The Canton Connection

SLIPPING AND SLIDING motorists were involved in 17 "fender bender" accidents between 7 a.m. and 3 p.m. Wednesday, according to Canton Township police. The figure could be higher, because police suspect there were additional unreported mishaps. The average number of accidents during a 24-hour period is one to three.

OOPS is what a driver had to say after his Chevy Camaro slid off an icy road and into the Canton Township Fire Department building on Cherry Hill and Canton Center Road at about 11 p.m. Tuesday. Although the front end of his car was banged up, the building sustained barely a scratch from the crash, according to Canton Fire Sgt. Don Adams.

SPEAKING OF the fire department, firefighters are requesting that residents uncover neighborhood hydrants. When Mother Nature is this generous with the white stuff, hydrants are hard to find, creating a safety hazard.

TEENS SO INCLINED are invited to hit the slopes at Alpine Valley Ski Area with the Canton Parks and Recreation Department from 5 p.m. to 12:15 a.m. Friday, March 1. The fee — $8 for skiers with equipment and $15 for those without — is due upon registration. Skiers must register in person at Canton Township Hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road. Bus transportation and supervision will be provided by staff members. For more information, call 397-1000.

SHARON M. SCHOEB has been named Canton Business and Professional Women Young Careerist. A graduate of Eastern Michigan University and a Canton BPW member, Schoeb is assistant principal with the Vista Maria Learning Center. She has been active in the Council for Exceptional Children and the Wayne County Association for the Retarded.

The Young Career Woman Program, inaugurated by the National Federation of Business & Professional Women in 1963, highlights the achievements of young career women and is one of the many programs sponsored by BPW to elevate the status of women. Sue Bonfiglio, a Canton food broker, and Rose Mary Reiz, a Canton Eagle reporter from Garden City, also participated in the careerist program.

IF TAXES have you mumbling under your breath these days, here's help. From 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday, two representatives from the IRS will be lending a hand to taxpayers at the Canton Public Library. Call 397-0999 to register. Bring forms, booklets and your records.

THE MOORS don't know how much more they can take. Seems Allen and Maryann Moor, owners of Annie's Inspirational Cards & Gifts, 44266 Warren east of Sheldon, received a gift of dubious value from Ma Bell. The couple was given Plymouth Canton Community Schools' old phone number after opening for business in January. Nearly two dozen times a day, folks call the store asking for administrators, bus information, teachers — "all kinds of things," says Allen Moor. "The worst thing is when people hang up. They won't even give us the courtesy of saying 'hello,' 'I'm sorry,' or anything. We're giving out the right number (451-6600). But when they won't even talk — that's the most aggravating," said Moor. Annie's, by the way, is the place to call for books, Bibles, gifts, and greeting cards.

Man charged with assault at Honeytree

By M.B. Dillon Ward
staff writer

A Canton Township man was arrested Thursday after a mixup in which police officers from different departments inadvertently converged on the man's apartment.

Moments before the arrest, police also broke into a neighbor's apartment, thinking it belonged to the man they sought.

Police gave this account. Livonia, Canton and Dearborn officers at 5 p.m. Thursday forced their way through the front door of Gregory Mark Seguin's Honeytree apartment, occupied at the time by the suspect and "several visitors."

Livonia and Canton police had a warrant for Seguin's arrest on an assault charge. The Dearborn police were on a drug raid.

Also at the scene was a U.S. Department of Justice officer whom Livonia police called because they suspected Seguin might have an automatic weapon in his possession — a federal offense. A Spitfire machine gun was confiscated, police said.

ALERTED THAT Seguin and the others might be running out the back door of the apartment, Dearborn police — with guns drawn — entered what they thought was Seguin's back entrance, according to Dearborn Police Chief John Connolly.

In fact, police entered the apartment of Michael Smith, causing Smith and his wife to run for safety.

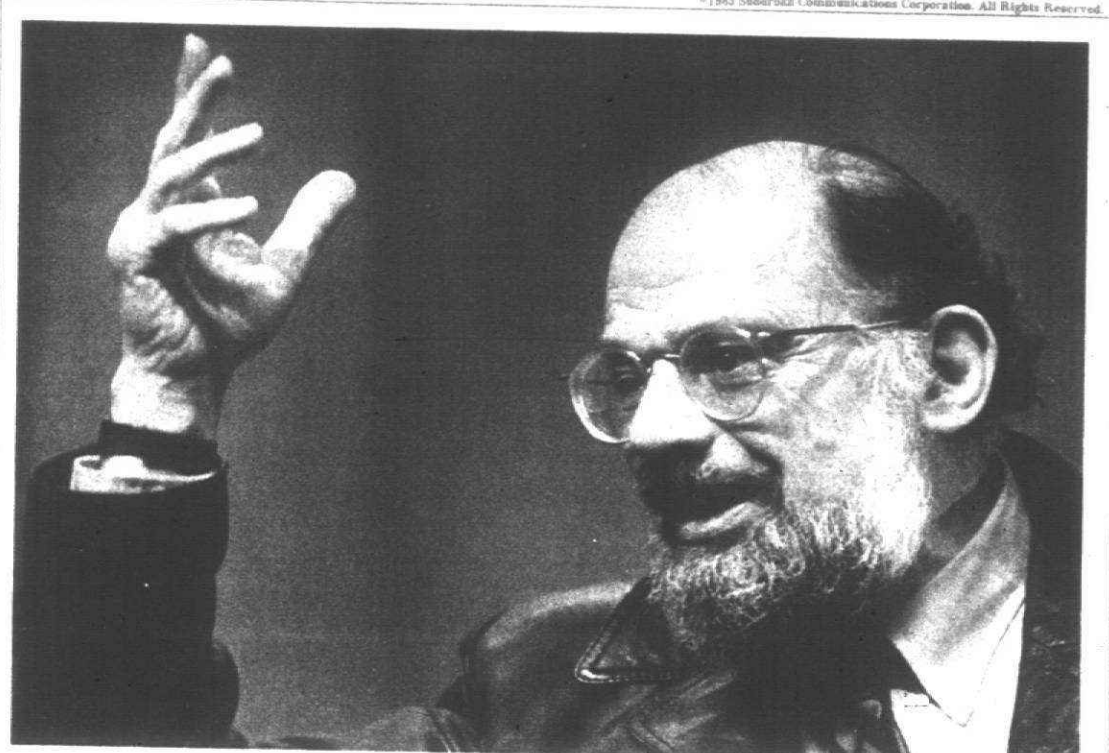

Connolly said of the officers' blunder, "This was a very unfortunate thing. We're just glad things happened quickly enough that the officers realized they were in the wrong apartment. "It could have been disastrous."

SEGUIN, 31, is free on 10 percent of a $15,000 bond after being charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder.

He pleaded not guilty at his arraignment Friday before 35th District Judge John E. MacDonald.

Seized from a gun case in Seguin's bedroom were weapons, including the machine gun, and a large quantity of a powdery white substance currently

Guess who came to Canton

Allen Ginsberg, radical poet of the 1960s, gave a lecture to high school students at Centennial Educational Park Friday. He said it was a bus ride to San Francisco to visit Neil Cassady's widow after the 1968 Democratic convention that inspired him to set music to his poetry.

Running through his head was this line from a William Blake poem: "Vain the sword, vain the bow, never could work war's overthrow." The syllables rising and falling in pitch suggested notes, Ginsberg told his audience. For more on Ginsberg, turn to Page 5B.

Smile, Canton — assessments aren't rising

Taxpayers may appeal by mail

By Diane Gale
staff writer

There's lots of good news for Canton Township taxpayers.

This year marks the first chance Canton Township residents may appeal their property tax assessments by mail. Glenn Shaw Jr., township assessor, also reports that residential assessments either fell or stayed the same.

In the past, only Canton homeowners who lived in other communities were offered the convenience of appealing by mail.

"I thought the situation was unfair to homeowners who believed their assessments were not right, and had to take time off of work to make their appeal," Shaw said. "I've always thought if an out-of-town person could file by mail, the resident should be able to also." The Canton Township Board of Trustees unanimously passed a resolution Jan. 8 allowing residents to appeal by mail.

Canton residents who think the assessment is wrong can now write a let-

Sgt. Laura Golles traded the excitement of patrol duty for managerial tasks when she accepted her promotion. Now, most of her time is spent in the Canton Township Police Department making sure that all goes well during the afternoon shift.

Rising in rank

Canton names first woman sergeant

By Diane Gale
staff writer

When a patrol officer is promoted in rank it's considered an accomplishment, but when Laura Golles of the Canton Township Police Department marched into the management echelon it marked an additional milestone.

In a profession dominated by men, Golles — a 26-year-old who came to the force when she was 21 — was promoted from officer to sergeant in late December. She became the first woman to rise above patrol rank in the department of 31.

There are only two other women on the force — officers Kathy Petres and Karen Paulun. Golles — who describes police work as 95-percent boredom and 5-percent terror — earned the promotion by patrol performance and scoring high on written as well as oral examinations.

"I'm very proud of getting the promotion, and I've worked hard," she said. "But, I'm not going to quit here."

Along with taking the position, Golles had to forfeit the patrol duty she "loves" for directive tasks and paper work. As sergeant, Golles said she's responsible for everyone and everything that happens on the afternoon shift.

Canton Sgt. Laura Golles describes police work as "95 percent boredom and 5 percent terror."

GOLLES SAID her gender has played an unimportant role during her transition in ranks.

"I don't think being a woman has anything to do with the way the officers respond to you," she said. "Initially it did make a difference, but not now."

"Everyone has to prove themselves — whether you're male or female — and once they know you're going to back them up on the street it doesn't matter what sex you are," Golles said. "I don't feel animosity in the department, now, based on the fact that I'm a woman."

Reactions from people she's come in contact with on patrol have on occasion been less receptive.

"Sometimes they're surprised when they see a female respond to certain types of runs, like a bar fight or a B & E (breaking and entering) in progress," she said. "There's no animosity, but sometimes they want to see a man respond."

"Both male and female officers are going to come across suspects who are bigger than they are, and most females aren't as big as most men," Golles said. "So, to avoid confrontation most female officers tend to rationalize with a suspect who is becoming violent for a longer period of time than a male officer."

THE WESTLAND RESIDENT talks about high standards when describing an effective police officer.

Township employees reap 6-percent salary increase

Salaries for all non-union Canton Township employees are rising 6 percent.

The padded paychecks — retroactive to Jan. 1, 1985 — were approved unanimously by the Canton Township Board of Trustees at its Feb. 5 meeting.

The raises will bring township salaries in line with those of non-union employees in other municipalities, according to Dan Durack, township personnel director.

Increases were awarded as follows: Mike Gorman, finance director, from $37,620 to $39,877; Mel Paulun, fire chief, from $34,900 to $36,994; Mike Gouin, parks and recreation supervisor, from $32,808 to $34,776; Aaron Machnik, building official, from $32,752 to $34,717; John Dingledey, Department of Public Works superintendent, from $32,692 to $34,654; and Durack, from $32,808 to $34,776.

Other increases went to Joe Teramino, DPW foreman, from $27,300 to $28,938; Gary Barnett, inventory control supervisor, from $25,700 to $27,242; Bob Dates, recreation supervisor, from $24,178 to $25,629; and Tim McCurley, deputy finance director, from $24,100 to $25,546.

Hearings help decide special education rules

By Kathy Parrish
staff writer

Proposed changes in Michigan's special education rules are being debated around the state by parents, teachers and administrators.

Two weeks of well-attended public hearings will wrap up Monday, Feb. 18 in Oakland Schools Kiva, 2100 Pontiac Lake Road, Pontiac. The sessions, 4-6 p.m. and 7-9 p.m., were requested by Oakland Schools because there is such an interest in Oakland County in the changes.

Other hearings were held in East Lansing, Kalamazoo, Wayne, Traverse City and Marquette.

"WE'RE EXPECTING an overwhelming response," said Carol Gardner, director of special education for the Oakland Intermediate School District.

There is concern about the potential effect on youngsters as well as increased program costs.

The state Board of Education is considering revising 62 special education administrative rules and eliminating five rules.

In addition, a dozen new rules are being proposed. Included are proposals for resource rooms to serve students who need to be in special education half a day or less, revisions in procedures for due process hearings and investigations of parent complaints.

There is widespread concern that giving "resource rooms" official approval would mean hiring more aides for the programs and upgrading teachers who would be required to have special certification in two instead of one special education area.

Believes much of the controversy stems from concern that the resource rooms and new severely impaired program would be required.

"Under the old rules, there wasn't much flexibility to move kids," he explained. "We're not doing away with those programs, just allowing more options."

Gardner said many parents are worried about the effect of consolidating programs. They are concerned that their youngsters might not receive as much attention under the new program.

OTHER ISSUES to be discussed include:

- Teacher training requirements which could mean more education for special education teachers. "It's safe to say some people will be going back to school," said Herbert.
- Intermediate school districts

Helping senior citizens buy heat

Financial help is available for low-income families having a hard time paying their heat bill.

The Wayne-Metropolitan Community Services Agency, a non-profit community action agency serving low-income citizens in Wayne County outside of the City of Detroit, has started the Targeted Fuel Assistance Program.

The federally funded program is administered by the Michigan Department of Labor's bureau of community services.

The assistance program will provide up to $200 in fuel assistance payments to high-income households with high heating costs in relation to income.

Households needing assistance may apply for the one-time assistance payments on a first-come basis.

To apply, proof of the following must be shown:

- Household income for the past three months.
- Utility bill and account number.

ments can be made by calling Lucille McKinney at 453-5464.

Clients must present all required documentation before their application is taken.

The Targeted Fuel Assistance Program is expected to operate until funds are exhausted or until March 31, whichever occurs first.

The Plymouth Salvation Army site serves the townships of Plymouth, Canton, and Northville, and the cities of Plymouth and Northville.

Duane and Sheryl Winquist of Plymouth share a kiss after being pronounced man and wife Thursday at 35th District Court.

Just married, Diane and James Paddock leave Magistrate Wiland's office at the 35th District Court.

Jane Helmer and Don Dickman share a special moment during their Valentine's Day wedding performed by Magistrate George Wiland.

Valentine's sweethearts

3 couples wed at court offices

VALENTINE'S DAY was a busy one for Magistrate George Wiland as he helped tie the knot for four couples.

"I feel more like Marryin' Sam," he quipped after the last vows were exchanged.

The four weddings offered quite a contrast — the attire of the couples varying from T-shirt and Levis to full tuxedo and gown. Among the marrying couples were:

• Don Dickman and Jane Helmer, both of Canton. The witnesses were George and Aurie (Don's first wife) Webb with proud father Jack Helmer acting as photographer.

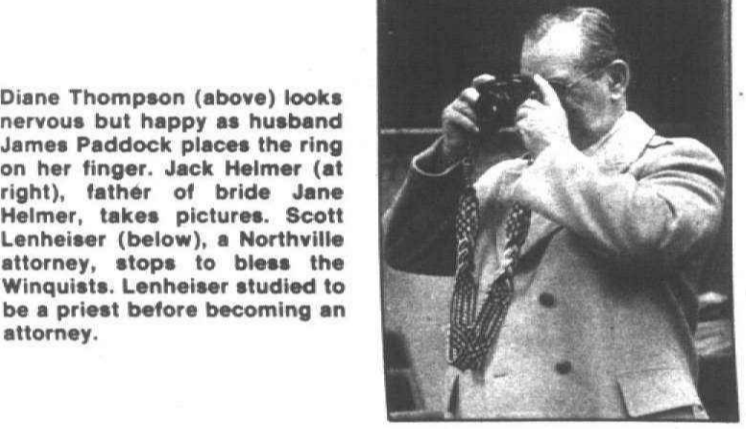

• Duane Winquist and Sheryl Sowles, both of Plymouth. Duane is a hockey coach, leading last year's Hockey Midget A team (Super 6 Tire) to a state championship — prompting Sheryl to quip, "Our relationship has been on ice since day one."

• James Paddock and Diane Thompson who were going to wait for summer to get married but decided Feb. 14 would be just fine after all. Their plans after the wedding? The new Paddock family were going to go out to dinner that evening, and maybe go bowling in the afternoon.

• For two of the couples, the marriages meant instant families. Thompson's son, Michael, was in court sporting a stylish Michael Jackson glove while Paddock has two children, Michelle and Ronald. Winquist has three children — Matt, Josh and Sarah.

Here's hoping a smiling Lady Luck is still around

One of the most interesting things to watch these days is the methods the younger generation uses to get a foothold in the workaday world that is torn between paying athletes one million dollars a year and closing places so that the ranks of the unemployed swell.

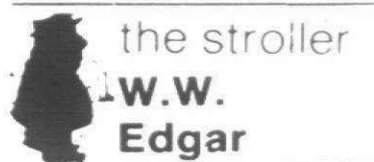

The Stroller is interested in their plight because there was a time when he was in the same position — struggling to help keep the wolf from the door.

It was back in the days when World War I came to an end and he was left without a job and a chance to help feed his widowed mother and four sisters.

He had learned the machinist trade and fared well during the war. When the armistice knocked the bottom out of the working ranks.

FOR A time he was saved because a friend of his mother got him a job at the Mack Motor Company, helping to build Mack Trucks. But it was not to his liking and far from being a permanent job.

Then came the break and a smile from Lady Luck. He paid a visit to the little newspaper plant at home. To get him out of the way on publication day, they asked him to write a little bit for the paper. He did it. It was here that the journalistic bug bit him and he has been with it ever since.

Now among his acquaintances are two young fellows who are vainly trying to get a foothold in the world.

But they are using different methods. The older of the two worked his way through college. But now he finds that his degree is just a fancy piece of paper. There are few jobs in his line, which is finances.

SO TO get a foothold he has taken two small jobs. One is clerking in a stationery store in the daytime. In the evening he clerks at another store. He has little time to himself, but explains that he is saving to buy an automobile.

The other young lad has used a different program. After leaving high school he found a job clerking in one of the business places. Sure, he bought an automobile — just for show. But that didn't last. He knew he needed more of an education.

So he saved his money until he had what he figures is enough to carry him through a two-year period in college.

Now he is at his studies and tells you that he is preparing for a position that should be available in that period. He wants to use the time in that fashion instead of looking for work. And he is a good student.

TO THEIR credit neither of the boys have asked the family for help. They have cut lawns, worked on the greens at the golf courses, even as stock boys in some of the larger business places. But they never were a burden on the family — except to ask for a place to sleep.

Now they are in a serious program that is bound to pay probably rich dividends. Neither is an athlete and available for the high salaries in the sports world.

But they are bound to win and here's hoping they get a smile from Lady Luck — the same kind of a smile that launched The Stroller on his travels along the journalistic path.

Township bosses share responsibility

In that "evaluation, training and career development programs" were inadequate. Is this not a criticism of the township administration as well as the police department?

As a resident for only 1 1/2 years, and like the greatest portion of the population of the township, there has been no personal involvement with the police department. Consequently, there is no personal basis for an effectiveness evaluation of the police department.

However, wouldn't it be to the benefit of the citizens of Canton for the existing officers and managerial levels, including now ex-chief Cox, to be properly trained in order to perform their duties in a professional manner?

Yes, it is my opinion the police committee should conduct their meetings in an "open to the public" atmosphere. The citizens are financially supporting the police and the committee, and have every right to full disclosure of what is transpiring in the police committee meetings.

At the same time, "dedicate personnel" and "possibly embarrassing" personal matters should be resolved in private committee meetings with the favorable resolutions made public.

Cops' close encounters of a strange kind

being analyzed by Michigan State Police.

Dearborn police expect to seek a warrant Tuesday after receiving State Police test results.

Seguin, who is unemployed, had been sought by Livonia and Canton police in connection with charges filed by his estranged girlfriend, former Plymouth resident Nicole Cooper, 20.

Cooper of Washington Township, Mich., was hospitalized Feb. 1 after sustaining internal injuries, facial and head wounds, and lacerations and a possible fracture of the hand at a friend's house on Stark Road in Livonia, according to Livonia officer Anne Dempsey of the detective bureau.

Assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder is a felony carrying a 10-year prison term and/or a fine.

Seguin of 8502 Honeytree was arraigned in Plymouth Township's 35th District Court because Livonia's 16th District judges were unavailable. A preliminary exam is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. March 14 in 14th District Court.

The other persons in Seguin's apartment were arrested but not charged as of Friday.

NO DISCIPLINARY action will be taken as a result of the mix-up involving the Smiths, Connolly said, because the incident was accidental. The Smiths' door was ajar and Seguin's car was parked nearby.

"The officers went back and apologized after the incident," he said. "They're sorry it happened. But when your dealing with people you suspect

It is the desire and the right of every Canton citizen to feel protected by a professional police organization. It is my opinion that it is the responsibility of the township administration to provide a police department of that competence.

He opposes abortion editorial

An interesting phenomenon is unfolding these days. During the past three months or so, as debate on the abortion issue has grown more heated, at least four newspapers have run editorial cartoons on the subject, each bearing a remarkable similarity in theme and position on the issue.

The Observer of Feb. 7 ran a cartoon of this type. In all of these, a group of smug, holier-than-thou types identified as pro-lifers are depicted marching in a pro-life demonstration while tossing off a callous, sanctimonious comment at some poor wail, or group of wails who, as least in the editorial cartoonist's mind, could have been delivered from poverty by the simple expedient of abortion.

But alas, the narrow-minded, Victorian, head-in-the-clouds pro-lifers — in short, those smug, middle class, Puritanical prigs — have prevented the poor children from experiencing that delightfully painless alternative.

It's strange isn't it? The pro-choice advocates (who, by the way, are invariably portrayed in favorable editorials and editorial cartoons as sensitive, compassionate, level-headed people who are in touch with life in all of its beauty and complexity) are fond of stressing that life is not fraught with clearcut, black or white moral issues, as those no-good pro-lifers would have us believe. No, life is complex, life is complicated, there are gray areas, they say. We must be open-minded. Yet when it comes to the abortion issue, the pro-choicers have no qualms at all about portraying themselves as the forces of sweetness and light, and the

They're forgetting someone

This patent dishonesty, which pervades the Observer's recent cartoon, is of a piece with Sandra Armbruster's cliché-ridden essay. Here, all the old, tired liberal arguments for abortion rights are trotted out and run through their paces again for the benefit of the glibly pro-lifers don't care about the poor, the movement is made up of comfortable, middle-class Miss Grundys, and blah, blah, blah. If Ms. Armbruster would get her head out of the sand and stop yowling at her "enemies" for a minute, she would see that the pro-life people are not only recognizably human, but that they're deeply interested in helping poor mothers through counseling, volunteer work of nearly every description, and other ways. Even that Paragon of Evil, Dr. Jerry Falwell, pilots an extensive program to show women that there is a moral and financial alternative to abortion.

Ms. Armbruster concludes her smug editorial with the words, "It's time pro-lifers put their money where their morals are." I daresay most pro-lifers are much more willing to do this than she could ever imagine. Considering that their tax monies help fund Medicaid abortions — this despite the wide claim that abortion is a matter of choice for everyone — the pro-lifers would love to put their money where their morals are. They believe, Ms. Armbruster, that for some 11 years they've been putting their money where your morals are.

Realtors, Bar hold seminar

Oakland County Bar Association's real estate committee has scheduled an attorney/realtor crossover for 7-10 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 28, in the Birmingham Community House.

Attorneys and members of the Realtor Board will face-off on selected topics with audience participation encouraged.

Topics will include warranties vs. "as is" and disclaimers in the sale of real estate; sale of condominium and cooperatives; handling default of the purchase agreement; real estate malpractice pitfalls; complications of adjustable rate mortgages; and use of land contracts, purchase money mortgages and second mortgages.

Open to the public, the seminar is $7.50 with a cash bar. To make reservations, call the bar office at 338-2100 or 398-3937.

"It will be our job to help plug those areas where the fraud occurred so that it will not happen again."

Together, we can change things.

Back Talk... Headache Cause May be Pinched Nerve

According to a report issued by the N.Y. Journal of Medicine, the cause of headaches in over 90% of 2,000 patients studied was a mechanical irritation of the nerves that exist between the bones of the neck. The report states that "direct injury to the neck may be caused by a blow or fall" that could easily irritate delicate spinal nerves.

American Weekly Magazine informed readers, "Headaches strike 18,000,000 Americans on a regular basis, each day some 21 tons of aspirin are consumed in the attempt to gain relief."

Modern chiropractic treatment seeks to eliminate this irritation of spinal nerves and produce effective relief of neck tension and headaches.

Local cable TV down for week

While other departments will be open four days this week, Omnicon's programming department will be closed the entire week.

Because Feb. 18 is an observed holiday for Omnicon, all departments will be closed on Monday, Tuesday through Friday the other departments will be open for business while programming will remain closed for its twice annual in-house training and maintenance week.

The shutdown means there will be no airing of regular programming on Channels 8 and 15 and other community access channels, added Skubick. Omnicon's "Family Home Theater" also will be suspended for this week. Regular programming will resume Monday, Feb. 25.

"Subscribers are welcome to call us with any questions or to set up taping arrangements for future dates during our shutdown week as long as they call during business hours.

"It is necessary for us to occasionally shut down our operations to conduct much-needed maintenance of equipment and work on our production skills with in-house training sessions," added Skubick.

"I hope our subscribers understand. We will be back to normal by next week."

China is travel series next stop

China is the country visited in this week's travelogue series sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation.

The travelogue will begin at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School on Joy just west of Canton Center Road. The cost of admission, at the door, is $3.50 per person.

The Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation is the tax-exempt fund-raising arm of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club and Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth.

THE NARRATOR for the film is Raphael Green who has the distinction of having traveled in both Outer Mongolia (under Russian control) and in Inner Mongolia (part of China).

Green has seen more of the Russian empire than most Russians, having many times cross-crossed the Soviet Union for more than 22,000 miles from Leningrad in the west to Vladivostok in the east.

Green went to Siberia and, unlike many, managed to return with his film — despite a near-crash landing of an Ilyushin jet at Novosibirsk.

He once had the unusual privilege of dining with the mayor of Peking in the former Imperial Palace of the Forbidden City and has traveled with a tour group from the Field Museum of Chicago.

AS A result, Green has produced the first travelogue on China by an American since China became Communist.

Later President Truman incorporated these reparations reports into the Japanese Peace Treaty. In all Green has produced 14 travel films and has been in film work for 25 years. His travel film on China includes scenes of lakes, temples and palaces, which long were the private playgrounds of China's emperors at the Summer Palace.

HAPPY NEW YEAR CHINESE STYLE Greet Year of the OX with Inspiring Chicken Dishes

4683, in the ancient Chinese lunar calendar is the Year of the Ox. The Year of the Ox, which begins Wednesday, February 20, follows the Oriental tradition of naming the years after constellations of the Zodiac in 12-year cycles.

The Chinese say that those born in the Year of the Ox (1901, 1913, 1925, 1937, 1949, 1961, 1973, 1985) are achievers, patient, hard-working, self-sacrificing and inspire confidence. Ox people are usually able to control their own destiny and often regulate the fates of others.

Ox people are known to be sore losers and are stubborn but have alert minds and bodies.

Being talented in the arts, it's no surprise that many entertainment celebrities were born in Ox years. The list includes such notables as Gary Cooper, Walt Disney, Johnny Carson, Jane Fonda, Bill Cosby and Jack Nicholson.

For the rest of us, Ox years promise prosperity to those who take their work seriously.

Sweet & Sour Chicken, created especially for welcoming Chinese New Year, is a savory dish featuring chicken breasts and an array of colorful vegetables laced with a tasty sauce.

ORIENTAL FOODS CELEBRATE ANCIENT HOLIDAY

Whatever the new year is expected to bring, the Chinese celebrate it with a feast. The house is decorated with oranges, which symbolize abundance, and narcissus, for good fortune. Families exchange gifts, visit friends and enjoy delicious eating.

You can join the festivities and welcome Chinese New Year with your own celebration, centering it around an Oriental dinner. In honor of the holiday, Oriental food experts of La Choy Products have created two chicken entrees prepared Chinese style that you can easily duplicate in your own kitchen.

Sweet & Sour Walnut Chicken is a savory dish of chicken pieces and a colorful mixture of vegetables including green onions, red pepper, and Chinese pea pods blended with sweet & sour sauce.

Mandarin Chicken is another entree selection sure to bring smiles to your Chinese dinner table. Serve the chicken over canned fried rice, readily available at supermarkets. If desired, garnish rice with shredded carrots and omelet shreds. Accompany with an eye and palate pleasing stir-fried vegetable medley.

Complement the entrees with delicious egg rolls, available frozen, ready to heat and enjoy. A variety of sauces such as soy, sweet & sour and Chinese hot mustard are ideal for dipping.

SWEET AND SOUR WALNUT CHICKEN

(4-6 Servings)

- 2 whole chicken breasts, split in half, skinned and boned
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/3 cup vegetable or peanut oil
- 1 red bell pepper, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 2 green onions, sliced
- 1 package (6 oz.) frozen Chinese Pea Pods
- 1 jar (10 oz.) Sweet and Sour Sauce
- 1 cup tightly packed shredded romaine lettuce
- 1 cup walnuts
- Hot cooked rice

Cut chicken into pieces approximately 1-inch square. Place in mixing bowl and add cornstarch. Blend well.

Heat oil in wok or large skillet. Add chicken. Cook over high heat, stirring constantly, for about 3 minutes. Add green onions and red pepper. Cook an additional 5 minutes. Add pea pods and sweet and sour sauce. Cook until heated through. Stir in romaine and walnuts. Serve with hot rice.

MANDARIN CHICKEN WITH FRIED RICE

(6 Servings)

- 2-1/2 to 3 pound chicken, cut into serving pieces
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 can (11 oz.) mandarin oranges in light syrup
- 1/2 cup beef broth
- 1 tablespoon Soy Sauce
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon minced fresh ginger or pinch prepared ginger
- 1/2 cup heavy or whipping cream
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 can (11 oz.) Fried Rice

Rub chicken pieces with salt and pepper. Heat oil in large skillet. Add chicken and fry until golden on all sides, about 10 minutes.

Drain mandarin oranges, reserving 1/4 cup syrup. Add reserved syrup, beef broth, garlic and ginger to skillet. Cover and simmer 35 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove from skillet and keep warm.

Blend cream and cornstarch. Add to skillet and heat and stir until sauce has thickened.

Prepare fried rice according to label directions. Garnish, if desired, with shredded carrot and omelet shreds. Place on large serving dish; serve with chicken, mandarin oranges and sauce.

STIR-FRIED VEGETABLE MEDLEY

(4-6 Servings)

- 2 tablespoons oil
- 1 teaspoon minced fresh ginger or 1/4 teaspoon prepared ginger
- 1 pound shredded Chinese cabbage (bok choy), celery cabbage or green cabbage
- 1 can (14 oz.) Bean Sprouts, drained
- 1/3 cup Water Chestnuts, drained, sliced
- 1 tablespoon Soy Sauce
- 1 tablespoon dry sherry

Heat oil in wok or large skillet. Add ginger and cook over high heat, stirring constantly, for 1 minute. Add cabbage and continue cooking, stirring constantly, for 1 minute. Add bean sprouts, water chestnuts, soy sauce and sherry. Heat through and serve.

Gather round with warm bread you made yourself

The cold weather draws families and groups of friends inside, to watch television, play games or just converse. Informal gatherings are frequent and snacks are bound to make an appearance.

Often the most popular snacks are those that are homemade and they don't take a long time to fix, even if it involves baking.

A batch of fresh, savory bread sticks, for example, can be produced in less than 90 minutes with new Fleischmann's RapidRise Yeast.

Speaking of baking, consumers with questions about making bread can now call a toll-free number for answers. The number is 1-800-932-7800, and it can be reached Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

SAVORY BREAD STICKS
Makes 2 dozen bread sticks

3 cups all-purpose flour
1 1/2 tsp. sugar
1 1/2 tsp. dried parsley flakes
2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. celery seed
1 tsp. dried tarragon leaves, crushed

1 pkg. Fleischmann's RapidRise Yeast
1 cup water
2 tbsp. margarine
1 egg, white
1 tsp. white
4 tsp. sesame seed, poppy seed or coarse salt

Set aside 1 cup flour. In large bowl, mix remaining flour, sugar, parsley, yeast, celery seed, tarragon and yeast. Heat water and margarine until hot to touch (125 to 130 degrees); stir into dry mixture. Mix in enough reserved flour to make soft dough. On lightly floured surface, knead until smooth and elastic; about 5 to 8 minutes. Cover; let rest 10 minutes.

Divide dough into 4 equal pieces; divide each piece in 6 pieces. Roll each piece into an 8-inch rope; place on greased baking sheets. Cover; let rise in warm draft-free place 15 minutes.

Combine egg white and water; brush on bread sticks. Sprinkle with sesame seed, poppy seed or coarse salt. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks.

Caviar spells real elegance

Despite my Russian blood line, I've only sampled caviar several times. Frankly, I doubt that it was the expensive kind, such as Petrossian at about $370 a pound.

I hear caviar prices are down, but Beluga still costs around $300 per pound. Then there's Sevruka caviar at the bargain price of $190 a pound.

Caviar, I had believed, was more attitude than a culinary experience. My family doesn't like the idea of eating fish eggs; my stepson prefers mock caviar featuring eggplant.

At the majority of posh functions, you'll find caviar, perhaps resting on ice in a fancy crystal bowl, the center of attraction. That's because caviar spells e-l-e-g-a-n-c-e.

I recently sprung for a two-ounce jar of Icelandic caviar to see if it really tasted good. I made toast points, burning a thumb on the cookie sheet, and spread on the black lumpfish. I used sweet butter to cut down on the always-salty caviar and was richly rewarded.

But the baked potato took the cake. Caviar replaced the usual sprinkling of salt and pepper. Again, I used sweet butter and left off the sour cream. It was delicious.

I might even spring for the $16 a pound for my next party. Who has to know it's Icelandic. I'll act Beluga.

CAVIAR CANAPES
3 slices sandwich bread, crusts removed and quartered
2 tbsp. sweet butter, melted
1 heaping tbs. caviar

Brush one side of bread with butter and broil 3 to 4 inches from heat source briefly to golden brown. Spread caviar on untoasted sides. Yields 12 canapes.

CAVIARED BAKED POTATOES
2 baked potatoes
2 tbs. sweet butter
3 tsp. caviar

Make cross in hot potatoes; push together at long ends; rub butter along flesh until it melts and spread on caviar.

EGGPLANT CAVIAR
1 medium unpeeled eggplant, boiled until tender
1 onion, minced
1 garlic clove, mashed
1 tomato, chopped and drained
1 tsp. sugar
2 tbs. vinegar
3 tbs. olive oil or 1/2 cup oil
Salt and black pepper to taste

Peel cooked eggplant, finely chop, mix well with rest of ingredients and chill. Yields 3 cups. Spread on buttered slices of cocktail rye bread.

Suburban Life

Ellie Graham editor/459-2700

Monday, February 18, 1985 O&E

Ellie Graham

FIRST ROBIN of the season was reported by Barbara and Jim McKelvey who live on Brookside, just a block from Sheldon Road in Plymouth Township.

Jim made the first sighting Monday, Feb. 11. "Come quick, look in the maple tree," he called to Barbara. Sure enough, there was a robin.

The next day, there were two in their yard. "You can't mistake their call," Barbara said. Bird watchers say some robins stay around all winter. I've never seen a winter robin. Hopefully, these arrived from warmer climes with the promise that spring is on its way.

BIRD FEEDERS have been popular gathering places during this period of extended snowfalls. The birds and the squirrels put on a better show than anything on television.

Peanuts in the shell do keep the squirrels away from the bird feeders. There's always one that tries to intimidate the others and keep all the peanuts to himself. He'll start out shelling and eating the nuts on the ground. When another squirrel appears, he'll chase him away, and eat from a vantage point in a tree. Then, as more squirrels discover the nuts, he'll try to chase, eat and bury all at the same time.

He puts the nuts in the snow and tries to smooth the surface to hide the spot.

One young squirrel actually tried to tunnel his way under the snow to the peanuts. Every once in a while he'd stick his head out, all covered with snow, to see where he was.

There was a clumsy mourning dove that alit on the roof of a feeder and kept sliding off. Staying on the roof became more important than eating and that neat, well-tailored dove was like a Laurence Olivier doing slapstick comedy.

The bluejays compete with the squirrels for the peanuts. I can't figure out how they can sit on a branch, crack the shell, and get the nuts without dropping them on the ground. It's easy for the squirrels, who use their paws.

One day I put some dried-up, leftover macaroni and cheese with the peanuts and sunflower seeds. The starlings just about went out of their minds. They loved my gourmet macaroni and cheese.

The juncos, finches and cardinals seem more self-contained and well-adjusted — no personality problems such as greed and jealousy.

And some day, I hope to be able to identify the different kinds of sparrows. They're really nice little birds. It seems the other birds rely on them to point out the feeding places.

THREE LOCAL SHOPS are taking part in a bridal show Wednesday, hosted by Eastern Michigan University. "Creating an Heirloom" will be at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Hoyt Conference Center on the EMU campus.

Something More of Canton will feature wedding fashions. Q&D Bush Jewelers and the Engraving Connection, both of Plymouth, will have displays in the show.

The grand prize will be a four-day, three-night honeymoon on St. Thomas Island in the Caribbean. Admission to the show is $1. For information call McKenny Union, 487-1157.

PETER PAN, Wendy, the boys, Captain Hook and all those wonderful characters are coming to town. The Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women has selected the Barry classic for its 1985 children's drama.

Show dates are March 6-9 in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School. Group night will be 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 6. Scouts and other groups interested in attending should call 349-0832 for information. Curtain time will be 7:30 p.m. for Thursday and Friday performances, and 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. on Saturday.

All seats are $1.25. Mail orders must be postmarked no later than Feb. 22 and must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope, a home phone number and cash or checks made out to Plymouth AAUW Mail to Play tickets, 14720 Thornridge, Plymouth 48170. Tickets will be on sale in the schools the last week of the month.

Play's message gets through

Performances of the Farmington Players production of "You Can't Take It With You" continue Thursday-Saturday at the playhouse in Farmington Hills. For ticket information, call the box office at 628-5061.

he has spent his time doing what he enjoys, which includes collecting snakes, attending college commencements and ignoring mail from the tax collector. With but one exception the other members of the household also spend their lives doing whatever makes them happy.

Barbara Michals

By Barbara Michals
special writer

"You Can't Take It With You," as presented by the Farmington Players, seems less madcap than usual, but the message of the play stands out more clearly as a result.

That message, the proverbial "take time out to smell the flowers," seems as important today as when this Moss Hart-George S. Kaufman comedy debuted in the 1930s.

The unusual doings in Grandpa Vanderhoff's home have made the play's title idiomatic for zany chaos. Grandpa (Bob McWeeny) decided to drop out of the rat race 35 years ago. Since then, GRANDDAUGHTER Alice (Tina Vienneuve), is in contrast to the rest of the family by choosing to hold a steady secretarial job. When she falls in love with the boss' son (Bob Locks), Alice knows it will be almost impossible for the very proper Kirby family to understand her strange household.

The formally attired Mr. and Mrs. Kirby (Dick Coe and Kathleen Monticello) arrive for dinner on the wrong night and are at first horrified by the chaotic lives of the Vanderhoff clan. Eventually, though, Grandpa helps them see that the pursuit of happiness is more important than material gains.

In general, the performers are competent, but the comic potential of the characters is vastly underplayed. Mom Arvo makes the most of her small part as a Russian Grand Dutchess cooking blintzes in the kitchen, and Coe and Monticello as the Kirbys are properly stodgy without overdoing it.

Vienneuve, in her role of Alice, and Robert Myers, as Paul, husband of Alice's mother Penny, both could use more animation. Erik Carlson's goiterness, as the housekeeper's boyfriend Donald, is cumbersome.

DIRECTOR Joe Doehler has chosen to present a rather laid-back "You Can't Take It With You." The slower pacing makes it easier to understand Alice's devotion to her unusual family.

Fighting city hall has winning ways in film 'Turk 182'

"Turk 182" is a pretty slick comedy that should entertain all and offend none, except politicians and they deserve what they get. But it's all in good fun and even the wily but errant politician, New York Mayor Tyler (Robert Culp), laughs at his own political demise and surrenders gracefully, with just a hint of "I shall return."

It all starts when off-duty New York fireman Terry Lynch (Robert Urich) is injured saving a young girl from a burning building. He's invaded out of the service. Unfortunately, his heroism was off duty and under the influence of a few beers. The bureaucracy rules, therefore, that he is not eligible for a pension.

Enter aimless young brother, Jimmy (Timothy Hutton), who takes up the cudgel on his brother's behalf and becomes a mysterious crusader known only as "Turk 182." Jimmy attacks the bureaucrats — first by nicely requesting justice, and then where they live, in the public-opinion polls.

IT DOESN'T TAKE long for Jimmy to learn that asking nicely won't make Mayor-Tyler reverse the City Pension Department ruling. Even Terry's engaging young caseworker, lovely Danny Boudreau (Kim Cattrall), is helpless against the faceless bureaucracy. Of course, she is winsome and lovable, Jimmy falls and she reciprocates.

Meanwhile, Mayor Tyler has his own problems with the bureaucracy and certainly won't reverse the pension ruling just because Jimmy asks politely. Mayor Tyler has to cope with the news that one of his political appointees left for Brazil under indictment. Well, you can imagine what kind of headlines that causes. "Zimmerman Flew and Tyler Knew" — terrific during an election campaign.

Tyler's political opposition, though undefeatable, seems largely composed of kids and street people in sharp contrast to His Honor's slick, tuxedoed appearance, reminiscent of Mayor John Lindsay.

The "little people" vs. the establishment, effectively underplayed, but played nonetheless, adds to "Turk 182's" appeal. Not only is the battle for Terry's pension the lone individual struggling against the bureaucracy, but the street-people graffiti campaign against Mayor Tyler has the same flavor — little folks expressing resentment against the swells. Tweaking the nose of authority is always fun and "Turk 182" has the good grace to do so in a benign and pleasant way, without bitterness.

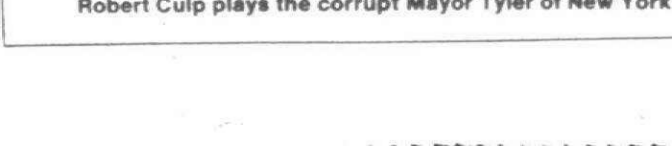

AND IF MAYOR Tyler thought the street people were good at political graffiti, wait till he sees what young Jimmy can do once his dander is up. The restraint and good humor with which Director Bob Clark beats the establishment on the head is a major plus for the film — it is a good-hearted comedy highlighted by some nice performances.

Timothy Hutton is convincingly at loose ends and unsure of himself until something really matters, his big brother needs his talent and his help. Big brother, as played by Robert Urich, is affectionately gruff and tough but tender when needed.

There are also a couple of nice cameo roles: Peter Boyle as Detective Lt. Ryan who can do no right, no matter how hard he tries, and Darren McGavin as disheveled, rumpled, kindly, intelligent Detective Kowalski, the maverick brought in to solve the case when Boyle and Company continue to fail flat on their faces.

Robert Culp is debonair as the besieged Mayor Tyler while Paul Sorvino appears as himself, as does the Giants' Meadowlands Stadium.

All the film crafts and techniques are equally well done, making "Turk 182" a pleasant, romantic comedy.

Robert Culp plays the corrupt Mayor Tyler of New York.

Students of the 1980s meet radical of the '60s

By Elinor Graham
staff writer

Allen Ginsberg, radical poet of the 1960s, gave his first lecture to a group of high school students Friday. Seated on the stage of Plymouth Canton High School's Little Theatre, a greying Ginsberg addressed an audience of English students and visitors.

He answered questions, recited poetry and sang to his own accompaniment on a "squeeze box," and instructed his audience on the art of meditation.

Ginsberg was in the area for a poetry reading at the Detroit Institute of Arts. Rob McKercher, 1984 graduate of Plymouth Canton High and a student at Schoolcraft College, arranged Ginsberg's appearance. He talked to Barbara Masters, English teacher at the school, who received permission from her principal, Kent Buikema, to invite Ginsberg.

McKercher then made arrangements for the poet's visit. Buikema's relief after the lecture was obvious. Ginsberg's behavior and language — were irreplicable. Students needed parental permission to attend the lecture. As the news of his coming spread, many parents telephoned Buikema to voice their vehement disapproval.

"BE A GOD-LIKE observer with a sense of humor," Ginsberg said. Poetry and meditation go hand-in-hand, he said.

THE STUDENTS had done their homework. Their questions were pertinent.

They asked him about his history of drug involvement and does he still use drugs.

"Are drugs good for exploring with an open mind?" questioned a student. Ginsberg told them meditation was a much better method.

He invited them to join in an experiment in meditation. "Sit on the edge of your seat, sit straight, hang from the tree of your spine. The spine supports your body instead of your muscles. Relax your belly, shoulders, arms. Put your hands on your knees."

"Keep your mouth closed, tongue on the roof of your mouth so saliva won't form. Relax your optical field, rest your eyes in the middle distance. Pay attention to your out-breath. Follow it from the tip of your nose to where it dissolves. Ignore the in-breath, don't control your breathing."

He said meditation is helpful in cutting through thoughts. "Take a friendly attitude toward your thoughts, become a gentle observer, not tricked by your own mind. Like a stainless steel, your mind is open and awake, not governed by greed and lust."

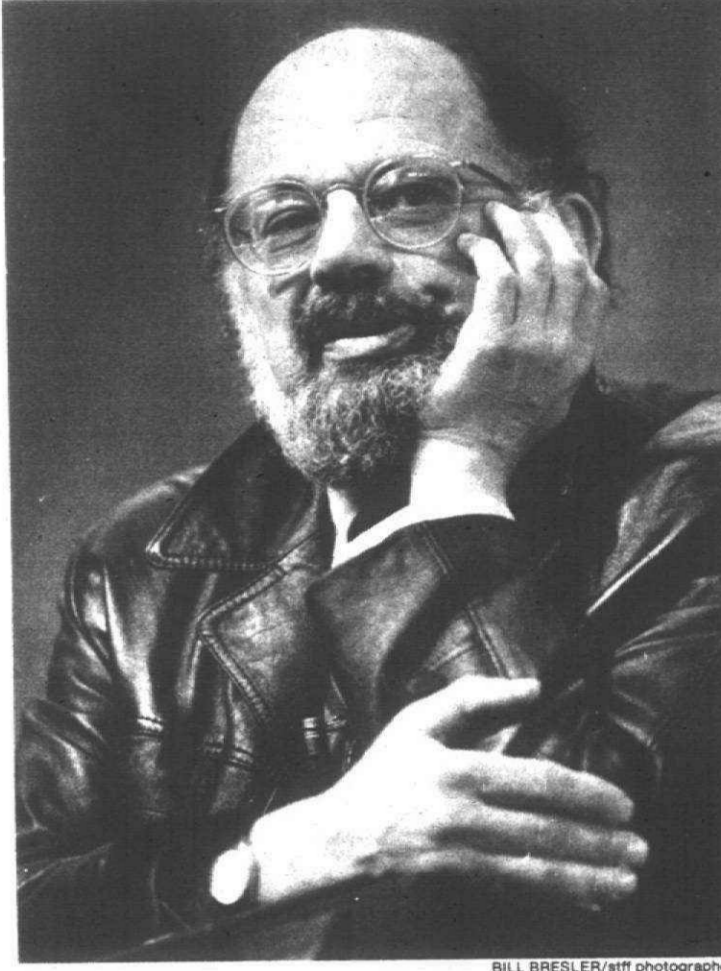

He discovered, by a showing of hands, that the majority of the students in the audience was unfamiliar with "Ode to the West Wind," you can get high on it. It's exalted rock and roll. The rhythm is unobstructed in some Shakespeare passages, some Walt Whitman.

HE WAS ASKED why he was so explicit in some of his poems. Ginsberg responded that he was being candid. "Candor cuts down on public paranoia. Poetry is a laser beam that clears the air of paranoia."

His advice to young writers and poets was, "Don't stop to think of words, paint the picture. The first visual flash is the best. Labor well with minute particulars. Generalizations and abstractions are the plea of the scoundrel. Have respect for the spontaneous."

He took his audience through the history of poetry, from the chanting and dance of the Greek chorus to the bard who recited his poetry accompanied by a lyre, to the printed poetry of the 19th century.

"(Ezra) Pound put music and poetry back together again. Read Shelley's 'Ode to the West Wind,' you can get high on it. It's exalted rock and roll. The rhythm is unobstructed in some Shakespeare passages, some Walt Whitman.

Allen Ginsberg talked about poetry, drugs and meditation at Plymouth Canton High School.

The poet autographs his "First Blues" album for Wendy Greenstein.

MSU Woodwind Quartet plans Plymouth concert

The Michigan State University Woodwind Quintet comes from a recent performance tour of China to Plymouth. The internationally famous group will give an hour-long concert at 4 p.m. Sunday in First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

Admission to the concert will be free. Baby-sitting will be provided and a dinner will follow the performance. For dinner reservations or more information, call Mrs. Ralph Borelli, 455-6512.

The church is at 45201 North Territorial Road, just west of Sheldon.

THE QUINTET members are professors in the MSU School of Music. They have toured extensively in the United States and abroad.

They are Israel Borouchoff, flute; Douglas Campbell, horn; Frank Ell, clarinet; Edgar Kirk, bassoon; and Daniel Stolper, oboe.

The Sunday miniconcert will feature J.S. Bach's Concerto No. 2 after Vivaldi, Two Songs of Gustav Mahler arranged for quintet and Georg Onslow's Quintet in F Major Op. 81.

The Michigan State University Woodwind Quintet, composed of five professors, will perform a mini-concert Sunday at First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Sara Michalik was the third highest all-around point scorer for Salem Friday with 28.40 points.

The Rocks lost their first meet of the season to North Farmington.

'Two' little Rock duo not enough vs. North

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

It was the best of Observerland gymnastics, the No. 1 and No. 2 teams meeting head on.

But that was of secondary importance to No. 1-ranked North Farmington.

Friday afternoon's meet with Plymouth Salem was the homecoming for North coach Mary Glitz. Glitz had missed the last three meets because she was busy giving birth (on Feb. 5) to 7-pound, 3-ounce Scott Walter.

When Glitz walked through the doors of the North gym Friday, about five minutes prior to the meet, the place erupted. The first to greet her was team manager Kristin Oswald. Soon, the popular coach was mobbed by all her gymnasts.

It was an emotional moment for the coach and for the players. In fact, there was perhaps more emotion spent over Glitz's return than there was over the meet itself.

THE RAIDERS knocked off Salem 127.65-124.30 in a meet that neither team will place among their seasonal highlights. North had scored in the 130s its last three meets. Salem's team scores, meanwhile, may have reached a premature peak.

"After the attitude problems we've had this week, I'm surprised we came as close as we did," said Salem coach Kathi Kinsella. "It's not that they have a bad attitude. It's more of a lazy attitude. They just can't seem to get going."

"I'm pleased with the performance. It's just that we're not going to get better as a team until some of these girls develop some spirit and leadership and compassion — until they are willing to help out the other people as well as work to improve themselves."

For the Raider gymnasts, Friday's meet was used to implement new tricks into their routines.

"We tried some new things out there," said North assistant coach Dennis Fitzgerald, who has run the team in Glitz's absence. "We were not mentally sharp in the other areas, and the judges were quick to pick up on that. They didn't miss anything."

"But, we had to get these new tricks into the routines before the league meet and regionals. You can't walk in a league meet and throw something you haven't thrown before."

THE MEET featured four fine all-around performers: Eileen Murtaugh and Lucine Toroyan from North and Jackie Huff and Beth Rafail from Salem.

Murtaugh and Rafail tied for all-around honors with 33.45 points apiece. Toroyan scored 33.25 and Huff, bothered by an injured ankle, scored 32.0.

But the difference in the meet, as it turned out, was Kara Karhu. Karhu, North's No. 3 performer, scored 31.95 all-around including an eye-popping 8.5 floor exercise and a no-fall 8.1 balance beam. Salem's No. 3 performer, Sara Michalik, scored 28.40 all-around.

Murtaugh and Rafail set the tone for their individual duel by each nailing 8.6 on vault. Karhu was next with an 8.35, followed by Toroyan's 8.25. Huff placed fifth with an 8.15.

Murtaugh won on the uneven bars with an 8.25. Toroyan and Huff each scored 8.15 and Rafail scored 8.0.

After the first two events, North led 63.35-61.50.

TOROYAN AND Rafail, both demonstrating confident and poised routines, tied on beam with 8.4 scores.

Murtaugh garnered an 8.2, Karhu and Huff each scored 8.1.

Huff and Karhu stole the show on floor. Huff scored an 8.6, besting Karhu's 8.5. Rafail and Toroyan each scored 8.45 and Murtaugh finished her night with an 8.4.

The win improves North's record to 10-1, the only loss coming to state-ranked Troy. The loss was the Rocks' first this season, they are 9-1.

PLYMOUTH CANTON won its first two meets of the season last week.

On Monday, the Chiefs bested Vassar in the second half of a double dual with Freeland, 111.8-108.3. Freeland scored 136.95 in the meet.

Then on Wednesday, the Chiefs scored their first Western Lakes win of the season, topping Farmington 112.9-107.4.

A quartet of Chiefs helped offset the individual talents of Farmington's Katie MacIntosh. MacIntosh won on bars (7.85) and floor (7.95) and placed second on vault (7.7) and beam (7.1).

Ann Healey won the vault (7.75) and placed second on floor (7.4) for the Chiefs. Apryl Mosakowski won on beam with a 7.15. Megan McGow placed third on vault (7.65) and second on bars (7.6).

Shelly Ludwig placed fourth on vault (7.45) and third on bars (7.45).

Also for Canton, Carol Horvath tied Farmington's Lauren Mistor for third on beam (6.85), and Cheryl Battaglia took fourth on both bars (6.9) and floor (7.2), and placed fifth on vault (7.15).

Debi DeWitt placed third on floor for Farmington (7.35).

Against Vassar, Ludwig won on bars (7.4), Mary Jo Charron won on beam (7.3) and Healey on floor exercise (7.8). McGow placed second on vault (7.85).

The Chiefs are now 2-8 on the season. Farmington falls to 2-7.

'Schlicker of old' triggers Canton victory

By Scott Adler
staff writer

Talk about a good bench. Plymouth Canton found some bench strength it never knew it had Friday night when John Van Wagoner filled in for his brother Dave as coach, and reserve Jim Schlicker lit a fire under the Chiefs' usually weak offense in leading Canton to a 62-52 win at home.

Dave Van Wagoner was too sick to take the helm, so his younger brother John took over along with assistant coach Mark LaPointe and the Chiefs played a scrapping, inspired game.

"Our seniors really did the job for us tonight," Van Wagoner said. "They came out and played and that was the difference tonight."

Schlicker, one of those seniors who came to play, sparked Canton offensively at first from the free throw line and later with his jump shots and play

basketball

under the basket. He finished with 14 points.

"The Jim Schlicker of last year appeared tonight," Van Wagoner said. "He did a real good job. He's been in a slump this year and it was good to see him play like that."

BOTH CANTON and Bentley started out sloppily, turning the ball over with bad passes and poor ballhandling. The Chiefs got untracked before the Bulldogs and jumped out to a 27-21 lead at halftime.

Canton built that lead to 10 points in the first 2 minutes of the third period but Bentley fought back to within 1, 32-

31, with 3:30 left in the quarter.

The Chiefs then scored 6 unanswered points, 4 by Schlicker, to take control of the game. The Bulldogs never got closer than 6 points the rest of the way.

"They shot better than we did," said Bentley coach Tom Neimi. "We played poorly. We didn't execute our offense."

Canton not only shot better than Bentley, but the Chiefs shot much more often from the free throw line, connecting on 18 of 34. Bentley was 8 for 19 from the line.

THE CHIEFS ALSO did something unusual — they played a zone defense. "We usually play man," Van Wagoner said, "but we haven't been doing that well. We wanted to change it up. We wanted to make Bentley beat us from the outside and our zone did a good job of that."

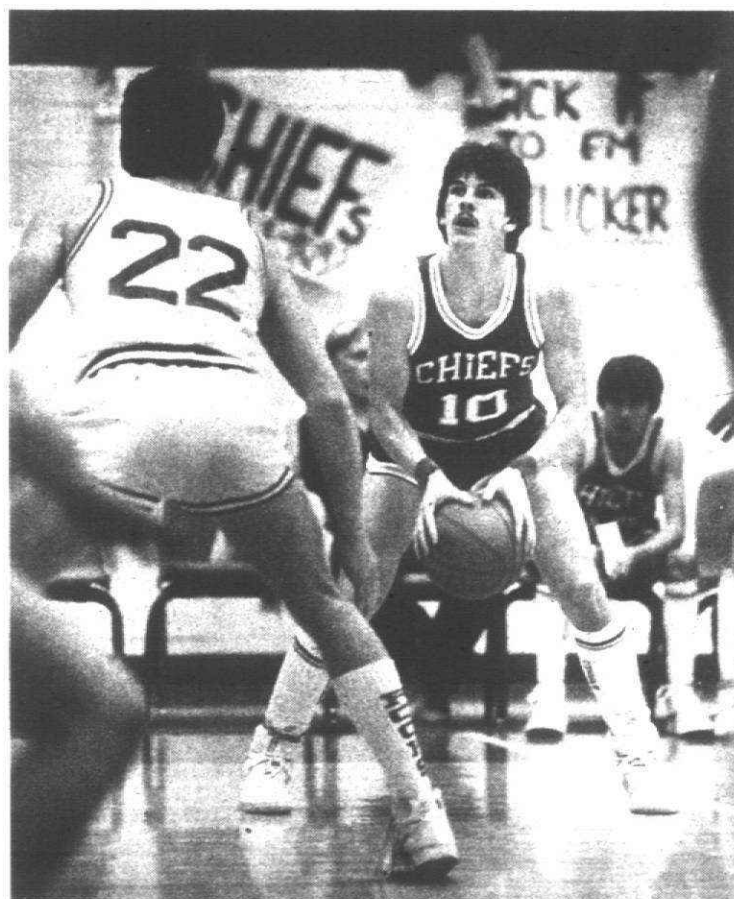

When Canton changed back to a man-to-man defense, it forced Bentley into poor shots and turnovers.

"We came down and took bad shots," Neimi said. "That's how they got the lead. We got back into the game with good shot selections."

Canton's zone also provided the Chiefs with a more stable rebounding position, which translated into a closer rebounding margin (37-32) than they're used to.

Canton (5-7 in the Western Lakes, 7-9 overall) got 15 points from Joel Mies and 9 points from Kevin Hawkins.

Bentley (4-8, 6-9) was paced by Sal DeMilio with 14 points and Steve Carli with 10 points.

Jim Schlicker came off the Canton bench to score 14 points and lead the Chiefs past Livonia Bentley Friday night.

Churchill zone defense befuddles Salem

Livonia Churchill knocked off Plymouth Salem 67-51 Friday night. But if you're talking to Churchill coach Don Albertson, don't call it an upset.

"It didn't seem like a major upset to me," the veteran coach said. "Hey, you've got to remember, we're 7-9 but we played our first three games this season without Scott Hille. People look at our record, but they don't see what's behind it. I've never given up on this team and I don't think the kids ever felt like we were a bad team."

Scott Hille does make a difference in the Chargers. Against Salem, he scored 21 points, grabbed 13 rebounds and dished out 6 assists. He also nailed 7 of 8 free throws including a pair of 1-and-1 opportunities in the fourth quarter that kept Salem at bay.

But the key weapon in the Chargers' arsenal was their pesky zone defense. Salem was able score just 10 points in each of the last two quarters.

"I thought our defense did a nice job," Albertson said. "The intensity was very good. It forced Salem to shoot from 20 to 22 feet away and (Mike) White was the only one hitting."

White was indeed hitting as he led Salem with 21 points. But Salem connected on just 30 percent of its 62 shots from the floor.

"We had our shots," said Salem coach Bob Brodie. "They just didn't fall. It was one of those nights. The shots weren't all bombs either. We had some nice 10-foot jumpers that just wouldn't go down. It was a bad game. And Churchill is a good team. They play good defense and they hit their shots."

"Any time you beat a Plymouth team you feel good," said Albertson.

Mickey Katschor scored 15 points and dished off 5 assists for Churchill (6-6 in the Western Lakes). Mike Herman-son added 14 points and 9 rebounds. Ken Gendjar played a superb defensive game and added 8 points.

LeSean Haygood scored 13 points and grabbed 13 rebounds for Salem (7-5 in the conference, 9-7 overall).

PLYM. CHRISTIAN 64, BETHESDA 45: Turnabout is fair play.

A week ago Friday Plymouth Christian lost its homecoming game. Friday the Eagles ruined Detroit Bethesda's homecoming.

Jim Stephens led the assault with 23 points. Pat McCarthy added 21.

The Eagles are now 6-4 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Association and 10-6 overall.

No contest: Brother Rice buries CC

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Jeff Herberholz stole the ball at the Catholic Central free throw line and drove the length of the floor. As he approached the basket he twirled the ball behind his back and slammed it through the hoop.

Jeff Herberholz is a 6-foot-8 center.

His play was typical of Brother Rice's performance Sunday night in the quarterfinal round of the Catholic League playoffs — Brother Rice could do no wrong.

Rice, for the third time this season, blasted Redford Catholic Central. Final score: 71-57.

Rice will advance to the semifinal round at 6:45 p.m. Thursday at Calihan Hall on the University of Detroit campus. The Warriors will play either East Catholic or Southgate Aquinas.

The game disappointed many of the near 6,000 fans that crowded into Calihan, but nobody was more disappointed than CC coach Bernie Holowicki. His team sleepwalked through the first 4 minutes of play and found itself in a 9-0 hole — a hole that only got deeper as the game progressed.

"We were beaten before we started," Holowicki said. "Sometimes you believe in yourself and sometimes you don't. They beat us twice in a row. You'd think we'd be emotionally ready to play. We weren't."

THE BOYS FROM Birmingham certainly came ready to play.

B.J. Armstrong, as he has done in all three matchups with CC, stole the show. His final stats: 31 points (9 of 13 from the floor and 13 of 15 from the free throw line) and 8 assists.

"These performances, and the one Tuesday (51 points vs.

Cabrini), he is capable of every night," Rice coach Nick Conti said. "I'm certainly not surprised."

John McIntyre, CC's top gun and Armstrong's off-court buddy, scored 26 points, hitting 11 of 27 shots.

But Armstrong got a lot more help than McIntyre. Herberholz added 19 points and Chris Plunkett had 12.

No other CC player scored in double figures.

"We've been doing a better job of this kind of play in the last third of the season," Conti said. "Before they would make a run. It has gotten smaller and smaller as the season has gone along. We never gave CC a chance to make a run at us."

THE CLOSEST thing to a "run" that CC made came in the second quarter. McIntyre forced 3 Rice turnovers and scored 8 points to pull CC within 4, 25-21.

Undaunted, Rice finished the half with an 8-3 spurt and never looked back.

"I believe a great number of games are won or lost in the first 3 minutes of a game or in the first 3 minutes of the second half," Conti said. "The game may have been won right there."

No arguments here. The Warriors ran off an 11-3 spurt to begin the second half. The issue was decided. Brother Rice was deadly from the perimeter. The Warriors drained 23 of 35 shots. Some were from short range. Many were virtually uncontested by CC.

"We had a game plan that we thought would work," Holowicki said. "But the way we played, there was no semblance of the plan. We wanted to double team off our matchup zone. They didn't carry out their assignments." Rice is now 15-2 on the season. CC falls to 11-6.

Farmington bests Chiefs, Salem tops N'ville

How strong is the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes swim conference? Consider this Farmington is the third best team in the Lakes behind Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem. On Tuesday, Farmington defeated the Western Division champion Northville, 87-82. Then last Thursday, the Falcons beat the second place Western team, Plymouth Canton, 93-76.

Against Canton, Jay Weaver won a pair of events. He took the 100 yard freestyle (51.9) and the 100 backstroke (1:01.2).
Chris Inch won the 200 individual medley in 2:15.72. Adam Krause took the 500 freestyle (5:19.8) and Chris Terrero won the 100 breaststroke (1:07.5).

swimming

Don Harwood, Cummings, Tony Atwell and Kevin Zarow won the 200 medley relay for Salem in 1:48.0. Jim Burns, Zarow, Cain and Wolff went 3:27.9 to win the 400 free relay. The Rocks (10-3 overall, 9-1 in the league) are gearing up for the league meet and another crack at Livonia Stevenson. Can the Rocks overtake Stevenson?

Farmington is now 8-4 this season. Canton falls to 6-6.
PLYMOUTH SALEM, in case you're not convinced of the Lakes Division dominance, topped Western Division champ Northville Thursday, 97-75.
Greg Wolff led the way for the Rocks with wins in the 200 freestyle (1:51.3) and the 500 free (5:03.8).
The Rocks clinched the win with a 1-2-3 showing in the 100 breaststroke: Rick Cummings (1:08.6), Eric Gachenback (1:10.1) and Jim Hayes (1:11.0) all finished ahead of the first Northville swimmer.
Jon Cain captured the 100 freestyle in 51.9.

Tiger fan's dream comes true

By Jim Hughes
staff writer

SOMEWHERE NORTH of Cloud 9 rests the state of euphoria. Just north of there rests Tom Erhart, a Rochester resident who still is flying high after his experience in the Tigers Fantasy Camp.

when Pamela's poem was selected as the winner.
"It's going to take a lifetime to pay her back," Tom said. "It'll probably be a lot of small things over a long period of time. It's hard for me to imagine how I'm going to pay her back, but I'm sure I'll have a couple ideas over the next few years."

John Hiller.
Hiller's tips paid off. When Erhart pitched in the game against the '88 Tigers, Hiller was one of the batters he faced. Erhart came on with two runners aboard and no outs. He got Dick Tracewski to fly out to left, then got Hiller to bounce back to the mound for an inning-ending double play.

"Everything was amazing. When they played the Star Spangled Banner before the game, it was quite a feeling. It made me feel like a big leaguer."
The highlight of the week came during an intrasquad scrimmage when Erhart made a diving catch of a line drive in center field. As he returned to the dugout, Kaine, who made those plays look routine during his days with the Tigers, shouted, "Great play. That's the play of the week."

Salem spikers thump Canton

If the winners of the Plymouth Canton-Plymouth Salem volleyball match can claim "city bragging rights," Salem must be about as cocky as Muhammad Ali in his prime.
"Denise played really well," Smith said. "This was the first game she played all the way through, and she did a very good job for us."
Smith said her entire squad played and everyone contributed in the overwhelming victory.
"Our physical technique is as good as any ranked team in the state," she said. "The only thing holding us back is our mental game. When we're thinking and talking and our mental game is on, we're a very good team."
The Rocks get to see just how good they can be when they take on Oberlin's No. 1 team (No. 3 in the state) Livonia Stevenson on the Spartans home court tonight.

Fran Whittaker and Lisa Madis did a good job serving. Madis, Denise Tackett and Tracy Greenhalge took care of the serving in the second game.

Pamela, who said she gave Tom the gift because "he was driving me nuts with baseball, baseball, baseball," re- sents that she'll have the phone call received from her husband after he won the Kaine bat.

"I came back to life after that."
With 77 players participating in the Tiger camp, appearances in the Saturday double-header had to be limited in the dugout. Kaine, who made those plays look routine during his days with the Tigers, shouted, "Great play. That's the play of the week."

Erhart, who says he's been a Tiger fan "and not a fair weather fan" — all his life, had dreams of playing big league baseball as a youngster. His dream then wouldn't have been playing in a fantasy camp, but playing with the likes of Kirk Gibson, Alan Trammell and Lou Whitaker.

When I was in ninth grade (when the 1968 Tigers won the championship), I probably thought I'd be part of the 1984 team," Erhart grinned. "It was shortly after that when I realize I was not going to be a big leaguer."

SO THE NEXT best thing was the fantasy. The toughest part was coming back to reality.
"It's still hard to believe I'm not supposed to be going to practice in the morning," he said. "When I get up, I feel like I should be there. At work now, it's great because people ask me about it and I get to relive it each day."

IN THE first game, Sue Carlson, Fran Whittaker and Lisa Madis did a good job serving. Madis, Denise Tackett and Tracy Greenhalge took care of the serving in the second game.
"Denise played really well," Smith said. "This was the first game she played all the way through, and she did a very good job for us."

"My feet still haven't touched the ground," said Erhart, who returned to his Rochester home last week after seven days in Lakeland, Fla.

Now the Erharts will be busy finishing the basement of their home, which will be decorated with Tiger paraphernalia, most of which came from the Fantasy Camp. Tom brought home baseballs, pennants, caps, programs and just about anything suitable to be autographed by his 1968 heroes.

"I really think they could have beat us 30-0 both games if they wanted to," Erhart said. "It's amazing watching them play. They can still do it."

OLSM hosts tourney

Orchard Lake St. Mary's cage record may not be as sparkling as in the past, but that won't keep the Eagles from hosting into a post-season tournament.
True, their 8-16 mark won't earn them a bid to the NAIA tournament, which they've qualified for in each of the past two seasons. But this season, St. Mary's will be hosting a post-season event.

JOINING ST. MARY'S in the Michigan regional are Michigan Christian, one of the few junior colleges in the NLCAA, Jordan College of Flint and Nazareth College, located in Kalamazoo.
The tournament's first round will be Friday, March 1, with games at 7 and 9 p.m. The championship will be at 3 p.m. Saturday, March 2. The tourney draw will be Feb. 25.
The NLCAA tournament is open to all colleges with a full-time enrollment under 800. St. Mary's has 410 students.
"If it was a high school, it would be like Class C," said St. Mary's coach Tim Domke. "Anybody who meets requirements in the state can get in it, but they have to pay a fee. A lot of schools who know they can't win it don't enter."
