The Canton Connection

HATS OFF to William Nowland of Canton. Nowland has been named coordinator of rehabilitation services at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. Since working at St. Mary 1981-83 as a staff physical therapist, Nowland has served as assistant director and director of physical therapy at three area nursing homes. He earned a master's degree in business administration at Oakland University.

CANTON CRICKETS are being welcomed back to pre school. Sessions for 3-4 year-olds, Sept. 9 to Jan. 31, are slated for 9:30-11:30 a.m. Monday-Friday and 1-3 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. The fee is $60 for a 19-week, one-day session. Crafts, low-organized games, story and snack time, and special events are featured in the Canton Parks and Recreation Department program. Register during business hours at the recreation department in the Canton Township Administration Building. For more information, call 397-1000.

KATHRYN RITTERMANN of Canton, a licensed practical nurse, is among three nurses to have received national recognition for her professional abilities. Employed at Ann Arbor Veterans Administration Medical Center, Rittermann was selected from the medical center's 300-member nursing staff "based on peer evaluation of clinical skills, dedication to patient care, research activities and education," said Dorothy Jenkins, chief of nursing service at the facility.

VOLUNTEERS age 61 or older who wish to use their skills and experience to help others are being sought by Catherine McAuley Health Center. After completing a training session sponsored by the center and the University of Michigan Turner Clinic, volunteers will become peer counselors. They will help their senior citizen friends and neighbors cope with some of life's frustrations, obtain medical information and care. Peer counselors meet once a month for training and to volunteer their time in whatever way their skills and capabilities allow. To volunteer or request more information, call the Ann Arbor volunteer office at 572-3016.

TALLIES ARE IN for the cost to Canton Township for hosting the 1985 Mayflower Hotel Balloon Festival. Township officials listed the net cost at $13,198.56. Canton was home base for the event for the first time this year, and trustees said they hope the event, thought to attract patrons to local businesses, will return to the community in the future. Supervisor James Poole said the expense this year is higher than what would occur in the future, because of "start-up costs." Next year he estimated the expense at $8,000 or $9,000. Poole also suggested seeking reimbursement from businesses that greatly benefited from the event. "I think some of the clear profit should be returned to the township," Poole said.

IN MEMORY OF BART BERG the township board last week passed a resolution to dedicate the pavilion next to the Historical Museum on Canton Center Road to Berg who served as the historical society president until April 1985 when he died. Hagbard (Bart) Berg was known as Canton's founding father and was actively involved in many township committees.

Millage caps set by board

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Canton trustees have established caps on three township millage levies. The actual tax rates will be set in September and go into effect in December, 1985 in time for the winter tax bills.

The new limits would allow the township's total millage to be 2.01 mills higher than what was levied last year, up from 9.13 to 11.14.

Trustees juggled millage figures in the three budgets — the general fund, and the fire and police funds. It's part of a move to sidestep an expected loss of approximately $450,000 in state-shared revenues.

Portions of the funds from the general fund will be allocated to the fire and police funds.

Police and fire funds are ineligible to receive state shared revenue but general funds are eligible for the state money. The switch is expected to reap Canton $300,000 in state shared revenue that would have been lost had the mills been left for the police and fire funds.

"It's a matter of semantics," said Canton Treasurer Gerald Brown. "We're playing word games with the government."

IN 1984 THE general fund millage was only at two, the fire fund at 3.06 and police fund at 4.07.

Last week board members unanimously approved setting caps of five mills for the general fund, 1.76 mills for the fire and 4.38 mills for police. Due to the figure juggling, the general fund's millage really represents about 1.5 mills each for police and fire.

Commander thrives on challenge

By Jean Adamczak
staff writer

A career with the United States Coast Guard is not all surf, sun and fun.

Just ask any one of the 51 crew members aboard the Coast Guard

Cutter Mariposa.

"It's tough work, but it's rewarding," remarked one of the crew members during a recent cruise.

"It can be a lot of fun, but it also can get really cold out on the lakes in the winter months."

Stationed at the Coast Guard's Mt.

Elliott Branch in downtown Detroit, the Mariposa is a 180-foot sea-going buoy tender. The primary mission of the Mariposa and her crew is to repair and maintain 177 navigational buoys.

The area covered by the ship extends from the lower Detroit River through Lake Erie and Lake Ontario to the western entrance of the St. Lawrence River.

The seven officers and 44 enlisted men who comprise the Mariposa's crew work year-round on the ship.

Baby sitter to be tried for 2nd degree murder

By Marie Chestney

The severity of injuries to a 14-month-old baby led 16th District Court Robert Brzezinski Friday to bind Michelle Mackey, 24, over for trial on a second-degree murder charge.

In a continuation of Mackey's pre-trial exam, Dr. Ian Hood of the Wayne County Medical Examiner's Office testified Lyndia Hubbard of Canton Township died from injuries received after her head hit a broad flat surface. Hood testified the baby suffered both external and internal injuries to the front and back of her head.

These included two skull fractures to the back of her head and at least 12 bruises to her face and head, the doctor testified. Over the objections of defense attorney Leo Gilhool, Brzezinski also admitted into evidence a statement Mackey signed around 8:30 p.m. July 24, just two hours after the child was pronounced dead at St. Mary's Hospital.

Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a continuing series of stories on land use in Canton.

Excluding genuine clairvoyants, the people with the best insight on future development in Canton Township are planning commission members who meet regularly to mull the community's fate.

land use

Targeting the western portion for large multi-acre residential lots, bringing to reality dreams of creating a downtown locale and drumming Canton up as the ideal community for developers are the major issues cited by commission members John Burdziak, Richard Kirchgatter, Edward Portschell, Richard Palmer, Catherine Prince, Loren Bennett and Robert Shefferly.

An update of Canton's master plan — also known as a future land use plan which sets long term goals for the community — has been on the commission's drawing board for years and is expected to be completed within a "few" months.

Recent deaths and resignations have taken their toll on Canton's talented leadership.

In roughly a year the township has lost, among others, its longtime clerk John Flodin; community leader Bart Berg; planner Jim Kosteva; finance director Mike Gorman; and grants coordinator Terry Carroll.

Suzanne Skutnick, community affairs and program director of Omnicom Cablevision, announces the programming facilities and operations will be shut down the entire week of Aug. 25 to conduct some much-needed maintenance and to allow for some in-house refresher training courses for the staff and interns.

"We hope our public access users and our viewing public will understand the need for this weeklong shut-down of our operations. Our closing of programming does not affect the rest of Omnicom operations. All sales, customer service, and technicians will be working their usual schedule during that week — only programming will be closed to the public."

The shut-down means there will be no airing of programs on Channel 15 or Channel 8 or Family Home Theater. Regular programming will resume the week of Sept. 2.

Library director writing last chapter on her stay in Canton

Flodin died last October. Berg died last spring. Kosteva was elected state representative for the 37th District in November. The rest have gone on to new career challenges.

Canton can now add its public library director to the list of those leaving the township to accept other opportunities.

Deb O'Connor, who transformed Canton's library from an idea to a 70,000-volume, widely-respected facility, has been active in the regional library community as well as in the Canton community. Somewhere making the time outside working hours, O'Connor has served as Canton Country Festival president, parade chairman and in a variety of capacities with local organizations.

The 34-year-old O'Connor will become assistant director of the Geauga County Public Library near Cleveland, Ohio beginning next month. She sought the post after husband Pat O'Connor was promoted and transferred by his firm, Pioneer Standard, Inc.

While the four-year Canton resident "is looking forward to this new position," she does so with conflicting emotions.

"I have made many friendships here and worked with many people with common values, and I will always treasure their friendship," said O'Connor, selected 1984 Woman of the Year by the Canton Business & Professional Women — an organization she currently serves as president.

"I feel that I am very fortunate to have had an opportunity to have been instrumental in providing much-needed and well-received public library service in Canton. I feel Canton residents deserve no less than the best. I have enjoyed my stay in Canton — I have admired many people, most particularly the Canton Library Board which has always worked to provide the very best for Canton," she said.

O'Connor's first days on the job in 1979 were spent on the empty third floor of township hall.

The library millage passed in May, 1979. I interviewed for and became head librarian of an independent library in June. It seems like yesterday, O'Connor recalled. They installed me in the third floor with a desk, a chair, a telephone, paper and pencil and said, "Go about the business of setting up a library."

I hired a designer, decided how to use the floor space, entered into a lease with the township, bought books and equipment, hired a staff and designed all systems and all policies.

I think I was one of the youngest people (at 28) who ever got the chance to start a library. It was a tremendous responsibility that could never have been done without the library board.

If O'Connor is spreading thin the credit for the young library's success, Supervisor James Poole isn't.

"Deb has done a tremendous job for the library," said Poole. "She's been a real positive asset as far as coming up with ideas and recommendations. She's probably one of the most chautauistic and civic-minded people I've ever met."

"She not only believes in her community, but has put time where her mouth is and devoted a lot of time to the community. The BPF, the Canton Country Festival, the Chamber of Commerce, and untold hours to promote the library and their various programs. I don't think anyone will realize how much she's done until she's been gone six months or a year," added the supervisor.

O'Connor came to Canton well-qualified. She'd worked as regional librarian for the Wayne County Regional Library for the Blind, and as acting head librarian during a three-year stay at the Plymouth Library before that.

Since earning under graduate and graduate degrees at Wayne State University, O'Connor has been active with the Women's National Book Association, the Salvation Army Canton Advisory Committee, the Detroit Suburban Librarians' Roundtable, the Wayne Oakland Library Federation Automation Council, the Michigan Library Association, and the American Library Association. The Melvindale High School graduate and her husband worked for the Archdiocese of Detroit's program for engaged couples before moving to Canton nearly five years ago.

Canton taxpayers will continue to get a bang for their buck, thanks to the library board, says O'Connor.

"I think that because Canton is a relatively young community, that it is still looking to establish its identity. I feel that a strong public library has given people something to be proud of in Canton when they speak about their community to their friends and relatives."

"I think strong community activities and events like the Canton Country Festival can help to promote a sense of community pride which Canton so richly deserves. I hope that I have assisted in the development of a strong Canton, and I will always be proud to have been part of Canton's history."

Maximum limits set on millage rate for police, fire, general funds

With these caps, the total maximum millage rate that could be levied for this year's winter taxes is 11.14, a 22-percent increase in millage from last year.

"The overall millage increase of 2.01 is needed for increased costs for salaries, fringe benefits and operating expenses in the police and fire departments," said John Spencer, newly-appointed finance director.

If the millage caps are adopted, the fire fund increase is 2 mills and the police fund is 1.81 mills. The police increase is needed for three new officers hired earlier this year as well as the cost of the new police building, Spencer said.

On a home valued at $60,000 — with an assessed valuation of $50,000 — a 2.01 mills translates to a $60.30 increase in taxes annually, Spencer said.

However, even if the millages do increase, many residents may not notice a dramatic increase in taxes they pay because a majority of property assessments in Canton have dropped.

THE BOARD ACTION is the result of state law forcing municipalities to set a maximum millage figure before actual rates are determined.

Trustees will use the following schedule:

- Review the budget on Aug. 30
- Set the millage rates on Sept. 10, after a public hearing on taxpayers' opinions.
- Adopt the annual budget on Oct. 1

"I would anticipate the total millage would be reduced from the 11.14 millage, but they could go at those rates," Spencer said.

Explaining the necessity for the millage increase, Spencer said, one mill of the two mill increase is for repayment to the public improvement fund for approximately 20 percent of the cost for the new police building on Canton Center Road. This represents a five year pay back.

"The board may waver on that," Spencer said. "They may want to go to the 10-year pay back and it would be only one-half mill or less. This depends on how fast they want to repay that fund and if they want to replenish that fund for other projects like paving, the recreation center or a number of other things."

Deciding how fast Canton will pay back the $2 million for the police building will determine what will be available in the public improvement fund for other projects.

Board members have indicated they would avoid levying the total millage if possible.

New Japanese 'Super Pill' Insures Rapid Weight-Loss

No Dieting — Eat All You Want, Pill Does All The Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA — An exciting new "all natural" weight-loss "Super Pill" developed by the JMA (Japanese Medical Association) has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Reportedly, it can guarantee that you will lose more than a pound a day without dieting, from the very first day until you reach your ideal weight and figure. News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

"Flushes Calories Right Out Of Your Body"

What makes Amitol so thrilling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe, it contains no drugs whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived solely from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss!

Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.

And who can disagree? Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people, "the most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, every-

Best of all, ordering Amitol is simple, fast, and reliable! Simply call Dyna Labs Toll Free (1-800-441-5454) Ext. 911, and order with your credit card. If you don't have a credit card Dyna Labs will also accept C.O.D. orders right over the phone! All orders are shipped immediately by UPS, which means no delay and no orders lost in the mail!

$19.95 — 30 day supply, or $35.95 — 60 day supply. Operators are standing by and will be glad to take your order. You can order 24 hrs. a day, 7 days a week! Please don't wait to call. You really do deserve to be thin!

NIGHT PAIN IN ARTHRITIS
Rest is considered excellent therapy for arthritis. Why is it that many people with arthritis have great discomfort after going to bed?
All pain is worse at night. The reason is that during the day your mind is taken up by an endless array of events, sounds, decisions, and activities. The pain you feel is only one of a number of stimuli that compete for attention in the brain. At night all such distractions are gone. You are left to concentrate on your personal concerns and body pain.
If you have arthritis, the rest that comes with night is helpful to the joints. The pain you feel when you are in bed comes from aching muscles that are reacting from the day's strain upon them. The ache is similar to what you experience following strenuous exercise — the muscles hurt after the activity stops.
Pain medicines taken at night are of little help; over time your body adjusts so that you need more medicine to stop less pain. The best way to limit night pain is to regulate your activity in a manner that minimizes daytime fatigue.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR BACK INJURIES

The greatest percentage of all work related injuries pertain to the back. Millions of dollars and hundreds of thousands of hours are lost by workers because of back injuries. A recent survey showed chiropractic care for back injuries was both safer and quicker.

WORKERS RIGHTS IMPROVED

On July 30th, Senate Bill 7 was signed into law greatly improving the rights of workers.

- The right to receive care from any licensed doctor of your choice. (You no longer have to see a particular doctor or go to a specific clinic).
- The right to receive care immediately after the reported injury. (No more ten day waiting period).
- The protection of the law to have your bills paid at the office. (No more refusal to pay, leaving you stuck with the bill).

IF YOU NEED HELP BECAUSE OF BACK INJURIES

We are specialized in helping workers with back injuries for ten years under Dr. Mashike's care. Many workers return to their jobs quicker and with longer lasting results. Chiropractic has helped millions safely and effectively by removing the cause of their problems without medication, drugs or surgery. Dr. Mashike is a member of the National Association of Disability Evaluating Physicians, and is certified to establish disability ratings.

Dog finds lasting friend in 'food lady'

When I was a kid, I recall having to memorize a poem that started "I have a little shadow that goes in and out with me, and what can be the use of him is more than I can see. Today, as I tripped over our dog, Sparky, for the 15th time, I realized what that little poem was really about.

My little shadow is fuzzy and weighs about 50 pounds. I don't know what I've done to deserve this dubious honor, but of the four people in our family I'm the one that Sparky watches, follows and just can't seem to live without. When the kids get up in the morning, they kiss and hug the dog. They used to kiss and hug me. Sigh.

Even hubby has a special rapport with Sparky. Every day, when hubby comes home from work, Sparky practically turns cartwheels with glee. They play together and growl together (yes, even hubby growls) and just generally have a great time. What can I say — they love each other.

On the other hand, am quite fond of the dog, but have neither the time nor the inclination to roll around on the floor with him. And yet, that danged dog never lets me out of his sight.

Sometimes he even tells me what to do. If I should decide to go into the living room after dinner to sit with hubby for a while before cleaning the dishes off the table, the dog comes in and starts jumping around and whining. He acts like Lassie used to when he was trying to tell Timmy that someone was in trouble. All Sparky is saying is "Clear the table! Hurry! You've got to clear the table!

So I clear the table. It's not that he can't stand the mess. It's just that he's anxious for any table scraps that he feels are his due. He tells me when to let him out, when to let him in, and when there's a stranger within 300 feet of our house — whether I want to know about it or not. But what I find strangest about Sparky's behavior is that if I should decide to take a nap he feels he must take a nap with me. Otherwise he'll stand outside the bedroom door and whimper.

It's not as though I'm going to snuggle him. The only explanation that I can figure is that he wants to be with me in case I should drop any table scraps in the bed while I'm sleeping. Or, as my 8-year-old explained it to me, "He likes to be with you. Mom, because you're the food lady."

And what can be the use of him is more than I can see.

Commission maps out future land development

WHEN WORKING with development, Canton must deal with certain given characteristics like interest rates and land features.

The planning commission struggles with development issues in Canton every second and fourth Monday.

The development depends on the basic economy, Palmer said. "We took our lumps during the recent recession and in the upswing we have enjoyed a little development."

It is important "to be realistic of what we have in Canton," Shefferly said. "The northwest corner of Canton has the aesthetics with the hills, but the rest was farmland and is as flat as a pancake. I think we have a lot there to promote."

Growth in the western portion of Canton is dependent on whether sewer and water line extensions are installed, Kirchgatter said.

They are still in the process of seeing if we will get Supersewer and until that issue is resolved there is not much we can say about development on the western side," Kirchgatter said.

SOME COMMISSION members stressed Canton should try to draw income homeowners.

"The market seems to be that people in Canton who are looking for bigger homes are going to Plymouth," Burdiaz said. "We'd like to keep them in Canton so we'd like to build the homes."

Canton is really a great place to live, Portschell said, and it has housing attractive to just about every kind of income level. "Developing large-acre residential districts would be beneficial also," he said, "because it will attract more commercial businesses. If influential people live in the community they will look to develop business in the area," he said.

Ordinances must be developed to "create a nice atmosphere," Shefferly said, "and we have to be very careful about what we allow and what we don't allow businesses and developers to do. We have to look to industry, and we have to be very careful not to give too much" in tax abatements and land owned by the township.

Dave Nicholson, Canton's director of community and economic development, and Matt Modrack, Canton's planner, should be credited for expediting the developers' wishes, Portschell said.

They act as ombudsmen," he said.

"Canton had a terrible reputation for people coming in, and one of the problems was that they had to deal with so many people."

"It's the only way to go," said Lt. Commander Charles Beck.

A PLYMOUTH resident, Beck has been captain of the Mariposa for two years and has been a commissioned officer with the Coast Guard for 14 years.

A graduate of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in New London, Conn., Beck said being commander of a ship, especially a buoy tender, has always been one of his goals.

"It's what we all aspire to," he said. Ship handling and maneuvering the ship in tight situations is what Beck likes most about his job.

"I like the challenge of trying to park a 180-foot ship in a 181-foot slot," he said.

Another aspect Beck likes about his job is meeting the different crew members assigned to his ship.

Sitter faces murder charge

IN THE statement, Mackey admitted she spanked and shook the child a couple of times the afternoon of the child's death because she wouldn't lay down. In the statement, Mackey said she shook Lydia because she got "mad" over the child's behavior.

Brezinski was unmoved by Gilboul's request that the judge reduce the charge to manslaughter if he bound Mackey over for trial in Wayne County Circuit Court. Gilboul contended the prosecution had shown "no basis for malice or wanton murder" to substantiate a second-degree murder charge.

Brezinski said there was an "inference" of malice because of the extent of the injuries.

Mackey, a Butwell Street resident, faces arraignment Sept. 9 in Wayne County Circuit Court. She is being held without bond in Wayne County Jail.

HOOD testified it was difficult to tell how many bruises the child had because they all "ran into each other." He said she had a torn inside lip and abrasions on both sides of her nose and over her chin.

Because of the extensive injury, the doctor said the child's death could not have been caused through shaking. He said shaking would produce hemorrhaging in the eyes, instead.

He said the bruises were not consistent with those suffered in a fall because no other internal organs were damaged.

"A fall from five feet may cause fractures to the skull. I don't think it happened here, but I don't know," Hood said.

During initial examination, Hood said the child "either died immediately or within minutes" after her head hit something. He later said the injuries could have occurred up to eight hours before her death.

POLICE Sgt. John McDonald said Mackey was shaking at times, nervous, upset and had bloodshot eyes when he and Sgt. Lawrence Little questioned her at the police station after the baby's death.

But he said Mackey was coherent enough to understand her rights under the law, which she read and initialed. Mackey's statement was written on the back of the warning sheet.

In her statement, Mackey said she administered CPR to the baby around 5 p.m. after her boyfriend, Rick Frederick, 26, noticed the child's ears were purple. Frederick called an ambulance, she wrote.

During testimony, Gilboul suggested some of the bruises might have been caused either through a fall or through the administering of CPR.

Lydia was the daughter of Sandra Hubbard, 33, of Canton Township. Hubbard said she left her daughter in Mackey's care while she was at work.

Commanding a ship welcome challenge

There is always a steady influx of people, from ensigns to commanders. It certainly beats just shuffling papers at a desk," Beck said.

And the captain certainly had his share of "shuffling papers." After graduating from the academy, Beck was stationed on the East Coast, stuck behind a desk for most of the time. This assignment in Michigan brought him further west than he had ever been, he said.

A family man with a wife and two children ages 3 and 4, Beck said the temporariness of life in the Coast Guard (his assignments last three years), does not bother him.

His wife has a Ph.D. in nursing and is teaching at the University of Michigan. Her degree enables her to find work in most cities and they work together on deciding where Beck should request his next assignment to be.

"We try to meld our two careers together," Beck said.

Home Improvement Loans are now available with longer repayment periods

Changes in Federal (Title I) regulations permit home improvement loans up to $17,500.00.

Whatever you want to do — finish the basement, remodel the kitchen, build an addition — financing it just became a lot easier.

The chart below describes typical amounts and repayment periods on simple interest loans.

Simple Interest Title I Home Improvement Loan Examples of Rates and Terms

AMOUNT OF LOAN	MONTHS	MONTHLY PAYMENT	FINANCIAL CHARGE	TOTAL OF PAYMENTS	APR
$3,000.00*	36	$103.56	$728.16	$3,728.16	13.20
$5,000.00*	60	$120.14	$2,208.40	$7,208.40	14.90
$10,000.00*	84	$152.17	$5,360.68	$15,360.68	14.90
$15,000.00*	84	$222.15	$9,340.60	$24,340.60	14.90

* A loan for this amount must be secured by a lien on the property being improved. The first monthly payment is due 30 days after the loan is closed.

There's a world of difference between learning and loving to learn.

That's the Children's World child care difference. Learning is a roomful of energetic preschoolers trying to sit quietly while a teacher recites a pre-planned lesson from a standardized manual. Loving to learn is that same group of children exploring the wonders of the world with a teacher who makes the process of learning as fresh and exciting as the lesson itself.

That's the Children's World Concept. And the Children's World difference your child deserves.

The Children's World Concept. A child taught with love loves to learn. Our teachers teach from the heart to open the mind. They're free to create activities which spark each child's natural eagerness to learn at his own pace. Your child will gain confidence and welcome new experiences.

In short, your child will learn the joys of learning at Children's World. And that's a lesson that will last a lifetime.

Come see our world of difference. The best way to understand the Children's World Concept is to see it in action. Visit your neighborhood Children's World and discover the difference our loving care can make.

An Inviting Offer from Children's World
You're invited to try Children's World for one week, absolutely free. WHERE: Your neighborhood Children's World WHEN: Anytime before October 31, 1985. PLEASE RSVP!

For your convenience and our undivided attention, please call to arrange an appointment. We'll waive our customary registration fee until your free week is over. If you're not completely satisfied, you will owe us nothing.

Big Better Best

A quintet of show-off open-face sandwich ideas top this "big is better" best sandwich ever! Happily—each recipe/idea makes a complete big sandwich in itself and creates a spectacular display for hot weather entertaining.

The sandwiches are vivid with an array of fresh summer vegetables, colorful fruit, and a variety of meat and poultry. Each is rich tasting and satisfying made with new Velveeta extra thick slices pasteurized process cheese spread. Up to 60% thicker, big and new extra thick slices are a blend of cheddar and Swiss natural cheeses, milk and other wholesome ingredients. They melt smoothly and easily and—individually wrapped for convenience—make quick work of sandwich preparation.

Because most sandwiches are best assembled and served immediately, last minute preparation for a family meal or for casual entertaining is easier with ready-to-use extra thick slices and a big hero style sandwich. Shown here on a loaf of crusty Italian bread, the sandwich toppings can also be served on any type bread or rolls.

TEMPTIN' TURKEY SANDWICH

Ruby red sliced cranberry sauce and extra thick slices alternate with sliced turkey on a bed of lettuce sprinkled with chopped walnuts... served on bread with salad dressing.

- 1 15x4-inch Italian bread loaf, cut in half lengthwise
- salad dressing
- 1/4 cup chopped walnuts
- Leaf lettuce
- 8 cooked turkey slices
- 1 16-oz. can jellied cranberry sauce, cut into 1/2-inch slices
- 8 extra thick slices pasteurized process cheese spread

Spread both loaf halves with salad dressing; cover with walnuts, lettuce and turkey. Top with alternating slices of cranberry sauce and process cheese spread.

8 servings

FAVORITE CHICKEN SALAD LOAF

Sweet and seedless green grapes, chopped walnuts and sliced, crisp green onions add flair to chicken salad made with real mayonnaise. Salad is layered between a frill of dark green leafy lettuce and cheesy extra thick slices.

- 2 cups chopped cooked chicken
- 2/3 cup real mayonnaise

Be creative, use refrigerated dough for pizza

Long an integral ingredient for such American favorites as pizza and meat pies, the main dish crust has taken on a trendy new look, with many restaurateurs finding new ways to roll it, wrap it, fold it, stuff it and shape it.

Home cooks can follow the lead of innovative chefs and use crusts in creative ways to make their own interesting main dishes, like Antipasto Pizza and Chicken Swiss Crisscross. Instead of a from-scratch crust, these recipes use refrigerated crescent roll dough for flaky, tender crusts that are quick and very easy to make.

Antipasto Pizza is a take-off on exotic pizzas appearing on many restaurant menus today. No longer heavy on the tomato sauce, these pizzas often use fresh tomato slices plus a variety of other toppings to create a whole new taste.

To make the easy deep-dish crust, simply press the triangles of crescent dough into a pie pan and brown in the oven for just a few minutes. Then build the zesty pizza by topping with favorite antipasto ingredients: cheese, peppers, mushrooms, herbs, tomatoes, salami and olives. The recipe calls for pepperoni peppers, which are readily available in jars, but you also could substitute another favorite pepper, if you wish.

The attractive lattice crust that tops Chicken Swiss Crisscross helps turn leftover poultry into a special dish. Chicken or turkey is combined with broccoli, Swiss cheese and seasonings and spread over a crust made by pressing refrigerated crescent roll dough into a jelly roll pan. The remaining dough is cut into strips and arranged in a lattice design over the filling. Brushing the dough with egg before baking will give it a pretty, golden shine.

ANTIPASTO PIZZA
8-oz. can refrigerated crescent dinner rolls
2 cups (8-oz.) shredded mozzarella cheese
8 to 10 pepperoncini peppers, stems removed
1/4 cup sliced mushrooms
2 Tbsp. chopped onion
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 tsp. basil leaves, crushed
1/4 tsp. thyme leaves, crushed
1/4 tsp. parsley flakes
1 medium tomato, cut into wedges
6 pitted black olives, optional

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Separate dough into 8 triangles. Place in ungreased 9-inch pie pan, press over bottom and up sides to form crust. Press down firmly. Bake at 375 degrees for 3 to 5 minutes or until crust is lightly browned. (Crust will be puffy when removed from the oven.) Sprinkle crust with mozzarella cheese. Arrange peppers on top of cheese around edge of crust. Top with mushrooms, onion, Parmesan cheese, basil, thyme and parsley flakes.

Bake 18 to 22 minutes longer or until crust is dark golden brown. Remove from oven; top with tomatoes. Bake 1 to 2 minutes longer. Form salami slices into cones. Arrange spoke fashion to top of pizza. Garnish with olives, if desired. Serve immediately. 6 servings.

CHICKEN SWISS CRISSCROSS
2 (8-oz.) cans refrigerated crescent dinner rolls
4 cups chopped, cooked chicken or turkey
2 cups chopped broccoli, cooked, drained
1 1/2 cups (6 oz.) shredded natural Swiss cheese
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 Tbsp. Dijon mustard
1/4 tsp. poultry seasoning
Dash salt and pepper
Beaten egg

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Separate 1 can of dough into 2 long rectangles. Press into bottom and 1/4 inch up sides of ungreased 15 by 10 inch jelly roll pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 6 to 8 minutes or until light golden brown.

In large bowl, combine chicken, broccoli, cheese, onion, mustard, poultry seasoning, salt and pepper; mix well. Spoon chicken mixture over partially baked crust.

Separate remaining can of dough into 2 long rectangles and seal perforations. Cut each lengthwise into 5 strips. Arrange 6 dough strips lengthwise over chicken mixture. Cut remaining 4 strips in half crosswise. Arrange 8 strips crosswise over lengthwise strips. Brush with egg. Bake at 375 degrees for 18 to 23 minutes or until deep golden brown. 8 servings.

Antipasto pizza is easy to make using refrigerated dough and sliced tomatoes fresh from your garden.

Eating out need not spoil your heart-healthy diet

The typical American eats out once a day. How are your meals out prepared? The answer is important, especially if you are watching your weight.

You can eat away from home and yet enjoy delicious meals that conform with the American Heart Association's dietary recommendations. One way to do it is to watch for the AHA name on restaurant menus. You can find meal options approved by AHA in a growing number of restaurants (Sizzler Family Steakhouse and the Hungry Tiger, for example), hotels (Marriott, Fairmont and Sheraton) and even on airplanes (American Airlines).

The goal of the AHA's "Eating Away from Home" program is to provide tasty and heart-healthy meals low in fat and cholesterol. The AHA selections on the menu are generally lower in calories too because of smaller portions and modified methods of preparation.

For example, meats are lean and usually baked or broiled and vegetables are prepared without heavy sauces. In some parts of the United States, dining out guides produced by local AHA chapters list restaurants that routinely, or at your request, prepare food according to AHA's dietary guidelines.

IF YOU don't know enough about a restaurant, call it in advance to ask about the food and whether special requests will be honored. Ask whether the restaurant will: (1) Serve margarine rather than butter, and skim rather than whole milk? (2) Prepare a dish using vegetable oil — corn, soy, sunflower, safflower — or margarine rather than butter? (3) Trim visible fat off meat and skin off poultry? (4) Prepare a dish without salt or monosodium glutamate, MSG? (5) Serve fruit — fresh or in light syrup — for dessert?

(6) Have a special seating area for non-smokers?

Once you're in the restaurant, be assertive. Remember that you are the patron. Don't be intimidated by the menu, atmosphere, waiter or waitress. If you wish to cut down on the size of your meal, choose appetizers as the main course, order a la carte or share food with a companion. Insist that food be served the way you want it — with dressings, gravies and sauces on the side, for example. Send the food back if they don't do it right.

Help your heart! You can get a healthy meal if you know how. When reading the menu, look for items prepared without adding fat, such as those that are steamed, cooked in their own juice, broiled, roasted or poached. Avoid food cooked in butter sauce, cream sauce, cheese sauce, hollandaise or gravy. Also avoid food that's been sautéed, fried, braised, creamed, escaloped, baked, stewed, pickled or smoked.

Beer flavors almost anything

Beer just might be the second oldest drink. It dates back to the general region of Asia Minor known as Mesopotamia. One of the first products early man made from harvested grains was beer.

Beer is mentioned in pre-Biblical writings. Noah took some aboard his ark. Babylonians thought enough of the golden brew to name a goddess for it. The Egyptians elevated beer to the status of a national drink and the Ramses dynasty had a royal brewery.

Beer traveled west, thanks to the civilizations of the Greeks and Romans. The beer produced in the United States evolved from the brew brought to the colonies by the English and, later, the Germans, who have influenced American beer tastes not end.

Beer also served as a cooking ingredient for centuries. I've cooked with it long before the industry saw the "light."

What would chili be without a can or two of beer? Likewise, beans. I like to use it as a marinade because the fibers of tough meat are no match for the liquid.

Beer is excellent in batters, especially for fish fillets. Beer perks up dips and salad dressings — so "hope" to it.

BEERIZED TACO SALAD
DRESSING AND DIP
1 envelope (1 1/4 oz.) dehydrated onion soup mix
1 container (8 oz.) sour cream
1/2 cup beer
1/4 cup chili sauce
1 Tbsp. white vinegar
Hot pepper sauce to taste

In container with lid, combine onion soup mix and sour cream. Stir.

In remaining ingredients. Use as salad dressing or cover, chill several hours and stir before serving as dip. Yields 2 1/2 cups. Serve with chips or raw vegetables.

BEER BATTERED FISH FILLETS
1 egg, separated
1/4 cup beer, at room temperature
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
2 Tbsp. cornstarch
1/4 tsp. salt
1 1/2 lbs. fish fillets
1/4 cup cooking oil

In mixing bowl, combine egg yolk and beer, blending well. Beat in flour, cornstarch and salt; let stand 1 hour. Beat egg white until almost firm and whisk into batter. Thoroughly dip fillets in batter and fry in hot oil until desired doneness. Serve with lemon wedges. Serves 3-4.

DONNA Gillespie of Canton Township is a candidate for the title of queen in the Tip Toppers Pageant Friday evening. The pageant begins at 7 p.m. in Dearborn Inn. Admission is $8. There will be a cash bar with dancing after the pageant.

The Tip Toppers is a club for tall people. Minimum height for men is 6-2, and for women, 5-10.

The club has a hotline number, 278-TALL. Donna is a business education teacher in the Ferndale Schools.

THURSDAY'S winner at the party bridge games in the Plymouth Cultural Center was Evelyn Hill with 5,020 points. Adele Tabaka came in second with 4,890.

WILLIAM NOWLAND of Canton Township is the new coordinator of rehabilitation services at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. This is his second tour of duty at St. Mary. He served as staff physical therapist between 1981-83 under APT Health Care Services, the company that contracts services to the hospital.

Since then he has worked as assistant director and director of physical therapy at three nursing homes in the area and earned a master's degree in business administration at Oakland University.

PLYMOUTH NEWCOMERS Club's membership tea tomorrow revives memories of its beginnings in 1957. Jack Wilcox was head of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce then. The C-C offices were tucked back under the stairs leading to the Mayflower Meeting House. The chamber and Vivian Champion cooperated in starting the Newcomers Club.

Vivian called on the new residents, and there weren't too many of them in those days. New families still were getting their pictures in the Plymouth Mail under the notation, "Who's new in Plymouth." Vivian gave gifts and coupons from the merchants and welcomed them to the community. The club was formed when 16 couples attended a meeting at the old high school. They continued to meet in each other's homes. It became a women's club when luncheons replaced the evening get-togethers.

Bonnie Coons was the first president and Dorothy Becker was the second. They had spring and Christmas dinner dances and five special interest groups. Those new residents got right into community service. They sponsored a Girl Scout Troop and worked on the March of Dimes. They entered a float in the Fourth of July Parade.

Most important were the friendships formed that, in some cases, lasted a lifetime.

Newcomers went on to serve in the Symphony League, Woman's Club, the League of Women Voters, later, in the Plymouth Community Arts Council and other organizations.

The club has produced a wealth of talent, energy and ideas — and the community has been the beneficiary. They are not do-gooders, solemnly doing their nose-to-the-grindstone duty. They take on these tremendous projects and accomplish them with flair and finesse.

That's what is so awe-inspiring about the whole thing.

LAST CHANCE ChiliCookoff will take place 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 7, on the Madonna College campus.

Leading the competition will be the Great White North Chili Cooking Team. One of the four chefs in the team is Curt Rellinger of Canton Township. The other three are Joseph Wnuk and Scott Rellinger of Westland and Steve Rellinger of Wayne.

The team already has made the Guinness Book of World Records, being credited with the longest competition recipe. They use 74 ingredients.

The chili cookoff is part of Madonna's Homecoming '85 festivities and the public is invited, free of charge.

Past International Civitan president, Lou Hopping, and his wife, Helen, attend the dinner party.

Civitans host seniors

The Civitans hosted a Thursday evening dinner party for 350 Plymouth senior citizens at the Plymouth Elks Club. Two huge rounds of beef were roasted for the occasion. Mashed potatoes, gravy, vegetables, salads, relishes, rolls, butter and dessert completed the repast. Later there was Bingo and dancing.

A week before, 300 Canton seniors attended a similar outing at the Elks. These August parties have become a tradition. Attendance has grown to the point the Civitans are considering the possibility of adding a third dinner to accommodate the crowds.

Reservations must be made in advance and admission is $2 per person. The club subsidizes costs which amount to about $6 for each dinner.

Civitans, Junior Civitans, Elks and Vivians all have a hand in making the parties a success.

PLYMOUTH-CANTON Civitans with 40 members, both men and women, is one of the busiest service clubs in the area. The Junior Civitan Club boasts 20 teen-age members.

The club has several projects involving personal time and financial assistance.

Wayne County Special Olympics rates high on their list of priorities. Members spend a lot of time and money on athletic competitions for the mentally impaired. They not only help finance the events, they are there to give personal encouragement and praise to the participants.

The local club will be involved in the International Special Olympics next year in South Bend, Ind. The international competition is held every four years and in 1986 will be on the campuses of Notre Dame and St. Mary's.

THE CIVITANS will be at Maybury State Park Saturday morning. Their second fishing derby for the mentally impaired of Plymouth and Canton is scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 24.

The joy of fishing is added to the accomplishments of competition in track, swimming and bowling for the mentally impaired. And the Civitans have added another experience, horseback riding, through their involvement in Nature's Last Stand.

Club members improved the jumps and concession stands at the horse-riding school in Canton Township. In return, they take youngsters there to make their first acquaintance with a horse and to ride, steered in the saddle by a Civitan.

THE ANNUAL Civitan Essay Contest encourages high school students to express their opinions on paper on thought-provoking and timely topics.

Although the essay contest was dropped at the national level a few years ago, the local club has continued the project.

The club sponsored 20 students at a youth seminar at Albion College. Two students were sent to the Close-Up Foundation in Washington, D.C.

Programs are financed by several projects. The annual Continental Party is a major fund-raiser. The club participates in Civitans International Candy Box program, another money-maker. And the club always has a booth at the Plymouth Fall Festival. They sell yakitoris, small grilled shish kebabs, and make personalized photograph buttons of festival goers.

ZAN CASON is president of the club. Serving with her are Stan Socha, president elect, secretary-treasurer, Sam Detrich, Joann Lawrence, vice president administration; Shirley Smith, vice president service; Gene Kila, vice president funds; and past president Joe Sedacek.

The Plymouth-Canton Civitan Club has a dinner meeting the third Thursday of each month at the Plymouth Elks Club on Ann Arbor Road.

Business meetings are at 7 p.m. the first Thursday of each month also are at the Elks Club.

Vera Gresock finds time for a game of cards before dinner.

Bob Schneider of the Elks Club is bingo caller for the party.

SOME OF THE GREATEST THINGS IN AMERICA NEVER CHANGE.

SOME DO.

U.S. Savings Bonds.

Now Paying 9.49%.

In the 1800's, baseball was a child's sandlot game. Then came the curve ball, the slide, the crowds and the legends—like Babe Ruth. Baseball had become our national pastime.

Some things never change. But one great American tradition has changed—U.S. Savings Bonds. Now Savings Bonds pay higher variable interest rates like money market accounts. Currently, Bonds are paying 9.49%.

Just hold Savings Bonds for five years and you get the new variable interest rates. Plus, you get a guaranteed return. That means you can earn a lot more, but never less than 7.5%.

You can purchase Bonds at almost any financial institution, or easier yet, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Buy U.S. Savings Bonds. Like baseball, they're another part of our proud heritage. For more information, call toll-free 1-800-US-BONDS.

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS
Paying Better Than Ever

Variable rates apply to Bonds purchased on and after 11/3/82 and held at least five years. Bonds purchased before 11/3/82 earn variable rates when held beyond 10/31/87. Bonds held less than five years earn lower income. A public service of this publication.

Babe Zaharias golf tourney cancer benefit

By M.B. Dillon Ward staff writer

Babe Zaharias would have been proud. In honor of the late pro golfer and Olympic gold medal winner felled by cancer in the 1950s, nearly 300 golfers competed in the country's largest ladies single-day American Cancer Society event at Western Golf and Country Club in Redford.

Peggy Kirk Bell, Zaharias' former golf partner and good friend, flew from North Carolina to conduct clinics and autograph copies of her book, "A Woman's Way to Better Golf." Seventy-two teams representing 19 area country clubs were on hand for two shotgun starts.

By the close of the 18-hole event, Edgewood Country Club's Frankie Shore, Dottie Button, Wanda McPharlan and Barbara Brown had emerged as low gross winners with a score of 78. Linda Kemp, Fran Hilborn, Pam Pansolan and Carole Walden of Great Oaks Country Club in Rochester captured low net honors with a 58. The travelling trophy winners advance to the state Babe Zaharias tournament in Boyne Highlands in September, where they'll vie for the chance to compete in the national finals at Miami, Fla.'s Doral Country Club.

Bonnie Fritz of Detroit Golf Club won both the closest-to-the-pin and longest-drive contests in the morning tourney. Hope Straith of Pine Lake Country Club and Birmingham Country Club's Pat Kuhn won the same events, respectively, in the afternoon. But the real victors were those who have cancer and their families. The $100 entry fees chipped in by participants and proceeds from an auction raised roughly $70,000 to fund the cancer society's research and educational efforts. Auction revenues of $23,000 were the highest in the 10-year history of the Zaharias tournament.

IF CANCER'S shadow and threatening morning skies cast a somber mood, it was dispelled by the contagious good spirits and humor of Western's engaging special guest. Golf professional Peggy Kirk Bell, named one of the sport's most influential women by Golf Digest magazine, demonstrated before an attentive audience assembled on the driving range some of the techniques that propelled the Zaharias-Kirk Bell team to victory in the 1947 International Four-Ball Tournament.

"In my schools we encourage students to stand with their feet even with their shoulders when they address the ball," said Kirk Bell, explaining proper stance during the first of two clinics. "Some of 'em even end up wanting to play that way."

With husband Warren (Bullet) Bell — former pro basketball player and Kirk Bell's hometown sweetheart — the Ohio native designed and built North Carolina's Pine Needles Resort in 1954. Bell, the father of three, died of cancer last year.

Her straw hat plopped on a range basket, the winner of the first (1983) Ladies Professional Golf Association National Seniors Championship repeatedly punched the sky with heaven-bound balls, stressing rhythm, tempo and balance. The sessions were laced with laughter, as students for-a-day learned how to, as well as how not to, swing the club.

A PILEOT, Bell credits the late Oakland Hills Country Club pro Al Watrous with several of her early wins on the tour. "Al taught me to see the swing as a whole. He'd say, 'Now look at this pattern,' " she recalled. "I use some of the things he taught me to this day."

Forty-one years of golf have convinced Kirk Bell of her own axiom: "The mind rules the game."

IT WAS OBVIOUS that the minds and deeds of many contributed to the success of Tuesday's tourney. Karen Pyle, ACS vice president, for Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, said the event required "thousands of hours invested by more than 100 cancer society staffers and volunteers from Western and other country clubs. "This is the 10th year for the Babe, and so far $420,000 has been raised," said Pyle.

A blast from the past

Geryl Repasky of Livonia will be back to defend her Observer and Eccentric women's golf title. The 18-hole medal play event will be held Saturday at Whispering Willows Golf Course.

Repasky, a junior at Bowling Green State University, has played in several national amateur tournaments.

MIAA opens up offensive throttle

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Administrators and football coaches within the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA) are extremely proud that theirs is the oldest collegiate conference in the country.

The MIAA is proud of the fierce rivalries that have been fostered after 97 seasons of competition and equally proud of the close ties that bind the member schools off the field.

Most importantly, the MIAA is proud of the fact that more than 90 percent of its student athletes graduate from their respective colleges.

But lost in this prideful outburst — a certainly legitimate outburst — is the simple fact that there's some darn good football being played in the MIAA.

MIAA football is fast-paced and offense-oriented. Three MIAA teams were among the nation's top 10 Division III colleges in total offense last fall. Two teams, Hope and Alma, ranked 1-2 in the nation in scoring last year.

"IT USED to be that our league would be 50-50 mix of running and passing plays," said Adrian coach Ron Labadie. "Now, it's more like 60-40 or, in some cases, 70-30 pass vs. run."

A leading proponent of the new-style wide-open offense in the MIAA is Alma — the team league coaches unanimously picked to win the conference this season.

The Scots, coached by Phil Brooks, led all Division III teams in total offense averaging 465 yards a game. It was the first time an MIAA team led the nation in an offensive category. Alma was second behind league champ Hope (40.3) in scoring averaging 39.1 points per game.

The top gun in Alma's attack last year was quarterback Dean Ulrich of Rochester. Ulrich, entering his junior season, with fifth among the nation's Division III quarterbacks in total offense (237 yards per game) and 10th in passing efficiency (121 for 238 for 1,951 yards and 22 touchdowns).

"As a sophomore he was just like a baby colt," Brooks said. "We're expecting bigger things from him this year. He has big feet, long arms, he's 6-3, throws well and comes from a good football family (his father, Dick Ulrich, coached at Rochester High and is currently the athletic director)."

ULRICH, BEFORE he's finished, should rewrite the Alma and MIAA passing records. He already holds the MIAA modern day individual record for total offense and is second in most yards passing in a season.

MIAA coaches gathered Thursday at Albion College for the league's annual media day. They picked Alma to win the league and Hope, who has won the conference in six of the last 10 years, to place second. Rounding out the preseason forecast were Albion, Adrian, Olivet and Kalamazoo.

As always, players from the Observer & Eccentric coverage area play prominent roles on virtually every team in the MIAA. Here is a brief look at where the area players are in the MIAA:

ALMA COLLEGE: The Scots, 4-1 in the conference last year and 6-3 overall, return four lettermen from the area. Besides Ulrich, returnees include Rob Smigelski, a sophomore defensive end from Farmington; Dwight Spangler, a senior defensive tackle from Rochester; and Vince Consoia, a junior offensive tackle from Rochester.

Other area players looking to make the grade are Mike Bowen, sophomore from North Farmington; Sean Budlong, freshman from Plymouth Canton; Scott Campbell, freshman from Canton; Brian Hood, freshman from North Farmington; Jim Nelson, freshman from Harrison; and Mark Snyder, freshman from Birmingham.

HOPE COLLEGE: Ray Smith's Flying Dutchmen are virtually starting from scratch after graduating 18 starters off last year's 9-0 squad.

Locally, Smith is cautiously optimistic about freshman recruit Eric Engel from North Farmington.

Arm-weary Livonia ousted in Johnstown

By Brad Emons
staff writer

If pitching is 70 percent of the game, then it's apparent why Livonia Adray was knocked out Wednesday night in third round action of the All-American Amateur Baseball Association (AAA-BA) tournament in Johnstown, Pa.

Lansing ousted Livonia from the prestigious double-elimination event, 7-6, as reliever Kevin Harrah, the losing pitcher, failed to protect a 6-4 lead. He came on in the fifth inning when starter Doug Doyle (Hillsdale College) injured a back muscle.

Harrah gave up three runs on five hits over the final 3½ innings. The big blow came in the seventh when Doug Clouse, Lansing's ninth hitter, bashed a two-run homer off to put his team ahead for keeps.

Clouse was also the winning pitcher, coming on in relief for Lansing starter Bob Wasczenski in the third inning.

Tim Michalik (Western Michigan) and Greg Kuzia paced the Livonia offensive attack with two hits each. One of Michalik's hits was a solo homer.

baseball

"WE KNEW going down (to Johnstown) that we were short on pitching," said Livonia Adray manager Ron Hellier. "We took only six to start with."

"The name of the game is pitching and we were kind of disappointed with ours."

Livonia Adray opened tourney play Monday with a 10-4 loss to New Brunswick, Ohio, as ace pitcher Mike Wilkins (Lamar University) was roughed up for six runs, only two of which were earned.

"One of the scouts behind the backstop told me that Mike was keeping the ball down, but the umpires weren't giving him the strikes," Hellier explained.

"So he adjusted and got the ball up, and then they started to hit him."

On Tuesday against Altoona (Pa.), Hellier sent No. 2 pitcher Todd Krumm (Michigan State) to the mound, but the results weren't much better as the right-hander was roughed up for eight runs in 6½ innings.

But Livonia rallied to win the game, scoring nine runs in the final two innings for a 12-11 triumph. Doyle, in relief of Krumm, picked up the win and Rick Rozman earned the save.

"MY ASSISTANT Stu Rose and I were talking on the way back home (from Johnstown) and we agreed that we played three average ball clubs and won only one game," Hellier said. "We were on the good half of the (16-team) draw and we thought we had a shot to get to the semifinals."

"But we didn't play good ball. We didn't hit well, pitch well or play good defense."

Adray, which received an automatic berth to the AAAABA tourney after winning the Livonia Collegiate circuit, bowed out with a 29-8 overall record.

Crusaders capture region

The Livonia Crusaders, representing the Great Lakes Women's Soccer League, captured the U.S. Soccer Federation's Region II Tournament of Champions last week in Louisville, Ky., with a 5-2 win over North Ohio.

The winners received superb goaltending from Doreen Beagle, along with excellent defensive play from Jennifer Wilcox, Kim Paterson and Chris Lussier.

With Doreen Dudek, Julie Tortora, Laurie Hauber and Paterson providing the offensive spark, the Crusaders routed Kentucky, 8-0, and used Julie Myers' goal in a 47-shot outburst to edge Indiana, 1-0.

The three victories increased the Crusaders' overall summer record to 18-4-1.

Coached by Dave Lussier, the Crusaders won four of five games en route to the Southeast Cincinnati Invitational title.

With Shannon Bowler, Michelle Wise, Jennifer Huegli, Paterson, Dudek and Wilcox providing the major impetus, Livonia beat the Southeast Cincinnati Cards for the championship, 5-2.

THE CINCINNATI triumph was preceded by the Crusader's winning four straight games en route to the Great Lakes Women's Soccer Tournament crown (July 20-21).

In the final, the Crusaders blanked the Farmington Furies, 2-0.

Tuesday at Livonia's Bicentennial Park, the Crusaders and the Livonia Hawks will square off for the Great Lakes championship. Game time is 7 p.m.

The Crusaders then move on to a tournament over Labor Day weekend in Cleveland, Ohio.

Area strikers eye state challenge cup

Two Livonia men's soccer teams, the Great Lakes champion Marauders and runner-up Wolves West, will vie Sunday in the Michigan State Challenge Cup at St. Scholastica Field, adjacent to Benedictine High School in Detroit.

Admission for four quarterfinal games is $2 for adults and $1 for senior citizens and women. Kids wearing soccer uniforms will be admitted free.

The first match at noon features the Livonia Wolves against the Detroit Spartans. That is followed by Livonia Marauders against the Mount Clemens Booters of the Michigan-Ontario Soccer League at 2 p.m.

At 4 p.m., the Hamtramck White Eagles face the Dearborn Stars. And at 6 p.m., the Ukrainian Sport Club meets Detroit Bagdad.

The winners will advance to the semifinals Sept. 29. The championship game will be played in late October at a site yet to be determined.

Adrian's deadly Smedley

By Brad Emons
staff writer

You don't need Scotland Yard to discover that Adrian's Bob Smedley is one of the top football players returning in the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

The 6-foot-3, 238-pound Smedley, a Redford Bishop Borgess product, is a versatile tight end who led the Bulldogs in pass receptions last year with 33 catches for 428 yards and five touchdowns en route to second team All-MIAA honors.

The senior criminal justice major has career totals of 52 catches for 597 yards and eight TDs. He also is a premier blocker in Adrian's running game.

After winning the MIAA title and qualifying for the NCAA Division III playoffs in 1983, Adrian slipped to fourth place last year with a 5-4 overall record.

Smedley, who would like a career in the secret service or FBI, is confident things will change for the better this season.

"EVEN THOUGH we were picked fourth (in the pre-season coaches poll), we believe we're going to win it," Smedley said. "We've got a lot of people coming back — some are back for an extra season (because of eligibility)."

Smedley said his success depends on Adrian's new quarterback, sophomore Bruce Crosthwaite of Rochester, who takes over for starter Steve Dembowski.

"The only thing you can say from a tight end's standpoint is you have to have a good quarterback," Smedley said. "Dembowski always got the ball there."

New dog learns old tricks from the master

I made a note of that, too.

IT WAS JUST AFTER 7:30 a.m. Monday when I got my first coaching tip at Avondale High School. The sand still occupied the corners of my eyes as I walked from the parking lot toward the school. A plethora of young football players, helmets in hand, were a mere blur in the distance.

Tom Conley, an assistant at Avondale, was leading some football players into head coach Rick Brewer's Rhino Truck when he spotted the rookie coach stumbling toward him.

"What gets you up so early?" he asked with a broad smile.

"Duty calls," I responded in a slumbrous tone.

"Well, it'll get you home early at night," Conley said.

I made a note of that.

Tip No. 2 came in the coaches' office. While Brewer was taking care of the final paper work of the morning, I noticed a small sign on the wall, which read:

"Small reminders that football develops individuality, initiative and leadership. Now get out there and do exactly as I tell you."

CEP talent abounds on MIAA gridiron

"We think he'll be a fine quarterback," the veteran coach said. "But, don't know that it'll be this year." It's tough for freshmen to come in here and play. We have two returning quarterbacks ahead of him. What I like about him is that he can read. It's always good for a freshman to be able to do a lot of things that help them progress.

Also trying to find a spot is freshman John Gorman from Livonia Central, who will be given a look at strong safety.

ALBION COLLEGE: It's becoming an annual affair. Ken Kist, the junior, out of Farmington, is again in the thick of the battle for the Britton's two-quarterback spot.

Kist won the job as a freshman only to lose it to Rick Goodman after three games. Goodman, the starting quarterback last year, was transferred to Central Michigan. Kist is now battling Ken Szeke and Dave Yaw, both juniors.

"All three have some game experience," said Coach Ken Schmidt. "All three are studs right now. I made a commitment not to pre-judge. I'm going to see which one moved the team in practice."

Ed Eward, a junior from Catholic Central, has started 18 straight games for Adrian, making 56 tackles with a team-high 10 sacks.

Other area players are Steve Brooks, freshman from Livonia Central; Steve Fieher, freshman from Garden City; Joe Greene, junior from Troy; and Jim Hall, junior from West Bloomfield.

For a sport, freshmen from Southfield, Livonia, and Dearborn are the sophomores from Brother Rice, Wayne, and Dearborn senior from Farmington.

OLIVET COLLEGE: Ben Stevenson, after a dismal 1-8 record last year, looks to lead a competitive team this year. However, he'll do it without much help from O&E and

The one area players are starting in backfield Mike Zedek, a sophomore from Garden City, and freshman recruit Robert Keller from Livonia who played high school ball at Divine Child.

Call me 'Coach'

This is the second in a series of articles by Observer & Eccentric sports writer Jim Hughes as he works as assistant junior varsity football coach at Avondale High School in Auburn Hills. In today's installment, Hughes and Avondale coaches reflect on the first days of preseason practice.

I found out I wasn't alone in my restlessness. Brewer, who's been coaching business at Avondale for 15 years, says each first day of practice is as exciting as the first, first day.

"You can get so anxious you can't sleep," said the head Rhino. "I can remember 16 years ago I couldn't sleep (before the first day of practice). Me and Tom (Mindez) were assistant coaches, and we stayed up the whole night making sure we knew what we were doing."

For those unfamiliar with first practices, they can be quite mundane. It's the teaching phase of the season, learning blocking schemes, pass routes, running directions and the mechanics of ball exchanges, just to name a few.

Repetition is the key word. The more it's pounded into the players' heads, the more fundamental it becomes.

Despite the tedious repetitions, Brewer said the early stage of practice sessions is far from boring to him.

"No, not at all. Since I've been head coach, and even a couple of years before that, we've been doing a lot of the same things, mainly because of the offense we run," he explained. "A lot of the things we did today (Monday) we'll do the last day of practice, and we have something like 78 practices during the course of the season."

"THE THING you'll see, especially with the younger kids is the progression they make in those drills. This is fun for me. This is when the fun starts."

Assistant coach Tony Messina, who took a year off last season after 12 years coaching at Avondale, explains his love for coaching. "That's why I'm back. It's still exciting. If you talk about the time and money you put in, it's not worth it, but that's not why you coach."

"You take on a completely different perspective as a coach. The players talk about winning the league and the state, but as a coach, although you hope for all the best, there's still unknown quantities — you don't really know what you have until you get out there."

"Here, you get all the learning things out of the way, then you try to perfect everything, and that's the part I like. The games are the things I really like. It's like your report card. We referred to it (games) a few years ago as pay day. If you work hard, you'll be rewarded."

So this is the work that comes before pay day. And it's a long time before the first check — Sept. 6 to be exact.

In the interim, repetitious drills are the norm. Like it, or leave the program. Nobody left.

My assignment was to work with the receivers. It didn't take long before I felt part of the program. Coaches Brewer, Conley, Messina, Keith Gust, Marc Kunej and Mark Fisher helped.

John Candy is air controller Jack Chester, who takes his family on a vacation filled with mishaps in the comedy "Summer Rental."

Taking a vacation is just ridiculous in 'Summer Rental'

August is the silly season so apparently that's why Paramount withheld release of "Summer Rental" until the summer's almost over. That makes about as much sense as the movie does so I guess it's all right.

Jack Chester (John Candy) lives in the suburbs with his wife Sandy (Karen Austin) and three children, Jennifer (Kerri Green), Bobby (Joey Lawrence) and Laurie (Aubrey Jene). Naturally they have a dog and a station wagon.

Jack is an air controller at the local airport and a complete dunce who lives under the cloud of Murphy's Law. "If something can go wrong, it will." That's OK, up to a point, but in Jack's case it gets silly pretty quick, and no one person could have so much go wrong so fast and so often.

In any event, Jack is under such strain that he's trying to give flight instructions to flies and fly specks on his radar screen. His supervisor decides its time for a summer vacation, and what early on was described as a terrific deal to use a friend's summer place turns out to be a very expensive rental of a really crummy cottage.

ALONG THE WAY to having a terrific summer vacation, everything goes wrong. The Chester family gets settled in the wrong cottage and has to move in the middle of the night. Jack gets badly sunburned and, after a long wait for a table in the local lobster palace, the Chester family gets elbowed aside by Al Pellet (Richard Crenna), the local yacht king and regular winner of the local regatta.

Pellet gets the table and the last lobsters, inciting great animosity in Jack, who finally takes his family down to an old scow. This is the Barnacle Restaurant run by a Captain-Hook type, Scully (Rip Torn), whose sidekicks include Cortez the Cook (Santoro Morales) and Angus MacLachlan (Richard Herd), a Scotsman whose brogue is so thick no one can understand him.

It's funny for a while. Scully is the only one with any character. Everyone else is broadly overdrawn and just plain unbelievable. Well, you can probably see what's coming. Jack has to win the regatta in order to recapture his self-respect, which he didn't have in the first place. Since he doesn't know how to sail and has injured his leg to boot, this makes it all the more difficult.

But have no fear, faithful fans, the movie can do anything. Part of the difficulty with "Summer Rental" is just that. The movies can do anything and this time makes it too easy. Director Carl Reiner's sense of humor degenerates into simple-minded silliness.

SCULLY ALSO wants revenge because of Pellet's attitude, and he teaches "ack bow to sail. If the film had any credibility, making the decrepit old boat seaworthy, Jack's sailing lessons and the search for a new sail should have some tension, some excitement and a lot of humorous pizzazz.

All are lacking, and the film's pace is far too slow for the slambang kind of comedy "Summer Rental" ought to be. It's all too predictable so you don't have to guess who wins the regatta.

Another problem with "Summer Rental" is the continual disruption of the main course of events with unresolved sub-plots. Some of these are vaguely humorous as continually repeated sight-gags but mostly they go nowhere.

Sandy is a photographer, constantly snapping away. The intrusion of her lens could have been funny at inappropriate moments but instead is just there clicking away.

One of the most annoying unresolved sub-plots has to do with Sandy and a handsome, wealthy divorced fellow, Don Moore (John Larroquette), who has a boat and a son to engage the affections of the Chesters' teen-age daughter, Jennifer. When Jack injures his leg, Sandy and Don (with kids) wind up spending a lot of time together. The potential humor and resolution of that situation is annoying in its absence.

On the whole, "Summer Rental" is not a memorable trip.

Karen Austin is Chester's wife, Sandy, whose interest in photography keeps her busy with a camera.

'Hello, Dolly!' is fair attraction

Performances of the Summer-Stage production of the musical "Hello, Dolly!" continue through Sunday, Aug. 25, at the Birmingham Theatre. Tickets are available at Ticket World outlets, 423-8666, or the Birmingham Theatre box office, 644-3376.

Serving as a showcase for local talent, the current production of "Hello, Dolly!" for SummerStage at the Birmingham Theatre offers a pleasant rendition of this popular Jerry Herman musical.

Aside from TV actress Patsy Garrett in the title role, nearly all the cast is from Michigan and the majority from the Birmingham area. The many young performers in the show are particularly fine, including a male chorus line that fairly dazzles.

In casting Garrett as the mischievous matchmaker Dolly Gallagher Levi, the production returns to the original, pre-musical concept of Dolly as a pudgy, middle-aged matron determined to have one more fling in life "Before the Parade Passes By."

Garrett may be the antithesis of glamorous Carol Channing, the actress most associated with the role, but the plot actually makes more sense this way. Or at least it would if Garrett had a little more pizzazz and less deliberateness in her delivery. The heavy amplification of her voice only accentuates the negative.

Hired by wealthy Yonkers businessman Horace Vandergelder (Mike Evans) to find him a suitable second wife, Dolly decides to win Vandergelder for herself. Along the way, she assists Vandergelder's young clerks to find love and adventure in New York.

Evans is delightful as the crusty Vandergelder, known for being "hard as nails" but simply putty in Dolly's hands. Evans persuades that behind all the growl and bluster there lurks amiability waiting to be discovered.

As Vandergelder's overworked and underpaid clerk, Martin Flynn and David New are excellent, portraying Cornelius Hackl and Barnaby Tucker. Models of youthful innocence, they charm in lively numbers like "Put Your Summer Clothes," "Dancing" and

Dolly Gallagher Levi (Patsy Garrett) is a matchmaker who goes after Horace Vandergelder

(Mike Evans), who has hired her to find a wife for him, in "Hello, Dolly!" at the Birmingham Theatre.

"Elegance." Flynn excels vocally in the romantic duet "It Only Takes a Minute," while New is an especially accomplished dancer.

Mary Callaghan Lynch is a fetching Irene Malloy, the milliner almost engaged to Vandergelder but now smitten by Cornelius. A vocal standout in any show in which she appears, Lynch has the lovely solo "Ribbons Down My Back" and the other half of "It Only Takes a Moment."

PAMELA MARTIN is sweetly ingenious as the outspoken Minnie Fay, Irene's shop assistant, and holds her own in the song and dance department. Shirleyann Kaladjan does not make the most of her comic opportunities as

Barbara Michals

Ermengarde, Vandergelder's perpetually weeping niece. Similarly, Dan Ferretti is unimpressive as Ambrose, Ermengarde's sweetheart.

While all the chorus work is lively, it is the young men who really excel. They enunciate precisely, use facial expressions and body English to the fullest, and execute marvelous footwork. High leaps and intricate spins earn the male dancers several rounds of applause during the "Waiter's Gallop." Very skimpy sets and unimpressive costuming (Dolly's famous red evening gown looks very worn), plus minor mishaps with scenery and costumes, serve to remind that this is summer stock and not the high caliber of professional theater one expects at the Birmingham.
