DRAMATISTS HONORED: Spotlight

Players, a community theater group based in Westland, presented awards to a number of Canton residents recently at its annual banquet at the Windjammer Banquet Hall. Cantonites honored included: Mary Jo Cobello as best female performance in "No Sex Please, We're British"; Tobin A. Hissong for best male performance for "Madwoman of Chaillot"; Lorraine Parent for "No Sex Please, We're British" and Cobello for "Madwoman of Chaillot" tied for best producer; Russ Holderness for best assistant director for "No Sex Please, We're British"; and Cobello for best makeup in "Close Ties."

TO GREENFIELD: The third grade classes of Laurie Sutherland and Karen Boies at Gallimore School in Canton attended Miller School (1870), the school Henry Ford attended, June 9 at Greenfield Village. The children used the third grade "reader" of that era, had a spelling bee, and used slates and chalk for their math problems to experience aspects of education in the 1800s. The children wore the traditional garb of knickers, suspenders, and cap for the boys long dresses, bloomers and bonnets for the girls. Each carried their lunch in a basket or pail, and each chose a name from that era as their own for that day

FBI reviews 'racial arson

By Diane Gale staff writer

The FBI is investigating whether a deliberately set fire in an apartment hallway at Honeytree Apartments in Canton was racially motivated.

The tenants are a black family, Clyde and Regina Edmonds, both 31, and daughter, Mondicia, 5.

Edmonds told police her car tires have been slashed twice in the two months they have lived in the complex. On occasion they have also heard banging on the windows "in the middle of the night.

The arson occurred June 8 in Building 25 on Honeycomb Circle. No one was seriously injured.

"I got a message from Honeytree management that someone contacted them and said if we moved back in there would be trouble," Regina Edmonds said. "I'm the only one of this color over there and there's just no other reason. Someone is constantly picking on us for no reason."

CANTON POLICE DETECTIVE Ernie Sayre said: "She said it was racially motivated, and I believe it was racially motivated."

He declined to comment about Canton's investigation and suspects. Before Edmonds moved to Building 25 she lived at Honeytree Apart-ments in Building 33 from 1984 through 1985. She said she had no problems during that time. "I just felt they didn't want me there," she said about living in Building 25. "It's a lot of little things You just get a feeling that things just aren't right. You say, 'Hello,' and no one says, 'Hello,' so you just mind your own business. I pretty much stay to myself anyway.

Both Canton police and FBI agents said they did not believe an organized group, like the Ku Klux Klan, was involved.

It is unknown whether the door or the carpeting outside the apartment unit was set on fire. Due to the excessive smoke many tenants were evacuated at 4:30 a.m.

Edmonds said she and her daughter were asleep in the apartment. She awakened her daughter to go to the bathroom about 3:30 a.m. and heard a scratching at the door.

But eventually I found out it was a crackling noise because it was on fire," Edmonds said. "When I looked around the window I saw the fire. I got my daughter out, and then I ran back in to try to find her something to wear. All we were wearing were our pajamas. Then I ran back in and tried to put it out with a fire extinguisher.

Sayre turned the case over to the FBI for an investigation of whether Edmonds' civil rights were violated. If the FBI decides it was racially motivated the case will be turned over to the Department of Justice, according to John Anthony, FBI special agent. He also declined to comment on possible suspects.

The justice department will verify whether a violation exists and if a suspect will be charged, Anthony said. The FBI preliminary investigation is expected to be complete within 20 days.

Township fireworks fly despite a gloomy outlook

By Doug Funke staff writer

Yes. No. Maybe. And finally, yes. The Fourth of July fireworks in Township Park are definitely on.

The dealers will exhibit cars in the park in return for their sponsorship, Lowe said.

An expanded fireworks show featuring the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra was announced with much fanfare earlier this spring. Some minor glitches developed over liability insurance and the availability of the orchestra. Then major money problems surfaced. A last-gasp, fund-raising effort finally met success.

"I approached some car dealers couple of months ago but the idea didn't sell," Lowe said. "But that was a business decision. When we reached the point where we didn't have a show anymore, they came to our rescue."

Other sponsors identified by Lowe are McDonalds, K mart and Leon Gregorian, the symphony's new conductor and music director, is to make his local debut at the Independence Day concert.

K.C. Mueller, immediate past president of the symphony, said she was hesitant to go ahead without the fireworks primarily due to concerns about the size of the crowd.

"I'm really grateful to the car dealers, I really am," Mueller said. 'I really didn't want to go out there without the fireworks. Everything is in order as it should be. It's a community effort and I'm reallypleased."

Mueller said Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, Plymouth Township, Air Tite Insulation, the Plymouth Community Arts Council and the Woman's Club of Plymouth have been instrumental in assisting the symphony prepare for the

Of the $52 million in expenses, $36 milion is for salaries, $5 million for fringe benefits, almost $3 million for energy costs, and $1 million in major maintenance. Most of the income, $39 million, will come from local property taxes.

SOME OF THE highlights of the proposed budget are:

 The tax base is expected to exceed $1 billion ($1,055,945,036), which is an increase of some $51 million or five percent.

• The Fourth Friday enrollment count is expected to increase by 100 pupils to 15,820.

• Utility costs may increase by 7 percent.

 This year it will not be necessary for the school district to borrow to meet operating expenses. The current school year was the first time in 34 years that the district did not have to borrow to meet its cash-flow needs. "This is due, almost totally, to the collection of one-half of our taxes in the summer," explains Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business.

• The budget includes $801,000 for buses - $401,000 for the final payment on 26 large-capacity buses and eight special education vans; $400,000 to buy eight additional buses and four special education vans.

 Some $325,000 is budgeted for textbook pruchases, an increase of 40 percent or $92,000.

• Some $70,000 is budgeted to provide half-time curriculum coordinators for math, science, social studies and language arts.

 Liability insurance is expected to increase by $192,000 or 82 percent.

The symphony could have been left in a lurch - or at least with a difficult decision - if the fireworks had been cancelled.

THE ORCHESTRA agreed to perform July 4 in conjunction with the fireworks in lieu of a concert next April.

"Now, everything has fallen into place again," Lowe said. "This is a great opportunity. We have a live orchestra in a terrific setting. We're all set to go. It's going to be a terrific show.

"Now is the time for the Jaycees to go to work. We've got a lot of details to iron out in the last two weeks."

Home study Proposed House bill debated

By Kevin Brown staff writer

While an increasing number of parents are choosing to educate their children in the home rather than trust that task to the public schools, there are no state laws setting guidelines for home study.

A Michigan House of Representatives bill that would establish guidelines for home study was presented to about 150 interested parents and educators at a public hearing Friday at Plymouth Canton High School.

At the hearing, the first in a series to be presented this summer around the state, those supporting home study touted the benefits of teaching their children one on one, and of providing a Christian emphasis public schools do not provide.

But those against the house bill said it did not require a specified number of instruction hours or teacher certification, adding there are not sufficient checks on attendance and student progress in the proposed legislation.

BECAUSE THERE is no Michigan legislation governing home study,

There needs to be some degree of definition," said Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, a member of the Special Sub-Committee on Education, which presented the public hearing.

In its present form, the house bill allows a parent or guardian to teach children in a home study program if certain requirements are met. Under those guidelines, a parent can employ a tutor "who possesses a college degree or equivalent life experience." The program must provide at least 180 days of pupil instruction; pupils must take a standardized test during fourth, seventh and 10th grades; and yearly written progress reports must be made.

And while those seeking to operate such a program must notify the local school superintendent, reports or test results do not have to be submitted to the district for approval.

Speaking on behalf of the Michigan Public Association of School Administrators, Plymouth-Canton Superintendent of Schools John M. Hoben said that while he did not op-pose the concept of home school, he objected to the lack of controls: "I feel there is a great deal of educational quackery going on." Hoben said that of nine home study programs in this school district, seven are "not legitimate," claiming "there is a tendency to eliminate rules and regulations."

Julie Kuhar of Canton, a former Catholic school teacher who is teaching her children at home, said home study "cannot be an option only for those who can afford to hire a tutor or have certification."

Responding to comments from those opposed to home study on grounds that sufficient educational materials are not provided, Kuhar said "the diversity of learning modes is enormous" - libraries, museums and readily available written materials.

SEVERAL PROPONENTS of home study cited the Bible in making their case.

Eugene Newman, vice president of Christ United to Reclaim Education, quoted a biblical proverb: "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge.

By definition, he said, proper

County names citizens group for parks study

By Teri Ban taff writer

The Wayne County park system will be the subject of a special citizens' task force to determine how it should be maintained and funded in the future.

County officials plan to ann more the starting date of the special probe, delayed for almost two months now, sometime this week. No one is leaving out the possibili-

y that a request for earmarked milage could be coming up and an examination of that will be one of the charges before the now 19-member body. Some say a ballot issue could be prepared for next November's general ballot if that aspect of the study gains political acceptance in this election year.

"It's become increasingly more difficult to get money out of the general fund (for parks funding)," said at a wide-range of options, and draft county commissioner Curt Boller, D-Brownstown, the task force's commission proponent. "I personally think that the system won't be funded another year and it's a matter of rangement with the Huron-Clinton Gloria Schermesser, an aide to survival because of reductions in revenues.

Abortion issue not over yet

By Tim Richard staff writer

State legislators probably aren't finished battling over the Medicaid abortion issue, even though both houses voted emphatically to prohibit them

Gov. James J. Blanchard this week is likely to use a gubernatorial veto for the 14th time to strike down such a rule.

"The debate has been over tactical procedures," Senate Majority Lead-John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, said matter-of-factly as the upper chamber added its 25-12 stamp of approval to the social services budget with anti-abortion language.

IF BLANCHARD vetoes the entire $1.9 hillion measure because it lacks the $6 million abortion iten lawmakers have these options:

• They can repass the measure minus the section under which 18,500 low-income women get Medicaid-funded abortions annually.

• They can try for a two-thirds majority to override the veto. That will be easy in the 38-member Senate, where there are as many as 30 anti-abortion votes. But the 110member House this session has fallen two votes shy of the 74 votes needed to override.

· They can follow the advice of House Speaker Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti, and pass a "continuation budget (with abortion money in it). They can let the gubernatorial candidates debate it until Nov. 4 and afterwards pass the version requested by the winner

SUBURBAN SENATORS last week showed they were overwhelmingly against Medicaid-funded abor-

The test vote came when the Senate rejected, 12 in favor and 20 against, a move to strike the socalled "Dillingham amendment" language out of the budget bill.

Opposed - and thus opposed to Medicaid abortions - were Doug Cruce, R-Troy, Richard Fessler, R-West Bloomfield, Robert Geake, R-Northville, Rudy Nichols, R-Waterford, and Patrick McCollough, D-Dearborn

Absent was William Faust, D-Westland.

ABORTION MONEY wasn't the only loser in the Senate's debate over tactics.

Geake, who heads the social services appropriations subcommittee saw his major effort shot down. He had prepared a social services budget with "Dillingham" anti-abortion language in it, but with a half-dozen major changes compared to the House budget.

Mitzi Gaynor's show dazzles

By Ethel Simmons staff writer

Mitzi Gaynor opened the Meadow Brook Music Festival on Wednesday night, with an electric performance of musical numbers featuring sensa-tional costumes by Bob Mackie, and nine guys for backup.

The weather cooperated beautifulfor the outdoor setting at Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus in Rochester Hills. Gavnor was a sizzling, eye-filling star from her first number with the guys she in a spangled red and gold costume, singing "I'm So Excited" through to the last of the many highvoltage numbers, with the guys in ble, and said, "I went to grammar zoot suits and Gaynor dancing to "Sing, Sing, Sing."

For most of the show Gaynor was moving fast, her curvaceous figure accented by the dresses, many slit up to the top of her shapely legs. Choreography was lively and the costume changes frequent.

bers, Gaynor did a couple of skits.

For the first one, early in the show, she talked about what it was like being a Beverly Hills matron. This was only so-so, but the skit she did later in the show, as Dr. Ruth, was hilarious. She imitated the sex therapist's walk, accent and giggle. She read and gave zany answers to listeners' typical questions about their Being Nowhere at All." sex lives

GAYNOR ALSO told the audience a little about herself. "One year and six days ago, I quit smoking!" she shouted out. She said, "I've been married 31 years and I'm still a Virgo." She called Detroit "De-twa," with the accent on the latter syllaschool here.

The first half of the show included a big production number based on hometowns. Guys in the chorus were dressed like conductors, and some of the stops everybody made were to the tunes of "Chicago," "Nashville" and "Everything's Up to Date in Kansas City

Sunday brunch atmosphere is relaxed

By Ethel Simmons

If you like Sunday brunch to be unhurried and unhassled, the newly revived offering at the Hote Pontchartrain's Top of the Pontch may be what you seek

The just-renovated restaurant is the attractive setting for a brunch and will accommodate up to 400-450 that features not only some 30 dishes on the menu but one of Detroit's most spectacular skyline views, along with the cool strains of Larry Nozero's jazz.

Cornell Mohoreanu, new food and beverage director at the Pontch, reestablished the Sunday brunch because he believes the room and view deserve to be admired. The soft, pink-toned decor, with touches of blue, provides a pleasant backdrop for relaxing.

Saxophone star Nozero, who is from Farmington, is on the bandstand during the hours of 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. (brunch runs until 4). The performers are called Larry Nozero and Friends because the musicians accompanying him are a BLUEBERRY PANCAKES for breakfast. Blueberry mulfins for the coffee break, and blueberries in low-calorie light summer salads at lunchtime. Blueberry milkshakes as a healthful afternoon pick-up, and blueberry desserts beautiful blueberry desserts - for dinner. Whose mouth doesn't water over the thought of blueberry cheesecake, blueberry pie, blueberry shortcake?

All the blueberries didn't go into pancakes and muffins and cakes, either. Gaining in popularity all the time is blueberry soup and, of all things, blueberry vinegar, Oldfashioned blueberry cobblers have made a big comeback with a new generation. Blueberry cookies are devoured by the thousands, and homemade blueberry sauces by the

DON'T FORGET the fresh blueberry drinks and frozen desserts. The Blueberry Yogurt Shake here is made in a blender and combines two healthful foods in a single glass Nourishing and different, it's a delicious summer refresher.

If you haven't tried homemade Blueberry Ice yet, you're missing something. You might not buy a package of any other flavor sherbet from the freezer cabinet of the supermarket the whole time that fresh blueberries are in season. You'll make your own Blueberry Ice.

Throughout the time they are available, just make sure there are enough boxes of fresh blueberries in the refrigerator to make up into favorite blueberry dishes. While the berries themselves last in the refrigerator for two weeks. they never seem to "last." Somebody is always dipping into them for a handful or two.

BUT LOVE of blueberries is only one side of the berry. Roll that berry over and you'll see good nutrition.

Blueberries are the perfect snack food for children. They are high in food energy, contain only 41 calories per half cup and rank first of all berries in vitamin A. They are nature's convenience food, requiring no peeling, pitting or hulling.

Because everybody wants more and more and more recipes for preparing blueberries, here's a brand new effortless idea: Blueberry Almond Froth. There's the original version and a low-calorie one for people who are watching their weight or sugar intake. Celebrate the beginning of the blueberry season with this new and special blueberry des-Sert.

BLUEBERRY ALMOND FROTH

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
314 cups cold water
1 can (13 oz.) evaporated milk
¼ cup sugar
1 Tbsp. almond extract
3 cups fresh blueberries, rinsed an	d drained

Soak gelatin in 1/2 cup cold water, set aside. Heat evaporated milk and remaining water until scalding. Stir in sugar. Pour milk mixture into gelatin mixture. Add almond extract. Stir well. Chill until mixture is consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Stir in blueberries. Spoon into dessert mold or cups. Chill until firm. Unmold onto serving plate to serve. Decorate with additional blueberries and almonds. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

LOW CALORIE VERSION: Substitute skimmed evaporated milk (same 13 oz. can) and 6 tablespoons of sugar substitute for the sugar. If served to eight: 70 calories per serving.

Fresh blueberries are best in Blueberry Ice and Blueberry Yogurt Shake.

Keeping kids busy on the road

By Julie Brown staff writer

RAVELING BY car with children can try the patience of even the most understanding parent.

Summertime outings need not be disasters, however, Planning ahead can help make vacation trips by car more comfortable for youngsters and adults alike.

Keeping children occupied during travel time is a big help. "That's the key to the whole thing," said Jerry Cheske, spokesman for AAA-Michigan. "Find some-

Parents don't have to spend large sums of money to keep children occupied during summertime travels. "Just use your imagination. You don't have to go out and buy things."

PARENTS MAY want to take along small items to give as awards to game winners, Cheske said. Games can vary in their complexity according to the length of the trip and the ages of the children.

Parents should plan ahead by providing snacks for youngsters.

"Take little snacks along," Cheske said. said. "Kids get hungry or they get

Milwaukee shoulder is a form of osteoarthritis that has several special characteristics: it occurs only in women over age 65, and is associated with large amounts of fluid in the shoulder joint, which keeps accumulating. In addition, women with this condition tend to have arthritis in their knees and hips which is vere and often needs surgical joint replacement. Milwaukee shoulder is caused by a bone crystal: hydroxy-apatite. The crysta acts like a poison and causes the joint lining cell to disintegrate, releasing anymes into the joint cavity. The enzymes act on the surrounding bone to ase more hydroxy-apatite crystals, and so perpetuate the cycle of c integration and bone loss. Treatment consists of shoulder joint aspiration and injection to remove the uid and prevent the enzymes from acting on bone. Surgery is a last resor ecause of the hazards of operation on an elderly individual, and the difficulty of epair in a shoulder joint plagued with thin bone.

Dearborn Heights man linked to local rip-off

By Diane Gale staff writer

A Dearborn Heights man who has been charged with the robbery of a Dearborn Heights restaurant is believed to be responsible for three other restaurant robberies, including the Canton Bob Evans, on June 12.

Dearborn Heights police arrested Steven Matney, 36, while he was allegedly attempting to rob a Bonanza restaurant on Telegragh. "He got in line and had a soft

THE MAN TRIED to escape through what he apparently thought was a back exit, Sayre said. However, the door actually led to an office.

Bonanza employees held the man until police arrived, according to Dearborn Heights police Sgt. Reeves Smith. Sayre said the Canton robbery occurred at about 2:45 p.m. at the restaurant on Ford Road west of I-275. A man approached the cashier and

The man ran out of the restuarant and left the parking lot in a gray four-door Plymouth.

THE SAME man is suspected of robbing a Bob Evans restaurant in Taylor and the Bob Evans on Middlebelt near I-96 in Livonia shortly before the Canton incident.

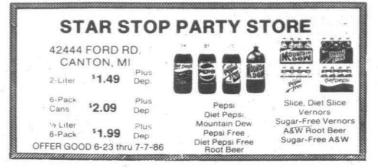

Matney, who gave police more than one address, was charged in the Dearborn Heights case. He was arraigned June 12 on one count of unarmed robbery in Dearborn Heights' 20th District Court.

A plea of not guilty was entered for Matney. Judge Leo Foran set bond at $25,000 or 10 percent, which was not posted.

A preliminary examination to determine if there is enough evidence to hold a trial is scheduled June 18 in 20th District Court.

Canton police are not seeking a warrant for the Canton Bob Evans robbery, Sayre said. Prison terms are often served concurrently and multiple counts of the same charge usually result in the same sentence, police said. In another robbery of Canton's

Like a dream '86 Observer baseball team is a coach's ultimate fantasy

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Imagine, then, the wealth of fantasy the 1986 Observer All-Area Baseball Team conjures up.

The pitching staff combined for a 16-0 record. In 103 total innings, it yielded 12 earned runs, just 54 hits, posted 174 strikeouts and walked only 51

The catcher has a strong arm and batted .450. The first baseman hit 408 and made just three errors all season. The rest of the infielders' averages were .483, .390 and .351. The five combined for 15 home runs and batted in 91 runs.

The outfielders had a combined batting average of .371 with 53 more RBI. The designated hitter contributed a .429 average, four homers and 20 RBI.

You can understand why they call such collections dream teams.

The desirable task of coaching this team goes to Westland John Glenn coach Norm Hoenes – Observer-land's Baseball Coach of the Year. The 20-year veteran coach took his team to the final four this season, winning the grueling Western Lakes as well as district and regional championships in Class A. His Rockets were 26-3 this year.

Let's take a look at the Observerland coaches' first-team selections.

Steve Irwin, Westland John Glenn, pitcher: Simply put, this senior was the most dominant pitcher in the area this season. Hoenes calls him the best pitcher he has ever coached. High praise, but statistics bear him out: Irwin was 16-4 over two years (10-0 this year) with a 1.86 ERA. In earned runs.

65 innings this season, he fanned 122 batters and allowed but eight earned runs

Irwin, who has accepted a full-ride scholarship to Eastern Michigan University, has a fastball clocked in the mid-80 mph range, but his out pitches are a paralyzing slider and a curve ball.

Joe Mukavetz, Garden City, pitcher: A good live fastball made this senior a consistent outmaker on the mound, a knuckleball made him outstanding. He was 15-2 in three years for the Cougars (6-0 this year) with a 1.13 ERA. He posted six career shutouts. In 38 innings this year, he fanned 52 and yielded but four

Like Irwin, Mukavetz is a threat offensively. He batted .373 this season with 17 RBI.

Mike Rudin, North Farmington, catcher: If you wanted to design the perfect body for a catcher (and Lance Parrish was unavailable), you might want to use this guy. Strong and sturdy, Rudin caught full time for North for three years. In that time he batted .342 with 11 homers and 65 RBI. This year he hit .450 with three homers and 21 RBI.

Rudin, with an accurate arm and a quick release, was very tough to steal on.

Chris Sisler, Plymouth Canton, first base: The fact that he hit .370 over three years for the Chiefs is no surprise. His short, fluid stroke got his name in more than a few baseball scouting notebooks as early as his sophomore year. But the fact-that he played virtually every game at first base this year and made but three errors is eye-opening. He was nicknamed Stone-paws in his junior year for his inability to catch the baseball

To his credit, Sisler worked hard to become a complete player and is one of the best. He will play at Kansas City Community College next vear

Chris Tancill, Livonia Stevenson, infielder: A .483 batting average, four home runs, 18 RBI, a .900 slugging percentage (13 of his 29 hits went for extra bases) and an 18-game hitting streak to close out his career. Not bad for a hockey player.

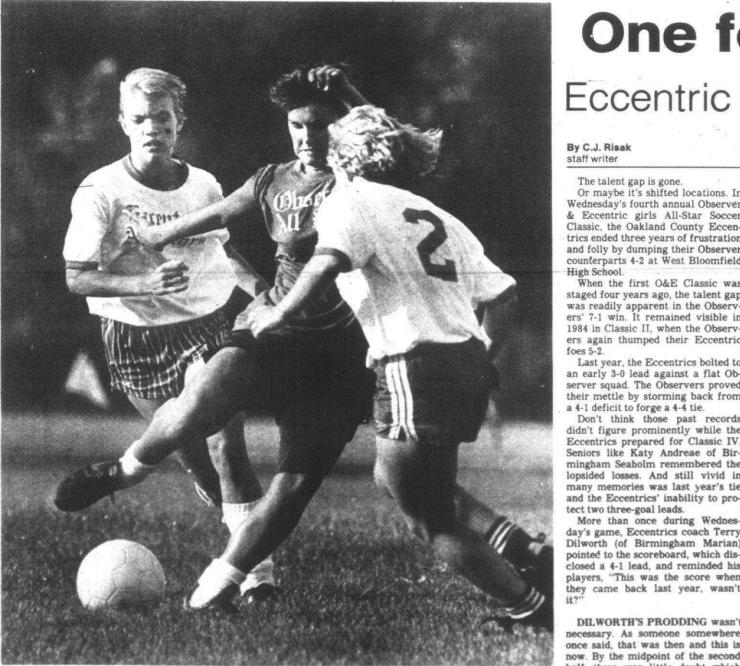

Tancill, a superb athlete, has accepted a hockey scholarship from the University of Wisconsin. In three years at Stevenson, he batted .370 with seven home runs. He played catcher for two years, shortstop this year.

Or maybe it's shifted locations. In Wednesday's fourth annual Observer & Eccentric girls All-Star Soccer Classic, the Oakland County Eccentrics ended three years of frustration and folly by dumping their Observer counterparts 4-2 at West Bloomfield

When the first O&E Classic was staged four years ago, the talent gap was readily apparent in the Observers' 7-1 win. It remained visible in 1984 in Classic II, when the Observers again thumped their Eccentric

Last year, the Eccentrics bolted to an early 3-0 lead against a flat Ob-server squad. The Observers proved their mettle by storming back from

Don't think those past records didn't figure prominently while the Eccentrics prepared for Classic IV. Seniors like Katy Andreae of Birmingham Seaholm remembered the lopsided losses. And still vivid in many memories was last year's tie and the Eccentrics' inability to proday's game, Eccentrics coach Terry Dilworth (of Birmingham Marian) pointed to the scoreboard, which disclosed a 4-1 lead, and reminded his players, "This was the score when they came back last year, wasn't DILWORTH'S PRODDING wasn't necessary. As someone somewhere once said, that was then and this is now. By the midpoint of the second half, there was little doubt which was the better team.

"I felt if we could apply a lot of pressure on the outside, it would open it up in the center," said Dil-

worth, who had previously coached the Eccentrics in Classic II. "One person just can't cover Cindy inside.'

Which brings us to the game's Most Valuable Player. There were several candidates, but the "Cindy" Dilworth referred to - Troy Athens' Cindy Wass - was the choice. Wass converted two picture-perfect passes from right wing Emily Riemer (Troy) into first-half goals and a 2-0 Eccentric lead.

The Observers halved the lead just before halftime, as Julie Tortora (Plymouth Salem) banged in a rebound with two minutes left. The goal started with an indirect kick from 20 yards out. Mary Pelloni (Livonia Stevenson) tapped the ball to Kim Paterson (Stevenson), who drilled a hard shot.

Brooke Gillespie (Troy) had just been inserted in goal, and she made a brilliant save, diving to her left. But Tortora was on the doorstep and knocked it in to make it 2-1.

THAT SHOULD have given the Observers the comeback spark they needed. At the start of the second half they pressured, with midfielder Paterson charging up the middle and getting several chances.

But the Eccentrics turned away their advances, then iced the game with two goals in a six-minute span. Andreae got the first, finishing a play started by Margaret Kopmeyer (Bloomfield Hills Lahser). Kopmeyer dribbled through the middle of the Observer defense, then punched the ball to Andreae.

Andreae buried the ball behind Observer goalkeeper Liz Monroe (Livonia Churchill), and with 27 minutes to play it was 3-1.

Six minutes later, the Eccentrics capitalized on the Observers pressuring offense to spring Wass. A long clearing pass from Kate Ferguson reached Wass behind the Observer defense, and her third goal put the game out of reach.

In the final minute of play, the Observers finally did beat Lynn Eck-hout (Troy Athens), who was spectacular in the Eccentric nets, when Amy Stock (Farmington Hills Mercy) put a pass from wing Pelloni into the corner of the net.

IT DIDN'T make any difference. The Eccentrics victory was already assured.

"We had some chances," said Observer coach Ed Dudek (Livonia Churchill). "If we had put them in

'Both teams were a bit nervous at the start. That's why the first goal made such a difference. They scored first and then could relax and play. We didn't capitalize on our offensive chances.'

But to say the Eccentrics just scored first would be doing Wass and her teammates an injustice. The play, from its midfield start to Wass' high-kick finish, was superb. Andreae began it at midfield, clearing a pass into the right corner that stopped short of the end line.

Riemer beat Observer defender Marci Jamrog (Stevenson) to the ball and curled a perfect centering pass to Wass, who wheeled around to boot the ball at shoulder level into the net.

That was a super play by Cindy, acknowledged Dudek.

Wass' second goal was more conventional, but on the same type of play as her first. Again, Riemer beat Jamrog to the ball in the corner and Rick Tavormina, Westland John Glenn, infielder: The only junior on this senior-laden squad, Tavormina was the trigger to Glenn's offense. He batted .390, knocked in 25 runs and scored 15.

He was also valuable from a defensive point of view. He demonstrated excellent range and a strong arm from his shortstop position.

Brian Smolinski, Farmington Harrison, infielder: If you doubt that this was the most dangerous hitter in the area, check out this stat: he was walked 19 times this year. 44 times in his career. That's getting pitched around an awful lot.

He hit .375 in his career, with 15 homers. He also stole 40 bases. This year he batted .351 with five homers. He has hit some tape-measure blasts in his time. He once drove one high off the house that sits a good ways beyond the right field fence at North Farmington.

He owns a .320 career average at Canton. This year, he batted .362, knocked in 18 runs and scored 23.

Chuck Hammontree, Westland John Glenn, outfielder: It is doubtful that a ball would ever drop against this All-Area outfield. Hammontree didn't make an error all season. He also made very few mistakes at the plate. He batted .361 with 19 RBI and 14 stolen bases.

Trent Hiner, North Farmington designated hitter: This senior might have the worst-looking swing of anyone - but who can argue with the results. He batted .429 with four home runs and 20 RBI. He gets an awful lot of power out of his 5-9, 165-pound frame. His on-base percentage this year was .552. Who cares what the swing looks like?
