Favoritism hint cited in HUD review

By Diane Gale staff writer

A federal investigation into whether Canton Township was unfairly bypassed in the awarding of U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) grants last year has resulted in a finding of "no favoritism."

Steven Switzer, assistant inspector general for Audit, said, "Somebody could say there was favortism, but we didn't find any.

Switzer acknowledged that a deparfrom procedures and lack of docu mentation make the selection of four other areas ahead of Canton "appear questionable."

Despite Switzer's report, many gov-ernment leaders still think HUD may have played political favoritism in bypassing Canton

Last year, HUD rated Canton's proposed senior housing project number two in a high-priority category.

BUT HUD passed over Canton's application and approved four other projcts considered by the Detroit area HUD uffice. Two projects which were in the same high-priority category as Canton received funding. They were: ● A 122-unit $5.3 million project in the Jefferson-Chalmers area of Detroit. This was No. 1 in the high-priority catgegory. • The Korean American, a 80-unit

$3.2 million project in the City of Wayne. This was rated No. 3. Two applications were awarded from discretionary funds. One was sponsored by the Teamsters union and another by the Delta Sigma Theta, Detroit Chapter, a predominately black sorority.

SOME OFFICIALS think that the groups represented voters which were actively sought by the Republican Party during the 1984 campaign election. The HUD selection techniques for "Section 202" (subsidized housing for the elderly and physically handicapped) were scrutinized by the Inspec-

General's office

the internal

watchdog of the federal government after a request for review by U.S. Sen. Carl Levin, D-Detroit.

In a report completed June 10, Switzer said HUD did not follow procedures in making made the selections and he suggested the selection process could damage public confidence in HUD.

He said he talked to the acting assistant housing secretary and was told that HUD had used "discretionary" authoritv. "They pointed out that the discretionary fund is just that - discretion-

SWITZER SAID in his report: 'The absence of documentation to justify the selections and the departure from procedures used to select projects from nondiscretionary resources make these selections appear questionable." He also said: "The discretionary selections give the appearance of favortism and could therefore jeopardize the public's confidence in HUD's ability to

"I am a witch." Not many people can make that claim, but Gundella does.

The Garden City resident will speak to students at Plymouth Salem High School on, appropriately enough, Oct. - the day before Halloween. 30

But at least one parent has com-plained that Gundella's appearance is not at all appropriate.

Loren Styes of Canton said Gundella's lecture before 800 students in the Salem auditorium is not "educational." They could have gotten a professor, not somebody who claims she is a witch and has Satan's powers," said Styes.

"I don't approve of it," said Styes, who has been trying to mobilize members of her church (First Baptist of Plymouth) and other parents, in an effort to have Gundella's lecture canceled by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

"I tried to talk to the principal, but he wouldn't listen to me. I talked to the librarian, who is arranging this thing, and she said students don't have to par ticipate - there are alternate activities planned. But I'm sure a lot of parents don't know about it.

'They would not let a pastor of the church come there," said Styes, "be cause that would cause a problem. Yet they let Gundella come here and tell the kids how to do certain things such as 'will' the phone to ring. I'm a Christian. They should not advocate that type of thing."

GUNDELLA, however, claimed she loween," said Gundella.

"I am not a satanist gist. I am not a missionary. I will be talking about the history of witchcraft and what it has to do with Halloween. I'll ask for a definition of a witch I'll talk about cauldrons and black hats and how or how not they are related."

Gundella, formerly a columnist for the Observer Newspapers, originally was a school teacher. She now is a lec turer and writer, after 22 years as a teacher.

"I have talked in schools before," she said. "And I am still welcomed.

"Students will sign up for the talk if they want to. It's primarily for the curious mind. I am an unscary person.' Gundella said she would not speak either for witchcraft or against religion. "Do they no longer speak about the Inquisition? This is history. I will not be talking about leaving religion. I will be simply explaining something. My own religion is omnist. I am for all religions and searching for God

Styes, however, said it was wrong to schedule Gundella. "I don't want her to come." she said.

STYES AND other members of First Baptist Church of Plymouth with students attending Plymouth Salem High contacted the Rev. Tom Pais, assistan pastor at the church.

About a week ago Sunday a youth in our congregation said they were going to have a witch speaking to students at Plymouth Salem," said Pals. "She rould be explaining her understanding of the power of positive thinking, black hats, and the dress of witchcraft for psychology students and American literature students studying the Salem Witch Trials."

Pals said Gundella had been scheduled, he believed, as an "authority on witchcraft" and had been intentionally cheduled for Oct. 30, the traditional 'devil's night" preceding Halloween.

Scheduled high school talk by Gundella has aroused opposition from church leader and some members of congregation.

By Dennis Coffman staff writer

Gene Sund is the kind of person communities had in mind when they began creating organizations.

Fighters

Personal problems forgotten in a quest to volunteer

Sund, 73, a member of the Plymouth-Canton Civitans, is president of the Plymouth Township Senior Citizens Club, enjoys bowling, traveling with the seniors group and helping mentally retarded children and the Salvation Army.

"I'm real happy we ended up in this area," said the former Massey-Perguson executive who retired in 1977.

"When I retired I knew 30 people. Today, I could name 1,000," said Sund. "I like the mod-erate climate, love the area, love the people."

erate climate, love the area, love the people." Sund is glad to be settling down after his years as an equipment salesman for Massey-Ferguson. "We moved seven times in 13 years. I once bought a house in Kansas City and never even moved into it." Sund started his career with Massey-Fergu-son in an inauspicious year - 1929 - in Omaha, Neb., then moved to the Perkins Ea-gine Division in Plymouth in 1967. "I always wanted to keep my finger on sales in some way. If you don't generate sales and profits, you don't amount to much."

people

SUND WAS parts manager, sales manager and service manager and did a lot of other things for a company that "changed presi dents as often as some people changed shirts." -te ** Sund's shirtsleeves were generally rolled up. "They'd say, 'well, you've got the experi-ence and we've got this problem.' You'd have a job title but that didn't have a lot to do with the job."

Because Massey-Ferguson was heavily involved with farm equipment, Sund got to know farmers well. "Tve rolled a lot of corn cobs under my feet. When I first started, I saw a lot of horse-drawn equipment. That dis-appeared around 1937 with the introduction of elf-propelled equipment." .In 1929, he earned $24.50 a week. "But they kept cutting back and laying off." Sund was down to $17.50. He was cut back to $14 a month but gradually worked his way up to $90 a month by 1937.

The war years were really what brought usey-Ferguson back. It wasn't much mon-Ma ey but things were cheap. Pork chops were three cents a pound. Massey made some profits during the war, with its first self-propelled combine

When they brought out the rubber-tired tractor, it was said these things would never work because they'd pack the ground. Later, they discovered it was good to pack the ground.

Sund has seen farming go from good times to bad times to good times to bad times.

"When I first became involved, you did not have to be too brilliant or too ambitious to make a good living at farming. You only needed two horses, a planter, a plow and the sunshine of the good Lord. Forty acres could make you a good living."

HE REMEMBERS the red dust in Oklahoa during the Dust Bowl of the 1930s and ma during the Dust Howl of the 1930s and topsoil drifting over fences like snow. "Couple that with the Depression and, had it not been for the government programs, I don't know what the farm community would have done."

In 1930 and 1931, Massey-Ferguson and other farm equipment companies had their va financing programs.

"Massey-Ferguson lost $3 million because farmers could not pay for whatever they bought. We had a serious cash-flow problem. I would go to a farm and get them up at 10 p.m. to get the milk check. I got what I could get and sent the money by Western Union to Massey-Ferguson but the company said not to cash my paycheck until it could clear," said Sand

He said there were not that many bank foreclosures then because FDR declared bank holidays until farmers could work out their financial problems.

"We did not want to foreclose on What would we do with it?"

Comparing farming then and now, he said, is like comparing apples and oranges. "It was tough times for farmers but it wasn't the same. Now there are bumper crops and a depressed market due to the strong dollar and huge federal deficit. Massey-Ferguson does not manufacture in the U.S. because it can build cheaper in France, Germany, Eng-land, Ireland, Mexico or Brazil. Even so, the farmer has nothing to buy farm equi with.

"I can remember when the pound sterling in 1967 was worth $2.80; $2.47 is the lowest can remember. But now, with the strong dol-lar, cheap freight and cheap cost of manufac-turing overseas, companies are puiling out of the U.S."

My own personal opinion - and I am speaking only for myself - is that the issue is not essentially with this gal Gundella, a self-professed witch, but with the school's propagation of religious beliefs. It's inappropriate for schools, which are not a religious forum, to have someone speaking about abstract paraphernalia because religion is intrinsically, inherently a part of its paraphernalia," said Pals.

WHEN ASKED why he never objected to other appearances, Pals said: "She has been here in the past, but I didn't know about it. If I had known, I would have raised objections. I understand that last year, she taught magic spells - how to get someone to call you up.

"That's like me teaching someone to pray. That's a discriminatory situation I want her not to be allowed to come in Pals said he had conveyed his thoughts to the library resources coordinator at Salem High. "She told me they planned to have a minister speak on apartheid. But that, too, is not OK with me, either," said Pals. "It would be offensive if an atheist spoke, too. What place does religion have in the schools? The schools are not for the propagation of religious beliefs."

Pals said Gundella's appearance was unnecessary "It is not necessary to enhance the knowledge of the Salem Witch Trials. There is no need to bring in a witch. I prefer that a witch not be a participant in any way, shape or form - or any other religious bodies, either. Pals said he had talked to Salem Principal Bill Brown. Brown said the school would go ahead with the Gundella lecture because it was part of the educational context. He said speakers are brought into the school to amplify issues being studied in school. Brown said students could pursue alternate activities if they did not want to attend Gundella's talk. Brown said he had been contacted by Styes and other parents, but indicated the Gundella lecture would proceed as scheduled. Pals said he intended to take the matter to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education

> DRAINING PARTS of three dozen cities, villages and townships in southeast Michigan, the Rouge has long been known as one of the worst rivers in Michigan - virtually an open drain spouting raw sewage and human waste. Officials note the pollution problem developed because the population in the area has exceeded the capacity of the aging drainage system, which relies on 180 combined sewer overflows (CSO) that pour stormwater and untreated sewage into the river. Systems installed today include separated

The Woodlands region of North America stretched from the Atlantic coast to the edge of the western prairies, from the Upper Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. Long before the arrival of the first Europeans, the lush, forested environment nurtured a series of vibrant, creative cultures. This exhibition examines nearly 5,000 years of native American art from the Woodlands region. These masterworks of sculpture, ceramics, copper, and shell work were created by the ancestors of present-day native Americans.

Ancient Art of the American Woodland Indians was organized by the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts in asso ciation with the National Gallery of Art. The exhibition and tour are made possible by the generous support of the National Endowment for the Arts, a Federal Agency; the Stroh Foundation, Flint Ink Corporation and the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts. # Group homes are gaining acceptance

TEAR OF THE unknown is one of in that neighborhood a year ago. the most powerful emotions motivating mankind.

And in our subdivisions, resistance to change generates fears of declining property values and threats to our children

These two fears especially have been prevalent in the past when discussions are held about the location of group homes for mentally retarded adults.

Without fail, discussions of each proposal bring objections from neighbors that their property values will decline and they'll be unable to sell their homes and that their children's safety will be threat-

Without fail, a look at the neighborhood one to three years later demonstrates that property values remain stable or actually ncrease and neighborhood children are as safe as they ever had been. Yet, each time a group home is proposed these same fears will emerge. -UNFORTUNATELY, Canton's image was tarnished when a proposed group home on Dionne Street became the target of vandalism within the past year. When the truth came out, the over-reaction really derived from a couple of individuals. The vandalism certainly does not reflect on the area itself or Canton astalked to them about their reactions to a over time. group home being located on their street. would be appropriate if neighbors decided to make a little extra effort in welcoming the retarded adults who will soon become good neighbors to all. Experience elsewhere has demonstrated that residents of group homes make group homes and they reported their attivery good neighbors and fears dissipate when people are given the opportunity to meet retarded people on a personal basis. An example of that kind of change has House in the City of Plymouth. A city ad- erated by the imagination. ministrator recently reported that in the ington House sold at a price at market There still is hope for us all. value and higher than the value of homes

As for the safety of children being threatened, the first Halloween after six mentally retarded adults moved into Lexington House more than 100 neighborhood children visited the home for treats.

One evident reason for the success is that the retarded adults had made special efforts to be visible in the neighborhood and to introduce themselves to neighbors. They also made a point to get involved. such as volunteering for the Neighborhood Watch program.

Personal contact is a great medicine to allay fears and misgivings among people. Unfortunately, mentally retarded persons do not often come into direct contact with significant numbers of children and adults unless and until they move into a neighborhood by occupying a group home.

A FACT which may surprise many readers is that acceptance of group homes. is now becoming the rule, rather than the exception An indication of this was seen 10 years ago when 85 percent of the respondents to a Gallop Poll said they would not object/to a group home containing six or fewer per sons on their block. In a national survey of 611 group

THE STATE Water Resources Commission this week paid a visit to the Rouge River, "the dirtiest river in Michigan and perhaps the dirtiest in the Great Lakes Region," in the tough words of WRC Chairman James E. Murray.

Murray, who makes his living as drain mmissioner of nearby Washtenaw County and so has some appreciation of rivers, talks of a united effort to reclaim the Rouge, which drains all 12 of the Observer & Eccentric area communities, and then some.

Can the ruler see his clothes?

ONCE UPON a time there was a nation where almost everyone was well fed and had nice places to live. The inhabitants often were told that they were among the richest people in the world - in fact, among the richest people who had ever lived. An earlier ruler of the country had promised that each family would have a chicken for every pot. That ruler had long since died, and the people were even wealthier than that. Besides a chicken for every pot, there was a personal travel vehicle and a tele- down by a golden cape which grew bigger vision set for almost every member of each family and an expectation that every family should have a device to make video-tape recordings of the television programs they watched. Rulers of the country did not descend from a long line of royalty but were ordained by the people. Rulers came from such humble beginnings as lemon farms and peanut farms and before becoming rulers held such positions as high school

THE RULER at the time we are talking about was a former sports announcer and movie actor. The people revered their ruler for his direct ways and his seeming ability to ensure that most families had a television in every room and a device to have to pay the ever-growing debt. make recordings of these programs, as well as the money to buy other goods for growing debt, but no one dared suggest years there was no money.

Alas, the people loved their ruler so much that they could not bear to see, as for the pursuit of happiness. time passed, that he was being weighted and bigger every year. The cape somehow was created by an ancient spell, which said that as the richest nation on earth borrowed from the future and went into debt, the cape would become longer and heavier.

THE RULER had always believed that it did not matter how much the nation borrowed from the future. He believed that somehow the total wealth of the nateacher, sports announcer and movie ac- tion would grow each year so that at no point would anyone have to pay the debt. What was important, the ruler used to say, was that he make sure the people's grandchildren didn't get blown up or destroyed in a war. No one suggested that this would mean that the country was saving the grandchildren so that they would

There are other sources of pollution Salt and oil from our roads - to which environmentalists have given the snazzy term of "non-point pollution" - degrade the water chemically.

A Plymouth Township lady of my acquaintance used to spot oil spills on the Middle Rouge. She would call the WRC and raise hell. Her chief suspect was a nearby auto dealer's garage.

I don't know if anybody ever proved anything, because the WRC inspector wouldn't talk to a newspaper - any newspaper. I complained about him to Lansing and received an insulting letter in WHO'S RESPONSIBLE for the Rouge's water quality? The buck starts with the state WRC.

The Rouge's branches flow through parts of Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties. Some 36 cities, townships and villages stretch along the Rouge's banks. And because the Rouge flows into the Detroit River, a Great Lakes connecting water, perhaps the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has a share of the responsibility

Reclaiming the Rouge, at least from pollution and chemical contamination, will be an enormous job with an enormous price tag. Even if the 41 units of government at the federal, state and local levels do it, the Rouge will still run brown.

cient spell began working another magic

Then one day a boy named Stockman said something that no one had dared say before. He said that the nation's future debt was such that the country was in peril, and he pointed out the growing golden capes weighing down the president - and everyone else, for that matter.

Stockman had at one time been in the ruler's court where he had spoken out. At that time, the ruler had taken him to the royal woodshed and lectured him on the necessity of being quiet.

So the people of the nation didn't trust Stockman, and they listened to their ruler who said there were no growing capes. As time went on, the people of the nation were so weighted down by their capes that they couldn't move, and all commerce stopped.

And that is how the richest nation on

Add up the suburban Detroit legislators and you'll find a powerful block of votes. But they need some watching by you and

You see, an $11.5 billion industry is out there waiting, just waiting, to be doubled. It's an industry which now provides this state 250,000 jobs and is itching to take on even more employees

Unfortunately this also is one of state government's stepchild industries.

WE'RE TALKING vacations. To solve its economic woes, Michigan needs to go on vacation. You heard me right - vacation. All this talk about high tech diversification and reviving the auto industry is just economic bandage talk. Sure, the Wolverine state needs some of these things to get along. But we need to do more than get along. To be economically born again, we must have a well-developed tourist indus-

A lot of folks up Lansing way take tourism for granted. As a matter of fact, residents all over the state figure that tourism will always just kind of be around - like an old, familiar wart.

THAT'S WHY the Crackerbarrel is going to keep an eye on area suburban dators - to see how they vote on a package of bills being introduced by state Sen. Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek.

In short, the package would create a department of recreation, tourism and

Barnaby over a number of commissions and coun

> DeMaso's bills would effectively put all these tourism responsibilities under one umbrella — if nothing else, certainly a nifty way to consolidate a little of the Lansing bureaucracy.

MICHIGAN IS a tourist Mecca. At present it is the state's second largest industry - a $11.5 billion business. DeMaso believes it could be a $24 billion one, if coordinated under one department. Somewhere around 250,000 persons depend on tourism for a paycheck each week. That translates to 35,000 businesses and public facilities.

Michigan is in a crucial 200-city battle for convention business. While we have 400,000 square feet of convention and exhibit space, our Chicago cousins boast of 1.2 million

The more travel and convention business we lose, the more money that comes out of our pockets. At present the state only attracts 9.7 percent of the family travel market. Supporters of a tourism department believe we could attract 28 percent

Keep in mind that for every percent in-crease in that market, an additional $125 uillion in direct travel expenditures and $10 million in state tax revenue would be raised. Jobs would increase by 6,000. Remember these facts, dear legislators, and take our concerns seriously. We'll be watching.

Area reps split on federal milk price supports

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes between Sept. 19-26. HOUSE

MILK - By a vote of 166 for and 244 against, the House rejected a amendment to attack the problem of milk over-production by lowering federal price supports for dairy farmers.

The vote occurred during consideration of a new five-year farm bill (HR 2100), which remained in

It was a defeat for the Reagan Administration, which praised the amendment as a cost-cutter that would give free-market forces more of a role in regulating supply and demand. But it was a victory for farm-state legislators and others who said the farm economy is too fragile to withstand cuts in federal income supports. The amendment sought to lower the present milk price-support level of $11.60 per hundred weight by cents annually until it reaches $10.10, the estimated price at which it no longer would be profitable for farmers to sell their surpluses to the govern-

Left intact by the vote was the House Agriculture Committee plan to control production through the incentive of paying farmers to thin out their herds. Price supports would rise slightly as surpluses are .

Backers said the committee plan would "cull cows" while the amendment would "cull farmers." Sponsor Robert Michel, R-Ill., said his amendment gave members a choice between "intervention through a cartel-like system, or faith in mar kets and freedom

Opponent Arlan Strangeland, R-Minn., said the amendment "would drive countless family farmers out of dairying by repeatedly imposing wrenching price support reductions until dairy supply and demand .... are in balance."

Members voting yes favored lowering dairy price supports. Voting yes were Republicans Carl Pursell of Plymouth and William Broomfield of Birmingham

Voting no were Democrats Dennis Hertel of Harper Woods, William Ford of Taylor and Sander Levin of Southfield. SUGAR - The House rejected, 142 for and 263 against, an amendment to reduce the federal support of raw cane sugar by one cent each year below the present level of 18 cents per pound, to a floor of 15 cents.

Beet sugar supports, which are tied to cane supports, also would have been lowered. The amendment was backed by the Reagan Administration. It was proposed to the new farm bill (above), which would continue the 18-cent level and allow it to rise but not fall during the life of the legislation. Supporter Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., said the existing federal sugar program, which limits imports and subsidizes growers, "is costing consumers $3 billion in order to help 13,000 producers." Opponent Bill Schuette, R-Mich., called the amendment "quite simply a blueprint for the demolition of the American sugar industry. Members voting yes wanted to lower sugar prices supports. Voting no: Pursell, Hertel, William Ford, Levin, Broomfield.

SENATE SUPERFUND - By a vote of 86 for and 13 against, the Senate passed and sent to the House a bill (HR 2005) to extend the Superfund for five more years, at a cost of $7.5 billion.

The money is to be used by the Environmental Protection Agency to clean up some of America's tens of thousands of abandoned toxic dumps. The money is to be raised by taxes on businesses rather than from general revenues.

Some $5.4 billion of the outlay would be raised by a new, broadly applied excise tax on producers and importers of certain raw and manufactured goods remainder would come from the tax on chemical raw materials that has financed the Superfund

Baseball becomes international

NOW THAT the Tigers have failed to win their second American League pennant in a row and qualify for baseball's World Series, it may be a long time - even years - be fore we see them in such a high place again.

A check of the records shows the Tigers waited 16 years between pennants before last year's pennant. And they waited 25 years between pennants before winning the 1934 and '35 pennants.

So they will have to come back to winning ways next season - or it could be another long wait.

TO MAKE this year's conditions all the more interesting is the fact that the Toronto Blue Jays are on the way, and when they win the pennant they will be giving Canada a place in the American national pastime - the first in history.

It is true that Japan has baseball. But in the Japanese case, the players are small, and travel-would be out of reach for participation in the to Detroit in 1927 So, you see, there is a big job cut

At that time, when the Olympia Stadium was built on Grand River Avenue, there was little thought that Detroit would become a centerpiece of hockey.

But Jack Adams, one of the wisest of coaches in the game, brought the Wings up to the Stanley Cup - and made the Canadians like it.

More than that, the Wings became one of the best teams in hockey up to that point. They made Detroit and Michigan hockey conscious. If Toronto wins in baseball, it will be only squaring accounts.

THERE WILL be another side to

it. If you check the Toronto roster you will find that Rick Leach, whom the Tigers virtually gave away, is with the Blue Jays, and it would be ironic if he should happen to get into the game and play a worthy part.

When the Tigers traded Leach, just before a game started, he was trying out for first base and, seemingly, doing well. He was a fine fielder. But the Tigers claimed he wasn't powerful enough at the plate and let him go.

Fate plays some funny tricks. It wouldn't be at all surprising if Leach, a one-time outstanding University of Michigan football quarterback, would come through in the baseball series and give the Canadians a hold on some of the national pastime honors.

There sure would be a bit of moaning in the Tiger camp. But such things do happen. It will be interesting to see what happens while we're waiting for the Tigers to win the pennant again.

WHAT DO YOU do when the band fails to show up at a wedding reception? You depend on the band for appropriate dinner music, dancing music, and to perform as master of ceremonies for the traditional wedding reception events.

Jean and Al Stanwood found themselves in a no-band situation after the marriage of their daughter, Susan, and Rusty Eubank. The wedding guests were assembled at the Mayflower Meeting House for the reception and the band had failed to put in an appearance.

Wedding guest and fellow Rotarian, Bill Morrison, had a suggestion for Al. Why not call Bob Sparling, Plymouth Rotary Club pianist? Bob saved the day. He came over and played dinner music for about an hour and a half.

In the meantime, the "younger generation" took over. They rounded up a stereo and speakers to provide music for dancing. And when an MC was needed, the Stanwoods' older daughter, Marion Dickel of Chicago, took microphone in hand and filled in. Marion was married in August.

Good old American ingenuity took over and the (older?) guests said they enjoyed it much more than a "noisy" hand

Cellist Cora Kuvvenhoven will make her debut with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra at 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 13, in Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium. Kuvvenhoven assumes the only endowed chair in the orchestra as it celebrates its 40th anniversary.

The endowed principal cello chair is memorial to the late Charles W. Heidt. He was 46 when he died in January 1983 while undergoing open heart surgery. At the time of his death he was chief executive officer of Document Processing Co., organized in Plymouth and then relocated in Farmington. He was a former president of First National Bank of Plymouth and had spent 14 years with National Bank of Detroit

KUYVENHOVEN was born in Alberta, Canada, As a teen-ager she was a cello instructor at the Mississauga School of Music in Ontario, received a "Stars of Kiwanais" award in Toronto, and went on tour to Hawaii with Symphony Canada.

In the past four years, she has per-formed with the Canadian Chamber Orchestra in Banff, Alberta; Orchestra London in London, Ontario; Kingston Symphony, Kingston, Ontario; and the ICM Chamber Orchestra and Milwaukee Ballet Orchestra in Wisconsin.

She earned her master of fine arts degree at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in 1985. Before that, she studied in the Orchestral Training Program and the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto, graduate study in the Banff School of Fine Arts, Alberta; and the Institute of Chamber Music in Milwaukee

She now lives in Ann Arbor where she has a graduate fellowship grant at the University of Michigan.

FUNDING FOR the endowed cello chair came from a special memorial concert in the Little Theater of Plymouth Canton High School.

Heidt's widow, Connie, chose the cello chair as a memorial because of her husband's long "love affair with the cello." She explained, "He discovered the cello as a young boy and seriously pursued his study of the instrument, including majoring in music at Cass Technical High School.

Although a career in business eventually superseded his musical endeavors, Chuck's love of music, in particular the cello, remained strong."

Connie Heidt was joined by friends in arranging the memorial concert. Joann Hulce, Wilma Newton, Gae McCord, Phyllis Kordick, Jan McKelvey, Carol Stirton, Frankie LaMirand, Judy Moore, Audrey Etienne, Linda West, Fran Lang, Jean Sigmon, Wilma Wagner, Sue Gruebel, Paul Perrot and Joe Kordick helped with the arrangements.

AUDITIONS for the endowed chair were Sept. 7 and Cora Kuyvenhoven, 24, was selected from the field of candidates. The opening concert of the 1985-86 season also marks the debut of Charles Greenwell, interim conductor.

John Mohler, principal clarinetist with the Plymouth Symphony since 1958, will be featured soloist in a tribute to Mozart. He will be soloist in Mozart's Concerto for Clarinet and Orchestra in A.

Seasons tickets still are available and single tickets are $6 for adults and $3.50 for senior citizens and full-time college students. Students 12th grade and under are admitted free.

The auditorium is on Joy Road west of Canton Center.

Westwick, is one of the most-photographed in Britain. She says she is an incurable bargain hunter and seldom returns from flower-judging competitions or lecture tours without some new treasure.

Basically, her flower containers are pretty but muted so they enhance rather than detract from arrangements.

She has found many of them on her bargain-hunting forays - tea caddies (she puts a jam jar inside to hold water), silver bowls and cups, and an assortment of baskets. She says she likes pale alabaster urns, they give importance to an arrangement and take on the colors of flowers.

She never has less than six arrangements in Westwick, which was made of three 400-year-old cottages. In a bedroom, white walls, white Indian carpet, white bed covers, and unimportant pieces of furniture painted white, dramatize the good pieces and make even a simple floral arrangement sing with color.

in the mid 1970s, more than 700 clubs have joined the project, among them the Plymouth-Canton Civitan Club.

Ever see a box of wrapped red and white mints beside the cash register of an eating place? Ever drop some change into the canister and take a mint? You have contributed to your local Civitan Club and Civitan International. The Brock Candy Co. supplies the mints and the local club maintains the boxes

Brock Candy Co. honored the top two clubs for 1984-85. Number One was the Plymouth-Canton Civitan Club, Gene Sund, who chaired the project, collected $35,501.42 on 340 cases of candy for a gross average of $104.41. The San Antonio, Texas, club came in second with $11,105.64 on 110 cases for a gross case average of $100.96.

For districts with more than 25 clubs, Michigan was the top district. Those nickets, dimes and quarters really count up.

TOWNE SAMPLER, the Junior Service League of Ann Arbor's holiday shopping event, will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 19 at Applicon, 4251 Plymouth Road, Ann Arbor. All proceeds will be donated to charitable projects by the league.

This year's theme will be "Mostly Michigan," featuring unusual gift iems and artworks by primarily Michigan artisans. Ad ission will be $2.

Flower-pot luncheon prepared by the Herb Study Group at the Gardens will accompany the noon lecture by Sheila MacQueen.

Sheila MacQueen, Britain's leading authority on flower arranging, has extensive gardens on the grounds of her home, Westwick Cottage, supplying almost year-round blooms. She will demonstrate her art Tuesday at the Mattheel Botanical Gardens.

O&E to publish charity yule cards

ES, VIRGINIA - and anyone else who has been wondering - the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers will again publish holiday greeting cards of nonprofit and non-political organizations.

The annual special promotion will appear in all 12 O&E Suburban Life sections on Thursday, Oct. 24.

Non-profit and non-political organizations are invited to submit to the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers by Thursday, Oct. 17, five copies of each card they will be selling. The newspaper reserves the right to select one sample for publication if more than one style of card is submitted.

EVERY EFFORT will be made to publish all cards received by Oct. 17. Cards received later will be publishe throughout the holiday season as space permits.

Information pertaining to ordering the cards will appear with photographs of the cards to aid readers in making a election.

As in the past, organizations are requested to include such information as:

· Price per box and number of cards per box

Price for larger quantities

 Price for imprinting and deadline for imprinting

· Where cards can be bought · Telephone number, if more information is needed.

In addition to publishing the cards, the O&E will contin another tradition, that of having display books of charity cards for public viewing at five of our offices: Birmingham, 1225_____ Bowers; Rochester, 410 Main; Farmington, 33202 Grand River, Livonia, 36251 Schoolcraft; and Plymouth, 489 S. Main.

The display books will be available beginning Monday, Oct.

The holiday greeting card feature was begun by the Observer & Eccentric several years ago as a public service on behalf of the many area charitable organizations that use the sale of holiday cards as a means of fund raising and for residents who want to help them by buying the cards.

'New beginning

Characterized as a "new beginning," members of the Church of the Savior, Reformed Church in America, 38100 Five Mile, Livonia, broke ground recently for an expansion of the church building. More than a dozen members of the congregation participated by turning the first shovel of soil. General chairman Charles McCartney (left) called the project "a new beginning" of service and ministry to the community. Pastor Gerald Dykstra (right) noted that the building was a tool to be used in proclaiming the Gospel of Jesus Christ. The expansion program includes an enlarged sanctuary and fellowship hall. New church offices will be constructed, and the restroooms remodeled to make room for use by the handicapped. Also participating in the service was John Mulder (second from left), chairman of the building committee. In the background is Mayor Edward McNamara who brought greetings on behalf of the city of Livonia.

Hunger an unpalatable political issue

AST SUNDAY I had a strange en counter of the uncomfortable kind. It happened somewhere along Six Mile Road in the middle of the CROP walk for hunger.

The encounter of which I speak had nothing to do with creatures from strange planets unless we can call our own planet strange. Rather it was a meeting between people truly con-cerned about the plight of the hungry. After all, that was the purpose of the walk. The CROP-sponsored event was to raise both consciousness and money to relieve the hunger of at least some folks who put their children to bed with empty stomachs on a regular basis.

What I came upon was a discussion between walkers. It seems that one of the walkers was carrying a petition concerning the arms race. She was seeking signatures from among the walkers. The discussion was about the petition. Mind you, it was a discussion not a fight but nonetheless disturbing.

Some of the walkers, who, as I have said, obviously cared about the welfare of humankind, took issue with "bringing politics to a walk for hunger." They Southfield Saturday afternoon, trying to convince a work colleague, who planned to go grocery shopping, to join him for an afternoon football game. "C'mon," he said. "The stores are open until 9.

Torin Dorn only works from 2 to 4." Dorn, the standout Southfield High School running back, actually works beyond those hours; he was just on display between 2 and 4 p.m. Saturday when he ran for three touchdowns and led the undefeated Blue Jays past Ferndale, 20-14. Dorn is more than a football player. He's a drawing card. People come from all areas to watch him play. He was featured in the Detroit News dressed in a choir boy outfit — and was named Channel 7's Athlete of the Week a while back. Since then, Southfield athletic director Fred Goldberg has, been busy answering phones from inquisitive football fans.

"After that interview (on Channel 7), I probably got half a dozen phone calls from people asking about Torin Dorn," Goldberg said. "I had a guy call from Madison Heights wanting to know if he was for real and where the rest of the games were.

"I GET CALLS from people asking if we can send them a copy of our schedule. At our game Saturday, I saw coaches there who weren't scouting because they already played us and Ferndale; they just want to see a good football player," Goldberg explained, then added, "and a good football team." True, Southfield is a good football team, but Dorn is who they pay to see. You think people dished out $17.50 for the Bruce Springsteen concert just to see Charence Clemmons? Me neither.

For real, you ask? You betcha. He's one of the best I've ever seen at that level. Dorn has piled up 693 yards on 76 carries for a 9.1 rushing average. He's scored 11 rushing touchdowns and returned a punt 82 yards for another score.

"He's the only one we let score," Southfield coach Cal Fletcher quipped. Actually, Fletcher doesn't prevent other players

Actually, Fletcher doesn't prevent other players from scoring; Dorn just doesn't give anyone else much of a chance.

"He can pop 'em from anywhere," Fletcher said. Dorn's touchdown runs alone total 216 yards. He averages 19.6 per rushing TD, and 24.8 counting the punt return.

Goldberg, who estimated 2,100 fans were in attendance Saturday, added, "I know about 99 percent of the people at Southfield, and I'd say a large percentage of the people at our game Saturday were just interested football people. He's definitely created an interest, and our crowds have been better. I think it's because of him."

AFTER WATCHING Dorn Saturday, and looking around at the crowd, I thought of a Phil Collins song, "The Man With The Horn." It's an import on the flip side of the "One More Night" single. I hope Phil doesn't mind, but I took the liberty of arranging my own musical parody, and it's entitled, "The Man They Call Dorn." Hit it

Salem stops Mercy cold

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Farmington Hills Mercy has ended Plymouth Salem's basketball season the past two years. Both years Salem's season-ending loss came in the regional finals of the state Class A tournament. Both years, Mercy went to Kalamazoo and Salem went home.

Imagine, then, the unmitigated, unrestrained joy the Rock players must have felt Tuesday night after convincingly defeating Mercy in front of an excited home crowd, 43-38. °

"It's not so much because we beat a Catholic League team, that's not what's important," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "It's that we beat a team that has earned state recognition the past six, seven, eight years, and they are still recognized as one of the top basketball programs in the state.

"This win lends credence to the fact we are a good basketball program, too, and have been for some time. But we haven't always gotten the recognition as such because people say, 'Well, they play in the suburbs' and all that. Well, our kids play hard and they play smart."

AND IF YOU haven't heard by now, Salem plays defense, oppressive manto-man defense. For four quarters the Rocks hounded and badgered Mercy.

The early sign of Salem's defensive effectiveness was several missed layups by the Marlins. Later it became obvious that Mercy was never really able to get into its offensive flow.

"Plymouth Salem played very intelligent, yet aggressive man-to-man defense and successfully jammed up our offense. I think you saw some tentativeness from us in our half-court offense," said Mercy coach Larry Baker. Mercy (5-2) made just 14 of 40 shots and turned the ball over 21 times, sevand turned the ball over 21 times, s en times in the fourth quarter.

The Marlins had only one scorer reach double figures — Terri Ford who scored 12 hard-earned points. She also grabbed eight rebounds and virtually kept Mercy in the game single-handedly in the third quarter.

SALEM HELD Mercy scoreless for the first three minutes of the second half and seven-straight points from senior center Laura Clifford put Salem ahead 30-18.

Ford countered that spree with seven points and two steals to pull Mercy within four, 32-28, after three quarters. Mercy crumbled at the beginning of the fourth quarter. Consecutive steals by Dena Head, Kristen Hostynski and Head again and three long-range jump shots by Jessica Handley and Salem was up 40-30.

Just about time for the celebration to begin.

For the Rocks (6-2), Handley scored 12, Clifford 11 and Head 10. Head also pulled down 12 rebounds and did a solid job defending Ford.

"THERE'S THREE things that you have do to beat this Mercy team," Thomann said. "You have to stop their transition game. Our kids took away their fast breaks off the defensive rebound. No. 2, Mercy likes to score at the basket inside. So you have to be in a position to take that away and our inside 'D' was good tonight."

Clifford, Keri McBride and Stacy Sovine effectively took Mercy's twin towers Missy Duczynski and Terri Nalodka virtually out of the game. Mc-Bride and Sovine are both sophomores. "No. 3," Thomann continued, "you have to take away their offensive patterns. They run real good offensive sets, and they put you in a situation

I think it's going to be a big hit. Well, Dorn will be anyway. I'm not sure Phil's going to give me the release.

In closing, I think I can save you the trouble of calling Goldberg this week. Dorn — I mean Southfield — plays at home 2 p.m. Saturday. I think they're playing Berkley. Not that it matters. He guided the Ocelots to a 16-4-2 record and into the NJCAA finals.

That's a pretty tough act to follow, but this year's edition, Dudek felt, could be better. Sure, super scorer Sue Ferguson was gone (she scored 39 goals and assisted on 11 others), but Dudek figured the 1985 team to possess better depth and balance.

He also knew that, even though improved, the record probably wouldn't reflect it.

That's because the schedule has been far more difficult. After tying Michigan State and Nassau (N.Y.) Community College over the weekend, the Ocelots are 2-2-3.

THEIR LOSSES have comerciagainst NCAA-ranked University of Cincinnati and University of Michigan. Their other tie was to Xavier, another NCAA Division I team.

"It's not what you'd call a really impressive record," admitted Dudek. "But we have played some very tough teams. We're just starting to jell. Both games that we lost came on artificial turf, too, and that's a completely different type of game that we're not used to."

Last weekend was the first of two major confrontations for Schoolcraft, and Dudek couldn't have been much happier with the results. The Ocelots battled back from a 2-0 second-half deficit to the MSU 2-2 Saturday on goals by Denise Piwko (her seventh) and Troy Athens' graduate Lori Nicley (her fourth).

On Sunday, Schoolcraft faced the team it lost to in last year's NJCAA finals — Nassau. The two teams fought through two overtimes without either side getting a goal, the contest ending in a scoreless tie.

going into Saturday's game. The Spartans whipped Nassau 3-2 Friday with Caroline Trout, from Bloomfield Hills Lahser, whistling in a direct kick from 35 yards out for the game-winner.

Trout repeated that shot against Schoolcraft 11 minutes into the second half, putting MSU up 2-0. The first Spartan goal was notched by Michelle Wise, from Farmington Harrison, with Livonia Stevenson grad Tina Galindo assisting.

But Schoolcraft mounted its comeback, with Piwko scoring 16 minutes into the second half and Nicley tying it three minutes later on an assist from Livonia Bentley grad Sheri Wolfe.

"That could have been a turning point for us, against Michigan State," said Dudek. "We built up a lot of confidence this weekend.

"I've got to give Sheri Wolfe a lot of credit. She had to mark Michigan State's Julie Gnau (from Lahser) and held her scoreless. Then she had to mark Nassau's top scorer, and she held her scoreless."

THE ENTIRE Schoolcraft defense sparkled against Nassau, but goalkeeper Doreen Beagle, from Stevenson, made the play of the game when she stopped a Nassau breakaway with three minutes left in regulation. Wendy Propp was also superb at sweeperback. Nassau played four sames in these Nassau played four games in three days at Schoolcraft, beating U-M 3-0 and pounding Oakland University 7-0. The defending NJCAA champs are 6-2-1 for the season.

The Ocelots now face another difficult weekend of competition. "There's no break in the schedule," said Dudek, pointing to games against Monroe Community College, another NJCAA tournament qualifier, at 3 p.m. Saturday, followed by Miami (of Ohio) University at 1 p.m. Sunday. After a terrible start, Schoolcraft got its game together to break a scoreless deadlock at halftime, ollecting four second-half goals en route to a 4-0 victory. The win boosted the Ocelots to 5-1-1 for the season and kept them undefeated in Region XII play after three games. The Ocelots' exploits are also being recognized nationwide - they are currently ranked 11th in the JCAA.

Schoolcraft lost 2-1 last year at Cuyahoga before rebounding to win the Region XII bid to the NJCAA egional playoffs. Saturday the Ocelots struggled vely in the first half, but the defense was uperb in keeping Cuyahoga off the board.

"OUR DEFENSE was great," said Schoolcraft coach Van Dimitriou. "We're having a little probem with our offense. I think the prol was overanxiety. Our shots were a little wide, our passes were a little long.

John Gelmisi, from Livonia Stevenson, ignited Schoolcraft's second-half surge, assisting on the first goal and scoring the second. Dan Ortiz collect-ed the first goal. Gelmisi turned a Matthew Pace pass into the Ocelots' second score. "John's the kind of player who always digs for the hall," said Dimitriou. Salem senior has lost but five games If you total her games, her record is 120-5 Things will get tougher for Gilles in a couple weeks when the prep teams begin state tournament play. Speaking of that, keep an eye on both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth

Canton during the state tourney. Salem is currently undefeated, and Canton's lone loss was at the hands of the Rocks. One more tennis note found among the sheaves: Kelly Davidson, who enjoyed great success while playing No. singles at Farmington Harrison, is Uh huh. Blohm's JV team has yet to the No. 6 singles player at the University of Alabama.

> What's this? "I'm glad more public teams are challenging the non-public teams."

THIS YEAR. Salem has challenged Mercy, Ladywood and DePorres in girls basketball. The Canton soccer team has challenged Catholic Central The Farmington boys cross country team made no secret that their No. target at the Haslett Invitational was to stop all the bickering and feuding If Baker needs Ford to score, Ford between the two entities is to put on the gloves and battle - on the play ing field.

Maybe (but I doubt it) the swim teams will take heed. Wouldn't it be great to see North Farmington swim Mercy so we can tell who is truly No. 1 in the city? Or, what about Livonia Stevenson vs. Mercy? Well, maybe not this year.

Geez, don't I have any footbal notes around here? Oh, here's a whole unch on Bob Wasczenski. Well, I'd better not print these. My mother once said if you can't say something nice about someone, shut your mouth. Let me just make on comment on

In recent years, zero coupon bonds will owe low or no taxes on the annual have become extremely popular. Today's column deals with the pros and ons in investing in zeros.

What are they?

Zero coupon bonds are a lot like U.S. Savings Bonds. You pay a fraction of the face amount. Upon maturity, you redeem the bond at full face value.

It is called "zero" because you get no

"When it really comes down to it, we are making an expensive film because we have many location sites and use a lot of extras. What I'm saying is, our movie is not just seven people sitting around a living room talking about the past. When the film is distributed, people will be amazed at how low our budget is - $600,000."

ALEXANDER, the camera assistant, is building a knowledge of movie making and building some muscle in her job. Her duties include positioning an 80-pound camera.

"I took up weight lifting so I could lift the camera without hurting myself," she said. She makes sure that the lens is set and, after every shot she removes the lens and makes sure the The is clean. The gate is where film revolves behind the lens. She chose assistant camera work because she wants to acquire a greater working knowledge of the tools of her trade Alexander, who studied photography and interned at the Detroit Institute of Arts, is a graduate of the Center for Creative Studies, Art and Design, in Detroit.

Peter Deming, a graduate of the American Film Institute in Los Angeles, is director of photography. In 1982, he was director of photography on "The ilence," a short film that was nominated for an Academy Award. Alexander and Deming work closely together

'It's the only way," Alexander said. "Teamwork and respecting each other's jobs, from the simplest fessional in whatever we do, plus we do it with a sense of humor. We are producing a first-rate film and having a good time doing it. Credit for that does belong to the director.

White is a patient man, and he often injects a bit of humor to release the tension that so often comes before a shooting.

He graduated first in his class at Berkley High School, where he was a math and science awardwinner. He said he felt he was "too intelligent" and wanted to get a degree, but everything bored him until he discovered films - then that became his major.

BROWN, THE KEY grip, is in charge of lighting. With his crew, he spends hours adjusting the great beams mounted on huge frames and backed up with glare-proof sheets of metal. Even during a dark, stormy day, he manages to create the proper amount of light for a scene.

Scnwartz, the company's production secretary, is based in Swan Production's office on Main Street, Ann Arbor. In addition to her regular secretarial duties, Schwartz also is called upon to process production requests that come in via the constantly ringing telephones.

Barry Waldman, production manager, also is based in Swan Production headquarters, and he's never without a phone.

"You might say my job is like a manager in a store. I'm a direct link between production and crew. I'm a trouble shooter and make sure things knows just how far along they are in producing the "The production is on schedule - that's good," he

He re-cently worked on "Cease Fire," featuring Don Johnson, the star of "Miami Vice," and Lisa Blount of "An Officer and a Gentleman." Waldman calls New York City and Miami home.

Live from Westland

A segment of "Live from Lincoln Center" at 8 p.m. Saturday will focus on Gregory Jbara, a Wayne Memorial High School graduate from Westland. The program, which airs on Channel 56, features students from the Juilliard School's theater program. Jbara, in his final year at Juilliard in New York City, studied theater for two years at the University of Michigan and appeared locally in many productions before moving to New York.

OK, so it's not a movie But this look back at favorite "Honeymooner" TV episodes, starring Jackie Gleason, sparks an interesting debate. One of the episodes to be reviewed has been colorized That is, the original black and white film has been electronically enhanced so that Ralph and Alice Kramden and their best friends, the Nortons, will appear in color So will the Kramdens' clothes, heir apartment and their meager furnishings. The flesh tones will be approximations of Caucasian skin tones, the fashions and decor won't necessarily eflect the true color of the props originally used in

All this is of interest because they're beginning to colorize movies, too. The process, some say, is a Fortions of Alfred Hitchcock's original television series have been colorized and revamped for the new TV season. Dance numbers featuring Fred Astane and Ginger Rogers have been colorized and are in limited distribution. And they're talking about coloring some Frank Capra classics, too.

MANY FILM aficiandos are upset by all this, though. They say it will destroy the character of a work like "It's a Wonderful Life" to splash pretty colors all over it. Capra himself is fighting the action, although earlier he agreed to allow that 1946 classic starring James Stewart and Donna Reed to Others are worried that exquisitely photographed, black-and-white classics like "Citizen Kane" and "Casablanca" will be colorized next thus destroying the masterful, chiaroscuro effects of top-notch cinematographers. In a way, all the above is true.

If black-and-white classics are colorized, a por ion of them will be lost. No one's talking about destroying the originals, of course. But TV stations likely will jump at the opportunity to show a colorzed "Casablanca," relegating the original to the back of the station's movie vault, at least for a while

On the other hand, colorized versions of classic i.e., old films may awaken a new generation of mo viegoers to the delights of pre-"Star Wars" cine matic endeavors. You know this new generation of moviegoer - they're the ones that 90 percent of the new movies - and 100 percent of the junk - in made for. They're also the ones who wouldn't go see a new Woody Allen movie because it was made in gag me with a spoon!) black and white.

Who knows? Maybe it takes a colorized "Casa blanca" to alert cinematic adolescents to the fact that most of what they like is rubbish. They might even become discerning moviegoers as a result And then we could get back to films that aren't just pretty colors and special effects.

Bed 'n Breakfast — bonanza for travelers

ED AND BREAKFAST tra has come a long way since its genesis – the tourist homes we stayed in when we were kids. Some people say the idea began in Europe and England and was brought back to the States by traveling Americans, but you and I know better.

Remember those vacations when we drove up to a house with a sign on the curb "Tourists - Rooms"? The front porch light would be lit and we'd twist the bell and then stumble upstairs behind a bathrobed host. We'd find, most of the time, beds that smelled like Fels

Talk about a big open house party. "Homearama '86," which opens today, is the most impressive so far in terms of size, price and scope.

This event, third of its kind, sponsored by the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, features 14 model homes in the $400,000 to $600,000 range: These completely furnished models showcase not only the best efforts of architects and builders, but the latest and most lavish in furnishings, fixtures and technology.

Styles vary from the nine-room "Sun Villa" by James D. Compo Inc. with a passive solar sun room and secluded master suite with loft to Peg Construction's Tudor English, "The Heritage," with paneled oak library and John Richard Development Company's three-floor, 12-room "Kingswood," with an all glass triangle breakfast room and 22 skylights.

Outstanding extras include such things as door jet-pool with jetstreams for swimmers smile approvingly, for saunas, exercises to stroke against in Robert R. Jones areas and whirlpools, rise to a new level of Associates'"Galleria"; enclosed morning importance. garden room in Crannie, Inc.'s "Royal Topaz"; and the kitchen with the greenhouse effect window, in Dakota Building's "The Ashley." HOMEARAMA '86 may have revived the Italian marble business, it's used generously in many of the houses. And gracious stairways never had it so good. Dave Kellett of Kellett Construction Co. has twin stairways in the domed ceiling foyer of his Corinthian-columned "Chesapeake." Great setting for a wedding or a debut. Elaborate crown, door and window molding can be found in abundance. And glass is etched, stained, leaded, beveled, shaped, curved and, in most instances, is both functional and decorative.

Book sellers will delight in the number

The master bathrooms are as big as the living rooms of medium priced homes, and the master suites as big as a lot of starter homes.

Homearama '86 runs through Oct. 20. Hours are noon to 11 p.m. Monday-Friday and 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $4, but discount coupons are available at First Federal of Michigan offices and Detroit Edison.

A display area with information on home financing, heating and cooling and many aspects of construction, will be set up for visitors.

built by Robert R. Jones Associates, opens to two-story, circular foyer with a black and white Italian marble floor and Master bedroom of the "Chesapeake," above, is 18th century in style and 21st century in conveniences. The wool coverlet on the king-size bed is blue and white, the carpet rose and the two colors used throughout the room. The master bathroom at right, one of the most beautiful in the show, is in Peg Construction's "The Heritage." It is done in shades of cream with gold fixtures. It is octagon shape with a beamed ceiling. There is a built-in vanity and mirror on three of the eight sides.

The family room of "Chestnut Manor" by Bing Construction Company has a contemporary look. Basic colors are taupe and block with matching oriental pattern chintz for the drapes and straight chairs. The 5,000 square foot house has 10 rooms.
