"For all practical purposes the water is acceptable for drinking," Ratz said. He did say it contained traces of iron and sodium but that is not unusual for well water

Ratz completed tests on the water in June. "It is not our intention to continue testing the water there, unless we have a good reason. I suspect that be-cause of the geography in Canton the water will remain safe. There is a layer of clay below the surface that pro-tects the ground water," said Ratz. The June water test results will be sent to the DNR, according to Ratz. But what about the soil contamination? Would that pose a threat to any-

That information should be forwarded to the DNR for their assessment," said Ratz.

David Nicholson, Canton's director economic development, compares the Trilex site to a cancer tumor that's benign

"The site doesn't appear to be hazardous to humans according to the DNR," Nicholson said.

"The contamination happened in an era when there wasn't an awareness of environmental problems," Nicholson said

The site of a "serious contamination problem" in Canton is not scheduled for clean up by the DNR.

James Kosteva sees Trilex as being representative of an important social problem of the 80s.

Business people: Locals don't support

By Margaret Neubacher staff writer

Opinions about the business climate in Canton vary, depending upon who you ask

Yet local business people offering their two cents worth on the subject mention three things - local government, marketing and customers.

Local government seems to provoke the most comment and some of the strongest feelings from those in the business community

"Canton had a bad name before 1980

Until this administration, the local government was very oppressive," said Robert Card, owner and operator of two McDonald's in Canton.

"I don't have any negative comments about local government. If I have a problem, I call the township," Card said Card's first store was on Michigan Avenue. "When I took over there, Canton's sign ordinance was very restrictive.

"The ordinance was relaxed in March 1982 and after my new signs went up, business at the Michigan Avenue store went up tremendously overnight," said Card, a member of Canton's Chamber of Commerce board of directors since 1981.

Card said before the sign ordinance was eased he struggled at the Michigan store and had to be helped by McDonald's headquarters with rent payments. "I can't say I'm happy with Canton," said Sue Wrenbeck, of the Easy Rider Bike Shop.

"The way they fuddled around with the sign ordinance, and berming is the silliest idea of all, I still don't understand why we have it," said Wrenbeck, who serves on the township zoning board. "But I think we have the best board we've ever had right now," added Wrenbeck, who has done business in the township for the past 13 years. Alan and Marilyn Eddy, owners of Community Reproductions, came to Canton with high hopes in what was then a fast-growing community. After seven years here they are disappointed with how things have developed

"There is no rapport between the cit-township and businesses here, said Marilyn, who until recently served as treasurer for the Chamber of Commerce

"We were told that Canton Center Road would be a major source of traffic. That's why we located here. It never happened because of sewer prob-lems. Things have built up away from us," said Alan.

At McDonald's, sales continue to grow and Card says marketing is the key.

'If you're coming to Canton make sure you have the budget to market get your name out in front of people,' Card advised. HARVEY BLAVIN, promoter of Canton's Harvard Square Plaza, says individual store owners must do something on their own to promote business. Blavin does a monthly promotion for the plaza, which has never been fully occupied. "Canton was at one time the fastest growing community in the state, but things have slowed up quite a bit," Blavin said.

Trustees pledge

Canton's Township Board has agreed to a developer's request for a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at township hall.

"Wingate." a proposed manufactured condominium development planned for 79 acres of land on Geddes Road, will be the major topic of discussion.

Jack Winshall and Michael Schmidt of the RCM Investors Group will pick up the $600 fee

If treasurer Maria Sterlini attends the meeting as expected, it will be her first board meeting since returning from an extended, 60-day medical leave

With Sterlini present, there will be seven board members to consider the Wingate project.

In Sterlini's absence, the board has been been split on the rezoning issue which must be resolved before the Wingate project can be considered.

When discussing Winshall's request, trustees made it clear they were ready to decide the issue.

"I think an honest attempt should be made to contact people that have attended meetings where we have discussed this issue. They should be notified that we'll be discussing the matter (Wingate) and will decide," said Trustee Robert Padget.

According to the township clerk's office, 14 letters of notification regarding the special board meeting were sent to interested residents last week.

Acreage purchased to expand golf course

Canton's Township Board has approved the purchase of 41 acres of land to expand Fellows Creek Golf Course to 27 holes.

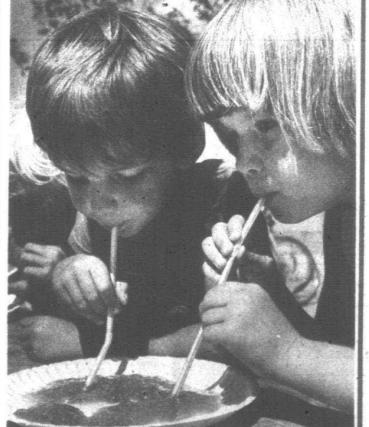

By unamimous vote, trustees approved an agreement worked out between Supervisor James Poole and the Wayne-Westland Community School District, whereby Canton will pay $180,000 cash.

Finance Director Michael Gorman recommended the purchase be made with revenue sharing funds.

Canton hires new planner

Matthew R. Modrack of Royal Oak will take over the duties of Canton Township planner beginning Aug. 13. His contract was unanimously approved by the board of trustees last week.

Selected from among more than 65 applicants, Modrack will earn $25,000 annually. He will replace James Kosteva who stepped down to run for state representative in the 37th District.

Modrack has worked as a community development analyst for Vilican-Leman & Associates Inc., Community Planning Market Analysis and Urban Design Consultants in Southfield for the past six years.

While there, he worked on a variety of projects including master plan preparations; statistical community profiles; site plan reviews, and re-zoning requests.

From 1977-78. Modrack was the community development technician in Keego Harbor, a small city in north Oakland County.

Modrack is a member of Michigan Industrial Developers Association, Na-tional Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials, and Michigan Community Development Directors Association.

He earned an undergraduate degree in urban planning at Michigan State University. Since graduation he has taken courses in business, economics, and computer science at the University of Michigan-Dearborn and Wayne State University.

2. I support a township manager form of government. It better reflects majority interests and is more efficient and effective. However, adoption is unlikely. City status is not presently adviseable because increased tax burdens would result.

 Significant problems are road con ditions, the industrial tax base, storm drainage, and sewer capacity. Canton's tax base is 77 percent residential. Taxes are driving people out of Canton. NEWYORKAIR INTRODUCES On most airlines, you can actually pay several different fares for the very-same flight. - The regular fare. Or a 7-day advance purchase fare. Or a 14-day advance purchase fare. And so on.

At New York Air, we think this fare game is confusing. And unfair.

That's why we're introducing our new, simple "No Ifs. Ands, Or Buts" fare policy.

Now, no matter when you call for a ticket, you'll pay one, simple fare: either Peak or Off Peak. With no restrictions. No fine print. No strings attached.

And even though we're simplifying our fares, it doesn't mean you'll get less for your dollar. Fact is, you'll still get all the amenities New. York Air is tamous for Like our complimentary fresh breakfast snacks on weekday mornings. Along with a complimentary New York Times.

And complimentary mixed drinks, fine, wines and real New York-style food all day, every weekday. Not to mention seat selection. Extra legroom. And 80% window and aisle seating.

And you'll be served by the most accommodating people in the business. People who believe it doesn't cost anything to be friendly.

So there you have it. Simple fares. And simply terrific service. With all this going for you, we think you'll

Mexican Cooking Is "In"

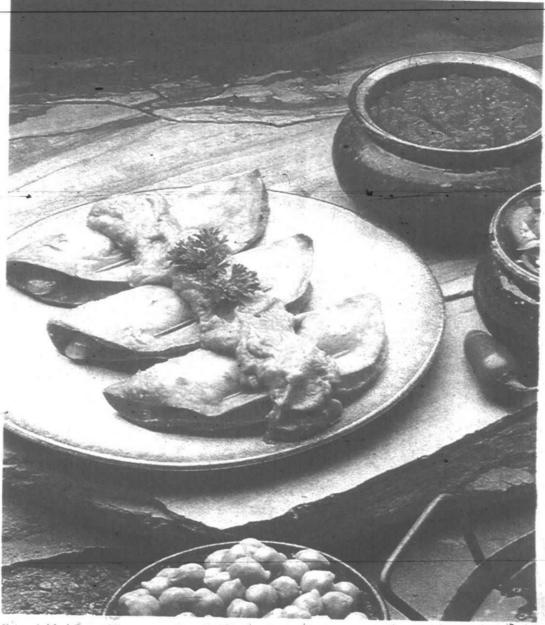

Bean and Sausage Tostadas use tostada shells, refried beans with sausage, lettuce, tomatoes, shredded Theese and faco sauce

As you probably know, Mexican food is the fastest growing ethnic food in the country. It is now second only to Italian food in grocery store sales. For years Mexican food has been a staple in the Southwest and West, but now it is gaining popularity in the rest of the country. You see this in the growing number of Mexican restaurants and Mexican items on the menu in other eating places.

When you start cooking Mexican dishes at home, you discover that it isn't all hot and spicy. Usually the sauce adds the heat, and you control that with hot, medium or mild varieties. One advantage of Mexican cooking, besides the delicious flavors, is that it is relatively inexpensive and very nutritious. And, you never have the problem of "picky eaters' when you serve tacos or enchiladas.

Adapting Mexican food to family menus isn't difficult with the sauces, tortillas, chilies and other products available in your supermarket. But one question often asked is, "What do you serve with tacos, enchiladas and chimichangas?"

ONE POPULAR item, of course, is guacamole. There is also rice, corn and refried beans. The latter is as popular in Mexico as potatoes are here. To serve refried beans as a side dish, you can simply Crisp, folded Quesadillas are tortillas filled with canned whole green chilies and cheese, then fried. These are topped with guacamole and served with taco sauce. For those who would like a zesticr flavor, top with sliced jalapenos.

open a can, heat and serve. Or you might like to add extra seasonings to the beans such as taco sauce, chilies or cheese

Fresh vegetables also go well with Mexican dishes. Serve tomato wedges with chopped cilantro or parsley, avocado slices, cabbage slaw with chopped green chilies or simply a mixed green salad.

Although you may not immediately think of soups as Mexican, in Mexico a soup is often served at the beginning of a meal - or as a one-dish meal. Light soups such as Gazpacho or Tortilla Soup, below, are excellent starters for a Mexican meal.

And for dessert, you can serve any number of 'sweets" such as flan, lime or chocolate pie. Fresh fruits also make an ideal ending to Mexican meals. Try sliced oranges with chopped almonds, melon balls (or wedges), strawberries, fresh pineapple or bananas

Mexican flavors also add variety to breakfast or brunch. Try Huevos Rancheros, or simply add chopped chilies to scrambled eggs or an omelet and top with taco sauce.

Below are Mexican favorites which your family will enjoy.

pound ground beef can (10 oz) tomatoes and green chilies envelope (1 1/4 oz) taco seasoning mix 12 flour tortillas, 8-inch 3 cups shredded lettuce 2 cups (8 oz) shredded Cheddar cheese 1/4 cup sliced green onions 1 1/2 cups taco sauce

Brown ground beef in medium skillet. Drain fat. Stir in tomatoes and green chilies and seasoning mix. Simmer 5 minutes. Spoon ¼ cup of meat mixture along one edge of tortilla. Fold nearest edge over to cover filling. Fold in both sides, envelope fashion. Roll and secure with toothpicks. Fry in 1 inch of hot oil until golden, turning as necessary. Drain on paper towels. Keep warm while preparing others. Before serving, top each chimichanga with ½ cup lettuce, ¼ cup cheese, 1 tsp green onions and 2 tbsp taco sauce. Serve immediately. Makes 12 chimichangas

HAPPY DAY! In straight sets, 15-13, 15-8, and 15-9, Win Schrader defeated Barry Simescu in a hard-fought racquet ball game For the record, the feat was accomplished Wednesday, July 25, 1984, at Rose Shores Racquet Ball Court in Canton Township.

ICE CREAM SOCIALS and forseshoe pitching contests have a amiliar ring to old-timers in the area. The Canton Historical Society will recapture the flavor of these social events that were summer highlights of rural America.

They'll be pounding the stakes into the ground and setting up the tables for their ice cream scial under the shade trees at the Canton Historical Museum, Canton Center and Proctor roads. The dates are Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 18 and Society members will be dishing up Cloverdale ice cream cones, sundaes and banana splits from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. each day. In onjunction with the social, there will be an arts and crafts fair with more than 40 craftsmen selling heir handmade wares. Residents are invited to come "set a spell" under the trees, and prowse a while through the museum that was once a one-room -

OUR NEIGHBORS at lymouth Travel still are talking about their progressive dinner th other Saturday night.

To term it a success is an nderstatement. They started out with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres at Jan and Bill Schieb's in South Lyon. Judy and Dick Sameck of Plymouth served the soup and salad. Then it was out to Canton Township for the main course of steak and baked potatoes at Judy and Roy Carkeek's. Mary and Pat Conner served the umptuous summer dessert at thei Ann Arbor home.

It was back to Plymouth for the grand finale at Harriet Matthews where she and George Sinnamon served after-dinner drinks and everyone took an unscheduled plunge in her pool.

MARGARET SWARTZ called with an update of Thursday fternoon party bridge scores at the lymouth Cultural Center.

They had 11 tables in play las hursday and have had as many a 13 tables. The group had to move to a larger room at the center. Vickie Whipple and Arlene Schroeder cam in first and second, July 5; C.L. Cook and Luella Cook, July 12; Carl Peters and C.L. Cook, July 19; and Mary Ellen Kenyon and Elsa

Darling, July 26. During the conversation, I finally pinned down Margaret and found out why she was so busy of late. In some circles, this could be referred to as investigative reporting. I discovered congratulations will be in order. Margaret and Edward Hall of Redford Township will be married Aug. 4 and they plan to live in Plymouth Township.

IF THE TIGER FANS' singing of "The Star Spangled anner" reached a new height of excellence at Saturday's ballgame there is a simple explanation. Ninety members of the Plymouth Community Chorus were on hand for the Tiger-Red Sox game. Mary Decker, chorus member, said more would have gone, but tickets were at a premium and she could get only 90. The group traveled by bus to Michigan and Trumbull.

JAMES LOGSDON received special recognition at the 120th convention of the Grand Lodge, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, in Houston, Texas

Jim is the newly elected Exalted Ruler of Plymouth Lodge 1780. He was among the convention delegate who unanimously elected Frank O. Garlahd of Centralia, Wash., national Grand Exalted Ruler for 1984-85.

Music to munch by

The Centennial Brass Quintet from the high schools provide a musical interlude for the regulars who eat their lunch in Plymouth's Kellogg Park. The Wednesday noon performances are arranged by the Plymouth Community Arts Council. Dave Cleveland on tuba, Steve Harrington on French horn, Rob Robillard on trumpet, Jeff Armstrong on trumpet and Christopher Lore on trombone played for an hour or so last Wednesday. Some shoppers stopped to listen, too, and Paul Adkins, 4, was inspired to do a. little dance step to "The Stars and Stripes Forever." A group from the Detroit Federation of Musicans will entertain from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Wednesdays, Aug. 5 and 15.

FIBROSITIS

Fibrositis is a condition in which there is irritation involving the body's connective tissue. This tissue holds together the muscles, tendons, and ligaments that surround bones and joints. If small areas of onnective tissue become inflammed, these areas, known as trigger points, create a pattern of discom fort and radiating pain called fibrositis.

Because these areas are so close to the neck because trese areas are so close to the neck, shoulders, hips and knees, you may intepret the pain as a potentially crippling arthritis or muscle condi-tion. At times the discomfort associated with fibrosi-tis can bring a hait to your activities and force you to bed, but it does not lead to permanent disability.

The cause of fibrositis is unknown, though once The cause or increases is unknown, though once established its presence is perpetuated by tension and fatigue. Treatment is directed toward ending irritation originating from the trigger point areas and decreasing muscle tension. Such therapy requires a different approach for each person as no drug or combination of treasments has requere uniformly of treatments has proved unito

Elks aim for Connie Mack district crown

The Canton Elks final regular season game in the Redford Adray Connie Mack Baseball League characterized their season.

They won, using their speed, sacrificing with success and bunching their hits with superb efficiency to eke out a 3-2 win over Redford Union Tuesday.

The win gave the Elks a 19-1 record as they head into the Connie Mack district tournament at Pontiac Jaycee Park. The Elks play the Downriver League entry at 10 a.m. Thursday. If they win, their next game would be at 10 a.m. Friday. Should they lose, they would play their second game at 2:15 p.m. Thursday.

"We've had a good season," Elk coach Dave Racer said. "We had a midseason slump, if you can call it a slump, when we lost to Ypsilanti and had a few one-run games."

THE WIN over RU was another of that one-run variety. John Rogers scattered seven hits and three walks, surrendering to RU only in the fifth inming.

A Rich Williams' single and a Greg Dron double put RU runners at second and third, and a Bill Ulle single brought both home.

That cut the Elks' advantage to 3-2, but Rogers stopped RU the rest of the way for the win. Brian Porter, who allowed four hits and a walk over five innings, took the loss for RU.

The Elks scored single runs in each of the first three innings. Jeff Wittner singled in the first, stole second, was baseball sacrificed to third and scored on Dan Michaels' infield hit. Wittner drove in Tim Mihalic, who had singled, with the second run on a ground out to first the next inning. Chris Parsons scored the final run in the third. He reached base on a single, stole second, was sacrificed to third and came home on Porter's balk.

"WE'VE GOT a lot of talent on this team," Racer said, noting a team batting average of .354, with four hitters over the .400 mark (Michaels .454, Jeff Olson .441, Mark Bennett .432 and Tim Collins .410) and two pitchers with unbeaten records (John Nissen 7-0, and Bennett 5-0).

But Racer, who is in his final season as coach of the Elks, knows it will take more than ability to win the Connie Mack district championship.

"You always have to have a little luck in a tournament," he said. "I think we can win the whole thing, but the breaks have to go our way. The kids have to play heads-up ball."

There's no reason to think they won't. The Elks won the Allen Park district title last year, but fell out of the state tournament in the early stages.

This year's state tournament is in the same place — Marshall — and it's a trip the Elks plan on making once again.

Mike Howard's hitting and pitching led Salem to a district win Friday against South Shewasee.

Howard's blasts keep Salem alive

The Plymouth Salem entry into the American Amateur Baseball Congress (AABC) Sandy Koufax Baseball Tournament rebounded from a first-round loss. Its second-round romp behind Mike Howard's stellar play kept them alive entering Saturday's round at Canton Township Hall.

Rain disrupted play both Thursday and Friday. Salem, coached by Mike Michalek, was forced to complete its opening round contest against Riverside, Ontario, Friday morning. Salem eventually lost 8-5.

On Friday, rain washed out both the 3 and 6 p.m. contests. Redford, which routed Detroit PAL 14-6 Thursday, had to play its second game Saturday, against Detroit West-7.

THE SALEM TEAM dropped to the loser's bracket after its loss to Riverside to face South Shewasee. Salem trailed 3-0 before rallying for seven runs in the fourth enroute to a 12-4 victory.

Howard, who earned the pitching win, hit a pair of three-run homers to aid his own cause. The first came in the pivotal fourth, when Salem took the lead for good. Jeff Beagan's two-run single put Salem ahead 4-3, and Howard followed with his homer.

Howard added his second three-run homer in the sixth.

The winner of the eight-team, double-elimination tournament advances to the regionals this weekend in Westland. The regional winner goes to the Sandy Koufax World Series in Knoxville, Tenn., next week.

Complete results of the Canton district tournament will appear in Thursday's Observer.

Hard work earned twin rowers medals

By C.J. Risak staff writer

For a handful of muscular, narrowminded, intense young men, 1956 was a special year.

The Cold War and Ike's re-election bid intruded only peripherally in their thoughts. Their minds were half a world away — in Melbourne, Australia, the site of the summer Olympic games. "Nothing interfered with our frain-Nothing interfered with our training," said John McKinlay, now of Bloomfield Hills., "Not school or family or anything. Everything else was secondary."

One of McKinlay's family ties proved important to his Olympic experience: his twin brother Art, who now lives in Birmingham. The brothers pumped their way to Melbourne on the Detroit River, training for four hard, long years at the Detroit Boat Club on Belle Isle. for an American team in that event (a U.S. team won a gold at Rome in 1960).

Another local rower — Pat Costello of Bloomfield Township — teamed with Jim Gardner to take another silver medal in the two-man race.

It was as good a performance in rowing, a sport now dominated by eastern European countries, as the United States has enjoyed. The reason for the success could be found on the banks of the Detroit River.

It was there that a training camp for the U.S. rowing team took form, under the guidance of Walter Hoover.

"We had a coach who believed in racing all the time," said Art McKinlay, now 53. "We always raced — anywhere, anytime, against anyone. A lot of coaches didn't like racing that much, but it got us in great shape."

The twin brothers were. They narrowly missed competing in the 1952 Olympics (John went as an alternate), which hardened them for the task that lay ahead.

"I WAS devasted," said Art of missing in '52. "I was absolutely sure I'd make it. It took me a year to recover from that."

That's when Hoover, now 90, entered the scene. A former prospector, he knew gold when he saw it, and he recAmong the 20 who trained in earnest for the Olympic trials, they could pick out the half dozen or so that could be labeled "elite."

"You had to stick with the right people, and you could pretty much tell who they were right away," Art said. "When we did our running around the island, we'd race. We always were out to win, whoever it was."

Hoover put his team on a strict diet, "which was unusual for those days," John said, and worked them out "two. their most difficult race: at the Olympic Trials.

A FOURSOME from Washington were the favorites. That team seemed bigger and stronger than the Detroit quartet, but it was the Detroiters who won "by a half-second that changed our lives," John said. It was the first time the Washington team had been beaten.

Their victory made the Detroit team feel fortunate just to be in the Olympics. Still, they believed they could win the gold, and they nearly did, losing to a Canadian team they had beaten previously.

Their Olympic memories remain, however: competing in a small town of 25,000 outside of Melbourne and seeing 65,000 fans, including the Australian prime minister, pack the shores to watch the rowing finals; the opening and closing ceremonies and the accompanying pageantry; signing autographs, and being treated like celebrities; and the kindness of the Australian people.

to Melbourne on the same ship. By the time they arrived, the Hungarian Revolution had started.

"The Hungarian athletes tore down their old flag and put up the free Hungarian flag, and they put tape over the Commmunist insignia on their uniforms."

But they competed, McKinlay said, which is far different from the current state of Olympic affairs.

"IN ANCIENT Greece, warring nations put down their arms to compete in the Olympics," John said. "In 1952, they had the games during the Korean War, and in 1956 they had them in spite of the Hungarian Revolution.

"I just think things have gotten more

THE EFFORT paid dividends. The McKinlays joined Jim McIntosh, now of Southfield, and John Welcheli of Grosse Pointe to win a silver medal in the four-man boat without coxswain. At the time, it was the best finish ever THERE WERE 20 athletes at the rowing camp, including 16 from the military. The McKinlays, both sergeants in the Marine Corps, were among those who took advantage of an act of Congress allowing athletes time to train if they were of Olympic or Pan American caliber. ognized the talent gathered on Belle Isle.

"He's probably the reason we made it," Art said. "He said, 'I'm going to put you guys in the Olympics.' My brother and I said, "That sounds good.' "That changed the club from just a social gathering. A lot of guys just couldn't take it."

THE McKINLAYS knew who could.

"HE PROMISED us we'd be in great shape, and we were. We rowed 20 miles, then 30, and sometimes 50 miles a day."

The hard training and countless races (they won six U.S. and eight Canadian championships in their careers) paid off in what the brothers agreed was THERE WAS more. Politics had their effect on these Olympics, too. As John McKinlay remembered: "The Hungarian and Russian athletes came political than they should be. Every nation should be invited to compete, whether they're democratic, communist or a dictatorship."

Neither McKinlay is liable to forget his experiences — not with so many of their Olympic comrades close at hand.

"We still see each other, we're very close friends," Art said. "We're lifetime friends" — lifetime friends who saw an Olympic dream reach fruition.

7-Up select stars crush Michigan AAU's again

By Bred Emone staff writer

John Johnson is the smallest member of the 7-Up National Select basketball team.

But the 5-foot-10 point-guard from Brooklyn, N.Y. stood tall Wednesday night at U-D's Calihan Hall, scoring 15 points on 7-of-9 shooting from the floor to go along with seven assists as the 7-Up squad demolished the Michigan AAU squad for the second straight time, 139-81.

Johnson, bound for University of Virginia, patterns his game after Piston Isiah Thomas. And during one trip down the lane, Johnson put on a magical move that had the crowd burxing.

"Up until the eighth grade I was used to scoring a lot of points," said the street-wise and personable Johnson. "Then my coach told me I was going to be a point guard. My job was to keep everybody happy."

JOHNSON, of course, kept his 11 talented teammates happy during basketball

Wednesday's encounter.

Leonard Taylor, a 6-8 forward headed for Cal-Berkley, led the 7-Up squad with 20 points. He was one of eight 7-Up players in double figures.

Indiana-bound Delray Brooks scored 17, Johnson and Billy King (Duke), 15 each; Troy Lewis (Purdue), 14; Jeff Moe (Iowa), 13; Al Lorenzen (Iowa) and Craig Jackson (UCLA), 10 apiece.

The Michigan squad, which featured All-Observer players John McIntyre (Catholic Central) and Tom Domako (Livonia Stevenson), never really had a chance in what proved to be a rerun of Monday's 145-80 7-Up romp at Schoolcraft College.

The Michigan squad simply was inferior in just about every aspect of the game.

Michigan's Mr. Basketball, Deme-treus Gore, led all scorers with 27 points, but hit only 7 of 20 shots from the floor. Chadsey High School teammate Lenard Collins added 10.

BUT JOHNSON was the real story with his nifty moves and charismatic style.

"He makes a lot of good decisions on the floor," said 7-Up coach Bobby Bowman. "Sometimes he has a tendency to put his head down when he's bringing the ball up the floor, but he's going to be a fine college player."

Johnson said he first caught Isiah on TV in 1981 when Indiana won the NCCA championship.

"Isiah is my idol because not only can he pass, but he can score when the opportunity is there," Johnson said. "He can also play defense.

"As long as I can contribute, I'll be happy with that role."

Johnson was recruited by a number of schools, but Virginia won out.

"Everybody knew all along that I was going to Virginia because of the fact that all of their guards had graduated," he said.

Walter's pulls upset in Collegiate playoff opener

Nobody really thought Walter's Appliance would go anywhere in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League (LCBL) playoffs.

Heck, they were the fourth place team with a below-.500 record.

Obviously the Walter's players thought differently, upsetting regular season champion Redford Little Caesars, 3-0, in the first round of the double-elimination playoffs Wednesday at Ford Field. In the other first-round game, defending champ Livonia Adray downed Michigan National Bank, 8-5.

"It was a combination of both good pitching and good defense," said Walter's manager Mike Keller. "It was a big win for the kids. We surprised a few people." Jim Stoitsiadis, with relief help victory. Stoitsiadis held Caesars scoreless for 7¹/₃ innings, striking out six, walking five and allowing six hits. Nielsen, who earned the save, got out of a bases-loaded jam in the eighth inning and fanned four of the five batters he faced.

baseball

WALTER'S, which collected 11 hits, scored all three of its runs in the fifth inning.

With one out, John Stoitsiadis singled and brother Jim followed with double to put runners on second and third. Dave Longridge then walked to load the bases.

Terry Chlebek hit a sacrifice fly, scoring John Stoitsiadis with the first run. Brad Wolter then singled to make it 2-0 and Chuck Morgan added another singled to give Walter's its third run of the inning.

Wolter, Morgan and John Stoitsiadis each had two hits for the winners.

Tyrone Gaines paced Little Caesars, going 3-for-5. Carl Novick added two singles.

In the other first-round game, Livonia Adray jumped out to a 6-0 lead and held on to beat Michigan National Bank, 8-5.

Livonia mounted a 12-hit attack as second baseman Pete Rose went 3for-4. Teammate Mike MacDonald went 2-for-4 with one RBI.

Dave Rodriguez worked six innings and allowed five hits and two runs to pick up the victory. He struck out eight.

JOHN RECKER pitched the final two innings after a one-inning stint by Rick Rozman. Recker allowed two runs and struck out six.

Greg Everson took the loss for MNB. He lasted 1% innings, allowing three runs on three hits.

Clint Scollard led the six-hit MNB attack by going 2-for-4 with two RBI. Teammate Tony DeMare went 2-for-

Umpire's life lived out of a suitcase

Rocky Roe (right), 34 years old and No. 27 on your official roster, is one of the American League's youngest umpires. The Southfield High School graduate recently worked the All-Star game in San Francisco where he umped the right-field line. He says "any umpire who tells you he's not a baseball fan is lying," but hastily adds "that you have to put all that out of your mind and be objective."

I WAS ONLY the second time he'd been home since the beginning of the baseball season. "Don't know about Thursday ecause we'll just be coming in, and can't say Sunday because we'll have to ly out," he said by telephone during he All-Star break when questioned about setting up an interview. "We're having a birthday party for my son Saturday. So, I think the best day will be

So it goes in the fast-footed life of professional umpire John Andrew Roe, Rocky for short. Traveling just sometimes seems like one big fist in the air r sweep of the hands.

Rocky Roe, called upon to help officiate the recent four-game series between Detroit and Texas at Tiger Stadium, had few hours to spare as he spent a pleasant - albeit hectic weekend at his cozy West Bloomfield ranch house.

His time - whether it be accepting ticket requests from friends, honing up the golf game with colleagues Larry Barnett and Dale Ford or simply sharing precious moments with his wife eanne, and year-old son, Christopher - is fleeting.

THE 34-YEAR-OLD Roe figures he ogs close to 150,000 air miles during the baseball season while averaging 50-60 flights a year. During his first-ever All-Star assignment earlier this month in San Francisco, Roe hop-scotched across the country on seven different flights. That's enough to leave almost inyone in a time warp.

"The players don't have it as bad as we do," said Roe as he playfully jostled with Christopher along the shoreline of nearby Pine Lake. "They're only away from home for 81 games (out of a 162game schedule). We're on the road constantly

"Last time I cas in Detroit was for two losses back in May. I get back (to Detroit) maybe three or four times a year. I like the American League because cities like Toronto, Cleveland and Chicago are within driving distance to my home. If I was in the National League I'd be away from home and she wants to eat out and I want to eat home," said Roe. "But, that says something about my wife's strength. If 'm considered any type of success in the big leagues it goes back to my wife

THERE'S BEEN nothing rocky about Roe's showing so far in the big leagues

I decided to try the bigs. The rest is history

Roe is one of the leauge's youngest which has a combined total of 34 years of big-league experience. They include Mark Fidrych to get his arm back into crew chief Larry Barnett, who is fourth on the AL seniority scale, Dale Ford

"Ernie Harwell once told me that it was the quickest any umpire has gotten to the big leagues," said Roe, who, at 6foot-1 and 225 pounds, is the smallest member of that four-man crew.

"You have to have the presence of mind as an umpire that 50 percent of tion where we're expected to be perfect Roe continued umping in "AAA" ball the first day out and expected to get - the next level to the major leagues better from there. the movies Dan Greenberg

There's no defense for offering this kind of sleazy production

The "Best Defense" is offens(ive).

There's no end to the criticisms justifiably leveled at this film. beginning with gratuitous sexual scenes on opposite sides of the globe, scenes intercut with the credits and with each other. In Southern California, Laura Cooper (Kate Capshaw) sneezes at the wrong moment, frustrating her husband, unsuccessful engineer

Wylie Cooper (Dudley Moore). In Kuwait, U.S. Army Lt. Landry (Eddie Murphy) is bedding down a local belly dancer. Apparently Kate's sneeze heralds Moore as a loser while the belly dancer's reactions prove Murphy's a real macho hero. That's more than the rest of his performance

So, how are Moore and Murphy, two such disparate comics, linked? Certainly not by their humor this time out. Moore is designing a crucial guidance mechanism for a tank Murphy is testing

JUST TO MAKE it interesting, director Willard Huyck and pro-ducer Gloria Katz threw in a war between Iraq and Kuwait, venal defense contractors and their Pentagon contacts, the KGB and industrial espionage. The screenplay is based on Robert Grossbach's novel, "Easy and Hard Ways Out." Since Katz and Huyck wrote, produced and directed "Best Defense," they bear the brunt of the criticism for turning out this tasteless trash.

On a Political Awareness Scale of 1 to 10, they get minus-7 for scheduling a war between Kuwait and Iraq when Kuwait is supporting Iraq in its war with Iran. Movies don't have to be true-toife, but such divergence from reality is silly - as is much of the film, where potentially clever satire of current political events turns to unpleasant, humorless ridicule

For whatever reason, all the characters are unidimensional and demean their real-life counterparts: The Arab soldiers Murphy is training are buffoons; the former astronaut, Frank Joyner (Peter Michael Goetz), president of Dynatechnics (where Moore engineers) is an utter incompetent whose only talent is entertaining entagon officials.

ore's co-workers are no bargain either - drinking buddy Loparino (George Dzundza) drinks and clowns while project supervisor Claire Lewis (Helen Shaver) looks and acts more like a sexrazed fashion coordinator than a project engineer

The comic potential, obviously, is not well served by such characters. It doesn't help much, either, to get your laughs from fouretter words, but that seemed to be the only kind of humor Katz & Huyck could write.

AS IF THIS weren't enough, "Best Defense" is so poorly edited that the time sequence is very unclear, very confusing. Novice filmmakers learn early that cutting from one scene in one locale to another elsewhere gives the impression that the two events are occurring simultaneously. Unfortunately, Katz and Huyck missed that lesson who is testing Moore's design, a guidance mechanism for a tank.

Staying home and watching new paint dry would prove more entertaining.

2 wineries join ranks of the best

The name Sonoma Valley brings readily to mind such prestigious wineries as Chateau St. Jean, St. Francis, Matanzas Creek, Kistler and Hanzell Quite a group. These all tend to be producers of expensive, high-quality wines of national distribution.

But there are two others that also belong to this elevated group, ones that five years ago would not. They were present then; indeed, one had been here for more than 130 years, but until recently they were not of this caliber. Both have recently experienced a renaissance, turning around indifferent wineries, making them into two of the finest producers in all of California. And in a very short time.

Buena Vista Winery was founded in the late 1840s by one of the fathers of California wine and has been producing wines off and on since then in a magnificent stone structure east of the city of Sonoma

It is only recently that it has begun to produce wines of the highest distinction, however. Using a special selection designation for selected issues, it has released three stunning cabernet sauvignons and a pinot noir

THE 1978, 1979 and 1980 issues of the former have been of the very best ers dropped the extensive variety of

Buena Vista also has introduced a Heritage series to designate other premium issues that have been partially success-

Add to these blockbusters a number of more standard issues, priced fairly, that are also fine wines. Its Spiceling, a very successful Traminer-like issue, a regular cabernet, zinfandel, chardonnay and Green Hungarian releases all go together to make a sound line, and each in its own way does very well.

But it is to the special selection wines that the notices go, and deservedly so. The cabernets are ripe and complex, well worth aging and cherishing for several years to come. Of the three, the '79 is perhaps the most successful. The '81 pinot noir evokes associations with some of the finest burgundies, a wine that, when right, is one of the great experiences in tasting.

The other transformation has been the Kenwood Vineyards, just above the city of Sonoma. Lacking Buena Vista's history, it was founded in the late 1960s as a bulk red-wine operation that made, at best, acceptable vin ordinaire. In the late 1970s the scene began changing dramatically. The new own-

wine

THE JACK London Vineyard became the source of excellent pinot noir and cabernet, both of which declare the vineyard designation proudly on their respective labels. The Artist Series of cabernet offerings, begun in 1975, has been a great success. To these must be added some excellent chardonnay issues (the 1978 was a memorable disaster, however) and now some fine sauvignon blanc. To these must also be added the vintage red (most cabernet) and vintage white issues in the $5-a-bottle range.

Kenwood shows ijcreasing promise of becoming one of California's best, an unheard of prospect a half-decade ago. There is one more element in this renaissance picture from the Sonoma Valley that is not so happy, however. while the 1981 pinot noir is among the wines made and began to concentrate That involves the gigantic Sebastiani gered.

Vineyards, long one of California's most dependable producers of soundvalue, everyday wines.

The change here seems to be reflected in the series of expensive Proprietor's Reserve issues that are bec ing available with increasing regular , each bearing a big price jump over regular issues. And there is the $20 plus special Eagle Cabernet, recently ssued in wooden boxes.

THE BEST that can be said for the special issues is that they are little different from the standard issues and must now be considered as on the expensive side Owner Sam Sebastiani seems deter mined to change Sebastiani's image via pricing. Let us hope, if he continues, the wine quality will follow soon, else Sebastiani's role as an honest, dependable producer will be seriously endan-
