Spring plowing

Canton Farmer Dick Palmer plows a field on Warren Road. The ground dried out early this year, allowing local farmers to get a head start on the growing season. This particular field west of Ridge Road is the highest point in Canton Township. Palmer said that on a clear day, he can see the towers of the Ambassador Bridge from the seat of his John Deere. An apple tree in the middle of Palmer's field is in full bloom.

School district athletic chief retires in June

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

John Sandmann

John Sandmann, the athletic director of the Plymouth-Canton Community School District the past 37 years, is retiring effective June 30.

"It's just a retirement, that's all there is to it," Sandmann said on Monday. "My wife and I have been talking indirectly about retiring for a while now. We both feel it's time."

When Sandmann was hired at the old Plymouth High School in 1948, after graduating from Colgate University and serving in the Navy during World War II, the district offered eight boys varsity sports. Presently, the district sponsors 40 varsity sports for boys and girls.

"One of the things I'm most proud of is being able to watch the growth of this community and this school system," Sandmann said. "Hopefully I've contributed something to what's gone on here in 37 years. I've certainly gotten a lot out of it."

SANDMANN'S CONTRIBUTIONS to the growth of the athletic department are sizeable.

- Under Sandmann's guidance, the Plymouth-Canton Community School District athletic program has become recognized statewide for its excellent coaches, teams and facilities. The district has produced numerous state championship teams and individuals over the years.
- He was a leader in the fight for women's athletics. He was involved in trying to get an interscholastic athletic program for high school girls prior to the Title IX ruling forcing the advent of girls sports.
- Sandmann was instrumental in the development of the Centennial Educational Park football field and track facility as well as the two gymnasiums and baseball-softball complexes.
- He was also a leader in the formation of the Suburban Eight, Western Six and the Western Lakes athletic conferences.
- Sandmann was named the state's athletic director of the year in 1979.

"I'LL TELL you, it's kept me young," the 61-year-old Sandmann said of his experiences. "(Earning the statewide reputation) has been a slow process. We've kept up with the growth and we've got so many good people working here. Our coaches don't think small, they think big. They have high ideals and goals. That's helped keep the Plymouth-Canton district up there."

Senior program to see changes

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Two federally funded programs for senior citizens in a five-community area, including Canton, will be serviced differently beginning in the fall.

City of Plymouth officials have decided to relinquish responsibilities as the administrator for the senior citizen chore and the personal care/homemaking programs beginning Oct. 1. As the "implementing agency" Plymouth's tasks include writing monthly reports, fielding calls from seniors and sending employees out to recipients.

Canton, Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth and Plymouth Township were serviced as a combined group.

"We're (Plymouth) talking about other communities taking over, but one way or another our seniors will be served," said Chuck Skene, Plymouth recreation director.

Police building to open soon

Contrasts between old and new are dramatic

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A $2 million, ultra-modern, two-story Canton police facility — being built next to the township's administration building — soon will replace a cramped, makeshift site.

Bustling construction workers are erecting a structure radically different from the present one-story building and connecting trailer on Geddes near Michigan Avenue.

The present building and trailer total 5,000 square feet and pale in comparison to the 23,000-square-foot edifice on Canton Center Road south of Cherry Hill, to open sometime in July.

The new facility is connected to the Canton Township Hall administration building, allowing easier contact among police personnel and township officials.

The building is designed for the year 2000, taking into consideration departmental growth due to expected population increases, according to township officials.

THE DIFFERENCES between the two buildings are obvious as one walks into the lobby area of the new site, which shows off a spacious front desk. A few feet back is the "communication center" lined by two-way mirrors, allowing the shift commander to see into the adjacent cell areas.

"Environment has an absolute effect on the quality of work," said Canton police Lt. Alex Wilson. "To be in a facility that's modern and efficient will reflect on the efficiency of their (officers') work."

See related editorial on Page 14a.

Three small cell areas in the present building are replaced with a holding cell with a capacity of about 30 people, a detoxification cell, four additional cells and a women's holding cell.

"We would have the capability to hold (persons with) 90-day prison sentences here, rather than sending them to Wayne County, which charges us a fee," Wilson said. "But, we probably wouldn't do this on a regular basis."

A juvenile holding cell is being built away from the adult facilities.

Currently, juveniles are detained in one of the present station's three adjoining cells. If occupied by an adult, however, officers have to find an alternative.

Wayne-Westland district's appeal for state aid is denied

By Sandra Armbruster
staff writer

Wayne-Westland schools are still faced with the loss of about $750,000 in state aid after an unsuccessful appeal of a state audit. Disappointed administrators plan to continue their appeal of that 1983-84 report on student membership rolls, which are used as a basis for awarding state aid.

"Our reading was much more positive than that (appeal report)," said Superintendent Dennis O'Neill.

In a letter to board members, O'Neill cited his "extreme disappointment."

"Without question, we will appeal this determination. Our only decision is to develop a strategy."

The special audit was undertaken after "irregularities" were reported in a routine audit the previous year.

THE DISTRICT appealed last fall the equivalent loss of 370 full-time (FTEs) students and more than $1 million in state aid from the audit. After a meeting in December with auditors from the state department of education and the Wayne County Intermediate School District, Wayne-Westland officials reported having won back 107 FTEs and more than $300,000 in state aid.

But a decision on the initial appeal came as a shock to school officials. The original number of FTEs deducted was increased from 370 to 388.11. Of that number, only 97.82 FTEs — not the 107 expected by Wayne-Westland administrators — were restored. And none of the 123.92 other deductions contested by the district were restored."

Wayne-Westland School District

The 97 FTEs are "10 less than (state auditors) agreed not even to discuss. They were already granted," O'Neill said. He admitted that the district had nothing in writing guaranteeing the restoration of those FTEs.

"Some things that county auditors allowed, (state auditors) did not.

"We've sent a letter to Robert Hornberger, saying that his decision indicated 'inconsistencies and erroneous mathematical findings, as well as interpretations of the law and departmental rules which are incorrect and/or inconsistent with the Wayne County Intermediate School District interpretation,'" O'Neill said.

New vs. old
Facility designed for year 2000

"We have to put the kid in the lobby area or in the dispatch room," Wilson said.

Also provided in the new building is a prisoner's visiting room — divided into a restricted, partitioned room and a second non-partitioned room.

An additional room is provided for detectives to conduct interviews with prisoners. Nothing similar exists now. Also new is an officers' security entrance, a back-way route to the cells that sidesteps the front passages and the majority of walk-in traffic.

A small interview room is available for sensitive cases best handled in privacy, Wilson said. Presently, walk-ins must register a complaint in the middle of a small lobby and talk over a glass window to the officer at the front desk.

A roll-call room — also serving as an area for officers to write reports and conduct classes — is about twice the size of the present equivalent. An armory room will serve as a supply room and will give officers a place to work with their weapons.

THE PROPERTY ROOM is one of the most important areas to conduct effective police investigations, Wilson said. Police now store seized property in the back of the records bureau trailer, in an overcrowded closet near the detective's bureau and at the Department of Public Works.

"This is really a poor system," Wilson said. "The new building will enable us to do a portion of our job better, and we'll absolutely be able to tighten up the property aspect of the job."

The new property room is a large area, resembling a garage. The highlight is a bolted receptacle vault where tagged evidence may be placed and safely stored until needed for trial.

On the second floor, the record's bureau is separated by a door from the detective bureau — a large open area where officers will occupy desks in plain view of each other. This is far more convenient than having to walk from the trailer to the adjoining main building at the present site, Wilson said.

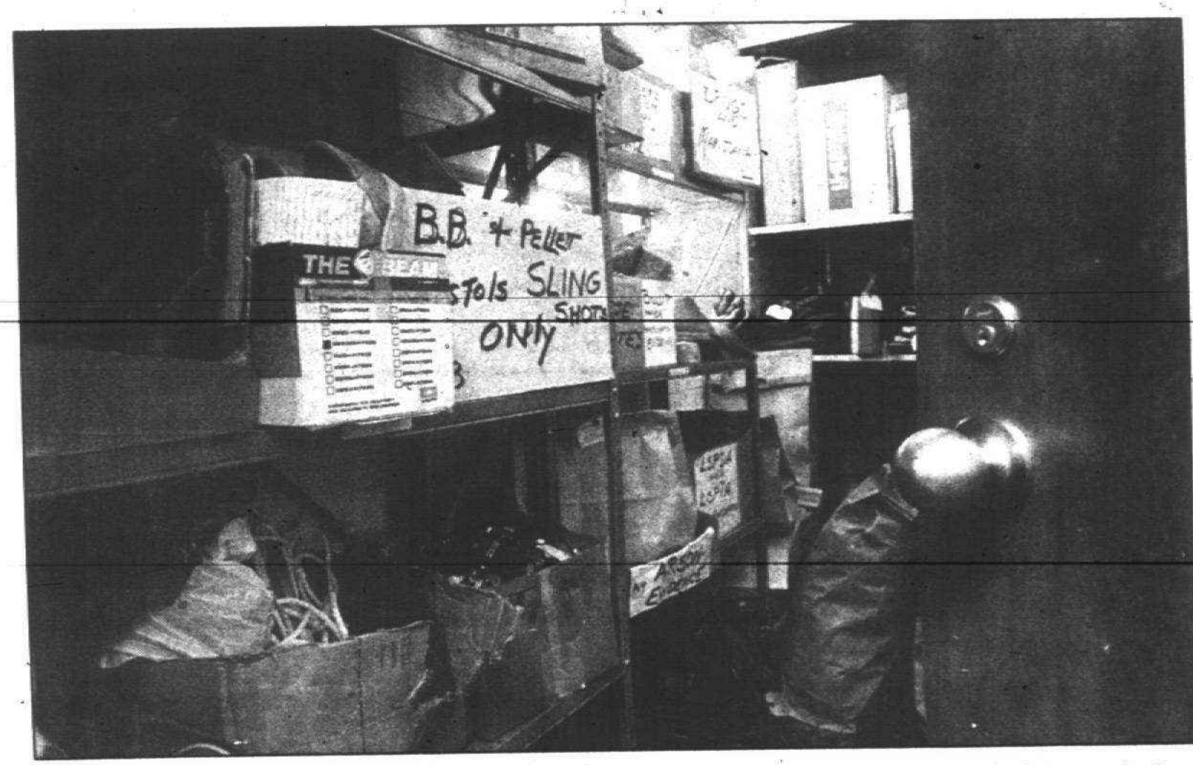
Most of the offices also are located upstairs, along with a conference/classroom and an evidence lab — mainly to be used for processing fingerprints.

An area for a crime prevention bureau is provided, even though the department is presently without such a division.

"It's going to happen," Wilson said. "It may be 10 to 15 years from now, but as the community increases in population it will begin to demand more services.

"The department will grow," he said.

Township officials are undecided as to how the present police facility will be used. It has served as an administration building, a fire station and, since 1979, the police station.



This small closet in the corner of the detective bureau is so packed with seized property the door opens only partially. (Above left:) Lt. Al Wilson checks the bolt on a property room locker. (Lower left:) The records bureau is housed in a trailer connected to the main building.

Group picks up slack

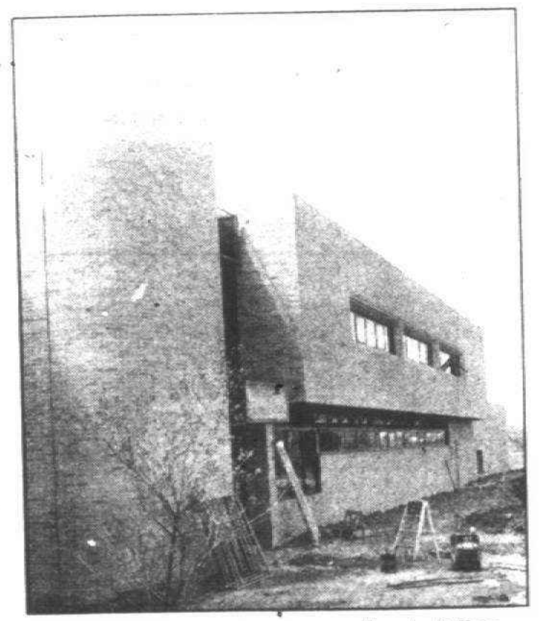
By Diane Gale
staff writer

Canton Police Department personnel serving on a building and maintenance task force are volunteering their time to make the transition from the old to the new police building an easier task.

"We've discussed what we'll have to do to get ready," said Chris Stopa, police chief secretary and chairperson of the task force.

Soliciting bid proposals from moving companies and narrowing down the range of prospects to the firm considered to offer the best deal is a major task already completed by the group.

"We (task force members) have a priority list, and we know we have a budget to stay within," Stopa said.



Construction of the new police building, an addition to township hall, is moving quicker than expected. The targeted opening date has been changed from fall to July.

THE TASK FORCE, composed of eight police department personnel, has also worked on detailing how the physical move will take place.

"We've had small maps drawn up so that we can decide where to put the furniture," Stopa said. "We're getting rid of some of the things that we won't be taking with us. Those are things that are completely junk, because we're taking items that are considered even of minute value."

The police department will not receive extra funds this year for furnishing the new facility, according to police department personnel. The materials in the old building will be used to furnish a structure four times its size.

ACTING POLICE Chief Lt. Larry Stewart recently said he believes many Canton officers would rather have seen the township hire 10 to 15 more patrol people than build a new station, given the existing funding constraints.

An important step in the moving process, necessitating immediate attention, was the process of moving the LEIN (Law Enforcement Information Network) system, enabling police departments across the country to share crime history data.

"We called other departments who have moved to new buildings, and asked about some of the problems they had," Stopa said. "The most critical thing is handling the communications system.

"There just isn't enough people here to handle this move," she said. "We can't wait until the last minute to do some of these things.

"We have to make sure there is someone in charge of everything," Stopa said.

Other task forces formed by police department personnel target staffing policies, equipment needs and the command structure. These subjects were chosen by police department personnel as top priorities in a lenghty list of areas needing study. These task forces are off-shoots of a steering committee with a total membership of about 13 police department employees.

correction

Due to an error, the Canton Observer Monday incorrectly said each of this year's three automobile fatalities on Cherry Hill Road were head-on collisions east of I-275. Actually, one incident involved a car that hit a guardrail and flipped into a ditch. Also, the most recent accident took place on Sheldon, west of I-275.

District's athletic director steps down

The last three years have been tough on Sandmann and the athletic program. The district's central administration has cut some $100,000 out of the athletic budget forcing Sandmann to cut out middle school athletics and other athletic support services.

But Sandmann has managed to build his program back up, reinstating ninth-grade programs in football and basketball last year and upgrading the salary scale for district coaches.

"I feel good about leaving now. Budgetwise and programwise, I feel everything is in good shape," Sandmann said.

Sandmann said that he has offered the school board a recommendation as to his successor, but would not give the person's name. Most people close to the district's athletic scene believe that Sandmann's longtime assistant Paul Cummings is the most likely candidate for the job.

"I JUST hope the decision (on a new AD) is made quickly," Sandmann said. "I would like to be able to spend some time with the person. It may not seem like we do much from this office, but there's an awful lot to learn in this job, from scheduling, to officials' contracts, to the budgeting."

"What I would like to do — if I could just make one statement — I would like to thank all the people that I've been in contact with that have really helped the past 37 years. Without them, I wouldn't feel the success that I do right now," Sandmann said.

Sandmann has sold his Plymouth home and plans to move up north and spend his retirement at Crystal Lake.

What makes your mom the 'Best Mom Ever?'

So Mother's Day is just about here, you're near broke and haven't got a clue what to give mom? If you or your mother live in Canton, the Observer may be able to help you out.

You have until noon, Monday, May 6, to enter the Canton Observer's "Best Mom Ever Contest." All you have to do is explain in 200 words or less why your mom is special, stands heads above others and outshines the rest.

Tell us about the special incident that stands out in your memory, or the everyday examples showing why your mom should be honored as the best mom in the Canton area, or anywhere for that mater.

Mailed and hand-delivered entries will be accepted at the Observer, 489 S. Main, Plymouth, 48170.

The winner will be treated to brunch for two at Jim Mather's Mr. Steak restaurant at Ford and Sheldon Roads in Canton.

The winner's name and the entry will be published in the May 9 Canton Observer. Space permitting, we'll reprint other especially deserving essays.

Unfortunately, we can't honor the mothers of all entrants. But see what you can do on Mothers Day, May 12.

Seniors' program in limbo

"Possibly a non-profit group will handle it," he said. "We've been running them (the programs) for the past eight years, and we decided it was time for one of the other communities to take the leadership.

"We haven't had any bites from the other communities, but there is a chance that an outside organization will run it," Skene said.

At last week's board meeting, Canton's trustees unanimously voted to deny Plymouth's request to become the implementing agency for the programs.

The motion to deny was suggested by Terry Carroll, Canton's grants coordinator who leaves the township this week for a post in Garden City.

"It's a very tough program to run," Carroll said. "The amount of money paid to the workers isn't high, so the turnover is constant."

Allocating money for the program is also difficult, because it is impossible to determine in advance when and how much work will be needed, he said.

EACH COMMUNITY is responsible for a portion of the $10,000 it costs to administer the programs beyond what is allocated in federal funds. For the 1983-84 fiscal year, Canton paid $580 for the services, Skene said. On a yearly basis, the programs are allocated about $25,000 in federal money from the Area Agency on Aging.

Residents of the five communities who are 62 years old or older are eligible for the free services. The chore program provides lawn cutting and snow shovelling. The personal care/homemaking program provides for everyday cleaning needs.

In the five communities, approximately 210 seniors have taken advantage of the home chore program, and about 50 people are involved in the personal care/homemaking services. Canton has 29 people receiving the chore program and 11 accepting the personal care/homemaking work, Skene said.

During the past few years an increasing number of Canton senior citizens have called for services, said Dianne Neihengen, administrator for the Canton Senior Citizen Center.

"We're finding people are being released earlier from hospitals, and they need more care," Neihengen said.

Mike Gouin, Canton's recreation superintendent, said the five-community program "is one of the most smoothest-running programs around.

"I have concerns about the future, because the level of quality in service could drop," Gouin said. "It seems the farther the provider, and the bigger the geographic area, the longer the response time. But this may not be true."

For more information about these services, call 455-6627.

Appeal fails; plotting begins

HORNBERGER IS director of department services for the state department of education. He said the 107 FTEs cited by O'Neill were the superintendent's "arithmetic. I never did attempt to verify that."

In fact, both sides admit problems with "sloppy record keeping" resulted in many of the deductions made.

In some cases, there were disputes over which record — the teachers' or the district's — should be used as a basis for checking enrollment and attendance when there was a discrepancy between the two.

Auditors found that students were absent during a counting period used to determine the official membership figure. Some FTEs were later restored.

Records problems also surfaced on those students who were high school graduates and those auditing a course, neither of which are eligible for state aid. Other records problems were discovered with classes scheduled "outside the normal day or time and on attendance based on a "head count" rather than verifying that students enrolled actually attended the class.

HOWEVER, O'NEILL was critical of other deductions in the report of the audit appeal.

"One of the problems is that they don't have to explain (the deduction). They cite the law or rule and say the finding is such. There's no rationale on what we discussed."

Additional areas of dispute included the following:

- Jail — One of the largest deductions (52.8 students) was for classes taught at the former jail annex on the old hospital grounds at Eloise. State auditors refused to allow excused absences when inmates were required to make court appearances.

"The district could not reasonably expect to have regular attendance from such a mobile student population, some of whom might never return," the report reads.

THE "WHOLE issue" of absences was discussed, according to O'Neill. "They were right on some; we were right on others. The program should be compared with other jails. What's fair is fair."

- Transportation — Excused absences again was discussed for those taking classes in residential facilities, such as nursing homes. Transportation was used as an excuse for those in wheel chairs, guerneys and hospital beds when aides were unavailable to take them to class.

The state admitted that no rule directly governs the issue. However, the FTEs were disallowed since the district was ineligible to receive reimbursement for transportation for patients living less than 1½ miles from the school location.

- Planned programs — Auditors were critical of "pupils counted in membership who could not write their names on registration forms, who had little prior education history and who had no planned programs. The audit concluded that these former special education pupils were probably, mentally, emotionally, and/or physically incapable of participating in or passing a class."

FTE DEDUCTIONS were sustained since state law requires a planned program for each student enrolled in adult basic education or high school completion.

"All I had to go with was the facts presented, so they had to be disallowed," Hornberger said. He declined to say whether such students would have been counted had there been planned programs.

O'Neill said he would "never accept" those students were unable to learn and insisted that the district "demonstrated that there were planned programs."

- Materials fee — The state allowed deductions for a credit course that charged a fee for bowling, citing a Supreme Court decision prohibiting such fees. However, in another instance, FTEs were restored to the district where a fee was charged in a ceramics course for material "beyond the scope" of objects provided by the district.
- Formulas — The state objected to the use of 480 clock hours to calculate an FTE instead of 25 clock hours per week, and it sustained those FTEs deducted.

THE NEXT phase of the appeal process goes to state Deputy Superintendent Douglas Roberts, according to Hornberger. The district has 30 days to make its appeal.

O'Neill expects this phase to "be much easier than the first level, since we've got all the data."

Hornberger added that the appeal took much longer than normal due to "other things that are ongoing" and because "usually there aren't that many deductions."

Hines Drive to be closed for Activities Day

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Fifteen miles of Hines Drive in western Wayne County will be closed to motorized traffic from 9-4 Sunday, May 5, for the first "Activities Day" of the season.

"Families will be able to walk, jog and bicycle at their leisure," said Vic Chiasson, new chief of recreation for the county.

"In addition, charitable groups can schedule activities on sections of the drive by calling me at 261-1630."

Park naturalist Mary Ellsworth is accepting reservations for interpretive nature walks in Holliday Park, part of the county system in Westland. She also may be contacted at 261-1630.

County Executive William Lucas said the segment of Hines closed to motorized traffic will be from Outer Drive in Dearborn Heights to Wilcox Road in Plymouth.

A CHILDREN'S fingerprinting program will be conducted from 10 to 2 by Sheriff Robert A. Ficano at the sheriff's mini-station, Newburgh Road at Hines Drive, Livonia.

"The program is part of a nationwide effort that provides valuable assistance in locating and identifying kidnapped or missing children," said Lucas.

"The service is free of charge, with all prints returned to parents for safekeeping," said Ficano. "No record is kept by the department.

"The Wayne County Sheriff's Department was one of the first law enforcement agencies in the area to provide this service. The goal of the department is to fingerprint every child in Wayne County," Ficano said, adding the work would be done by departmental volunteers.

OTHER GROUPS which will conduct organized activities in Hines Park Sunday are:

- American Diabetes Association — bikeathon from Newburgh to Wilcox roads.
- Parents Without Partners — family-style picnicking and bicycle riding for about 40 from Ann Arbor Trail to Nankin Mills.
- St. Matthew Lutheran Church of Westland — bikeathon from 1-4 p.m. form Ann Arbor Trail to Inkster Road.
- Michigan Bicycle Federation — clinics on safety and emergency repairs near the sheriff's mini station.

Chiasson said eastern areas of the park, in particular, were still available for organized groups.

LUCAS, WHOSE office is responsible for county parks now that voters have abolished the Road Commission, said Activities Day will go on, rain or shine. A second such day will be scheduled later in the season.

Eric Reickel, parks and recreation director, said many groups request closure of Hines Drive for their events. "Due to the high cost of closing the road," Reickel said, "we ask that these groups schedule their events on our special days."

Activities Day is the successor of the cleanup days of the early 1970s and the bike days of the mid-'70s.

Goal of Lucas, Ficano and local officials is to attract families back to Hines Park, which straddles the Middle Rouge River, and to discourage rowdy parties by young people.

SC to renovate roofs, parking lot

Although budget adoption isn't scheduled until May 22, Schoolcraft College trustees gave an early go-ahead to take bids for four major maintenance projects.

Price tags are estimated at $148,000, according to Vice President W. Kenneth Lindner. Early approval, he said, "will add eight more weeks to our summer work schedule."

In a voice vote, trustees unanimously approved: roof painting for the Applied Sciences Building, estimated at $7,000; roof repairs for Applied Sciences, $30,000; roof repairs for the Forum Building, $41,000; and asphalt repairs for the south parking lot, $70,000.

Lindner said early approval would allow work to be completed in time for the opening of the fall semester.

Altogether, 28 maintenance projects totalling $275,000 will be in the budget proposed by Lindner and President Richard McDowell.

Seven projects totalling $38,500 will be for the Radcliff Center in Garden City, whose use the college will expand. Radcliff projects include glass replacement, partitioning, concrete replacement, storage building grounds, floor tiles, catch basin repairs, doors and hardware.

A public hearing on the budget is scheduled for 7 p.m. (one hour earlier than the usual starting time) Wednesday, May 15, in the Grote Administration Center on campus. The administration proposes that the full voter-authorized property tax rate of 1.77 mills be levied.

MAJOR DONATIONS accepted by the college include:

- $1,500 form the Exxon Education Foundation of New York for the petroleum technology program. It represents a triple match to the earlier $500 gift of Frederick W. Kerr of Northville.
- $600 worth of scrap steel, about three tons, from Traffic Transport Engineering Inc. of Romulus for the welding program.
- $500 worth of duct seaming stake from Ernest Durieux of Garden City of the climate systems technology program.
- $500 cash from Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A., Inc., for the automotive department.

3 remain in SC board race

Only three names will be on the Schoolcraft College ballot in the June 10 election following the withdrawal of a candidate.

Myron Kassey of Northville pulled out after filing nominating petitions, the president's office reported.

Two terms of six years are open. Candidates are Michael W. Burley, incumbent board chairman of Canton Township; Hussein S. Karzun of Livonia; and Sharon L. Sarris, incumbent treasurer and Livonia resident.

Schoolcraft candidates are elected at the same time as trustees from public school districts. The community college district includes the public school districts of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth-Canton and a small portion of Novi.

S'craft off to 'nice start' on recruiting — board

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Rather than waiting for students to walk in, Schoolcraft College is marketing itself to a broad range of publics.

"As populations in high school decline, to maintain a stable enrollment we will have to recruit," admissions director John Tomey told the community college board of trustees last week.

"A nice start," commented chairman Michael W. Burley, after hearing a 40-minute report on a career day, outreach to counselors, mall exhibits and 31,000 pieces of literature.

THE AIM of Schoolcraft's efforts are to:

- Win a larger share of declining numbers of "traditional" students — the 18-year-old high school graduates who are being recruited by four-year universities, private institutions and even neighboring community colleges.
- Serve older men and particularly women eyeing career changes and updated skills.
- Hang onto students who drop out in mid-course or fail to show up after being admitted.

BARBARA GEIL, vice president for student services, said 48 high schools sent nearly 5,000 students to Schoolcraft's college day April 24. Schools from as far away as Ferndale on the east, Hartland on the northwest and Southgate on the south joined area public and private schools to see 150 exhibits and hear speakers.

A high school newspaper contest, judged by professional journalists, not only rewards good papers but draws prospects to the campus for an awards breakfast, Geil added.

"I'm sure it will be another annual event," Tomey said.

Schoolcraft officials have regular lunches and conversations with high school counselors and drew 700-800 prospects to the college's Livonia Mall exhibit.

Among 31,000 pieces of literature, Tomey reported, were 10,000 applications, 5,000 catalogs, 3,000 class schedules along with brochures and orientation information.

THE "NO-SHOWS" are a vexing problem that Schoolcraft is addressing with follow-up surveys.

A questionnaire was distributed to persons who were admitted but didn't appear for classes, Tomey said, and 35 percent answered.

Of them, 21 percent cited financial problems, 20 percent said classes were closed, 14 percent said they planned to attend in a subsequent semester, 6 percent said they enrolled in another college, 5 percent complained of inconvenient class times and 13 cited "other" reasons.

"The trend of no-shows is down from 19 percent to 16 percent from winter '83-83 to winter '84," Tomey said. "We are in the ballpark with other community colleges.

"WE ARE two weeks away from an admissions newsletter which will be published three times a year, and one of our future plans is greater utilization of students in recruiting," Tomey said.

Bands continue winning ways

The symphony band and concert band at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) both earned high honors at the state band festival.

Performing in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School, both groups received the highest rating of "1" from the four professional adjudicators who evaluated their playing.

Participating in Class B, the concert band performed "King Cotton" march by Sousa, "Prelude and Fugue in G Minor" by Bach/Moehlmann and "Imperatrix" by Alfred Reed.

The symphony band entered Class AA competition. Their musical selections included "Americans We" march by Henry Fillmore, "Mass and Aztec Dance" from La Fiesta Mexicana by H. Owen Reed and the "Toccata and Chorale" from Music for Prague, 1968 by Karel Husa.

Adjudicators were Joseph D. Parker of Asbury College in Kentucky, Harvey Benstein of Ohio State University, Dennis L. Johnson of Western Illinois University and Arthur R. Gorman of Kellogg Community College.

Both bands, directed by James R. Griffith, will present their final concert of the year Friday, May 31, in Kellogg Park.

CEP musicians enter jazz fest

The Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) Jazz Band will be one of the bands from throughout the state to participate Saturday in the third annual School Jazz Festival in Saginaw.

The CEP Jazz Band, directed by James Griffith, will perform at about 4:20 p.m. Saturday.

The festival preliminaries will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Ruben Daniels Lifelong Learning Center Auditorium, 115 West Genesee, and North Intermediate School. The finals, beginning at 7 p.m., will be in the Temple Theater.

Some 300 musicians will be participating in the jass festival, including students from Saginaw Arthur Hill, Saginaw High, Center for the Arts and Sciences in Saginaw, Bay City John Glenn, Flint Ainsworth, Flint Beecher, Flint Carmen, Flint Kearsley, Monroe, Lansing Everett, Muskegon Heights, Rochester Adams, Grand Rapids Northview, Bridgeport, Montrose Middle School, and Ann Arbor Community High School.

Last year's winner was Flint Ainsworth while the finalists were from Flint Beecher, Bridgeport, and Bay City Glenn. Plymouth CEP will be one of six new schools participating in the festival.

SC's Globe wins 10 contest awards

The Campus Globe, student newspaper at Schoolcraft College, shared second-place honors for best overall newspaper in the annual Michigan Community College Press Association competition.

The Lansing Community College paper took first place, and the Grand Rapids Community College paper tied with Schoolcraft for second.

Campus Globe staff members won nine other awards — one second, three thirds and five honorable mentions.

Carlo Coppola, culinary arts student from Rochester, won second place for best review (of cook books) and a third for best ad creation.

Jan Conrad won a third place for a story on the opening of the Radcliff Center in Garden City. The Globe received a third place for overall layout.

Honorable mentions went to the Globe for front page design; Tod Whitman for a soccer photo; Orlando Watkins for a news-feature photograph on an outdoor rock concert; Bob Frank for his review of Bordeau wines; and Bernadette Czeryba of Canton for overall advertising layout.

Globe adviser is Patrick Newman, the college's student activities counselor. Newman, adviser for four years, will take a 23-week sabbatical during the fall semester and part of the winter semester.

Sidewalk planned for Lowell

About 300 students who formerly were bused to Lowell Middle School on Joy near Hix Road will be able to walk to school in September.

A long-sought breakthrough was reached when representatives from the Livonia City Council recently agreed to foot half the bill for sidewalks. Plymouth-Canton Community Schools lease the 800-student facility from Livonia Public Schools.

The decision, announced April 22, came at an April 10 meeting of several Plymouth-Canton Board of Education trustees and a Livonia council subcommittee.

It was agreed that Livonia would construct the walkway and pay half of the $6,000 cost, with Plymouth-Canton schools picking up the remainder.

Both Dale Goby, director of transportation and safety for Plymouth-Canton, and school board President Roland Thomas complimented Livonia officials, approached for the first time with the paving proposal.

"We're certainly pleased with the cooperation we received and the intergovernmental progress we were able to make," said Goby. "The Livonia council members were very pleasant about it. We expressed our concerns and needs, and with the help of the board president and superintendent (John Hoben) we were able to reach agreement in relatively short order," he said.

Lowell students now walk on a dirt pathway on the north side of Joy between Eckles on the west and Hix on the east. The school sits on the south side of Joy on Westland's border. However, the north side of Joy, in Livonia, will be paved because it has fewer trees, a better elevation, and requires less excavation, Goby said.

The construction, to get under way early this summer, is to be completed before fall, he added. It will enable the nearly 300 students — who live within a mile-and-a-half of school and have been bused — to walk, Goby said.

The proposed sidewalk, less than a mile long, has been the center of "concern expressed by the districtwide safety committee for at least three or four years," said Goby. "The board has been concerned about students walking on the pathway."

The construction project represents one of the district's quickest successes in sidewalk installation. Canton Township and the school district have long been at odds regarding financial responsiblity for walks.

Livonia, because it's a city, confronts fewer obstacles than does a township in paving sidewalks, Goby said.

"(Canton officials) say they can't do it for the most part without incurring a lot of expense. But in (Canton's) defense, most tonwships don't provide full services, and their taxes reflect that. Plus the procedures they must follow are a little more difficult."

City recreation classes lined up

A variety of leisure time classes is being offered this spring by City of Plymouth Parks and Recreation.

Persons may register by mail by writing the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer, Plymouth, Mich. 48170, or in person during regular business hours of 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

The recreation also will be open for a special evening registration 5-7 p.m. Wednesday, May 8. Personal checks will be accepted if they are made out to "City of Plymouth."

There will be an additional 10 percent administrative fee for persons who are not city residents. Refunds will not be given once classes begin. Any refunds before classes begin are subject to a 20 percent administrative charge.

All of the following classes will begin the week of May 19, unless otherwise indicated:

- Arts and crafts: A class designed to teach crafts made from items found around the house. For ages 5-12, the class will meet for six weeks 4:30-5:30 p.m. Mondays in the Cultural Center.
- Golf: Learn the basic skills from the professional staff at Oasis Golf Center. Practice clubs are available but you must buy your own bucket of balls each week. Lessons will be held at Oasis for ages 6-12 6:30-7:30 p.m. each Thursday and for ages 13 and older 7:30-8:30 p.m. each Thursday.
- Judo and karate: Study of self-defense will help improve self-discipline, confidence, and physical fitness. Session started April 25 but can be joined late. Judo meets for ages 6-13 beginning and advanced from 6:30-7:30 p.m. Thursdays, for ages 14 and older beginning and advanced from 7:30-8:30 p.m. Thursdays, both at the Cultural Center. Karate will be taught for ages 12 and older begionning from for beginners 7:30-8:30 p.m. on Thursdays, and for ages 12 and older 8:30-9:45 p.m. for advanced on Thursdays, both at Cultural Center.
- Magic Workshops: Learn magic from a professional magician at three two-hour workshops. The workshops for grades 1-3 is Hocus Pocus I and Abracadabra I, while Hocus Pocus II is for grades 4-6. Hocus Pocus I meets 4-6 p.m. Tuesday, May 14, in the Cultural Center, Abracadabra I meets 4-6 p.m. Tuesday, May 28, at Cultural Center, and Hocus Pocus II meets 4-6 p.m. Tuesday, June 4.
- Ballet: Basic ballet positions and combination steps are gaught with emphasis on rhythm and movement for younger dancers. All classes meet for eight weeks on Wednesday in the Cultural Center and are divided by age at the following times, 3½-5 4-4:30 p.m.; 3½-5 4:30-5 p.m.; 6-8 5-5:30 p.m.; and ages 9-12 6-6:30 p.m.
- Tap: Introduction to basic tap exercises with emphasis on rhythm. For ages 6-8 5:30-6 p.m. and for ages 9-12 6:30-7 p.m. on Wednesdays for eight weeks in the Cultural Center.

proudly presents
Alpha Truth Awareness.
Six nights that will change your life.
May 5 through May 10, 1985
7 P.M. to 11 P.M.
VRLE MINTO
VRLE MINTO will be our guest speaker at both services on Sunday morning, May 5th and his exciting ALPHA TRUTH AWARENESS SEMINAR begins at 7 p.m. that evening, with an INTRODUCTORY LECTURE AND WORKSHOP for only a $5.00 donation.
No stranger to our shores, Vrle has been here many times to teach his popular seminar. ALPHA TRUTH AWARENESS deals with techniques which do not necessarily change but do enhance our lives "in the immediate physical dimension." These techniques have brought success in the world of business and industry as well as in many individual lives.
To condense the content of ALPHA TRUTH AWARENESS is nearly impossible. But some tidbits from Vrle's menu are:
Earth is just a vacation.
Our innate genius capacity - how to tap it.
99% of our hunches are correct - how to pay attention to them.
What we say is what we are.
Why we need to cancel negative words like "sorry" and "can't" from our vocabulary.
Participants in ALPHA TRUTH AWARENESS refer to this seminar as "The Vrle Phenomena." They are united in what is uniquely and happily known as the "ALPHA EXPERIENCE" — the moment of insight. To be with Vrle is to share many "AHAS."
REGISTRATION INFORMATION IS AVAILABLE AT THE HOSTESS DESK IN OUR BOOKSTORE OR YOU MAY CALL THE CENTER AT 421-1760. Tickets will be available for the Sunday evening lecture. All Meetings will be at:

Farm festivities featured

Organic gardening and sheep shearing will highlight weekend activities May 4-5 at Domino's Farms in Ann Arbor. The activites are open and free to the public.

Patricia Hopkinson, a horticulturist from the University of Michigan's Matthaei Botanical Gardens, will host a 1½ demonstration and slide show explaining proven techniques on organic gardening, soil preparation, fertilizing and harvesting.

The program begins at 10 a.m. Saturday. Call 995-2792 to make reservations.

Robert Brooks, a former state shearing champion, will demonstrate his sheep-shearing skills. He will shave the fleece of four corriedale sheep and two angora goats.

Brooks, who has been shearing for more than 30 years, practices the "Australian method" of shearing — a five-minute procedure which produces a finer quality product, according to Brooks. With the aid of spinners and a weaver, a patterned shawl will be made from the homespun wool and angora.

Passenger train was way of life

the stroller

W.W. Edgar

OVER THE airwaves the other evening came the stunning news that the nation's railroads might eliminate all passenger trains.

The news was stunning because it seemed like the loss of a close family friend. In fact, the passenger trains with their fancy names had been a friend for years, dating 'way back to The Stroller's youth.

It may seem strange to the present generation, but back in the home town in the Dutch country of Pennsylvania we never retired for the night until we walked across the bridge to see the Lehigh Valley's top train, the Black Diamond, go by. It always was on time at 9:24, and as we turned our backs and headed home, it was the signal to say "So long."

These gatherings to see the train were almost like family reunions. If you wanted to see someone in particular, you could find him crossing the bridge to watch Black Diamond go by.

This train was especially close to The Stroller for it was the train he took when he left home to come to Detroit more than 60 years ago.

WHILE IT was sort of a sad moment when he said good-bye to his mother and sisters, it turned out to be a proud time when he nestled in the big chair of his favorite train.

When he settled in Detroit, another train captured his fancy. It was the Union train that left the station promptly at noon on Saturdays in the fall to take the football fans to Ferry Field in Ann Arbor for the Michigan game. That was long before the present stadium was built. This was a fascinating train, too.

Then others came into The Stroller's life. One was the Super Chief which ran from Chicago to Los Angeles, and it was on this fancy train that we made our first trip to the Pacific coast.

It was our first trip out west, and in the morning the lady who heads our house was surprised to see roses growing between the rails. It was an unforgettable sight.

THEN THERE was the Canadian train that took us from Windsor to Lake Louise, then to Jasper for another great sight in the Rocky Mountains.

Another great treat was to ride the New York, New Haven and Hartford up through the New England states. This was always a great way to start a vacation in the east.

In our home town, even the berry pickers had a train. This was a special that ran only during the berry season on the Catasauqua and Fogelsville line. The train moved only as fast as the pickers moved. When they were finished, the train brought them back home.

So the passenger trains were part of our "bringing up," and it is too bad that the young folks of today will not have the same thrills. The passenger trains played a large part in our lives.

There is nothing like that today. But there was a time when the passenger train was a real part of living. The airplane took over for long-distance travel.

But while the scenery from the plane is fine, it cannot equal the close-up view of the world's beauty one enjoys from a passenger train.

Concert worthy of coverage

To the editor:

I am amazed that the Plymouth Observer apparently feels that a major event in the community is not worthy of more coverage.

I am speaking of the Plymouth Community Chorus concert next Saturday and Sunday, "An Evening of Rodgers and Hammerstein." I have seen almost no mention of this major production, which involves 129 chorus members and 63 members of the orchestra, entertaining an overflow crowd of more than 2,000 people. This is a tremendous involvement of local people, working for the enjoyment of the community.

We have more than 54 business patrons who see fit to support us in our efforts.

We are presenting three voice scholarships totaling $1,000 at 8 p.m. Sunday. Two of the recipients are from Plymouth schools and the other from Livonia Stevenson.

Our director, Michael Gross, and the many fine people who have worked so hard in bringing this production to the stage of the Plymouth Salem auditorium, deserve to have your recognition, and I believe it is worthy of your coverage.

Smith thanks Gras backers

To the editor:

Many thanks to the Plymouth merchants for their support and generosity in making this year's Mardi Gras at Smith Elementary School a big success. Their generous donations, as in past years, were greatly appreciated. As parents and students, we can show our thanks by shopping at the businesses who donated items and let them know we support them.

Researchers thank helpers

To the editor:

We would like to thank the many people in the Plymouth community who assisted us in our recent community research study of Plymouth.

We are graduating Madonna College students, and this study was a course requirement. Many people were of assistance, but a few deserve special thanks. Mike Richardson of the police department, Sharon Thomas of Tonquish Creek Manor and Sharon Strean of Plymouth-Canton Community Education Department all went out of their way to be of assistance.

We hope the small projects we presented were of benefit to the community groups we met.

Again, thank you to all the people of Plymouth for your friendliness and cooperation in answering our many questions regarding your community.

Chiumento's extra miler

West Middle School music teacher Mike Chiumento is Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' newest "Extra Miler."

The award is given periodically to outstanding staffers by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Chiumento is a "dedicated and involved individual who has served in a variety of capacities in the past eight years with the district," said Trustee David Artley.

Artley read a letter from a couple which said, "Chiumento has been a mentor to our son. He has had a great influence on his life, which we as parents have been proud to witness."

Chiumento, who won a coupon good for "brunch for two" at the Mayflower Hotel, said, "I think I'm fortunate to work in a building where I think there are a lot of extra milers. I enjoy it, and I think I'll enjoy the brunch too."

for your information

● YMCA GUIDE RECRUITMENT

Anyone interested in joining the YMCA Indian Guide program, which promotes meaningful relationships between parent and child, may sign up from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays at the Plymouth Community Family YMCA on Union Street in Plymouth.

The Guide programs include: Indian Guides for fathers and sons ages 5-9; Trail Blazers, fathers and sons age 10 and older; Braves, mothers and sons age 5 and older; Princesses, fathers and daughters, age 5-9; Trail Mates, fathers and daughters, age 9 and older; Maidens, mothers and daughters, age 5-8; and Trailettes, for mothers and their daughters, age 9 and older.

● WANTED: BACKYARD POOLS

Backyard pools are needed in Plymouth, Canton and Northville by the Plymouth Community Family YMCA for its backyard swim program. If you have a pool and would like to donate its use for one to two hours a day for a two-week period, call the Y at 453-2904 for more information, including information on how pool donation can benefit your children. The pools are needed for the two-week periods of July 8-19, July 22 to Aug. 2; Aug. 2-17.

● EMPLOYMENT DYNAMICS

Recruitment for the Employment Dynamics program is under way with applications being accepted through May. Purpose of the program is to help unemployed young adults improve their job-seeking skills and find permanent employment.

Participants must be ages 17-21 and live in western Wayne County. Participants must meet income guidelines. The program is sponsored by Growth Works Inc., Plymouth. Interested persons may contact Lissa Spitz at 455-4093.

Employment Dynamics is a federally funded program which provides young adults with job search skills training, paid on-the-job work experience and job placement assistance.

● WANTED: CIVIC RADIO HELP

Plymouth Area REACT Team (PART) is looking for new members for emergency radio communication (no experience necessary) and other community programs. All residents from Plymouth, Canton, Northville and surrounding areas are invited. The group meets at 8 p.m. the second Thursday of each month at Plymouth Township Hall, Mill at Ann Arbor Road. For more information, call 455-9609 or 453-7641.

PD growing pains

A rare opportunity is in our midst at the Canton Township Police Department.

It's not often anyone has a chance to clean the slate and decide what the future will hold, which is presently the situation for township officials and police personnel. But, it's the residents who are most powerful, and yet least heard from, in the matter.

Every aspect of the department is in a transitional stage right now, and it's crucial that wise, futuristic decisions are made. In the next two months the department will relocate to a $2 million building, a police chief will be named, staffing increases will be addressed and all policies will be reviewed.

A revamping of the department has been seriously under way since the beginning of the year when township officials decided to shell out more than $16,000 to a consulting firm, Bartell and Bartell, for a departmental study. Many officers say the suggestions in the report are a rehash of requests made by former Canton Police Chief Jerry Cox, who resigned under pressure following the study's release.

A POSITIVE suggestion of the study was to establish a steering committee of police department personnel to address the issues they believe are most imperative. It puts the employees in an unusual position of having a voice in the operation of the department. These township employees are willing to flip off their television switches, give up a day in the park, sacrifice hours with their family and other free time for the betterment of the department and ultimately the community. They should be applauded.

Trustees Robert Padget, Loren Bennett and Supervisor James Poole, who are on a police committee, also have devoted a lot of effort to address police issues. They are reviewing a three-phase study presented by the steering committee requesting 34 new positions, a new dispatch system and the establishment of bureaus to combat major problems, such as juvenile crime, which are plaguing Canton streets.

Foresight and careful thought are needed at every juncture. The next important step will be the hiring of a police chief. Will Canton lose Lt. Larry Stewart, who has served as acting police chief since Cox resigned? Will Stewart, who has stated his career goal to be chief, move on to another community to fulfill his ambitions? Have township officials hinted he probably wouldn't get the post, because he has acquired too many of Cox's habits? After Canton has groomed, trained and paid for Stewart's training, are we ready to pass along his expertise in law enforcement and more importantly his familiarity with the community?

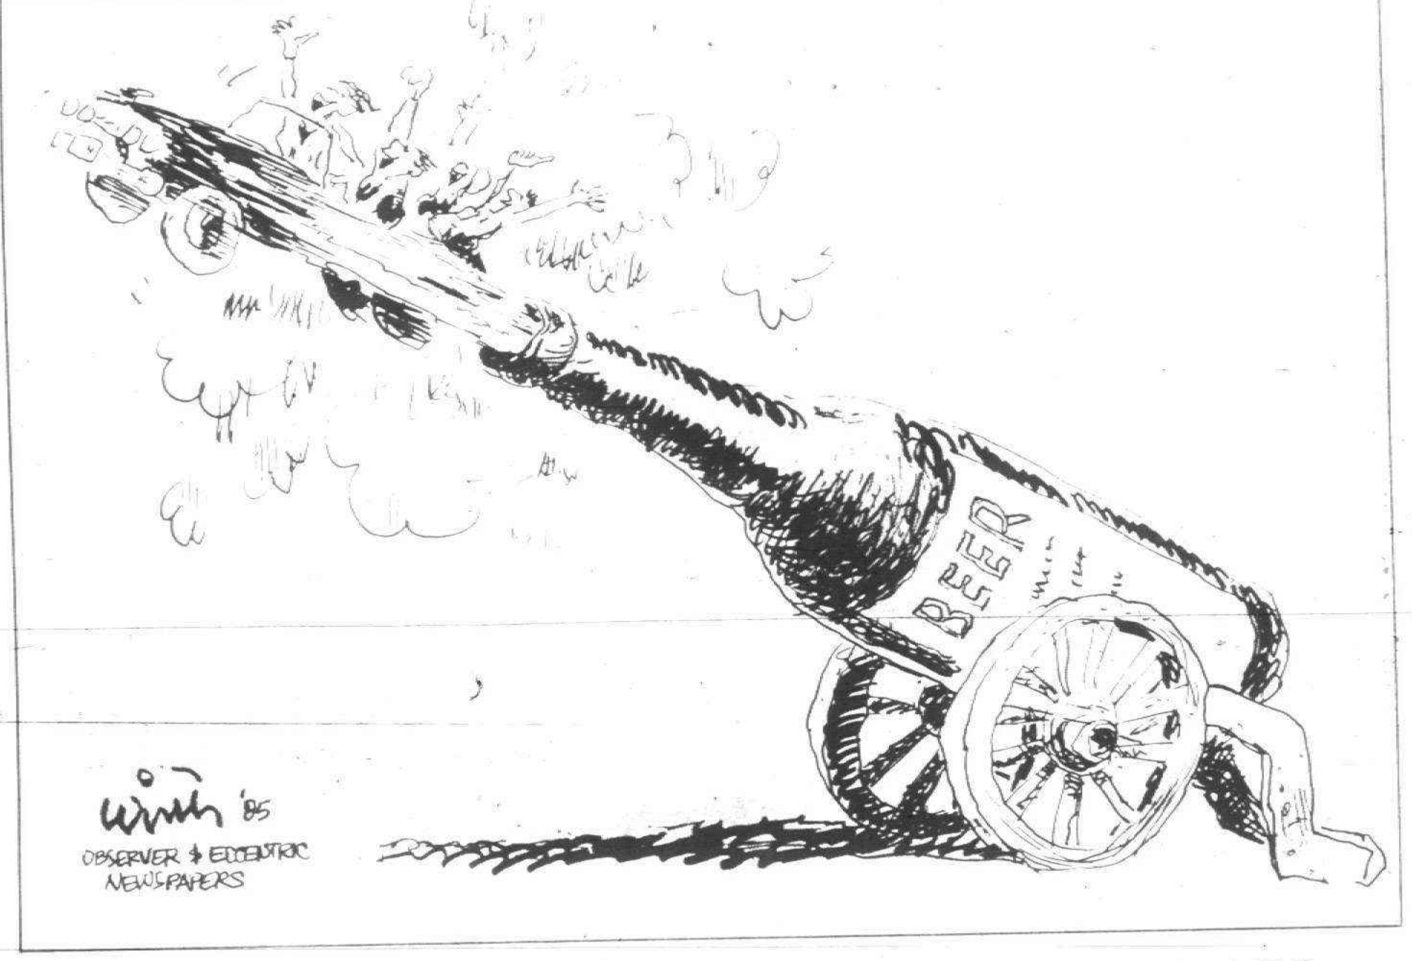
Stewart has earned the respect of his fellow employees, so he deserves encouragement to at least enter the ring along with other applicants. He has seen and felt the needs of the officers and the concerns of township officials, during this developmental stage.

It's of utmost importance for all those involved to recognize each other's positions and to extend patience. Police employees deal with the inadequacies of their department on a daily basis and they want the changes accomplished yesterday. Township officials must look at the whole picture and decide if the costs are worth the price.

A COMMON ARGUMENT used by both groups is: "Everything that is being done is for the betterment of the community." Who knows more about what's best for the people than the residents themselves? What do the people at home, who are to be protected by the department, think? You're paying the bill: What portion of your tax dollars should go for the police department?

We're at a turning point in determining how the police department will develop, and it's time for everyone to step back, take a deep breath and assess the situation. Changes in the Canton Township Police Department — cited as being rife with problems by township officials as well as employees — will take a lot more work. A lot has been accomplished, but it's important not to become lethargic or frustrated if the wheels of progress turn slower than anticipated. Reactions from residents must be heard above everyone else.

— Diane Gale



What did women do in 'Nam era?

Sandra Armbruster

THERE IS SOMETHING curious about the media's regurgitation of the Vietnam war era. Most stories are about men, written by other men.

The local Veteran's Administration knows that about 150,000 Michigan men served in Vietnam from August 1964 to May 1975. Neither that office, nor its public affairs department in Washington, knew anything about women from Michigan who served in Vietnam.

Nor does the Defense Department have statistics, they said.

The National Archives doesn't know anything more than very general statistics, some of which a spokesman said he learned by reading Foreign Affairs magazine. He did know that, nationally, eight women died while serving in Vietnam.

A VETERAN'S readjustment center in Lincoln Park said that, according to the Pentagon, 8,000 women from Michigan are believed to have served in Vietnam.

Those who did serve aren't recognized either by the media or by the national Vietnam veterans' memorial, which shows three soldiers, all of them male.

What was the role of women during the Vietnam era?

Most were nurses, the VA said, but few ever show up for counseling. The only known therapy group for women is in Toledo.

Did they suffer as did their male counterparts?

"Of course they did," said a counselor. "They had to treat these guys who came in all torn up."

BUT THERE IS a group of women about which even less is known. They are the 150,000 mothers, the 150,000 wives and girl friends of those Michigan men we've heard so much about with the 10th anniversary of Saigon's fall.

Perhaps those women were foreshadowed by John Milton in his 1652 sonnet: "They also serve who only stand and wait."

Airports were filled with them. And they waited for soldiers flying on standby fares, waited for one last look at the plane as it taxied down the runway.

They bore the taunts of anti-war groups which said their men were baby killers who made love and war. And they waited quietly, unable to share their mixed guilt and pride, knowing that serving in "Nam" was a stigma. For, in the early years of the war, only those too poor to afford college, or those who dropped out, were drafted.

They listened to media reports of the horrors of war. And they waited, reading the daily casualty lists.

They learned to bake with honey and to fill packages with popped corn to ensure safe shipment overseas. And they waited for return letters, which usually came in bunches.

Sometimes, they accompanied friends to pick out flowers for the casket. And they waited for the call they hoped would never come.

NOW IT HAS BEEN 10 years or more for these women, too. Many are mothers, and some are receiving enlistment literature for sons who are approaching draft-registration age.

First they take their friends and lovers; next they ask for their sons.

Nothing has changed in the history of the world. Useless wars are still being fought by men playing children's games.

How long will women be content to only stand and wait?

There may be better ways to serve.

Gandhi, in the movie of that name, tells a reporter that if a man enjoys the rights and privileges of a nation, he must also be willing to defend that nation.

But how, asks the reporter, does that fit with Gandhi's pacifism?

There are many ways to fight, Gandhi replies.

Whether marching in uniform, or marching in unison at Williams International Corp., women must find those new ways to serve.

Drink takes unknown toll

Bob Wisler

I READ with interest the story about "Project Graduation," an attempt by several organizations to ensure that the thousands of area high school seniors will make it through the next few months without becoming the victims of an alcohol- or drug-related tragedy.

The guest speaker at a "Project Graduation" workshop, attended by 1,000 area students, was a 24-year-old Livonia man who became a paraplegic after a car crash seven years ago.

As the untoward incidents unfold in our newspapers and on our broadcasts, I wonder how much of a factor drinking played in each particular tragedy.

We read of a head-on crash on a lonely road in which both drivers are killed. It turns out both were legally drunk at the time of impact. The accidents are often detailed, but how many other incidents are reported with no account given of whether the person involved was drinking?

SOMEONE THROWS a bowling ball out of a moving car and it smashes through the window of an oncoming car, killing the young driver. Was the youth who threw the bowling ball drinking?

There are barricaded gunmen, family fights which turn into tragedies, irrational, violent acts which somehow make you think that drinking was involved. We hear a lot these days about child abuse and wonder how much of even this behavior has an alcohol factor.

We tend to forget about the dark side of drinking as we go about our pursuit of happiness. The facts are grim. Some experts say alcohol is the leading cause of death in the country, ahead of cancer and heart disease. More Americans die in alcohol-related car accidents each year than died in Vietnam during any year of the war. And 40 to 50 percent of these accidents involve drivers under 21. Most drownings involve drinking.

Some experts on crime contend that more than 50 percent of those in prison did their crimes either under the influence of alcohol or because of an alcohol-influenced life.

ALCOHOL-RELATED problems — absences, sick time, health-care costs, poor workmanship, etc. — contribute enormously to the cost of doing business and buying merchandise.

And still the beat goes on. There seems to be an almost unquenchable urge passed from generation to generation to want to combine drinking with successful careers, successful marriages, successful businesses. Drinking is part of success, say the ads and the examples we often give to the young.

A survey of seniors in Birmingham shows that 42 percent drink alcohol every weekend or more often. School officials say the figure is typical of the national average.

The "Project Graduation" program sponsored by Students Against Drunk Driving and others is commendable. It will no doubt have some influence on students and help some teen-agers get safely through a period when drinking is even more of a predominant exercise in enjoyment than usual.

BUT WE also must worry about the rest of the year and the rest of the lives of those high-school students who are now drinking every weekend.

This will take a more pervasive effort which will have to include the recognition by every level of government, every police agency, every civic group and every family that drinking alcohol can lead to serious problems which ought to be addressed every week of the year.

Perhaps with the kind of effort that has so far been exhibited by only small segments of the society — Mothers Against Drunk Driving, for example — we can begin to make more and more young people think twice about becoming victims of alcohol-related problems.

Sidestepping, corporate style

Tim Richard

YOU THINK only reporters ask tough questions?

You think only politicians are evasive about answering to the voters?

You should have heard the stockholders tangle with the board chairman at Michigan National Corp.'s annual meeting last week.

Forty years ago, when President Harry S. Truman didn't want to deal with a question, he flatly said, "No comment." Modern PR technique, however, is to give every question some verbiage, conveying an impression you're responding, even if you fail to answer the question. Bill Lucas has mastered it.

MNC, BASED in Bloomfield Hills, is a retail bank holding company with 23 affiliates across Michigan. In 1984, the board halted dividends during its period of troubles.

A stockholder asked Chairman Robert Mylod what factors the board would consider in reinstituting dividends. A fair question.

Mylod cited two factors, one of which was "return on equity." (Incidentally, last year's return was 6.24 percent, according to the annual report.) Mylod didn't say what return the MNC board actually is seeking.

Words but no substance.

A STOCKHOLDER identified as Harry Carson asked about $200 million in energy loan losses. Why, he wanted to know, was it "swept under the rug?"

"It was not swept under the rug," answered Mylod. He said the company is now policing its lending policies better, has instituted "proper controls" and maintains "proper reserves."

Carson really wanted to know what action was taken against the officers who made the loans.

Mylod repeated that proper controls and policies were in place, and the board had taken the "proper position."

Carson still hadn't received an answer, so he asked his question a third time: What action was taken against the officers responsible for the loan?

"Whatever actions are necessary," Mylod said blandly.

The stockholder gave up.

STOCKHOLDERS were treated to a 30-minute videotape in which radio personality J.P. McCarthy, several customers and a bank vice president extolled the virtues of Michigan National banks. The gist of their message was: Don't change a good thing. It left you the impression that it would be bad for MNC to merge with Comerica Inc.

Except for the McCarthy narration, the same material was in the annual report, with color photos.

During the Q&A session, a visibly angry stockholder chewed out Mylod for putting so little in the annual report about Comerica's merger offer, saying the annual meeting should allow "more time for questions and less time for J.P. McCarthy." Before stalking off, the stockholder asked how much MNC paid McCarthy for the videotape.

Mylod stonewalled it, Nixon-style.

ONE OTHER note of my own on the MNC meeting:

The McCarthy videotape featured a radio personality who is identified with enthusiastic observance of St. Patrick's Day, a woman fashion-house owner, a professor-turned-stained-glass-merchant, an east-side Detroit couple with a Polish surname, and a black VP of the bank.

The all-American melting pot, eh?

Well, when it came to selecting the board of directors, the nominating committee nominated 15 persons. All whites. All males.

congressional roll call

Reps are partisan on Contra aid

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes April. 18-24.

HOUSE

CHILE — The House rejected, 191 for an 206 against, a non-binding resolution (H Con Res 52) urging the Reagan Administration to sever most official ties with Chile until the right-wing dictatorship of Gen. Augosto Pinochet gives way to democratic rule.

In part, the United States was to have ended joint naval maneuvers with Chile, cut off all economic aid except humanitarian assistance, continued to ban military aid, and continued voting against loans supplied by international institutions.

Supporter Tom Lantos, D-Calif., said: "Human rights happen to be indivisible. Human rights violations in Chile must be condemned. Human rights violations in the Soviet Union must be condemned."

Opponent Toby Roth, R-Wis., said: "If we wish to have an influence in the democratic evolution of Chile, it is only logical that we keep open our lines of communication and our lines of influence."

Members voting yes favored a U.S. policy of isolating Chile as long as it remains a totalitarian state. Voting yes: Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods, William Ford, D-Taylor, Sander Levin, D-Southfield.

Voting no: William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

NICARAGUA — By a vote of 219 for an 206 against, the House approved the Democratic plan for dealing with Nicaragua's Marxist Sandinista government and the American-backed Contras who are waging a guerilla war against that regime.

In related votes, reported below, the House rejected Contra funding proposals put forth by President Reagan and House Republicans. The Senate approved Reagan's plan.

The voting sequence ended when the House rejected the basic legislative vehicle (HJ Res 239), thus killing Reagan's request for fiscal 1985 money to resume U.S. funding of the Contras. The issue will resurface later this year when Congress takes up Reagan's next request for aid to the Contras.

The Democratic plan emphasized non-military tactics, such as economic sanctions and regional diplomacy, as the primary means of persuading the Sandinistas to replace totalitarianism with democracy. However, it made clear that a lack of progress toward democracy would trigger an American-backed military response.

Some $4 million was earmarked under this plan for the Contadora peace initiative being advocated by some of Nicaragua's neighbors, and $10 million was to be funneled through international agencies to Nicaraguan refugees.

Members voting yes favored the Democratic plan for dealing with the Sandinistas and the Contras. Voting yes: Hertel, William Ford and Levin.

Voting no: Pursell and Broomfield.

REAGAN — The House rejected, 180 for and 248 against, President Reagan's proposal that $14 million be appropriated in fiscal 1985 aid to the Contras. The vote continued the ban Congress imposed last year on American financial support of the Contras' insurgency against Nicaragua's Sandinista regime.

Under Reagan's plan, the $14 million was to have been spent for non-military purposes during a cooling-off period in which bilateral peace talks were to have been conducted. If the talks yielded no progress after 60 days, the money could have become military aid to the Contras.

Members voting yes supported the president's plan. Voting yes: Pursell and Broomfield.

Voting no: Hertel, William Ford and Levin.

REPUBLICAN — By a vote of 213 for and 215 against, the House rejected a Contra funding proposal that House Republican Leader Robert Michel, R-Ill., offered in hopes of salvaging some form of fiscal 1985 aid to the Nicaraguan rebels.

The GOP plan provided that the $14 million be spent on non-military purposes under the direction of the U.S. Agency for International Development. It called for bi-lateral negotiations between the Contras and the Sandinistas, rather than the multi-lateral Contadora negotiations advocated by House Democratic leaders.

Members voting yes favored the Republican plan. Voting yes: Pursell and Broomfield.

Voting no: Hertel, William Ford and Levin.

SENATE

CONTRAS — By a vote of 53 for and 46 against, the Senate adopted a resolution, advocated by President Reagan, to provide $14 million in fiscal 1985 non-military aid to the Contra rebels fighting to topple Nicaragua's Marxist Sandinista government.

The victory for President Reagan proved short-lived when the House later killed its version of the legislation.

To attract suport for this resolution (SJ Res 106), Reagan pledged to consider economic sanctions as an alternative to war against the Sandinista regime, and to resume direct U.S. talks with the Sandinistas aimed at achieving a cease-fire in the Contras insurgency.

Senators voting yes supported Regan's plan for helping the Contras.

Voting no were Michigan Democrats Carl Levin and Donald Reigle.

SEMTA to buy 65 small buses

The Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) will buy up to 65 new small buses, Acting General Manager Albert A. Martin announced.

All are for use in small bus or "Connector" service. They will replace vehicles that are either five years old or have been driven more than 100,000 miles.

The purchase is being made with $2.4 million in capital grants received in February from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration and the Michigan Department of Transportation.

Each bus will seat 16-20 passengers and will have a wheelchair lift and accommodation for two wheelchairs.

"We hope to have these new buses on the street carrying passengers by late fall," Martin said. "They will be included in our active fleet of 192 radio-dispatched, demand-responsive buses, a fleet which serves 7,200 passengers daily in six counties of southeast Michigan."

Martin said nine companies — five in Michigan — have been invited to bid. The lowest conforming bidder will receive the contract. Bid opening will be in SEMTA offices June 5.

Pets

This week's adoptable pets are Taffy, a 1-year-old female Himalayan cat who has been declawed and is good with kids, and Teddy, a 5-month-old male mixed setter. For information on these and other pets, contact the Michigan Humane Society's Kindness Center, 37255 Marquette, Westland (721-7300).

That one word certainly describes Oscar Russell, a coach operator out of the Wayne terminal. In fact, during his six years of service at SEMTA, being cautious has been just part of the job.
Oscar is proud of the fact that he's never had a single accident as a SEMTA driver. And for him, being cautious isn't just a matter of personal satisfaction. "I feel responsible for the safety of all my passengers," says Oscar. "You got to look out for the other guy because most of the time they're not looking out for you. I guess you could say I'm pretty cautious."
Cautious. That's Oscar Russell. But he also brings other outstanding qualities to the job — just like all SEMTA people who make SEMTA the bus system that works. They're simply doing their best to be the best. As for Oscar, he's doing it very cautiously.

Top scholars collect rewards

By Judith Doner Berne

MEMBERS of the first Observer Newspaper Academic All-Star team are headed for careers in engineering, math and the sciences. Most will attend the University of Michigan.

The 12 academic all-stars are not necessarily class valedictorians. They were selected based on their high school grade point average in academic subjects combined with their national test scores.

Those scores could be the ACT, the SAT or the PSAT (juniors only).

Their totals are the highest among 22 responding high schools in the Observer circulation area. Each high school was eligible to nominate two students — either juniors or seniors.

The 12 winners were selected by a committee of the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals. Those designated as National Merit Finalists may actually have won scholarships, but that information wasn't available at press time.

Here is the cream of this year's academic crop, presented in alphabetical order:

- CHRISTOPHER ADAMSON — JOHN GLENN HIGH SCHOOL, WESTLAND. Adamson is headed for Michigan Technological University, Houghton, where he will pursue a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering followed by graduate studies in computer science, physiology and robotics. He is a National Merit Scholarship Finalist and finished in the top 20 in the Michigan Math Prize competition. Biggest influence on his academic career? "My parents, teachers and counselors who always helped and encouraged me."

- JAMES AKAO — CHURCHILL HIGH SCHOOL, LIVONIA. Akao wants to get his bachelor's degree in engineering from the University of Michigan and then a master's in mathematics. He hopes to work in research and development. He is a National Merit Scholarship Finalist, the bronze medal winner in the Michigan Math Prize Competition and winner of a Rensselaer Polytechnic Award for Mathematics and Sciences. Akao says the Livonia School District's Alternate Classrooms for the Academically Talented (ACAT) program in fifth and sixth grades gave him a sense of pleasure in learning that has fueled his academic career.

- ANDREA LYNN BREUHAN — HARRISON HIGH SCHOOL, FARMINGTON. Breuhan will attend the University of Michigan, where she will enter the honors program with an eye toward law school or other graduate studies. She says her high school education and extensive participation in extracurricular and community activities have contributed to her pursuit of academic excellence.

- TAMARA CHRISTIE — REDFORD UNION HIGH SCHOOL, REDFORD TOWNSHIP. Christie is also headed for the University of Michigan. She is considering a premedical curriculum. Christie is a Phi Beta Kappa nominee. She selected her mother as the person who has most influenced her academic career "because she has always given me her support."

- MIDORI HARRIS — MERCY HIGH SCHOOL, FARMINGTON HILLS. Harris, a National Merit Scholarship Finalist, is planning to attend Michigan State University where she will major in a laboratory science (biology or chemistry). She hopes to go into research in biochemistry or a related field. "My paternal grandfather has greatly influenced my academic career by providing the opportunity for me to attend a school of academic merit without financial pressure to my immediate family."

- MARK LADD — JOHN GLENN HIGH SCHOOL, WESTLAND. Ladd is a National Merit Finalist and winner of an all-expense paid trip to Nurnberg, West Germany, from the American Association of Teachers of German. He will enter the engineering school at the University of Michigan. Who has influenced his academic career? "No one in particular."

- THOMAS MUELLER — STEVENSON HIGH SCHOOL, LIVONIA. Mueller is headed for Indiana University with an eye toward either medical or dental school. He is the winner of a National Merit Scholarship, as well as an International Telephone and Telegraph scholarship. He was a finalist in the Michigan Math Prize Competition and in the National Teachers of English Writing Contest. Mueller's parents have been the biggest influence on his educational educational success. "My parents worked hard to give me a head start in reading. As I grew older, they instilled in me the values and competitive edge that helped me always put forth my best effort."

- STEVEN PEDLOW — PLYMOUTH CANTON HIGH SCHOOL, CANTON TOWNSHIP. Pedlow will attend the University of Michigan, specializing in mathematics. He is a Michigan Math Prize Competition finalist and will be his class valedictorian. A high school English teacher, Barbara Masters, has been a big influence. "She has shown me a great deal. My reading and writing have improved immensely, as have my backgrounds in politics and art. But the biggest thing she has shown me is how to pick the right books to read and to read them."

- CHRISTOPHER RITO — CATHOLIC CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL, REDFORD TOWNSHIP. Rito will attend Kalamazoo College on a K mart National Merit Scholarship but is undecided on a field of study. He is considering secondary education or the sciences. He won a first-place award in the Detroit Science Fair, made the All-Scholastic Catholic Team for two years and the Scholar-Athlete team. "My older sister, an excellent scholar, was my greatest influence because she not only gave me love, help and support, but also a standard to achieve and surpass."

- BETH SADLER — MERCY HIGH SCHOOL, FARMINGTON HILLS. Sadler will head for the University of Michigan to study in a science, preferably in research. She has in mind a doctoral degree. She is a National Merit Finalist, won the Madame Curie Award from the Society of Women Engineers and holds a Certificate of Merit in Spanish. Her parents have most influenced her academic success. "They have always encouraged me to pursue my own interests and talents. They never pressured me academically, but rather gave me the freedom to make my own decisions while always offering their full support."

- DOUGLAS TROJANOWSKI — LUTHERAN NORTHWEST HIGH SCHOOL, FARMINGTON HILLS. Trojanowski is a National Merit Scholarship winner. He will graduate Phi Beta Kappa and as class valedictorian. Although he plans to major in computer science, he is undecided on his choice of a school. "My parents have influenced my academic career through their support and encouragement for me."

- JEANNE WAKENHUT — FRANKLIN HIGH SCHOOL, LIVONIA. Wakenhut will attend Johns Hopkins University. She wants to major in neuroscience or psychology with an emphasis in biology. She plans to pursue a doctorate to become a research scientist. Wakenhut is a National Merit Semifinalist, will graduate summa cum laude and was her school's nominee to the Japan-U.S. Senate Exchange Program and the Finland-U.S. Senate Exchange Programs in 1983-84. She also won the L'Alliance Francaise de Detroit Award in 1982-83.

Her parents have most influenced her academic career, but two teachers "took the time to explain things in depth and answer demanding questions." They are Dana Hardwidge (eighth grade algebra) and David Danes (chemistry).

Residents flock to pick up free seedlings

Canton chatter

Sandy Preblich 981-6354

I hope you had a wonderful weekend.

I know it was superb for many Cantonites and it wasn't just the weather. Success is the word for this past weekend. Not only did we have beautiful weather, but a marvelous turnout for the free seedling giveaway at township hall. I don't know how else to describe it, but if you weren't there, you may have been the only one who wasn't.

For those of you who were there, you know exactly of what I speak! This was unmistakably the best turnout we have ever had. The Beautification Committee was encouraged to continue this each year. I promise you the line never will be that long again.

SO THAT you might better understand why you had to wait ~~so long~~, let me start with a basic truth. There were about 10 times more people than expected. Who knew so many would show up this time? Believe me, they had no idea. They would have prepared for you had they known. But even in all the hurry and confusion, it was a pure joy to give these trees away.

A job well done, I'd say. After all, you take any job and send in 10 times more work than planned for and you'd be lucky to finish at all! But finish they did.

Naturally, some wanted more trees than they were entitled to. And some grumbled about the line. But all in all, I think it was a huge success and a wonderful project.

The entire committee — all four members — has reason to be proud. Extra help came from some wonderful volunteers from the Apple Run Garden Club, always around when you need them.

Margo Whiting, Kathy Presecan, Nadia Olimpich, and Diane Anderson, joined committee members Arlene Woods, Pam Swiderek, Geri Wojcik, and the newest convert, Tillie Schultz.

A longtime Canton resident and multicommittee member, Tillie wasted no time in railroading, or recruiting, Connie McCrea, longtime friend and volunteer, to join in and lend a hand to the over-worked crew! All I can say is, you all did yeoman's work.

The group wants to thank Nicki Zimmerman of the township offices for all her help in setting up and ordering and whatever. Also, the young man they knew only as Rick, who did this and that all afternoon, here and there.

I think Pam Swiderek said it best when she declared, "This is a lot more fun than selling luminaries!"

NO ONE DARE say they didn't try to keep the crowd peaceful as "Heart-so" the clown (Geri Wojcik to family and friends) kept the kids laughing. She chased after her imaginary dog that kept getting away and dragging her all over the halls. You see they had hoped that if they kept the kids entertained, while you stood in line, the day would be more pleasant. Who knew, or dreamed, they needed 10 clowns?

You could tell the spirit of the workers as they encouraged small children to take a seedling for themselves — to plant and nurture, believing that a single bush planted by a child often gets more loving care than an entire yard planted by a landscaping firm. It's a good beginning for everybody.

As with almost any community event where reservations are not required, some things didn't work out as planned. Some minor, some annoying, some regretful, but for the most part, unavoidable under the circumstances.

For instance, they ran out of instruction sheets; there was a L-O-N-G line throughout the entire event; there were not enough volunteers to keep things moving rapidly; there was not enough space to serve everyone quickly; and, most regrettable for the committee, those who donated blood sometimes had to wait in the line simply because the busy committee members were unaware that they were there.

All these were unfortunate circumstances and were due solely to the fact they had no idea of the tremendous response they would receive this year!

Actually, the line was all the way down the hall when the committee arrived around 9 a.m. to open 10 a.m. They opened a few minutes early, didn't even get a chance to eat their doughnuts or drink their coffee.

But have no fear. It will be much faster next year. The committee is excited and already planning for the larg-

Chorus sings an evening of Rodgers & Hammerstein

The music of Broadway's greatest team will come to life this weekend when the Plymouth Community Chorus presents "An Evening of Rodgers and Hammerstein." The Broadway years of 1942 through 1960 will be the theme of the chorus' 11th annual spring concert. Performance time is 8 p.m. for performances Saturday and Sunday, May 4 and 5, in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium.

Preparation for "An Evening with Rodgers and Hammerstein" began in the spring of 1984 when chorus director Mike Gross presented the concert concept to the board of directors. With approval, Gross completed the special arrangements with the Rodgers and Hammerstein Concert Library in New York for rental of the orchestra and choral scores.

Mike Gross

Once the final arrangements for the music rental were complete, an orchestral coordinator was appointed to form the 64-piece orchestra needed to accompany the chorus. The orchestra is composed of musicians from surrounding metropoltan communities.

THE 130-VOICE chorus has been rehearsing for weeks. While Gross anticipated using four soloists as suggested in the score, he said he was overwhelmed by the quality of voices as he auditioned chorus members. He and the adjudicator had difficulty narrowing them down to the 14 soloists selected.

On concert night, the audience will find the Plymouth Salem stage transformed to a lovely spring setting with white chrysanthemums and pink azaleas. The new choral formation and set design includes the use of lighting.

Narrator Ken Ford, former television newscaster and anchor man for WJBK-TV, will create continuity as he describes the contributions of Rodgers and Hammerstein to the American musical theater.

The orchestra will open the show with "Carousel Waltz," the overture from the 1945 musical, "Carousel." The overture was composed only to open the show and its melody did not appear in any of the show tunes.

DICK SHAW and the chorus will bring back memories of the motion picture "State Fair" when they sing "It's a Grand Night for Singing."

The 1951 musical, "The King And I," will come to life with duets "I Have Dreamed" by Renee Hoag and Russell Thurman, and "We Kiss in the Shadow" by Nola Bonandrini and Dennis Santillan. The chorus will sing "I Whistle a Happy Tune" and soloist Mary Anne Martin will sing "Hello, Young Lovers."

For a change of pace, the women's chorus will refresh the audience's memories of "Flower Drum Song" when they sing "I Enjoy Being a Girl."

The stirring songs from "Carousel" will close the first half of the program. Barb Hamel, soloist, will join the chorus for "June Is Bustin' Out All Over." The question, "If I Loved You," is asked by Renee Hoag. Sherrie Northway and chorus sing the inspirational "You'll Never Walk Alone."

The lights will dim as John Stewart ends "Soliloquy," the story of a man's dilemma over impending fatherhood.

WITH THE DIMMING of the house lights, the orchestra begins the entr' acte which includes "Kansas City," "It Might As Well Be Spring," "Ten Minutes Ago" and "Shall We Dance."

Romance on a South Sea island during World War II sets the stage for "South Pacific." The women's chorus tells how "Happy Talk" is necessary to make a dream come true. A young naval officer's love for Liat, 16-year-old daughter of Bloody Mary, is told when Russell Thurman sings "Younger Than Springtime."

The male chorus and soloist John Frank give a rousing rendition of "There Is Nothing Like A Dame." Barb Hamel describes the frivolities of love in "A Wonderful Guy" before they leave "South Pacific" with the chorus singing the whimsical "Honey Bun."

Admission to the concert is $4 for adults and $2 for senior citizens and students under 12. Tickets may be purchased in advance from Sideways, 505 Forest, Plymouth, and Book Break, K mart Plaza, canton Township. For information, call Norma, 397-1387. Refreshments will be available during intermission as well as chorus concert tapes and the chorus cookbook, "All Our Best."

Plymouth Salem High School is on Joy Road west of Canton Center.

Canton trees are up for adoption er group. Golly, I hope it doesn't snow. Leave it to Michigan — it'll snow.

I ONLY WISH I could give such a glowing report about the blood drive.

Although they received more than last year and therefore are very happy, a total of only 73 people tried and 65 pints were donated. Not a very good ratio when you see so many people just down the hall. Close to 1,000 lined up to get free trees in just three short hours, and only 73 people, ALL DAY, to give life-giving blood. Figure human nature.

So here's a big cheer for 73 good souls, some of whom had to wait in two lines Saturday, to give and to receive. May your trees grow the tallest and the strongest, just as you have.

DON'T FORGET this week May 4-10 is Clean-up Week. Now is the time to get together with your neighbors and get at those vacant lots.

Perhaps your homeowners association, or Scout Troop, could take a stroll along streets that aren't heavy residential areas (Lilley, Warren, Palmer). Lend a hand to the homeowners who have drainage ditches and constant dumping to contend with. Gather up the trash and begin that nasty first spring mowing job. Not an easy task although, once mowed, it can be kept up much more easily by the nearest homeowner who may very well be encouraged by your help.

SOMEONE may have an old, strong mower, that can handle the job. It's an excellent opportunity for the Kiwanis, Jaycees, Lions, or Chamber to challenge each other to a group cleanup, and lead the way for some of the kids sports teams to take on a similar challenge. Together, we sure can make a difference. And I know most of you have plenty of blood to make you strong enough to do the job.

Nature artist

Gwen Frostic, artist, printer and writer, will be featured speaker at the 7:30 p.m. Wednesday meeting of the Plymouth-Canton Association for the Academically Talented. Frostic will bring some of her original cards, books, calendars and note papers from her studio in a wildlife sanctuary near Benzonia. The public is invited to attend the meeting in Pioneer Middle School cafetorium. Admission is free.

● FIRST PRESBYTERIAN OF PLYMOUTH

Dr. Oscar Remick, president of Alma College, will be the guest preacher at the 9:15 and 11:15 a.m. services Sunday, May 5, at First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, 701 Church Street. He will speak on "Jesus: A Model of Leadership" as he helps the church celebrate both the 150th anniversary of the Plymouth church and the 100th anniversary of the college.

● LIVONIA ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Musicians Rick and Karen Price will have a return engagement at Livonia Assembly of God at 11 a.m. Sunday, May 5. He was formerly with the Blackwood Brothers Quartet, while she was a "sweathog" on the television series "Welcome Back, Kotter." The church is at 33015 W. Seven Mile.

● VILLAGE PRESBYTERIAN

Les Cave, associate director of the Presbyterian Medical Mission Fund, will speak at the 10 a.m. service, Sunday, May 5, at Village Presbyterian Church, 25350 W. Six Mile, Redford. After the service, he will show slides of Presbyterian medical missions. Cave traveled to various medical missions around the world in January and February.

● UNITED ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Denise Renee, Miss Michigan 1983, and trumpeter Jim Beyer will perform a sacred concert at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, May 5, at United Assembly of God, which is meeting in Pioneer Middle School, 46081 W. Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth. The congregation is meeting in the school while its new building is being constructed on North Territorial Road.

● WOMEN FOR JESUS

Frank Krajenke, area director of "The 700 Club," will speak at the next meeting of Women for Jesus. The group will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 6, at Roma's of Garden City, on Cherry Hill between Venoy and Merriman roads. For more information or ministry, call Clara at 722-4224 or Mary at 722-9198 or 453-8218.

● KENWOOD CHURCH OF CHRIST

"Irreplaceable You" is the theme for this year's Mother and Daughter Banquet at Kenwood Church of Christ in Livonia. The banquet will be at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 9, at the church, 20200 Merriman.

The guest speaker will be Marilyn Fisher, wife of Ronald Fisher, who heads the New Testament Department of the Great Lakes Bible College in Lansing. She has served with her husband in a weekend ministry in Coldwater, Mich., for 13 years, and she and her husband spent two weeks in Egypt last summer teaching and sharing their faith.

The Jubilation Bell Choir from Memorial Church of Christ will provide music for the event. Tickets for the evening are $6. Children 3 and younger will be admitted free. Reservations should be made with Serge Guillot by Sunday, May 5. Call the church at 476-8222 for more information.

● WARD PRESBYTERIAN

Carole Halmekangas, organist at Ward Presbyterian Church, will give a recital at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 2, at the church, 17000 Farmington Road, Livonia. A student of Dr. Robert Glasgow of the University of Michigan, she will perform works by Bach, de Grigny, Franck and Alain. The recital will be presented in fulfillment of a master's degree in music from U-M.

Ann Kiemel Anderson, author of nine books on religion and running, will be the host of the Eagle Run at Maybury State Park on Saturday, May 4. She then will speak at 6 p.m. Sunday, May 5, at Ward Presbyterian Church in Livonia. Anderson has run in the Boston Marathon twice and has written such books as "The Taste of Tears, Touch of God," "Running to Win," and "I Gave God Time."

● FAIRLANE ASSEMBLY

Mary Gay, international speaker and lecturer, will speak at 7 p.m. Sunday, May 5, at Fairlane Assembly of God in Dearborn Heights. She is a radio show hostess and author of the book "Nuggets of Gold for Fiery Trials." The church is at 22575 Ann Arbor Trail, one light east of Telegraph and one block south of Warren Avenue.

The Fairlane Christian School will present Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, May 3 and 4. Tickets are $2 and available at the door. The school is at 22425 Haas, one light south of Warren Avenue and three blocks west of Telegraph.

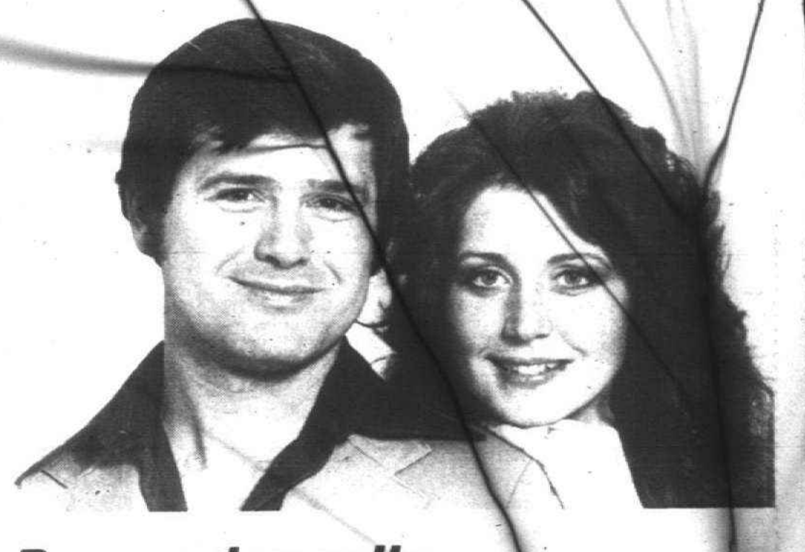
He and his wife, Linda, live in Redford with their two daughters, Katie Beth and Emma Leigh.

Classes scheduled

A five-week religious education track and two evening courses are new features of the summer session opening its fifth season at St. John's Seminary, Plymouth. Core courses for the master of theological studies degree and academic and pastoral education will also be offered, beginning June 24 to 28 and July 8 to Aug. 2.

Information and registration may be obtained by writing the academic dean, St. John's Provincial Seminary, 44011 Five Mile Road, Plymouth 48170 or by calling 453-6200.



Prayer day rally

The husband-wife team of Kent and Sue Bowden of Create Ministries will be featured at a rally at 7:30 tonight at Good Shepherd Reformed Church, 6500 Wayne Road, Westland. The event, open to the public, is in observance of National Day of Prayer as proclaimed by President Reagan. The Bowdens of Lansing are a talented team. She is an inspiring chalk artist. He writes and performs dramatic monologues in the characters of heroes of the faith. The performance will combine music, visual art and dramatic techniques. The evening rally was preceded by one at noon today at the Westland City Hall. Both events were sponsored by the Wayne-Westland Ministerial Association.

Why Bitburg visit is so disturbing moral perspectives

Rabbi Irwin Groner

In the course of recent days, we witnessed a historic encounter between Elie Weisel, the spokesman for victims of the Holocaust, and the President of the United States, in a scene that was truly extraordinary. The President was given an exhortation about morality and justice before a national television audience by Weisel after he received a Congressional Gold Medal of Achievement.

Weisel expressed appreciation to Reagan for being a friend of the Jewish people, for trying to help oppressed Jews in the Soviet Union, and for his support of the State of Israel. But he urged the President to change his plans to visit the Bitburg Military Cemetery.

"That place is not your place," he said. He implored the President to find another way, another site as he declared: "The issue here is not politics, but good and evil, and we must not confuse them."

The Jewish community and so many in the non-Jewish community have been deeply disturbed, indeed outraged, by the agenda of the Reagan trip. First, was the announcement that there would be no visit to a Concentration Camp; then the plan to visit Bitburg which was a place of burial not only for German soldiers, but also for members of the S.S. And finally, there were the remarks that followed after a wave of criticism surged throughout the country: "I think that there is nothing wrong with visiting that cemetery where those young men are victims of Nazism also."

THIS WAS A most unfortunate and insensitive statement. It conveyed a perversion of language that was a callous offense for the survivors of the Holocaust, and for the American people, as well.

What has to be remembered is that World War II was not like any other war. It was unique because Nazism was unique. Nazi Germany was not just another state at war with other state. It was a criminal state, committed to the crime of genocide, primarily against the Jews but not exclusively, for other groups were destined for annihilation.

We can not use the same word to describe both the German soldier who died with a gun in his hand and with the choice of surrender, and those whom the Germans tortured and murdered, innocent civilians, unarmed men and women, babies, old people who were exterminated as though they were a sub-human species.

The S.S. was a special state police force which did not engage in combat, but was used almost exclusively to round up, torture and kill unarmed people. Of all the cemeteries of World War II, one containing such murderers is the most unworthy of a visit by an American President.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT by the President that, on second thought, he would visit Bergen-Belsen has not balanced things at all. How can the President honor the murdered if he also honors their murderers and their elite guard?

The President wants to set aside the painful past. He did not want to re-open old wounds or evoke bitter feelings. But the history of Germany did not begin in V-E Day of 1945. While Germans born in the last 40 years are not responsible for what happened up until 1945, there is a burden of history that cannot be denied or suppressed. The visit to Bitburg Cemetery is a symbolic tribute to those who served voluntarily or involuntarily — as instruments of Nazi tyranny and brutality.

The President should be advised that it is a sign of strength and not weakness to correct this injustice. To honor those S.S. soldiers who spread terror and death dishonors their victims — the American soldiers (P.O.W.'s) they slaughtered only 30 miles away at Malmedy. And it also dishonors those Germans who are today working to build a democratic and free Germany. To honor those SS murders could well ignite a resurgence of Neo-Nazism in Germany and elsewhere.

I VISITED Auschwitz two years ago. In the Jewish pavilion, two verses from Genesis are inscribed. "God says to Cain: 'Where is Abel, thy brother?' And he said: 'I know not; am I my brother's keeper?' And God said: 'The voice of thy brother's blood crieth out to Me from the ground.'"

We are our brother's keeper. We must preserve the memory of our brothers and sisters who died during the period of man's inhumanity to man. It is only by this commitment to remember that we can overcome the tragedy of the past and strengthen the forces of justice, and nurture the spirit of morality.

Weisel expressed our collective yearning: "I believe, Mr. President, that we can and we must work together to bring peace and understanding to our tormented world that, as you know, is still waiting redemption."

FORD-UAW AND OTHER HOURLY EMPLOYES:

CHOOSING A HEALTH PLAN THAT FITS IS EASY.

JUST MAKE YOUR CHOICE BLUE.

Health care choices can be confusing.

But not when they're all from the leader, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan.

We have used our 45 years of health care experience to bring Ford-UAW and other hourly workers all three of these options in health care. Each plan has excellent benefits. One plan, however, may better fit you and your family than the other two.

Study them all carefully.
Then make your choice.

Just make it Blue.

Traditional Blue Cross and Blue Shield is good everywhere.

There are no geographical limitations to health care coverage with Traditional care. It's accepted in any town, county and state in the country.
Here in Michigan more than 13,000 physicians and over 200 hospitals accept your I.D. card without question.

Blue Preferred Plan. A new PPO for Ford workers.

Here is a combination of the best of Traditional and HMO care. Blue Preferred Plan provides you with a panel of preferred providers of health care, including more than 5,000 physicians and 97 hospitals. When you use their services you will receive coverage for doctors' office visits, well-baby care, and childhood immunizations on certain shots for preschoolers.

TRADITIONAL BLUE PREFERRED PLAN
HEALTH CARE NETWORK

Health Care Network. Your local Blue HMO.

Choose the only local HMO whose I.D. card bears the emblem of Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan. Health Care Network. It is part of the Blue statewide network of seven HMOs. Like him or not, but respect him

JOHN SANDMANN. The name evokes many different emotions from many different people.

And the news of his retirement, after 37 years as the Plymouth-Canton Community School District athletic director, will bring forth many different reactions — not only in the Plymouth-Canton community, but all across Observerland.

Sandmann carried a lot of clout throughout the Observerland athletic community. He built his Plymouth-Canton program to elite status across the state and, more importantly, he had a hand in shaping at least three conferences, the Suburban Eight, the Western Six, and most recently, the Western Lakes.

People liked him a lot and people disliked him a lot. Sandmann knows this all too well. But his reaction to it is as calm and assuring as was his every day demeanor.

"YOU ALWAYS hear the negative things," Sandmann said from his modest office tucked in the bowels of Canton's Phase III building. "I react to it the same way I try to react to most things. We try to do things we think are right. If you think they are right, you go ahead with it. It's worked out to the good most times."

Sandmann has a long list of positive accomplishments, culminating with his selection as the state's athletic director of the year in 1979. But it's been a long haul for him. There have been times, I'm sure, when Sandmann regretted not becoming a petroleum geologist.

He came to Plymouth High School, the old Plymouth High School, back in 1948. He was born and raised in Brooklyn, N.Y. He turned down an offer to try out with the Brooklyn Dodgers out of high school and enrolled at Colgate University.

At the same time, World War II was breaking out. It took Sandmann just 2½ years to complete his four-year program in, of all things, petroleum geology. Upon graduation he enlisted in the Navy.

In 1946, after his stint in the Pacific, he came to the University of Michigan to complete his master's in petroleum geology. Since he hadn't exhausted his GI Bill, he decided to pursue a second master's degree in education.

FINALLY, IN 1948, after turning down the Dodgers, the Navy (which had asked him to stay on) and petroleum companies in Saudi Arabia and Venezuela, Sandmann took a job at Plymouth High.

The Plymouth athletic program at that time involved all of eight sports, all for boys. But under Sandmann's leadership, the program gradually evolved into one that sponsored 40 varsity sports, boys and girls included.

The Plymouth-Canton community grew so large that in 1974, the school district split into two high schools, Salem and Canton. That's when many of Sandmann's headaches began.

Almost immediately, Sandmann began hearing things like, "He only cares about Salem. He couldn't care less about Canton."

"When we first split the schools, we bought some warm-up uniforms for both Canton and Salem," Sandmann said. "We got calls complaining that the blue ones (Salem) were nicer than the red ones (Canton). We bought them from the same company at the exact same price — except for the color, they were identical. But that didn't matter."

SANDMANN HAS, over the years, ruffled the feathers of several Observerland coaches. Many coaches have cried out against Sandmann's taste in officials. The critics claimed that Sandmann consistently hired longtime friends of his to work Canton and Salem games — disregarding the competency or objectivity of the officials.

"Hey, Sandmann is the only athletic director still hiring these guys," one coach told me last year. "Livonia won't hire them. Farmington won't hire them. These referees, they know where their bread is buttered. You think they are going to give me a close call down the stretch? It's understood that when you play in Plymouth, you're not going to get a lot of the calls."

Sandmann certainly wasn't the first AD accused of hiring "homer" officials and he wasn't ruffled too much by this type of criticism.

"We've had some down things," Sandmann said. "But the positive aspects far overshadow any of the negatives."

About the only thing that did ruffle Sandmann was the latest skirmish with the Plymouth Canton central administration. A $100,000-plus budget cut three years ago had forced Sandmann to make some painful decisions. He had to eliminate his middle school athletic program as well as keep his coaches' salaries at a level far below that of other area districts.

BUT, ARMED with a very caring and determined coaching staff, Sandmann battled the board and, for all intents and purposes, he won. The coaches' salary structure is expected to be upgraded next year and ninth-grade basketball and football programs have been reinstated.

"Generally speaking," Sandmann said, emphasizing the word "generally", "the central administration has treated me and my department fairly. I hope that will continue in my absense."

Yes, there are those who don't particulary care for John Sandmann and there are those who like him a great deal. But, there are few, if any, who don't respect him. That respect, and the knowledge that he helped build the classy and successful Plymouth-Canton athletic program, is all that really matters to John Sandmann.

Decision painful, but VanWagoner quits

Dave VanWagoner's goal as basketball coach at Plymouth Canton was to build and maintain a successful program. But to VanWagoner, attaining the goal was akin to climbing up a down escalator — for every step he took toward the goal, there was another bringing him down.

VanWagoner, last week, resigned his coaching duties.

"It boiled down to just one issue," VanWagoner said. "I wanted to run the program correctly and I could not do that unless I got into the (high school) building."

VanWagoner is a health and physical education teacher at Lowell Middle School. For two years, he has requested to be transferred to the high school.

"I met with a lot of people and it was obvious that I was not going to be at the high school," he said. "I decided that if I wasn't going to be at the high school, I couldn't go through another year."

VANWAGONER SAID that there were numerous advantages for a coach to teach at the high school.

"No. 1 is the personal contact with the kids. It got to the point where the only time I got to be with my kids was the two hours at practice. I spent countless hours taking care of little things, errands, that I wouldn't have had to worry about if I was in the building," VanWagoner said.

The decision to resign, VanWagoner said, was the most difficult thing he has ever done. When discussing his decision, his voice choked with emotion.

"I guess you can tell that this hurts me," he said. "Coaching is a big part of my life. There's not a day that goes by that I don't think about it or work at it in some way. But, I just had to do it (resign). I couldn't go through another year without being at the high school."

In his four seasons as the head coach at Canton (he was an assistant for five seasons), VanWagoner compiled a 41-41 record.

The highlight of his brief stint was the 1984 season when he led the Chiefs to a 16-6 record and a Western Lakes conference championship. He was

College jobs beckon, Mulroys to heed call

By Chris McCosky

A bad week for the Plymouth Canton High School basketball programs. First the boys coach Dave VanWagoner resigns and now . . .

Phyllis Mulroy, who has been a part of the Canton girls basketball program the past six years (its head coach for the last three), and her husband John Mulroy, who co-coached the team last year, have resigned.

John Mulroy is expected to accept an assistant coaching position at either Central Michigan University or Illinois State. Thus, the Mulroys will be moving out of the area.

"Nothing's official yet, so I don't want to say anything publically," John Mulroy said. "But it's 99 percent sure I'll be taking a college job and it's 100 percent sure that we won't be back at Canton."

The Chiefs posted a 30-34 record the past three years.

"UNFORTUNATELY, the thing that I'll always remember about coaching here was how it all ended," Phyllis Mulroy said. "This last year was tough. We had some problems with the parents, there was disenchantment. The frustrating part of it was, it all happened during our best year ever."

In a season that saw the Chiefs finish 12-10 and runners-up in the district tournament, parents and players staged a massive letter-writing campaign primarily criticizing John Mulroy's coaching tactics.

After the season ended, a group of parents met with the Canton principal Kent Buikema demanding the Mulroys' resignation.

"The administration always backed me up," Phyllis said. "But it was still very hard."

John Sandmann, Plymouth-Canton athletic director, summed up the situation best. "The parents claim the guy (John Mulroy) couldn't coach, yet there's a bunch of colleges after his services. The man knew what he was doing."

No one knows who'll be picked as a replacement. Some likely candidates are former Canton boys coach Craig Bell, whose daughter is coming into the high school next year and Tom Lang, former Livonia Bentley girls coach.

Canton runners conquer Tigers girls track

It was the greatest moment in Plymouth Canton girls track and field history and guess who wasn't on hand to witness it?

Veteran coach Bob Richardson had to take his wife to the hospital Saturday (she went into labor, later diagnosed as false labor). So, when assistant coaches George Przygodski and Fred Palmer told him later on that the Chiefs had captured first place at the Belleville Tiger Relays, he couldn't believe it.

"No way," said Richardson. Then the assistants showed him the meet sheets. Canton placed in eight of 11 events and scored 60 points, 14 more than second place Northville, to win the 11-team meet.

Farmington and Plymouth Salem tied for third with 43 points. Livonia Franklin placed fifth (38).

"It's kind of like missing Christmas," Richardson said. "But family comes first. I just can't say enough about my assistant coaches. They really did a great job."

SO DID the Chief runners.

Canton took a first in the distance medley with Angie Miller, Carolyn Nagy, Rachel Mann and Marie Jarosz combining on a 13:30.6.

The Chiefs also grabbed a first in the discus medley. Patty Janiga, Debbie Redfern and Hollie Ivey had a combined toss of 249-10.

The Chiefs picked three key second place finishes. Trisha Carney, Lori Schauder, Nagy and Kim Bennett went 1:51.2 which placed second behind Northville (1:50.1) in the 880-yard relay.

Bennett, Miller, Carney and Nagy combined to run 4:15.0 in the mile which was also second to Northville (4:13.7).

Jarosz, Nagy and Miller took second in the high jump with a 14-2. Northville took first again with a 14-8.

Northville, led by Cindy Panowicz, took four firsts in the meet. Panowicz was named the meet's most valuable performer.

SALEM CAPTURED a first in the 4-mile relay. Trish Donnelly, Amy Miyazaki, Heidi Dupret and Denise Durrer went 23:15 to best Farmington (23:37) and Canton (23:52).

The same Salem quartet took honors in the 2-mile as well, running a 10:34.5. Farmington was second with a 10:37.8.

Franklin captured firsts in both the shuttle hurdles and shot put. Dana Maguran, Ann Patterson, Missy Proctor and Lisa Dominato went 1:11.5 in the shuttles and Patti Brandon, Sue Niemiec and Sue Sczodrowski tossed 84-6½.

"I felt like we would be in the top five," said Richardson, whose Chiefs are a perfect 4-0 on the dual meet season. "Perhaps in the top three at best. I knew we had some quality people and knew we'd be competitive, but to be honest, I really didn't anticipate winning the meet."

Garden City placed ninth in the meet with 20 points.

Canton walks all over Churchill, 9-1

Canton's Dave Knapp wore out the Charger pitchers Monday both at the plate and on the bases. He beat this throw back to first base.

It was over quickly, before you could say ball four.

Plymouth Canton rolled to an easy 9-1 Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) baseball win Monday afternoon without working up much of a sweat.

The Chiefs won their eighth straight game without a loss at the expense of Livonia Churchill, a team which has yet to find itself in 1985.

Churchill starter John Stoitsiadis walked eight batters in two innings, leading to seven Canton runs.

The Chiefs scored twice in the first thanks to a throwing error by catcher Scott Papich.

They added five more in the second, one on a wild pitch by Stoitsiadis, two on a single by Mark Stevens and another on an RBI single by Dwayne Bennett, who went 3-for-3 on the day.

"IT'S HARD to postulate whether we've been tested," said Canton coach Fred Crissey. "This is the first year we haven't had a starter back and just the fact that as a unit we're only eight games old. But I don't see us getting worse. I see us getting better."

With a comfortable lead, left-handed ace Mark Coburn breezed through seven innings en route to his third win of the season. He kept the Chargers off balance, scattering four hits (two to Papich), fanning seven and walking only three.

"You've got to be impressed with him," said Churchill coach Herb Osterland. "He mixes his pitches and he did what he had to do against our No. 3 and our No. 4 hitters (Stoitsiadis and Scott Hille).

"He's not overpowering, but he's got good control."

Osterland, meanwhile, is searching for a stopper.

"John didn't pitch, he just threw," said the Churchill coach. "He's basically a relief pitcher. He needs the work.

"You can't panic. That's why I stayed with him (through the two innings). They'll all (the staff) have to throw so many pitches and that's what he did today."

TOM COUTTS worked the final four innings. He gave up a two-run double to Dave Knapp in the sixth.

"Tom did a nice job and had his control," said Osterland, whose team fell to 1-4-1 overall. "He kept the ball down.

"We have a young staff and we've got to go through with them."

Osterland seems to have the patience with his young pitching staff, but won't stand for the four errors his team committed on Monday.

"I thought we'd be a better defensive team," said the Churchill coach. "You can't win with that many errors."

Crissey, whose teams are always fundamentally sound, rates this team as blue collar types.

"They try hard and they play hard," he said. "This is the most enjoyable April I've had because of the kids' willingness to be coached and the parents taking care of the field. I haven't been able to worry about those things. I've been able to coach and it's been fun."

OVER THE WEEKEND, Canton defeated visiting Ann Arbor Huron (6-4) and Ann Arbor Pioneer (8-1).

The Chiefs exploded for five runs in the second inning to beat Huron.

Pete Morman went 2-for-3 and had two RBI. Morman had four RBI for the day. Adam Kocik also added two hits in the opener for the winners.

Bucky Blake, the winning pitcher, struck out six and did not allow a hit in four innings of work. Coburn pitched the final 1⅔ innings to gain the save.

Against Pioneer, Stevens collected two hits and three RBI to pace a potent Canton hitting attack.

Chris Sisler and Bennett contributed two hits each.

Mike Clark, who worked the first four innings and allowed only two hits and one run, gained the victory. Jeff Lyle worked the final three innings, fanning four in scoreless relief work.

Rocks runners-up at Tigers

boys track

Plymouth Salem's boys track and field team won the only close race of the day — the one for second place — at the annual Belleville Tiger Relays Saturday.

The host competitor Belleville ran away from the 11-team field scoring 91 points to win the meet.

The battle for second was a bit more intense. Salem scored 58 points to edge Inskter Cherry Hill (42), Highland Park (36) and Garden City (32).

Boosting the Rocks was a dominant performance in the field events. Salem scored 42 of its 58 points in the field.

The Rocks won the pole vault as Mike Harwood (12-0) and Rich Piwko (10-6) combined on a 22-6. Mike White (20-5), Craig Morton (19-3) and Brian Neuhardt (18-10) combined to bring Salem a first in the long jump.

IN THE HIGH jump, Dave Collins (5-7), Tony Moore (5-7) and White (6-4) earned Salem a second place. Frank Moore (124), Bill Justice (115) and White (111) earned the Rocks another second in the discus.

Finishing up in the field, Marc Cygan (42-11), Justice (39) and Bill Campbell (39) earned Salem a third in the shot put.

The Rocks placed in three events on the track.

John Keros, Brain Vladu, Bill Keros and Scott Steiner took third in the 4-mile relay (19:30). Campbell, Keith Larson, Dave Amason and Rob Parm took third in the 440-yard relay (46.9) and John Keros, Eric Pederson, Vladu and Steiner took fourth in the 2-mile relay (8:43.0).

"Our distance team is starting to improve," said Salem coach Gary Balconi. "And of course, our field event guys did a real nice job. We're getting better every weekend and that's what you look for."

VanWagoner resigns post

named Observerland Coach of the Year for his efforts.

VanWagoner's teams were characterized by their all-out hustling, scrappy style of play. VanWagoner earned the reputation throughout the area, in a relatively short time, as one who got the absolute most from his players' abilities.

"I FEEL real good about my program and about my contribution to the Canton athletic department," VanWagoner said. "I still love it, and I love Canton High School. I'm not leaving bitter. There just wasn't a job open for me at the high school."

VanWagoner has not totally closed the doors on coaching basketball at Canton.

"In my letter of resignation I emphasized that if the Canton basketball job should ever open up, and I happen to be at the high school, I will be the first person to submit an application," he said. "I'm not retiring, I'm resigning."

VanWagoner doesn't know who his successor will be. He did not recommend anyone.

"I just want them to get somebody good so my kids can be successful," he said. "I want them to have every chance. I could have waited a little longer (before deciding) in the hopes that a job at the high school would open up. But I want them to be able to get a summer program started."

VanWagoner added: "This is all very hard to explain. I guess I take my job too seriously. I put all I had into it and it's very difficult for me to leave it. I said in my letter that I tried to strive for excellence in my program. Without being in the high school, there's no way I could attain that."

Who can top Borgess in Observer meet?

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Is anyone capable to overhauling speedy Redford Bishop Borgess in Saturday's 14th running of the Observerland Boys Track Relays?

The defending champions aren't quite a lock to repeat, but area coaches are conceding that it will take a monumental effort to dethrone the Spartans.

"I'd say they're tough," said a smiling Fred Price of Livonia Churchill, whose school will host the meet for the second straight year. "On paper you've got to give it to Borgess."

Plymouth Salem coach Gary Balconi calls Borgess a "heavy favorite."

Under the coaching of Gene Grewe, Borgess has become a team loaded with speed and strength. The Spartans, however, refuse to get complacent.

"We have a few injuries that we're concerned with in the long jump and pole vault," Grewe said. "They'll be out for the meet, but they've been on and off all spring.

"The big question mark for us is the field events. The long jump (relay) could be crucial. We have two good discus and shot put throwers, but we all know you need three."

BORGESS not only has the meet's top sprinter in Fred Owens, the 1984 Observerland Trackman of the Year, but they also have a strong supporting cast in hurdler Marlon Montgomery, sprinter Marion Pittman, middle distance runner Ivan Cotman and shot put standout Jim Rzepka.

"I haven't seen all the teams in action yet, but it certainly looks to me that Borgess is in great shape to repeat," said John MacKenzie, in his 14th year as meet director. "There are not many teams that can cut into their strength. Half of the events are speed events. I expect a few records to fall."

A more interesting battle may be shaping up for second place between host Churchill, Farmington and Plymouth Salem of the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA); along with Redford Catholic Central, which lost by only five points to Borgess in a dual meet earlier this year.

"Fred Price has been successful in everything he's done at Churchill," Balconi said. "And Dave Catherman (at Farmington), year-in and year-out, is so tough. And Mr. (Kevin) Kavanagh at CC with his distance people — anyone who does well at the Observerland meet can feel real good about their team."

LOOKING TO IMPROVE their standing in the 15-team field is Livonia Bentley, which is much improved under first-year coach Fred Hanert.

Rounding out the Observerland contingent is Livonia Franklin, Livonia Stevenson, Redford Union, Redford Thurston, Garden City, Plymouth Canton, North Farmington, Southfield-Lathrup and Northville.

Churchill, which won the title two years ago, boasts a pair of outstanding individuals in the field events — discus/shot put king Dave Mize and high jumper Mike Meehan, who has cleared 6 feet, 8 inches.

"We have to perform well in the field events to do well in the meet," said Price.

Garden City's Dave Homann, the state's individual race cross country champion, returns to defend his 1,600-meter crown. He has clocked a 4:25.1 in that event already this year.

Salem, meanwhile, is bolstered by long jumper Mike White, who has gone 22-2, and sophomore sprinter Brian Neuhardt, who hopes to push Owens.

Chief hitters rip Chargers

The senior-laden Plymouth Canton softball team keeps mowing down every Western Lakes foe before them.

On Monday, Livonia Churchill stepped into the path, and the Chiefs blitzed them with a 15-run, 11-hit barrage, winning the game 15-8.

"We're doing real well. I'm very pleased," said Canton coach Max Sommerville. "But, we'll find out just how good we are Wednesday."

Wednesday the Chiefs played No. 1 ranked Livonia Stevenson.

Canton scored three runs in the first, six in the fourth, four in the fifth and two in the sixth — in other words, they scored consistently, if not at will.

Diana Knickerbocker, Laura Darby, Margaret Gilligan and Lara Bowerman paced the attack with a pair of hits apiece. The Chiefs were also the beneficiary of nine walks.

Monika Benedict got the win for Canton. She allowed six hits and six walks and survived a five-run seventh inning.

The Chiefs are 5-0 in the Western Lakes and 6-1 overall.

SALEM 10, FARMINGTON 3: This was not a work of art, but Plymouth Salem will take the win just the same.

"I mean, we won the game, but it was real sloppy," said Salem coach Rob Willette. "There was not much spirit."

The Rocks took advantage of 11 walks against Farmington. Five of the free passes came in Salem's six-run third inning.

Patty Maslak's two-run double was the big blow of the game.

Salem won two of three games on Saturday at the Northville Invitational. The Rocks were pounded 7-0 in the opener by eventual champion Allen Park Cabrini. Six errors contributed to the Rocks' demise.

They came back with a 10-2 win against South Lyon. Leslie Plichta's home run and two RBI paced the attack. Marci Walker and Debbie Starr each had two hits.

Salem also pounded Wayne Memorial 15-7. Sandy Oberliesen carried the big stick knocking in five runs with a double and a home run. Plichta and Walker added two hits.

Sue Carlson was the pitcher of record in each contest.

The Rocks are 5-3 overall and 3-1 in the Western Lakes.

● SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT

A softball tournament benefiting the March of Dimes is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, May 18-19, at the Canton Softball Center, located on Michigan Avenue west of I-275.

The USSSA-sanctioned tourney is open to mens Class C and D teams and womens A, B, and C teams as well as coed teams.

The entry fee is $100. All proceeds will go to help March of Dimes' fight against birth defects.

Dealine for entry is May 9. For more information, call 423-3217.

● EAGLES DUMPED

Two goals by Livonia Wolves East's Dale Lipa was enough to defeat the Plymouth-Canton American Eagles, 2-1, in Great Lakes Mens Soccer League action last Sunday.

Mike Brewington scored the lone goal for the Eagles (0-3).

● PCJBA NEEDS HELP

The Plymouth Canton Junior Baseball League needs managers for its girls softball program. The managers are needed in the 12-under and 15-under age groups.

The manager positions are voluntary. Those interested should contact Jim Burt at 451-6575 as soon as possible.

● STEELERS SIGN-UP

The final registration for the Plymouth-Canton Steelers junior league football team has been scheduled for players and cheerleaders from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 18.

The session will take place in the lobby of the Phase III facility at Plymouth Canton High School.

Players and cheerleaders aged 9-13 are eligible. The cost is $40 per player, $25 per cheerleader and $100 family maximum.

For more information, call either Janet Bryant (459-0299) or Tammy Brand (459-6347).

OLSM has recruiting bonanza

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

It sounds like a slightly altered TV commercial: "Everything you want in a recruiting season. And more."

That's how Tim Domke, Orchard Lake St. Mary's basketball coach, and his assistant, Rich Zalenski, would describe it. The Eagles have received commitments from a bundle of players, including four who could help immediately.

Two of those committed earlier: Amos Brown of Pontiac Central, a 6-foot-4 forward who Domke called "a man already," and Steve Hunt, a 6-8 forward from Dearborn Edsel Ford who has loads of potential.

BUT ZALENSKI hasn't let up. His efforts paid off with the signings of 6-4 forward-guard Bob Bringman; 5-10½ point guard Greg Spraggins; and 6-4½ power forward Theodis Pearson.

Bringman averaged 30 points a game for Clay High School in Oregon, Ohio. He was the Great Lakes League's Player of the Year and was the MVP in the Ohio all-star game.

"He's an unbelievable scorer," said Zalenski, who spotted Bringman at a summer basketball camp and spent 9 months recruiting him. "He's a solid all-around player. He's one we recruited that we felt could come in and contribute right away."

PEARSON FITS that description, too. The Detroit Murray Wright graduate told Zalenski he would attend St. Mary's Tuesdav.

"He's an unbelievable jumper, an unbelievable talent," the OLSM assistant said. "He's not a great basketball player yet, but he has great talent. He had 5 dunks against (Detroit) Mackenzie.

"He's strong around the bucket and good in transition. And he can rebound."

Pearson averaged 15 points and 17 rebounds for Murray Wright.

Spraggins is from Howell, but last year played at Michigan Christian College, where he reaped NLCAA all-American honors. Spraggins averaged 15.8 points and 8 assists for the Warriors.

But there could be problems for Spraggins. He lost a year of elgibility by playing 4 games his freshman season at West Virginia College after suffering a knee injury that ultimately sidelined him for the remainder of the season.

ACCORDING TO NAIA bylaws, if a player transfers from a 4-year school to a junior college, he must either earn his degree before transferring back to a 4-year school or sit out a semester. Spraggins would have to go all summer to earn his degree. If he doesn't, he will have to sit out his first semester at OLSM, or he could be redshirted for the entire season.

OLSM is close to signing 6-1½ forward-guard Terry White of Sea Breeze High School in Daytona Beach, Fla. White is a great leaper who averaged 15 points and 8 rebounds for Sea Breeze. Domke called him a "David Howard clone." Howard also attended Sea Breeze before coming to OLSM, where he was NAIA all-district 23.

Grades may be a problem for White, and that's what's holding Domke back from committing to him.

OLSM IS STILL working on signing Andre Evans of Benton Harbor, a 6-7 power forward, and Charles Page, a 6-4 forward-guard from Detroit Cass Tech.

Still, Domke figures this to be one of his best recruiting classes ever.

"It's different," the Eagle coach said. "Certainly it's the biggest in numbers we've ever had. We have 15 kids coming in, so we're going to start a good reserve program.

"This year we got some quick, excellent basketball players. Last year, we got a lot of height, but they lacked quickness. This year we supplemented it with some quickness. We have better depth than ever."

Eagle 9 undefeated

Todd Gentry provided the offense and Jim McCarthy the pitching as the Plymouth Christian baseball team stayed unbeaten in three game with a 3-2 win over Lutheran Northwest Tuesday.

Gentry banged a two-run single in the first inning. He stole second base, stole third base and then raced home on a throwing error.

McCarthy, meanwhile, blanked Lutheran on just four hits through five innings. He walked four and struck out seven. Relief pitcher Bob Files was touched for a pair of runs in the sixth.

John Payne pitched a strong game in a losing effort for Lutheran. He fanned 10 and allowed just three hits.

Youthful Chiefs battle Spartans

The score at halftime: Livonia Stevenson 1, Plymouth Canton 0.

The Chiefs have only won only twice this year, but they back down from nobody.

The powerful Stevenson soccer team prevailed Monday 4-2 but the expected rout never materialized.

"We didn't play too well," said Spartan coach Norene Divens. "But, we did what we had to do to win the game."

She praised the efforts of the Chiefs, singling out the defensive play of Cheryl Nippa and Kelly Murphy.

Beth Frigge capped off a pretty passing play at the 15-minute mark of the second half to cut a two-goal Stevenson lead in half. Jenny Thomas and Michelle Lonigro set up the score.

Frigge set up Canton's second goal sending a corner kick to Lisa Russell who booted it past Stevenson goalie Doreen Beagle.

Mary Kay Hussey scored twice for the Spartans (6-0).

Canton is now 2-6-1 on the season.

soccer

PLYMOUTH SALEM and Northville battled to a 1-1 tie on Monday.

Northville led most of the way. Salem tied it with under 10 minutes to play.

Freshman Dena Head, who was double and triple teamed throughout the match, took a pass from Julie Tortora and shook free of the Northville defense to knot the score.

It was Head's 17th goal of the season.

Salem coach Ken Johnson had high praise for his defense, namely freshman goalie Karen Phillippi and fullbacks Nikki Stojeba, Cris Casler, Tracy Greenhalge and Rachael Thiet.

Salem is 6-2-2 on the year, Northville is 6-3-1.

Scoring wizzard Ruggiero lifts Mercy past Ladywood

soccer

The game was billed as a key Catholic League showdown between the two remaining undefeated soccer teams.

But for whatever reason, the game lacked the intensity of a first-place battle.

Farmington Hills Mercy ho-hummed its way to a 3-0 victory at home Monday night.

"The kids kind of just went out there, nobody was really fired up," said Mercy coach Gene Fogel. "I think the kids might have taken this game for granted."

Annette Ruggiero, Observerland's leading goal scorer, was the difference in the game. The multi-talented senior who is headed to Colorado State next fall on a basketball scholarship, scored two goals. Her goal production is now at 18.

AMY DeMATTIA set up both of Ruggiero's goals.

Julie Hale, on an assist from Mary Duwell, scored the third Mercy goal.

"We're just playing well enough to win," Fogel said. "This was a total team effort. It was a very physical game.

"Ladywood always seems to get up for us," Fogel continued. "I'm always glad just to get out with a win when we play them."

Jenny Maise and Kelly Beaudrie shared the nets for Mercy and faced eight shots. Mercy fired 30 shots on the Ladywood goal.

Some bad news came out of the win, however, Kathy Rush sustained a knee injury and could be lost for the season.

The Marlins are 4-0 in the Catholic League and 6-2 overall.

Baseball results

Steve Irwin twirled a one-hit gem Tuesday to lead Westland John Glenn to a 7-1 baseball win over Garden City in a battle for first place in the Northwest Suburban League (NSL).

The win moved put the Rockets on top of the NSL with a 4-1 mark (8-3 overall). Garden City fell to 3-2 in the NSL and 9-4 overall. Irwin had his strikout pitch working, fanning 13 while going the distance to earn the win. Brett Wasil's fifth inning single broke up Irwin's no-hit bid.

The Rockets pounded out 11 hits, including three by Mike Oaks and two by David Husak — both doubles. But the big hit was Jason McKarge's bases-loaded single in the third inning that knocked in two runs and gave Glenn a 5-0 lead.

The Cougars scored their only run in the final frame. Mike Roffi was charged with the loss.

In non-league action Monday, Glenn split a doubleheader with Ypsilanti. The Rockets lost the first game, 10-7, despite pinch hitter Brad Martin's three-run homer. Glenn, however, gained a split with a 9-5 triumph in the nightcap.

Garden City also played Monday, taking a 2-1 decision over Dearborn Edsel Ford. Joe Mukavetz whiffed 14 batters while scattering nine hits. Todd Webb, Mike Roffi and John Sheridan had two hits apiece to lead the Cougars.

FRANKLIN 3, THURSTON 1: Dean Aulinskis and Lenny Graham collected two hits each and the Patriots got a strong pitching performance from Jeff Raylean in Tuesday's win over visiting Redford Thurston in NSL action.

Livonia Franklin scored twice in the opening inning on RBI singles by Aulinskis and Ron Cortez. That's all the support Raylean needed.

Raylean worked 6⅓ innings, pitching two-hit ball while striking out six. Terry Gurski came on in relief in the seventh with the bases loaded and put out the fire to earn the save.

Both teams are 2-3 and tied for third place in NSL play with Redford Union.

Ho-hum, another U.S. Open

By Marty Budner
staff writer

JOE CAREY and Oakland Hills Country Club have enjoyed a longstanding relationship.

Thirty-five years to be exact.

A former president of the renowned course off Maple Road in Bloomfield Township, Carey joined the club in 1950 and has loved every minute of his membership.

Of course, his favorite times seem to be when the prestigious national tournaments slice into town.

Contrary to what one might think, Carey, 75 years old, is not necessarily attracted by the glamor and glitter of hosting a national tournament. Rather, it's laboring behind the scenes to help insure a successful championship which arouses Carey's interest.

Carey's latest volunteer effort is working as chairman of the ticket committee for the United States Open Golf Tournament scheduled for June 10-16.

"One thing about Oakland Hills is that it has very many dedicated people. It always has," said Carey, who still keeps active as an employee at Comau Productivity Systems of Troy after his previous association with the Kelsey-Hayes and Fruehauf companies.

"IF YOU didn't have those type of people to work with it would be a very difficult task to get the tournament together. One of the greatest kicks I get out of the whole thing is just working with the people.

"And, especially working with the tickets, there is a great amount of work and detail. It's never a one-man job. You need a lot of help and the men and women always get together . . . you always need a lot of cooperation.

"There is always a great amount of people who dedicate themselves to the management of these tournaments," he said.

Oakland Hills has hosted six major tournaments since 1950. Carey has worked them all.

His first was the 1951 U.S. Open when Ben Hogan blasphemed the tricky South Course as "The Monster." The ensuing major tournaments Carey's worked were the 1961 U.S. Open, when he was president of Oakland Hills and vice chairman in charge of the tourney, the 1964 Carling World Open, the 1972 and 1979 PGA's and the 1981 U.S. Amatuer.

"A man by the name of George Kennedy from Kelsey-Hayes was an officer at Oakland Hills at the time of the 1951 U.S. Open," said the soft-spoken, sturdily built Carey. "He's the one who got me interested in helping out. Although, I probably would have helped even if he hadn't asked me.

"THE 1961 tournament was probably one of the greatest tournaments I've ever seen. Gene Litler won it that year. I guess that was a big thrill for me because I was president of the club at that time.

"But, I've also seen players like Ben Hogan, David Graham and Ben Crenshaw, who tied in the '79 PGA, Tom Watson and Arnold Palmer. It was a great thrill when (Palmer) won the Seniors.

"I remember Jack Nicklaus during one tournament when he played. He was sitting down in the locker room and I got a chance to say a few words to him. They're all nice people."

But, Carey, a 1932 graduate of the University of Notre Dame, finds his rewards in meeting new friends behind the scenes.

"It's always a lot of fun to be associated with the golf tournament," said Carey. "You get acquainted with different people each time out.

"I've always had a great interest in Oakland Hills. I've always wanted to keep a hand in it. They've always been good to me at Oakland Hills.

"I'd even come back to work another one if they want me," he said.

It sounds like the relationship will endure forever.

Open tickets available but going fast

Joe Carey of Bloomfield Hills reports there are still plenty of tickets available for the early rounds of the 1985 United States Senior Open to be held June 10-16 at Oakland Hills.

However, he warns if your're interested in watching the action climax on Saturday and Sunday, you had better act fast.

"Ticket sales are going real good," said Carey, who now has worked on some aspect of a finance and ticket committee for all seven major tournaments Oakland Hills has hosted since 1951.

"There are plenty of tickets available for Monday through Friday," he said. "But, Saturday and Sunday sales are getting to a point where they might be getting a little tougher to get."

A rounds-only daily season ticket package can be purchased for $95 and grounds-only coupons are available for $235.

Individual daily tickets for practice rounds on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday are priced at $15. Tournament-round daily tickets — Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday — are available for $25.

Oakland Hills is off Maple Road, just east of Telegraph Road.

For further information, call the Oakland Hills at 644-2500.

Chiefs golf outing set

Saturday, May 18, is the date set for the annual Plymouth Canton High School Athletic Boosters Club golf outing at Fellows Creek Golf Course.

All proceeds from this event will go toward the Canton athletic program. The last two golf outings raised $7,000, club president Glenn Russell said. The money has paid for uniforms, equipment and tournament fees.

Mike Krashovetz is chairing the event for the third straight year. Dick Scott Dodge will donate a new car to the winner of the hole-in-one contest, and other area businesses will chip in door prizes.

Golf outing tickets can be bought for $25 from any booster club member or Canton coach. The fee includes an 18-hole round of golf, doughnuts and coffee, and lunch.

Tee-off times begin at 7 a.m. Information and tickets can be obtained by calling Russell at 455-1734 or Krashovetz at 453-0794.

Any business that would like to donate gifts for door prizes may call the above numbers or Billie Whiteley at 453-7381.

Rain date will be Saturday, May 25.

Buddy's falls in tourney

F.G.S. Radiator of Livonia won a 26-team modifield softball tournament over the weekend at Ford Field in Livonia.

F.G.S. turned back Little Caesars in the finals of the round-robin tourney, 7-3.

Curtis Richards was the winning pitcher in the finals, recording his fourth victory of the tourney.

Outfielder Charlie Johnson of F.G.S. was voted the tourney's Most Valuable Player.

Jim Lawson, Rick Dreher and Dave Brubaker all hit over .500 in leading the Livonia squad to the championship.

In the semifinals, F.G.S. eliminated Primo's Pizza, while Little Caesars advanced with a win over Buddy's Pizza of Plymouth.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS

WEEDS AND GRASSES TO BE CUT ON LOTS IN THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

On or before May 15, 1984, it shall be the duty of every owner, occupant or person having charge of any land within the City of Plymouth, Michigan, to cut and destroy noxious weeds and grasses upon said land, or shall cause the same to be done. Failure to comply with this notice and Article 6, Revised Section 9.62 of Chapter 106 of the Plymouth City Code means that the City will enter upon said lands and mow the weeds and grasses and bill the property owners for the service.

The City will begin mowing all unmowed lots or plots of land on May 21, 1985, without further notice to the property owners.

3 ways to release home equity

finances and you

Sid Mittra

Doctor S, one of our most valued clients, has been concerned about substantial equity in his home. Mr. L has a similar problem.

More than 10 million older Americans now own their homes without any outstanding mortgage. Many of those homes have built up a sizable equity. But how does an owner get at it without selling out?

Lenders offer several programs to help cash-short homeowners raise their monthly incomes by drawing upon the equity in their homes. The Senate Committee on Aging provides the following examples of home-equity conversions.

Reverse-Annuity Mortgage (RAM)

A RAM is a loan against the equity in your home, paid to you in monthly installments over a set period of time, often 10 years.

In a 10-year loan with a fixed interest rate of, say, 14 percent, plus some fees and some other charges, equity of $120,000 would provide a monthly income of $463.

After 10 years, you would have to repay or renegotiate the loan.

Sale and Lease-Back (SLB)

In this plan, the investor buys your home, often at a discounted price, and you retain the right to rent it for the remainder of your life or for a more limited time.

You can receive payment in a lump sum or divided into equal monthly payments based upon an annunity bought by the investor. If you wish, you can have your rent deducted from the monthly mortgage payment you receive.

Deferred-Payment Loan (DPL)

With this type of loan, you borrow against your equity and defer payment of all principal and interest either for a specified term or until you sell your house.

A DPL can be helpful if you need cash, for example, to fix up your house before selling it.

In this article, we have presented several ways of releasing the equity in your home.

Bear in mind, however, that once you embark on any form of home-equity conversion, you surrender your right to sell the property or pass it on to your heirs until loan repayment is arranged.

Consult your financial planner or CPA before embarking upon any of the alternative methods of releasing equity discussed above.

Educational Seminar: The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and the Coordinated Financial Planning staff will conduct a seminar 7-10 p.m. Tuesday, May 14, at the Bloomfield Township Library, 1099 Lone Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills. This seminar will cover: strategic planning (comprehensive and retirement planning); tactical planning (insurance, taxes, education, wills); and product planning (mutual funds, stocks and bonds, real estate and oil and gas tax shelters). An out-of-town investment specialist will discuss a specific tax shelter. The seminar is free, but registration is required. For more details, call 643-8888.

Sid Mittra is president of Coordinated Financial Planning, Inc. in Troy and a professor of economics and management at Oakland University.

THIS YEAR OUR MEMBERS ARE FINDING BUSINESS BETTER.

They're the Detroit area businesses who support the Better Business Bureau. And they've learned just how much that coveted BBB plaque means to their continuing success.

BBB membership, and the priceless goodwill gained by displaying the BBB plaque, leads to increased public confidence in your business. It's also joining other businesses who believe that self regulation is the only way to prevent government regulation. And it means a host of services for both you and your customers. Including the issuing of customer reports. Complaint handling and arbitration. Advertising review. Charitable solicitation review service. And consumer education.

You can learn why BBB membership makes more sense than ever by giving us a call. What you hear may prompt you to join the others who've found business can indeed be better this year.

today's investor

Thomas E. O'Hara

of the National Association of Investors Corp.

Annual reports make worthwhile reading

I own stock in a few companies, mostly utilities, and occasionally receive pamphlets and brochures with a financial statement in them.

Should I, as an average small investor, be concerned with all the figures thereon? If so, which figures should I be particularly interested in?

I am not an accountant. I am inclined to doubt that the ordinary investor pays much attention to company financial statements. I don't think many people understand them.

What should they tell me or warn me about?

I would urge every investor to read the quarterly and annual reports received from corporations in which they own stock. It's true a great many investors do not understand most of the figures in financial statements, but you never will until you start reading them.

Every corporation is like any other human activity. It is continually changing. It is either going ahead or falling behind.

Corporations seldom stay the same for very long. This means your investment is either getting better or getting worse.

UTILITIES ARE generally rather stable and growing businesses. But as we have all seen in recent years, they also can have serious problems and go downhill at times.

From your address, my guess is that you might be an owner of Consumers Power. If you are, it was hard for you as a shareholder to foresee the difficulty that was approaching from the figures that were published.

The published figures focus on the operations of the company, and Consumers has been a well-managed company from the operating standpoint. Its figures look good.

THE PROBLEM is that the company apparently had a great deal of difficulty in its construction business. It has wound up cancelling its nuclear plant and is saddled with a very large debt.

The one figure that gives you a clue to the weakness is its credit taken for construction, or the capitalization of interest paid on money borrowed to finance construction.

THE GOVERNMENT allows this expense to be used as a credit and the effect is to increase earnings that really aren't there as far as cash is concerned. In recent years, such credits have been a substantial part of the earnings reported by Consumers.

It is important also to read the written material you receive. The problems of the Midland plant were reported and the withdrawal of Dow Chemical was a substantial clue to coming trouble.

These girls know how to rock 'n' roll

DAN DEAN/staff photographer

Bonnie Williams started her band just for fun, but Bonnie and the Working Girls has been winning lots of fans with the way it plays oldies from the 1950s and '60s.

They were all former waitresses, so what better name for an all-female rock 'n' roll group than Bonnie and the Working Girls?

And if you catch Bonnie and the Working Girls at Charles Too in Garden City, where the group plays Wednesday through Saturday nights, you'll see why Working Girls is a great name for the six-member band. Slugging out hits from some of the fine groups of the 1950s and '60s, the Working Girls ends its sets sometimes with dancing and tambourine-thumping on the bar. It's not even unusual for tall and lanky Bonnie Williams to be on the shoulders of a bartender as a song ends.

"I started out doing this for fun," said Williams, who plays bass in the band, "and it just took off."

The Garden City woman is married to Jeff Williams, who is the band leader fo Jeff and the Atlantics. When she started her band a year and a half ago, she knew she had a novel idea. "I knew it was unusual," she said. "We've really made a name for ourselves."

The name helps to draw crowds wherever the band plays. Recently, the group was booked to open up the evening at the Center Stage before the Hearns-Hagler fight.

Vivacious Bonnie said the band enjoys most doing the songs that female groups of the past have done, and she points to vocal groups like the Crystals, the Chiffons, the Angels and the Supremes as inspiration.

As a result, most of the group's tunes have a feminine perspective, but there's nothing dainty about the way it knocks out a song like "My Boyfriend's Back" or "Leader of the Pack."

The Working Girls, decked out in caps and sunglasses, convert the Shangrila's old tune of the 1950s into a rock 'n' roll tour de force — complete with Williams handling the motorcycle sounds. What other all-female band would do "Leader of the Pack" or, for that matter, "Gee"?

"Gee," a minor hit of the early 1950s by the Crows, is in the Working Girls' repertoire and may be one of the songs recorded when the band gets around to doing a record.

on music

James Windell

"A lot of people have been asking us to do a record," said Williams, who adds that besides "Gee" the group would like to do a song that's a real "kicker."

In addition to the leader, the Working Girls include Caroline McShane of Gibraltar, lead guitar; Kaylynn Coleman of Garden City, lead singer; Pam Day of Westland, saxophone; Kris Herkness of Garden City, drums; and Kelly Reid of Garden City, keyboards.

Bonnie and the Working Girls will be at Charles Too, Ford Road and Merriman, indefinitely from 9:30 p.m. to 2 a.m. every Wednesday through Saturday. For more information, call 421-6540.

URSULA WALKER and the Buddy Budson trio are at Nicky's in Troy every Monday evening until May 20.

A favorite singer around Detroit for perhaps more years than she'd like to remember, Walker was first a child singing star on the "Auntie Dee" TV show way back when Detroit television was just getting started.

Since then, Walker has worked with Jack Brokensha, Bess Bonnier, Johnny Trudell and Alex Kallao as well as with Jimmy Clark and the WJR orchestra. She's become a favorite around the Bloomfield Hills area because of her annual performances with the Brookside Jazz Ensemble at the Cranbrook cabaret concerts.

But, no matter with whom she sings, she's well known for her sensitive and creative interpretations of every kind of song — from tender ballad to hard-driving jazz tune.

Influenced by singers like Sarah Vaughn and Carmen McRae, Walker said the words are always important to her when singing. "Anyone can get up and sing words," she said, "and it might mean nothing. A good singer knows how to tell a story."

'Sugar Babies' star visits

Julie Miller, who is featured in the cast of "Sugar Babies" at the Masonic Temple, will join local personalities for a Celebrity "Bake-off" Saturday at Croissant Croissant Cafe and Bakery at the Southfield Plaza Shopping Center. She will appear from 11 a.m. to noon. Other special guests will be on hand from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The "Bake-off" participants will help bake and sell croissants, with a portion of the profits going to the March of Dimes. Julie Miller, who was named 1983 Atlantic City Entertainer of the Year, has performed in major showrooms around the world. Her interest in food includes perfecting her very own chocolate chip cookie recipe called Julie's Jewels.

● SCALLOPS OPENING

A new restaurant, Scallops of Rochester, will open Wednesday at the the old Mariner's Ark location at 1002 N. Main. Restaurateur Bill Werth of Scallops in Detroit said the Rochester location "is not the same restaurant but it will have the same presentation." Many of the dishes will be alike, but in Rochester there will be char-broiling instead of mesquite-wood-flavor cooking for certain menu items. Werth said there will "still be the same type of fish, such as salmon and swordfish. We'll use our fresh dill butter. And we'll have our steak and chateaubriand." He added, "There will be a little bit more of a two-tier type of menu," explaining he will offer family-style, plus fine dining. Wood and candles enhance the decor, which has nautical touches. "We're also getting an extensive wine list," Werth said. "We're marketing prime rib (at a special prices of $7.95), which we don't in Detroit. The suburbs seem to go more for it." The restaurant will be open seven days a week and include a Sunday brunch served buffet style.

— Ethel Simmons

Julie Miller will visit Croissant Croissant.

Working regularly with her pianist-husband, Buddy Budson, Walker can be heard not only at Nicky's but frequently as well at Galligan's (Jefferson at Beaubien, Detroit) and at the New Center Park during the New Center Swings free concerts this summer

SHOO BEE DOO, otherwise known as Reginald Fields, is back in town with a regular gig. The bass player who sings and tosses out humorous vocals and stories, is playing at the Place on Woodward Avenue in Royal Oak Fields, who was born in Detroit, is a graduate of Oakland University near Rochester, where he got the nickname Shoo Bee Doo. He has been in Europe for a couple of tours and has appeared, in 1982 and 1983, at the Montreux Detroit Kool Jazz Festivals.

He has always enjoyed putting on a musical show and has never been content to stand on the bandstand and communicate with his music. That's why he generally calls his band the Shoo Bee Doo Show.

And when he performs, what he does can be anything from bebop to avant-garde music — often with some philosophy, poetry or a monologue or two thrown in for good measure.

Fields will be at the Place through June 1.

Oakway's closing concert isn't up to usual standard

Mary Jane Doerr

Although the program was interesting, Sunday afternoon's concert at Harrison High School in Farmington Hills was not one of Oakway Symphony Orchestra's better performances.

The final concert in this year's subscription series featured Bach's Concertos for Two, Three, and Four Pianos and Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition."

One of the best things Ravel did for the music world was to orchestrate Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition," which was originally composed for the piano in 1874. The 1922 orchestrated version, commissioned by Koussevitzky for the Boston Symphony Orchestra, has the gorgeous coloring in the instrumentation to make vivid the images of the painting exhibition of Moussorgsky's friend Hartmann.

It was this arrangement that was performed by the Oakway Symphony, conducted by Francesco Di Blasi. The brass and woodwind sections did not perform for the first half of the program. They were prepared with a solid performance of the difficult number and achieved a good sound, especially for the final exaulting melody.

THE STRING sections, although they managed a good finale in the Moussorgsky number, had trouble with their pitch during the afternoon. It was most noticeable during the usually beautiful "Air on the G String" from "Arioso from Cantata No. 156" by Bach.

This is the 300th anniversary of Bach's birth (born March 21, 1785). As many musical organizations are celebrating, so is the OSO with three of Bach's piano concertos.

Of course, Bach did not compose for the piano as it had not been invented in its present form between 1729 and 1733 when Bach composed these three concertos. They were composed for the clavichord.

Bach's Concerto No. 3 in C Minor for Two Pianos was performed by Alexander Hanway, sales manager at Arnoldt Williams Music Co. and master's degree graduate of the University of Michigan, and Donald Morelock, coordinator of the piano program at Schoolcraft College. Their technique was one of clarity, little or no pedal and rolled chords, a most acceptable manner of performing Bach's works on the piano. The two were precise in their timing and accurate in their playing.

The clavier concertos were never intended by Bach for public performance and were instead used for his pupils' study. They were composed in his early years at Leipzig and were overshadowed by his tremendous amount of religous music during that period.

Since Bach's music is still the foundation for musical study, it was appropriate for three music teachers from the Livonia Piano Teachers Forum — Linda C. Wotring, Sonia Geoffrey and Carole Lasser — to perform Bach's Concerto No. 2 in C Major for Three Pianos and for four representatives from the Farmington Musicale — Jan Smith, Judy Dauterman, Yoshiko Aishima and Eleanor Peets — to perform Bach's Concerto in A Minor for Four Pianos.

On the four across the stage, both concertos were performed rhythmically and accurately.

● VETERANS PROGRAM EXTENDED

Area Vietnam era and disabled veterans should be aware of recent changes affecting the Veterans Readjustment Appointments (VRA) program. VRA is a federal hiring program providing special, non-competitive hiring of these veterans. Originally scheduled to expire Sept. 30, 1984, the program has been extended through Sept. 30, 1986, through passage of the Veterans Benefits Improvement Act (PL 98-543). It is not expected that the VRA program will be extended beyond that date.

In addition to extending the program, PL 98-543 raised the entry grade level maximum from GS/WG-7 to GS/WG-9 and also provided limited appeal rights during the first year of appointment. A Vietnam era or disabled veteran who has completed no more than 14 years of education may qualify for a VRA. (This restriction may be waived for disabled veterans). For further information, interested veterans may call the local American Legion hotline at 453-9494 and leave a message regarding information desired.

Smurfin' USA

Comic characters have taken over our theme parks

Iris Jones
contributing travel editor

YOU PROBABLY think those characters aren't real, just because they dress up in funny costumes and live in theme parks all over America, welcoming kids at the gate, kissing unsuspecting visitors on the head and posing for Grandpa's camera.

You may also think that we've only been invaded by a few comic book aliens, with names like Donald Duck and Mickey Mouse and maybe Sylvester the Cat. Don't look now, but they've already overrun the country, and someday soon they'll be agitating for the vote.

Let me introduce a few of these wacky people, if I can get them to stand still long enough. As Minnie Mouse always says, this new generation is so wild, you can't do a thing with them.

YOU'VE MET the Walt Disney characters, born in a film can and raised in the Magic Kingdom. There's Mickey and Minnie, of course, and Donald Duck and the Seven Dwarfs. All the storybook characters are there, from Alice in Wonderland, the Three Little Pigs, Cinderella and Pinocchio to Robin Hood and Mary Poppins. Excuse me Pluto, I missed you and Goofy and Chip and Dale . . .

Oh, Oh! There they go! When that troupe starts dancing, there's no way to stop them.

The Disney family members are so popular that they're all over Disneyland in California, and Disney World in Florida, and there were enough left over to do a tour this spring to cities all over the country.

Disney has the most famous family, but there are a lot more established names out there. They may not have come over on the Mayflower, but they've been around long enough. On this side of the nearest roller coaster are the Warner Brother characters: Sylvester the Cat, Daffy Duck, Wile E. Coyote, Foghorn Leghorn, Yosemite Sam, Porky Pig and the host of all those high-faluting characters, Bugs Bunny.

IF YOU DON'T know how to say "Wh-wh-what's up Doc!" it's time you adopted a kid and improved your education.

Six Flags Over Texas, in Arlington between Dallas and Fort Worth, was the second major theme park to open after Disney. It hoisted its six flags — one each for Spain, France, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States — in 1960, five years after Disneyland, and called it the first regional theme park in America.

Bugs Bunny wasn't on staff then. He was hired by Great America when it opened in Gurnee, Ill., in 1976, and kept his job as top bunny when Great America joined the Six Flags family in 1984. Now you'll find Bugs and his gang at Six Flags parks everywhere. Even at Astroworld in Houston, where Marvel McFey has been ruling the roost since 1971, along with Samantha Skunk, Beethoven Bears and the rest.

Some people would call it a population explosion, but companies like Warner Brothers and Hanna-Barbera call it licensing. If you think this is a Mickey Mouse business, think again.

HANNA-BARBERA was purchased by Taft Broadcasting Co. in 1967, with founders William Hanna and Joseph Barbera staying on as president and senior vice president. It takes 800 employees — animators, layout men, painters, inkers, directors, designers, writers, cameramen and voice actors — to keep the Flintstones, Yogi Bear and all their pals on the television screen and in the movies.

Taft is involved in entertainment parks, so you'll find all of Hanna-Barbera's kids at King's Island, King's Dominion, Carowinds, Marineland and Canada's Wonderland. As soon as you go through the gate at King's Island near Cincinnati, Ohio, for example, you'll find them all waiting: Huckleberry Hound, Quick Draw McGraw, Scooby Doo and of course the Smurfs.

If there's anybody here who hasn't heard of the Smurfs, keep it to yourself. Every kid and every grandmother in the country knows about the Smurfs.

YOU MAY be convinced by now that only the big families inhabit the earth of theme parks nationwide, but you would be wrong. Every kid in Omaha, Neb., knows Peony Skunk and Pawl from Peony Park. Every two-legged critter in Des Moines, Iowa, has met Bernie Bernard and Leo the Lion from Adventureland.

If you go to Kansas City, Mo., don't tell anybody under four-feet-high that you don't know the characters from Worlds of Fun. They still miss the Shirt Tales characters, who left the park last year, but they're ready to meet Rainbow Brite, the Hallmark character who moves into the park this season. And they've been having fun with Dan'l Coone, Sam Panda and Grrrtrude (stet) Gorilla for years.

How did we get into this predicament, with frolicsome, furry comic book characters running around our amusement parks?

WHATEVER Mickey Mouse tells you, amusement parks didn't start in California, they started in Russia in the seventeenth century with the giant Russian Ice Slide of St. Petersburg.

In 1870 a coal company in Pennsylvania converted a mining train into a thrill ride, and 101 years ago, in 1884, a pious gentleman in Coney Island, New York, invented the roller coaster to divert young people from spending too much money in beer gardens.

He called it Thompson's Switchback Gravity Pleasure Railway and over the years Coney Island had everything from the Oriental Scenic Railway to a 360-degree loop that carried four passengers a minute.

By 1919 there were 1,500 amusement parks in the United States, many of them with wooden roller coasters that shook and rattled and scared the wits out of you, but most of them closed down and amusement parks would have gone the way of the blacksmith if theme parks hadn't started.

THEME PARK owners don't like their fun places to be called "amusement parks" because the old traditional parks were based on roller coasters and other rides, while theme parks are based on a themed environment. The theme determines the architecture, food, entertainment, and of course the costumed characters. As we have seen, they are about to take over the world.

You may be asking yourself what this explosion of characters is all about, and the answer in one word is "visibility." Theme park characters usually have the park's name all over them, and they can regularly be seen outside their home park, at shopping malls, fairs, in parades and at childrens' hospitals.

Robert Blundred, retiring director of the International Association of Amusement Parks and Attractions (IAAPA) thinks that this world trend is costumed characters probably started at Santa Claus Land when William Koch put his father-in-law into a Santa Claus suit and sent him out to amuse the patrons of his "theme park" in Dale, Ind. They didn't call it a theme park then, but that's what it was.

Bill and Allie Scollon, who design and costume many of the characters, call them "instant crowds." Allie was a puppet maker in the old days, and she and Bill were doing marionette shows in shopping malls when Disneyland was in its first decade. They got the right to tour the Banana Split shows, and later Yogi Bear and the Flintstones.

THEN THE OIL shortage came along and it got too expensive to go on the road, so the Scollons started focusing on costumes. In the early seventies they took some of their characters to an IAAMPA convention, and soon they were creating costumed characters for theme parks all over America.

They made lions and monkeys and pandas for Geauga Lake in Ohio, Hershey's Chocolate Bars and Reeses Cups for Hershey Park in Pennsylvania, and skunks for Peony Park in Omaha.

Six Flags didn't always depend on Warner Brothers, so Scollon made frogs and armadillos and bears for them as well as all those crazy characters at Sea World, characters with names like Shamu, Sir Winston Walrus, General Lackluster and, of course, Punk Catfish.

They made orangutangs, mandrakes and gibson monkeys for Busch Gardens, Berenstain Bears for Cedar Point and a bear with a bowler hat for Bob-lo near Detroit.

Sometimes a park comes to the Scollons with a specific character in mind, or maybe just an idea. Sometimes the Scollons create the character literally out of whole cloth. Either way, the character must find the environment of the park.

It won't surprise you to know that this whole idea is spreading into the general population. They are starting to introduce costume characters into colleges and shopping malls. Where will it all end? Will the Shirt Tale kids take over the world? Will there be feuds between one family and another, war on the midway, costumed characters in the schools?

Stay tuned.

In 1884, a gentleman in Coney Island, New York, invented the roller coaster to divert young people from spending too much money in beer gardens. He called it Thompson's Switchback Gravity Pleasure Railway.

There's nothing more entrancing to a youngster than a big cuddly cartoon character. This youngster warms up to Pluto at Disney World in Florida.

Art show displays artists' feelings

By Mary Klemic
staff writer

When it comes to art, familiarity doesn't necessarily breed contempt. Rather, it generates a variety of moods.

Many of the works in the fourth Livonia $2,000 purchase award invitational art show represent sights or feelings familiar to the artists who painted them. The show is on display at Gallery V, on the fifth floor of Livonia City Hall, now through May 17. City hall is located at Farmington and Five Mile roads.

Both the abstract and the realistic are featured among this year's winners.

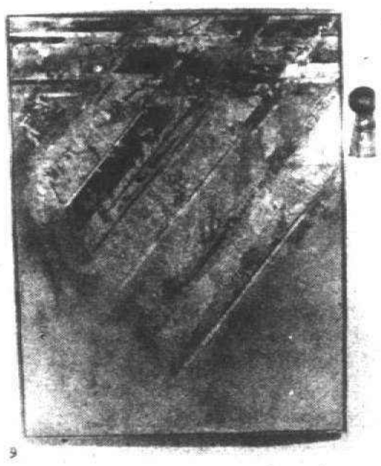
FIRST PRIZE went to Peter Gooch of Ann Arbor, for his "Venetian III," a boldly colored geometric pattern. The acrylic painting represents his "actual and literary recollections of Venice," says Gooch, who earned a bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University and a master's degree from Western Michigan University.

"I have been an abstract painter almost the whole time (10 years) I've been painting," Gooch said. "I think people end up painting what is in their nature to paint. That's the way I see things."

Russell Keeter returned to his roots in a way for his work, "Carolina III," which was awarded second prize. The fantasized landscape of his home state is part nostalgia and part direct study, he said.

"Untitled," the third prize winner by S. Flint Thornton, represents "motion, thoughts of inevitable occurrences," Thornton says. The Birmingham resident, who came from Washington state to study at Cranbrook this fall, says he is "mostly into printmaking and lithographs."

"I've been getting more figurative lately," he said. "A lot of tension in the past few years. Graduate school does that to you."



First prize winner in the show was "Venetian III" by Peter Gooch, an abstraction that drew on the artist's experience in Venice.

BENITA GOLDMAN, one of six artists awarded honorable mention, recently moved to countryside around Ann Arbor. She won honorable mention for "The Bridge," an oil painting of a scene in Island Park, which she describes as "an especially nice place to visit."

The piece resembles works by Matisse and Van Gogh, with its intense colors and sense of excitement. Goldman, who graduated from the Center for Creative Studies in 1980, says she is influenced by those artists. She wanted "The Bridge" to be "fresh and green and pretty, and look lively and exciting," she says.

"I've been working for a long time with objects that surround me," Goldman said.

WILLIAM RAPIN received honorable mention for "Steps," a watercolor of steps at the Lincoln Memorial.

"It's part of a picture that I took of my wife in front of the Lincoln Memorial," the Detroit resident said. "It caught my eye, the way it ended in a straight line at the top."

Rapin, who earned a master's degree at EMU, says he looks for "realistic subjects but unusual subjects" to paint. Another of his works at the exhibit is a mixed media piece entitled "Bug on Fence."

"It's more than looking philosophically for some idea," Rapin said. "Just things that catch my eye. I think, 'That would be a nice painting.'"

OTHERS WHO won honorable mention this year were Carl Angevine ("Visionary Sanctum"), Jim Nawara ("Belle Isle"), Rick E. Smith ("Death Takes A Holiday") and Beth VanLiere ("Ruins"). Of these, "Visionary Sanctum" is an acrylic painting. The others are oils.

Lin Baum's entry, an oil painting entitled "Tom," didn't win an award this year, but was another example of an artist painting what is familiar. The work is of a cheery elderly man with a metal walker.

The painting is part of Baum's series "They Turn Heads," she says. Baum, who grew up in Livonia and now lives in Detroit, paints many of her subjects from soup kitchens in Detroit. The works show more to the person than one may expect.

"(Tom) looks as though he's the luckiest man in the world," Baum explained. "He looks impish, very happy." Another subject, a man in motorcycle club regalia, actually was "very sensitive and very well-read," according to the artist.

Benita Goldman used bright colors and texture to paint "The Bridge," an honorable mention at the Livonia purchase show.

"It's what I find in the people," she said.

ARTISTS SUBMITTED some 300 slides of their work for consideration in this year's exhibit. Of these pieces, 68 were chosen to appear.

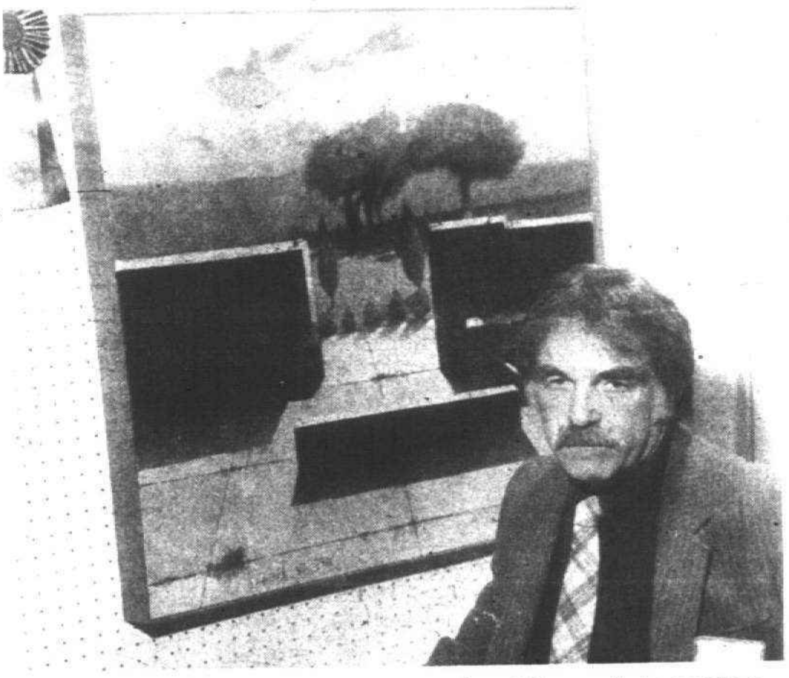
Sergio DeGiusti, sculptor, and Electra Stamelos, painter, judged the entries. The top three winning artworks were purchased by the Livonia Cultural League — for $1,000, $800 and $200 — and presented to the Livonia Art Commission. The commission accepted the works for the City of Livonia, to become part of Gallery V, on display all year.

It's all an effort to establish a collection of Michigan artists, according to Robert Bishop, president of the Livonia Cultural League board of directors.

"It's another opportunity for Michigan artists to exhibit," Bishop said. "I don't think even Detroit has its own collection."

Composition and color are among the things the judges look for in an entry, Bishop said.

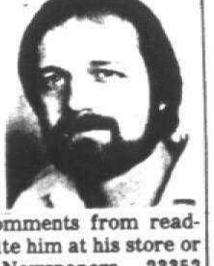
"If it affects you, it accomplished something," he said.



Russell Keeter drew on his own memories of the south to create a surreal landscape in "Carolina III," a second prize winner at the Livonia show.

Tracing helps bring out basic lines

This is another lesson on art and drawing by special columnist David Messing. He has taught for eight years and operates an art store, Art Store and More, 16340 Middlebelt, Livonia, 522-6311. Messing encourages questions and comments from readers. You may write him at his store or c/o Observer Newspapers, 23352 FArmington Road, Farmington, MI 48024.



artifacts

Mother nature and the warm breezes of spring have blessed my home with an elm seedling. The tender leaves already seem oversized for the spindly little trunk. Stubbornly this little seedling has claimed it's turf, and I respect that. But unfortunately it's turf is in my eve trough . . . and I am embarrassed by that. Probably by the time I get to the spring chores around my house this summer will be over.

The lawn spraying company I had out to look at my lawn said they would have to charge extra for "hazardous duty!" Then before they left they administered "last rights" and laughed as they drove away.

The salt from last winter turned my cement porch into the texture and strength of a saltine cracker. My pool filter needs a heart transplant and the pool looks like the Labrea Tar Pits.

MY 45-YEAR-OLD garage leans a little to the left . . . then to the right . . . then to the left again. The city inspector surprised me with a visit and asked when are I was going to finish my addition? As an excuse I said "Well sir, I had back surgery six months ago, so it kinda put a halt to things, also we just moved our store in Livonia and we're opening a new one in Plymouth by mid-May."

"Oh, do you own the Art Store?" He said with a note of surprise. "Yes sir." I proudly announced with the pride of a soldier's shout. "Well . . . when are you gonna get your sign up on that building?" Completely disarmed by this inspector, I lost all defensive stratagies. All I could come up with in response was, "How about those Tigers? Think they'll go all the way this year?" There is just too much to do, and I am too sweet, gentle, kind and humble to be put under this kind of pressure.

I have Artifacts questions to answer, Artifolks tips I want to relate to and many articles I am eager to write. So let's start with some of my mail that has yet to be answered.

To refresh your memory, "Artifolks" is a new addition to the Artifacts column that relates to your ideas and tips that different people either write in or mention to me at the art store. "Please don't mention my name," is usually their beginning sentence or phrase which is then followed by their artistic hint or tip. So I will now make it official "to all you humble Artifolks out there, I promise to not mention any names at all, just first names and the city you live in. Now you can feel free to write in your question or suggestions without fear of having your name in the paper which of course may bring you overnight fame and wealth, which by the way still have eluded me.

HERE'S A good tip from Tom of Livonia. There was a certain logo on TV which he needed to make camera ready for his customer. After not finding this logo in any printed ads or magazines, Tom taped the program which aired the logo on his V.C.R. Then backing the tape up to the proper frame, Tom froze the image and traced the logo on layout paper. Isn't that a neat idea? You can turn your TV into a light box. I, for example, have wanted to do a sketch of Laurel and Hardy but the photos of them are rather limited so I will just tape a few movies and freeze frame the look I'm looking for and either trace or draw from that image.

"Trace!" did I just hear someone yell in shock "trace?" Sure. Tracing is very helpful especially on portraits and automotive drawings. If you are doing a portrait from a photo or even a caricature, you may find you are overloaded with information. Every skin tone imaginable, subtle blushes, tiny wrinkles catch lights in the eyes, lashes, brows, lines in the lips, etc. Yes it doesn't take long. Soon after you begin you get overwhelmed with details and lose the basic shapes.

So here's a tip from me . . . "Dave M." of Livonia. When drawing from photos lay a sheet of tracing paper over the photo and trace all that you see. Because tracing paper is transluscent, it will block out most of the details and only the most basic lines and shapes will show. Now after you have finished tracing, set the photo aside and begin your portrait looking only at your traced image. By tracing, you reduced the multitude of details down to just a few lines and shapes, which is of course, a better beginning. Then, after you have correctly protrayed the characteristic basics, it is much easier to refer to the photo for the characteristic details. Then before you know it the portrait is over and it wasn't that hard.

The same technique is helpful for caricatures and automotivendering. Often it is too difficult to find the characteristic feature or features in the photo of a person, and likewise in the many lines of an automotive picture. So try tracing and then draw from your traced image.

Perhaps this would be a good time to answer a question on portraits from a reader.

Question: "What makes portraits so difficult?" I can realistically paint any thing except a portrait. Ron of Plymouth.

Answer: Well, Ron, to help you better approach a portrait I would like you to consider the word "critical" which means "careful evaluation." Where the word difficult which you used, means just plain old "hard." Imagine you have just finished one of your still lifes. Let's say there is a daffodil in your painting. Now the many shapes in the stem, leaves and petals of the flower may in number exceed the shapes in a portrait. So the portrait should not be any more difficult to render than the flower, and, indeed, it is not. However, the portrait is many times more critical than the flower. If, for example, you painted petals of the flower inaccurately or just differently, it would not be of any great consequence. But if you represent a persons features inaccurately or differently then the painting becomes less characteristic.

Here again "careful evaluation" seems to be an excellent definition of the word critical. So carefully evaluate the sizes and shapes of the facial features. Not what you imagine they should look like, not what you feel they should look like and not even what the person in the photo wishes they looked like. What you see is what they should get. Well maybe I should make that "almost" what they should get. You should be slightly complimentary in your handling of facial features. Taking a tad off the double chin, playing down a few wrinkles and a touch more color here and there certainly will help please your customer.

Well that's it for this week. I got a little tree to uproot, a store to finish and another one to open, a sign to paint and a porch to fix and a garage to . . .

Silhouettes add drama to photos

Monte Nagler

Two weeks ago, I wrote on how backlighting can add impact to your shots. Today, I'll take backlighting one step further to where it can produce truly dramatic photographs.

And this extra step? Silhouettes. Instead of using backlighting as rim lighting or as lighting to accentuate textures, use it to obtain striking silhouettes of your subjects.

How do you make silhouette pictures? Easy. Effectively using early morning or late afternoon sun will do the trick.

Compose carefully, placing a strong subject in the foreground with the sun behind. The sun can be just outside the viewfinder or directly behind the subject. Take your meter reading off the sky.

Because it is so bright, the sky will "call for" a minimum exposure, that is, a small aperture and/or a fast shutter speed. The foreground subject will then be underexposed to the point where it will appear in the finished print as a silhouette.

WHAT SUBJECTS are good to use? Some of my favorites are stark trees, flying birds, interesting architectural forms, even people (you can produce interesting profiles).

Try including the sun directly in your picture. Use medium speed film, an aperture of f-16 and a shutter speed of 1/500 second, paying no attention at all to your camera's meter.

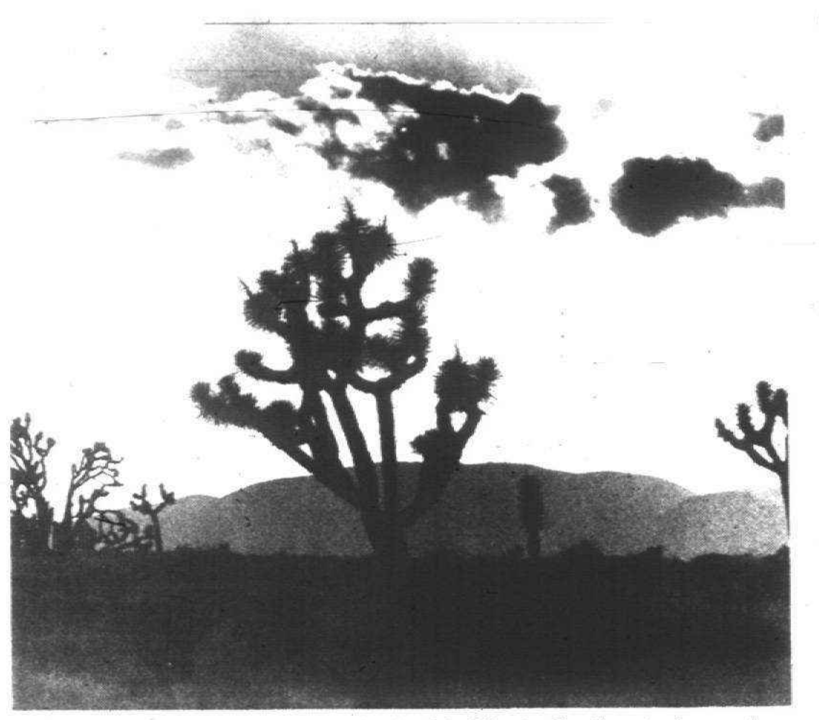
The result is that your foreground subject will reproduce as a black silhouette and the sun will appear as a shining star. Be careful not to look directly at the sun through the viewfinder because eye damage can occur.

For slide shooters, here's an idea that will result in truly exciting results. On an overcast day, shoot pictures of trees, birds, airplanes, lighthouses, etc, with the bald sky in the background.

THEN REMOUNT these slides with transparencies of sunsets, clouds, or any other subjects your imagination can produce. The densities of both layers of film will darken the "sandwich" sufficiently so that the subject will appear as a silhouette.

Producing silhouettes is fun and exciting. It's an area in photography where your imagination and creativity can truly excell.

© 1985, Monte Nagler



A light reading off the bright sky in this Monte Nagler photograph underexposed the Joshua trees so that they appear here as dark silhouettes.

AAUW holds annual book sale fund-raiser

The Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) will hold its 31st annual used book sale Thursday-Saturday, May 2-4 in the central court at Westland Center.

The sale will take place 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday. Saturday will be "Bargain Day" from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., with books selling for $2 a bag or box. Westland Center is located at Wayne and Warren roads in Westland.

All of the proceeds from the Plymouth Branch sale will be used for scholarships and fellowships.

ATTENDANCE AT this spring event has become a tradition for many western Wayne County residents. Paperbacks, children's books, classics, cookbooks, romances and old and rare bargains attract casual shoppers as well as dealers. Included in this year's old and rare selection are a variety of beautiful Bibles and a gold-leaf copy of "Pilgrim's Progress."

Book sales are a way of life for AAUW members. Members of the Plymouth Branch have collected and priced more than 18,000 volumes and sorted them into 26 categories, with prices beginning at 25 cents.

The co-chairmen of this year's book sale, Lynne Homes and Susan Sayers, have been coordinating branch efforts since last June. Books are collected all year from the Dunning-Hough Library in Plymouth and from private donors. AAUW branches all over the country hold used book sales as fund-raisers.

Class Teaches You How To Be A Do-It-Yourself Contractor

BY M.S. MEZA

It is not, says course instructor Carl Heldmann, a do-it-yourself course in carpentry, plumbing and roofing. Instead, he says it's just the opposite. The class offers instruction in employing subcontractors to do all the physical work and handling other factors such as obtaining a lot and financing. In other words how to build a house without using a general contractor.

The next seminar, Heldmann says will be held at the Ramada Inn, Merriman Rd. at Metropolitan Airport on Saturday, May 4th and May 18th 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and costs $125.00 for an individual or $185.00 for a couple.

Heldmann, a Syracuse, N.Y. native who has lived in Charlotte since 1969, served as his own contractor in building a Village of Raintree home in the early 1970s. He became a contractor in 1974 and says he has been building houses ever since, with the exception of two years at the worst of the 1981-83 housing recession. He also recently joined the sales staff of Thies Realty & Mortgage Co. in Charlotte.

Heldmann, who offers a variety of seminars through his Michigan School of Home Building, Inc. has written three paperback books to help do-it-yourself contractors, persons interested in building log homes and those who want to do home renovations. All are on sale at local bookstores for $7.95 to $9.95, he says, and some hardware stores also handle them.

"Be Your Own House Contractor" is in its fifth printing, and between 25,000 and 30,000 copies have been sold, Heldmann says. It's the text used in Michigan classes.

The premise of Heldmann's course is that a person armed with enough information can save from 15% to 25% of the cost of building a home by taking on the job of organizing and arranging for everything. And, he argues, it can be done almost entirely over the telephone.

Topics include finding a lot, zoning, utilities and restrictions, finding and possibly adapting a house plan, estimating costs, hiring subcontractors, obtaining materials and obtaining construction and permanent financing.

Those completing the course also receive a complete directory list of individuals, subcontractors, suppliers and lending institutions Heldmann has found satisfactory for Oakland, Macomb, Wayne, Livingston and Washtenaw Counties. However, he urges participants to make their own reference checks before hiring anyone.

PRIVATE PROPERTY WEEK

April 28--May 4, 1985

This weeklong observance reaffirms the rights that come with owning property. For most of us this means a home of our own. And as homeowners we tend to put down roots, to become involved in local government processes and to care about what takes place in our community and neighborhood.

The right to home ownership is precious and must never be taken for granted. We think it is a right that should be preserved for generations.

We are very proud of our role in your community--our twice-weekly publications contain advertisements from many fine Realtors, who consistently offer conscientious service and a wide variety of property.

We believe that we are instrumental in bringing both potential property owners and Realtors together.

We salute you both during this special week.
