McNamara wins top votes for county exec

Edward McNamara

Edward McNamara's agenda for Wednesday included routine Livonia City Hall matters, some desk work, and later on, a meeting about the garbage haulers.

But Wednesday was also the day McNamara, Livonia's mayor for 16 years, started his work as the heir apparent to the job of Wayne County executive.

It's a job he wanted badly four years ago when the post was creat-

In assuming the helm of the nation's fourth-largest county, he also becomes one of the three most influential administrators in Michigan, next to Detroit Mayor Coleman Young and Gov. James J. Blanchard.

Four years ago was a bummer, said a McNamara volunteer at his Tuesday night. "But this is great."

MCNAMARA'S SUCCESS at winning the Democratic nomination at the polls Tuesday was decisive, if not as large as his campaign pollsters earlier predicted.

In a nine-man field, McNamara received 49,954 votes to secondplace finisher Sam Turner's 37,328, according to the complete returns tallied by the Wayne County Elections Bureau. Turner is a county commissioner from Detroit.

The turnout was low with 22.42 percent of registered voters casting ballots. Total voting were 294,985 out of 1.3 million registered.

In a county dominated by Democratic voters, McNamara is already considered the successor to William Lucas, Tuesday's GOP nominee for Michigan governor.

Finishing third and fourth were

Wayne County Sheriff and Livonia's other hometown candidate, Robert Ficano, with 33,735 votes, and Wayne County Commission chairman John Hertel of Harper Woods with 32,412 votes.

The others included: Frank Wilkerson (7,570); Thomas Gondek (2,165); Charles Nemeth (1,795); Gerald Berg (1,420); and Michael Tifrea (872). The sole Republican candi-Robert Murphy, received 60.185 votes.

In Livonia, McNamara took 4,858 votes, a more than 4-1 lead over Ficano, who took 1,192. Hertel placed third with 309 votes. The others all received fewer than 25 votes each.

MCNAMARA DECLARED himself the winner about 1 a.m. Wednesday after climbing four steps up to a campaign platform at his victory headquarters in Livonia's Roma Hall and addressing what by then was a thinning crowd. Although exit polls conducted by Detroit's largest media indicated as early as 7 p.m. that McNamara would lead the field, campaigners waited until at least 60 percent of the critical Detroit city returns arrived before making a declaration.

They then broke out the pink champagne.

Appearing tired but jubilant, McNamara said in the early morning hours Wednesday:

"I thought it would be much more conclusive. But it's sufficiently conclusive to say I'm the victor, and I'm prepared to move forward."

Describing the differences between his candidacy and the other Democratic contenders, McNamara said, "We had no real special interest groups, other than the city of Livonia, and that usually is Republican.

We relied on (the endorsements and support) of mayors and supervisors, but the Democratic District parties went to Ficano, Hertel and Turner.

"I REALLY had no traditional, Democratic labor support, so in light of that and the low turnout, it's almost remarkable (the win).

"We were very fortunate."

Meanwhile, Livonia's Ficano held his campaign night party in Allen Park's Red Fawn Hall in downriver, the stronghold of the traditional, labor-backed Democrats he targeted. Speaking late Tuesday before the completed returns were tabulated. Ficano predicted "a very, long night" and pinned hopes on Detroit's latearriving returns to make a break in his favor. That didn't happen,

Library millage win is one for the books

It's official. A brand new Canton Township library is on the way.

Voters in Tuesday's primary election approved, by a sparse 28 votes, an additional mill to finance the construction and operation of a new library. The final tally was 1,928 to Reacting to legislation approved in Lansing in June, the Canton Li-brary board sought approval to levy 2 mills with the additional mill to pay for the construction and operation of a library more than twice the size of the present library, housed in the cramped third floor of the Canton Administration Building.

Members of the library board were relieved and ecstatic Tuesday night. They gathered at Dr. Jim Gillig's residence on Willow Creek to await the results.

Just before midnight, when votes became official, some board mem-bers confessed their previously unexpressed worries about the proposal's passage.

fer the citizens a library they need and deserve. I think people realize how important the library is to the community. We'll be more accessible now. Trustee John Schwartz nervously paced the hall at the administration building and watched the precinct totals fluctuate every half hour. Absentee votes were the last to be counted and Schwartz worried whether senior citizens, who traditionally make up the bulk of absentee voters, would be willing to approve an increase in taxes.

Schwartz kept fellow board mem-bers informed by telephone. One mill ($1 per $1,000 state equalized valuation or SEV) will result in a tax of $36 a year for the average $72,000 house in Canton.

"It was a low-key campaign, Schwartz said. "We had no time to even get a campaign committee to-board had to wait until the governor signed it and then immediately applied to the Wayne County clerk's office for permission to place a millage proposal on the primary election ballot.

"We're pleased," said Gillig. "We would have liked the vote to be 3,800 to nothing. It's a good vote for the future. The absentee votes were pretty much against us.

With the opening of the new library, Gillig said the board hopes to convert the people who voted against the library. He recalled the days following the present library's opening in 1980, when voters voraciously borrowed the children's col-

"It's a young community. Right after we opened the library our children's collection disappeared. In a way, it was frustrating.

A final decision has not been made on the location of the library but board members are certain it will be somewhere near the Canton Administration Building site. Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley, has resoundingly won the Democratic nomination to the 6th state Senate District seat.

Healy, Plymouth city attorney in 1966-1967, will challenge incumbent state Sen. Robert Geake. R-Northville, in November. The district encompasses Canton, the city and township of Plymouth, the city and township of Northville, Livonia and Redford Pownship.

In other races of local interest, Peter Bundarin of Canton was upset by Glen Kassel of Westland for the Republican nomination for Congress in the 15th District (see Page 3A), and Wayne County Commissioner Milt Mack, D-Wayne, defeated his

In Canton, Bundarin collected 980 votes to 747 for Kassel. Canton Democrats gave incumbent William D. Ford, D-Taylor, 1,329 votes.

For governor, Canton Republican voters favored William Lucas (1,366 votes) with Dick Chrysler getting 754 votes. Democrat James Blanchard collected 1,495 votes. In balloting for county executive in Canton, Ed McNamara led with 754 votes followed by Robert Ficano with 430 and John Hertel with 292.

IN THE 10TH Wayne County Commission District, incumbent Mack won nomination fairly easily over Wayne County Sheriff's Deputy Robert Smith of Belleville.

3-to-1 districtwide where he had 3,593 votes to 1,376 for Smith. In Canton, Mack had 733 votes to 446 for Smith.

After expressing disappointment in the turnout, Mack said: "I am very grateful to be elected by a margin like that. To some extent it represents that people are satisfied with the positions I've taken in county government. It would appear I am in touch with what voters want and react to them.

Mack said his campaign strategy was to key in on people who were likely to vote, and to rely on signs and billboards for name exposure.

NERALLY during August and September, I keep an eye on our black cherry tree in the backyard, awaiting the arrival of invading cedar waxwings. The juicy cherries become ripe, providing a feast for the waxwings.

This year, however, there are no fruits for them to feed on. Earlier this spring, we had severe frosts that struck at the time our black cherry was flowering.

Within a couple of days, the ground beneath the tree was white with the petals and flower parts that had succumbed to the cold.

NORMALLY, CEDAR waxwings, which usually travel in flocks, descend on our tree, devour the berries within a couple of days and then depart for another tree.

As the seeds pass through their digestive system, we see purple stains on the cement marking their travels. It's not a very good time to leave your car exposed to their bombardment.

Black cherry trees are easy to identify in the woods. They have very black bark which resembles burnt potato chips glued to the trunk.

If you scrape some bark from a small twig, you will be able to smell the bitter odor of hydrocyanic acid.

nature

Though the leaves and twigs are poisonous to browsing cattle, in the 1950s and '60s extracts from the bark were used in cough medicines, expectorants and for sore throats. In the old days, mountaineers were known to add juice from the berries to their rum or brandy to create a drink known as a cherry bounce.

BLACK CHERRY trees are best known for their fine wood.

In colonial days, fine furniture was created with this smooth grained wood. When finished, it has a rich brown color that rivals black walnut. It does not shrink much when curing and does not warp after it has cured.

Woodland trees, competing for the sunlight high above, grow tall and straight without any branches to form knots in the wood.

Increased demand for furniture wood through the years drasticaly reduced the number of trees and thus its economic importance. Today, black cherry trees can be seen growing in woodlands at our Huron-Clinto metroparks and at Maybury State Park in Northville Township.

The program is for preschoolers, generally 4 or 5 years old, who will be starting school in the fall. The Plymouth-Canton program can ac-commodate approximately 320 youngsters throughout the summer, with four consecutive sessions held.

Each session lasts for nine days of gram in terms of safety in general," two hours per day. Separate sessions said Larry Masteller, director of Plymouth-Canton Community Eduternoon hours, making it possible to include more youngsters.

She has a staff of nine aides to help out. The student aides are assigned to a small group of preschoolers and work with the youngsters.

> A NUMBER of different safety areas are covered during the program, Thierbach said.

The traffic safety instruction outdoors in the miniature town includes skills needed as a pedestrian and as a rider of a bicycle or tricycle. Youngsters also learn how to be safe as passengers in vehicles ing remembering to buckle their Safety concerns involving water, poisons, electricity, the playground and other areas are also covered in the Safety Town program.

'We spend about a day and a half on fire safety because we feel it's quite important," Thierbach said.

That instruction includes learning how to prevent fires and what to do if a fire does break out.

The youngsters also take home a safety report, designed to help them look for potential "hot spots" where a fire could occur.

The Safety Town program is aided by the efforts of local police officers and firefighters, who share their expertise in a variety of areas with the preschoolers.

"We have a police officer come and talk to the children about strangers," she said.

The youngsters also learn their addresses and telephone numbers, in case they have to report a fire or other emergency

Student pilots take to skies is required before pilots can sell their services. "Flying's great" is a sentiment repeatedly echoed by student pilots of Jet Services Flight Training Center at Mettetal Airport in Canton. The comment is usually stated with emotion, perhaps signaling it is just a matter of time before these flying enthusiasts pass from amateur status and earn pilot licenses. Dave Nowak, 26, of Livonia is typical. He started flying lessons eight months ago, in the dead of winter.

He expects to have his private license within the month. Then he will be able to fly most anywhere he chooses in light aircraft friends with him to help share in the cost of renting an airplane.

The only thing Nowak cannot do is flight. This normally occurs somefor hire, according to Tom Klochko, one of five flight instructors at

But, according to Klochko, most of his students are flying for the love of it - an expensive hobby that many of those who are pursuing it have wanted to do for years.

It takes a minimum of 40 hours in the air to earn a private license but Federal Aviation Administration figures show the average student spends 71.4 hours in the air before taking the qualifying flight with an FAA inspector.

Jet-Services instructors figure on 64 hours. At their prices, $57 an hour with an instructor and $38 an hour without, it costs slightly more than for which he is qualified. He can take $3,000 to obtain a private license. An instructor is required in the cockpit until a student completes a solo

The mourning period is to commemorate the "Night of the Murdered Poets," which occurred Aug. 12, 1952, when 24 leading Yiddish writers, poets and actors were executed by Soviet authorities.

Meat is not eaten for the nine days in memory of the extreme sufferings. There's a complete abstention from food or drink. Bathing is strictly forbidden.

The Rev. Gary R. Seymour, Associate Rector

Mourning rites are similar to those observed in case of a death of a next of kin are carried out by traditional Jews. Beginning with the first is customary to abstain from work.

Collegians favor GOP over porn

America's future leaders and consumers are more conservative in their attitudes about a wide range of subjects than the preceding genera-

Results of the most penetrating survey of college student attitudes ever undertaken were released by Simmons Market Research Bureau for the College Stores Research & Educational Foundation.

It is an in-depth look at an important force in American society -- 12.5 million students with $20 billion in annual discretionary spending.

GARIS F. DISTELHORST, executive director of the National Association of College Stores (NACS), šaid NASC commissioned the study. NACS is a trade association with more than 2,700 college store members in the U.S. and abroad.

Based on responses from 4,349 randomly selected students who answered a 29-page questionnaire, this picture of general attitudes emerged from America's college and university campuses:

- Sex 56 percent think sex before marriage is always or sometimes wrong, while 95 percent believe sex outside marriage is always or sometimes wrong.
- Smoking 79 percent agree completely or somewhat that people in public places should only be allowed to smoke in designated areas. while 49 percent indicated they would not date someone who smokes
- Drugs 84 percent think cocaine and 62 percent believe marijuana are unwise or harmful. Only 10 percent say the same about alco-
- Death penalty 73 percent favor it
- Abortion 70 percent agreed it should be legal, 28 percent illegal, and 2 percent had no opinion.
- Politics 37 percent were Republicans, compared with 31 percent independents and only 28 percent Democrats. Half described themselves as "moderate" and 24 percent "conservatives."
- Voting 69 percent said they were registered to vote, but only 49 percent said they voted in the last election.
- Women 35 percent said the U.S. was ready for a female president, 32 percent disagreed and 30 percent had no opinion.
- Trust 70 percent said they had little or no trust in politicians, 60 percent said they felt the same way about reporters, and 47 indicated they had little or no trust in government workers. Most trusted were doctors, scientists and professors.
- Pornography 50 percent favored tougher laws to deal with por-
- Censorship 44 percent agreed that in some situations, news should be censored.
- Worship 26 percent said they religious services at leas once a week and 51 percent at least once a month.
- Good jobs 70 percent agreed somewhat that personality and appearance are at least as important as knowledge; 59 percent are completely or somewhat in accord with the statement that "it's not what you know, it's whom you know that helps you get ahead."
- Enterprise 48 percent would rather work for themselves than for a large corporation, but only 15 percent agreed that the only way to make a lot of money is to start your own business.
- Credit cards 56 percent of college students have and use bank credit cards
- Possessions include TV set, 78 percent; stereo system, 66 percent; computer, 17 percent.

Distelhorst said this college consumer survey, called Student Watch '86, will be an invaluable marketing tool for any company offering a product or service to the college market because it offers a better understanding of why students purchase various products and services.

Marygrove signing up

Fall term applications, both for admission and financial aid, are being accepted by Marygrove College, 8425 W. McNichols, northwest Detroit.

The 50-year-old coeducatioinal college offers more than 60 areas of concentration, including two-year degrees, four-year degrees and mas-

Hospital regulations: affecting patient care?

By Carolyn Smith special writer

Hospital regulations are costly, time-consuming, archaic and inhibit institutions from providing modern health-care technology and other neded services That's one conclusion drawn by Donald Potter, president of the Southeast Michigan Hospital Council, a private, non-profit association in Southfield and an arm of the Michigan Hospital Association.

The 38-year-old Plymouth Township resident is espe cially critical of the state's certificate of need (CON) approval process. The 1978 state Public Health Code requires that any hospital's capital expense exceeding $150,000 be approved by the state Department of Public

"It doesn't matter whether it's a new piece of equipment or windows to conserve energy. We're in a regula-tory climate that has gotten worse because it's more bureaucratic and therefore more difficult to get things.

Council records show it took an average of 238 days to get through the CON approval process in 1983. But last year, the average jumped to more than a year.

This is how it works: The region's 70 hospitals first present a capital expense proposal to the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan. After review, that agency makes recommendations to the state health department, which, in turn, passes along its decision to the Governor's Statewide Health Coordinating Council for final approval. Local planning agencies and other hospitals not given certificate-of-need approvals may appeal state decisions.

POTTER CITES the case of the lithotripter, a machine capable of removing kidney stones without surgery. Approved by the Food and Drug Administration in 1983, local health planners later deemed the machine

The state health department and the coordinating council have said only three facilities may use the $1.8 million machine for patient care. Those receiving approval include William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak, Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids and a group composed of Hutzel, Harper and Grace hospitals in De-troit. But they won't be certified to use the machines until all appeals are completed

"Because of that, nobody in Michigan is using the machine. So if you live here and want the (lithotomy) procedure done, you have to go to Toledo or Indianapolis,"

He added there were 10 applicants. Five of those rejected appealed to the state's Certificate of Need Board, which upheld the state's decision on July 29. Court appeals will be heard in Lansing by Circuit Judge James Kallman.

The University of Michigan Hospitals, Ann Arbor, and Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, originally purchased the machines for research and later had applied to use them

'The state denied them both certificates of need,"

POTTER STRESSED that he fails to see how the state approval process saves money

"The health department spends 85 percent of its time reviewing 15' percent of the dollars - expenses under $700,000. We're looking at a $3.5 billion industry with 90,000 employees. And though 55 percent of the operating revenues come from the federal government, Michigan ranks 49 or 50 in getting dollars from Washington."

Especially troublesome, Potter said, is the state's inpatient care rate - now 67 percent of available beds, down from 80 percent five years ago. Some of that decrease, he acknowledges, is a result of the state's crackdown on hospitals with too many beds since the revised

Issuance of certificates of need, he said, has depended on hospital compliance with bed reductions ordered by

"It created a horse-trading scenario. Hospitals built fat into a CON application. The idea was to give up a few beds to get a new service," Potter said of some activities between 1979 and 1984.

THEN IN 1984, along came diagnostic related groups (DRGs) from the federal government, matching medical diagnoses with standard lengths of hospital stays. More beds remained empty, while the push for outpatient and other, less costly delivery systems gained ground.

Potter thinks hospitals should be able to "retool' like auto assembly plants.

"The auto industry has looked at future demands and made adjustments. Why can't hospitals? Many of them are in deep financial trouble."

He sees several alternative uses for extra hospital space. "Why not a hotel for families and friends of patients. A hospice for the terminally ill? A food service A sub-acute care area for the elderly or the retarded? I see lots of uses for that space."

Hospitals, he added, should be able to compete for onsumers like any other industry. He applauds the PPO (preferred provider organization) as a good example of how the health-care system can make itself both consumer-conscious and competitive.

The state's largest PPO, offered by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Michigan, has some 6,700 physicians and more than 100 hospitals participating. These providers have agreed to accept less reimbursement than what's offered their colleagues in the traditional delivery system, saving about 15 percent on balance.

Meanwhile, health maintenance organizations offer a more limited number of hospitals and physicians, driving consumers in southeast Michigan to a broader list of providers, in tune with what they have become accustomed to getting.

"People in southeast Michigan have had a Cadillac ride," Potter said. "We have some of the best benefits in the country. But people have used hospitals way in excess of the national average, which is an annual 600 days per 1,000 population. In this region, we're using 1,000 to 1,100 days per 1,000 population, but HMOs are using only 400 days."

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

The 1978 state Public Health Code requires that any hospital's capital expense exceeding $150,000 be approved by the state Department of Public Health. Southeast Michigan Hospital Council records show it took an average of 238 days to get through the certificate-of-need approval process in 1983. But last year, the average jumped to more than a year.

Another look at red tape

Raj Wiener, director of the bureau of health facilities for the state Department of Public Health, agrees with Donald Potter on some issues and disagrees with him on others. Her comments:

nent that the 1978 Public in total ag Health Code should be updated to increase the $150,000 (capital expense) threshold, at least to keep up with inflation. We're looking at national averages, and discussions are under way. Legislation should be introduced

• The CON process is too long . garding the lithotripter technology. At the same time, we have to know how many (new-technology machines) there should be, where, and who should get them. We need that kind of control. Otherwise medical costs

 On Potter's ideas on new uses for excess hospital space, including hotel and food services, hospice and sub-acute care: "Those are not bad ideas at all, and I support their need. But hospitals have been told to reduce beds, and, instead of doing that, they keep coming up with ideas on how to use them for other services already provided in their (geographic) areas. Reimbursement from third-party payers (such as Blue Cross-Blue Shield, an HMO or a PPO, Medicare or Medicaid) depends on the number of beds . . . They (hospitals) really want to fill them.

 On the notion of free competition among hospitals: "PPOs (preferred provider organizations) are good, but they're fairly new, and the hospital system isn't mature enough to include competitive reimbursement. The system simply isn't ready for truly pure competition.'

Some tax-reform year tax tips

An earlier "Practically Speaking" column item on taxes on the sale of homes did not include a tax break for homeowners over age 55 which allows a $125,000 tax-free profit. To qualify, you must have used the home as your principal residence three of the last five years before the sale. If the home is jointly owned by two spouses, only one need be 55 or over to receive the one-time exclu-

But there are circumstances when the exclusion should not be used if it could be far more favorable when used on a subsequent sale. If you qualify and are about to be married and you and your intended spouse don't plan to live in either home, consider selling both homes before you marry. Each of you will be entitled to a full exclusion. Once you are married, you will jointly qualify for only one exclusion.

SPEAKING OF taxes, the CPA firm of Grey & Trepeck of Birmingham pass along these tax-reform year tax tips:

· If you're doing home improvements, pay for the materials yourself to get the itemized deduction for the sales tax on your materials expenditure. If you pay a carpenter or a contractor a fixed price that includes the materials, you lose your deduction. Proposed Senate legislation would end sales tax deduc'ibility but probably not until 1987.

practically speaking

• Do a midyear cleanup around your home and donate those unwanted and outgrown items to some charitable organization. Get a receipt for your contributions.

• If you are owed money and it's beginning to look as though the obligation is worthless, take steps to formally collect the obligation. Your written evidence of attempts to collect will substantiate your bad debt deduction

 Avoid paying tax penalties by making estimated tax payments. Those with income not subject to withholding are required to pay quarterly income taxes. Be sure you pay in the minimum required, usual-100 percent of last year's liability.

 With the likelihood of lower tax rates in 1987 and following years, deferring income is generally sound strategy. Try to get year-end bonuses delayed until January and delay receipt of interest, dividend and other income.

· Certain expenses are in danger of losing their tax-deductible status. But since anything can happen until the tax reform bill is signed into law, keep accurate records on all potential deductions - medical expenses charitable contributions, employee business expenses, sales tax paid on large purchases, interest and taxes paid and miscellaneous deductions such as safe deposit box fee, tax ad-

• If you receive a lump sum distribution from a qualified retirement plan in 1986, consider deferring taxation on the distribution by rolling some or all of it into an IRA or other qualified plan within 60 days. If you decided to keep the money and pay taxes on it, check to see if you qualify for 10-year averaging.

• If you are hoping to cut your 1986 income taxes by investing in tax shelters such as real estate, oil and gas, or other limited partnerships, hold off until tax reform legislation is passed. Most of the tax benefits from such arrangements are scheduled to be eliminated in proposals under consideration.

· If you're planning to do some charitable giving, give appreciated stock rather than cash. You'll get a charitable deduction for the market value of the stock without having to pay the tax on the appreciation that would be required if you sold the stock first and then gave the cash

East all-stars prevail in spite of injuries

By Brad Emons staff writer

There were a few anxious moments, but just about everybody left with a good feeling Saturday as the East seniors toppled the West, 24-17, in the sixth Michigan High School Coaches Association All-Star football game.

Members of the winning East team, made up of several area players, were embraced by family and friends shortly after the final gun hda sounded at Spartan Stadium in East Lansing.

"Everybody was pretty much a team player," said Brian Smolinski of Farmington Harrison. "There were no individuals on this (East) team and everybody was nice.

The speedy 5-foot-10 receiver, who will play many more games on the Michigan State carpet, figured prominently in the victory

He recovered a fumbled punt in the second quarter, setting up at 45-yard field goal by Utica Eisenhower's Kevin Nicholl, who set an All-

Smolinski also made two catches for 22 yards

FOR CATHOLIC CENTRAL'S Dan Nash, a tackle headed for Stanford, it was an abbreviated afternoon of football.

Flying down the field on first quarter kickoff, Nash took an unintentional forearm shiver from team-

Nash slumped off the field holding his shoulder. X-rays later showed that a nerve in the big tackle's upper left arm had been slightly damaged, but the injury was not considered serious, said Dr. Warren Schildberg of Garden City. He's East's physician,

"It hurts when I lift my arm," said the 6-foot-4, 235-pound Nash. "My whole left side just went numb, but that first series we played was awesome. To score like that was just Anchoring one side of the line, Nash and his East teammates took the opening kickoff and marched 82 yards in 15 plays, capped by fullback Dave Iafolla's (South Lyon) 5-yard run touchdown run.

TONY BOLES, the dashing Westland John Glenn running back headed for Michigan, was another victim

Boles, who helped the East score their second touchdown, gained 45 vards in nine carries, but ironically watched the second half in street clothes after suffering an achilles heel injury near the end of the first

"My father didn't want me to play because he was afraid I was going to get hurt, but I wanted to play as soon as I was selected," said the soft-spoken tailback. "I could have played (the second half). It's a little sore, but they decided it wasn't worth it."

According to Schildberg, both Nash and Boles' injuries will heel in time before they report to their re-

With Nash on the sidelines for three quarters, Farmington offensive tackle Craig Petersmark picked up the slack. He loved every minute playing time in the trenches.

"I made a few bad plays, but it's hard to bring in a whole new offense in just 10 days," said the 6-2, 220pounder, headed for Eastern Michigan. "You really had to think out there, but I thought I held my own. I knocked a few people on their butts."

FOR PAUL MAKARA, the experience of playing in this All-Star game took on special meaning.

The 5-foot-10, 175-pound defensive back from Plymouth Salem is going to Michigan State, but he'll be a spectator most Saturdays at Spartan Stadium.

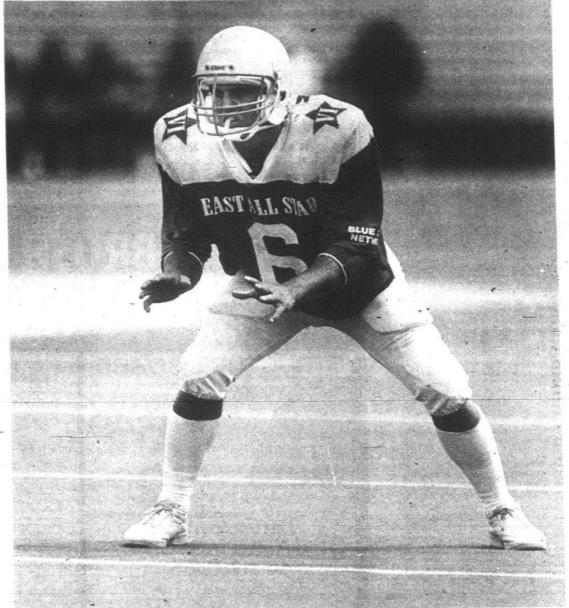

Makara played his last football

"I had shoulder and elbow surgery before my senior year and it bothered me some last year when I played," said Makara. "It wasn't right and I just wouldn't want to risk permanent injury

"But I played as hard I could out here today and it felt great.'

The mention of a recovering a fumble also brought a wide smile to Makara's face.

"I have no regrets," he said. "It's my last game and it's sad, but everybody has to go through it sometime.

Johnstown-type rain delays Regional

By Brad Emons

The Johnstown floods came a week early as rain washed out the second game of a scheduled doubleheader Wednesday night in the All-American Amateur Baseball Association Regional at Ford Field. The first game, however, escaped the downpour as Philadelphia (Pa.) Arzee topped the Zanesville (Ohio) Junior Pioneers, 5-2.

Only one scoreless inning was completed in the second game between host Livonia and Cleveland Mill-Rose. The double-elimination tournament picks up again at 2 to day with Livonia batting in the top of the second inning. The loser's

We needed a big hit in that inning, but we couldn't get it," said Rose. "We wanted to put a nail in there right away.

Allowed to add four players for the playoffs from the remaining Livonia Collegiate League teams, Hellier and Rose opted for right fielder Martin Eddy, the league batting champ from Tom Holzer Ford Northville; and three players from the Walter's Appliance team of Livonia: third baseman Bob Foust, and left-handed pitchers Doug Doyle

Both Eddy and Foust were in the regular season crown. This is the first time we've had a conflict with the NABF, but the purpose of our league is to send the best team we can to Johnstown," Hellier said. "It's an agreement our league makes even-before the season starts, but you can't make a kid play if he doesn't want to." Rose, however, said the four

HELLIER AND ROSE, however, roster additions are "good picks."

"These guys will help us," he said. "Foust played shorstop, but we think he's a better third baseman, and Doyle had a sore arm during the season, but now he's healthy. He went with us last year (to Johnstown) and he fits in well with our club.

"Zwolinski pitched well all year and Eddy is a good hitter."

THE ADRAY COACHES suffered another setback when they learned that one of their original roster players, pitcher Mike Wilkins of Lamar (Tex.) University, would not be available for the regional.

Wilkins, a hard-throwing righthander, was on the Livonia bench Wednesday night after returning from a summer of play in an Alaska college circuit.

But he'll be flying today to Wichita, Kan. for the National Baseball Congress Tournament. On Monday night, Wilkins pitched a three-hitter and struck out six in leading the Fairbanks Goldpanners to the league championship in a 3-1 victory over North Pole. The victory qualified the Goldpanners for the NBC tourna-

In Wednesday's regional opener, left-hander Andy Meltzer went the distance for Philadelphia, scattering eight hits.

Center fielder Steve Pelowitz, who led Arzee with three hits, broke a 2-2 tie in the seventh with a two-run single off reliever Andy Reichly, the second of four Zanesville pitchers gymnastics schools and competiions, a casting director from the movie asked Whitlock to bring five of his best gymnasts to Phoenix for two weeks of filming. The clincher was they had to be there in two days. "I TOOK THE girls who were

Along with Stusek, the other four gymnasts chosen were Ruth Aguayo, 15, of Pontiac; Dana Dobransky, 14, of Sterling Heights; Laura Makowski, 15, of Drayton Plains; and Kimberly Marshall, 14, of Oxford. Stusek, 16, who maintains a 3.5 grade point average at Marian High chool and has been in gymnastics for 11 years, said the days were long on the set.

"We had to wake up at 6:30 in the morning and be at the gym at 7:30. We were there until 5:30, and then we'd stay after to work out," she said. "The only part I didn't like was cut after cut after cut, over and over again." In fact, Stusek's big scene was left on the cutting room floor.

Whitlock said the gymnastic scenes were shot from four different camera angles. Once during filming when the star was doing a mount or the bars, a gymnast in the background doing floor exercises fell dur

Alaska's primitive wonders

Cruise is full of glaciers, wilderness, creatures

By William Schemmel

CCORDING to Alaskan lore, the first tourist to behold the glories of Glacier Bay was Eliza Skidmore, a reporter for the San Francisco Chronicle. Inspired by naturalist John Muir's accounts of his explorations five years earlier, the intrepid Miss Skidmore made her own perilous journey in the summer of 1884. Surrounded by the monumental glaciers, mesmerized by the boom of cfalling ice, the · siren song of the winds, the Native cries of sea Indians birds and revere seals, she wrote: "The Glacier nearer National approached, Park as 'The the higher the ice walls place where seemed. All the gods around the face were dwell.' pinnacles and spires weighing several tons that seemed on the point of toppling at any moment. The great buttresses of ice rising from the water were as white as marble, but farther on, as pressure was greater, deepened to turquoise and sapphire blues. The crashes of falling ice were magnificent, and in the face of a keen wind blowing over the ice fields, we sat on the rocks in silence, beholding the wondrous scene.

A century later, voyagers into this remote and pristine 4,500-squaremile sanctuary try in vain to match their own words to a place that is beyond words. Like the passengers on The Great Rivers Explorer, most all around us of it through their souls, and leave the lofty phrases to poets and the native Indians, who revere it as "The place where the gods dwell."

GLACIER BAY National Park is the pinnacle of The Great Rivers Explorer's seven-day odyssey among the fjords and granite mountains, fishing ports and gold rush towns, the larger-than-life creatures of land and sea in southeast Alaska's Inside Passage. Operated from May to September by Seattle-based Exploration Cruise Lines, the 92-passenger, 152foot, shallow-draft vessel may venture in where large cruise ships dare not tread.

Very early one brisk and cloudless June morning, the Explorer pauses long enough at Bartlett Cove to take aboard Ken Russell, a National Park Service naturalist. For the next 12 hours, Russell will be our guide and interpreter to the mysteries of Glacier Bay. He'll relate the ancient birth and ongoing advances and retreats of the Bay's more than 200

He'll ferret out brown and black bears, moose and nimble-footed mountain goats peering back at us from sheer rocky cliffsides. All the while, bald eagles soar overhead, with supporting casts of tufted puffins, gull-like kittiwakes, cormorants and oystercatchers. Harbor seals with newborn pups float by on icebergs, diving into the frigid seas when we approach too close.

Even the largest ships sail into Glacier Bay, but none has closer audience with imperial Margerie and Grand Pacific glaciers. From our vantage a quarter-mile from Margerie's milelong face, we can gaze far into blue and white recesses, and with unbinoculared eyes see walls of ice "calve" away and crash into the sea, forming the icebergs that bob

Pristine beauty

The Majestic Alaska Explorer glides past the face of John Hopkins Glacier, one of the many active tidewater glaciers in Alaska's Glacier National Park.

ONLY A ship with the Explorer's dexterity could execute a bow-landing. Butting against a glacial shelf, a gangway is let down, and passengers have the rare adventure of scram-bling onto the ice itself. The ship's bag of tricks has other surprises. Out of Ketchikan, it plunges into the narrow rain forest canyons of Misty Fjords National Monument, pulling our bow so close to a waterfall that a crew member can retrieve a pitcher of pure melted snow.

In the Peril Straits, the northbound ship comes face to face with a southbound pod, or school, of more than 20 killer whales. Swiftly the captain reverses course, and we go with the flow of the black-and-white armada that surrounds us on all sides, trying to capture them on film, and in our imaginations, as they break dramatically from the water, then disappear just as suddenly, like submarines beneath their own waves.

These orcas are followed on stage by a school of white-striped Dall porpoises. They race playfully alongside us, cavort beneath the bow, and feast on shrimp and fish we've stirred up in our wake.

Late one evening, we weave into Tracy Arm fjord. Balmy sunshine of previous days has yielded to overcast skies and bursts of rain. But the gloom is really a boon, since it seems to turn on electric blue lights which we're passing. From miles away, they glow like aquamarine

SOME ARE small — called 'growlers' and "bergie bits" — others are as large as houses, cars and buses. They might be ice sculptures left from a titan's banquet: here's a dragon's head, over there an eagle, off port bow a Viking in horned helmet, his sandaled foot, an otter, a crouching bear. They are entree to Sawyer and South Sawyer glaciers, twin leviathans that dwarf even the kings of Glacier Bay.

The Explorer's ports of call reflect the rich and colorful heritage of southeast Alaska, from Tlingit, Haida and Hoonah Indians, to 19th-cen tury Russian traders and fur trappers, and the audacious

Gold Rush of 1897-1900.

Sitka was capital of Russian Alaska when a check for $7.2 million, or two cents an acre, made it "Seward's "America's Icebox," American territory in 1867. The onion-domed and icon-rich Russian Orthodox cathedral, and a high-kicking troupe of New Archangel Dancers are lasting souvenirs of those czarist times, while the intricately carved totems in Sitka National Historic Park are landmarks of an ancient Indian culture.

Once the jumping-off place for the Klondike gold fields, bawdy old Skagway preserves its glory days with wooden sidewalks and falsebrothel museum, all done with a saucy air of fun and nostalgia. Along Broadway, you'll find everything from sealskin moccasins and Indian headdresses, to finely crafted jewelry and designer fashions. The Frontier Saloon makes a bloody mary to match the mountains

KETCHIKAN, FIRST and last Explorer call, has preserved its once infamous red light district along Ketchikan Creek. Except for Dolly's, a sporting house museum, the rest of these picturesque stilt houses are innocent art galleries and craft shops. Pinioned between mountains and sea, Alaska's capital city of Juneau, population 27,000, seems like Paris compared with sister small towns and villages. Don't miss the honkytonk piano at the Red Dog Saloon, the historic and nature displays at the Alaska State Museum, or a walk Mendenhall Glacier, just outside of town.

Friend's urging lead to directory

By Marie McGee staff writer

T WAS A chance conversation with a friend while at a convention in San Francisco in 1981 that prompted Norma Buzan to author "Bed and Breakfast North America.

It's turned out to the answer to a traveler's prayer — including the friend who gave her idea for the directory in the first place.

With the fourth printing due in the fall, the updated directory will have over 600 pages and give details on 700 inns and guest houses that offer overnight accommodations "where the traveler is treated more like a guest than a source of BUZAN, WHO LIVES in Bloomfield Township, was attending a convention of the American Library Trustees Association (ALTA) in San Francisco and called on friends who had just signed up to be a bed and breakfast agency outside of San Francisco. Buzan dropped in to visit and was delighted with the idea.

'But how will people in the east find out about us?" she recalls the husband of her friend asking.

With all the confidence that comes from many years as a-librarian, Buzan advised: "Go the library. I'm sure you'll find a book

She continued visiting with her friend. Several hours later, the husband returned to report: "Norma, there is no such thing - no book that lists bed and breakfasts in other parts of the country."

He suggested that Buzan compile just such a directory.

WE SPENT THE next 11/2 days talking about it," she recalled.

Upon returning home, she began earnestly to gather the material. By January 1982 she had enough information to publish the first "Bed and Breakfast North America." It was 69 pages. Buzan said she began by contacting travel writers and researching old articles in newspapers, mainly written by them.

'It was sort of like being a detective," she said.

But it was a network of library friends across the country that really helped her, Buzan feels.

A former librarian in Farmington and Troy, Buzan has been extremely active in library affairs and particularly in AFTA, giving her contacts all over the country.

"Friends all over the country gave me input and still do," she said. But after the directory made its debut, Buzan began to hear from innkeepers all over the coun-a similar directory with a title very similar to hers. It's caused some confusion, Buzan notes. "Several of my readers called to say that they bought the wrong book," she said.

The cover of her version is simply: "Bed and Breakfast North America." The other book has the author's name as part of the title. Buzan's book is available in book stores, but Buzan said she does a big direct-mail business. In addition to the North America directory, Buzan also authored "Bed and Breakfast in Michigan and Surrounding Areas." It came out last year. In it, she used sketches of historical homes by former Livonia artist Janet Anderson, noted for her penand-ink sketches of the Detroit riverfront. The cover is that of the former Buzzard house, a restored beauty on Main Street in Plymouth.

PUBLISHING A directory isn't Buzan's only contact with the world of bed and breakfast accommodations. With a neighbor, Bert Howell, she also established a B&B reservation service called Betsy

Ross Bed and Breakfast. Buzan said she "lucked out" with the Betsy Ross angle in that it actually is the name of street she

But it would have been an excellent choice anyway, Buzan said, because of the feelings of old-fashioned friendliness and warm welcome associated with the colonial time when Betsy Ross lived. After four years of operating from the Buzan's second floor, the two partners sold the business in June to June Shields of Dearborn, owner of one of the guest homes listed in the directory. The name went with the business

IN THE five years she has been active with B&Bs, Buzan has seen the interest grow by leaps and

Not only that. She has watched Michigan gain on frontrunner California in number and elegance of the accommodations being offered "newcomer" states in offering homestay accommodations. The New England states, of course, still hold an edge, she said.

Bed and breakfast also is liberating the woman traveler, Buzan said. Private homestays provide women with benefits that were never before available to them, whether they traveled for business

B&B adventure

Bearing down on entrepreneurship

By Helen Furcean special writer

NCE UPON a time, a winsome twosome from Birmingham decided to go forth into the world, conquer the dragons of commerce and build their very own magic kingdom (or queendom).

So they packed up all the knickknacks, antiques, arty pieces and collectables that they had accumulated over the years and began to search for the Perfect Place.

And so it happened that the fol-lowed the North Star all the way Petoskey and discovered just what they were looking for: a turn-ofthe-century, two-story Victorian manor, built by a lumber baron, that had been restored to all of its former glory.

(Actually, only one of them discovered the Perfect Place. The other was off backpacking through the bush country of New Zealand when the transatlantic call came with news of the great discovery.)

THE STATELY HOME is situated on a bluff overlooking the Bear River, just a stone's throw from Little Traverse Bay. From this came the name the Bear and the Bay and the opening last December by Joan Robinson and daughter, Karyn, of one of the north country's charming bed and breakfast facilities.

The unique style of the two wom-en is reflected throughout the house. The furnishings are eclectic, cozy, whimsical and bizarre all rolled into one.

From the wooden "silent butler" in the foyer greeting guests with business cards and sweets (like Petoskey-made dried tart cherries) to the giant, satin multicolored bird that drapes the baby grand piano in the living room, the Robinson touch is everywhere. You never seem to run out of things to marvel over.

The downstairs rooms consist of a living room, a perfect place for that cozy chat, the day room where you can lounge and watch TV from an antique brass daybed covered with soft pillows; the billiard room where you can challenge someone to a game on the vintage pool table; and the dining room, charmingly decorated with Joan's collection of rabbit porcelains and prints. Focal point is a Spanish-style chan-

THE ONLY DOWNSTAIRS room off-limits to guests is the kitchen where Joan and Karyn in their own words "choreograph the breakfast dance" each morning. They work together, deftly keeping out of each other's way as their own special blend of coffee is brewed, the shirred eggs are readied for the oven, and/or the waffle mix is poured into the Belgian waffle iron, and the fresh, fresh compote is prepared.

The Robinsons are always looking for new delightful breakfast dishes with which to surprise their

There are four guest rooms beyond the burl-maple bannistered staircase. The "Bower Room" features a king-sized bed draped in romantic peach netting. Karyn refers to it as the "dream catcher.

Down the hall is the "Bay Room," with its double bed and old-fashioned flavor. It also has a connecting door to the "Bower Room" that can be opened making the two rooms into a suite. The Robinsons are in the process of converting an oversized "Bay Room" closet into a half-bath.

THE "BIRCH ROOM" named for the canopied birch queen-size bed made by artisans in nearby Harbor Springs - has an Indian theme.

And finally, the only single room is the "Bear River Room" affording the only view of the Bear Riv-

The bathroom upstairs features an old-fashioned claw-foot bathtub encased in lace, and modern shower stall. With a lady's vanity and gent's shaving area, there is enough room for a couple to groom together. There is also a full bath downstairs that has a tub and shower. It is decorated in heavy oak with shiny soft-sculptured fish.

A porch wraps around two sides of the house, providing a quiet place to sit, sip, rock and talk. For more energetic guests, a walkway along the river below is available for jogging or picnics along the,

ago. It was a busy day, a business day and I was well within it. The store was jumpin' and I had just received commission from a large company to design a wall graphic for their lobby. With all the store business and trying to divide my time for my own art commissions, my mind was racing. There was so much to do, but I had to stop everything and staff coaxing Adam to go to kindergarten. So I bribed him with a chicken sandwich at McDonald's. On the way I listened and talked with Adam but in the back of my mind I was all wrapped up in

When we finally sat down, Adam was running off at the mouth in nervous kindergarten chatter. As many dads do, I was a million miles away granting Adam only an occasional, "Oh, really, that's nice" and "good for you, honey."

Then I happened to notice his little fingers pinching this long french fry. Wondering why, I asked him "Umm. Adam. what are you doing with your french fry?" He said, "Oh, didn't you ever notice Dad, if you pinch a french fry real hard. there, see how clean it makes your fingers.

INSTANTLY THE PRESS of business was left behind as I aughed and entered his little world. Free of all cares! I sat and listened with great interest and amusement as Adam told me all about kindergarten

"Dad, Tony always gets off his letter and guess what, Dad? I can reach the handle of the faucet and there's a real fast slide on the playground"... and so it went. My hamburger and fries grew cold as I listened to this little 5-year-old's viewpoints of kindergarten.

Of course, we were late for school but I could hardly stop Adam from talking or myself from the enjoyment of listening to this little guy. I finally dropped him off and thought to myself, "What a precious moment," And recalled the words to a song I once heard, that went something like this: "We have these moments to hold in our hand and touch as they slip through our fingers like sand. Yesterday's gone and tomorrow may never be, but we have these moments today.

REFRESHED BY IT, all, I returned to my artwork and appointments with new vigor. I wonder how many similar moments we encounter day by day that go completely unnoticed. For most people to miss "the moments" is only sad, but for an artist to miss them is tragic. It is those moments that add depth to an artists' work.

There are many types of moments that an artist can notice. experience and then incorporate in his or her artwork. There are precious moments, funny moments, touching, or sad ments, learning or teaching moments and the list goes on and on. The responsibility for an artist is to remove himself from himself enough to spot the moments when and where

It is the moments that make us laugh, cry, share, learn and experience the feelings that make us human beings. An artist, if aware of these special times, is doubly blessed. First, in that the moments were noticed and second that they can be ex-

PERHAPS A SAD moment could be ventilated with pastels in blues and grays. A precious moment might even require oils or acrylic. Maybe a funny moment could only best become visual in the cartoon style of pen and ink. Along with the responsibility of an artist to notice the moments is the versaty to handle the medium that best lends itself to the feeling.

The greatest thing for an artist is to be able to handle what ever medium is required to best suit the subject and/or feel ing. What goes on around you is exciting, touching and often ous. So train yourself to better see and more clearly hear. The moments that I am talking about never tap you on the shoulder. They are usually fleeting and are rarely remembered. So make them obvious and freeze them in time within an inspired piece of artwork.

DSO closes its summer series

Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture with live cannons will be on the program as the Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO) closes its 1986 Chrysler Concert Series at Meadow Brook at 8 p.m. Thursday and Sunday.

Each concert will feature a soloist playing a favorite Tchaikovsky concerto: on Thursday the Violin Concerto and on Sunday the Piano Concerto No. 1. Also included on the program is the "Firebird" Suite by Stravinsky. Both concerts will be led by guest conductor Daniel Nazareth. Nazareth, music director of the West Berlin Symphony Orchestra since 1982, is originally from India and has won such top honors as the Leonard Bernstein Conducting Fellowship, the Koussevitsky Music Foundation Conductors Award and the International Ernest Ansermet Conducting day by DSO concertmaster Gordon Staples. Pianist Jose Feghali will be featured on Sunday, playing Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto No. 1. Feghali, 25, is the winner of the Seventh Van Cliburn International Piano Competition and numerous other awards.
