The Canton Connection

NEW CHIEF: Dr. E.J. McClendon, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools trustee, was elected president of the board of education by other board members at an organizational meeting Monday.

Other trustees elected to serve as officers for the 1986-87 school year were: David Artley, vice president; Dean Swartzwelter, secretary; and Lester Walker, treasurer. For the 1985-86 school year, McClendon served as treasurer and Artley served as secretary.

JUNIOR OLYMPICS: Canton Township Parks and Recreation will sponsor its 1986 Junior Olympics July 16-18 for ages 13-14 (Class A), 11-12 (Class B) and ages 9-10 (Class C). The events include chinning, softball throw for distance and accuracy, standing long jump, running long jump, shuttle relays of 50 yards, and dashes of 75 yards for Class A, 60 yards for Class B and 50 yards for Class C.

The sites holding the tryouts are Windsor Park (East and West), Kingsway Park, Flodin Park, Carriage Hills (Hannridge, Umlerland, Paul Revere), Pickwick, Laurelwoods, Wagon Wheel, Griffon, Brookside, Honeytree, Forest Trails, Franklin Palmer, Canton Country Acres, Canterbury Mews, Forestbrook, Sunflower and Woodbridge.

Township first-place winners become eligible to participate in the Detroit Youth Fitness meet July 24 at Kensington Metro.

TOP SKATER: Jeff Angiulli, 9, daughter of Linda and Jacy Angiulli of Chadwick Dr., Canton, took first place in the Primary Boys Figure Skating at the U.S. Amateur Confederation Great Lakes Regional Roller Skating Championships held July 3-7 at Skatin' Station in Canton.

Jeff, who has been roller skating since age 4, will now compete in the national event in Indianapolis the week of Aug. 3, representing five midwestern states. Taught by pros Dina and Larry Flowers, he skates out of Bonaventure Roller Skating rink.

SPECIAL SECTION
IN TODAY'S ISSUE

Canton library millage sought

Canton residents will have a millage proposal on the ballot in the August primary.

Reacting to legislation approved in Lansing last month, the Canton Library Board is seeking voter approval of an additional mill to finance the construction and operation of a new library.

The library board now levies 1 mill to operate the 12,000-square-foot library on the third floor of the Canton Administration Building. The ballot proposal seeks approval to levy 2 mills with the additional mill to pay for the construction and operation of a new library more than twice the size of the present facility. The board has hired an architect to draw up plans, which envision a one-story library of 25,000 to 27,000 square feet, including a meeting room, and will cost about $2.5 million.

A final decision has not been made on the location but the library directors are certain it will be somewhere near the Canton Administration Building site.

While the library board plans to apply for state and federal money, most grants require local matching funds which aren't available, said John Swartz, a library director.

One mill ($1 per $1,000 state equalized valuation or SEV) would result in a tax of $36 a year for the average $72,000 home in Canton.

THE CANTON PUBLIC LIBRARY, which opened its doors in 1980, has outgrown its present space in township hall, said director Tom Yack.

As a result, both site and building plans are under way in anticipation of meeting the library needs of Canton's residents, he said.

The library board had been limited to 1 mill by state law. But a bill co-sponsored by Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, allows local library districts to seek approval from the electorate to levy up to 2 mills.

That measure, HB 5451, passed the House on June 13. The library board had to wait until the governor signed it and then immediately applied to the Wayne County Clerk's office for permission to place a millage proposal on the Aug. 5 ballot.

In the six years Canton Public Library has been operating it has grown to the point where it now:

- Circulates more than 1,000 items per day.
- Answers more than 27,000 reference questions yearly.
- Offers programs to more than 7,000 residents.

• Has a collection of materials which includes: 75,516 books, 450 videocassettes, 1,043 records, 854 cassettes, 110 puppets, 69 toys, 964 annual reports and 500 telephone directories.

Dr. James Gillig, another library director, discussed at a press briefing Monday how Cantonites borrow books at an extraordinary rate — to the point that the library now boasts the third largest circulation for an individual library in the Wayne Oak-

Cops fight drugs with narc team

By Diane Gale
staff writer

The effects of drugs — on the abuser and society — have been a growing national concern and the reason for a program launched by local police departments.

Police chiefs from Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton, Northville, Northville Township, Van Buren Township and Belleville have worked on establishing a narcotics team to handle drug cases in the communities.

One officer from Canton will be assigned to the team, according to Canton Police Chief John Santomauro. Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry said he has not yet decided how the department will contribute to the task force. Plymouth Police Chief Richard Myers said his department "doesn't have spare people."

Myers said he supports the program, "because I know that they work," but the next hurdle will be determining what "resources will be called on from each department."

"I'm very supportive. My concern is where will the bucks come from," Myers said.

Berry also praises the program. "It will provide good cooperative coordination between all the agencies. If anyone thinks there isn't a drug problem locally they have their head in the sand."

THE WESTERN Wayne County narcotics enforcement team, expected to form in two to three months, resulted from monthly police chief meetings since the beginning of the year.

"I believe we have reached a point that we need a special program — particularly at the high school level," Santomauro said.

"As soon as we bust someone here it's relevant to the other communities. The people who operate in Canton operate in the other communities. They have no jurisdictional boundaries."

Santomauro predicts the program will be a good deal for everyone involved. When departments in the group have tips about drug crimes the team will be called in as opposed to pulling officers from individual forces.

"When I can give one body and get back X number of bodies I think that's a good rate of return," Santomauro said. "This type of group is not only cost effective but there's a level of expertise in enforcement that most communities don't have."

Elmer Daniels, owner of a drive-up photo processing kiosk, says working hours can be long and lonely.

It's sit and wait in this business

By Doug Funke
staff writer

He is one boss who doesn't mind if his employees watch TV, read or do homework on the job. In fact, he says he strongly encourages the homework.

Elmer Daniels, who spends most of his working hours as a fire inspector, also owns a drive-up photo processing and supply kiosk in Canton at Lilley and Warren just south of Plymouth.

Daniels owns a 5-by-7-foot air-conditioned shell and leases the ground on which it sits from owners of the Pilgrim Village Plaza.

"It's a convenience business. We're strictly a middle man. That's all we are — a middle man for a large company."

Guardian Photo of Novi supplies film and does the processing. Daniels makes his profit by marking up Guardian's wholesale prices.

"Money is made in processing pictures itself. Film brings people back."

"IF EXCITEMENT is what you want in a job, working at a drive-up photo business probably won't be very satisfying."

"I tell everyone I hire you have to be able to fight boredom," Daniels said. "It's a long, lonely business."

people

Some days, you have one or two customers all day. Other days, three cars are lined up on each side trying to get in. Those days are rare now."

Daniels originally got into the business in 1982 for investment purposes.

He said he was forced to include the more profitable Canton kiosk in a sales arrangement two years later to dump a less profitable kiosk in Dearborn Heights.

Daniels said he re-acquired the Canton kiosk in March when the person who bought from him encountered financial difficulties.

"It was profitable when I had it before. Now it's a struggle and a half."

Daniels said he's tried to build up clientele by notifying previous customers by mail that he's back in charge and offering such personal touches as calling customers when their orders come in and free processing after a certain number of paid orders.

Hot air balloonists rise above insurance woes

About 50 balloons will fill the air this weekend for the sixth annual Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival.

Originally some 60 crews were expected to participate but hot air balloon pilots have experienced difficulty this year getting liability insurance.

In fact, a half dozen balloons didn't sign up until the last moment because of difficulties lining up insurance.

But many of the favorites will return, including E.F. Hutton, 1st of America, Pontiac Motor Division, Ford Motorcraft, New York Air, Eastern Airlines, Eastern Airlines, American Yazaki and Liberty State Bank. Some of the new crews include Budweiser, Slush Puppy and Pilot Air Freight out of Romulus.

The launches will begin at sunset Friday at the Centennial Educational Park site at Joy and Canton Center Roads in Canton. Competitive launches also will be held sunrise and sunset Saturday and Sunday.

The American Airlines competition will be 6 p.m. Friday. The Balloon Ball will feature Benny and the Jets with '50s and '60s music at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the Mayflower Meeting House for an admission of $6.

Saturday activities will begin early — very early. The Sunrise "Inflation Sale" will open at 5 a.m. with 50 percent off sales offered by participating downtown merchants, 40 percent off at 6 a.m., 30 percent at 7 a.m., etc. At the launch site the New York Air Continental Airlines Hare and Hound Race will begin at 6 a.m. with ascent from the grounds of Plymouth Canton High School at the CEP site.

Beginning at 7 a.m. Saturday will be the Fly-In Pancake Breakfast for $3 each at Mettetal Airport, Joy and Lilley Roads, sponsored by Experimental Aircraft Association Chapter 113. A number of antique airplanes, dating to the 1930s, will be on display at Mettetal during this time period.

Art in the Park will be held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday in Kellogg Park.

The Eastern Airlines Race will begin 6 p.m. Saturday.

Sunday's events will begin with the C.N.T. Race at 6 a.m. at the Canton High grounds at the CEP. The Sunday Balloon Brunch will be served in the Meeting House from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. that day. The final launch will be the British Airways "Pick-em up Key Contest" at 6 p.m.

Sunday.

Up-to-the-minute launch information, weather and traffic-status reports will be given by the student radio station, WSDP (88.1 on the FMN dial).

MORE THAN 165 artists and craftsmen with original handcrafted work to be sold will participate in Art in the Park Saturday.

Some 61 Michigan cities, as well as out-of-state artists, are represented in the show. Some will be demonstrating their craft.

There will be: country and folk art; paintings on canvas, wood, tin, shirts; many forms of needlework; handmade furniture; floral arrangements; stained, blasted, etched.

Sheldon cutoff prompts safety concerns

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Construction of Sheldon Center is to begin next month and a Canton resident still is trying to convince the county to take safety measures.

Bids were to be opened this month, however, due to design delays the contract will be awarded next month, said Alan Richardson, assistant county highway engineer.

Carol Bollman, a Hampton Court West subdivision resident for eight years, worries about the design of the road that will run through the neighborhood.

Sheldon Center will span Canton Center to Sheldon beginning on Canton Center south to Brunswick and continue northeasterly to Sheldon south of Gallimore School. A two-lane connector, called Canton Center, will link Canton Center with Sheldon Center.

Sheldon Center will be four lanes south of Brunswick to the connector and two lanes from the connector to Sheldon. The county has budgeted $800,000 for the project.

A strip about 1,000 feet on Canton Center south of Plum Hollow to south of Brunswick will be eliminated. Traffic travelling on Canton Center north from Warren will be forced to turn east onto Sheldon Center.

BOLLMAN is against eliminating the strip of road.

"I don't want the road shut down because all the truck traffic will go through the subdivision," said Bollman, adding that until two months ago she never considered moving and now she's "always looking" for another home in Canton.

Sheldon Center will allow Class B trucks and prohibit the heavier weighted Class A trucks.

Richardson said leaving the strip in would result in a five legged intersection, which would be hazardous. A 1978 Wayne Circuit consent judgment orders the county to build the road.

A traffic signal is planned for the Sheldon Center and Canton intersection, and Warren and Canton Center.

A study will be conducted on the need for a traffic signal at Sheldon Center and Canton Center, Richardson said. Bollman also wants a signal at Brunswick and Sheldon Center, and a four-way stop at Charrington and Sheldon Center.

Construction of Sheldon Center is part of an overall strategy to improve the north and south corridor in Canton," Richardson said.

The projects in the plan include: constructing Sheldon Center, paving Haggerty between Koppernick and Joy and eliminating a jog at Lilley and Joy; correcting a jog at Lilley and Joy; and constructing Morton Taylor between Joy and Warren.

Sheldon Center will provide a thoroughfare from Canton Center to the Sheldon/M-14 interchange and eliminate the bottleneck of traffic at Joy and Canton Center, where there are two high schools, Richardson said.

Bollman isn't so sure.

Former resident now farming in Guatemala

By Mary Klemic
staff writer

For most Americans, Guatemala is a place on the map or a word in the news. But it will be much more for Livonian David Wilamowski.

Wilamowski, 36, will spend two years in that Central American country as a member of the Peace Corps, serving in an agriculture extension program in a small village there.

He'll work with farmers, helping them improve food production through crop diversification and soil conservation. "It's just something that I have thought about for years and years," said Wilamowski, who moved to Livonia from Plymouth with his family in 1960. "I tried to join about 10 years ago, but I was told I hadn't had enough experience or college."

SINCE HIS first application to the Peace Corps, Wilamowski studied horticulture at the University of Nebraska and Michigan State University. He never completed requirements for a degree, but worked for four years in his own pest-control business for an orchard in Traverse City.

"I always liked to grow things," the Bentley High School graduate said before leaving Michigan last month.

"I just really felt like I wanted to work more closely with people," he said. "This idea in the back of my mind was really what I wanted to do."

GUATEMALA IS the northernmost of the Central American countries. It is bordered by Mexico. The country is about the size of Tennessee and features highlands, a tropical area and a mountain range with volcanoes. Archeological sites of the ancient Mayan civilization are in a region in the north. Spanish and some Indian dialects are spoken in Guatemala.

Recent years have been turbulent politically for Guatemala. But Wilamowski isn't worried about that. The Peace Corps doesn't send its volunteers to places where they would be in danger, he said. And volunteers don't get involved in a country's politics.

"Any time you live with people and you work with people... certain things are a lot more important than politics," Wilamowski said.

Wilamowski was more concerned about his health. He bought a water filter and had complete dental and physical examinations. The Peace Corps has a medical office in every country it serves.

WILAMOWSKI LEFT last month for Miami to undergo "three days of vitamin shots" and orientation, he said. From there, he flew to Guatemala City, Guatemala's capital, about 1½ hours away "right across the Gulf of Mexico."

The volunteer will live with a family in Antigua, which was the capital city until an earthquake in the 1700s. He will attend classes and work with the people for three months.

Transportation in the area is basically by bus or on foot. Wilamowski was advised to bring a pair of sturdy walking shoes, he said.

About 50 other volunteers will be traveling with Wilamowski. Some of them may go on to Honduras.

WILAMOWSKI FILLED out an application form that he picked up from a college Peace Corps office. It is about 10 pages long, he said.

"They really want to know everything about you — your hobbies, any skills that you have at all," he said.

The Peace Corps also asked Wilamowski's preference regarding where he would like to serve. He preferred a Latin American country over one in Africa because he had traveled in Mexico and studied Spanish in high school as well as Latin America.

Wilamowski's parents, Henry and Wylma Wilamowski of Livonia, have been very supportive of his plans.

WHAT QUALITIES does a Peace Corps volunteer have?

"You have to be flexible with any kind of situation," Wilamowski said. "You have to be patient because you're going to be in a country where things aren't going to be available and things move slowly. You work hard and have high hopes but you're not going to see results quickly."

Wilamowski has friends who were Peace Corps volunteers in Africa. "They thought it was a great experience," he said. "You're really on your own a lot more than people imagine."

Six thousand Americans are now Peace Corps volunteers in 61 developing nations. The Peace Corps accepts people with a lot of different skills, Wilamowski said. A college degree isn't required for many assignments, but a volunteer should have at least three to five years of full-time work experience.

AMONG THE returning favorites at the launch site will be pilot Ron Centers with the First of America Balloon.

Owned by the parent corporation of First of America-Plymouth, the balloon travels statewide for county fairs and festivals. During 1986 it will attend more than 80 events.

The red and white Pontiac balloon is piloted by Phil Giebe of Brighton. He has flown 83 miles across Lake Michigan at 10,000 feet in winter weather and has logged nearly 500 hours of ballooning flight time. His Lake Michigan involved an average speed of 47 mph for 163 miles from West Bend, Wis., to Lansing in February 1982.

Giebe's current eighth-place national ranking has earned him the distinction of being one of 15 U.S. pilots to participate in the North American Challenge Cup this month in Barrie, Ontario.

Last year Giebe flew 86 times and entered nine competitive events. He placed first twice and in the top 10 six times. Last year he recorded a first-place finish in the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival with 45 competitors and second out of 56 in the Michigan Challenge.

Almost as big an eye-catcher as the 70-foot balloon is Giebe's chase vehicle — "Chase Commander." Designed by Giebe and manufactured in Inlay City, the red and white motor home contains a six-foot storage area in the rear for the balloon's envelope, gondola, fuel tanks, inflation fans and other equipment. Loading and unloading is done by an electric/hydraulic wheelchair-type lift. The custom body work and painting was done by Special Projects of Livonia.

Tax sought to build library

land Library Federation, which includes more than 60 libraries.

Swartz noted that Canton has issued 15 to 20 percent more library cards than any library in surrounding communities. He added that the U.S. Census indicates that Canton residents have 20 percent more college degrees than most nearby communities and so has an active community of readers.

Librarians noted that the library now is using up its seating capacity and has to hold many activities in the first floor meeting room of township hall because it has outgrown the third floor. Since moving in the library has remodeled twice and cannot expand space on the third floor any further.

Without more space, the staff argued, the library will be unable to enlarge its collection or expand its programs.

MARY S. FELTZ, library director who chairs the committee that selected the architects, said some 47 firms applied for the job and five were interviewed. The architects finally selected were Osler/Milling of Ann Arbor.

The auditing firm of Plant-Moran is developing the financial plan for the construction of the proposed new library, said Swartz, who added that the board likely would sell tax anticipation notes to raise the $2 million plus and then repay with the added mill.

The repayment of the debt likely would take about half a mill over 10 years, said Yack, with the remaining 1½ mills needed to staff and operate a library, which would be more than twice the size of the present.

The library board does not have to levy the full 2 mills in any given year, said Swartz, but will levy only the amount needed to pay the debt and operate the library. Like the township board, Swartz added, the library board must hold a truth-in-taxation hearing if it stands to gain increased income from millage because of a rise in the taxbase.

THE GREAT majority of customers who show up at the window are on their way in a matter of minutes. "That's why we're in business."

Son Jim tends to day-to-day operations most of the time now. Daniels said he's sometimes found it difficult to keep employees.

He's had people last from two weeks to a year and a half.

"It's not a big money maker. You can't talk big bucks. When you talk minimum wages, you're always finding people chasing around."

High school students, he's found, are the best bets. Their schedules are most accommodating.

One middle-aged woman became lonely and took to making many telephone calls during the day to fight boredom. She didn't last long.

While the job can be boring, Daniels said, none of his employees has ever been robbed.

"It's presumed — and true — there's very little money here. I've told people give them the money and ask if they need any pictures processed. There's nothing in here that can't be replaced."

The booth isn't all bad considering the small size. It's air-conditioned and contains a TV set and a telephone.

Employees have permission from the operator of a laundromat in the plaza to use toilet facilities there. Soft drinks can be purchased at a nearby deli.

"I wish there was something else we could market out of here," Daniels said wistfully. "I figured, what could be better than a LOTTO machine? Those machines only go to stores that had the instant game and had success."

So what does it really take to succeed in the drive-in photo business? Patience — and the ability to sit for extended periods, Daniels said.

New road sparks safety concerns

"Then we'll have a bottleneck at Joy and Canton Center, and at Sheldon Center and Canton Center," said Bollman, referring to morning school hours and traffic going to and from the school.

Bollman was among a small group of Canton residents who met with county and township officials to discuss the road. The county agreed to construct a pedestrian walkway to cover the Willow Creek drain on both sides of Sheldon Center if sidewalks are provided for the remainder of the project, Richardson said.

Bollman isn't alone in her concerns. Hampton Court West residents packed a Canton Township Board of Trustees meeting in May to air concerns about speed limits, traffic signals, sidewalks and berms.

Erma Clark, county public information coordinator, said the speed limit for Sheldon Center has not been decided.

"Normally we wait until a road is constructed then we go to an after-the-fact speed survey," Clark said. "We go by 80-85 percent of what the drivers are travelling."

The county previously maintained that the speed limit on Sheldon Center would be either 45 mph like Canton Center, 35 mph like Sheldon or something in between.

Some residents were misled when they were told "it was very unlikely a road would go in," Bollman said. "People bought thinking the road would be residential. They were never led to believe that there would be a rerouting of Canton Center."

Cops fight drugs

Working on arrests in the communities will be one goal but drug busts are only part of battling the problem. Another objective is substance abuse education, and the target locations in Canton will be in the schools.

"Talk to any parent with a child in high school and they know that controlled substances are out there,"

Santomauro said. "We'll try to convince people that drugs aren't good and incarceration is only one ramification of results that include anything up to death."

"We'll be working very closely with the schools on the substance abuse program. Drug education is built on the premise that young adults are responsible for what they do."

McNamara sets sights on executive post

This is another in a series of profiles on Wayne County executive candidates in the Aug. 5 Democratic primary.

By Teri Banas staff writer

Edward Howard McNamara emerged from a crushing defeat in the summer of 1982 with no desire left to seek higher office.

Four years ago pollsters and his closest advisers told him early on that he could not beat William Lucas, then a popular Democratic county sheriff, but he stubbornly plowed forward, eventually losing by more than 2-1 in the first county executive campaign.

This time, McNamara's campaign is in high gear. The 60-year-old mayor of Livonia is considered the leading candidate in an 11-man field and by July's end will likely raise and spend an estimated $400,000, at least $100,000 more than the amount figured by the other top contenders.

HIS ADVERTISING budget alone — what some political observers say is the key to a low-interest race like county executive — is $250,000 and two television ads have begun appearing in the Detroit area. Besides that, his campaign has attracted the fund-raising support of western Wayne and downriver public officials, as well as pizza magnates Mike Illitch and Tom Monaghan, Livonia construction company owner Angelo DiPonio and downriver industrialist Heinz Prechter.

In a recent interview, the affable mayor said his decision to try again was made in October when the results of a poll his supporters took were complete.

This time, the polls were on his side, giving his candidacy an edge over other potentially county-known figures.

McNamara talks publicly of his campaign's financial successes and his polls' recent developments, sometimes to the consternation of other candidates within earshot.

McNamara said he wants the job of county executive for "the challenge," the opportunity to unravel county problems.

"It's a spaghetti factory down there with all that's going on," he said.

"It's certainly not the money because the salary's about the same. And I don't look forward to the trip downtown every day and I don't look forward to paying Coleman Young 1½ percent income tax which applies to non-residents working downtown."

IF ELECTED McNamara has pledged to turn Wayne County, currently facing what officials identify as a $30 million deficit, into a "very sound business operation, just like the city here has run."

Three themes he uses in his campaign focus not just on improved government efficiency but on creating industrial development and on road development.

"I think the salvation of the county of Wayne is in improving its industrial development, its economic development, creating jobs. I think you can do that," McNamara said.

He also said the county's fiscal problems are one of mismanagement, rather than fund shortages.

"(In total) Wayne County probably spends a half billion dollars a year. Now, you know, if you can't build a decent park system, add golf courses that ultimately pay for themselves, if you can't do industrial development by widening roads, taking care of drainage, water, sewer with that kind of money, if you can't do it, then I'll be amazed. Once it's started, then it can mushroom."

McNAMARA TALKS a lot of Livonia's growth in his campaign advertising, citing the addition of 600 new businesses and 12,000 new jobs in his 16-year tenure as mayor. He makes the comparison between a city of 100,000 and $25 million budget to Wayne County's 1.3 million population and $291 million general budget.

City hall sources said that while that claim may be somewhat exag-

Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara is considered by many political observers as the leading Democrat in a nine-man field for the Wayne County executive race. He was photographed recently in his campaign headquarters on Five Mile Road. David Katz and Jane Mogan (background) are among hundreds of volunteers involved in the campaign.

graphed recently in his campaign headquarters on Five Mile Road. David Katz and Jane Mogan (background) are among hundreds of volunteers involved in the campaign.

gerated, McNamara still deserves credit for drawing together city interests and business ones.

"We were talking about that the other day," said Councilman Robert Bennett. "A lot of the planning for Livonia's industrial base was done before he was mayor and I was on the board."

SALEM HISTORY GROUP THANKFUL
To the Editor:
The Salem Area Historical Society would like to express its gratitude to all who supported and participated in its second annual public auction on June 7. The proceeds from this event will go towards the restoration of the historic Salem Stone Schoolhouse.

The auction was made possible not only by the efforts of society members, but most importantly by a devoted base of enthusiastic support from the public. Private citizens generously responded with items to auction including many donated ones. Donations from local merchants ranged from food and gift items to free advertisement.

And the Whalen Auction Service, whose donated efforts made it all possible, extended themselves above and beyond the call of duty.

A hearty thank you to each and every one of you!

Regional school tax in talk stage

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Don't look for fast action in the Michigan Legislature on bills to "regionalize" industrial tax base to the benefit of poorer school districts.

But do expect lawmakers to start work this year on major reforms in the property tax — the biggest source of revenue for suburban school districts, but one which homeowners consider the most onerous tax.

"It (the regional tax bill) is part of an overall goal we have as Senate Republicans to do something about high property taxes in this state," said Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mt. Pleasant.

"I'm not sure there's sufficient support at this point," said Engler in an interview Sunday on the "Spotlight on News" program (WXYZ-TV).

THE IDEA is contained in bills sponsored by Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, in the upper chamber, and Reps. William Keith, D-Garden City, and James O'Neill, D-Saginaw, in the lower.

Industrial and commercial properties worth $20 million or more would be assessed by the state and placed in a "regional impact" category, according to DeGrow.

After 10 years, half the property tax revenues from this class would go into the state school aid fund and be distributed to all local districts under the school aid formula. It would be a form of statewide property tax collection.

The idea of sharing industrial property taxes across a large area is at least 25 years old. It pops up at outstate Farm Bureau meetings, usually with the suggestion that industrial taxes be allocated county-wide.

"In Michigan," said DeGrow, "huge disparities can exist between schools like Birmingham, levying 30 mills and providing $5,562 per pupil, and Martin, levying 30 mills and providing $2,394 per pupil" in 1985-86.

LIVONIA SCHOOL officials, in particular, are upset at the bill, declaring one-fifth of the district's tax base would have to be shared. Livonia has seen a building boom, led by hotels and high-tech firms, along the I-275 corridor.

DeGrow said only 15 of the state's 569 school districts would lose any funding. "Most" districts would be helped, he said.

Engler said DeGrow "has put it in, with himself as the only sponsor, simply to generate some discussion. Not all suburban school districts probably would be harmed by this legislation.

"DeGrow would like it to be part of the debate.

"It will take some time to calculate what he's talking about," the Senate GOP leader said. "Let's let the Senate talk about it and then face the constituents."

WHILE LEGISLATORS campaign for re-election, Engler said, consultants and non-politicians appointed by the Senate will make a new study of the property tax, schools' dependence on it, assessing practices and senior citizens' burdens.

Engler said Senate Republicans won't consider Democratic Gov. James J. Blanchard's "tax fairness" plan, which the Republican called more of a tax increase plan since it would raise taxes on insurance premiums and bank services.

"It (Blanchard's) wasn't a property tax program at all. It was a tax hike. The Senate will continue to be vigilant on tax hikes. The tax issue is a Republican issue," Engler said.

He called it "extremely unlikely" the House and Senate would compromise on their rival property tax rebate plans in time for Dec. 1 bills to be reduced.

"The House hasn't even given our senior citizens property tax cut proposal a hearing," he said.

In earlier announcements, Engler suggested that in 1987 lawmakers consider placing a "tax shift" proposal on the ballot. Property taxes for schools would be cut in return for an increase in the sales tax rate, currently 4 percent.

State tax rate to fall — Headlee

There's no need for Gov. James J. Blanchard or any legislator to promise a state income tax cut when the federal tax-cut bill becomes law, according to Richard Headlee, Farmington Hills insurance executive.

"There is no promise necessary from Gov. Blanchard, or vote required in the State Legislature," Headlee said, citing the 1978 "Headlee amendment" to the Michigan Constitution.

The 1982 Republican gubernatorial nominee, Headlee, president of Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co., said, "I am a little amused by news media reports that Gov. Blanchard is promising to lower the state's income tax if Congress finally approved President Reagan's tax-reform bill.

"EVERYBODY from the governor to Sen. Donald Riegle to State Treasurer Robert A. Bowman to leaders of the State Legislature are suggesting that they have a role in cutting taxes if President Reagan's current cut results in an additional $150 million plus of state taxes being raised in Michigan."

The Headlee amendment, named for him, says, "For any fiscal year in the event that total state revenues exceed the revenue limit... by 1 percent or more, the excess revenues shall be refunded pro-rata."

If a federal income tax cut raises Michigan's income tax revenues by the estimated $150 million, this would allow a 0.2 percentage point reduction in the income tax rate, Headlee said. Each 0.1 percent raises $80 million to $85 million.

IF IT IS NOT reduced, revenues will once again exceed the constitutional limit, and the money will have to be refunded as required by the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment.

The tax limitation amendment was passed by Michigan voters as a ballot issue in 1978. Headlee led a citizens' organization which drafted the language and obtained more than 500,000 petition signatures to put it on the ballot.

"What is further amusing," Headlee said, "is that then-Congressman James Blanchard opposed the 1978 tax limitation amendment, and then-state Rep. John Engler supported the ballot issue."

Miniature Coca-Cola trucks are among the items on display at the Plymouth Historical Museum. The museum at 155 S. Main St. is open to the public 1-4 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

An exhibit just for the fun of it

The Coca-Cola name is prominently featured on the items displayed at the museum in Plymouth. "Summer Fun" is the theme for the current exhibits at the museum, including the Coca-Cola collection.

staff writer

THE REAL thing can be found these days at the Plymouth Historical Museum.

An exhibit of Coca-Cola items is on display at the museum, 155 S. Main, in Plymouth. "Summer Fun" is the theme for the current exhibits at the museum, including the Coca-Cola collection.

Coca-Cola was first used 100 years ago, according to Barbara Saunders, museum director.

"It originally started as medication, then they added the carbonated water to it."

The items on display are from the collection of Andy and Carole Anderson. The collection includes items from the late 19th and the 20th centuries.

The exhibit includes a number of Coca-Cola trays, each showing the styles of hair and clothing that were popular at the time.

"The trays were always the fashion, whatever the fashion was of the day," Saunders said. One tray from the mid-1920s features a flapper enjoying a Coke.

AN URN from the 1890s for soda fountain use is among the items on display. Books — such as Cecil Munsey's "The Illustrated Guide to the Collectibles of Coca-Cola" — advertisements, bottles, toys and games are included.

Small cars and trucks with a Coca-Cola design are also featured. "The kids love the little cars and the trucks," the museum director said.

Santa Claus memorabilia — all with a Coca-Cola design — can also be found at the exhibit.

The Santa Claus items include trays, Christmas tree ornaments, cards, bells, coasters and tins. The Coca-Cola name and design are displayed prominently on each item.

"They really keep their name before you all the time," Saunders said of the cola maker.

Other small items include a thimble, an ashtray, matches, bottle openers, a sewing kit and a cigarette lighter in the shape of a Coca-Cola bottle.

This 1925 tray features a flapper enjoying a Coke. A number of trays featuring the Coca-Cola name and design are on display at the museum.

The Coca-Cola trays at the museum show the styles of hair and clothing that were popular during different eras.

The Plymouth Historical Museum exhibit features an assortment of Coca-Cola items, including some that were suitable for use by schoolchildren of an earlier decade.

No, Barbara Saunders isn't rounding up volunteers for the Plymouth Historical Museum. Saunders is the director of the museum, which recently received a Model 25 classic air gun from the Daisy Manufacturing Co. Daisy had its beginnings in Plymouth and moved to Rogers, Ark., in 1958. The company is celebrating its centennial this year and gave the air gun to the museum in Plymouth for the occasion.

Daisy keeps in touch

THE DAISY Manufacturing Co. left Plymouth in 1958 for Rogers, Ark. Even so, Daisy's former presence isn't too hard to spot in Plymouth.

Daisy rifles can no doubt be found stored away in Plymouth-Canton area basements and garages. The Model 25, a classic Daisy air gun, can also be found these days at the Plymouth Historical Museum.

"They were very important to Plymouth," said Barbara Saunders, museum director. "Plymouth was known as the BB gun capital of the world."

The Model 25 was reproduced for the centennial of the Daisy Manufacturing Co. Inc., which still has its headquarters in Rogers. The air gun was given to the Plymouth Historical Museum by the company for the 100th anniversary celebration.

"They sent it to us because they thought that if anyone should have it, Plymouth should," the museum director said. The Model 25 is on display at the museum, along with a number of other Daisy products.

"We collect as many Daisys as we can," she said. SAUNDERS has found that many newcomers to the area who visit the museum aren't aware of Daisy's longtime presence in Plymouth. The company was a major employer of local people while it was operating here. The Plymouth Historical Museum, 155 S. Main, is open to the public from 1 to 4 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for those ages 11 to 17 and 25 cents for those ages 5 to 10. For additional information, call the museum, 455-8940.

Kelley Marie Larsen of Canton Township was among the guests at a "get acquainted" party held June 8 at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

The party was for girls from throughout Michigan who have been selected as state finalists in the 1986 Miss American Pre-Teen Pageant.

The Michigan pageant will be held Sept. 5-6 at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. The theme of the pageant is "Youth, Pride of the Present... Hope of the Future."

Kelley, 9, is the daughter of Michael and Jody Larsen. She attends Gallimore Elementary School in Canton Township, where she will be in the fourth grade this fall.

The Canton Township girl is a member of the St. John Neumann parish, where she sings in the children's choir. Her other activities include Girl Scouts, ballet and swimming lessons.

The pageant's state winner will receive a cash award, a crown, a banner and a trophy. She will also receive the chance to compete in the national pageant in November in Houston, Texas.

Arrival was on the road

By Julie Brown
staff writer

WHEN YOUNG Callan Marie Krieg was ready to come into the world, she decided not to waste any time.

Callan Marie, the daughter of Larry and Gretchen Krieg of Plymouth, was born at approximately 7:40 p.m. Friday, June 13, while her parents were in their Ford Escort on their way to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The couple continued their drive to the hospital rather than stopping along the way.

"I was kind of panicking," Gretchen said. "But Larry was calm. He kept me calm, kind of talked me through it."

The Krieges were driving on M-14 approaching U.S. 23 south when Callan Marie was born.

"Somewhere, I wasn't looking," Gretchen said. "We just kept on going. She started crying right away, so we knew she was all right."

LARRY is a staff sergeant with the U.S. Army, working with a reserve unit, the 300th Military Police Command. He had had some emergency medical training and decided it would be best to continue the drive to the hospital without stopping. "And get them to the hospital."

When they arrived, Larry went inside to get help. The unusual circumstances surrounding Callan Marie's birth didn't go unnoticed by the hospital staffers on duty at the time.

"They didn't say anything to me," he recalled. "They just looked at me like I was crazy."

Hospital personnel cut the umbilical cord while the mother and daughter were still in the car.

While Gretchen was in the hospital, staff members there joked that they would check her in a week early for baby number 3. Her due date for Callan Marie was June 12.

THE KRIEGS are also the parents of another daughter, Jocelyn Ann, who will be 2 next week. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Snyder of Plymouth and Mr. and

Things are a bit calmer these days for Larry and Gretchen Krieg of Plymouth. The Krieges were on their way to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor Friday, June 13, when their daughter, Callan Marie, was born in their car. The Krieges are also the parents of Jocelyn Ann, who will be 2 next week.

Mr. Glen Krieg of Cape Coral, Fla. Unlike her younger sister, the circumstances surrounding Jocelyn Krieg said.

engagements

Peck-Dimit

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Peck of Brighton announce the engagement of their daughter, Kelley-Anne Peck of Plymouth, to Gregory George Dimit of Plymouth, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Dimit of Sylvania, Ohio.

The bride-elect is a graduate of St. Mary Academy and of Hillsdale College, where she majored in international business and political economy. She is employed at Human Synergistics in Plymouth in the sales and marketing department.

Her fiancé is a graduate of Sylvania High School and of Miami University of Ohio, where he majored in marketing. He is employed at Graco Robotics in Livonia as a sales engineer. A spring 1987 wedding is planned.

Singers travel to music school

Several members of the Midwest Harmony chapter of Sweet Adelines Inc. attended a weekend music school held in July in Sarnia, Ontario. Chapter members attended the music school to learn more about singing four-part harmony, barbershop style.

Dixie Dahlke of Royal Oak, director of the Midwest Harmony chapter, was one of the weekend music school's faculty members.

The Midwest Harmony chapter was also represented by the Crystal Classics, the 1986 champion women's quartet of the area. Canton Township's Linda Lupo sang bass.

Other Crystal Classics performers were Shirley Heatlie of Westland, lead; Carol Cox of Brighton, baritone; and Claudia Swisher of Canton Township, tenor.

Others who attended the weekend music school in Sarnia were: Claudette Moyski of Woodhaven, Midwest Harmony president; Margaret Gardner of Trenton; and Barbara Mecklenburg of Westland.

For additional information about the Midwest Harmony chapter of Sweet Adelines Inc., call Marge Griep, 425-0017, or Claudette Moyski, 875-4413.

SUMMER FUN

"Summer Fun" is the theme for the special exhibits in the Plymouth Historical Museum, 155 S. Main, now through Sept. 7. The exhibit includes a sea shell collection from around the world, fishing equipment from the 1920s, Coca Cola items such as an 1895 urn used for Coke syrup, trays used during the 1920s and '30s depicting clothes and important events of those years. Santa memorabilia and other items. Plymouth Historical Museum is open to the public 1-4 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday. Admission charged.

VOLUNTEER TRAINING

Growth Works Inc., 271 S. Main, Plymouth, is conducting volunteer recruitment and training to prepare volunteers for Crisis Phone intervention and phone line counseling. The training covers communication, empathy listening, building and bonding relationships, brokerage skills, crisis intervention, depression management, loss and grief, alcohol and substance abuse and problem-solving methods.

Training is open to any interested person; no previous experience is necessary. After the initial training program it is required that volunteers make at least a six-month commitment to three hours per month. For further information and a training schedule, contact Sue Davis at 455-4909 from 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday.

VOLUNTEERS SOUGHT

Canton Care Council, an affiliate of the Ann Arbor-based Community Councils Association, is seeking volunteers interested in enhancing the quality of life for nursing home residents. Volunteers serve on the council, which meets once a month to plan social, service or educational activities for residents at Canton Care Center. The time commitment is three to six hours per month. For more information, contact Kathy Belisle at 981-2382.

CANTON HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Canton Historical Society meets at 7:30 p.m. the second Thursday of each month in the Canton Historical Society Museum on Canton Center Road at Proctor.

MINOR HOME REPAIRS

The Conference of Western Wayne Minor Home Repair Program has been funded through Senior Alliance for fiscal year 1986. The program assists homeowners 60 and older with minor home repair tasks. For information, call 525-8690.

HELPING ADULTS READ

Plymouth-Canton Community Education can help adults read. For more information about Adult Basic Education, call 451-6555 or 451-6660. Open enrollment. Students can begin classes at any time.

SPECIAL EDUCATION SERVICES

Preprimary special education services for children 6 and younger are available through Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. If you have a child who may be mentally or emotionally impaired, has a physical or visual disability, a hearing or speech impairment or learning disability, call the Infant and Preschool Special Education Program at Farrand Elementary School, 451-6610, for information.

HEAD START RECRUITING

Plymouth-Canton Head Start is recruiting children for the 1986-87 school year. The program is sponsored by the school district and the federal government at no charge. Children must be 3 or 4 years old on or before Dec. 1, 1986, and income eligible. The program is at Central Middle School.

Four-year-olds attend morning classes four days a week and a limited number will be served in a Home Visit program. Breakfast and lunch are served each day and bus transportation is provided on an established route. Three-year-olds can qualify in a special-needs category to be part of a Home Visit program in which visits are made to the home one day a week. Income status involves receiving public assistance or having an annual income of no more than $11,000 for a family of four. Students also may be eligible if they are a foster child or can qualify in a handicapped category. Those interested may call 451-6656.

PLUS PRESCHOOL REGISTRATION

Preregistrations are being accepted for enrollment of 4-year-olds in the free PLUS preschool program offered by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Children must be 4 or older before Dec. 1, 1986, to attend classes in the fall of 1986. Two half-day sessions are offered — one with a parent attending a concurrent parent education class. Many joint parent-child activities are planned. Children's activities are planned as readiness for their school's kindergarten program.

PLUS is sponsored by the school district and is financed by a federal grant. Children must live in the attendance areas of Gallimore, Field, Farrand, Erikson and Tanager elementary schools. Classes are held at Central Middle School. Registration may be made at local elementary schools. More information and phone registration may be made by calling PLUS at 451-6656.

PRESCHOOL KREATIVES

The Plymouth Community Family YMCA is offering its preschool Kreatives program for ages 3-5 from 10 a.m. to noon weekdays in six sessions through the week of Aug. 19 at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth. Kreatives is a preschool class to foster creativity through art, crafts, music, and games. Children are to wear play clothes. For information or reservations, call 453-2904.

CANTON CRICKETS

Canton Crickets, a Canton preschool for 3- and 4-year-olds, will run July 8 through Aug. 11 at the Canton Township Administration Building, 1150 S. Canton Center Road. Sessions will be 9:30-11:30 a.m. or 1-3 p.m. Tuesdays or 9:30-11:30 and 1-3 Thursdays. Activities include crafts, low-organized games, story time, special events and snack time. For information, call Canton Recreation at 397-1000.

NEW HORIZONS DAY CARE

A day-care center, New Horizons for Children, is being operated in Plymouth by the Plymouth Church of the Nazarene. The day care center, for children ages 18 months to 4 years old, is on Ann Arbor Road west of Sheldon Road and east of Pioneer Middle School. For information, call Debbie Brown, director, at 455-3196.

NEW HORIZONS

New Horizons, a sharing exchange for mothers, will meet the second and fourth Fridays of each month 9:30-11:30 a.m. at Faith Moravian Community Church, 46001 Warren west of Canton Center Road. For information, call Mary at 455-8221.

Church history patched together

The parishioners at St. Priscilla Church in Livonia decided to piece together the church's 25-year history.

The end result is a 7-by-7-foot quilted wall hanging. The needle work project, which took about 20 people only six months to complete, features various images depicting the history of St. Priscilla, which is celebrating its silver anniversary this year.

Several types of needle work, including stencil work, crewel and applique, were used to complete the quilt.

Donna Hendricks of Livonia, who coordinated the project, asked parishioners to contribute a square piece of needle work that featured a bit of the church's history to the wall hanging. The finished product wasn't what she originally had envisioned, but she's more than happy with the quilt.

"Everybody was cooperative," said Hendricks. "Everything just fell into place."

The people who worked on the quilt found it to be a rewarding experience also.

"We had such a feeling of accomplishment," said Lenore Curtis, who's been a volunteer at the church for 11 years. "In all my years I've been a volunteer, I've never felt the pride that we all felt when it was finished."

The quilt will hang on the back wall of St. Priscilla.

A U.S. citizen is proud, not arrogant

By now the shouting is over. Except for the memories and whatever bits of bunting or fire cracker wrappers may be in the waters of New York harbor the lady's 100th birthday party is history. As the celebration was aired on television I watched with pride and with gratitude. I was also moved to reflect on what it means when we say that we love America.

My pride comes from an awareness of the many great things this country has done for the people within its borders and for countless others in places whose names we cannot even pronounce correctly. People the world over have been led due to our generosity. Nations have been helped to develop by our technology and instruction. We have fed the hungry and we have welcomed the stranger. We have reason to be proud, not vain, but proud.

As I watched the festivities and listened to the music my sense of gratitude was also alive and well. I had nothing to do with the fact that I was born in America. It was not a choice I was given. I could have been born in Afghanistan, Guatemala, Nicaragua or El Salvador. South Africa, Ethiopia, Iran or Siberia — and all that goes with living in those places could have been my heritage. As it is, I live here and call America my home. This is where I am free to move about as I wish. This is the home in which I am free to worship as I choose. This is where I can vote and even dissent. Yes, I am grateful that America is my country, my home and my heritage.

But as I watched the Lady's party my reflections went beyond the pride and the gratitude. What does it mean to be American. Aside from the material advantages and the political possibilities what goes with this gift of freedom that comes with being American?

AMONG OTHER things it occurred to me that if my pride is not open enough to recognize the flaws which exist even in America then it is little more than arrogance. There is a fine line between those two — pride and arrogance — but oh, what a difference!

Those who think they are always right are not terribly pleasant to be around. Maybe that is what some in the world mean by the ugly American. We are responsible for a number of good things. But we also make mistakes. Pride does not deny mistakes. It seeks to change the course

Blueprint for success?

Hilton renovation aimed at boosting occupancy

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

In an effort to boost business, the new managers of the Plymouth Hilton Inn have begun a $2.5 million renovation.

"I think it is a beautiful property with great potential," said general manager Adel Abdo of the 195-room hotel-restaurant on Northville Road south of Five Mile in Plymouth. Work began nearly a month ago on the hotel's long-established restaurant. Renovation of conference rooms, lobby, hallways and private rooms is expected to be finished Sept. 18, Abdo said.

Columbia Sussex Corp., of Fort Mitchell, Ky., owners of the property, took over management in February and began planning the remodeling. Abdo, a former manager in the Sheraton chain, said purchasing and renovating hotel properties is the corporation's specialty.

Abdo stresses that good management hinges on attention to small but important detail to make the hotel more attractive to business customers. For example, Abdo said that upon his arrival he noticed that burned-out lights outside the main door gave the impression the inn was closed. Those lights have been replaced, and the grounds are improved.

CURRENTLY CALLED the Jolly Miller restaurant, the original Thunderbird Restaurant preceded the hotel complex by several years. That restaurant, remembered locally for its Sunday brunches and live music, failed in the early '70s. Then, anticipating that a Northville Road exit would be built off the M-14 extension, previous owners began construction of an adjoining hotel complex. But state highway department plans for the exit were scrapped, and the owners went bankrupt. As a result, the restaurant failed, and the hotel complex was left unfinished.

An investment group bought the property and completed construction of the hotel in the late '70s. It is now owned by Columbia Sussex.

The general theme of the renovation is to make the hotel "more contemporary, more modern," said Abdo. In the lobby, worn red carpeting, which Abdo describes as "tacky," will be removed and replaced by marble floors. A small gift shop near the hotel desk will be extended down a hallway, where merchandise will be visible from outside the shop when a wall section is removed and replaced with clear glass.

Soundproof glass will surround a dance-floor area in the remodeled restaurant, "so people won't be interrupted when they're enjoying dinner," Abdo said. Following the contemporary theme, the restaurant will feature nouvelle cuisine — French cooking relying less on heavy sauces and butter than traditional French cuisine. Abdo said the tradition of offering three different dinner specials will remain.

ARNIE SHORT, project superintendent overseeing the renovation, said the restaurant will have "a lot lighter, brighter atmosphere to it." Work crews have already removed the dark wood paneling that set the restaurant's previous theme. "What I call the dungeon style," Short said. In place of darker carpeting and wood paneling will be light ceramic tile, blondish oak, planters, and glass.

Short said new, lighter-colored carpeting and wallpaper will brighten guest rooms, also to be stocked with new beds and more modern furniture. Abdo said room rates will range $68-$80 per night.

"We're expecting about a 10 percent increase in our room occupancy," Abdo says, adding that the current number of hotel employees, about 175, should rise to 200 following renovation.

Chamber chairman bullish on regional problem-solving

By Carolyn Smith
special writer

Jack (John J.) Avignone offers a warm smile and a friendly handshake before inviting his visitor to settle into a cozy chair in his modest, tastefully appointed Dearborn office.

A Birmingham resident, Avignone is president and chief executive officer of the 1.3 million member Automobile Club of Michigan. As the new board chairman of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, he's about to share some personal opinions on how to link Detroit with its suburbs.

Avignone serves on the state Governor's Commission on China and the Michigan Sesquicentennial Commission. Among his Detroit board memberships are the Metropolitan Detroit Convention and Visitors Bureau, New Detroit, the Economic Club of Detroit, Detroit Renaissance, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and the United Foundation. He is also a board member of First of America

Bank-Oakland & Macomb and a trustee of the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Bloomfield Hills. He served as general chairman of the 1986 Detroit-Windsor International Freedom Festival.

Avignone's community involvement is especially noteworthy because he is a New York City native who didn't move to Michigan until 1979 when he joined AAA as executive vice president.

In rapid-fire comments, he exudes enthusiasm for the future of Detroit and its suburbs.

"DETROIT REALLY has done a great job of rebuilding itself," he said, citing riverfront development from Belle Isle to the Ambassador Bridge, Greektown, Bricktown, the Warehouse District. And although he agrees the city has some major problems to solve, he claims his pet projects just may provide some of the answers.

For instance, there's the transportation problem. Light rail transit, with connector lines along the downtown People Mover, is Avignone's top priority. "The key to linking the hub of Detroit to the large business centers in Troy, Southfield, Rochester and Ann Arbor is appropriate transportation," he said.

With Detroit's clogged parking lots and jammed expressways, Avignone thinks the light rail systems will encourage more mobility of people between Detroit and the suburbs.

First, he would like to see a line go up Woodward to Birmingham and Pontiac, and another up Gratiot to Mount Clemens and beyond. Later, a line should extend to western Wayne County and Ann Arbor, and another to the Grosse Pointes.

THEN, THERE'S the matter of hotel space. Avignone supports expanded hotel accommodations to attract more and bigger shows and conventions to the Detroit area. "The (1980) Republican National Convention here taught us a few things. Among them, every hotel and motel for miles around was filled."

More rooms also would help support the projected surge in tourism, Avignone said. "Tourism is Michigan's second largest industry. In a report I read recently, Michigan State University predicts a 10-percent annual increase in tourism. We must have more hotels."

In fact, the day the Novi Hilton opened, it already had begun putting on an addition.

Avignone believes providing jobs is another important factor. He stressed that matching jobs with the right people will be difficult unless the quality of education in Detroit Public Schools improves.

"The (school) system has real problems. It has high dropout and teen pregnancy rates. I really believe good role models and the promise of jobs can help convince kids it's worthwhile to stay in school."

Avignone helped develop the Detroit Public Education Fund, which is supported by businesses and matching grants from the Ford Foundation.

One part of the fund gives mini-grants of $100 to $200 to teachers with special education projects or needs. Another part offers various company volunteers who tell their business stories to students who may not see a good job in their future. A third part supports an "Adopt-a-school" program in which company employees teach special skills to students at a chosen school.

"All three of these programs are designed to help kids get some insights into the outside world," Avignone said. "And that's very important."

HE AGREES with business associates who say changing times have created a vast disparity between needed skills and workers able to offer them. "The economic downturn in the area has left us with a well-trained work force for the wrong jobs. We need to emphasize retraining."

Avignone and his wife, Patricia, a clinical psychologist, have a son, 28, and a daughter, 17. With little leisure time, he still reads two to four books per week. "Most of them are about history, especially the Civil War. I love history."

Days are always too short for busy men like Avignone. So he looks for ways to increase efficiency.

He believes long, ponderous memos are a waste of everyone's time.

"The first thing I did when I came here (to AAA) was to write a memo on memos. It said that any memo longer than 1½ pages had to be accompanied by a half-page memo telling me what the thing's about. That memo has worked wonders," he said with a smile of satisfaction.

Avignone claimed his bachelor's degree in journalism from the University of Pennsylvania in 1954 has served him well. "Anybody reasonably intelligent can learn about a business. But if that person can communicate well, all the better."

Do-it-yourself will debuts in state

Michigan residents now have the opportunity to write a will without hiring a lawyer.

Legislation that went into effect July 1 allows people to use a fill-in-the-blanks will, allowing them to leave up to two cash gifts and a list of personal items designating who is to receive each item. The balance of the property goes to one's spouse, or children, if the spouse is deceased. Through the use of the form, a person can choose a personal representative (formerly called an executor) to administer the estate and to choose a guardian for any minor children.

The statutory will becomes valid by completing the form, signing it and having a witness sign it. The form, including instructions, is now available at no charge through state legislators and will be available later at legal supplies stores.

Without a will, property may be divided according to a formula set by state law.

Sponsor of the legislation, state Rep. Perry Bullard (D-Ann Arbor) called the law "a giant step toward making the law accessible to all Michigan residents." But he cautioned that the form will is not appropriate for everyone.

"People with large estates or with complicated estate plans still need to seek competent legal advice and have a will drafted to their specific needs," he said.

Below are questions on the form will:

practically speaking

What happens if I die without a will?

With certain exceptions, your possessions are divided according to state law among your closest relatives.

What can I accomplish by making out a will?

You can choose who is to receive your property; select someone to serve as personal representative (formerly known as executor); and appoint a guardian for your children under age 18.

If I have a will, do I avoid probate?

No. Whether you die with a will, your property will usually go through probate, which is a process through which the probate court oversees distribution of your assets. If there is a will, the initial purpose of probate is to prove that the will is valid.

Does all property go through probate?

No. For example, money held in a joint bank account automatically belongs to the other owner. If your spouse's or child's name is on the deed to your house, the house automatically belongs to him or her. Life insurance benefits go directly to the beneficiary named in the policy. A will has no effect on these types of property, which are known collectively as the non-probate estate.

If property is specified in my will, can I give it away or sell it during my life?

Yes, there are handwritten wills, typewritten wills and statutory wills. Each is equally valid if done precisely in accordance with the law. It is recommended you see a lawyer if you do not use the statutory will in this brochure.

What can I accomplish through using a statutory will?

• You can leave up to two cash gifts of any amount to people or charities.

• You can write a list of personal and household items and name who is to receive each item.

• The rest of your property goes to your husband or wife. If he or she dies before you, this property would be divided equally among your children.

• You can select a personal representative to administer your property.

• You can appoint a guardian and conservator in case you and your spouse both die before your children reach age 18.

Are there reasons for me not to use the statutory will provided in this brochure?

There may be. If you have sub-

Take advantage of last-time tax shelters

Now that the stage is set for the most sweeping revision of the nation's income-tax laws in nearly half a century, the question is: What can you do now to take advantage of the situation? Here are a few strategies that might help.

• Since tax shelters would lose much of their lure next year, expect a rush of last-minute offerings designed to provide big deductions against this year's tax rates and then to generate income in future years that would be subject to lower tax rates.

Cattle feeding, equipment leasing, and oil and gas ventures would be among the most creative shelters. But before you jump into any shelter, consult your financial planner and insist on a full explanation on how the shelter selected for you will help your finances now and in the future.

• Make your 1986 IRA investments today. Waiting until April 15, 1987, to make the 1986 investment may be very costly, if the bill eliminates IRAs next year. By contributing now, rather than in 1987, you earn more than six months of interest against this year's tax rates.

• Make a serious effort to shift some of this year's income into 1987. This might be easier for self-employed people or those who own their businesses.

business people

Rose Shahanian, district tax manager in the Livonia Beneficial consumer credit office, was honored by the company for her business performance during the past tax season. She recently attended a company conference to determine future cus-sulting, speech making or research work, hold back your bills so you get paid in 1987.

• If you have large profits in your stocks, bonds or mutual fund holdings, and you think that their upside potential is rather limited, then it pays to dispose of them this year and take advantage of the low capital gains tax rate. Of course, if you think your investments have a lot of room to rise, you may want to hold on to them despite the modestly high tax bite (from a maximum 20 percent capital gains rate proposed maximum of 27 percent rate).

• Since the bill does away with state and local sales taxes, this is the year for buying big ticket items — a car, a boat or an airplane.

• If you are contemplating selling your house and thinking of buying another house considerably less expensive than the one you sell, then it might pay to complete the transaction this year.

That way your profits will get the preferential capital gains treatment. Of course, if the house has considerable upside potential, you may wish to postpone the sale until you are able to get the best value for your house.

The proposed tax bill is complicated. I urge you to select a competent financial planner you can trust and ask him or her to carefully analyze your financial situation against the backdrop of the new tax environment.

Educational seminar: Main Topic "Impact of proposed tax legislation on your 1986 investment, tax and retirement planning." The seminar, sponsored by Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and Coordinated Financial Planning Inc., will be held 7-9:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 5, at the Kingsley Inn, 1475 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills.

stantial wealth and need tax planning for your estate, you should consult a lawyer who handles estate planning and probate. If you think you might have such problems, speak with a lawyer to see if more complex planning is indicated. Consultation with a lawyer is strongly recommended if you want to establish a trust fund for your children, if you have assets outside of Michigan or if you have a significant interest in a business partnership.

What should I do if a statutory will doesn't meet my needs?

Contact a lawyer with knowledge of estate planning.

May I use a statutory will form and yet leave no cash gifts?

Yes. But if you do leave a cash gift, give a complete address for the person or charity to receive the money.

How do I go about preparing a list of personal items?

If you wish, you may make a list on a separate piece of paper of possessions such as jewelry, books, automobiles, furniture and other personal and household items. On the list your name who is to receive each item.

The list can be as short or as long as you choose. Make sure you describe each item sufficiently to avoid confusion. Include the full name and address for each person who is to get an item.

The list must be in your handwriting or signed by you. It is a good idea to include the date. You can change the list as often as you wish. It is a good idea to staple or firmly attach the newest list to your will.

What is the purpose of Article 2.3 (all other assets)?

This provision sets out the division of your property (other than cash gifts and the list of items) if your spouse, children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren all die before you.

You have a choice: You may leave all the property to your other blood relatives who survive you, or leave one-half to those relatives and one-half to your spouse's blood relatives.

Who may be a witness to my will? Any adult who will not receive any possessions or money under your will may be a witness. A person who may receive money or property under your will should never be a witness to your will. You need not tell witnesses about the contents of your will.

After the will is completed, where should I keep it?

One option is to file it in probate court at the cost of $5. Wherever you keep the will, attach the list of personal items to it. You may want to give a copy to the person you have selected as your personal representative.

Can I make changes to my statutory will?

Yes, but do not write on the will. You can either have a codicil (amendment) drafted, complete a new statutory will, or have an entire new will drafted by a lawyer. If you sign a new will, destroy copies of the old one. You can change the list of personal property items at any time.

It is probably best to write a whole new list if your desire to make changes.

If I move from Michigan will my statutory will still be valid?

Probably yes, but it would be a good idea to check with a lawyer who practices in the state of your new residence.

Gate Dancer, racing here in the 1984 Breeders' Cup Classic at Hollywood Park, is one of the nation's premier horses. The 1984 record-setting Preakness winner will be on display Saturday in the $250,000-added Michigan Mile, the state's richest race.

Ladbroke catch

Gate Dancer spices up Michigan Mile

THIS HORSE has been described as a "rogue." Others have called him "eccentric."

The arrival last week of Gate Dancer at Ladbroke's Detroit Race Course has caused quite a stir. The 1984 Preakness Winner with over $2.5 million in career earnings, the Florida-bred 5-year-old is the first Triple Crown winner scheduled to ride in the Michigan Mile since Damascus, who finished second in 1968.

Never since 1966, when Tom Rolfe rode into Livonia, has a horse been treated so royally.

Gate Dancer obviously has a split personality, but he's charming as well, especially when he's around the media.

This couldn't be the same horse who we are told rides "erratically." This debonair fellow couldn't be the same guy who was disqualified for running "rodeo style" at the '84 Kentucky Derby and the $3 million Breeders' Cup.

Arriving at sunrise Thursday morning for Gate Dancer's weekly workout, I soon discovered that the old railbirds didn't know what they were talking about.

GATE DANCER may be pampered a bit, but he's deserved it, winning seven of 28 starts (he's also hit the board 15 times).

Gate Dancer gets round-the-clock, 24-hour security at his stall. His hay goes for $14 per bale, compared to $3 per bale for his neighbors.

He gets the best hay, best stall and best everything," said DRC public relations man Bob Raymond. "You can do that when you make $2.5 million."

Gate Dancer is certainly well-mannered and groomed. I watched in amazement as he stood at attention for nearly 25 minutes while assistant trainer Mark Wallerstedt (to Jack Van Berg) administered a wrap to protect his four precious legs.

Brad Emons

The parade of horses around the barn came to a halt when Wallerstedt slipped a bonnet, equipped with earmuffs, over Gate Dancer.

"He looks like the Easter Bunny," cracked one onlooker.

Gate Dancer could also start his own stock company. When he goes out on his morning walk, everybody else in the barn area falls in line behind him.

When Gate Dancer stops, everybody stops.

"CAN I GET BY?" politely pleads a woman riding another would-be star as they enter the track. "Oh, maybe I better not.

That's a $2 million horse. If it was anybody else I would."

And when Gate Dancer goes out for exercise, he just doesn't get any old Jack LaLaine. Jerry Santege, DRC's leading jockey in 1983, was saddled up for this training run.

The workout was short and brisk with Gate Dancer gliding around a mile in 1:41.2.

"I'm real happy with him," said Wallerstedt after the workout. "He's not a real speed-workout horse anyway. He's deceiving. A lot of times he starts looking around."

Gate Dancer hasn't run since April, when he finished second in the Oaklawn Handicap. He suffered a bruised heel in a race over the winter in Santa Anita and has been given time to heal.

"This horse is like a big kid," said the assistant trainer. "I've been with him since he was a baby. He's just a big clown who'll eat candy, carrots and donuts."

Gate Dancer attacks DRC, Michigan Mile

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Will Gate Dancer be facing any competition Saturday when the 38th renewal of the $250,000-added Michigan Mile gets under way at approximately 5:30 p.m. at Ladbroke DRC?

Other horses will be quartered into the starting gate, but do any have a chance against the 1984 Preakness Stakes winner and two-time runner-up in the '84 and '85 $2 million Breeders Cup Classic?

The only thing preventing Gate Dancer from being the prohibitive favorite is the crowd noise, which sometimes causes the talented 5-year-old to run erratically.

Others point to the fact that Gate Dancer hasn't raced since April and hasn't won in over a year.

But Gate Dancer, with career earnings of over $2.5 million and trained by Jack Van Berg (DRC's leading trainer seven times), is the first triple crown winner to visit the Livonia track since 1968 (Damascus finished second) and is clearly the class of field.

ASSIGNED A WEIGHT of 123 pounds, Gate Dancer should win easily, but Michigan Mile history reveals that the favorite doesn't always win.

Two Michigan horses, defending champion Badwagon Harry, along with DeJeu, could make things interesting.

But Badwagon Harry needs to turn things around after losing by nine lengths to DeJeu last Friday in the $53,000 Michigan Breeders' Cup.

Another starter worth watching is Ends Well, a New York horse that recently won the Neshaminy Handicap at Philadelphia Park, his eighth victory in 29 starts. He has $420,000 in career earnings.

Ends Well, assigned the second highest weight to Gate Dancer, also finished second in two previous starts.

Other horses committed to run include Canadian 5-year-old Key

Former Hawk gridded Cianferra files lawsuit against coach, school

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Anthony Cianferra, 19, a former Farmington Harrison football player, has filed a lawsuit against coaches and Harrison school officials seeking to recover damages in excess of $10,000.

Cianferra, a second-team lineman on the 1983 Harrison team, broke his jaw during pre-season conditioning drills that year. He returned to the team's active roster four weeks later and finished the season with the team.

"We are looking to recover damages for the medical expenses, the pain and suffering Anthony is entitled to recover under the law," said Cianferra's attorney David Lawson, who has offices in Southfield and Detroit.

football

According to Lawson, the practice in which Cianferra was injured was "not properly supervised" and that the injury "came about during contact drills at a time of the season when contact is prohibited by the Michigan High School Athletic Association."

As of Tuesday afternoon, Harrison head football coach John Herrington had not been served the legal papers regarding the case, nor had he been contacted by the school administration.

"I think it would be best if I withhold comment until I've talked to someone (from the school administration)," he said.

CIANFERRA'S INJURY came about during a drill that Harrison has used at the end of its conditioning practices for 15 years. The drill resembles the sport of rugby in that players are divided into two teams and advance a ball (a volleyball) up and down the field. Ball carriers are "stopped" by either a fumble, interception or by getting the ball stripped away by the opposition. Pads are not worn and contact is minimal. Cianferra is the only player ever to be injured during the drill.

Cianferra, apparently, was involved in a collision with another player during the drill and broke his jaw. His mouth, according to Lawson, was wired shut and required extensive dental work. "It was not our intention to make this into a high-profile case," said Lawson. "All we want to do is recover the damages. I am aware that Farmington (Harrison) has a well-known football program and has been very successful. This is not a wholesale attack on the coach, the program or the boosters."

"On the other hand, we do have a serious injury with somewhat lingering consequences. That's why the action was filed."

Lawson said he was brought on the case by Cianferra's father in 1983. He said that he spent the last three years researching the case.

United gets sweet revenge

By Brad Emons
staff writer

United #2, which fought its way through as a wildcard, trounced the Under-19 boys field Sunday to win a championship at the prestigious Wolverine VII tournament at Schoolcraft College.

The Livonia-based team was one of nine from the Observer-Examiner Newspapers' coverage area which captured age-group titles during the three days of play. The event drew some 186 teams and nearly 3,800 players from Michigan and the Midwest.

After losing 2-1 to the Queen City (Ohio) Musketeers in a first-round match, United made up primarily of ex-Livonia Stevenson High and Schoolcraft College players, went on to win four straight (including a forfeit win), capped by a 3-1 victory over the same Cincinnati team in the final.

The second time we hustled and took more shots," said United coach Steve Vakkaris. "We were more aggressive the second time around."

Two United team members in particular deserved credit for the win. Schoolcraft sophomore Jeff Vakkaris, a slimmer down and much quicker goalie, came up with three key diving stops in the championship final.

THE UNITED COACH also praised team trainer Dr. Allen Mehler, who kept his squad taped and patched up under scorching and often brutal conditions.

He (Mehler) was just a great help to the kids," Vakkaris said. "He got up at 6 (Sunday morning) and taped six or seven of our kids. And he didn't even take a dime anything—give him credit for giving us good team spirit."

In the final, Brian McCafferty's goal gave United a 1-0 halftime lead on a pass from John Gelmis.

After Queen City tied it up early in the second half, United charged back on Rich Phillips' goal from Joe Novak, followed by Dave Hart's insurance goal from Gelmis, who dug a loose ball from under the Cincinnati goalkeeper.

United, a member of the Maxwell Division of the Bonanza League, will move into regional play next month winning a 15-3 record.

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

Jill Estey (with ball), a Plymouth Salem sophomore, helped the WSSL Stingers capture the under-16 girls' title at the Wolverine tournament at Schoolcraft College last weekend.

Meanwhile, in the Under-19 Girls final, a local team, the Crusaders, were beaten by Lakota (Ohio) Strikers 1-0.

"We just didn't have anybody that could finish a play," said Crusaders coach Dave Lussier, whose team will get a chance to redeem themselves the weekend at the regional in Cincinnati.

IN THE UNDER-16 Boys final, the Kicks, a team from western Wayne County, blanked the London, Ontario, Concorde for the championship, 2-0.

Rubin Martinez and Kirk Danielson scored for the winners, who finished second this season behind Maxwell Division nemesis the Birmingham Blazers, a team which was ousted in round-robin play.

"We have good talent on this team," said coach Tom Russell. "In the first half (against London) we were a lot sharper, but I think in the second half we were worn out. We didn't have many subs."

The Kicks went 5-0 in the Wolverine, outscoring the opposition 17-4. Leading the Kicks' defense in the final were fullback Devin DeRoock and goalie Ted Lukewski.

IN THE UNDER-16 Girls final, the Stingers of the Western Suburban Soccer League downed the Westside Bombers of Cincinnati, 3-2, in overtime.

IN OTHER AGE-DIVISION boys finals, the Troy Michigan Metros (Under-17) downed the Ann Arbor Tyrants, 2-1; Queen City Arsenal (Under-15) defeated the Action Kickers 7-1 of Whitefish Bay, Wis., 4-0; Vardar III '72 (Under-14) edged the Queen City Rebels, 1-0; Lakota Tigers (Under-13) beat Troy Dynasties 4-3; Troy Alliance (Under-12) trimmed Windsor (Ont.) Chemfil, and the Livonia Wolves (Under-10) drilled the Sterling Heights Silvertreks, 3-0.

History dictates that the favorite for the Michigan Mile doesn't always win. It's been particularly true the past few years.

But after watching Gate Dancer run through his routine, I got the feeling he was holding back a bit. Other racing experts say that when Gate Dancer retires at the end of the year, that he will be declared one of the great race horses of the '80's.

It appears he already belongs in that category. Just ask the people at DRC.

Gate Dancer rides tall in $250,000 Michigan Mile

"He was a real colt as a 2-year-old, but he settled down and he loves to train now. He's not a big horse, but he's matured into a strong horse."

"PEOPLE LOVE this horse. He's just fun to be around."

Gate Dancer, however, becomes a different horse when the crowd roars. That's why he wears the earmuffs.

"Noise bothers him and I don't know why," said Wallerstedt. "He runs better on turf where he's away from the crowd. He likes the big, wide tracks."

The star horse has also been described as "erratic," sometimes falling slightly off the gate, only to come back and win a race zig-zagging through the field.

But despite his jekyll and hyde habits, Gate Dancer always gets the best jockeys — Cordero, Pincay, McCarron and Pat Day, who will ride him Saturday in the $250,000-added Mile, the state's richest race.

Gaddey makes resort pay off

By Brad Emons
staff writer

ROY GADDEY'S approach to sports marketing is like the Life cereal commercial.

His sales pitch is simple: "Try it, you'll like it."

Gaddey drew a tough assignment when he was named to head up the Grand Traverse Resort's sports marketing team — make the Michigan Open Golf Tournament a more attractive and statewide event.

"I remember playing the Open in the mid-1970's," Gaddey said. "When I played it was nothing. But this year we've sold 6,000 tickets, which may not seem like a lot, but for an event like this I'm very pleased. In the past we haven't had any spectators."

Through the efforts of the Michigan Professional Golfers Association, major sponsors like AAA, along with Gaddey, the Open has grown immensely the past few years.

TOTAL PRIZE money has grown to a record $55,000, with this year's winner, Tim Matthews, pocketing $10,000.

Gaddey estimates the cost of running this year's event was $250,000.

people in sports

The pre-weekend tournament was filled with activities such as the Pro-Am banquet, featuring Washington Redskins' quarterback Joe Theismann as the guest speaker.

Evan "Big Cat" Williams, a two-time national long-drive champion, also put on a clinic for the Pro-Am participants.

"It takes four or five weeks to set up, but I've really worked on it since last October," said Gaddey. "I've been hired to set up the packages, create a marketing plan and sell the program advertising."

"We work on a year-to-year basis with AAA. They've been very happy with the tourney here. It's really known under their name — their main line is travel."

Gaddey's sales pitch took plenty of legwork, but golf enthusiasts quickly warmed to the idea of "Michigan's Best vs. the Bear," a course designed by Jack Nicklaus.

Gaddey said: "It's designed for tourney play."

USING HIS MARKETING degree from Central Michigan University and a master's in sports management from Western Illinois, Gaddey first worked for Executive Sports Marketing of Columbus, Ohio.

He gained experience marketing and promoting such national events as the Buick Open and Heritage PGA events, along with the Lipton Tennis Tournament in Florida.

"I do a lot of work for medium-sized events," Gaddey said. "But the question is, how do you market it? It's a matter of packaging and gaining momentum. For $2,300 you can get a limited sponsorship. I feel it's a great place for a corporation to advertise. It's a place where you can take your business clients for a great weekend."

Gaddey admits that an improved economy hasn't hurt his efforts. "It helps, but we are getting the sponsors that don't want to spend an enormous amount for some of the 'major events,'" he said.

Gaddey has some other special events in the works for Grand Traverse, including the $18,000 Michigan Golf Showdown in September at the Bear, a skins-game format featuring the state's four major PGA tourney winners.

GADDEY'S LONG-RANGE plans include bringing a national golf event to Grand Traverse, something along the lines of the PGA or U.S. Amateur.

"We want a major event right now," Gaddey said.

With the construction in the fall of a stadium facility at the Village, Gaddey also hopes to attract a major women's tennis tournament next year, the week after Wimbledon.

"The potential in this job is unlimited," said Gaddey. "It's unlimited because I believe we offer a good dollar value."

There was a time when Gaddey wondered if he would ever put his marketing degree to use.

For seven years he taught school and coached. Three years ago he was the head basketball coach at South Lyon High School.

"I taught for seven years and coached for nine," Gaddey said. "I love kids and I miss it much, but it was time to do something else."

The Grand Traverse sports marketing manager has no regrets, especially when another sponsor joins him for breakfast.

"For three days here (during the tournament) it gets very hectic," he said. "I'll get about six hours sleep."

But as somebody else at the break-fast table would say: "Hey Mikey, he likes it."

All-Stars

Slavin among 12 Kings in star game

Twelve players from the first-place Adray Kings squad will represent the Adray Class A baseball circuit in the second annual all-star sandlot game, Monday at Livonia's Ford Field.

The 7 p.m. battle pits the best from the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League against the best from the Dearborn-based league. (Last year's game ended in a 4-4 tie.)

Four Kings pitchers have been named to the all-star lineup by Class A manager Larry Haddock, the skipper of the league leaders. Slated to pitch are Greg Reinhold, Scott Combs, Tim Komoroski and Hugh Pobur.

Other Kings players named include catcher Dave Slavin, first baseman Clint Scollard, second baseman Dean Prassetti, shortstop Randy Baringer, third baseman Steve Raymond, and outfielders Jim Rousseau, Mike Williamson and Tim Pobuda.

Rounding out the Class A all-stars are pitchers Jeff Pinkowski, Jeff Pinkowski, and Don Smith of Detroit Center Tool; first baseman Tom Miner, Deluxe Cab, second baseman Vince Colorassi, Deluxe Cab, outfielders Mike Poupard and Greg Wasik, Detroit Center Tool, and Dave Sutherland, Staff Builders. Keith Gueva of Tool is the designated hitter.

HADDOCK ALSO expects to name one more pitcher, a catcher and two infielders to the squad.

The Kings raised their overall season record to 21-2 (5-0 in the second half schedule) with a come-from-behind 5-4 victory last week over Deluxe Cab in game played at Henry Ford Community College.

Down 4-0, the Kings rallied in the fourth, scoring four times, capped by Kevin Schwanz's bases-loaded single.

The Kings then tallied the game-winning run in the ninth on Doug Alard's single, scoring George Clark.

Jeff Varga, who came on in relief, was the winning pitcher. The Kings return to Class A action at 1 p.m. Sunday at Henry Ford CC to face Detroit Center Tool, the Class A league's second-place finisher to Adray during the 15-game first-half schedule.

Brother-sister act takes Westland race by storm

By Larry O'Connor

The Westland 10K Challenge turned out to be just another re-run of "All in the Family" Saturday.

But instead of the Bunkers, it was the Schmidts of Ann Arbor in the spotlight of the Westland race which featured over 240 entrants. Jim Schmidt was the overall winner of the race with a time of 31:55. His sister Cathy Schmidt was the top woman finisher with a time of 36:31, placing 24th overall.

Jim Schmidt, 24, turned it on toward the end of the 10 kilometer (6.2 miles) race to claim the win. Tim Kerr of Dearborn was runner-up with a time of 33:02.

"I thought it was going to be a fast course," said Jim Schmidt, who works with Ford Motor Co., "but when I got into the middle I could see it wasn't. When I got to the four-mile mark, I just cranked. It was hot and I just wanted to get it over."

THE HEAT and humidity was a factor, according to some runners. Jim Schmidt said his time of 31:55 was two minutes off his regular 10K clocking.

running

The diversified course was another challenge. It featured a multitude of surfaces and turns, including a hair pin turn halfway through the course.

"It had a lot of variety," said Cathy Schmidt, 22, a member of the University of Michigan track team. "You went from road to sand to subdivision."

Cathy Schmidt went to the finish line in a hurry, beating Ella Willis of Detroit (37:57) for the top woman finisher trophy.

It was the first time that both Schmidts won a race together, or just ran together. She runs with U-M and he runs road races. They do train together on occasion.

But while the Schmidts mastered the brother-sister category, it was Melba Hatch of Canton and Randy Presson taking firsts in the Masters competition. Hatch was the women's Masters with a time of 46:08.

PRESSON WON the men's title in 34:19.

For Hatch, selected Michigan Runner of the Year for 1985, the performance was a few seconds off her usual mark. The heat and running a 10K Friday couldn't affect her time.

"Considering the heat, I'm pleased," said Hatch.

The individual women age-group winners included Chris Melchior of Romeo (43:12), 19-and-under; Willis (37:57), 20-29; Cathy Pakkalian of Troy (38:04), 30-39; Elizabeth Wideman (50:31), 40-49; and Mary Hunt (69:29), 50-59.

The individual men age-group winners included Dave Homann of Garden City (33:23), 19-and-under; Kerr (33:02), 20-29; E Del Pur of Windsor, Ont. (34:24), 30-39; Bill Boyd of Canton (34:52), 40-49; Len Riberty of Windsor (38:51), and Fred Guro of Farmington (44:53), 60-and-over.

Andra Carter (38:56) and Dave Crowley (49:57) were the top wheelchair finishers.

Wanna see a rock star? Ticket World holds key to those desired ducats

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

IF YOU WANT TO SEE Madonna, Bruce Springsteen, the Tigers or Twisted Sister, you're going to need a ticket.

And that's where Southfield-based Ticket World comes in. It was born as the Convenient Ticket Co. in 1979, when the company established its ticket-sales-by-computer system in metro Detroit.

With offices in a high-rise location kept secret to head off overzealous ticket-seekers, the company has grown from one to four office outlets to 51, reaching as far north as Bay City.

"The purpose of our system is, you get the next best available seat, whether you go to the box office or the ticket outlet," explains Linda Lappek, general manager of Ticket World since 1984. It doesn't matter which of those outlets you go to — information on unsold concert seats, held in a central computer bank, can be called up at any outlet. When a customer identifies the seat wanted, the information is transmitted to a printer at the ticket outlet and the customer gets the ticket on the spot.

"If you recall previous to CTC, there were hard tickets," Lappek says. "If you went to one Hudson's store, there was one allocation there. At another store, there would be a totally different set of tickets."

It may seem odd now, but Lappek explains that the late-'70s energy crisis helped spark creation of the ticket service. "With the gas shortage, gas rationing and everything else, they (customers) could pay a small service fee and avoid driving to the box office," she says. "It was also a fairer distribution of tickets."

Lappek, 33, a Redford native, started as an accountant with the company. Besides overseeing the traditional sales of tickets for rock, pop and theater shows, she's seen audiences grow for newer events, like the truck pulls and "West-lemnia." The company has had its share of changes, too. In 1983, CTC became Michigan Ticket World, expanded into the New York City ticket market, then last year joined the larger, Chicago-based Ticketmaster Co.

Joining Ticketmaster, Lappek says, gives Ticket World "the means of having national ticket distribution. From a (performers') management standpoint, it's a lot easier to have one company distributing all of the tickets instead of going into each city separately."

For example, tickets for "Hands Across America" and many of Springsteen's concert appearances last year were handled through Ticketmaster for various cities.

Still more changes are planned to make buying tickets more convenient for Ticket World customers. The company has begun accepting Mastercard and Visa holders' ticket orders by phone and is planning to place ticket printers at arena box offices so those tickets will be ready for pick-up before showtime. Lappek said the main computer will be replaced in October, allowing for even faster ticket processing.

THE CURRENT COMPUTER, in use since the company sold its first tickets for "Ain't Misbehavin'" in December 1979, has processed about two million ticket sales per year, Lappek says. Built-in safeguards make the ticket-selling system virtually error-free.

"Every mistake we've ever had was caused by human error," she explains, the worst being a programmer-caused computer shutdown which prevented ticket sales for eight hours.

There have been other problems to overcome.

"We had a couple of outlets that have tried to take their tickets (pull tickets for themselves) before the public. We've pulled outlets for that; it frustrates other outlets and people get raked over," Lappek says. To discourage ticket scalping, "Every hot show that goes on sale, the maximum limit per person is 12 tickets."

To illustrate the speed of selling tickets through the computer system, tickets for the recent Prince concert at Cobo Hall sold out "in less than 45 minutes," Lappek says that a third Prince show at Masonic Auditorium sold out "in a little less than 10 minutes."

When radio stations announced that Springsteen tickets were going on sale last year, the deluge of calls to Ticket World's information number, 423-6666, blew a Michigan Bell circuit, forcing several Southfield customers to lose service.

When an artist like Prince or Springsteen sets up a tour, "They deal directly with the promoters," Lappek says. "We have contracts with some of the more major venues. They work out the arrangements with the acts' management."

Then we are asked by the box office to coordinate an event in our sales system."

TICKET OUTLETS, often located in record or video stores, keep roughly 25 percent of the Ticket World service charge added to the price of each ticket, Lappek explains. Service charges range from 75 cents per Detroit Tigers ticket to $1.50 for major rock shows.

Asked if Ticket World has considered promoting a concert or show on its own, Lappek says, "We've got some pretty good promoters in this town. All we want to do is be a distribution center for tickets."

"Brannigan" (1975), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 150 minutes. TV time slot: 111 minutes.

John Wayne takes his tough guy show on the road in this story of a Chicago cop who goes to London to catch a mobster. This is one of several lesser Wayne efforts made in his later years. But this has some redeeming features, especially the London setting and Wayne's fish out of water attempts to deal with British law.

Rating: 2.5

"Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore" (1976), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 135 minutes. TV time slot: 135 minutes.

This was hailed as some sort of feminist film when it was released, but that view hardly holds up. Alice is widowed with a young son and dreams of being a singer. She gets as far as Phoenix and a job in a diner. But Alice doesn't really find happiness until she meets a strong gentle man in the person of Kris Kristofferson. In other words, this movie is a sop to a dam good one. Ellen Burstyn, for whom this film was made, gives a bravura performance as Alice and won an Oscar for it. Diane Ladd (the original Alice) and Kristofferson are also first-rate. Martin Scorsese directed and does well with the material that had Alice and Kristofferson falling into the kind of trouble that used to plague Amos and Andy but handling it with more intelligence and warmth. The result is likeable comedies that amuse and don't offend. Cosby handles the funnier parts, showing that Potier is both a wise and generous director. This film also features a tart and sexy tone song performed by the Staples Singers.

Rating: 3.5

Heidelberg Famed town of 'Student Prince' has rich history

By Iris Jones

HEIDELBERG, West Germany — Mind doesn't always win over matter. Some days, like this one, a flu bug or some other bodily ailment attacks and you can't travel with your usual vigor. Such strokes of bad luck don't happen in convenient places, so I am walking very slowly through the city of Heidelberg, immortalized in song by "The Student Prince."

I am seeing the city in slow motion, each scene a snapshot of the city on the Neckar River. Heidelberg has about the same population as Ann Arbor, and it too is dominated by university students, so the snapshots I carry in my mind have a lot of students in them.

Students leaning against the fountain and sitting in sidewalk cafes around the great cathedral that dominates the center of the old town. Students walking in and out of McDonald's, with its antique-looking wrought-gold sign. Younger students eating ice cream as they giggle their way through the school tours at the ruined castle on the hill.

FROM THE terrace of Heidelberg Castle, high on a hill above the town, these school groups look down to the Neckar River flowing out of the hills and under the many historic bridges that are Heidelberg's postcard signature. The red rooftops of the city tilt and cant below in the sunlight, the cathedral a crown in the middle and other spires piercing the sky in both directions.

There are great open marketplace spaces between the buildings where people gather at certain times: the Marktplatz, the Fischmarkt, the Marktplatz. On the hills across the river, vineyards make bright green patches between the darker forest trees that climb above the square houses with their carved windows and rooftops.

What you can't see from up here are the "pedestrians only" signs around the historic old city and the cars trying to find a place to park. Most European cities have converted their main shopping streets into pedestrian malls, and the Hauptstrasse or main street of Heidelberg is one of the longest of the longest of them all.

MEDIEVAL CITIES were not designed to cope with automotive traffic jams, so the malls are much appreciated when you are on foot; they are not so popular when you are trying to get your luggage to the front door of a hotel in the old city.

We are staying at the Hotel Zum Ritter, an historic inn in the center of the old city. The Ritter (which means knight) is one of the oldest and most historic buildings in town, built in 1592 and the only Renaissance building to survive the War of Succession. It is one of the numbered highlights on a walking tour of the city.

Nobody thought of a small red car rented from Autohansa when they designed the old city, so we circled many times before we found the narrow street that leads to the cathedral and got instructions from the hotel desk on how to find our way to several generations have tried to rebuild the castle and failed. Its main function today is as a museum where tourists walk the cobblestone courtyard, pointing with wonder at carved figures that remain in stone on the walls that still stand.

It would be nice if every day we travel could be a good day, energy intact, but even when it doesn't happen you can sit in the sun like this or collect memories as you walk down the steep curved street back into town.

Maybe tomorrow I can take advantage of the 300 pubs and restaurants in this fascinating town, but for now the only thing that interests me is a hot cup of tea at a cozy sidewalk cafe and enjoying snapshots

The Hauptstrasse, Heidelberg's main shopping street, is one of the longest of the European pedestrian malls.

Student artists are honored

TWO LIVONIA Churchill high school art students were honored for high achievements. One of them was photographer Sal DeSanto, whose photo of two senior citizens won a gold medallion from Kodak Film Co. The photograph has now been entered in national competition. It is the first time that a Churchill student has won the Kodak honor. DeSanto's entire portfolio won a gold medal in the National Scholastic art competition. The 18-year-old photographer used a 35mm Pentax for the prize-winning photo. Also honored was artist Tony Truchan who won a four-year art scholarship to Wayne State University. In addition to being a gold medal Scholastic art competition winner, Truchan also placed first in a graphics-logo contest by Tubby Subs and received a $1,000 for his idea. Truchan plans to major in graphics and become an illustrator. He is employed by the Art Store and More and has been taking art lessons "since I was 4." His favorite subjects are people and wildlife.

Added dialogue They set the stage for deaf audiences

By Barbara Ziemba
special writer

IMAGINE STAGING any theatrical production with a major challenge to be faced: all or part of your audience is deaf. Then imagine your production is a musical or an opera, and the complexities of such a project seem overwhelming. For two Madonna College instructors who have taken on such an effort, the challenge has also proven enjoyable and stimulating.

JOHN RAY of Troy and Mary Wells of Rochester have been involved with interpreting plays for the deaf since 1978, when Oakland University decided to stage a production of "Romeo and Juliet" and incorporate sign language to benefit the hearing impaired.

The Michigan Council for the Arts came forward with the money for two performances, and the play was so popular another performance was added to the schedule.

In staging any production for the deaf, defining the theme is vital to its success in reaching the audience. In "Romeo and Juliet," the theme was that of warring families, the Montagues and the Capulets, and the love that flourished between the Montagues' Romeo and the Capulets' Juliet.

INTERPRETING THIS Shakespearean drama demanded that Wells learn not only Juliet's role but all the Capulet dialogue as well, while Ray tackled Romeo and the Montagues.

The production also utilized the technique known as "zoning" — directly involving the interpreters with the actors on a multi-level stage, allowing them to exit and have access to the stage at different points in the play and keeping them in vicinity of the action.

Deprived of the sense of sound, the deaf are particularly dependent on visual images to perceive mood and music. In a musical or operatic work targeted toward hearing-impaired audiences, special emphasis is placed on costumes, lighting, makeup and movement to simulate the music and dialogue, Wells and Ray point out.

Choreographers must analyze and adapt movement to evoke a certain response in the audience. For instance, prior to the lovers' first meeting in "Romeo and Juliet," the cast waltzed off stage to set the tone for the gentle dialogue between the star-crossed lovers.

THE SUBTLE DRAPE of a costume can also allow the interpreters to shed and assume characters effectively. In the opera "Faust," the theme was the eternal struggle between good and evil. Interpreting the roles of the devil and Faust, Ray relied on the positioning of his cape to assume the personas of the two characters.

Since producing a musical or an opera for the hearing-impaired requires long preparation and technical support, only two are staged per year.

Six months in advance of the opening, Wells and Ray receive their script and begin to immerse themselves in the play, even listening to tapes in their cars to completely familiarize themselves with the work.

As mind-boggling as this sounds, it's not the most difficult aspect of the project, they said.

The subtle drape of a costume can also allow the interpreters to shed and assume characters effectively. In the opera "Faust" . . . Ray relied on the positioning of his cape to assume the personas of the two characters.

Use low energy productively

IT WAS THE first week of our summer schedule at the art store. Monday alone we taught over 100 art students, so by Wednesday night I was pretty "zoned out" (that means tired, in case there are no teen-agers in your home), but there was something different when I arrived home Wednesday night.

Was someone missing? No, I counted the boys, one was drawing, one was reading and one was teasing the other two. But what was it? Why was my home so peaceful? Then it dawned on me — the TV was off.

Quickly, I asked my wife if we had forgotten to pay Metrovision again. She replied, "No, the boys actually turned the TV off."

WITH ALL THE boys quietly but busily engaged in their own pursuits of painting, reading and Lego building, I wasn't about to sit in front of the TV. Rather, I decided to do a pastel. But as I reported earlier, I was really tired and didn't have the energy to start a picture.

But, I reasoned, I could draw something simple even if I was tired. So I found a photo of an orangutan, with all those wrinkles, folds and locks of hair. "How could I go wrong?" I asked. Wearily, I started a simple layout on vellum. Hoping for a rush of energy, I began "blocking in" the main colors.

Here is where I broke my own rule.

artifacts
David
Messing

Never begin coloring a picture, regardless of the medium until the structure is perfected. No amount of detail, color or shading can hide poor structure. But I was tired (remember?) and I can break my own rules if I want to. So with squinted eyes, I pressed on to some nice details.

Then holding my picture in front of a mirror, I soon realized that I had goofed. The orangutan was colorful and detailed, but structured poorly.

SO THE APE went into the basket, my pastels went into the art bin and I went to bed.

What should you do when the "spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak?"

When your energy is low, it is best to just do some detail work on an ongoing painting. Never try to start or finish a picture when you are tired.

Here's an example. Shirley is a talented student who is doing a very detailed rendering of two ducks in the water. To lay out her picture, proportion the ducks, and structure their anatomy took a tremendous amount of energy. Of course, I don't mean Shirley was out of breath, but there is so much to look for. Emotionally, you are on a rollercoaster. One minute you're rising with the thought that this may be your single best work of art. Seconds later, you're headed downwards with the fear that this may be an artistic catastrophe.

AFTER SHIRLEY was well into her picture, it was obvious that it was going to be a success. But she will have to clock in some hours detailing all those multicolored feathers. Those detail hours usually require little of you and what I call "low energy" hours.

Those hours can be boring if you are eager to finish a picture. I imagine you could compare detail hours to the middle two feet of hooking a four-foot rug.

It is for this reason that I encourage my students to have several pictures in the works at the same time. This way you can do some major work when you are eager and energetic and some detailed work when you are tired but yet inspired.

So don't be afraid to have several pieces going at the same time in various stages of development. After all, you never know, maybe some evening when you least expect it, the TV will be off at your house too.

Operas get special treatment

"THE HARDEST part is getting the technical people — artistic directors, producers, directors — to accept us," said Ray. He and Wells also work with linguists to ensure that the essence of the story is kept intact as it moves from its native language to English and finally to American sign language.

The world of the stage is an alien one for many deaf people.

"Often, most hearing-impaired people have never been on or in back of a stage at all," explained Ray. It's necessary to acquaint them with the mechanics of the production to deepen their appreciation for it.

The Attic Theatre in Detroit has established orientation sessions to explain the stage area and will walk through the play's theme one to two hours before the start of the performance. The Dayton opera devotes at least three pages of its programs for the deaf to familiarize them with the signs the interpreters will use during the performance.

THESE SPECIAL productions aren't exclusively intended for deaf audiences. Hearing patrons are always welcome and very often have commented to Ray and Wells on how much their signing has enhanced the production for them, many times bringing tears to their eyes.

In the Detroit area, there are only 26 nationally certified interpreters in the state of Michigan, only 36. Yet Michigan has the seventh largest deaf population in the United States, due largely to the auto industry.

Of 14 interpreters in the country who are able to interpret opera, Wells and Ray are the only ones in Michigan.

Ironically, they met at Wells' father's funeral.

"Her mother and dad were both deaf," explained Ray. "At the time, I was a Catholic brother in the Capuchin Order and brought the sacraments to her father before his death. We met at his funeral. She was a theater student at Oakland University and was interested in Shakespeare. It just took off from there."

CURRENTLY, they have two interns training with them under the auspices of the Attic Theatre.

Locating and getting funding for the productions also poses problems. In spite of the manpower and funding issues, the work is continuing, they noted. Next spring, they will participate in a production of "My Fair Lady," starring Richard Chamberlain, and in the fall will travel to Orange County, Calif., for the musical, "West Side Story."

Recently, they were down to Washington, D.C., for a special performance at Constitution Hall that featured selections from several operas and attended by many foreign dignitaries. Guest soloist was John Alexander of the New York Metropolitan Opera.

Six months in advance of the opening, Wells and Ray receive their scripts and begin to immerse themselves in the play, even listening to tapes in their cars to completely familiarize themselves with the work.

Their performance won them a invitation for a return engagement next year to interpret an entire opera at the Kennedy Center. They were also approached by the commanding officer of the Belgium armed forces and his wife about the possibility of coming to Brussels to interpret an opera.

A sign language instructor at Madonna College in Livonia, Wells has a masters degree in theater arts from Eastern Michigan. Ray holds a degree in psychology from Michigan State University. At Madonna, he is counselor.

Wells and Ray will be performing in "Playboy of the Western World," at the University of Michigan-Flint at 8 p.m. tonight.

Horticulture part of rehabilitation

Through the years, I've been interested in horticulture's uses in the rehabilitation of mentally and physically impaired people.

This April, while in Texas, my hosts Dr. Jane and Dr. Joseph Hawkins, formerly of the University of Michigan, arranged for me to visit Tangram Rehabilitation Network in San Marcos. Horticulture is an integral part of the network's therapy program.

The tangram is an ancient Chinese puzzle whose pieces can be arranged to become many different shapes or forms. It's an appropriate symbol for the Tangram Rehabilitation Network, which enables people with head injuries to rearrange their lives after physical trauma. Many of the clients are in this facility as the result of automobile accidents.

In 1978, Dr. Stanley Seaton of Dallas began his rural camp to treat those who needed rehabilitation so they could regain society and lead lives that are as independent as possible. The program is set up to help people learn to take care of themselves and prepare to live on their own again.

THE STAFF and clients live on a farm where they share the feeling of being team members. There are four separate yet interrelated facilities: therapeutic, camping, ranch, nursery and townhouse.

In the camp area, on the ranch property, each task is performed through a group process approach that allows personal and physical achievement, develops appropriate behaviour and builds relationships and self-esteem for the client. Activities include construction of campsite areas, planning and preparing meals and cutting firewood.

In the ranch facility, the client learns through daily living experiences and work programs. One of the most popular programs involves taking care of the ranch animals. Each client also assumes responsibility for growing vegetables on their own 12-by-12-foot vegetable plot.

The latest equipment was observed in the nursery where plants are grown for the commercial market. Clients are involved each day in the nursery business. They take care of the plants, landscape or help make deliveries.

The nursery business is another stepping stone to independent living. Here clients apply for jobs, work regular hours and are involved in all aspects of the business. The program prepares clients to seek competitive employment within the community.

The townhouses provide clients with a chance to live independently with minimal supervision and direction. Townhouse residents, employed in the nursery or by local business, pay rent, utility bills and buy their own food and personal items.

Most residents progress through the ranch or nursery program before coming to the townhouse. The TANGRAM program's continued contact with clients moving into the community minimizes the possibility of regression or reinstitutionalization.

Seeing and visiting this facility was like a dream come true for me.

Kids Koncerts

Billy B. Brennan, "The Natural Science Song and Dance Man," will perform in two shows on Monday, July 21, in the Southfield Civic Center Parks and Recreation Building, room 115.

The performances are part of the Kids Koncerts series. The first show, "Rhythm and Roots," is at 1:30 p.m. and is for children ages 6-12 with a 2:30 p.m. performance. "Bill B. and the Singing Tree," for children 3-6.

Admission is $2.50 for each performance. Groups of 10 or more will be charged $2 each.

On her way

Jessie Bernard of Birmingham is spending her summer studying with Robert Joffrey's American Ballet Center. She was invited to study with the center by school director Edith D'Addario. Jessie, a student at Cranbrook Kingswood School, was told she would be taking classes with the American Ballet Center's trainees as well as regular school classes. During the year, Jessie studies with Debra Grimm of Birmingham, at the Dance Theatre of Royal Oak.

Traditional arts gain support

The Michigan Council for the Arts and the Michigan State University Museum have forged a working partnership aimed at supporting and recognizing the state's traditional arts projects.

Through the proposed Traditional Arts Program, folklorists at the MSU Museum will work with Council for the Arts staff in making grant money and programs more available to traditional artists, setting up a state folk arts advisory committee and providing folk arts information and assistance to individuals and organizations.

One of the most significant events planned is a two-week Michigan on the Mall, a presentation of Michigan life and traditions that will take place on the Mall in Washington, D.C.

The presentation will highlight the state's folk artists, art forms, occupations and traditions and will be part of the annual Smithsonian Folklife on the Mall, a national festival drawing hundreds of thousands of visitors each summer.

This major event will be sponsored by the Smithsonian and Michigan Sesquicentennial Commission and made possible with the expertise of the museum folk art staff.

Key personnel in the partnership program from the Museum include Marsha MacDowell, curator of folk arts, and Yvonne Lockwood, Michigan folklife specialist. More than 40 other states have similar programs supporting the traditional expressive arts.

Bit of bubbly

Freixenet to add some sparkle

Officials of the Mayflower Hotel Hot Air Balloon Festival have named Freixenet Champagne as the official champagne for the event.

"Champagne and ballooning go hand-in-hand," said Scott Lorenz, general manager of the Mayflower Hotel and pilot of the Mayflower Hotel hot air balloon.

America's consumption of the bubbly is booming and Freixenet has become the leading importer of sparkling wines. Last year 6.2 million cases of sparkling wine were imported into this country.

"FREIXENET" PRODUCES Gordon Negro, Brut Barroco, Carta Nevada and Brut Nature and continues to be the number-one line of Spanish sparkling wines sold in the U.S. and it now holds the number-one position among all imported sparkling wines.

Gordon Boring, co-chairman of the sixth annual Mayflower Hotel Hot Air Balloon Festival added: "All pilots and sponsors will receive a bottle of Freixenet champagne on their free sponsor ride Saturday morning, July 12." Spectators also can view the six-story black and gold Freixenet hot air balloon throughout the weekend.

Up, up and away!

Balloon fest flaring up for takeoff

MICHIGAN'S LARGEST annual hot air balloon festival will rise in numbers and quality when the first launch is held Friday, July 11, in Canton.

Some 60 hot air balloons will be competing in the sixth annual Mayflower Hotel Hot Air Balloon Festival Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 11-13.

About a quarter of a million spectators are expected to watch five separate races at the Centennial Educational Park, a 305-acre site at Joy Road and Canton Center Road.

Signed up so far are some top-notch balloonists who participated in the World's Hot Air Balloon Competition last summer in Battle Creek, says Scott Lorenz, general manager of the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth, and co-sponsor of the festival with Gordon Boring of the Wicker Basket Balloon Center.

Top crews from throughout the U.S. and world are drawn, in part, by the attractive prizes offered as well as the natural beauty of the Plymouth-Canton community, the large crowds, and accommodations made by the sponsors.

THIS YEAR A PRIZE of a trip for two to Paris, France, via American Airlines has been added to the prizes such as a new automobile and trips offered by Eastern Airlines and British Airways.

Last year spectators traveled to Plymouth from as far away as South Carolina, Kentucky, Maryland and Cincinnati to view such annual favorite entries as First of America, Ford Motorcraft, New York Air, Eastern Airlines, America Yazaki and E.F. Hutton to name a few.

New balloonists signed up for 1986 include Pilot Air Freight of Romulus, and favorites at balloon festivals throughout the U.S. such as Budweiser and Slush Puppy.

A popular feature of last year's festival to be repeated this summer will be the Experimental Aircraft Association Fly-In from 7 a.m. to noon on Saturday, July 12. A number of antique airplanes, dating back to the 1930s, will be on display at Mettetal Airport, on Joy Road about one mile east of the launch site.

ALSO RETURNING BY popular demand is one of the most popular events of the three-day summer spectacular — The Early Riser Inflation Sale. Literally thousands of shoppers line the streets of downtown Plymouth at 5 a.m. Saturday to be there when the shops' doors open. The shops will be offering discounts of 50 percent for the first hour beginning 5 a.m., 40 percent off from 6 to 7 a.m., etc., to 10 percent to those who don't show up until 9 a.m.

The launches are scheduled for 6 p.m. Friday, and 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday (launch times are approximate and depend on weather conditions). In between the launches on Saturday and Sunday there will be an Art In The Park show in Kellogg Park, a New England-type Commons in the heart of the downtown area.

For those who are smitten by the sport and want to take up ballooning, a Hot Air Balloon School is scheduled at 8 a.m. Aug. 9, 10 in the Mayflower Hotel to offer all the training needed to become a licensed pilot.

The launch site, which has plenty of parking, is easily accessible from I-275 freeway and M-14. From I-275 exit at Ann Arbor Road (Plymouth) and proceed west to fourth traffic light (Sheldon Road), turn south on Sheldon to first traffic light (Joy) and turn west to the Launch Site. From the south, exit I-275 at Ford Road (Canton) and proceed west about three miles to Canton Center Road, turn north and proceed two miles to Launch Site. From M-14 exit at Sheldon Road and travel south on Sheldon to sixth traffic light (Joy) and turn west to the Launch Site.

For information about hot air balloon rides, call the Wicker Basket Balloon Center at (313) 669-4230. For festival information, call the Canton Chamber of Commerce at (313) 453-1540.

WSDP is festival's 'voice'

WSDP (88.1 on the FM dial) will be broadcasting traffic information, weather conditions, balloon departures and interviews with festival organizers during the weekend of the Hot Air Balloon Festival.

Plymouth-Canton's "community radio station," based at Plymouth Salem High School, will broadcast in stereo from 5 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, July 12-13.

"Our station philosophy is not only to provide a realistic learning environment for our student staff but to serve our community as well," said Andrew Melin, station manager. "The Mayflower Balloon Festival is a significant community event and WSDP looks forward to a mutually beneficial relationship."

Scott Lorenz, an organizer of the event, said one of the important services will be WSDP's broadcasting of weather conditions as balloons cannot be launched when it's too windy and so spectators will want to keep track of the weather as part of making plans to attend.

WSDP is owned and operated by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools with broadcast facilities at the Centennial Educational Park, which also is the site of the festival.

Balloons away! The Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival July 11-13 in Canton is one of the largest balloon events in North America. Here is a group ready to ascend.

Balloon festival has its ups...

One of last year's participants was Ken Zawisa. He is shown preparing to inflate his balloon, Visions Too. To do so, he holds the bottom of the balloon open. The fan in the foreground fills the envelope with air.

...and downs

After a safe landing at Mettetal airport last year, Zawisa packs his balloon.

Staff photos by Bill Bresler

Downside

Eventually the fun side of ballooning — the drifting and floating — has to come to an end. Once on the ground, there's the job of packing it in. One of the many tasks is securing the vent as balloonist Jan Zawisa demonstrates.

McAuley center to offer first aid, balloons for kids

Catherine McAuley Health Center will provide first aid for balloonists during the hot air balloon festival.

The first aid station will be at the McAuley Health Promotion van, which will be parked in Centennial Park. Health professionals from McAuley Urgent Care at the Arbor Health Building in Plymouth will staff the van.

Visitors are invited to stop by the van even if they don't need health care. They'll be passing out balloons to the children.

Prizes add to excitement

A week's vacation in Florida is the top prize in the Canton Chamber of Commerce's Mayflower Hot Air Balloon festival Contest.

The grand prize is a week's vacation for two at a condominium on the waterfront near Fort Myers, Fla. The stay in the condo, on Charlotte Harbor, has been donated by Suncoast Travel in Plymouth. Air fare is provided by participating Chamber members.

Second prize is a crystal chandelier from Master Lighting in Canton, third prize a weekend for two at the Mayflower Hotel, fourth prize a hot air balloon ride for two compliments of the Mayflower Hotel.

Entry forms for the contest are available at the Canton Chamber office on Canton Center Road south of Joy and at participating locations.

Focal point

Shutterbugs to compete at fest

A new twist has been added to the Observer Newspapers' photo contest held in conjunction with the 1986 Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival.

The standard feature of the contest will be a color print contest for photographs taken during the three-day festival.

An optional category to enter this year is a special black and white promotional division that will feature as a prize a free hot air balloon ride for two.

As in past years, the winning color entry will be published in full color on Page 1A of the Canton Observer and Plymouth Observer this fall.

The contest is sponsored by the Canton and Plymouth Observer Newspapers with co-sponsors being Quicksilver One Hour Photo, 1313 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, and the Mayflower Hotel.

1986 IS THE second year in a row that the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival Photo Contest has been a color-print-only competition. In earlier years slides were the medium.

Prints entered will become the property of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and will not be returned. Anyone wanting to retain a personal copy should have an extra print made before submitting their entry for the contest.

All entries should have the name, address and phone number of the photographer placed on the back of the print. Entrants are asked to keep the negative of their entry on file so it can be submitted to the Observer if necessary if they are chosen a winner.

Photographs entered must be taken in the Plymouth-Canton community during the three-day festival, Friday through Sunday, July 11-13.

The deadline to submit entries is 5 p.m. Friday, July 25.

Entries may be mailed or delivered in person to the Observer Newspapers at 489 S. Main. Questions may be asked by calling 459-2700.

THE SPECIAL black and white category involves taking photos of the Mayflower Hotel hot air balloon to be used in promoting the 1987 festival.

In return for allowing the winning photo to be used for promotion, the winner will be awarded a free hot air balloon ride for two as scheduled with Scott Lorenz, general manager of the Mayflower Hotel. The same rules and deadlines also apply to this special category.

In the black and white category, second-place winner will receive free Norwegian scrod dinners for four in the newly renovated Steakhouse of the Mayflower Hotel and third place will receive Sunday dinner for four in the Mayflower Hotel.

The first-place winner in the color print contest, in addition to having his/her photo printed on Page 1A of the Canton and Plymouth Observers, will receive a 16-by-20-inch framed copy of their entry; $50 cash, two rolls of film with free processing from Quicksilver.

The second-place winner will receive a framed 11-by-14-inch enlargement of their entry, $25 cash, a roll of film with free processing from Quicksilver, and free Norwegian scrod dinners for four in the Steakhouse.

The third-place winner will receive an 8-by-10-inch framed enlargement of their entry, Sunday brunch for four in the Mayflower Meeting House, and a roll of film with free processing from Quicksilver.

Honorable mentions will receive free processing for one roll of film from Quicksilver and a meal pass for two from the Mayflower.

Only three-entries per person will be accepted.

Employees or family members of employees of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers or Suburban Communications Corp. are ineligible.

Judging will be directed by staff photographer Bill Bresler, assisted by members of the Observer news staff. Criteria will include composition, color, ability to reproduce on newsprint, and degree of difficulty in taking the shot.

Warm beer

Talk about unusual shots. Here's one. A unique feature of this balloon is that there is no vent hole at the top, unlike conventional designs. To descend, the pilot must wait for the balloon to cool instead of releasing hot air through the vent.

By dawn's early light . . . bargains

Whoever said inflation is fun isn't kidding.

Not when the inflation occurs in Plymouth and is tied to the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival. What it adds up to is that many businesses will be offering specially priced merchandise to give a further lift to the event.

More than 50 merchants will be involved in the special selling spree that will see bargains ranging from 50 percent off down to 10 percent off, depending on the hour.

To really take advantage of the sale though, you'll have to be in Plymouth at the crack of dawn.

STARTING AT 5 A.M., participating stores will offer merchandise at 50 percent off. After that, everything is downhill — 6-7 a.m. will bring 40 percent discounts; 7-8 a.m., 30 percent off; 8-9 a.m., 20 percent; and 9-10 a.m. 10 percent.

By 10 a.m., most of the prices will be back to normal. Many of the stores offer over half their regular merchandise in this sale.

"The sale is unique to Plymouth," said a Plymouth Chamber of Commerce spokesman. "And it's been tremendously successful."

Many customers queue up in front of their favorite store long before 5 a.m. in order to be the first in the store, store owners report. A lot of folks "check out" the store on Friday to see what's going on sale in order to save time on Saturday morning.

For those people who can't make it that early, many stores sales will be conducting special sales all day long. "But you won't find anything to compare with the prices those first magic hours," the chamber spokesman said.

Land craft

Art in the Park has 150 exhibitors

MORE THAN 150 artists and craftsmen from 57 Michigan cities will be participating in the Art in the Park, held annually in Plymouth in conjunction with the Mayflower Hot Air Balloon Festival.

The exhibits will be in Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, July 12, 13.

Art in the Park is scheduled to give balloon festival spectators something to do between the dawn and dusk lift-offs at the launch site.

Show Director Diane Quinn says there will be a wide assortment of country and folk art.

THERE WILL BE paintings on traditional canvass as well as on wood, tin, shirts, and sawblades in oils, watercolors, and acrylics.

Also shown will be every imaginable form of needlework, quilting, applique, knitting, crocheting, Swiss embroidery, cross stitch, and needle punch.

Also featured will be: handmade furniture for the home, patio, for children, dolls and birds; flower arrangements from silk and dried flowers, potpourri, wreaths of herbs, pieces, grapevines and muslin; glass — stained, blasted, etched, fused and reverse glass painting; lamps and lamp shades; woven baskets and rugs.

There will be hand-forged reproductions from Greenfield Village, whirrigs, music boxes, pottery; checkerboards, chimes, claycandle houses, calligraphy, bears, geese, rabbits, sheep, ducks, cats, hearts, clowns and dolls; primitive art to solar-powered arts.

Balloon pilot school set

A Hot Air Balloon Seminar will be held in Plymouth the beginning of August.

The seminar will be conducted by Van Stifler, who is associated with Fort Wayne Ground Schools.

The session will begin at 8 a.m. Aug. 9-10 at the Mayflower Hotel.

Individuals completing the two-day course will be eligible to take a written exam to become a licensed hot air balloon pilot by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

THE SEMINAR WILL cover such topics as federal regulation, density, altitude, lifting force, landing, ballooning weather, equipment, vocabulary, aeronautical charts, weather reports, good operating practice, and mountain flying.

The seminar cover the information required for both private and commercial hot air balloons, and free balloon pilot licenses.

The tuition of $125 (additional family members at $30 each) includes all classroom presentations, hand-out materials and loan of an aeronautical chart, circular protractor, and test guides.

Stifler also is a designated written test examiner appointed by the FAA and will administer the written test upon course completion.

STIFLER GUARANTEES that persons attending the seminar will pass the FAA written examination or tuition will be refunded.

The classes begin 8 a.m. Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 9-10, with a lunch break at 11:45 a.m. Afternoon sessions run from 1-4 p.m. On Sunday, the written exams will be given at 1 p.m. and will last about 90 minutes.

Reservations are necessary and may be made by calling the Wicker Basket Balloon Center at (313) 669-4230 or by calling Stifler at (219) 747-5533. Payment is due on the morning on Aug. 3.

'Backyard Eagles' rev engines for flapjack fly-in

MEMBERS OF THE local E.A.A. Chapter 113 will be hosting a Fly-in Pancake Breakfast at Mettetal Airport, in Canton, on Saturday morning, July 12, as part of the balloon festival.

Breakfast will be served 7-11 a.m. at $3 for adults and $2 for children under 12.

What is the E.A.A. — or Experimental Aircraft Association?

It is an international organization dedicated to promoting general aviation and to encourage those who want to design and/or build their own aircraft.

E.A.A. Chapter 113 is comprised of a group of local pilots who have built, are now building, or who dream of building and flying their own aircraft. They call themselves the "Backyard Eagles" and they are ordinary people with extraordinary dreams.

WHAT IS A FLY-IN Pancake Breakfast? It's a tradition among pilot groups to host and attend weekend early morning breakfasts served at airports, generally inside a large aircraft hangar. It could best be described as an "ice cream social" but with the pancakes the main fare and flying the topic of conversation.

The pilots come to socialize, admire each other's airplanes, to "fly-in" and usually the breakfast part is the incidental catalyst to make it happen at a certain time and place.

For the non-flying general public, this event provides an opportunity to visit the airport, meet the pilots, have breakfast, and admire a variety of aircraft on display. It's a chance to see just about everything from a factory-built aircraft right on down to a single-seat "homebuilt" aircraft. And with the E.A.A. group, the emphasis is definitely on the "homebuilt."

One of the most unusual planes from a design standpoint at last year's show was this Rutan Varieze piloted by LaVerne Dinatale.
