The Canton Connection

AS THE Sterlini saga turns

Remember the township Merit Commission subpoena ordering Canton Treasurer Maria Sterlini to document her charges that township administrators are guilty of "serious violations of the law"? Records and files substantiating her claim were to have been supplied at a commission meeting Thursday. Only a letter from Sterlini's attorney James N. Canham was received, however. According to Sterlini, it says that while "questions of public service propriety... may concern other investigative agencies... they are not a concern of the Merit Commission. We sincerely hope you will understand (Sterlini's) actions were in fact motivated by the best of intentions."

Because only two of the three commissioners were present, discussion of the letter was postponed until Thursday, Feb. 9, when the Merit Commission reconvenes at 7:30 p.m. at Township Hall. Sterlini called last week's meeting a waste of taxpayers' money.

SIGNS THAT Canton's 150th birthday celebration is under way are becoming evident in several locations. "Carrie Canton," a circa 1834-style porcelain doll designed by Karen Kraus, is on display at the Canton Public Library. At township hall Thursday, the Sesquicentennial Committee finalized plans for several upcoming events.

The Sesquicentennial Ball is set for 6:30 p.m. Saturday, March 10, at the UAW Hall, 48055 Michigan Ave. Cocktails, hors d'oeuvres, a buffet dinner and music by "Moods," a Canton-based band are on tap. Tickets are available by calling 495-0509 or 455-1077. Founder's Day is slated for Wednesday, March 7, at Township Hall. Girl and Boy Scouts will receive sesquicentennial patches, and it's hoped township officials on hand will dress in historical costumes.

Canton's Sesquicentennial Cookbook is on sale at local banks and the Canton Treasurer's Department. On display at Township Hall are congratulatory cards, letters, flags, plates, pamphlets and newspapers sent by many of the 17 other Canton townships and cities throughout the U.S.

IT'S A GOOD thing Drew Adam Anusigian is too young to suffer great disappointments. For a few hours, he was being feted as Canton's Baby of the Year. Drew, born at 8:39 p.m. New Year's Day to Andy and Terri Anusigian, was thought to be Canton's first baby born in 1984 — and thus the recipient of gifts donated by a myriad of merchants. The infant, as it turned out, was runner-up to Kenneth Michael Dane, born to Shirlene and Richard Dane at 8:53 a.m. Jan. 1. Kenneth received gift certificates, a car seat, knit suit and toys. Canton's Baby of the Year program is sponsored by the Canton Chamber of Commerce and the Canton Observer.

REMEMBER the proposed organizational study intended to ease friction over areas of responsibility between the township's supervisor, clerk and treasurer? The township went out for bids. Three firms submitted proposals, at costs ranging from $9,500 to $22,000-$25,000 for the study.

Some trustees said a study would be a waste of money. Others said there was no guarantee the three full-time administrators would abide by recommendations.

All seven board members voted against the study. Now, tentative plans call for the supervisor, clerk and treasurer to meet with counselors from the Michigan Townships Association or from Michigan State University for advice.

Ruling won't cool arson corps

By Arlene Funke

A fire in a Honeytree Apartments unit last month was at first considered to be accidental.

But material samples sent to the state police crime lab indicated an accelerant was used, and investigators are trying to gather enough information so an arrest can be made.

While no one was injured in that Canton blaze, a deliberately set fire at the Old Village Inn in Plymouth one year ago killed an elderly man and gutted the hotel. A 34-year-old former resident now is serving a life prison for murder and arson.

Arson is a difficult crime to prove, say officials in the Plymouth-Canton community. But they are not overly worried about a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling on arson investigations.

The ruling stipulates that search warrants must be obtained when owners refuse officials access to a fire scene to investigate possible arson. Officials in Plymouth, Canton and Northville — members of the Force Five arson task force — already observe search warrant guidelines.

"I don't think it changes things to any great extent, if at all, what we have been telling people all along," said 35th District Court Judge James Garber. "In every case, they have come for a warrant, and that is what they should do. Sometimes the fire is still going on

(when the warrant is issued)."

The search warrant requirement protects an owner's right against unlawful search or seizure as guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution, Garber said.

Michigan law allows a fire marshal to gather samples immediately following a blaze to determine the cause of the fire. However, once the fire department leaves the scene, either a search warrant or the owner's permission must be obtained for further investigation.

"If we are at the fire scene, we have the right to take samples (to determine cause)," said Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulson.

"As long as we investigate while we're there (and) if the fire is in progress. Once we leave the scene we have to get a search warrant (to return)."

An administrative search warrant protects evidence gathered in the investigation to determine the cause of the fire, according to Plymouth Fire Chief Larry Groth.

In Plymouth and Plymouth Township, the policy is to seek an administrative search warrant when an accidental fire (cause) is ruled out, or when the cause cannot be determined immediately.

"We don't release the scene back to the owner until we have the search warrant," said Plymouth Fire Capt. Al Matthews.

Simply asking permission or obtaining a consent form may be sufficient to hold up in court if arson is determined, Groth said.

"We don't take chances," Groth added. "We want to protect the owner, but we also want to protect ourselves."

THE SUPREME COURT decision is based on a 1980 Detroit case, in which a fire occurred in a house while the family was away on a camping trip.

An arson squad investigator arrived six hours after the fire without a search warrant. He found fuel cans, an electric cooking pot and a timing device, according to reports. The residents were charged with arson, but their trial was delayed by an appeal based on a

In the mid-1970s, Jerry Cheske got caught up in a fight against a proposed shopping center at Joy and Sheldon.

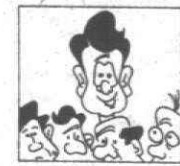

Before he knew it, Cheske found himself running for political office and sitting on Canton's Township Board.

Cheske's ardor cooled in the rigorous demands of political office. These days, he is content to channel his energies into his job as media spokesman for the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Still, the 42-year-old Cheske tries to keep tabs on Canton's current political climate, which he describes as strained.

"I got active for one issue, and became involved for many reasons," recalls Cheske. "Economically and socially I like Canton."

"The one thing about Canton that's still going on — and it's unfortunate — there doesn't seem to be any continuity. There seems to be strained relations on the board. With the type of township we have and the many diverse interests, it isn't a harmonious experience."

CHESKE AND his wife Cheryl were among the thousands of people who moved to Canton in the early 1970s. They settled in the Windsor Park subdivision in 1971.

By 1974, Cheske became concerned about what he considered inconsistent, too-rapid growth of the township. The shopping center proposal fueled his desire to become involved.

Cheske served as trustee 1974-76, after running on a slate with attorney Robert Greenstein, from the farmland area; Robert Myers, a consumer advocate for mobile-home owners; and Carl Parsell, a fellow subdivision resident and powerful figure with the Police Officers Association of Michigan.

"The campaign was tough," Cheske said. "The last thing I expected to do was run for political office."

"I ran as a Democrat," he added. "That was the only way at the time to get elected. I still feel strongly for the

Details may stall vote

A dispute over wording of the proposed agreement between the teachers and the Wayne-Westland Board of Education could delay the ratification votes on the pact scheduled for Monday.

It is unknown whether a delay in ratification would halt plans to return students to a six-hour day, restore programs and bring back 121 of the 132 laid-off teachers on Wednesday as scheduled.

Meanwhile, the board of education rescheduled its vote on the pact to 7 p.m. Monday at the John Glenn High School cafeteria. A study session with a consultant will precede that meeting at 6 p.m. in the administration building.

"We ran into a language dilemma on financial sections of the contract," said Bill Reese, president of the Wayne-Westland Education Association (WWEA), the teachers' union.

"If it's not resolved, we can't offer a tentative agreement for the teachers to act (vote) on, but we think we have it worked out," Reese added.

"We assume there will be a membership meeting Monday to deal with the tentative agreement."

A meeting Friday night between negotiators was expected to resolve the disagreement, but Reese said that negotiators had met in marathon bargaining sessions Wednesday and Thursday without reaching accord.

"THE HANG-UP is over the method of the cost-of-living payment and who gets it," Reese explained, insisting that allowance is still very much part of the contract. "You'll hear a different version from the board than from us."

"To be quite honest, both are correct. It's just a matter of how you look at it." "We got rid of COLA (cost-of-living allowance) in this contract," said Dennis O'Neill, deputy superintendent. "That's important to management because the bottom line is more accurate to predict on what the payout will be."

Wage provisions of the proposed 3½-year contract, according to O'Neill, to tal 15.25 percent. He said that teachers dropped the 6 percent COLA, due July 15, as part of the 1983-84 contract, and agreed to a total freeze.

Instead, for the 1984-85 school year, teachers will receive an increase amounting to 4 percent of their current salary. The payout is due in August. Of that figure, 3 percent will be added to the teacher's 1983-84 salary at the end of the 1984-85 school year to form a base salary for the second year (1985-86) of the contract. The remaining 1 percent is a "one-time payout," O'Neill said.

THAT NEW base salary will be used to calculate a 4 percent salary increase, effective the first of the 1985-86 school year. O'Neill said that raise is not to be paid up front, but will be spread throughout the year.

During the third (1986-87) year of the contract, teachers will receive a 4 percent increase during the first semester, a 2 percent increase during the second semester and a longevity payout amounting to 1.25 percent.

The longevity pay is a new concept, O'Neill said. Teachers having worked 16-19 years receive $500. Those having worked 20-24 years will receive $1,000 and other who have worked 25 years or more will receive $1,500.

He added that the longevity is a payout not added as part of the base salary.

O'Neill added that the WWEA also agreed to a two-day layoff on June 14 and 15 for the entire union. He said that the board would go back to other unions to seek the same concession.

During the last year of the contract, class size will be reduced by one, and, in an attempt to reduce sick days taken, teachers will receive a payout on the following schedule: Those who take none or only one day will receive $300, those who take two or three days will receive $150. Teachers are allowed one sick day a month.

100 years young

Thursday meant more to Josephine Skaluzak than groundhog hi-jinks and Chinese New Year parades. A native of Poland, Skaluzak celebrated her 100th birthday at Canton's Whispering Willow Manor with 36 fellow residents. The slight, five-foot-tall woman still enjoys good health — but blowing out the candle on her birthday cake was more than she could handle. Manor owner Michka Kahn presented Skaluzak with a sewing basket at her party. "For 100 years old, she's remarkably nimble and agile," said her nurse Marcia Jaszcz. "She did a great deal of hand sewing — aprons, dresses and skirts, all by hand. We're hoping she'll get back into it."

Firefighters eye regional system

By Marie Chestney
staff writer

Livonia's 84 firefighters have scolded the word volunteer and are challenging the city with another plan — a regional fire fighting system that would include Redford Township, Westland, Farmington Hills, Plymouth Township and the city of Plymouth.

Refusing to believe the city has a money problem, the Livonia firefighters union last week axed the city's plan to use volunteer firefighters in the city. The union unanimously refused to reopen their current contract with the city so that talks could begin on phasing in volunteers. The contract expires Nov. 31.

BUT RATHER than just trounce the plan with a resounding no, the firefighters picked up one of Livonia Public Safety Commissioner Robert Turner's alternatives to a volunteer system and tossed it back to him.

To save money for nearby cities as well as for Livonia, the firefighters have proposed combining the five fire departments into one umbrella fire department. Livonia would be in charge of the whole system.

"They gave us a plan (using volunteers) that would have cut services," said union president Frances Howell. "We have given them a plan which will work if they can surmount politics. It is a better plan."

"If they can't politically get together and do something about fire and EMS service in these communities, then they don't have the citizen in mind at all. Its up to (Mayor Edward H.) McNamara to sell the plan to the other mayors."

TURNER raised the idea of some form of regional fire fighting system in January when he outlined the plan to phase in volunteers. At that time, Turner told the firefighters some changes would be forced on them if they didn't agree to reopen their contract.

"One of the things we see is some change of parochial, political lines," Turner said. "We might have to stretch into other areas. We may be forced to do this."

"We might be closer to a fire in Westland or Farmington Hills. We might see these boundary lines stretched. Citizens may want their own fire department, but when their house is on fire, they don't look at what is printed on the side of the fire truck."

THE CITY'S firefighters' tied those words together with Turner's assertion that nearby cities were fundering financially and came up with their plan to regionalize.

At the time he outlined the volunteer plan, Turner also said some nearby cities, such as Westland, Redford and Dearborn Heights, were facing "financial chaos." "If they are not financially busted, they are on the brink of it," Turner said.

Merging fire departments under one umbrella system would solve some of these financial ills, Howell said. The system would be patterned after the Los Angeles County system, which covers 50 square miles.

"THERE'S no reason why we can't do it here," Howell said. "Turner said Livonia's (financial) plight is shared by other nearby communities, that there are impending financial disasters in surrounding towns. We do have a concern for the firefighters and EMS protection in those communities."

"If Turner is correct, we propose providing EMS and fire protection by contract to all our surrounding cities who he claims are faltering."

"We can cut our budget by charging a fee for fire services to them. If they are going to be without jobs in a few years anyway, why not work for us?"

"IF IT'S not workable, its downfall will be that it cannot be politically implemented. It's not our fault, but the cities' fault."

Howell said it made sense for Livonia to head the centralized system because:

- Livonia has a modern computer system, with dispatching for police, fire, DPW and medical emergencies.
- Livonia has superior training facilities at Station No. 6, which is already used by nearby departments.
- Station No. 6 could also be expanded for centralized apparatus repairs and parts storage.

A REGIONALIZED system would eliminate duplicate police chiefs, secretaries, fire commissioners and other management personnel, along with the cars, offices and other fringe benefits these personnel now get, Howell said.

"All the money saved by not having to pay these salaries would pay for extra fire fighters and EMS service personnel," Howell said. "We can buy more equipment, hire extra personnel. We can increase services and still have money left over."

TURNER, in his presentation to firefighters, ticked off numerous reasons, all financial, why the city needed to switch to a partly volunteer fire department. The city faces a projected 13-percent decrease in assessed valuation in 1984-85, he said. Property taxes are based on assessed valuation, so if assessed valuation decreases, the amount of taxes collected decreases.

The fire department's budget has kept going up each year, while the number of firefighters declined, he said.

Center is programmed to offer computer help

By Mary Klemic

If you think Pascal is a back-up goal for the Red Wings, and are thrown into a dither over bits and bytes, don't despair. Help is at hand for you and others like you who are confused and/or concerned about computers.

The Willard-Tomei Learning Center at 31776 Cowan, north of Warren Road between Venoy and Merriman in Westland, gives you a chance to get some practice with computers. And there are staffers to answer questions and show video tapes on the subject. They even can explain that Pascal is a programming language for computers; that a "bit" is a binary digit (0 or 1); the way a computer stores memory; and, that a

"byte" is a collection of 32 bits.

"We can teach anybody that can read," said Garden City resident George Willard, who founded the learning center in partnership with local businessman Angelo Tomei.

THE LEARNING CENTER is designed for individuals as well as small business owners and supervisors. Store owners undecided about a computer may take their work into the center to see how one could be used in their business.

Opened last month, the center already has drawn a variety of clients, including CPAs, lawyers, high school students, the young and the old.

"One person is 72 years old," Willard said. "When he came in, he said 'I don't want to even fool with computers.' Now he's just wild about it. A 9-year-old student is my granddaughter. She's a crackjack at it."

Willard compares the center to a racquetball court. People phone to reserve a computer terminal in a private booth for use, the way they would reserve a court for play. They determine the days and times they want to come.

THERE IS A tentative $10 fee for each hour, except the first hour. Clients may quit after this first hour, which is offered at a reduced rate.

"The usual format for other (computer) classes is, you go and sign up and pay up front, and then on the night of the first class you find you can't make it," Willard said. "In our case, you don't have to do that."

"It's low pressure, low-key," said Mike Lynn, one of the "assistants" at the center. "We're not a sales staff hovering over you."

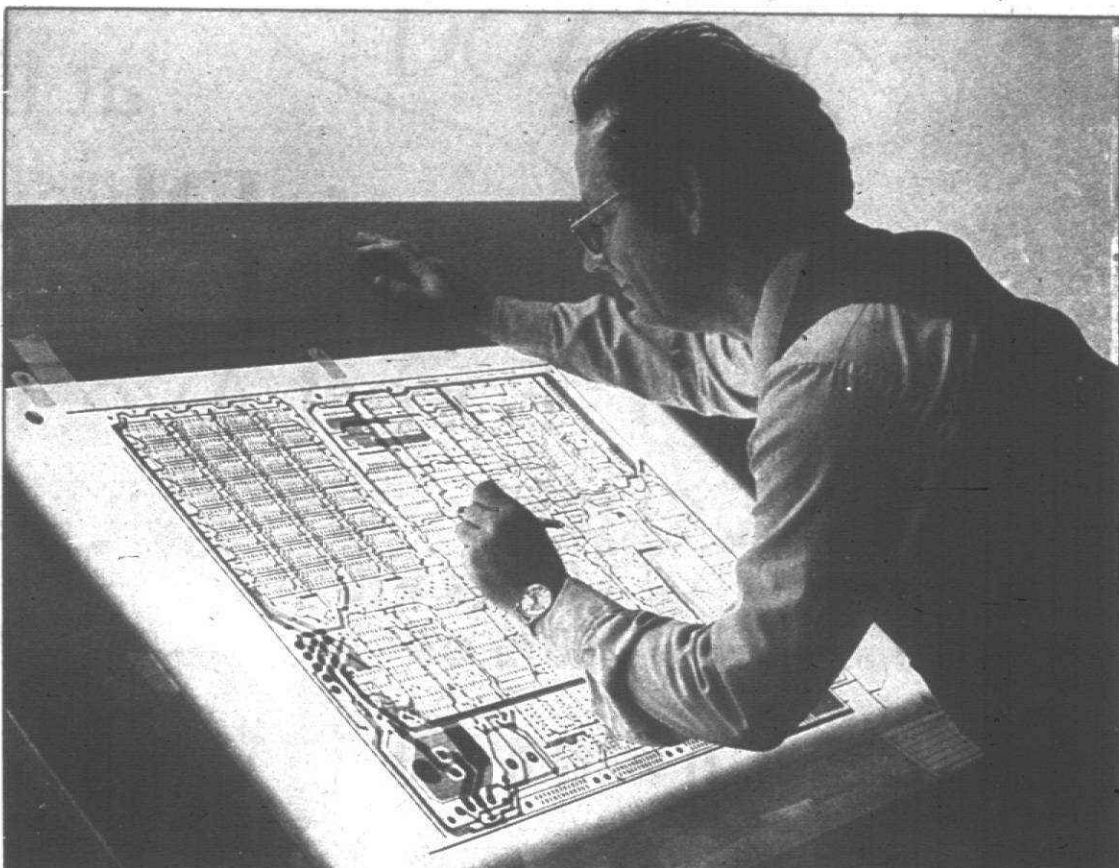

Staffers on hand at the center to answer questions include an instructor at Oakland Community College. But Willard describes classes at the center as basically self-teaching courses.

"It's amazing how few questions you realize once you get started," he said. "I've been into computers one year," Willard said. "I get a big kick out of showing people how to do things. When I get into it, it seemed so easy to me. It isn't as hard as everybody would like to make it."

Willard hopes the learning center will lessen the intimidation some people feel about computers. "Three of my sons have bought computers, and the computers are all in the closet," he said. "In any type of learning situation, even jogging or physical fitness, you have to apply yourself to a certain point when you start getting feedback."

"With computers, everybody is different, but usually the first couple hours (learning about them) are tough. Then after you get three or four hours under your belt, we can't keep you out of here."

The Willard-Tomei Learning Center will be open according to demand, possibly seven days a week, staffers say.

Del Helmuth, general manager, works on a computer circuit plan at the Willard-Tomei Learning Center in Westland.

Supreme Court ruling won't cool arson corps

claim the search violated their constitutional protection.

The court ruling bars
the use of evidence gathered in that search and prevents the residents'

prosecution for arson.
Arson is difficult to investigate because evidence is destroyed in the blaze, said Plymouth Fire

Department Capt. Al
Matthews. Once an accidental cause has been eliminated, the fire may fall into the "suspicious"
or deliberately set category.

Motives can include revenge, spite or monetary gain (insurance). Sometimes, despite extensive investigation, the case hits a dead end.

"You have to put all this together," Matthews said. "The prosecutor has to believe in the first place that he has a case."

POLICE AND FIRE
officials in both Plymouth and Canton say arson investigations have improved in recent years
because of participation in the Force Five arson task force.

The task force was formed about four years ago with law-enforcement and fire department personnel from the cities of Plymouth and Northville and Canton.

Plymouth and Northville townships. After languishing a couple years,
the group now is holding seminars and training officials to become better
arson investigators,

Matthews said.
The task force also has sponsored local and international seminars on arson investigation.

"The value of pooling
everybody together - it's always better to have two heads investigating than one," Matthews said.
"Burn patterns tell us a lot. We try to eliminate all the accidental causes.
If those can be eliminated, you look deeper to see if an accelerant was used or if a timing device was used, or if somebody de-

Self-confessed 'do-er' dons hat after hat

community."

While Cheske liked the challenge of shaping long-range plans for future growth and setting policies, he found it exhausting to deal with personality clashes, verbal attacks and meetings which lasted far into the night.

Cheske thinks of himself as a "nice, caring person," stubborn, but a good listener, who "will be involved if he cares about something."

"When you get into politics, not everybody is going to be positive," Cheske said. "It took me a long time to accept that."

Cheske was edged out in the 1976 primary election. A write-in campaign launched by some of his supporters also failed.

By 1977, Jerry and Cheryl Cheske, with their daughter Christina, now 10,
were living in Sunflower subdivision.
Again Cheske, a self-confessed "doer," was getting involved. He helped form civic groups within the subdivision to create "a voice for Sunflower."
Those groups now are disbanded.

He also finds it more restful and satisfying to serve as an elder with Geneva United Presbyterian Church.

WITH A NEW township election a few months away, Cheske thinks many of Canton's growth issues remain unresolved because of lack of harmony and clashes between various interest groups - the "old guard" who have been around for years versus the newcomers.

"I can sit back and reflect on (the squabbling) now," Cheske said. "A lot of people who would do a good job are scared off. I think it's time to settle down."

Most of Cheske's energy is channeled into his position as media relations manager for AAA.

As a youth growing up in Detroit, and later as a mass communications student at Wayne State University, Cheske wanted to be a sportscaster.

After seeing more and more stations choosing former athletes as broadcasters, he switched to newspaper reporting, working on outstate papers for six years.

Fifteen years ago, Cheske joined AAA. He and his staff work with radio, television and newspaper reporters to publicize various projects such as the "Icele Network" weather and road reports during the winter, and the "Bring Em Back Alive" summer holiday traffic reports.

"I like the variety of this job," Cheske said. "We're proud of our image. There are certain things the public expects from us. They may not agree with us."

"You have to be a member to get our services, but our safety programs are meant for all people."

Meanwhile, Cheske says his plans call for remaining in Canton, because he enjoys the community and its proximity to the cultural offerings of nearby Plymouth.

CHOOSING AN ACCOUNTANT
When preparing your tax return this year? It's time to start choosing a professional, and to undertake the planning that may help you shelter some of your income from taxes.
If your income is fairly straightforward and deductible expenses minimal, you might satisfactorily use a short-form return and do it yourself or with the help of a tax preparer. But with more income, and more deductions, as the return becomes more complicated, you're going to want a tax professional.
Why? Because it's worth the difference to put your tax return in the hands of someone with the knowledge to find every likely loophole, and the experience to know which are acceptable. And as you reach the higher brackets, you'll get the advice you need on sheltering some income from taxes.
Some free help is available from the IRS. Revenue replies will answer your questions (but the tax court has challenged some of their answers) and prepare the simplest returns. There are also independent and chain tax preparers who pop up at tax season. Their workers may not be experienced enough to catch all legal deductions.
A certified public accountant can handle most complex returns and are familiar with shelters and investing. His or her tax know-how can save you more than the fee.
How do you choose a professional? Recommendations from satisfied clientele are one way, as are referrals from lawyers. Once a relationship is entered, the client will find his accountant helpful in making financial decisions all year round.

INCOME TAX
We're a local organization. Even though we served more than 3,000 clients last year we haven't forgotten that every client is an individual and that each individual deserves the best service we can provide.
When we sign a tax return that we've prepared, we're proud of having done the best possible job for you. When you see our signature on your tax return you can be sure that:
1. The counselor who prepared your return was competent and thoroughly experienced in tax matters.
2. You have received the maximum legal deductions and the minimum legal tax.
3. Your tax return has received all the time and attention that was necessary to do a proper job.
4. Your tax return has been double-checked for both accuracy and tax saving possibilities.
5. Your return has been handled in a confidential manner.
Call us for a free tax organizer and fee schedule. Our fees are often less than the highly advertised tax firms.
Call us. We understand small businesses, personal and corporate tax returns. Computerized bookkeeping and payroll, tax planning systems.

Ronna Romney: not just a name

Even without her famous last name, Ronna Romney was a likely winner at last weekend's Republican State Convention.

"She's an able administrator. You give her a project, and you don't have to keep track of her. It gets done," said Richard Headlee, who makes his living as an insurance company president by managing others.

The 1982 Republican gubernatorial nominee applauded the convention's choice of Ronna Romney, 40, as national committeewoman after a spirited three-way fight that went to a roll call.

Married to former Gov. George W. Romney's son Scott, Ronna leaped from relative obscurity to one of the top three party posts in GOP politics.

Ronna Romney
the job gets done

"RONNA WORKED day and night on the campaign. Scott was getting a little worried," Headlee said with a laugh. "She's sparkling — fun to be around."

"One of the attributes women have in politics is that they read the manual. There's less talk and more 'do'."

"She gets the people together. She gets the resources. She's results-oriented. She doesn't care who gets the credit."

"She's almost fearless — not intimidated by big shots."

Romney was endorsed by Headlee, nominated by his 1982 running mate Thomas Brennan and given a seconding speech by Richard Durand Jr.

A Durand supporting a Romney? It provided a lot of humor to the younger Durand, whose conservative father was a constant thorn-in-the-side to Ronna's father-in-law during the 1960s.

It symbolized the patching over of old moderate-vs.-right wing battle.

ROMNEY OF Bloomfield Hills won 1,156 votes before her opponents, Page Yeager of West Bloomfield (255 votes) and Laraine Thomas of Detroit (326) conceded and made the vote unanimous.

The convention also elected Romney a delegate-at-large to the Aug. 20-23 Republican National Convention in Dallas and made Yeager an alternate-at-large.

New shows on cable TV

Two new shows have been added to Omnicom cable Channel 15's local programming lineup.

Both shows, Canton Update and The Oasis, will make their debut this week, according to Suzanne Skubick, Omnicom community affairs and program director.

Canton Update, a weekly show featuring Canton Township Supervisor James Poole and other township officials talking about happenings in the community, will air at 2 p.m. Tuesdays and 6:30 p.m. Thursdays.

"Poole had been a regular guest on The Sandy Show and it was finally decided he should have a regular program to keep Canton residents updated," Skubick said.

The Oasis, a bimonthly show featuring a band and comedy sketches, will air at 6:30 p.m. Mondays, 2 p.m. Wednesdays, and 10:30 p.m. Fridays. The show is similar to NBC's Saturday Night Live broadcasts.

"This is a show our area teen-agers certainly will want to watch," Skubick said.

New engineer at Omnicom

Omnicom Cablevision has hired a programming engineer to handle the technical end of local productions.

Dennis Mills, a Farmington Hills resident and recent graduate of the Specs Howard School of Broadcast, will replace Ry Alford. Alford left Omnicom for a job with another cable company.

Mills starts his job with Omnicom following experience with the Satellite Master Antenna system at the Westin Hotel in Detroit.

"We are pleased to welcome Dennis to our programming ranks, and we are confident he will continue to assist our department and improve and make innovations in programming," said Suzanne Skubick, Omnicom community affairs and program director.

PALINDROMIC ARTHRITIS

Some of you suffer from an arthritis that comes and goes at times you may wonder if the problem is in your joints or in your head. Don't worry, it is likely that you are experiencing an arthritis called "palindromic" arthritis.

In this type of arthritis you will have sudden attacks of joint pain and swelling, but just as suddenly as the attack comes, it may end. It is not unusual to have the arthritis for months and then one day arise feeling well — and stay that way for months.

Acute attacks must be treated, but between episodes inflammation is not present and the medications usually used in arthritis are not needed. Furthermore, even if you have palindromic arthritis for years, you need not be concerned that your joints will be destroyed, or that you will become crippled.

Recalling the February farewell party 60 years ago

Every year when February rolls around the Stroller relives the most dramatic moment of his life. It was a Sunday evening and many of the neighbors had gathered in our little home for a farewell party. You see, the word had been passed around that "Mazie's Boy" was leaving home to work on a big paper out west. And they had come to wish him luck.

All day the friends gathered, and even in Sunday School in the morning the entire class rose and wished him well on his latest step in the world of journalism.

IT MEANT that the family was being broken up and Mother would be left with four girls. The "man" of the house was about to leave.

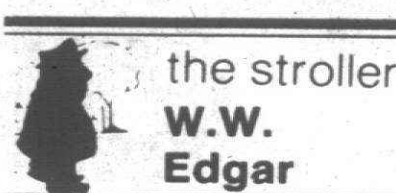

Earlier in the month he had received word from the sports editor of the Detroit Free Press that he had taken the advice of Edgar Guest, the late Free Press editor and poet, and hired The Stroller for the Free Press sports staff.

As the conversation ended, Guest expressed the wish that he could find a place for him on the Free Press, which was one of the largest papers in the country.

There was all sorts of choked emotions as our little family had dinner that evening.

Then, one by one, the family members wiped a tear from their eyes and Mother just sat there looking at her only son and wondering if the move was to be fruitful.

Finally, the time came to leave for the railroad station and a seat on the famed Black Diamond Express heading west. It was to be a mission filled with drama and hope.

the stroller
W.W. Edgar

As the folks arose to leave and wish the traveler a lot of luck, there were choked voices in the room. Finally, all had paid their respects except Mother. Then she arose, wrapped her arms around son and wished him luck and success. "But keep writing," she said.

Then the door opened. A friend took the traveling bags and the parting time was here. Mother took one fond embrace and, with a tear in her eye that had been held back, she said goodbye again. But she didn't return to the parlor right away.

INSTEAD SHE took another step or two down the sidewalk, embraced The Stroller and whispered in his ear, "If you ever want your watch fixed, don't take it to a blacksmith. He wouldn't know what to do with it."

It was an old statement. But Mother had raised us on her "one-liners" and surely this was another to guide him.

As he sat in the train as it headed west, he pondered that last farewell.

That big moment of drama when we bid farewell was away back on Feb. 3, 1924. That's 60 years ago. But come February of each year it is relived again — even though Mother has passed along to her reward.

It was a moment never to be forgotten.

Fortunately, mother lived to see the fruits of her teaching.

She had seen her son make good on the journalistic path she had the good fortune to visit him when he had succeeded in the point where he owned a home in the country.

That big moment of drama when we bid farewell was away back on Feb. 3, 1924. That's 60 years ago. But come February of each year it is relived again — even though Mother has passed along to her reward.

It was a moment never to be forgotten.

from our readers

It's time to get M.A.D.D.I.

To the editor: Once again the citizens of our community have been placed in a state of utter shock and confusion. We read with great dismay of another brush with the law by William Glenn Matney a man who only six months ago stood convicted of negligent homicide in the death of Madonna Tharp.

This same man was convicted three months later on a charge of drunk driving and driving on a suspended license. Now we read that he has been arrested again on a charge of drunk driving and other charges. When will we, as a community of concerned citizens, stand up and say "I'm fed up and I've had enough."

Matney is in obvious need of help with his problems. He has shown a total lack of respect for the law, for others' rights to enjoy safe roads, and a total disregard for the leniency of the system which allowed him to be free after serving 4 1/2 months of a one-to-two year sentence on his previous convictions.

His problems with alcohol appear to have clouded his ability to think clearly regarding the consequences of his actions. Public outrage at this time should demand that he be removed from society and given the treatment he needs before he kills another innocent victim.

The real tragedy brought out by this incident is that Matney is not alone in this type of situation. The question is raised of "How many more Matneys do we have on our streets?" The numbers, I'm sure, are staggering to the imagination.

We must get the drunk and drugged drivers off the roads and then keep them off. Our next objective must be to teach responsibility to our next generation of drivers concerning the use of alcohol.

Drunk drivers kill more than 25,000 people on our nation's highways each year. Isn't it about time we put a stop to this form of socially acceptable homicide that we now call negligent homicide?

Ralph Sherfeldt, Vice President, Western Wayne Co. M.A.D.D.I.

Amazed at women voters

To the editor: I was absolutely amazed and appalled that the Canton local chapter of the League Of Women Voters would ask and actually show up at the monthly meeting of the Canton Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, Feb. 1, 1984, asking for assistance and support of the Canton business merchants.

Can you believe they are soliciting and asking for support from the business merchants to sell sequentennial license plates? Can you also believe that a portion of the proceeds was slated for the League's own use? I was with the understanding that all proceeds has to be donated to the Sequentennial Committee if the logo was used? I am wondering why the special treatment.

In conclusion, it should be noted we are not writing on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, but merely local business merchants that vividly remembers the ruthless attitude toward the proposed new sign ordinance a mere two years ago when the League had every intention of cutting the throats of the same people they are now coming to for support. So to the members of the Canton Local Chapter of the League Of Women Voters, please don't bother contacting our two restaurants in Canton Township. We only hope other business merchants remember the period two years ago when we really needed help and this organization did everything possible to stop us in our tracks.

Bob and Linda Card, Owner/Operators, McDonald's of Canton

1st Amendment is in danger

To the editor:
As editor of a local newspaper I am sure you are aware of the importance and value of the rights guaranteed us under the First Amendment of the United States Constitution.

While the values of a guaranteed free press are obvious to most people, occasionally those rights and freedoms have had to be protected and reaffirmed. The other rights guaranteed under the First Amendment are, of course, freedom of religion, freedom of speech, right of assembly, and rights to petition the government.

It is the guaranteed right of assembly in particular, and freedom of speech indirectly, which now merit special attention by all citizens dedicated to protecting our rights.

The proposed City of Plymouth Ordinance No. 84-3, passed at its first reading by title only Jan. 16, 1984, unconstitutionally restricts freedom of assembly and indirectly freedom of speech. This ordinance, unfortunately, approved with very little discussion by individual commissioners, deals with permit requirements for special events including "any parade, gathering, assemblage or demonstration."

The provisions of this ordinance, paragraph 5, that provide for the denial of such permits in particular, are unconstitutionally broad and will unconstitutionally allow groups which have commission approval to avoid restrictions placed on other groups, thus allowing the government to deny, in effect censor, groups they don't like.

After questioning the validity of paragraph 5 at the Jan. 16 meeting I was informed that discretion on the part of the City Commission and the police department would be utilized. This is unacceptable.

The individual commissioners must deal with this ordinance in more depth. Paragraph 5 must be revised to insure that there are no obstacles to the exercise of First Amendment rights in the city of Plymouth. The alternative would lead to the standardization of ideas either by legislatures, courts, or dominant political or community groups.

The City Commission and the citizens of Plymouth must, with undying effort, strive to protect the freedoms established by our founding fathers and guaranteed by the constitution.

Here's to Your Better Health by Dr. Robert W. Simon, D.C.

Dr. Simon "WHAT TO DO FOR MUSCLE SPASMS"

Everyone sometime has developed muscle spasms. When you have a severe spasm, develop or chronic recurrent muscle spasms it is cause for alarm and needs specialized care.

Spasms of internal organs such as the colon can lead to constipation and toxifying intestinal stasis. A spasm in any muscle of the trunk can alter the normal dynamics of the spine. Spasms can fix the vertebrae in a position of extension, rotation or a side bending position. This many times is the result of strain or sprain irritating nerves as they exit from the spine causing reflex muscle spasms. It is actually nature's protective mechanism to immobilize the spine to avoid further nerve irritation. Artificially relaxing the muscle with a drug is working against the body's self protection leaving the underlying nerve irritation untreated.

Gentle adjustments to reduce nerve pressure is the fastest, safest and most effective method of removing muscle spasms. A spastic muscle can be a serious problem in itself. During a spasm the pressure inside the muscle increases. The arteries, veins and lymphatics coursing through the muscle are compressed. This may impede the flow of nutrients and oxygen into the muscle and the flow of wastes out. When muscle cells receive too little oxygen, the muscle becomes painful. When too little calcium, magnesium reach the cells, the muscle contracts even harder, further compressing its vessels. Moreover, when a muscle is spastic, its metabolic rate is increased. More wastes are produced. But because veins and lymphatics are compressed, the muscle may retain too much of the wastes. The wastes may poison the muscle, inflame it and perpetuate the spasm.

This condition if it persists will cause scar tissue and adhesions binding the muscle fibers together like glue. This scar tissue is not nearly as elastic or strong as normal muscle and ligamentous tissue. When this develops in a person in an occupation that requires long periods of standing on cement, or bending, or lifting, they develop chronic backache from these muscle spasms.

These muscle spasms also restrict normal flexibility of the vertebrae in the spine causing progressive degenerative changes. The next time you have muscle spasms, don't take it lightly. And don't suffer any longer than is necessary. Get it checked. Chiropractors are the experts of choice for the most effective and long lasting results as we do not use drugs but seek to treat the underlying cause of the spasm. If you get spasms at night, the circulation through the muscle is definitely impaired. Try Chiropractic NOW.

Tips For Success:

PERFECT CREAM PIES

Pie is America's favorite dessert, according to a recent Gallup survey, and for many pie lovers, luscious cream pies are the most popular choice.

Even if your pie-making skills are out of practice or you have never tried a "from scratch" cream filling before, you can make a perfect cream pie with this recipe. The foolproof recipe offers detailed instructions for each part of the pie, plus extra tips to help insure success.

The first step is preparing the pie crust. The recipe eliminates the difficult tasks of mixing and rolling the dough by using refrigerated all ready pie crusts. The tender, flaky crust is ready to place in your pie pan, but you add your own decorative fluted edge.

If you find you are "all thumbs" when fluting the crust, follow the how-to sketches for an easy method that creates an attractive, high scalloped edge.

With this cream filling recipe, you can make a delicious vanilla cream pie or try other easy flavor variations. The basic method is the same, and careful stirring gives the smooth, creamy texture that identifies the perfect cream pie.

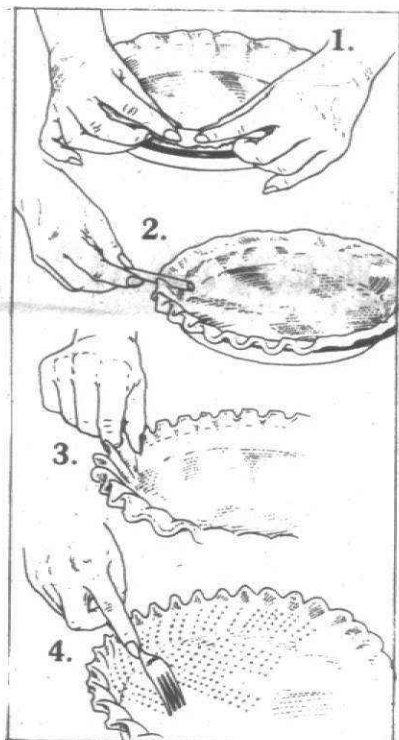

For the final topping, choose either golden brown meringue or whipped cream. Recipes show the exact proportions of ingredients for each, and the tips help prevent problems.

When you want an even quicker and easier pie, Slices of Lemon Pie is a good alternative. This smooth filling does not need cooking in advance. Instead the ingredients are simply mixed together and poured into the unbaked pie crust. A top crust is added, so no meringue or whipped topping is needed.

As the pie bakes, the recipe forms a tangy lemon filling, which is accented with thin slices of lemon. Use one lemon for a mild citrus flavor, but add the second lemon if you prefer a more tart filling.

Tips For Success:

FLUTED PIE CRUST

1. Gently ease one Pillsbury Refrigerated All Ready Pie Crust into 9-inch pie pan. Fold excess pie crust under, so the edge of the dough is even with the rim of the pan. Press crust between fingers to form high stand-up ridge on rim of pie pan.

2. Using handle of wooden spoon or table knife, make indentations angled diagonally about 3/4 inch apart in pie crust ridge. Press handle firmly into dough.

3. To make the scallops higher and thinner, press each section of dough firmly between thumb and forefinger while pressing down on rim of pan.

4. With fork, generously prick holes in bottom and side of unbaked crust. Bake at 450°F. for 9 to 11 minutes or until lightly browned.

By following the simple flavor variations in the recipe, you can make this luscious coconut cream pie. For the attractive garnish, sprinkle coconut over the meringue before baking, then add hazelnuts when the pie is ready to serve.

VANILLA CREAM PIE

15-oz. pkg. Pillsbury All Ready Pie Crusts
1 teaspoon flour

FILLING

3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 1/4 cups milk
3 egg yolks
3 tablespoons margarine or butter
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla

Prepare pie crust according to package directions for unfilled 1-crust pie. (Refrigerate remaining crust for later use.)

In medium saucepan, combine sugar, flour and salt. In medium bowl, beat milk and egg yolks until smooth; stir into sugar mixture. (Reserve egg whites for making meringue.) Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils. Boil and stir one minute. Remove from heat; stir in margarine and vanilla. Pour hot filling into cooled baked crust.

If topping with meringue, spoon prepared meringue onto hot filling, sealing edges. Bake as directed; cool and refrigerate 3 hours. If topping with whipped cream, place plastic wrap or waxed paper on hot filling to prevent film from forming. Cool and refrigerate 3 hours or until filling is set. Top with sweetened whipped cream just before serving. Store in refrigerator. 8 servings.

Cream Pie Variations

For the following pies, follow recipe for Vanilla Cream Pie with the recommended changes. All pies can be topped with meringue when filling is hot or with sweetened whipped cream when filling is cold.

Chocolate Cream Pie: Increase sugar to 1 cup and add 2 squares unsweetened chocolate to mixture before cooking.

Butterscotch Cream Pie: Substitute 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar for granulated sugar.

Banana Cream Pie: Thinly slice 2 bananas into pie crust; top with filling.

Coconut Cream Pie: Stir 1 cup coconut into cooked filling. For coconut whipped cream topping, sprinkle 1/4 cup coconut over topping. For coconut meringue, sprinkle 1/4 cup coconut over meringue before baking.

Tips For Success:

CREAM FILLING

Blend filling ingredients together before placing over heat. Use a heavy saucepan for even heating. Cook over medium heat.

Stir filling constantly while cooking. Stirring distributes the heat throughout the mixture, so it thickens evenly, and prevents lumps and scorching.

Pour the hot filling into a cooled, baked pie crust.

If the pie is not topped with meringue, place plastic wrap or waxed paper on the hot filling to prevent film from forming on the surface.

Refrigerate cream pies as soon as they reach room temperature. Pies should be refrigerated at least three hours before serving to allow filling to set.

MERINGUE

3 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup sugar

Heat oven to 350°F. In small deep bowl, beat egg whites, cream of tartar and vanilla at medium speed until soft peaks form, about 1 minute.

Add sugar 1 tablespoon at a time, beating at high speed until stiff glossy peaks form and sugar is dissolved. Spoon meringue onto hot filling in mounds around edge of pie. Spread over pie; push to edges of crust to seal well and prevent shrinkage. Use narrow spatula or knife to swirl meringue. Bake at 350°F. for 12 to 15 minutes until golden brown. Cool pie on wire rack; refrigerate 3 hours or until filling is set. Store in refrigerator.

Tips For Success:

MERINGUE

A meringue topping should be prepared and spread on immediately after pouring the hot filling into the crust.

Preheat oven to 350°F. Higher temperatures can cause the meringue to shrink.

For easier handling, separate eggs when they are cold. For each egg, place egg white into a small cup before transferring to bowl for beating. This prevents accidentally spilling egg yolk into the entire batch of egg whites, which will prevent whites from beating to desired stiffness.

For best volume, allow egg whites to come to room temperature while cooking filling. Use a small deep bowl, and be sure beaters and bowl are completely clean and free of any grease. Use an electric mixer.

Add cream of tartar to the whites before beating to stabilize them. Do not add salt, because it lowers stability.

Beat whites only to soft peak stage before adding sugar. Measure sugar carefully and add gradually while beating, about a tablespoon at a time. Beat until whites form glossy peaks that stand up straight when beaters are removed.

Spread meringue immediately over hot filling from the outside edges toward the center of the pie. The meringue should be sealed to the crust to prevent shrinking during baking.

To cut pie, use a sharp knife dipped into hot water before each cut.

To cover meringue topped pies, insert toothpicks halfway into meringue; cover with plastic wrap.

SWEETENED WHIPPED CREAM

1 cup (1/2 pint) whipping cream
2 tablespoons powdered sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

In small bowl, beat cream until soft peaks form. Blend in sugar and vanilla; beat until stiff peaks form. Spoon onto pie. 2 cups.

Tips For Success:

WHIPPED CREAM

Chill bowl and beaters well in refrigerator. Cream should be well chilled (colder than 45°F.). Beat with electric mixer or rotary beater.

Add powdered sugar and vanilla after cream reaches soft peak stage; beat until stiff peaks form and cream is still glossy. Do not overbeat or cream can begin to form butter.

If cream starts to turn to butter, beat in a few tablespoons of cream or evaporated milk.

SLICES OF LEMON PIE (not illustrated)

15-oz. pkg. Pillsbury All Ready Pie Crusts
1 teaspoon flour

FILLING

2 cups sugar
1/3 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
2/3 cup water
2 tablespoons margarine or butter, softened
3 eggs
2 to 3 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 to 2 lemons, peeled, sliced 1/8 inch thick

Prepare pie crust according to package directions for 2-crust 9-inch pie. Do not use 8-inch pie pan. Heat oven to 400°F.

In large bowl, combine sugar, flour and salt. Add water, margarine, eggs and orange peel; beat until well blended. Stir in lemon slices. Pour mixture into pie crust-lined pan. Top with second crust and flute; cut slits in several places. Bake at 400°F. for 35 to 45 minutes or until golden brown. Cool completely on wire rack before serving. Refrigerate leftovers. 8 servings.

TIP: Cover edge of pie crust with strip of aluminum foil during last 10 to 15 minutes of baking, if necessary to prevent excessive browning.

King pepper: 'Small in quantity ... great in virtue'

Shake a little of this black powder in your hand, sniff and you will probably sneeze. This common seasoning shows with flavor and discloses its essence to every consumer with the first bite.

Standing beside its partner, the salt shaker, pepper reigns as king of the spices. "Pepper is small in quantity and great in virtue," according to Plin-

to. It was the first Oriental spice to reach European soil and today is widely used throughout the world.

Pepper's importance over the past 2,000 years goes beyond use as a seasoning. Peppercorns served as money and were considered a more stable medium of exchange than gold of silver when localities minted their own coins which were then scraped each time they passed through another's hands.

Pepper served as a means of tribute: Rome saved itself from Attila the Hun in 452 by presenting him with cinnamon and pepper. Peppercorns were used to pay custom duties and rent, and to buy land. Rewards and punishments by fines were payable in peppercorns.

THE SEASONING was left as a legacy in wills and even as dowries in marriages. John III of Portugal (a country which dominated the pepper market in the 16th century) paid part of his sister Isabella's dowry in that spice when she married Charles I of Spain in 1524.

In the Middle Ages, government officials such as the Masters of the Treasury in Venice were bribed by businessmen with an annual present of one pound each of pepper, cinnamon and ginger as an assurance of remaining in business.

By medieval times, pepper became a measure of wealth. If a man "lacked pepper" it meant that he was poor.

"Pepper bags" was a name assigned by the aristocracy of Saxony to nobles who married commoners for their money. The nobles were sometimes forced to swallow such inordinate quantities of pepper prior to the marriage that it killed them.

When pepper reached the Mediterranean world, it was noted as having medicinal qualities. Soon after, its gastronomic qualities were realized and it was added to almost all Roman dishes including desserts.

FOR THE love of pepper and other spices, Emperor Domitian built a special spice market, the horrea piperata, which was reached by walking down the Via Piperatica, or Pepper Street.

Throughout the Middle Ages, Venice was the European capital of pepper, at a time when Europeans were consuming over 6 1/2 million pounds annually. The pepper monopoly passed through many hands over the centuries. When the Portuguese reached the Spice Islands, the market passed to them.

Trade passed from the Portuguese to the Dutch who formed the Dutch East India Company. At the turn of the 17th century, the pepper monopoly ceased.

Competitive companies such as the British East India Company and the French led by Pierre Poivre, which translates to Peter Pepper, brought prices down.

Today, rich and poor alike can afford the strong, outspoken flavor of pepper. Add a dash to any dish for extra zest.

The following recipes offer opportunities to try dishes spiked with pepper as an essential seasoning.

Fresh Black Pepper Pasta is excerpted from a new book for pasta lovers, "The Joy of Pasta" (Barron's) by Joe Famularo and Louise Imperiale. Richard Nelson's "American Cooking" (New American Library/Times Mirror) is a hearty compendium of delicious dishes including this Cheese Souffle.

CHEESE SOUFFLE
Serves 4
1 cup whole milk
1 small bay leaf
1 shallot, sliced
1 small garlic clove
1 small piece celery
1 tsp. salt
6 peppercorns
3 tbsp. unbleached all-purpose flour
3 tbsp. butter
1/4 tsp. white pepper
1/4 tsp. English dry mustard
1/4 tsp. Dijon-style mustard
1/4 cup Camembert cheese, forced through a coarse sieve
1/4 cup freshly grated Gruyere cheese
5 egg yolks
Bread crumbs
7 egg whites
Paprika

Put the milk, bay leaf, shallot, garlic, celery, salt, and peppercorns in a pan; stir over low heat and bring to a boil. Cover, remove from heat, and allow to steep for 5 minutes.

Melt the butter in a small, heavy pan; remove from the heat and stir in the flour. Add the pepper and mustards, and strain the prepared milk into the butter mixture. Stir over heat until it boils. Add the Camembert and Gruyere cheeses and half the Parmesan; mix well. Beat the egg yolks until light and fluffy and mix into the sauce.

Preheat the oven to 375 degrees. Butter a 2-quart souffle dish, dust fat and has fewer calories. A 3-ounce serving of cooked lean beef provides only 192 calories. This is just 8 percent of the average daily caloric intake of an adult male.

Yet beef still contributes a significant portion of many essential nutrients. A 3-ounce serving of beef contains 45 percent of a man's Recommended Dietary Allowance for protein, 26 percent of his RDA for iron, 38 percent of his needed zinc, 79 percent of his vitamin B-12 and 19 percent of his niacin.

FOOD VALUES

The seasoning was left as a legacy in wills and even as dowries in marriages: John III of Portugal (a country which dominated the pepper market in the 16th century) paid part of his sister Isabella's dowry in that spice when she married Charles I of Spain in 1524.

with the bread crumbs and a little Parmesan cheese. Beat the egg whites to stiff peaks and add the egg-yolk-cheese mixture. Fold gently but not too thoroughly, so that a little of the egg white still shows. Fill the souffle dish, leaving a 1/4-inch rim at the top. Sprinkle the top with the rest of the Parmesan cheese and bread crumbs. Place in a shallow pan of hot water and bake for 45 to 50 minutes, or until just firm to the touch. Do not open the oven door during the first half of the baking. Remove, sprinkle with a little paprika, and serve at once.

FRESH BLACK PEPPER PASTA
Makes 1/2 lb.
2 cups all-purpose flour
2 eggs, at room temperature
1/4 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. olive oil
4 tbsp. water
1 heaping tbsp. finely ground fresh pepper

1. Put the flour on a flat surface and shape it into a mound. Make a well in the center and add the eggs, salt, olive oil, 2 tablespoons water, and the ground pepper. (Be sure when you grind the pepper, it isn't too large or it will tear the pasta.) Mix with a wooden spoon by combining the eggs and the flour with a circular motion, taking some flour from the inside of the well. Add the remaining water and mix until it comes together.

2. Transfer the dough onto a floured board and slice it for 16 minutes. Work the dough into a ball, cover it with a bowl, and let it rest for 15 minutes.

3. Roll the dough (using more flour if needed) into a cylinder about 6-inches long and slice into 1-inch pieces. Flatten each piece of dough with a rolling pin or the palm of your hand. Roll dough out on a pasta machine.

Note: This pasta may be frozen for up to 1 month. All the butter sauces are extremely good with this pasta.

Chili dilemma
To bean or not to bean

Greg Melikov

Chili purists, you see, demand that beans stay on the sidelines. Put anything in chili, they say, except beans.

I walk both sides of the chili street because I am to please. The No. 1 chiliheads appear to be those who compete for the world championship each year. They have nifty nicknames such as "Nevada Annie," who won the 1978 title. She used a jalapeno pepper, nearly a half pound of dried green chilies and six ounces of chili powder.

Some do like it hot. I prefer my chili more subtle. I have concocted three chili recipes over the years that I can proudly call my own. None contains beans. So it's only fair that I prepared a special beanless chili.

Do you have a favorite chili recipe? Whether it's with or without beans, why not share it. I'll be waiting.

CHILI SURPRISE IV
2 tbsp. olive oil
2 lbs. pork shoulder steak, cubed
4 lbs. beef chuck roast, cubed
1/2 cup all-purpose flour
1/4 cup chili powder
1 can (15 oz.) Hunt's tomato sauce
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
2 garlic cloves, cut up
1 can (12 oz.) beer, opened while 1 can (14 1/2 oz.) clear beef broth
1 bay leaf
1 tsp. cumin
1 tsp. oregano
1/2 tsp. garlic salt
1 can (5 oz.) green chilies, cut up

Heat 1 tablespoon oil in large skillet, brown pork and place in large pot with slotted spoon. Drain grease from skillet. Coat beef with mixture of flour and chili powder, brown in 1 tablespoon hot oil and put in pot, reserving leftover flour mixture. Heat tomato sauce in skillet until bubbly, stir in garlic and add to pot. Add beer, broth, seasonings and chilies, bring to boil on medium heat, reduce to medium low, partially cover and cook 3 hours, adding reserved flour midway and water as needed, occasionally stirring. Serves 8.

Adults need calcium Nutritionists and health experts do not always agree. One area in which they are in agreement, however, is that the need for calcium is not just kid stuff, adults require it, too.

Most of us can recall how we were encouraged as children to drink plenty of milk because of its high nutritional value and the fact that the calcium contained in it helped build strong bones and healthy teeth.

The problem is that many of us grow away from this healthy advice as we become older. The general belief held by many adults is that because their bones and teeth are no longer growing, the need for calcium in their diets is greatly diminished. Researchers and medical experts are concerned about this trend.

Calcium is not only important to us as children, when we are in the growing, bone-making phase of our life cycle, but also as young adults, when our bone mass increases, and as older adults, when we begin to lose bone, said Dr. Robert Recker, chief of the endocrinology and metabolic research section at Creighton University in Omaha, in a recent article in Contemporary Nutrition, a national newsletter published for health professionals.

THIS is particularly true for women, who generally become more vulnerable, as they grow older, to the weakening of their bone structure. Recent published data indicate that one out of four white females over the age of 50 suffer from the crippling bone disease known as osteoporosis, a progressive disorder hastened by long-term calcium deficiency that often leaves its victims susceptible to painful fractures, chronic spinal problems and gradual loss of height.

About 99 percent of the calcium in the body is found in the skeletal structure and the teeth. The remaining 1 percent is transported in body fluids to other parts of the anatomy. In addition to its importance to bone health, calcium is used by the body to control nerve impulses, muscle contraction and heart rhythm and aid in blood clotting.

Contrary to what some believe, bone is not a static, unchanging material. Calcium comes and goes from bone continuously. The calcium that is lost must be replaced daily through ingestion of adequate amounts of dietary calcium.

FDA standards limit microwave leakage

Quietly you place the meatloaf in the oven, quickly you push the starter button, and madly you dash for cover. If that's your idea of how you have to cook with a microwave oven, think again.

The Food and Drug Administration set safety standards for all microwave ovens in 1971. The standards limit the amount of microwave leakage over the lifetime of an oven to a level far below that which would harm anyone. The FDA has also published a pamphlet that describes how you are protected and how to use microwave ovens safely. For your free copy of Microwave Oven Radiation, send your name and address to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 594L, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Microwave ovens are not very mysterious or very complicated, they are, in fact, electromagnetic energy. The energy particles travel through the air in waves just like radio waves. These waves are reflected by metal but pass through glass, paper and ceramic cookware.

In your oven, microwaves are produced by a magnetron. The waves bounce off the metal interior walls until they are absorbed by the food. Only the outer layers of the food actually absorb the microwaves and become heated. The inner layers are cooked by the conduction of heat from the hot outer layers.

FOR this reason special steps are needed when cooking thick foods, such as roasts. To insure more even cooking, turn the roast a couple of times while cooking, and then let it sit covered with foil for a few minutes after removing it from the oven. The Department of Agriculture has always warned consumers against eating undercooked pork, and it's particularly important to make sure that pork roasts cooked in a microwave reach a uniform internal temperature of 170 degrees to rule out the dangers of trichinosis.

Undercooked pork can be a cause for concern, you don't have to worry about the oven itself. All microwave ovens sold after 1971 are required to pass standard safety tests established by the FDA.

If you have an older oven, or if the hinges, latch, or seal to your oven door is defective, the booklet, Microwave Oven Radiation notes that you should contact the oven manufacturer, your state health department, or your nearest Food and Drug Administration office. They will test your oven or tell you where to go for testing. However, be careful if you decide to test your oven yourself. The FDA has found that many of the home testing devices sold on the market are unreliable or inaccurate.

If you follow the manufacturer's instructions for recommended operating use of a microwave oven, you should be able to put away your worries and have extra time to sit down to a relaxing dinner. For more information, send for your copy of Microwave Oven Radiation (free). At the same time you will also receive a copy of the free Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration, the Catalog lists more than 500 other free and moderately priced federal booklets of consumer interest.

Cornish hens: dinner for 2

With family sizes getting smaller, the increase in one- and two-member households, many traditional family meals are not as big as they used to be.

Easy yet elegant Apple Glazed Cornish Hens is the perfect main dish for such occasions.

APPLE GLAZED CORNISH HENS
1 pkg. of escalloped apples, defrosted
2 Cornish hens
Melted margarine
Salt
Black Pepper
Cayenne pepper
Ground ginger
Paprika

3 tbsp. orange juice concentrate
3 tbsp. brown sugar

Wash and dry hens. Brush with margarine; season with salt, black pepper, cayenne pepper, ginger, and paprika. Place in a roasting pan.

Roast at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes or until golden brown.

Combine in small bowl: escalloped apples, orange concentrate and brown sugar. Spoon part of the apple mixture into cavity of hens and spoon the remaining apple mixture over hens.

Continue roasting for 35 to 40 minutes or until fully cooked. Serves 2-4.

REPRESENTATIVES

of the American Legion Passage-Gayde Park will be on cable television at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. They will be accepting telephone calls on Omnicom Channel 15. The Legion service officer will respond to questions and explain how they can help veterans and their families with compensation and disability claims through the Veterans Administration.

Post members also will talk about some of their programs: Boys and Girls State, Reyes Syndrome Awareness, school awards and community involvement.

BEEEN UP TO the Art Rental Gallery on the second floor of Dunning Hough Library lately?

If you need a lift, a new picture for your house or office may be the answer. The Plymouth Community Arts Council operates the gallery each Wednesday during library hours. For just $3 a month, a new picture by an area artist or a reproduction of one of the old masterpieces can give you a new outlook on life.

If you have moved into a new house and bare walls are your problem, rental gallery pictures will fill the gap and help you decide what you really want. The PCAC sale in the spring presents an opportunity to own the ones you want to live with.

The gallery has added to its collection recently so the choices are almost unlimited.

In the mood for flowers? There are two new florals in water colors by Farmington artist, Marge Chellistorp; two new, dainty florals by Ellnor Nis, also watercolorists; and from Arizona, two aquapaints by Lee Brandon, one of day lilies and one of cattails. "Geraniums" by Martha Barnes is a new acquisition and the gallery has some floral watercolors by Jane Rocheleau.

In a country mood? They have some water colors by Scott Hartley — barns and buckets. Scott, a music major at the University of Michigan, also is a cellist. Tom Pranta of Canton, Ohio, is another country artist represented in the gallery. His "Franklin T," a watercolor of a bear near a basket, is one of the most popular loaners in the collection.

Johnny Crosby's "View from a Roman Window," now is available for rental. Crosby painted the water color last summer while on the arts council tour of Italy. There are photographs by Phil Reston of Ann Arbor, contemporary serigraphs by Tom Hagan, and some new Rick Burger water colors — waterfront and shoreline scenes. Tom Hale, a member of the Scarab Club, is represented. He paints rustic subjects with abstract backgrounds or landscapes.

Right now, I have my favorite, "Dunes." Every time I look at it, I think of summer, sand and sailing and Lake Huron. I hate to take it back to the gallery.

SARAH PETRERE'S name was misspelled in last Thursday's column. Sarah, I apologize. The young lady, a resident of Canton Township, was asked to model in a Jacobson's fashion show.

ARLENE SCHROEDER had high score at last Thursday's party bridge games at the Plymouth Cultural Center. Alice Begwin came in second.

RUTH JACOBS has some appropriate Valentine's Day gifts in the Plymouth Historical Museum Gift Shop. She suggests a heart-shaped tin wall sconce for a candle, or a heart-shaped pin-cushion with a lace ruffle. Of course, they are handmade.

Town hallers hear 'inside Russia' story

They loved Nila Magidoff. Both men and women in Wednesday's Plymouth Town Hall audience at the Penn Theater came away charmed and enthusiastic.

She gave them an inside look at Russia today. Magidoff escaped from her native Russia years ago, but has gone back many times. She returned from her latest visit less than a month ago.

Her story goes from pre-revolution days to the present. She recalled her childhood as one of four children with "poppa and momma."

"We children would sit on the stove and dream of what the car and his family would be having for dinner," in their young minds, the ultimate luxury would be a bowl of the rich cream from the top of the milk, with sugar. In her family, she said everyone ate from one bowl.

"ONE DAY, momma gave us a bowl of cream and sugar. And we immediately began dreaming of something better."

The anecdote had a parallel. She said, "Kruschev allowed little things, the opening of a museum of modern art; he allowed books to be published."

"But give them a little smell of freedom and people demand more."

Magidoff responded to questions after the lecture at the celebrity luncheon in the Mayflower Hotel. She explained the mysterious disappearance of Russian Premier Yuri Andropov. She said he had been suffering from a kidney ailment for some time and his recovery after artificial kidney surgery had been very slow.

MAGIDOFF was asked if she still had relatives in Russia or had they escaped.

Her husband, Robert Magidoff, was an NBC correspondent broadcasting from Moscow during the war years. She escaped to the United States and rejoined her husband after the war as a U.S. citizen. They returned to the U.S. when he was expelled from Russia on "trumped-up" charges of spying.

"They arrested everybody — sisters, their husbands, niece — some had 20 years of hard labor. I have nobody there." She said 56 people were accused of spying for her husband, people whom he had never met.

She approved of President Reagan's firm stand with the Soviet Union. "The way they are attacking the president in the Russian press shows they are afraid of him."

"IS THE NEW government better?" she was asked.

"It's really not. But this is the third generation since Stalin's death. She said, "Faith in God may save Russia. Many of the Believers have joined the underground church. It will take a long time. To make Russia strong, people must be educated."

"I hope you and I will live to see the people overthrow the government." Magidoff spends the winters in Florida and the summers in New Hampshire. Her wide interests and enthusiasm for life include hot air ballooning. When she left Plymouth, she was heading for home and a marathon poker game with old friends.

"We will play for 12 hours with just one hour and 15 minutes off for dinner."

Nila Magidoff, third speaker in the Plymouth Y Town Hall series, entertained her audience at the Penn Theater.

How precious Cultural Center hosts rock, gem show Sunday

Rocks, fossils and gem stones will be the prime attraction Sunday at the Plymouth Cultural Center. The Plymouth Rock and Mineral Society will have its eighth annual show and open house from noon to 5 p.m. in the center, 525 Farmer Street, Plymouth.

Exhibits will include everything from common to precious stones, Indian relics and fossils. Visitors will be able to watch and talk to craftsmen and collectors from every aspect of the lapidary trades. They will see jewelry made from polished stones and ming trees made by wire-wrapping.

Dealers from the area will offer a wide selection of items: tools of the trade, fine gems and minerals, finished or do-it-yourself jewelry.

Bargain hunters may take advantage of the club's silent auction with many treasures for the novice rockhound and the experienced collector. Members of the club will demonstrate the process of polishing a Petoskey stone, revealing its depth and beauty.

Geology students from Washtenaw Community College will set up a booth during the show. They invite guests, adults and children, to bring along those unidentified rocks or fossils they found on last summer's vacation. The students will solve the mystery of the stones, giving their names and formation backgrounds.

Movies will be shown on the half hour. Scheduled titles for the 1984 show are "America's Deserts" and "The Underground People."

Admission at the door is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Free parking is available.

Phillip Hruska, co-chairman of the show, invites everyone to enjoy "five hours of the wonderful world of rocks and gems."

Rockhounds from the area will be head for the Plymouth Cultural Center Sunday afternoon when the Plymouth Rock & Mineral Society has its eighth annual show and open house.

Series designed to enlighten, energize today's woman

Oakland Community College's Womencenter's new series, "Adventures in Growth," leads off with "Breakfast Past Noon," a one-act play to be staged by the Fourth Street Players at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 15, in Building J on Orchard Ridge Campus.

"Breakfast Past Noon" is a 1970s feminist play about a bizarre but all-too-familiar encounter between a mother and her daughter," said Rosaria Cardella, speaking for the Royal Oak company.

Written by Ursule Moninaro, the frank drama, which reveals the conflicts of a well-meaning Everywoman evokes, ran for two months in Fourth Street Playhouse before going on tour.

At the end of the play, the actors step down from the stage and begin discussing the play's subject with the audience and producer.

"We expect to be moving into the biggest room in the building for this one," said Sadie Davis, acting director for Womencenter, who helped to put together the late winter series.

"We're deviating from our usual one-lecture-a-week series this season and offering three 'adventures' that are designed to enlighten and energize today's woman," she said.

THE SERIES is made up of plays and musicals of social significance, discussions on personal issues and lectures on pertinent political topics.

"We're risking some money on this, but if anybody at all gets some good out of the series our risk will be worth it," Davis said.

One gain already assured is that the entire series will be produced on Continental Cablevision (Channel 18) and Booth Communications (Channel 11) by Barbara Wood for a show called "In-sight on Success."

The series continues March 14 for an International Women's Day celebration with Doris Biscoe, news anchor woman for Channel 7, and Pam Sisson, a feminist attorney and musician from Flint. The series concludes with a program called "Women's Vote in 1984," headed up by Nancy Humphrey, dean of social work at Michigan State University.

"All of the women we've invited for the series are women of great stature," she said. "Each has acquired prominence within her field."

"We are all so pleased with the line-up I think every volunteer we have at Womencenter is going to be involved some way in helping us make this a success."

"Our whole philosophy is wrapped around continuing to grow until every vestige of sexism and racism is eliminated. And we intend to strive to understand the barriers created by social, political and economical factors so we can work to eliminate them."

BISCOE JOINED the Channel 7 News team in 1973. Since then, she has received numerous honors for reporting excellence, including the Mayor's Award of Merit and the Detroit City Council's Distinguished Service Award.

Biscoe hosted a documentary on Alzheimer's disease. It won her a 1983 Broadcast Media award. Her weekly "Gift of Love" broadcasts with a local child who is available for adoption won her a special award in 1982 from the Child Welfare League of America.

In 1980, the local chapter of American Women in Radio and Television named her the "Outstanding Woman in News." Her 1974 documentary on breast surgery received both an Emmy and a Golden Mike award.

Biscoe's topic for the Women's Day Celebration is "What's Ahead for Women in the '80s."

She shares the podium that day with Sisson, who is sometimes known as "the woman who sings for the '80s."

Most of the songs she sings she has written herself and all of them carry a message for women as she accompanies herself with guitar, banjo, piano or synthesizer.

She is adamant that political songs not be boring and that the message is given, leaving no doubt in the listeners' minds about her strong views on women in today's society, society in the '80s, and personal relationships.

Among her most popular songs are "A Lesbian Mother's Defense," which is a ballad on child custody, and "Politically Incorrect," a satire on the pressures to conform.

IN ADDITION to her work at MSU, Dr. Humphrey is immediate past president of the National Association of Social Workers and is serving as co-chairman of that organization's PACE (Political Action Candidate Election) committee.

She is longtime critic of current federal policies and has been one of the leading spokeswomen for social workers' concerns over these policies.

She was appointed by President Jimmy Carter to serve on his National Advisory Committee on Women's Issues. She also co-chaired the subcommittee on human services.

She was the principal author of the human services chapter of the committee's final report, "Voices for Women." In her address, the political activist will encourage professionals and non-professionals to use the political system to make a better world for both men and women.

Advance tickets will not be sold for any of the events in the Adventures in Growth series.

A donation of $3 will be asked at the door.

Salem 'D' puts squeeze on Stevenson

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Erich Hartnett (left) of Plymouth Salem looks for the drive against Stevenson's 6-foot-8 point-guard Tom Domako. Salem won the Lakes Division battle, 66-51.

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Clap, clap... Woosh!
That sound will be ringing in the ears of both the Plymouth Salem and Livonia Stevenson basketball teams for a while. It will be sweet music in the ears of the Rocks. It'll give the Spartans a headache.

Salem defeated the Spartans 66-51 Friday night to all but eliminate Stevenson from the Lakes Division race.

Salem built up a 42-29 lead after three quarters, then staved the Spartans' fourth-quarter charge by hitting 18 of 21 free throws in the final eight minutes.

AFTER EVERY successful free throw, the Salem fans would do their cheer: Two hand claps, then a resounding "Woosh!" Eighteen times the Spartans had to endure that chant down the stretch.

Stevenson was hurting before the game even started. Starting point guard Rick Rozman contracted the flu and didn't even dress for the game. He was replaced by 6-foot-8 Tom Domako.

Bob Sluka, Stevenson's 6-6 forward was used sparingly. According to coach George Van Wagoner, his injured leg was still giving him problems.

To cap off the Spartans' woes, 6-4 Vic Nettie was also used sparingly. He, too, was bothered by the flu.

But Van Wagoner refused to make excuses.

"Salem played well. Don't even write anything about that (illnesses and injury). There's no excuses. They played well and that's all there is to it. They got on top and we never really got into our offense," he said.

Salem, knowing Domako would be at the point, brought its man-to-man defense out away from the basket. The technique kept the Spartans from getting to the hoop.

"IN ALL FAIRNESS to Livonia Stevenson," said Salem coach Fred Thomann, "their point guard being sick hurt them. That made Domako have to bring the ball down the court. We used that as our defensive key. We rotated a lot of players on Domako. He's still a

basketball

fine player, and he played a good game tonight, but we were able to take him out of his game."

Domako, shooting mostly from the perimeter, hit five of 13 shots and scored 13 points. He also grabbed six rebounds.

Salem's Scott Jurek and Barry Bell took turns checking Domako. Jurek picked up three fouls in the first two minutes of the game, but that, according to Thomann, established the defensive tempo for Salem.

"That was what we wanted," Thomann said. "We let Domako know that everytime he got the ball, somebody was going to be right there on him."

LeSean Haygood came off the bench to spark the Rocks in the first quarter. With Salem leading 11-8, Haygood rebounded a missed free throw and put in an easy two. Then he took a superb pass from Rick Berberet, after an Erich Hartnett steal, and put Salem up 15-8.

That came in the middle of 15 unanswered points scored by the Rocks. With 7:01 left in the half, Salem led 21-8 and was in the driver's seat and coasting.

BERBERET LED a balanced Rock scoring attack with 16 points. He also had eight rebounds and seven assists before fouling out with 2:48 left in the game.

Jeff Arnold scored 15 for Salem. Hartnett hit for 12, dished out four assists and grabbed seven rebounds. Haygood chipped in 10 points.

Salem's offense punctured Stevenson's zone with precise passing. The Rocks were able to get the ball into the hands of the open man all night.

"Our recognition was real good. We got the ball to the open player and our shot selection was good. We showed the ability to make the easy pass," Thomann said.

The Spartans made a short run at the Rocks in the final quarter. They pulled within 10 points, 44-34, after Sluka's three-point play with 6:44 left.

Then the referee's whistles and "clap, clap, woosh!" took over.

HARTNETT, JUREK, Arnold, Bell, Berberet and Eric Sovine all hit free throws down the stretch. Arnold hit seven of eight.

Stevenson got within nine with just over a minute to play as Pat Williams hit a free throw, made a steal and scored a jumper to make it 56-45. But Sovine and Arnold hit free throws to ice the win for Salem.

Berberet, Hartnett and Bell all fouled out for Salem. The refs called 21 fouls in the final quarter.

"There were some bright spots tonight," said Van Wagoner. "We found out we had some players on our bench that deserve a shot."

He was talking about players like Williams, Ed Gilbert, Mark Kleinknecht and Dan Gilmartin who played well off the Spartan bench.

Stevenson is now 9-4 overall, 6-4 in the Western Lakes. Salem is 11-2, 9-1 in league play.

Stevenson's Ed Gilbert (left) tries to avoid the defense applied by Salem's Jeff Arnold. Gilbert came off the bench to give the Spartans a boost but Salem prevailed, 66-51.

Rocks, Chiefs romp in water

The Plymouth Canton swim team evened its Western Lakes dual meet record at 4-4 by dunking Farmington Harrison 122-48 Thursday night.

The Hawks, hampered by a flu bug that has kept 18 percent of the school's enrollment home, won just one event. Kirk Raddatz swam a 2:17.03 to capture the 200-yard individual medley.

John Ahrens won two events for the Chiefs. He took the 200-freestyle with a 2:02.66 and the 500-freestyle with a 5:29.08.

The Chiefs' divers again were one-two. Andy Flower amassed his highest point total, 227.85, to win the event. Chris Jeannotte broke his own freshman record with 195.40 points.

Dean Roberts, Jim Luce, Steve Schwinn, and Rob Schuessler combined for a 2:00.48 to win the 200-medley relay.

The 400-freestyle relay team of Ahrens, Jim Walker, Schuessler and Frank Wisniewski swam a first-place 3:58.22.

ROBERTS WON the 100-backstroke in 1:04.33, while Luce came back to win the 100-breaststroke in 1:08.48.

Jim Kasler won the 50-free in 24.75, and Gabe Krawzak won the 100-butterfly in 1:08.34. Eric Walton swam a 58.59 to win the 100-freestyle.

The Chiefs (4-6 overall) host Walled Lake Western Tuesday.

PLymouth Salem also had an easy time of it. The Rocks whipped Livonia Bentley, a team reduced to six swimmers by disciplinary suspensions, 125-35 Thursday night.

Scott Sargent got Bentley its only two wins. He swam a 22.8 to win the 50-free and a 55.1 win to take the 100-butterfly.

Scott Anderson countered Sargent with two firsts for Salem. Anderson took the 200-free (1:54.3) and the 100-free (51.3).

MIKE HARWOOD won the 200-IM in 2:21.4, while brother Don Harwood took the 100-backstroke in 1:02.2.

Mike and Don Harwood, Dave Workman, and Erik Kleinsmith combined for a 1:52.0 to win the 200-medley relay.

Kleinsmith, Chuck Eudy, Tony Atwell and Anderson took the 400-free relay in 3:32.5.

Workman won the 100-breaststroke with a 1:07.2. Greg Wolff won the 500-free in 5:19.4.

Bob Longridge amassed 186.9 points to win diving honors.

The Rocks (8-1 overall, 6-0 in the Western Lakes) are ranked No. 3 in Observerland. They will travel to Brighton Tuesday.

Coaches meet school board

A Plymouth-Canton Community School District board of education workshop will take place beginning at 7:30 tonight at Erickson Elementary School, on Haggerty Road, south of Ford Road.

The topic of discussion: the future of the athletic programs at Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem High Schools.

High school coaches will present a list of concerns to the board for their consideration. Among the topics to be discussed are, the total athletic program from grades 7 through 12, the athletic budget, and coaches salaries.

Coaches Gary Balconi, Rich Barr, Tom Moshimer and Fred Thomann are expected to make presentations to the board.

EMU bound

Plymouth Salem linebacker/fullback Scott Jurek has announced that he will sign a national letter-of-intent Wednesday to play football for Eastern Michigan University. The 6-foot-2, 215-pound senior was an All-Observer choice this fall.

HP cagers too much for Schoolcraft men

Schoolcraft gave it the old college try Wednesday in an 88-85 men's basketball loss to Highland Park, the nation's 18th ranked JC team.

The Ocelots battled right down to the final buzzer, but fell just short.

Highland Park is now 5-2 in the Eastern Conference and 23-3 overall. Schoolcraft, meanwhile, fell to 1-6 and 9-13.

"Schoolcraft always gets up for us," said Highland Park coach Glen Donahue. "You know, it's the rivalry between the inner city kids."

"At times we play so well, and then there are other times. I can't explain it."

Carlos Briggs, the 6-foot guard from Detroit Benedictine, gave the Panthers fits, scoring 37 points, dishing out 10 assists to go along with eight rebounds. Briggs made 15-of-26 shots from the floor.

Livonia Bentley grad Eric Sink also had a big night in defeat, scoring 20 points, on 10-of-14 shooting, and 11 rebounds. James Orr added 12 points and five assists.

"I can't ask for anything more out of them," said Schoolcraft coach Rocky Watkins, whose team led at one stage during the second half, 52-47. "We just had a lapse that hurt us again."

Vernon Carr, the 6-6 All-Stater from Detroit Cody, led Highland Park with 26 points. Lenith Cotton (Benton Harbor) and Marty Hunter (Ann Arbor Huron) added 20 and 18, respectively.

SCHOOLCRAFT WOMEN 86, HIGHLAND PK. 66: The Lady Ocelots won the eighth straight Wednesday behind the shooting of Cathi Hengy (22 points).

Schoolcraft leads the Eastern Conference with a 6-0 record.

Despite having problems with Highland Park's press, the Lady Ocelots

Rock spikers pound winless Chiefs

Krista Ingersoll of Plymouth Canton makes a sharp dig on a Plymouth Salem spike.

Whittaker went on to play a lot of basketball, while Martin went on to coach volleyball at Plymouth Salem. The two looked up again this season and the reunion paid off Thursday night.

Whittaker, replacing the injured Shelly Staszel, played an outstanding match, helping the Rocks defeat rival Plymouth Canton 15-12, 15-9.

"Fran Whittaker was just great," said Martin. "She served well, spiked well, and for a junior playing her first year of varsity ball, she was tremendous."

Canton, winless in eight matches this season, played the Rocks tough throughout both games.

"We played a lot better than we had been playing," said first-year Chief coach Peggy Moore. "We had been in a terrible slump the last three games. I think some of the kids were losing their desire. But we showed a lot more aggressiveness against Salem."

JENNIFER GORECKI was solid both in the back row and in the service corner for the Chiefs. She passed effectively and made some key digs.

Margie Wangbichler was also strong defensively for the Chiefs. Setter Cindy Fisher teamed well with hitter Chris Ingersoll to spark Canton's previously dormant offense.

Canton built up a six-point lead early in the first game, but Salem, using a combination of pounding

volleyball

spikes and crafty tip shots, quickly took control.

Kelly Bemiss and Whittaker used Reggie Rojeski's accurate sets to dominate the net. Sarah Wallman, Chris Radzik and Sue Carleson all played a strong match for Salem.

The difference in the match, according to Martin, was Salem's domination at the net.

"Canton made a lot of really nice digs," said Martin, "but, they could never get their offense going. They were always on the defensive. It was about as much offense as we played all season."

Said Moore: "Kelly Bemiss' spikes really kept us on our toes. And we weren't ready for their tips. We weren't reading the tips well at all. We made a lot of digs, but they hurt us with the tips. Salem is a smart team."

Salem also excelled in the service corner, an area which has hurt the Rocks this season. They only missed three serves in the match.

Salem (4-4) will host No. 1-ranked Livonia Stevenson tonight. Canton will host No. 5-ranked Redford Thurston in a non-league match tonight.

Sarah Wallman of Salem returns a volley in last Thursday's victory over Plymouth Canton. Teammate Kelly Bemiss lends support on the play.

Carol Fox sets sights on medal

By Rich Ewenson
staff writer

The United States Olympic ice dancing team of Carol Fox and Richard Dalley have done themselves proud.

The talented pair, currently ranked fifth in the world, placed a strong second in the U.S. Championships at Salt Lake City last month. Their finish qualified them for a spot on the U.S. Olympic figure skating team that will compete in the Winter Olympics in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, beginning this week.

It gives the dancing duo the opportunity of a lifetime — the chance to compete for an Olympic medal.

And how they deserve it.

THEY'VE BEEN skating together for 12 years, laboring in ice rinks all over the world, but the road to success hasn't been easy.

"They've overcome numerous ups and downs — financial struggles, injuries, the breakup of their personal relationship — you name it. But it has been well worth their time and effort."

"It's all very exciting," said Fox, 27, a 1974 graduate of Westland John Glenn High School. "There's been a lot of enthusiasm felt by a lot of hometown people. We're finally getting the recognition we've worked so hard for."

Fox and Dalley met in 1968 at the Riverdale Roller Rink in Livonia, where both eventually became national junior roller skating champions.

At the advice of their coach, they became ice dancing partners in 1972, and after years of hard work and dedication, they qualified for the World Championships in both 1977 and 1978.

But then things went sour.

THE BREAKUP of their personal relationship in 1978 contributed to Fox and Dalley's temporary downfall, which saw them slide four places in the World Championships in 1979.

It wasn't until they changed coaches and moved to Wilmington, Del., to train under 1960 Olympic bronze medalist Ron Ludington that they started their comeback, culminating in their brilliant effort in Salt Lake City that enabled them to achieve their most important goal.

"I thought it was one of the strongest competitions ever," said Dalley, 26, a 1975 Southfield-Lathrup graduate. "There was a lot of mental pressure in the nationals, but we survived."

Fox agreed. "We were just pleased to finish second," she said. "First would've been hard to capture. It's very difficult to dethrone the national champions. Qualifying for the Olympics has relieved a lot of the tension."

A FAVORITE of the crowd at the nationals, they received a standing ovation for their original set pattern dance — a Spanish "Paso Doble."

Fox and Dalley have been busy the past few weeks readying themselves for the Winter Games, including refining their sophisticated program of George Gershwin hits.

"We don't plan any major changes," Fox said. "We're very happy with our program."

They begin their quest for a medal on Feb. 10 in the compulsory dances, the couples' best segment in the competition. It's worth 30 percent of the total score.

The second phase, scheduled for Feb. 12, will be original set pattern, which counts for 20 percent. They also excel in this category, and should be right in the thick of the race for a medal entering the final event — the free dance.

WORTH 50 PERCENT, the free-dance program will probably decide Fox and Dalley's fate.

"There's a chance we can bring home a medal, but it's not expected," Dalley said. "A medal would be more than icing on the cake. Olympic medals are a very valuable commodity."

"We wouldn't be disappointed if we didn't win a medal," Fox said. "We've got to relax, yet be aggressive in performing our material. The most important thing is knowing that we've skated our best. That would be very gratifying."

Great Britain's three-time world champions Jayne Torvill and Christopher Dean, described by Dalley as "the greatest ice dancing team ever," are expected to win the gold.

The Soviets are also strong, not to mention the top U.S. team of Judy Blumberg and Michael Seibert, which won the U.S. Nationals.

WHEN THE OLYMPICS are over and done, Fox and Dalley will decide whether to turn professional.

Mad depends on their performance in the Winter Games.

"We've been offered professional contracts, but we're not sure what we'll do," Fox said. "We both want to make sure our amateur careers are satisfying — we want to reach our potential."

They plan to compete in the World Championships in March in Ottawa, and will then go on tour with the American team to do exhibitions in the United States and Canada.

Whatever happens in the Olympics, Fox and Dalley have the distinction of competing against the world's best. No one can take that away.

Canton pins N'ville

Scott Tasker and Wein Yeung came through with important victories to lead the Plymouth Canton wrestling team to an important 38-26 win against Western Lakes for Northville Thursday night.

"We had a job to do last night, and the kids went out and did it," said a pleased coach Dan Chrenko, whose team had been upset by Farmington in its previous meet.

The job Canton had to do was stay in the race for the Western Division title. By winning, the Chiefs remain one game back of undefeated league leader Walled Lake Western. The Chiefs can tie for the title with a win over Western Wednesday night.

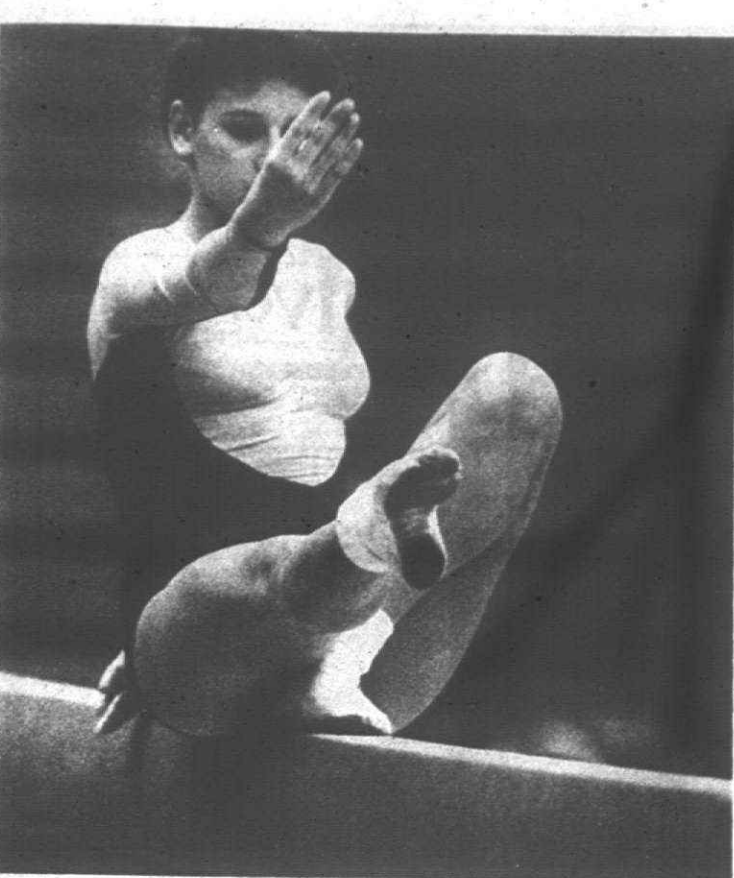

Tasker's and Yeung's wins seemed insignificant at the time, but Chrenko knew they were crucial. After Tasker's decision Mike Leavitt 15-7 at 155 and Yeung beat Steve Smith 15-3 at 167, Canton led 38-9 — an insurmountable lead with three matches remaining.

HAD THEY not won, Canton could have been in trouble.

"It was a good win for us," Chrenko said. "We did what we had to do. Now we have a shot at the division championship."

The title meet begins at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Canton's Phase III gymnasium. It will be Parents' Night and the final home meet for Canton's seniors.

Highland Park, which lost to Schoolcraft by 30 points in an earlier meeting, got 23 points from Willie Doss and 18 from Mona McGowan.

Beth Rafail, Plymouth Salem's ace gymnast, gained first-place honors in both the balance beam and floor exercise against the Hawks.

Rock gymnasts nip Hawk's

The flu bug has hit Farmington Harrison, and its gymnastics team, hard. Eighteen percent of the student body has been hit, and 100 percent of the gymnastics team, said coach Kim Dennis.

It was a major contributor to the Hawks' 115.85-115.3 loss to Plymouth Salem Wednesday night.

Harrison was without its second highest all-around scorer Jill Birsa, who was the only Hawk too sick to compete.

"I really believe we should have won," Dennis said. "I think we were the better team."

HARRISON, WHICH had been scoring in the low-120s much of the season, was rated No. 2 in Observeland. Salem, 5-0, was rated No. 3.

The difference in the meet, Dennis said, was the uneven parallel bars. The Rocks bested the Hawks by 2.5 points in that event.

"The bars have been our downfall all year," Dennis said.

Beth Rafail was the Rocks' leader. She won the balance beam (7.85) and the floor exercise (8.45). She also took a second in the vault (8.1).

Freshman Tracey Solomon was the Hawks' leader. She took the vault (8.5), and the bars (7.95). She was second to Rafail in both the beam (7.4) and the floor exercise (8.15).

SOLOMON WAS tops in the all-around point standings with 32. Rafail was second with 31.

Salem got strong support from Sarah Michalik (third all-around with 28 points) and Jackie Huff (fourth all-around with 27.55).

Suzanne Gibbons chipped in a key second-place finish in the bars. Her 7.6 score qualified her for the state regional meet in that event.

Lauri Runk took a third in vault for Harrison (7.7), and Jamie Lyons took third on beam (7.3). Julie Runk took fourth on the floor exercise with a 7.85.

Salem will try to keep its winning streak alive tonight as it travels to No. 1-ranked North Farmington. Harrison (5-6) will host Walled Lake Western tonight.

PLYMOUTH CANTON had a record-shattering performance against Westland John Glenn Wednesday night. The Chiefs set two school records in their 126.1-120.0 win over the Rockets. The 126.1 team score tops a 1983 score of 120.55, and their three-person score of 97 tops the old mark of 95.55.

"All our good scores kind of came together tonight," Canton coach John Cunningham said. "I figured we could possibly score as high as 129 if everyone hit their highs together. But, realistically, I think our scores can fluctuate in the 120s."

The key to the Chiefs score was a season-high 31.55 mark on the balance beam.

"WE'VE NEVER scored that well on the beam," Cunningham said.

The Chiefs took one-two-three on the beam: Linda Beale (8.23), Annette Bryce (8.3) and Carol Horvath (7.85).

Beale was at her season's best. Her all-around score of 33.75 was one-tenth of a point off her own school record. She won all four events, scoring 8.5 in the vault, 8.5 on bars, and an outstanding 8.7 on the floor in addition to her 8.25 on beam.

Bryce took second in bars (8.15) and floor exercise (8.3), in addition to her second on the beam. Her all-around score of 32.55 was her career best.

Others chipping in for the Chiefs include Lisa Lovich, fourth in the vault (7.9) and fifth on floor ex (7.6). Megan McGow, fourth on bars (7.35); and Annmarie Capris, fifth on bars (7.3).

Pam Modson, Farmington Mercy's lone gymnast, also had an outstanding meet. She scored 8.5 on vault, 7.5 on bars, 8.35 on beam, and an 8.85 on floor. Her all-around score of 33.20 was her season's best.

The Chiefs (4-2) travel to Farmington tonight.

Suzanne Gibbons of Salem scores a 7.4 on her beam routine in a meet against Farmington Harrison.

Falcons win

Katie MacIntosh boosted Farmington High to a 109.25-93.15 gymnastics win Thursday over host Walled Lake Central.

Farmington sports a 3-6 dual-meet record.

MacIntosh won all four events en route to all-around honors. She captured the vault (8.15), uneven bars (7.35), balance beam (8.25) and floor exercise (8.2).

She got plenty of help in the vault as teammates Staci Decker and Karen Devine scored 7.45 and 7.4, respectively, to finish second and third.

Devine was also second on bars (6.85) and third on beam (6.7), while Decker captured fourth on bars (4.8) and tied Central's Tricia Barrett for second on floor (7.5).

Another top Farmington gymnast was Debi DeWitt, who placed second on beam (6.7) and third on floor (7.35).

The victorious Falcons return to action against Plymouth Canton, Wednesday at home.

Anne Carlisle, here as Jimmy, plays dual roles (she is also Margaret) in "Liquid Sky."

what's at the movies

'Liquid Sky'

It's a poor copy of Fellini's style

Picture this: World-renowned filmmaker Federico Fellini awakes screaming from his nightmare. "What's wrong?" his wife asks. "Oh, thank goodness, it was a dream," he responds, cold sweat dripping. "They accused me of directing 'Liquid Sky.'"

There's just enough pretentious emphasis on Fellini-like faces in this self-conscious imitation of Warhol and Fassbinder decadence to make such a scenario meaningful.

It is easy to make fun of such utter trash as "Liquid Sky." But it is unsettling to consider why the film was produced, how well it has been marketed and why it has had box office success. It has appeared on Variety's Top 50 chart for the last six months and been doing approximately $4-5 million at the box office.

That's not much by "Star Wars" standards, but it's not bad for a low-budget production by Russian empires.

One of the kindest things to be said about "Liquid Sky" is that its director and co-writer, Slava Tsukerman, who studied film in Moscow under the legendary Kuleshov, should have known better. Since 1976, Tsukerman has been living in New York. If people like him, who make movies like "Liquid Sky," want to emigrate, it's hard to imagine why the Soviet government objects to letting the dissidents go.

WHAT DOES "Liquid Sky" tell us about our culture? Why have so many paid so much to see so bored and offended? Has our culture become perverse and so alienated from human affections that this kind of film is successful and, what is worse, received widespread critical acclaim?

The film is a caricature of German decadence of the 1920s, to which it continually and self-consciously refers. A group of New Wave decadents with limited vocabulary (would you care to guess which two four-letter words?) are doing drugs and raping one another.

An alien who lives in a light-fixture-shaped spacecraft the size of a dinner plate has been attracted by the excessive drug use in the apartment of lead characters Adrian (Paula E. Sheppard) and Margaret (Anne Carlisle). Margaret is a model and Adrian is a foul-mouthed, alienated punk singer.

It develops that the alien grooves on eau d'heroin. We further discover that the human brain exudes a sinister fragrance during orgasm. Mr. Alien digs that as well, turning the individual in question into a psychedelic debris.

Do you believe that? I didn't either, even after sitting through 110 minutes of that stupid story produced with wooden acting, limited musical attraction and the weakness which derives from repetitious psychedelic graphics. Low-budget is one thing, but reusing the same footage is a scam.

Truly offensive.

ANOTHER OFFENSIVE film is "Reckless," the dull, boring, cliched love story of Johnny Rourke (Aidan Quinn) and Tracy Prescott (Daryl Hannah) trying to rise above their small, steeltown environment. It only proves that the success of "All the Right Moves" has spawned a new series: "Escape from Steeltown U.S.A."

I suggest that you all escape from "Reckless," a film made with reckless disregard to entertaining its audience. In a concluding moment of kindness I will note that it was well photographed and 20 times shorter than "Liquid Sky."

Dan Greenberg

BIG CHILL (R). College friends from the 1960s sit around feeling guilty.

BROADWAY DANNY ROSE (PG). Excellent, warm comedy with Woody Allen and Mia Farrow. No need to worry about taking the kids.

GORKY PARK (R). Slick murder mystery set in Moscow. Good entertainment.

LIQUID SKY (R). Aliens searching for ecstasy.

NEVER CRY WOLF (PG). Beautifully photographed tale of Arctic wolves watched by dippy biologist.

SCARFACE (R). Al Pacino in violent gangland story.

SILKWOOD (R). Mary Streep, Kurt Russell and Cher in moving story about Karen Silkwood, plutonium poisoning and union politics.

STAR 80 (R). Mariel Hemingway and her plastic boom in the Dorothy Stratten story.

Michigan National Announces Nationwide Banking.

Introducing the Plus System®

We're pleased to announce our exclusive statewide participation in the nation's largest Automated Teller Machine (ATM) network — the Plus System. Together with 33 other leading banks (including Bank of America, Chase Manhattan and Southeast Bank), we're providing ATM access in 47 states making the Plus System the largest ATM network of its kind.

Within the state, we already offer 7 times more ATMs than any other bank and our participation in Magic Line (ML) enables cardholders to access over 1500 locations all across Michigan.

Our commitment to electronic banking enables our cardholders to enjoy the ultimate in state-of-the-art banking convenience. To take advantage of this commitment of service, we offer three banking cards. Depending on your needs, each card offers distinct advantages in addition to accessing your bank account with 24-hour nationwide banking convenience.

The Michigan Money™ Card

This FREE card is far and away Michigan's most universal and popular banking card. It enables you to do all your routine banking without having to wait in line. You can make deposits, withdrawals, transfers, check your account balances and more whenever it's convenient for you. This card also accesses up to eight separate accounts to help you manage funds easily, in addition to obtaining cash advances on Michigan Bankard™, VISA® and MasterCard™ accounts. For all our customers, Michigan Money offers quick and secure banking service.

The Money Key™ VISA® Card

Only the Money Key VISA card offers you up to a $20,000 unsecured line of credit plus the convenience of ATM banking in one card! For a minimal annual fee, substantially less than other premium credit cards, qualified cardholders can have guaranteed purchasing power plus many other valuable services including access to your Michigan National Corporation Bank checking and savings accounts 24-hours-a-day, 7 days-a-week. Wherever you go, Money Key VISA identifies you as a person of impeccable credit credentials in addition to providing you with the ultimate resource in banking service — all with just one card.

The National Money™ Card

You can actually earn money with this card. For a minimal annual fee, cardholders will receive 10-40% cash rebates deposited to your bank account on the cost of a room at any hotel or motel or at any car rental agency throughout the world. Your card entitles you to free full-service travel agency assistance, 24-hour nationwide access plus $100,000 scheduled air accidental death insurance and much more. To the corporate and leisure traveler, this card enables you to put cash back in your pocket everytime you travel.

If you'd like more information on any of our cards, please fill out the coupon below and mail. We'll send you complete details and an application with no obligation to you. Or if you'd prefer, visit your nearest Michigan National Corporation Bank office.
