New committee to study cityhood status

A study of the possibility of Canton Township becoming a city is under Sandy Preblich, Carol Bodenmiller, Theodore J. Grabbe, Henry C. Whalen and David McDonald were appointed Tuesday by Canton Supervisor James Poole and will tackle the pros and cons of the controversial issue.

Proponents of Canton becoming a city say the switch will kill chances of other communities slicing away at Canton's borders through annexation. Cityhood would protect an important ernment power to administer road service (presently provided by Wayne County) and allow Canton to reap state weight and gas tax rebates.

Canton is the fourth largest township of 1,242 townships in Michigan. The average township population in Michigan is 3,368

"Yet despite the obvious differences with these communities, Canton must comply with the same legislative directives," a report presented by the trustees said.

Canton has evolved from a mainly rural community to a bustling commercial and residential development munity depends in large part on the local government's ability to adapt and grow," the report said.

A separate proposal - also presented by the four trustees - suggests a study of the pros and cons of hiring a professional manager to replace the strong supervisor format in the local government.

If adopted, the supervisor, clerk and treasurer positions would be cut to part time.

A committee has been meeting regularly to study the strong manager for-The members include: Dan Du rack, Canton personnel director. Phil

A-team group shifts its gears

The A-team may be starting its final season in Plymouth and Canton

The federally funded drunk driving detection effort, launched in 1983, has been hampered by dwindling police participation due to burnout and scheduling difficulties, at least in Plymouth, said traffic Officer Robert Henry Drunk drivers also are getting harder to find, Henry maintains.

Both Plymouth and Canton have been allocated about $5,200 for the budget year which began Oct. 1. The monies must be used for overtime.

"We don't have the manpower or interest," Henry said. "It will still work, but not on as large a scale.'

Henry said he is currently the only City of Plymouth officer willing to the drunk-driving problem. He said he gets out every other weekend.

"I think as people became aware of the program, drunk drivers got harder to find," he added.

Henry, though, believes that the program has served its purpose.

WHILE ACCIDENTS are up, drunkdriving related accidents are down substantially," he said. The average breathalyzer reading when the program started was 0.15 to 0.16, he continued. Now, it's 0.11.

A reading above 0.10 is considered legally drunk.

O'Toole's philosophy in the whole scheme of life is that people have to 'learn their priorities and have respect for themselves and society.

If he had his way, he'd be wrestling full time, but in 1972 he was forced to get a "real job" as security guard because of a rib injury.

O'Toole began wrestling at age 15, a sport he took up as a child while growing up in Mount Healthy, Ohio, 12 miles northwest of Cincinnati. At age 15,

"I guess I would disagree with some of their conclusions . . . and feel they sidestepped some issues I raised," Pals said of the committee's report.

The committee didn't buy Pals' claims that Gundella (Kuclo) lacked academic credentials to address students, that allowing her to speak without rebuttal would violate academic fairness and that her appearance would besmirch the constitutional principle of separation of church and state.

This decision ran contrary to the Christian Bible which emphatically states in Deuteronomy 18: 19-12 the following: "There shall not be found among you anyone that maketh his son or daughter to pass through the fire; or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch, or wizard, or charmer, or consulter with familiar spirits, or a necromancer, for all those things are an abomination unto the Lord."

A self-confessed witch named Gundella, whose real name is Mariannne Kuclo from Garden City, has been invited to speak to Salem High students on Oct. 30 which is "devil's night."

Gundella callously claims that she is searching for God. If so, why is she contradicting in action the words of the Bible? Is this not only a ploy for decep-

Atheists base their belief upon the onception that there is no God or dev il. Because this is the rule of the public school system, why is the religion of witchcraft permitted? # In half a decade, library is formed

The Canton Public Library observed its fifth anniversary of service to residents on Sunday, Oct. 20.

Canton, which had been part of the Plymouth Library district for many years. built its own library and split off from that district in the fall of 1980. At the time. Canton had been contributing almost 40 percent of the cost of operating the public library.

The township residents now have a beautiful library facility on the second floor of the Canton Administration Building. In its early years, the library has enjoyed orderly growth and it now offers full service to the Canton community.

The library has grown from a staff of three full-time librarians, three library clerks and three pages to a staff of seven full-time librarians, three part-time librarians, seven library clerks, and seven

The total print collection has grown from 20,000 to more than 70,000 books with the annual circulation of library materials exceeding 280,000.

The Canton Public Library offers a variety of programs for children and adults. The library owns a varied collection of ficton and non-fiction books, foreign language and large-print materials, records, and videocassettes for adults.

In many areas (such as the district and school district) it would not make much sense for Canton to break off existing relationships and form their own service agency. But in the case of library service, the move was a wise one which has taken less than five years experience to prove

The economic turmoil of the 1930s led to the shutdown of any number of Michigan banks during the "bank holidays" that started in 1933. Congress passed an act that gave federal examiners power to decide which national banks were sound enough to reopen and the state Legislature ovided a similar procedure for state

A total of 436 state banks and trust companies were closed. Of these, 207 were allowed to reopen, 170 were allowed to reorganize and 59 were placed in

Then came the treat.

ALL SUMMER we struggled with a garden and preparing ground. Each day we wondered what it would look like in the

Finally, the hot weather ceased and as the chill came in the air the leaves started to turn. It was quite a sight.

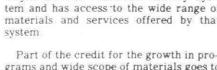

Each day we'd take the time to sit out on the lawn and just look at the trees. It didn't bother us that when the leaves fell we would have a job getting rid of them. The sight at the time was too enjoyable to think anything would change our minds.

THIS YEAR, it seems, Mother Nature put on a special show. Not only did she display a lot of leaves, but the colors seem more vibrant and more beautiful than in

One of the reasons is the fact that she seemed to add what the lady of the house calls a red bud tree. It is beautiful and makes this showing complete.

Now the leaves are coming tumbling down and the red adds to the beauty even when they are lying on the ground. Sure, it is going to be a job raking them off the lawn. Sure, the sight of the green grass will be welcome again. But with the color as it has been for the past week and a sight that no artist could paint, the period has been too short. Too bad she just can't stage an encore.

If you haven't taken advantage yet of the excellent materials and services available, stop by the Canton Public Library at Canton Center Road and Proctor, just south of Cherry Hill, and spend an hour or two browsing. You will leave with an appreciation of how much has been acomplished in just five years. You also likely will form a new habit of using the LEVITTOWN (actually there were three) was the brainchild of Abraham Levitt and sons Alfred and William. Their concept was to build an affordable house with all the amenities for a small, middleincome family. They primarily were built for GIs just home from World War II. Sociologist Herbert Gans told us about True it hadn't a basement or garage. But "each section had a village green and stores and very good schools," she says.

Levittown and its progeny were housing concepts that gave young Americans the chance to grow and to make a dream come true. Sure the scale was different. But maybe it was more sane.

Each year we build larger and more expensive homes that shut out more middle class families. Certainly a market exists for the half million dollar home. In every society since the beginning of time, rich people have been around.

But we must preserve the middle class. We must preserve a system that allows young persons to get a start on life - a chance to become part of the middle class.

What price public office?

STATE TREASURER Robert Bowman is under fire for his role in helping solicit campaign contributions for the next reelection campaign of Gov. James Blanch-

Some critics have suggested that he did more than make lists of New York-based bonding attorneys and financial houses who "might" possibly contribute to the governor's re-election.

One critic has implied that Bowman's role amounted to coercion. The implication being that if you don't cough up you won't get any of the considerable bonding business that the state of Michigan awards to New York firms.

Bowman has refused to take such a rap claiming that all he did was prepare the lists of possible contributors.

IT IS probable that Bowman is no more guilty of arm twisting than any of huntreds of government and party officials engaged in soliciting campaign funds for a variety of national, state, county and local

One of the problems with electing officials to any job is that the election process has become big business engaging the talents of a variety of arm-twisters, fundraisers, image-builders and assorted has $1.5 million in his political campaign fund and is still intent on raising more, to beat a candidate who has only a ghost of a chance of defeating him in November.

Politicians in Wayne County are gearing up to run for Wayne County executive. The experts say a legitimate contender should plan on spending $400,000. Even races for local office are horrendously expensive. In Livonia, some council candidates have already reported spending $15,000 in the primary and the general election isn't until November. The problem with such extravagant election spending is that office-seekers and office-holders have to rely too much on large contributors to ensure any tenure Unfortunately, the average John Q. Citizen is not interested enough in providing funding for political campaigns and the politicians have to turn to businesses, which as often as not wish to curry favor of government for some business advan-

THE OFFICE-SEEKERS think they have to spend just as much as the next DETROIT MAYOR Coleman Young guy, the cost of campaigning escalates and the campaigners look desperately for additional cash. It all works to create an atmosphere where the office seekers and holders fee more of an obligation to the big political contributors than to the average citizen. What is needed is a thorough scrutiny of the kinds of expenses being piled up and a decision to set limits on what will be spent in any given campaign. Most of the spending on political campaigns is useless - primarily for TV or radio ads that repeat endlessly inane messages the creators hope will do nothing more than firmly implant the name of their candidate in the minds of voters, or for home-delivered literature, which is barely or rarely read.

THERE HAVE been some efforts to hold down the costs of campaigns. In Michigan, the Legislature has limited spending on gubernatorial races — to $1 million in the general election — if candidates take the matching funds that can be applied for by candidates who raise a mum of $50,000.

But there is still a long way to go to keep the political process from becoming an overspending political headache, which keeps government officials beholden to the big contributors.

The Legislature should look into limiting spending in races for state, county and local offices so that the costs are reasonably related to the importance of the off-

Ann Arbor Trail Indians part of prehistoric past

"Nine Moons had become Crescent, become Full, and had Passed away. Winter Man had been Lazy with his Cold and there had been many Days of Sunshine. The Wings of Thunderbird Stirred the Air and brought the Gentle Southern Breeze to the Camp of White Shield."

Was this the camp by the ancient artesian spring along the path through the forest that is now a busy concrete strip running merrily toward Ann Arbor?

The quotation is from "Seven Arrows" by Hyemeyohsts Storm, an American Indain who writes with a deep understanding of the folkways of his people. If you would know the Indian spirit, read Storm.

ANOTHER REMARKABLE book is Ruth Landes' "The Praire Potowatomi — Traditions and Ritual."

Landes devotes much of her study to conversations with Chief Thomas Topash at his resettlement home in Kansas. (Readers of Tonquish Tales will recall that my took does not follow the Michigan Potowatomi beyond the exodus of 1838). Landes brings the story down to the present.

The Topash Family, upon which she bases much of her study, formerly lived in Cass County along the river, and in Berrien County near Buchanan. Some still are there today. The tradition and ritual Tom Topash interprets for Professor Landes are based upon ancient rites known to all Indians of this ilk.

The Topash family can trace their lineage from Anaquiba, once overlord of mroe than six million acres in Michigan, northern Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois. Among his children were Princess Kaukema, Chief Topenebee, Chief Sawawk (whose daughter, Acuarie, was the first wife of Chief Leopold Pokagon who is pictured in my book, Tonquish Tales), and Chief Cheboss.

been an ancestor of the Topash family and, thereby, a close relative of Plymouth's Chief Tonquish. If you would like to know where the spirit of Chief Tonquish may reside today, listen to the brave words of Tom Topash as he talks with Ruth Landes.

A THOUSAND YEARS ago some Indians conducted a ritual burial out at the Cash place near the entrance to the Plymouth Township Park. (For this story read this column in the Oct. 10 Observer, "Bones found here predate Pilgrims and the Mauflewer") date Pilgrims and the Mauflower.")

Who were these Indians? Where did they come from? What were they doing here? Those are enormous questions and it is very difficult to come up with precise answers.

We are awaiting a report from University of Michigan on the results of the detailed carbon tests of the bones. In a few weeks, we hope to be able to share this analysis with you. Meanwhile we can do no more than speculate, and study the available evidence.

If we would really understand these ancient peoples, we must study their religious practices, explore their ritual, evaluate their beliefs.

All the books we have read on this subject, and there have been quite a few, say that the ancient Indian is not terrified by death. This stoical viewpoint also is held by many of today's Indians. Why?

They seem to believe, really believe, that they go to the "Land of the Eternal." And they go, as Elijah Haines wrote in "The American Indian," to a far better place where there is the "hope of fairer fields and happier hunting grounds." To many a red man, death is only an escape from the ills of today.

Perphas this philosophy plays a role in influencing the problems tribal leaders are facing. Suicide is epidemic among the young men on several Indian reservations in the West.

Unemployment plays a part in this, but when the chips are down, the young braves have little to encourage or comfort them. But they do have faith in that mystical land "over the rainbow."

This theory is not unlike the oriental vlewpoint. A Kamikaze pilot will fly in the face of certain death, smiling and confident, knowing he will never fly home again.

Some East Indian women will immolate themselves in the flames of their husband's funeral pyre. They go gladly hoping for a reunion in spirit.

The ancient Jews practiced certain mortuary rituals which are part of some Christian doctrine today. The Hebrew regarded life as a journey, as a pilgrimage on the face of the earth (read Hebrews 12, verses 13, 14, 16). They believed that the traveler, when he arrived at the end of his journey, was received into the company of his own ancestors.

Even Balaam, a corrupt and heathen prophet, saw the light fo immortality gleaming through the shadows of death, and when he prayed, he finally said, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his." (Numbers 33:10).

These ideas are not foreign to the American Indian, and were a part of his life before he ever met a missionary from the Christian faith.

Perhaps Cadillac was right when he wrote so convincingly that the American Indian came from the Lost Tribes of Israel.

of Israel.

WE CONCLUDE THIS phase of our explorations with the conviction that the Pre-Columbian Indians on Ann Arbor Trail exhumed their dead, bored holes in skulls so that the soul might escape, and then reburied their disarticulated bones. They did so with the belief that their friends were going home again.

In the Indian dance of life, this was a necessary step. It followed the cycle of the seasons. Most primitive people expressed a belief in a future life and in sky deities. There is no reason to assume that the Ann Arbor Trail Indians had a different point of view.

Now the exigencies of space and time turn out thoughts to another phase of this study — the actual identity of the Plymouth Indians. This leads us to another notable book — "A New Discovery of a Vast Country" by Fr. Louis Hennepin.

This book, written in 1682, has been translated into 30 languages all over this troubled globe. It is one of the best documentations we have of what the Middle West was really like in the 1670e.

Father Hennepin, a Recollect Father of the order of St. Francis, accompanied Sieur Robert de La Salle on his famous journey through Michigan, Illinois, and down the Missippi probably as far as the great mounds of Cahokie.

LaSalle and Hennepin must have seen the high earth mounds that once looked across the river from where Fort Wayne is today. As they canoed along the Rouge, they may have stopped to explore the large Mound complex at Springwells near Dearborn. This ancient edifice is now buried under the Ford plant.

They probably noticed many other mounds as they cruised along the Huron River. When they reached the area of Dixboro Road, about where the Edison Pumping Station is today, there was a mound which seemed to have a number of totems and other ornamentation at its entrance.

A short distance beyond this place, on the campus of what today is Concordia College, perhaps some friendly Indians led them to the fresh water freely flowing from a spring at the top of a hill. That same spring is flowing freely today!

What does this journey tell us? Our area was inhabited by mound builders who were probably descendents of an ancient Indian culture archeologists call the Hopewell.

The Hopewells flourished in Michigan and Ohio, and elsewhere in the middle west, from about 200 A.D. to 500 A.D. or later. Their descendants are the Ojibwa (Chippewa), Ottowa and Potowatomi of our own historic times. BUT THERE STILL is a long, long gap between LaSalle's trips in the 1670s and the Ann Arbor Trail Indians of 1 000 A D.

of 1,000 A.D.

How do you get a true historical persective on this when the Adenaspective on this when the Adenais Hopewell left no written record? We iihave no trouble keeping track of what the rest of the world was doing in 1,000

For instance, we know that Lief the Lucky, son of Eric the Red, and his long boats with their crews of hardy Norseman pulled into Mt. Hope Bay, Rhode Island, in the year 1,000. Later Thorwald went down the St. Lawrence and on to the Great Lakes. Souvenirs of this years are turn up from time to time.

this voyage turn up from time to time.

We know that England was ruled by a Danish King Canute in 1016, and 50 years later, a battle was fought which changed the world.

It was Oct. 14, 1066, when William of Normandy and about 60,000 troops met King Harold and his minions on Senlac Hill near the town of Hastings. When the battle was over, England had a new king, William the Conqueror.

When the Indians were digging those graves on Ann Arbor Trail, Richard the Lion Hearted was crossing Europe on horseback to join the Third Crusade. That was in 1190. It was a long, long time ago when those Indians were drinking from Plymouth's pure artesian springs. We have some perspective on the enormous distances between between their world and ours.

The next edition of Tonquish Tales will tell you of the lifestyle of the Adena-Hopewell cultures. And I hope that I may tell you the results of the carbon tests presently being conducted in Annarbor.

FRIENDS from Northern Ontario contributed this clipping (one single paragraph) from their small-town weekly newspaper:

"A family reunion that turned into a nightmare for the Stevens family happened over the holiday weekend. Wayne had hit his shin on the trailer hitch, breaking the skin. They left here for Penetanguishene and then on up to Sundridge for his family camping reunion. His leg went from bad to worse and he was taken to Burk's Falls Hospital. Too late for penicillin to help, and he was moved to Huntsville Hospital Later, he went by ambulance to Sarnia Hospital. They managed to save his leg and he is now home, but cannot go to work for a week or more. Meanwhile, Phyllis, with three youngsters, tents and camping equipment is alone so, Annice and John went up and took down the big tent, and took that, plus the boys, to their cottage. Phyllis and Diana slept in the car and found raccoons had ripped and torn everything in the small tent, in the night. They went to the Blake cottage overnight, then collected the trailer and camping equipment and on to Maureen's for the next night and home in daylight. She said she didn't dare call home here for she would cry and her Dad would be off to her rescue.

One would assume that all the subscribers to the weekly publication are acquainted with the Stevens family. They also must know Annice, John, Maureen and Diana. If everyone knows everyone that well, the story of the Stevens' problems must have been all over town before it appeared in print.

Canton BPW selects Woman of the Year

Nancy J. Zimmerman was named Woman of the Year by the Canton Business and Professional Women. Teresa Solak, who chaired the search for the club's Woman of the Year, made the announcement at a meeting in the Roman Forum restaurant.

Zimmerman is branch officer of Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit, Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth. Her responsibilities include administration of the branch, customer service and sales, business development and community involvement.

She has served as president of the Canton BPW and has chaired the BPW Young Career Woman at local, district and state levels. Zimmerman has worked with her club in community projects - the Canton Country Festival and parade, Healtharama, Walkathon and other activities.

When asked what advice she would give to a young woman just starting out in her career, Zimmerman responded, "I would advise young women to establish goals and priorities, to be dedicated, energetic and enthusiastic about their careers and goal attainment.

"Young women must present themselves in a professional manner and exude self-confidence."

SHE WORKED with young adults in the Junior Achievement program. She taught them basic banking skills through the operation of a basic banking system for the local JA companies

Pam Flick fires the heads after each glazed detail is added.

Hers is a world of composition bodies, porcelain heads, glass-blown eyes, china paint, greenware and bisque. According to Pam Flick, this world was "created out of necessity and anger" after her grandmother, Dorris Belts, died in 1969.

Flick, a portrait artist by trade, decided to occupy her mind with something that they both loved - dolls. And what began as a hobby in her home 16 years ago is still a hobby, with one exception. Flick now has a studio, 71 students, and teaches classes seven times

MARY NALEPKA of Plymouth, who has been Flick's student for three years, said she "can't say enough about Flick's teaching skills.

'She's a great teacher. She's patient, and she loves what she's doing," said Nalepka, who took first place in the historic division at the 1985 Michigan State Fair with a reproduction of a Poudy Indian doll.

Mona, as she is called, stands 18 inches tall and is attired in a tan does kin dress enhanced with authentic Sioux sunburst beads of blue, red, orange and yellow. She carries a rabbit skin in her left hand and wears porcupine quills in her long, black, braided

Nalepka says that with Flick as the instuctor, "the sky's the limit."

BUT FLICK remembers a time, the last week of January '85 to be exact, when the sky, literally, could be seen through her 100-year-old house-turned-"This hasn't been all fun. I bought the house in November of '84, and the place was falling apart," Flick re-called. "Everything had to be repaired the walls, the floors, the parking lot, the plumbing, the ceiling."

Flick said she and her family, all of whom knew "nothing about repairing ceilings and plumbing," refurbished the

"It became a family project, had to be done, and we had a wonderful time doing it," Flick said.

But wonderful times vanished quickly when, one week before the studio was to have its grand opening, the last week of January 1985, the roof fell in.
Once again, the Flick family, now not teaching adult classes through the week, children's classes through the summer, and selling dolls in the front section of the house, she's creating her own dolls from scratch and enjoying "every minute of it."

FLICK'S MOST special creation, Nan, stands 15 inches tall.

She is attired in a white dress with pink trim, pink knee socks, and patent leather shoes. Auburn curls envelop a white china face and brown glassblown eyes imported from Germany pensivley greet curious passers-by.
Nan, named after Flick's grandmoth-propriatley so. She was the recipient of a 1985 blue rosette at the Down River Raindrops and Rainbows Doll Show, the highest honor a doll can acquire. Flick said putting a doll together is a time-consuming project, as every step is done by hand. "And that includes everything - from painting the eye brows and eye lashes to making the clothing. We use wools, silks, cotton and leather. Nothing is manmade, except the hair.

Costuming the doll is very important, and Flick doesn't know what she would do without her doll seamstress. Mary Jane Neschich, who has been with her for five years.

Flick said, "There is nothing in the world like holding a litle doll that you have made because you know it is totally yours." And when asked how many of those little dolls she has made, she couldn't answer.

"Gracious, I have no idea. There are just too many of them, just too many,' she said.

Reproductions of old German dolls made by Mary Nalepka won second place at the State Fair.

A young mother with a serious illness. Her family in crisis. They came to Harper Hospital and found new hope. They learned that Harper is a university-based research and teaching hospital. A place where scientists work alongside physicians, transforming discovery into treatment. They found that Harper concentrates on the tough adult cases n cancer, heart disease and serious vision disorders. Patients like Kathy come to larper Hospital at the Medical Center with confidence. They come because Harper is a major participant, together with the Sloan-Kettering Institute in New York and the M.D. Anderson Tumor Institute in Houston, in America's network of only twenty Comprehensive Cancer Centers. Patients know that if the diagnosis is cancer, there is no better place to be than Harper Hospital And they come with confidence because the Kresge Eye Institute is at Harper Hospital. This important Medical Center resource is devoted exclusively to the problems of vision. And through its research and clinical work, the Kresge Eye Institute gives new hope to millions with impaired vision throughout the world. Harper is hope for Heart patients, too. Its large scale, nationally recognized program brings together research, teaching surgery and medicine. More open heart surgeries are performed each year at Harper than are med at any other hospital in Michigan. But of more significance is the growing number of heart patients Harper is able to treat successfully each year without surgery. For Kathy and her family. For you and your family. Harper Hospital is Science.

Diabetics can control illness

Although diabetes affects more than 10 million Americans, some two out of every five diabetics don't know they have the disease or are ignoring it and not receiving proper medical attention. If you are excessivly thirsty, suffer from frequent urination and have a craving for sweets, you could be a diabetic. If you have frequent infections, could be a diabetic. If diabetes runs in your family you could be a diabetic. If you're a woman, your chances of being diabetic are higher than a man's. In spite of all this, the diabetic picture is steadily brightening. Self-management has always played an important role in treatment and control of diabetes. That requires motivation and knowledge about the condition and reliable tools for the jobs

A wife and mother and basketball star

It's not much, just 60 minutes. One episode of "Dallas" or "Dynasty. What I could do with one more hour per day. I'd catch up on my reading or hous chores (honest), or I'd just talk to my wife while she watched another hour of "Dallas" or 'Dynasty

If only someone could find a way to add an hour to each day. I know I could sure use it.

Mary Kay Whalen could, too. In fact, after witnessing what Whalen is attempting to stuff into a conventional 24-hour day, I'd consider donating my extra hour to her

Not that 26 hours in a day would be enough,

"IT'S A LITTLE hectic," was how a smiling Whalen described her life Tuesday. She appeared happy, though, fielding questions while standing on the Calihan Hall basketball court.

Time is precious to this former Livonia Franklin standout. She's as busy as any co-ed trying to combine sports with studies and searching for time to accommodate both.
Only Whalen is no ordinary co-ed. She's a junior, a transfer from Michigan State University She's married, and less than a year ago she gave birth to son Erik.

Attention, all advertising types looking for ways to hype health foods or vitamins. Here's your perfect subject. Mary Kay Whalen: wife, mother, student - and basketball star

Where does she get the energy? The time? The

"I HAVE A relative who watches (Erik) during the day," she said, still smiling, "and Chris is home at night. It is hectic because he's coaching football right now." Husband Chris Whalen coaches the Franklin freshman football team. He's been a big help, she said. "He's been there whenever I need him."

Whalen was a major reason for optimism regarding MSU basketball following the 1983-84 season. Why not? She averaged 13.4 points and 7.8 rebounds for the Spartans as a sophomore and was the team's MVP.

But she was still Mary Kay McNall then During the summer of 1984 that changed. She decided to marry.

When she became pregnant, she knew her college plans would be altered. But that didn't mean they would end.
"Right from the beginning, (Chris) knew I wanted to finish school and that I wanted to play basketball," Whalen said. "Inside, I knew I wanted to play again if I could. That helped me keep off excess weight while I was pregnant."

STILL, PRACTICALITY made it seem doubtful. They wanted to live in Livonia, and commuting to MSU daily for classes and basketball was impossible.

That's when U of D women's coach DeWayne Jones stepped in, with the help of an intermediary Titan softball star Kim Redwood, another Franklin graduate and a friend of Whalen's.

"We knew she wasn't going back to MSU," Jones said Tuesday. "Kim Redwood was working in our office, so we asked her if she thought Mary Kay would be interested. She said she didn't know, but she'd ask her.

After that, I talked to (Whalen). It took awhile to convince her, but we finally did."

That made Jones happy. It was a risk of sorts, giving a woman with a family an athletic scholarship, not knowing how she'd bounce back mentally and physically - from a year off after having a child. If Jones or anyone else ever had doubts, though. Whalen quickly dismissed

"She came back in super condition after having her son," Jones said, "She ran the second fastest mile on the team during drills. I don't know how much that year off is going to hurt her. Only time will tell, but her having a son won't be a factor."

JONES IS CONVINCED, more than ever, that Whalen was worth the risk. At 6-foot-3, she's big enough to play center, but her excellent outside shot makes her a natural forward. She'll play both for the Titans while they break in 6-4 fre center Cammie Maki.

On Tuesday, Whalen kept smiling with anticipation of a season ahead playing forward instead of center, the position she filled at MSU. Whalen took a beating trying to rebound against Big Ten opponents, always hoping to switch to forward.

If she has a concern, it's finding time. But even that looks like less a problem than Whalen first anticipated.

"Actually, I thought it would be much harder," she said. "Of course there are some little problems, but Coach Jones is really understanding.

ONE QUESTION lingers: What will Whalen do en the inevitable occurs, when she finds herself in the U of D library trying to study for an afternoon exam, knowing she has a big game that night, and all she can think about is her family?

Before the year's out, she's bound to ask herself. What am I doing?" My bet is she'll survive those moments of truth. She'll try to squeeze 25 hours in a day before giving up.

Whalen has her family's help and support, which eases the burden, and when needed she has

"I'm happy," she said. "I get a smile out of my

Gilles is queen of state court

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Posted on Wendy Gilles' locker at school last week was a Detroit News article on Sterling Heights tennis standout Candy Kopetzki.

The article labeled Kopetzki the queen of high school tennis — "Unmatched" said the headline. Gilles, the No. 1 singles player at Plymouth Salem, found the article inspirational. "Oh, it pumped me up for sure," Gilles said of the article. "I played her four times last year (in USTA amateur matches), and I beat her three of the times. Gilles and Kopetzki met again Saturday in the state No. 1 singles finals at Midland Dow where Gilles unseated the reigning queen, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2.

ALL THE pressure was on her," Gilles said. "I think she knew it would not be an easy ride for her."

Kopetzki had lost only one other match in her three-year high school career and was the state singles champion last year. Gilles hadn't played high school tennis since her freshman season, preferring to concentrate on USTA events. That year she was ousted from the tournament in the semifinal round.

Gilles was the aggressor throughout the cham-pionship match Saturday. Her hard, accurate ground strokes kept Kopetzki pinned to the baseline and constantly on the run.

"I felt like I was more ready to play," Gilles said.
"I was prepared for an all-day match. I don't know if she was really ready to play that type of match. I was willing to do anything I had to do to win."

A key for Gilles was keeping Kopetzki on her backhand. The Sterling Heights senior has a devastating forehand, but Gilles was able to neutralize it.

"I played my game," she said. "I played on the baseline, but I was aggressive and I kept the ball

GILLES' TRIP to the state championship began with a first round bye. She dusted Birmingham Seaholm's Missy Hueston, 6-3, 6-1, in round two and Dearborn's Susan Sommerville in round three, 6-2,

In the semifinals, Gilles beat Bloomfield Hills Lahser's Kristin Ashare 6-3, 6-2. It was Ashare who handed Kopetzki her only defeat prior to Saturday. The set Gilles lost to Kopetzki in the finale was the only one she gave up all season. "That was a nice way to wrap up my high school career," Gilles said.

Gilles will graduate from Salem in January and begin the winter semester at the University of Wisconsin. She will immediately join the Badger tennis team where her sister Chris plays No. 1 singles.

N. FARMINGTON 44, FRANKLIN 42, OT: Sandy Spahn scored with 40 seconds left in overtime to lift the Raiders past the host Patriots Tuesday in WLAA action.

But Spahn later missed a free throw to give Livonia Franklin new life, but the Patriots couldn't capitalize. North Farmington tied the game 42-42 with four seconds left in regulation when Jean Anzlovar hit the front end of two free throw attempts North (7-6) was 16-of-24 from the line and Franklin 6-of-21.

"That was the ballgame right there," said Franklin coach Tim Newman. "They hit their free throws when they had to and we didn't." It was the Raiders' first win in the Patriots' gym

"It's about time we won there," said North coach

Greg Grodzicki. At the half, the Raiders led 23-21.

Franklin (8-5) was led by Gayle Cheadle with 13 bints and Rose Obey with 11. Ann Howard had 14 and Spahn 10 for North.

A PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FLASHBACK

Plymouth High School's 1968 Varsity football season came to a disappointing end with a 19-13 loss to Walled Lake on a chilly November evening. The defeat dropped Coach Mike Hoben's Charges to a mediocre 4-4 season record. Fullback Bob Thornbladh scored both Plymouth TD's on short runs. Wally Lee and Bill Tobey were standouts on defense and Ned Terry, Bob Clayton and Bruce Bauman excelled on defense. Plymouth was making a bid to finish with its first winning season in 4 years but had to settle with a .500 record.

Late in the game, Adams senior running back Tom Mulinax was tripped up on a short run and injured his knee. As coaches and trainers looked over Mulinax, there was an eerie silence. About 20 minutes later, Mulinax left the field on a stretcher and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mulinax suffered ligament and cartilage damage to his knee, and Runchey put the football victory aside as he conveyed his concern over his star player. "He got a knee brace today, and it's in his locker." Runchey said "He wanted to wear it in practice before using it

Performances of the Garden City Civic Theatre production of 'The Sound of Music" continue at 8 p.m. Fridays-Saturdays, Oct. 25-26 amd Nov. 1-2, and 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 27, at the O'Leary Performing Arts Center in Garden City. For ticket informtion, call 836-0053 or 525-9258

The Garden City Civic Theatre opened its 1985-86 season last week with a version of Rodgers' and Hammerstein's "The Sound of Music" that hits just about all the right notes. The venerable musical (in case you've been in a cave for many years) is set in pre-World War II Austria and focuses on the real-life von Trapp Jamily - Capt. Georg von Trapp and his seven children - and Maria Rainer, a young postulant who eventually becomes a member of that family. The sentimental story, as presented by GCCT, is marked by some outstanding performances by several adult players and a group of kids that

In the role of Maria, Robin Lynn Walker does a nice job, although her Maria seems overly sweet at times. Perhaps, though, this is simply a problem that comes with the territory. In any case, Walker has a lovely singing voice and appearance, and her musical numbers always come across with considerable effect and Stephen Sell, who plays the children's father, Captain von Trapp, is a veteran of musical productions in the Detroit area and not only is a fine baritone but an able actor as well. His portraval of the stern-on-the-outside von Trapp is often subtle and moving. IN A SUPPORING role, Helen Thomas (although she's sometimes hard to hear) seems just right as the dignified but warmhearted Mother Abbess. And Judy Hebda-Johnson as Sister Sophia and Marilyn Hirtzel as Sister Margaretta - although they aren't onstage that much - make an impression with impressive voices.

Food, atmosphere blend nicely at Romanik's

Your traveling taster visits area eateries and rates them on a 100-point scale. Up to 30 points are awarded for ambiance, which includes general atmosphere and service; 55 points for food, and 15 points for price/value rating. A total count of 55 points or less indicates a restaurant is not recommended; 56-74 points signify from passing to good; 75-89 points designate very good with some extraordinary features, and 90-100 points show that a ROMANIK'S, 6303 Orchard Lake Road in the Orchard Mall, West Bloomfield, (855-6511) is a flourishing restaurant, featuring fresh fish, poultry and a variety of daily specials. The appearance is clean and natural, with hardwood floors. There is a rather small bar, and reservations are a must, especially on weekends.

ery special dining experience awaits you.

Romanik's is a very popular spot for area eaters. The atmosphere is informal (many diners are in sport coats, without ties). The restaurant is bright and cheerful but a bit hectic, with seating fairly close together. Tables do have fresh flowers, and each table has its own unique salt and pepper set. General atmosphere - 15 points maximum.

We visited Romanik's on a Friday night. Our reservations were honored immediately. Service was very good, at times almost too speedy. The waiter was helful in explaining and recommending menu choices. Water was refilled regularly, and extra rolls were brought without our asking. Our dinner for four took about an hour and 40 minutes. Service - 15 points maximum. Points awarded -

Drinks were stong, although the Bloody Mary was too spicy for one drinker's taste. Our waiter suggested Coconut Shrimp ($6.25 for five shrimp), which was a very tasty appetizer. The onion rolls and croissants were exceptional. Served warm hey tempted our group to eat a basket and a half. maximum. Points awarded - 9.

A choice of Caesar Salad or Garden Salad is included with each entree. Both salads were fresh and tasty. Although the Caesar Salad is not prepared at the table, it has anchovies and fresh ground pepper. The chilled forks were another nice touch. Salad - 5 points maximum. Points

We sampled a variety of entrees, all in the $12-$16 price range. The veal chop (a regular daily special) was thick, juicy and as tasty as could be. The parbecued ribs were plentiful, meaty and tangy. The duck with bananas and walnuts was a very interesting change from more usual treatments. It came crisp and the sauce was quite pleasing. The fresh halibut, ordered without sauce, was also delicious. Seasonal vegetables, served with each entree, were fresh. Entree, vegetables and garnishes - 30 points maximum. Points awarded

Romanik's has built a formidable dessert reputation on its Brownie - and for good reason. Served

Courtroom art The picture — only one shot and a fast draw

By Shirlee Rose Iden staff writer

Artists work to capture a lovely scene, a fascinating face or the depths of emotion. Carole Kabrin says her art is that of the artist as a recorder of history

A courtroom illustrator for television, Kabrin, a Southfield resident, is presently showing the drawings through which she has chronicled newsworthy events for 10 years.

The show will run in the Oakland County Court, Pontiac through Nov. 26 and from Nov. 27 to Jan. 31 in Federal Court House, Detroit.

"I see courtroom art as one of the last remaining art forms of a long-standing tradition," she said. "Through expression and gesture, I strive to express a moment in histo-

Included in the exhibition are drawings from trials such as that of Vincent Chin, Vista, Victor Malone murder trial, the Billy Simms contract dispute, the grand jury arraignment of John Delorean, the Karen Norman murder trial and others.

Kabrin is offering the show to celebrate her 10th year as a news artist "I ALSO thought it would be fun and interesting to do," she said.

Born in Detroit, Kabrin grew up in Livonia and came to Southfield 18 years ago. She was graduated from Southfield High School in 1969

She earned her bachelor of fine arts degree from Wayne State University in 1975, the same year she starting working at WWJ-TV Channel 4 on the Jimmy Hoffa case.

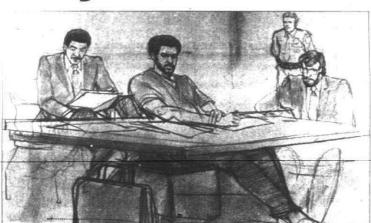

"I heard about a drawing job at school and went right to the television station," she recalled. "They made me draw someone at the station to see how I worked.

Kabrin said her courtroom work must be quick and accurate. "In just a few minutes, it may be necessary to capture the defendant, attorney, the judge and jury foreman.

"I have to draw them in action, but I also have to draw what the reporter is writing. My illustrations are done so the camera can pan. They tape my stuff right in the court and send it via microwave to the station for editing. She's a regular in courts such as Recorder's, the federal courts, district and circuit courts in southeastern Michigan and elsewhere.

"When cameras are allowed in the and her fourth year with Channel 7, courtroom, it will end a time in which it was the artist that physically recorded current events with pencil and paint," she said.

KABRIN has worked for all three television stations locally and for the CBS network. Presently, she works exclusively for Channel 7 and ABC.

"My work has appeared on the net-works, as well as 'Good Morning America,' the CBS Morning News, and 'Nightline,' " she said. "In 1980 I worked five weeks in Winimac, Ind., for CBS doing the Ford Pinto trial. It was quite a thrill seeing my drawings on with Walter Cronkite three to four nights a week on national television. "It was very hard work. I drew for 11 hours a day. I didn't get lunch because at lunch I was finishing the morning drawings so I could finish the afternoon drawings in time for shooting and feed the tapes back to New York to be put on the air.

Each network shared the satellite, so if the drawings weren't done, they didn't get on the air. They got done."

Another exciting story, Kabrin de-scribed, was coverage of the Republican Convention in Detroit for WJCB-

"I did the behind-the-scenes draw ings of the news operation," she said.

"I WAS allowed on the floor for 45 minutes. A person needed a million passes to get on the convention floor. It was very exciting."

In 1983, the ABC network sent Kabrin to Chicago to cover a deportation hearing for "Nightline." A black South African professor was being deported because of problems with his passport. He was afraid to go back because he had spoken out against the ruling government.

Kabrin's vital tools are her beeper a sufficient supply of paper, sharp-ened pencils and gas in her car.

Added to the skill she has acquired of working rapidly and under pressure, she is an acknowledged expert in her field.

"I feel externely fortunate to able to do what I got my degree to do, to draw," she said. "Drawing for television news demands everything I ever studied and more. It's a very

"The subject is always moving, and I usually have three to six drawings to do to fulfill the assignment. There has to be a picture of the defendant, the defense attorney, the judge, the prosecutor, the jury and what's called an overall sketch or 'situationer.' "

"IF THERE are witnesses, then I have to stop and draw each witness. It's difficult. They must be good likenesses, drawn with a loose, expressive line, and with feeling, and all in a short time."

Kabrin said there's no time to make mistakes, but the work is exciting and she never gets bored.

Another interest of the artist is drawing horses whose action correlates well with the action she has illustrated in courtrooms. "I love horses and I love capturing them in movement," she said.

Presently working on her master's degree in drawing at WSU, Kabrin is proud of the work she does because she said it helps inform people and preserve the freedoms we enjoy. The illustrator in her keeps hoping for a network job in Washington, but the artist in her also dreams of being a fine artist and exhibiting her work

Barton's mixed- up baby boomers ring true

By Hugh Gallagher

THE EL CHOLO FEELING PASSES, by Fredrick Barton Peachtree Publishers, $14.95. Every so often a book comes along that speaks to the problems of a specific generation. "The El Cholo Feeling Passes" is about hard times for baby boomers.

One suspects that this is Barton's semiautobiographical coming-of-age novel. It is a dark comedy, bizarrely amusing and deeply disturbing. It's about growing up in the South (New Orleans), being forced into a career (academia) and, most of all, trying to make a modern marriage work.

Barton has an incredible ear for dialogue, especially the angry give and take of marital arguments, during which two people who love each other seem to always find ways to wound.

THE BOOK alternates objective third-person narrative with a first-person memo written by Richard Janus to explain to the UCLA history doctoral committee why he isn't writing a dissertation. The book looks back on Janus' life up to the mid 1970s when, at age 28, he is giving up an academic cariage to Faith, a woman torn between a and her demands that he succeed. Yet sense of insecurity and dependency and desire to be free and equal in all

This is a classic, male exploration of that famous Freud question "What do women want?" The only conclusion Janus reaches, or anyone can, is "who really knows." The reverse is also true here, "What do men want?" Even they don't know.

The objective chapters are meant, I suppose, to provide a less biased view of things, especially in the more dramatic scenes, Janus being too much a Southern gentleman to detail in his memo all the bizarre incidents of his marriage. But this technique doesn't quite work. The ojective chapters are still from Janus' point of view. Faith's behavior is presented from Janus' bewildered reaction. But this is perhaps good antidote to the flood of women's books detailing the basic degeneracy and selfishness of men.

Janus is sympathetic to his wife's dereer. But the heart of the novel is a sires, but he cannot contend with her painful examination of Janus' mar- shifting needs, her constant criticism

IN all of this Barton delivers a de vastatingly accurate portrait of our mixed-up world. Women grew up learning one thing and now must cope with whole new expectations, but the old expectations live on. The same is true for men. Men grow up being told they must succeed, get ahead, compete.

Men who fall short of expectations are quickly cast aside as losers. Yet men, now, also must be there for family, must be sensitive to the demands of their wives and lovers, must be capable of emotion but strong enough not t show it. Superman and Superwoman end up colliding when it all falls to

Janus is a driver, an excellent stu dent, a basketball star, an achiever. He grew up in that strangest of contradictions, a liberal Southern Baptist hom He was praised from grade school for his maturity. He is a sensitive lover, eager but always giving. Then, one day, perfection becomes a grind. Janus realizes that he doesn't want to become historian that everybody wants him to be. His memo is an attack on the academic community that wants to welcome him with open arms. It is an attack on being forced to live up to the expectations of others to the point where you lose contact with your ow

Faith is bright, attractive, often good-humored, ambitious and sexy. But she is also insecure, disappo pulled in several directions at one time (the demands of marriage, radical feminism, a need to please men, a need to succeed equally with her husband). Every word becomes a challenge, every act an assault. Nothing is taken at generation.

The subject matter is serious, but Barton is a good storyteller. He uses humor and exaggeration to make his points. Janus' favorite book is Joseph Heller's "Catch 22," and though "El Cholo" never achieves Heller's grand sense of the absurd, the tone is very similar. We are dealing with something important here — let's laugh at it before we cry.

The book has some explicit but curisly sensitive sexual scenes.
