Voters approve millage renewal, 2-1

6 percent of electorate visits polls

By Emory Daniels
staff writer

The renewal of eight mills was approved by a 2-1 margin Tuesday by voters in Plymouth and Canton.

For school officials, the election reflected "good news and bad news" beyond the obvious satisfaction that the renewal was approved first-time around so another election won't have to be held.

The good news was that the millage renewal request was approved in all but one of the school district's 14 voting precincts — reversing a longstanding trend of precincts in the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township voting against millage requests with Canton precincts usually voting in favor.

The bad news was that only about 6 percent of the district's 46,800 registered voters bothered to show up at the polls in Tuesday's special election.

The final certified results were 1,888 yes votes and 986 no votes with 15 invalid votes cast for a total turnout of 2,889. The only precinct to defeat the request was No. 5 at Allen and there it was defeated by only one vote, 128-129. The renewal approval means the district will continue to collect the eight mills which represents about $8 million, or 17 percent of the total operating budget of some $46 million.

The eight mills, or $8 per $1,000 State Equalized Valuation (SEV), will be levied for six years from 1985 to 1990. The $8 million equates to about 250 teaching positions.

"I am certainly pleased that the millage was passed," Dr. John M. Hoben, superintendent of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, said Tuesday night. "Although I recognize the low turnout, since this was a renewal millage, I can understand why many people stayed at home in the kind of weather which we had today.

"Because this renewal amounts to 17 percent of our budget, we will be using the money to continue our present program.

"As in any millage renewal, all of us in education are reminded that the citizens of this community support education. We are grateful for that support."

The voter turnout of 2,889 persons Tuesday was the smallest by far in recent years — less than half of the 6,425 residents who voted on the last millage renewal two years ago.

Likewise more than twice as many people (5,978) voted in last October's special election when an additional operating levy of 1.74 mills was approved. The same holds for last June's annual election when 6,023 residents from Canton and Plymouth voted.

What those numbers also show, though, is a steady decline in voter turnout during the past two years — from 6,425 to 6,023 to 5,978 to 2,889.

The vote results for the 13 precincts approving the renewal is: Central Middle, 150-96 with two invalid votes; Gallimore, 147-47 with two invalid; Isbister, 153-97, one invalid; Starkweather, 84-71; West Middle, 232-115, one invalid; Farrand, 150-103; Fiegel, 94-49; Miller, 141-43, two invalid; Hulsing, 194-42, five invalid; Eriksson, 80-36, two invalid; Field, 78-24; Canton High, 170-81; and Bird, 87-53.

Because Tuesday's was a special election, voting was done by paper ballot which is a less expensive way to conduct an election. Voters were instructed to place an "X" in the box on the ballot to vote either yes or no.

Music man and his middle school chorus

Vocalists from the ranks of Plymouth-Canton middle schools took advantage of a first-time grant from the Plymouth Community Arts Council Tuesday. Nearly 200 strong, the group participated in a one-day "Festival of Choirs" under the direction of Southfield Public Schools' David Jorlett, guest clinician/director. An evening performance following the workshop featured a diverse selection of arrangements by CEP's Treble Chorus, "Sophisticated Ladies," Swing Ensemble, Concert Choir, Men's Ensemble and combined choirs. Jorlett is recognized in musical circles throughout the state as a judge of choral competitions.

Police consulting firm to propose services to board

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A representative of a Pennsylvania consulting firm, which did a recently completed study of the police department, is scheduled to meet with the Canton Township Board of Trustees tonight to discuss proposed services for the police department.

Roderick Bartell of Bartell and Bartell will present two proposals at 7 p.m. in township hall — to advise the township during the time before a police chief is chosen and to assist in picking a candidate.

In late December the firm completed a $16,000 study citing major problems in the police department. One month later Police Chief Jerry Cox resigned.

Tonight the board is expected to vote on the separate issues.

The estimated fee for work performed by Bartell's firm before the police chief appointment is not to exceed $9,332, according to a proposal presented at Tuesday's township board meeting by Dan Durack, personnel director.

During the interim period Bartell said that consulting services would be needed to "stabilize" the department, interpret the study recommendations and provide technical assistance.

"(These) activities are considered the critical areas that need to be addressed immediately, while the chief of police is being selected," Bartell said in the proposal.

THE OUTLINE also suggests three ways Bartell and Bartell could help the township choose a police chief.

See related editorial on Page 12A

Estimated costs for these services range from $350 to about $7,000, Bartell said in an interview.

The first and least expensive option in choosing a police chief is to assess the final candidate or candidates at $350 per assessment.

The second option would see the consulting firm assess the candidates, develop a desired managerial profile, review the resumes to help screen the best applicants and to coordinate and conduct the on-site oral interviews.

The fee includes $350 per candidate assessment, travel costs and professional expenses associated with the amount of technical assistance requested, at $70 per hour.

Durack recommends the board go with the latter. He estimates Bartell's fee will range between $3,000 and $5,000.

"We (township officials) can probably whittle down the candidates to about five or 10 based on their resumes," he said. "That would be about $3,500 right there."

The third and most expensive option is a 26-step full assessment and selection service. This choice includes a guarantee that the selected candidate will successfully stay or be retained by the municipality for at least one year. If the individual leaves during the first year, Bartell will repeat the process free of charge.

Board tackles flood problem

June 1 is Canton's target date for installation of permanent automatic sewer pumps to avert flooding problems in specific areas of the township.

Thomas Casari, Canton Township engineer, presented a tentative schedule at Tuesday's board of trustees' meeting detailing what the township will do to deal with flooding. The action was taken in response to residents' continual sewage backup problems resulting from the present sewer system.

The sewer system is designed for dry weather flow, and becomes overloaded when an unusual amount of storm water accumulates. As much as 18 inches of raw sewage has accumulated at the lowest levels of some homes, according to residents.

The erection of permanent pumps was approved by the township board early this year to calm an outcry from angry residents who are forced to deal with flooded basements on a regular basis. Approximately 45 residents attended a board meeting Jan. 7 — only days after the most recent flooding on New Year's Day.

CASARI WAS ASKED to keep the board updated on work done by the Department of Public Works and township engineers.

Welfare, business keep many on dole — Ross

Project Self-Reliance helped many welfare recipients find private sector jobs, said director Doug Ross, but changes in the welfare system and the private sector will be necessary to reduce long-term welfare dependence.

"Though final figures will not be available for several weeks, we estimate that more than 30 percent of all Self-Reliance participants have left welfare for permanent full-time jobs in the private sector," said the former state senator from southern Oakland County.

At a Lansing news conference marking the end of the experimental program, Ross said he would forward recommendations to Gov. James Blanchard and the Legislature for a succeeding phase in the Project Self-Reliance effort.

"Our initial experiment clearly showed that when private sector jobs are available, many welfare recipients are willing and able to take those jobs and become economically self-sufficient," Ross reported.

AN ADDITIONAL one-third with strong motivation to work but who lacked marketable skills are enrolled in job training programs. These programs are designed to result in permanent jobs over the next six months, he said.

The recent business trend of transforming many entry-level jobs in the retail and service trades into part-time jobs without benefits is making it harder for welfare recipients who must support families to find a starting place in the private economy, he said.

"We estimate nearly two-thirds of the 7,000 Self-Reliance participants are either in private jobs or on a training track that should lead to a job outside the welfare system in the coming months," Ross said.

"We learned a number of important facts about the welfare system and the plight of those on welfare that will be of use in the development of a long-term strategy to reduce welfare dependence in Michigan," said Ross, who currently holds the post of Michigan Department of Commerce director.

THESE LESSONS include:

- Large numbers of those on welfare prefer work to a welfare check. Nearly 20,000 people volunteered to trade their welfare checks for 7,000 temporary, minimum-wage jobs in the community and the hope of finding a permanent job in the private sector.
- Those who employed former welfare recipients in their temporary community jobs said "real" constructive work was accomplished — not "make-work." Ross commented, "The program not only put welfare recipients to work, the taxpayers also got their money's worth."
- A state program that focuses all its resources on helping welfare recipients find private sector jobs is effective for many, though some recipients require additional job training to secure private employment.
- The welfare system itself is an obstacle that prevents many recipients from entering the private sector and achieving economic independence.

ACCORDING TO Ross, "The existing set of incentives and disincentives a recipient encounters within the current welfare system discourages many from accepting private jobs."

Students learn hockey's do's and don'ts

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL children are learning the ins and outs of floor hockey during a three-week clinic sponsored by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department and the Wayne-Westland YMCA.

The sixth annual floor hockey program is offered to boys and girls in first through sixth grade.

Instructors say the emphasis of the program is to encourage student participation.

The clinics — which began Jan. 21 — are held after school on Mondays and Tuesdays at Hulsing and Eriksson elementary schools.

All Canton grade school children are invited to attend.

A four-week league will begin Saturday. League games will be played on Saturday mornings. All players will receive a t-shirt.

The fee for the program is $16 per child. For more information call 397-1000.

Holocaust tales: nightmare on videotape

The stories, all different, have similar tones: gripping, intense, disturbing — and painful. They are stories of hunger, despair, torture, grief — and death. They are the oral and visual tapes of the Holocaust survivors, recorded and compiled by Sidney Bolkosky, professor of history at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

"I could go on interviewing for 20 more years, but I don't think that's possible," said Bolkosky, adding, "It's an emotional drain."

Bolkosky is in his fourth year of interviewing some of the estimated 2,500

Detroit-area Jews who survived the Nazi death camps. So far, he and nine volunteer assistants have interviewed 170 survivors with a short-term goal of 250. Bolkosky has conducted nearly half of the interviews.

BOLKOSKY HAS prepared the tapes for an archive at the recently opened Holocaust Memorial Center in West Bloomfield Township. All oral and video tapes are recorded and duplicated at U-M-D. The tapes represent the United States' only oral record of Jewish life in Europe before and during World War II, he said.

About 11-million people — including 6-million Jews — were gassed, shot or buried alive in death camps during the Holocaust.

Bolkosky, an Oak Park resident, began his project by accident. In 1975 he wrote "Distorted Image," a book on German Jews between the wars, and has for years taught a popular course on the Holocaust, but he had no plans to undertake his mammoth project.

"I was sitting on a local Holocaust Education Committee where I met survivors who desperately wanted to get their stories told," Bolkosky said.

"Most survivors haven't spoken to anyone about it, including spouses and children, in 35-40 years. Once in, it was impossible for me to get out."

BOLKOSKY RECALLS a few of the worst: people who still refuse to go into a building with chimneys or into a shower, a man who won't go above the fourth floor of buildings because he saw Nazis throwing babies out of fourth-floor windows, a woman who remembers every evening while cooking that the last time she saw her mother alive was as a child standing next to her at the stove.

Highlight of Bolkosky's research is a 12-minute program at the Holocaust Center with excerpts from six interviews coordinated with slides of victims being killed, tortured and over-worked. He spent 110 hours putting together the presentation, of which "I'm prouder than any book I've written."

He notes, "Viewers usually first watch the slides, then the survivor as he's talking. The pain in their faces is too much to bear for many people. They turn away."

SURVIVORS' STORIES are so grievous that Bolkosky has lost many of his volunteer interviewers, who include teachers, social workers and children of survivors.

The interviews have also taken a toll on Bolkosky and his family. "I often get calls at home from interviewees who are upset and survivors who want to talk more. Some of the survivors feel relieved after being interviewed and say their nightmares have been reduced. "Others get very depressed. Those are the times I regret the interviews," he said.

CAN YOU BELIEVE it was 10 years ago this June that Plymouth Canton High School graduated its first senior class?

There were 280 grads in that class of 1975 and they are planning their 10-year reunion. Mike Gottschalk, Jodi Overholt and Cam Miller are coordinating reunion plans.

The dinner-dance will be Saturday, July 13, in Fairlane Manor, Dearborn. A ballroom has been reserved for the occasion — and so has the adjoining ballroom. Plymouth Salem High School class of '75 is having its 10-year reunion the same night, same place.

"We were very close — the last ninth grade class at Central — so we decided to have our 10th reunions together. We'll be right next door," said Mike.

All the ninth graders in the district were at Central for the '71-'72 and '72-'73 school years.

A first mailing has gone out to Plymouth Canton classmates, but they lack addresses for 75 members of the class of '75.

They would appreciate a call from family or friends so they can get in touch with everyone in that first graduating class. Call Mike, 453-0382; Jodi, 455-6297; or Cam, 453-1915.

Cost is $25 per person for what promises to be a super reunion.

THOSE CLOSE to the arts council's show, "Footlights and Foolishness," could be accused of being involved in a conspiracy of silence. They don't want to spoil all the wonderful surprises in store for their audiences.

But they can't control their enthusiasm — they are positively bubbling.

This investigative reporter came up with some interesting information which I will share, without naming my sources. Perhaps you can figure out what is going on.

- First of all, this production is unlike the three preceding musical revues arranged by the Plymouth Community Arts Council. This is a book show. It has a theme that is carried from the beginning to the grand finale. It is not just a series of unrelated skits and song-and-dance numbers.

- I got the distinct impression that they all think Bob Berkson, the director, is doing a tremendous job.
- It is an up-beat show.
- The tappers and all the kick lines are terrific.

- The soloists are terrific. I must admit, getting the identities of some of the leads and soloists was, to coin a phrase, like pulling teeth. Some of them may be hesitant to reveal their show business connections because of positions as educators in the community.

Starring in the show will be none other than Shirley Spaniel, executive director of elementary education, Joyce Reefe, principal at Gallimore, Carrol Nichols, principal at Tanger, Ted Masteller, son of Larry Masteller, director of community education.

Also Lou Brohl, Jacquie Rundell, Mike and Sue Diebolt, Gene Gulbransen, Jim Shannon, Sue Carson, Vickie Morrissey, Russ Webster of the Penniman Deli, Mary Cotter, and goodness knows who all.

- The costumes are terrific.
- "They" rate it PG13.

RESERVED SEATS are on sale in the lobby of the Mayflower Hotel for the Friday and Saturday performances. Main floor reserved seats are $7. Balcony and student tickets are $5.

Talked to Nancy Sharp, who was doing box office duty on Monday, and the charts for the main floor seemed to be filling up. An arts council representative will be in the lobby Saturday for those who need a last-minute reservation.

Don't miss "Footlights and Foolishness." It promises to be a sure cure for the mid-winter doldrums.

DOREEN LAWTON, a member of the Three Cities Art Club, has won a gallery award in the Ann Arbor Art Association's multimedia competition. Her winning work was a water color, "Memories."

The exhibition in the gallery on West Liberty Street, Ann Arbor, closed Feb. 2.

Fasching party Saturday

Bob and Connie Fitzner are all set for the fun Saturday evening when the German-American Club of Plymouth has its annual Fasching Party at the Plymouth Cultural Center. The Fitzners will be in costume for the pre-Lenten celebration, but a costume is not necessary to get into the spirit of the occasion. Admission is $4 at the door or by reservation by calling 459-4261 or 420-0857. German refreshments will be available. Action starts at 8 p.m. with dancing to the music of the Tirolers of Toledo until 1 a.m. and prizes for costumes.

'You've come a long way, baby...'

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

Therese Marshall (left) and Karen Baker agree that there have been a lot of changes in the attitudes of families, doctors and nurses toward the Lamaze natural childbirth method.

... and changes for Lamaze advocates begin to show

By Marie McGee
staff writer

KAREN BAKER smiles whenever she sees the ad or hears the jingle trumpeting women's progress: "You've come a long way, baby..."

Baker couldn't agree more. And in her case, the emphasis is definitely on the word baby.

For Baker and several hundred volunteers working with the Lamaze Childbirth Association of Livonia over the past 10 years helping to spread the word about the natural childbirth method, it has a familiar ring.

Just how far the group has come in the past decade was the topic of discussion at a 10th-anniversary reunion at Baker's Farmington Hills home recently.

IT WAS ONLY natural that Baker's home be the site of the observance since the former Livonia resident is credited with organizing the Livonia chapter.

The inscription on a cake specially baked for the occasion summed it all up: "5,000-plus special deliveries because of 100-plus special people."

In reminiscing over the early days of the organization, which is part of an international group, the Livonia chapter volunteers recalled some of the progress that has been made over the years.

The biggest breakthrough has been in the area of attitudes and the acceptance of the method named after the French physician who developed a training program in natural childbirth, emphasizing breathing control and relaxation and the role of the father to bring these about.

"It used to be," Baker recalled, "that if you went in to have your baby and announced it would be by the Lamaze method, some nurses would say, 'Oh, one of those,' and put you off by yourself in some room 'to do your thing.'"

NOW, SAID BAKER, many nurses recognize the benefits of the Lamaze method and are actually very helpful and supportive to the woman who has chosen to have her baby that way.

"The change in the nurses' attitudes has made a considerable difference," said Baker.

Fathers' roles in the birthing experience have always been important, Baker notes. But it has become increasingly easier for them to participate in the birthing experience with the gradual lifting of hospital rules that outlawed dad to the waiting room while mom labored in the delivery room.

Some hospitals, Baker noted, now actually allow fathers to participate in the birthing experience by allowing them to cut the umbilical cord. Children are allowed to see and hold the baby in some hospitals as part of a family "bonding" experience that draws the family unit together.

TEN YEARS AGO that was unheard of, she said. Now the "radical" is becoming the norm, she believes.

Interestingly, fathers continue to be the natural childbirth program's biggest boosters, agreed Baker and Therese Marshall, current president of the Livonia chapter.

"Women come to the first class curious and fearful and they usually have to drag their husbands along. But after the baby is born, fathers become our biggest boosters," said Baker.

"We've had them call us after the birth and tell us it was the best thing that ever happened to them," added Marshall.

The number of doctors willing to practice the Lamaze method has also risen significantly over the years, Baker pointed out.

But as in any battle, you win some and you lose some.

For the Lamaze followers, the big win in the educational battle has been overshadowed somewhat by the competition for members now coming from doctors and hospitals who have actively gone into the field of health care classes.

"THEY JUMPED ON" the bandwagon about three years ago," said Baker.

"When we started out," Baker recalled, "there were hardly any Lamaze groups in the area. That's why I got involved."

Now, she said, there are at least seven or eight groups that are independent of doctors or hospitals. But the biggest competition for members comes from doctors and hospitals who now conduct birth classes themselves.

"It used to be," said Baker, "that we got a lot of referrals from doctors and the hospitals. Now they're into the business themselves."

For instance, she said, in 1978, the Livonia chapter had around 130 classes with about 15 persons to a class. In 1984, the figure dropped to 48 classes with about eight persons to a class.

It's not the fact that the doctors and hospitals are conducting childbirth classes that is upsetting to Baker and others in the Lamaze movement.

"WHAT WORRIES US," said Marshall, "is that all the options available to the prospective mom may not necessarily be offered to her."

"Tying yourself to one doctor or one hospital could mean that you are limiting yourself to only the methods they want to follow," she added.

For instance, she said, many doctors routinely use fetal monitors. "You should know they do this because it is not always necessary. Sometimes you're not aware of all the choices out there."

The Lamaze unit offers independence and encourages its members to "shop around" for the hospital that will provide the kind of birth choices the woman wants.

"We encourage couples to tour the hospital before making a decision," Marshall added.

"Some doctors feel that childbirth education has taken the control out of their hands," said Baker. "That just isn't so."

What the education can do is to build better communication between the couple and the doctor "to make the decision together."

"Ten or 12 years ago," said Baker, "a woman went into the doctor's office and announced she was pregnant. She left it up to the doctor to make the decisions for her."

"Through education," she continued, "it can be a joint decision that involves the couple and the doctor."

Baker was probably the first lay person in the state to begin a childbirth education association.

And she did it out of personal frustration.

A "good Lamaze experience" when she had her first child, Robin, now 10, at St. Mary Hospital prompted Baker

A decade of changes was marked at the 10th anniversary party of the Lamaze chapter. Volunteers over the years who attended included Jim and Julie Braunreiter of Livonia, party hosts, (left) Ken and Karen Baker, Jim and Kathy Gray of Canton Township, and Tom and Pat Janicki of Pinckney. Kathy Gray was the group's first registrar and Pat Janicki was the first secretary.

"THEY JUMPED ON" the bandwagon about three years ago," said Baker.

"When we started out," Baker re-

Shaner-Shaw

Susan Coleen Sharp and Christopher H. Shaner were married Dec. 29 in First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. The Rev. Philip Rodgers Magee officiated. The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sharp of S. Evergreen, Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shaner of Golf Lane, Wheaton, Ill. The bride's attendants were Catherine Rudel, Sandra Grogan, Michelle Rosenberg and Helen Shaw. Groomsman were Peter Lund, Mike Sharp, Rick Prunty and Mark Little. The couple honeymooned in Hawaii after their wedding reception in the Mayflower Meeting House. They are living in Denver, Colo.

Zwitch-Rapson

Rose Marie Zwitch of Houghton Street, Livonia announces the engagement of her daughter, Eugenia Mame, to Thomas Patrick Rapson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rapson of Canton Township. The bride-elect is a 1980 graduate of Livonia Churchill High School and is employed by Headstart Hair Salon of Plymouth. Her fiancé graduated from Plymouth Salem High School in 1978 and is employed by Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. in Muskegon. They plan an April wedding in St. Paul of the Cross Monastery.

DAR plans Valentine for Statue of Liberty

The National Society Daughters of the American Revolution has proclaimed Thursday, Feb. 14, as Liberty Love Day. All 211,000 members will celebrate Valentine's Day in a one-day, nationally coordinated effort to raise funds for the restoration of the Statue of Liberty. Each member of the local Sarah Ann Cochran chapter will make her own contribution and contact at least five non-members for donations. The statue will be 100 years old in 1986 and the DAR is joining the major undertaking to restore the monument. The ravages of time, salt air and pollution have taken a serious toll. Work is being done on the skeletal structure as well as the outside to ensure preservation of the symbol of freedom.

Swan song From songbooks to law books

By Shirlee Rose Iden staff writer

Southfield said adieu to the Raven Gallery nearly five years ago... Her songs are of love, grief, truth, and sometimes turn to fantasy.

JACOBS did studies in psychology and some research but says, "The only future I saw would be clinical psychology..."

"I'VE BEEN a constant disappointment all my life, to the people in my life who want the best for me..."

not to be a disappointment to those she cared about, parents who wanted her to be a good Jewish girl, perhaps a teacher, and naturally, married.

Searching for creativity, she turned to her music, songwriting and guitar strumming and singing. The struggle was long, and the road often bumpy and wearing.

Her songs are of love, grief, truth, and sometimes turn to fantasy. Some deal with her identity as a woman and feminist.

"Several years back, I decided on a career change. I didn't want to go on the way I was, working in local bars. I realized this was the way it was going to always be, and I wasn't having any rise in income either."

"I'd do my own music pretty exclusively," she said. "Lots of old friends will be stopping by. I'd like it if all the old gang shows up."

Lori Jacobs wrote and sang songs about love, grief and truth, and sometimes they were fantasy-filled. In song and poem, she communicated her feelings as a woman and as a feminist.

Violinist displays commanding ability

By Ruth Zaromp special writer

From within the beauty of music, there are times when one can realize that little extra magic of additional beauty and extra depth.

member of Renaissance City Chamber Players played with the group for the first time. Anatoli Cheiniouk was introduced to the audience as a performer in a Soviet chamber ensemble.

To introduce Cheiniouk, the concert opened with the third movement from Vivaldi's Concerto for Two Violins and Two Cellos...

THE EVENING continued with semi-circle of the other players, and the audience watched and listened while the melodies moved through these two groups...

Some of Scarlatti's works have been arranged by other people on various occasions. From the viewpoint of authenticity, I didn't find this version satisfying or reflective of the composer's direct but glittering style.

Brookside auction features a number of travel packages

one-of-a-kind traveler
Iris Jones
 contributing travel editor

Several travel packages are included in the hundreds of items and services to be auctioned Saturday, Feb. 16, at Cranbrook's annual Brookside Kaleidoscope.

The gala evening, a fund-raiser for Brookside School, opens at 6 p.m. at the school. A Silent Auction, accompanied by appetizers and an open bar, is held 6-9 p.m. A light supper and live auction follows.

Admission is $35 per person, unless you want to be listed as Benefactors ($200 per couple) or Patrons ($125 per couple).

This year's theme is Kaleidoscope USA so you will find red-white-and-blue decorations throughout the school and foods indicative of the American experience.

We attended the auction last year and found that it was great fun bidding on items ranging from the mundane to the exotic. Silent Auction items are spread out colorfully in the small gym and three of the school's classrooms.

The Children's Palace, in the Junior Kindergarten room, is a riot of toys, stuffed dolls, handmade wooden trains, kites, books, puppet theaters and other goodies. In Mrs. Morgan's third-grade room, renamed The Designer's Touch, you'll find everything from crystal, silver and fabrics to pottery and African sheepskins.

ONE OF the busiest rooms in the school is Mrs. Nuss' third-grade room where the wines, food baskets and gourmet dinner reservations are displayed. You'll find some of the travel and entertainment packages in the small gym, along with the men's and women's boutiques and items of interest to art and sports lovers.

Some of the getaway packages up for bidding in the Silent Auction are weekends in New York City, at Grand Traverse Resort in Traverse City, in Toronto, at Sugar Loaf Mountain Resort in Michigan or just down the freeway at the Hotel St. Regis in Detroit.

The main travel enticements come later, during the Live Auction, including round-trip for four at Walt Disney World in Florida. You can bid for time in a condominium at Juno Beach, Fla. on Grand Cayman Island; on Seabrook Island, N. C.; or in Harbor Springs, Mich.

I also tried to get information about flights on Midway Metrolink but the results are incomplete. Their new toll-free number, 1-800-621-5700, is busy during much of the business day. I got through at night and was told that a daily flight leaves Detroit at 12:15 p.m. and arrives at 3:35 p.m.; on the return it leaves Dallas/Fort Worth at 11:50 a.m. and arrives in Detroit at 4:20 p.m.

There are apparently a number of other flights available on Midway but they seem to be different for every day, so call if you are interested. Their fare is $220 one way, $440 round trip; a limited number of M-Class fares are available at $170 one-way and $340 round trip. Iris Jones

Guide through airline maze

THE AIRBOX: This week we introduce the AIRBOX, which is our attempt to help you through the maze of airline schedules and airline fares.

It takes a book the size of a huge telephone book, republished every month, to keep travel agents abreast of the incredible changes in airline travel, so we won't try to be comprehensive. Instead, we'll help you find your way to one destination.

This week we'll help you find your way from Detroit Metropolitan Airport to the Dallas/Fort Worth Airport in Texas. On this route, as on most others, you can choose from a long list of flights that go to Dallas/Fort Worth through another city, forcing you to change planes in places like Atlanta, Memphis or Cincinnati.

We'll cover the direct flights, both non-stop and otherwise. American Airlines has four non-stop flights every day, leaving Detroit at 8:40 a.m. and 1:35, 4:09 and 7:18 p.m.; they arrive respectively at 10:21 a.m. and 3:18, 5:55 and 8:58 p.m.

Return flights leave Dallas/Fort Worth at 8:40 a.m. and 1:01, 5:25 and 7:58 p.m., arriving in Detroit at 11:58 a.m. and 4:19, 8:43 and 11:16 p.m., respectively. All are non-stop.

Delta Air Lines presently flies only one direct flight, which leaves Detroit at 4:15 p.m. and arrives in Dallas/Fort Worth at 8:01 p.m. None of their flights from Dallas to Detroit are direct, but all of that will change March 15.

On March 15, Delta will begin daily non-stop flights between Detroit and Dallas/Fort Worth. Their initial schedule will be:

two non-stops, leaving Detroit at 9:45 a.m. and 4:05 p.m. and arriving at Dallas/Fort Worth at 11:13 a.m. and 3:48 p.m., respectively. Flights will leave Dallas/Fort Worth at 10:28 a.m. and 7:55 p.m., arriving in Detroit at 1:45 p.m. and 11:05 p.m., respectively.

Republic Air Lines has no direct flight to and from Dallas/Fort Worth. It leaves Detroit at 7:30 a.m. daily except Sunday, arriving 10:47 a.m.; the return direct flight leaves Dallas/Fort Worth at 12:40 p.m. and arrives in Detroit at 6 p.m. daily except Sunday.

American, Delta and Republic all offer the new Ultra Super Saver from Detroit to Dallas/Fort Worth $158 round trip if you buy your ticket 30 days before flight time, stay over one Saturday night and return before 21 days are up.

This is an incredible price compared to the regular economy no-strings-attached price of $612 round trip, but you must abide by the above conditions and it will cost you an additional 25 percent of the fare if you either cancel or change your flight times after the ticket is purchased.

This low fare is good through May 23 and seats may be limited so book as soon as you have firm travel plans.

I also tried to get information about flights on Midway Metrolink but the results are incomplete. Their new toll-free number, 1-800-621-5700, is busy during much of the business day. I got through at night and was told that a daily flight leaves Detroit at 12:15 p.m. and arrives at 3:35 p.m.; on the return it leaves Dallas/Fort Worth at 11:50 a.m. and arrives in Detroit at 4:20 p.m.

There are apparently a number of other flights available on Midway but they seem to be different for every day, so call if you are interested. Their fare is $220 one way, $440 round trip; a limited number of M-Class fares are available at $170 one-way and $340 round trip. Iris Jones

Ski resort offers free dinners

This season Sunday skiers at Sugar Loaf Resort in Cedar, Mich., will receive an added bonus. Anyone with a valid ski lift ticket can eat all the barbecued chicken they want, free of charge.

From 5-6 p.m. every Sunday of the ski season, Sugar Loaf will prepare barbecued chicken for skiing guests.

"This is our way of saying thanks to those who have skied over the weekend and of welcoming those coming in on midweek packages," said Brian Cairns, general manager of Sugar Loaf.

Sugar Loaf is a full-service ski resort with 20 ski runs, miles of cross-country trails, two restaurants, a pizzeria and deli, an outdoor heated pool and saunas, a ski shop and lodge rooms and townhouses.

For more information, call 1-800-632-9802.

REYE SYNDROME

Reye syndrome is a rare but dangerous condition that can develop from flu or chicken pox. It occurs mainly in children under 16, usually when they appear to be recovering. Watch for these signs:

- Persistent vomiting
- Fatigue
- Confusion and belligerence.

If your child displays any of these symptoms, consult a doctor immediately.

Some studies indicate that there may be an association between the use of aspirin for flu and chicken pox and the development of Reye syndrome. Further studies are being conducted on this possibility. In the meantime, the U.S. Surgeon General suggests that you check with your doctor before using aspirin or any medication when your child has flu or chicken pox.

Lyrich Chamber Ensemble plans Tricentennial series

By Avigdor Zaromp special writer
This year marks the 300th birthdays of the baroque masters Bach and Handel, so we can expect a lot of celebration events. Another composer also born in 1685, but not as frequently mentioned, is Domenico Scarlatti. The Lyrich Chamber Ensemble with artistic director/founder, Fedora Horowitz of Southfield, traditionally features small-scale chamber events. Yet, it has undertaken a Tricentennial Festival, a massive project of performing works by these three composers in four Sunday concerts during February and March culminating with a grand finale at Orchestra Hall on Sunday, March 17.
In order to reach as many segments of the surrounding community as possible, the four concerts before the Orchestra Hall event will be held at various area churches. The schedule is: Feb. 17, Cathedral Church of St. Paul, Detroit; Feb. 24, St. Paul Church on the Lake, Grosse Pointe; March 3, First Presbyterian Church, Detroit; and March 10, Central Woodward Christian Church, Troy. Horowitz will participate as a performer in the Orchestra Hall concert in Bach's Concerto for Two Harpsichords in C Major, with two pianos on this occasion.
The Brazael Bernard Chorale, a group which has been steadily gaining recognition, and has appeared with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra on a number of occasions, will be participating in the series.
Other vocal groups participating include the Central Woodward Christian Church Choir, First Presbyterian Church Choir, the John Smith Singers, Northminster Church Choir and St. Paul Cathedral Men's Choir.
The list of appealing works on these programs is long, but as a sample, the works by Bach will include Cantata No. 51 (Dauchet Gott in allen Landen) and Cantata No. 82 (Ich habe genügt), and the Brandenburg Concerto No. 3. Unac-

What can you learn from this picture of a deserted house in the woods?

Others' pictures can help you learn

Did you know that one of the best ways to improve your photography is by closely looking at the pictures of others?
Whether it's browsing through a gallery or leisurely thumbing through a good photography book, many benefits can be yours by a good, hard, critical look and an analysis of the photograph.
By tuning into your own emotions and asking yourself some important questions as you "read" a photograph, you'll gain insight and technical skills that will certainly help you in taking your own pictures.
Begin by asking what the subject or main theme of the photograph is. Does it move you and how do you respond to it? How do you suppose the photographer felt about it?
Study the lighting. Is it harsh or soft? What direction is it coming from and what time of day do you think it was? Ask yourself what might happen to the picture if the lighting were different. What camera position was used —

Marathon aids our symphony

By Avigdor Zaromp special writer
The Detroit Symphony Orchestra annual radio marathon is upon us again. This will be the 10th event of its kind. It started yesterday and ends at 10 p.m. Sunday.
The broadcast on the classical music station WQRS is sponsored by the Detroit Symphony League and the Women's Association for the DSO. The people in charge are Walter McCarthy, chairman of DSO board, honorary chairman of the event, Carol Ann May of Bloomfield Hills, chairwoman, and Mary Bayern of Grosse Pointe, co-chairwoman.
The goal this year is $140,000, earmarked for the Detroit Symphony's youth education and outreach programs.
Those who choose to contribute will reap tangible rewards in addition to the satisfaction in contributing to a worthy cause. This is made possible through assorted premiums, services and merchandise donated by individuals and business establishments. These premiums are listed in a special catalog which was mailed to those currently on the mailing list.
During the marathon broadcast, the number to call is 833-2400.

At 3 a.m., country sounds right

Why don't you love me, like you used to do...
Hugh Gallagher
Hank Williams

Three o'clock in the morning is not the time for head banging. Those night-mornings I leave work for the drive home, I invariably turn the radio to a country music station.
The rock stations are playing head banging, heavy duty, smash the guitar music. The classical station is playing heavy-handed piano pieces written by some 20th century progressive and played by a dedicated disciple of noise. The jazz station is playing some trumpet player's ego journey.
At 3 a.m. I want to hear those sad songs I might get lucky and hear old George Jones, the essence of country music. It is Jones people have in mind when they say they can't stand country music. His voice twangs and catches the ear. He is always singing about loves that went wrong or lives that got sidetracked by the bottle. But when he sings, he means it. He's been there and it comes through in his plaintive, sometimes haunting voice. Only sometime country paths descends into bathos. Listening to Jones on songs like "He Stopped Loving Her Today" or "A Good Year for the Roses" is to understand something of what it is to lose what you never had.

Merle Haggard is more sophisticated than Jones. His band may be one of the best backup groups in all of popular music. His voice is mellower, not as emotional. His songs, since the days of his right-wing hit "Okie From Muskogee," have been well chosen, varied and provocative. His politics haven't changed, but when he sings about social issues it is with a personal truth that has bears notice if not acceptance. He has introduced a jazz sound to country music and some of his songs have a touch of Sinatra in them. But the themes are more to the bone than the standard pop tune that Sinatra did so well. "Misery and Gin" is a song about a real bar and a real almost affair. "I'll Just Sit Here and Drink" is about a real relationship gone sour.
WALLIE NELSON, when he isn't trying to sound too pop, Johnny Cash,

RARE HOMES
Just as precious gems differ widely in their quality, so too, do custom homes. That difference is what creates the reputation of the builder. Our reputation is prominently and proudly displayed in some of the most opulent estates in the Midwest. In a Kapf custom home the difference is most apparent.
