Swartzwelter appointed to school board

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education has appointed Dean Swartzwelter of Plymouth Township to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Treasurer Thomas Yack of Canton.

The board, in a special meeting held Thursday at 5 p.m., also elected trustee E.J. McClendon to fill the post of treasurer of the board.

Swartzwelter was appointed by a vote of 4-2. He was among five persons under consideration for the position.

Others considered included Stephen Harper of Plymouth Township, Joan Kotcher of Canton, Richard Sumpter of Canton and David Kennedy of Plymouth Township.

Sumpter ran for the board this past June while Kotcher is past president of the Plymouth-Canton Association for the Academically Talented. Swartzwelter also is an active member of the PCAAT.

HARPER'S NAME was placed in nomination first but his appointment was voted down, 3-2 with one abstention. Harper is a former trustee and board treasurer.

Swartzwelter will fill out Yack's term until the next board election in June 1985.

Several trustees said they sought a person who had run for election to the board and who had experience.

Following his appointment, Swartzwelter told the board, "I will work with you and cooperate in every way I can." He indicated that he would seek election to his appointed seat in June.

Swartzwelter ran for the school board last June when he collected 1,241 votes, finishing third behind winners Nancy Quinn and Les Walker. He also was a candidate in 1979.

A resident since 1977, Swartzwelter is married with three children — two graduates of Plymouth Canton High and one still a student here.

He earned a bachelor of science degree in accounting from Drake University, entered the U.S. Army and graduated from the U.S. Army Finance School before serving overseas. He served on the school district budget committee in 1981.

Candidates spar one more time

By Diane Free
staff writer

Township candidates squared off for the final time at the League of Women Voters forum Thursday night.

An audience of relatives and others with vested interests, as one candidate described it, was present at township hall to listen to candidates vying for the offices of township supervisor, clerk, treasurer, trustee and 37th district state representative.

The forum format allowed a two-minute opening statement from each candidate, a question-and-answer period with candidates' responses limited to one minute each and a one-minute each closing statement.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE for state representative James Kosteva held center stage first. His Republican opponent, Georgia Gramlich, was unable to attend "due to a previously arranged meeting," according to a prepared statement read by League moderator Nancy White.

Kosteva noted that "this is the fourth time in the campaign that my opponent has failed to meet with me face to face."

Kosteva said he has superior work and educational experience and listed his high priorities as "meaningful tax reform" and improving the quality of education.

Responding to a question from an audience member who wanted to see representatives of the people elected as opposed to leaders, Kosteva said, "I think we're supposed to be electing leaders. I think leadership is an important quality."

"I vote my conscience and the conscience of the people I represent," he said.

Of the state issues, Kosteva said Proposal C is "akin to performing surgery with a samurai sword." As "a strong believer in Michigan's natural resources," Kosteva said he supports Proposal B.

THE THREE INCUMBENTS for the trustee race spoke of their past accomplishments on the board, and the other candidates told of their hopes for the township should they be elected.

Republican Loren Bennett said trustees are elected to "deal with problems" and that his previous experience as trustee and member of the planning commission is evidence that he is capable of doing so.

Bennett cited the creation of the township's Economic Growth Department, which is responsible for negotiating with potential commercial and industrial clients, as an accomplishment of his term.

Republican Stephen Larson called his five years as a trustee "a rich experience and said as an incumbent, 'people judge me on past performance, not on future promises.'"

Noting that he is only one of seven members of the board, Larson said, "We have as a community progressed, and I have helped."

Robert Padgett, also a Republican incumbent, said he is proud of the board's record. But "taxes are driving people out of Canton," Padgett said, and the board must continue "bold, self-supporting efforts" to develop a broader commercial tax base.

Padgett said a policy maker must know the issues and make responsible decisions.

"No one has a fonder love" for Canton Township and its people than he, Padgett said, citing the insight he has gained from his years of community involvement.

DEMOCRATIC CHALLENGER Edwin Rasmussen Jr., calling himself a Canton Township "lifer," said one of his major concerns is police and fire coverage. "We need adequate protection if we're going to attract commercial and residential (clients)," Rasmussen said.

James Bridenthal, also a Democratic candidate, said he has lived in Canton for 25 years and has "seen Canton grow from a farm community to suburban."

"I consider myself a real hard worker," Bridenthal said, and promised an open-door policy if elected trustee.

Republican contender John Prenczyk listed his involvement with various township committees and organizations and said "improved security within our community," road and recreational improvements, and efforts to attract industry are his goals for the township.

Prenczyk said his business experience will enable him to come up with "new and innovative ideas."

Democratic candidates Frank McMurray and Paul Denski did not attend the forum. In a written statement, McMurray, who said he had a cold, said his 13 years of experience coaching

A winning witch

Kids aren't the only ones who find Halloween fun. Some parents, like Carole Maltzman, enjoy dressing up too. For 13 years, Maltzman's been greeting trick-or-treaters at her door as a witch, catering her costume every year to the current trend. This year, she's a 1984 World Series Champion Detroit Tigers witch. In years past, she's been an exercise witch wearing a leotard and tights and a modern witch with an electric broom. "To me, it's fun," she said. "It's a part of my life now." Maltzman started dressing up to encourage older trick-or-treaters to wear costumes.

Court cases near for I-275 suspects

Two Canton residents were among seven persons arrested Oct. 18 in an undercover crackdown on homosexual activities at a freeway rest stop in Canton Township.

This was the second wave of arrests by Michigan State Police. In a similar operation, 24 persons were arrested Sept. 20 and 24 at the rest stop at I-275 south of Cherry Hill Road.

Among the seven arrested Oct. 18 were retired superintendent of schools Bates Landis, 59, of Canton and salesman Anthony Campagna, 43, also of Canton.

Also arrested were: Glen Walker, 28, a typesetter from Garden City; Frederick Miller, 38, a Wayne factory worker; John Radtke, 46, of Detroit, employed in urban revitalization; and Peter Deane, 37, a retired teacher and lab technician from Wayne.

A state police spokesman said his department still had not verified and was unwilling to release the name of the seventh person arrested.

ALL HAVE been charged with disorderly conduct and engaging in obscene and indecent conduct in a public place, both misdemeanors.

The suspects are being arraigned by Judge Dunbar Davis and Judge James Garber in 35th District Court in Plymouth. According to a court official, pretrial examinations generally occur three to four weeks after arraignment. The first pretrial began today at 9 a.m. for those suspects who were arrested in the September operations.

Of the 24 arrested at Cherry Hill and I-275, five men were employed in the field of education.

They included: Richard G. Buerk, 41, principal of Stevenson Junior High School, Westland; Richard Arnold Goode, 50, principal of Wick Elementary School, Romulus; Phillip T. Jenkins, 36, of Bloomfield Hills, vice president of the Center for Creative Studies, Detroit; Gene L. Myers, 47, a media specialist with Livonia Public Schools; and Dennis A. May, 32, a school bus driver for Plymouth-Canton schools.

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools suspended May without pay. Goode resigned as principal in Romulus, and Buerk has been suspended with pay.

Others arrested in September, from western Wayne County, include: Bobby Joe Thomas, 39, of Canton, director of Uniserve for the Michigan Education Association; Tommy Moore Jr., 33, of Canton; Daniel N. Dunn, 36, of Westland; William A. Lualien, 55, of Livonia; and Ronald C. Rice, 43, of Westland.

If found guilty of offenses charged, the men could receive a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail and a $100 fine.

State Police spokesman Lt. John Shewell said his department routinely patrols the rest stops and undertakes undercover operations once or twice a year.

How small U.S. grants cut energy costs

First of two articles.
By Penny Wright
Special writer

Community leaders in the southeast are mulling the end of a federal program which produced several energy-saving ideas.

"We were sorry to see the program end. Our project was very successful," said Genevieve Rakocy of Wayne County Catholic Social Services. Her one-year, $12,000 project cut energy bills for Detroit homeowners and netted several jobs.

"People around here look more kindly toward financing solar retrofits, thanks to that program," added Cynthia Conklin of the Ann Arbor community development department.

THEY SPOKE fondly of the U.S. Department of Energy's Appropriate Technology Small Grants Program. Hatched in 1978 by the Carter Administration, Appropriate Technology (called "AT") was a strategy of funding small-scale energy projects aimed at making the nation energy independent.

The grant-giving stage ended in 1981. Congress currently is funding only technical assistance and information activities.

What actually was accomplished?

In four years, the Department of Energy funneled $25.7 million in AT grants in amounts up to $50,000 to individuals and groups with energy-saving ideas. The theory was that local groups were best able to solve local problems.

The aim was to encourage more "elegant" and "appropriate" solutions to conserving energy by using technologies and materials that meshed well with local needs and resources.

ACCORDING TO Rakocy, Catholic Social Services managed to solve two local problems with its federal grant.

"We were able to provide job training to 25 unemployed men and women volunteers for work in low-income neighborhood renovation," she said. Volunteers from Hamtramck and Highland Park helped Detroit homeowners install insulation, weatherstripping and furnace flame dampers.

A second result was that some of the trained volunteers were able to step into full-time jobs.

AT grants to Ann Arbor totaled nearly $50,000. They helped fund solar and conservation retrofits for five low-income housing units.

"We showed that solar technology can work in rehab projects," Conklin said. "Over all, the program helped local people try out ideas in their own communities."

Figures on actual dollars saved by AT grants are unavailable. But the Department of Energy calculated that every $2 of federal assistance attracted $1 from non-federal sources between fiscal 1978 and 1983.

A FREQUENT criticism is that the AT program ended too soon.

Ann Arbor administrator Conklin said an influx of government funds is necessary to encourage a national movement toward energy independence. "Before, we had a combined strategy on national and state levels to encourage energy innovation and commercialization," she said. "Now that has all ended."

son, director of the Michigan Energy Administration clearinghouse. "Some projects are coming onto the market right now. Of course, not all of the projects were successful," he said.

"I believe the program money was well spent. We saw that there are so many opportunities to switch technology to small appropriate uses."

A limited number of these publications may be requested from the Michigan Energy Administration at 1-800-292-4704.

In addition, a databank on all projects in the AT program is maintained by the National Appropriate Technology Assistance Service (NATAS) in Butte, Montana. Information about individual AT projects, along with energy engineering, scientific and technical assistance, may be obtained by calling 1-800-428-2525.

The state has a series of 13 free self-help publications describing the experiences of, and lessons learned by, AT grantees. The pamphlets describe methods of dealing with insulation and moisture in the home, heat recovery techniques and alternative heating options such as sunspaces.

A limited number of these publications may be requested from the Michigan Energy Administration at 1-800-292-4704.

Public schools in the tri-county area would lose nearly $200 million in revenue if Proposal C is approved Nov. 6, the state's top school official contends.

Phillip E. Runkel, state superintendent of public instruction, said the 6 percent of public instruction in this area could lose $197.7 million in state school aid and local tax revenues this year and next if "Voter's Choice" passes.

"Those revenue cuts would have a significant impact on the quality of education in our state," Runkel said.

At news conferences Monday and Tuesday at the intermediate school district offices in Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw counties, Runkel estimated the negative impact on all state districts would be nearly $500 million in the 1985-86 and 1986-87 school years.

"I'm not telling people how to vote, but I think they should know what the facts are," said Runkel, who was reported at the press conferences by representatives of the Michigan Education Association and Michigan Federation of Teachers.

The twin results, according to C's backers: higher property taxes at the local level and higher tuitions for college students.

But Runkel said passage of the amendment would result in the layoff of more than 10,000 classroom teachers. He said in the period 1974-85, the state has reduced its number of teachers from 94,000 to 74,000.

The educator said Michigan is now third in the nation in pupil-teacher ratio. "If this is passed, we would have the worst pupil-teacher ratio in the na-cause terrible cuts in education."

The state school superintendent said reductions in both state school aid and property tax revenue for area schools would be the following if Proposal C passes:

- Oakland — $10,821,700 in 1984-85, $5,602,900 in 1985-86.
- Macomb — $7,305,400 in 1984-85, $3,851,200.
- Wayne — $23,141,600 in 1984-85, $11,964,700.

ALSO CONCERNED about a shift to more reliance on the property tax is William Keane, superintendent of Oakland Schools. As head of the Oakland Intermediate School District, he works with 28 districts in the county — some of which rely on state aid to operate their schools.

"We don't want the burden of supporting schools placed on property tax," he said.

"We would revert back to primordial times when districts that are poor were discriminated against. Citizens can give it back at the polls, but I don't see how that would happen."

WAYNE COUNTY Intermediate District Superintendent William Simmons said the proposal would affect all services — from schools to libraries. And he's concerned about that.

"Our schools don't function well without good municipal services. This is a total turnaround in our way of providing services," he added.

Wayne County enters Vista overcharge lawsuit

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Splitting along racial lines, the Wayne County Commission last week took the first step toward joining Oakland County Drain Commissioner George Kuhn's federal court suit to recover triple damages against Detroit's Water and Sewer Department.

"This suit ought to be pursued for the benefit of all users, including those in the city of Detroit — not just western Wayne customers," — Mary Dumas, county commissioner

Wayne County has two contracts on behalf of suburban communities on the Middle Rouge River and the northeast suburbs. They provide more than 33 percent of the flow. A few individual communities, including Redford Township, have their own contracts and are expected to join the suit.

Philip G. Tannian, heading a battery of five attorneys for the plaintiffs, said the U.S. District Court would prefer to see all customers of Detroit join a single suit. "There are 17 contracts out there. Should you try to litigate this 17 times or just once?" Tannian asked rhetorically, indicating the court would rather try it once.

THE CASE grew out of the celebrated Vista Disposal case, in which Detroit Water and Sewer Department Director Charles Beckham and several disposal company figures were convicted under federal bribery and racketeering laws.

Without citing an exact dollar figure, Kuhn seeks to recover the amount of Vista's overcharges for sludge hauling under conditions of no competitive bidding. Kuhn charges Beckham and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young passed the overcharges onto suburban customers.

Involved are 3,000 tons daily of sewage treatment plant wastes known as "sludge," Tannian said. With 365 days in a year, that amounts to nearly 1.1 million tons annually. The alleged abuses occurred over 5½ years, according to Tannian's court complaint. That multiplies to out more than six million tons.

If Vista overcharged by $38 per ton, as alleged by Commissioner Hertel, something like $230 million in overcharges could be involved.

Suing under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, Kuhn is asking triple damages be paid to all the plaintiff customers — up to $490 million.

BLACK COMMISSIONERS asked that a decision on joining the suit be delayed until Detroit officials have had a chance to respond.

For example, defendant Sam Cusenza of Plymouth Township was a 50 percent shareholder in Wolverine Disposal, Inc., and pled guilty to racketeering activity last Jan. 19, according to Kuhn's complaint. And defendant Walter Tomyn of Troy was an officer and employee of Michigan Disposal and an engineering consultant to Vista Disposal. Other defendants are from Dearborn and Dearborn Heights.

COMMISSIONER Carter said he "questioned the propriety" of Wayne County joining Oakland to sue one of its own cities. Carter suggested Plymouth Township file its own suit.

Canton Township — 102 single-family units, two multiples, two demolitions, net of 102 units.

Garden City — one single-family unit, one demolition, net of zero.

Livonia — 167 single-family units, 36 multiples, four demolitions, net of 199 new units.

City of Plymouth — three single-family units, six multiples, one demolition, net of nine units.

Plymouth Township — 50 single-family units.

Redford Township — four single-family units.

City of Westland — 16 single-family units, eight multiples, net of 24 units.

Two Wayne County suburbs — Livonia and Melvindale — were among the 10 hottest spots for new housing construction in southeastern Michigan during the first half of 1984.

It was the first time since the middle 1970s that Livonia had been in the top 10. Such previous leaders as Canton and Plymouth townships showed some activity but weren't among the regional leaders.

Combined, the local governments of seven metropolitan counties issued permits for 5,971 housing units — a 57 percent increase over the first half of 1983.

But it was still only half the peak of 13,560 permits in the first half of 1978, after which the bottom dropped out of the housing market.

FIGURES ON building permits for single-family and multiple residences, offset by demolitions, were compiled by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments from reports of local building authorities.

Detroit continued to be a big loser, with 10 new permits and 1,515 demolitions for a net loss of 1,505 housing units.

Top 10 communities in southeastern Michigan in terms of issuance of building permits were:

Rochester Hills (formerly Avon Township) 538.

Sterling Heights, 455.

Westland, 443.

Farmington Hills, 350.

Warren Township, 321.

Novi, 246.

Clinton Township, 243.

Troy, 239.

Livonia, 203.

and Melvindale, 200.

The top 10 issued more than 54 percent of all the building permits in the region. Of the communities, six are in Oakland County, two in Macomb and two in Wayne.

WAYNE COUNTY suburbs reported:

Halloween times set for youngsters trick-or-treat

Wednesday night all of Plymouth's little ghosts and goblins will be out and about going door-to-door in search of tricks and treats.

In Plymouth, the goblins will be out from 6 to 8 p.m., while in Plymouth Township they will stalk the streets from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

Halloween candy can be screened for metal from 6:30 to 10 p.m. Wednesday at the McDonald's restaurants on Ford Road and on Michigan Avenue in Canton Township.

Candy should be brought in for inspection-before being unwrapped. The annual metal detection is sponsored by the Canton Kiwanis Club, the Canton Township Police Department, Van Buren Police Department, and Plymouth Metal Detectors.

As in years past, police encourage parents to accompany children and remind them children should wear light colored costumes to increase visibility. Also, make-up or face paints are better than masks for keeping a child's vision clear when crossing streets.

This suit ought to be pursued for the benefit of all users, including those in the city of Detroit — not just western Wayne customers.

— Mary Dumas, county commissioner

Wayne County has two contracts on behalf of suburban communities on the Middle Rouge River and the northeast suburbs. They provide more than 33 percent of the flow. A few individual communities, including Redford Township, have their own contracts and are expected to join the suit.

Philip G. Tannian, heading a battery of five attorneys for the plaintiffs, said the U.S. District Court would prefer to see all customers of Detroit join a single suit. "There are 17 contracts out there. Should you try to litigate this 17 times or just once?" Tannian asked rhetorically, indicating the court would rather try it once.

various athletic teams was evidence of his "involvement in Canton."

RESPONDING TO a question on spending priorities, Bennett, Padgett, Larson and Prentzky agreed that providing essential services for the health, safety and welfare of Canton Township residents were top priority.

Larson said "the dilemma is not figuring out how to spend money but how to say no."

Rasmussen said priority areas were police and fire protection and road improvements. Rasmussen said he would consider "any spending that would make people want to move to Canton."

Bridenbald said his spending priorities would be to "try to save as much as you can" to offset tax cuts.

All the trustee candidates agreed that the most effective way of reducing crime in the township would be improving the neighborhood watch program.

Bennett said teaching people "how not to be victims" would be more cost efficient than increasing uniformed police patrols.

DRAWING THE MOST questions in the township officials' races were clerk candidates Linda Chuhuran, a Republican, and Mary Dingley, a Democrat.

Chuhuran questioned Dingley's leadership qualities and said "knowing a few families" and name recognition could not be relied on as qualities for the clerk's job.

Dingley said her active involvement in the township and qualifications were "very obvious to the citizens" and said she has the ability and reputation of taking on a project and carrying it through to the finish.

Chuhuran cited her extensive work and educational experience which would enable her to implement cost-cutting procedures in the clerk's office.

Dingley said her attendance at township board meetings "the last 10 or 15 years" was important preparation to attend the meetings because of scheduling conflicts, due to late and review the sessions later.

Chuhuran said she would appoint someone within the clerk's office as a deputy clerk if elected, Dingley said her selection would reflect a "community-minded person."

Dingley said her major goal if elected would be to "take office and listen to every citizen's complaint" ranging from minor to serious problems.

Kosteva answers questions

Jim Kosteva

1. Do you favor a part-time or full-time Legislature? Why?
2. Should the Voter's Choice tax rollback be adopted? Why?
3. Should the Legislature pass bills to regionalize the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department under a customer-run regional authority?
4. Should the Legislature appropriate $1.5 million for the Detroit Zoo, to explore taking over the zoo operation, or create a multi-county regional authority to operate it?
5. Should the Michigan Legislature allocate a greater portion of the state general fund for education? If so, what else should be cut?

Kosteva's opponent, Georgia Gramlich of Belleville, did not respond to the Observer's questionnaire by the designated date.

JAMES KOSTEVA

1. There are enough major problems to warrant full-time attention; however, it appears the legislature utilizes an inordinate amount of time maneuvering around issues until a deadline approaches. A part-time legislature would be forced to deal directly with problems without delay and yet be available for special sessions if necessary.

2. The Voter's Choice Amendment should be remembered but not adopted. The message of needed tax reform must be heard and addressed by state government. However, Voter Choice kills the patient before treatment can begin. It would constitute another hasty patchwork effort to curb taxes when major reform is necessary.

3. My 10 years in service has been in local government community planning. The variety of work in this role has included: business development, housing, recreation, agriculture protection, landfills and the environment. My experience provided the opportunity to solve citizens' problems on a face-to-face level everyday, not from behind a telephone of bureaucracy. I am familiar with the issues affecting western Wayne County and have the skills, education and desire to address them.

4. The State funds should be appropriated and audited in the short term. Then, conduct an evaluation of Detroit's performance with zoo operations.

5. If health care costs were reduced, through competition, to state employees and Medicaid/Medicare recipients, the savings could be diverted to aid education.

For some people, trying them takes more than a few minutes.

County dedicates retirement village

Five years of work by Wayne County began to pay off last week with the groundbreaking for the Jerome F. Cavanaugh Retirement Village on the site of the county's former Child Development Center in Northville Township.

"This has been an effort of great perseverance," said Robert E. FitzPatrick, executive director of the Economic Development Corp. of Wayne County.

The site has been almost unused for a dozen years. It is located at the northeastern corner of Five Mile and Sheldon roads.

On hand for the event was State Supreme Court Justice Michael F. Cavanaugh, a brother of the late Detroit mayor for whom the retirement village was named. Also on hand were County Executive William Lucas and the Rev. Malcolm Carroon, S.J., former president of the University of Detroit.

Located on 101 rolling, wooded acres, the retirement village will provide housing, nursing home care, intermediate care facilities and congregate elderly housing.

FitzPatrick said it is designed to maximize re-use of existing structures, many of them sturdily constructed in the 1920s. At least 1,200 units of housing will generate $1 million in school, local, community college and county property taxes. It will generate 1,900 construction jobs and 600 permanent jobs when completed.

The forfeited money will go into a fund for future crime investigations, Commire said.

Running betting pools in Michigan is considered a high misdemeanor. If convicted on the original charge, Rosandic faced a maximum sentence of one year in jail and/or a $500 fine.

Patterson says donation didn't play in fraud decision

By Kathy Parrish
staff writer

It's hard to raise campaign funds. Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson wishes he'd never attracted one large donation.

On the afternoon of a fund-raiser in his honor, Patterson's office Thursday spent two hours explaining $640 given to his re-election campaign.

The donation came June 18 from Farmington Hills auto dealer Bob Saks, who had been questioned earlier by the prosecutor's office during a utility fraud investigation.

Patterson's chief assistant on May 10 decided against charging the dealer. (See text of documents on this page.)

WHILE ADMITTING he got the June donation, Patterson denied he was aware of it until last week when a television report linked the money to his office's decision not to pursue the utility fraud case.

The prosecutor has threatened to sue WXYZ-TV and reporter Vince Wade for slandering his reputation. Pontiac attorney Elbert Hatchett is representing the Patterson.

"Politicians don't have much, but what they do have and earn are their reputations," Patterson said, flanked by his wife and several staff members.

"I built a reputation, and in one night an irresponsible reporter impugned that reputation," he said.

The station said it stood by its story.

PATTERSON'S ANGER was prompted by a television report shown at 6 p.m. and 11 p.m. Wednesday. It dealt with an investigation by the Michigan State Police and Detroit Edison Co. into charges that some area auto dealers allowed their electric meters to be "fixed" to save on energy costs.

Several newspapers have covered the utility fraud investigation of 81 state businesses. Of 32 located in Oakland County, nine of those being investigated were auto dealerships.

"Of 44 target suspects, two were charged in Wayne County," said Richard Thompson, Patterson's chief assistant. One (Robert Gillow) has the case against himself dismissed in return for being allowed to plead his corporation (Action Olds) guilty. The other (against Saks) is pending trial.

After a year and a half investigation, the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office decided in May not to proceed with its cases.

The television story said auto dealer Mechigan in June contributed $640 to Patterson's re-election campaign, and eight weeks later the case was dropped by the prosecutor's office.

Using the business name Bob Saks, Mechigan bought eight $80 tickets to a Hearst-Duram fight June 15 in the Silverdome's Main Event. The event was a Patterson fund-raiser.

THE TELEVISION report also cited a $5,000 contribution from the Detroit Auto Dealers Association (DADA) to Patterson's campaign for state attorney general. DADA treasurer is Marvin Tamoroff, a Southfield Buick dealer and also a subject of the investigation.

Thompson replied:

"The DADA contribution was 'in the works a long time' before it was actually received in November of 1982.

"In November of 1982 the State Police sought a warrant against William H. Jones, 35, of Taylor, but the focus of the investigation didn't shift to auto dealers until later.

"Both the State Police and the prosecutor's office came to the same conclusion that the individual (Tamoroff) was not guilty."
 • The $5,000 gift came from an association, not individuals under investigation. "I don't think being part of an association which happens to support your candidacy is grounds for an apparent conflict of interest," he said.

"The official side of an office does not know what the political side is doing. That is by design. What typically happens is that by accident someone spots a name (on a list of contributors) and says, 'Hey, we're investigating that person.'"

Thompson said Jones pleaded guilty to a charge of fraud brought by an auto dealer. Circuit Judge George LaPlata placed Jones on probation for two years.

Patterson's assistant said Patterson played no part in the decision not to prosecute.

Thompson said he and Michael A. Izzo, chief of warrants, decided there was insufficient evidence to prove utility fraud. He said that they based their decision on the fact that informant Jones had flunked a polygraph test and that he had pleaded guilty to obtaining money under false pretenses. Jones later passed another polygraph test.

Another factor was a state law which grants amnesty to people involved in utility fraud if they make arrangements to pay their bills.

"At no time during this investigation did Patterson have any part in the decision-making process," he said.

THOMPSON SAID he asked Wade to meet with him and examine the case file and the reporter "reluctantly agreed to hold the story."

Wade denied agreeing to wait on the story. "I called weeks ago to talk to you people," he said after Thompson accused him of lying about the television conversation. "I don't think there is any question at

Auto dealers hit Patterson gift story

Danilo Hayes, executive vice president of the Detroit Auto Dealers Association, said there was nothing illegal in its $5,000 contribution to L. Brooks Patterson's 1982 campaign for attorney general.

The contribution, made in November of 1982, became the subject of controversy with the revelation that Patterson, as Oakland County prosecutor, has declined to prosecute several auto dealers for electricity theft.

"This association never, absolutely never, condones anything illegal," Hayes said from the DADA office in Troy. It attacked the reporting of WXYZ-TV (channel 7) on Oct. 10.

NOTING that the broadcaster reported the $5,000 contribution "from the auto dealers to Brooks Patterson" came 15 days after he had already lost the election," Hayes said the contribution was approved on Sept. 21, 1982 - a few weeks before the election.

Hayes said, and Patterson's office certified, that the DADA office in Troy was aware of the pledge well before the election. The date is important because the investigation didn't begin until November, according to a Patterson assistant.

"Channel 7 conveniently neglected to make the observation that, had Patterson been successful in his campaign for attorney general, he would not have been in the Oakland County prosecutor's office, and the matter in question would not have come before him. Therefore, the implication that we were trying to buy protection from Brooks Patterson is misleading and scurrilous."

HAYES ALSO defended the conduct of Mary Tamoroff, Southfield auto dealer who was investigated but never charged by the prosecutor in the electricity theft matter. Tamoroff was treasurer of DADA's Political Action Committee in 1982.

"Of even more concern is the character assassination done on one of our dealers, Mary Tamoroff," Hayes said. "Contrary to the impression left by Channel 7, Tamoroff neither signed the campaign report, signed the contribution check, nor participated in the September meeting when the contribution to Brooks Patterson was approved."

"Mary Tamoroff had nothing to do with the contribution to Brooks Patterson, and Channel 7 owes him an apology. The station and its reporter said they stand by their story."

Feds area recruit contractors

The fifth Federal Procurement Education Forum, designed to acquaint local manufacturers with the method of receiving federal contract awards, will be held on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 1-2, at the Engineering Society of Detroit, 100 Farmington.

The forum will feature business speakers who have successfully worked with the government, including representatives from Jervis B. Webb Co. and General Dynamics, as well as liaisons from the U.S. Army Tank Automotive Command.

The registration fee is $75 per participant. To register, call Lillian Randolph at 964-4000.

SOME PEOPLE RETIRE WITH MORE THAN JUST A GOLD WATCH.

You work hard all your life and what do you get? Well, depending on where you work, you could get cancer. Asbestos has been proven to cause cancer. Certain toxic chemicals like formaldehyde and freon are being investigated. If you've worked with radioactive particles or even worked near them, your risk is greater. And even if you've worked nowhere hazardous, it wouldn't hurt to get a checkup. Because the incidence of cancer after the age of 45 to 50 increases rapidly. Over the next several years the American Cancer Society will be conducting more research into certain lifestyles and exposures which could increase cancer mortality. So know the risks. Don't smoke. Watch what you eat and drink. Look for the warning signs of cancer. And retire not only with a gold ticker. But a healthy one, also.

Police to review car-chase policies

With the arraignment of Oakland County Deputy Roger Gestler on charges of negligent homicide, law enforcement officers across Michigan must question the advisability of high-speed chases, according to Carl Parsell of the Michigan Association of Police (MAP).

Michigan law enforcement officers are angered at the recent trend of prosecuting police officers for legitimate actions taken in the line of duty, Parsell added.

MAP will sponsor a one-day seminar for law enforcement representatives across the state entitled, "To Chase or Not To Chase?" It is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. Nov. 14 in the Southfield Civic Center auditorium.

AMONG THE topics will be departmental policies, liability of becoming involved in chases, how to decide whether or not to chase and the consequences of a decision not to chase.

Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson and the Wayne and Macomb county prosecutors will be invited to explain their positions on police chases and how they expect them to be handled.

Did gifts sway fraud prosecution?

all that the meters were tampered with," said Thompson, questioning whether the prosecutor's office could prove the case.

"It would have been dereliction of duty and unethical for us to proceed in the case."

PATTERSON SAID he overlooked the campaign contribution from Saks but would have returned it immediately if he'd known the money had come in. The prosecutor said donations from people investigated by his office or other agencies are returned to the donors.

"To suggest that I would risk 12 years in the prosecutor's office and my personal reputation - which up to last night was impeccable - and then suggest I would take a bribe and then document it for all to know," said Patterson, adding that he "wouldn't know him (Saks) if he walked into this room."

"I did absolutely nothing wrong or improper in this case, nor did my staff."

The prosecutor offered to take a lie detector test if Wade would publicly retract the news story and publicly apologize to him, his family and staff.

When the reporter said he would retract the polygraph results, Patterson said he intends to sue.

Asked if he would return the campaign contribution, the prosecutor said he won't because that would admit guilt.

Patterson's auto case documents

Here is the text of a memo dated May 10 from Michael A. Izzo, chief of the warrants division in the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office, to Richard Thompson, chief assistant prosecutor, suggesting they drop charges against two auto dealers on utility fraud charges:

At your request, I have re-examined the pending utility fraud cases.

Having attended the statement of Robert Gillow of Action Oldsmobile, I do not see how his testimony could assist the prosecutions in Oakland County.

Further, Public Act 37 of 1984 grants any person who has violated Sec. 750-282 a 90-day amnesty period which began to run as of April 12, 1984 (date when House Bill 4975 was signed by the governor).

In light of all the factors surrounding these cases and the fact that Robert Mechigan is being prosecuted in Wayne County, I would not proceed with any cases in Oakland County.

Oakland Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson provided examples of campaign contributions he refused to avoid the appearance of conlict of interest. Almost identical, the letters are signed by Jacquelyn A. Stewart, treasurer of the Citizens Supporting L. Brooks Patterson Committee. The examples were dated between Jan. 7, 1980, and March 9, 1981. One sample:

Thank you for your contribution of May 22, 1980, in the amount of $100.

It is the policy of this committee to return all contributions to persons who have been investigated by this office or criminally charged by any agency, regardless of the outcome. The purpose of this policy is to avoid any appearance of a conflict of interest in accordance with Standard 1.2 of the American Bar Association Standards, relating to the prosecution function.

Enclosed please find your check in the amount of $100. We feel sure you will understand the necessity for this action.

Patterson said it was "unfortunate" the Bob Saks contribution of $640 wasn't caught. Patterson said he would "take our lumps over that, but not over allegations of a bribe, adding he would not return it."

"We will take our lumps on that but don't suggest that had input into any decisions by this office."

Computer dialer tracks truants

By Gary M. Cates, staff writer

The Centennial Educational Park (CEP) high school has employed a "heartless" truancy officer. The new officer is a computerized dialer named "Truant." Its main purpose is to notify parents — who can't be reached during the day — when their child has skipped class.

Diane Pirrie, an aide in Centennial Educational Park, operates "Truant," a computerized telephone dialing system recently begun to inform parents that their children have been skipping school.

"Truant" is a computerized dialer that makes a tape-recorded message to the parent of a child who has skipped class. The computer dialer is programmed to call 22 homes during the evening hours — between 5 and 9 p.m.

Create A Special Cake This HALLOWEEN

Every Halloween, adults and kids get ready for a day of fun and fantasy. From the first flickerings of a costume idea until the last piece of candy is eaten, Halloween surely ranks as one of the year's most enjoyable celebrations.

In Celtic mythology, the spirits of the departed were said to visit their former homes on this night. Villagers donned costumes to deceive the spirits and feasted on the harvest to forget their fears.

Today, too, a favorite way to celebrate is by "disappearing" into a disguise and then joining friends and family for Halloween "Meet 'n Treat" festivities. For over ten years, the National Confectioners Association has supported the "Meet 'n Treat" program, the purpose of which is to encourage parents and children to observe Halloween safety rules and preserve wholesome Halloween traditions.

One of the best-loved activities for youngsters is the traditional door-to-door candy collecting rounds. Parents should make sure children wear reflector tape on light-colored clothing short enough to prevent tripping, and that they can see well through face masks. They should accompany young children, and warn their older youngsters to stay within the neighborhood, watch for traffic and carry a flashlight in case they return after dusk.

When the treating rounds are completed, adults should examine candy before allowing children to eat it, and make sure everything collected is wrapped. Then the fun can continue at home with a neighborhood Halloween party. In addition to such popular games as bobbing for apples and a "best costume" contest, start a new tradition with a do-it-yourself Halloween Candy Cake. This tasty three-tiered centerpiece is deliciously chocolatey inside, with a zesty orange tang from the crushed orange candies baked right in. Outside, iced with a flavorful orange buttercream frosting, there's plenty of room for decoration with everyone's favorite confections.

Add to the excitement by choosing three children and having each decorate one layer. Give each child an assortment of candy, and let their imaginations be their guide. Serve the cake with refreshing apple juice or a simple fruit punch.

Remember that the National Safety Council urges all pedestrian "meet 'n treaters" to cross streets only at corners and never between cars or diagonally across intersections, to look in all directions before crossing the street and to obey all traffic signals. Always walk — don't run — across streets, walk on sidewalks and not in the road, stay on the sidewalk when waiting to cross and watch for cars that may be backing out of driveways.

Keep this Halloween safe and add to the fun by celebrating with family friends.

HALLOWEEN CANDY CAKE

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| 5 cups all-purpose flour                    | 3 cups sugar  |
| 1 1/2 cups unsweetened cocoa                | 1 1/2 tablespoons orange extract                          |
| 1 tablespoon plus 2 teaspoons baking powder | 9 large eggs, at room temperature                         |
| 3/4 teaspoon baking soda                    | 2 2/3 cups milk   |
| 3/4 teaspoon salt                           | 1 1/4 cups finely crushed orange hard candies (10 ounces) |
| 2 1/4 cups butter or margarine, softened    |   |

Grease and line bottoms of 11-inch, 8-inch and 5-inch round cake pans (2 inches high) with waxed paper. Grease paper and sides of pans. Sprinkle pans lightly with flour or cocoa, tapping pans to distribute evenly; remove excess. In a large bowl (at least 2 quart capacity) stir together flour, cocoa, baking powder, baking soda and salt. In a very large bowl (at least 5 quart capacity) cream butter and sugar together until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Add orange extract. Alternately add milk with dry ingredients to creamed mixture. Blend well. Stir in crushed candies. Heat oven to 350°F. Spoon batter into prepared pans to within 1 inch from top of pan. Bake 5-inch cake 50 to 55 minutes, 8-inch cake 60 to 65 minutes and 11-inch cake 70 to 75 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center of each cake comes out clean. Cool cakes 15 minutes in pans. Turn out onto cooling racks. Cool completely. With a sharp knife trim tops of cakes so they are flat. Layer cakes together with Orange Frosting*; frost top and sides of cake. Decorate with Halloween candies and your favorite Halloween characters.

*ORANGE FROSTING

- |                              |                              |
|------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 1/2 cup vegetable shortening | 2 teaspoons orange extract   |
| 10 cups confectioners' sugar | 4-6 tablespoons milk         |
| 3 egg whites                 | Yellow and red food coloring |

In a large bowl cream shortening and confectioners' sugar. Blend in egg white, orange extract and milk. Add more or less milk as needed for suitable spreading consistency. Stir in yellow and red food coloring to tint frosting orange. Use to frost Halloween Cake.

NOTE:

If desired, a square version of this tiered cake can be made using one 9 x 13-inch cake pan and one 8-inch square cake pan. Prepare pans and batter as above. Bake square cake 60 to 65 minutes and 9 x 13-inch cake 70 to 75 minutes. When cakes are cool, trim 1 inch from two sides of 8-inch cake to create a 7-inch square. Cut a 9-inch section from the 9 x 13-inch cake to form a 9-inch square. Cut a 4-inch section from remaining piece to form a 4-inch square. Assemble layers and decorate as above. (There will be a 4 x 5-inch piece of cake left over. Set aside for another use.)

YIELD: 40 servings.

More than 1 way to coat a fish

If you're among the millions of Americans limiting sodium intake, there is an array of low-sodium seafood recipes that will satisfy even the most discriminating diner.

Certain fresh fruits and vegetables that are low in sodium, such as pineapple and green pepper, will enhance the flavor of a favorite fish variety. Unsalted nuts add a unique taste and provide necessary fiber, vitamins and nutrients, while keeping down the sodium content of the dish.

Unsalted cashews, combined with cracker crumbs, Parmesan cheese, margarine and sherry make a crunchy nut stuffing for shrimp, topped with lemon sauce.

A cashew sauce made with unsalted cashews, pineapple and tomato paste enhances that fresh-from-the-sea flavor of scrod.

FILLET IN CASHEW SAUCE
Makes 4 servings
3 tsp. peanut oil
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1/4 cup chopped onion
1 (8-oz.) can pineapple tidbits in juice
2 tsp. tomato paste
1 tsp. cornstarch
2 tsp. white vinegar
1/4 cup dry white wine
1 lb. scrod fillets
3/4 cup dry roasted unsalted cashews

Heat 2 tablespoons peanut oil in saucpan over medium heat. Add pepper and onion; saute until tender. Stir in undrained pineapple and tomato paste. Mix cornstarch and

CASHEW STUFFED SHRIMP
Makes 4 servings
12 jumbo shrimp
22 soda crackers, unsalted tops, finely rolled (about 3/4 cup crumbs)
1/2 cup dry roasted unsalted cashews, coarsely chopped
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
3 tsp. margarine, melted

Place scrod fillets in a greased baking dish; brush with remaining peanut oil. Bake at 425 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes, or until easily flaked. Mix cashews into prepared sauce and serve with fillets.

Microwave Preparation:
In a 1-quart microwave-proof bowl, combine 2 tablespoons oil, pepper and onion; cook on high (100 percent power) 2 to 3 minutes. Stir in undrained pineapple and tomato paste. Mix cornstarch and vinegar until smooth; add to bowl. Cover bowl with wax paper. Cook on high (100 percent power) 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 minutes, stirring twice during cooking time, until mixture boils. Stir in wine. Leave sauce covered and set aside.

Arrange scrod in a shallow microwave-proof baking dish; brush with remaining oil. Cover with wax paper and cook on high (100 percent power) 5 to 7 minutes, giving dish 1/4 turn halfway through cooking time, or until fish flakes easily. Mix cashews into prepared sauce and serve with fillets.

2 tsp. dry sherry
1/4 tsp. paprika
1/4 cup water
Lemon Sauce (recipe below)

Shell shrimp, leaving tail attached, wash thoroughly and drain. Butterfly shrimp by splitting almost completely through center. Lay, cut side up, in large shallow baking dish.

Mix together cracker crumbs, cashews, cheese, margarine and sherry. Mound 1 tablespoon mixture on top of each shrimp. Pour water into bottom of dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes, or until shrimp are tender. Transfer shrimp to platter and drizzle with lemon sauce (recipe below).

Lemon Sauce:
In a saucepan combine 1/4 cup margarine, juice from 1 lemon, 1 1/4 teaspoons white vinegar and 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce. Heat until margarine melts. Stir with a wire whisk until blended.

Microwave Preparation:
Butterfly shrimp as directed above. Arrange in a circular fashion on a large round microwave-proof plate, tails to the inside of circle. Prepare cracker stuffing and use to top shrimp as directed above. Pour water into dish and cover with wax paper. Cook on medium-high (70 percent power) 4 to 6 minutes, or until shrimp are done. Leave shrimp covered and set aside.

Prepare lemon sauce as directed above, cooking on high (100 percent power) 2 to 3 minutes, or until margarine melts. Drizzle over shrimp to serve.

Create magic the French way

The French have a definitive eye on the potato as well as on cheese. No other country can match the variety available in France, over 400 distinct and delicious varieties.

When the French combine both favorites, the results are sheer culinary magic. Either of the following recipes will make a big hit at your next dinner party. Or surprise your youngsters with some fancy potatoes just for the family supper.

POTATOES ROQUEFORT

Heavy cream
Salt and pepper
1/2 cup finely crushed French biscotte crumbs

Gradually beat in cream until potatoes are light and fluffy; season with salt and pepper. Spoon mixture into reserved potato shells. In bowl, mix crumbs, garlic and butter; sprinkle over potatoes. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes or until brown and crusty.

POTATOES A L'ALSACIENNE

2 for 1 cooking saves time, money, energy

Finding new ways to save time has become a national pastime. Saving time in the kitchen, however, doesn't mean you have to sacrifice quality, nutrition or the weekly food budget. Today's cooks can streamline meal preparation by simply taking advantage of timesaving cooking methods.

"Two-for-one" cooking gets you in and out of the kitchen in a hurry with extra dividends in the form of energy and money savings. The principle is simple. You select one versatile, easy-on-the-budget main dish for a weekend meal, then use the "extras" to get a head start on one or more super-quick, super-delicious weekday meals.

Start by selecting the meat. Large cuts of meat generally are more economical than smaller cuts. But for greatest savings, check the weekly supermarket specials. Whole chickens, blade pork roast, beef brisket, beef chuck roast and whole turkeys and hams often are "best buys."

As a general rule of thumb when selecting meat and poultry, figure 2 to 3 servings per pound for ready-to-cook poultry, 3 to 4 servings per pound for meat with little bone or fat, and 2 to 3 servings per pound for bone-in roasts and steaks. Using these guidelines, a six-pound bone-in beef chuck roast will yield approximately 12 servings — enough for three meals for a family of four.

Rediscover pasta in this macaroni salad

Good cooks everywhere are rediscovering pasta. Shops specializing in "homemade" varieties are opening, grocery and department stores have special sections for homemade pasta devotees, and many dedicated lovers are experimenting with their own combinations at home.

While pasta has been enjoyed for years in a variety of red and white sauces served hot with meat, fish, or vegetables, cooks are now serving it cold in delicious salad combinations. One of these is Macaroni and Vegetable Salad, which uses spiral macaroni in a mixture of cheese, broccoli, tomato and cucumber slices. To lend an Italian flavor to this salad, the recipe uses Italian dressing. The salad ingredients are tossed with the dressing and chilled overnight to marinate them in the sa-

Stretch food dollars even further by pairing meat or poultry with a whole-grain cereal. Because they contain the bran and germ, whole-grain cereals provide nutritional bonuses in the form of dietary fiber, protein, iron and several B vitamins.

Barley is a whole-grain cereal with a pleasantly chewy texture and full, hearty flavor. Pair it with meat or poultry in soups, stews, casseroles, salads and skillet dishes. Cook the barley in chicken or beef bouillon and serve instead of pasta, potatoes or rice. Add sliced green onion, shredded carrot, chopped green pepper or thawed frozen peas for delicious variety.

For quick-cooking dishes such as pilafs, salads and skillet suppers, use quick-pearled barley which cooks in 10 to 12 minutes. Regular barley is a good choice for longer cooking soups, stews and casseroles. However, both types of barley can be used in many recipes by adjusting the cooking times and the proportions of water and barley. Use package directions as a guide.

Here's a delicious "two-for-one" cooking idea that will save you money and time in the kitchen. For your first meal, Chicken Barley Soup teams regular barley with a family-size roasting chicken. The chicken and barley simmer together until tender, then the chicken is removed from the bones. (A 3½- to 4-lb. roasting chicken will yield about 4 cups cooked chicken.) Part of the chicken is returned to the soup pot. The "extra" chicken is refrigerated for a quick casserole a night or two later, or frozen for later use. Wrapped in moisture-vapor-proof wrap, cooked chicken can be frozen up to six months.

CHICKEN BARLEY SOUP
1 3/4 to 4-lb. roasting chicken, cup up
1 cup coarsely chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery with leaves
1/2 cup pearl barley*
2 tsp. chopped fresh parsley or 2 tsp. dried parsley flakes
1 whole garlic clove
1 bay leaf
1 1/2 to 2 qts. water
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 cup julienne carrots

Combine chicken, onion, celery, barley, parsley, garlic and bay leaf. Add enough water to just cover chicken. Bring to a boil, reduce heat. Cover; simmer about 1 hour or until chicken and barley are tender. Skim foam from surface; remove chicken, garlic clove and bay leaf from broth. Cool chicken. Remove meat from bones; cut enough meat into bite-size pieces to make 1 cup. Wrap remaining chicken in moisture-vapor-proof wrap; freeze for future use. Add 1 cup cooked chicken, salt and pepper to broth. Return soup to simmer. Add carrots; simmer 5 minutes. Adjust seasonings. Five 1-cup servings.

*NOTE: Substitute 1/2 cup quick-pearled barley for regular barley, if desired. Add barley after 30 minutes of simmering.

EASY-ON-THE-CLOCK CHICKEN BARLEY CASSEROLE comes to the rescue a night or two later. This satisfying one-dish meal goes from oven to table in 30 minutes because the cooked chicken is paired with quick-cooking barley. Stretch food dollars by making your own bread crumbs for the golden topping from leftover corn bread, hamburger buns or sandwich bread.

CHICKEN BARLEY CASSEROLE
1 cup quick-pearled barley*
1 tsp. salt
3 cups boiling water
1 1/2 cups chopped cooked chicken or turkey
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese
1 10-1/2-oz. can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 10-oz. pkg. frozen peas, thawed, or 1 cup can peas, drained
1/2 cup milk
TOPPING:
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
2 tbs. margarine, melted

Heat oven to 350 degrees. For casserole, stir barley into salted boiling water. Cover; simmer for 10 to 12 minutes or until tender, stirring occasionally. Drain. Combine barley and remaining casserole ingredients; mix well. Spread evenly in 8-inch square baking dish. For topping, combine bread crumbs and melted margarine; sprinkle evenly over casserole. Bake about 30 minutes or until light golden brown. About 6 servings.

*NOTE: Substitute 1/2 cup pearled barley for quick barley, if desired. Prepare regular barley according to package directions. Drain. Proceed as remaining recipe.

Use your frozen assets — the remaining cooked chicken — for another quick meal. The Quaker Test Kitchens suggest the following ideas to get you started.

• Add cubed chicken and thawed mixed vegetables to a Parmesan cheese flavored cream sauce, serve over corn bread squares or use as a filling for pancake rolls-ups.

• "Stir-fry" cubed chicken and fresh vegetables with herbs; serve over hot cooked pasta or rice.

• Combine cubed chicken, chopped apple, sliced celery, shredded cabbage and enough mayonnaise to moisten; season with curry powder and serve on a cabbage leaf.

IT'S NOT JUST the music, it's the dancers. The big band music takes you back — a nostalgic trip in sound and time. The dancers never miss a step, a move. It's as if they had danced together forever.

That's the way it is the first Sunday evening of the month at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. Al Townsend and the Ambassadors, a 20-member band, will be back 7-10:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 4 with Doug Kerr, vocalist.

They are quite a group. Take Doug, for instance. He is an accountant for Ford Motor Co. at the Sheldon Road Plant. He and his wife, Fran, live in Plymouth Township. Doug would rather sing than eat. He can belt out a song or keep a ballad sweet and true.

It is evident that they all have a wonderful time making music. There's Frank Tinker, a retired dentist. Maurice Lamey, on trombone, is a professor of music at Eastern Michigan University. Skip Homer, on sax, is a retired geology professor.

And there's young Dave Cavender — Dr. Dave, that is. He plays a mean trumpet and a mighty fine harmonica. Dave takes time out from his medical practice to give harmonic lessons. His father's name may ring a bell. He is George Cavender, former director of the University of Michigan Marching Band.

Al and the Ambassadors may have to give up the Sunday evening dances at the Hilton. The turnout has not been large enough to compensate their time. They do have a following, couples who never miss a dance. One pair — he must have been in his 70s — danced every set at the October party.

Their following is not limited just to oldtimers and the band's repertoire goes from the '40s to the '80s. But that magnificent big band sound is there.

Admission is $6 per person and there is a cash bar. The baskets of popcorn are free. Groups of 20 or more will be admitted for $4 per person. Call Fran, 459-2018, for information. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

PARTY BRIDGE players at the Thursday afternoon games at the Plymouth Cultural Center have been averaging 10 tables in play. Al Weiss had high score Oct. 19 with 6,010 points. Dorothy Shaffer was second.

Peter Zack's 5,900 score took the honors last Thursday with Pete Suchanski coming in second.

THE CANTON Township Beautification Committee is alive and well. Former president Donna Belzer moved away and Arlene Woods has replaced her. Meeting date has been changed to the second Thursday of the month.

The committee will assume the responsibility of naming recipients of beautification awards, a duty handled formerly by the township board.

They plan to order twice as many holiday luminaries as last year, 10,000 instead of 5,000. Christmas Eve has been designated as official light-up time. Families who have bought them in the past, know they can be used again and again throughout the holiday season.

So far, Carolyn O'Keefe and Judy Bloomquist will take orders for Sunflower Village and Maureen Jehanke in Pickwick. More contacts will be announced later.

Members of the committee are considering an award for the best-decorated home at Christmas time. What they need right now is more participation. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 8 in the Township Hall Meeting Room. If you can't make it yourself, delegate someone from your block to represent you and your neighbors.

WEEKENDS are becoming so busy around here it's difficult to keep up with things. The Plymouth Theatre Guild will present William Inge's "Bus Stop" Saturday in the auditorium at the Central Middle School, Main at Church. Curtain time will be 8 p.m. for the romantic comedy. Admission is $4 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and persons 18 and under. —The play opens Friday night but it's a sell-out. "Bus Stop" also is scheduled for the following weekend, Nov. 9 and 10. Tickets may be purchased at the door. For information about group rates, call 455-2632.

The first of the season's musicale series presented by the Plymouth Symphony Society will be in St. John's Seminary, the red brick building on Five Mile at Sheldon in Plymouth Township. The concert at 4 p.m. Sunday will be in the chapel, which is noted for its acoustics.

Musicale series premiers

The first in a series of three Plymouth Musicales concerts will be Sunday afternoon in the chapel of St. John's Seminary. Penelope Crawford and Enid Sutherland, critically acclaimed concert artists, will perform a program of chamber music at 4 p.m.

Members of the audience are invited to meet the artists at a wine and cheese reception after the mini-concert.

The concert is co-sponsored by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and the Plymouth Symphony Society.

Tickets are available in advance at Beiter Jewelry, Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, or at the door the afternoon of the concert. Admission is $5 for adults and $3.50 for senior citizens and students.

CRAWFORD and Sutherland have planned a program featuring music by Beethoven, Bach, Haydn, Boccherini and Beethoven. During the concert, they will provide discussions of the music and their instruments, which are authentic to the period.

Crawford will perform on both fortepiano and harpsichord, Sutherland on cello.

Sutherland specializes in the six suites by Bach. The Milwaukee Sentinel described her performance as "Better Baroque playing, more stylish and luminous, and expressively compelling, doesn't happen anywhere in the world."

She has been guest lecturer in workshops and classes. In the summers, she teaches at the Oberlin Baroque Performance Institute.

SUTHERLAND is a member of the Ars Musica Baroque Orchestra, directs Ann Arbor consort of viols, and gives frequent solo recitals. She teaches viol at the University of Michigan and at various workshops and conferences.

Crawford has received performance degrees from the Eastman School of Music and the U-M, where she is member of the faculty. She has studied at the Akademie Mozarteum in Salzburg and the Accademia di Santa Cecilia in Rome.

She has been keyboard soloist with the Ars Musica Baroque Orchestra since 1974.

THE PLYMOUTH Symphony Society initiated the musicale series last season with two "mini-concerts" one in the Plymouth Historical Museum and another at the seminary. Perfect acoustics at St. John's prompted the decision to have all the 1984-85 series in the chapel.

St. John's Seminary is on Five Mile east of Sheldon in Plymouth Township. The building, completed Oct. 13, 1949, is situated on rolling countryside with a golf course on three sides. It was established under the direction Cardinal Edward Mooney, who is buried in the seminary.

Potent Stevenson repeats as champs

DAN DEAN/staff photographer

John Gelmisi (middle) of Livonia Stevenson gets a congratulatory handshake from teammate Joe Novak (left) as the Spartans made the count 5-0 early in the second half. Plymouth Salem's Eldon Nash (right) slumps over in disappointment. Stevenson won the Class A regional championship with a 5-1 victory Saturday over Salem at Allen Park Inter-City Baptist. Stevenson advances to state semifinals Wednesday.

Rocks thwarted in regional, 5-1

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Livonia Stevenson scored another patented soccer win Saturday afternoon with a convincing 5-1 victory over Plymouth Salem in the Class A regional boys final at Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

The Spartans (19-0-1) are just one step away from reaching the state championship game for the third consecutive year. They'll play Wednesday afternoon in the semifinals on the home field of the Warren DeLaSalle-Northville winner.

"They came here healthy and with a great attitude," said Stevenson coach Pete Scerri, who collected the regional trophy for the third straight year. "They believe in me and they believe in themselves."

The Spartans struck fast and quickly against the Cinderella Rocks. A Chris Gembis throw-in resulted in a Joe Novak header just 2:50 into the match to give the Spartans a 1-0 lead.

IT WAS LESS than a minute later that Novak (goal) and John Gelmisi (assist) worked a beautiful give-and-go play to make it 2-0 Stevenson.

"Two goals in the first five minutes — that's our trademark," Scerri said. "That's how we usually do it."

At 17:41 of the half, sophomore Lars Ritters scored unassisted to increase the lead to 3-0. That was followed by the clincher, a Gelmisi goal on a throw-in from Jim Kimble, giving the Spartans a 4-0 halftime bulge.

Adding a 13-2 Stevenson margin in shots, the game was over for all intents and purposes at halftime.

soccer

"We ran into a meat grinder," said Salem coach Ken Johnson. "It was the same old story. If you want to beat Stevenson, you've got to score first."

"They're powerful when they're on. They're quick, skillful and excellent at every position. And if they score early, you're in trouble."

THE LOSS ended Salem's marvelous late season run.

The Rocks (13-5-1) beat Ann Arbor Huron a week ago Friday in overtime. That was followed by an impressive 5-0 win Tuesday over a formidable Livonia Churchill team and an 4-2 overtime upset victory Thursday over highly regarded Redford Catholic Central.

"I think we were a little drained from Thursday," Johnson said. "It was a hard week. I knew today would be tough. It would almost have taken a miracle."

Early in the second half, Gelmisi notched his second goal on a rebound shot from Novak.

Salem then averted the shutout with three minutes remaining on Mark Flower's school record 17th goal of the year from Dave Dameron.

The Rocks never mounted much of an offensive attack until Scerri sent the reserves in. One of the reasons Salem was limited to a total of six shots on net was junior defender Steve Karfis.

"He's a brick wall," said the Stevenson coach. "You can't penetrate in there against him."

JOHNSON, meanwhile, knew his young Rocks were beaten by a "powerful team."

"I don't know who is going to beat them," he said. "Success breeds success. They have that mystique about them. They're on an entirely different level it seems."

The Spartans even have a copyright on victories — it seems.

Lady Ocelots trip U-M

Schoolcraft College's women's soccer team built up a 2-0 lead and staved off a late University of Michigan charge to post a 2-1 win Wednesday in Ann Arbor.

Sue Ferguson and Amy McCauley scored for Schoolcraft, which raised its record to 13-3-2. Ferguson scored in the opening half, her 30th of the season, with Kris Petit assisting. McCauley scored early in the second half on an assist from Ferguson.

The Ocelots have a three-week layoff before advancing to the NJCAA tournament. Schoolcraft gets an automatic berth because it is the only junior college in the region with a varsity women's soccer program.

Surprise: Salem boots CC

Phil Adzima (18) of Plymouth Salem and CC's Jeff Kuzma battle for possession of the ball in Friday's state regional battle. Adzima won the battle and Salem won the game, 4-2.

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Ken Johnson, Plymouth Salem's soccer coach, had his strategy all mapped out for his team's state regional tournament game against Redford Catholic Central and scoring whiz Andy Rama.

His plan: Don't do anything different. Success is hard to argue against, and success is what the Rocks enjoyed in Thursday's 4-2 overtime victory over CC at Allen Park Inter-City Baptist.

"That's the old English style," said Johnson. "We play strong defense, kick the long ball into the corner and cross it back into the middle."

And what about Rama, whose 62 goals this season shattered the state record? Any special defensive measures aimed at containing him?

"WE TALKED about it," said Johnson. "But I never believed in man-to-man marking. If you put one man on him, it confuses your defense. The other defenders don't know where to play."

"We were zone marking. If he's in your zone, mark him."

Again, that adjustment — or lack of one — paid off for Salem. Rama was limited to one goal, which he scored on a breakaway after neatly evading one defender and faking Rock goalkeeper Joe Knoerl.

Rama's goal got CC's comeback started. Although the Shamrocks dominated the early stages of the game, it was Salem that scored first on Kevin Sultana's goal after just one minute. Ebon Nash assisted.

Salem made it 2-0 on the first of two scores by Dave Dameron. This one came early in the second half, with Mark Flower assisting.

But Rama got CC's offense on track, and John Rehm knotted the game with three minutes to play on a shot from the right side, forcing the overtime.

Dameron's lightning-quick offensive bursts, which kept CC off-balance throughout the game, proved to be the difference. The pint-sized striker bounced home the game-winning goal seven minutes into the first overtime. Sultana drew the assist.

The deciding goal wasn't the result of a blistering shot unleashed by Dameron, but it was enough. CC goalkeeper Pat Stocker, who had made a brilliant diving save on Flower's point-blank rocket with three minutes left in regulation, wasn't as sharp this time. Dameron's shot from the left side bounced right under the goalkeeper.

IF THERE was a marked difference between the two squads in the overtime, it was steam. Salem had it, while the Shamrocks looked gassed. Still, CC had its chances, the best when Rama wriggled open directly in front of the Salem goal but deflected the centering pass high over the net.

That happened with eight minutes to go in the second 10-minute overtime. A minute later, Dan Jakubowski rolled a shot just wide of the target.

That proved to be CC's last gasp. After fighting back from that two-goal deficit, the Shamrocks ran out of rallies.

CC coach Paul Scicluna argued with officials throughout Friday's contest — until he was red-carded in the game's closing minutes.

With 7:30 to go, CC defender Brent Wasik tried to clear the ball back to Stocker. His kick was weak, and Salem midfielder Mike Messana pounced on the ball and fired it into the net to make it 4-2.

Any hopes for a comeback were dashed when Wasik was red-carded, forcing CC to play the final 4:30 short a man. CC coach Paul Scicluna also got his red card, with two minutes left.

THREE FACTORS gave Salem the advantage heading into the overtime. As Johnson pointed out, "Of the 55 goals we've scored this season, 35 have come in the second half. That's stamina."

Second, according to Johnson, was team personality. "We knew CC was a fiery, volatile bunch," he said. "Ours are the calmest bunch of kids. Very even-tempered. It's just the way they are."

The third factor Johnson hinted at. "They're a good team," he said in appraising CC. "They might be third or fourth in our league."

Which comes as no surprise. The Western Lakes Soccer League is tops in the state. That meant Salem faced tough competition every time out, while CC was the best of a mediocre Catholic League.

The Shamrocks bowed out of the state tournament with an 18-3 record, the loss snapping a 12-game win streak.

Canton defense stonies Vikings, Rocks tumble

The Plymouth Canton football team, albeit a bit too late, has put its act together.

The Chiefs took the opening kickoff Friday night and proceeded to run Walled Lake Central out of the CEP facility, 28-0.

Dennis Harvey took the opening kickoff 58 yards. That set up the first score — a 2-yard run by quarterback Dave Knapp.

In the second quarter, Harvey took it in himself from the 1.

Meanwhile, the Canton defense had the normally-potent Viking offense in a stranglehold. On the night, Central had a minus-4 yards rushing. The Vikings completed just eight of 24 passes for 97 yards. The Chiefs allowed just six first downs.

The Chiefs buried the Vikings in the fourth quarter. Sophomore Mike Johnson scored from the 1 and junior Dave Lambert ran in the final score from the 22.

Dave Liuzzo kicked all four extra points.

Harvey was the main weapon in the Chiefs' arsenal. In addition to his punt and kickoff returns, he gained 76 yards in 15 carries. Matt Flower gained 63 yards in just six carries and Johnson rambled for 41.

Canton gained 244 yards on the ground and 41 through the air.

The Western Lakes Activities Association crossover win ups the Chiefs' record to 3-5, the same as Central.

The Chiefs will wrap up the 1984 season at home Friday night against Belleville.

W.L. WESTERN 37, SALEM 36, OT:

football

In a perverse sort of way, it's a fitting conclusion to a hideous WLAA season for Tom Moshimer's Plymouth Salem team.

In fact, the Rocks' 2-6 record is the worst since Moshimer's first season back in 1967.

"It's just one of those years, you know, when everything turns to stone," Moshimer said.

"But, we've had our share of good years. We've not been on the other side of the coin too many times," he added. Friday night's affair symbolized Salem's frustration in 1984.

Salem led lowly Walled Lake Western 29-15 after three quarters. Quarterback Steve Sobditch and wide receiver Craig Morton had hooked up on three scintillating scoring passes of 50, 38 and 41 yards.

Back Kevin Riley added another on a 63-yard run.

The Rocks were looking like winners. Then the roof caved in. Western scored a pair of TDs to pull within two, 29-27. With 1:03 left in the game, Salem faced a third-down-and-5 situation at its own 6.

In a similar situation against North Farmington on the first night of the season, Salem elected to punt on third down. The punter however, stepped out of the end zone for a safety and North rallied to win.

This time, Moshimer elected to pass for the first down. Sobditch was sacked in the end zone for a safety which tied the game.

"I know we'll be criticized for passing on that play," Moshimer said. "But, what the heck. If we punt out of there, the way they had been moving the ball on us, who's to say they don't take it in. A least we had overtime."

Salem got the ball first in overtime and scored on a 4-yard pass from Sobditch to Brian Beals. Mark Dixon added the point after.

Western came back to score on its possession, a 1-yard run by quarterback John Dora. Western elected to go for the two-point conversion and the win. Dora took it in from the 2.

It was the Rocks' third overtime loss of the season.

"That's got to be some kind of record," Moshimer said.

The loss wasted another brilliant performance by receiver Morton. He caught eight passes for 159 yards and the three TDs.

"If he's not an all-state receiver then I don't know who is," said Moshimer.

Western pounded the Rock defensive line for 281 yards rushing. The Warriors amassed another 50 through the air.

"It's the same old story. We just don't stop anyone," said the Salem coach.

The Rocks gained 163 yards passing and 91 rushing. Riley picked up 85 yards in 10 carries.

The Rocks will close out the season at Redford Union.

Mulroy lights fire under Chiefs after win Falcons frighten Rocks again

One thing has been consistent about the Plymouth Canton girls basketball team: It won't play two "good" games in a row.

"It was in keeping with our constant — the only thing consistent about our basketball team — we can't play two good games in a row," Canton coach John Mulroy said.

Don't get the wrong idea. Mulroy wasn't totally displeased. The Chiefs did beat Livonia Churchill Thursday 38-34. It just wasn't very pretty.

girls basketball

"We played well enough to win, and I'm very happy about that," he said. "And we played a team that is tough to beat in their own gym. But we can play much better."

"Our goal was to play four good quarters. And I'm very disappointed that we weren't able to."

Canton carried an eight-point lead into the later stages of the fourth quarter. But Churchill made a strong run, closing the gap to four points. Fortunately for Canton, time ran out.

"It was as if we were playing not to lose. We'd go up by six and eight points then go into cruise control, and Churchill would come back."

Mulroy was also disappointed in his team's defensive execution.

"We used to play a serious man-to-man defense. If last night was any indication, we have completely lost our ability to play it."

Mulroy's remarks aren't thrown off by the Chiefs. In fact, he said, for the Chiefs to get down to business.

"We have yet to play up to our potential. We haven't played two good games in a row yet, and it's getting to the time of year when we are going to have to play two, three and four good games in a row if we want to keep playing," he said, referring to the state tournament.

Laura Darby paced the Chiefs Thursday with 12 points. Beth Frigge added 10 and Diana Knickerbocker eight.

Terri Schmidt scored 10 for Churchill.

Canton is now 7-7 on the season.

Dena Head, a freshman, had a huge night for Plymouth Salem. She scored 17 points and grabbed 12 rebounds in a victory against Farmington.

Equestrian shines

Jeff Wilson, a senior at Plymouth Canton High School, was the driving force behind Team Michigan's strong showing at the Area VII Team Challenge Horse Trials Oct. 20-21.

Team Michigan placed third out of five teams in the senior training division of the equestrian competition which took place at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington, Ky.

Wilson led Michigan in scoring and placed fourth in a field of 20 riders in his division. Wilson, officially a junior (under 18 years of age) competed in the senior division.

Wilson, coached by Sue Hughes of Plymouth, Rosemary Gordon and Fritz Weiss, has been riding for eight years. He is a member of the United States Combined Training Association, the Michigan Combined Training Association, and the Midwest Dressage Association.

He is a contender for the position of top junior training level rider in Michigan.

Only a Beatle fan could suffer through McCartney's folly

Paul McCartney fans will probably flock to his current release, "Give My Regards to Broadstreet," but only the faithful will know why they have come.

Although good-spirited, the film is simple-minded to a painful degree and for nearly two hours the alleged plot meanders from one McCartney number to another as Paul tries to recover the master tape for his new album.

We never learn, until the end, what evil has befallen tape delivery man, trusted employee and ex-con Harry. (That's all one guy, folks.) By the end of the film, who cares?

Meanwhile, as midnight nears and the evil character threatens to take over the McCartney music empire, Paul searches for Harry and the tapes.

THE SEARCH is rather lackadaisical and performed, as time permits, in between musical numbers. It obviously doesn't matter all that much. If they don't care, why should we? For all practical purposes, a "Paul McCartney in Concert" film would have served the same purpose to better advantage.

The musical numbers are numerous, varied and OK. I guess, if you like that sort of stuff. Even within the framework of romantic musical comedy and that genre's lack of realism, it strains the imagination to see McCartney involved in so many rehearsals and productions in one day.

The musical style varies extensively from one number to the next, some mellow, a couple of mainstream rock and one elaborate dance sequence that looks like a 1940s MGM musical set attacked by the kids from "Fame" and "Footloose."

Much of the alleged story is told via flashbacks, flashforwards and sequences in McCartney's imagination. All these episodes are pretty thin. Their only substance is an excuse for another McCartney number.

The one exception, and the film's only moment of tension, is an extended 19th-century sequence that might have been designed by Edgar Allan Poe on one of his better days. It comes off as a somber, macabre music-video but it is entertaining and visually exciting. Not enough, however, to warrant the trip to your local Bijou.

MC CARTNEY'S SEARCH for Harry and the tapes is aided weakly by wife Linda, drummer Ringo Starr and by Barbara Bach as a semi-character supposedly interviewing Ringo for the book she's writing. Mainly she and Ringo make eyes at each other in very childish style, not even PG.

The best thing about the film program is an animated cartoon, "Rupert and the Frog Song," which opens the show. This cartoon, conceived and produced by the McCartneys, is based on a Winnie-the-Pooh-style cartoon character, popular in British newspapers. Hopefully Rupert will be available for your viewing pleasure without the "Broadstreet" encumbrance.

If listening and watching McCartney is worth four bucks, go see "Give My Regards to Broadstreet." If you expect a sensible story or anything more than McCartney, stay home.

Comedy, adventure

(Above) Jo Beth Williams is a housewife who wins a trip to Paris and finds herself caught up in international escapades with Tom Conti in "American Dreamer." (Below) Arnold Schwarzenegger plays the title role in "The Terminator," who returns from the future to make some earth-shaking changes in the present. Both films opened Friday at Detroit-area movie theaters.

Trend may be to drier wines

It is easy to take Gallo for granted. Available nearly everywhere, it seems to go on and on, always selling the same wine at fair prices. Its strength is its consistency, stability and predictability. Gallo not only dominates, it endures.

But it also changes and, watched closely, is a good barometer of public consumption. Gallo was there to capture the pop wine field for a few years, it avoided the disaster of "light" wines and broadened dramatically into cork-finished varietals when it was sure the public was ready for them.

Now two new releases have hit local shelves, both carrying the word "dry" prominently on their labels. They are a chablis and burgundy and carry the word "reserve" as well, a meaningless term but one that allows it to charge a higher price.

Presumably, Gallo believes the public is ready for drier wines than have been marketed under the Chablis Blanc and Hearty Burgundy designations. These latter will not be replaced, of course, but even the hint of drier wines suggests a trend. Don't forget Gallo's marketing sense!

THE DRY CHABLIS is dry, truly dry, even tart. Not lacking in some humble fruit flavors, it is by a bunch drier than anything that bulk producers have offered thus far. Excellent for delicate fish and oysters at about $3.50 the bottle.

To evaluate the Dry Burgundy, I assembled a taste panel to compare it with the established Hearty Burgundy. There was easily developed a consensus that the Dry Burgundy was the better food accompaniment, it being less full and rich. But all agreed both were pleasing wines that could readily be enjoyed at any time. A close vote for the new kid was earned unanimously.

Finally available locally, though it has been in national distribution for a couple of years, is another Gallo offering. Under its Andre label, there is now a champagne with a brut designation. Priced about a dollar above the regular issues, this is well worth the added money. The cloying sweetness of its extra dry is replaced with a fairly crisp, almost yeasty sparkle. Local cost ranges between $3.99 and $4.99 the bottle.

Lastly, there seems to be a new cu-

vee of Gallo's non-vintaged Cabernet Sauvignon (Limited Release) that is now available. This one is either clearly superior to its predecessor or has taken well to its additional bottle aging.

Bottles procured by your merchant this fall will come under this category; there is no other way to distinguish it from its predecessor. At $6.50 the bottle, it has very nice varietal character.

MICHIGAN HAS finally made it to the big time in California wine issues. We have to date lacked but one winery to be able to boast a full complement of national wines available to us. Now the last has finally come in. Trefethen Vineyards of Napa.

Trefethen, long considered among the finest producers at affordable prices, has at last reached terms with a local distributor to handle its wines. The first consignment brought chardonnay, cabernet, riesling, pinot noir and its two proprietals, Eshcol Red and White.

The varietals are decently priced while the last two are a bit high for blends, but the quality is there to support the $5.50-$6.50 price. This white, incidentally, carries the names and percentages of the grapes used in the blend. The red does not.

Best release lately department: The new 1983 Duxop Gamay Noir is now out and is its best release to date. Rich, full, earthy, this is not the same clone responsible for the simple gamay beaujolais and pinot noir wine we too often see. Compare it to the Charles Shaw. Both are excellent in their own manner.
