THE CANTON GOODFELLOWS drive, financed through newspaper sales, raised $2,100. The money will be used to help 62 needy families with gifts, clothing and groceries. Residents or merchants who want to make a donation may still do so by calling 397-3000 extension 320, said Canton Police Cpl. Robert van Lith who is handling the project for the township

"It's never too late to make a nation, because the money raised this year will be used next year," van Lith said.

Referrals for gift baskets are still being accepted, he added. To avoid duplication, all referrals are being handled by the Salvation Army branch in Plymouth. Call 453-5464 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

JULIA ANN McCOMAS of Canton recently advanced to final competition in the 1984 Ms. Detroit Auto Show contest. Selected in January, the winner will receive $500 savings bond and will reign over the 68th annual Auto Show Jan. 14-22 at Cobo Hall.

It seems 1984 will be a year for equal rights, at least as far as car show contests are concerned. "Mr. Autorama," who'll be judge on personality, physique and appearance, will preside over Autorama, a custom car show Jan. 6-8 at Cobo Hall.

TIS THE SEASON to be jolly, but Ford Hospital realizes not everyone is. To help people avoid the holiday blues, Board imbroglio erupts again ments, the township board discussed the issue last week without reaching a decision. The question will be back on Tuesday's agenda. In fall 1982, reports surfaced of grievances and dissension among employees in the treasurer's department. Several workers quit or complained that inconsistent or heavy-handed management by Treasurer Maria Sterlini made them physically ill.

It was proposed then that a study be done of the treasurer's department, but the plan was shelved because some trustees doubted whether Sterlini would abide by their recommendations. Sterlini recently requested that Personnel Director Dan Durack review staffing needs in her department. "Although such a study will cost in excess of $6,000, I believe that the money would be well spent," Durack said in a letter to the township board. 'In my opinion, the current uncertainty over the scope of duties and responsibilities is rapidly making working conditions intolerable and is having a serious effect on the efficiency of the township operations.

Last year, the auditing firm of Plante and Moran quoted a fee of $6,000 to do an efficiency study of the treasurer's department. The firm currently audits Canton's books.

'They have knowledge of our operation," Durack said.""It does make sense for them to do it."

However, it would have to be determined if the township would seek bids for the study, since last year's quota-tion was based on only one department. Additional studies may focus on other departments, including the police and fire departments.

LAST WEEK'S discussion was characterized by strained relations among board members.

Supervisor James Poole and Clerk John Flodin said they don't object to a study, and would abide by its recommendations. Poole said it would clear the air

"The duties and responsibilities are defined," Padget said. "We're looking for methods of executing those duties." "I never had any trouble until she (Sterlini) got here." said Clerk Flodin. 'I think we need an impartial person." Please turn to Page 5

Traffic congestion at Ford and Lilley is likely to continue until Ford is widened, probably in late 1984

The state transportation department recently rejected Canton's request for a delayed-turn traffic light at the busy intersection, saying it would only "aggravate" backups.

Plans call for Ford, a state trunkline, to be widened to five lanes from I-275 freeway west to Canton Center, said Desi Strakovits, a field operations engineer for the transportation department.

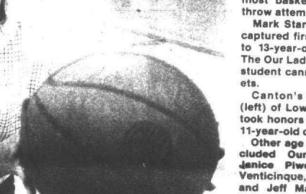

'As far as we are concerned, that will be the biggest improvement for that (Ford-Lilley) intersection, said Strakovits, who is based in Southfield.

Governments may buy in bulk

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

Local governments in western Wayne County may try to cut operating costs by using a strategy consumers and businesses have used for years buying in bulk for a discount.

The Conference of Western Wayne (CWW) is exploring the possibilities of joint purchasing by its 13 member communities.

The organization will be assisted by a $15,000 grant from the Metropolitan Affairs Corporation, according to Terry Carroll, grant coordinator for Canton and Plymouth townships.

"The Metropolitan Affairs Corporation is a group of businessmen who try to assist governments in operations. Carroll said

The grant, he said, will enable CWW "to research the possible implementa-tion of a joint purchasing program."

Township boards in Plymouth and Canton approved the CWW's receipt of the grant at regular meetings held last week

Battle vs. heat loss begins

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

With the coming of cold weather and what could be a long, hard winter, the big problem facing most families is the battle to save the heat energy in the home

Each year the problem remains the same, but in many cases the improved method of insulating the home has not only saved heat but also a lot of money.

Each year the solution to the battle comes closer, but there are precautions to be taken. And most of the answer

Folks turn to sun heat

Len and Virginia Singer are looking forward to basking in warm sun rays when their family room is completed. More than a year ago, the Singers decided their small, ranch-style house on Puritan in Livonia needed more room.

But adding a family room onto the back of their home - a standard expansion - would have meant squeezing uncomfortably close to the garage. They decided to build onto the front.

'I'm hoping to use the room this winter," said Virginia Singer, a commercial mortgage clerk for a savings and loan association. "Our house faces due south

The sun space will add about 500 square feet to the house, at a cost of around $23,000, Singer said. But that cost will be offset substantially by tax credits and other energy-saving incenives for solar adaptations.

Len Singer, a public relations spe-cialist for Michigan Bell Telephone Co., plans to save expenses by doing much of the interior work. With the tax credits. Virginia Singer believes the cost is comparable to adding a conventional family room without solar features.

The Kimballs built their sun space at an estimated cost of $2,700, with no labor expenses involved. Bob Kimball several friends and neighbors did all the work.

"I guess we're finding we like it in the winter for the solar heat," said Diane Kimball.

ALTHOUGH SHE has no specific figures. Kimball estimates a saving of 10-15 percent on home heating bills the first year. Last year, by installing wood-burning stove, "we hardly had our furnace on at all," she added. "It can get up to 80 degrees (in the room) on sunny days."

through pavement markings on Lilley, to widsen Lilley, as well. Battle vs. heat

Another thing he preached was that the attic should have adequate ventilation. He argued that if it didn't there would be a lot of condensation and the walls of energy. One of the modern formulas requires that one square foot of free vent area to every 300 feet of floor area Through the years great progress has been made in the battle to save heat energy in the home. For instance, 20 years ago only one inch of insulation was deemed sufficient on the walls. Today, that has increased to a minimum of 10 inches. In some areas the official equirement is 12 inches. Greater use also is being made of storm windows and storm doors. With the double window, the cold air has a difficult time getting into the living quarters Another modern req has to do with heating and cooling ducts that pass through non-cond tioned areas. They should be insulated But the main methods to fight the battle with the arrival of cold weather is have all windows and doors equipped with weather stripping and that the ceiling of every room be wrapped and covered at least 10 inches of insulation. And for those who love the sight and warmth of a fireplace in the living room, be sure the damper is closed

'To be sure that you are getting the most for your money in heating your home . every door and window should be weather stripped. To be a bit more certain, good use should be made of storm windows. And each window and door should be caulked so that no hot air could escape or cold air find its way into your favorite rooms.

Know what it's like to have parched legs?

Joinion

It seems somewhat strange to me how over the years I've slowly developed from a kid who's only hygiene requirements were a toothbrush and a bar of soap into an adult who has to pack the entire cosmetic aisle of a drugstore just to go away for a week-

As a teen-ager I never bothered with lotions, oils, perfumes, etc. I figured, then, if I took a shower every day and washed my hair twice a week. I was passable. But, one sad, shocking day about three summers ago I happened to look down at my legs. The dry skin on the shins looked like a relief map of the moon. "Aauugh!," I screamed.

I wish to thank everyone who con-ributed to Canton Township's Fifth

My neighbor, Mari, who I was visiting at the time, asked what was wrong. I held up my parched leg and pointed at it with fear in my eyes. "Oh," she calmremarked. "You certainly need to like a baby - and that ain't all bad! put some lotion on your legs." Lotion on my legs. I didn't know people did that! I knew about hands and had even heard stories about faces, but this leg business was news to me. Naturally, as always, things go worse. My natural oils seemed to be though I was leaving a trail of flaking skin behind me as I walked. So I finally bought some "body shampoo." Let me tell you, this stuff is great! Expensive,

Holiday Gifts From Your Kitchen

What do your bachelor brother-in-law, your closest friend and your mailman have in common? More than you may think Check your Christmas list. Chances are. their names are scribbled somewhere on the list with question marks after them. But don't despair. Those folks (and plenty of others) have something else in common, too. They all love good things to eat, especially when they come from you

Homemade gifts from the kitchen feed more than the taste buds. They carry a special nostalgic message of good will. wrapped in the warm and delicious feelings of a childhood Christmas

A culinary treat that's made to satisfy a close friend's or relative's own personal taste can be the most personal of gifts. In fact, a food gift probably gives more joy per penny than any other kind of present.

A gift from the kitchen can nourish the giver as well as the recipient, as it offers up delicious aromas and memories of simpler times. In fact, some families spend a day together making cookies and other treats for their special friends, thus starting a new tradition - or recapturing an old one.

On a practical note, consider that a gift from the kitchen can be turned into a present that's as simple or fancy as you. wish. Let your imagination be your guide.

For example, the fruit cake, perhaps the most traditional of all Christmas desserts, is a nostalgic favorite. This recipe, made with Amaretto liqueur, looks every ounce the classic beauty when baked in a bundt pan. A busy mother's practical alternative: make it into cupcakes for lots of small treats

A cluster of Cinnamon Crisp Cookies on a decorated holiday plate also makes a simple and inexpensive gift. But a batch of Double Chocolate Mint Puffs in an old-fashioned cookie jar would delight a whole family. Likewise, Festive Tuna Paté may be presented in a simple stoneware crock or a hand-painted china gravy boat.

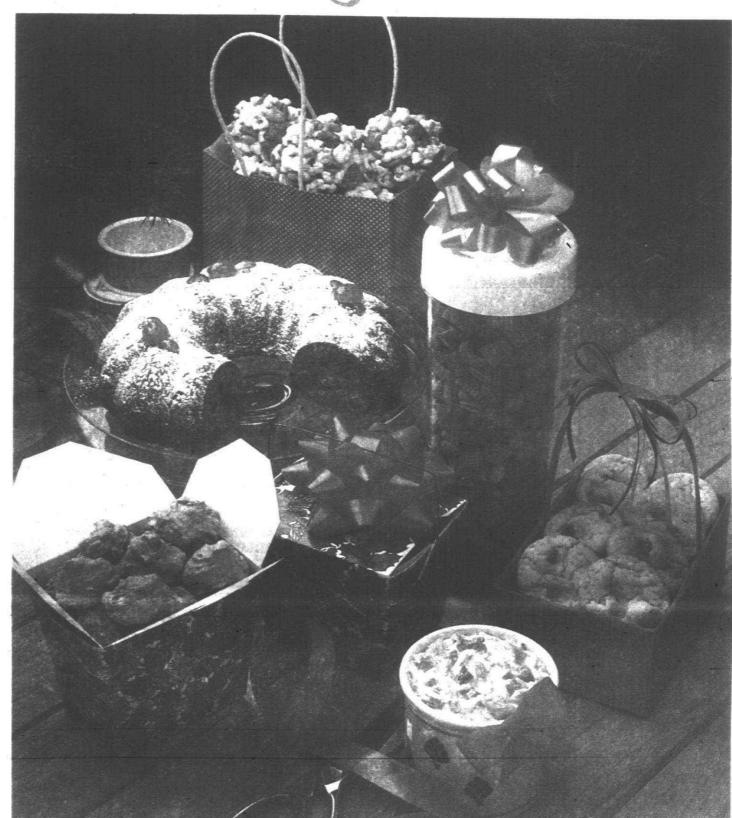

The mother who counts scout leaders, school teachers, music teachers, kids' coaches, babysitters, carpool partners, school secretaries, butchers, snow shovelers, paper boys and helpful neighbors among the important people in her life can remember them all with an array of simple gifts from the kitchen.

Here are some good "gift" recipes made with readily available ingredients and created with nutrition in mind

Caramel Wheat Popcorn Balls have peanuts and wheat cereal in addition to the standard popcorn fare. Bran cereal also adds fiber to good taste in the Cinnamon Crisps, Double Chocolate Mint Puffs and Frosty Cherry Cookies as well as the Easy Almond Fruit Cake and the traditionally popular Chex Party Mix.

The elegant Cucumber Tuna Mousse and Tuna Paté make exotic gifts, especially when given in an unusual dish or container. A suggestion: make the Cucumber Tuna Mousse in a pretty holiday mold, then include the mold as part of the gift.

An exhibition called "The Greek-American Family: Continuity through Change" is being prepared by the Wayne State University's Department of Greek and Latin.

The exhibit is planned to present the history of the Greek-American experience in Detroit. It will feature an oral history component resulting from interviews with 100 Greek-American residents in the area.

WSU is seeking names of Greek Americans who should be interviewed in order to present the complete history, as well as photographs, documents, artifacts. Contact Dr. Ernest Ament, chairman of the WSU Green and Latin department, at 577-3032.

THE EXHIBITION will be at the Detroit Historical Museum for six months starting Sept. 30, 1984. It will be accompanied by a series of public lectures, films and artistic performances. The exhibit is being funded by a $12,000 grant from Michigan Council for the Humanities and through additional contributions from the pub-

It is being prepared in conjunction with the Detroit Historical Museum and the Greek community of metropolitan Detroit.

Greek Americans sought for Wayne State exhibit CONTRIBUTIONS from the public will be matched by another grant from Michigan Coun-cil for the Humanities.

Contributions will qualify for various tax credits and deductions from the State of Michigan and the federal government for gifts to public universities.

Other committee members besides Dr. Ament are: Dr. Janet Langlois, director of WSU Folklore Archive who is collecting the oral histories; Thomais Tsoutsou-Roussos, director of modern Greek studies at WSU; Mrs. Peter Georgeson; and the Rev. Ernest Blougouras, pastor of Annunciation Greek Orthodist Cathedral

Rocks lose but happy memories linger

Brad Emons, Chris McCosky editors/591-2312

Dawn Johnson (11) and Michelle Dawson try to stop Mercy's driving Amy DeMattia last Wednesday. DeMattia's (and Mary Rosowski's) inside strength spelled doom for Salem.

By Chris McCosky staff writer

IME OUT WAS called with 46 seconds left. Salem had stalked, hounded and held scoreless Our Lady of Mercy for the first 7:14 of the final quarter. Still, the Rocks trailed by 10 and Mercy was shooting one-and-one.

As Dawn Johnson walked to her spot along the free throw lane, she glanced up at the scoreboard and grimaced. She noticed a familiar face watching her from the press table and sadly shook her head — a gesture that symbolized the Rocks' frustration.

Across the lane from Johnson was teammate Pam McBride. Frustration. She had scored just one point. She too shook her head. Her teeth and fists were clenched.

It wasn't the way these seniors had hoped to end their basketball careers at Plymouth Salem. They had visions of a state championship, or at least a trip to Kalamazoo.

THE LOSS TO Mercy may have been initially disappointing to the Rocks, but in retrospect, they should have walked out of the Southfield gym with their heads held high.

"I felt we extended the defending state champions about as much as they can be extended," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "I felt real good about that game and about our team."

Mercy coach Larry Baker agreed. "This was the first time in memory that I've seen us this pooped out at the end of a game," he said last Wednesday night.

Salem simply could not effectively challenge Mercy's big people — Mary Rosowski, Amy DeMattia and Terri Ford — inside. Mercy had a 28-9 edge in rebounds.

Mercy's size also inhibited Salem's offense.

"I tried to drive. I tried to go to the basket as much as I could. But they just cut me off everytime," Johnson said afterwards. "If I got around one, somebody else picked me up."

BUT, THE Mercy game is history, And it will be soon forgotten. What will be remembered is Salem's exciting 21-5 season, its mid-season surge and its district and regional championships. What will be remembered is how a small, intelligent and disciplined team — a team without any superstars — developed into one of the eight best teams in the state.

On Oct. 10, Salem was 4-3 in the Western Lakes Athletic Association, 6-3 overall. The Rocks had just lost backto-back games to Livonia Bentley and Walled Lake Central. Something was missing. The team wasn't jelling like Salem teams normally do.

But Thomann wasn't worried. He and Bob Blohm, head coach last year, assistant this year, have a speacial rule about evaluating their teams. They will tell you to judge after 10 games. It is after 10 games that their teams will either jell or dissolve. Rarely has a Salem team dissolved.

Coach Fred Thomann (above instructing his team), and assistant Bob Blohm, brought the Rocks a long, long way this season.

Berberett? Reggie? So no one's perfect

"Mistakes, I've made a few..."

ELCOME TO MY own personal oops sale. Bloopers, however unfortunate and embarrassing they might be, are part of the game. Any game.

Professional place kickers miss extra points. The best hitters in baseball history averaged less than But, no-o-o! The damn thing was a Trojan. For at least one game, Trenton was known as the Spartans. Who knows, maybe the name will catch on.

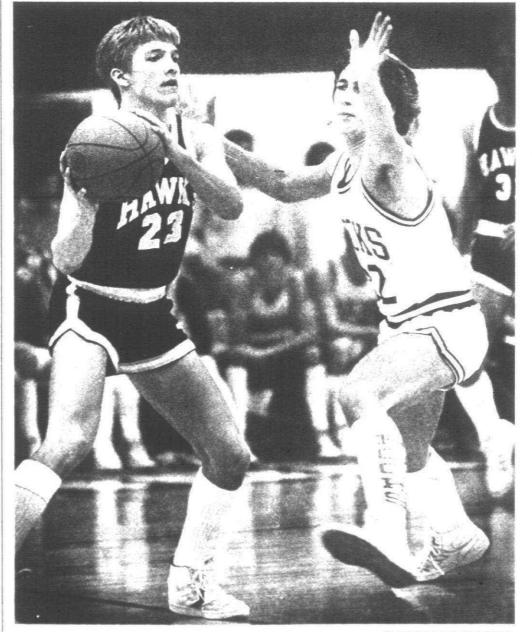

• THE WORST mistakes I've made have been in Farmington. Twice, twice, the wrong story appeared under the right headline. Man those really hurt.

• Names are the trickiest. Is his Bryan Laurie, Lori, Lauri, or what? How do you spell Reggie? R-e-g-g-i-e, right? Not if you're Salem guard Reggi Rojeski you don't. Since I'm not Reggi Rojeski, I spelled her name Reggie all season. But on the other hand, I think I was the only reporter around that consistently spelled Lainna (not Laina) Shaw's name correctly. (So there') • My name has been spelled wrong a couple of times in this paper, thankfully never by me. One time this name appeared on my column: Chris McCloskey. Who? When I first started working here, they thought my name was McCoskey Oops.

Salem shoots up Hawks Canton staves off Central comeback

Regression.

Not what basketball coaches like to see. But it happened to Plymouth Salem Friday night. "We played as good as we could against Southfield (in a win Tuesday)," Thomann said. "But in erthought. "And we still beat them by 30 points." "Them" is Farmington Harrison, and despite a less-than-spectacular performance by the Rocks.

they rolled to a 61-32 triumph at Salem. The game was over almost as soon as it began. Salem jumped out to a 16-2 lead and the rout was on.

Four players reached double figures for the Rocks: Rick Berberet (18), Mike White (12) and Erich Hartnett and Jeff Arnold (11 apiece). The win raised Salem's record to 2-0.

CANTON 59, W.L. CENTRAL 56: Things are looking up at Plymouth Canton.

Without a starter over 6 feet 2, the Chiefs have to look up to nearly every opponent. But that didn't stop them from conquering Walled Lake Central Friday at Central in the Western Lakes Activities Association opener for both clubs. Canton raced to a 19-8 lead after one quarter (Friday's) game, there were a lot of turnovers. bad passes . . . It was almost like an opening night. against South-Sounds like trouble for the Rocks, doesn't it?

Never fear — as Thomann said, almost as an aftfour hits per every 10 at-bats. Pass catchers drop passes, runners slip and fall. Basketball stars throw air balls. Hockey players have missed open nets or scored on their own goalie.

Why, I've even seen Harrison All-American John Miller fumble — once.

Nobody is perfect. Especially not me or the others of my ilk.

Mistakes happen. There are many, many details to attend to, many unfamiliar names to spell correctly, too many coaches to rely upon, too many different sets of statistics to choose from, too many chances for error to expect every edition of the newspaper to be completely oops-free

YET, CRAZY AS it seems, that is our goal. Crazier yet, we come pretty darn close to attaining it.

Unashamedly, therefore, I shall expose the egg-on-my-face mistakes that you may or may not have noticed in your bi-weekly Observer sports section. These will be in no certain order. They will appear as they spill out of my brain into my thick fingers and onto my computer screen Also, I may have forgotten some of my mistakes. Please, don't bother to remind me either by letter or phone call.

• For some reason, I've been on a blooper streak lately. It began with my preview of the Plymouth Salem boys basketball team. I could have sworn coach Fred Thomann spelled his 6-6 center's name B-e-rb-e-r-e-t-t. No sir. It's Rick Berberet Oops.

• Then, I could have swore those insignias I saw on the Trenton girls basketball team's uniforms were Spartans. It was the same insignia I wore for the Cherry Hill Spartans. • Did you notice my faux pas in the Mercy-Murray-Wright story last Monday? At the end I wrote that Mercy will take on (fill in the school) Wednesday in the quarterfinals. The parenthetical remark was a note to myself. I was supposed to plug in the name of the winner of the Salem-Trenton game which was played the night after Mercy's game. Uh. but I forgot.

• One of the most embarrassing goofs I made this year didn't appear in print. I was waiting to talk to Mercy coach Larry Baker after his team beat Murray-Wright. He was down the hall talking to his team. He then asked me what time the Salem game was the next night. Confidently, I told him and his team 7 p.m. Game time was 7.30.

Hey, Mercy, you screwed up you trusted me.

Mistakes, like hemorrhoids, are a part of life. No matter how careful you are, no matter how hard you try to avoid them, they seem to always appear. Perhaps the best thing to do is ignore them, and maybe they will go away.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Salem's Steve Sobditch (right) applies defensive pressure against Harrison's Geof Bissell. Salem won handily, 61-32.

Canton raced to a 19-8 lead after one quarter and clung to that 11-point advantage entering the last. But Central stormed back to go ahead, 56-55, with a minute to go. And the Vikings had the ball But that's when Gary Thomas stepped in.

Thomas tied up Central guard Rob Gardner, forcing a jump ball. Gardner, frustrated with the call, slammed the ball at Thomas and was whistled for a technical foul. Thomas hit the gametying free throw and, with 38 seconds left, was fouled again. The senior guard came through again, canning both to give Canton a 58-56 lead.

Central's shot at tying the game bounced out and Jim Schlicker rebounded. He was fouled and hit one of two free throws to ice the victory with nine seconds left.

"FOR US TO WIN, we have to play as a team." said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner as he noted four Chiefs in double figures in scoring "We have some nice athletes, some very smart athletes." Thomas' 23 points topped Canton. Schlicker had

The plan is for prospective high school athletic coaches to subm the above coupon to Quinn. The coupon will then be placed into a master file to be used whenever an athletic director from a particular school district is in need of a certain oach

For instance, if Troy Athletic D rector Joe Francis needs a girls' swim coach at Troy High School, he'd call Quinn. Quinn would then check his master file for a coach who submitted a coupon with the necessary swimming qualifications. Quinn would then relate the infor mation to Francis, and the Troy athletic director would have an oppor unity to further screen the coach

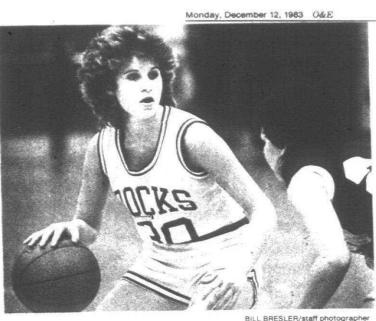

The idea is to have a master list of coaching names readily available to all athletic directors in Wayne and Oakland counties.

"The intent is to put their (pro spective coaches) names in a computer and then we would send them a more detailed application," said Quinn. "It would help all the schools in the two counties

"This gives us a list of potential oaches - sort of a reservoir from which to draw. We would always have a summary of people who had applied

Clint Eastwood is back again as Dirty Harry in "Sudder Impact," a film he also produced and directed.

'Sudden Impact' is criminally bad

Tom Panzenhagen is this week's guest critic.

One walks into "Sudden Impact," Clint Eastwood's fourth film as San Francisco police detective Dirty Harry Callahan, with a good deal of optimisn

The original "Dirty Harry" (1971), in the hands of director Don Siegel, defined the genre of revenge films so popular in the 1970s. The sequel, "Magnum Force" (1973), was a disappointment, but Harry rebounded with a vengeance in "The Enforcer" three years

Eastwood directed "Sudden Impact," and that, too, is cause for optimism. The angular actor, now 53, won fame in the spaghetti westerns of the late-1960s, but the best film of that genre, "High Plains Drifter" (1973), was directed by Eastwood himself. So all the ingredients are at hand: proven talent on both sides of the camera, a time-tested formula and audience-approved subject matter. That's why it's terribly disappointing when "Sudden Im pact" unfolds as a series of unrelated, anticlimactic brutalities.

"SUDDEN IMPACT" is in trouble almost from the outset. A stylish opening - in which Harry interrupts a robbery and, with Magnum aimed squarley at the head of one of the perpetrators. utters the movie season's best catch phrase, "Go ahead, make my day" — is the best thing in the film. But it's downhill from there. The plot concerns a woman who takes revenge on the five men (and their female accomplice) who raped her and her sister 10 years earlier. It's a sure sign of trouble when a "Dirty Harry" film stoops to provide motivation for a villain.

The woman, Jennifer Spencer, is played by Sondra Locke There's no attempt to conceal her identify in order to add suspense to the story. That's because screenwriter Joseph Stinson has something else in mind. He wants to establish parallels between Spencer and Harry Callahan.

Her attackers were never jailed - not because of inadequacies n the judicial system but in law enforcement, as it turns out - so, like Harry in the past, Spencer sets out to dispense her own brand There are two things wrong with this. First, there are few plot devices more labored than having a character kill several other characters one-by-one. The audience knows the killings are coming and that they are justified — at least in the context of the film. So there's nothing to do but endure the brutality until Harry's investigation catches up with what everyone else already knows. The second problem is that Sondra Locke is not actress enough to pull off the parallel personalities twist. When, for instance, early in the film, a judge cites a legal technicality and frees a dirtball, anguish shows in every bulging vein in Harry's face, the squint of his eyes, the resolute firmness of his

When Jennifer flashes back on her attack, when she listens to the whelps of a victum before executing him, Locke's glassen demeanor more resembles a high school student stupified by a teacher's question than a vegeance-crazed killer

SOMEONE APPARENTLY recognized the script's deficiencies, too, because the film falls back on prominent subplots (though applying the term "plot" to these events may be an overstate For different reasons, a cadre of mob hit men and three other punks are out to get Harry in the night. These subplots have no bearing on the main theme, but do provide ample opportunity for gunplay, with Harry inevitably getting in the final burst. Even a sequence in which Harry pursues a bank robber through t a small California town — in a cor loaded with senior citizens - is thrown in. Certainly after three films Harry's character is well-defined, so what might pass for character development in another time and place is simply superfluous here

"Dirty Harry" films at their best pulsate, menace, even amuse "Sudden Impact" drags, fails to menace and its idea of humor is a urinating, flatulent bulldog. That's a shame, because "Sudden Impact" is sure to find an audience, and that may be the biggest miscarriage of justice of all.

Steve Meyers, who earned his culinary arts degree at Schoolcraft College in Livonia, has been named chef de cuisine at the new Burroughs Farms Roadhouse Restaurant near Brighton. He will be assisted by his wife, Sue Steiner, who has-worked in kitchens a Barton Hills Country Club and Spring Lake Country Club. Meyers' experience includes both Barton Hills and Spring Lake, as well as the London Chop House and the Detroit Athletic Club. The Burroughs Farms Roadhouse was renovated at a cost of $500,000 in a 120-year-old, two-story farmhouse or Brighton Road three miles west of Brighton. Its part of a 585-acre recreation and conference center complex being developed. The restaurant menu includes such offerings as Spaghetti Pie, Roadhouse Salad, Pumpkin and Carrot Nut Breads, Taco Salad, Suzy Wong (a ham and cheese fried in egg-Customers are being invited to join in a Christmas Carol Sing from 5-7:30 batter-topped bread), Amaretto Truffle and Mocha Pie.

Constand's, a newly remodeled and renamed restaurant open for lunch and dinner, is one of the Vineyard's Restaurants in Southfield.

Californians are spectacularly protective of, and loving toward, their wineries. Sometimes one of them is popularly adopted for a time as "the" winery. Usually, these wineries are small, their products hard to come by and, because Californians tend to have good palates, their wines superior. Late last winter this began to happen with the Duxoup Wine

Works, a small operation in the northern part of the Russian River in Sonoma County. And it has continued.

Today, any wine store in the northern part of the state that can get Duxoup (pronounced Duck soup) displays it prominently, and hen is quickly sold out. The most dramatic example of this was recently seen at Draper and Esquith, the prestigious European-oriented wine store on Sutter in San Francisco.

There, in its feature display, next to the main desk on the first floor, surrounded by prime Bordeaux and Burgundies, was a large display of Duxoup. All other California wines in the store are shown only upstairs, in the back. D and E can never be called chauvinist. But there was Duxoup. Sales there, too, were brisk.

MANY OTHER stores report none on the shelves. The wine is in very limited availability, even at the Dry Creek Wine Store down the road from the winery and at Groezinger's as well as Ernie's in So it is pleasant to report that Duxoup is now available to us. As in California, there is very little in the first allocation and is avail-able only at the Red Wagon stores here, but it is in Michigan And there'll be more next year.

Duxoup is the product of Bob and Debby Cutter, he the full-time cellar man, technical innovator and marketing agent, she a lab technician at Franciscan Vineyards in Napa and part-time Duxoup product engineer. That's all there is, along with their slick gravity-flow winery in an isolated area on West Dry Creek Road.

They do it all themselves in a facility with under a $2,000 capital outlay and a lot of improvised, mechanically ingenious, homemade

(In this day of astronomical outlays for buildings, filters, crushers and pumps, as well as huge debts to banks at high interest rates, that is a phenomenal figure.) The lab work is done at Franciscan during Debby's lunch hours.

THE CUTTERS have an extra source of help, however, in the complex task of making this winery go. Their five cats patrol the area, stalking game large and small, real and imagined, and respond to Bob's call when he wants them assembled.

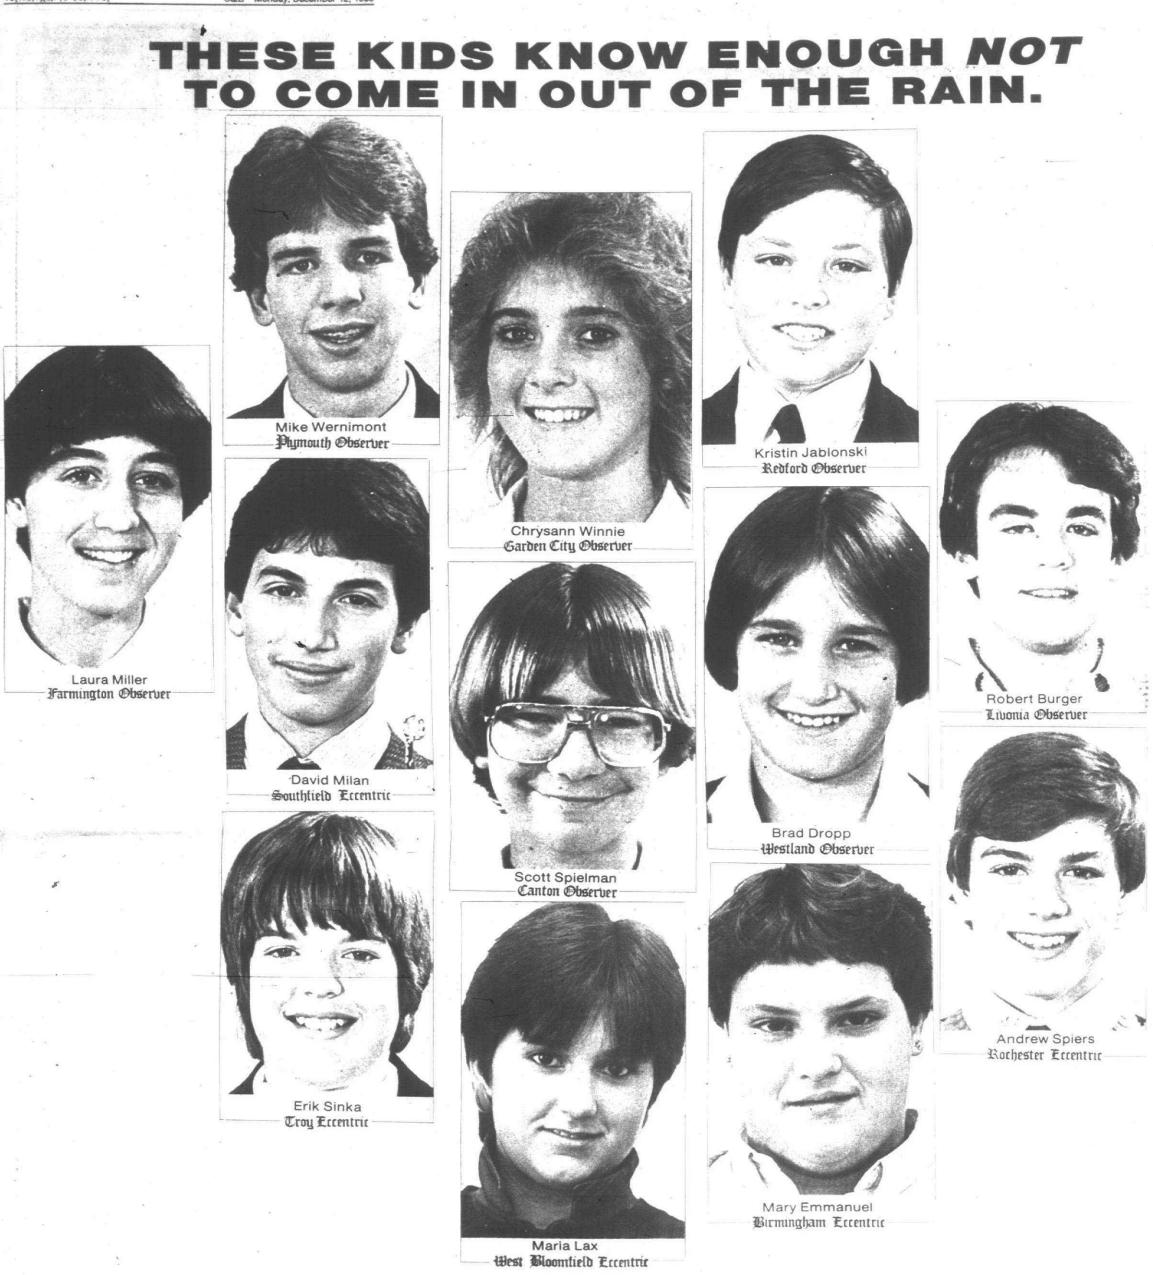

(The morning I was visiting, the traveling veterinarian was due. so I saw his signal work — almost. The veterinarian, by the way, is the wife of the winemaker at nearby Lyeth Vineyard and Winery, a story in itself. Sonoma is a family community.) Initial releases were from the '81 vintage: A zinfandel, a syrah and a gamay. The first of these was a decent if unexceptional release and there was not enough of the syrah to permit much public response. With the gamay it exploded on the wine scene. Rich, complex and earthy, the wine became an overnight sensa-

THAT'S WHY THEY'RE SMILING. THAT'S WHY THEY'RE WINNERS.

Meet our 1983 Observer & Eccentric Carriers of the Year.

We often say that if it's going to rain, it'll do it on "paper day." Or snow. It'll probably do that a lot this year, too.

These young business people don't let a little moisture stop them. They deliver and collect for their newspapers promptly--rain or shine. They keep their route books up to date and organized. They're all former Carriers of the Month.

We're proud of them and proud that they deliver your hometown news. We gave each an engraved trophy and held a dinner in their honor.

They've earned it.

HOW MUCH GOLD IS ENOUGH?

As you may know, gold saits are used in the reatment of rheumatoid arthritis. The gold is iven by injection on a regular basis for a six month period. If this trial of therapy proves successful, then gold injections are continued. But for how long?

If the patient does well with cold therapy and t is stopped, and at a later date, the patient uffers a flare of arthritis, resuming gold does not control the arthritis. For this reason rheumatologists are reluctant to end gold therapy matter how well/the patient feels at the moment. Individuals have remained on gold for ove

40 years. The patient did not mind a lifetime of ommitment to this treatment, if by doing so, a e-appearance of their arthritis was prevented. Gold salt therapy is another example of how n treating arthritis, decisions concerning treat ment require communication and agreemen between patient and physician.
