who lives in Maryland, waited in small room next to the courtroom. He said it was difficult to see Fisher charged with his daughter's death, because he had "become a part of the family." Murcado, who works as an engineer with the U.S. Naval Facilities Engineering Command, is expected to take the stand today.

ALL WITNESSES were asked by Judge Garber to leave the courtroom while others were questioned by attor-

Police testified that Fisher, 44, said he was robbed, kicked in the knee and knocked unconscious by intruders. He later found his wife with duct tape wrapped around her mouth and nose. he regained consciousness he When freed himself and removed duct tape, which was wrapped around his head, Fisher said.

Timothy Kenny, Wayne County depu ty chief prosecutor, tried unsuccessfulto question a doctor who examined Fisher at St. Joseph's hospital. After a private meeting with Kenny and Fisher's attorney, Daniel Burres, Judge Garber ruled that the testimony was inappropriate, because it would violate patient/doctor confidentiality.

Hair stuck to duct tape, which was identified by a Canton police officer as having been removed from Murcado-Fisher's head, was entered as evidence by Kenny. Color slides of Murcado-Fisher's body, taken by the pathologist who performed an autopsy on the victim, were also admitted as evidence by Kenny

Burres stressed twice during the day-long hearing that residents in the Thornwood area have experienced numerous break-ins. Judge Garber, however, refused to allow Buress to detail these incidents

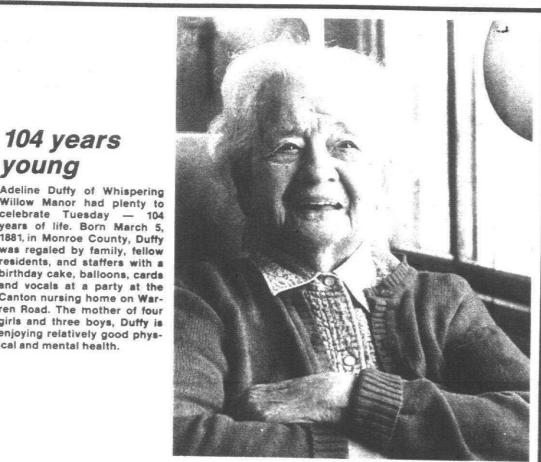

Dr. Ralph Kontry, an osteopathic surgeon who specializes in emergency medical treatment at Oakwood Hospital Canton Center, recalled that Murcado-Fisher, 32, was unconscious and had dificulty breathing when she arrived at about 2 a.m. July 15

Redford Township's 17th District Court Judge Robert F. Brang ruled Tuesday during a preliminary examination that Scicluna, 36, should face extortion charges in circuit court. He is free on $5,000 bond, which was set last month by 17th District Court Judge John M. Dillon. Scicluna pleaded not guilty to the extortion charges.

Scicluna is scheduled to appear today in 35th District Court for a preliminary examination on the drug charge possession of narcotics with intent to sell. James Feinberg, Scicluna's at-torney, said Tuesday he will try to get the charges dropped because of an improper warrant

"I'm going to file a motion to disallow the case based on the improper evidence to get the search warrant to go into his house in Canton," Feinberg said. "In order to get a search warrant you need an affidavit, and one of the main allegations for the affidavit was incorrect. Without that main piece of

The search warrant was obtained by Redford police with the cooperation of Michigan State Police, who were involved in the investigation, according to Redford police Sgt. Russell Lynch. Police maintain that the warrant was valid.

Scicluna, owner of Belleville Florist, also posted a $500 cash surety bond set at an arraignment last month by 35th District Court Judge John E. Mac-Donald

Brian Rogers, 24, of Redford Township, testified at the preliminary examination Tuesday that he received drugs from Scicluna, but refused to pay for them

Rogers told Redford police during the investigation that he was supposed to sell the drugs he bought. He said he realized it was "bad dope," and didn't

A former township employee is seeking $35,000 as compensation for emotional distress she reportedly suffered since working in the Treasurer's Department.

Canton's Donna Ford, 46 employed by former Treasurer Maria Sterlini from Nov., 1982 until Oct., 1983 is unable to work due to anxiety and depression, according to her attorney, Peter Bundarin.

At a pre-trial worker's compensation hearing Friday, Bundarin and township attorneys were unable to reach a set tlement in the case It is slated to go to trial May 29 before Administrative Law Judge Susan Payne-Woodrow in the Michigan Building in Detroit. Nine township employees - including Supervisor James Poole and several trustees - are being subpoenaed by Bundarin Attorney Gilbert M. Chinitz, representing Canton and its insurer, declined comment on the matter. "It's my feeling that cases should be tried by a judge and not in the news media," he said

According to Bundarin, Ford originally sought counsel regarding a breach of contract. Sterlini, he said, had "seriously discussed" promoting "heir apparent" Ford to assistant treasurer

Hired as a part-time clerk during tax season, Ford eventually was given responsibility for investing all township funds as acting assistant treasurer. Her relationship with Sterlini deteriorated after Ford "became a threat" to Sterlini, said Bundarin.

A MAJOR victory for Ford came

Friday when Judge Payne-Woodrow agreed to allow into evidence the taped testimony of other former township employees.

"Half a dozen women broke down into tears" while talking about working conditions under Sterlini during a re corded closed meeting two years ago, said Bundarin, who subpoenaed the tapes.

"We're not trying to make Sterlini into some kind of ogre," he said. "We are trying to establish that the stresses

NOISES SCARED OFF robbers who broke into a nome on the 51000 block of Mott between 7:30-11:50 p.m. Feb. 27. After smashing the glass of the south east door of the mobile home, the subjects ripped open the screen and unlocked the door, according to Canton police.

They stole three federal government proof sets worth $150 and a watch valued at about $150. The cost to repair the window and screen was estimated -at $50.

The bedroom of the house was ransacked, with drawers removed from a dresser. A mattress was also taken off the bed.

A stereo in the living room was taken off its shelf and was found on the floor when Canton police arrived. It appeared the robbers dropped the stereo according to a police report. A pillow case was ound by officers outside the home. "It was possible that the person (persons) were scared off, because a radio and video recorder were not taken." the report said.

AN INSIDE JOB IS suspected in a robbery at a home on the 7300 block of Corbett Drive, which occurred sometime between 7 p.m Feb. 26, and 7:30 Feb. 27. It appeared that a key was used to enter

"It's believed the subject knew where to look, and there was a neatness to the B & E (breaking and entering)" the police report said. The robbers stole a cassette deck worth about $200, a $16 bottle of Scotch whiskey Chivas Regal, an $18 bottle of Canadian Crown Royal whiskey, a $55 Timex watch, a $150 Sanvo radio, a $129 camera, two sets of stringed beads jointly worth $130, coins valued at $500, a $300 shotgun, a $250 ring as well as $50 worth of nickels, quarters and dimes.

A PEEPING TOM was spotted in the 46000 block of Geddes Road Feb. 27. A 17-year-old resident, who was letting her dog out of the trailer at about 6:30 a.m., said she saw the subject pass by the rear of the trailer. She watched him peer into a bedroom window. She described the subject as being about 5 foot 11 inches, and weighing about 180 pounds. He was wearing hiking boots, a red jacket, blue jeans, and a white ski cap.

A SURPRISE awaited a resident of the 45000 block of North Spring Drive when he returned home from work Feb. 26. He realized someone had broken into his gray, 1983 Ford van.

Part of the dashboard from the car was missing The robbers stole a $96 Audiovox radio, a $150 tool box, and a $99 drill.

ROBBERS SMASHED a front window of a buildng on the 42000 block of Michigan Avenue someime between 6 p.m. Feb. 23 and 8 a.m. Feb. 24. They broke into the front window of the building. A $320 snow blower was taken. Replacing the window will cost about $600, according to a police report.

Asbestos 'a nightmare' for Van Buren Schools

"IT'S A nightmare I inherited," said Ed Randolph, supervisor of buildings and grounds for the Van Buren district, which extends into southwest Canton.

"The whole deal has got me angry. ] was a little boy when this (asbestos) was going in. No one (informed about the dangers of asbestos) was around then. Now with this job, I'm responsible for getting rid and control of it. We have 15 buildings, and all but three have (asbestos)," Randolph said. This has been going on for three or four years, and it just gets to you. There are other things that need taking care of "

Asbestos is abundant in false ceilings and boiler rooms in Belleville High have to find the old drawings and spec work," he said.

"It's terrible. People can't get mad at the asbestos manufacturer, so they get mad at the administration, saying, Take care of this, or else."

SO FAR, Van Buren schools have spent $10,000 on air testing and encapsulating asbestos "and we're not even near finished," Randolph said.

Encapsulated, or covered asbestos such as that commonly found in floor tile - is not carcinogenic, according to the EPA. Randolph lauds Kosteva's proposals.

"Kosteva's action is absolutely welcome. I just wish it didn't take so much School, a 50-year-old building, "so we time," said Randolph, who said he spends "half my time filling out legal orms on asbestos.

The asbestos situation in Van Buren presents "no reason to panic," cautioned Randolph, adding that asbestos is so plentiful in the environment that 'it's part of our society.

"If people read, learn and are educated, they'll understand. If asbestosinsulated surfaces are handled right and treated right, there's no problem Friable asbestos that is wet is not hazardous. Protective clothing can be worn to safeguard workers who must handle friable asbestos. PLYMOUTH-CANTON schools first removed asbestos in 1979 after it was found in certain places at Central Middle School," said LeBlanc. A second wave of more sophisticated testing in Plymouth-Canton revealed "there was no friable asbestos prevalent," he added. The district is going the extra mile, said Le Blanc, who suspects "every building in Plymouth has asbestos, whether it's a school building or not. "We're doing it one more time. We're bringing in a high-caliber state-recog-technology available, he said. Pipes and boilers now are rewrapped with fiberglass. Areas containing asbestos fibers that could become airporne (and inhaled) are marked and reorded, said LeBlanc. "Our workers are informed that if hold of them." he added. "People are well-aware of what's going on. The more educated people are in the district, the better off we are," said Le Blanc, who has attended asbestos seminars.

Thursday, March 7, 1985 O&E

WHILE WAYNE-Westland schools presently are able to "meet all (federal) regulations," "we welcome the nized company" to test, using the best news" of Kosteva's bills, Blacklock said.

"As in most schools, we have asbestos that is in perfectly good shape. I think it's going to be a question of some sort of abatement program to make sure it stays in good shape, or to remove it," he said.

Wayne-Westland, which is "exploring asbestos is obvious in any area they go the possibility" of litigation against an asbestos manufacturer, has "completely removed some ceiling areas, pipes and boilers," Blacktock said.

Like Plymouth-Canton, Wayne-Wes land has tested extensively for ashestos in its 30 buildings and plans to use the most advanced methods available in future tests. Less-fortunate Van Buren Schools have plenty of company throughout the state

"Michigan's Department of Education has identifiled more than 300 school buildings in the state that contain more than 1,300,000 square feet of potentially harmful asbestos," Kosteva

After five or six years, the Van Buren district finally adopted a millage in its last election, added Kosteva - heralding good news for those concerned about both academics and as-

Honored for art

Five students at Plymouth Salem High recently received art awards, ranging from blue ribbon to certificates of merit, from the Michigan Chapter of the Scholastic Art Awards. More than 6,000 pieces of art were entered in categories ranging from drawing, painting and sculpture to ceramics, jewelry and graphic designs. Some 1,200 pieces of art were selected to be exhibited for two weeks, ending Sunday, at Tel-12 Mall in Southfield. The Blue Ribbon winner from Salem was Topher Crowder (above), a junior. Gold Key winners were Barb Wilson, Pat Arella and Crowder while certificate of merit winners were Lisa Castrodale, Crowder, and Debbie Starr. As winner of the Blue Ribbon, the highest award given, Crowder's work will be entered in national competition in New York City. Kris Darby is the art teacher at Salem.

WEATHER SPOTTERS

Training meetings are held from 9 a.m. to noon on the fourth Saturday of each month at Plymouth Township Hall, Mill at Ann Arbor Road. Volunteers are trained by the Plymouth Township Office of Emergency Preparedness as severe weather spotters. As part of the area's early warning system, the volunteers are trained to spot and report emergency weather situations such as tornadoes, severe wind or hail storms.

SNOW REMOVAL

The Plymouth Post Office asks businesses and residents to help preven slips, trips and falls by letter carriers due to the snow and ice by clearing and salting the pathways to mail recepta cles. Carriers will make every effort to deliver the mail but if the approach to a letter box is obstructed by snow and ice, delivery may not be possible. The City of Plymouth reminds resi dents that they must remove the snow and ice from their sidewalks within 24 hours after a snowfall. Failure to do so may result in the DPW cleaning the walks at a cost of $40 per hour with a one-hour minimum.

A large inmate concentration within a practical, as evidenced at the state's Jackson facilities.

• Third, the area itself is not best suited for government institutions. The land is far too valuable to have tax-exempt status and to keep such large tracts off the tax rolls is an inefficient use of land.

Being near a railroad and two expressways (M-14 and I-275), the DeHoCo site is prime industrial property and if so develped, would financially benefit Plymouth Cownship, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, Wayne County, and Schoolcraft No municipal planner in his right mind Particularly disturbing is the state's would ever recommend that such prime Foltroit and close to where the dollar sign gets the largest, and that's where the state proposes to keep land off the tax rolls.

From a planning and fiscal standpoint such a proposal can be forgiven only as a byproduct of reacting to crisis. The land has been wasted long enough. Now is a good time to put it to use.

DETROIT COULD, by selling the DeHoCo site to a private developer, receive a sizeable hunk of change. By selling DeHoCo, Detroit not only would receive millions of dollars to better its financial position, but also could unload the site and prison operation which has been an albatross around its neck. Detroit has agreed to a new prison within its city limits. Plymouth-Northville will have two prisons, not counting DeHoCo. These communities are doing their share. They should collectively tell the state to find a city or township with a low proportion of exempt land on its tax roll and build a prison there.

Detroit, Plymouth and Northville all have shouldered their social purdens, and now it's time to pass that privilege to another municipality. Certainly there must be another town or two where a prison can be built. Are there really only three such munities in the state?

Unfortunately, logic will not entirely prevail given the present conditions. The state is backed into a corner and very likely will be unable to box its way out unless relief is provided by Detroit, Plymouth-Northville, and Westland. But that 'temporary" relief in time of "crisis" should not be permanent.

Since the critical need now is only for jail cells, Detroit could lease cells at DeHoCo to the state for prison use for a contracted period of time - say five years - until adequate prison facilities are huilt elsewhere

Such temporary use would require only that the actual prison building is utilized. The acres and acres of land on the DeHo-Co site could then be sold by Detroit and developed industrially or residentially. and be placed on the tax rolls where the land rightfully belongs. When jails are built elsewhere, the DeHoCo building could be razed and the remaining property sold for its best use

To state the current prisoners "escape from DeHoCo is an exaggeration - they simply walk away, almost at will. If the state were to take over the prison, money would have to be spent to make the build ing secure. To fail to do so would endanger the safety of a large number of nearby residents - something the state clearly has no right to do.

The Observer takes the position that the DeHoCo site is too valuable in the 1980s to be used for a prison and should be developed to its best use and placed on the tax rolls. As a temporary measure, we would agree to the building being used as a prison but only if money is spent to make i secure and only if the large tract of DeHoCo land is sold off immediately.

The sale would be a good faith pledge by the state to residents that it clearly does not intend to permanently keep pris oners at the intersection — a commitment which must be made if Plymouth-Northville is going to be part of any "bail-out' effort to rescue the state from its lack of

It is far too easy to cry for law and order, and then fight when a prison is proposed in your town. We do not do so. We simply say - we have done our share! Let the state now do what is sensible, not what is expedient

Political spending has gone overboard

THE CURRENT round of spending for the state Senate seat in Grand Rapids again points out the need for putting some kind of limit on campaign spending.

The principals seeking the 32nd District seat vacated when Paul Henry was elected to Congress have already spent $160,000. Experts think that the Democrats and Republicans will spend up to $500,000 to win the special election set to fill the vacancy

Admittedly, this is a key seat. If the Democrats win it, they can regain control of the state Senate, lost in the voter rebellion following the income tax increase.

The Repubicans want desperately to hang onto the seat to control the one area of state government where they have the power. Democrats have a handy margin in the state House to help Democratic governor James Blanchard

EVEN SO, $500,000 to merely elect . state senator is way too much. That kind of spending only ensures that residents of the 32nd District area around Grand Rapids will be subjected to a numbing barrage of campaign literature and radio elevision and newspaper advertisements

The ads seldom deal with any serious reflection of issues or qualifications and the repetition of slogans, slams, slurs and innuendos is mind-bending. Think back to the deluge of TV ads which arrived one every few minutes during the weeks and days preceeding the November general election

The current no-limit spending practice almost ensures that the candidate with the ability to raise the most funds will rely on advertising methods and avoid or minimize sticking to discussion in public forums of the possible issues and qualifications.

discover Michigan

MICHIGAN STATE University was established by an act of the Legislature in 1855. It created the Agricultural College of the State of Michigan and appropriated "22 sections of Salt Spring Lands for its support and maintenance."

The Legislature allocated $40,000 to carry the college through its first two years of operation

MSU was the first agricultural college in the nation and the prototype for 69 land-grant institutions later established under an 1862 federal act.

Today MSU has more than 20,000 students, 200 program of instruction and a bad idea, considering that he could add to faculty of more than 3,500 in 14 operating his campaign fund total in the next two colleges

INCUMBENTS USUALLY have the hammer when it comes to wringing campaign contributions out of possible donors. Witness the $1 million recently raised by Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, which virtually guarantees that no serious cardidate will attempt to debate the issues with Young. If there were a limit on spending for a particular race, a qualified candidate might think about challenging the popular mayor, even for the value of making points in public forums.

The practice of extracting every last intribution possible out of a community also helps ensure incumbents that they will face no challenges in an election.

AND WHAT do officeholders do with funds that aren't spent - assuming there are any? They transfer the money to an officeholders expense account, commonly known as slush fund, so that they can make contributions to other candidates campaign funds and buy football and baseball tickets with which they try to make friends and influence people.

Of course, some officeholders who have the advantage of the law can when they leave office put the money into their own bank accounts. Members of Congress who were first elected before 1980 may take their campaign funds with them when they retire, as long as they declare it as income and pay taxes on it.

Former U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch who respresented the 2nd District - which included Livonia, Plymouth and Northville converted a small fortune in campaign unds into his own funds after losing his unsuccessful race for the U.S. Senate in

ACCORDING TO press reports, U.S. Rep. William Broomfield of Birmingham, who has no trouble being elected every two years and therefore need not strain his campaign fund, has some $319,000 in unused funds

An aide said that Broomfield does not have plans to retire and make personal use of the funds, even though he could, and plans to run for re-election in 1986. Not a years.

SOCIAL EVENT of the Ides of March is the sixth annual banquet of the Men's Over-40 Half-Court Basketball League. The eight teams in the league finished play Wednesday night. They will top off the season, as usual, with a gathering at the Box Bar.

More than 60 athletes are expected to attend the event at the Ann Arbor Trail pub-on-the-park in downtown Plymouth. They will dine on 'burgers and beer - a menu that has become a tradition at their banquets. After-dinner speakers will be Bob Thornbladh, former University of Michigan football player, and Al Renfrew, ticket manager for U-M sporting events. Bob played both basketball and football at Plymouth High School, and now coaches receivers for Bo Schembechler.

Don Massey is president of the half-court basketball group. The players, ranging in age from 40 to 61, play three-on-three. Bill Emons of Livonia is the senior member of the league.

WITH THEIR SEASON over, the cagers' interests turn to the college tournaments. More than 35 locals are heading for the NCAA tourneys in Davton and South Bend. They will see 12 games in four days and are hoping to see the Wolverine in action

Pay equity, comparable worth issues alive and wel

By Richard Lech staff writer

Ellen Seery

ICHIGAN LT Gov Martha Griffiths said pay equity and comparable worth are alive and well as issues, de spite opposition from the Reagan administration

Griffiths said that even though the U.S. attorney general may not be initiating lawsuits on those issues, other attorneys are picking up the slack.

"It doesn't really matter so much anymore whether the attorney general starts these suits because there are a lot of hungry lawyers out there who will start these suits. It is a very good field of legal activity today," Griffiths told the Detroit chapter of Women in Communications Inc. (WICI) at the Dearborn Inn last Thursday night.

TO BACK up her assertion, Griffiths cited a number of pay equity and comnarable worth lawsuits that have been settled recently or are in progress.

Household Finance Corp, for in stance, recently settled a lawsuit by agreeing it will not discriminate on the basis of sex or marital status. The corporation had been turning down a number of loan applicants because they are single and women, Griffiths said.

Allstate Insurance Co. agreed to pay $5 million to 3,100 women employees for "violating the 1964 Civil Rights Act" by giving the women a starting salary less than that of men, she said. A sex discrimination class action suit field in district court against United Airlines could cost the airline millions, she said. The airline is being sued because of a no-marriage rule that the airline applies to women flight attendants and not men.

Griffiths recalled she once wrote and asked about the airline's policy and was told that the no-marriage rule was "bonafide occupational exception. The airline said its stewardesses must

"young, attractive and single." "What are you running," Griffiths ote back, "an airline or a be wrote back, whorehouse?

GRIFFITHS also cited a number of other lawsuits, including the recent U.S. Supreme Court decision forcing the Jaycees to admit women members. Griffiths said the high court also may soon be making the ultimate decision on the issue of equal pay when it considers an appeal by the state of Washington. Washington could be forced to pay $1 billion or more to women governmental employees if a sex equity decision made by a lower court is upheld.

Griffiths said if the Supreme Court decides in favor of the employees, a major precedent would be established.

'It would change the history of this country, and it would change the history of the women's movement.

She said the state government of Michigan also has some sex equity problems.

In September 1984, she noted, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, the state's largest union of government workers, filed a lawsuit in federal district court to force the state to pay its women the same as men. Studies showed that women were paid 21 percent less for comparable jobs.

'Now the truth is, of course, that Michigan is much better than any other state," Griffiths said. In some states the difference is as high as 40 percent, she said

SIX MONTHS ago, she said, the gov ernor's office started issuing report cards to the various state departments rating their performance on sex equity and affirmative action issues.

The report cards generated grum-bling and "excuses" from the departments involved, but the "interesting thing is you can see they are improv ing," she said.

She said the Blanchard administration has taken steps to help women and minority small business owners. Those include an ombudsman's office to answer business owners' questions and a Small Business Assistance Center Program with offices across the state providing expertise to small business own ers

In general, Griffiths said, the status of women has improved in recent years and will continue to improve

Guild recruiting volunteers

The Oakwood Hospital Guild is looking for volunteers for its Canton Center this spring. The facility on Canton Center Road has served the Plymouth-Canton Community for 31/2 years and has 29 guild volunteers.

The Oakwood Canton Center is a primary care medical facility with a 24-hour emergency depart-

Christine McCuen, director of volunteer service, said, "Our volunteers are trained to conduct cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) classes, perform blood pressure checkups, instruct baby-sitting classes, file medical records and assist in the emergency room.

Volunteers assist the medical staff with paper work and escort patients to examining rooms, Xray and the pharmacy. They act as hostesses for health education programs and telephone patients at home as a reminder of appointments

MILLIE FAWCETT of Canton, who chairs the local volunteer group, said fund raising is another guild activity. 'Every organization needs something that isn't in the budget and when guild members see needs, we want to help out," she said. We have an annual rummage sale and a Christmas bazaar. The proceeds of these events and activities have contributed to the purchase of audio-visual equipment, a portable blood pressure cuff, and CPR instruction equipment." Volunteers participate in the annual "Project Health-O-Rama." Free health tests, designed to detect disease in initial stages of development, are offered to the community. This year, the tests will be offered 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, March 18 and 19 at Starkweather Community Education Center, 550 Holbrook, Plymouth. Last year, approximately 500 were tested.

Joan Petroske, clinical manager, said volunteering at a health care center offers opportunities to people considereing careers in health care.

"FIRST-HAND observations can make decisions easier. If a person is considering a career as a nurse, medical records technician, laboratory or Xray technologist, medical secretary, for example, olunteering is good way to see if that career meets one's expectations," said Petroske. # PCAC sets March 22 deadline for scholarship applications

The Plymouth Community Arts Council has announced the deadline for two scholarships available to students who live in the Plymouth-Canton community. Applications must be submitted by March 22 for the JWH Scholarship and the Jeanet M. Allison Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The JWH Scholarship is awarded annually in honor of PCAC founder, Joanne Wnkleman Hulce. The grant fulfills one of the arts council's goals - "to encourage and help individuals in pursuing a career in the arts.'

The $500 award goes to a senior who shows promise in an artistic field and wishes further education in that field.

A committee of judges with backgrounds in various art fields will consider applicants in the categories of painting, ceramics, dance, design, graphics, drama, photography, sculpture, textiles, instrumental and vocal music, and literary arts.

HIGH SCHOOL seniors, Plymouth-Canton community residents who are qualified, may apply. They are asked to write a letter, including name address and telephone number. Give background in artistic field, plans for continuing education, and a personal profile explaining qualifications for the award. Two letters of recommendation from a teacher and another person closely associated with the applicant's artistic ability, and two representative pieces of work are required

Church-state separation needed moral perspectives American Jews have come to the

This season has been set aside in American society for emphasis on the ideal of brotherhood and inter-religious understanding. It is important that our Christian friends and neighbors understand the Jewish commitment to a secular state, which has been the foundation of our rights and the most effective guarantee of our society. A secular state makes pluralism possible.

Each of the religious groups in the United States has a core of distinctive beliefs, values and the historical symbols which express the unique spiritual heritage of its faith community. The recognition of these differentiated historico-religious values shared by a religious group may be called pluralism. In a pluralistic society, Catholics, Protestants and Jews seek to affect public policy by the light of their own religious doctrines, institutional needs, denominational aspirations or standards of moral judgment. Each religious group seeks to prevail upon government and the public to accept particular values as normative.

IN THIS PROCESS, alliances will be formed among groups with kindred interests. But more often than not, interreligious relations occasionally will be marked by tension and competition

Sea World gets ready for penguin invasion

GO TO a lot of travel shows but I seldom have as much fun as I did at the Michigan Inn in Southfield last week when Sea World came to town. The star of the evening was Frank Todd, the scientist who established the first penguin colony in the northern hemisphere, at Sea World in San Diego. A second colony will open May 18 at Sea World in Aurora, Ohio.

theme park exhibit. It is a recreation of Antarctic living conditions, where 120 Antarctic penguins will live and breed while you and the research scientists watch.

Todd, who is corporate curator of birds for Sea World Inc. and a senior research fellow for the Hubbs/Sea World Research Institute in San Diego, acquired his interest in exotic birds while growing up in Panama as the son of a U.S. Army engineer.

'Actually, my first love was snakes.' he said. "I knew by the time I was 3 what I wanted to do with my life. The first thing a budding biologist runs into while crawling on hands and knees is a snake.

HE STUDIED at the University of Montana in Missoula, did graduate work at California State University at Long Beach, and was curator of birds at the Los Angeles Zoo when Sea World founder George Millay lured him to Sea World in San Diego in 1972.

His specialty was tropical birds, but he was well known as an expert in bird breeding when the National Science Foundation asked him the following question: Could a penguin colony be established in the United States?

"I didn't know but I said I'd go to Antartica and find out," Todd said. It was the first of several expeditions to study, collect, transport and breed penguins for the first colony of Antarctic penguins ever established outside Antarctica.

"Penguins are birds, not mammals or headwaiters," Todd said. "There are 17 species, all living south of the equator, probably because there are no real predators in the Antartic as there are in the Arctic. "NONE OF them can fly but they can leap six feet out of the water to breed and molt on land in summer. They look comical ashore because they are designed for underwater life, and nature had to sacrifice something for that

When Todd decided that a U.S. colony was feasible, the expedition collected adult Adelie penguins before their eggs were hatched so that Sea World would have a head start on new generations.

Adelies are the species people usually think of when they think of penguins: 2-feet high, about 10 pounds, with white eye rings, white breasts and long bushy tails. Adelies and Emperor Penguins are only found in coastal Antarctica. Penguins are used to feeding under water, so Todd's first task was to gather them together on the polar ice and train them to eat out of water. They took them "home" to San Diego in

There's nothing like a penguin exhibit to draw a crowd. The more than 100 penguins representing six species will have 350 square feet of water surface (water kept at 39 degrees) to romp around in.

Last fall, Todd traveled to the Straits

Ohio and Scott Drieschman, curator of birds at Sea World of San Diego. Their first macaroni penguin hatched aboard the Lear jet bringing them home over the Andes

The midwestern payoff for all this activity will be a new 1,500-square-foot exhibit, a recreation of the Antarctic landscape, where Adelie, Chinstrap, Emperor, Gentoo, Macaroni and Rockhopper penguins will live and breed while you watch them from a moving walkway that follows 70 feet of tempered-glass window.

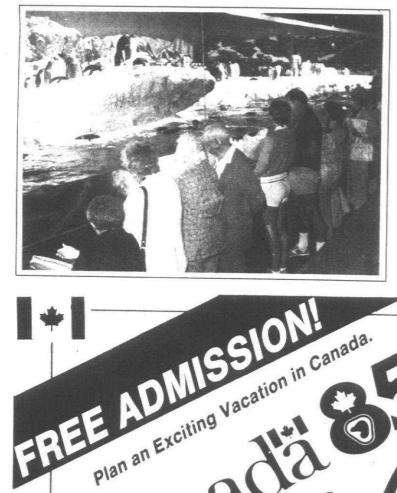

MORE THAN 5,000 pounds of fresh snow will be manufactured every day to make the pnguins feel at home. Twelve Antarctic shore birds will inhabit the facility. A series of technological miracles will make it all work

A second viewing area is being built on an upper level, where you can sit in a comfortable chair and watch either the penguins or television depictions of Antarctic life.

Why would the National Science Foundation have funded these expeditions (Sea World took over the costs after they got home)? These two Sea World facilities give scientists a rare opportunity to study penguins in a "natural habitat" without actually going to the Antarctic and it gives you and me a rare opportunity to see these wonderful flightless birds in a "home" setting.

For more information, contact Sea World, 1100 Sea World Drive, Aurora, Ohio 44202 or call (216) 562-7496. Sea World is open May 18 through Labor Day. The Penguin Encounter, like all World attractions, is included in Sea the admission price: $11.95 for adults, $10.95 for children.

TODD KNEW that the birds were used to breeding on rough stones, the only available nesting material in the Antarctic, so he brought along 10,000 lbs. of antarctic stone for their new breeding ground.

Penguins usually lay two eggs, but may raise only one, so the scientists took one of the newly laid eggs for the incubator and left the second for momma to hatch inside the freezer.

cloud CEP crisis

VERY ONCE in a while I read something sc stupid, so grounded in absurdity, so totally off base, that I just can't laugh it off. This happened last week when someone showed me an article written in the town's tabloid. This tabloid, it should be explained, is something of para-newspaper — almost a real newspaper, but iot quite.)

This article dealt with a very real and serious problem facing the future of both the athletic program and the quality of education within the lymouth-Canton Community School District.

The problem is a completely out-dated system called random selection - a system whereby a computer decides which of the two high schools, Canton or Salem, students will attend

OPPOSITION TO random selection has been present since 1973, when the system was initiated. The opposition in the last two years has grown nore and more outspoken as the obvious problems lave become more evident.

Things came to somewhat of a head a couple of Monday's ago at a meeting of the school board. Several coaches approached the board in an attempt to make the members aware of what andom selection was doing to the families within the district and what affect it was having on the athletic program.

Two Salem coaches, Ron Krueger and Chuck Olson, asked that random selection be waived for children of Centennial Educational Park staff members. Both Olson and Krueger have children about to come into the high school. Both children have chipped out to Canton and would compete against their fathers.

"I am now being faced with a definite conflict of interest," Krueger said in a letter to the board. "Choose my son over my team or my team over my

Should anyone in a country where freedom is paramount have to make such a choice?

The board, thanks to the support of some newly elected members headed by Dean Swartzwelter, was moved by the coaches' presentation. The board decided to take another look at random selection. maybe it was time for revision

WELL, A reporter from the town's tabloid sat through all this and decided to write a column. No problem. Everyone's entitled to their opinion, even if it isn't the same as yours or mine.

But an opinion is supposed to be based on facts. None were evident in the column filed in the town's tabloid.

You see, the reporter chose to take shots at the coaches. However, the reporter is absolutely ignorant of what coaches do. It appears obvious that the reporter is naive about the important role coaches play in the development of young people. The lead of the column suggested that the school board be "lined up and shot" if it gave in to the coaches' wishes. Obviously, this reporter is a graduate of the Idi Amin School of Journalism.

The reporter from the town's tabloid went on to suggest that the only reason these coaches are putting up a fuss is because they may lose a few more meets.

How utterly absurd. These men, Krueger, Olson Wayne Sparkman, Gary Balconi, Brian Gilles, Tom Williams, all of whom have challenged random selection, are human beings first and coaches second. They are family men who would like the

Gritty Rocks fall in 2 overtimes

Congress doesn't award medals of honor to high school basketball teams. But if it did, Plymouth Salem would have earned one last night

Overstated? Consider this: The Rocks took on Wayne Memorial, Observerland's No. 1 team with a 19-1 record coming in, exactly one night after scrapping for 32 minutes with arch rival Plymouth Canton in a 52-50 victory Tuesday night. Add to that the pressure of a single-elimination state Class A district tournament and you'll agree the Rocks were up against it Wednesday

Still, the Rocks went two overtime periods before finally, begrudgingly bowing to a gallant Wayne team, 60-58

"Plymouth Salem gets all the accolades but we get to play in the district championship," said Wayne head coach Chuck Henry. Wayne, now 20-1, will play Northville at 7:30 Fri-day night at Salem. Northville upset Westland John

Glenn in their semifinal game Wednesday 72-65. Friday's winner will advance to the regional tournament at Eastern Michigan University. "The kids can be proud," said Salem coach Bob Brodie. "There's no reason to hang heads for losing this one. It sure would have been nice to get the 'W though.

THE WIN was there for the taking several times for both teams, but in the end, it was Wayne's Mark Robinson who stepped up and grabbed it.

After Salem's Eric Sovine hit a clutch free throw with nine seconds left in the second overtime to tie things at 58, Wayne worked the ball down the court in a hurry. Robinson, just a sophomore, took the ball on the baseline, made one move to the basket and cooly drained a 10-footer as the buzzer sounded.

It was Robinson's second chance at being a hero. He buried a jumper with seven seconds left in regulation, but Sovine foiled him by taking the ball the length of the floor and hitting a pretty layup just ahead of the buzzer to send the game into OT.

"Salem played an exceptional game," Henry said. "They did a great job of controlling the tempo. Bob Brodie did a great job coaching tonight."

Howard Flowers led Wayne with 20 points. Rob-inson scored 14 and Pollis Robertson added 14 points and 12 rebounds.

For Salem, whose season ends with 13-9 record, Sovine finished with 16 points, Mike White added 12 and LeSean Haygood scored 10 and grabbed 12 rebounds before fouling out in the first OT.

JOHN GLENN'S season ended on a bitter note. Losing to Northville hurt, surely, but the manner in which it lost was doubly tough to take. The Rockets (11-10) led 19-8 late in the first quarter and looked poised to run Northville out.

Steadily, the bigger, stronger Northville team wore Glenn down. Northville outscored Glenn 23-16 in the final quarter. Glenn went ice cold from the floor hitting 8 of 28 shots.

Northville (10-11) was led by Don Norton's 18 points. Mike Hilfinger scored 18, Greg Wendel 15 and John Storm 14.

Mike Baydarian led Glenn with 27 points. Steve Hawley added 11.

Rocks hold off Chiefs again

By Scott Adler staff writer

Dave VanWagoner wore his sweatsuit to the Canton-Salem district basketball matchup Tuesday for good reason.

The usually low-key Canton coach looked like he was in an aerobics class along the sidelines, jump-ing, clapping and cheering his team on in a typically intense battle between the Plymouth rivals.

But in the end it was the Rocks who showed the Chiefs "How," draining 4 of 4 free throws in the final minute to secure a narrow, 52-50 victory.

Once again, emotion was the great equalizer, pushing an undermanned Canton squad to an outstanding performance against the more powerful Rocks.

Neither coach was surprised at how close the final outcome was

"We knew it would be tough," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "We expected it to be close. Canton is scrappy and didn't want to lose three (times to Salem) in one year. They took us to the limit." Said VanWagoner: "I knew it would be a 1 or 2 point game. We played as hard and as smart as we could, but we didn't win. But win or lose, it's the mental and physical effort that counts. I'm proud of my team."

opportunity to coach their own children, or at least not be put into the uncomfortable position of coaching another person to defeat their kid.

FAMILIES ARE being divided because of random selection. That is the bare fact of the matter. Ask Salem assistant football coach John Campbell about it. He and his son, a Canton footbal player, were at war with each other for a too-long period of time.

Somebody tell me why athletics is the only aspect of CEP life that is strictly segregated Canton-Salem? Everything else within the CEP is combined

Thus, when the town's tabloid reporter asks, "Do we have math teachers demanding their kids be sent to the same school they're at?" the answer is, of course not. Math teachers' kids can be in their parents' classroom because there isn't a Canton-Salem division for math classes

You know, the more I think of it, the attitudes reflected in that column reminded me of school superintendent Dr. John Hoben's attitude on the matter

Hoben, as everyone should know by now, is the staunchest supporter of random selection. So, it was rather shocking to read where he is going to chair a committee designed to study the proposed changes to the random selection system

THEN I thought about it. Hoben, always shutting down those opposed to random selection fearing a change in the system would be an indictment against him for instituting it in the first place. agreed to chair a committee to review the system Smells of a smoke screen to me.

I hope I'm wrong. Changes need to be made. I have always maintained that the board should combine Canton and Salem. But, since that's not likely to happen, at least do away with random selection and go back to a boundary system. The boundaries are much more stable now than in 1973

But, if that's also deemed impossible, at least modify the system as suggested by the coaches and Swartzwelter

P.S. Ron Krueger is enrolling his son Lee at Catholic Central and is seriously considering resigning as Salem's wrestling coach.

Twenty-one Observerland wrestlers competed Saturday in the Class A state wrestling meet at Grand Valley State College and for the first time in several years, no one came home a champion.

Alas, no champions

But there were several solid performances and one sterling team showing.

Livonia Bentley, a team that won only 3 dual meets all season, scored 43 points Saturday to place 7th in the state. (Temperance-Bedford won the state title with 115 points, Hazel Park was 2nd with 102.5.)

Bentley sent 3 wrestlers to Grand Valley, and 2 of them made it to the finals. Salem Yaffai, wrestling at 105, lost the title to Bedford's Doug Harper, 8-2. No shame though for Yaffai; Harper has won 102 consecutive matches in his career.

MARK ZENAS (185) was also a runner-up. He was edged by Bedford's Jeff Kaminski, 8-7. Kaminski beat Zenas 17-6 in the regional finale. Zenas finishes his season with a 44-2 record.

Anwar Yaffai, the 3rd Bulldog competing, won 2 matches at state and did not place.

Three other Observerland wrestlers made it to the finals. Westland John Glenn's Dan Gibson (126) was ousted by Sam Amine from Warren Lincoln, 4-3. Wayne Memorial's Tim Mitchell (138) was pinned by Pat Boyd of Mount Pleasant.

Farmington's Ab Hazen (167) lost a nailbiter 7-4. to Brighton's Mike Baker.

Plymouth Salem's Dave Dameron placed 5th at 119. His vounger brother, Dennis, placed 7th at 98.

Wayne's Ed Fowler placed 5th at 132 and Farmington's Dave Hovey placed 6th at 105

The following area wrestlers did not place at the state meet: Jim Malson (heavyweight, Plymouth Canton), Brendon Rock (98, Cathelic Central), Jason Wiebeck (112, Catholic Central), James Benda (126, North Farmington), Mike Wilczewski (126, Catholic Central), Geno Tokarz (132, Catholic Central), Dan Schimansky (138, John Glenn), Dave Shareef (145, Wayne), Andy Ward (145, Salem), Tim Mulroy (167, Wayne) and J.B. # Rock spikers ousted early

Plymouth Salem's volleyball season came to an abrupt end Saturday at the Class A district tournament at Ypsilanti.

The Rocks were ousted in their 1st match by eventual tournament champ Westland John Glenn 16-14, 15-3

"It was typical Salem," said Rocks coach Betty Smith. "We were up 14-7 in the first game, let them get back in it, and then we played terrible in the second game.

The Rocks finish the season with a 7-7 record (not counting tournament matches).

"I'm happy with our season," Smith said. "It's hard to come in a situation where the kids were taught one thing and I came in and taught something else. Considering that adjustment, everything went good. Look out for next year. We have a lot of talent coming back, and the kids are used to me now.'

Thursday, March 7, 1985 O&E Salem reluctantly lets go of swim crown

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Champions, the Livonia Stevenson swim team found out, do not die easily. Plymouth Salem, two-time defending Western Lakes swim champions, finally yielded its crown Friday night but not without putting up a monumental fight to keep it.

Stevenson, a team that routed the Rocks at both the Western Lakes Relays and in a dual meet, a team that was picked to knock off Salem by some 90 points, found itself 12 points behind after the premliminary heats Thurs-

"We were ahead going into the finals (on Friday)," said Salem swim coach talking about kid you didn't even know 500 free (4:49.0). His 500-free time set a Chuck Olson. "We had those boys from Stevenson a little bit worried. This was the best overall preliminary swim of any team I've coached. To pick up 90some points and actually go ahead, I mean, we took some incredible drops in our times."

Stevenson left the Salem pool Thursday night a bit shaken by Salem's performance, but came back Friday a most determined unit. The Spartans, by winning six events and shattering a relay and the 10 backstroke.

down to the predicted Salem-Stevenson

The Rocks didn't have a league champion, but they picked up points in every event. Greg Wolff picked up seconds in both the 200 and 500 freestyle. Tony Atwell took seconds in the 200 IM and 100 butterfly. Jim Burns took second in the 100 free. The Rocks' 400 free relay team placed second, one second behind Stevenson's record-setting performance.

The Rocks placed swimmers in the top six of every event except breaststroke. They had two swimmers in the top six of three events and they placed 2-3-5 in the 200-IM.

Rocks take division title

By Chris McCosky staff writer

It is a rare and precious occasion when an athletic performance can produce goose-bumps on the arms of the spectators.

Barrie Muzbeck provided those watching the Western Lakes league gymnastics meet with enough goosebumps to last an eternity Saturday. The Walled Lake Western senior gymnast put her world-class talent on display at North Farmington, electrifying the crowd and dominating the field of competitors. She won all four events, scoring 9.5 on vault (using a breathtaking Tsukahara), 9.65 on uneven bars, 9.25 on balance beam and a 9.5 on floor exercise

Those scores gave her an all-around total of 37.90, 3.4 points higher than the next competitor

"Oh, darn," Muzbeck exclaimed half seriously after getting her all-around score. "My goal was to score 38 allaround " only part of Saturday's excitement.

NORTH FARMINGTON, for the eighth straight year, won the league hampionship. But it was a struggle. After two events, North carried a slim 2 lead over Western. After three events, the lead was just .75.

"I wasn't too worried at that point because Western had bars left to do. ] knew what they were capable of," said successful North coach Mary Glitz. "Our girls knew what they had to do on floor and they really came through when they had to."

Indeed. North, led by Eileen Murtaugh's 8.8 and Lucine Torovan's 8.6. scored 33.50 on floor. Meanwhile, Western scored just 30.30 on bars.

"Walled Lake Western did a very nice job, and not just Barrie." Glitz said. "Their other kids did well, too." North placed three gymnasts in the top 10 all-around and four in the top 12. Murtaugh was the Lakes Division allaround champ with 34.50. Toroyan placed sixth all-around (33.35). Kara Karhu 10th (32.15) and Lisa Brundle 12th (31.50)

OK, so much for excitement. How about some surprises. Farmington Harrison, 9-3 on the dual meet season losing to both Western and Salem, turned on the juices Saturday to gain a tie with Western for the Western Division championship with a superb 128.10 team score.

"We were just awesome today," said Hawk coach Linda Perkins, fighting back the tears. "We've really started to come together. We're working harder at practice and the girls have a lot more confidence."

TRACY SOLOMON was the top scorer for Harrison, amassing a 33.55 all-around score (fourth best) and winning the Western Division ribbon on floor (8.55), Jill Birsa (31.80 all-around) and Jody Solomon (31.25) also contributed mightly to Harrison's performance The Hawks scored team bests on bars (32.15), beam (32.30) and floor (32.25).

The other surprise was supplied by them the Lakes Division crown. "Everything's conacetic," said Salem coach Kathi Kinsella, who celebrated w-Western Division char like all the other teams here have improved and we have pretty much stayed the same."

The Rocks were led by Beth Rafail, third all-around with 33.70, and Jackie Huff, eighth all-around with 32.80. Rafail garnered Lakes Division ribbons in vault (8.85) and floor (8.85), while Huff, still nursing a sore ankle, won division honors on beam (8.80).

AFTER ALL the goose-bumps, excitement and surprises, what else could this meet provide? How about some good old-fashioned grit.

That element was supplied by Farm-ington's Katie MacIntosh. The personable senior suffered what was believed to be a stress fracture in her leg warming up prior to the meet.

But, MacIntosh, taped like a mum-Muzbeck's brilliance, though, was my, using ice packs between routines and limping noticably, managed to scored 33.0 all-around, seventh best. She scored 8.20 on vault, 8.45 on bars (despite a frightening fall off her dismount), 7.90 on beam and 8.45 on floor. So, after eight consecutive league titles, is North Farmington getting tired of its success? Hardly.

"Hey, I don't take anything for granted," Glitz said. "This meet was very exciting. You had some teams really going after each other. Walled Lake Western, Salem, Harrison, they all had something to prove to each other. You have to be on to win a league meet." The bad news for the rest of the Western Lakes is this: North Farmington returns all four of its top all-around

gymnasts next year

New improved IRA gives you more flexibility

By Sid Mittra special writer

Our client, Betty, was convinced that the best time to invest in an IRA is April 15 of the following. year, so she could have use of that money until she is forced to and it over to a trustee.

Another client, John, felt pretty much the same way. This is clearly a wrong argument, because it is ased on a misunderstanding of the tax-deferred nature of an IRA investment

THE TIME IS NOW

An IRA investment has two components: the principal you invest and the interest earned on this principal. You are, of course, allowed to deduct the principal from your taxable income for any given year.

But more importantly, the interest earned during that year is taxdeferred so the tax you would have paid on this interest in fact works for you.

Consequently, the sooner you invest in an IRA, the more interest is tax-deferred, and the better off you are. Hence the time to invest your

1985 IRA money is now. DIVIDING UP YOUR IRA DEPO-SITS

This year, when you invest in a tax-deferred IRA - $2,000 for a wage-earner and $250 for a nonworking spouse - you may want to take advantage of a little-noticed aspect of the regulations.

Under current rules, you no longer need to deposit $2,000 in the breadwinner's account and the meager balance in that of the nonworking spouse. You can split the money in two accounts any way you want, so long as one of the accounts gets no more than $2,000.

A factor to take into account is the age of both spouses. If, for example, a husband's wife is not working and she is somewhat younger than he is, it can make sense to put the maximum $2,000 into her ac-- providing that the couple can afford to live for a while on the husband's pension from his employ er, Social Security, or other income

SINCE YOU must begin drawing from your IRA at age 70%, this tac tic can effectively delay distribution of the IRA money for several addi tional years - until the wife reaches that age - while the money con tinues to accumulate tax-free interest. This way, the spouse will have the larger nest egg later on.

In a case where you have a sizable lump sum from a pension fund to roll over into an IRA, it is appro priate to aim for long-term certifi cates of deposit that offer the high est interest, even if you feel sure you will want to withdraw money before the five-year or 10-year CDs mature

BUT WHAT about the threat of an early withdrawal penalty? No penalty can be imposed on the ternination of certificates in an IRA account owned by a person aged 59<sup>1/2</sup> or older.

Because the yield on long-term certificates can be 2 percent or more than the yield on short-term

LL ACTORS require the gift of sharing to become a member of TAP Ltd., a Michigan touring company, based in Farmington Hills, which performs everything from musical revues to psycho dramas.

Founder-director-producer Michael J. Klier said of his 200-member companv. which is beginning its 11th year We are out for the company to work together, not to make a star. We show up as the people who have an opportunity to share with you.

Klier believes if he shares honesty and trust with his performers, then the performers will in turn share their honsty and trust with the audience.

Flint wanted a show about cars, so Klier created "Shake, Rattle and Roll." One of TAP's trademarks is friendliess. The actors greet each individual in the audience after every show.

"We are people-oriented and we want to know who shared their time sent the company's major offerings, they had to learn because a performwith us. We're good enough that we don't have to hide behind the stage," he Interaction with the audience is an-

New interest in lute keeps master maker busy

By Mary Klemic staff writer

Among the violins and guitars hanging on one wall in James North's Plymouth home is another type of stringed instrument, one with a wider neck and many more strings and a shape like that of half a pear.

It is a lute. And the instrument, popular more than three centuries ago, is finding renewed acceptance in this country

North, one of the few master-trained luthiers (lute makers) in the United States, has been making lutes for eight years now. He receives more orders for those instruments than he does for making or restoring guitars, violins, mandolins and banjos, thanks in part to such groups as Rochester's Lutes in Michigan Society, he says.

"The lute was as popular as the gui-tar is today," North said. "As some of the great old (lute) masters died away, the quality (of lutes) dropped and they became harder to play. People cursed

"Being able to express (music) on authentic instruments is the fashionable thing for musicians today, without a doubt

NORTH'S FATHER and grandfather both were woodworkers and musi-cians. North completed formal training in Arizona and went on to study with master luthier Jacob Vande Geest in Switzerland.

"He is definitely the contemporary father of the lute today," North said. "He was at the forefront 10 years ago when the lute was resurging very strongly in Europe." Of the 12 luthiers North estimates work in the United States, only he and one other have been trained by a master, he says.

"You have to go for at least five years of technical training, another five or six after that," North said. "You could go (to study) the violin alone for the same amount of time. It's kind of like those people who have that desire to be nurses and doctors. They really put everything into it. This is kind of the same sort of thing. It takes the same dedication and devotion as the other professions."

Even now North thinks he has more to learn. He hopes to return to Europe, to study lute authenticity and restoration at four or five major museums there, and would like to make harps in the future types of lutes: the 24-string baroque lute, which dates from around 1670-90; the 19-string renaissance lute, from the 1500s to 1670; and the 15-string eightcourse lute, which preceded the renaissance lute.

North's lutes are built according to the style of the period. He uses imported wood, which he finds leads to a sweeter tone than American wood: spruce and maple from Germany (for the soundboard and back, respectively), rosewood from India or Brazil (for the fingerboard, near the tuning pegs) and ebony from India or Africa (also for the fingerboard). The strings are made of

It takes North one to two weeks to make an instrument from start to finish. After ordering the wood, he draws up a master design, then takes measurements of the player's hand. He cuts the wood in his workshop garage, work-ing with as many hand tools as possible, often using a wooden bench from Europe

The top of the lute is one piece. If North makes a mistake while carving it, the entire top must be made over again.

(P.C.W.G)1E

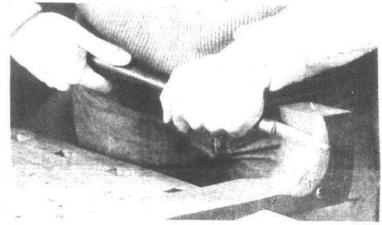

North uses a lute finish, a blend of beeswax and turpentine, instead of a varnish to waterproof and protect the NORTH MAKES three different instrument. He asks that the customer return at least once a year to have it cleaned and adjusted.

"A fine instrument has to be seen to once a year, like a fine car," North said.

PRICE RANGES for North's work include $50 to $100 for mandolins, and $400 to $1,500 for guitars, lutes and violins. Upon commission, the price is adjusted to accommodate the custom-er's needs and wants. North offers a less-detailed student model for beginners.

"I offer a little bit more personal at-tention to detail," he said. "They are fully warranteed. I deal as best I can with the fine aspects of instruments."

Many of the lute orders North receives are from guitarists who want to add to their musical range, he says. He suggests that anyone seeking information on where to learn the lute contact Lyle Nordstrom at Oakland University in Rochester.

The neck of a guitar is carved by James North's experienced

The trouble with toys nowadays is that they don't break. Most of them are made so nice, especially the Fisher Price toys.

So what are you going to do with perfectly good toys when your child outgrows them? Well, we stack them on shelves and save them either for the next child to come along or for the "great garage sale" that has yet to happen after three years of planning.

For 15 years we have saved all the toys, bionic men and action figures. We have every weeble that ever wobbled and now we own every musclebound super hero known to man. Be tween the three poys there has been years of fun and most of it is now stored in Adam's room. Well, when Adam had some friends over, someone discovered the hidden treasure of toys and someone unearthed every single one of them.

WHEN I saw Adam's room, it was as if the past 15 years flashed before my eyes. "Oh, wow." I said, "who got all these toys off the shelves in the closet?"

Instantly five halos popped out and glowed brightly over each little head. So later after the company left I asked Adam, "who emptied out all those toys?" To which he said, "Gee, Dad, nobody did, it just kinda happened.

Well, that is the way color is with or my student wants to find.

Every so often, someone will call the store and ask me some horribly technical color question. So I quickly fumble under the counter and pull out my trusty $2.50 color computer and wildly spin the colors around until something looks good. Then I calmly quote the sometimes-lengthy list of colors needed to answer the caller's question, as if I knew it all along.

PROBABLY THE most-often asked question is, "What colors do yóu mix to make a good flesh color?" The best answer is also a question of whose flesh are you painting?"

Of course flesh ranges from the yellow of the Orient to the blue-blacks of Africa. For most people the color they are seeking is somewhere in the combination of the complementary colors. Permanent green-light and Cadmium red medium. Now this combination will result with intense colors ranging from rich reddish brown to very bright red.

So to achieve the lighter colors of flesh you must tint or add white to the various mixtures. Imagine your original mixture of red and green was divided into eight separate steps between them. Then imagine three tinted colors above each of your mixed colors. This would allow you 32 colors all of which could be considered as a flesh color.

There is however an easier way to achieve flesh colors. When you add white to several earth colors you can come up with some instant flesh colors. Indian red tints to a pinkish flesh color while Mars red tints to a paler pink.

Burnt Sienna tints to a yellowish flesh and Venetian red tints to what most people would call a portrait flesh color. Now to yellow up any of nicely and to shade colors you can, of course, add in some grays to cool off your shaded areas. Perhaps as you may already know, there are probably a hundred books on portrait paint-ing and each are loaded with tips.

But after limited investigation of a few of them, you will find that the best thing to do is put down the books and get out your paints and "kinda let it happen" and it will happen. You will come up with just the right color and your own recipes for it. Who knows, maybe you will even write a book someday.

Why not? A hundred and one books on portraits won't hurt anybody

ARTIFOLKS: Bob Parrish from Livonia was to me at first just a good customer, but over the years he has grown to become a friend of mine. Bob came into the store to see what I thought of his painting for the up-andcoming Duck stamp contest.

He had several sheets of acetate over a beautiful painting of two ducks in the water. Bob then asked, "How do the reeds look?" As he pulled off each sheet of acetate, the reeds changed in their numbers and density You see after investing hours of detailed painting on the ducks, water and background, he wasn't about to paint the final foreground reeds without trying several approaches on acetate.

When the acetate laid flat on the painting, it looked just like part of the painting and allowed us the opportunity to discuss the look of each. This step takes away the "here goes nothing" approach that some people have out of frustration. Which usually causes a halting tentative stroke of the brush that most often shows Thanks, Bob, for the tip and don't you folks forget it next time you come to a sudden halt on your painting.

James Dean still touches the heart of adolescence

A couple weeks ago, "Rebel Without Cause" was shown on television. I catch it whenever I can. It's a reminder of how intense adolescent emotions can

James Dean

When I need that kind of emotional fix, I turn to Dean, J.D. Salinger and mid-'60s Bob Dylan. Lately, I've been nostalgia-gliding on all three.

The movie screens are currently glutted with teen-age, high school moves intended to draw in the primary movie audience and generate a few record sales with a soundtrack LP. None of them create guite the power of 'Rebel'' and none of them have a Dean.

JAMES DEAN is an unusual figure n movie history. His fragile-tough, man-boy intensity is there for us in only three movies. He died a romantic death, cutting through the late afternoon at 100 miles an hour in a sportscar, racing to an early end. Ever since that September day in 1955, people have been trying to analyze his appeal, actors have tried to imitate his style (no one ever has) and adolescents have found a true embodiment of their

Try architecture — just for fun

Amateur photographers often think architectural subject presents itself in raphy with its sophisticated view cameras and perspective control. Then many get cold feet and end up shooting the kids in the backyard again.

Well, just remember, you're not shooting for Architectural Digest and many exciting and refreshing pictures can be yours with the equipment you currently own if you keep a keen eve open for the numerous structures you encounter every day.

This performance was a tribute to the late Valter Poole, who was associate conductor of the Detroit Symphony and later became associated with several local orchestras, including the Scandinavian.

Considering the quality of this concert, Mr. Poole ould have hardly asked for a more worthy tribute if he had been there to hear it.

The large, wide auditorium offered good acous tics for the combined large choir, arranged on stage in a semi-circle.
