The Canton Connection

COP KUDOS: Canton's Lois Thomas found the answer to the proverbial question, "Where are the police when you need them?" recently, Thomas, cafeteria manager at Washtenaw Community College, was on her way to work at 6:05 a.m. when her car sank into "a quagmire of mud" at Denton and Mott Roads. Thomas said she was "out flaging my hands and 15 cars went by before (Canton Officer David LeBlanc) spotted me in the dark and stopped. I could have kissed him." No sooner had LeBlanc radioed Thomas' husband and left, than farmer Bill Hartwood slowed his truck to a stop. "He had a farm rope, and used it to pull me out," said Thomas. "If it weren't for the two of them, I don't know what would have happened. It was dark, and nothing was open."

CANTON CAPERS: Even James Canham, an attorney recently retained by Canton Treasurer Maria Sterlini, is tiring of the Merit Commission investigation of the treasurer. The commission issued a subpoena several weeks ago ordering Sterlini to document her charges that township administrators are guilty of "serious violations of the law." Satisfied the subpoena has been violated, commissioners intend to petition the Canton board for funds to pursue the matter in circuit court. That came to the attention of Canham, who wrote Commissioner Bruce Patterson: "You are going to great public expense to get records that are available to you now at no charge. . . . The whole thing (doesn't) amount to a hill of beans, just some politicians proving how important they are. We agree they are important, but the residents of Canton are probably wondering if their priorities got twisted somewhere along the line."

ATTACKING ARTHRITIS: The Catherine McAuley Health Center is sponsoring a free program on the treatment of arthritis 12:30-2 p.m. tomorrow at the Plymouth Cultural Center in Plymouth. Dr. Dale Baker of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital will discuss medications and their effects. Free blood pressure screening will be available 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. For more information, call 455-3670.

Election dilemma for trustees Weigh demands, rewards

Three Canton Township trustees, torn between job satisfaction and demands placed upon them as trustees, may not seek re-election.

Trustee Steve Larson, 2457 Brookfield, said there's a 50-50 chance he'll run again. "It takes an awful lot of time to do it right," he said.

Larson, a Ford employee, regrets that business trips forced him to miss a few meetings. "It appears I won't have to travel much anymore and if that's the case, I'd consider running again."

Turster Loren Bennett, 3226 Denton, who recently opened his own real estate company, says he'll probably run — barring any health or business problems.

Trustee Bob Padget, 48236 Geddes, said if forced to decide this moment, he'd probably not run. But he speculates that as the weather gets warmer, his attitude will change.

Padget cites job satisfaction as reason enough to run again, but explains the political wrestling matches he's witnessed make him feel otherwise.

"It makes me wonder why I'm a part of this self-inflicted abuse."

THE TRUSTEES point to different issues when asked which matters were the most important to arise during their terms.

Larson, 38, mentions "Supersewer" — a now defunct, massive sewer construction plan. (A revised sewer project called the North Huron Valley system, or "Son of Supersewer," is slated to be built beginning April 1.)

"I vacillated for and against the idea

a couple times," Larson recalls. "My fear was that we'd sink money into it and get nothing in return, which is what eventually happened.

"I've witnessed Canton go from a mushrooming residential community with problems with developers to a community that is now concerned with expanding its tax base and creating jobs in the community," he added.

Bennett, 32, feels the creation of the economic development department has been an important step forward for Canton.

"We have also done a lot to reverse the extra-negative image the township had in the developing community."

Padget, 43, also cites "Supersewer" and "Son of Supersewer" as important issues he's faced. He adds that the industrial picture is still not what it should be.

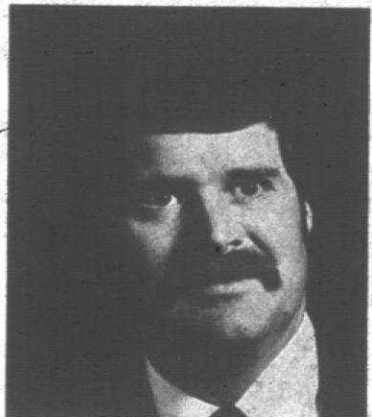

"We need an appropriate balance between industry and residential. If we don't adjust this, we'll tax ourselves right out of our own homes," Padget said.

EACH OF THE trustees credits previous business experiences as important skills they have brought to their position.

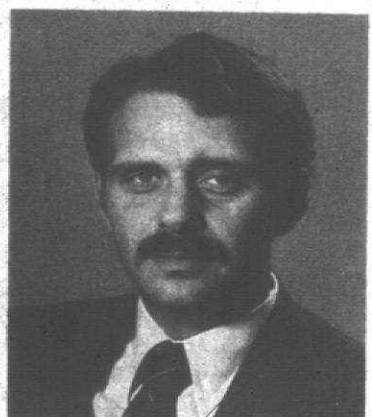

In addition, Larson cites his fiscal conservative attitude as being important in his work as a trustee.

"When you are spending your neighbor's money, you want someone up there who knows we don't have a printing press, and is tight with the dollar."

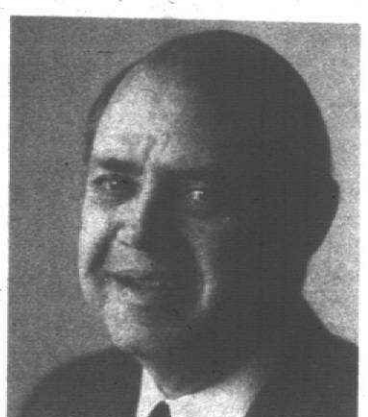

Bennett says that his business mentality has been crucial to his work on the board. Padget mentions his involvement in various community organizations over the years as helping him to understand the governmental process and community needs. In addition he has a degree in finance, works for a large corporation and has lived in Canton all his life.

Home burns

No one was at home when a fire broke out at the home of Phillip and Norma West of 717 Ridge Road north of Cherry Hill Friday. A passerby called firefighters. No one was injured in the blaze, which Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulun estimated caused $45,000-$50,000 in damage. He said the one-story ranch, although damaged extensively, can be salvaged. The cause of the fire, which started "somewhere around the west wall," has not been determined. Eight firefighters used a tanker and pumper to fight the blaze, the latest in a rash of housefires in Canton. "Every month we seem to get our fill. It's been really heavy lately," Paulun said.

State probes school audit

By Sandra Armbruster editor

The state Department of Education will probe "irregularities" found in an audit of the Wayne-Westland school district's 1982-83 student membership count.

That count is used to calculate state aid used for operating expenses by local school districts.

The review will be conducted during an unusual joint audit by the state and the Wayne County Intermediate School District (ISD) of membership figures for the current year in Wayne-Westland. Auditors could begin work as soon as March 1.

"We've never had the state come in before," said Harry Salsinger, director of public relations for the ISD. "We don't know what to expect."

State participation in the audit is being welcomed by district officials.

"Gosh, I think it's fantastic," said Dennis O'Neill, deputy superintendent in Wayne-Westland. "We welcome them down. Our books are open."

Please turn to Page 4

"Our recommendation was that the warrant not be issued because the facts and circumstances surrounding the incident indicate it was totally unfounded," said Sgt. Alex Wilson.

"If anything, I think the Bennett kids owe Mr. Miller an apology."

Call her unpredictable

By Arlene Funke staff writer

Jenny Maternyn cheerfully admits to being unpredictable, one minute working seriously as a sales clerk and the next longing to run off to New Orleans to become a bag lady.

In the past, Maternyn has been a dancer, choreographer, seamstress and college student. She has helped put on plays and served as a scout leader.

Right now, Maternyn is using her skills as a seamstress and tailor to whip up a number of inexpensive, 1830s-era costumes, suitable for Canton's upcoming sesquicentennial ball.

Maternyn has even written a song for the festivities, figuring it's easier to sing sesquicentennial than to say it.

The outfits are typical of clothing worn around the 1830s, when the Canton community was formed. They can be purchased at the Daisies Don't Tell resale shop where Maternyn works.

"I'm an incurable volunteer," Maternyn said. "I'm unpredictable — a gyp-sy."

MATERNYN, WHO has lived in Canton for about 16 years, says she likes active people and enjoys getting involved in their "dreams," helping people meet their goals.

face in the crowd

It is the dream of the sesquicentennial committee that people will wear period costumes to the dinner-dance, to be held Saturday, March 10, at the UAW hall on Michigan Avenue.

Maternyn is helping by doing research and preparing drawings of headgear and clothing for people who want to make their own costumes. She also has modified some outfits, on sale for $7.50 and up at the Daisies Don't Tell on Canton Center south of Joy.

Popular during that period were many styles of bonnets for women, full skirts with pantaloons and petticoats, muffs and capes. Men often wore top hats, while boys wore rompers or knickers.

Maternyn describes her sesquicentennial song as a hillbilly parody about farming life in Canton during the 1830s. She needs sheet music for the guitar which will accompany the song.

ONE ACTIVITY leads to another, Maternyn discovers.

"I don't get involved unless I can do something," said Maternyn, with a smile. "When I get an idea and get hot — I get pushy I mean, I get involved."

Maternyn is a native of Canada. She and her former husband Eugene — nicknamed Yogi — reared three girls and two boys who attended the Plymouth-Canton community schools.

Maternyn's interests evolved from her youth, when she was a dancer. Later, she choreographed dance numbers for television shows in the Toronto area. She worked behind the scenes as a script assistant.

After marrying Eugene, Maternyn came to the United States. She kept busy with scouting activities and serving with the Ukrainian National Women's League, a group which promotes the Ukrainian ethnic heritage.

She helped Eugene run his business, the former Yogi's Hobby Hut in Plymouth. She sewed her family's clothes and choreographed dance numbers for the Plymouth Players.

Warrant denied in Field incident

Prosecuting attorney C. Gerald Hemming Wednesday declined to issue a warrant in connection with an incident at Field Elementary School.

Sandra Bennett, mother of four Field students, filed a complaint with Canton police recently, charging that Field Principal Larry Miller pushed her son to the ground in a squabble involving her children and another student. Miller had suspended 10-year-old Scott Bennett — an action Bennett and her attorney are contesting.

Hemming was advised by Canton police to deny the warrant. Contracted by Canton Township, Hemming serves as prosecutor for misdemeanor cases and ordinance violations arising in the township.

"Our recommendation was that the warrant not be issued because the facts and circumstances surrounding the incident indicate it was totally unfounded," said Sgt. Alex Wilson.

"If anything, I think the Bennett kids owe Mr. Miller an apology."

Several folks attending Canton's upcoming Sesquicentennial Ball will sport circa 1830 dresses and suits created by Jenny Maternyn of Daisies Don't Tell resale shop.

To the editor: I am writing in regard to Mr. Bressler's front page photograph of the Bennett children in the Feb. 16 issue of your paper...

It is true, Mr. Miller refused to comment on his suspension of Scott, not because he did not want to defend himself...

Perhaps Mr. Bressler, in his futile attempt to perform as a responsible journalist and wanting to report the situation accurately...

There is no need for Mr. Miller to defend his position, for it is very evident to members of the board, district administration, his colleagues, and the students and parents he serves daily...

To the editor: I am writing to protest the front page picture and caption in your Feb. 16 edition concerning two students picketing at Field School.

As a mother of two children who attend Field, I know Mr. Miller to be a caring and supportive principal who is interested in each child as an individual and in providing the best possible learning environment for every student...

I find the mother's attitude in this situation shocking. How are children to learn respect for authority if parents condone the child's bad behavior?

Why not report instead on some of the good things that are happening at Field School?

Oakood tops cancer goal

To the editor: As chairman of Oakwood Hospital's first communitywide fund-raising campaign, 'Our Community Commitment to Cancer Care,' I want to report that we have not only met our goal but exceeded it.

With the hospital already investing $1,000,000, our goal was to raise $718,000 of the overall total of $1,718,000 toward the purchase and installation of a simulator and high-energy linear accelerator...

Our final result shows that 1,566 gifts were received for a grant total of $790,959. The additional monies, over our goal, will be used for projects related to the simulator-linear accelerator areas for the benefit of our patients.

This outpouring of support demonstrates the community's willingness to support its hospital. It is also a tribute to the more than 60 community leaders who personally were involved in the campaign.

GLORIOUS APPETIZERS AND DESSERTS FOR OPEN HOUSE ENTERTAINING

When the occasion is special—holidays or any time—you'll want foods as beautiful and delicious, as these extraordinary recipes from Diamond Walnuts and The Reynolds Wrap Kitchens. Crunchy California walnuts enhance many of these delicacies while aluminum foil and oven cooking bags simplify the preparation and ease clean-up. All these foods can be made ahead of the party—a bonus for every hostess.

The Herbed Appetizer Cheesecake nestles in a crunchy crust of walnuts and cracker crumbs. It's sensational spread on crackers or cucumber slices. The recipe makes two and bakes in 5-inch springform pans fashioned from heavy duty aluminum foil. (See diagram.)

An oven cooking bag keeps the Turkey Breast Roll tender and juicy during cooking with no oven spatter or baking pan to clean. Thin slices are delicious on cocktail rye topped with Walnutty Broccoli Spread—a grand creation for many other uses.

Tiny Walnut Chicken Puffs have a fabulous flavor, and the colorful Party Sandwich Loaf has three tasty fillings.

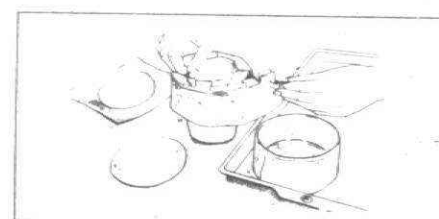

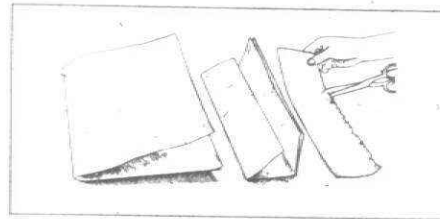

The desserts are irresistible. Orange Carrot Cake, dotted with raisins and crunchy walnuts is nicely spiced and delightfully moist. The fragile Walnut Lace Cookies take a bit of doing but are so glamorous they're worth your time. No need to buy baking pans for the pretty Cranberry Apple Tarts as they are easily made from heavy duty aluminum foil. Whichever dessert you serve will make a grand finale.

Herbed Appetizer Cheesecakes

- | | |
|---------------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1 cup stone ground wheat cracker crumbs | 1/2 teaspoon oregano |
| 1/2 cup finely chopped California walnuts | 1/2 teaspoon thyme |
| 5 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened | 1/2 teaspoon basil |
| 3 (8-ounce) packages cream cheese, softened | 1/8 teaspoon salt |
| 3 eggs, beaten | Parsley, finely chopped |
| 2 tablespoons lemon juice | Radishes, finely chopped |
| 2 garlic cloves, crushed | Cucumber slices |

Make two heavy duty aluminum foil 5-inch Appetizer "Springform" Pans. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Combine cracker crumbs, walnuts and butter until crumbly. Place half of crumb mixture in each pan; press crumbs evenly on bottom and one inch up sides. Place pans on baking sheet and bake for 20 minutes; cool on rack. In large bowl, beat cream cheese; gradually add eggs; beat until smooth. Blend in lemon juice, garlic, herbs and salt. Spoon mixture into pans; spread level. Bake 35 to 40 minutes longer. Cheesecakes will be almost set and cracks will form on top. Cool completely. Just before serving, at room temperature, remove foil sides; garnish with a circle of parsley in center and surround with radishes to the edge. Serve for spreading on crackers or cucumber slices. (Can be stored, in plastic wrap, in your refrigerator up to 3 days.) Makes 2 cheesecakes.

*Appetizer "Springform" Pan: Tear off a 19-inch sheet of heavy duty aluminum foil; fold in half lengthwise. Fold again in thirds to make a 3x19-inch band. On the long edge, make 3/4-inch-deep cuts into foil at 1-inch intervals forming tabs. Set aside. Cut a 5-inch circle out of light cardboard; cover with aluminum foil. Using a can to support circle, bend foil band around it, cut-side up, forming sides. Fold tabs down and attach with clear cellophane tape to circle. Remove can, fold band ends into a seam. Repeat procedure for second pan.

Party Sandwich Loaves

- 1 1-pound unsliced loaf white bread
- 1 1-pound unsliced loaf whole wheat bread
- Butter or margarine, softened
- Corned Beef Filling
- Walnut Cheddar Filling
- Pimiento Cheese Spread
- Walnut halves or large pieces for decoration

Trim crusts from bread and cut 3 lengthwise slices, about 1/2-inch thick, from each loaf. Save trimmings for another use. Butter each slice lightly.

Cover one slice of white and one of whole wheat with the Corned Beef Filling and a slice of each bread with Walnut Cheddar Filling. Stack a whole wheat slice topped with Walnut Cheddar Filling on a white slice with Corned Beef Filling; then top with a buttered white slice. Repeat for second loaf, reversing colors of bread. Frost tops of loaves with Pimiento Cheese Spread. Put remaining spread into pastry bag, fitted with a small star tube; press out a border along upper edges of loaves. Decorate with walnut pieces. Cut a strip of aluminum foil about 25 inches long and fold in thirds lengthwise. Starting from one corner, place the foil around sides and ends of one loaf and fold ends together. Repeat to wrap second loaf. Refrigerate until serving time. Makes 2 loaves about 12 slices each.

Corned Beef Filling: Mix together 1-1/2 cups finely chopped corned beef (1-2 pound), 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1/4 cup prepared sweet pickle, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and 1/2 teaspoon chopped horseradish. Makes about 1-1/2 cups filling.

Walnut Cheddar Filling: Mix together 2 cups (8 ounces) grated sharp cheddar cheese, 1/2 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 cup finely chopped California walnuts, 1-1/2 tablespoons each finely chopped pimiento and parsley, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Makes about 1-1/2 cups filling.

Pimiento Cheese Spread: Soften 4 3-ounce packages cream cheese with pimientos; blend in 1/4 cup milk. Makes about 1-3/4 cups spread for frosting.

Walnut Lace Cookies

- | | |
|-----------------------------|------------------------------------------------|
| 1/2 cup butter or margarine | 1 cup all-purpose flour |
| 2/3 cup granulated sugar | 3/4 cup very finely chopped California walnuts |
| 1/2 cup light corn syrup | |
| 1 tablespoon brandy or milk | |

In a small saucepan, combine butter, sugar, corn syrup and brandy; stir over low heat until butter melts. Remove from heat and stir in flour and walnuts. Cut aluminum foil into 6-inch squares. Place 2 to 4 squares at a time onto baking sheets; lightly grease each square. Drop a slightly rounded teaspoonful of batter on center of each. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 6 to 7 minutes or until cookies are evenly golden. Remove from oven; let stand about a half minute. With metal spatula, loosen edge of one cookie from foil and peel off foil. Quickly roll cookie around handle of wooden spoon to shape. Working quickly repeat with remaining cookies. If cookies become too crisp to roll, return to oven for a few seconds. Makes about 48 cookies.

Note: A second sheet of cookies can be started a few minutes after the first but it is best to work with only a few cookies at a time as they very quickly become too crisp to roll.

Cranberry Apple Tarts

- | | |
|---------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| 3/4 cup butter or margarine, softened | 5 tablespoons all-purpose flour |
| 2 ounces cream cheese, softened | 1/2 tablespoon butter or margarine, cut into small pieces |
| 1/2 cup all-purpose flour | 1/2 cup raisins |
| 1/2 cup light corn syrup | 1/2 cup frozen cranberries |
| 1/2 cup peeled and cored apples | 4 walnut halves and large pieces for decoration |
| 3/4 cup granulated sugar | Sugared whole cranberries for decoration |
| 2/3 cup coarsely chopped California walnuts | |

To make tart shells, cream together well butter and cream cheese. Blend in flour and press into a ball. Cover with plastic wrap and chill 2 hours. Cut 24 circles of heavy duty aluminum foil (3-1/2 inches in diameter). Keeping dough chilled, shape 24 balls from dough. Press out each ball to cover foil circle. With thumb and forefinger, form star shapes by pinching edge of each circle at 5 points. Transfer to baking sheets.

To make filling, combine cranberries, apple, sugar, walnuts, flour and butter. Spoon a rounded tablespoonful into each tart shell. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 20 minutes or until pastry is browned lightly. Cool on wire racks.

To serve, decorate each tart with whipped cream and walnut halves or large pieces of sugared whole cranberries. Makes 24 tarts.

Note: To freeze baked tarts, cool completely, wrap in heavy duty aluminum foil. To serve, thaw uncovered at room temperature for 30 minutes, reheat at 350 degrees F. for 15 minutes. Cool before decorating.

Take mystery out of cake baking; it's science not art

Cake-baking is as much a science as an art. For this reason, knowing the why and whereof of its various ingredients, equipment and processes can not only help the home baker produce a better finished product but can aid him or her in the attempt to alter and create recipes to suit personal tastes and fancies.

Actually, for all the mystery that surrounds and all too often veils the baking process, a very few, relatively simple scientific principles are at work which, once mastered, are easily applied.

The technique of making cake batter rise is an example of this. For a cake to be light, rising is a necessity. This means incorporating air and air spaces into it.

This is done in a variety of ways, using baking soda, baking powder or stiffly beaten egg whites, depending on the nature of the cake being made.

Baking soda, once it has been incorporated into a mixture and heated, gives off carbon dioxide gas, which expands and takes up space within the cake batter, creating air pockets as the gas escapes.

Because the batter is solidifying at the same time, these air pockets remain in the finished product, providing the lightness we associate with a skillfully prepared cake.

Baking powder, which works in a similar fashion, is a blend of baking soda, cream of tartar and a stabilizer, which helps prevent a premature reaction between the two active ingredients. The reason for adding the cream of tartar in the first place is that helps accelerate the leavening effect of the baking soda.

Because both baking soda and baking powder have a noticeable taste, they are not generally used in delicately flavored cakes. For these, the preferred method of aerating is by gently folding into the batter stiffly beaten egg whites.

ANYONE WHO has ever worked with egg whites knows how greatly they expand when beaten. This is because air is being incorporated into the mixture.

Inevitably, when the softly peaked egg whites are folded into a batter, some of the air is lost. However, the more quickly and delicately this operation is accomplished, the better the final results will be.

Bear in mind that the pans you use will affect your final result. Shiny metal pans tend to be cooler than those which have been coated with a dull black finish, which absorbs more of the oven's radiant energy.

The latter are preferable in most cases because when they are used a cake's top and bottom tend to cook more evenly.

Another alternative is baking dishes made of tempered glass. These allow the oven's heat to pass right through, causing the food inside to get hotter than it would in a metal pan, thus cooking more quickly.

If you use glass baking dishes, therefore, you should be sure to reduce the oven heat specified by the recipe between 10 and 25 degrees.

It's a truism that bears repeating that the ingredients which are used have an important effect on the finished product. As you would not expect an inferior cut of meat to turn into a fine filet mignon when broiled, you can't expect the wrong kind of flour, stale ingredients, artificial flavorings or compromise substitutes to somehow work together to become a first-rate cake.

In other words, if a recipe calls for butter, neither margarine nor vegetable shortening will produce the same results, and imitation vanilla flavoring is a distant second to real vanilla extract.

IT'S ALSO important to use the right kind of flour. All-purpose flour is a compromise, a blend of the hard wheat flours (high in gluten) which are better for bread-baking and the soft wheat flours (lower in gluten) which are preferred for cakes.

Therefore, while adequate, it provides exceptional results for neither breads nor cakes.

Soft wheat flour, which is generally marketed as "pastry flour" or "cake flour," is far preferable for cake-making, as it results in a better textured end product.

And, speaking of flour, do not sift unless specified by the recipe you're using, as that will throw off the accuracy of your measurements, and alter the texture and lightness of your cake.

Another important note: bring eggs to room temperature, before beating or incorporating into a batter, to prevent curdling, which can make the cake's texture tough.

One problem shared by a multitude of cake-makers is that ingredients such as raisins and nuts stubbornly tend to congregate at the bottom of the cake, instead of being spread throughout.

There's a simple way of forestalling this: coating all such ingredients in flour, because it absorbs some of their surface moisture which is increased during baking, helps deter them from sinking.

If your cakes tend to stick to the pan they've been baked in, take heart, for a simple solution can be as near as your utility drawer.

GOLDEN GENOISE
Makes 12 servings
3 oz. (3/4 cup) cake flour, unsifted
1 1/2 oz. (1/2 cup) cornstarch, unsifted
12 egg yolks
7 oz. (1 cup) superfine sugar
1 tsp. vanilla

NOTE: This cake is so moist it does not need syrup. It has a crunchy, meringue-like crust and is delicious to eat plain. After having been frozen for several weeks it still retains a fresh-baked quality if it is brought to room temperature.

Beef sandwiches fit to please a crowd

Several generations ago, hearty meals were a must for the everyday physical demands were much greater than they are today.

Today, however, modern technology has made life easier and, as a result, meals need to be lighter. Fortunately, beef has also changed with the times. Today's beef is still an important source of many valuable nutrients, but it is leaner, making it an excellent choice for mealtime in the '80s.

Modern cooks find it easy to include beef in meal plans for there are dozens of cuts available that can be prepared in a variety of ways. If it's a crowd you're cooking for, treat them to the fun and flavor of Chicago-Style Italian Beef Sandwiches.

CHICAGO-STYLE ITALIAN BEEF SANDWICHES
4-lb. boneless beef rump roast
3 cups water
2 tsp. Italian seasoning
2 beef bouillon cubes
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. freshly ground pepper
1/4 tsp. crushed red pepper

Place roast, fat side up, on rack in open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so bulb is centered in thickest part. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) until meat thermometer registers 135 degrees. Allow 20 to 25 minutes per pound. Remove roast to a large platter. Pour drippings into 1-cup measure, skim off fat and discard. Reserve drippings. Cover roast and refrigerate until chilled. To prepare seasoned cooking liquid, combine drippings, water, Italian seasoning, bouillon cubes, garlic, salt, pepper and crushed red pepper in Dutch oven or large saucepan. Bring to boil, add green peppers and onion and simmer, covered, 20 minutes. Meanwhile, carve roast across the grain into thin slices or cover with moist slicer. Remove seasoned liquid from heat. Add sliced beef, cover and let stand 6 to 8 minutes, stirring once. Serve on crusty rolls, 12 servings.

Erich Hartnett played brilliantly in Salem's loss to Livonia Churchill Friday night. His dazzling layup with 10 seconds left put the Rocks ahead 54-53, but the Chargers scored at the buzzer to win.

Say it ain't so Rocks jolted from tournament

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

It has been a year of miracles for the Livonia Churchill athletic program. First, the Charger football team undefeated defending state champion Farmington Harrison, 13-12. And now this.

With just three seconds left in the game, Churchill's Craig Hunter launched a 30-foot jump shot that swished through the twine to defeat No. 1-ranked Plymouth Salem, 55-54, in the opening round of the Western Lakes conference tournament.

It was the third game Churchill has won with Hunter draining a shot at the buzzer.

The Chargers' victory leaves the Western Lakes title completely up for grabs. Salem, with a 15-2 record coming into the tournament, was the odds-on favorite to win it.

"THIS IS a total Churchill victory," said Charger coach Don Albertson, accepting congratulations from parents and students. "Everyone in this program contributed to this victory — the scorekeepers, the statisticians, the trainers, the players, and the coaches. It is a sweet win."

Churchill, now 11-7 on the season, was upset Tuesday night by Livonia Franklin. It's been that kind of year in Observerland basketball.

The torrid outside shooting of John Grzybek and the strong inside play of Redford St. Mary transfer Scott Hille, paced the Chargers' throughout the game.

Grzybek, hitting five of 12 shots, scored 14 points and also contributed some sparkling assists off the fast-break. Hille, with a combination of shots from inside and outside, tallied a game-high 21 points. He scored six of the Chargers' nine points in the fourth quarter.

Salem was led by the fine all-around play of senior Erich Hartnett. He scored 20 points, grabbed 12 rebounds and dished three assists. Rick Berberet helped with 18 points and 10 rebounds. LeSean Haygood came off the bench to contribute 12 rebounds as Salem enjoyed a 45-26 edge on the glass.

Churchill's fastbreak attack took control of the game early. The Chargers led 17-10 after a quarter. But, the Rocks battled back to gain a 29-29 tie at half.

"EARLY IN the game, we did not deal with their break at all," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "They got a lot of opportunities to score quick, easy baskets and put us in a position where we would have to fight and scratch from behind. We used up a lot of energy coming from behind."

After outscoring Churchill 12-4 in the final four minutes of the first half, it appeared Salem had gained the momentum. But, Churchill assumed command of the game again in the third quarter.

Albertson credited a constantly switching defense with befuddling the Rock offense.

"We switched between three different defenses," Albertson said. "We used the Churchill zone which everyone is still trying to figure out, a man-to-man and a 2-3 zone. The kids really wanted this one badly as far as playing defense goes."

Thomann said the Charger defenses didn't bother his experienced team.

"No, I don't think that was the problem," Thomann said. "We are pretty good at recognizing defenses. We made the right adjustments."

Churchill scored the final eight points of the third quarter to take a 45-40 lead into the final eight minutes.

SALEM'S TOUGH man-to-man defense stiffened, holding the Chargers scoreless in the first four minutes of the final quarter. A Berberet jumper tied the score at 45 and a rebound basket by Hartnett put the Rocks ahead 47-45 with 4:15 left in the game. Albertson called time out.

"I just told them that it was silly to play 28 minutes of tough basketball and not win the game. If you play the final four minutes like you did the first 28 you'll be OK," he said.

Hille then got hot. He hit two long jumpers and a pair of free throws to put Churchill up 53-49 with 1:10 left.

Hartnett hit a jumper to pull the Rocks within two with 53 seconds left. Thomann called timeout and set up a full court press. The press immediately forced a turnover.

After two misses, Hartnett was fouled underneath the hoop. He hit the first one and missed the second. On the rebound, Haygood and Hille tied each other up. Haygood, with a seven-inch height advantage won the jump but the tip was stolen by Churchill's Bob Foust. Thomann argued that Foust moved early on the jump, but his complaints fell on deaf ears.

With 23 seconds left, and Churchill up by a point, Hunter missed badly on the front end of a one-and-one. Hartnett rebounded, drove the length of the court, through the Charger zone, hit the layup to put the Rocks ahead 54-53 and was fouled.

BUT FOUL shooting had plagued the Rocks throughout the contest. They were an icy four of 14 from the line, two of seven in the fourth quarter.

Hartnett failed to convert the three-point play and Albertson got a timeout with eight seconds left.

"We figured they would try to pick for Grzybek, which they did," Thomann said. "We had him double teamed. You've got to give the kid credit. He made a helluva shot. I can't think of a better place we'd want him to take it from."

Unable to get the ball to Grzybek, Hunter, who made just two of eight shots in the game and had just fired an airball on a free throw attempt, swished the 30-footer to win the game.

"I looked inside and nobody was open," said Hunter. "I knew I had to shoot it. I was just lucky it went in. It takes a lot to beat a team like Salem."

Rock faithful claim Chiefs get all the ink

OH BOY. I got a poem in the mail the other day. Thought I'd share it with you. It's written in a tender, free-form verse. Those sensitive to such artistry should have a weeping towel ready. Here it goes:

Rock cagers score KO...
Story at 11??

Observer you stink!!!
Another shaft to the Salem
Rocks basketball team.

Rod McKuen hasn't a thing to worry about.

The poem was signed, "Salem students". I wouldn't expect anyone to have guts enough to sign their name to that.

I have now received four anonymous letters from irate Salem basketball supporters. At least they claim to be as such. They must all be ashamed of being a Salem fan. Why else wouldn't they sign the letters? What do they think, I'll put a contract out on them?

ANYWAY, THEY are upset because they feel this newspaper has given too much ink to the exploits of the Plymouth Canton Chiefs and too little to the mighty Rocks. Some have suggested I am a Canton High graduate. Some suggest that I have a personal vendetta against the Rocks. Some suggest that because Salem is No. 1 in Observerland we ignore them.

What nonsense.

I have no personal vendetta against the Rocks. I believe, and have said publicly, that coaches Fred Thomann and Bob Blohm are the best in the area, if not the state. I also get along well with the players — regardless of what they say behind my back.

I am not a graduate of Canton. I have no personal attachment to any school in the Plymouth-Canton district. I am a graduate of Inkster Cherry Hill and Eastern Michigan University.

Now that all that has been set aside, here's the truth about the Plymouth Observer's basketball coverage this season. It has been fair and, with the exception of one somewhat tragic and embarrassing mistake, complete.

We have written 18 by-line boys basketball stories so far this season. That is, stories in which an Observer staffer has attended the game. Of those 18 stories, nine have been Canton stories and, counting Friday night's game, nine have been Salem stories.

NOW THAT'S pretty unfair coverage isn't it. I personally have covered 20 boys basketball games this season. I have seen Salem play five times and Canton five.

We rely on coaches to phone in the results of the games we cannot attend. Every game has been reported upon — even those games in which Salem forgot to phone in.

The embarrassing mistake occurred last Monday. Because of an error, the Salem-Walled Lake Central game story did not appear, though the headline, "Rock cagers score KO", did. The story ran Thursday.

The coverage this season has been fair and equal to both schools, and I think that's what has some of the Rock faithful miffed.

You see, in past years, Salem has dominated the park hoop scene. The Rocks, naturally, got all the headlines because they always won. Canton didn't because the Chiefs generally lost.

Elijah Rogers (with ball) goes up for two points Friday in the Chiefs win against Livonia Bentley.

Chiefs rout Dogs, Spartans next

Plymouth Canton's cagers exploded in the second half to turn a close game into a romp as they handily defeated Livonia Bentley, 71-59 Friday in the first round of the Western Lakes Conference playoffs.

The Chiefs trailed by a point, 32-31 at the half, but outscored the Bulldogs 19-11 in the third quarter to take control of the game.

Three players hit in double figures to pace a balanced scoring attack.

Jim Schlicker pumped in 22 points to lead Canton (13-5). Mark Bennett played his usual fine all-around game, contributing 15 points, 14 assists and eight rebounds. Gary Thomas added 10 and Mike Jennings and Elijah Rogers had eight apiece.

"I thought we played very well," Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner said. "It was a total team effort."

Bentley's Phil Graczyk led all scorers with 25 points and John White added 11.

Both teams were impressive from the foul line. Canton canned 17 of 26 while the Bulldogs made 19 of 25.

Bentley fell to 7-10 overall with the loss.

CLARENCEVILLE 44, HAM-TRAMCK 42: The Trojans turned in their best performance of the year as the frontliners sparkled in a Metro Conference encounter Thursday night.

Jeff Vakratsis, a 6-1, 200-pound junior center, made an impressive first start with 13 points and eight rebounds. Tim Spencer, a 6-4 senior forward, added 13 points, including seven in the decisive fourth quarter. He also added nine rebounds and six assists. The other forward, Paul Voytovich, shined defensively.

"It was our last home game and we played our best game of the year by far," said Clarenceville coach Paul Clough. "Our stats have us outrebounding them 32-23 and they (Hamtramck) are much bigger than we are. The have some leapers, but we kept them out of the there by forming a triangle around the basket. Spencer and Voytovich are seniors and they played really well."

Brett Lang scored 19 points in a losing cause for the Cosmos, now 9-9 overall and 4-7 in conference play.

Clarenceville, despite hitting just 10 of 24 free throws, increased its record to 4-15 overall and 3-8 in the league.

PLYMOUTH CHRISTIAN 46, ROEPER 32: The Eagles didn't play particularly well Friday, but still managed to get by Birmingham

Roeper to record their third consecutive win.

"Overall, we didn't play well," Eagles' coach Butch DeRenzo said. "But we played well in spurts and were able to control the tempo of the game."

Rod Windle led the Eagles with 14 points and five assists. Pat McCarthy played a fine all-around game, adding nine points, seven rebounds and six assists.

After leading by only five at the break, 22-17, the Eagles got hot in the second half, hitting nine of 13 field goal attempts.

"We went to a delay offense in the second half, taking only good shots," DeRenzo said.

The Eagles (6-12) were also tough on the boards, outrebounding Roeper 44-36 in the contest.
