Low turnout mars election

Swartzwelter, Artley are in

By Emory Daniels

In one of the smallest voter turnouts in recent history, residents returned the two incumbents to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

David P. Artley of Canton nosed out challenger Stephen G. Harper of Plymouth by some 66 votes for a four-year term on the board while Dean Swartzwelter of Plymouth swept all 14 precincts to easily win a two-year term on the school board.

Voter turnout, which has been steadily creeping downward in recent years, reached a low of 3.7 percent as only 1,719 residents voted Monday out of the district's 46,800 registered voters.

Only 36 persons showed up to vote at Field during the 13 hours the polls were open, or one voter every 21 minutes. The pace was equally as slow at Ericksson where only 49 persons voted for one every 21 minutes. The busiest precinct at West saw only one voter every three minutes. Districtwide the average was one voter every six minutes.

(For Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees election results see Page

IN THE RACE for the four-year term, Artley collected 770 votes to 704

The difference was that Artley garnered support from throughout the district while Harper drew most of his support from Plymouth precincts.

All of the four precincts where Harper placed first are Plymouth polling places - Central, where Harper edged Artley 86-80, Isbister (74-58), West (147-83), and Bird (61-51).

Artley, on the other hand, placed first in four Plymouth precincts and in five Canton precincts, and carried two which have a mixture of Plymouth-Canton residents.

Artley placed first at Gallimore, Starkweather, Allen, Farrand, Fiegel, Miller, Hulsing, Eriksson, Field and Canton High.

Richard W. Sumpter of Canton trailed in the field of three for the fouryear term by collecting a total of 171 votes, running behind Harper in all 14 precincts. Sumpter also was a candi-

Dispatching rule shocks firefighters

Canton's board of trustees passed proposals promoting a joint fire and police dispatch system and the immediate hiring of civilians for the police department at Tuesday's meeting.

Board members passed a resolution formally stating their support for a members) were wondering if it was "long-term objective of implementing combined police and fire dispatch."

The action came as a surprise in light of last week's special board meeting where Canton Firefighters Local 2289 gave a lengthy presentation saying it believed lengthened response times will be a byproduct of the joint system. They stressed the need for trained firefighters to answer emergency calls and dispatch fire department equipment.

TRUSTEES indicated at that meeting the proposal would not be implebecause the system was doomed to fail without the support of the fire department.

"Last Wednesday at the board meeting we presented to the board our concerns about the safety of the people of Canton Township, and our (firefighters') safety and apparently the board didn't listen to a word we had to fighter and union president.

Trustees Robert Padget, Loren Bennett, John Preniczky, Stephen Larson,

Treasurer Gerald Brown and Supervisor James Poole favored the action. Clerk Linda Chuhran was opposed. The proposals were presented by the police committee, composed of Padget, Bennett and Poole, who have been working on changes in the police department.

EXPLAINING THE turn of events, Bennett said: "We (police committee worth the fight, and some soul searching went on over the weekend and we decided, yes, it is worth the fight, because it is the right thing to do.

"A majority of the board wanted to go with central dispatch," Bennett said. It is cost effective and it will put more firemen and policemen out on the road.

"With the resolutions we came up with, the mechanics are heading toward central dispatch, but if it doesn't work that way, nothing we did last night will have to be reversed," he said. "At least now after some long, long years of looking at the issues, a policy statement has been made by the board on what direction we want to

The board also approved the immediate creation of five clerk/dispatch positions in the police department to be paid an annual salary of $16,000. Officers who presently dispatch will be reassigned to other duties, like road pasay," said Jim Davison, Canton fire - trol. Padget, Bennett, Preniczky, Larson, Brown and Poole voted in favor.

Construction company is awarded road paving bid

By Diane Gale staff writer

Holloway Construction Company could begin paving more than six miles of roads in Canton Township as soon as two weeks from now.

Supervisor James Poole said he couldn't be sure about the start-up date or target the roads that will tackled

"Which roads will come first, I don't know," Poole said. "But, from the logisitics of the area, starting on Palmer and moving down makes the most sense to me logistically."

Asphalt is expected to be laid within next 2 weeks

HOLLOWAY, awarded the project by the township board Tuesday, will be paid $1,422,828 for laying the asphalt on the Wayne County roads. The Canton board initially targeted $1.3 million from Canton Center to Lilley, Palmer from Canton Center to Haggerty, Sheldon from Palmer to Cherbourg, Lilley from Cherry Hill to Castle, Warren from the Canton Township border to 282 feet west and Sheldon from Cherry Hill to Proctor.

The board also authorized $125,000 to pave Warren Road from the railroad tracks to Lilley Road.

Board members admitted the $125,000 figure is lower than the job will most likely cost, but they said it would be an indication to bidders of what they expect to pay.

Poole previously targeted November for completion of the project. The estimated life of the asphalt paving is 15

SINCE THE PAVED roads will be easier to travel, more motorists are expected to use them, cutting down on traffic volumes on other busy streets, especially Ford Ro "It (Warren paving) will increase business for a couple of the shopping malls out there that aren't doing so well," Poole said.

Ongoing road paving delays are blamed on the now-defunct Wayne County Road Commission, which was reorganized as the Wayne County Road

When the Wayne County Charter was finally set in place, it made those people reasonable," Trustee Stephen Larson said. "The standards for the road paving were reduced. "Without the change in Wayne County government, the community could never have afforded the paving," Larson said. "We would have been with dirt roads until 1990."

Though the paving will be on Wayne County roads, the county will pay only for engineering and inspection costs, according to William Oakley, director of roads for the Wayne County Road

Sewer alters course

A twist has been added to the continuing saga of massive sewer expansion projects proposed for western Wayne

With the third such project on the table, the tradition of gathering local support before sending plans to the state for approval will be broken.

"It just seems to make more sense to have the state approve this thing be-fore we take it to all the local communities," said Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen.

In the past, two projects — Super-sewer and NHV/RV I (North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley) — were acted on by local governments and then turned down for federal funding.

The state's Department of Natural Resources (DNR) acts as clearing agent for the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), which provides partial funding for such projects.

Although the DNR sets priorities and reviews projects, EPA certification is peeded before the $116 million NHV/ RV II receives up to 55-percent federal

At Breen's suggestion, Gov. James Blanchard has asked the DNR to review plans for NHV/RV II.

The local units are now reviewing the full report and you will soon receive the formal resolutions of adop-Blanchard wrote recently to

DNR Director Ronald Skoog. "To help expedite this important in-frastructure improvement, I am asking that your department conduct an immediate review. "If possible, the DNR should complete its processing to allow for formal approval of the project, and certification to the EPA by July 1, 1985, Blanchard wrote.

"I believe it is imperative that the local units be assured of the acceptability of the report as they make their decisions on implementation."

BLANCHARD ALSO sent a similar letter to EPA headquarters in Chicago.

"Because of the critical importance of this project to our state, I would appreciate it if you would provide an expeditious handling of the project, the governor wrote in that letter.

Blanchard's willingness to intervene is seen as a bright spot in an otherwise bleak prospect for NHV/RV II. Rising local costs and dwindling grant eligibility has brought speculation the project can't be financed

Also, recent communications from the EPA indicate the total cost could escalate to more than $270 million due to perceived needs for another $160 million worth of work.

Barring intervention from Blanchard or members of the Reagan Administration, officials in Plymouth and Canton townships are predicting the demise of yet another sewer project they have been forced to participate in.

The DNR has threatened sewer tap bans in both communities if they failed to be part of Supersewer, NHV/RV I and NHV/RV II. Such a ban would cut off all development.

A governor's task force decided in 1983 to split Supersewer into north and south projects. NHV/RV I was turned down for funding by the EPA last year because of possible pollution problems.

Both townships filed a lawsuit over the demise of Supersewer and were scheduled for a settlement conference in Wayne County Circuit Court yester-

IN A PRESS conference called Monday, Canton Supervisor James Poole announced that both townships received repayment of their Supersewer planning money - one of the items sought in the lawsuit.

By making the payment, $141,000 to Plymouth Township and $476,000 to Canton, communities involved with the south project (SHV) will be dropped as defendants in the lawsuit.

Both communities plan to return the money to their water and sewer funds where the planning money originally

Yesterday's court conference was suppose to provide the remaining defendants (Detroit, Wayne County and the state) a chance to respond to a proposed settlement The three units are accused of conspiring to exclude the townships from Supersewer, as well as basing the decision to split the project on factors outside their purview. The case will be dropped if the three governments agree to three items: a

Board squashes Central rumors

By Emory Daniels staff writer

The administration and school board Tuesday night confirmed there are no present plans to close or change the use of Central Middle School.

Superintendent John M. Hoben admitted there was a bond committee discussion about closing Central, but no recommendation has come to administration and that rumors about the closing are totally erroneous.

Trustee E.J. McClendon said he had-private talks asking about whether there would be a long enough payback period to warrant spending some $100,000 on window replacement at Central. Somehow, McClendon said, his remarks were changed while being passed on to others to suggest closing of Central was being considered.

Adding fuel to the rumor was written remarks in a budget document asking whether the window replacement funds should be spent until a decision was made about whether Central would be renovated or replaced

As if to confirm the "non-closing" of Central, the board Tuesday night voted 7-0 to spend some $100,000 to replace windows in the building. Dr. Hoben indicated the window replacement has a 10-year payback period, suggesting Central will continue for at least 10

A GROUP OF PARENTS surrounding Central Middle did address the board and presented petitions urging: 1) that Central continue in use as a school building; or that at least, 2) that Central continue in use as a community recreation facility.

The board also decided to expedite formation of a citizens bond advisory committee, apparently to lessen rumors and relieve concerns about the status of buildings in the district.

The administration agreed to submit a list of committee members for confirmation and a committee charge at the next regular meeting on June 24 That committee will include a representative from the Central area, representatives from Field, Hulsing and Eriksson elementaries (which are being considered for extensive renovations), and from other areas in an attempt to come up with a cross-section represen tation of the district.

Roland Thomas, board president, argued it would be beneficial to start ear-lier on discussions of renovation of buildings and alternatives while waiting till the start of the school year for a cussion of needs for equipme

IN HIS OPENING remarks Hober stressed that the school board and administration "have had no discussion appointed to a vacancy in 1982 and winning the two remaining years of the term in 1983. For Burley, a Canton resident who eaches in the Northville district, it was his second full term. Karzun, a Ford light truck engineer from Livonia, collected a fairly steady 25 percent of the winners' vote across the college district. Though a political unknown, the Palestine-born resident has worked in fund-raising in Schoolcraft athletic programs.

He promised a fresh approach to the community college board but agreed with virtually every program and position of the incumbents. Karzun could be a contender for appointment to a vacancy if two-term trustee Harry Greenleaf wins a Livonia City Council

WHILE THE administration of President Richard McDowell has hinted broadly that the college should seek a property tax increase for capital improvements next year, Burley points to another possibility - that Wayne Westland, South Redford and/or Redford Union school districts might want to leave the Wayne County Community College District and join Schoolcraft.

"I've been contacted by many people in Redford and Wayne-Westland," Burley said. "They may start a groundswell of letter writing. It (a boundary change) would require an act of the Legislature.

Irish Feis to feature family fun

By M.B. Dillon Ward

If a summer getaway to Dublin, Ireland, sounds dandy but you just can't spare the cash, keep your chin up.

Murphy, McKinney, McCanham and Maguire O'Halloran, O'Kennedy, Quinn and McGlinchey will be on hand to put the lilt of Irish laughter in your heart at Michigan's largest display of Irish culture Friday through Sunday at Livonia's Ford Field in Rest up now for the 23rd Annual Detroit International Feis, a family-oriented spectacle featuring musicians, singers, dancers, actors and athletes at Lyndon and Farmington roads, one-half mile north of the Jeffries Freeway. Nowhere else in the state of Michigan will you see so many performers in one place at the same time," said Irish-born Dan O'Kennedy, festival chairman.

"It is the purest form of Irish traditional music song and dance. It is the next best thing to being in Highlighting the Feis will be 700 costumed competitors (musicians and dancers) from the United States, Canada and England; the North American Solo Dance Championship; $500 scholarship awards, and the Statue of Liberty Centennial Medallion Design competition.

Food, drinks and souvenirs as well as games for children will be available throughout the entertainment-studded weekend.

Kicking off Friday's main events at 6:30 p.m. will be musicians Charlie Taylor, Mike Hume and Mike Stypula, followed at 8:30 p.m. by the Fanore Traditional Music Group and Adult Ceili Dance Competi-

HOW DO you analyze it?

There are those who say we're a nation of non-thinkers and that schools make us that way. William Karp, whose article "Why Johnny can't think" appeared in Harper's magazine, says "schools practice with remorseless proficiency the prevention of citizenship and the stifling of selfgovernment. rearing families of their own. A "baby boomlet" appears in the offing, along with a new demand for teachers and school facilities. But it won't be the same as in the era of the "boomers," says Bill Keane, superintendent of the Oakland Inermediate School District.

ITS SCALE will be much smaller, Keane says. For one thing, the "boomers" are marrying and rearing families at a much later age, in the 28-32 bracket, than their moms and dads.

For another, they're having families of 1-2 children compared to the families of 3-4 of their moms and dads.

Keane believes that the coming "boomlet" will stabilize school enrollments for the next decade and create a new demand for teachers and buildings.

Enrollments hit their peak in Oakland County in 1967-68 before going into a tailspin, finally reaching a low in 1981.

Starting in 1968, there were stunning drops in Garden City as enrollment fe from 14,000 to 6,000; and in Livonia where the number plummeted from 38,500 in 1971 to the current 17,500. The 21,000 students would be enough to make a sizeable system if they were all in one district.

THE HIGH schools graduated far more

From the standpoint of attracting people into the teaching profession fresh out of college, the teacher glut and layoffs of the 1970s are compounded by the greater number of career options, better pay in other fields and more attractive career paths, says Keane.

An engineer can start at $25,000 compared to about $14,000 for a teacher. In the areas of math and sciences, where Keane foresees "acute problems" in attracting qualified teachers, a physics major can make $32,000 right out of college. So another cycle has come around: "The Kathy's family needed hope."

A young mother with a serious illness. Her family in crisis. They came to Harper Hospital and found new hope. They learned that Harper is a university-based research and teaching hospital. A place where scientists work alongside physicians, transforming discovery into treatment. They found that Harper concentrates on the tough adult cases in cancer, heart disease and serious vision disorders. Patients like Kathy come to Harper Hospital at the Medical Center with confidence. They come because Harper is a major participant, together with the Sloan-Kettering Institute in New York and the M.D. Anderson Tumor Institute in Houston, in America's network of only twenty Comprehensive Cancer Centers. Patients know that if the diagnosis is cancer, there is no better place to be than Harper Hospital.

And they come with confidence because the Kresge Eve Institute is at Harper Hospital. This important Medical Center resource is devoted exclusively to the problems of vision. And through its research and clinical work, the Kresge Eye Institute gives new hope to millions with impaired vision throughout the world. Harper is hope for heart patients, too. Its large scale, nationally recognized program brings together research, teaching, surgery and medicine. More open heart surgeries are performed each year at Harper than are performed at any other hospital in Michigan, But of more significance is the growing number of heart patients Harper is able to treat successfully each year without surgery.

For you and your family, Harper Hospital is Research.

A Degree of Excellence

Wayne State University

What Happens to Wayne State University Alumni After Graduation?

Things That Make a Professor Proud.

The majority of Wayne State University's students come from Michigan homes and remain in Michigan when they begin their careers. Whether they remain in Michigan or go elsewhere, they make their mark, like those above and like . . .

... William Hart, Detroit Police Chief and Chad Everett, film and television actor

... Tom Adams, Detroit advertising executive and Frank Morris, Boston banker

... Jack Robinson, chief executive officer of Perry Drugs and Della Reese, recording star

... and many, many more. In fact

- WSU has more than 140,000 alumni
- Most Wayne State University graduates remain in Michigan to serve the state. In fact, more than 108,000 of WSU's alumni body— 77%— make their homes in Michigan.

- Many serve the state and its people in the Legislature where 5 members of the Senate and 25 members of the House of Representatives are Wayne State University alumni.
- Three-quarters of Wayne State University alumni live and work in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties
- Four United States Congressmen hold Wayne State University degrees.
- Wayne County is home to almost 54,000 WSU alumni; Oakland County, almost 28,000; and Macomb County, just over 13,000.
- 76% of the pharmacists, 40% of the physicians and 30% of the attorneys in the tri-county area are WSU alumni
- In addition to the main campus at the hub of the Ford, Lodge and Chrysler freeways, WSU has convenient centers in East Detroit, Sterling Heights, Birmingham, Southfield, Southgate and Eastside and Northwest Detroit.

And they found themselves on the canvasses of 69-year-old Rinaldo "Ray" Minervini.

Commissioned by a baseball card company, the East Detroit resident painted all 35 players, coaches and trainers of the team. The pastel portraits will be on display through Sunday at Westland Center, at Wayne and Warren roads in Westland.

They were real nice fellows, very sociable." Minervini said of the Tigers. "It was the first time I ever met 'em They were down-to-earth fellows, real nice, real sociable."

MINERVINI WORKED on the portraits from around June 30 to Sept. 1. The first step was to pose the Tigers

A photographer took pictures of the team members individually as Minervini posed each one. About 700 photos were taken, out of which the artist selected two of each person. He painted the portrait from the better photo of

"Willie Hernandez was rather nice," Minervini said. "He came running in from the field (for his photograph) and had sort of a light beard on his face. He said, 'Give me about two minutes' and ran to the dugout. He shaved and had his hair all combed. He came out with a big smile. Beautiful.

The original 20-by-24-inch paintings were reduced to 4-by-5-inch custom collector trading cards.

The exhibit is in the Central Court of Westland Center, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

MINERVINI HAS been painting for seven years, since he retired from his construction and masonry business. But his interest in art goes back much farther, before his high school yearbook called him "a budding Michelangelo" 50 years ago in Massachusetts. After graduation, he received a one-year scholarship to an art school in Boston.

Without money to continue in the school, Minervini had to leave to find a job. He moved to Detroit in 1938 (three years after he graduated from high school), got married the following year and raised a family.

"I let the art idle," Minervini said. "I worked at the Ford Motor Co. During the war, we did defense work.

THE DELAY didn't hurt Minervini's artistic talent. He joined the Scarab Club in Detroit. His works have won many awards. Many of his works are in private collections

"I decided to pick up where I left off," he said. "Surprisingly, it all came back to me. The artist has done oil portraits and "more than 100" pastels, he says. "I like characters."

ONCE, MINERVINI met Margaret Chase Smith, the first woman elected to both the U.S. House of Representatives and Senate, in Bloomfield Hills. He photographed her, found her "a nice person to talk to" and asked if he could paint her portrait. She gave her per-

THERE'LL BE dancing in the streets again this summer Thanks to a donation to the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce by Dick Scott Buick and the support of the Detroit Federation of Musicians Trust Fund, Friday evening street dances begin June 21

Dennis Harlan of Entertainment Consultants of America Inc. has donated his time in recommending and coordinating all musical groups He has lined up many of the top musicians in the metropolitan area.

The Frank Venice Band will open the season. Following in chronological order through the last dance Aug. 30 will be Tony Russo, Bob Du Rant, TBD, Jerry Stann, Joe Dunlap, Phil Gram, Jim Joseph, Dan Venice, Eric Rossenaw and Danny Ascenzo.

The band stand will be set up by Kellogg Park and bands play from 7:30-9:30 p.m. A good number of people bring their lawn chairs and come just to listen to the music and watch the dancers.

Street dancing, like band concerts in the park, is small-town America. The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce is hosting the dances and there is no charge.

THREE CITIES Art Club maintains an exhibit of members works in the corridor of Plymouth Township Hall, Ann Arbor Road, east of Mill.

Featured artists for the current three-month display are Doreen Lawton and Jessie Hudson.

Jessie, former Plymouth High School art teacher, is showing "Chrysanthemums" and two French landscapes - all in watercolor. Doreen, an art major at Eastern Michigan University, has two mixed-media nature studies and a painting of sheep in a pasture.

TRACEY SHIPLEY, 14, of Plymouth has been selected as a semifinalist in Teen Magazine's 1985 great model search She is eligible for selection later this year as super semifinalist. the next step in winning the competition. Winner will appear on the cover of Teen and win a

Co. wardrobe, and other prizes. The contest is open to teen-agers 12-18 in the United States and Canada and entry forms are available in the magazine. VIRGINIA BARNES and Eleanor O'Connor, members of Our Lady of Providence League. received awards for their hours of volunteer service to Providence Hospital patients and staff. Each clocked up 2,000 volunteer hours. The league is the hospital's principal volunteer support group.

DOLLY ETTENHOFER and her crew at Beautiful People Hair Forum on Forest Avenue are celebrating the salon's 10th anniversary. They have named June "We Love Our Clients Month" with banners, bumper stickers, and lapel pins carrying out the theme.

The staff will offer guests summer refreshments, June specials and miniprograms.

Children's Day will be Monday, June 17, with a magic show, bag lunch at Butterflies

Bistro, a special cookie from Baker's Rack in Westchester Square and apple cider from the Plymouth Cider Mill. Magician

NOW gives 2 young feminist awards

By Susan Buck

The Western Wayne County Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) has broken an eight-year tradition and selected two winners for its annual Young Feminist of the Year Award.

Kristin Gudan, 18, a Livonia Bentley High School senior, earned first-place honors and $100.

Yen Luu, 19, a Vietnamese refugee and Plymouth Salem High School senior, won the first-runner-up position, created for the first time this year, and

The young women plan to enter male-dominated fields: chemical engineering for Gudan at the University of Michigan and medicine for Luu at Michigan State University.

"WE WERE impressed with both of them," said Laura Callow, a NOW member who served on the selection committee.

"Kristin will bring honor to women, nd we were impressed with Yen Luu both for her courage and her humanitarianism."

Callow said that approximately seven girls from the Western Wayne County area vied for the prize.

A representative from NOW presented the certificates at each girl's respective school honors nights. The monetary award will be given at NOW's general meeting this at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the cafeteria at Emerson Junior High School, 29100 W. Chicago, Livo-

HER AWARDSinclude a $3,000 U-M merit scholarship from the Metallurgical and Materials Science Engineers; a $1,000 U-M Regents-Alumni Award; a $1,000 award from the Valassis Printing Co. in Livonia and a recommendation from that company for a summer job; a $100 VFW post and school award for a speech entitled "My Pledge to America"; a fifth-place recommenda-tion for a mathematics prize competition at U-M-Dearborn; and a first-prize blue ribbon award for the State Band Festival in Ypsilanti.

Gudan said that the NOW competition was not her first initiation into the feminist arena and its battle against

She said that she heard her mother speak frequently about the problems she experienced as a shy Finnish immigrant in this country. Gudan said that her mother was not allowed to take higher level mathematica courses in a Detroit high school because she was female.

She added that Mrs. Gudan had to pressure Kristin's grandfather to allow her to attend college at Wayne State University, whereas Kristin's uncle registered without a bat of an eyelash from anyone within the family.

EVEN THEN, the only field available to her was teaching. Now her mother is pursuing her doctorate degree in educational psychology at U-M but finds her knowledge lacking in geometry and trigonometry, which she was precluded from taking in high school. Consequently, Kristin and her brother have helped her.

She said that most young men in her classes respect her ability and are not condescending. However, she said one young man who was used to being 100

Yen Luu, 19, said she had some difficulty because of cultural difficulties after she arrived in the United States from Saigon five years ago. Luu said American women have come further in equality than Vietnamese women.

Luu's migration to America was not

IN 1979, after five days and six nights on the sea, Luu arrived at Galang in Indonesia. She lived there for 15 months while waiting for the passage to freedom.

Seeing the many problems refugees had to face because of their language difficulty, Luu became involved in the Save the Teacher Training program. After her training, Luu volunteered as an English teacher for refugees, even though she knew only a little English.

While living in the refugee camp, Luu developed rheumatism so severely that she feared she might never walk again. Seeing other refugees suffering nesses because of the lack of a doctor in the camp, Luu first started thinking that she would like to become a doctor someday.

During her first two years at Central Middle School in Plymouth, Luu won several awards, became involved in the Vietnamese Youth Organization in Detroit and held jobs as a newspaper carrier and a dishwasher to help support her family: an aunt and two brothers who emigrated with her. This year, Luu won the $500 Mabel Lorenz award, a $360 award from the Plymouth Kiwanis Club and was a recipient of her high school's English department honor key.

Luu said that even though some students made fun of her when she first arrived in the United States, they respect her now. But her Americanization did not come easily, and she shed many tears while meeting the challenges of living in a new country and learning a new language.

"People pay thousands of dollars to go to other countries to do research papers. Why pay so much money when you can talk to me? I believe in the power of the individual.

Canton JCs set deadline for award applications

Deadline for applications for the Canton Jaycees annual scholarship awards competition is Monday, July 8.

Two scholarship awards of $750 each will be available upon completion of finalists' interviews July 27

To be eligible, a candidate must be a Canton resident showing scholastic merit, relative financial need, and a letter of acceptance from the college or university the candidate plans to attend in the 1985 fall session.

Application blanks are available from high school counseling depart-ments, the Canton Public Library, or by writing to: 43987 Southampton, Canton, MI 48187.

Bridget Lynch and Kelly Wells have been awarded the Girl Scout Gold Award the highest commendation in vice, career planning and personal development.

To earn this award the girls had to design and carry out a plan of activities encompassing community service, awareness of the abilities of handicareer exploration, specialized interest projects and leadership skills.

Lynch worked as planner, coordinator and evaluator of a communitywide service project targeted at collecting plans to study journalism at college. and disbursing non-food items to needy families. 7:00 p.m C. Harold Weiman, Pastor

By denying truth, we cut ourselves off from life avoiding the truth. If we do not want to believe something, we don't believe it. We defend ourselves from the truth because

A person does not want to believe that someone has died. We will imagine that the person is still alive. I attended a meeting the other might and some things were said that the peo ple did not want to hear. I could tell by looking at their faces that many were not going to accept what was being presented although it was valid only when done as they do it. We have many ways of turning off our belief. The ways in which we strive not to believe

THEN I WAS in training as a thera- are powerful factors in our lives. The road pist, I heard my teacher say that blocks we use against facing the truth are lewe human beings are skilled at gion. We call them prejudice, sin, culture, conditioning and religion.

ONE KIND OF religion keeps us from seeing life in any other perspective than our present one. The world inside this belief system is safe and good. The world outside the system is evil and wrong. Such a religion sets up many means to defend itself from "those out there." Truth then becomes defined by "what I do." It may not even be that we claim that we are always right and those outside wrong. It is easy to see all of life through our own glasses. Clergy do this when they expect worship to be Another kind of religion seeks the truth however it can be found. Such a faith has its centers of certainty and strength. It also invites an openness to the Spirit. Such people are aware that we all interpret life through our own experience. No one of us can set an absolute for someone else. Otherwise we try to create them

THIS KIND of religion is captured in a book

Vincent Donovan, "Christianity Rediscovred." He is a Catholic priest who travels to the Masai tribes in eastern Africa. He simply goes to these people and asks them if he can tell them about his God and if they will tell him about their God.

It is a fascinating story. Donovan becomes aware of all those things which get in the way of affirming a faith that remains open to life When some of the Masai accept his God, he leaves them to work out how they will find ways to give their faith meaning. He refuses to attempt to remake them in his western European image.

There are many things that can get in our way when we seek the truth. Call these prejudice, culture, fear or sin. Sometimes we can be

NEVERTHELESS we all need to examin how our beliefs either open us or close us off from life. A religion which cannot be open to the oneness of life and the unity of the earth is eventually a defense. A religion that requires that bag and baggage of a culture or practice must be taken with it will not be vital. The impulse to create others after our own image rather than to see truth in life is pervasive. Its destructive influence is seen in the Third World but its effect is just as devastating here at home. Our world cries for unity and understanding. People strive to live the truth so that it will free them. Religion must help people in this great adventure.

Salem's Mike White leapt to top Observerland track honors. White was a state

'Monster'-ous Open

A white towel became a symbol of the 1984 U.S. Open played at Winged Foot

Golf Club in Mamaroneck, N.Y. During the final round, as Fuzzy Zoeller stood in the middle of the 18th fairway awaiting his next shot, he heard the gallery around the 18th green roar. Thinking Greg Norman had birdied to take the lead, Zoeller, one of the tour's more personable players, waved a towel in mock surrender. As it turned out, Norman had parred the hole, as did Zoeller, and the players were tied after 72 holes. The next day, in the 18-hole playoff, Zoeller easily won, 67-75. As the players approached the 18th green it was Norman's turn to wave the towel. It was all in fun, of course. But that's sometimes how major championships are distinguished. Oakland Hills, the site of this year's 85th U.S. Open conducted by the United States Golf Association, has had its share of historic moments over the years It was 1951 when Ben Hogan labeled it the "Monster" - a moniker that remains to this day. In 1972, during the PGA tournament, Gary Player cleared the wall of willow trees surrounding the 16th green on a blind shot that no one around these parts will forget.

AND THE LAST two tournaments at the famed Bloomfield Township course the 1979 PGA (won by David Graham) and the 1981 U.S. Senior Open Championship (won by Arnold Palmer) - were decided by playoffs.

How will this year's U.S. Open be remebered? What drama will unfold as the 156 pros tee off today in a 72-hole championship that will conclude Sunday before a world audience?

That remains to be seen.

The only certainty this year is Oakland Hills - which has hosted four previous U.S. Opens, the last in 1961 won by Gene Littler - will be a true test for the world's greatest golfers.

seventh at the 1979 PGA, is convinced Oakland Hills is an exceptional majortournament site.

"It's an Open and this is a classic Open course," said Twitty, who owns a pair of tour victories (the 1979 B.C. Open and the 1980 Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Classic) in his 11 years as a pro.

"This course is very well prepared. The rough is not as big, but it's big enough. It doesn't matter though because this is just an awfully hard course.

"This course takes a complete player," he said. "You can't have any flaws on this

JOHNNY MILLER, who tied Jim Thorpe for fourth in last year's U.S. Open and won the 1973 U.S. Open championship, also is impressed with the sprawling 6,996-yard, par-70 Oakland Hills South

"This course should provide for a fan-tastic U.S. Open venue," said Miller, who has played only one tournament the last seven weeks and is well rested for this week's action. "If the weather is dry and the wind picks up, it will turn into a course the USGA wants.

Putting will challenge the pros

There's no official color for touring professional golfers, but it might as well be

There's more green on a golf course than you'll find in a St. Patrick's Day pa-

Green is the color of the jacket they give you when you "Master" the Augusta National, and green is what golfers collect when they're consistently in the money

With so much green associated with the sport, it's no wonder why the "greens" were the topic of conversation at Oakland Hills Country Club during yesterday's first practice round for the 85th U.S. Open Championship.

The greens are so severe that they're keeping many pros on the putting surface where they're trying to find some clues. Hale Irwin, the Open champion in 1974 and 1979 who is ranked fifth among the career money leaders, says "they're impossible HAL SUTTON could have told you that without saying a word. Sutton, whose putting has betrayed him recently, was a fix-ture on the practice green most of the day Monday. He was no further than five feet from the cup, but he stroked one golf ball after another into the little cylinder, played his practice round, and was right back on the practice surface.

"It's been a problem," Sutton said of his putting. "I'm trying to work it out. This course is a good one. You have to hit it straight and pretty long, and you have to putt good. From tee to green, I've been doing OK. If I putt well, I think I'll play well. I'm making some adjustments in my

"These greens are so undulating," added Sutton, who has a pair of holes-in-one to his credit this year. "It's the type of green where you have to have a lot of patience. You're not going to make a lot of long ones, and you have to realize that. You sure don't want to three-putt here."

Greg Norman, who tied Fuzzy Zoeller with a 40-foot putt on the last day of regulation in last year's Open at Winged Foot Golf Club in Marmaroneck, N.Y., is noted

HE 1985 Observerland boys track season yielded many fine moments. Livonia Churchill won a close Observerland meet and then went on to capture the Western Lakes Conference title, edging Farmington by two points.

Redford Bishop Borgess won the Catholic League meet and finished second in the Highland Park regional after a disappointing showing at Observerland and a dual meet loss to Birmingham Brother

Although there were no state champions from the area, Catholic Central's Steve Shaver made a strong showing at the state Class A meet, finishing third in the 1,600-meter run.

Area coaches gathered recently to select the top individual performers and top relay squads. They also selected Plymouth Salem's Mike White as Observerland Trackman of the Year. Here are the final results of that meeting.

FIELD EVENTS

Dave Mize, shot put, Livonia Churchill: The 6-foot-1, 260-pound senior made the All-Area team last year in the discus. The four-year varsity performer led the area in both the shot put (52 feet, 7 inches) and the discus (167-7). His best throw in the discus came at the Hidenfelter Relays.

He is a two-time Western Lakes Conference champ in shot put and discus and placed second in both events at the regional. He is also a two-time Observerland champ in both events. "During the years Dave has worked very hard to achieve the goals that he has set for himself," said Churchill coach Fred Price.

Mize is going to Eastern Michigan University for football.

Dave Richards, discus, Livonia Churchill: A senior Richards recorded the area's second best throw in the dis 8) behind teammate Mize.

5) bening teammate same. "Dave operated his entire three years at Churchill in the shadow of Dave Mize and during this time he always kept the pressure on him." Price said. "He made a great contribution to our program." He was a member of the school record-setting dis squad, which set a new mark at the Hidenfelter Relays and never was defeated in three years.

He also gained third in the Western Lakes meet and was sixth at Mike Meehan, high jump, Livonia Churchill: The four-year varsity performer tied for eighth place in the state meet with a leap of 6-3.

All-Area repeater, Meehan broke his own school record Another All-Area repeats, act and the western Lakes Conference record in the high jump at 6-8 and won the Westland John Glenn regional at 6-4.

Meehan was also a versatile performer for the Chargers, com-peting in the long jump, 800 and 1,600 runs, 1,800 and 3,200 relays. and distance medley.

"Mike was a true student of the high jump event," Price said.
"He would read and watch tapes of other jumpers as well as his Chuck Albright, long jump, Bishop Borgess: Albright, a senior, was the Catholic League long jump champion. He also finished fourth in the state meet with a jump (22-4%) that saed his league best by more than two inches, and he came in econd in regional competition.

Borgess coach Gene Grewe called Albright an outstanding cometitor who won many meets and the league champ last jumps. He never had a competitive jump of less than 21 feet. Ron Bushaw, John Glenn, pole vault: Bushaw had a championship year, winning the Monroe and Wayne invitationals, the Hidenfeiter Relays and league championships. The senior's best vault was 13 feet. He cleared that height three times.

Glenn coach Ernie Righetti said he com hardest worker and most dedicated competitor.

TRACK EVENTS

Mike White, Plymouth Salem, 110-meter hurdles; White, a senior tri-captain who's headed for Eastern Michigan University, is Salem's best all-around trackman, according to his coach, Gary Balconi. The record backs him on that.

"There's a lot of undulation, and that's why the speed is so severe."

IRWIN, THE 1985 Memorial Tournament winner, said he used Monday's practice round to reacquaint himself with Oakland Hills, and he was greeted by the difficult greens.

"Right now they're impossible," he noted. They're firm greens, and they're so undulated. Some are really fast downhill. It's going to make it very difficult to make putts."

Zoeller, the defending Open champion and Master's champ of the one-liners, quipped during his May visit to Oakland Hills that, until they change the size of the holes on the greens, all tournament courses are tough. Tuesday, Zoeller said the greens alone are enough to make Oakland Hills a chal-

With these greens, you don't need a lot of rough here." Zoeller said with a smile.

You have to play the ball well here." Howard Twitty, 76th on the career money earnings list, played the course with Zoeller and Green Monday, and concurred with his partners about the difficulty of the greens. "On the greens, you have to put the ball in the right spot," Twitty said. "If you don't, you'll have to make some great lag putts."

Oakland Hills, designed by Donald Ross and modernized by Robert Trent Jones, is known for its tight fairways, undulating greens and high rough.

Far East offers investment opportunities

Recently, I was invited to present a seminar at the World Congress of the nternational Association for Financial Planning held in Kyoto (Japan), Hong Kong and China.

The topic of my seminar was, "The Lure of the Far East for the American nvestor." Since I am now more convinced that the Far East offers many attractive opportunities, in this twopart article I will reproduce parts of the paper I presented in Kyoto.

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning. and how much to charge for each item ... and then you'll need price tags so

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

Have a ball at Livonia Mall

It's P.G.A. time at Livonia Mall so quit putting around and drive to the nicest, most complete mall in the area.

Plenty of parking spots available for tournament

What's the parking situation for the U.S.

Things will remain pretty much the same when Oakland Hills Country Club nosted the 1981 U.S. Senior Open and the 979 PGA Tournament

The man responsible for parking during those two tournaments. Mack Quick, returns for the 1985 event (June 13-16).

We can take 10,000 cars on the North Course, said Quick "They're all pre-

Parking is included on the pre-paid $25 admission ticket for the championship rounds (Thursday through Sunday), as well as the $15 admission ticket for the pracice rounds (Tuesday and Wednesday).

In the event that the tournament is not old out, parking spots will be made available to the general public for $4 on the North Course. Tickets can be purchased at Oakland Hills or ordered, over the phone, using your Master or Visa Card number, at 644-1985)

All coupon, clubhouse and season tickets were sold out last month

PARKING IS ALSO available at the St Regis Church, Brother Rice High School and Marian High School complex at $5 per car (located on Lasher, just south of 14 Mile Road). Three vans will transport fans to and from the bus unloading zone on the south side of Maple Road (where the course is located), 100 yards south of the pedestrian bridge, which links the North

"We're encouraging fans to park there if them into the North Course," Quick said.

The task of routing traffic in and out of the Oakland Hills Course is under the ju sdiction of the Bloomfield Township Po

Oakland Hills members will enter the Gilbert Lake Road entrance, near the No. 18 hole on the North Course. The huge media entourage and tournament staff officials will be directed into the club's main lot (off Maple) by valet service.

According to Bloomfield Township Deputy Police Chief Dennis McGee, as many as eight lanes, if necessary, will be opened for the Maple Road entrances (just east of Telegraph) in and out of the North Course

WE CAN EMPTY OUT pretty quick barring rain." McGee said. "Things ran pretty smooth around there in 1979. But if it gets soggy (on the North course), we could have some problems.

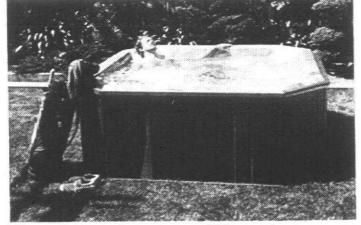

We'll have 10 additional men, all regular police officers, there on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. We also have men on the pedestrian bridge crossing to make sure everything is safe and orderly

We had very few traffic accidents (in

The main artery in which fans can reach Oakland Hills is Telegraph Road McGee said that it's not really necessary to have officers direct traffic on that main thoroughfare. Things don't get backed up that far." he McGee added that upwards of 35,000 fans will invade the course during the final three days of championship play.

Imagine yourself lounging in your own personal paradise...

Not bad for Open-ers

Zoeller challenges Monster, chases legend

When Frank Urban Zoeller tees off today in the first round of the U.S. Open on the Oakland Hills Country Club's 6,996-yard, par-70 South Course, he will challenge the Monster" and chase a Zoeller-whose initials (F.U.Z.) are the roots for the moniker Fuzzy, the name he answers to - could be the first golfer capture back-to-back Open titles since the legendary Ben Hogan turned the trick in 1950 and 1951. Ironically, Hogan ourse he labelled "The Monster If Zoeller repeats, he will join Hoga: Ralph Guldahl 1937-38), Rober: T. Jones Jr. (1929-30), John McDermott 911-12) and Willie Anderson (1903-05) as those who successfully defended their championships.

successfully defended his 1950 title at Oakland Hills on the

If so, and as the saying goes, it couldn't happen to a nicer guy

ZOELLER HAS the type of personality relished by the United States Golf Association. Unlike Mac O'Grady, Zoeller is warm, friendly and jovial to the media and gallery - a perfect public relations man for the golf associations. His mere presence brings smiles to those around him. Despite his 1984 championship at Winged Foot in Mamaroneck, N.Y., his 1979 Masters hampionship, his estimated $1,390.970 career earnings and this ear's win at the Bay Hill Classic, Zoeller still is Zoeller, the good old boy whose devilish grin and wise cracks are as routine now as they were in his younger days growing up in New Albany, Ind.

Success hasn't changed Zeeller a bit.

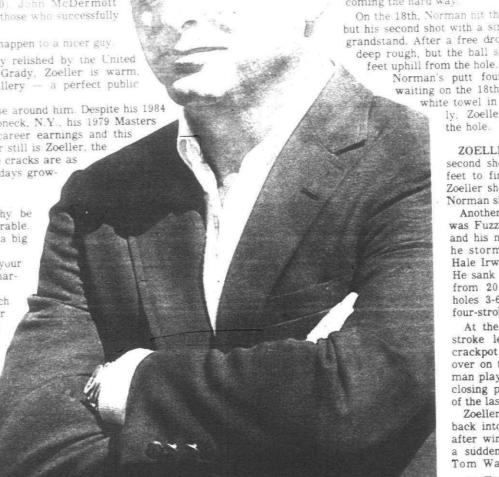

"Why should it?" Zoeller asked. "Why be miserable? Life's too short to be miserable. I'm just lucky. There's no reason to get a big head just because I've been successful.

"There's no reason to change. Why let your head get any bigger," he said with that charismatic grin.

Despite a lower back problem which sometimes causes Zoeller pain walking or swinging a club, he maintains a kind demeanor. He whistles when he walks the course, and often jokes with the Zoeller sank the long putt while Norman three-putted from 25 feet. It gave Zoeller a three-stroke lead, and he went on to lengthen the margin to eight strokes by days'

Zoeller finished with a round of 67, while Norman shot 75. It was the largest margin of victory in Open playoff history

What made the turnaround remarkable were the events in Sunday's final round, with Norman pulling off the magic. Norman parred the last three holes, the 18th coming the hard way.

On the 18th, Norman hit the fairway with his tee shot, but his second shot with a six-iron sent the ball into the grandstand. After a free drop, Norman pitched from a deep rough, but the ball skirted across the green, 40

Another twist in the tournament was Fuzzy's roar to the forefront and his near fall. In Sunday's round, he stormed past three-day leader Hale Irwin by owning the front nine. He sank four straight birdie putts from 20, 20, 15 and eight feet on holes 3-6, respectively - to take a four-stroke lead.

At the turn, Zoeller had a three-stroke lead over Norman, but the crackpot from Indiana went threeover on the last nine holes, and Norman played even par, thanks to three closing pars and one-putting on four of the last five holes.

Zoeller's eventual win brought him back into the limelight he basked in after winning the 1979 Master's with a sudden-death playoff victory over Tom Watson and Sam Snead.

As Fuzzy would put it, "It's not a had deal.

Open tourney dates back to 1895

There are four major golf tournaments in the world - the United States Open, the Professional Golf Association championship, the British Open and the Masters. Often they are referred to as the "Grand Slam" of golf.

Well, this week, perhaps the most prestigious of those tournaments - the U.S. Open championship of the United States Golf Association - will be played at the opulent Oakland Hills Country Club in Bloomfield Township

Most touring pros consider the Open THE premier event in golf.

Simply because it's America's championship. The winner is crowned champion of these United States.

It's the storied history which makes the Open such an important part of golf lore.

Golfers have been competing for a U.S. Open title since 1895 when, ironically, a -year-old Englishman named Horace Rawlins won the inaugural championship. Rawlins pocketed $335 and a $50 gold cup for his efforts in what was then a 36-hole ENGLISHMEN dominated the tourney's early years, capturing the first 16 U.S. Open titles.

In 1911, an American named John McDermott snapped the British winning streak with a playoff victory at the Chicago Golf Club. He defended his crown the following summer

With American golfers starting to emerge as a force on the golf scene, the U.S. Open became increasingly popular. Open tickets were sold for the first time in 1922, and, two years later, the concept of sec tional qualifying was introduced.

The tournament has been getting record-breaking participation, performances and publicity ever since.

There were, for example, a record 5,274 entries accepted for this year's Open. A record 5,353 golfers applied to play.

Michigan was granted two local qualify ing tournaments because of an unusually high number of 227 area pros and amateurs hoping to get a crack at the par 70,

'Lord intended this for a golf course'

Wonder what old Mr. Miller would think of his farm these days?

Back in the early 1900s, Miller decided to sell his farm land on Maple Road in Birmingham to a couple of businessmen One of the first things the businessmen did with their new land was show it to Donald

"The lord intended this for a golf course," said Ross upon initial viewing.

Indeed. Ross, the most renowned golf course architect of his era, promptly transformed Miller's farm into Oakland Hills Country Club - the site of six major professional golf tournaments since 1924 including this year's U.S. Open June 13-16.

Having Ross design the course and chosing U.S. Open champ Walter Hagen as the first club pro — which Oakland Hills did in 1922 - certainly helped lend prestige to the fledgling country club.

But Oakland Hills grew with the times and has, through its 67-year history, remained one of nation's most challenging golf course isn't the only criteria used to select a site for a major United States Golf Association (USGA) tournament.

According to Mike Butz, USGA's on-site representative at the 1985 U.S. Open, there are many variables - from geographic location to the number of hotel rooms available in the vicinity of the country club - that figure into the site selection process.

"The way the U.S. Open courses are selected," Butz said, "is we entertain invitations from clubs across the country. There are usually about 20 to 25 that we'd be

"Then the USGA Executive Committee, which meets three times a year, makes the final decision on the U.S. Open cours-

Factors involved in selecting championship courses, according to Butz, include:

• The golf course itself. "The longer courses are the ones we generally go for," Butz said. "Most championship courses range from 6,800 to 7,000 yards long. Length of the course and the fairness of

HOWEVER, HAVING a challenging the course are key factors. When it's all over, you want the champion to feel like, Hey, I really won something.' You want to challenge the players."

• Room on course for television and galleries: The physical set up of the golf course is crucial, Butz said. The course must be able to facilitate ABC television network equipment on all 18 holes as well as up to 25,000 spectators. Parking facilities, transportation and access to the course are also important.

• Hospitality of region: When the pro golf tour comes to town, 1,200 to 1,400 hotel rooms must become available for the

• Geographic Location: "The USGA, as a national organization, likes to move the Open around the country," Butz said. In recent years, the Open has traveled from New Jersey, to Philadelphia, out to the West Coast, to Pittsburgh and this year in the Midwest

USGA officials also take history into consideration when chosing the Open site. For example, in 1986 the Open will return to Shinnecock Hills Golf Course in Long Island. The second U.S. Open was played there back in 1896.

The Open sites have been picked through 1990: Olympic Country Club of San Francisco in 1987, Boston Country Club in 1988, Rochester, N.Y., in 1989 and Medinah Country Club in Chicago in 1990.

SO. HOW does Oakland Hills rate in this comprehensive selection process? Considering the place will host its fifth U.S. Open this year, it rates rather well.

"Oakland Hills is probably one of the better places we go," Butz said. "The facil-ity lends itself extremely well to all the production elements of the Open, and it has a tremendous golf course to go along

The Oakland Hills South Course is 6,996 vards long. And probably the best testimony to its competitiveness was offered up by 1951 U.S. Open champ Ben Hogan: "I'm glad I brought this course, this monster, to its knees. This is the greatest test of golf I have ever played and the toughest course.

Mr. Miller should be right proud of his

The 85th U.S. Open Championship starts today on Oakland Hills' formidable 6,996yard, par-70 South Course.

It's referred to by golfers who have played it as the "Monster," and it's a course that few have been able to master.

The shorter front nine is a 3,472-yard, par-35. The back nine measures 3,524, but also is a par-35. Following is a hole-by hole description of the course and what the golfers can expect:

● No. 1 — 436 yards, par 4: An excellent starting hole for a championship course, the first hole can get a golfer into trouble right away. It's heavily bunkered on both the left and right sides of the fairway and the green. Most golfers will use a medium iron to reach the undulating green. The long drivers will have the advantage because the entrance to the green

 No. 2 — 527 yards, par 5: The easiest of the par 5s, this hole is a birdie haven. It yielded the most birdies in the 1979 PGA Championship. Because some of the longer hitters will reach the green in two, a few eagles also could be recorded. Fairway bunkers off the tee could pose a problem for the boomers, however. Shorter drivers may lay up on both the drive and second shot, relying on a good pitch to get close to the hole.

• No. 3 - 199 yards, par 3: A classic par 3, the third hole gives the golfers a good chance for birdie - if they hit the green. But if the green is missed, they'll be hard-pressed to salvage par. The main hazard is a large bunker in front left of the green. This hole decided the '79 PGA title as David Graham (a birdie) defeated Ben Crenshaw (a bogey) in a sudden-death playoff.

 No. 4 — 433 yards, par 4: A straight. long drive is the key to scoring well on this hole. With out-of-bounds markers on the left side of the narrow fairway and bunkers left and right of the driving zone, it's imperative that golfers line up straight The best position to approach the well bunkered green is from the right center of the fairway. Tall trees line the left side

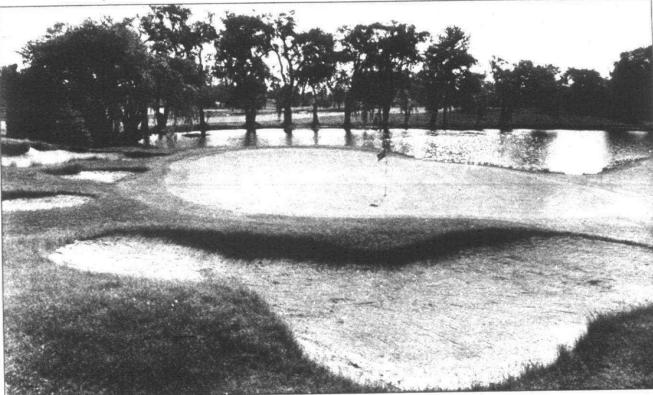

• No. 5 - 457 yards, par 4: An accurate tee shot is important on the long fifth hole. Bunkers are located on the right side of the fairway and trees line the left side. A small creek crosses the fairway about 300 vards from the tee. The ideal drive would land on the left side of the fairway. Because the green slopes from right to left, the worst thing to do would be to overshoot the green on the right, making it near impossible to get close to the pin on

● No. 6 - 359 yards, par 4: The shortest par 4 on the course, this hole also has the distinction of having the longest green from front to back — about 45 yards. Heavily bunkered around the green, it's considered a "birdie" hole. But many golfers find themselves three-putting the long,

 No. 7 — 405 yards, par 4: A pond and bunkers highlight this hole. The water hazard lies to the right of the driving area, a new green for this year's championship, which is flat and bunkered, left to right.

● No. 8 — 439 yards, par 4: This hole is considered one of the toughest on the course and will test the golfers' skills. It runs uphill all the way to the green. Golfers with a big hook are asking for trouble

Pine trees and bunkers line the left side of the driving area, leaving to approach shot in the green or an unplayable lie. It's diffiult to putt from above the hole. It was generally considered the most difficult note on the front nine in the 79 PGA

• No. 9 - 217 yards, par 3: It's always the to complete the front nine with a par but this hole definitely poses a bogey nreat It takes a long fron or fairwa wood to seach the green, which is wellinkered and offers one of the loughest not to be in is below the hole second shot and approach putt to get off to a good start on the back nine. A small friving area, blind second shot and sloping green make it difficult to save par Bogeys and double bagevs are not unusual here.

 No. 11 — 411 yards, par 4: A new tee has been added to increase the length of the hole by 15 yards. To play the hole properly golfers must stay left off the tee away from the bunkers and trees that guard the green to the night. In their ap-- ifers will try to stay below the hole
