Nursing home to be denied license

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Although improvements have been made at Canton Care Center, the nursing home licensed for 91 patients is expected to receive an "intent to deny license" next week from the Michigan Department of Health for failing to comply with probationary conditions.

Construction of a ramp, shortages in the patients' trust funds and inadequate following of therapeutic diets are among the major existing problems cited in health department inspection reports, upon which the license denial was based. The facility has improved drastic "human dignity" problems — like eliminating flies and roaches, as well as urine and fecal orders — previously observed in the home at 43825 Michigan Ave.

THE NOTICE is to be followed by a hearing, at an undetermined date, to discuss the alleged violations cited by health department inspectors during a probationary period from Nov. 30 to May 30, 1984. An emergency situation threatening patients' immediate health does not presently exist, said Ron Styka, state assistant attorney general.

The facility, previously known as Dion Memorial Nursing Home, has violated minimum health code standards since 1975. Appeals by operators of the home have kept it open ever since. In October 1984 conditions deteriorated to the point where an Ingham County circuit judge ordered the home closed. In December, 1984 Brian Suter became owner, and the facility was placed on a six-month probationary plan.

Many of the problems outlined in the plan have been corrected, but others still need correcting, Styka said. "People are being cared for on a higher plain than before, and their privacy is being considered," Styka said. "Mr. Suter has come a long way, but he didn't live up to the agreement and still has some problems at the facility. None are immediate life-threatening conditions, but they are serious over the long run and some are repeat items. We can only ask the nursing home to do things so many times before you have to take some action."

FOR INSTANCE, therapeutic diets, such as special meals for diabetics, have not been followed properly during the probationary period. Another problem is an $8,253 shortage in the patients' trust funds, which are personal savings.

"But this again has to be proven during the hearing," Styka said. "The facility under a previous owner had a shortage that was supposed to be taken care of at the time it changed hands, but apparently there still is a shortage."

The largest obstacle existing in the home is the construction of a ramp, Styka said. A license requirement stipulated it be built by February 1985.

"Mr. Suter said today (July 3) that his builder will start building the ramp

CHINNING, long jumping, running and softball will be highlighted during the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Junior Olympics slated for today through Friday. Youngsters, 9-14, who pass try-outs will advance to the Detroit Youth Fitness meet Thursday, July 25, at Huron Metropark.

A SIX-PAGE press release from Canton Township Clerk Linda Chuhran relates information about a Michigan Municipal Clerk's Association meeting she attended recently. A major point raised at the meeting concerned handicappers' voting rights. The bottom line, succeeding many, many other lines is: a deputy registrar will be available to register any handicapper or elderly person who currently is not registered to vote and wishes to be.

FIREARM SAFETY is the focus of a program to be offered by Canton police 1-4 p.m. Sunday, July 14, in the Canton Township Hall meeting room, 1150 S. Canton Center Road. The session will be open to the first 100 registrants, who'll be charged $1 at the door. Interested residents are asked to call the police department at 397-3000.

Pedestrian is killed

An Ypsilanti woman was killed apparently by a hit-and-run driver on Michigan Avenue east of Sheldon in Canton about 3:30 a.m. Saturday, Canton police said.

Charlene Norris, 30, of Ypsilanti was walking along the north side of westbound Michigan Avenue about six miles away from her car, which was parked near Michigan and Ecorse, officers said.

A passing motorist contacted police after finding Norris on the road bleeding from a large gash on her forehead. She was wearing blue jeans, a pink sweater and high-heeled shoes.

Norris was pronounced dead at the scene. Police are asking anyone with information about the accident to contact them.

Child is found

A 4-year-old Plymouth girl who disappeared from her mother's side at Metjer Thrifty Acres in Canton Sunday afternoon was found about three hours later in Leoni Township in Jackson County.

A young couple, identified as Randy and Jane Hixson of Jackson, saw Lella Warner walking along Race Road north of I-94 about 8:15 p.m.

"She told (the Hixsons) she was shopping with her mom, and a man picked her up and left her there," said State Police Sgt. Floyd Millikin. "To the best of our information she was not assaulted or injured. She's a talkative little thing, like most 4-year-olds. She just told us she was shopping with her mom. He (the assailant) gave her candy. They went into the woods, laid out a blanket and he had her sit on the blanket," Millikin said. "Then she said he left."

Police said they were unable to gather further details.

"We're not able to get much information on how she came to be left out there in that rural area," Millikin said. "It's hard to talk to (children) because you don't want to suggest anything to them."

Officers are seeking a dark-skinned male in his early 40s in connection with the incident. The suspect is described as "short, small, with a pot belly." He possibly was wearing a brown plaid shirt and brown dress slacks, according to Canton police. The Hixsons were en route to a residence when they found the child. They took her to the house and called state police. The case then was turned over to Canton police.

Terrorism in skies nets wary passengers, vigilant security

By M.B. Dillon Ward
staff writer

While Canton-based travelers are voicing concern about flying in the wake of recent hijackings and air disasters, Detroit Metropolitan Airport authorities say people needn't cancel their travel plans.

"I would say passengers certainly can feel safer now than before based on the fact that surveillance is much more stringent," said Lou Sugo, director of public information at the airport. "I would have no fear putting my family on board an international or domestic flight because of the fact that everyone's on their toes."

A Canton family of five aboard Air-India Flight 182 was killed June 23 when the Boeing 747 plunged 31,000 feet into the north Atlantic off the Irish coast.

Pullivell Jacob, owner of an independent travel agency and taxicab service, and his wife Aleykutty, a registered nurse at Ann Arbor's Veterans Administration Hospital, were taking their three children to India to visit relatives. The family was eulogized by Mrs. Jacob's co-workers Wednesday at a memorial service in the hospital chapel. Aviation authorities say an explosion, possibly the work of terrorists, may have caused the crash which took 329 lives.

INDIVIDUAL airlines are stepping up safety measures at Detroit terminals since the crash and the hijacking of a Trans World Airlines flight about two weeks ago in which Americans were taken hostage in the Middle East.

Two "bomb dogs" that formerly worked only sporadically are "getting a real workout," said Sugo. The "valiant noses" of "Bronzee," a black Labrador retriever, and "Baba," a German shepherd, are making frequent appearances at ticket counters, baggage areas and aboard aircraft, he said.

American, Eastern, Piedmont and Empire airlines are permitting only passengers beyond X-ray checkpoints. Persons meeting arriving passengers will have to do so in the baggage claim areas. No longer will they be able to enter airport concourses. Exceptions will be made only under "very limited circumstances," Sugo said.

CURB-SIDE check-ins have been discontinued for internationally bound Metro passengers. Baggage is being hand-checked by international carriers Pan Am, Sabena and British Airways. Luggage that can't be matched with a passenger isn't being loaded, Sugo said.

A memo recently issued by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department which patrols the airport encourages heightened vigilance by employees.

"It reminded all of us that we would need to recognize the international tensions and that security was being tightened immediately," said

Sugo. "We were all urged to review our security plans and to make absolutely certain all security doors and gates were locked."

The bulletin said personnel on ramps and/or the tarmac without ID badges "would be tossed off summarily," he added.

"DOMESTIC CARRIERS are in the same business as international airlines, and they're very interested in assuring people of security," added Sugo.

"They have intensified efforts to eyeball the passengers as they bring their baggage to check in to make sure bags and people are related." Personnel are trained to "watch out for people who match profiles put out by" federal aviation authorities, he added. Overtime was approved for uniformed officers and a "few undercover people" for a 30-day period, Sugo said.

Precautions being pursued by airlines nationwide include a bolstered federal air marshal program, enhanced security training for pilots and flight attendants and closer monitoring of aircraft grounded for service.

AREA TRAVEL agents say many concerned clients are calling with questions, but are not cancelling their plans.

Officials balking at arbitration act

Canton considers joining effort

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A state law supported by fire and police unions is under the gun, and Canton officials are considering joining the attack.

A coalition has formed to "repeal or reform" Public Act 312, adopted by the state legislature in 1969 to provide a third party binding arbitrator to decide dispute impasses between unions and municipalities. The act is considered an alternative for police and firefighters who are legally bound not to strike.

A letter to Canton Supervisor James Poole, outlined opposition to the act. "The time has come for public employers to collaborate in an effort to repeal or substantially reform Public Act 312 and restore the incentive for real collective bargaining at the local level between the employer and police and fire unions."

"It is clear... that 15 years of costly experience with Public Act 312 compulsory arbitration is enough."

The letter was signed by Michigan

Community Fund helps substance abuse plan

Thanks in part to a $12,000 donation from the Plymouth Community Fund, a preacher, a teacher, an educational aide and a resident manager will be among Plymouth-Canton residents attending a workshop on substance abuse. The 100-person group will participate in five days of intensive training Aug. 5-9 at Plymouth Canton High School. The workshop is being presented by Community Intervention, a nationally known substance abuse training organization headquartered in Minneapolis. Dan LeBlond, Community Fund president, said: "One of the purposes of the Community Fund is to support agencies and services as problems arise. "Our agencies report substance abuse is a rising problem in our nation as well as in our community. We are happy to be a part of bringing in outside expertise to help overcome this problem." Commenting on the donation and the workshop, Plymouth Community Fund United Way Campaign Chairwoman Kristene Raution said: "With this workshop, we will improve our community's ability to help individuals who are substance dependent. The Community Fund is proud to be a part of this program." Michael Homes, assistant superintendent of instruction for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and a member of the Plymouth-Canton Community Substance Abuse Intervention Committee, said: "We are grateful to the Plymouth Community Fund for its help in financially supporting this workshop."

"Having participated in the workshop last year in Ann Arbor, I know it will help in recognizing and working with substance abuse issues in our community. I am looking forward to the positive results this high-quality workshop will produce in further supporting the efforts already under way." The goals of the workshop are to help participants

- Develop and improve skills to identify and assess adolescent substance use. • Expand their existing knowledge of and personal reaction to abuse of alcohol and other drugs. • Clarify the specific issues of adolescent experimentation, recreational use, abuse and dependency. • Become comfortable in sharing information learned with others in the community. • Gain information useful in stimulating interest for expanded alcohol and drug services for the adolescent and family in the community.

Police to file sex charges against Canton man

By Diane Gail staff writer

State police say charges will be filed "soon" against a Canton Township man suspected in a case involving allegedly pornographic photographs of more than 250 young girls and women. The photos were seized from his home in March.

Charges will be filed in the near future on him," said State Police Lt. Jack

Reed, who said he was unable to give an exact date. "But it doesn't look like it will be the charges that we anticipated at first."

It is expected the suspect will be charged with a misdemeanor even though felony charges were initially sought.

Between 10 and 15 witnesses, all females 14-19 years old from Wayne County, have been interviewed by police since the raid. Police were led to the witnesses by an alleged ex-partner of the suspect's and from models who gave the names of other models.

The witnesses' explanations of how they got involved with the 38-year-old suspect seemed to be the same," Reed said.

"The suspect had contact with them, tried to lure them into the house and said he was a photographer for a modeling agency, and that he would make them models."

SOME OF THE confiscated photos show the suspect having sex with the subjects.

The long delay in seeking a warrant from the Wayne County Prosecutor's office was attributed to difficulty in gathering evidence and the lack of availability of witnesses. A couple of the witnesses had moved out of state, some were on vacation "and there were a whole range of problems like that," Reed said.

"Police did not arrest him at that time due to lack of evidence.

A felony is committed when pornographic photos of models under 18 years old are produced or distributed for commercial purposes. The production charge carries up to a 20-year prison sentence and/or a $20,000 fine. Distribution is punishable by up to seven years in prison and/or a $10,000 fine.

Canton ponders joining Act 312 coalition

Municipal League Director George Goodman, Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy, Dearborn Mayor John O'Reilly and City Managers G. Stevens Bernard of Grand Rapids, Robert Hageman of Muskegon, and William Baldrige of Royal Oak.

THE GOAL IS to start a group called "Coalition to Improve Public Safety," and form a board of directors, the letter said. Also, the municipalities would be required to sign a contract stating the purpose of the coalition and contribute funds to support the effort.

Canton Township's Board of Trustees discussed joining the group last week. Trustees agreed the issue should be reviewed by C. Gerald (Judd) Hemming township attorney, to determine if involvement would be legal before a final board decision is made. Poole recommended the board make a decision sometime this week.

The coalition membership cost for Canton would be roughly $7,000, which is based on population, according to a chart provided along with the letter to Poole.

"I support the coalition morally, but not to spend the taxpayer's money, because it would be spending the money to overturn Michigan law," said Trustee Stephen Larson. "I'm not sure we can take taxpayers' dollars and channel funds to overturn an existing state law."

Trustee James Bennett said that he has a contract with the authority to do that."

FIREFIGHTERS Local 2289 President Jim Davison said, "If they (Canton officials) want to get rid of (Act 312) they will open up the right for police and firefighters to strike."

Act 312 is "fair and equitable for everyone involved," said the Canton firefighter union.

Township officials have a different opinion about the act.

"One of the really bad parts about (Act 312) is that the arbitrator does not have the authority to compromise," said Trustee Loren Bennett. "They can't suggest, 'Well, why don't you try working on this figure.'"

"When you go to arbitration the arbitrator can only choose management's last offer or the union's last offer," he said. "I do know there is a strong sense (among township officials) of being against Act 312. It should not be a law that we have to live under, but whether that will transfer to the board's decision I don't know."

Lt. Larry Stewart, Canton's acting police chief, said, "The intent of that law was wholesome and good for both sides. What resulted were awards from the community's point of view, which might be beyond an ability to pay and beyond what could be considered reasonable."

"Police and firefighters by law can't strike, so the whole idea was to alleviate that."

FLUSHES CALORIES RIGHT OUT OF YOUR BODY
What makes Amitol so thrilling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe, it contains no drugs whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived solely from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.
Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss. Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.
And who can disagree? Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people "the most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, everywhere there are reports of easy and fast weight-loss from formerly overweight people (in all walks of life) who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.
Company Offers
Extraordinary Guarantee
You now can purchase Amitol direct from the North American distributor, and it comes with an extraordinary guarantee.
If you place your order now and then follow the simple instructions for a period of 30 days, you must be completely satisfied with the dramatic visible results or just return the empty container and your money. Amitol will immediately send back your entire purchase price. This guarantee applies regardless of your age or current weight level. What could be better than that? It's just that simple. If you've tried to lose weight before and failed you no longer have an excuse. Amitol is available, it's easy and it works without dieting!
$19.95 - 30 day supply, or $35.95 - 60 day supply. Order immediately by sending a check or money order to: DYNA LABS, 270 No. Canon Dr., Ste. 1255 (Dept. U-21) Beverly Hills, CA, 90210. Please don't wait. You really do deserve to be thin.

New Japanese 'Super Pill' Insures Rapid Weight-Loss

No Dieting - Eat All You Want, Pill Does All The Work
BEVERLY HILLS, CA - An exciting new "all natural" weight-loss "Super" Pill developed by the JMA (Japanese Medical Association) has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Reportedly, it can guarantee that you will lose more than a pound of fat without dieting from the very first day until you reach your ideal weight and figure. News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

COSTOCHONDRITIS
The term "costochondritis" is not a fancy medical word used to keep you from understanding your diagnosis. The phrase accurately describes a condition of inflammation of the ribs where they connect with the breast bone (the sternum). These junctions form joints which can be subject to many of the same types of irritation that may attack the fingers, shoulders and knees.
This rib arthritis is important because you feel it's pain in the chest near the heart. As a result, the chest of costochondritis can mimic a heart attack or lead you to believe a blood clot has reached your lungs. Furthermore the tension that costochondritis evokes in your breathing and chest muscles helps to intensify the attack and make differentiation from heart or lung disease difficult.
An episode of costochondritis is self-limiting; in time it will end without treatment. However therapy will accelerate recovery, and is undertaken usually by injection into painful areas at the junction of the ribs and sternum.
Like a number of arthritis conditions, costochondritis can occur suddenly, leave unexpectedly, and return with no warning. However recovery is inevitable, and there is no residual impairment to the heart or lungs.

Thunderfest rekindles memories for sports reporter

Many times when veteran newspaper folks get together over coffee the question is asked, "What was your toughest assignment?"

When The Stroller was asked the other day he had no trouble recalling an assignment he never can forget. Perhaps, it was because the annual speedboat races were on over the Detroit River course. But it was an assignment to cover a race in front of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club that is the toughest he ever had.

It was in the early '30s and Kaye Don, the British challenger for the famed Harnsworth trophy, who had capsized the year before, had the river course condemned. When he succeeded in that move he challenged Gar Wood again.

This time Gar, who never missed a trick, asked the government to select a course.

He was told that the water at the east side club was the smoothest at about 8 o'clock in the morning. So, that's when he decided to accept the challenge on the new course.

It sounded odd at the time. And the newspaper folks started to figure out how they could get there and be settled in time for the race.

So, here is what happened. The Stroller wrote his last advance story late in the afternoon before the race. It was for the first morning edition.

the stroller
W.W. Edgar

THAT DONE he went home and went to bed. To get the writers together, a press breakfast was scheduled at the Book Cadillac Hotel at 2 a.m. We were to have our coffee and then be taken with a special police escort out to the course.

Everything went fine until the breakfast was finished. Then we started with the police escort. We hadn't gone very far when it was seen that we were in trouble. The traffic was jammed as the spectators headed for the course.

When we got to Alter Road, out East Jefferson, the police decided they could take us no further. So, they made a right turn and we wound up at a small boat club. It was pitch dark. But they put us in 15-foot pleasure boats and we started the most fearful trip The Stroller ever had.

Our little boats were battling cruisers and freighters in the dark and there was no telling when we would be struck and possibly sent to the bottom of the river.

The late Dave Wilkie, then head of the Associated Press office in Detroit, had his typewriter on his lap and couldn't hold back the tears. He sobbed and prayed all the way.

And The Stroller was too scared to do anything but sit there and hope for the best. We were fortunate in that we got to the course at daybreak — a stunned group if ever there was one.

During the week prior to the race, we had covered the trial runs and the course seemed fine. But we never figured that we were going to be there in the dark with big freighters weaving in and out and endangering our lives.

Then to top things off, when the race got under way Gar Wood was forced to trail, lap after lap. Finally came the final lap and we had visions of Gar losing the trophy. But he ordered his mechanic to give her more gas, saying, "Let's win the race or go to hell trying."

The move decided the race. The Miss America shot to the front at a speed above 100 miles an hour and the famed trophy was kept in America.

It was a great morning — the toughest assignment the writers ever had and The Stroller never can forget it.

She differs with his view on education

To the editor:

(This is an open letter to Charles Zuzula in response to his letter of 7-1-85)

Sir, I believe you mixed your metaphors. I know for certain your facts are scrambled.

Private schools have a right to exist and be as competitive as they choose, so long as they are not failing to meet state criteria with regard to facilities, curricula and teacher certification.

These criteria exist for the protection of children for all the obvious reasons. Home schools are supposed to meet certain criteria too. Unfortunately, many do not.

Since you blame the public schools for all the evil destroyers of the nation, to whom do you give credit for the thousands of public school graduates who live credible lives and contribute significantly to society?

And wasn't it silly of us to "give" Panama a canal that we built? They act like it is their country in which the Panama Canal is located! So we profit-

When we resort to smashing someone's ribs and face with a rifle butt because we are "religious" and they are the infidel, we make a mockery of religion and we shame the very God we claim to worship.

The religious fanatics in this country who pray knows that prayer is a one-on-one process between the supplicant and God.

IT DOES NOT require a roomful of 30 others to take place. Religious zealots would have us believe they are concerned with religious freedom when all they really seek is the opportunity to convert children to their own dogma.

If we really want prayer in school, we have two options: (1) a private, church-affiliated school, which one will have to subsidize, or (2) a change in present law that will allow for all religious thought, including, but not limited to, Satan worship, spirit worship, Hinduism, Buddhism, Judaism, Islam, Catholicism, etc., ad infinitum.

The rest of the world does not view us as degenerates. We are still that glowing land of opportunity with all the hope embodied by the Statue of Liberty.

The real irony is not that our nation may be lost because of criminals and addicts so much as by illogical "Christians" who stand ready to force their creed upon us. May God forbid.

You are right when you say civilizations come and go. If you believe that God is everlasting, as I do, then why do you worry? Where is your faith?

Marilyn Rickard, Canton

Soccer club officers write

To the editor:

The Canton Soccer Club, which is the largest club in the Western Metro area with approximately 1,400 players and 92 teams, is not run by the recreation department as stated in your article on June 27, 1985. We are a completely independent club run by volunteers and parents.

Bonanza guidelines require that the various leagues publish the dates of their tryouts so that all players will have the opportunity to play more competitive soccer if they wish. Again, this is the choice of the parents and players to enter a more competitive and challenging situation.

You also failed to mention that approximately only 10 percent or less of the youth players are involved in Bonanza play. What about the other 90 percent of the children who play soccer in recreation leagues for the fun of it? What credit did you give to these leagues, clubs, volunteers and parents who put in endless hours of time so our youth may have fun, exercise, and the opportunity to play a team sport? Are these other players into drugs, crime, or trouble with the police?

To point out a problem within a large sport is very easy to do, but to try to give a sport a bad name because of a few people is totally unprofessional yellow journalism.

If you had ever taken the time to look at the expression of a 10-year-old boy or girl who just received their first trophy in a lower division team, you may have said some positive things about the sport.

Mr. Emons, may I suggest that you, in the future, utilize an old proverb that I have used for years: "Before you let mouth rattle on, make sure brain is in gear." In your case, let pen rattle on.

Jerry P. Gibbons, President, James W. Garrow, President-elect, Canton Soccer Club

Race director offers thanks

To the editor:

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department's 7th Annual Five Mile Run was a big success, and I would like to thank the businesses, organizations, individuals and staff who extended outstanding help and cooperation.

Bob Dates, Recreation Supervisor Canton

DINNERS FOR TWO

for special occasions

For an elegant dinner for two serve Special Occasion Salad, Veal Piccata and Chocolate Mousse Cups.

Most people think of spring as the time when robins return and flowers begin to bloom. The first sign of spring also brings newly picked crunchy radishes, fresh herbs and luscious berries straight from the garden. What better way to celebrate the arrival of spring than to create a special dinner for two. These two menus from the Kraft Kitchens include delicious dishes that will help you herald the return of the most delightful time of year.

ESPECIALLY ELEGANT DINNER

Bring out your best silver, crystal and candle sticks to set the mood for this very special dinner. To start things off, serve a crisp lettuce salad featuring fresh produce of the season with a chunky blue cheese dressing. Tender veal and pasta in a luxurious lemon wine sauce is the main course, and for the finale, Chocolate Mousse Cups.

SPECIAL OCCASION SALAD

- 1-1/2 cups torn lettuce
- 1 cup watercress
- 1/4 cup sliced radishes
- 1/2 cup apple slices
- chunky blue cheese dressing

Combine lettuce, watercress and radishes on salad plates. Arrange apples over lettuce. Serve with dressing. 2 servings.

Variations: Substitute Italian dressing for chunky blue cheese dressing. Sprinkle salads with 1/4 cup coarsely chopped walnuts.

VEAL PICCATA

- 1/2 lb. boneless veal, 1/4 inch thick
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- margarine
- 1/3 cup dry white wine
- 3/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 1/2 cup mushroom slices
- 2 tablespoons green onion slices
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 4 ozs. noodles, cooked, drained

Pound meat to 1/8 inch thickness. Combine flour, salt and pepper; coat meat. Sauté meat in 3 tablespoons margarine until lightly browned on both sides. Remove meat to serving platter; keep warm. Add wine, 2 tablespoons margarine and rind to skillet; reserve 2 tablespoons wine mixture. Add vegetables and parsley; cook until tender. Add noodles; heat thoroughly. Place meat over noodles; serve with reserved wine mixture. Garnish with lemon slices, if desired. 2 servings.

Variation: Substitute one chicken breast, split, boned, skinned, for veal.

CHOCOLATE MOUSSE CUPS

- 1/4 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 2 teaspoons margarine
- 1/2 cup miniature marshmallows
- 3 tablespoons milk
- 1/4 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
- 1 3-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
- 1 tablespoon orange flavored liqueur
- 1/2 cup thawed whipped topping with real cream

Melt chocolate pieces with margarine over low heat, stirring until smooth. Pour mixture into two paper baking cups. With back of spoon, spread chocolate mixture evenly up sides of baking cups. Refrigerate at least 1 hour.

Melt marshmallows, milk and chocolate pieces over low heat, stirring until smooth. Chill until slightly thickened; mix until well blended. Combine cream cheese and liqueur, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Beat in marshmallow mixture. Fold in whipped topping. Peel paper baking cups from chocolate cups. Spoon marshmallow mixture into chocolate cups; chill. 2 servings.

Variation: Substitute almond flavored liqueur for orange flavored liqueur.

CELEBRATION DINNER

To celebrate an anniversary or any other particularly important day, serve this light and colorful menu. Transform salmon steaks into something really memorable with a delicate soufflé topping and serve them with golden tarragon flavored rice. Express your love with Individual Strawberry Tortes and showcase the season's pick of the crop.

SALMON STEAK FOR TWO

- 3 tablespoons margarine, melted
- 1 tablespoon dry white wine
- 2 (1-1/2 to 2 lbs.) salmon steaks, 1 inch thick
- 1 egg white
- 3 tablespoons mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon green onion slices
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard

Combine margarine and wine. Place fish on greased rack of broiler pan. Broil 5 to 6 minutes on each side or until fish flakes easily with fork, brushing frequently with margarine mixture. Beat egg white until stiff peaks form. Fold in combined mayonnaise, onions and mustard. Spoon onto fish; broil until lightly browned. 2 servings.

Variation: Substitute halibut steaks for salmon.

RICE ELEGANTE

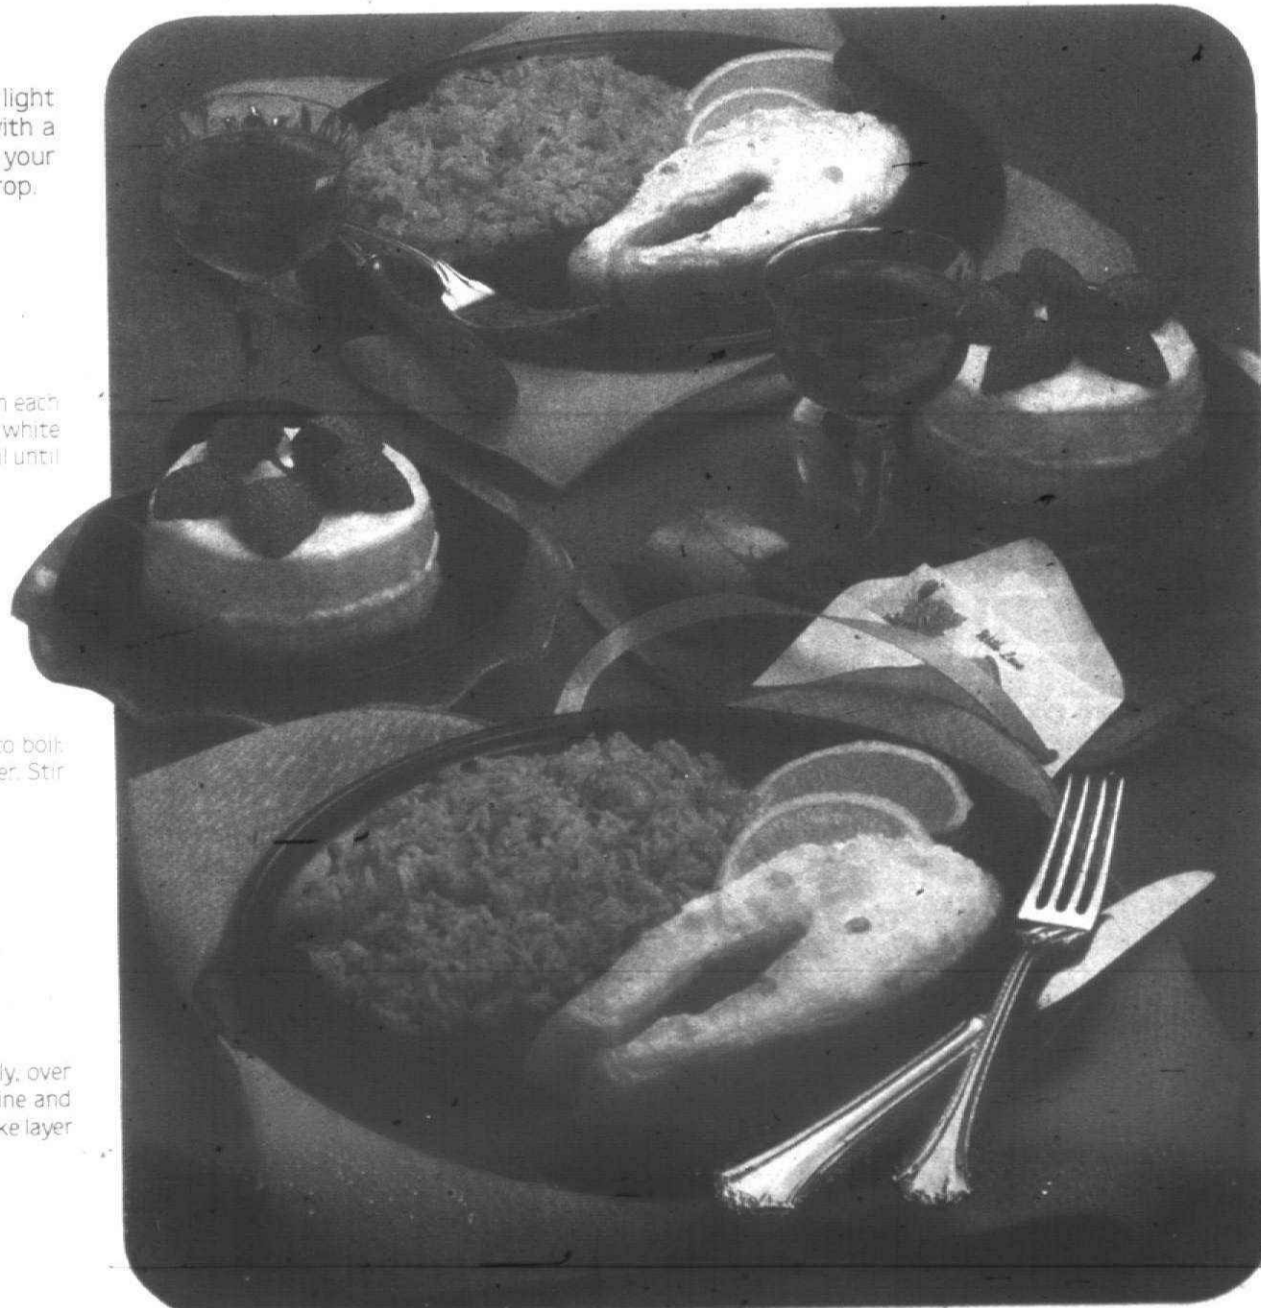

- 1/2 cup rice
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 1 cup water
- 1/2 teaspoon dried tarragon leaves, crushed
- Dash of pepper
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced celery
- 1/4 cup (1 oz.) grated parmesan cheese

In saucepan, sauté rice in margarine until lightly browned. Add water and seasonings; bring to boil. Cover; simmer 10 minutes. Add celery; continue simmering 15 minutes or until rice is tender. Stir in cheese. Serve with additional cheese, if desired. 2 servings.

INDIVIDUAL STRAWBERRY TORTES

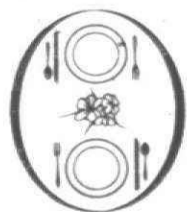

- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- Dash of salt
- 1-1/3 cups milk
- 1 tablespoon margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup thawed whipped topping with real cream
- 2 sponge cake dessert cups, split horizontally
- Strawberry halves

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan; gradually add milk. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat until mixture is thickened. Boil 1 minute. Remove from heat; stir in margarine and vanilla. Cool; mix until well blended. Fold in whipped topping. For each serving, spread each cake layer with cream mixture; stack. Top with strawberries. 2 servings.

Celebrate that special event in your lives with Salmon Steak for Two, Rice Elegante and Individual Strawberry Tortes.

Try one of these recipes for lip-smackin' ribs

Hickory-smoked ribs, hot 'n' spicy ribs, plain red-sauced ribs, onion-flavored red-sauced ribs, sweet-sauced ribs — no matter what your preference, "barbecued" ribs provide some of the best tasting, lip-smacking, finger-licking American food.

What exactly are "barbecued" ribs? Barbecue, according to the U.S.D.A., is a cooking method. They state that barbecue "shall be cooked by the direct action of dry heat resulting from the burning of hard wood or the coals there over."

Whether you eat them indoors at your favorite restaurant or outdoors in your backyard, ribs can be enjoyed all year. "Barbecued" ribs are a basic American food — simple and fun to eat.

But there are as many variations of ribs as there are chefs and home cooks. Each cook has their unique way to prepare the ribs and their own "secret" ingredients in their sauce. But there is nothing secret about the most essential ingredient — ribs themselves.

Wholesome, high-quality pork is the most popular meat for tender, tangy tantalizing barbecued ribs. The two most popular pork rib cuts are pork back ribs and spare ribs. The pork back ribs are cut from the blade and center section of the pork loin. They contain rib bones and meat between the ribs called finger meat. A whole back rib slab is about four inches wide.

MANY RESTAURANTS serve whole-slabs and half-slabs of ribs. They make a half-slab by cutting the whole slab lengthwise, through the rib bones. The result is two half-slabs, each about two inches wide.

A growing number of restaurants offer customers a portion of the back ribs which is not commonly available at your local meat market — baby back ribs. To locate the baby back ribs, start at the shoulder of the whole slab of back ribs. Ribs one through four are wide; ribs five through 12 are the thin baby ribs.

Two restaurants that serve these "Cadillac of ribs" are Carson's, Chicago, and the 1984 National Rib Cook-Off winner — Calhoun's, Knoxville, Tenn.

Some restaurants also serve spare ribs, which are not as meaty but just as tasty, as the baby back ribs. They come from the pork belly or side. A slab of spare ribs is about six inches wide and contains long rib cartilage and portions of the breast bone and diaphragm. Some retailers and restaurants, such as Leon's in Chicago, trim the breast bone off the spare ribs. They are commonly sold or labeled as "St. Louis-style" in the supermarket.

RIB SALES across the country are booming. Carson's sells 35,000 pounds of baby back ribs every week in its five restaurants. Calhoun's increased its ribs sales by 30 to 40 percent after it won the National Rib Cook-Off last August. They sell 11,000 pounds of baby back ribs each week in their single outlet. And Leon's sells 18,000 pounds of the spare ribs (St. Louis-style) in four Chicago outlets every week.

Once you've selected your favorite cut of pork ribs, it's time to get started cooking. Restaurants may choose from six different cooking methods for their ribs, but none is any better than another. There's the conventional oven method, the moist-dry method, smoking, pressure barbecue, re-cooking of pre-cooked ribs and broiling.

The methods that use moist heat provide cooked ribs with meat that "falls off the bones." Ribs cooked by dry-heat methods stick to the bone more readily and make a chewier rib. It's important not to overcook ribs, but they all should be cooked to an internal temperature of 170 degrees F.

THE VARIETY of sauces for ribs is even greater than the number of different cooking methods used to prepare them. Every region in the U.S. has their own taste preference. For example, in the Southwest they prefer a hickory smoke flavored sauce. Then in the South they like their ribs hot 'n' spicy. The Midwest, however, leans toward the more traditional "barbecue" sauce, sometimes flavored with onions.

In the North and Northeast, their conservative tastes are for a milder, sweet, but not sugar sauce.

It's difficult to pin down a chef as to the ingredients in his or her sauce. Calhoun's, for example, claims to have 21 to 22 different ingredients in their not-too-hot, not-too-thick, not-too-sweet sauce.

Whatever basic ingredients are used, the sauce is not basted on the ribs until they are about one-third through the cooking cycle. And for those ribs connoisseurs who prefer a heavy dose of sauce, an extra bowl of this tasty condiment is always served at the table.

To prepare award-winning ribs under your own broiler, or in your backyard, try the following recipes for All-American Pork Ribs or Smokey Molasses-Flavored Spare Ribs. To get the popular heavy smoke flavor for your ribs, the All-American Pork Ribs can be cooked in a water smoker. The Smokey Molasses-Flavored Spare Ribs get their flavor with the addition of liquid hickory seasoning to the sauce.

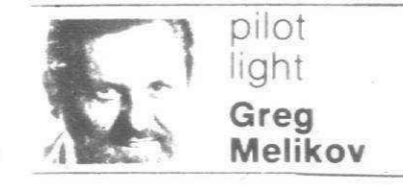

And to make your barbecuing even easier, the ribs can be pre-cooked in the microwave oven, and then basted with the sauce and finished under the broiler or on the grill.

However ribs are prepared, get your taste buds ready to sample the moist (or dry version) of the original frontier food.

ALL-AMERICAN PORK RIBS
Preparation time: 15 minutes
Cooking time: 45 minutes to 1 hour
3 pounds pork loin back ribs
1/2 tsp salt
1 small onion, coarsely chopped
2 tsp. water
1/2 cup catsup
1/2 cup chili sauce
1/2 cup ketchup

SMOKEY MOLASSES-FLAVORED SPARE RIBS
Preparation time: 15 minutes
Cooking time: 1 hour
3 pounds pork spare ribs (breast bone off), cut into 3 to 4 rib portions
1/2 tsp salt
Water
1 medium onion, finely chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
2 tsp butter
1 cup catsup
2 tsp light molasses
2 tsp lemon juice
1/2 tsp hot pepper sauce
1/4 tsp liquid hickory seasoning

Place spare ribs and salt in Dutch oven; add water to cover. Bring to a boil; reduce heat, cover tightly and simmer 30 minutes. Remove ribs from water; place on rack in broiler pan (or on grill top) so surface of meat is 5 or more inches from heat. Broil at low to moderate temperatures 30 to 35 minutes or until done, turning occasionally. Meanwhile cook onion and garlic in butter in medium saucepan 3 to 4 minutes. Brush both sides of ribs with sauce during last 10 minutes of cooking. Serve remaining sauce with ribs. 4 servings.
(Note: Recipe may be doubled.)

Use real Russian dressing on this Russian potato salad

I have eaten a ton of potato salads from many countries without leaving the United States. About the only place I have consumed the summer favorite overseas was while stationed in Bavaria, where I became an expert potato peeler, thanks to the Army.

During my I-don't-care-for-eggs period as a youngster, I snubbed the dish during outings in Greater Chicago. I once helped peel 100 pounds of potatoes on a strictly voluntary basis for a party in Texas, but only after my wife's sister dug up a left-handed peeler.

So you see I'm a journeyman when it comes to potato salad.

One of my favorites is French, which combines sliced boiled potatoes with chopped celery and shallots or green onion, salt and pepper, some vinegar and dry white wine, tarragon leaves and parsley, salad oil, chopped chives and even a sliced hard-cooked egg.

My all-time favorite is from my father's native land, even if he avoided potato salad the way he did Bolsheviki.

Naturally, Russian potato salad calls for Russian dressing. Otherwise, it's not much different. Oh, yes, it leaves out the eggs.

RUSSIAN POTATO SALAD
4 large boiled potatoes, peeled and cubed
1 medium onion, grated
2 tsp sugar
1 tsp salt
1/2 tsp celery seed
1/2 tsp black pepper
1/2 cup Russian dressing
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 tsp vinegar

2 cups diced radishes
1 1/2 cups diced celery
8 lettuce leaves

Place warm potatoes in large bowl and add onion, seasonings and Russian dressing; combine mayonnaise with vinegar and add. Chill. Before serving, toss with radishes and celery; add more dressing if desired. Serve on lettuce leaves. Serves 8.

REAL RUSSIAN DRESSING: 1 1/4 cups mayonnaise
1/2 cup finely chopped cooked beets
1 tsp drained prepared horseradish
1/2 tsp salt
2 tsp caviar (optional)

Combine all ingredients in small bowl; stir until well blended; cover and refrigerate at least 2 hours. Yields 2 cups.

Reduce size, not taste

Rowan is a staff member at the Nutrition Information and Resource Center in Penn State's College of Human Development. She suggests that dieters can continue to eat many of their favorite foods by making recipe changes to reduce the number of calories.

"For example, when making beef stroganoff, you can use low-fat yogurt instead of sour cream," she suggests. "The yogurt has only 140 calories per cup, while a cup of sour cream has 420 calories. Similarly, instead of using ricotta cheese in lasagna, try substituting low-fat cottage cheese, or tofu."

'Forum' theater party benefits Woman's Club

The Woman's Club of Plymouth has reserved the best seats in the house for its July 20 benefit theater party at the Birmingham Theatre.

The party is planned for the first Saturday performance of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." Jeffrey Bruce, whose appearances at local club fund-raisers have attracted full houses, is making his acting debut in "The Forum." He plays Pseudolus, the role Zero Mostel made famous on Broadway.

"The Forum" often is referred to as the funniest musical ever written. Admission to the benefit is $12.50 per person. Tickets are on sale at the Little Professor on the Park book store, Main Street, Plymouth. Mail orders will be filled until July 15 by writing to Jeffrey Bruce Tickets, 8866 Manton, Plymouth, MI 48170. Make checks payable to the Woman's Club of Plymouth.

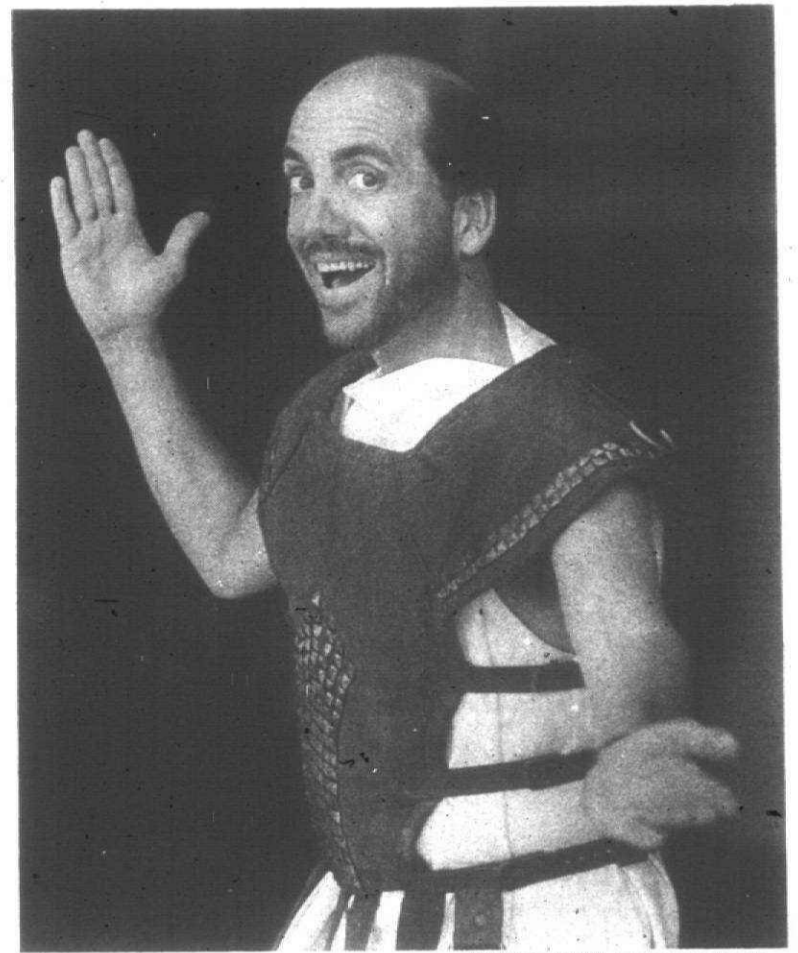

THE THEATER party will benefit the Woman's Club of Plymouth Scholarship Fund.

Preferred-seating tickets include an afterglow with Jeffrey Bruce and the cast, after the musical. Persons wishing more information may call Carole Hackett, 455-0074, or K.C. Mueller, 455-0075.

The benefit performance begins at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 20, in the theater, 211 S. Woodward Ave., Birmingham. Parking is plentiful east and west of the theater.

Theater-party benefits are not new to the Woman's Club of Plymouth, the community's oldest service organization. For years, the members arranged an early morning showing of a favorite film at the Penn Theater. Everyone met at Masonic Temple for Danish pastries and coffee before walking the few feet down Penniman Avenue to the Penn.

The evening event in Birmingham is a new venture. But it also is a new venture for the Birmingham Theatre. This is the first time the renovated theater has been open for summer productions.

Farmers Market winners take home the bread

Fresh baked bread, vegetables, flowers, bagels and a 25-pound watermelon were among the prizes awarded to Saturday morning shoppers at the Plymouth Farmers Market. Special winners were notified and told they could pick up their prizes at The Gathering on Penniman Avenue.

Prize winners were:

- Evelyn Olaszki, a loaf of home-baked bread from Carey's Baked Goods
- Don Vaughn, starter herb garden from Brookville Gardens
- Alan Kwizynski, one dozen assorted bagels from the Detroit Bagel Factory
- Marilyn Galatin, head of broccoli and head of cauliflower from Priepp Farms
- Bev Sharrow, double bouquet of fresh daisies from Sparr's Florist
- Stan Townsend, one pound of fresh shrimp from Fresh Catch Express
- Alice Wall, a 25-pound watermelon from Stan's Produce Market
- Dorothy Edwards, assortment of summer sausage and cheese of the week from Messina Cheeses
- Pat Carne, one perennial plant ($2 value) from Good's Nursery
- Dorothy Lybarger, half dozen croissants from the Cheese and Wine Barn

Special events at the market are arranged by La Friends Fitzgerald, market master, and attractions vary from Saturday to Saturday.

American Legion elects officers for 1985-86

Passage-Gayde Post 391 of the American Legion recently installed officers for the 1985 season.

John Censer will serve as commander; Bill Nicholas, senior vice and adjutant; Cornelius Van Boven, junior vice; Tom Cullen, finance officer; Robert Parks, chaplain; Steve Elmley, historian; Joseph Zyla, sergeant at arms; and Donnie Hartley, service officer and judge advocate.

The post is very active in the community. Anyone desiring assistance may call the Legion hotline, 453-9484, and leave a message, or write to: Post 391, P.O. Box 588, Plymouth, Michigan 48170.

A Success Story?

One of the highest priorities held by parents is the eventual success of their children. For many parents, putting a child through college is a means to help assure this success. Helping a child choose the correct college or university is one more way to secure that son or daughter's success. But how can parents provide the proper guidance?

Information is the key

There are literally hundreds of colleges and universities in this country alone. Not every school may be right for your children. What educational environment will best suit your son or daughter? Big School? Small School? Heavy competition? What are a student's chances of admission at the school of his choice? What schools offer comparable programs if your child is not accepted to his first choice?

We Have the Experience and Expertise to Help

John Concannon, founder and executive director of Concannon Educational Consultants, has nine years of admissions experience at one of the top universities in the nation. His combined solid academic planning and common sense approach has helped thousands of students make an informal, less stressful transition to college. Let him help make your child's education a success story.

Alpha Chi Omega marks Centennial

Alpha Chi Omega celebrated its Centennial year in late June when delegates from 117 collegiate chapters and 239 alumnae chapters and clubs met in Indianapolis, Ind. Delegates traveled from the convention site to Depauw University, Greencastle, Ind., where the organization was founded in 1885 by seven young women.

Alpha Chi Omega is a social sorority with chapters in the United States and Canada. Michigan chapters are at the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Northwood University, Albion College, Western Michigan University and Central Michigan University.

The sorority has supported the arts since 1911 through the Endowment of the Star Studio at the MacDowell Colony for the Arts in Peterborough, N.H. Faye Barnaby Kent Fellowships for Colonialists are provided. These are supported by the Alpha Chi Omega Foundation.

DETROIT AREA members of Alpha Chi Omega decided to make a centennial presentation to the Detroit Community Music School. Its extensive music education programs have been in operation since 1927.

The school, a member of the National Guild of Community Schools of Arts is accredited as a non-degree granting institution by the National Association of Schools of Music. This distinction has been bestowed upon only 12 other non-degree granting schools in the country.

The school is in the Detroit Cultural Center, 200 E. Kirby. Since 1984 it has been affiliated with the College of Arts and Design to form the Center for Creative Studies.

ALUMNAE members Justine Lohin of Canton Township and Marsha Livermore of Plymouth attended the presentation of mirrors and clocks for the school's practice studios. Darlene Kratochvil, Alumnæ Chapter, made the centennial presentation. Patricia De Loof, district alumnae chairwoman for the state of Michigan, also was in attendance.

After the program at the school of music, the Alpha Chis met at Jacoby's for dinner and installation of officers.

Virginia Koon of Canton Township was installed as vice president and Kathy Siarto of Plymouth as secretary. Livermore is co-rush chairwoman and Lohin will continue to serve as publications editor.

They'll study wildlife in Big Horn Forest

Kelly Wells and Ruby Monk, both of Canton Township, are spending two weeks near Ten Sleep, Wyo. Wells, a senior Girl Scout, and Monk, an adult volunteer, are representing the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. Girl Scout National Center West, The 14,000-acre site is bordered by Big Horn National Forest.

"Windows on Wildlife" is a national Scouting event for selected Girl Scouts from across the country. They will learn about wildlife management, field studies of plants and animals, and outdoor education techniques. Participants will explore canyons, caves, streams and mesas while hiking, horse-back riding and backpacking.

Her specialty is outdoor training and she anticipated increasing her knowledge and skills during her two-week stay in Wyoming.

KELLY WELLS is a Senior Girl Scout. She serves as a volunteer aide with Western County Therapeutic Recreation and as an assistant troop leader to handicapped girls in a Brownie troop.

"I hope to broaden my knowledge about wildlife and to share my experience to preserve and enhance the natural habitat of our council's Camp Crawford," said Wells.

She is the daughter of Robert and Delores Wells and is a student at Plymouth-Canton High School.

MONK SAID, "My main love in Girl Scouting is training. I'm always looking for new things to add to outdoor training program."

As an adult volunteer, she has served as a junior troop leader, a cadette leader and day-camp director. She serves as council trainer, day-camp advisor and as a member of the volunteer personnel committee.

Grandparents are Graham and Beal Laible of Plymouth and Glen and Barbara Mauro of Coits Neck, N.J. Great-grandparents are former Plymouth mayor, Bill Hartmann, and his wife, Lillian.

Grandparents are Helen and Walter Bates of Livonia and Georgann and Don Lankford of Taylor.

Craig and Mary Mauro of Portage announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Emily Gardner Mauro, April 30 at Bronson Methodist Hospital.

Fred and Kathy Bates of Buckingham, Canton Township announce the birth of their daughter, Sarah Kathleen, June 24 in St. Mary Hospital, Livonia. They have a son, Daniel, 4.

Their customers don't have to be homebound, their advertising states. Anyone who doesn't care to shop can arrange to have it done by the bag ladies.

They have to call one day in advance for Tuesday, Thursday or Friday afternoon delivery.

Plymouth and Plymouth Township residents should call 420-2527 or 455-7132 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. to place their orders.

They would feel awful if we had to discontinue the service to our existing customers," she said. "They have come to depend on us as an important part of their lives."

She said she took Small Business Administration courses to prepare for the business and got her accounting to the area Council on Aging provided the women with encouragement, she said.

"We tried to get the word out. But we probably made a mistake, limiting the service to Plymouth. We did that, to see how it worked here. But now I don't know, maybe we should have included a wider area, or maybe our prices are too high. But it gets very expensive when we have to go to other areas. We thought we would start small, but maybe that was a mistake," said Hillquist.

She got the idea for the service when she did some shopping for her mother-in-law.

The bag ladies, as they refer to themselves, believe there are many seniors in the Plymouth and Canton area who could use their services.

Bag ladies may fold

Plymouth's two bag ladies don't want to get bust.

Cindy Hillquist and Judy Shepherd have been carrying bags of groceries for the area's elderly since March, but they may be forced to fold if they can't get more business.

The two homemakers operate "The Shopping Basket," a grocery shopping service, from their homes.

They shop for the elderly or homebound at local supermarkets and deliver the groceries to their door, for a fee.

Eees are $3 for one to five items, $5 for six to 10 items, $7.50 for 11-15 items and $10 for 16-25 items.

"We thought it would be a wonderful thing," said Hillquist. "But it has been a disappointment. We have two customers in the same building. But we need at least 10 to continue."

Briefcase drill team

Plymouth's first briefcase drill team made a hit at the Fourth of July Parade. Slightly wilted after their practice sessions at the Cultural Center and their 1 1/2-hour wait for the start of the parade, they were quickly revived by the roar of the crowds and the applause. They were at their coordinated best for the march.

MSHL to flourish in 3rd season

Calgary's Rich Kromm (No. 22), evading a check from Red Wings Randy Ladouceur and Steve Yzerman during a game last season, is one of three pros skating in the MSHL this summer in Plymouth.

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Summer hockey returns to Plymouth this week as the Midwest Summer Hockey League, sponsored by Little Caesars and Chrysler-Plymouth, kicks off its third season at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

And according to league president A. J. Baker, the league has never been better.

"We feel very fortunate, and proud since we put an awful lot of hard work into it, that the league has improved one full fold in terms of the quality of players we have," Baker said.

Last year the league featured NHL players Richard Kromm (Calgary) and Wayne Presley (Chicago) as well as college standouts Mike Donnelly (Michigan State), and Jim McCauley (U-M). The MSHL sent four players to semipro teams in Sweden and earned four others scholarships to U-M Dearborn.

And Baker is confident this year's crop is even better.

KROMM, SON of former Detroit Red Wing coach Bobby Kromm, will return to the league this year.

Joining him from the pro ranks are Mark Hamway of the New York Islanders' Springfield farm club and Ted Speers, the MVP of the Red Wings' Adirondack farm club.

From the college ranks, Donnelly, the MSHL's leading scorer a year ago, returns. Also, Ken Stelmach (Ferris State), Rick Osburn and Chuck Irwin (U-MD), Paul Kobylarz (U-M), Tim O'Connor (U-M), Troy Thrun (Western), Rick Tosto (RPI) and Kerry Kennedy (Bowling Green).

Baker has also brought home American players playing in Europe: Gordie MacDougall (Scotland), George Baker (Sweden) and Rich Hutchinson (Sweden).

But what will make the league so much tougher this year, Baker said, is the influx of talented high school and junior players. For the first time, the league had to hold tryouts and make cuts.

hockey

The league has garnered the best players without turning its back on the local players.

Representing Plymouth are such standouts as Tony Esser, Steve Norton, Steve Geelhood and Joel Koviak. From the Observer & Eccentric area are the likes of Jim Kowalski and Tim Olschanski (Livonia Franklin), Mark Tardish and Brian Gimotty (Country Day), Jeff Temple (Livonia Stevenson), Rick Robitaille and Ed Shepler (Livonia Churchill), Dan Lambert and Ray Nagy (Cranbrook) and many others.

"OUR GOALS are still the same as they were when we started," Baker said. "The league gives the younger players a chance to showcase their talents in front of college and pro scouts. And, it gives the older players a chance to get in shape in an environment where they can feel safe, where they know there won't be any cheap shots coming at them."

Baker also hasn't lost sight of the reason he began the MSHL: To increase public recognition and support for amateur hockey and to help support Special Olympics. The MSHL has raised $1,000 in each of the last two years for Special Olympics.

The 1985 season began Sunday and will carry on through Aug. 12. The eight-team league is divided into two divisions, the Bakes and the Tex.

Baker and his assistants will shuffle rosters throughout the season to keep the teams balanced.

The season will culminate with a summer league regional playoff in Chicago with teams from Illinois, Minnesota and Missouri.

Three games were played Sunday. Tonight, the Huskies play the Lakers at 8 p.m. On Tuesday, the Falcons and Broncos square off at 7:30 p.m. followed by the Wolverines vs. the Bulldogs.

Krumm hurls Adray 9 into 1st place deadlock

By Robert McElhane special writer

Livonia Adray's Todd Krumm managed to cool off hot hitting Walter's Appliance Wednesday in a Livonia Collegiate Baseball League (LCBL) showdown at Ford Field, hurling a five-hitter and striking out six as Adray prevailed, 7-1.

"I threw them a lot of breaking stuff which kept their hitters off balance," said Krumm, who raised his record to 4-0. "They were waiting for the fastball and the key was to get ahead of them on the count."

Adray coach Stu Rose, taking over managerial duties for the vacationing Ron Heller, solidifying Krumm and said his team is solidifying.

"Krumm was able to hold down a good hitting team," said Rose. "We're an improving club and people will have to take us a little more seriously."

Krumm surrendered just one unearned run, which Walter's scored in the first inning to grab an early lead.

baseball

sladis' ground out and came home when Adray third baseman Dave Austin threw wildly to third.

Three hits, two walks, a hit batsman and two errors helped Adray to a five-run fourth inning, giving Krumm a comfortable working margin.

Krumm, a football/baseball letter winner at Michigan State, helped start the surge by drawing a walk. He advanced to second on a stolen base and raced home when teammate Pete Rose reached base safely on an error.

Rose also stole second and moved to third on a throwing error by Walter's catcher Dave Donigan. Greg Kuzia walked and Bill Ulle poked a single to right field, scoring Rose with the go-ahead run as Kuzia moved to second.

Austin followed by hitting into a force play at third.

loading the bases.

Tim Michalik then was hit by a pitch, forcing Ulle home. Deron White followed with a double down the left field line, scoring Austin and Bushart to make it 5-1.

Ulle later said he was only looking to make contact with the ball to bring home Rose.

"I just wanted to get the run in," explained Ulle, who came into the game hitting 486. "I went with the pitch. Right now I'm seeing the ball real well."

A 380-foot homer over the left-center field fence by Rose in the fifth inning made the score 6-1. Adray closed out the scoring in the sixth on a suicide squeeze bunt by White, scoring Austin.

"SEMIK GOT THE BALL up in the fourth inning," said Walter's manager Mike Keller, whose team fell to defeat for only the fourth time this season. "Krumm did a nice job of keeping our hitters off balance and Adray had its hitting shoes on today."

Going into Sunday's action, Walter's and Adray are in a deadheat for first place with identical 15-4 records. Adray also beat the Livonia Angels on Wednesday, 11-1.

Todd Krumm led West Bloomfield High to the state Class A baseball title in 1983 and is trying to do the same this summer for Livonia Adray in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League (LCBL). The right-hander kept Walter's off balance Wednesday, tossing a five-hitter in a 7-1 victory.

Caesars stays in chase by bouncing Garden City

Don Taylor's two-run single in the sixth inning keyed a five-run outburst as Redford Little Caesars broke open a close game and went on to beat Garden City, 10-4, in Livonia Collegiate Baseball League (LCBL) action Wednesday at Capitol Park.

Pitcher Rob McCamant, who went the first 5 1/2 innings and allowed only one run, took the win. Mike Harte finished up.

The win keeps Caesars (15-5) one-half game behind co-leaders Walter's Appliance (15-4) and Livonia Adray (15-4).

"Garden City, fighting for the fourth and final LCBL playoff spot with Westland Federation and Northville, got two hits from Len Pinkowski.

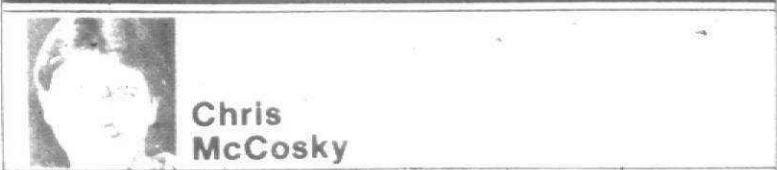

LIVONIA ADRAY, fresh from beating Walter's in the first game of a double-header Wednesday at Ford Field, buried the last place Livonia Angels in the nightcap, 11-1, in five innings (mercy rule).

Dave Austin, Jeff DePorter, Dennis Bushart and Pete Rose each collected two hits for the winners. Austin, DePorter and Bushart also drove in two runs each.

Jeff Price, the Adray starter, held the Angels scoreless over the first three innings to pick up the victory. Kevin Harrah finished up.

Oh, the decisions of sports-fatherhood!

HEY CHRIS, did your wife have the baby yet?" "Geez, have you been in Beirut for the last month, or what? Yes, we had our child May 31."

"Well, tell me the vitals."

"Bats left, throws right, spits up a lot."

"No, stupid. Is it a boy or girl? What did you name it?"

"It's a boy, Ryan Christopher."

"So, how does it feel to be a father?"

"I like it so far."

"WHAT'S YOUR biggest fear?"

"That he'll grow up to look like his father."

"Be serious."

"That he'll grow up to look like Mick McCabe."

"Come on."

"OK, my biggest fear is that he'll grow up to be a soccer player."

"What?"

"Well, it's not really my biggest fear. But, this is a sports column."

"What's wrong with soccer?"

"I don't know, I don't have anything against soccer players really. I mean, you take Brian Timman, Gus Moffatt, Mary Kay Hussey, Gene Fogel they are all soccer players and I like them a lot. They are great people. I don't even mind covering soccer, too much."

"So, what's the problem?"

"I would just rather Ryan be a baseball player, or a basketball player, or even a football player. I don't know, somewhere in the back of my mind I have this image of soccer as a communist sport where the fans riot and kill each other. It used to be that a park was where you played baseball in the summer. You ever tried to play baseball at Bicentennial Park in Livonia? The place is crawling with little soccer kids. Everywhere you look you see those yellow goal posts, they look like mangled golden arches from McDonald's."

"Boy, are you going to get some nasty letters."

"I HOPE not. Everybody has their favorite and least favorite sports. Soccer is my least favorite contemporary sport. That's all. I have nothing against the game. Nobody covers soccer better than we do at the Observer. And I admit, some of my most precious memories from covering local sports are of watching Hussey, Andy Rama, Sue Ferguson, John Gemis and Annette Ruggiero play soccer. I'd just rather Ryan played baseball."

"I've got another question for you. What if Ryan doesn't like sports at all?"

"What?"

"What if the kid takes up ballet?"

"That would be fine. I'm not going to push him into anything. I'm not going to be like Brooke Shields' mom, for crying out loud."

"Somehow, I don't believe you."

"Why? Just because I enjoy sports doesn't mean I would force it on my kids. My dad was heavily into sports and he never pushed me into them. He just exposed me to them and I liked them. That's what I'll do for Ryan, I'll expose him to baseball, to football, to basketball, I'll even show him gymnastics and swimming and golf. Soccer he'll have to find out about himself."

"ALL RIGHT, LET'S go further with this. You say you'll expose him to baseball. If you could pick any coach in the area, who would you have teach him baseball?"

"Oh, man, you want to get me killed. I name a coach and all the others call me up wondering what's so bad about the way they coach."

"No, no. Just say who you would want, given the choice, to teach Ryan baseball."

"All right. But let me say, up front, that I would be glad if any of the coaches we deal with would take the time to teach my kid the game."

"Geez, you sound like a politician. Pick one and quit worrying about everybody's feelings."

"I guess it would have to be Fred Crissey of Plymouth Canton. He is the best at communicating what he knows to young people. And you get the idea that he truly cares for the players he coaches."

"What about basketball?"

"Boy, Salem's Fred Thomann comes first to mind, but he's only coaching girls. Same goes for Larry Baker at Mercy and Ed Kavanaugh at Ladywood. Bob Blohm comes to mind, but he's not coaching at all. Neither is Dave VanWagoner. Can I pass on basketball?"

"NO, PICK somebody."

"Thanks. All right. I'm taking my kid up to Highland Park to let Glen Donahue show him the game. One thing's for sure, Glen will teach Ryan to have fun playing it."

"Football."

"This one is easy. John Herrington and Bob Sutter from Farmington Harrison. I'd want both of them. Herrington to teach Ryan how to play the game and Sutter to teach him how to be tough, how to become a grubber."

"What about you? Aren't you going to teach him anything?"

"Of course, I'm going to teach him that there's more to life than just sports."

"Funny guy."

• ARM WRESTLERS GRAPPLE AT LIVONIA MALL TOURNEY

Competitive arm wrestling arrives Saturday, July 27 at the Livonia Mall with the running of the Michigan Classic Grand Prix.

The Grand Prix event is one in a series of Lite Beer regional competitions for local participants, sanctioned by the World Professional Armwrestling Association (WPA), and held in major cities in the U.S. and Canada, culminating with the 1985 WPAA Championships in September at a designated midwest city.

There will be competition in five mens divisions: featherweight, 144 pounds and under; lightweight, 145-169; middleweight, 170-194; light heavyweight, 194-219; and heavyweight, 220 and above.

Womens divisions include lightweight (144 and under) and open.

Registration is from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. the day of the event. Competition begins at 1 p.m.

The $10 entry fee goes toward the champion's pool, a T-shirt and trophies for the winners and runners-up.

For more information, call Livonia Mall marketing director Deborah Wanamaker at 476-1186.

Shumate scores

Troy Shumate of the Livonia Spartan Aquatic Club was a perfect nine-for-nine recently in an age-group swim meet held at Cleveland State University of Ohio.

Winning all nine events he entered, Shumate won high-point honors for boys 11-12.

He captured the 50-meter freestyle, 100 freestyle, 200 freestyle and 400 freestyle, along with the 50 and 100 butterfly, the 50 and 100 backstroke and the 200 individual medley.

Not to be outdone was teammate Michele McKenzie, who qualified for next month's National Junior Olympics in Alabama. Competing in the girls 15-16 age division, McKenzie qualified for the nationals by finishing second in the 400 freestyle.

She also won the 200 breaststroke, finished second in the 200 and 1,500 freestyle, third in the 100 and 800 freestyle, second in the 200 breaststroke and eighth in the 200 backstroke.

Dr. Mashike has corrected these symptoms in many people without drugs. The procedure is as follows:

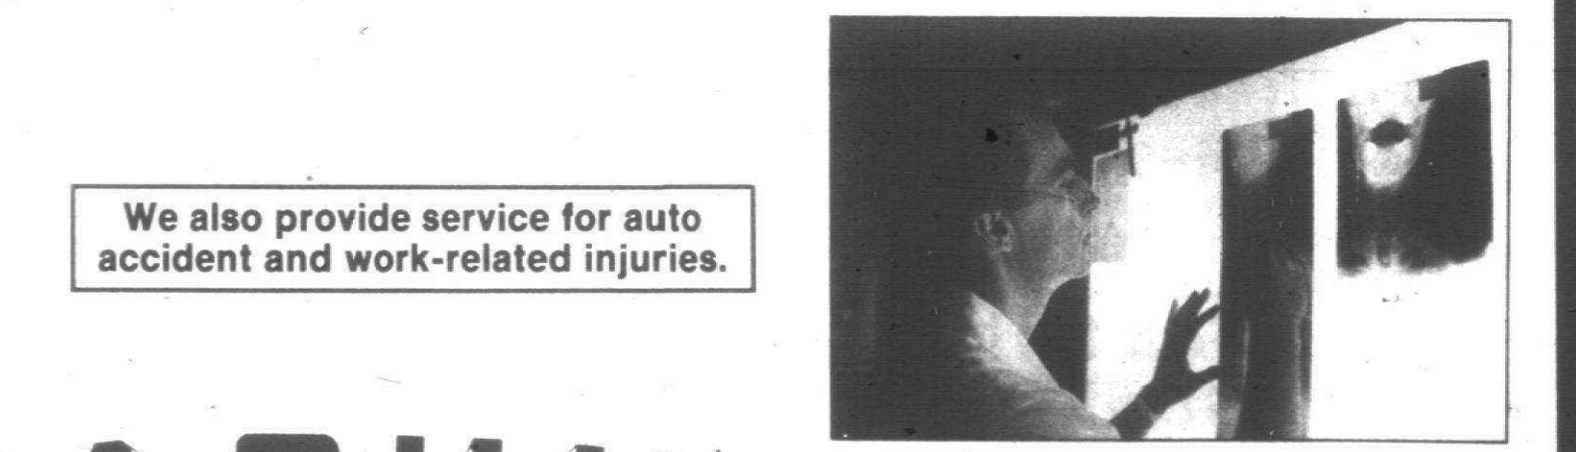

1. Each vertebrae of the spine, when out of position, usually causes a certain symptom to appear.
2. The spine is analyzed to find misplaced vertebrae (subluxated vertebrae).
3. These subluxated vertebrae are adjusted into place, unblocking nerve fibers.
4. When pressure is removed from nerve fibers, the tissue or organs they supply are regenerated and return to normal.
5. When the tissue or organs are normal, symptoms are alleviated.

If you have these symptoms, we suggest a spinal examination to find the underlying cause of the problem.

For a spinal examination call 459-0200.

'Back to the Future' cleverly transports teenager into past

Stop and think. What would you do if modern technology flung you back 30 years in time where you meet your father-to-be as he is (was?) about to be smeared by the school bully?

If you don't save soon-to-be dear old Dad, your father and mother may never marry. That leaves you without a future. Like zero, friend, so you'd better get cracking.

In "Back to the Future" Marty McFly (Michael J. Fox) is a capable young teenager, circa 1985. His mother, Lorraine (Lea Thompson), specializes in nipping and nagging. She hits the bottle before, during and after she scolds father George (Crispin Glover), who is the king of the wimps.

Then, there's brother Dave (Marc McClure), barely able to hold his fast-food restaurant job and sister Linda (Wendie Jo Sperber), about whom the less said the better, unless you like whining, indolent slobs.

HOW DID MARTY wind up as the only nifty character in this misfit family?

Time travel and the unconventional scientific genius of Dr. Emmet Brown (Christopher Lloyd) did it all.

"Traveling back in time with Marty is a trip you'll like. "Back to the Future" is a well-crafted vehicle with accomplished travelers who make the voyage enjoyable.

One of the most striking elements of this production is its relative simplicity. While there are some rather conventional glowing blue spots, thunder, lightning and a good deal of screeching tires, the now obligatory multi-million-dollar special-effects extravaganza is happily absent.

"Back to the Future" relies instead on a thoughtful script, effective settings and excellent performances.

Time travel has been the subject of many stories, sometimes clever and thought-provoking, sometimes dull and pedestrian, because of the ways in which the stories are told.

"BACK TO THE FUTURE" is a simple but clever rendition of a basic time-travel dilemma: How do you get home without destroying your own future? The answer in this script, while cleverly playing on 1955 cultural trends from a 1985 perspective, is the crux of the film's dramatic action.

The 1955 settings are effectively authentic and the nifty-Fifty cars are very convincing. The persuasive small-town American environment of 30 years backdrops well-written lines — but that's only half the battle. Excellent performances by everyone in sight, particularly the principals, make "Back to the Future" a potential challenger to "E.T.'s" box-office supremacy.

For performers in their 20s, roles of 17-year-old high school students are not all that taxing. But playing those same two characters 30 years later is no mean achievement. As mom and pop McFly, Thompson and Glover perform with great flair.

Emphasizing those two actors should not slight the other excellent performances including the first mad scientist I've ever seen with depth to his character. Christopher Lloyd's Dr. Brown is a warm, humorous, funny human being and not just another crazy-tinkering in the basement.

Christopher Lloyd is Doc Brown, who invents a machine that lets McFly travel backwards in time where he tries to keep his past on course.

Bigger producers may be better

wine

Richard Watson

The more blending choices, the better potential the blend has, presuming that it is done with skill and knowledge. The basic blend can be changed time and time again until it exactly meets the intended specifications of its maker.

Big also brings the unit cost to the consumer down as well, but that is another column, one that probably will not be written. Schumacher may need a little rethinking in winemaking of the sparkling kind. However, when applied to cars he's still on safe ground.

I generally have a hard time reading the winery newsletters that are sent to me. They tend to be highly self-serving, promotional and, perhaps above all, rather dull. And there are a lot of them. Often I get two or three in a day in the mail. I have no idea how many there are now in all. Today, for example, I received Quail Ridge and one from Caswell Winter Creek Farm and Vineyard. Yesterday it was Hop Kili. I did a column about three years ago, promoting the things, and gave out the addresses of all that I knew about at that time. There were then about a dozen being printed regularly. Today it seems that most of the major producers have one, and many of the smaller ones as well (Caswell Winter Creek Farm). I am also sure that there are many that I do not receive.

A few of them are pretty good, but not many. Bob Travers of Mayacamas is most entertaining, and Sebastian's is excellent, the latter showing a real attempt to inform us. Since it is getting to be that way, too, to its credit, and sometimes Domaine Chandon's is good, though terribly chatty (I won't name all the dull ones).

ALL OF THIS by way of introducing the recent Chandon newsletter (Summer 1985) as the inspiration for this column. It develops an idea that has a great deal of merit, one that I had never thought of before, one worth reporting back to you.

The opening point of the article reviews our fascination with, and belief in, the virtue of smallness in the wine industry. (It is called "With Apologies to E.F. Schumacher.") We cherish small wineries, small barrels and little old winemakers. The 5,000-case-a-year winery, by definition, makes better wine than the industrial giant, or so the thinking goes.

The Chandon article endeavors to refute this in the world of sparkling wines. Here, a point is made that I believe to be true: The large-scale producer, whether in France or California, has the advantage because the best of the world's sparkling wines are from blends of different kinds of grapes. Further, these are blends of different batches of the same grape.

The small producer will have only so much pinot noir available, so much chardonnay or pinot blanc. There may be one or two batches of each, but rarely more. Blending is restricted to a small handful of choices.

Further, there will be no wine held back from previous vintages to add complexity. The small producer, however fine his wine and skills may be, has fewer blending options.

THE GIANT, on the other hand, will have tank after tank from which to choose to make the final blend. There is an advantage to volume.

What the Chandon article fails to develop, however, is why blending in the making of sparkling wine especially is essential. Its grapes are harvested much earlier than those of table wines (usually at about 18 brix rather than 22 or 23), well before intense sugars and fruit flavors are well developed.

The resultant wine is extremely tart, light, delicate and undimensional. Such simplicity and delicacy cries out for enhancement, both from yeast and from the flavors from other grapes. Three kinds of grapes may be used, and different batches are employed as well as younger and older wines.

Because the blended and basic wine is so delicate and light, the impact of any added wine on the total will have greater impact than, say, it would with a rich, full, highly fruity chardonnay or zinfandel harvested full and mature with assertive flavors. Without blending, good sparkling wine is less interesting and the winemaker is more dependent on the quality of that cuvee and/or that vintage.
