bonds' brow

IF YOU can believe one of Michigan's assistant attorneys general, Bill Bonds' habit of furrowing his brow while delivering the news is costing the state's taxpayers millions of dollars.

I didn't make this up, I read it in the morning paper. Assistant attorney general Tom Schimpf was explaining how the state of Michigan lost $2.8 million in federal dollars in its handling of the cleanup of the Berlin & Farro dump site near Flint.

Schimpf said that because of media attention on the dump site there was a public clamor for an immediate cleanup. The state could have halted action for as few as 90 days to get federal approval for a superfund grant of up to $2.8 million, he said. But there was the specter of Bill Bonds' brow looming over such consideration.

With Bill Bonds furrowing his brow every night on TV as he talked about the worst toxic waste heads about this thing," Schimpf said.

PERSONALLY, I think Bonds' brow is being wasted on such matters.

I want him to get furrowed up about cutting the crime rate, easing the tax load and decreasing unemployment. Why isn't he browbeating some people about excessive medical and hospital costs in an effort to keep hospitals operating and medical insurance fees within the range of a working person's

At least Schimpf's assertion gives me insight into the workings of government and TV stations.

Now I know why Chris Craft and other washedup-at-40 TV anchorwomen complain that TV stations want mature middle-aged men as anchors and younger, fresh-faced women as helper anchors.

Younger male anchors can't furrow as well. They ooser skin and an abililty to produce furrows readily. And older anchorwomen with furrowed brows just don't seem to have the proper authoritative ook. Perhaps it is because we all yearn for a father figure to dominate, disseminate, provide, approve or disapprove.

Along with her grace on the blades, she was also a great businesswoman. She, more than any other female athlete, made the world pay to see her and earned several fortunes before deciding to leave the arena to someone else.

THE MANNER in which she came to her fortune is one of the great stories of the sports and enter-

Biotechnology is in infancy

Horror struck Ann Arbor three years ago when the public learned the biology department at the University of Michigan was creating new forms of life.

Predictably, the media grabbed hold of the story. Before long, conferences and symposia were held to discuss the moral, ethical and even religious implications surrounding this controversial research.

Soon afterwards, concern also was raised regarding security precautions to guarantee that these newly created life forms would not "escape" from the laboratory.

IN MICHIGAN this marked the stormy beginning of recombinant DNA research — better known as genetic engineering.

Recombinant DNA is one technology under the biotechnology umbrella. Other technologies include industrial microbiology, tissue culture, enzymatic processes, and plant breeding.

Current and potential applications of these technologies are in the medical/diagnostic, chemical, food/feed, and agricultural industries.

The biotechnology industry is in its infancy. The survival of many biotechnology companies is being seriously questioned, and the commercialization of significant products from current research has yet to occur.

In October 1982, biotechnology stocks on Wall Street got a much needed shot in the arm. Genetech, a leader in DNA research, began selling Humulin, a form of insulin produced by genetic engineering.

SIMPLY DEFINED, genetic engineering is the creation of new organisms by taking apart life's basic building material — DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid).

The chemical DNA that makes up genes is then recombined in different patterns. This laboratory process has been booming since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1980 that new forms of life can be patented.

By using this process scientists can get simple.

By using this process, scientists can get simple cells to act like little "factories" and make large amounts of molecules, such as insulin and growth hormones, that can be used for treating diseases.

Embryologists, geneticists, and microbiologists have labored for years to understand and replicate living organisms.

It wasn't until 1974, however, that a major breakthrough was achieved. A single cell bacterium known as E. coli, commonly found in the human intestine, was mated with a piece of DNA tissue from a toad.

Since that time, this gene splicing process has vielded a large number of important cloned products. These include human insulin, growth hormones, and interferon, a human protein that enables cells to ward off viral diseases such as cancer.

THE POSSIBILITIES for this new technology are limitless, from curing cancer and slowing down the aging process to creating a super race of plants, animals and even humans.

animais and even numans.

In addition, gene-splicers are engineering bacteria that could eat oil spills, and even bacteria that could mine minerals.

Analysts estimate that perhaps 200 to 300 companies around the world either are doing or are contemplating getting into the broad field of biotechnology. Of course, some of these have not been incorporated formally yet. But others are well established giants, such as the big pharmaceutical and chemical manufacturers.

Besides Genetech, other biotechnology companies include Molecular Genetics, Genex, Centocor, Genetic Systems, and Monoclonal Antibodies Inc. to name just a few.

In Michigan, Neogene was formed in 1981 with the objectives of recruiting and retaining outstanding professors and conducting high quality biotechnological research.

THE AGE OF biotechnology is dawning. For now and the immediate future, biotechnology seems to be a very promising industry with high growth potential.

Some observers believe, within three to eight years, genetic engineering may be as commonplace as computer chips are now.

Artisans revive the old arts at fall festival

GARY CASKEY/staff photographer

Twenty-four craftsmen will be demonstrating and selling their age-old crafts Saturday and Sunday at the Plymouth Historical Museum. They will come from all over the state to demonstrate the time-consuming arts practiced centuries ago.

Visitors to the museum will watch a crafter from northern Michigan carve a fan from a single piece of cedar. He also will make Christmas tree ornaments from cedar wood. Another artisan will be making scrimshaw, carving bone and ivory in the same way the sailors did in the days of the clipper ships.

A man from Lincoln Park makes dulcimers. Lyle Smith, a local resident, will demonstrate marquetry.

Tinsmithing, quilling, fly tying, wood carving, needlework, and stenciling floor cloths will be demonstrated. Corn husk dolls, china dolls, tole and tinware painting, pressed flower pictures folk toys, needlework and silhouettes will be created.

The craftsmen are selected annually to come to the museum as part of the Plymouth Fall Festival celebration. Hours will be noon to 7 p.m. Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Admission will be $1 for adults, 50 cents for children 11 to 17 year olds, and 25 cents for children 5-10. The museum on Main Street at Church with its street of shops, Victorian rooms and other exhibits, is showing a special collection of puppets and marionettes. Bennington and Rockingham pottery also are featured in a special showing.

Joy Tarasiewicz brings her old-fashioned wooden toys from Grand Rapids to the arts council show in Central Middle School.

Among the 80 artists and craftsmen who will be moving their works into Central Middle School this weekend are a goodly number of Plymouth and Canton residents. When the Plymouth Community Arts Council show opens at noon Saturday, the school gymnasium will be transformed into a marketplace for the handiwork of the craftsmen who have invested thousands of hours of their time in on their "creations."

The artisans in the show are screened by an arts council committee. Many have become familiar participants in the show. A few are doing their first PCAC show.

Judy Moore, who specializes in calligraphy and graphics, and Donna Feldvebel, with her folk art figures, are first-time craftsmen in the show. Both are from Canton Township. Dorothy Bingham, another Canton resident, will return with her porcelain dolls which have won blue ribbons at the Michigan Satte Fair.

PLYMOUTH potter Roy Pedersen has been in the show since 1971. He sets his potters wheel and his stoneware out on the lawn beside the school to demonstrate and market his art

Other Plymouth crafters have a wide variety of skills.

William Doughty's wooden toys and Joyce Harrington's stuffed bears have become traditions at the Fall Festival show. Grace Kabel and Therese Ohno will be there with their beautiful baskets, made from everything from pine needles to cattail Artist Audrey Paul will show her oil and acrylic paintings. John Toth will have his wooden shelves and cabinets. David Varga does sand blasting on glass. Bonnie Andrews makes stained glass houses.

Scott Hartley of Ann Arbor will demonstrate painting his watercolor landscapes. Bradley Cross, another Ann Arbor resident, will bring his hand-crafted bronze bells.

There will be stuffed toys, wood carvings, tole, photographs, jewelry, purses, luggage and fabric ducks.

STUDENTS will sell their crafts and art work in a room set aside just for them.

The show will open at noon both days. It will close at 9 p.m. Saturday and 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for stdents and senior citizens, and children under 12 are admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Central Middle School is on Main Street at Church. Free parking is available behind the school.

In investing, it often is more important to look at the point that is trying to be made rather than the way it is being presented. We have a lot of people write who ask the question whether one is really better off over a period of time putting their money in stocks or eaving it in eash items.

To help answer that question we repared one graph that shows how rom a 1940 value of $1, the purchasing power of the dollar dropped to about 14 cents at the beginning of 1983. That, we figure, gives you a pretty good idea of what happens if you keep your money

74-year-old cut-up is both foolhardy and spunky

What do you think of a 74-year-old man, who has "one too many" at the family reunion picnic and then proceeds to jump off the change house roof into the deep end of the swimming pool? This performance was given by my grandfather at last year's reunion, and since he reads your column, I think he could use some good advice.

Dear Unsigned:

Frankly, as a nurse and a health educator and a believer in the prevention of accidents, I think his actions were somewhat foolhardy, and he should be advised to play a more conservative role at future family reunion picnics. But as a gerontologist and a woman, I

Dear Mrs. B:

Apparently as part of the normal aging process hearing can begin to decline as early as age 40. As to whether cigarette smoking has an affect on hearing - according to the Detroit Area Support for the Hard of Hearing Newsletter, Oct./Nov. 1982, cigarette smoking increases the incidence and severity of hearing loss more than that of normal aging.

Dear Jo: What are the early warning signs of cancer of the prostate?

Unfortunately, cancer of the prostate in its earliest stages is a silent disease. There are no early symptoms and no simple test to detect it other than the annual rectal exam.

Although cancer of the prostate ranks as the second most common malignancy in men - 90 percent of all the disorders are benign and treatable.

The problem with the disease is that it is all too often diagnosed too late when it has already spread to other parts of the body.

For early diagnosis and treatment, men over the age of 65 should have a yearly physical exam which includes a rectal exam.

A new season full of sports drama, thrills

HE COMING ATTRACTIONS of sports appearing soon at a field of competition near you. What will happen:

· Farmington Harrison will keep its football winning streak alive until it plays arch-rival North Farmington again.

• That won't happen until the state playoffs. Detroit Catholic Central will win the state football championship. · Less than 10 minutes after claiming the state title, CC coach Tom Mach will be besieged by questions regarding recruiting - a topic revived because a parochial school has

• Fred Thomann will keep the Plymouth Salem girls' basketball team on its winning track, but a long run in the state playoffs will hurt his boys' team.

· A Livonia-based team will win the Class A boys' soccer championship — again.

• Birmingham Brother Rice and Catholic Central will meet for the Catholic League football championship - again.

· Salem and Harrison will meet in the Western Lakes Activities Association grid playoff title game - again.

• Troy Athens, behind the defense of transfer Allana Cummings, will make it to the girls basketball state semifinals.

 Rochester will surprise everyone and tie Royal Oak Dondero for the Metro Suburban Activities Association football title.

 Farmington Our Lady of Mercy will finally do something it has failed to do in the past few years — win a Catholic League girls' basketball championship.

 Elimination bouts for first football weekend: North Farmington will edge Salem, Harrison will outlast West Bloomfield, and Rice will fall to Chicago Mt. Carmel.

 Six former Observer & Eccentric players will start the season at quarterback for Michigan colleges: Frank Wedesky (Redford Bishop Borgess) at Northwood; Mike Gatt (Catholic Central) at Hillsdale; Ken Kish (Harrison) at Albion; Rusty Mandle (Plymouth Canton) at Saginaw Valley; Dave Yarema (Brother Rice) at Michigan State; and Dave Hall (Livonia Stevenson) at Michigan. • Al Iafrate of Livonia Bentley will earn a berth on the U.S. Olympic hockey team.

 A pair of Mercy players will earn a berth on the O&E girls' All-Area basketball team.

 Farmington school district athletic director Ron Holland will renew the North Farmington-Farmington Harrison football rivalry

THAT WON'T HAPPEN: The Rhino — Avondale football coach Rick Brewer - will not hang up his horn. Despite his weight loss. he'll continue snorting on all fours along the sideline - only at a faster pace.

· Mercy will not win the state girls' basketball championship with an 18-point lastquarter rally, like last year.

 Livonia Ladywood coach Ed Kavanaugh will not provide his opponent in the state Class B tournament with added incentive again by saying they really aren't that good a team (I · Al Fracassa will not quit his football position at Brother Rice to become an assistant under Gerry Faust at Notre Dame.

 Fracassa won't go to MSU, either — again. . The Michigan High School Athletic will not shoot under 145. · Neither will O&E staffer C.J. Risak.

No one will keep track of these (I hope).

Above, Salem's Pam McBride drives past Canton's Beth Frigge to score two of her game-high 18 points. Below, Canton guard Marie Krashovetz played a strong floor game in a losing effort. At right, Kathy Ross's expression speaks a thousand words. Canton fell to the Rocks in the season opener, 51-34.

Salem opener to be testing experience

By Chris McCosky staff writer

If Plymouth Salem head coach Tom Moshimer had his way, he wouldn't begin the 1983 football season by playing at North Farmington.

North, with first-year coach Jim O'Leary at the helm, looks to be a strong contender for the Northwest Suburban League title this year. They return the nucleus of a team that went 5-4 last season, winning their last four

Unfortunately for Moshimer, he won't get his way. Salem plays at North, 2 p.m., Saturday in the season

"They are sort of like we were last year," said Moshimer. "They are coming off a good season and they are returning an experienced crew.?

Salem, on the other hand, is still a bit unsettled. They graduated 25 players off last year's team and have been hit with illness and injury at the outset of

THE MOST SERIOUS injury was sustained by lineman Chris Hymes, the only experienced lineman the Rocks had. He tore ligaments in his leg on the first play of the first preseason scrimmage last week. Hymes was on crutches Tuesday and was not expected to see action in Saturday's opener.

Defensive tackle Mike Killingbeck, who injured his thumb, is also questionable for Saturday.

North will enter the season free of injuries and full of optimism.

"I'm not going to say we are going to go all the way, but we have a very good team," said O'Leary. Ken Goss, Scott Draper and David Kramer, all with 4.5 speed in the 40, give North a dimension of speed like few teams have. Goss, Draper and fullbacks Brian Hood and Tom Spahn will do a good share of running. But, North, with quarterback Eric Engel and Kramer, can also score with the pass.

THE 1983 VERSION of North football will have a different look to it than North teams of past years. The reason for the new look is the speed.

"I don't want to give anything away," said O'Leary, "but, we're not going to be conservative.

The Rocks, despite the uncertainty on the line, should also be pretty solid offensively. All-Conference fullback Scott Jurek returns to lead the charge out of Moshimer's wishbone backfield. Jurek will be teamed with Chris Raymond and Ken Harmon in the backfield. Senior Mark Tindall will quarterback the Rocks

Rocks sock injured Chiefs

The game, for all intents and purposes, was decided an hour before it began.

LouAnn Hamblin, Plymouth Canton's most productive offensive performer, injured her ankle in pre-game warmups and was unable to play in her team's season opener against rival Plymouth Sa-

The loss of Hamblin, coupled with a similar ankle injury to Tami Budlong, another would-be starter, left coach Phyllis Cunningham-Mulroy's troops a little thin.

Those injuries plus a tenacious display of defense put forth by Salem, made the opening day score an unceremonious 51-34, in favor of the Rocks.

SALEM WAS LED by Pam McBride, who scored 18 points. Dawn Johnson scored 11 and Terri Lesniak tallied eight.

Sophomore Diana Knickerbocker led Canton scorers with 13 points and she grabbed seven re-

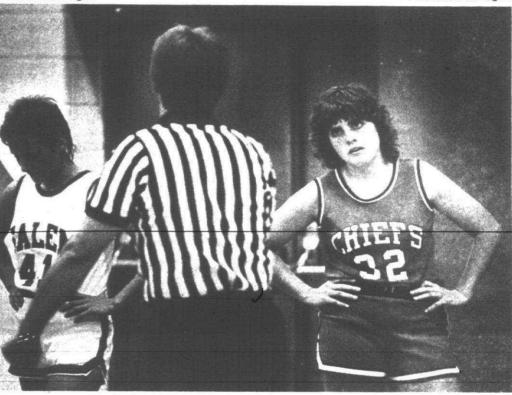

"I think we are off to a great start," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "Our defense was real good early. Our offense, well, it takes time to score. In every opener I can remember, the score was always way down."

What pleased Thomann most was the performance of his key three: McBride, Johnson and Fran-Whittaker.

"Our key people played very well for us tonight and I was also pleased with the others. Michelle (Dawson), Mary Ann (Weast), Cathy (Schinker), and Terri (Lesniak) looked real good."

Salem's defense, more than anything, took the game away from the Chiefs. Employing an aggressive man-to-man, Salem limited the Chiefs to just three shots in the first quarter.

Soccer is a transition game. Not just on the field. For Ed Dudek, the new Schoolcraft College girls' soccer coach, it stretches beyond the chalk boundaries

"This is a lot different than high school," Dudek said, comparing his new post to the one he holds in the spring at Livonia Churchill. "We had 40 girls come out at Churchill "

At Schoolcraft, Dudek is trying to build a new program. And he's doing it in a minimal amount of time, getting started just last month. "WELL, WE'RE trying to put one to-

Community Wind Ensemble

Schoolcraft strikes up band for season

staff writer

At first glance, they don't seem to have anything in common.

They are students and professionals, teenaged and retired. They work at a variety of jobs and live in different communities. But as they go about their individual lives, they carry what may be the best-sounding "secret" around — they are all members of Schoolcraft College's Community Wind Ensemble, which will be warming up this month for its fifth season.

The ensemble is a concert band of between 44 and 55 woodwind, brass and percussion instrumentalists that has delighted audiences, as well as its own members, since 1979. Since it was first organized by Dr. Richard Saunders of Schoolcraft College in the fall of that year, it has performed in concerts around the area, including at the University of Windsor.

was asked if I would form a band that would play the top caliber of band music available," said Saunders, who conducted the concert band. "We wanted to do something in an ensemble in which the players were extremely competent, and didn't have an opportunity to play anymore."

THE ENSEMBLE follows a principle that was started several years ago at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y. It allows the wind section to play without string accompaniment, giving every player a chance to be heard, according to Saunders.

Forming the ensemble was easier than Saunders anticipated. He first made a list of the instrumentation he wanted, then contacted the musicians he knew. The response was more than enthusiastic.

"Every single person I called accepted the invitation," Saunders said.

Some of the players work with music. There are college music students and band and orchestra directors from Livonia, Wayne-Westland and Allen Park in the ensemble, for example. But also in the roster are an attorney, a dentist, a pathologist and engineers. They range in age from 15 years to a 70-year-old retiree who performs in the trumpet section.

"It's a chance for them to keep their instruments out of the clothes closet," Saunders said.

MEMBERSHIP IN the concert band is open to anyone who can pass the audition requirements, according to Saunders. He said there aren't enough spaces to accommodate all those who audition.

"We expect a player to be highly competent and a very good sight reader," Saunders said. "We ask that they bring a piece of music to the audition that best demonstrates their efficiency, then we listen as they sit with the ensemble to see how well they read (music). We ask persons in the band to give their evaluation."

The requisites may be tough, but playing in the ensemble is as enjoyable as possible, ac cording to Saunders.

"I think every rehearsal should be enjoyable for the musicians," he said. "It's important that each one is a good one.

"We gear our rehearsals accordingly, so they're fast-paced," Saunders went on. "We don't spend a lot of time poring over one or two measures of music. That should be done at home and not at the rehearsals. Every rehearsal has been a concert for them.'

REHEARSALS ARE scheduled for two-tothree hours on Wednesday nights. Concerts are scheduled for Wednesday nights when possible, usually from September through June. This past year the concert band performed through early July. Its 14 concerts in the past year included a series of "music under the stars" performances in Livonia.

"We've expanded the repertoire tremendously," Saunders said. "We play modern band music, from (John Philip) Sousa to Broadway, symphonic literature and a lot of American composers, those who have written since 1950. We build a repertoire of 30 pieces and rotate it all year long," he continued. "We keep in mind who our audience will be. If we're in a shopping mall, for example, we'll keep the music fairly short and simple, so people can stop for a minute and go on, whistling the tune. If we're giving a concert where people pay money to come and listen, the music will be more involved so you're going to have to interact

Saunders recently left Schoolcraft for a university post at Traverse City. He said the ensemble should continue through the "forseeable future.

"As long as there are people who are interested and who make it interesting," Saunders said. "The popularity with the audience seems

Commercial art can be means to an end

This is another in a series of lessons on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing. He has taught for eight years and operates Store and More, 18774 Middlebelt, an art store, Art Livonia. Messing ecourages questions and comments from readers. You may write him at his store or c/o Observer Newspapers, 23352 Farmington Road, Farmington MI 48024.

By David P. Messingstaff writer

In the last Artifacts column, I listed some of the qualities and contents of a good portfolio When I speak of a portfolio, I am primarly thinking of commercial art.

Of course, there are different types of portfolios. A water colorist may have a much different portfolio than an architectural designer. Your portfolio is merely a selection of art

If, for example, you were asked to illustrate something technical or cartoon a job safety manual (whether you were paid for it or not) these are things that are valuable in your portfolio. If someone else thought you were capable to do these illustrations, then the next person might feel easier about commissioning

I a reminded of Wayne, a friend who trims and cuts down trees. When he is on a job he is usually approached by people in the neighborhood who ask him to do work for them too. Because their neighbor trusted him and felt he was capable, they are more likely to give him

If your portfolio consist of pastel puppies and watercolor barns then you should seriously think of building a commercial portfolio. One reason is m-o-n-e-y! In commercial work, a fee

LET'S SAY a man opens up a sporting goods store. Let us also say that he hires your neighbor as a stockboy. Now one day he mentions his need for an artist to design a logo and a symbol for his new business. So your neighbor says, "I have an artist neighbor who could do

Artifacts

So now what do you do? Show the man who needs a logo your pastel puppies or watercolor barns? Of course not. This is one case where you leave your portfolio home. Simply meet the man and ask pertinent questions about his business and what the name signifies. "Logo" simply means name. So ask him if he wants to look like he has been in business for years, or if he wants something clean and modern looking. Ask about his ideas.

If he wants a symbol, what are the feelings he wants to convey? Then go home and sketch out five or six "roughs" and meet with him again to gain some feedback. Assure him also that this is the point to be outspoken. If he doesn't like any of your roughs, he should say so. Roughs are just samples of possibilities and they are disposable. If he likes one or two, then you can proceed with job.

How much do you charge? This question should be dealt with before any finished work is begun . . .n Which leads me back to my statement about money.

SINCE I also own a store, I know that the cost involved for operating a business is sometimes staggering. As a matter of fact when a customer asks if I own the Art Store, I usually say, "No. I owe on the Art Store. The bank

I know a cheap cash register is about $600, store fixtures are one or two thousand dollars and an outdoor sign is anywhere from $500 to $3,000. So what business owner is going to drop over when you tell him you want one or two hundred for a design that is going to represent his business for years to come? That's not a lot when you consider how important a logo is to a

LET ME help you start something commercial looking in your portfolio. Contests are fun and this one is good incentive to try your hand at commercial art. 20th annual Marshall historic home tour arrives

Five private homes and a church will be first-time attractions of the 20th annual Historic Home Tour sponsored by the Marshall (Mich.) Historical Society Saturday and Sun-

The theme for this year's tour is "The Midwest's Grand Old Tour." Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday Tickets are $7. They may be purchased at interstate approaches to Marshall during the days of the tour. Children under 12 are admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

This year's new attractions include Queen

Anne homes built in 1886, 1896 and 1902; an 1852 Gothic Revival, an 1872 Romanesque Revival Church and a turn-of-the-century vernacular which has been adapted for mod-

Two Italianate commercial buildings can be seen in the downtown business district. One built in 1868 now houses Dr. Haley's dentist office and the Goodwill Store, and the other, built in 1873, houses Sherman Associates, Realtors. Next door to Dr. Haley's office is the recently restored Studio C Cast Iron

In addition to the private buildings, featured are two historical society landmarks, the 1860 Italianate Honolulu House museum and the completely restored 1902 GAR Hall archival center.

The home tour attempts to recreate the ambience and spirit of the 19th century with band concerts, parades, antique shows, Civil War battles, strolling musicians, church luncheons and bake sales, and arts and crafts fairs including the juried "Occasion for the Arts" show at the middle school.

MOST OF the houses on tour will also feature special craft demonstrations and musical entertainment.

The Marshall downtown merchants are holding open house Saturday evening. Free refreshments will be served.

Free shuttle bus service will be available. Buses pick up tour goers at the free off-street parking lots and deliver them within walking distance of all the houses and structures on

Included in the tour are the following:

 Doris Stagg Home (circa 1852) classic Gothic Revival, this house has board and batten siding. The Staggs bought this house 42 years ago and have filled it with family heirlooms and collectibles including Mrs. Stagg's antique doll and clock collection.

One of the homes on the Marshall tour is this 1843 Ggthic Revival House owned by John and Fae Berry.

Local history says that this house served as a hiding place for run-away slaves

· Oakhill (1858-59) - Said to be Marshall's most beautiful home, this Italian villa sits on a hill at the north end of Eagle Street overlooking the city. Originally built by Chauncey M. Brewer, an early Marshall mer-chant, the home features many original Brewer furnishings. The home has been restored by a succession of owners. • Jim and Sandy Mason Home (1886) -This beautiful Queen Anne was designed by architects Spier and Rohn from Detroit, specialists in railroad stations like Ann Arbor's Gandy Dancer. The Mason's have owned the home for 10 years during which time they have undertaken a room-by-room restoration. The home is featured during restoration. Many of the rooms are beautifully finished but can be contrasted to others with bare walls. This home also features heirlooms and collectibles.

• First Presbyterian Church (1872) Built in the Romanesque Revival-style, this handsome church has served Marshall worshippers for over a hundred years. In 1913, Gardner said, it was "the finest Church in Michigan outside Detroit." The site of the parsonage is one of Marshall's most famous. On this site in 1832 Calhoun County's first school house was built with Eliza Ketchum, daughter of the city's founder, serving as the teacher.
