The decision whether to bind Plymouth Township resident Floyd Daugherty over to Wayne Circuit Court on two manslaughter with a motor vehicle charges will be made today. Daugherty (above) broke down and cried at last Thursday's preliminary examination before 35th District Court Judge James Garber. He is charged in the deaths of a Canton couple.

Tests to show whether crash involved alcohol

By Marie Chestney
staff writer

Thursday's preliminary exam of a Plymouth Township man accused in the traffic deaths of a Canton couple was recessed until 2 p.m. today because a blood analysis report had not yet been received from the Michigan State Police.

The missing police crime lab report should show whether Floyd Daugherty, 51, had been drinking May 27 when he allegedly broadsided a car containing Richard Cameron, 32, and his pregnant wife Cynthia, 31.

Also absent from Thursday's exam before 35th District Court Judge James Garber, where large yellow MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Drivers) buttons were worn by numerous spectators, was the St. Mary Hospital nurse who took blood samples from Daugherty after the three-car accident.

Both the state police report and the nurse's testimony are expected today. Garber Thursday also continued Daugherty's $10,000 personal bond.

DAUGHERTY is charged with two counts of manslaughter with a motor vehicle in the deaths of the young couple. Each felony manslaughter charge carries a maximum 15-year sentence upon conviction.

Police charge that Daugherty was drunk when he ran a red light at the Sheldon Road-Ann Arbor Trail intersection and broadsided the Cameron car, which was southbound on Sheldon.

At the exam, Plymouth Police traffic officer Robert Henry testified he smelled the odor of alcohol on Daugherty's breath when he examined him in his pickup truck minutes after the crash.

Police originally said that a blood test taken at St. Mary's showed Daugherty's blood alcohol count to be 0.16. A driver with a reading of 0.10 is considered legally drunk.

Daugherty, a retiree from the Detroit Transmission Division of General Motors, broke down and cried in court when Henry recounted a conversation which took place at the hospital after the accident.

"He wanted to know if he was in trouble, and I told him two people were dead," Henry said. "He seemed confused."

LIVONIA resident Frances Nadol, mother of Cynthia, also broke down and cried and left the courtroom when a witness to the accident described the condition of the two bodies after the accident.

Richard died almost instantly after the crash; his wife and the couple's unborn baby died en route to St. Mary's.

Dr. Lloyd Reich, a forensic pathologist with the Wayne County Medical Examiner's office, testified that tests showed no alcohol was present in the bodies of either Richard or his wife.

'They never drank anything except Coke and coffee and I don't think any of their friends drank.'

— Anne Cameron
mother of victim

The couple, who were expecting the birth of their first child within days, apparently were returning to their Canton home after an evening with friends.

Both Frances Nadol and Redford Township resident Anne Cameron, mother of Richard, said outside the courtroom they would have been surprised if tests had showed otherwise.

"While she was pregnant, she never drank, not even wine," said Nadol.

"They never drank anything except Coke and coffee and I don't think any of their friends drank," said Cameron.

Daugherty, grey-haired, balding and dressed in court in a red-checked sport shirt and green work pants, has a nearly perfect driving record, with no previous drunk driving arrests, Henry said.

Daugherty, a 30-year resident of the northwest area of Plymouth Township, said he got a ticket for a rolling stop in Plymouth about 20 years ago. The father of three, he worked as a utility man for General Motors for 28 years.

Daugherty's wife, Nancy, 48, a machine operator at Plymouth's Vico Products Co., was hospitalized at St. Mary's after the accident and subsequently released. Daugherty also was hospitalized briefly.

Court to Canton: License group home builders

By Margaret Neubacher
staff writer

Canton Township officials have been ordered by a Wayne County Circuit Court judge to grant a building permit to companies planning to build a group home for the retarded on Dionne Street in the south end of the township.

Circuit Judge Marianne Battani issued the order June 1, after hearing a lawsuit brought by Transition XXIX and Domel Inc., the companies planning to build the home.

Township Building Inspector Aaron Machnik issued the building permit to Transition XXIX and Domel Inc. last week, allowing them to begin construction work on Dionne Street.

When the township initially denied their application, the companies filed suit against Canton, charging that refusal was "intentional and malicious" and asked for $10,000 plus in damages.

Canton Township attorney C. Gerald Hemming says he will not appeal the court's decision.

"I think it's probably a proper decision," Hemming said. "Demand for damages was dropped and the judge allowed us to continue with other litigation involving group homes."

The township contends that the state is allowing too many group homes to be built here. For that reason, and because Canton had a group home lawsuit pending against the Michigan Department of Social Services, it denied the building permit on Dionne.

According to state figures, 11 group homes have been built in Canton.

"WE HAVE three times the county average," said Charles Goff, resident of Dionne Street.

"In Wayne County, group home residents make up .6 percent of the population. In Canton Township, group home residents make-up 2.2 of the population," Goff explained.

Two names were omitted from a list of those who filed for local office Tuesday. The first, John Prencizky, is a Republican candidate for trustee and an 11-year resident of Canton Township.

A 10-year manager with Ford Motor Co., Prencizky has served Canton's Recreation Advisory Committee. This is his first bid for office.

Norma West, a Canton Public Library director, was among six incumbents who filed for re-election.

Bunyea recalls days when corn was gold

By W.W. Edger
staff writer

I sure would like to go back to the good old days.

These words were spoken in a serious voice by Wilford Bunyea as he rose from the luncheon table in Plymouth to go back to his home on Powell Road in Plymouth Township to enjoy another afternoon of retirement.

The good old days "to him meant the days when he cultivated 300 acres of farmland and was one of the largest growers of sweet corn in the area.

Now he raises it.

Even son Guy Bunyea has turned his back on sweet corn and concentrates on raising pumpkins out on Powell Road.

There was a time when all the corn used at the Fall Festival by Plymouth Rotary was raised on the Plymouth acreage. To make certain the corn would be right for the big day three fields of seven acres each were selected and each field was watched. Then as the festival neared the best section was chosen so that the corn was ripe, sweet and juicy on Festival Day.

Now, because of the falling off of the raising activity, most of the corn is purchased outside and brought into Plymouth on the night before it goes on sale.

In fact some of the old-timers claim the area produced more corn than the state of Iowa which long held the title as the corn capital.

As he looks out the window of his home now, Bunyea can envision some of the other great corn growers. There was Deneel Cochran down in South Lyons who had more than 300 acres of the much sought after ears of golden corn each year.

Another was Gene Rowe in Belleville who still raises corn, but not nearly in the volume of the good old days.

Wilford is retired now. Mrs. Bu-

TENNIS TOES

QUESTION: I have a sore toe and a blackened toenail. A friend of mine took one look at it and said it was "tennis toe." The thing is I've never held a tennis racket in my life. I play handball. What is it really?

ANSWER: It might actually be "tennis toe." It's a condition that develops from playing any number of court sports including racquetball, basketball and handball. It comes from rapid starting and stopping. The most prominent toe is repeatedly jammed against the front of the sneaker causing damage to the nail and the area around it.

including both mothers, wore MADD buttons at the exam.

Also present in court were John Kopa, newly elected president of the Wayne County Chapter of MADD; chapter vice president Ralph Shufeldt; Sue Landis, wife of past chapter president Lee Landis, and numerous chapter members.

Shufeldt said he didn't think Daugherty deserved to get the full 15-year penalty.

My personal opinion is that the maximum sentence is not called for if he is guilty," Shufeldt said. "But he should get enough of a sentence to act as a deterrent to others. How much jail time is called for? I don't know. I'm not a judge."

The Cameron family has hired the Detroit law firm of Fitzgerald, Hodgman, Kazul, Rutledge, Carwithorne and King, P.C. to represent them in a possible civil lawsuit. Daugherty's attorney is Marvin Blake of Dearborn.

ST. CLAIR SHORES resident Thomas Poremba, 29, testified he was traveling eastbound on Ann Arbor Trail and had stopped for a red light when he saw the lights of a truck traveling westbound on Ann Arbor Trail.

Poremba said he "anticipated" an accident because the truck didn't slow down.

"I sounded my horn to alert the driver to stop, but he didn't slow down," Poremba said. "There was a southbound car on Sheldon and the two impacted. The front part of the truck collided with the Datsun almost dead center."

Poremba said the Cameron car then crashed into his and both cars were pushed to the curb. The truck came to a stop about 50 feet beyond the two cars, he said.

I ran to the Datsun and saw two people a male face up on the pavement and a woman partly on top of him. His legs were still inside the car on the driver's side, her feet were still on the passenger's side.

Police said the Camerons were not wearing seatbelts.

Neither Poremba, whose parents live in Plymouth Township, nor his wife were injured in the crash.

PLYMOUTH resident Scott Wickens, 20, testified he had followed the truck from Main Street in Plymouth to the intersection.

"I was slowing down for the light and he sped up," Wickens said of Daugherty. "He hit the car going southbound. The light was still red at the time of the collision."

Wickens said he could identify Daugherty as the driver because he got close enough behind him while driving to see the back of his head.

Henry testified he requested and got a search warrant from the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office to take samples of Daugherty's blood at the hospital. He said Daugherty gave his consent to the hospital to draw blood without the warrant having to be served.

Daugherty's attorney questioned whether Daugherty knew fully what he was doing when he gave his consent.

The officer said he was confused. Daugherty can't read or write. The officer told him he was in trouble. I have a strong question about the true voluntariness of the so-called consent. The man was injured, fearful. There was a search warrant, followed by a nurse who intimidated him. I can't say this man knowingly and voluntarily waived anything."

Daugherty's attorney questioned whether Daugherty knew fully what he was doing when he gave his consent.

drives to call attention to the "unfair concentration" of group homes in Canton Township.

"It's unfair, unjust, and as far as I'm concerned, it's immoral," said Goff, who lives 300 yards from the proposed group home site on Dionne Figures provided by James Quigley, director of the DSS division of adult foster care licensing, compare Canton to other nearby townships.

Bloomfield Township (population 42,532) has one small group home. CANTON (population 48,616) has 11. Northville Township (population 13,194) has one small group home. Plymouth Twp. (population 22,469) has three. West Bloomfield Township (population 41,962) has 11 small group homes.

The issue of an excessive number of group homes prompted Canton officials to file suit against the Department of Social Services in 1981. A Wayne County Circuit Court judge ruled in favor of Canton.

DSS had the decision reversed by the state Court of Appeals. The case is now waiting to be heard by the State Supreme Court.

A similar suit brought by Livonia against DSS was recently heard by the high court. A final decision is not expected for several months.

ship has been granted a June 20 hearing before an administrative judge to present complaints against the DSS.

Basically the issues involved are the same (as those presented in the 1981 case), Hemming explained. "If we lose here, we can file in circuit court."

According to Hemming, there is a reason for the separate but related legal actions.

litigation. Complaints not yet brought to court would be left unresolved.

"If not all, the vast majority of group homes in Canton are represented in suit at this time," Hemming said.

According to Goff, there are plans to mount a petition drive for a statewide vote to require allocating of group homes to communities on the basis of population and community size.

Cruce-Berman deal keeps Job Corps alive

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Two Oakland County legislators - a Republican senator and a Democratic representative - cut a deal that could give the Michigan Job Corps two years of life.

Applications are being accepted at Michigan Employment Security Commission offices. Despite the compromise, Cruce and Berman are cool to each other's plans. Berman called it a "take the money and run" deal because the administration is concerned about starting hiring as soon as possible for the $17.9-million program.

Youth Corps seeks workers

The Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) is accepting applications for the Michigan Youth Corps program. The 102 MESC locations throughout Michigan, including the local office on Joy in Canton, are the only sites where young people can apply for the Youth Corps. A cure for hard times and deficits

Walking along the river of printers ink a fellow can notice that life takes some peculiar but interesting twists. For the past few years we have been burdened with the high cost of living, the huge deficits that have the government bogged down and the feeling that there was little relief in sight.

During those days the diners thought nothing of paying $1.50 for a slice of pie for desert. Neither did they complain about paying $1.25 for a dish of soup that was mostly water.

And in many cases, they just smiled when paying $2.50 to see one of the latest movies or when looking at the price tag on a suit of clothes hanging in the window. Even if the tag called for the payment of $265.

These things were just met with the remark, "I wonder when it will stop?" Then something unusual happened. The major league baseball season opened and Tiger Stadium became the mecca for the populace. And when the Tigers got off to a record-breaking flying start, the high cost of living, the deficits and the price of pie or the movies was forgotten.

THE SAME folks who complained about prices for worldly goods started paying $9 for box seats at the stadium and fought to get them.

As the Tigers march on victoriously the crowds grew larger. Not only did they come from outstate in buses, and from all directions, but they crossed state lines and the Detroit River to get a glimpse of them in action.

Once inside the stadium, it mattered little the high price of the hot dogs or pizzas. That was taken as part of the

AN OFF-DUTY

Westland police officer accidentally fired a .38-caliber pistol in the living room of his mobile home on Geddes Road last week. The officer told police he had been practicing dry fire with dummy rounds when somehow a live round was placed in the gun. The bullet went through the living room window, breaking it, but no one was hurt in the incident.

are at it again. A cashier at the Quik Pik on Lilley Road reported that two white men entered the store about 2 a.m. They grabbed a 12-pack of Miller's and one bag of Ruffles potato chips and ran off without paying for the merchandise. Beer was husted from Stroller remembers the time Michigan qualified for the Rose Bowl — the tops in past season games and an elderly lady in the supermarket turned to him and asked, "You have been watching Michigan. What do you think they will do in the Rose Bowl?" Just listening to the question was unusual because the elderly lady must have been close to her 90s. Yet sports was on her mind.

the first time the Tigers have been the cure for "hard times and budget deficits." At the height of the Depression in the early '30s, they came through with a pennant their first in 25 years — and the fans went daffy over them.

It was much the same in 1968 when the Tigers won again and the fans paraded and celebrated well into the night.

Youth ignites area best Rock sprint squad is Observerland's best

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

IT'S HARD to believe that Jerry Young has been coaching track at Farmington High School since 1967. He just doesn't look that old.

Physical appearances aside, though, Young is "the ol' coach" among his younger colleagues. He has endured many a trying season with the blue and white — and some fairly outstanding ones.

But this past girls track season, the fifth for Young, was an absolute charm. The Falcons posted a 7-2 dual-meet record, second best in the Western Lakes Division. More importantly, the Falcons tied for first with Farmington Harrison in the league meet and pulled a stunning upset victory in the Redford Union Relays, outpointing favored Pontiac Northern.

THE SEASON was capped last Saturday at the state meet. Four Falcons qualified, four Falcons scored.

"I really can't ask for anything more from the kids," said Young, who added that this was the most success his teams have enjoyed since 1971.

Because of his success this year, and because of his 17 years of dedication to his sport, the ol' coach will wear still another moniker — Observerland Girls Track Coach of the Year for 1984.

Young heads up a talent-laden All-Area team, selected by area coaches, which features three of his Falcon competitors. Here's a look at the 1984 Observerland girls track team:

FIELD EVENTS

Shot put: Westland John Glenn's Anna Parish has been on top of the Observerland rankings all season with her 39-foot-8½-inch toss. The junior took a third place at the state meet with a 38-6½ toss. She was the Northwest Suburban League champion also.

Discus: Beth Sherman of Farmington won honors here, coming on strong in the latter half of the season to overtake teammate Terri Quenneville. Sherman's best toss was 117-9 this season. She holds the Falcon record at 119-9. The senior placed fifth at state, second in the regional, and first at both the Western Lakes meet and the Oakland County meet.

High jump: Another Falcon takes honors here. Sambia Shivers, a junior transfer student from Bishop Borgess, had the rare ability to go that one step higher than the competition. Her best jump, 5-4, came in the state meet and got her a fifth-place medal. She won the regional (5-2), the Western Lakes (5-3) and the RU Relay (5-3). She was second in Oakland County.

Long jump: Lauri Runk was a critical performer for Farmington Harrison. On many occasions, she was good for 20 points a meet. As the season wore on, her strength in jumping events far overshadowed her abilities on the track. The junior's best leap was 17-1½ — a Hawk record. She placed seventh in the state, and second at both the regional and Western Lakes meet.

TRACK EVENTS

110-meter hurdles: Sophomore Lisa Dominato was the leading scorer for Livonia Franklin this year. Her best time was 16.1 and none of her Observerland opponents beat her head to head. She holds three Franklin records, was the Livonia City Meet champ, the Northwest Suburban champ and took a fourth at the regional.

300 hurdles: The hurdle events are dominated by super sophomores and Harrison's Jamie Holcomb is the area's premier 300 hurdler with her best time of 46.0. She holds the Hawks' 300 record, was a regional champion and placed second at both the Western Lakes and Oakland County meets.

100 dash: Bishop Borgess was near the top of the area rankings all season partly because of an awesome sprint

all-area girls' track team. Leading that team was junior Londreann Washington. Washington's best time was 12.4 — which gave her a share of the school record. Making her second straight appearance on the All-Area team, Washington was all-Catholic, placed second at RU, third in the region and fourth in the Operation Friendship Meet.

200 dash: Terri Ford, another sophomore, can be as good as she wants to be, according to Farmington Hills Our Lady of Mercy coach Bob Kirkland. In just her first year of track competition, Ford tied the Mercy 200 record (26.3) three times. She took a first at the Catholic League meet and a third at the regional. She is a truly gifted athlete, competing in both basketball and track.

400 run: Joan Arndt posed a big problem for the Livonia Ladywood coaches. Because she could run, and win, in about every event, the coaches didn't always know which four events to enter her. (Tough problem, isn't it?) The freshman placed third in the Class B state meet after winning the regional. She also anchored the Class B state champion 1,600 relay team for Ladywood. She was the Catholic League champ. Her best time in the 400 was 58.07.

800 run: Another member of that state champion 1,600 relay team for Ladywood was junior Sue Willey, who also happens to be the area's best 800 runner. Her best time of 2:21.8 was five seconds faster than the second-best 800 runner. Willey never lost a dual-meet race, took first in the Catholic meet and fifth in the regional.

1,600 run: Talk about saving your best for last. Livonia Churchill's Julie Recla ran in the 5:24.0-range most of the season. Until the state meet. There she set a school record with her fifth-place time of 5:09.1, 12 seconds faster than the closest area miler. Recla, a four-year standout for the Chargers, won the 1,600 and 3,200 in the Western Lakes, and won the regional. She was also an All-Area cross country performer, and an honor student.

3,200 run: Farmington's Jenny Lindbert was a force all season in both the
