THE PLYMOUTH City Commission is expected to consider the transfer at tonight's Commission meeting which begins 7:30 at city hall.

the Plymouth Township 'In franchise there isn't a clause saying they have to approve the transfer, Collman said. "However, we will make formal appearance before their board to introduce Mr. Suri.

Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton subscribers presently pay $8.35 for the basic rate.

On Jan. 14 the Canton board will vote on a $1.70 increase in cable basic rates which was requested by Omnicom last summer and denied by the Canton board. In February 1985 Canton denied a $1.60 basic rate increase request The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees also turned down a $1.70 basic rate increase last summer

Tonight the Plymouth City Commis-sion will consider a $1.70 basic rate hike. Paul Sincock, Plymouth assistant city manager, is recommending approval of the increase.

"The city commission should also be aware of the fact that Omnicom does have the right to raise movie channel rates in the event that this rate hike is denied," Sincock wrote in a note to Plymouth City Manger Henry Graper. 'Less impact will be felt by the subscribers in the city by granting a basic increase, rather than having Omnicom raise movie rates." Collman said that the rate increase is unrelated to the company sale. OMNICOM HAS PADDED premirates — movie channels like um Home Box Office (HBO) - to compensate for the lower basic rates, Collman said

However, the cable company earns a lower profit margin from premium rates than basic rates because Omnicom must share the premium rate increase with the servicing company.

In a recent meeting with the Canton Cable Commission, Collman and Suri discussed how institutional networks, security systems and local origination programming will be affected by the sale

The institutional networks - among the services included in the Canton franchise agreement - allow businesses to conduct telephone conversations with a video recording. However, the demand for institutional networks in Canton hasn't surfaced, Collman said.

"I can visualize that if we were located in downtown Detroit that perhaps several banks could utilize this facility, but out here it doesn't lend itself to tying together several businesses,'

Omnicom pushes cable rate hike Collman said. "It's a question of the technology being ahead of the market." HOME SECURITY SYSTEMS using cable is another market that is weaker than was expected when the Canton franchise agreement was drafted, Collman said.

"Five years ago it was thought that the cable could do it more economical-ly," Collman said. "Those economies have not proven to be true. They are not there. It would be more expensive for the cable operator to run a system than a qualified security company to do it, simply because our market is 35,000 homes and the security company's market is 250,000 homes and more."

Local origination will remain a high priority after the sale, Collman said. "The effort that we have for local origination is not going away, and we will maintain our franchise commitment

The irony is inescapable.

While four strikers at the Frito-Lay distribution center in Canton try to keep warm inside a makeshift shanty, unemployed men and women file into a Michigan Employment Security Commission office across the street to pick up checks or check on job leads.

It's been six weeks since about 40 drivers and warehouse workers walked off the job in Canton in a dispute they say centers on wage scales.

The four on picket duty one rainy day last week didn't seem all that optimistic about a settlement. Their comments have been heard hundreds of times in hundreds of other labor disputes. "It looks like a long one," said Greg Lubin, 25, a Frito-Lay driver for four years. Lubin, a Plymouth resident, serves as a steward for Teamsters Local 337

"THEY DON'T want to negotiate in good faith," said Manny Melendez, a 46-year-old Westland resident who has worked as a driver only since February. "Our families are really getting con-cerned," said. Leroy Olah, 44, of Livonia, and a driver for six years. "I know my wife is upset.

Bill O'Connell, also a driver and an employee for 29 years, recalled a strike that lasted nine weeks in 1969.

receive $45 per week for picketing a five-hour shift every other day. Nowadays, the Canton crew spends much time in the shack, warmed by a portable heater. Exciting it isn't.

"I listen to the radio most of the day and work puzzles," Olah said. O'Connell smokes cigarettes and reads "We just sit around and shoot the bull," said Melendez. "There's not much you can do when it was raining. We'd play catch out here - baseball and football. Melendez and Olah didn't anticipate being out this long when they first struck. "Everyone expected two or three weeks," Melendez said. Emotions seem to fluctuate.

Lubin said he wouldn't be surprised if some of the strikers, himself included, were to begin looking for permanent employment elsewhere if the labor dispute continues for several more months.

LUBIN LATER added, "I'd like to stick it out. It's a good job.

Melendez said he expects to get an offer to work construction next spring. Whether he accepts depends on the status of the strike.

Olah said his wife works but only earns about half as much as he did before going out. "She's worried I'm not going to get back. She's worried about the holidays coming up and no paycheck coming in.

"I plan to stick it out," Olah contin-"I plan to make this my last stop.

with Frito," Gremaud said. "They are not like other companies. They more or less dictate to you - you're going to take this or else. They don't negotiate with you.'

Gregg Overman, a spokesman for Frito-Lay, takes issue with some of the strikers' assertions.

"We would never force anyone to go on strike," Overman said. "I don't understand what that means.

While the two sides wait each other out, it's business as usual at the unemployment office. "Junior" said he stopped by to check on job leads.

Anatomically complete dolls help in sex cases

Cloth dolls, "used as show and tell mates," have been added to the Canton Township Police Department as investigative tools for sexual abuse cases.

Three anatomically-complete dolls - designed as a man, a young boy and a girl - were delivered to Canton last week and will be used mainly to help children re-enact sexual crimes

Presently the Canton police department is working on a sexual abuse case involving a child where communication between the victim and detective bureau is expected to be enhanced with the dolls.

"Something has been needed for a long time to help children communi-cate," said Eddie Tanner, Canton Police community relations officer.

HOWEVER, ANY age victim could use the dolls as an aid to explain an attack, Tanner said. Sexually abused people, who don't speak English well, also will have access to the dolls to help communicate their thoughts.

"It makes our job much easier, and it's easier for the victim to give us a better insight into what happened, Tanner said. "It will help in court too because the officer doesn't have to say this is what I interpreted happened. It eliminates the guess work in what the child is talking about.'

Tanner, who previously worked in the Canton detective bureau, says children often use different words to describe genital parts which confuses the investigative process.

"Trying to talk to a kid about sexual abuse is difficult anyways, and you have to learn what the child calls the different parts of the body," Tanner said. "It's almost impossible to have the child explain."

USUALLY POLICE investigators interview sexually abused children separate from parents

The presence of a doll can break the tense atmosphere for the child and officer.

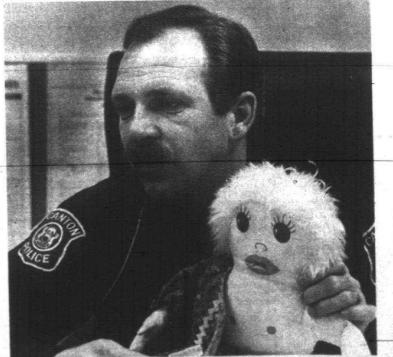

"A kid can relate to a doll because they play with them all the time," he added.

The dolls will be used to help convince the child that it's all right to talk about sex even if they have been coached in the past not to discuss the subject.

"We have to break a barrier to have them tell us what they've been told all their lives not to talk about," Tanner said. "You can introduce them to the doll, and other than you and her in the room there is something they can re-

Cooking without a kitchen

If you are one of many who prepare meals in col lege dormitories, efficiency apartments or mobile homes, you are no doubt aware of the limitations of "kitchenless cooking." But a small food prepa ration area doesn't have to hinder the culinary experience. The versatile toaster oven, which allows a wide variety of recipe preparations, is a basic or solving the kitchenless dilemma. Below are suggested ways the toaster oven can do the job of several appliances.

· Bake: Remember that a toaster oven is a real oven. There's no need to give up roast poultry or beef because these foods won't fit. Just think small!

Substitute Cornish hen or rolled turkey breast for turkey or chicken. Or instead of a large rump roast, prepare a small eye round.

• Broil: Most toaster ovens can broil fish, kabobs or flank steak, for example. The see-through window allows you to monitor the progress of the broiled food without opening the door to slow cooking time. • Top-Brown: This technique is ideal for preparing "cheesy" delights like cheddar-topped baked potatoes, English muffin pizzas with mozzarella and open-faced tuna sandwiches with melted American cheese. Top-browning can turn any cold snack into a hot meal in seconds.

• Toast: Toast is much more than a breakfast food. Next time you prepare a dish such as creamed chicken or seafood Newburgh, substitute pumpernickle, rye, whole wheat or white toast for rice.

The 'all-in-one' appli-ance not only makes cooking easy, it makes clean-up a breeze, too.

THOSE inveterate bridge players, who meet Thursday afternoons at the Plymouth Community Center, don't take the game lightly. Sometimes they are tisnlaced by events such as Thanksgiving and the Symphony League Antique Mart during the Fall Festival. Heavy snowfalls and sleet storms have been known to keep them at home.

But on any Thursday afternoon, enough of the faithful show up for several tables of party bridge. Chuck Skene, recreation director for the city of Plymouth, says they are special, one of his favorite groups. Chuck always is a guest of honor at the bridge players' annual harvest ncheon

Each November, they postpone the cards for a catered buffet uncheon and a social afternoon. This year 51 members attended th Thursday, Nov. 14, luncheon.

Special guests were Margaret Swartz Hall and her husband Edward. Margaret was founder and original director of the bridge

Jo Fountain at the piano led the singalong, maintaining a tradition that began back when the harvest uncheon was a Christmas luncheon. The group presented a check for $100 to Chuck in support of the Special Olympics Program at the Directors of the group are Luella Cook, Wanda and Walter Hoops, Dorothy and Boyd Shaffer, and Evelyn Beck and Judy Guideau, co treasurers.

The next Thursday, they were back to the business of playing bridge, with a turnout of 35. Franc Lacombe came in first with 5,710 points. Carl Peters was a close ond with 5.570.

DECORATING the ommunity for the holiday season must be a cold-fingered chore for members of DPW staff. Just want you to know your efforts are appreciated.

A thoughtful note from Carol Roddy expressed the feelings of residents as well as visitors: "Today I took a walk through Plymouth. With all the Christmas decorations in place now, it certainly looked beautiful. The manger scene in lifelike figures made me stop and ponder the message sent through that baby almost 2,000 years ago. "Do we take time in this lovely town, state and country to appreciate the freedoms we have? I am grateful to live in an area where families are still caring and Godfearing." Those were the thoughts of Carol, who took the time to ponder. Even a harried shopper - with a gift list that seems a mile long must look at the lights and the holly wreaths with revived holiday spirit. TRUDY SIEWART, a Plymouth resident for 15, made her Michigan debut as a dancer Saturday night. She performed with the musical duo, Heartsong, in First Unitarian Church in Ann Arbor.

Trudy has very little formal dance training in dance, although she said she has had a passion for dance for as long as she can remember. She always found time to dance although she was involved in the health food business and working as an audio technician. But she never danced professionally. This past June, she decided to devote her full attention to dance. since making that decision, she has performed in Chicago, Virginia Beach, at the National Speakers Association Convention in Washington, D.C., and at the Human Unity Conference in Hawaii. She describes her distinctive style of dancing as a blend of ancient and traditional dance form which add up to a "universal dance style." Her audiences say she is a

Marquetry older than the pyramids

By Elinor Graham staff writer

Lyle Sweet of Plymouth will be among the 75 artists and crafts people at this weekend's show and sale at the Plymouth Cultural Center. His hobby and specialty is marquetry, an art that dates back 3 000 years.

Marquetry is a ancient method of decorating wood surfaces with colorful, thin woods. The Egyptians left paintings on the walls and ceilings of tombs within the pyramids that revealed marquetry methodology. The paintings tell exactly how to saw and glue the woods. They also left boxes and furniture enriched with designs in wood, gems and precious metals.

Marquetry now is defined as assembling cut pieces of exotic woods - veneers - into a single sheet design, then gluing it on a wood surface. The practice of marquetry has become a popular hobby in Eng-land during the past 20 years. The art has flourished in America since the founding of the Marquetry Society of America in 1972.

SWEET WORKS with more than 50 exotic wood veneers and his scenes are framed in black walnut. He counted 23 woods in his study of a candy shop. Among them were harewood from England, pearwood from Europe, purple heart from British Guiana, lacewood from Australia, padouk from India, mahogany from Honduras and holly from United States.

He knows them all. "The boy's pants and hat are black walnut," d taking a closer look at his handiwork, "and girl's dress is urple heart

For the pre-Christmas show at the Cultural Center, he will inlude tree ornaments - stars in two kinds of wood, and bears. The work is minute and exacting and he says he cannot consider his time when it comes to pricing his work. He does know he spent more than 800 hours on "The Old Curiosity Shop," one of his favor-

Sweet, a retiree, has been doing marquetry for five years. Until then, he was a wood carver.

"We were in Sorrento, Italy and everyone in the town was doing marquetry. They weren't like these. They were manufacturing them; it was a commercial enterprise," said Jane Sweet. Sweet's works range from small pieces, a sail boat or a perfect rose, to the larger paintings in wood. They range in price from $5. for a tree ornament, to $18 for a small "picture," to $800 and more for a large one. The woods have their own color and texture. He uses zebrano from Africa for water and it looks exactly like water. The rose woods come from Brazil, India and Honduras. There is French walnut and native walnut, African cherry and local cherry. THE EXOTIC woods and their countries of origin have the fascination of faraway places.

Yet the native North American woods have their own beauty. Sweet uses ash, aspen, beech, poplar, birch, butternut, cedar, pecan, holly, white and birds eye maple, oak, Idaho pine, gumwood and sycamore

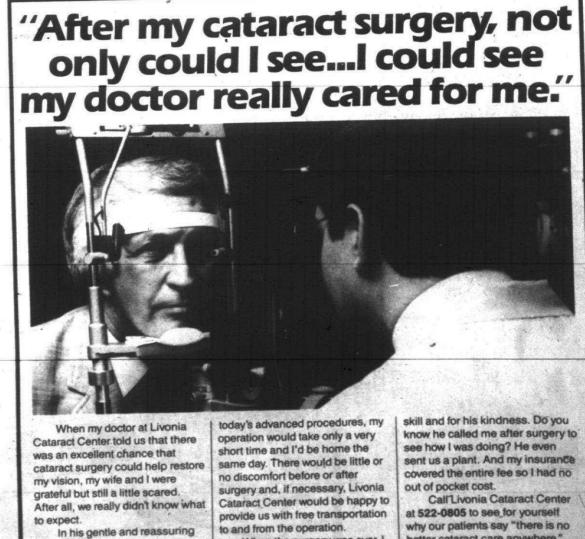

He will have a wide selection of his marquetry at the three-day

Mercy-Salem switch roles in regional Laura Clifford (with basketball) and Dena Head (No. 43) have made rebounding against Plymouth Salem mighty difficult this season.

By Chris McCosky staff writer

How's this for a change of pace? "To be playing Plymouth Salem this early in the tournament is a pretty sobering thought," said Farmington Hills Mercy basketball coach Larry Baker. Two years ago one might have heard similar utterance from Salem coach Fred Thomann

Mercy and Salem, no strangers to each other in the post-season arena, appear to have exchanged roles for Tuesday night's Class A regional tournament clash (6 p.m. at Salem).

In past campaigns, Salem has been the serious underdog in matches with the Marlins. In 1983, the two met in the quarterfinals and Mercy prevailed 37-25. Last year, the two met again in the quarterfinals — again Mercy won, this time in overtime, 49-45.

SO WHY is this year different? Because of what transpired on Oct. 1. On that night Mercy got shanghaied at Salem, 43-38. It was a convincing victory, one that has lingered in the back of Larry Baker's mind

"We will be entering Tuesday night's game at virtually every disadvantage," said Baker. "They beat us earlier this year, dispelling any doubt in their mind that it could be done. They have improved greatly since then. They have gotten into their roles far better than we have. And, you have the constant factor of having a great coach, great support and momentum from their league and district championships "We feel we're in a position to be fed to the lions, but we'll give it a shot."

That's startling stuff coming from the coach of the winningest girls basketball program in this area over the past decade, a coach whose basketball program has made it to the state finals the last three years, and whose team posted a respectable 16-5 record this season.

Thomann isn't sold on the role of overwhelming favorite. "All that win early in the year did was give us some credibility in the state," he said. "It was a great game for us. We had opened the season with a pair of losses to state-ranked teams. You don't like to go 0-3 against that type of competition.

"THAT GAME has no effect on Tuesday. Now it's a situation where it's our best against their best and whoever executes wins. You can't say that we are going to win because we beat them last time. That would be like us saying, 'OK, we lost to Plymouth Canton the first time so no way can we beat them." Each team has a different look about them since that Oct. 1 meeting. For Salem (19-3), super sophomore Dena Head remains the key weapon. But she has become much more a factor offensively since Thomann inserted senior Julie Tortora at point guard. In the eight games since the switch, Head has averaged better than 18 points per game Jessica Handley remains the team's perimeter sharpshooter and zone bust-Kristen Hostynski, Keri McBride er. and Laura Clifford have been consistent contributors defensively and on the boards. Off the bench, Stacy Sovine, Leslie Plichta and Suzie Balconi have given the Rocks quality minutes.

The strength of the team remains its defense. The Rocks' man-to-man defense suffocated its foes in the Western Lakes and it suffocated Mercy Oct. 1.

In 22 games, Salem has allowed an average of less than 30 points per game (29.95). The Rocks have kept their opponents under 30 points 14 times. Besides Ladywood, who scored 61 against Salem in the season opener, only two teams have scored more than 40 points.

OFFENSE HAS been the achilles heel of the Marlins this season. But, in recent outings, the Mercy scoring machine has begun to roll.

Missy Duczynski and Yvette Maison have emerged as the key offensive players for Mercy. Duczynski, headed for Central Michigan University next fall, has been the team's most consistent scorer. Maison is the team's floor leader. Her job, one that has become increasingly critical for the Marlins, is to read the defenses and keep the offense flowing.

Other key components for Mercy include senior guard Michelle Fryatt, a gritty player with feroclous defensive skills and a potentially dangerous jump shot; Terri Nalodka, a strong inside player; and Terri Ford.

Ford, an All-Area player as a junior last year, may or may not play Tues-day. She injured her ankle in practice prior to the district tournament opener. Baker said her cast would be removed Friday and he would monitor her prog-

WHILE THE chemistry is different, one thing remains intact: the Mercy press. In the district championship game, the Marlins threw a variety of presses and traps against North Farmington, each disrupted the Raider attack. The press may be Mercy's most dangerous weapon.

The winner of Tuesday night's game will play the winner between Birmingham Marian (12-10) and Waterford Kettering (22-0) at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Marian and Kettering will battle Tuesday after the Salem-Mercy game. The regional champion will advance to quarterfinals, the final stop prior to Kalamazoo, at Waterford Mott against the winner of the Bay City Western regional (which is likely to be the state's No. 1 team, Flint Northwestern).

The shadow that has engulfed Ron Wendt for the better part of his athletic life is moving away.

Ron Wendt, 1982 Redford Catholic Central graduate, is the least visible member of a very visible athletic family.

The elder Wendt, Art, was a standout baseball player in the semipro ranks. Art Wendt Jr. played basket-ball and baseball at Livonia Stevenson. Greg Wendt, the most visible of all the Wendts, is a headliner with the University of Detroit basketball team.

Even the youngest Wendt, C.J., a senior at CC, has gotten considerable acclaim for his prowess on the soccer

THEN THERE'S Ron Wendt.

At 6-5, coaches and friends at Catholic Central took for granted that Ron would follow in brother Greg's footsteps and play basketball.

"Everyone kind of expected me to play basketball, but at that time, my coordination hadn't caught up with my size," he said.

He was cut from the team as a sophomore, cut again as a senior. "I thought I was good enough to make the team my senior year, but you know how that goes," he said.

Ron Wendt set out to make a name for himself in football. By the time he was a senior at CC his weight had topped the 200-pound mark and, like all the Wendts, his physique was muscular.

But Wendt was a seldom-used player in high school. To this day, he doesn't fully understand why.

"I played some on double tight end situations," he said. "There were some games I didn't play at all. I didn't think I was that bad."

Ron Wendt EMU tight end

IT IS his staunch belief in his own ability that has allowed Wendt to persevere through the arduous times.

"It has gone in phases," he said. "In high school a lot of people thought I'd be a good prospect, and I kind of didn't live up to expectations. And all through high school, all I heard was you're brother this, you're brother that.' Now I love to hear about my brother. It's kind of a joke now. Whenever I get my name in the paper it says, 'Ron Wendt, the younger brother of Greg Wendt.' It doesn't bother me at all.

Ron Wendt has indeed etched out his own athletic identity. He is a ma-jor college football player, a good one, at Eastern Michigan University. He wasn't recruited out of high school. He walked on and earned his scholarship - a feat few achieve at the Division I level.

"I contacted coach Bob LaPointe over the summer, and he told me to come out," Wendt said. 'I was a preferred walk-on. I went into the pracA week into camp, Wendt was of-fered a scholarship. From that day on, he has steadily chipped away at that pesky shadow.

AFTER SITTING out his first year at Eastern as a red-shirted defensive lineman, he saw limited duty as an offensive lineman the next two years. He began this season as a second-string lineman. Midway through, Wendt approached head coach Jim Harkema

"Coach, I think I can help the team more if I played tight end," he said. Harkema, surprised by Wendt's request, said he'd have to think about it. Two weeks later, Wendt was the starting tight end.

"I like tight end a lot more," Wendt said. "But, playing tackle wasn't as bad as I thought it would be, either. I'll play wherever they need me."

Wendt's response to his tight-end assignment was this: He caught 14 passes for 116 yards and two touchdowns (one in each of the last two games) and was a punishing blocker.

"My first couple games they didn't throw to me," he said. "Then against Central (Michigan University) I caught four. That got my confidence up. I knew I could catch the ball. Before, I was pretty nervous.

GUESS WHO Ron Wendt's No. 1 fan was during the season? Greg Wendt.

"He came to everyone of my home games except one," Ron Wendt said. "We're really tight. We call each other all the time to find out how each other did. When I caught that first touchdown he was pretty excited."

Bob Stebbins had a good football season, but it wasn't quite up to Bob Stebbins standards.

There is much more to accomplish for the 6-foot-4, 225-pound tight end from Central Michigan University.

The Livonia native tied teammate John Deboer for the team lead in receptions, catching 26 passes for 344 yards (13.2 per grab) and one touchdown.

"I was really pleased with the sea-son," said the Franklin High School "But I would have had 30 grad. catches if I hadn't missed the last game."

Stebbins underwent surgery for a broken right thumb, suffered in practice four days prior to the season finale with Northern Illinois.

A broken left thumb caused the tight end to miss most of his freshman year, but the injury turned out to be a blessing in disguise because it enabled Stebbins to red-shirt, giving him an extra year of eligibility. Sitting out the Northern Illinois game, however, may have cost the CMU tight end a spot on the All-Mid-American Conference team.

"THERE WERE an awful lot of good tight ends in the league and sometimes they just go on stats," said CMU assistant coach Mike Poff. "But Bob caught the ball well and he's an exceptional blocker. He's very smart. "And don't forget he's young. He's got two more years left."

Central Michigan finished with a 7-3 record, but according to Stebbins, that wasn't good enough.

along with Miami of Ohio. Both teams lose very little to graduation.-

"We have the talent and we're always in the game," Stebbins said. "But we're not delivering in the clutch. We hope to make it happen next year.

"I'll be disappointed if we don't win it (the MAC) in my five years. It was frustrating as a team this year. Four or five years in a row we've been coming close. We should have won it last year, and that was our year. (Toledo took the title).

"Nobody wants second or third. You get sick and tired of it."

CMU could have big plans next year for Stebbins.

"I really hope to have a lot of catches and I hope to be a key part of the offense," he said. "I hope to work on my strength over the winter and summer so I can dominate people.

"NOT TO USE the old army slogan. but I want to be the best I can be. I'm going to work in the weight room and gain about 10 pounds."

Stebbins' biggest concern at the the moment, however, is getting through final exams. Sporting a 3.84 grade point average in business-finance. Stebbins was recently placed on the national ballot for the College Sports Information Directors of America Academic All-American team. That news came after he made the GTE District IV squad.

"It's kind of tough when you can't write," Stebbins said. "Exams are going to be tough. I can type, but I can't even do that."

Stebbins will manage despite the handicap. His self-imposed standards won't let him slack off.

SPINAL DEGENERATION WHEN YOUR SPINE IS INJURED IT BEGINS TO DEGENERATE.

Almost everyone has had at one point in their lives some strain, pull, fall or injury that involves their spine. These traumas cause your vertebrae to be altered from their normal position. This can happen without spinal pain. From that initial injury, your spine begins to degenerate as time passes. The spine goes through four phases of degeneration. These phases can be determined with x-ray and are picture below.

SMOOTH AND REGULAR UNDER EACH PICTURE ARE THE LENGTH OF DEGENERATION & THE TIME REQUIRED FOR CORRECTION (EXAMPLE: PHASE II) 20-40 YEARS OF DEGENERATION, 11/2 to 21/2 YEARS TO CORRECT.

The only means of stopping the degeneration is to move the vertebrae back to their original position. This is done with chiropractic spinal adjustments. If the degeneration progresses to the latter phases, it may not be correctable. A simple x-ray can detect degeneration and chiropractic adjustments can halt and many times reverse the process. The adjustment technique Dr. Mashike uses is low force resulting in safe recovery without pain.

Don't neglect your spine, it's your lifeline

Under Taylor Hackford's ("An Officer and Gentleman, "Against All Odds") direction, Skolimowski characterizes Chaiko as a smooth and bloodless operator, far removed from the conventional representation of KGB officers as thugs from the provinces.

COLONEL CHAIKO'S mission is to convinced Kolya to dance again at the Kirov Ballet where he had starred prior to his defection and where Baryshnikov himself debuted in 1962. To complicate matters, Kolya's former lover, Galina Ivanova (Helen Mirren), is now in a managerial position at the Kirov.

The Colonel uses her and an attractive, but unlikely couple, Raymond Greenwood (Gregory Hines) and his wife, Darva (Isabella Rossellini), a Russian translator, to reconvert Kolya to "Russianism." Greenwood is an American who defected to Russia to protest our Vietnam tragedy and the black experience in America. Now out of favor, he languishes in Siberian provincial theaters, where the long, maddening Arctic nights give the film its title and a touch of repressive, KGB insanity.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood are set to work as watchdog/companions to convince Kolya he must perform. The rehearsal-hall dance sequences with Hines and Barysnikov are superb. Baryshnikov needs no introduction as a premier ballet dancer. "White Nights" should insure his reputation as a modern jazz dancer and as an actor as well.

Hines performance, equally, is worth the price of admission, as he dances both solo and with Baryshnikov. In particular, while still in Siberia, Hines does a drunken rap/tap number explaining why he, a black, defected. It is a significant expression of the despair blacks suffer and an excellent, expressive performance.

Amidst all these accomplished performances, Isabella Rossellini stands out for her talented acting and for a nostalgic evocation of her mother, Ingrid Bergman. Although her role is overshadowed by the scope of the other characters, she manages, in a supporting role, to shine with the best spirit of humanity as the loving wife sure of her love
