A FAMILY field trip to "Sesame Street Live" is slated for Sunday, Feb. 2, at Cobo Arena's Mini Theatre. A bus will leave Canton's Administration Building at 9:30 a.m. The Canton Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring the trip for parents and their children. The million-dollar production features 22 of Jim Henson's famous muppets, all bigger than life in a new show. Bus space is limited, so early registration is suggested. Call 397-1000 between 9:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. for further details.

FOCUS:HOPE Machinist Training Institute has openings available immediately for 55 new trainees from Canton, Plymouth, Dearborn, Livonia, Inkster, Romulus and other western Wayne County communities.

Openings will be filled by Feb. 1. Applicants must be 22 or older, have a low family income and have a good mechanical aptitude as well as math and reading skills. Focus:HOPE's eight-month course in precision machining is taught by master craftsmen. It includes shop theory, shop math, blueprint reading, inspection processes and the set-up and operation of lathes, mills and grinders. The council is a legislative advocacy group based in Lansing. It was formed in 1983 by members of agencies and organizations interested in improving the health of Michigan mothers and babies. Wehr has worked for the March of Dimes since 1972 and served from 1978 to 1983 as executive director of the Oakland County March of Dimes.

GAMPAT SINGHVI of Canton was among nine people named as associates at Detroit's Smith, Hinchman & Grylls Associates, an architectural, engineering and planning firm. The title of associate is given to employees who have made significant contributions to the professional performance of their firm.

Kosteva backs Blanchard's tax plan

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Gov. James Blanchard wants to increase property tax rebates 10 percent to homeowners and renters.

He also wants to write taxpayers a separate rebate check so they won't confuse their property tax rebates with their income tax refunds.

But he will resist any effort to roll back the 1983 state income tax hike earlier than its scheduled expiration date of 1987.

"It is clear that Michigan's property tax is the most burdensome of our state taxes," the governor said as he launched his campaign in several Michigan cities last week.

"By comparison, Michigan's income tax and sales tax are below many states. It's the property tax that's way out of line."

HERE'S HOW the rebate system works and how Blanchard would change it:

If your property taxes are in excess of 3.5 percent of your household income, then the state rebates you 60 percent of the excess tax.

Michigan property taxes — which support county, community college, city, township and school district governments — total $5 billion a year, state Treasurer Robert Bowman said. Of this, $3 billion is paid by residences.

In calendar 1984, the state paid back $644 million in residential rebates. Blanchard proposes to use $65 million of a projected $70 million state surplus to fatten the rebate package to about $720 million. The fatter checks would be sent out in 1986.

Bowman said 1.5 million Michigan families — about 58 percent of the total — receive rebates. Nearly all are below the $68,000 income level.

The average rebate is $400. It would increase to $440 if Blanchard's plan passes the Legislature, Bowman said.

The rebates would be hiked by increasing the dollar amount though not by lowering the threshold below the current 3.5 percent of income. "There's no need to tinker with the system," Blanchard said.

ALTHOUGH STATE political leaders speak proudly of the rebate system, sometimes known as the "circuit breaker," Blanchard said "there's a lot of confusion of the property tax rebate with the income tax refund."

So beginning with 1986 refunds (for the 1985 tax year), the state will issue separate checks, Bowman said.

In 1968-9, when Gov. William G. Milliken inaugurated the system, a single check was sent out with no differentiation between income tax refund and property tax rebate.

In recent years, the treasurer sent out a single check but noted on the stub that part was for an income tax refund and part for a property tax rebate.

Study to overshadow talks

By Diane Gale
staff writer

All of Canton Township's union contracts will be negotiated this year.

The police lieutenants and sergeants union (Fraternal Order of Police) contract expired Dec. 31. Negotiations will be conducted concurrently with discussions on possible departmental changes as suggested in a recent police study.

"We've (negotiating representatives from the township and FOP) already met a couple of times," said Dan Durack, township personnel director.

"It will be a while before we have an agreement, because each side has only presented proposed format changes in the contract. We haven't gotten into the substance yet."

TWO COMMITTEES — representing police and township officials — will meet in separate groups to act on suggestions made in the Bartell and Bartell Ltd. Canton police study. The outcome of these meetings will affect the union negotiations, township officials said at a recent Canton Township Board meeting.

"I think once the police committee meets and gets an idea of where it's headed, we'll get an idea if there is a need to make changes in the contract with respect to the police study," Durack said. "There's no use in negotiating a contract and then saying, 'Wait a minute, we have to talk about this.' Both sides agreed to see if the police study will make changes to the FOP (contract)."

Some parts of the contract — like wages and benefits — can be negotiat-

Help sought in war on drugs

Area school officials are imploring residents, business people and service clubs to help them curb substance abuse in Plymouth Canton Community Schools.

More than 1,500 — or one out of 10 students — are thought to be potentially chemically dependent. In the past 1½ years, more than 80 area young people — representing "just the tip of the iceberg" — have been sent to drug treatment centers, say officials.

Police urged to make 'last chance efforts'

By Diane Gale

what you're trying to accomplish," Bartell said.

Teamwork is the key concept for improving the Canton Township Police Department.

That was the message from Roderick Bartell, founder and company president of Bartell and Bartell Ltd., a Pennsylvania consulting firm hired to conduct a study of the department last June. Bartell met with the Canton Township Board Jan. 16 with about 10 police officers, including Chief Jerry Cox, in attendance.

Changes resulting from the study are considered a "last chance effort" to erase the problems plaguing the department. A tone of optimism by Bartell, trustees and officers permeated the last meeting.

A survey included in the study showed officers have a good relationship between each other and their "attitude toward change is healthy," said Bartell, explaining these are important characteristics in effecting departmental improvements.

A STUDY REVIEW committee representing the township includes Canton Supervisor James Poole and board trustees Loren Bennett and Robert Padgett, who will serve as chairman. Since only three elected officials serve on the committee, they are able to meet privately under the Freedom of Information Act. The attendance of a fourth trustee would constitute a violation.

A committee composed of about nine police officers is expected to form within the next two weeks. Bartell assured officers the committee representing them will have clout in effecting changes resulting from the study, which cost the township $16,862.

The worst problem areas in the department are leadership, structure, "reward policies" and a lack of goals and objectives, Bartell said, in summarizing the 90-page report. While noting "major problems," Bartell added, the department is not in a "critical situation."

"If you don't have defined goals and objectives, you put in more and more resources, because you don't know

LT. ALEX WILSON warned everyone involved in reviewing the study to be careful about comments made on the study, because rumors about the department's future already have spread among the officers. Wilson declined to be specific about the rumors.

Your twice-weekly Observer & Eccentric Newspaper is now $2.00 each month.

This is the first increase in the cost of home delivery since January 1, 1983 and your carrier will receive a share of it.

Being an Observer & Eccentric carrier means more than hauling a sack of newspapers around the neighborhood twice each week in all kinds of weather. It is a chance to learn about the world of business and grow from the experience.

So, when your carrier calls this month, give him or her $2.00 and a smile and know that part of that money is your carrier's paycheck.

ed before the police committees act on the study, according to Canton police Lt. Alex Wilson.

"The command officers aren't going to sit back and allow them to stall if they try," Wilson said.

OTHER NEGOTIATIONS slated for this year will involve the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) Local 908.

The contract, affecting about 20 township employees in the Public Works and Building departments, expires March 31.

June 30 is the contract expiration date for the township's firefighter union — Local 2289 of the International Association of Firefighters. Twenty-seven employees will be affected by the agreement. Also on June 30, the local Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM) contract will expire.

Approximately 30 Canton police personnel belong to the union including officers, corporals and the animal control officer.

On Dec. 31 the Technical Professional and Office Workers Association of Michigan (TPOAM) contract is up. It affects about 25 township employees.

"Normally a couple of months prior to the contract expiration date, we start the preliminary meetings, unless there are extraordinary circumstances," said Durack of POP negotiations.

During talks this year, there will be an effort to vary dates so all the contracts don't expire at the same time, Durack said.

CANTON'S negotiating team consists of Durack, Mike Gorman, township finance director, and John Cerrone, township labor attorney. Gorman replaces Canton's late Clerk John Flodin.

Flodin is missed, Durack said. "Because of his length of time with the township, status as clerk and because he was around when the township was small and throughout its growth, he had the expertise and background (needed during contract negotiations)," Durack said.

Negotiations are held in a meeting room at township hall and last about eight hours per session.

"There are times when people get hot, and to cool down we call a caucus (break)," Durack said. "But we have a pretty good working relationship with the unions."

cess in combating students' drug problems, "we want to take steps with our youth beyond where we've been so far," added Homes.

"If business people are aware, concerned and committed to helping substance abusers, the same benefits will be afforded to their companies and families. We've seen it happen," said Cooper, coordinator of the alternative education program.

The Canton Chamber of Commerce is accepting tax-deductible donations on behalf of the committee. Checks may be made payable to the Substance Abuse Intervention Fund and sent to the chamber at 8130 Canton Center Road, Canton 48187.

One out of two people will at some time be directly involved with the problem, added McCoy.

"One out of 10 of us abuses drugs, and each person affects — on the average — four other lives," he explained.

Study stirring up doubts

"I'd like to make a plea for clarity," Wilson said at the meeting. "Either be affected, or don't say anything at all."

"The big problem is the people (officers) are confused, because they don't know where it's (the study) going," Wilson said. "They're already saying what's going to happen."

Poole conceded that it was important for the committees to avoid "being suspicious of each other. One rumor and one untruth can undo 10 known truths."

"Convincing everyone at first that we're all telling the truth will be the biggest problem," said Poole.

MUSCLE PAIN IN ARTHRITIS

People with arthritis of the knees often note pain in their leg muscles. It comes as a surprise when their doctor states that it is their arthritis that is the cause of these aches.

The reason is not because joint inflammation has spread to the surrounding muscles. What has developed is undue strain on the muscles that anchor above and below the knees.

When a joint becomes arthritic, the body attempts to place the joint in such a way as to prevent the irritated area of bone from rubbing against each other. Making this adjustment forces the muscles around the joint to pull for a prolonged period in ways that the muscles are not accustomed to undertaking. The result is leg pain.

In addition, the presence of arthritis causes the individual to decrease exercise, resulting in loss of leg muscle strength. Therefore, activities that once were done with ease, now cause fatigue.

Treatment for muscle pain involves therapy directed toward the arthritis when the joint inflammation is controlled, the muscle pain will cease.

Even hospitable horse couldn't prepare us

At the luncheon table the other day, the subject switched surprisingly from how the government should be run to the food memories a fellow has of his many vacations around the globe. "You've been around quite a lot in your time," one of the diners asked The Stroller, "and of all the things you have seen what is the one that sticks out above all the others?"

This was not difficult to answer for the one night which never will be forgotten is the first glimpse of Mt. Rushmore during a trip to the west coast.

We had been at a convention in Minneapolis and at its conclusion decided to drive to California and see what things were like. And it turned out to be a fascinating journey.

We were getting along the highway in good style when, of a sudden, the traffic piled up. No one seemed to know what was wrong. There was no word of an accident. But in due time we learned of the oddest traffic tie-up we ever had seen.

When we got to moving we found that a beautiful horse — a tame one — was holding up traffic until he could stick his head in the window and greet you. Nothing like this ever had happened on many trips. But it was the most unusual of all.

Our spirits still were high when we reached the area of Mt. Rushmore and all hands were excited. We followed all the instructions and got to the parking lot. The car safely placed, we started to walk toward the entrance to the park.

On one of the hurried steps The Stroller turned his head and there, through the trees, he got a glimpse of the famous monument. He had to stop. The sight stunned him. Finally we got to the viewing position and The Stroller just couldn't believe what he saw.

He looked silently for a while. Then he headed the plea of an Indian photographer, in full dress, to have his picture taken. That done, he just sat there and stared at that massive bit of rock that has the heads of four presidents sculptured on them.

The sight was stunning. But when he read that the George Washington nose was 60 feet long, he just couldn't believe it. But that is official. And as he sat there he couldn't help wondering how any human being could look at a rock that size and then visualize a face being cut in it. It became more exciting and difficult to believe when it was learned that the sculpting was done by blasting.

How could a human being figure something like that and then see it happen? Not only with Washington's face, but with the others — Teddy Roosevelt, Jefferson and Lincoln.

So impressed was The Stroller that he just sat there and looked at that mass of rock with the faces of the presidents so true that it almost seemed like a photo.

Since that day trips have been made virtually halfway around the world. We have seen the Grand Canyon, the Canadian Rockies, the New England mountains, the pleasure beaches at Hawaii, and the Black Forest of Germany along with the great sights in Switzerland.

But when it comes to unforgettable memories there is nothing that can beat The Stroller's first view of Mt. Rushmore and the faces of our famous presidents blasted from the stone. It always will be tops.

Dinner hosts say thank you

To the editor:

We would like to express our appreciation for the excellent coverage you staff extended us during the holidays. Our Christmas dinner was a great success in our estimation.

We regret not having more friends to share Christmas dinner with, but we were very pleased to have the ones that did come. We had many old friends along with some new that came to help with our celebration.

We also wish to thank "The Great (John) Sterlini," Maria Sterlini's son, and his assistant for donating a portion of their afternoon to bring some joy and happiness to those who attended with an excellent magic show.

Our warmest thanks to all our friends who helped. It was greatly appreciated.

We are looking forward to next year's Christmas dinner at Ball Hall.

Business tax burdensome

To the editor:

I just received my 1984 single business tax return from my accountant. With all the hoopla recently in the newspapers about how fair the government of Michigan thinks this tax is, I just had to write to you and make you aware of the "real facts."

Any time a business must pay taxes, even if it actually loses money, by adding back such expenses as "labor costs" and "depreciation" costs, something is wrong with the system! I am thankful we at least didn't lose money in 1984.

However, would you believe my tax bill for this "single" tax was 18.4 percent of our actual profits during 1984? When you pay all the other taxes and insurance for workers' compensation, MESO, property and personal property taxes, etc., it leaves very little, if any, to invest in new equipment upgrades, upgrading your building, etc., and why would you want to?

The attitude I hear all the time is "why make money?" This tax is very unfair to the small businesses in Michigan and at a minimum needs revamping, so credits can be taken. Our business, for example, is so "labor intensive" it just doesn't enhance an attractive atmosphere for business in Michigan.

Thank you for at least listening.

Bob and Linda Card, owner/operators, McDonald's of Canton, Van Buren, Van Buren Twp.

ENGLISH MUFFINS NOW AN AMERICAN FAVORITE

In Victorian England, the "veddy" upper class had their English muffins heated up and served to them on silver trays. The common folk brought their English muffins from the "muffin men" who strolled the cobbled streets of England. Today, the English muffin is popular in the U.S., where it is used in the preparation of breakfast, lunch, and dinner dishes.

Monterey Muffin Melt

(serves 6)
6 English Muffins, split and lightly toasted
4 ounces alfalfa sprouts
12 slices turkey breast
12 strips bacon, cooked crisp
2 large avocados, sliced
12 slices Monterey Jack or Swiss cheese

Dipping Sauce

1 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
1 tablespoon sherry (optional)

Lightly butter-toasted muffin halves. Layer the following on muffins: about one tablespoon of alfalfa sprouts; one slice turkey breast; one slice bacon; 2-3 slices avocado and one slice cheese. Place under broiler until cheese melts or microwave on high for 15 seconds. Serve with dipping sauce. Garnish with fresh fruit.

Meatloaf Twirl

(serves 6)

Meat Mixture:

1-1/2 pounds ground beef
3/4 pounds ham, ground
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 egg

Sauce:

18 oz. can whole tomatoes, peeled
1 1/2 oz. can tomato sauce
1/2 teaspoon dried basil
1 tablespoon olive oil

Stuffing:

4 English Muffins, ground (approx. 3 cups crumbs)
1/2 cup parmesan cheese
1/2 cup minced onions
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
1/3 cup chicken stock or water
3 strips bacon

In large bowl, combine ground beef, ham, salt, pepper, parsley, nutmeg, and egg. Mix until well combined; reserve mixture. In another bowl, combine muffin crumbs, parmesan cheese, onions, parsley, thyme, salt, and pepper. Mix well. Add stock; stir well to moisten.

With water, sprinkle a sheet of aluminum foil. Spread meat mixture out to 9" x 13" size. Spread stuffing mixture over the meat, leaving a 1/2" border on all sides. Roll mixture up like a jelly roll, using the foil to guide. Seal ends and place in a buttered baking dish, seam side down. Place bacon strips on top. Bake in preheated oven at 350° for 1-1/2 hours. Remove from oven; let rest 15 minutes before carving. Serve with the following sauce:

Drain canned tomatoes and squeeze gently to remove juice. Chop pulp. Place in medium saucepan; add tomato sauce, basil, and olive oil. Simmer 1-2 hours. Yield 1-1/2 cups.

Eggs Benedict Variation

(serves 6)

6 English Muffins
12 eggs, poached
6 ounces thinly sliced ham cut into 12 slices
1 28-ounce can peeled tomatoes, drained and chopped (1-1/2 cups)
1/2 cup juice from canned tomatoes

1 tablespoon dehydrated minced onions
1 tablespoon butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper
Easy Blender Hollandaise Sauce
minced parsley

Toast muffins and keep warm. Poach eggs and drain. Drain tomatoes; reserve 1/2 cup liquid. In medium saucepan combine tomatoes, reserved juice, minced onions, butter, salt, garlic salt and ground black pepper. Simmer over medium high heat for fifteen minutes, stirring frequently. Remove from heat; keep warm. Make Easy Blender Hollandaise Sauce.

Did you know that until recently English muffins had virtually disappeared in England? The once popular British specialty had been supplanted by the scone.

Before it fell out of favor in England, the English muffin enjoyed a lengthy reign as the "most fancied" bread on the isle. The muffin started out at the lower rungs of class-conscious Victorian England. Back when English homes routinely had large household staffs, the family baker would combine the remains of all of the doughs and mashed potatoes he made for the "upstairs" that day, and fry the mixture on a griddle. The result was a tasty muffin for the "downstairs."

Soon the families "upstairs" discovered the delectable doings "downstairs," and began eating the muffins themselves. Victorian society even created an etiquette for serving them. Muffins would come served in a heated, covered silver dish, accompanied by a folded cloth napkin.

As English muffins grew in popularity, English muffin factories sprang up. Freshly-baked muffins were sold by colorful "muffin men," who could be seen strolling through the misty streets of England, ringing a small bell to get the attention of kitchen maids and housewives. The muffins would be split and toasted over an open fire and served at teatime. Indeed, the "muffin man" and his goods were considered crucial to a successful teatime. "Oh, have you seen the muffin man" became a familiar nursery rhyme to many British children.

The English muffin reached its heyday in England just before World War I. However, its popularity began to fade after World War II. By the 1950's it was rumored that only the Queen Mother had access to her own private supply. But by that time, the English muffin had found a home across the sea in America.

In 1933, George W. Bay, founder of Bays English Muffins, started making and selling English muffins in Chicago using an authentic recipe brought to America from England by his grandmother.

Bays uses the same recipe to make its muffins today, although potato flour now replaces the mashed potatoes called for in the recipe used by the "downstairs" staffs of England's Victorian kitchens. Bays muffins get their buttery, crunchy goodness from other natural ingredients including Hawaiian cane sugar, spring wheat flour and whole milk from Minnesota. AA butter from Wisconsin and Idaho potato flour.

English muffins were first sold in the U.S., not by "muffin men" bearing trays, but in paper sacks. Bays was among the first to package the muffins in the late 1930's.

The English muffin was considered a specialty item in America until the introduction of the now-familiar breakfast sandwich that combines a fried egg, cheese, and Canadian bacon on top of an English muffin. It allowed the public to rediscover the English muffin and to see new possibilities for cooking with the muffin. Today the English muffin is an American favorite. Word of the English muffin's popularity in the U.S. has even reached England, where Bays sells its product to an American-style restaurant chain.

The recipes here from Bays English Muffins demonstrate just a few of the imaginative ways English muffins can be used in cooking, any time of day. For more ideas on how to make the most of an English muffin, write for a free copy of the recipe booklet: "New Ways to Serve Bays." Bays Home Service Institute, 500 North Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

English muffin crumbs layered inside a fancy "Meatloaf Twirl" make a tasty dinner dish for family or friends.

EASY BLENDER HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

2 sticks butter
4 egg yolks
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon water
salt
white pepper

Melt butter until bubbling. Remove from heat. In blender place egg yolks, lemon juice, water and salt and pepper to taste. Blend at high speed for 30 seconds. Open top of blender and slowly pour in hot butter in a thin stream. Hollandaise sauce will be thick and creamy.

To assemble:

Top each muffin half with a slice of ham. Then add 2 tablespoons of the tomato mixture. Make a well to hold egg. Place a poached egg on each half. Top with hollandaise sauce. Sprinkle with minced parsley. Serve with steamed broccoli.

French Toasted Muffins

(serves 6)

4 eggs
1/2 cup cream
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
6 English Muffins
4 tablespoons butter

Beat together eggs, cream, sugar and vanilla extract. Place muffins, cut side down, in the egg mixture and soak for about one minute; turn over and dip other side to moisten. Stack muffins, cut side up, until ready to cook. Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Place butter in sheet pan; put in oven to melt. When butter is bubbling, place muffins, cut side down, in pan and bake for 7 minutes or until cut side is brown. Turn over and bake 2-3 minutes more. Serve with butter and maple syrup or powdered sugar and preserves. Leftover slices can be refrigerated and then reheated in a toaster.

Chicken Melt

(serves 6)

6 English Muffins
butter
4 cups cubed chicken meat
1 cup chopped celery
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup bottled French dressing
1/2 cup sliced almonds
salt and pepper to taste
12 slices canned pineapple
12 slices Swiss cheese

In small bowl, combine chicken and celery. Add mayonnaise, dressing, almonds, salt and pepper; mix well. Lightly toast and butter English muffins. Divide chicken mixture evenly among 12 muffin halves. Top each half with one pineapple ring, then one slice cheese. Broil or microwave on medium until cheese bubbles.

You won't need grandma's help to make these delicious, easy pies

Homemade pies are a delicious way to show off the best of the season's fresh fruits. Pears and apples, in abundance throughout the fall and winter, are the fruits chosen to be showcased in these two delectable double-crust pies. Even if you didn't learn how to master pies at grandma's side, you will find Raspberry-Pear Pie and Caramel Apple Pie easy to make. Convenient refrigerated pie crusts take the guesswork out of pastry-making and result in the same tender, flaky crusts grandma's are famous for.

To dress up the top crust on two-crust pies like these, use a little imagination in making the vents needed for the escape of steam during baking. First unfold the refrigerated crust onto a cutting board or counter. Then try using small cookie or canape cutters to create decorative designs. Or simply use a knife to cut slits in an attractive pattern. To help prevent the pie filling from spilling over into the oven, make cutouts or slits toward the center of the pie.

A little culinary experimentation results in the delightful combination of raspberries and pears in Raspberry-Pear Pie. The fruit filling is crowned with a decorative crust drizzled with a powdered sugar glaze.

Caramel and Spice Apple Pie offers apple pie lovers a new twist on their traditional favorite. Reminiscent of caramel apples, the pie features a caramel topping which is drizzled over the pie after baking. Cherries and pecan halves are the finishing touch to this handsome pie.

RASPBERRY-PEAR PIE
15 oz. package refrigerated all ready pie crusts
1 top flour

FILLING
1/4 cup sugar
2 tsp cornstarch
1/2 tsp cinnamon
1/2 tsp nutmeg
10 oz package frozen raspberries, thawed, drained (reserve 1/2 cup liquid)
2 tsp margarine or butter
1 tsp lemon juice
5 cups sliced, peeled pears

GLAZE
1/4 cup powdered sugar
2 to 3 tsp milk

Prepare pie crust according to package directions for 2-crust pie. Heat oven to 400°.

In large saucepan, combine sugar, cornstarch, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stir in raspberry liquid. Cook over medium heat until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Add margarine and lemon juice; stir until margarine is melted. Fold in drained raspberries and pears.

Turn mixture into pie-crust-lined pan. Top with second crust and flute. Cut slits in several places. Bake at 400° for 40 to 50 minutes or until crust is golden brown. Cool.

In small bowl, blend glaze ingredients until smooth. Drizzle over top of cooled pie. 8 servings.

*Before placing top crust over fruit, use small cookie or canape cutter to make decorative cut-outs instead of slits. If desired, place cut-outs on top of crust and bake.

TIP: Cover edge of pie crust with strip of aluminum foil during last 10 to 15 minutes of baking if necessary to prevent excessive browning.

CARAMEL AND SPICE APPLE PIE
15-oz package refrigerated all ready pie crusts
1 top flour

FILLING

In large bowl, combine sugar, flour, cinnamon, salt and lemon peel; add apples and toss lightly. Spoon into pie-crust-lined pan. Dot with margarine. Top with second crust and flute; cut slits in several places.

Bake at 425° for 45 to 45 minutes or until apples are tender. Cool 30 to 60 minutes; drizzle caramel topping over top crust. Top with cherries and pecan halves. Serve with ice cream or whipped cream. If desired, 8 servings.

TIP: Cover edge of pie crust with strip of aluminum foil during last 10 to 15 minutes of baking if necessary to prevent excessive browning.

2 tsp flour

1 tsp cinnamon
1/4 tsp salt
1 tsp grated lemon peel
6 cups sliced, peeled apples
2 tsp margarine or butter

GLAZE
1/4 cup caramel ice cream topping
8 maraschino cherry halves
Pecan halves

Prepare pie crust according to package directions for 2-crust pie. Heat oven to 425°.

In large bowl, combine sugar, flour, cinnamon, salt and lemon peel; add apples and toss lightly. Spoon into pie-crust-lined pan. Dot with margarine. Top with second crust and flute; cut slits in several places.

Bake at 425° for 45 to 45 minutes or until apples are tender. Cool 30 to 60 minutes; drizzle caramel topping over top crust. Top with cherries and pecan halves. Serve with ice cream or whipped cream. If desired, 8 servings.

TIP: Cover edge of pie crust with strip of aluminum foil during last 10 to 15 minutes of baking if necessary to prevent excessive browning.

Perk up a cold, dreary winter day with a warm slice of raspberry-pear pie fresh from the oven.

Help yourself to cheesy chili 'n' chips

"Help yourself." Most often we hear those inviting words while seated at a dinner table. The statement gives your company the go-ahead to enjoy a meal. Helping yourself also pertains to the cook, especially when time is of the essence in getting the food prepared.

That's where Cheesy Chili 'N' Chips come in to lend a hand. This recipe can be prepared in 20 minutes.

You can either use your favorite chili recipe, or the one offered here. A pound of ground beef is browned, and tomatoes, tomato paste and seasonings are added. After simmering for 10 minutes, add one cup of shredded sharp natural cheddar cheese for a zesty flavor. Stir the ingredients until the cheese is melted. Then arrange corn chips on a platter, spoon the chili over the chips and top with another 1/4 cup of cheddar cheese.

Brown meat, drain. Stir in tomatoes, tomato paste and seasonings. Cover; simmer 10 minutes. Add 1 cup cheese; stir until melted. Arrange corn chips on platter. Spoon chili over chips; top with remaining cheese.

Hybrid Korean cuisine is still unique

Korean cooking is basically a hybrid of northern Chinese and Japanese cuisine, but there are noticeable differences in dining habits from other Asian countries.

Koreans use silver or stainless-steel chopsticks, generally shorter and thinner than those of China or Japan, paired at each setting with a long-handled spoon.

While Chinese recipes call for thick sauces, Korean food usually is flavored by light dressings or marinades.

Unlike the Chinese, who combine small pieces of meat in dishes consisting mostly of vegetables, Koreans serve meat as a main course, often grilled over a charcoal fire.

The Korean use of seaweed is neither as formal nor as artistic as the seaweed-wrapped sushi of the Japanese, but it tastes just as good.

The most popular Korean entree probably is barbecued beef flavored with a lightly sweetened soy sauce and garlic marinade before it is grilled. You can broil bul gogi (beef on fire) in the oven and get satisfying results.

Koreans love their garlic and sesame both the oil and seed. You might find the use of sesame a bit overpowering, but there's nothing preventing you from adjusting to your taste as I did after preparing my first Korean dinner.

KOREAN STEAK STRIPS
2 lbs. boneless sirloin steak, sliced into wide strips
4 green onions, chopped
4 garlic cloves, crushed
6 tsp. dark soy sauce
2 tsp. sesame oil
2 tsp. sherry
1/4 cup sugar
1 tsp. sesame seed
Pinch of black pepper

Lightly score each steak strip with an X. Combine rest of ingredients in shallow baking pan, add meat, coat well with marinade and let sit 2 hours, occasionally stirring. Broil or grill until desired doneness. Serves 5-6.

KOREAN SPINACH
1 pkg. (10 oz.) fresh spinach
2 1/2 tsp. soy sauce
1/4 tsp. sesame oil
1/4 tsp. sesame seed
1/4 tsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. white vinegar
1 garlic clove, crushed
Pinch of black pepper

Rinse spinach well, soak for 1 hour, steam until tender, drain excess water and coarsely chop. Combine remaining ingredients and stir into spinach. Serves 3.

This molded salad looks, tastes good

Cheese and fruit. This combination of ingredients can take its place on a menu in a variety of forms, from a peasant-like meal served with chunks of cheese, apples and bread to the more elegant cheese trays enjoyed with red and green grapes and wine.

Now this savory mingling of flavors can be enjoyed a new way with this recipe for Blue Cheese Ring from the Kraft Kitchens. The pungent flavor of blue cheese in chunky blue cheese dressing makes a tasty mold to accompany chopped apples, grapes and orange sections or any selection of fruits you prefer. As well as being delicious, molded salads are a showpiece on the table.

To make unmolding easier, brush the inside of the mold with salad dressing or oil before pouring in the ingredients.

BLUE CHEESE RING
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1 8-oz. bottle chunky blue cheese dressing
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
Lettuce
1/4 cup chopped apple
1/4 cup grapes
1/4 cup orange sections

Soften gelatin in water; stir over low heat until dissolved. Cool. Gradually add gelatin to dressing, mixing until blended. Chill until partially set; fold in whipped cream. Pour into lightly oiled 1-quart ring mold; chill until firm. Unmold; surround with lettuce. Fill center with combined fruit. 4 to 6 servings.

Here are basics for good old-fashioned roasting

The palate is not an arbitrary judge. Influenced by the effects of environment, and by current fashion, it perceives certain foods and cooking methods as better-tasting in some decades than in others.

The '70s and early '80s in America have brought to the fore the pleasures of stove-top cooking — stewed redout with onions, garlic and bouquet garni, sautéed scallopini, spiced with the fresh fragrance and flavor of lemon juice, rapidly wokked meat and crunchy vegetables, tantalizing taste buds with flavors of fresh ginger, chile peppers and hoisin sauce.

With all this interest in European and Oriental forms of cooking, which are quick, energy-efficient and novel, many traditional forms of American cooking have been neglected, except on special occasions when, Pasta Primavera notwithstanding, the occasion demands an elegant crown roast, a succulent turkey or a hearty roast beef.

But, often, the aspiring cooks who've come of age as members of the Pesto-Sushi generation, know as little about the secrets of grandmother's kitchen, as their grandmothers did of tofu, green peppercorns and avocados.

How, then, to go about preparing a special meal, with all the fixings, sort of calling mother, on the morning of the big day, with the frantic query: "I've got the standing rib — now, what do I do?"

IF YOU'VE found yourself nodding at the familiarity of this scenario, what you need is some elementary grounding in one of the oldest, most basic and most reliable of cooking methods — roasting.

Scattered allusions indicate that, when man first learned to cook the meat of animals he'd killed, he learned to roast. Then, and for millennia afterwards, roasting was done on a spit, over an open fire.

The spit would be turned laboriously by hand, continuously throughout the roasting process, resulting in evenly cooked meat, which was flavorful and juicy.

The high heat forced some of the internal juices to the surface, where they evaporated to form a dark, savory crust. Cuts of meat, at that time, would have been unknown; animals were roasted whole and, chances are, were feasted upon by an entire village or settlement.

This idealized picture, in some societies, falls short of the truth. A taboo on eating meat with the blood still visible resulted in a cooking process which took its toll in both texture and flavor. As an aesthetic feast, some civilizations (that of Classical Greece was one) tended to boil meat prior to roasting (which leached the juices from the meat), and only slowly learned to eliminate this unnecessary and, in fact, detrimental step.

Later civilizations learned to cut down on the labor necessary to roast meat. Spits once rotated by hand were the beneficiaries of "alternative energy sources" — a treadmill operated by running dogs, for instance, or, at a later time, a spit which turned based on a system of counterweights.

Today, roasting is only rarely done over an open fire. Working fireplaces equipped with spits are rare, and, as to an outdoor pit where a spit can be erected — or even a barbecue with rotisserie attached — is proscribed for people living in apartments.

THUS, MOST roasting by necessity takes place in the oven — a process that, in previous centuries, would have been referred to as "baking."

A properly calibrated oven is, in fact, an efficient environment for roasting, as long as a few details are carefully tended to. Keep in mind that roasting cooks meat through what is referred to as a "dry-heat process," and that it is essential that air be allowed to circulate not only around but above and below the piece of meat being roasted.

Thus, whether you are roasting a turkey, a Cornish game hen, or a joint of pork, it should be put on a rack which is in turn suspended over a shallow roasting pan, to catch the drippings.

The roasting meat should under no circumstances be allowed to sit in its own juices. That would render it undesirable. The ideal finished roast should be evenly browned and cooked all around.

Because roasting is a "dry heat process," it does not mean that basting is unimportant. Rather, a finished roast that is juicy and flavorful in most cases has benefited from basting during cooking.

Remember to baste at regular intervals, and use a basting spoon in preference to a bulb baster, as the former is more efficient.

An important factor to keep in mind when roasting is the dimensions of the meat — not only its weight, but its shape. Two roasts of equal weight will have different cooking times if one is longer and thinner, the other rounder.

If possible, the meat to be roasted should be brought to room temperature before being put into a preheated oven. This functions as an energy-saving measure and, more importantly, ensures that the outside will overcook before the inside of the roast is done.

AS FAR as determining cooking time is concerned, minutes-per-pound charts can only provide a general idea of the cooking time. Far more accurate is a good meat thermometer, used to test the interior temperature of the meat.

Keep in mind also that roasted meat continues to cook for 15 minutes or so after being removed from the oven (during which period it should be allowed to rest, before being carved and served). Thus, it should be removed from the oven when slightly underdone.

For roast beef, for instance, an internal temperature of 125-130 degrees indicates that it is ready to be removed from the oven; after the brief rest period, you'll have a roast that is rare (people who prefer their meat well-done should make adjustments accordingly).

The range of roasting possibilities extends far beyond the traditional roasts mother used to make, providing a repertoire of unusual treatments for cooks who enjoy experimenting with something "just a little bit different."

The following recipes both provide this difference. Super Crispy Roast Chicken with Celery Root Dressing is culled from "Greene on Greens" by Bert Greene, Workman Publishing, New York. Reprinted with permission of the publisher.

SUPER-CRISPY ROAST CHICKEN WITH CELERY ROOT DRESSING
1 large celery root (about 1 1/4 lbs.)
12 tbsp. (1 1/2 sticks) unsalted butter, softened
1 large shallot, minced
1/2 cup plus 2 tbsp. heavy or whipping cream
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1/4 tsp. freshly grated nutmeg
1/4 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
Dash of hot pepper sauce
3 tbsp. chopped fresh parsley
Salt

5 to 6-lb. roasting chicken, interior cavity rinsed and patted dry
1 clove garlic, crushed
1/4 cup plus 2 tbsp. fresh breadcrumbs
2 tsp. brandy
1 cup chicken stock
2 tsp. all-purpose flour
Freshly ground black pepper

1. Preheat the oven to 425 degrees. Trim and peel the celery root. Cut into strips about 1/4 inch wide, 1/4 inch thick, and 1 inch long. You should have 4 1/2 to 5 cups. Cook in boiling salted water for 2 minutes. Rinse under cold running water and drain. Place the celery root in a large mixing bowl.

2. Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in a small skillet over medium low heat. Add the shallot and cook until tender, about 5 minutes. Add this to the celery root.

3. Place 1/4 cup of the heavy cream in a small saucepan. Slowly heat to boiling; reduce the heat. Simmer until reduced to the lemon juice, nutmeg, pepper, hot pepper sauce, parsley, and salt to taste. Mix well.

4. Spoon the celery root mixture into the cavity of the roasting chicken. Sew securely and truss. Pat the chicken dry with paper towels. Place it on a rack in a roasting pan.

Meal planning is a task that requires thought and organization. Whether it's a simple family supper or an elegant feast for company, deciding what to serve always poses special challenges.

Your choice of entrée should be suitable to the season and to the preferences of those who will be enjoying the meal. When selecting a side dish, choose one which complements the entrée in terms of taste, texture and color.

Despite their appearance as a category on modern menus, side dishes have been around for quite a long time. Cookbooks published in the 1700s refer to side dishes served with leg of mutton and roasts. The term "side dish" was even immortalized in verse by the famous British poet Lord Byron.

And no wonder. Side dishes can be truly special. They add flair, elegance and interest to even a simply prepared main dish. They help carry out special theme dinners. And, they enhance the nutritional content of a meal. Best of all, they taste good!

Side dishes needn't take long to prepare. You can serve a tasty, attractive and nutritious side dish in just minutes by taking advantage of the quality prepared frozen side dishes available at your supermarket.

For a nationality theme dinner, you can add Italian zest to your Veal Scallopini by serving a side dish of fettuccini Alfredo. If you prefer a meal with French flair, try pairing beef with Bearnaise sauce with a side dish of colorful ratatouille.

For everyday use, side dishes may be selected for their taste, texture or color to complement your entrée. Poultry and game are frequently served with side dishes offering a fruit or sweet taste such as escalloped apples.

GARLIC-STUFFED PORK ROAST
1 pork shoulder roast (Boston butt), boned, trimmed of top fat, and butterflied, about 4 pounds
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste
5 cloves of garlic, coarsely chopped
3 heaping tablespoons freshly grated Parmesan cheese

1. Preheat oven to 325 degrees.
2. Spread the butterflied pork roast flat on your work surface, boned-side up. With a sharp knife, score the top surface in several places. Sprinkle with salt and a generous amount of freshly ground pepper.

3. Sprinkle the garlic, cheese, parsley, and pine nuts over the meat. Roll the roast and tie it securely several places.

4. Place the meat on a rack on a shallow roasting pan. Pour in 1/4 cup stock and 1/4 cup port. Begin roasting in the preheated oven.

5. When the liquid in the pan is almost gone and beginning to leave an encrustation on the bottom of the pan, replenish stock and wine as needed. It will cook about 2 1/2 hours in all. (It is done when a meat thermometer registers a temperature of 170 degrees.)

6. Remove the roast to a cutting board and let it rest for 10 minutes. Skim the pan juices of as much fat as possible.

7. Strain the liquid into the roasting pan and bring to a boil on top of the stove. Boil rapidly for 2 or 3 minutes until thick and syrupy, scraping up the browned bits and encrustations on the pan as the liquid boils.

8. Remove strings from roast and slice. Arrange on a platter and serve. Serve the pan juices separately.

20 sprigs parsley, trimmed of stems (save stems for a future stock)
2 tbsp. pine nuts
Stock
Dry white port

1. Preheat oven to 325 degrees.
2. Spread the butterflied pork roast flat on your work surface, boned-side up. With a sharp knife, score the top surface in several places. Sprinkle with salt and a generous amount of freshly ground pepper.

3. Sprinkle the garlic, cheese, parsley, and pine nuts over the meat. Roll the roast and tie it securely several places.

4. Place the meat on a rack on a shallow roasting pan. Pour in 1/4 cup stock and 1/4 cup port. Begin roasting in the preheated oven.

5. When the liquid in the pan is almost gone and beginning to leave an encrustation on the bottom of the pan, replenish stock and wine as needed. It will cook about 2 1/2 hours in all. (It is done when a meat thermometer registers a temperature of 170 degrees.)

6. Remove the roast to a cutting board and let it rest for 10 minutes. Skim the pan juices of as much fat as possible.

7. Strain the liquid into the roasting pan and bring to a boil on top of the stove. Boil rapidly for 2 or 3 minutes until thick and syrupy, scraping up the browned bits and encrustations on the pan as the liquid boils.

8. Remove strings from roast and slice. Arrange on a platter and serve. Serve the pan juices separately.

9. Melt the remaining 2 tablespoons butter in a medium saucepan over medium-low heat. Stir in the flour. Cook, stirring constantly, 2 minutes. Whisk in the pan juices and remaining 2 tablespoons cream. Cook until slightly thickened. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serve with the chicken.

THE VIEW

TO MY KNOWLEDGE, I never have seen a Scottish Fold or a British shorthair. I wonder how many people would recognize a Scottish fold if they met one coming down Main Street.

If I hadn't talked to a member of the Mid-West Persian Tabby Fanciers, I probably would have thought, "Look at that poor cat with the bent ears." Since I have talked to her, I would wonder, "Can that be a Scottish Fold?"

The Mid-West Persian Tabby Fanciers are having a cat show this weekend. Show hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 26 and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 27 in the Southfield Civic Center, 26000 Evergreen. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for senior citizens and children.

Some of the 378 show entries are from the Plymouth-Canton community. And that is how we got into these (to me) rare breeds of cats. All-breed champions will be entered as well as the household pet variety.

Marc and Gail Alsager of Brookline, Canton Township, will have their Scottish folds and British shorthairs in the show.

Persians and Himalayans seem to be the most popular among local breeders.

Rick and Lisa Floyd of Chadwick Drive, Canton; Lynn Spielman, Addison, Canton; and Char Bowling of Forest, Plymouth, all will have Persians and Himalayans in the show.

For the uninitiated, a cat show could be a learning experience. The closest I've come to one is the Plymouth Fall Festival pet show.

DOROTHY SHAFFER says snow and bad roads are no deterrent to the Thursday afternoon party bridge players. There were nine tables in play last week at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

High scorers were Al Weiss with 6,950 and Wanda Hoops with 6,830. They play 24 hands — six rounds of four.

MARK SULLIVAN, longtime Toastmasters Club member, called to tell us the Motor City Speakers group has moved from Plymouth to Novi. They now meet at the Magic Pan.

The Oral Majority Toastmasters still meet at Denny's Restaurant.

SANDRA MCLENNAN, PhD, associate professor of special education at Eastern Michigan University, will participate in EMU's Adapting to a Changing World Lecture Series. The Plymouth resident will serve on a panel at the March 28 session which will deal with "Economic and Ethical Constraints in Health Care."

SEVENTEEN MAGAZINE is looking for new faces. Hudson's will have application forms in its junior department February through March 22 for young ladies between the ages of 13 and 21. A recent photo will be needed. Grand prize winner will be a 1985 cover girl on a beauty issue. Ten semi-finalists will be chosen from the Hudson's applicants.

THE YMCA WOMEN'S Club members are going cross-country skiing at Plymouth Orchards. They enjoyed it so much last year, they're going again.

The women will meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 12, at Faith Moravian Church, their regular meeting place. They will drop the children off at the church and then car-pool to the orchards. If the snow is all gone by then, they'll just stay at the church. They can ski for two hours for $6 and this includes ski rental. They will be back to the church by noon. For more information, call Sue Carson, 397-8664, or Ann, 981-6930.

CONGRATULATIONS to Browlie Troop 326 in the Allen Elementary School Cluster The Brownies were winners in the 1985 Cookie Song Contest for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

Skubick named tops in multimedia field

Suzanne Skubick has been honored as one of Michigan's 10 outstanding women. Skubick is community affairs and program director for Omnicon Cablevision and an active member of the Canton Business and Professional Women's Club.

Every five years, the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women selects outstanding women in 10 categories. Skubick was nominated in the area of multimedia and was selected the most outstanding woman in Michigan in that field.

She is responsible for Omnicon programming in the Plymouth-Canton-Northville area and has increased the number of hours of local programming offered by Omnicon during her 2 1/2 years as programmer. When she took over in the fall of 1982, there were 30 hours of viewing on Channel 8 — four regular shows and "Imports." She has expanded the offerings to 91 hours each week, 31 hours on Channel 8 and 60 hours on Channel 15.

Before coming to Omnicon, she served as administrative assistant to a Michigan senator. She was press secretary for political candidates, a television news reporter, and administrative assistant for a state political party.

SKUBICK serves as legislative chairwoman for the Canton B.P.W. She has arranged for local broadcast of B.P.W. meetings and programs. She was nominated by her club because of her willingness to assist other women and her belief in women's equality.

World's suffering is sharply etched in 'Killing Fields'

"The Killing Fields" is all the more strange and incredible because it is true. Particularly for those of us living comfortably in suburban America — only distantly touched by the horrors and sufferings of the world — viewing "The Killing Fields" is obligatory. We all share, however slightly, the guilt for misapplication of our power, whether in southeast Asia or elsewhere. Dealing with that guilt is what "The Killing Fields" is all about. The film is also about the terrible crimes committed in Cambodia in the '70s by American forces and by the Khmer Rouge, who ultimately murdered over three million of its own countrymen. Even more important, "The Killing Fields" is about the love of brothers. It is the true story of New York Times correspondent Sydney Schanberg (Sam Waterston) and his Cambodian assistant and friend, Dith Pran (Haing S. Ngor).

THEIR RELATIONSHIP and brotherhood rise above the incredible politics and passions of the times, making this film a dramatic narrative in spite of its documentary potential. From 1972 until the complete Western evacuation from Cambodia under pressure from the Khmer Rouge in 1975, Schanberg and Pran worked closely reporting the "secret" American war in Cambodia. The story of their work and their brotherhood is the first half of this long (140-minute) film. When the American Embassy in Phnom Penh was evacuated, Schanberg arranged safe transport for Pran's wife and four children, but Pran remained and soon disappeared into the Khmer Rouge's horrible "re-education" and murder camps that sought to eliminate all Western influences. Pran's four-year struggle to survive this inhuman madness, and Schanberg's attempts to save him from the Cambodian countryside that had become a nation's "Killing Fields," is the film's second half. Waterston, Ngor and the supporting cast are exceptionally convincing. Whether their performances' strength is talent or the power and emotion of the drama — or both — is hard to tell. In any event, they are to be commended.

THE FILM DEALS with guilt, collective and personal, on several levels. The guilt gets pretty sophisticated when Schanberg is abused for not insisting that Pran leave with his family in 1975. It's easy to look back after the hurried, panicked withdrawal and tell someone what he should have done. It's not quite so easy to do the right thing under pressure. Most important of all, however, the film deals with the beautiful strength of the human spirit and its will to survive. Have no illusions, "The Killing Fields" is a gruesome story, realistically told, as it should be. We are too often insulated from the world's grim realities, and it is that very isolation that allows tyrants to abuse their people. Thomas Jefferson and our Founding Fathers understood the importance of freedom of information for the survival of democracy. Hiding our heads in the sands of television sitcoms is like not having a First Amendment at all. The heritage of "The Killing Fields" is evident on today's front pages as the Soviet-backed Vietnamese invasion continues Cambodia's agony. So, I urge you all to see "The Killing Fields" and deal with the world as it is. When we understand how the world operates and how people abuse their brothers, we are better able to appreciate a story of brotherhood. Hopefully, too, we are better able to work toward a happier vision of peace and tranquility.

Haing S. Ngor plays Dith Pran, the Cambodian interpreter who is captured by the Khmer Rouge.

Here are 10 of California's best

An article in the January 1985 issue of Food and Wine by staff writers McCoy and Walker caught my attention. "Ten California Wineries That Are Doing It Right" is the modest title.

Their choices are hard to argue with, except — they selected Fetzer, Mondavi, Jordan, Chateau Bouchane, Ridge, Simi, Acacia, Phelps, Mayacamas and Clos du Val. As my good friend Charlotte would say, "Some pig."

Lists are terrible things. Their exclusivity is their strength as well as their weakness. But if McCoy and Walker can have their 10, so can I. And like any list maker, I like mine better. (Of course, you'll feel that way about the one you make.)

At least, here are 10 that for me are too good at what they do to be omitted from any list on excellence-in-winemaking.

BOTH FETZER AND RIDGE are on my list as well — Fetzer because it is a family-run, bootstrap operation turned giant that makes a wide range of some of the finest-priced wines in America. Ridge must be included for its Zinfandels, some of the consistently finest of all. And they have been doing it for over 15 years. History is worth something.

Domaine Chandon, now in its 10th year, consistently produces some of the finest sparkling wines in the state. A property of Moet-Hennessy, they combine the best of French technique with California grapes.

Though it is difficult to separate the little variations each year. Any bottle of brut or blanc de noir one purchases will, in effect, be as fine as the one you purchased last month or last year. This vintage was maintained during dramatic growth in the decade, going from zero to 250,000 cases per year in that brief time.

BURGESS CELLARS, now producing only Cabernet, Chardonnay and Zinfandel, seems to have found its meter. Now settled in at about 30,000 cases a year, Tom Burgess oversees all aspects of the operation and produces excellent to great wines, fairly priced. Chateau St. Jean must be included. It has for a decade set a standard for white wines, both in quality and packaging. They have been champions of vineyard designation almost as long as Ridge, and they are now seriously in the sparkling wine business.

Their Chardonnays, Rieslings and Fume Blancs are always exciting. My one negative point is with their pricing, but it sells easily. People know!

Stony Hill goes back to the late 1940s when Fred MacCrea began producing his marvelous Chardonnay, Riesling and Gewurztraminer. These are perhaps the hardest of all California wines to secure, their mailing-list-only ordering sells out almost at once each year. Some 6,000 cases a year are produced. This is wine of great distinction each year from a jewel of a winery high up in the Mayacamas Mountain range.

Only five years old, Storybrook Mountain Vineyards produces one wine: Zinfandel. Grown on his own 36 acres in northern Napa, Bernie Sepps has exploded onto the national scene in a couple of years from his essentially one-man winery. His 1980 Sonoma and 1982 Estate are perhaps two of the finest Zinfandels I have ever tasted. He does Zinfandel right!

THAT'S NINE. I declare it. I cannot leave any of these out. Girard Winery (astonishingly good wines at good prices), Santa Cruz Mountain (Pinot Noir), Caymus (class and distinction), Chateau Montelena (always exceptional wines), Duckhorn (Merlot of the highest order) and Chalone (Pinot Noir and Chardonnay). I could do 10 more, too.

It was his Cabernet that did so well in Steven Spurrier's 1976 Paris Tasting. His Oak 23 Cabernets are some of the priest yet most sought-after wines in all the world.

Most of the wineries on this list so far are about 10 to 12 years old. But Although new in our state, Trefethen has been around for more than a decade, consistently producing exceptional wines, including two popular generic, Eschol Red and White, that are usually best buys on many lists. Good marketing, decent pricing, lovely wines consistently. Their Chardonnays are the real winners for them.

STAG'S LEAP WINE Cellars has been for years one of the most esteemed producers of elegant Cabernets, full of violets and other riches. A consistent award winner, Warren Winanski is part of California's wine history.

Salem matmen still best

It was billed as a key meet in the Western Lakes wrestling conference, but it turned out to be more proof of the growing strength of Plymouth Salem.

The Rocks, at home, bumped the hard-luck Farmington Falcons out of contention for the Western Lakes dual meet crown, 47-24.

"Let's be realistic about this," Salem coach Ron Krueger said. "They (Farmington) have a lot of people hurt and a lot out of their lineup. They are a much better team than tonight's score would indicate."

"They have 3 kids that could go a long ways at the state meet. They may not win the league, but they might score higher than any other team in the league at the state meet — I hope not, but they could."

The 3 wrestlers Krueger spoke of were Dave Hovey, Ab Hazen and Dan Parilo. Those 3, plus heavyweight Bill Critcher, were the only winners for Farmington Thursday.

Hovey, at 105, pinned Fred Calma in 2:31. Hazen (169) pinned Greg Wochuk in 2:21. Parilo (200) pinned Brian Johnson in 2:33, and Critcher pinned Marc Cygan in 47 seconds.

But, that was all the Falcons could smile about.

Salem's Dennis Dameron whipped Mike Stern, 18-5, at 98. Tim Ott (112) defeated Mike Papp 11-4. Kevin Freeman (119) pinned Mark Pallo in 3:03. Kirk Rentz (134) defeated Paul Barringer 9-4, and Bill Morely (140) pinned Mike Cody in 2:59.

At 157, Eric Retting pinned Scott Martinuzzi in 49 seconds. Jamie Wochuk (187) pinned Mike Lane in 1:33. Dave Dameron (126) and Andy Ward (147) won by voids.

"We've some kids that are starting to come on and others who can still get a lot better," Krueger said.

The Rocks are 6-0. Farmington falls to 4-3.

PLYMOUTH CANTON also passed its supposed-crucial league test Thursday night with Walled Lake Central.

Rocks roll

Chief shooters frigid in loss to Chargers

Plymouth Salem basketball coach Bob Brodie hasn't had much to smile about this season, but he was one happy man Friday night.

His team, on the heels of a bitter 10-point setback to Livonia Stevenson Tuesday, traveled to Farmington to play a much-improved Falcon contingent. And the resilient Rocks played perhaps their best game of the season winning 65-54.

"We finally played like a team instead of a bunch of individuals," the first-year coach said. "Our scorers were scoring, our passers were passing and we got a lot more people to the glass."

LeSean Haygood, Salem's 6-5 center, led all scorers with 20 points. Mike White added 15 and Eric Sovine 10.

Paul Makara, junior guard, chipped in 9 assists and some choking defense on Farmington guard Bruce Kratt. Kratt scored just 10 points on the night.

But, don't look for Farmington coach Richard Roy to be too down in the dumps.

"You never like to lose," he said. "But, it was a good ballgame. Our kids didn't play bad. Salem just shot the lights out in the third quarter."

THE ROCKS drained 11 of 16 shots in that third quarter enroute to a 22-13 run that took the Falcons out of the game.

Matt Lundh was the big gun for Farmington. The 6-7 center was filling it up, ironically enough, from the perimeter. He pumped in 16 to lead Farmington.

Brodie sent Mike Hale, a sophomore, in to defend against Lundh in the final quarter and Hale blanked him.

"That was a key for us," Brodie said. "We had Haygood on Lundh, but Lundh was taking him away from the boards. So, we stuck Hale on him and he shut him down."

The win leaves Salem at 3-2 in the Western Lakes, 4-4 overall. The Rocks have yet to win 2 games in a row.

Farmington drops to 3-3 in the conference, 4-5 overall.

CHURCHILL 55, CANTON 49: Plymouth Canton has not been able to do the one thing that is most basic, and most critical, in the game of basketball: put the basketball through the basket.

The Chiefs were a woeful 22 for 67 from the field and 9 of 17 from the free throw line against the visiting Livonia Churchill Chargers.

"We had our chances to win at the end," said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner. "We were down 50-47 and we made two steals and grabbed a rebound."

But, the Chiefs were fouled and missed the front end of 4 1-and-1 free throw opportunities in the final two minutes.

Dan Young led the Chiefs with 10 points. Jim Schlicker scored 8 points and grabbed 10 rebounds. Joe Bono also scored 8. Brent Stack grabbed 9 rebounds and dished out 6 assists.

The Chiefs are now 2-3 in the Western Lakes, 3-5 overall. Churchill is 2-6 overall, 2-3 in the conference.

PLYM. CHRISTIAN 79, LUTHERAN NW 38: Remember the days when teams used to roll all over Plymouth Christian?

Not any more. The Eagles have been returning a few favors this season.

Farmington Lutheran Northwest was the latest victim. Pat McCarthy led the assault with 22 points, 10 rebounds and 14 steals. Ron Cannon, Jim Stephens and Lane Lambert each contributed 14 points.

Milkman a 'Hitt' in bowling circle

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

If you were assigned the task of locating the most dedicated bowler in the Observer area, chances are that you would pay little attention to the fellow driving the milk truck down the road in the wee hours of the morning.

Strangely, if you did, you'd find Bob Hitt, the Plymouth milkman, who is rated the most dedicated bowler in the entire state. His dedication to the ancient game earned him a place in the Greater Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame several weeks ago, putting his name right along side the top bowlers in the country.

Hitt, 62, was considered a more studious bowler than the others when he was introduced to the game at the old Parkview Recreation Center on Detroit's east side.

He first gained attention as one of the stars in the early days of television (the 1960's) when the game was getting increased exposure.

FOR MORE than 20 years, this Marine Corps veteran of World War II carried a 200 average, and for another six years he rolled along a 190 pace although being limited to three games per week.

With averages such as that, Hitt was welcomed by the all-star leagues in Detroit, later becoming a member of some of the best teams in the area. He belonged to the Pfeiffer team and the E&B squad, followed by Helin Tackle. During this span he became known throughout the state.

He was part of record breaking events in St. Louis, Mo. and St. Paul, Minn., which earned him a place on the Milton Berle TV Show.

While driving his Twin Pines Dairy truck through the Plymouth area on early mornings, Hitt was introduced to such legendary stars as Billy Golembiewski, Ed Lubanski, George Young, Bob Kwolek and Joe Joseph. They formed a team that became almost unbeatable. It was with this group that Hitt set numerous records, helping to spread his fame throughout the country.

EVEN THOUGH he continued to study the game, Hitt brought major scores and records to the area. He was so thorough in his dedication to the game, that one year he came to the late Clarence Hoffman, then owner of Livonia Lanes, and made an unusual deal for practice sessions.

He was entered in the Rich Petersen Classic in Chicago and wanted special training. This classic was bowled on old lanes and was known for the oily condition of the lanes on which the stars were to bowl.

In order to be prepared, Hitt joined Hoffman at 6 a.m. each morning when no one else was present, and had the lanes oiled. After he was done, the oil was removed for the regular customers.

Hitt never won the Petersen, but set all sorts of record because of his dedication to the game.

In 1958-59 and again in 1959-60, Hitt made the prestigious Detroit All-City team. As a member of E&B, Hitt helped beat the great Stroh team for the state team title.

IN THAT TOURNEY, Hitt posted a 2,206 total, shooting a 679 in the team event, a 661 in the doubles and a 685 in the singles.

Known as a strong-arm type, Hitt did just as well in the doubles and singles.

He won the World Doubles title at Northbrook, Ill., teaming up with the late Pete Carter. He then came home to win the prestigious Fred Wolf King of the Hill event on TV with a 1,119 score on five games across 10 lanes. Hitt once bowled a trio of 300 games and had a series of 299 games on the Pro Bowlers Tour.

While sporting a 222 average, the highest in the metro Detroit area in 1960, Hitt also gave lessons five days a week at various area locations.

Now he is rightfully in the Hall of Fame as a reward for his dedication, while still driving his milk truck during the wee hours of the morning.

Plymouth milkman Bob Hitt was recently enshrined in the Greater Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame. Hitt carried a 200-plus average for more than 20 years.

Ocelots triumph despite errors

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Three straight losses to start league play teaches a lesson no basketball coach wants his team to master: how to lose.

On Wednesday, Schoolcraft College's men's team had trouble remembering how to win a game. The Ocelots nearly blew a 9-point lead in the game's final 7 minutes but held on for a 57-56 triumph over equally hapless Oakland Community College at Schoolcraft.

"We were trying to find a way to give the game away," said Schoolcraft coach Rocky Watkins.

INDEED, OCC may have been more responsible for the win than the Ocelots. The final Schoolcraft basket of the game was scored by Tony Randle — with 7:38 to play.

It gave the Ocelots a 52-43 lead, their largest of the night, and it capped a 7-0 spurt. Schoolcraft went into a stall offense, but that nearly proved disastrous: the Ocelots turned the ball over 10 times in the stretch run, and they hit just 3-of-7 free throws, including misses on the first in 2 1-and-1 situations.

"If we're going to run a delay game, we're going to have to hit our free throws," Watkins said. Schoolcraft made just 15 of 29 free throws for the game and committed 26 turnovers.

THE OCELOTS' sloppiness was offset by OCC's failure to capitalize on its chances. The Raiders had 4 turnovers in the same span (25 for the game) and missed a half-dozen floor shots. At least Schoolcraft had a reason for not scoring a basket in the final 7 minutes: The Ocelots weren't shooting, instead opting to hold the ball and protect their lead.

But OCC went 4 minutes — from 4:31 to :30 — without a bucket. For the game, OCC hit just 23-of-62 field goal attempts (.371 percent), including 9-of-26 in the second half (.346 percent).

"That's been our problem all year," said Raider coach Tom McPhillips. "We're giving up 55 to 65 points a game but we can't score."

"We're really struggling. We hold a team to 57 points on the road, we should win."

THE EVENTUAL winning points were scored by Clarence Jones, who hit 2 free throws with 18 seconds left. It was some redemption for Jones, who managed to make just 3-of-7 from the line in the final 3:47.

Jones' foul shots put Schoolcraft ahead 57-52. Baskets by Darrel Darling and Rodney Thompson narrowed the gap for OCC, but didn't change the outcome.

Schoolcraft had a 32-30 halftime lead thanks to Bradley Turner's 35-foot heave at the buzzer. OCC's Anton Hall kept the poor-shooting Raiders in the game with 12 first-half points, but he was limited to 4 in the second half. Hall led all scorers with 16.

Next highest for OCC was Willy Jones with 9 and Thompson with 8.

Schoolcraft got 13 points apiece from Jones and Dwight Pooler. Turner netted 12 and Curt Ullstrom came off the bench to contribute 7 points.

The win raised Schoolcraft's record to 8-12 overall. OCC dropped to 5-9.

Reye syndrome is a rare but dangerous condition that can develop from flu or chicken pox. It occurs mainly in children under 16, usually when they appear to be recovering. Watch for these signs:

- Persistent vomiting
- Fatigue
- Confusion and belligerence.

If your child displays any of these symptoms, consult a doctor immediately.

Some studies indicate that there may be an association between the use of aspirin for flu and chicken pox and the development of Reye syndrome. Further studies are being conducted on this possibility. In the meantime, the U.S. Surgeon General suggests that you check with your doctor before using aspirin or any medication when your child has flu or chicken pox.
