Theft reports grow during springtime

By Diane Gale staff writer

Spring air spurs more than just lovers and blossoming flowers.

The balmy breezes and basking sun also have given way to an increase in some crimes in Canton Township. During a seven-day peri-od, police reports showed more than nine burglaries and larcenies from homes and cars in Canton

"I would think incidents of larce ny and burglary are going to increase when the weather gets bet-ter," said Canton police Lt. Alex

Canton police have arrested a suspect in one of the incidents. Richard Allen Buchin, 29, of Detroit was charged with breaking and entering an occupied dwelling and possession of a stolen motor vehicle. A plea of not guilty was entered for Buchin by 35th District Judge James Garber at Buchin's arraignment March 25

A $25,000 BOND or 10-percent surety was set by Judge Garber. A preliminary examination will be held April 4 in 35th District Court to determine if there is enough evidence to bind Buchin over for trial in Wayne County Circuit Court. He was detained in the Canton Township jail as of March 26.

Buchin is charged with a break-in which occurred about 3 a.m. March 25 on Terrel Court. The residents were home at the time of the incident, but were unharmed by the intruder. The thief stole a lady's purse, a $250 television set and a $200 shotgun.

As Canton police checked the area around the home they found Buchin lying on the front seat of a four-door 1984 Honda Accord, which was later identified as having been stolen from Southfield. The homeowner, who was called to the car by police identified a television set as the one stolen from his house. Canton police recovered all of the resident's stolen goods, Wilson said.

Murder trial date set for Fisher

By Diane Gale

A first-degree murder trial for Charles Fisher, a doctor of microbiology previously of Canton Township, is set to be held before Wayne County Circuit Judge Susan D. Borman beginning Wayne County Prosecuting Attorney Timothy Kenny and Fisher's attorney Daniel Burress, are expected to begin juror selection at that time.

hoosing jurors who have an opinion about Fisher's innocence or guilt because of media coverage of the case might be difficult, Burress said. "I try to make very few statements," the attorney said. "It's always a problem when a case gets too much publicity and it restricts getting a juror who hasn't read about the case

"I'm optimistic, and I still have a lot of work to do," he said.

A pre trial hearing is slated for May 8 and will serve as a conference period between the attorneys, he added.

FISHER IS in better psychological condition than he has been, Burress said. "I think he is much better than when he was living in the Canton jail," Burress said. During the examination Fisher was alternatively held in Wayne County jail and Canton Township's Police Department lock-up. He was released after posting 10 percent of a $250,000 bond 35th District Judge James Garber March 12.

While free on bond, Fisher went to Missouri where many of his family members live, including a son and his Fisher is charged with the suffocation death of his wife, Ella Marie Mercado-Fisher, 31, in an allegedly staged burglary at their Canton Township home July 15. She died July 20 in St Joseph's Hospital, Ypsilanti, when her respirator machine was turned off and her kidneys were donated.

School choice OK'd for siblings

By M.B. Dillon Ward staff writer

After impassioned pleas from coaches, parents, teachers and students Monday night, the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education narrowly passed a resolution enabling cer-tain eighth graders to attend the high school of their choice.

Passed 4-3 was Trustee Dean Swartzwelter's resolution stipulating that present and future eighth graders who have siblings at Centennial Educational Park (CEP) may elect to attend either Plymouth Canton or Plymouth Salem high schools. Presently, Plymouth-Canton students are randomly assigned to high school.

Opposing the resolution were trustees E. J. McClendon, Nancy Quinn and Elaine Kirchgatter.

A second resolution calling for similar privileges for eighth graders whose parents work at CEP was withdrawn by Swartzwelter after trustees raised questions about its long-range impact. Central administration was directed to, by Monday, determine how long it will take for answers to be obtained Tabled was a related resolution drafted by the administration, which would have "altered the random selection process as it pertains to the sibling rule, placing no time constraints on the sibling rule effective in the fall of 1986-87. This would result after the random selection assignment of the 7th and 8th grades in the 1985-86 school year.

February, ninth graders throughout the school district were randomly assigned by computer to attend either Plymouth Salem or Plymouth Canton high schools Ninth graders now attend middle schools but are eligible to compete on CEP athletic teams.

The random selection process was initiated about 12 years ago to prevent athletic recruiting abuses from the middle schools and to avoid possible accusations of de facto segre-Since random selection was insti-

There's still time left to file for school board

Any resident of Canton or Plymouth interested in serving on the school board has about 10 days to pick up, circulate and return nominating petitions.

The deadline is 4 p.m. Monday, April 8, to file nominating petitions with the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education office at 454 S. Harvey in

In the June 10 school board election, residents will be voting to fill one four-year term and one twoyear term

The one position is held by David Artley of Canton, who is vice president of the board, and the other by trustee Dean Swartzwelter of Plymouth Township who was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the Both are seeking re-election; Art-ley for a four-year term and Swartzwelter for two years. Canton filed for a four-year seat. Nominating petition forms are available from the Board of Education office. Petitions may be picked up or returned from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. Each petition must contain a minimum of 20 valid signatures, a figure based on the number of voters in the last school election. The last day on which a potential candidate can withdraw from the ballot is 4 p.m. Thursday, April 11.

Liquor license requests run into trouble

Center Stage strife

By Diane Gale staff writer

A liquor license transfer to the owner of Center Stage in Canton Township is still pending, but the outlook appears bleak for the night

Canton Supervisor James Poole announced at Tuesday's Township Board of Trustees' meeting that the entertainment facility has violated a Michigan State Liquor License Commission rule by leasing the building to other persons or compa-

John Sassak, the owner of Center

However, in a letter delivered to the board on Monday, he said the facili-"has never allowed any individual, company or otherwise to bring in or sell liquor. The liquor sales are strictly managed and retained by the licensee.

With response to the claim that the establishment is rented to other individuals who do not have the proper licenses to sell liquor, this statement is false, with absolutely no facts or proof to back it up," Sassak wrote.

Supervisor James Poole cited problems regarding liquor licenses being sought by Canton's Bali Hall, a banquet facility, and Center Stage, an entertainment spot.

Bali request nixed

By Diane Gale staff writer

> Canton trustees have refused to grant a liquor license to Bali Hall, a banquet facility on Geddes Road. I think the board would be inclined to give a favorable decision, but hurdles need to be crossed," said Trustee Stephen Larson before the Larson referred to a need for Bali Hall owners to comply with zoning ordinances, pay back taxes and make additional improvements on the building. The motion to deny the license passed 5-2 at a regular board meeting Tuesday night. Trustee Robert Padget and Clerk Linda Chuhran dissented

The building, a former school across the road from the Canton Police Department building, is owned and Saraswathi Bali and Frank and Joan Chakrabarty. Chakrabarty is a Canton firefighter.

SUPERVISOR James Poole said the owners may re-apply for a liquor license at anytime.

"I don't think anyone denies the need for a banquet hall in the township," Bali said.

Dental Medicaid wait hurts elderly

It's become extremely difficult for Larsen to eat or even talk. Her embittered son, Novi's Thomas Larsen, blames Medicaid bureaucrats. "My mother was turned down for treatment by Medicaid after her dentist said she was in need of having her dentures relined," said Larsen. "It was four months before a Medicaid dentist even went to see her. (Except for emergency procedures, Medic aid dental work must be approved by state consult ants who make on-site evaluations.) He examined her back in November and said it was not necessarv to reline the dentures.

"It's worsened to the point where my mother can't talk. She has a mouth of marbles. She's old, but at least before, she could eat and speak. It's Dr. James Lyons says many dentists, himself included, no longer treat Medicaid patients because the state pays them little or nothing. State-deter mined dental fees can average up to one half of regular office fees, but often don't, say dental prosionals interviewed by the Observer. "The whole system is a joke, but a bad joke - a dirty joke," said Dr. Francis LeVeque, who treats pmentally-disabled Medicaid patients at two Detroit hospitals. Dr. LeVeque said he recently completed a Medicaid-approved, three-hour surgery on a young man with Down's syndrome. received a check from the state for five cents," said Dr. LeVeque, who also practices in Bloomfield Hills and teaches dentistry at the University of Detroit "If I sound hitter, I am, It's the position of any physician or dentist who cares about their natients. All I hear about is rejections of legit imate work. Most dentists are happy to work on handicapped and lower socio-economic people at great reductions. But we cannot deal with the people who administer Medicaid. We've tried," said Dr.

Dr. Frederick Tenbusch, head of dental services for the state Department of Social Services, refused to return Observer phone calls. His assistant referred inquiries to Esther Reagan, administrative assistant for the DSS bureau of program policy.

REAGAN SAYS the DSS division must curtail benefits to be cost effective.

"It was determined long ago for budgetary reasons that the extent of our program would be limit-ed to the relief of pain and suffering or denturerelated services," said Reagan. "We have a respona siblity to ensure that we provide as many services to as many people in the most effective way possi-

In 1984, Medicaid paid dentists "just short of" $25 million for their services. An additional $5 million is available this year, she said. "I have to believe (the 95 percent refusal rate) is very inaccurate, she added. "As to the assertion by a particular dentist that the rate of rejection of prior approvals they submit can be translated across the board, I think that's inappropriate." Area dentists' experience with Medicaid is mirrored across the country. The American Dental Association recognizes Medicaid red tape as a festering nationwide problem, and is doing battle in Washington to combat it, said ADA spokesperson Cathy Penesis. "Since 1976 we have urged dental coverage to be mandated under state Medicaid programs. We feel the elderly and financially indigent should be provided a level of dental care they currently are not receiving," she said. On the local legislative front, dentists including Dr. LeVeque and GDC Drs. Gary Lishinski and Mi-

THE DSS is hearing more often from nursing home dentists partially because prior to GDC's incorporation, many people weren't treated, say GDC personnel, who absorb examination and X-ray costs for patients turned down by Medicaid.

State law requires accredited nursing homes to provide emergency and regular dental care. "But Medicaid doesn't pay for regular care, so many homes - unable to find dentists to give free care were fined." said Dr. Jermov. Before Dr. Lishinski formed GDC in 1980, he ent days off treating nursing home residents. Most had to be transported by ambulance and ac panied by nursing home aides, he said between ients in his Canton office. Because of the inconvenience of dragging them here, I started going there. Early on it was apparent that these individuals rarely had routine dental care. Dental conditions were appalling," he said. GDC's arrival has meant convenience and cost savings for nursing homes. Needed care, however is not being given like it should be, said Normar Berger, administrator of Westland's 230-bed Night-ingale West Convalescent Center. GDC is not over-utilizing or abusing the system

They do a great job," said Berger, who saves about $100 on each eliminated ambulance trip. "I want the patients and residents to get the best of all ypes of physical, mental and dental care. But (Medicaid) is not approving as much as it should be approving. It's really a shame, and we're coned. Even with approved cases, service is delayed for 10-12 weeks. A lot of these people are in a lot of pain," added Berger.

GDC STAFFERS say they often hear from upset family members of residents who've been intimidated by state consultants, or denied treatment. Sometimes Medicaid will refuse authorization, and give no reason. We've tried to explain the situa tion, and people called the state," said Karen Chip-"We've gotten angry calls back from the state which says, 'Families aren't supposed to call here. 'ou shouldn't be giving our number out,' " said ipman. "These taxpayers are paying their salaries and they aren't allowed to ask questions?' "We're not really very hard to deal with or uncaring," said Reagan. "That's far fro talk to (the) families of recipients frequently. Reagan said the state often gets complaints from people "on guilt trips." "Maybe they're 50 years old and are putting mom in a home. They go through a real guilt trip seeing mother there without her teeth," she said. "A of people in nursing homes, even if they have teeth they don't wear them, or can't wear them From what I understand, their mouths tend to de-

Drs. Jermov and Lishinski say dentures aren't always the answer, and that for that reason, they often don't recommend them."The system is set up to provide people with what they don't always need." said Dr. Jermov.

"And it doesn't pay for what they do need in many instances. Not to be able to get a filling is some kind of silly," added the dentist, who said GDC often gives free care rather than fight red "We are forced to tell patients. 'Live with your problem tooth until it hurts, or we'll pull it now.' I know I was trained to save people's teeth, not to pull them out," said the 1983 University of Michigan dental school graduate. Medicaid's denture policy can be frustrating, he

"Medicaid will pay for dentures if a patient has worn dentures within the last three years. Many patients, however, haven't seen a dentist for 10 or 20 years. Should we deny a person the right to look and feel good about themselves simply because they're in a nursing home?" he asked.

Dr. Lishinski, who calls DSS dental policies "a flagrant violation of human rights," says he may have to stop providing nursing home care. You can only stand so much pressure before you decide you can't afford it," said the 1978 U of D

Transportation future is at stake

OOKING AT it superficially, a gambler might be taking bets on whether the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) ever will complete construction of the 2.9-mile Downtown People Mover. But the important question is whether SEMTA will be in operating existence by the end of the year or, if so, what kind of shape it will be in. In Washington, the Western-oriented Reagan Administration wants to discontinue all operating subsidies for public transit. Albert Martin, SEMTA's acting general manager, said the bus agency might be forced to close its doors if Congress goes along with that drastic step.

IN LANSING, legislators - particularly Senate Republicans - are taking long, hard looks at SEMTA's People Mover, its state funding level, its relationship to the Detroit Department of Transportation (D-DOT) and its governing structure.

The Legislature created SEMTA in 1967 as one private bus company after another

Along the way, the Legislature ordered SEMTA to negotiate a merger with D-DOT so that a single transit system would serve the seven-county region and its 4.3 million inhabitants. For various reasons, some of them good, that merger never has

Meanwhile, the SEMTA board has got itself in hot water by redesigning the People Mover, which was supposed to be a $137-million project, into a $200-million project, although it lacked the federal and state capital funds to pay for it.

Area gymnasts: A mix of youth, talent

By Chris McCosky

HILE BARRIE Muzbeck's individual brilliance and Freeland's team muscle grabbed all headlines at the state gymnastics meet, North Farmington coach Mary Glitz was quietly selected the state's coach of the

"I was totally shocked," was her re-

North Farmington did not qualify for the state meet this season. In fact, North's representation at the meet was limited to two gymnasts competing only in individual events.

But the Michigan High School Gymnastics Coaches Association didn't base its coach of the year vote on the past year alone. Instead, it focused on a most successful career and selected a very deserving coach

Mary Glitz has coached gymnastics at North for nine years and has compiled a 111-16-1 record. In that span her teams have won eight league titles and a pair of state championships.

"The girls made this year very special," Glitz said. "It's basically the same group we had last year, we're Glitz was deep into her first pregnancy for much of the season (she gave birth last month) and thought seriously about retiring. But, the North gymnasts begged and pleaded for their coach to

She did, and now harbors no thoughts of giving up coaching.

"I was very disappointed after the regionals, disappointed for the girls," Glitz said of her team's fourth place finish at the regional meet. "They had worked so hard all year and wanted to go on so badly. But, they just had falls they don't normally have."

Still, for eight straight years, Glitz's teams have dominated Observerland gymnastics. This year, North swept through the league dual meet season unbeaten and won the league meet with a 132 team score. The Raiders placed five gymnasts in the top 12 all-around at that meet.

Therefore, it should come as no surprise that the Raiders dominate the · 1985 All-Area Gymmnastics Team, the second annual Super Six selected by Observerland coaches

The Raiders placed three gymnasts on the first team and the coach of the year — Mary Glitz.

Here is the Observerland's Super Six

EILEEN MURTAUGH, NORTH FARMINGTON: The highlight of this personable junior's season came at the Western Lakes league meet. She scored a 34.50 all-around which, in most years, would have won outright. But, this year's league meet featured Olympic hopeful Barrie Muzbeck. Thus, Mur taugh's 34.50 was a most impressive second best. Murtaugh placed in a fiveway tie for the final qualifying floor exercise spot at the regionals (8.55) and took 36th at the state meet (8.15).

LUCINE TOROYAN, NORTH FARMINGTON: When they describe the prototype body for a gymnast, they could use this talented junior as a mod-Short, petite frame and full of strength. She is solid all-around (33.55 at the league meet), but her premier event is uneven bars. She tied for placed 29th in the state (8.45). Her 8.85 score on bars was the best in Observer-land this season. Watching her, one gets the feeling that Lucine Toroyan, as good as she is now, isn't even close to tapping her full potential.

BETH RAFAIL, PLYMOUTH SA-LEM: Observerland gymnasts recorded but two scores better than 9.0 this sea-Beth Rafail owns both. She scored 9.05 on both beam and floor exercise this season. She also earned the highest place at state of any area gymnast. After placing 10th all-around at regional, she placed 13th on balance beam (8.4). Rafail scored a third-best 33.70 all-around at the league meet, including a pair of 8.85s on vault and floor. Rafail is making her second Super Six appearance.

JACKIE HUFF, PLYMOUTH SA-LEM: This talented athlete earns the mythical titles Most Improved and Most Gritty gymnast in Observerland. After scoring 29.80 at last year's league meet, far back in the pack, Huff emerged with a 32.80 this season. That despite competing with a nagging leg injury all season. She placed 11th allaround at the regional meet and qualified in two events at the state meet She placed 32nd on vault (8.35) and 42nd on beam (7.6). She had the second highest score in the area on vault (8.95), beam (8.8) and floor exercise (8.95)

TRACY SOLOMON, FARMINGTON HARRISON: 1985 proved to be a bit of a rollercoaster ride for this secondtime Super Six gymnast. Alas, her season ended on a crest as she led Harrison to a Western Division title with a solid 33.55 all-around showing at the league meet. She qualified for state with a sixth-place 8.55 on floor and placed 36th at state (8.15). A junior, Solomon's bests were 8.85 on vault, 8.4 on bars, 8.2 on beam and 8.8 on floor.

KARA KARHU, NORTH FARM-INGTON: A flamboyant performer, Karhu placed 10th all-around at the league meet with a 32.15. To show the improvement of this sophomore, Karhu did not score all-around at last year's league meet. This year, Karhu notched an 8.75 on vault, an 8.4 on bars, an 8.65 on beam and an 8.5 on floor

Since I've been on the beat in Observerland, I've been going to the state semifinals and finals exclusively as a spectator instead of a member of press row

Who cares if I paid $6 to a scalper out in front of the Crisler marquee? I had to see this Flint Northwestern team, the one they call the best of all time in this state.

This was my last chance to see if this team was truly all it was cracked up to be.

THERE WAS Mr. Basketball, Glen Rice banking shots off the window and skying above the rim.

He looked more like Mr. Universe, while his four teammates played like Charles Atlas, Hercules, Lou Ferrigno and Arnold Swartzenegger

These were men playing in a boys game I'm afraid to say they toyed with the De-troit Public School League (PSL) champs much of the second half

Maybe they should make Flint Northwestern play in a new class. How about A+

But as I sat in row 28 of the gold seats I wondered how these teams from Flint always dominate the state tournament.

As I chomped on Don Canham's popcorn, I also wondered when a public school team from my coverage area would go to one of the big houses (Jenison or Crisler). Plymouth Salem was the last team to do it in Flint, it appears, is blessed with good ath letes. But what is their secret?

AN ANSWER to that question caught my eye last week in Joe Falls' column in the

Detroit News

Flint Central coach Stan Gooch, who started the Flint reign with three straight champions of his own at the start of this decade, credits the Flint Schools' Community Education program.

He told Falls that the gyms are open 10 months a year and six nights a week. Kids learn to love the game by becoming gym rats, according to Gooch

That's how Catholic Central's John McIntyre, who is going to the University of Detroit on a basketball scholarship, became a

A typical McIntyre day in the winter would be school, practice, dinner, study and practice again (on his own).

Garden City went farther than any Observerland boys basketball team this year. The Cougars reached the regional finals before getting dumped by Southwestern.

This GC team succeeded because their school district is committed to building a solid athletic program.

COACH BOB DROPP gave credit to the school's administration for giving him a basketball technique class (for boys and girls), giving him access to the gym on Sunday (anytime he wants it) and providing a junior high program.

This team went 20-4 this season with no starters returning from a year ago.

It's no coincidence either that Garden City's football team went 7-2 and its wrestling basketball and volleyball squads won league titles.

But it appears the other districts in our coverage area (Livonia, Redford, Plymouth-Canton, Clarenceville and Farmington) have padlocked the doors on their gyms Being a product of the Livonia Public Schools, I can speak from experience.

Back in the early 1970s, Franklin High School would have never won a district, league or regional basketball title, or provided three full-ride basketball scholarships had it not been for the kindness of a custodi an named Clarence Nelson.

Nelson routinely slipped the Franklin players into the gym to enable them to develop their game. Many cherished thoughts still go out toward the white-haired man.

TIMES HAVE NOT changed. I found the stumbling blocks still exist today.

This season, Franklin's freshman basketball team was told they could not enter an invitational tournament at Dearborn Divine Child. The district said no because they don't schedule games on Sundays and the necessary funds could not be appropriated.

This the same district that is sitting on an $8-$10 million surplus.

What is the general average of the bowlers in the United States? This unusual question was asked the other day by a caller who confided that he didn't bowl and his only nterest was centered on high scores.

It would be rather difficult to get the averages across the nation as there are millions of bowlers. But fortunately, the Detroit men's and women's association have worked out a plan to get the averages in this

When their averages were figured the general average for the men was 158 and 133 for the women. Most of the average came in the 156-170 class. But each year they are getting higher.

All-Area hockey team shines

A renaissance of sorts took place this year with Although there were no state championships won.

Churchill and Stevenson tied for first place in the nine-team Suburban Prep Hockey League (SPHL). The third place team in that league, Livonia Franklin, won its first state regional title since 1976, beating another Livonia school, Bentley, for

The first-place team in that division, Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook, captured the state Class B crown. Frenton, the second place team, wound up finishing second in the Class A tournament to Ann Arbor Pioneer, the division's fourth-place team.

The tough competition experienced by these area teams is reflected in this year's All-Observer squad. A panel of coaches gathered recently to select the area's top players. Here are the results

JIM KOWALSKI, Livonia Franklin: A senior, Koralski was one of the area's top offensive defenseman, scoring 9 goals and collecting 21 assists. In one game he "Jim is a devastating hitter and has outstanding bookey abilities," said Franklin coach Terry Jobbitt. "He makes a

THE GRAND Cypress, which opened in 1984, has been called the only complete resort in central Florida. Its 750 rooms rise in three 18-story wings above 920 acres of playgrounds

There are good hotels here in the Orlando area, many of them within sight at Walt Disney Village or a few minutes down the road in Walt Disney World itself. But this place has clearly been designed for those who like luxury and relaxation with a little ouristing on the side.

You'll find a Mickey Mouse doll beside the pool, Mickey balloons crossing the lobby and shuttles every hour on the hour to the Magic Kingdom and EP-COT Center, but it's an entirely different environment than that found on the monorail at Walt Disney World or around Lake Buena Vista a half mile away.

Laughter keeps coming

Cooney continue through Sunday, April 21, at the Birmingham Theatre in Birmingham. For ticket information, call Exercise caution when exiting from the Birmingham Theatre's production of "Run for Your Wife!" There may still be people rolling in the aisles.

Despite the silliest of plot premises and an insipid opening scene. "Run for Your Wife!" is just so darn funny that even the crustiest curmudgeon will be howling with laughter before long. The laughs start slowly, build steadily during the second half of Act I and flow in a raging torrent throughout Act II.

New York taxi driver John Smith (Ken Berry), described by everyone as a very ordinary guy, has one wife in Greenwich Village and another one just across the river in Hoboken, N.J. By keeping to a very tight schedule, this arrangement works just fine itil Smith intervenes in a street mugging and becomes something of a local hero.

With his double life in danger of exposure and two overly zealous police officers dogging his heels, Smith goes to great lengths to fool both the law and his spouses.

WHY DOES SMITH have two wives? Though happily married to Barbara (Brenda Thomson) for eight years, five months ago he just couldn't find a way to say "no" when Mary (Carolyn Blackinton) proposed. Once past that absurdity, "Run for Your Wife!" is classic

The action takes place in Smith's two apartments simultaneously, so that actors sometimes nearly collide when they supposedly cannot see each other. As with all good farce, there is a lot of mistaken identity, people running in and out of multiple doors and a steady stream of double entendre Under director Jack Booch, the cast works well as an ensemble each person playing off the others. Berry is fine as the beleagured Smith, as plausible in the role as anyone could be. While his timing and delivery are faultless. Berry most dazzles when he shreds and hen systematically consumes an entire front page of a newspaper. Smith confides his plight to his helpful New York neighbor. Star ley, played to comic perfection by Joe Greco. With an expressive resembling a bloodhound and impeccable comic timing, Greco can draw a whole series of laughs from one pregnant pause While Thomson remains remarkably calm through most of the strange shenanigans taking place around her. Blackinton excels at systemia. She throws most convincing tantrums, pounding, screaming, crying and generally flinging herself about with abandon.

Basket making gains in status

staff writer

Basket makers apparently have raised cane (and similar materials) in the art field

The art of fashioning a basket out of such materials as ash or vine has become popular. Just ask Theresa Ohno of Plymouth, who remembers when she and a neighbor started making baskets together 14 years ago. Now they "just can't quit."

"Fourteen years ago, nobody ever cared for making baskets," Ohno said. 'A lot of people teased me. Now everybody wants to make a basket."

It was 15 years ago, when Plymouth resident Grace Kabel first became interested in basket making. She could find only three books on the subject at the local library.

Then some seven years ago, Kathleen Crombie taught basket making in her Dearborn home

TODAY, KABEL'S community library still stocks books on basket making, and she has become a well-known artist and teacher in the field, as has Ohno. Crombie's classes grew too large for her home and now are conducted at her own business in Garden City.

Ohno, Kabel and Crombie are just three of the local basket-making success stories.

"Everything is country right now," Kabel said. "It has a warmth to it and yet it's useful. You can hang (baskets) on the wall and take them down and use them for bread, shopping or to take to craft classes. It's not something that you throw away after Christmas. It's around after you make it."

"It's fun to make, and so useful," Ohno said.

Crombie is owner of Tint & Splint, a shop at 29529 Ford Road, west of Middlebelt in Garden City. The business, which opened in December, offers wholesale and retail basketry supplies, classes and workshops. It has drawn customers from as far away as Roches-

MICHIGAN IS the most active basket-making state, according to Crombie. She is editor of "The Basket Reeder," the official publication of the Association of Michigan Basketmakers, of which she is a charter board member The number of members in that organization totaled 300 last year.

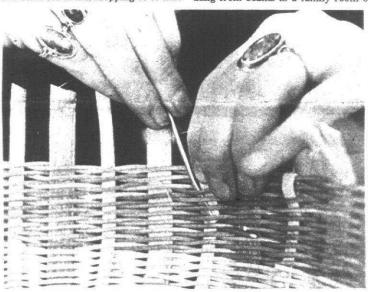

"It's an ancient art form being revived," Crombie said. "They can take it and put it into a very modern home. It fits any decor.'

Crombie, who has matched baskets with swatches of wallpaper brought in clients, makes her own patterns, as do Kabel and Ohno.

"If somebody else makes it, I don't," Crombie said. "I will do a traditional basket, but only to feel the technique. The form is my own. I am a basket designer, I work things out of my head.

A basket should be functional as well as decorative. If they're not functional, I won't make them.

AMONG THEIR uses, baskets can hang from beams in a family room or hold magazines in a living room, Kabel suggested. They can go in any room in the house, possibly except for the kitch en, because of the grease. Baskets can be made from materials in or around one's own backyard, such as grapevine, grass, cattails and birch bark, according to Ohno and Crombie. Kabel mainly uses rattan, but may add willows or honeysuckle. She dyes her baskets with cranberry juice (made by boiling and straining cranberries), onion skins and black walnut hulls.

Basket making equipment isn't anything out of the ordinary, Crombie says, pointing to her tools of spring clothespins, clippers and long-nosed

Instructors from around the country will be featured in workshops at Tint &

"I'm a basket maker," Crombie said "I know what my clients want. I work with the stuff every day.

CROMBIE, OHNO and Kabel keep busy, to put it mildly. Kabel has writ-ten books on the subject, made a video film and demonstrated the art at Greenfield Village. Ohno is an active instructor. Crombie has appeared on commercial, public and cable television, and taught workshops at the 1984 Michigan Basket Makers Convention. She will teach at the Chicago Botanical Gardens Symposium in September, and is working on a reproduction of Henry and Clara Ford's wicker bed for the Ford Fair Lane Estate in Dearborn.

Crombie will fill custom orders, but prefers teaching and operating her shop.

"It is an art form, not a craft," she said of basket making.

Robyn Crombie, husband of basket maker Kathleen Crombie, gathers the material that will form another basket.

The shrill whine of a circle saw, the echoes of carpenter's hammers, the rasping poise of sandpaper against drywall and the metalic clatter of shelving being adjusted; these are just occupancy permit. The outdoor sign "Come or has yet to be painted. Twenty-four out back." drafting tables are waiting to be assembled, the framing room isn't ready, the airbrush room isn't even started and there is still a mountain of fixtures in storage. Actually the abandoning the anxiety and hustle of only thing done is my office. My wife the store, Adam and I went out by the painted and wallpapered it, but I little stream and sat and talked and don't have my office furniture yet.

loved to have snapped a picture Fri-Here is everybody milling around the new store talking their particular trade jargon. The car-penter yells, "This shows flush. Did you crown the wall studs?" The dry waller says "We got the first coat of mud on, we'll put the topping on to-morrow." The boys putting shelving call out "eighteen inch shelf base on the center gondola." Now the picture I would have loved to snap was this: in all of the dust, noise and confusion, there was Adam on his spiderman hoppity hop. In the new store with all the open space, Adam was bouncing all over the place.

There I am a nervous wreck tring desperately to stave off an ulcer or premature baldness and out of a clearing bounds this happy little face, a few of the new strange sounds in my chirping, "Look how high I can go, normally quiet life. I forgot to get the Dad." Smiling back at Adam I said, "Come on let's take a break and go

PROBABLY ONE of my favorite parts about our new store is that Bell Creek River runs directly behind. So watched the ducks swimming around. I wish I had a camera, I would have There is something wonderful about family and nature that just "takes me away." Priorities are realigned and goals are set when the ones you love are with you. Nature with it's functional beauty and mystery is to me an emotional balm. So with the seats of our pants wet from the ground, Adam and I walked back up to the store.

Now everything was still just as crazy but as I saw Adam bounce away in a cloud of plaster dust I was somehow emotionally healed and my mind was clear enough to follow through with, at least, Fridays jobs

"Follow through" is a term I often use in my art classes. Follow through means, "to follow something through to completion." Now that doesn't mean to just finish art work. No, it means to finish your artwork right Follow through can be as simple as erasing your pencil lines or carefully placing your signature on the finished

Many times students will work hard to perfect their pencil sketch as preparation for pen and ink. But when they transfer their sketch to bristol or illustration board they carelessly follow the lines they worked so hard to draw, which produces a very inaccu rate transfer and ofter kills the work. Another example of lack of follow ferred accurately but inked carelessly. I imagine that here too, as with me and the store, emotions and anxiety can flare up. Thinking the pen and ink is taking too long or the medium is too hard can stifle your follow through. Follow through in a new medium is especially hard because you as a student do now know where you are headed technically speaking. In the uncharted ground of a new medium the student should lean heavily to their teacher for direction. Follow through brings it all together. A signature can mess up a whole picture by being slightly crooked or sloppy So give yourself a guide line to follow or intentionally make your signature crooked and develop an artistic signa-through is when the drawing is trans-

IN WATERCOLOR it is common to sign your name in pencil. but I usually sign my name lightly in pencil then carefully follow the lines of my signature with an appropriate color in Some lose their follow through as late as the cleanup. There are smudges that are left haloing the artwork. In graphite or pencil drawings some people don't follow through to get their darks, dark enough, which in turn makes their lights appear to not be light enough. On the opposite end of the spectrum is the over-renders. I honestly feel that if I didn't snatch the brush or pen from some students hand they would truely follow through... through the paper. Overrendering can be a misuse of the medium and most often weakens the statement or strength of the work of art. It is like a person who speaks much but really says little. I do personally however enjoy detail but find it disturbing when an artist tries to hide poor structure under a cloak of detail and over-rendering.

I could and perhaps will next week continue on the common shortcomings and roadblocks that halt artistic follow through. Of course every medium has its own variety of problems that must be solved to complete an artistic statement. But generally the "follow through" principle could be boiled down to this combination of three equally important ingredients

Number one is a good idea or subject. Number two is the technical skill to rightly represent the idea or subject. Number three is the presentation of the well-executed idea or subject. The lack of any one of the three will result as a flaw in your follow through. A good idea rendered poorly is no better off than a poor idea ren-dered well. Even a good idea ren-dered well is halted if it is poorly presented. So I will continue this thought next week but I must hurry back to the new store to finish preparation for our April 1 opening, or I may lose my credibility. You see it is a good idea, but I must do a lot of rendering and presentational work in the next

dedicated to high standards and personal service

The terms REALTOR®, REALTORS®, and REALTOR-ASSOCIATE® and the accompanying block "R" symbol are registered collective membership marks that identify and may only be used by real estate professionals who are members of the National Association of Realtors®. Membership in the National Association, and the consequent privilege to use one or more of these marks, is available only to real estate professionals who are willing to be bound by the National Association's strict Code of Ethics. That Code of Ethics was designed to protect sellers as well as buyers and to encourage cooperation among real estate professionals in bringing buyers and sellers together.

By selecting a broker who is a REALTOR®, buyers and sellers avail themselves of helpful mortgage and market information.

The National Association of Realtors® is comprised of more than 625,000 concerned real estate professionals, active in civic affairs in their communities throughout the nation. They also monitor and assist in the legislative process, and represent the interests of property owners in the fight to preserve private property rights. REALTORS® are not just members of the National Association; they are valuable contributors to your community.

"The Strength of a Nation Lies in the Homes of Its People."

These words, attributed to Abraham Lincoln, still confirm a basic American freedom--the right to own, use and transfer proprerty.

The National Association of Realtors has set aside the week of April 28--May 4, 1985

PRIVATE PROPERTY WEEK.

This weeklong observance reaffirms the rights that come with owning property. For most of us this means a home of our own. And as homeowners we tend to put down roots, to become involved in local government processes and to care about what takes place in our community and neighborhood.

On Thursday, May 2, we will dedicate a CREATIVE LIVING REAL ESTATE SECTION to Private Property Week. Look for this special edition filled with beautiful homes listed by area Realtors.

The right to home ownership is precious and must never be taken for granted. We think it is a right that should be perserved for future generations.
