Canton, Plymouth delay Supersewer lawsuit

By Gary M. Cated staff writer

The threat of a $200-million lawsuit may pay off in written assurances to protect Plymouth and Canton townships in the construction of a proposed $110-million sewage system.

Supervisors from the two townships agreed Tuesday to delay the filing of the lawsuit for two weeks so that necessary documents can be written and reviewed

Last month the townships filed notices of claim against a range of parties involved in the decision to split the Huron Valley wastewater project the so-called Supersewer system.

The split left seven northwestern Wayne County communities without a proposed solution to over-capacity problems being experienced in the ex-isting Rouge Valley system.

PLYMOUTH and Canton townships had been pumping money into the de-

REPORTEDLY, designers were talking of building the project in stages, starting at the east end. But 75-percent federal grant funding can't be guaranteed past 1985 - opening the possibility of the townships paying for construction at the east end without receiving sewer lines.

An agreement will be attempted in the next two weeks to avoid the lawsuit

Districts study merger plan

The Wayne-Westland school district may someday annex the Cherry Hill school system to its east. But don't expect that to happen soon. At a study session of the Wayne-Westland board Tuesday night, members learned it could be three years before Cherry Hill may be assimilated.

Board subcommittees from both districts have met several times after an "informal overture" from the Cherry Hill district, according to Wayne-Westland President W. James LeDuc.

Tuesday night the Wayne-Westland board authorized the administration to pursue the study, but board members emphasized that no decision has been made

"There's lots of time," said LeDuc. Board members joked that they were considering a "proposal not a mar-LeDuc added, "We're going riage."

SUPERINTENDENT Timothy Dyer said the two districts will complete their studies in March.

"At that point, Cherry Hill will make up its own mind whether to formally petition us," said Dyer.

If they do petition for annexation, the Wayne-Westland board would vote in early summer on whether to accept. According to state law, residents in the Cherry Hill district would vote on whether to join. There are 2,300 students in the district.

"Even after that, there would be a year or two in transition," said Louis D. Thompson, described as a senior member of the Cherry Hill school board. "It wouldn't happen over night.' He added that the state board would have to approve the plan.

consortiums or joint programs with other districts. "Why Wayne-Westland?" quizzed Thompson rhetorically. "Cherry Hill has had a relationship with the district since the vocational education school was opened. Parents and students think its the greatest. That was enough for us to make overtures.

He added that the annexation would provide the "best possible education in the future" for Cherry Hill students.

Thompson explained that Cherry Hill was part of an original study that considered forming a municipal school district for the city of Dearborn Heights. In order to do that, however, parts of other school districts would have been carved up to form the new system. So, according to Thompson, the state board of education decreed that only whole school districts could be annexed

John Sobleskie, Canton's deputy finance director, has accepted a position as budget director for the city of Westland

Sobleskie, 37, a Canton resident, will assume his new duties Nov. 14

Canton officials praised his skills and job performance. Sobleskie was hired as an accountant in April 1980. Previously, he worked for a certified public accountant (CPA) firm in Lansing, and for several years in accounting responibilities for the city of Detroit.

In 1981, Sobleskie became deputy to finance director Mike Gorman, at a salary of $26,925. Sobleskie has had a variety of duties, including helping to set up budgets and overseeing the township's computer operations.

NOW A NEW study is under way of five districts in the Dearborn Heights area. Thompsons said that he is chairing the committee and that Cherry Hill will continue to participate in the study

But Thompson said that "tremendous problems" would prohibit Cherry Hill from annexing or being annexed by those districts. Those problems include unions affiliated with different groups and wide variances among millage rates.

Group home raises dispute

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

A new approach will be attempted to stop the licensing of a group home in a Plymouth Township subdivision.

The Plymouth Township attorney's office was authorized Tuesday night to seek a court injunction to prohibit Department of Social Service (DSS) licensing of a Betty Hill home because it fails to meet local building code requirements Past attempts by Michigan communities to stop DSS from licensing homes in residential areas have proven futile. The state's courts have upheld practices which confine local veto powers to the proximity of a proposed site to an already existing group home.

As of Tuesday night, township officials said inspections of the Betty Hill home, owned by Thomas Cape, revealed "serious electrical problems."

CAPE DISPUTES the township's claims and intends to have the home at 46511 Betty Hill licensed as an adult foster care facility. Cape's objections were submitted to the board in the form of a letter, which was reviewed at the meeting.

"We're not going to give it a certifi-cate of occupancy," said supervisor Maurice Breen.

The township will seek to stop the DSS from licensing the home. Breen said the basis for the suit will be that the alleged problems would present a danger to the occupants and would prohibit the licensing of the home for public use.

Apparently, the question will boil down to whether the alleged electrical deficiencies present a true danger Township attorney Brian James said the DSS informed him they only would hold up licensing for "dangerous violations

MINOR, or non-life threatening, violations wouldn't justify holding up the application for a group home license James said the DSS informed him.

Cape requested an independent inspection of the home, which the town ship agreed to, Breen said.

But, Breen said, Cape never followed through with the independent inspection. Cape was not present at Tuesday night's board meeting.

At a meeting earlier this year, when Cape's application for licensing was first discussed, some 100 residents turned out to voice objections about turning the house into a group home.

At that time, the township board in dicated the matter would be turned over to the attorney's office to pursue avenues to block the licensing

A 40-year-old red maple gracing the future site of Long John Silver's in Canton is becoming as well-known as the restaurant's smooth-talking, onelegged namesake. (If Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island" isn't in your repertoire, Silver is the infamous villian who loaded a ship's crew with his men to stage a mutiny?).

Canton Supervisor James Poole has made a lunch date specifically to discuss this statuesque work of nature sandwiched by Burger King and McDonald's on Ford Road between Sheldon and Canton Center Roads. So has the township attorney Seems the tree, which once provided shade for a Canton farmhouse, is planted directly in the path of the driveway in Long John Silver's approved site

When that came to Planning Director Jim Kosteva's attention last summer, he battled valiantly to save the tree, taking the issue to the township board.

Board members subsequently passed a motion requiring the fast food eatery to construct its driveway at least two feet away from the tree to ensure its survival. At least that was the idea.

"For every one inch of caliber, a tree needs approximately 10 inches in root space. This tree is 34 inches in circumference. So you need about 10 feet (free of construction) on each side of this tree for it to obtain needed food value from the earth and for it to anchor itself.

"Even then, you can't guarantee it'll by e," said Dennis Crimboli, president of Crimboli Landscape Contractors, Inc. in Canton "It's a low vigor tree, which means

Though his 10-foot recommendation was made known months ago to trus tees, the matter didn't sprout up again until a couple of weeks ago. The board and Kosteva - for all their good intentions - found their hands tied and the tree's fate sealed. "The current property owner decided to comply with the board and acknowledged the tree is worth saving. It was agreed to move the driveway over two feet," Kosteva told the board. "But if the tree expert is to be be-

Support sought in cancer campaign 🚩

Area citizens are being asked to become partners in the battle against cancer as part of Oakwood Hospital's first communitywide fund-raising campaign toward the purchase of two major pieces of cancer-fighting equipment

Organized around the theme, "Our Community Commitment to Cancer Care," the hospital is seeking the support of residents to purchase an 18 milon-electron-volt (mey) linear accelerator and simulator, used in the treatment of cancer patients.

The cost of the equipment is placed at $1.7 milon. The hospital already has invested $1 million. with the Oakwood Hospital Foundation embarking on the campaign to raise an additional $718,000. helping to provide this equipment," Fitzgerald said. THE SIMULATOR and linear accelerator complement each other in the treatment of cancer pa-tients. The simulator locates a tumor through fluoroscopic images and X-ray documentation. It also provides verification to insure that healthy structures will not be included in the treatment field and, therefore, receive little or no radiation.

The linear accelerator is able to treat deep-seated tumors with minimal damage to surrounding healthy tissue. While noting it has the capability of emitting very high energy electrons that can deliver both an electron beam or an X-ray beam for radiation therapy, radiologist Robert Songe said electron beams are primarily used for treating more superficial lesions. The depth of penetration of the electron beam can be accurately controlled.

On the other hand, the high energy X-ray beam is used for treating more deep-seated chest, abdominal, and pelvic tumors, Songe said.

The linear accelerator's high energy makes possible the delivery of a higher degree of radiation to the tumor with relative sparing of tissues interposed between the turnor and the skin surface," he explained

Those reasons as also cited by Wayne-Westland administrators an board members as reasons why annexing Cherry lill would work for the two districts. Teachers n each are affiliated with the Michigan Educaton Association, and the Cherry Hill tax rate of 19 mills is nearly that of Wayne Westland's 40.65 mills.

OTHER AD'ANTAGES, according to Dyer, would include a fairly significant financial advantage by elimitating administrative duplication. loting that an exact dollar amount is impossible to calculate, Dyc said that conservative estimates place it at $70,000 to $1.2 million. Wayne-Wesland also would gain in the state-aid act which grants funding according to the number of students is the district.

"Therefor:, it's to our advantage to have as large a number o students as possible," he said. "That's why we market so heavily in adult and vocational education.

Administrators also believe that the influx of students would help stabilize the district's junior and senior him schools without overcrowding them. We could unequivocably guarantee that we wouldn't have to close a high school befor the year he said "There are tremendous similarities on the hiring dates in the two districts. That would not be a disadvantage to our faculty. Layoffs would be on the basis of enrollment and qualifications, not any other basis."

2000 " Dyer added. THE DISTRICTS could expect some problems in "meshing the two faculties and granting seniority,"

Dyer said that the union leadership in Wayne-Westland hadn't responded to the proposal because it's involved in negotiation, but they "didn't seem to be alarmed," he noted.

One area that could become an emotional issue is that of race, according to Dyer. Saying that the issue should be hit head-or. Dyer said that the "days are over and should never have been" when that was an issue. He said that adding Cherry Hill's 24 percent black student population to Wayne-Westand's would raise the district's percentage of black students from seven to nine percent.

"ALL STUDENTS, black and white, need the best possible education," Dyer emphasized. "It's an advantage to have our students exposed to more minorities

Hopefully, he added, "together they'll get along better so that one day we'll read (about racial problems) in the archives and wonder why."

Supporting the proposed anrexation, Wayne-Westland board member Kathlees Chorbagian said she would like to see racial balance in the district. "We know Wayne is impacted," she said. "I'd like to see district-wide balance."

Administrators also expect the state to grant financial incentives, possibly in the form of property tax relief for all involved, for those districts which

"The governor has said we have to reduce the number of school systems if we're going to talk about quality education in this state," Dyer said. In addition, the district could be given financial help by the district to accomplish the transition.

Judge tells of most unusual case By W.W.Edgar

staff writer

Many of the weirdest stories have their beginnings in the courtrooms of the land. And none is more weird than the story District Judge James Garber tells about Tommy Berry whom he recently sentenced to three to four years in Jackson prison.

Sitting on the bench the other afternoon he recalled the plot arranged by Berry that had its scenario in the Meijer's Thrifty Acres mall on Ford

"This fellow Berry would walk into the mall and select a basket of valuable items and pay for them. Then, his accomplice would follow, make the same selection, pay for them and depart. A short time later Berry would return with his purchase slip and ask that a bag of oranges be added. He would ther

"After a short time, he would return and ask for his money back and get it. Meantime his accom-plice had the other basket and they would make about $1,000 each haul."

They finally were caught and taken into custody and brought before Jedge Garber in District Court. When the judge set the time of the case at 1:30 in the afternoon, Berry appeared. But while the judge was preparing the case at his regular place on the

Plans will lose steam as strike fades away

Reaction ranging from hostility and bitterness to self-incrimination is ebbing in the wake of the 19day strike that recently idled nearly 1,200 employ ees and 16,000 students in the Plymouth-Canton Community School district.

12A(C)

At the board's last meeting, the air was thick with tension as residents were given a maximum of three minutes to address trustees.

One man, cut off by acting school board President Flossie Tonda for exceeding the time limit, left saving, "It looks like a recall may be in order." He was applauded resoundingly

Several people took shots at school board President Glenn Schroeder for having taken a vacation in middle of the strike.

ELEANORE BALASH, A parent and teacher. demanded to know how the board "expects us to believe you care about the education of our children when you would cut off insurance for the heads of their households

"Human needs are main concerns. Taking away our insurance was despicable. Maybe it's time you came down off your pedestals " she said (Health insurance benefits were interrupted during the strike due to board action.) Not all the will was ill.

Trustee E.J. McClendon expressed gratitude to the "300-some" people who called him during the labor dispute. Despite the time it took to return those calls and the "dislike and disappointments we all have at the present time" concerning the strike.

he was glad to see this community's attempt to ascertain facts.

Freshman Trustee David Artley pledged to "within the year find out what skeletons are in the closet so that this won't happen again" or resign.

His remarks drew spirited applause. Trustee Roland Thomas espoused communication between the board and its public.

A TEACHER attending her first board meeting said, "I hope more parents get involved not only at the time of crises, but all the time so that we can be better judges.

"I hope we can as educators on all sides begin to work together. I welcome you to my classroom, and I'll be here again," she said. People were still applauding her as the meeding was adjourned.

While improving communications is a laudable goal, there's a strong and unfortunate probability that the feeling is fleeting.

For several weeks, or perhaps months, we're likely to see parents and teachers at the board meetings. Their numbers will keep officials on their toes, accountable and responsive. Students will benefit in unforeseen ways as a result.

But attendance likely will dwindle to the customary handful of educational activists.

By the time budget hearings roll around in May or June, decisions will be made while the taxpavers are otherwise occupied.

Time will have redirected their interests That's too bad.

The 'greats' Tales of amateur athletes

AT THE luncheon table the other day, the age-old question was asked: "What constitutes an amateur athlete?" There were plenty of arguments on all

It all came about when the public prints told the story of Bob Bergeron, who kicked the field goal that gave Michigan a victory over Iowa in the most dramatic game of the season.

Young Bergeron is what is termed in college athletics as a "walk on." That means he wasn't lured to Ann Arbor by a football scholarship. He just walked on the field when time came for football tryouts.

He is paying his own way - that is, he pays for his own studies. He pays his own board and room. He doesn't eat at the same table with the members of the squad, most of whom are holders of scholarships

THERE IS NO question but that the young place kicker is an amateur. What's more, he has made it public that he intends to remain on that schedule. Til pay my own way," he said when asked how he liked being a sort of outcast at the dining table. That brought up the question, "If Bergeron is a tried and true amateur does that make other members of the squad professionals' It also raised the question, "What is a scholarship worth?"

The amount may vary between schools, but in Michigan a "full ride," as they term it, is worth about $7,000 a year. That, at least, is the price put on such a scholarship by Don Canham, the Michigan athletic director.

"It runs about that figure," he told The Stroller during a chat in the press box a week ago. "Over the four-year period, it amounts to about $28,000."

THE ATHLETE is trading his ability for an education, and now the question is asked, "Isn't he a paid athlete? And if he is, then in reality, according o rules of the Amateur Athletic Union, he would be a pro. After all, he is paid a nice sum for his talents, and that is payment for services."

Well the argument went on to no final conclusion. But this wasn't strange, for the question had been raised through the years. And still it isn't set-

If the football players on scholarships are getting the equal of $28,000 over a four-year period to pay for their tuition and board, one can see how unfairly Jim Thorpe, the legendary Indian athlete, was treated. He had to return his Olympic medals because he had once accepted $15 for playing a game of baseball

There are many other cases. Back in the 1920s, when Paavo Nurmi was touring the world breaking track records for the mile run, he became rich under an "amateur code."

When he signed to appear in any meet or special event, there was a clause in the contract guarantee-ing him return fare to his home in Finland. That looked fine on paper. But Nurmi was an unusual athlete. He could run several times a week in diflerent cities.

ONE OF THESE examples came when he paid a visit to Detroit. He had run in Chicago on a Tuesday night, then in Detroit on Saturday and in Cleveland the following Monday

In each case, he collected traveling expenses from his home in Finland. This became quite a sum, yet he never was questioned.

Another unusual case came when Joe Louis was still an amateur fighting in the Golden Gloves tourng and whe he came to collect his reward (a basket of groceries), someone had beaten him to it - not only taking Joe's groceries but his clothes as well. Joe had to go home in his boxing trunks.

So the amateur rule always has been a subject for

Income tax breaks State's 'invisible budget'

Ask any friendly state legislator what Michigan's general fund budget is, and he or she will answer in the neighborhood of $10 billion.

Ask any frowning college president whether the state has been generous or tight-fisted in its support of higher education during the past five years, and he (they're all men) will answer tight-fisted. Wrong, both times.

The reason, as I dope it out from an article in the Michigan Township News, is something called "tax expenditures." What it means is that the state doesn't really collect all the tax money it has coming. It grants some pretty generous tax breaks which never show up in that $10-billion state budg-

Let's look at a couple of examples which strike

NEARLY ALL suburbanites gripe about property taxes, but the truth is that the bills are nowhere as big as they seem.

Two-thirds of us homeowners are getting a rebate from the state in our income taxes. Whenever our property tax bill exceeds 3.5 percent of household income, the state lops 60 percent of that excess from our income taxes.

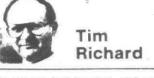

In our household, more than 90 percent of the income comes from a single salary, and so we make out like Errol Flynn playing Robin Hood on the perty tax credit

Collectively, we got back $540 million in 1981. according to the magazine, published by the Michigan Townships Association. So if you live in one of those "out-of-formula" school districts which gets zero state aid, and if our local superintendent complains about it, give him the raspberries. A lot of that property tax money he's getting is disguised state aid.

COLLEGES AND universities do pretty well under state and federal tax laws, too. Last week I received a letter from my favorite community college which outlines the nice tax deals one can get by giving to the college foundation.

In my modest bracket, if I give $100, my state income tax is reduced a whopping $50 and my federal tax another $30. Net cost out-of-pocket to me is $20.

My beloved University of Michigan has its hand out for $160 million over five years. Assuming twothirds of the donors are Michigan residents, the 'Campaign for Michigan" will cost the state treasary nearly $54 million ($160 million times twothirds times a 50-percent tax credit).

IF GIFTS TO colleges are to be the wave of the future, however, then we have to worry about schools like Wayne State University.

President David Adamany tells me WSU has a tougher time raising private funds because so many of its graduates are social workers, nurses, teachers and the like who don't draw the kinds of salaries that graduates of U-M professional schools command.

Is the moral that WSU should look at salary scales and offer only those curricula which will draw big donations from graduates? That would be

In 1982, according to the MTA piece, these "tax expenditures" cost state and local government $6.9 billion. There are breaks for senior citizens, air and water pollution control equipment, solar devices, new industries and a host more.

My guess is that the "invisible budget," as I prein the next few years not only because of the U-M campaign but because community colleges, sheriffs, parks commissions the Child Abuse Fund, libraries and many other governmental agencies are out beating the bushes for tax-exempt gifts.

Suburban poverty is now more visible

POVERTY KNOWS no city boundaries.

For years Oakland boasted that it was one of the wealthiest counties in the United States. That claim is seldom heard now. Portions of Oakland County are experiencing poverty equal to that of Detroit and parts of suburban Wayne County.

"It's a hidden poverty," said Jackie Scherer, a sociology professor at Oakland University. "You don't see people standing on street corners who are starving. But there are starving people. What clothes they can get come from the Good Will or Salvation Army. We build expressways so we can rush by and not see all the broken down homes along the way.'

FOCUS: HOPE, a Detroit civil and human rights organization, recognizes the poverty in Oakland county. Since the riots in Detroit in 1967, Focus: Hope has been helping the poor in Wayne County.

Starting in early September, Focus: Hope has been operating out a site near downtown Pontiac. Focus: Hope is giving out food packages to pregnant and postpartum women, children up to age 6 and seniors 60 and older.

At what point does an area like Oakland County qualify for poverty assistance?

Focus: Hope outlined several indicators in deciding to add Oakland County to its formerly exclusive

Wayne County service area. Cited were the following Oakland County statistics:

• Its unemployment rate was 14.4 percent in 1982 compared to 5.7 percent in 1979.

• The number applying for public assistance has nearly doubled in the past four years, from 5,630 in 1979 to 8,228 in 1982.

An decline in babies' weights at hirth.

THAT LOW BIRTH weight is of special interest to Prof. Scherer of Oakland University. Low birth weight has a high correlation to infant deaths.

Ms. Scherer has been working with the Oakland County Nurses Association to get a government grant to study a high rate of infant mortality in Oakland County.

"Some areas of Oakland County have an infant mortality rate as high as some underdeveloped countries," Ms. Scherer said.

Admit it or not, there's poverty in the wealthiest of suburban communities.

Ms. Scherer has spent much time studying census figures and statistics from the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

"There's not one suburban community which doesn't have people suffering because of the recession - that includes Bloomfield Hills," she said.

Christ Church Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills is the epitome of a wealthy, white church. Its congregation recently began helping Focus: Hope's food distribution program in Oakland County.

WE LEARN more every day about the effects of bad economic times on the suburbs. The United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit is holding hearings this month to probe the impact of parents' unemployment on children.

The first session will be held at 8 p.m. today at Wayne County Community College in Taylor. Another hearing will take place on Wednesday, Nov. 16, at the Jewish Community Center in Oak Park.

Persons from families affected by unemployment are invited to testify before United Community Services.

Maybe it's time to get off those expressways and look around. Poverty has come to even the most affluent suburbs.

CYNTHIA BETLEY, a Canton Township resident, is playing in Agatha Christie's "The Hollow" at Willow-O-Way Apprentice Theatre in Bloomfield Township. Critic Mary Jane Doerr gave Cynthia and the play an enthusiastic review in the Eccentric newspapers.

She wrote: " 'The Hollow' is a well-acted, evenly cast show that is quite engaging. "The plot takes place in the garden room of Sir Henry Angkatell's home, a part played by a properly distinguished (through use of makeup) Kevin Brady. Sir Henry and Lady Angkatell (Shirley Brewer) greet their weekend guests as they arrive one Friday afternoon in September.

"While Brady portrays the English gentleman with a sense of dignity and mild-mannered charm that makes everyone like him, Lady Angkatell is showing signs of senility in her conversation and actions.

"Brewer has just the right combination of confusion and awareness in her expressions and lines to give the whole play a buoyant humor.

"Henrietta Angkatell, played by a stunningly attractive Cynthia Betley, is living with the Angkatells. She is a talented sculptor who is widely known for her work. While she is beautiful enough to attract the attention of the rudely appealing John Cristow and the handsome Edward Angkatell (Tom Chapman), Henrietta is no fool.

"Not only is Betley well cast as to her appearance, but she carries the part to perfection.

"John Cristow (Dan Dunich) and his wife, Gerda (Eileen Weiss) are the odd couple. Cristow is the epitome of arrogance and rud His wife is the homely, unsure, nervous unhappy counterpart that marriages such as these always

"Oan Dunich is an excellent actor Not particularly handsome with his messy blond hair and thick glasses, he plays the part of both a brilliant doctor and a womanizer, though we are never quite sure why he has the appeal he does '

I suspect he is the one who is mu: dered in the mystery drama Cynthia said she believes the Agatha Christie book may have a different title

Local audiences may be more familiar with Cynthia in dancing roles. She danced, sang and acted in the musical, "Monterey." And she has appeared in the arts council revue as a dancer. This time she plays a straight dramatic part.

"The Hollow" will continue through Nov. 12 with performances at 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays, and 4:30 p.m. matinees on Sundays. Well Canton held THE homecoming to end all homecomings. All 'oldies but goodies" gathered at township hall Oct. 23 to enjoy sharing memories of how it was. I assure you it was a lively scene as, in preparation for our 150th birthday, researcher Diane Wilson, student from Eastern Michigan University, began the task of gathering all the information these old Cantonites can supply. If you newcomers think that Canton is a "new" community just sit back and prepare to be amazed as the stories unfold throughout the next year. Everyone was there - well, almost everyone

Bart Berg, president of the Canton Historical Society, as well as Dorothy West, past president of Canton Historical Society, were there. Dorothy, alone, could fill your day with stories that you would believe came from a made-for-TV movie. But it's all true and Dorothy has the proof of much of it, pictures, cards, letters and maps.

Speaking of maps, do you remember how hard ur Supervisor Jim Poole fought to get Canton on the Michigan map? Do you remember the two other communities in this area that originally had Chinese names? Canton is the only to retain its Chinese

I was fortunate to meet Charles Zazula, who is a wealth of information on Canton. Though as he says he is only 60 some years old, a comparative newcomer when you consider two other marvelous people I met. Andy Smith Sr., only 91 years old, was born and raised in Canton. He remembers the ride to Sunday service in the buckboard.

Then there's Helen Maloney, who didn't actually live in Canton as a child but - and listen closely Canton - her family would ride out to Canton each Sunday because Canton was the big time place to be. She also went to school in Canton. Put that in your memory banks folks, there will be a test later.

During the next year you will hear from these and many, many, more Cantonites like Claude and Maude Truesdell, Harold Beattie and his lovely wife, the Schultzes, the Dingeldeys, and the whole clan. You'll hear old stories that you never dreamed could have happened here in little Canton. Take for instance the time Henry Ford (number 1 came here to take a look at the brand new invention called the "tractor.

You see, Canton was one of the few places you could find one of those new fangled contraptions. Of course they had steel wheels then, but the farmers seemed to like them well enough.

Canton, let me make a suggestion. Maybe, just maybe, we had better stop thinking of ourselves as "little Canton" or "the new area," or "just past Westland," or "the other side of Plymouth." To celebrate the Sesquicentennial I'll try to include something unusual or just plain neat about our to tally terrific township each week. Please feel free to write me or call me with any suggestions. I may not be able to use them all but I'm sure going to give it a try.

NOW FOR CANTON'S real Newcomers. The Canton Newcomers are holding a community auc-tion Friday. All proceeds of this auction are to go to Hospice Medical Support Service. For those of you try to give a brief explanation. This is a marvelous volunteer group of nurses and doctors along with other service groups and community people who give personal, in-home care to the terminally ill, who wish to be at home. They offer understanding, medical and counseling care in your own home. Counseling is also given free of charge to any member of the family, as a group or individually.

Many area merchants and service groups have donated outstanding items to be auctioned off things like gift certificates, silk flower arrangements, plants, wine, even a beautiful rocking chair. That's not all, they even have some service donations, like the services of an accountant. There's no end to what they may auction off tomorrow night. There is still time to donate a service or an article.

It's good for the auction and good for you. Speaking of you, remember Hospice is all volunteer. But if you, or any member of your family may ever need this service, it might help you had done your part to keep this good cause going. So tomor-row at 7:30 p.m., join the Newcomers at Canton Senior Citizen Hall on Michigan and Sheldon. Rereshments will be served and since it's an auction you can leave anytime you wish. If you have any questions, I have two numbers for you. 981-6285 and 397-0062. Be there.

NOW ABOUT community spirit. Our Totally Terrific Township's birthday is approaching faster than you might think and time is running out to jump in and participate. But all is not lost.

The Sesquecentennial Committee will be meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, Nov. 7, with community merchants, businesses, service groups, homeowners associations, and interested parties. All the movers and shakers of this TTT (Totally Terriffic Township) will be at the Roman Forum for "The Gathering." Everyone will have one last chance to offer ideas assistance plans possibilities, and the decision as to how many of these shall become a part of our Sesquicentennial Celebration. In a community of nearly 50,000 we should be able to put on one heck of a party. We have all sorts of civic assistance from other communities, and now it's our

County board to meet at SC

For the first time in history, the Wayne County Commission will travel to Schoolcraft College in Livonia to hold a regular meeting. Chairman William Suzore of Allen Park will call the 15-member group to order at 7 tonight (Thursday) in the au-ditorium of the Liberal Arts Building, which is closest to the south parking lot on the campus at 18600 Haggerty.

Wayne County's home-rule charter first of its kind in the state, requires the legislative body to meet four times yearly in the suburbs and around Detroit to allow greater public access. The state's Open Meetings Act allows the public to address the commission at any meeting.

On the agenda are appointments to the Wayne-Metropolitan Community Services Agency, the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan and the Airport Zoning Board of Appeals, along with County Executive William Lucas's proposal to lease Cadillac Towers space for the friend of the court's office

Rock coach ends era

By Brad Emons staff writer

Plymouth Salem is losing one of its top varsity coaches Brian Gilles announced this week that he is re-A Stump's-eye signing from the head baseball post after eight years.

The personable and fiery Gilles led the Rocks to a 135-62 record during his stint. Under Gilles, Salem won two Class A district, one regional and six league crowns.

"It was a combination of things and there were a lot of reasons," Gilles said. "I've thought about it for a long time. I wrestled with it some Gilles said he wanted to spend more time travelling and watching his daughters, Chris and Wendy, play tennis. Both girls are nationally ranked players.

"And there has been the same problems with the budget," Gilles added. "We had to come up with $500 of our own money to pay umpires for nonleague games.

"And the salary wasn't what it should be. A firstyear coach in Walled Lake gets $3,400 and I'm making $900."

GILLES also spent countless hours manicuring the Salem baseball field, one of the best, if not the best in the state, according to opposing teams. "That ties you down from March right through the summer," he said. "I want to play some golf and do some fishing." Gilles, an assistant under Wayne Sparkman during Salem's 1975 Class A title run, produced several good players during his eight years of coaching.

"What sticks out in my mind is that first year with Brian Wolcott," Gilles said. "We turned a shortstop into a pitcher and he went 15-0 when everybody said he couldn't throw." Wolcott went on to reap All-Big 10 honors at Michigan State and had a brief pro career. Another Gilles product, Bob Waite, led the Big 10

ELCOME TO SPORTSOAK, the show that soaks sport for all its worth. And then some. Remember, sports news is the solemn word and sports rumors

So let's get started. Your question, sir? Who's the best high school football coach in the area?

John Herrington, Farmington Harrison, Why?

He must be good. Did you ever see all the kisses he gets after football games? He leads the league any league - in that very important statistic. Next caller Hey Stump, does football have a future? Football will always be a favorite with fans as long as they can count.

Whaddya mean? I mean numbers. That attracts football fans like are gospel.

an inheritance attracts relatives. The more numbers and statistics that can be tagged onto a sport, the greater its chance for success

And now with the computer age invading the home and preschool-age kids running programs, the number craze has escalated. At halftime the sports junkie can figure the passing efficiency rating for the quarterback of his favorite team.

Mark my word: They'll be opening rehabilitation centers for numbers addicts in the not-too-distant future

Why do only three teams from this area -Birmingham's Seaholm, Brother Rice and Country Day — have a shot at the high school football playoffs?

Other teams have all lost. At least that's what most people would say. But it's not true. This regional set-up is the reason.

Why have regions? By keeping four separate races per class, teams in strong regions are penalized while those in weak regions are rewarded. The top eight - or maybe an expanded race of 16 - teams in one statewide computer ranking per class should make the playoffs.

Who is the best football player in the area? Again its Harrison that owns this one: John Miller. Boy, has he got some numbers! Good stats huh?

Those too. But those numbers - I'll bet he's got every cheerleaders' telephone listing in that collection of his.

If I wanted to see some good football this weekend, where would I go? The Pontiac Silverdome. And take a tent.

A tent? And $4 for admission. The action starts Saturday morning and continues through the weekend. Five games will be played Saturday, featuring four crosstown battles: Troy vs. Troy Athens at noon, Southfield vs. Southfield-Lathrup at 2:30 p.m., Birmingham's Groves vs. Seaholm at 5:30 p.m. and STEINER RAN AN impressive 16:38 to earn his state tournament berth. He will be the first runner to represent Salem at the state meet since 1975.

"Steiney has just surpassed all our expectations this year," said Salem coach Tom Williams. "And he's the neatest kid you ever want to know; just a pleasure to coach."

Williams said Steiner was a good runner as a sophomore last season. But through hard work and determination over the summer, he became an outstanding runner. "We figured he'd be our No. 1 runner at the beginning of the year, and he just came in and took over. He never backs off from a workout. No matter what we throw at him, he'll take it on," Williams said.

Phil Madis placed 47th in 17:24 and Tony Atwell finished 58th in 17:36.

Rick Routson also ran a 17:36 for a lem. Bill Morley finished 81st in 18:05 and John Keros finished 83rd in 18:15. "I was really pleased with both the boys' and the girls' performances," Wil-liams said. "They ran the absolute best they could. And you know what the best thing is - most of them will be back next year."

The girls were running without the services of senior Michelle Donnelly who injured an ankle in the league meet. Also, Amy Miyasaki was running on a tender knee.

But Shelly Simons and Trish Donnel ly turned in superb times to pick up the slack for the Rocks. Simons placed 22nd with a 20:29, and Donnelly ran her best time of the season, 20:47, to finish 30th

There's more on tap Monday, if you want to stick around. It won't be as exciting, what with the Lions playing the New York Giants

I was reading the paper the other day and it said this quarterback from Rochester, Bruce Crosthwaite, riddled the other team's pass defense. I'm not sure I understand what that meant

Well, I'll tell you. Crosthwaite has fired some masterpieces at opponents all year. He's got great talent

I saw him confuse defenses with gems like, "How do you make a venetian blind? Poke his eyes out!" and "What did the Indian say when his dog fell over the cliff? Doggone!" With the opposing team frozen by such riddles, it made it easy to toss those scoring passes Without doubt, the guy's got a future in comedy. Why was the Livonia Churchill win over Harrison called an upset?

The game wasn't an upset. The series between the two teams is about even, and they've been playing each other over a dozen years.

The upset was in the stomachs of sportswriters who figured Harrison was en route to its thirdstraight state title

What's the state's most popular sport? Soccer. More pre-high school kids are playing soccer than any other organized sport. And that's all happened in the past 10 years.

It's starting to show, too, at programs like Oakland University, which is headed toward the NCAA Division II championships, and at Schoolcraft College, which has qualified for the NJCAA Inter-Regional tournament.

How much does luck have to do with winning and losing?

Not much, really. But don't tell that to Redford Catholic Central fans. Rumor has it that CC football followers want to dump the Shamrock nickname for something like a four-leaf clover or rabbit's foot. CC, you see, was ranked No. 1 in the state in preseason polls but has lost four games three in overtime

I can't tell when you're being serious and when you're joking.

Neither can I.

"You know, they say you get a kid like this just once in a while. I've been lucky. I've had two in 10 years. Rich Hewlett in football, and now Steiney. Both are just great kids," he said.

THREE ROCK RUNNERS turned in their best times of the season at the re-Eric Pedersen ran a 17:09, gional which was good for 40th place. Senior 21:51, and Paru Byashar placed 53rd in 22:15. Erica Bashor, running her first meet of the season, placed 62nd with a 22:35. Miyasaki finished 76th in 23:25, and Laurie Swierb was 77th in 23:29.

No Salem girls qualified for the state even though Simons, Donnelly and Du-Pret ran faster times than runners from other regionals who qualified.

"That's the frustrating part," Williams said. "We run in probably the best regional in the state."

The boys end the 1983 season with a 7-3 dual meet record. The girls end up 8-1

It's safe to say that the Salem cross country program has come of age under Williams.

If only Schoolcraft College's volleyball team had a mind to be the best.

Maybe the Ocelots would be. But its that lack of mental discipline that holds them back

At least that's how coach Joe Jandasek views it. Schoolcraft let a golden opportunity slip through its fingers last Tuesday, catching Henry Ford Community College, the Michigan Junior College Athletic Conference Eastern Division leader, on an off night.

"Henry Ford did not play well." said Jandasek. "If we had just played fairly instead of poorly my feeling is we would have won.

Instead, the Ocelots fell by 16-14, 15-11, 4-15, 16-14 scores at Henry Ford. They put one in the win column last Thursday by ripping Delta Community College, 15-7, 12-15, 15-4, 15-4, at Schoolcraft.

THE DELTA VICTORY left the team at 4-3 in Eastern Division match play, despite a nearly even split in the 11 games played against Henry Ford (Henry Ford has won six to Schoolcraft's five).

Jandasek said inconsistency "seems to be our nature. There's no steadiness We can't seem to sustain a strong run. We can come from behind and pressure doesn't bother us.

"We have to be able to stay in the game for a longer period of time." Last weekend, Schoolcraft traveled to the six-team Illinois Central Tournament. Three of the teams competing were four-year schools and the two two-year colleges were nationally ranked.

Which spelled trouble for the Ocelots, who won just one of six games in pool play. They split with Jefferson (Mo.) Community College, 6-15, 15-6

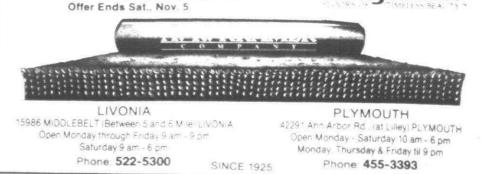

"The tournament was beneficial as far as I'm concerned because we got to play and see other teams," Jandasek said. This weekend, the Ocelots play in the Can-Am tournament.

Double dose of Donnelly does Rocks proud

By Chris McCoeky staff writer riginally, it was a case of mistaken identity, but it all worked out for Plymouth Salem cross country coach Tom

Williams eyed a little sophomore running the mile for the Salem girls track team. He liked what he saw and made a mental note to get her out for the cross country team.

The girl's name was Donnelly. Williams was good friends with Donelly's parents. He talked to them about getting the Donnelly girl to come out for cross country. He didn't realize that there were two Donnelly girls.

"MR. WILLIAMS thought I was Michelle and he asked me to come out for the team," said Trish Donnelly, who is Michelle's younger sister.

"He and our mother kept bugging us until we came out for the team," Michelle said.

And that's exactly what happened The Donnelly's had an off year this season. People passed them. People like Shelly Simons passed them, Amy Miyasaki passed them for a while early in the season. Worse, many of their opponents began passing them.

Ironically, while the Donnelly's were off their games a bit, the team succeeded. The Rocks went 7-1 on the season and were Western Lakes Lakes Division champions with a 4-0 conference record "The season was very disappointing to me personally," said Michelle. "But, team-wise, it was a great season. The success we had as a team was just great.

This was not to be Michigan State University's year for hockey. Last year

Last year they had Ron Scott in goal and Mark Hamway at forward and lots of other senior standouts. This year's Spartans were truer to their colors - very green. "We have only eight freshmen and three seniors," Don McSween said of the 20-man team. "People figured we had so many freshmen, we'd probably kill penalties is not to be thought of as a strictly defensive ploy. In six games, they have surprised their opponents with six short-handed goals. McSween's only goal came on a short-handed effort against Western Michigan, when he intercepted a pass and went in all alone on a breakaway.

He scored a goal and an assist in the opener against WMU, then had three assists in the second game. "Most teams sit back in a box when they're killing penalties," McSween said. "Not MSU. We're very aggressive and try to force mistakes. We might get beat on some backdoor passes, but we're pretty quick so we can usually get away with (our aggressive play)." How good is MSU? That question may be answered this weekend when

Turn out the lights? Harrison, Salem playoff chances remote

By Chris McCosky

staff writers

Playoffs? Farmington Harrison (7-1) has the best chance at post-season play, but must first beat a formidable Monroe (6-2) team Saturday at home.

The Hawks are hoping for a miracle or a Birmingham Brother Rice loss, whichever comes first. Birming ham Seaholm is the other team ahead of Harrison in Region III of Class A. Seabolm faces rival Groves, while Rice takes on Dearborn Divine Child for the Catholic League's A-B championship this weekend. Plymouth Salem, the other area hopeful, could sneak in the back door in Region II, only if East Lansing loses again. Brighton is the only unbeaten team left in that region. What does it all mean?

It's a strong possibility there could be a lot of one-sided games in the Class A playoffs this year. Some of the best teams will not be there. As for the predictions. Emons remains red hot, picking 14 of 15 last week to increase his record to 72-28 on the season. McCosky had a good week too, but still lost ground, going 11-4. He is 64-36 overall. "Turn out the lights. The party's over," says the elder statesman.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL at LIVO-NIA STEVENSON (7:30 p.m. Friday). Could be the best game of the night as Churchill quarterback John Stoitsiadis and Stevenson counterpart Dan Gilmartin match talents.

REDFORD UNION at PLYM-OUTH SALEM (7:30 p.m. Friday). How far has RU come? The Panthers have won four straight and have been rolling up some impressive stats. But Salem (7-1) is no slouch and has an outside shot at the playoffs. The

PLYMOUTH CANTON at BELLE-VILLE (7:30 p.m. Friday). Belleville

REDFORD THURSTON at SOUTH LYON (7:30 p.m. Friday). South Lyon (4-4) beau Novi in a thriller last week. 15-14, while Thurston's defense came alive and stunned Romulus, 8-0, for their second win of the year.

This is a chance to show that th Northwest Suburban League is better than the suspect Kensington Valley circuit. Can coach John Switchenko pull off another one? PICKS Emons thinks he can, while McCosky disagrees.

LIVONIA BENTLEY at LIVONIA FRANKLIN (2 p.m. Saturday). You can throw out the records - and let's for this longtime rivalry.

Bentley always seems to get up for Franklin, which has ruled this series Will a Chad Darke field goal decide it? PICKS - Give the edge to Franklin, both say.

Farmington is out to prove that the Western Lakes is a little stronger. Ken Goss, North's big tailback, has an opportunity to rewrite the record books. PICKS - We have a hunch that it's North by a bunch.

CLARENCEVILLE at INKSTER CHERRY HILL (1:30 p.m. Saturday). Even though McCosky has some i side information on the 3-5 Spartans (he graduated from Cherry Hill), Emons sticks with his hometowy team, one that is better than its 4-4 record indicates. PICKS - Clarenceville beats the Spartans and the 500 mark - it's unanimous.

BISHOP BORGESS at U-D HIGH (3 p.m. Saturday). The Spartans are looking to rebound after two disappointing losses.

No Borgess team has ever won seven games. That should be incentive enough to beat the 2-6 Cubs. PICKS -Two for Borgess.

ST. AGATHA at MARINE CITY HOLY CROSS (2 p.m. Saturday). The Aggies certainly have deserved better after playing all the C Bracket cor tenders tough this season. Will the reward finally come at the expense of Holy Cross? PICKS - Agatha is just ly reward (two votes).

CATHOLIC CENTRAL vs. ROYAL OAK SHRINE (7:30 p.m. Saturday at Royal Oak Kimball). The Shamrocks (4-4) were beset by injuries and the state's toughest schedule. CC lost another overtime game Saturday Warren DeLaSalle, but shouldn't have any trouble against Shrine of the Double-A circuit. PICKS - CC goes out a winner.

Miss Lillian: A travel memory is the best gift of all

It all starts with a 'how y'all'

The news of Miss Lillian's death sent me searching through my old travel notebooks for notes about the day we met in Plains, Georgia. Memories are often the most reasured gift you bring home from a travel experience, but they are seldom the memories you expected to collect when you planned the trip. The tour bus had taken us to all the places associated with the Carter family: Billy's gas station, the old family farm, the railway station where Jimmy Carter an-nounced his candidacy. Then we followed a red clay road to the out-of-town location of Miss Lillian's house, a small contemporary house set in thick trees beside a lake.

The tour bus doesn't usually go into the property, but we were being given special priveleges. We could drive through the gate to the door of the house; Miss Lillian would come and say hello; under no circumstances were we to get out of the tour van. Miss Lillian came out with Sybil Carter and the youngest Billy baby. Miss Lillian approached the van door looking exactly like a television replica of herself and said cheerfully: "How y'all."

IN MY fantasies, I can be glib with famous people, but at that moment I was as tongue-tied as the rest of the group. All I could think about was a recent television interview in which Miss Lillian had talked about her chicken coop. "How are your chickens, Miss Lillian," I said lamely. 'The rooster's out in the woods crowing and the hens are following him," she said. 'They like the wild food better than what I feed them Our cameras were clicking, on the assumption that we would have only two minutes to talk to her through the van door, so we were not prepared to hear her say, "Would y'all like to come in and see my

The tour operator gaped. Miss Lillian liked privacy. That's why she moved out of town; she couldn't get out of her house to get her daily exercise because of the crowds. Nobody gets asked into her house, the tour guide said in a whisper. We followed her eagerly inside. The teleision was on in the corner. A clutter of comfortable furniture looked through the plate glass window to the pond. To one side was a tiny kitchen and a small dining 'L' with a formica table.

Above was a loft that could sleep five guests. Miss Lillian lived there alone at that time, with only a man coming in during the day to help. She was 80 years old.

ON A SHELF was a memento from Miss Lillian's time in the Peace Corp in India, and in the corner a thriving six-foot-high

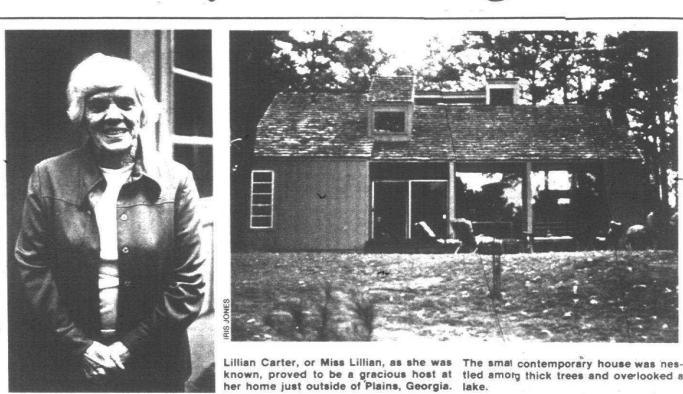

"Did y'all ever have anybody give you something at the airport that was too big to carry aboard?" she said. "The wife of the president of the Phillipines gave me this tree, and I couldn't give it away because she was watching me while I boarded the plane. I can't imagine how that airline got t home to Georgia, but it did.

"I go fishing sometimes on the lake out there. Somebody sent me a box of worms which I put in the refrigerator. I didn't catch any fish with them, but the next day they were all over the refrigerator and all over the kitchen!'

Everything she said was quotable. Sud-denly Miss Lillian turned to me. "Did you hear I made an ass of myself on televi-' she said. I shook my head 'no.'

"Well now, I was on a talk show, and my slip showed. I sat down like this and it showed even more. There I was, surrounded by men, trying to tuck my slip up so I wouldn't shame the family, but we couldn't us something to auction at college?' so] signed that darn slip and give it to them."

WE WERE mesmerized. We left the house to wander the yard. I restrained myself from taking a picture of four of Miss Lillian's undergarments drying on the clothes line. As we climbed back into the van, our tour guide came out of the house laughing. Miss Lillian's voice followed her: Don't you leave any of them behind now.'

It was a simple little experience, really, hardly what you think about when you peruse travel brochures for the ultimate travel experience. But travel is like that, When you've taken the last blurry picture of the Taj Mahal, the Eiffel Tower, or Billy Carter's gas station, you are likely to stumble on the most interesting experience of

During these days of peak musical activities, even the most ardent music enthusiast may find himself wishing for a break. But then, it is far better to have too many musical events rather than too few

Last Sunday has culminated a week in which this writer attended no fewer than six musical events. The last of these was the second program this year of the 44th series offered by the Center Symphony Orchestra at the Jewish community Center in West Bloomfield. The Center Symphony Orchestra consists of volunteers from other small orchestras, some of whom are semiprofessional and amateurs. Their spirit and enthusiasm are very high, but not always matched by high technical pol-

It would be quite unrealistic to expect this group to sound like Imusici, or some other internationally acclaimed group. But one wonders if some more modest objective couldn't be accomplished, like playing in reasonable tune, through more frequent and vigorous re-hearsals. The let-down is especially heightened after listening to a performance of Beethoven's Ninth with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra as well as the English Chamber Orchestra during the same week

There were several factors on the plus side, however, that made this event attractive and enjoyable, the aforementioned flaws notwithstanding One of these positive factor was the program itself, consisting of works by Vivaldi, Chajes, Cimarosa and Mozart. Julius Chaies is the director and conductor of the series, who also is a gifted pianist and composer

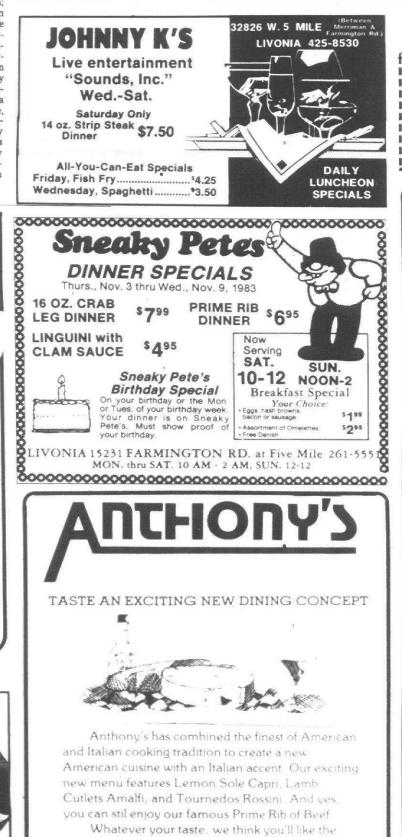

THE SECOND positive factor was the soloists consisting of Linda Snedden-Smith, violin; Hart Hollman, viola; and Donald Baker, oboe. All of them are extremely capable members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, who participate in many chamber events. Linda Snedden-Smith provided a very articulate performance of the Concerto i A minor for Violin and Orchestra by Vivaldi. This was followed by a remarkable piece by Chajes, a Fantasia for unaccompanied viola. This piece written in classical style with some baroque overtones, is aesthetically very pleasing. Its technical difficulties match some of Paganini's notoriously tough passages (with no stylistic resemblance, however). Hart Hollman oulled it off with only some minimal ough edges. Domenico Comarosa is known primarily for one composition - his oboe concerto. On this occasion, the status of this composer has been enhanced due o the fine performance of oboist Donald Baker of this composition.

The official program ended with an impressive performance by the soloists who performed the Sinfonia Concertante K. 364 by Mozart, Following that magnificient composition, Snedder Smith and Hollman proceeded to dazzle the audience with an arrangement of Handel's Passacaglia for violin and cello, with the viola substituting for the cello on this occasion

"A Streetcar "Named Desire" (1951), 2 Friday night on Ch. 2. Originally 122 minutes.

Vivien Leigh and Marlon Brando are incredible together in Tennessee Williams' "Streetcar Named Desire." She stars as Blanche DuBois, a faded southern belle, and he as the coarse, sensual Stan ey, husband of Blanche's sister, Stella (Kim Hunter). Karl Malden also stars as Blanche's gullible beau. But "Streetcar" belongs to Leigh and Brando, who are so good together that, despite fine supporting performances, you long for them to interact more often than they do. It's this chemistry, for instance, that makes the scene in which Stanley "clears" the kitchen table work so well. Were Leigh left out, it wouldn't have half the impact.

Rating: $3.80.

"Cool Hand Luke" (1967), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch.

50. Originally 126 minutes. 'What we have here is a failure of communication," says Strother Martin as the warden in "Cool Hand Luke." But star Paul Newman beautifully communicates the role of a defiant loser who struggles to maintain his pride. A superb supporting cast includes George Kennedy, J.D. Cannon, Anthony Zerbe, Ralph Waite, Wayne Rogers, Harry Dean

Area reps split on delay of federal pay hike

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Oct.20-26. HOUSEc

FEDERAL PAY — The House voted, 245 for and 176 against, to delay for three months a 4 percent pay hike for federal workers that had been set for Oct. 1. This affected some 2.8 million civil servants. It did not affect military salaries.

The amendment was attached to a budget-cutting measure that also delayed next year's cost-of-living hike in civilian and military pensions. The pension hike would be postponed from June to December. The bill (HR 4154) was sent to the Senate.

Supporter James Jones, D-Okla., noted the delay would save $1.8 billion. He said "federal employes, like most everyone else ... have to sacrifice if we are going to get these deficits down to size." Opponent Michael Barnes, D-Md.,

said, "Here we go once again, attempting basically to humiliate federal workers..."

Members voting yes wanted to delay the 1983 pay hike for civil servants until Jan. 1, 1984. Voting yes: Carl Parcell, P. Plym.

Voting yes: Carl Parsell, R-Plymouth, Sander Levin, D-Southfield, and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham. Voting no: Dennis Hertel, D-Detroit and William Ford, D-Taylor.

OREGON — By a vote of 297 for and 125 against, the House overrode President Reagan's veto of a bill giving six families in Oregon federal land that a surveyor's error had led them to believe they already owned.

The families acquired nine parcels covering about three acres from a private developer in 1941. But it was later found to be federal property. The families have paid full taxes on the land, and this year Congress passed a bill (HR 1062) conveying it to them.

roll call report

The president's veto message called the bill a bad precedent. The Senate also overrode the veto, and the bill now is law.

Supporter Morris Udall, D-Ariz., criticized the administration for taking "such a petty attitude toward the plight of these six families." Opponent Manuel Lujan, R-N.M., said congressional sympathizers should dig into their own pockets to help the families and "not depend on the taxpayers to bail out your generosity." Members voting yes wanted to override the veto. Voting yes: Hertel, Ford and Levin.

Voting no: Pursell and Broomfield. AIRCRAFT — The House adopted, 219 for and 193 against, an amendment to spend an additional $87 million on advanced radar and various aircraft. The money was added to the $247 billion fiscal 1984 defense appropriations bill (HR 4185), which awaited a final vote.

The amendment will speed procurement of the AH-64 Apache attack helicopter, UH-60 Blackhawk transport helicopter and C-12 twin-engine utility plane. It also provides extra money for a new airborne radar system known as JSTAR (Joint Surveillance and Target Attack Radar).

While the vote reflects traditional differences over Pentagon spending, it also involved a turf battle. The Defense Appropriations Subcommittee opposed the extra $87 million, while many members of the Armed Services Committee favored it.

Members voting yes wanted to spend more for the aircraft and radar system.

Voting no were all local members: Pursell, Hertel, Ford, Levin and Broomfield. SENATEC

CLINCH RIVER - By a vote of 56 for and 40 against, the Senate cut off money for the Clinch River breeder reactor. This apparently ended an 11-year government effort to build a power plant that breeds more nuclear fuel than it consumes.

Its supporters said the Tennessee facility would help assure the nation's energy independence. Foes called the $4.5 billion project a waste of money and said its technology would hasten the spread of nuclear weapons.

This vote killed a Clinch River survival plan consisting of a $1.5 billion appropriation and Treasury guarantees needed to attract private financing. The overall bill (HR 3959) was headed for final passage and conference with the House.

Senators voting no wanted to continue construction of the Clinch River nuclear reactor.

Michican's Carl Levin, D, voted yes. Donald Riegle, D, did not vote.

From trunks to 'Art and Design in Action'

Priscilla Hauser (top), at work on one of her favorite subjects, a rocking horse, traces her intereset in decorative painting to a camelback trunk that she discovered in a childhood friend's bedroom set. Below: Many examples of decorative painting, on display through Sunday at a consumer art convention in Dearborn, blend together in these handsome furnishings.

Priscilla Hauser's admiration for an old camelback trunk, included with a set of bedroom furniture covered with hand-painted roses that was given to a friend, has led her to national fame and to making a presentation to Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands.

Her fascination with the trunk began at the age of 12 in Oklahoma. Now Hauser has become a leading authority in decorative painting and has authored more than 40 books on the subject. In 1972 she founded the National Society of Tole and Decorative Painters, to which more than 23,000 members now belong.

Now through Nov. 6, Hauser will attend the nation's largest consumer art convention, "Art and Design in Action," at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn. The show, open to the public, is sponsored by the National Art and Material Trade Association.

Hauser will conduct a seminar at Roma Hall in Livonia, 27777 School-craft, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. The seminar is for everyone from the novice to the professional artist. Its participants will complete two projects at the end of the day. The fee is $30 plus the cost of two surfaces. Participants should bring a sack lunch and be dressed to paint. For reservations, contact Kimberly Hauser at 525-1990.

DECORATIVE painting can be easy to learn, Priscilla Hauser believes. Her students have included the elderly, handicapped and blind.

"Painting is no different from cooking, sewing or playing a musical instru-ment," she said. "My step-by-step methods or 'recipes' can make anyone an expert in decorative painting.

"You don't need to have talent," Hauser continued. "There are actually fewer brush strokes than there are letters in the alphabet. And they're much easier for you to learn than it was for you to learn how to write and sign your name."

Hauser was so beguiled by her friend's bedroom set, especially the trunk, that her parents gave her an unfinished, antique trunk of her own. She began gathering as much information on decorative painting as she could, so she could paint the trunk herself, but couldn't find anyone to teach her.

It wasn't until after her marriage that Hauser found decorative painting classes at the YWCA. She began teaching her neighbors. Soon she started her own teaching and warehouse businesses on the subject, and her reputation grew HAUSER'S SERIES, "The Magic of Decorative Painting," was shown in Detroit on public television's Channel 56. Her second series, "The Magic of Decorative Painting II," is scheduled to be shown on Channel 56 in January. Hauser has appeared on talk shows around the country, including Sonya Friedman's and Richard Simmons' programs. And her fame has spread beyond the United States.

Recently, Hauser was one of 12 artists chosen from 12 different countries to participate in the making of a calendar for the Worldwide Wildlife Federation. Hauser, selected to represent the United States, presented her work to the federation's president, Prince Bernhard, in Amsterdam.

"I believe it is an artist's responsibility to share art and communicate it to others, to reach out and let people know that painting is easy and fun, and to teach others just how much respect and self-confidence you gain in having these skills," Hauser said.

"When we are painting and enjoying, we don't think about our troubles. As artists, we're taking the time to study the beauty of the objects we are paint-ing. And this awareness brings happiness that will last a lifetime," she said. "And think of how good it will feel to give loved ones something you actually made yourself, or tell people you made it when they compliment one of your pieces.

DECORATIVE painting dates back to the 17th century. It started in the Orient and spread to France, where the word "tole" was derived from the French word meaning "tin" or "metal." (Painting on metal is called "tole" while painting on other surfaces is called "decorative").

The art form swept through England and Wales, and across the Atlantic Ocean to New England, where early American settlers decorated tinware and beams in houses and churches with this type of painting.

In her television series, Hauser shows how to paint such designs as daisies, lemons, lilacs, strawberries and roses with both oils and acrylics on a variety of surfaces, including wood, canvas, furniture, fabric and glass. Viewers learn how to create new decorative accessories for their homes as well as to rejuvenate old pieces. A decorative project is made in each of the 13 30-minute programs. An instructional book was specially designed to ac company the series.

"Each time you paint something, you will improve," Hauser said. "Every-thing you learn in life is like that. I simwant to emphasize that it doesn't take any talent at all to paint. It's not something you must learn in childhood or something you must be born with. You really can learn to paint if you want to. If I did it, I know anybody

Dwindling daylight gives rise to stars in November sky

Variety increases interest. Interest spurns creativity and creativity is nutured, in turn, by variety.

The word variety means "an assortment of" or "different kinds."

Does your assortment of media consist of hard pencil, medium pencil and soft pencil? If so, than you run the risk of losing interest in art, because your creativity has only one medium for expression

Or Maybe you are thinking, "I do pen and ink, and ink and pen, and pen and ... " If you lose interest in your art, it just might be boredom. Without interest. I can assure you your supplies soon will be stored in the attic next to Grandpa's wood shaft golf clubs

IMAGINE YOU went into a store and, even though this store had a very limited assortment, you still found what you wanted. Again and again, you returned to this store always knowing what was already offered for sale.

Within a short time, your familiarity with the assortment would cause you to lose interest in shopping there.

In your store of media, what type of

have you draw my champion setter

What could you say with a limited variety of media at your disposal? If you asked, "pencil or charcoal pencil?" They might say, "Oh, no, I want to show his beautiful red coat. He's a champion, don't you know?"

So there you are thinking "I wonder if I could use a red pencil?" What a shame to limit your ability and interest to only one or two media.

I HAVE ALWAYS been fascinated with musicians who, during a performance, show their ability to play many different instruments. How nice it is for them to have the ability necessary to use the instrument that best suits the score they are performing.

Much like this musician is the artist who can use whatever media lends itself best to the subject to be rendered. Fulfillment here seems to be the greatest

Since there is so much good in experiencing all new media, what limits us to one or only a few media? Fear of failure

It feels so good to succeed that when you finally do well in one medium, you hate to try another. How strange that success in one medium can limit you only to that medium for fear of failing in another

In our lesson book at the store we have about 40 lesson plans which will, within a year, introduce you to most every media. This allows each student the opportunity to succeed in certain media and, just as important, to fail in some.

When a student does well in a particular media or lesson, they will say, 'Yes, Dave, this my kind of media. How much is a set of these?

When failure looms over their art pad they may look at me and ask, What kind of stupid art lesson is this anyway?

Artifacts

Lessons, however, should force students out of comfortable media with consistent successes into new and strange media with the possibility of failure. So force yourself in new media and I'll bet you'll find yourself feeling like that musician who could play all those instruments.

RIGHT NOW someone long into oils is thinking, "Yes, he is trying to get all those weekend artists to try painting (like me)

Well, the truth of the matter is, whatever you are into, change, try another media. You might be suprise to find you do just as well and maybe even better.

I am so glad to be able to use any medium and not shy away from any for fear of failing. This week I was a little ill and didn't feel like doing the commercial work on my schedule. So I drew with pastels

As multicolored clouds of dust rose from my velore, my stuffy nose cleared. As my hands transferred colored fingerprints all over my jeans, shirt and face, my headache went awav

So now I am all charged up over pastel, but next week I think I may do an oil, then perhaps a pen and ink and see how variety increases interest?

IF YOU THINK you have done it all then here is something you might try:

ink and gouache on treated acetate. For this lesson it is best to use a No 00 technical pen. Gouache is a fancy term for opaque watercolors. Treated acetate is clear plastic with a gel coating to make it receive wet media

First do a detailed drawing in pencil on white paper. When finished with the with your technical pen.

So far it is very simple. Now comes the hard part, which is adding in the color

First you must consider if your picture will look alright when it is reversed. Many times drawings do not look well when reversed. Decide which way you want it face, then paint on the opposite side. This way the shiney acetate will make the colors look rich and opaque.

The gouache colors have no affect on the pen and ink outlines. When painting, it is very important to think in reverse. In other words, what you paint first is what shows on the other side as first.

For example, a white highlight should be painted first, then a light base color, then the dark shaded colors No matter how dark you paint the shaded colors, it will have no effect on the highlight because it was painted first

So if you succeeded, you should have a pen and ink drawing with rich colors seemingly behind the pen and ink outlines. If you are not sure you succeeded because of a small mistake simply wash away the area with a moistened Q tip or a cotton ball. After this area is dry, try it again. The effects are endless

Your paint should be thinned a little with water as it usually is quite thick from the tube. Many of my students have, with great success, thinned their gouache to a wash or transparency This allows you the ability to change the overall color of your painting by laying the acetate over varied colors of mat board

What do you think? Did I challenge you? I hope so.

minutes

The next day, Oct. 30, these times were 7:02 a.m. and 5:29 p.m., respectively, but now, with Standard Time. and the length of the day was 10 hours 27 minutes. Obviously, the length of the day didn't change (the two minutes difference is due to the approach of winter), but the times did change because we set our clocks back.

We did not alter the orbit or rotation of the earth or the position of the sun we just alterd the device by which we measure time: the clock

By the end of November, sunrise is at 7.40 a.m. and sunset at 5.01 p.m. There are only nine hours and 21 minutes of sunshine

THE ONLY planets easily visible this month are Venus and Mars Both are morning objects, rising before the Venus is the brighter of the two. Red Mars was seen directly above Ve nus on Tuesday morning. Watch as the distance between the two increase during the month. Also in the morning sky on the first is the waning crescent moon to the north (left) of the planets.

The S. Taurid meteor shower reached its maximum Wednesday night. This is not one of the year's best displays; there are only about 15 meteors visible each hour. The shower is named for the constellation of Taurus, from which the meteors appear to radiate, which rises in the east around 8 p.m.

This morning the thin crescent moon was to the north (left) of the star Spica in Virgo They will be very low in the east-southeast.

Venus reaches its maximum elongation (greatest angle from the sun) on Friday It is 47 degrees west (right) of the sun, standing high in the east-south east at sunrise. Also on this day the moon is new. It is betwen the earth and sun and is not visible.

meteor shower produces only 15 meteors per hour. The Leonids are famous because, in 1833, a spectacular display of 200,000 meteors was seen within just a few hours, but such a display is not expected in 1983. Leo rises in the east around 1 a.m.

The moon is a beautiful star cluster known as the Pleiades, the shoulder of Taurus the bull. Below the moon is the orange-red star Aldebaran, the eve of Taurus.

Mercury is in conjunction with (near) Jupiter on the evening of the 25th. The planets appear about three degrees form each other but are too close to the sun to be seen. Astronomers understand the motions of the planets well enough to calculate where they are located even if they are not visible. The next conjunction (grouping) between the two planets will not occur until Jan. 31, 1985

LAST QUARTER moon is on Nov. 27

Venus is in conjunction with Spica, in Virgo, on the morning of the 29th. The objects will be 22 degrees above the east-southeast horizon as morning twilight begins; brilliant Venus outshines Spica.

Also on the morning of the 29th, Mars is four degrees south of (below) the waning crescent moon.

On Nov 30 the moon has moved above Venus at sunrise.

Although there are no planets easily visible in the evening sky this month there are many other interesting of jects to view through a telescope. The telescope at Cranbrook Institute of Science is open to the public every Saturday night from 8:30-10 p.m. For more information, call 645-3200
