Canton takes on pornography

By Diane Gale staff writer

The manner in which sex-oriented magazines are sold is being investigated by Canton police who nevertheless caution store owners not to panic about prosecutions.

Canton Police Chief John Santomauro notified businesses that if Canton's pornography ordinance is considered valid the department will notify shop owners they are violating the law and give them a chance to clear their shelves.

"In fairness to business people that ordinance has been on the books for a long time, and if its constitutionally is valid we'll give them the opportunity to comply," pornography issue was sparked by Canton resident Richard Tenagalia who wrote a complaint requesting warrants against 10 stores for selling Hustler, Penthouse and Playboy magazines.

Canton Police last week randomly chose one of the shops and bought a Penthouse magazine. Canton Township attorney Judd Hemming must now determine if the pornography ordinance is valid.

If Hemming determines the ordinance invalid, pornography complaint will be considered closed, Santomauro said. In this case, Santomauro added, he will recommend the board call for an ordinance rewrite.

BECAUSE WHAT constitutes obscene material varies from person to person, the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that "community standards" may apply and the community may regulate the manner in which it is disseminated.

The stores cited in Tenaglia's letter are Canton Party Store, Arbor Drugs, Seven-11, Star Shop, Richardson's, Maria's, Grapevine, Cracker Barrel, Quik Pik and

The drive against the magazines has since been picked up by another Canton resident, Phyllis Counts, who heads Citizens United for Decency, a local group.

"It's time for the decent members of our community to come out of hiding and speak up against against obscenity, against trash," Counts said

Her group is trying to limit accessibility and visibility by mandating stores to keep the magazines in back rooms. Using cardboard to conceal the cover of the magazine is insufficient, she said, because it often gets moved out of place leaving the cover exposed to passersby.

"We want them out of sight and out of reach," Counts said. "We were going to try to do this the nice way and ask them to put the material in the backroom. Then we'll pounce on them for selling them at all." Members of Citizens United for Decency have reviewed pornography ordinances in Westland, Garden City Plymouth, Plymouth Township and communities to convince them to take action against what the group considers pornographic.

Canton. They plan to approach

Counts talked to the Canton Township Board of Trustees at its meeting Tuesday to give her point of

'Now comes the time for the enforcement of laws and ordinances which are already on the books, Counts said. "This is why community action is so important to let their elected officials hear that they want it out of their areas.

Mayfair fights shopping mall

Mayfair residents fighting a strip shopping mall at Morton Taylor and refuse to be daunted by a recently failed lawsuit.

Mayfair Village Homeowners Association and eight Mayfair residents filed a lawsuit March 28 arguing that development of Coventry Commons East — with A & P, Arbor Drugs and ACO as anchor stores — violated a Wayne Circuit Court consent judgment.

The parties named include Coventry Commons East developers Nelson/Ross Properties of Franklin, Mich., Canton Township Board of Trustees, individual board members, the Economic and Community Development director's office, its director, David Nicholson, Richard Lewiston, previous owner of the property, and the Wayne County Road Commission.

"It's quite clear the developers and the township were not going to stop doing what they put in motion unless their hands were forced and that is what the lawsuit intended," said Michael D. Faloon, a plaintiff.

Other plaintiffs are Ann Marie Faloon, Joe and Carla Reddick, Dan and Sharon Hanson and Bill and Sharon Gravett.

Craig John, Nelson/Ross' attorney, says the developers want to build the mall as well as a good relationship with the residents.

THE 1975 CONSENT judgment says the land at the southeast corner of Morton Taylor and Joy is to be used for "entertainment and leisure Defining the consent judgment is the crux of the problem.

Mayfair residents say, as property owners, they became party to the judgment and they should have a say on how the property is used. John, who happens to live in Mayflower, says the residents don't have that

Residents argue the township failed to properly notify them of the mall before major development steps were taken, and they

there," Faloon said.

The safety of Hulsing Elementary School pupils crossing Morton Taylor, and the probable increased traffic in the subdivision are the major concerns expressed by residents who are against the mall.

On March 28, Wayne Circuit Judge Louis Simmons issued a temporary restraining order on the mall devlopement. However, John argued the order was causing his client to lose money and convinced Simmons to lift the order earlier this month.

Also last week the eight plaintiffs were told a lawsuit would be filed against them by Nelson/Ross to cover money losses if their suit was pursued. The eight Mayfair residents opted to back off. But other residents are still fighting.

"We have signed an agreement saying we won't legally pursue any action against Coventry Commons East in exchange that we have assurance we won't be sued," Faloon

RESIDENTS ALSO were told Nelson/Ross will put aside $20,000 for safety devices when development begins on the the east parcel and another $20,000 for the west parecel. Faloon said.

And an agreement was made that the developers will support efforts to convince Wayne County to establish 25 mph speed limits and ban trucks from through traffic on Morton Taylor between Joy and Warren.

Also residents will be consulted during development planning for the southwest side of Morton Taylor and Joy. Nelson/Ross intends to develop site if "it is economically feasible," John said.

"Nelson/Ross is investigating the possibility of developing that property and what would be the permitted uses," John said. "Nelson/ Ross doesn't want to push anything through behind anyone's back. This isn't someone trying to quash someone else."

Faloon said the lawsuit will continue against the township in an

Evelyn Edgar takes in the beauty of Miller Woods with the last remains of winter at her feet.

Nature devotee welcomes harbingers of springtime

By Penny Wright special writer

For many the spring signals the annual trek to southern climes in search of a warming sun.

But for Evelyn Edgar, a retired

Plymouth-Canton school teacher, spring signals the start of her walks through Miller Woods, a 10-acre beech-maple "climax" forest in Plymouth Township.

She searches for wildflowers.

Over the next several months, the knowledgeable nature devotee will spend many hours leading groups of adults and school children through the virgin forest. She will walk the flower-lined trails pointing out the plants and wildflowers that mark the woods' transition from winter to

A SPRING WALK through Miller Woods is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, May 3.

Miller Woods is on Powell Road between Beck and Ridge in Plymouth Township.
Her goal: "To instill appreciation

In Evelyn Edgar's view, the public's lack of knowledge and respect for natural areas is one of the biggest threas to Miller Woods and other forested areas in

"So many people say 'so what?" when you talk about the destruction of wooded areas," she said. "People think the woods are just vacant lots. People from the cities have seen nothing else."

Trustees join Chuhran recall effort

By Diane Gale staff writer

Present and past township officials have joined a committee to recall Canton Clerk Linda Chuhran marking the first public announcement of their support.

Although privately backing the drive, they had shied away from active involvement until last week when Citizens for a Better Canton was established.

Canton Township Trustees Loren Bennett, Steve Larson and John Preniczky, as well as former trustee Carol Bodenmiller and former treasurer Jim Donahue, attended the meeting April 19. Trustee Bob Padget also committed to support the group. As clerk, Chuhran also is a voting member of the board.

"I felt as a courtesy to a board member I didn't want to get involved in a recall campaign," said Preniczky, adding his recent involvement was spurred by Chuhran's lawsuit against the board. Padget expressed the same sentiment.

"I have reached the point that I will circulate petitions. I had the position before that I would keep a hands-off approach. If the people decide her shenanigans are beyond what should be coped with then good. If the majority believe she is abiding by the good of the office then so be

The purpose of the group is to gather enough petition signatures to call for a special election to determine whether voters want Chuhran to continue in office.

"This is the same Mickey Mouse game they played before," said

SHE MAINTAINS the recall effort hinges on the lawsuit she filed against the board for allegedly usurping her responsibilities as

"As long as I have a suit in place they will continue to do this until they get a croney in here," said Chuhran, adding the success of the effort is "doubtful and slim." But she said supporters have a "right to pursue" the effort.

Chuhran is adamant about the validity of the lawsuit. She said the clerk's responsibilities are outlined in state law, and she will be held "accountable" if something goes wrong. Some of the duties may be delegated, board members have

The recall election group has a telephone number, 451-0809, which may be called during business hours for information.

Even though 3,288 signatures of registered voters are needed for the election to be held, volunteers are seeking about 5,000 names in case some are invalid.

"There are a lot of people in support of having a recall election, and one way to get it started is to say these people are concerned," Bodenmiller said.

The recall campaign was launched in January by Donahue, Canton treasurer 1978-80 when the post was

He also cited allegations by a Union Lake woman who wrote a letter to the state complaining about a woman who was driving erratically and made an obscene gesture. The license plate number was traced to Chuhran's township-assigned vehicle.

At the time Chuhran said she was unaware she should not have used the township gas. She also said she misunderstood about the correct procedure to follow in selling the poll books and her intent was to make money for the township. Chuhran denied involvement in the

Miller Woods is a beech-maple climax forest located on Powell Road between N. Territorial and Ridge roads. The forest is open to school groups to special occasions. One of these times when the public can take in the beauty of the woods is from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, May 3 when tours may be

During May Miller Woods is alive with a succession of wild flowers. First the tiny harbinger-of-spring followed by bloodroot and then vellow and white adder's tongue. Adding to the colorful scene are Dutchmen's breeches, squirrel corn, ginger leaves, and red and white trillium

WHEN OUR STATE still was a territory much of southeastern Michigan was covered with hardwood forests, many of them beech-maple which for this region would be the natural culmination of growth.

The Miller family farmed the land at the northeast corner of Ridge and Powell until he died in 1958. A by Plymouth-Canton Community decade later the school district purchased 40 acres of the farm, which included the Miller Woods plot.

> THE WOODS HAS been in the hands of the school district since

In the mid-1970s the forest's future became threatened by littering and vandalism. In 1975 the Miller Woods Committee was formed to help preserve tour and to the public at-large on the forest for the education and enjoyment of district residents.

> Under the committee's guidance a number of garden club members, Scout groups, students, church groups and others have volunteered time, money and personal effort to maintain the woods. Because of those efforts, the community has a natural resource in which it can take pride

> If you haven't walked through Miller Woods yet, get your camera out, buy some film, and plan on joining the tour on May 3. It's a nice way to convince yourself that despite the weather spring indeed is here.

The Observer congratulates the school district for maintaining title to the woods so it can be available to the community and to students. We also take advantage of the arrival of spring to thank the Miller Woods Committee Government awarded title to 80 acres, and the many volunteers who have worked so hard to preserve the woods Peter Teeple. • FAITH LUTHERAN World-renowned organist Paul Manz will play a hymn festival at 7 p.m. Sunday, May 4, at Faith Lutheran Church, 30000 Five Mile, Livonia. "Prelude to Unity" is the theme of a program celebrating the proposed union of Lutheran churches in 1988 and their growing unity with other Christians.

Along with the classic hymns of the church, the festival will feature several new hymns for a new church, including the Kyrie and Hymn of the Day from "Una Sancta: A Mass in Thanksgiving for the Unity of the Body of Christ," being written by Manz in collaboration with the Rev. Walter Wangerin Jr. for the 1988 union.

The event is one of 24 hymn festivals being sponsored throughout the country by Christ Seminary-Seminex, a Chicago-baseed theological school. Manz is a Christ Seminary-Seminex professor and artist in residence at the Lutheran School of Theology in Chicago.

Cement floor, open-beamed ceiling, and merchandise in original cartons are part of the no-frills approach taken by the Warehouse

Warehouse draws businesses' business

special writer

On any weekday, a crowd gathers before noon outside the Warehouse Club on Plymouth west of Telegraph.

When the doors swing open, shoppers fan out to stroll the large shopping carts down the wide aisles of the 100,000-square-foot building.

The club's 47,300 individual members and 3,500 business members come to pare 20-40 percent off retail prices on items ranging from frozen vegetables to office stationery and air compressors.

Strictly a no-frills operation, the building's cement floor and open-beamed ceiling add to its warehouse atmosphere. Merchandise in original cartons is stacked on pallets and moved on beeping fork-lift trucks. The club buys directly from suppliers and stores and sells the goods at the warehouse. There is no advertising: word of mouth is what is relied upon although the club's marketing representatives call on new area business

There ae no deliveries. "Eerything is strictly cash and carry," manager Paul Miller said. "We have no salesmen, either. Members pick what they want and Business owners are found standing in line with householders. Miller said gas station owners tend to stock up on oil, windshield wiper solvent, anti-freeze. paper and vending products. Landscapers buy garden tools and hoses, fertilizer, sprinklers, seeds and wheelbarrows.

After spending most of her working life in the employment of others, Anne Hart has found her niche in self-employment via franchising.

store managers head for candy bars, cigarettes, canned goods. New business owners buy the bulk of the club's typewriters, copy machines and office furniture, Miller

Business owners can keep their inventories down by buying from us in smaller quantities than those required by other suppliers," Miller said.

Tony Bombrisk, owner of the Bourbon Street Gas Light restaurant and lounge on Telegraph is Redford, said he shops at the club once a week. "I buy some good shrimp here, and I don't have to buy cheese in large quantities. It's convenient and cheaper than I can buy from another supplier," Bombrisk said.

Wholesale members pay a $25 annual membership to shop at the Warehouse Club. If dissatisfied within 90 days, fees are refunded.

Pam Ransom is a group member because her husband is a Redford firefighter. "When my husband has to cook for the firemen, he shops here," she said. Today I'm shopping for ingredients to can some chili. There's a limited selection here, but everything is very high quality.

LIMITED BRAND-NAME merchandise is in keeping with the wareshouse's no-frills philosophy, accordnd to Kerri Smith, membership manager.

Unlike a lot of places, we don't carry six or seven brands of toasters. But we carry one excellent toaster at a very low price," Smith said.

Tuning in to franchising brings order to her life right and what's wrong.

The order for Anne Hart is simply not to take any. Instead, the owner of Precision Tune on Ford and Wayne roads in Westland would rather give them. And judging by Hart's almost instant success as a franchise owner, she's giving excellent directives. Last summer, Hart had projected owning four Precision Tune centers within two years. Currently, she runs three in Westland, Dearborn Heights and Warren with another to open in June in Ann Arbor.

It only took a year "I don't like people telling me what to do," said Hart, 44. "I'm an independent type of a person.

"It's not that I can't take orders. It's just that I can't take orders well. I know the difference between what's THERE'S PLENTY right with Hart's business sense.

For example, to cut the high cost of winter heating bills at her tune-up centers, she recycles the oil that's been changed from cars in the garage and uses it in the furnaces. It's filtered repeatedly before use.

The process must be approved by the county and the city. It also has to meet Evironmental Protection Agency standards

As a result, Hart said the heating bill at the Dearborn outlet dropped from $800 to $40 a month

Such business smarts is something Hart didn't realize she had until the first purchase of a franchise in March 1984. Before that, she worked as a nurse, a real estate

But taking directions, obviously, wasn't Hart's forte. She wanted her own business.

"I wanted a franchise because Suzanne's Boutique wasn't the way to go," said Hart.

She scoured banks to get the best financing possible. Then she purchased the Precision Tune in Dearborn Heights, which was in the red at the time.

AFTER RE-ESTABLISHING a customer base, the Dearborn Heights Precision Tune was back in good financial standing. In June of last year, she added the Precision Tune in Westland.

To compensate for her lack of knowledge, Hart attended Precision Tune's corporate training seminars in Beaumont, Texas.

Tourism bolsters state's economy

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Michigan's welcome mat better be dusted off because tourism in the state is the wave of the future.

At least that's the prediction of Beverly Payne-Draper, who spoke before the Livonia Chamber of Commerce Wednesday at the Novi Payne-Draper, former Hilton. newscaster and now spokeswoman for the Michigan Department of Commerce, said state tourism took a turn upward in 1985.

Payne-Draper estimated tourism and travel accounted for $12.6 billion dollars and created 281,000 jobs in the state in 1985. That's a 17 percent increase from 1982.

But people who live and work in Michigan still don't realize its potential, according to Payne-Draper.

The Michigan Department of Commerace is trying to change that with several programs designed to bring tourism into the state. One is a

The state Department of Commerace has a federal procurement office and is involved in trade shows abroad in such places as Tokyo, with booths displaying Michigan-made products. China and West Africa are other places where Michigan-made products will be displayed in the future.

"The final element is promotion of pride in our state," said Payne-Draper. "It's one of the most important, and one of the most diffcult.

"It's difficult because it's hard to measure. We know when it's there and we know when it isn't.

"WHEN IT COMES to travel and tourism, we have an inferiority complex," said Payne-Draper, the first woman and first black to anchor a prime time television newscast in Detroit. "We only think of California, Arizonia . . . as places

'Beyond Therapy' is fast and funny

Performances of the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford production of "Beyond Therapy" continue Fridays-Saturdays, April 25-26 and May 2-3, at the theater in Redford. For ticket

"Beyond Therapy" is another atire from the quill of that outrageous and rebellious wit, Christopher Durang. Having taken shots at the family, movies and religion in the past, he now loes a number on psychiatrists. And the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford hardly miss a beat as it romps through this contrived but very funny comedy. Durang also manages to say a serious word or two about relationships. Of course, he makes them something less than

The plot (the little there is) centers around a young woman who has answered a personal ad. As the play opens, she meets her Mr. Right in a restaurant.

GUESS WHAT. He has a male over. But he is seeking new vistas with the opposite sex. Both are seeing therapists (she has been to bed with hers). His is a bizarre redhead, who talks a mumbo-jumbo. What follows is a series of dilemmas and therapy sessions that are absurdist in nature, and quite amusing.

Our two would-be lovers Prudence and Bruce, are played Marybeth Lilburn and John Eastman. Both have a nice flair for comedy. Eastman, with just a hint of gayness in the character of Bruce, gets the evening off on just the right note when he tells Prudence, "I hope I'm not too macho for you."

Although one expects her to have a bigger negative reaction after learning of Bruce's bisexual persuasion, Lilburn carries off the rest of the evening with a frantic desperation that fits her

Adding a nice accent is a piano in the background playing Someone to Watch Over Me." Vicki Craven plays Bruce's mildly crazy therapist, Mrs. Wallace. She makes Dr. Ruth seem tame. Her office resembles a nursery. She plays ventriloquist with a snoopy dog, munches problem and dispenses psychiatric jargon to her patients. It's a boffo performance.

Not all changes are for the better

JLES, RULES, RULES. Can't live with them and can't live without them. Sports are particularly vulnerable to this paradox. Where else are rules so strictly, so visibly defined? But it's never enough. People, you see, share a common deficiency. They are never satisfied. They constantly tinker with long-established standards. Some firmly believe their suggestions for change are for the good of the game; others will recite such rhetoric, but their true incentive, hidden and unspoken, is how the change will benefit them. Change is good? It reflects a changing society? It's Perhaps. But like the rules sometimes are, change isn't always right. It doesn't always mean improvement.

Three changes in sports: One is already on the books, one is currently under strong consideration, a third is in its infancy.

IN THE BOOKS is the NCAA rule regarding threepoint field goals in basketball. The college rule awards three points for any shot made from behind an arc 19 feet, nine inches from the basket.

Coaches within the Observer & Eccentric coverage area were split on the change — two in favor (Schoolcraft College coach Rocky Watkins and Orchard Lake St. Mary's coach Tim Domke), and two against (Oakland University coach Greg Kampe and Oakland Community College coach Lynn Reed).

The reasoning of each coach was, well, reasonable. But understand, each also had his own, personal incentive. OU's Kampe, for example, has worked to build a big, strong team capable of dominating in the paint. Now that his goal is within reach, the game is being taken away from the big men and given to the jump shooter.

OLSM and SC are known for strong perimeter shooting. Getting three points for their jumpers instead of two will greatly enhance their victory

LOST IN THE argument is recruiting. Big, strong players are still in demand, but their value has dipped slightly. And the guards most teams sought before were at their best driving to the hoop. No more. Why drive when a 20-footer will earn three?

Note, too, why a player like North Farmington's Rick Anderson remained unsigned for so long. Before the change, Anderson was borderline Division I. But his strengths — namely, 6-foot-5 height coupled with a great outside shot — increased his value. Eastern Michigan finally won a drawn-out battle for Anderson, beating out Kent State, Bowling Green and Western Michigan.

One point all four local coaches did agree on, and I with them: The three-point line is much too close. Moving it back to 21 feet would be more reasonable. There's going to be a lot of Spud Webb-type heroes next year, 5-7 guys hitting from less than 20 feet.

Defenses will suffer, too, and that's a shame. No one can afford to play a zone with a three-point shot available. My feeling is the change takes away part of the attraction of college basketball. What separated the NCAA game from the pros was

CHANGE NO. 2: Look for the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA) to adopt a revised football playoff format in the next two weeks. The one drawing most favorable attention would keep the expanded version (16 teams per class, instead of eight), with the ninth game as the first round of playoffs.

As you may recall, both last year and this year the calendar had an extra week in the season, so an extra week of playoffs could be added without altering the regular season or the Saturday-after-Thanksgiving date for the finals. That changes in 1987.

The MHSAA has to make a decision for 1987, and the one favored by their playoff committee is fine. The alternatives were opening the season a week earlier - but that's before Labor Day and ofttimes prior to the start of school - or going back to the eight-team format.

THE PLAN endorsed by the playoff committee would have teams qualify for the state playoffs after eight games. Whoever they scheduled as their ninthgame opponents would then play each other.

One problem with this plan is its interference with the playoff formats for the Catholic League and Western Lakes Activities Association, which normally play their championships on the ninth week. That can be circumvented by opening league play a week earlier and eliminating an early-season non-league opponent.
I like this change. And in an MHSAA survey of the schools that participated in the expanded playoffs last year, the consensus was strongly (roughly twoto-one) in favor of keeping the 16-team-per-class format.

CHANGE NO. 3: OK, so there isn't a major clamoring among state high school baseball coaches to follow the Catholic League's example and switch to a 3-2 rule. I think there should be.

Arguments against range from it isn't true baseball - the rule allows three balls for a walk and two strikes for a strikeout - to that it wouldn't make any difference.

I have to believe it would. Games certainly would be shorter, and in Michigan's unpredictable weather that would be a blessing. It would be particularly beneficial in after-school double-headers, where darkness sometimes intervenes.

I think the number of walks would decrease, too. Batters would have to be more aggressive.

A 3-2 rule would save pitches, which in turn would educe the strain on young arms.
It's something worth considering.

Chiefs' 2nd-half doze costly

Livonia Franklin girls soccer coach Judy Brda has to be wondering when Western Lakes teams are going to start taking her sqaud serious.

The Patriots rallied to gain a 4-4 tie with heavilyfavored Plymouth Canton Monday night.

We certainly aren't a Livonia Stevenson-caliber team but they should take us seriously," Brda said of the Chiefs. "We tied them last year, too."

It didn't look like Canton was taking anyone for granted early. The Chiefs scored the first three goals of the game. Kendra Whiteley, Molly Menarde and Kellie Dailey each scored in the first half.

But after that, Canton cruised and Franklin caught

Sophomore Deanne Brda, who scored three goals in the match, and Kelly Holzwart scored before the end of the half to bring Franklin into contention. Whiteley scored midway through the second-half to give the Chiefs a 4-2 lead. With 15 minutes left in the match, Brda scored her second goal on a penalty kick. Then, with four minutes left in the match, Brda took a pass from Heather Colvin and beat Canton goalie Jenny Saul for the game-tying goal. "Franklin's goalie got a good workout," said Canton coach Mike Morgan. "But we just couldn't stick it in the Said Brda: "Our defensive team was super strong.

This ended up a good game, I'm very happy."

Canton (2-1-1 in the Western Lakes, 4-1-1 overall) outshot Franklin 20-12.

The Patriots are 2-2-1 on the year.

CHURCHILL 13, HARRISON 0: Amy Weber, Jamie Kubacki and Chris Paciero scored two goals each as unbeaten Livonia Churchill had an easy time with winless Farmington Harrison on Monday.

The Chargers (7-0-1) also got goals from Liz Monroe, Jennifer Huegli, Colleen Churchill, Kolleen Allen, Julie Myers, Kathy Kelley and Jennifer Flowers. The Hawks are 0-3-1.

STEVENSON 19, W.L. CENTRAL 0: While we're on the subject of blowouts

Mary Pelloni and Karen Carney tallied four goals apiece, Michelle Hussey three and Maureen Sudek two Monday to lead visiting Livonia Stevenson.

Shots on goal for this match: 40-0 in favor of the Spartans. Perhaps the Michigan High School Athletic Association should initiate a mercy rule in soccer.

Canton's Shannon Meath (No. 17) is bumped off the ball by Franklin's Andrea Horn Monday as the Chiefs and Pats played to a 4-4 tie.

Canton wasted a three-goal lead in the Western Lakes match.

and Spartan Relays.

Dearborn High may only be a Class B school, but when it comes to boys track, the Pioneers are Class A all the way.

Facing 10 other schools with bigger enrollments, Dearborn won the Elks Relays Saturday at Plymouth Salem by scoring 60 points, the highest total ever in the 21st running of the event.

Defending champion Redford Bishop Borgess was a distant second with 40, followed by Redford Catholic Central, 33; Livonia Stevenson, 29; and Plymouth Salem, 25. (See complete statistical summary). The difference is that we scored in all 14 events, and Borgess scored in nine," said Dearborn coach Bob Bridges. "We're the only 'B' team in the field, but this is a meet designed so everybody uses all their people." Dearborn came into the meet a favorite after finishing third at a pair of indoor meets - the Huron

THE PIONEERS grabbed three first-place finishes including the high jump, pole vault and four mile relays.

Borgess won the 440, 880 and mile relays, along with the low hurdles event.

Corey Ivey, Eric Harp, Ivan Cotman and anchorman Marion Pittman were clocked in 44.1 in the 440 and 1:30.2 in the 880. Brian Kelly was the anchorman for Borgess in the mile and low hurdle relays.

He teamed up with Sean Darkins, Mark Pittman and Jon Tower to win the hurdles in 1:23.5. The Pittman brothers, Cotman and Kelly took the mile relay in Places for folks who really want to get away

By Joy Aschenbach special writer

FOR THOSE who are interested in exploring out-of-the-way spots unvisited by other tourists, there's still plenty of places which are gauranteed to be private.

How about a mountain that has never been climbed? At 24,880 feet, Gangkher Punsum is one of the highest unclimbed peaks in the Himalayas.

It is located in the "forbidden neighboring Tibet and Nepal.

"Everest was the 'third pole," said Dr. Barry C. Bishop, a member of the first American expedition to reach its 29,028-foot summit, in 1963. After its initial conquest by a British group in 1953, there was no higher place to go except the moon.

THERE ARE places deeper than Mount Everest is high which are virtually unexplored. "Less than 'one percent of the deep sea has been seen,' said oceanographer Robert D. Ballard.

We are about where Lewis and Clark were when they were readyto shove off up the Missouri, but without their advantage of being able to interview Indians.

Ballard is now developing the next generation of underwater exploration vehicles, capable of being maneuvered at depths of 20,000 feet. "We know more about the backside of the moon than we do about the ocean depths," he

What about the land in between? All of it now has been sighted by satellite, but are there any places left unexplored on the ground?

'There's no nice, neat laundry list of the world, such as the 10 'hottest' places to go if you want to go somewhere where nobody's been before," said Jay Headly of the Explorers Club.

BUT NEARLY 500 years after Columbus, there are still some places where man has never set

They are generally places where either the environment or the political climate has been too hostile. Or maybe they have been ignored simply because getting there first would not have broken a record.

By the second half of this century, the definition of exploration had changed from p rely geographic inquiry to sophisticated scientific field research, says Bishop, vice chairman of the National Geographic Society's committee fer Research and Exploration.

It's no longer-enough to stick a flag in new ground, he says. It is important to bring back knowledge of the flora, fauna, fossile record, and geologic history. In the scientific sense, the number of unexplored places could be countless.

For the thrill of being the first to leave a footprint, places to head

ANTARCTICA. "Certainly more than half of the continent has never been walked on," said Guy Guthridge of the National Science Foundation's Division of Polar Programs.

"There are millions of square miles of featureless ice plain in the vast interior where people have not been: Most of the peaks in the Transantartic Mountains haven't been climbed.

"On the coast, for example, 10,168-foot Mount Siple was first spotted from the air in 1940 and named, but it was 1984 before anyone actually ascended it.

THE ARCTIC. Some mountains that appear to rise from the sea on the east coast of Canada's Ellesmere and Baffin Islands, and extend 50 to 60 miles inland, have not been scaled, says George Van. B. Cochran, past president of the Explorers Club.

'I've been up there 10 times," he said. "I have some secret areas of my own. One, on the southeast coast of Ellesmere, I've come close to climbing three times. It's next year's adventure.'

Also, says arctic expert John Bockstoce, there are bound to be unexplored places in the arctic regions of the Soviet Union.

AUSTRIALIA. Thousands of caves - the entrances to perhaps 6,000 are known northern Queensland, but only about 400 have been mapped, says Brother Nicholas Sullivan, a geology instructor at Manhattan College who has been exploring caves since 1949.

In them, he says he has found previously unknown fossil species as well as new living specimens among them, cockroaches that live only underground.

Immense uncharted caves are hidden by the jungle on the neighboring island of New Guinea. "The greatest potential for finding undiscovered caves is in limestone regions of the world with no It is located in the "forbidden surface water, where people kingdom" of Bhutan. SOUTH AMERICA. A great salt flat in southwestern Bolivia contains huge expanses that have never been crossed, says Loren McIntyre, a veteran photographer of South America. So does an icefield on the border between southern Argentina and Chile.

Parima Mountains straddling Brazil and Venezuela have been traversed at the eastern and western ends, but many of the peaks in between haven't been, McIntyre says.

Along the Andes in southern Peru and northern Chile, summits not high enough to break records have not ben scaled. The once inaccessible Amazon region "has had people traveling all through but much of it still has not been studied scientifically, particularly in northern Brazil and southern Colombia, he says.

Elsewhere, there may be a sacred mountain in Iran, a stretch of desert on the Arabian Peninsula, or some steppes in China that have not been trod upon.

The adventursome may never run out of unexplored places, because, over time, new land continually appears on earth.

In 1963, for example, the rocky island of Surtsey erupted from the volcanic sea bottom off the coast of Iceland. After a 1971 storm in the Bay of Bengal, a muddy spit of land popped up between India and Bangladesh.

And in a few thousand years, the Loihi Seamount will become another Hawaiian island.

DRC facelift is a winner

INTERIOR designers. Hank Gluckman and his son Kerry welcome a challenge

One of the biggest they've faced in awhile though came when they were awarded a contract last February to totally redesign Ladbroke Detroit Race ourse in Livonia

Make it attractive and keep it functional was the mandate from the Ladbroke management.

And, oh yes, do it within two months and keep within budgetary restraints.

It sounded simple enough After all, the Gluckmans were used to working with large areas. The Southfield-based firm, Gluckman Designs Inc., has completed a number of projects throughout the country, including several shopping malls. One of them is Oakland Mall

But it still didn't prepare them for the task that lay ahead of them when they took on the DRC

"Overwhelming" was how Hank Gluckman described his reaction at his first viewing of the cavernous interior of the Ladbroke Detroit Race Course at the corner of Schoolcraft and Middlebelt roads in Livonia.

'AND UGLY" he chuckled, in describing the clubhouse area with its 20-foot high walls with encircling walkways complete with iron railings. "It looked like a prison: The only thing missing were prison guards with machine

Everything, he recalls, was painted yellow - a blah yellow at that

The main dining room was almost as bad. One of the worst features was the presence of battleship plate a half-inch thick partially covering the walls.

"Apparently the former owners had purchased stationary manure bins for the outside and were then informed by the city that they had to be movable. So the metal wound up on the dining room walls. You can't imagine how bad the room looked. It took a week to cut through the stuff to get it off," said Kerry Gluckman.

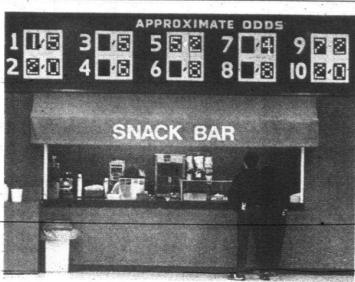

SWIFTLY, BUT surely the Gluckmans artistically swept through the huge property.

Obvious improvements to passersby was the rejuvenation of sagging entry gates which where shored up and repainted. It included all the signage inside as well as outside. Everything was redone to reflect the new ownership of Great Britain's

Every nook and cranny was brightened and all food areas were given new treatment, including colorful awnings to add to a lively atmosphere.

The first thing that hits the eve upon entering the front of the lubhouse area is a mural of horses - each in a different color but in compatible tones.

The fusion of color conveys the feeling of horses in motion, explains Gluckman. It was his an swer to the "open railing, prison look" that formerly greeted visi-

Probably the most spectacular change was in the creation - in a scant 23 days - of the upscale members-only Turf Club with all the friendly warmth and ambience of a country inn.

Ladbroke officials were delighted with the finished product, but the best measurement of the effect of the improvements is the fact that market research has shown that the colorful renovation at the race course is a major factor in improved attendance.

For the Gluckmans, it's the same as being neck and neck in the homestretch - in a tight race against the clock - and coming in first with colors flying.

Smart Business.

Today, business demands better office space. More efficient. More "intelligent." More "user-friendly." But the cost of space has escalated to an all-time high. And all you get is space. Empty space.

At Americanters, you can lease a plush, private office, with or without furnishings, for as few as six months, and, you can tap extensive secretarial services including word processing, photocopying, and high tech services such as facsimile and electronic mail.

such as racsimile and electronic mail.

Imagine, a prestigious office suite with a support staff and all the service advantages normally available only to big business. All at a cost far lower than you'll pay to equip typical AmeriCenters Now that's smart business.
