THE NOSE knows. If you're wondering what the commotion was all about in the Ford and Lilley Roads area Sept. 15, Canton's fire chief has supplied an explanation. Seems nearby storeowners called the men and women in rubber when they smelled gas. An odor investigation resulted in the discovery of a gas spill and the closing for five hours of the corner gas station, said Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulun

The spill, which occurred some time earlier, had gone unreported he added. Department of Natural Resources representatives were called in and with Canton firefighers they tested gas lines and blocked sewers to prevent gas from flowing into a nearby stream.

The station reopened at 3 p.m. when the DNR determined the leaked fuel "was not enough to worry about," Paulun said.

WHAT IS IT they say in the news biz? All the news that fits? That line originally meant all that was proper to be printed in a family paper. Unfortunately, it also means whatever fits on the Sometimes, for space reasons, a story must be trimmed at the last minute. That happened to a "Face in the Crowd" story in the Observer Sept. 12 about Ruth Rosenberg, who avidly is tracing her family roots.

Her grandpa's demise is worth a ention, and so it comes to you a little late (provided we haven't had to trim this column): Grandpa was a pioneer, eking out a hardscrabble existence in the Texas desert more than 70 years ago. One day, he shot an armadillo, a plate-skinned mammal much more like a little armored truck than a meal. Anyways, Grandpa made armadillo soup, ate a bit and a short while later keeled over

LATEST WORD from Canton Supervisor James Poole's office has it that our fearless leader, just returned from a mysterious sojourn to Washington. D.C., was among about 1,000 local government officials during "the nation's biggest town meeting chaired by President Reagan during a National Association of Towns & Townships conference. Reagan saluted his audience for nurturing "grassroots government." Poole met with Michigan senators and representatives at a Capitol Hill reception and attended workshops

The "other reason" for his trip will remain under wraps until Oct. 1. "Secrecy is necessary because revealing what the mission was (before an answer is received) would bring bad luck."

The supervisor adds that this trip equalled his last in importance - after which Canton obtained its own post office.

CORRECTION: Last week's column should have identified Walt Hunter as Canton's award-winning chili cook. Hunter, a pilot, took first place in the recent American Lung Association Chili Cookoff. The chef placed third in the Michigan State Chili Cookoff, hosted recently by Lark Restaurant in West Bloomfield.

WILL YOU be there? Canton Country Festival board members meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 28 at the Canton Public Library meeting room, 1150 S. Canton Center Road. Your ideas, suggestions and comments on next year's celebration are welcomed. For more information, call 397-0999.

Time running out for government revamping plan

By Ariene Funke staff writer

Time is running out on a proposal to change the way Canton's government is administered.

Supervisor James Poole's proposed budget for 1984 contains provisions to downgrade the three full-time administrators - supervisor, clerk and treasurer — to part time, with salaries slashed in half for the three positions.

The current officials serve until November 1984. The switch to part time would take effect when the new term of office begins Nov. 20, 1984, according to the budget proposal.

Under the plan, a "superintendent" or professional manager would be hired by the township board at $40,000 to do many administrative tasks now performed by the supervisor. The supervisor would chair meetings, serve as inter-governmental liaison and do public relations chores.

TWO QUESTIONS have not been resolved: Should Canton adopt such a plan? If so, who should decide - the township board or the voters?

For many reasons, now is the time to decide, trustees said.

"I have been kicking this (superintendent idea) around since 1980," Poole said. "Except I want the people (voters)

"This need not be kicked around for generation to generation," he added. 'If this were a horse we were talking about, he would have died of old age

THE TOWNSHIP board, which is empowered to make a change, took up the issue during a special meeting last week. Trustees debated the issue at length, but took no action.

The board discussed holding a special public hearing but no date was set for a forum

A blue-ribbon committee, which recently studied several issues, recommended a part-time supervisor and full-time superintendent concept for Canton. The committee did not address the clerk-treasurer issue

Poole and trustee Robert Padget say a professional manager would have the training and expertise to administer township government. The manager, hired by the board, also would lend continuity now interrupted by election

"A two-year (election) rollover is not very beneficial," said Ralph Gudmundsen, a member of the committee. 'You may find that a supervisor doesn't have administrative skills."

A professional superintendent could be fired by the board and not have to wait until the next election, Gudmundsen said.

Such a plan will save the township money over the long run, through increased efficiency, Padget said.

Trustee Carol Bodenmiller voiced objections, saving the present format is one of the purest and most accountable" forms of government."

UNDER THE plan, the part-time su-

Troopers raid home

Michigan State Police officials are tallying and cross-checking more than $20,000 worth of guns seized in a raid on a Canton home last week.

Armed with a search warrant, troopers from the state police criminal investigation section (CIS) in Livonia raided a home on Derby last Tuesday. investigators were probing reports of alleged drug trafficking at the home. near Warren Road and Sheldon.

The officers found drugs, but they "stumbled onto" an estimated $20,000 worth of guns, a quantity of knives, records books and assorted other items in the house, state police officials said

SEIZED WERE 50 rifles and shotguns and 20 handguns, said Lt. Joseph Koenig, of the CIS narcotics unit.

Koenig believes some of items the were bartered for drugs. No arrests have been made, pending completion of lab analyses and data-gathering.

"We're still investigating," Koenig said. "This is a good seizure - an excellent case, really."

None of the confiscated guns were registered to the home's residents, Koenig said. State police investigators have confirmed that some of the impounded weapons were stolen from Plymouth, Westland, Troy and Detroit.

cotics trafficking," Koenig said. "Maybe we caught them at a bad time.

STATE POLICE investigators are analyzing the drugs, checking finger-prints and working with local police departments to match up items which may have been reported stolen, Koenig

The case could bring possible charges of possession with intent to deliver marijuana; possession of other controlled substances; possession of stolen property; and conspiracy to commit crimes, Koenig said.

The raid capped a two-month inves-

A few Canton business people are wishing they'd paid more attention to a particular customer's face than to her body Thursday afternoon.

Education still in fiscal woods

Michigan state troopers, acting on citizen tips, "stumbled onto" about $20,000 worth of guns in a drug raid in Canton.

Financing education in Michigan is nancing for education in fiscal '84-85, not as rosy as some reports show

That assessment was given by Dr. John M. Hoben, superintendent of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, in a "state of the State" report given this week to the school board.

"Much has been said and many facts have been misrepresented in terms of the current status of the state of Michigan relative to its fiscal standing and its support of education," said Hoben.

"There is no question that the limited income tax has been a shot in the arm in helping to finance education for the fiscal 1983-84 school year. However, one does not have to look far into the future to realize that this is tantamount to a Band-Aid on a cancer."

THREE OMINOUS questions marks face the Legislature in determining fisaid Hoben

The first concern is that the income tax, by design, is in a phase-out mode of operation and will produce considerably less income for the next fiscal

The second concern, said the superintendent, is the effect of the Headlee Amendment which is estimated to produce a deficit of about $129 million during fiscal '83-84.

Hoben said there is talk in Lansing of using more "Oriental-type bookkeeping" by having the state send a check to local districts for its retirement contribution with instructions for the districts to endorse the check and return it to Lansing as "as a means of obviating their responsibility with respect to Headlee. The third concern, said Hoben, is the Legislature's commitment to the economic stabilization fund.

When all three concerns are combined, he said, there is an estimated shortfall for fiscal '84-85 of about $500 to $600 million statewide.

The tenuous status of the Executive Order that took away and gave back and takes away and gives back -(which in our district amounts to $855,000) must be considered a contingent liability. Hoben added that it is very realistic to expect an Executive Order cutback will be imposed upon public education during the next fiscal year.

"As in the past, shortfalls of this nature have not been balanced between welfare, state highway, or other elements of the state budget, but direct cooking. Actually, I'm not really afraid of it, it's just that I'm such an awful cook that I find it's not one of my greater joys in life.

I don't even know how to bake. I know my limitations. I refuse to try. When Christmas comes around I always get a little envious of friends who answer the door with a smudge of flour on their cheek and wonderful aromas wafting from their kitchens. At our house Christmas cookies come from Chathams - preferably in a bag marked 99 cents a pound

I suppose my children are being somewhat deprived, never having encountered a loaf of freshly baked bread in their own kitchen But even if I did try to bake a loaf of bread, I know I'd end up with something looking like Pita bread, whether or not I intended to

Let's face it, I'm just a total klutz in the kitchen. One year I decided to bake myself a birthday cake (since no one else was offering). Well, I have one square pan and one round pan, so I made a square and a round layer. It seemed like the logical thing to do at the time. Then I put the round layer on top of the square layer and

MY FAMILY agreed it was the ugliest cake they had ever seen. Hubby even took a picture and showed it to his friends at work. With all that negative reinforcement, is it any wonder I have bakeNancy

We have slop at least two or three nights a week.

My husband and two young sons groan in unison when I inform them I have been experimenting with a new recipe for the evening meal. I don't know why it is, but new recipes never seem to work for me. I'm still working on getting the kinks out of the old ones. I really didn't want to be a cook when I grew up. It's just unforunate that it's part of the job profile of the wife, mother package.

What I really wanted to be was a sex kitten.

Educational park an Isbister idea

Russell Isbister was one of six regional school superintendents who urged their boards to consider the formation of a community colege in northwest Wayne County.

The boards responded favorably, citizens' committees were appointed to foster the idea, and the result was Schoolcraft College.

During the 1960s, Isbister and school board member Carl Schul teiss, an engineer, conceived the idea of an educational park for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. They suggested that the school system buy a large tract of land, centrally located, to house the district's high school students and to provide facilities not possible with a decentralized system

The proposal for the park referred to the acquisition and development of an educational, cultural, recreational, historical and scenic park near the geographical and future population center of

Russell Isbister's dream of a unified government for township and city is apparent in several of the phrases used in the proposal. "This facility," it declared, "would be a strong unifying force among the people.

In considering the proposal, the statement read, "citizens should attempt to visualize the Plymouth communty of the future as it relates to emerging larger communities in western Wayne and Washtenaw counties. It is conceivable that the enlarged Ann Arbor community will move rapidly eastward to a point where it may push east by Livonia, Westland and Wayne communities will have a similar effect.

The proposal said that action now by those who were interested n preserving the Plymouth community concept could bring to reality "an irresistible power which will ward off any movements either from within or without, to splinter the community One large open space in the center for all the people should be reserved before it is too late. If one wished to be real bold he might suggest that it be enlarged to include space to house One City Government if, and when, it becomes a reality." (The italics are lymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP). During the 1966-67 school year, 305 acres were purchased on called for "two pairs of two high schools" with complementary facilities including a school farm, a nature center, wildlife habitat and large open spaces along with athletic facilities

Much of what was planned was carried through, although, as this written, only two high schools have been built. The school farm (now discontinued) was opened with the aid of a grant of money from the Plymouth Rotary Club. It had a fullitime farm manager and a variety of livestock. It was used to acquaint school children of the district with farm animals in their natural surroundings.

It is not difficult to see why Isbister and Schulteiss were attracted to the idea of centralization of the high schools. Facilities can be made available under that philosophy that would not be econimcally feasible under a decentralized plan. One wonders, however, ow they would have applied their visionary minds to the problems hat accompanied centralization the increased traffic, the increased amount of busing, and the problem of controlling large numbers of students congregated at one location as opposed to two or more locations. Since they both died prematurely, we will never

TO RUSSELL ISBISTER, governmental boundaries were not etched in stone when it came to providing education to children. When Eddie Edgar once asked him why the school district should not be confined to the city and the township. Isbister replied: "We must build schools where the children are, not where we night like to have them." Asked why those who lived outside lymouth should not pay a small tuition as was done in the old days, Isbister responded: "Why should a youngster be denied a free high school education just because he lives in the wrong place?"

be the concern of everybody in the community. While it ought to be the immediate concern of the administrative staff, the teaching and nonteaching staffs, the board of education, the parents, and the students, there are other persons and groups in the community that have a stake in the school, and their opinions and attitudes should feel better about the individuals with whom they share. Group planning becomes a unifying influence.

Slim Down with Main Dish Molded Salads

Slim down with a tric of main dish salads to serve on a salad buffet or individually as a meal. They are all big in flavor but low in calories when made with a new Featherweight 87% reduced calorie gelatin

Here's a new slim-down approach to a calorie controlled meal in a molded salad pretty enough for a party. We've followed the advice of nutritionists by starting with a low-fat protein, adding a vegetable or two and molding them together with a touch of seasoning in a sugar-free fruit flavored gelatin.

The new gelatins, which are 87% lower in calories than regular gelatin, were developed by Featherweight: with NutraSweet: (a new sweetener, aspartame) which gives them a natural sweet fruit flavor. They have no sugar saccharin or salt added.

Our choice for the sparkling layered salad starts with chicken, either cooked or canned for the protein, and then adds colorful green peas and celery for the vegetables, a light touch of curry and the option of adding some chopped chutney, if you choose. The fresh orange flavor of the gelatin compliments both taste and appearance. Whole blanched almonds add crunch and garnish to a salad with only 126 calories per serving.

Canned salmon marinated in low calorie Italian dressing is the inspiration for a fish shaped mold. Green onions, shredded carrots and cucumber add color, texture and nutrients while the lemon gelatin accents the color and flavor of the salad. Fresh dill blended with low-fat yogurt make a perfect salad dressing to serve as accompaniment in a seashell. Made with Featherweight gelatin there are only 115 calories per serving in the mold and 18 calories per tablespoon of dressing.

The spicy flavors of gazpacho blend chunks of tuna cucumber, celery, tomato, green pepper and onion with lemon gelatin to create a colorful and tangy moid with merely 101 calories.

Pick your favorite molded salad and add crisp bread sticks for a good accompaniment. To keep the meal nutritionally balanced and low in calories, add a beverage and fresh fruit for dessert.

The Featherweight NutraSweet sweetened gelatins are available nationally with each 2-pouch package containing 8 see lines.

Jack had included a couple of Omnicom film clips of the band's festival performance in his Plymouth Profiles giving the musicians an opportunity to hear and see themselves perform.

They are an interesting group of doctors, bankers, engineers teachers and other professions who make up the band. Al Townsend played trumpet in the Gene Krupa band. All are professional musicians who earn their living in other professions. They play not only the old tunes from the era of the Dorseys, Goodman, Miller, Berrigar and other greats, they play the music of the '50s through the '80s in the big band style. The Kerrs' party had the flavor of an opening night performance with talk show host Jack Wilcox sharing congratulations with the "big band" musicians.

THE 32 SENIOR citizens who spent five days at the Castaways at Port Austin had such a good time, they all want to go back.

Three clubs were represented on the trip — Active Seniors Elks Plymouth Lodge 1780, Y Travelers and the Plymouth Township Seniors. Sparky Kallunki reports that the planned activities included a scavenger hunt, Bingo, dance contest, marshmallow roast on the beach overlooking Saginaw Bay, wine and cheese party, and a lunch picnic where they cooked their own

"8ut the highlights were an oldfashioned hay ride and a costume party," said Sparky. The first place Mahatma Ghandi, dressed in sheets off their bed. "In real life they are Jack and Margaret Mc Ewen. Jack was a one time Plymouth Township supervisor and claimed he was glad he wasn't running for re-election.' There was a tie for second place between Ray and Margaret Lampron and Ruben and Sparky Kallunki. The Lamprons were Adam complete with fig leaves, apple, ubber snake and huge rubber feet Ruben was dressed as a pregnant bride carrying a bouquet of weeds and Sparky, in her husband's prisoner (Black and white striped) pajamas, even had a ball and chain.

Sparky said, "We have been on many senior citizen trips, but this was the first time three clubs were together, strangers, and not one harsh word ever spoken. By the time we were ready to come home, everyone was the best of friends.

She said the food was terrific They even sent one of the boys into ort Austin to buy oatmeal for those of us who couldn't cope with the big brakfasts every morning. And they ordered a huge banana sheet cake - all decorated - for Karin Wahlstrom, who celebrated her 77th irthday while there.'

Family trouble calls a constant worry for police

- Jane Dewey

new First Step director

TANE DEWEY has stepped into the role of executive director of First Step at a time when staff members are telling her that violence is escalating in spouse abuse.

She's learning there is also more alcohol-related violence, and that from one-half to three-quarters of First Step's battered clients have unemployed husbands. The martial arts are ontributing a new stick that has been used to injure women. Other angry males are still relying on their hand and feet as the weapons of choice to hurt the females in their life.

The staff is also reporting several cases of beatings of a mother by her son, taking his abusive father as a role model. There have also been incidents of a violent husband suddenly turning on a daughter and sexually abusing her In August, 95 new clients contacted First Step, the Westland-based agency Detroit) and downriver. That was about the same number asking for help in a capped children, adults and their famipeak month, November 1979. Eighty-seven families have used

She said she thought the job would not be depressing because "progress takes place because of your help."

FIRST STEP was started in 1978 by a coalition formed by the Northwest Wayne County Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW). Paricularly active in the project were Mary Ann Pinkerton of Plymouth, Sheila Nobriga of Livonia and Cathy Aerni, a Westland resident. Also involved was the Rev. Doug Hodges, then the pastor of Norwayne Baptist Church in Westland.

The agency was launched with donations of money and office space from the city of Westland, after which the state, area cities and private organizations made financial contributions. Just recently Westland underlined its continued interest in the program by giving First Step $41,000. "First Step is very supportive," com mented Livonia police officer Anne Dempsey. "The service is real good, and it has helped tremendously. It is an excellent referral for us." Livonia police officers often hand the First Step information card to women after a call on domestic violence. Frequently a battered woman refuses to prosecute her husband after his attack on her. Dempsey estimated that only 5 percent of the cases go to final prosecution. She thinks it is due to a number of factors. "There may be an emotional tie," she said. "Or after 30 years of marriage, she may not want to give up her life style. She may want to be married to him. First Step helps her see alternatives open to her.

Jurek jaunts spur Rocks

By Brad Emons staff writer

Plymouth Salem coach Tom Moshimer claims that Scott Jurek is an "easy going guy with a dry sense of hu-

That may be true except when the fullback/linebacker steps out on the football field.

The 6-foot-2, 200-pound senior carried the ball 27 times for 102 yards and made a key interception Friday night, pacing the Rocks to a 21-13 victory over visiting Livonia Stevenson in a key Western Lakes Conference encoun-

"Scott's a quiet guy," Moshimer said. 'Actually he's kind of funny.'

But Jurek, a major college prospect, wasn't funny to Stevenson, which suffered its first defeat.

"What really hurt us is that we couldn't stop the fullback," said Steven-son coach Jack Reardon. "He's awfully good. He ripped us and got some tough

JUREK'S INTERCEPTION of a Dan Gilmartin pass with 9:13 to go in the third quarter set up Salem's go-ahead

With the ball on the Stevenson 43, quarterback Mark Tindall got things rolling with an 18-yard keeper. Six plays later. Jurek scored on a fouryard run and Mark Dixon kicked the extra point to make it 14-7

"That was a key drive," said Moshimer. "That touchdown really picked us up."

At the close of the quarter, Salem's speedy split end Craig Morton returned a Stevenson punt 58 yards to the Spartan 17.

The Rocks then needed only four plays to score, capped by Tindall's fiveyard run with 20 seconds remaining in the period. Dixon kicked his third straight extra point to put Salem in command, 21-7

The Spartans, however, refused to quit during the final 12 minutes of play.

GILMARTIN, hitting three consecutive passes for 37 yards, marched Stevenson down to the Salem six-yard line But the Rocks' defense held tough and gained possession of the ball.

But after a Jurek fumble, Stevenson scored with 4:28 remaining on a fiveyard TD run by Steve Bixby. Salem, however, blocked the extra point.

The Rocks then ran out the quarter, making three key first downs to keep the ball away from the Spartans.

Tindall and Ken Harmon rushed for 63 and 45 yards, respectively, giving Jurek plenty of support on the ground. Salem gained 219 yards on the ground and much of the credit should go to blockers David Bunch, Rusty Watson, Paul Smallwood, Pat Walsh

"THAT OFFENSIVE LINE did a helluva job," said the Salem coach "They got off the ball real well. When we can get off the ball like we did and with our backs, we can move the foot-

"I think this team came of age a little tonight. And with this win we have an opportunity to do something. Stevenson and Walled Lake Central were the co-favorites in the league."

Salem will take its 3-0 record Friday night into Livonia Churchill.

On the first play of the second period, Salem tallied its first TD on a 10yard off-tackle dash by Jurek, capping a 55-yard, 11-play drive.

Stevenson rallied right before the half on Brian Trainor's 13-yard run. Gilmartin marched the Spartans 65 yards on 10 plays and kept the drive going when he hit tight end Andy Taliaferro over the middle with a key 34-yard pass on third down.

FOR THE NIGHT, Gilmartin completed nine of 18 passes for 115 yards. He was intercepted twice.

Trainor rushed 15 times for 55 yards and Bixby added 36 yards on 13 car-

The Spartans had trouble moving the ball in the first quarter, but opened things up somewhat in the second

Chris Gilles, shown above in action a year ago, has a shot at getting into the main draw of the Virginia Slims tennis tournament.

Gilles earns a berth in Slims tournament

By Chris McCosky

Nobody thought Lisa Bonder could do it either

Lisa Bonder, fresh from her stunning victory in the Queen's Grand Prix tennis tournament in Tokyo, Japan, was a virtually unheard of amateur tennis player from Saline when she won the right to play in the Virginia Slims tennis tourney in Detroit.

Though many of the touring professionals at that time bemoaned having an amateur qualify for the main draw, Bonder won her first round and earned her place on the tour.

Now Plymouth's Chris Gilles has her shot at getting into the main draw of the Virginia Slims tennis tourney.

GILLES IS ONE of 32 players competing in the Virginia Slims qualifier tournament, beginning Friday, Sept. 30, at the Beverly Hills Raquet Club. The 32 players, all touring professionals except for Gilles, are vying for four open spots in the main draw of the Virginia Slims tourney.

Gilles, a 17-year-old senior from Plymouth Salem High School, has been ranked among the top junior amateurs in the country for the past two years. She won the state high school tennis championships in No. 2 singles as a junior last year, but she opted to forgo high school tennis this

Among the reasons she gave for not playing high school tennis was to be able to play in the Slims tourney

Gilles is the only local amateur to qualify for the Slims qualifier tourney. She won a mini-tournament last week against seven other local players to gain the berth.

IN THE FINALS of that mini-tourney, Gilles defeated her 15-year-old sister, Wendy, 5-7, 6-1, 6-1. Wendy is also ranked high among national junior amateurs.

In the first round of the mini-tourney, Chris defeated West Bloomfield's Chris Nagel, 6-2, 6-3. Candy Kopetski from Sterling Heights was Chris' next victim, 6-4, 7-6, before she beat Wen-

There was some speculation that both Wendy and Chris would be able to compete in the Slims Brian Gilles. the girls' father, thought there was a chance that Chris would get a wildcard entry into the Slims' main draw, and Wendy, by virtue of her secondplace finish in the mini-tourney, would gain access into the qualifier. That didn't come about, partially because the wild-card entry went to Bonder.

"It's sort of exciting," said Chris. "I really think I can win a round. I have played against Lisa (Bonder) a lot, and I have always done well against

She said she didn't much care if she got the wild-card entry or not. The important thing, Chris said, was to have the "chance to compete."

Gilles' first match in the qualifier will be at noon, Friday, Sept. 30. Her opponent has yet to be drawn

"We still have a long way to go," he said. "In terms of the team situation, in terms of defense. We have to play real real good defense to be successful. Offensively, we have to get better shot selection. We are far from being where we have to be."

In the meantime, Salem has won five out of six games.

Against Farmington, Pam McBride scored 14 points and Dawn Johnson, 13. Fran Whittaker chipped in with nine.

"We got good balance tonight," Tho-mann said. "A lot of people scored. We were also able to defense their one real good scorer tonight."

Salem held Farmington's leading scorer, junior Alyse Fortune, to just six points. Rhonda Lancaster pumped in 15 for the Falcons.

"They played an awfully good manto-man defense," said Falcon coach Bruce Brown. "We just don't have the girls basketball

Slims net top draws

The Junior League of Birmingham is hosting its 13th professional women's tennis tournament in Detroit and for a change it was not your typical Virginia Slims pickings. Snubbed by the game's top players the past few years, the Junior League of Birmingham has renewed optimism about this year's tournament, held in the fall for the first time in stead of the winter. The $150,000 event, featuring Chris Evert-Lloyd and local sensation Lisa Bonder; is Oct. 3-9 at Cobo Arena.

As an added bonus, area tennis fans can watch a qualifying tournament Friday through Sunday at the Beverly Hills Racquet Club in Birmingham, featuring 32 aspiring pros contesting for four spots in the main draw of the Virginia Slims of Detroit event.

The Southeastern Michigan Tennis Association (SEMTA) was given one spot in the qualifying field. Chris Gilles, a promising 17-year-old junior from Plymouth, will play at noon Friday against an opponent yet to be determined.

GROSSE POINTE'S Susan Mascarin and Kalamazoo's Sherry Acker are other possible qualifiers.

Qualifying play runs from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, noon to 5 p.m. Satur day, and 1-5 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited and there is no admission.

Through the past tournament efforts of the Junior League, approximately $1 million has been raised for various community service projects.

But despite the worthwhile efforts. some members of the Junior League were perplexed with the lack of response from the game's stars, who pulled out of the Detroit stop for various reasons.

"I think everybody is very enthusi-astic about it now," said tournament director Joan Stanton. "We're pleased to have Chris and she's a good ticket seller. It's a shot in the arm

"Things have picked up. There's a lot more interest with the change in the Calender. I think we'll have more of a pop-in crowd than we had before People are more likely to come down here more in the fall than in the winter because of the weather.'

ANDREA JAEGER won the last Detroit tournament, sponsored at the time by Avon, back in February of 1982. The lack of a big-name field and a crippling blizzard during the middle of the tournament cut the attendance somewhat.

Slims beef up field The 17-year-old Bonder, a native of Saline, made quite a stir in the tennis world recently when she upset Lloyd Kathy Horvath and Jaeger en route to a $40,000 payday at a Tokyo event. The addition of U.S. Clay Court unner-up Zina Garrison, Wendy Turnbull, Hana Mandlikova, Sylvia Hanika and longtime Detroit favorite Rosie Casals makes this year's field more attractive. The Junior League recently sufered a minor setback when top 10'er Pam Shriver, who made a commitment to Detroit in August, pulled out because of an injury. Although Martina Navratilova, the current queen of women's tennis, will not be here, two wild card spots are being left open for the main draw
