EXTRA MILER: Mary Kay Frey was honored Monday night by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education for being an "Extra Miler." Frey, who operates the reading program for adults for Community Education, joined the department in 1969 after earning a master's degree from Purdue. Her specialty is teaching adults how to read and she helped form the Community Literacy Council for the school district. She also is student teacher coordinator for the schools, is active in fund-raisers, and is involved as a leader in her church: Under her leadership, there has been a 300 percent increase of adults enrolling in the reading program from last year to this year.

FIRST RATE: With comments of "beautiful tone and interpretation," "this was a great performance," and "what a terrific band and wonderful individual players" echoing in their ears, the 65-member CEP Symphony Band returned to Plymouth last Saturday from the state band contest.

Held in the greater Lansing area, the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association sponsored music festival saw the CEP bandsmen awarded not only the top rating of straight "I's" in Class AA competition, but a standing ovation from fellow competitors. The band's performance included "The Northern Pines March" by John Philip Sousa, "Lincolnshire Posy" by Percy Grainger, and 'Incantation and Dance" by John Barnes Chance.

The next public appearance for the band will be Friday, May 30, in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High when it will premier a work commissioned for them b the Plymouth Community Arts Council titled "Plymouth Rhapsody." In addition, Larry Livingston (Plymouth High Class of 1959), now dean of music at University of Southern California. will return to his hometown to guest conduct the band in one of its own compositions.

THE SEARCH: A professional genealogist, Wilma Foley, will be at the Canton Public Library at 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 8, to look next in your search for your ancestors. You can sign up now to attend by calling 397-0999 or register in person at the Canton Library.

Door slams on apartments

About 200 people packed Canton Township Hall Monday night in a successful effort to convince the planning commission to vote against rezoning 17 acres on the west side of Haggerty between Ford and Cherry Hill in Canton

However, the final decision on re-zoning lies with the Canton Township Board of Trustees

Developers are seeking to rezone from single-family residential to multi-family residential. The change would allow development of Sawmill Creek apartments featuring a two story structure with patios and bal-

THE ISSUE was discussed for about three hours before the commission voted 5 to 1 against rezoning. There was one abstention.

"I understand the residents' feelings and I think the developer would have done a nice job," said Richard Kirchgatter, commission chairman, who cast the sole vote in favor of re-

The project developer insists the apartments would have enhanced the community.

The cost to rent a unit would range $460-$570, he said.

The type of community would definitely reflect that type of rental

Richard Kaufman, chief judge of Wayne Circuit Court, is just plain dad to son Sean. 'Utopian socialist' fills Wayne judge seat

By Teri Banas staff writer

During the summer after his senior year at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, Richard Kaufman took off for Berkeley, Calif., with a group of close friends and fellow student activists.

He had spent five years working on a bachelor's degree in philosophy. He later admitted that had prepared him for little more than the odd jobs he found travelling in the West.

Stopping for a time in California. Colorada and Arizona, he found himself sweating out an existence as a restaurant "bus boy," waiter and later garbage truck loader.

A participant in the U-M Black Action Strike of the early 1970s and a self-described "utopian socialist," Kaufman later returned to Michigan, went to law school like his father and uncles before him.

Thirteen years later, Kaufman, at 34, is chief judge of the Wayne County Circuit Court.

"THE BONDS I made with that group of people back in those days are still the bonds which identify myself to who I am," said Kaufman, who lives in Plymouth Township with his wife, Elaine Lenart, and

"Most of my identity comes from them. We grew up together," he said of this "close-knit group of 15-20 people," most of whom at one time shared a mountainside home in Boul-

The era that shaped Kaufman's view of the world and life, itself, was defined by the Vietnam War. Because of it, every fabric of conventional American life was questioned. And when Kaufman attended college between 1969 and 1973, he was part of those events.

"I found problems with the way capitalist society divided out re-sources to people. Poor workingclass people just weren't treated fairly. I thought society should have been reorganized fairer. I thought if everyone worried a little more about everyone else, you'd be better off," he mused.

On a recent day, Kaufman was about as far away from that previous life as can be imagined. Ensconsed in his 12th floor office, Kaufman was considering other matters.

THERE WERE issues like picking up the pace of the circuit court docket and tackling a controversial merger between the Circuit and Recorders courts.

There was also the problem of working out an acceptable bond proposal for renovating parts of the City-County Building into more office and courtroom space for the 35 circuit courtrooms, thereby consolidating them out of two building sites in downtown Detroit

And in the midst of it all, the newest and youngest chief judge of the largest circuit court of Michigan faced a white slip of paper on his desk that noted in urgent, heavyprinted letters, "Call Lucas."

Kaufman was appointed to the court's top administrative post by his peers last month. He beat out three others, Marvin Stempien and James Mies, both of Livonia, and Leo Cahalan of Grosse Ile.

In his new post, Kaufman, who was elected to the circuit court six years ago, is in charge of 400 employees, 35 judges and a $30 million budget.

By virtue of its size, the Wayne game element that factored in his election to the bench six years ago. Obviously. I'm not in this position because 238,000 voters know I'm a bright, energetic, caring person, but because I happen to have a name that runs well in judicial contests," he said. 'However, I've never heard of a system proposed that's better for picking judges. Of the 35 judges here, 18 were elected and 17 were appointed by the governor. There's no perceptive difference among them."

Just 8 years old when his father was first elected to the Circuit Court, Kaufman grew up in an extended family that perceived entering law practice like going into the family business.

He recalls frequently being brought out to Democratic Party and judicial functions and being asked the familiar question about his future career plans.

Resisting for awhile during his college ways, he later returned to Detroit and entered Wayne State Law

Declaring that Wayne County's "free spending days are over," Executive William Lucas this week called for a freeze on hiring, employée overtime and capital expenditures to avert a potential $30.4 million deficit this

He said the executive order would "forestall any impact on services." Besides the freeze, some 300-400 positions will go unfilled this year, he said Monday.

"We will tighten the budget and now; the whole idea is to do it now." Lucas said.

The county's $201 million budget was launched just five months ago but is facing a revenue shortfall of $3.4 million plus $7 million in overspending. The losses are being realized in federal revenue sharing ($1.9 million), $950,000 less in county-generated fees, and a $520,000 loss because of a delay in implementing a jail-inmate contract with the U.S. Marshal Service. In overruns, Lucas cited the Westland Power Plant ($1.2 million) and the sheriff's department ($2.7 million).

BUT THE single largest problem looms in the area of indigent care, which is expected to exceed the budget by $20 million. Lucas blamed the projected overrun on the state of Michigan, which covers the medical bills for indigent residents before billing Wayne County its share. He said the state failed to vigilantly track medical costs, allowing abuses such as in-patient care when out-patient care would do. Auditors from both sides are examining records in the dispute.

In general, the freeze affects all departments with "sufficient" allowances for state-mandated services such as sheriff patrols in the parks, he said. Airport security should also remain unaffected because that service is directly paid by the airline companies.

In addition, he said he was freezing overtime because will not effect "the kind of savings that's needed

College spokeswoman Saundra Florek said while 950 students have earned associate degrees and certificates, the college only expects some 320 to attend the weekend's ceremony. Many who completed programs earlier this year have either moved on to employment elsewhere or to other institutions, she said.

Of the 950 this year, the largest number, 569 students, earned associate degrees in applied science. Other associate degrees: 142 in arts, 64 in general studies, 59 in science, 18 in engineering. There are 85 students receiving a one-year certificate and six receiving a two-year

AMONG THOSE receiving special honors will be Shirley Ritter as the distinguished alumnus. Today, she is working toward a master's degree at Central Michigan versity. She is also active with the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, the Women's Economic Club of Detroit and the American College of Sports Medicine.

Besides Adamany, two other persons will receive honorary degrees this weekend.

LUCAS singled out the county sheriff's departmentsaying it was "sufficiently staffed." Earlier this week, Sheriff Robert Ficano said he could not say what kind of effect this would have on his department until receiving full details on the executive

But he criticized Lucas in several areas "If someone quits in the jail, how am I supposed to man the floors (under an overtime and hiring freeze)?" he asked Ficano said his department auditors tell him that the department's $55 million is "on target" and therefore he disputes Lucas' budget reading, putting the blame on the frequent change of accounting systems over the years. Furthermore, he said. Lucas has already declined filling 60 vacancies in the department this year, he said.

"Lucas has changed accounting systems three times in the last four years. And suddenly, the numbers are jumping around. At least I'm close. He underestimated (the cost of indigent medical care) and is only off by $20 million," Ficano said.

"This proves the budget he presented to us last September was a sham, misleading the people," Hertel said. "The budget should have been much more realistic from the beginning.

"(Monday's executive order) is too little and too late," he said.

Hertel predicted that cuts forthcoming because of the Gramm-Rudman Amendment will cause even bigger revenue reductions and further county finance problems

In the meantime, he said Monday's executive order

A defense against cancer can be cooked up in your kitchen.

There is evidence that diet and cancer are related. Some foods may promote cancer, while others may protect you from it. Foods related to lowering the risk of cancer of the larynx and esophagus all have high amounts of carotene, a form of Vitamin A which is in cantaloupes, peaches, broccoli, spinach, all dark green leafy vegetables, sweet potatoes, carrots, pumpkin, winter squash and tomatoes, citrus fruits and brussels sprouts.

Foods that may help reduce the risk of gastrointestinal and respiratory tract cancer are cabbage, broccoli, brussels sprouts, kohlrabi, cauliflower.

School election: Apathy is costly

N JUNE THE annual school election will include a bond proposal request as well as the election of for Central and to vote next month. mbers to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education

Residents interested in the wellbeing of the school district will want to pay close attention to both parts of June's ballot. The bond issue's passage or defeat will determine in a number of areas the quality and availabilty of facilities and equipment to educate Plymouth-Canton students.

Likewise, there is a wide range of school board candidates of varying degrees of knowledge, experience and insight. There could be some very good trustees elected; there could be decisions made that would be regretted later. This is no time for apathy because the choices made this June really do make a difference.

ONE GROUP that clearly does not want to be apathetic includes those resdents concerned with the future of Central Middle-School.

The former high school has been aging and is badly in need of major repairs. The school board, faced with a overhaul or $1-$2 million for a less extensive renovation, has chosen the less expensive route.

The bill is costly enough, though, that it cannot be picked up from normal operating costs. Instead the district plans bonds. To pay back the bonded debt, the district needs voter approval to levy a special tax only to be used for debt re-

The proposed bond $13 million issue contains other major repairs besides Central Middle, one new elementary school and other steps to increase classroom space, the purchases of buses and meetings herself. the purchase of instructional equipment at all levels. The tie to education is certainly close enough to warrant concern and examination from all those concerned with instructional quality.

The bond issue particularly should be a cause for concern for residents in the Central Middle School attendance area, particularly city of Plymouth residents. When rumors circulated that Central might be closed and the property sold, a number of Central parents and neighbors were up in arms. All those who stormed city hall and the school board offices then should seriously consider

In the last city election, a slate of candidates ran on a common programthat included a call to do what was possible to keep Central Middle open. The Observer suggested that the slate was misdirected in making the status of Central an issue in city politics as the future of the school lies in the hands of the school board. Now the school's future lies in the hands of voters. If that slate was sincere about keeping Central open, and not using the issue only for political gain, then slate leaders should become very active now, and publicly vocal, in urging residents to vote "yes" or "no" on the bond issue.

RESIDENTS THROUGHOUT the district will want to pay attention to the school board race

Elaine Kirchgalter of Canton has decided against seeking re-election. She has almost nine years' experience on the hoard which will be missed Trustee E.J. McClendon, another veteran of the board, is seeking election to a two-year term and likely will step down after cost of $5 million for a complete that. With the current board relatively inexperienced, it will be important to elect people with knowledge of the dis-

McClendon of Plymouth represents one choice for knowledge and experience, and incumbent Marilyn Schwinn to borrow the money through the sale of Of Plymouth has grown in office since being appointed. Another knowledgeable person is Jeannette Wines of Canton who has served the district on a number of committees for some years now and has been to more board meetings than many current members. Joan Kotcher of Canton also has been active in school affairs and has attended many

> Richard Sumpter of Canton started out as a single-issue uninformed candidate but has gained viability as a candidate. Judith Lore of Plymouth has not been involved in school affairs at the board level but has a broad base of community involvement

> Some years there really hasn't been much of a choice in school board elections. This year there are choices and it does make a difference how you choose. The bond proposal also is an important issue Much is at stake Too much for you to sit it out. Remember, every vote

Full cupboards but nothing to eat

There is a phenomenon that occurs on a regular basis in our household which, given sufficient government grant money, would probably make a very interesting scientific study.

I am referring to the mystery of empty cereal boxes, cookie packages, milk cartons, juice cans, etc., being replaced in the cupboard or refrigerator rather than put into the garbage where they belong. It's not as if it's easier for the perpe-the cupboard after the contents have been sneakily disposed of. The wastebasket is in very close proximity to the cupboard - one doesn't even have to trator to return an empty cookie bag to reach up to toss out their empties. NATURALLY, neither hubby nor ei-

Nancy ther of our sons will own up to being the culprit. They even have the nerve to look at me as though I were slightly demented for being irritated over such I suspect this particular behavior of from the juice can is no doubt followed by an even quicker replacing of said can into the fridge in order to avoid detection. Doesn't allow much time to check and see if the can is empty, does it?

DOESN'T SEE YOU.)

So along comes grocery day.

I check the cupboard and see four cookie bags and a cupcake box. The fridge holds two juice cans, two pop hoarding empty packages may be in bottles and a Twinkie box. A novice some way related to another dreaded shopper would naturally assume that affliction — drinking directly out of a we are well-stocked in those particular juice can, milk carton or large pop bot- items and need purchase no more.

The 15 members of the 1986 Observer Academic All-Star team are heading for careers in engineering, medicine or business.

Students were selected by a committee from the Michigan Association of Secondary School Principals. A formula that took into account grade averages in academic subjects and test scores in the SAT, ACT or PSAT (for juniors only) was used to rank the students.

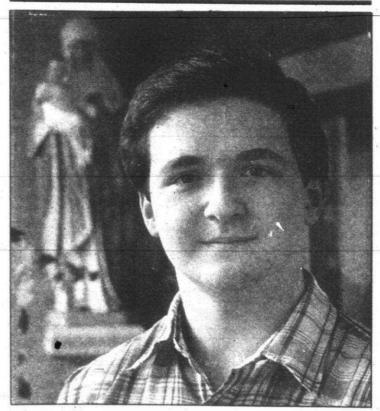

Each high school in the Observer circulation area was invited to nominate two students, either juniors or seniors, to the team. In all, 38 were

The following achievers make up the 1986 team:

JACQUELINE A. ACHO - North Farmington High School, Farmington Hills. Acho plans to attend the University of Michigan. She is a special writer for the Farmington Observer and is a member of forensics. the marching band, track team, Spanish Club and National Honor Society. Acho, who lives on Muer Cove in Farmington Hills, was a summer exchange student in Spain and is a National Merit semifinalist. Asked who has influenced her academic career, Acho said, "My parents, through their continuing support of my efforts and encouragement in the pursuit of my own interests.' JOHN D. BRINKMAN - Bishop Borgess High School, Redford Township. Brinkman, who lives on Minock Street in Detroit, is aiming for a career specializing in robotics and plans to obtain a master's degree in electrical engineering. He is co-president of the National Honor Society, member of the Michigan Mathematics League and participated in the Wayne State Watertower Building Contest and the Great Lakes Invitational Model United Nations. He is a National Merit semifinalist and member of Phi Beta Kappa and placed second in the National Science Olympiad in chemistry and physics. He also received outstanding achievement awards in science. math and English. Brinkman said his academic career has been influenced by "many people - family, friends and teachers (both grade school and high school) who have continued to provide challenge, room to stretch and encouragement when I felt overwhelmed.

KENNETH CLARK - John Glenn High School, Westland. Clark is aiming for a bachelor's of science degree in aerospace engineering at the University of Michigan, four years as an Air Force officer and then raduate studies at Massachusettes Institute of Technology. His activities include cross country, tennis, orchestra, forensics, French Club and National Honor Society. He was a finalist in the Michigan Math Prize competition. ship, credits his parents for inspiring academic achievement because they gave me discipline and helped to set my standards.

DAVID DARMOFAL - Stevenson High School, Livonia. Darmofal, who lives on Bennett Street in Livonia, plans to attend the University of Michigan where he will study math and engineering. He has held leadership positions in the Student Senate, Sophomore Class Council, Chess Club, National Honor Society, computer team and Quiz Bowl Team. He is a member of the Literary Arts Magazine staff, Jazz Band, debate team, Livonia Youth Choir, Math Club and forensics team. He is a National Merit finalist, was awarded a SAE/Uniroyal engineering scholarship, received the Summa Cum Laude award and was a district forensics tournament winner. He placed in the top 50 Michigan math students in 1985 and top 100 in 1986. "I have been greatly influenced by my parents," Darmofal said. "They have given me a set of values which stress the value of hard work. This hard work ethic has been one of the important factors in my academic

WILLIAM D. KELLOGG -Churchill High School, Livonia. Kellogg plans to study mechanical engineering at Colorado State University and later join the Air Force and become a test pilot. A Livonia resident, Kellogg is president of the Aerospace Club, vice president of the Physics Club and co-captain of the computer team. He has worked on the Walk for Mankind and is a crossing guard coordinator. He received an honorable mention in the Michigan Math Competition and is a member of the National Honor Society. Who has influenced his academic career? "Big Bird and Kermit the Frog," said Kellogg. "I'll never forget Sesame Street.

PAUL KRAJEWSKI - Stevenson High School, Livonia. Krajewski, who lives on Hammer Street in Livonia, will attend the University of Michigan and study engineering. His school activities include Quiz Bowl team, math team, Class Council, treasurer of the National Honor Society and president of the Math Club. He is a member of the pep and marching bands and is assistant coach of the St. Colette softball team. He is a Michigan Math Prize finalist, will graduate summa cum laude and attended Boys' State. His eighth-grade teacher, Dana-Hardwidge, influenced his academic pursuits, Krajewski said. "She chalnged me to work and the study habits that she helped me to develop have really helped me throughout my high school years.

SOO JIN KWON - Plymouth Salem High School, Plymouth. Kwon, a Plymouth resident, will attend Yale offered an alumni scholarship and a music scholarship to the University of Michigan. She is captain of the varsity tennis team, opinion and commentary editor of the school newspaper, member of the student council, pianist with the Jazz Band and manager of the boy's tennis team. Kwon is vice president of the National Honor Society and was the Elks Club Student of the Year in 1984-85. Her English teacher, Ruth Tonner, has been "my teacher and my mentor," said Kwon. "She helped me to grow intellectually and spiritually. She taught me courage and self respect. She taught me to seek and persevere. She showed faith in me and thus gave me faith in myself."

IAN McCREERY - John Glenn High School, Westland. McCreery would like to study history or Russian studies at the University of Michigan or Williams College. He is aiming for a career in teaching or archaeology. His school activities include varsity football, French Club and National Honor Society. He is vice president of the Student Council and a crew trainer at McDonald's. McCreery, a resident of Wayne, is a National Merit finalist, semifinalist for a Senate youth scholarship and is listed in Who's Who of High School Students. "My mother has most influenced my academics because of her attitudes toward education and learning," McCreery said. "Educa-tion isn't just school, but learning from everything around you.'

PETER MUELLER - Bishop Borgess High School, Redford Township. Mueller, who lives in Detroit, is aiming for college and possibly a graduate degree. He is vice president of Close Up Congress, head de-legate to Model United Nations and a member of Computer Club, stage crew, forensics and his parish council. Mueller was a medalist from the National Science Olympiad and a National Merit semifinalist. "I feel that my parents have had the greatest influence in my academic career. They have always had high expectations." Mueller said.

DENNIS J. PAIGE - Garden City High School, Garden City. Paige, a Garden City resident, plans to study engineering at the University of Michigan. His activities include bowling, wallyball, designing games, canoeing and writing poems and sto-ries. He is president of a local gaming society, student-teacher at a junfor high school and member of National Honor Society. His academic career has been influenced by "my brothers in the sense that I have always tried to compete and surpass their high academic and aesthetic standards. They have always supported me," Paige said.

Nuke freeze group walks for pledges

"Legs Against Arms" is the slogan of the third annual nuclear weapons freeze walk sponsored by the Detroit Area Nuclear Weapons Freeze.

Walkers will circle Detroit's Belle Isle, starting at 1 p.m. Saturday, Organizers have been seeking corporate and office-pool pledges as well as individual donations.

Last year the event drew 1,000 walkers and raised $46,000, said coordinator Kim Stockwell-Lobert.

The Freeze is headquartered in the Newman Center on the Wayne State University campus.

Date for the walk was chosen because it is the day before Mother's Day, Stockwell-Lobert said. "The first Mother's Day was a peace festival called by pioneer feminist Julia Ward Howe in 1870," she said

Universities double as tools for economic growth

By Tim Richard staff writer

A new patent policy at Wayne State University may pay bigger dividends to faculty members and the region's economy.

"We have processed 20 patents," said Dr. Garrett Heberlein, the Troy resident who for nine months has been vice president for research at WSU as well as dean of the graduate school.

"They (inventions) are not all patented yet. But we'll probably quadruple the number."

He called WSU's patent policy "among the most liberal in the country" in the percentage payoff of faculty inventors.

"WAYNE WAS very backward. Wayne is one of the best now," agreed Dr. Samuel C. Brooks, Orchard Lake resident who is professor of internal medicine and a co-worker on a cancer treatment.

Dr. Garrett Heberlein Views WSU as an 'octopus, reaching out' "In 1978 Wayne didn't even know what to do" when a faculty member sought a patent, said Brooks, who had to hire his own patent attorney in Arlington, Va. Now he and Jerome Horwitz of the Michigan Cancer Foundation have been awarded three patents with others pending. "From 1978 to now, everything has changed," Brooks said.

Heberlein, a biologist who came to the Detroit campus from Bowling Green (Ohio) State University, referred to the policy which awards an inventor 52.5 percent of the first $100,000 in royalties from an invention. Yale allows 50 percent, Michigan 50, Minnesota 36 and Harvard 30. It's early to say how much the new WSU policy has been worth, but It's early to say how much the new WSU policy has been worth, but Heberlein supplies a long list of patent applications of possible use in the auto, construction and health care industries.

PATENT POLICY was underlined by Gov. James . Blanchard as a key ingredient in his economic strategy for Michigan. A Minnesota Law School graduate, the governor cited his alma mater's policy as an example of how higher education could double as a tool for economic growth.

At first Blanchard talked of liberalizing state laws, but it turned out that policies were made individually by state universities, according to Doug Ross, a Southfield resident who heads the state Commerce Department

"What is going on," said Heberlein, "is that a university that could have been a one-armed structure now is an octopus, reaching out.

"Universities and industries are different animals. Universities are non-profit corporations with long-term responsibilities for basic research—a base for 10 or 15 or 100 years from now."

WSU is one of 21 comprehensive cancer centers in the U.S. Brooks of WSU and Horwitz of the Cancer Foundation are working on a compound as an agent in treating hormone-dependent breast cancer. They have been testing it six years or more in laboratory animals, and Brooks said it "looks promising."

"Toxicology must still be done in humans," Brooks said. "It's going to the National Cancer Institute and takes about a year." Meanwhile, they have talked to five or six drug companies...

Robert L. Thomas, WSU physics professor from Huntington Woods, does research under contract with government and industry. He reports that lasers will reflect heat to the surface if the substance has a crack, air bubble or defect.

One aplication is non-destructive testing to find small cracks in highperformance structural ceramics for advanced gas turbine engines.

· "Most of what we do is by contract," Thomas said, citing the Army Research Office, Sohio and Monsanto as supporters. "In some cases they will support a graduate student. Patent rights are negotiable. .."

Dr. Albert King, professor of mechanical engineering and Bloomfield Hills resident, said, "Our mission, in the auto capital of the world, is to reduce injuries." Under federal contract, supplemented by grants from General Motors and other auto makers, King tests and evaluates restraint devices.

In a biomechanics lab, he uses dummies, cadavers and human volunteers to test such devices as air bags, passive belt systems and knee ball restraints. Purposes: to learn under what conditions they're effective and assure they, too, don't become a cause of injury rather than a cure.

"We still don't know how much injury the head can stand," said the 20year WSU faculty member.

Thomas Celani was one of 15 distributors in the country to be honored by the Miller Brewing Co.

He masters distributing action

Success hasn't spoiled Thomas Celani, but being a four-time winner has bolstered his pride.

The 30-year-old president of Action Distributing Co. in Livonia leans against the front of his desk, eyeing the engraved crystal representing his fourth Miller Masters' award for business excellence.

"This award is so satisfying," Celani said with a smile. "Out of 900 distributors in the country, it means I'm among the best—the top 15. And I'm also the youngest."

The award includes an eight-day trip to Switzerland next month. Similar awards from the Miller Brewing Co. have taken Celani to China, Africa and Spain. His father, Ben, had won three Miller Masters' awards before he died four years ago.

That's when his only son took the reins. "I was only 26 when I took over, but I'd been in the business since I was 10, learning and watching it grow under my dad's leadership," Celani said.

With 20 years of experience as a driver, street salesman, sales manager and general manager, Ben Celani left a Detroit distributing company and started his own company in the city in 1966 before moving to Ford and Middlebelt in Garden City.

MILLER BECAME the state's best-selling brew in 1976, the same year Action Distributing moved to a 40,000-square-foot building in Livonia. Two years later, the company added 53,000 square feet to the structure.

By 1984, growing pains forced the company to relocate to a new 153,000-square-foot building down the street on Veronica near School-craft and Levan.

"We're now the biggest beer distributor in the state," Celani said. His company is also the exclusive distributor in the tri-county and Washtenaw area for a Californiabased pop and fruit juice producer.

Average inventory includes 250,000 cases and 10,000 kegs of beer, and 15,000 cases of pop and fruit juice, according to Action vice president, Dick Rose.

IF THERE IS a female behind every successful man, Celani, who is single, claims he's found her.

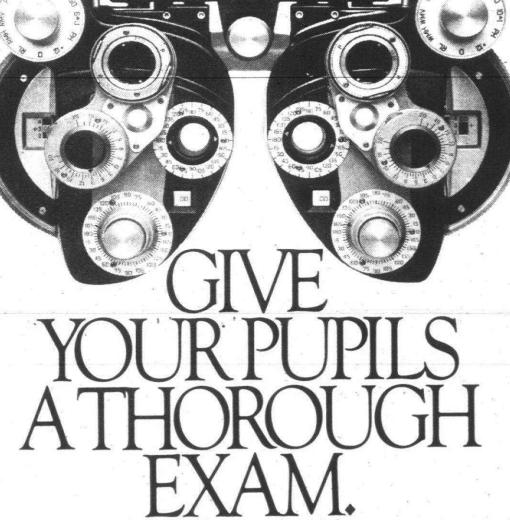

"Meet Mimi," he said with a flourish of a hand as a 5-year-old wheaten terrier snuggled up for a snooze at the foot of Celani's desk. Constantly at her master's side, Mimi attends board and staff meetings in exchange for two bones every afternoon. She also pays visits to most of the company's 130 employees.

Jeanne Thomas, executive secretary to Celani, explained Mimi's role. "She's part of the executive structure. She has the run of the building, and she's spoiled rotten."

Business aside, Celani said he's also proud to be an active fund-raiser for multiple sclerosis, Easter Seals and the Livonia Heart Fund. The company and the city of Livonia will sponsor a Sept. 10 golf outing to benefit the heart fund and St. Mary Hospital.

Celani, who expects to raise $200,000 statewide for multiple sclerosis this year and who worked with the city to enrich the Livonia Heart Fund by $110,000 last year, said the fund-raisers are important to him.

"My dad used to tell me, 'If you do well, you definitely should give some of it back.' They were wise words, and I intend to live by them. It's the least I can do for this great commu-

OLD MEXICO restaurant, 28407 Five Mile, Livonia (421-9681), has a small, rustic dining area with a take-out counter. The decor is not exciting. Both the staff and the patrons are very casually dressed Unfortunately, our vinyl tablecloth was not really clean, and one of the appetizer serving plates came to sugar and cinnamon, was really the table dirty. The menu does a nice job of explaining the dishes and their ingredients. Dinner took us about 45 minutes. General At-

Service was enthusiastic but not very competent. Appetizer plates were left through dinner and would have stayed with the dinner dishes through dessert if we had not asked that they be cleared. Food came very quickly, sometimes before we were ready for it. At times, however, it was not as hot as it should have been. entrees were surprisingly bland. The chimichanga dinner (small $4.25; large $5.25) was all right. The tortilla was crisp and the guacamole topping good. But neither the beef filling nor the rice had much flavor. The vegetarian combo ($4.65) featured three dishes that were also mild: a burrito, an enchilada and a tostado, each with cheese and vegetables. None of them was especially noteworthy. Watkins leaves with sour taste

HEN THE SUBJECT of sports at Schoolcraft College coines up, the first thing that comes to mind is soccer. There are as many soccer fields on the of's grounds as there are tennis courts or basketball

Soccer is The Sport on campus. The men's and comen's teams win, and they do it with local talent and car coaches. Conversely, the men's basketball program is made up rimarily of obscure, but talented inner-city players ho often lack academic skills and discipline. Last week Schoolcraft College athletic director Mary far,s decided to make a change in the men's basketball program, relieving Quinton "Rocky" Watkins of his duties as head coach. Watkins had spent 10 years aching at Schoolcraft, six as head coach. Gans called it a "mutual agreement" between the two arties, but Watkins reluctantly stepped down. He anted to finish the 1986-87 season because of a amountment he made to his underclassmen

THE CRITICISMS of Watkins mounted over the

Despite a 100-70 career record and 1982-83 Eastern onference crown (Schoolcraft was 23-7 that season). ne rap on Rocky was more than wins and losses · During his stint, Watkins' teams were constantly plagued by academic woes. Several key players were ost because of poor grades at the end of the first emester. Four starters this year were ruled ineligible.

Gans, although appreciating Watkins' efforts, said hat Schoolcraft needs a better mix of players from the nner city and the suburbs. Others found fault with Wail as' practice habits, resulting in a lack of discipline in the court during game situations. This season he ant without a qualified assistant coach

Watkins was tirm on the bench, but some critics and aimed the team could have accomplished more.

UNLIKE SOME of his competitors in the Michigan immunity College Athletic Association (MCCAA), atkin- coached basketball on the side because "it was all love affair with me." Watkins has a full-time the He is an assistant to the fire commissioner of the is of Detroit

The timing of his dismissal has left Watkins

"If they knew all along (about the firing), I'd prefer Lem doing it right after the season," Watkins said. Instead, they paraded me and my family through the anquet (April 19). I had already started my recruiting ad preparing for next year. I was maybe going to stay he more year anyway, but I wanted to see these guys nderclassmen) through here:

Despite the circumstances surrounding his departure as is proud of the job he did.

I really have no regrets," he said. "I'm satisfied that and everything I possibly could - given the resources

"THE TEOPLE don't come here as polished students that they're saying is that I'm totally responsible for e academic student.

Schoolcraft's academic requirements for athletes is obably tougher than most community colleges in the rate. SC student-athletes are monitored by Judy Mack, adviser to the school's athletic department.

stressed academics even before we went to the hletic support system." Watkins said. "This past team d better academically than any other team I had, but ey did not play as well (Schoolcraft's record was 17-WATKINS REFUTES the charge that he didn't cruit the suburbs and surrounding Observerland area e points to such players as Eric Sink (Livonia Bentley 3.11 Keyes (Livonia Stevenson), Scott Conrad (Livonia nurchill) and Mike White (Plymouth Salem).

"I don't want to knock the area, but you won't win ith players just from that area," Watkins said. There's some quality players, but not the quantity.' Watkins is right. The Observerland area often has tle to choose from. He wouldn't have survived in his ague without recruiting such former SC standouts as arlos Briggs. Phil Blevins, George Merriweather and erriek Kearney

'A lot of coaches don't have contacts I have in the 'SL (Detroit Public School League)," Watkins said.

GANS HAS INDICATED he wants a coach with local is to the area. Next season Schoolcraft will award fou asketball scholarships to students in its service area. Gans also admitted he needs to upgrade salaries for I his coaches. He firmly stands behind his academic quirements, even though both the NCAA and NJCAA ave relaxed the rule on mid-year grade accountability or next season

But before Gans and school administrators hire their ext coach, this question should be asked: What kind of ommitment is Schoolcraft going to make toward

Sure-fire picks hard to find at Observer meet

By Chris McCosky staff writer

In most years, if you picked Livonia Churchill, Plymouth Salem or Bishop Borgess to win the Observerland Track and Field Relays, you had a good chance of being correct.

Only four times since 1973 has one of those three teams failed to win at Observerland.

Saturday at Churchill, in the 16th running of the Observerland Relays, things could be different.

"I think in the past some teams have been able to dominate this meet. But this year, whoever comes and is ready to compete has a chance to win, said Fred Price, Churchill coach.

Don't get the idea that perennial favorites Churchill, Salem and Borgess are weak this year. On the contrary, all three are expected to be in the third, of the title chase.

IT'S JUST that other teams seem so much stronger. Teams like Redford Catholic Central and Plymouth Canical just to name two.

"This wild be one of the most balanced he as we we we had for this meet," Pric. aid. "South eld-Lathrup has a lot more depth this year. They'll field a full team. Livonia Franklin has some real nice pole vaulters. Plymouth Salem will score. Plymouth Canton looks real good. You know Borgess, once on the track, can be very dominating. It's just a real balanced field."

The Observerland's setup is unique ir that it puts a premium on overall team depth. The team with the absolute fastest runners isn't always the team that is able to score enough points to win. There are only three open or individual races in the 16-

"The key to winning this meet is to score in every event," Price said. 'And with the balance of talent this year, that could be difficult.

The reason is Catholic Central's powerful field event and distance teams. At the Elks, CC's Dan Nash, Tom Eifrid, Matt Fras and Perry Pinto combined on a 185-51/2 to win the shot put. Eifrid, Fras and Nash also won the discus relay with a 358-six years the Sc craft College men's basketball coach, has resigned, it was learned Monday.

S'craft ousts Rocky Watkins

SC athletic director Mary Gans verified that Watkins "resigned," although Gans added that the decision "was not exactly mutual Watkins agreed. "I felt it coming." he said. "but I wanted to get through the next year because I made a commitment to these underclassmen.

Rumors had circulated in the past weeks regarding Watkins' tenuous position after a season that saw the Ocelots start strong, then stumble after four key players became academically ineligible in January. Three of the four - Clarence Jones, Frank Jones and Bradley Turner — started; the fourth — Mike White — was first off the bench

"Rocky's a good guy." said Gans. "I just felt we needed a-change.

SEVERAL MOTIVES for Gans' decision to replace Watkins have surfaced, but the Ocelot AD refused to elaborate on his reasons. Watkins did have trouble keeping track of his players' grades because he did not work at the school. Watkins is employed as assistant to the city of Detroit fire commissioner.

Discipline, too, may have suffered because of his fulltime job. Watkins was often late for team practices. which meant either the assistant coach would have to start the practice or the players would start on their own.

A third reason rumored to be integral in Watkins' leaving was his inability to recruit players within SC's district. Many of his recruits were from Detroit and played in the Public School League.

Although avoiding comment on Watkins, Gans did say he is searching for a replacement who "knows the local basketball scene, someone who knows the caliber of basketball it takes to play in community college, and someone who can recruit this district.'

GANS ADDED: "Hopefully, there will be some local people out there who might be interested. Whoever is chosen as head coach I want to give the opportunity to select his own assistant. I don't want to force anyone on Watkins served as Ron Hall's assistant coach at SC from 1975 to 1980. When Hall's restaurant business expanded, he stepped down and Watkins became head coach prior to the 1980-81 season, with Hall becoming his assistant. In his six seasons as head coach, Watkins had a 100-70 record.

His best team was the 1982-83 squad, which won the Eastern Conference championship and went 23-7. Carlos Briggs, who became an NJCAA All-American, was a freshman on that team.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL: You can never count the Chargers out of this meet. Price's feams are built per-fectly for the Observerland meet not outstanding individually, but solid and deep in every event. That's why the Chargers have won the meet seven times, including last year. "It can happen," Price said of the Wright's Snowflake House in Plymouth was a source of fascination for those who attended the symposium on Frank Lloyd Wright architecture at the University of Michigan.

Wright hand

Architect's work studied

By Susan Steinmueller staff writer

THREE-DAY Frank Lloyd Wright symposium held in Ann Arbor climaxed last week with a bus trip to two area houses designed by the legendary architect — the Wall House, or "Snowflake," in Plymouth, and the Affleck House in Bloomfield Hills.

The symposium, "The Wright Hand," was sponsored by the University of Michigan College of Architecture and Urban Planning and Domino's Pizza Inc.

It was attended by approximate-1,200 architects, owners of Wright-designed homes, and Wright aficionados from around the country. Leonard Michigan professor of achitecture, calling Wright "the greatest American architect that ever lived," said that based on the success of the first-time conference, a second would "hopefully" be held.

uing interest in Wright. "You see in Mr. Wright's work a prototype for that kind of a search for meaning."

About 300 toured the two houses. They admired them inside and out despite a slight drizzle, and took numerous photograhs. Both the Wall (1941) and the Affleck (1940) residences are brick and cyprus structures from the Wright "Usonian" period. The ma-jor difference is that Wright used hexagonal forms in the Wall house and rectangular shapes in the Affleck residence. Visitors seemed hard pressed to pick a favorite house - as Steve Barstow, Shepherd architect, said, They're different approaches.'

"SNOWFLAKE" was recently bought by Tom Monaghan as an adn to his Ann Arh ino's Pizza headquarters, Domino's

Indiana visitor Courtney Robinson, attending with his wife, Barbara, said, "I think that we would both like to be 24 and 21 (the ages of the young couple when it was built) and to move into this house, or even to build it."

Bloomfield Hills architect turned tour-guide for the day, John Davids, lived there as caretaker with his architect wife, Judy, for a

"We felt like newlyweds," he said. "We loved it when we moved in, even more so after moving in. A lot of times, people say Wright's homes aren't livable, but they are."

AMONG the Wright homeowners examining the two houses was Donald Schaberg. His residence, completed in 1958, was the last of four that Wright built in Okemos. Like the Wall and Affleck residences, Schaberg said his cyprus, mahogany and brick house is Usonian.

While Schaberg said the two local houses reminded him somewhat of his house, he added. They're all unique. They're custom made for the builder, and cli-

He described Wright as "excep-tional" to work with. "He gave us everything we wanted. But we approved of his work and had no reason to question the things that he wanted done

The Wright stuff for sale

RANK LLOYD Wright is known for creating a distinctly American style of architecture. He also designed much that went into his buildings - furniture, sculpture, even dinnerware.

The Frank Lloyd Wright Home and Studio Foundation sells copies of Wright objects such as oak candlesticks ($35), dinnerware ($170 for seven-piece set) created for Wright's Imperial Hotel in Tokyo; and art-glass panels inspired by those Wright designed for windows, skylights, cabinet doors and light fixtures. Also available are a number of books by and about Wright.

It was shown in conjunction with a symposium on Wright, sponsored by University of Michigan. Furniture, stained glass windows, books, photographs and memorabilia are displayed in his corporate headquarters in Ann Arbor Township.

He also purchased a Wright house which was built on the site of the Guggenheim Museum in New York City in 1953 and later dismantled. All these will eventually be on view in a Frank Lloyd Wright Museum to be constructed by Monaghan.

Domino's $120-million dollar office complex in Ann Arbor Township was designed by Gunnar Birkerts of Birmingham. It bears a strong resemblance to Wright's Banff Pavilion in Alberta, Canada (1911) which was never built.

NO!" I exclaimed as I jumped out of bed. I had to teach my class at 9:30 a.m. and it was 9:10 a.m. Quickly I shaved, washed and ran out of

of my shirt buttons, I again exclaimed "oh, no!" But this time it was because of a flat tire. I have a Oldsmobile 98

Because of it being an '83, it's the last of 'the dinosaurs. Quickly opened the trunk and took the cover from off the spare. "Oh, no!" I exclaimed, again, "someone put a motorcycle tire in my trunk." No, not really. But that silly little spare looks so ridiculous on a big car.

Well, I finally got to the store and when I walked into class, with my shirt still out of alignment, guess what I heard from one of my watercolor students? "Oh, no!" she exclaimed. "I just sprinkled paint across my watercolor!" "Relax." I told her. "It's just one of those oh.

SOME OF THE tools for a watercolor repair may seem as silly as the spare tire on my car, but they do the

First of all, when you are watercolor painting, always have a tissue or paper towel on hand. Often a color will flow on too dark. While the color is still wet, it can be quickly removed by dabbing it with tissue or

One way to avoid this problem is to always test your color on a piece of scrap watercolor paper.

Just about every other problem in your painting can be effectively removed with the right tool. A razor knife for cutting and scraping and sand paper for lightening large areas. You may also need household bleach, a small synthetic brush and some watercolor pencils for small

This can most often be removed with a kneaded eraser. Have no fear about scraping again if the spot requires more work. Watercolor paper is the same color all the way through and 140 pound will hold up to all the repair work needed.

Now the spot is gone but the surface of the paper is roughed up. So finger nail and hopefully the spot will disappear.
