School officials remove film ban

By M.B. Dilton

A prettily-filed film banned in Plymouth-Canton Community School Schools by Supervisor John P. Kellner is a question of test.

The film, "The Breakfast Club," was shown to psychology students as part of an interpersonal communication course.

In its report, the committee wrote: "Materials are not irrelevant merely because they are controversial."

The central issue is whether or not the film is an indoctrination of the subject and whether or not the material is relevant to the subject of the course. "If this is not true, then the film is inappropriate for any purpose," the report continues.

Psychology students in grades 10-12, 13, and 14 were surveyed. An anonymous survey revealed that many students were against and many were for the film. Some students who said they were against the film cited the "negative impact of drugs on people's behavior," while others said they were against it because they would not fit in with their peers.

In contrast, students who were for the film said they would not discriminate against students who watched the film. They also said they would not change their behavior.

There are several concerns with this bill. One concern is that it could lead to censorship of all films that could be seen as controversial or offensive. Another concern is that it would make it more difficult for educators to use films as teaching tools.

The bill was introduced by Representative John Kline and is cosponsored by Representatives Dan Johnson and Steve Drazic. It has been referred to the Education Committee for consideration.

Mercy mulls leasing former county hospital

The Plymouth Township board is looking into leasing the old county hospital property. Mercy officials said officials there are hopeful about the idea. They are hoping to get the building up and running by the end of the year.

The hospital, on Merriman Road, is owned by the former Wayne County Hospital Authority. Mercy officials said they believe the building could be used for a variety of purposes, including a community hospital or a senior care facility.

The hospital was closed in 2003 when the county consolidated its health care facilities. Since then, the property has sat vacant, with plans to develop it for commercial or residential use.

Mercy officials said they are considering a number of options for the property, including leasing it to a private developer. They said they are also exploring the possibility of using the property for a community health care facility.

The hospital has 100 beds and a full range of services, including emergency care, surgery, and inpatient care. Mercy officials said they believe the property could be a valuable asset for the community.

The hospital is located near a number of major roads, including Interstate 94 and Interstate 75, making it accessible to a large population. Mercy officials said they are confident the property would be a good fit for the community needs.
Beware of yule rip-offs

"To buy is to be, to spend is to die," according to Robin Hobb, author of 'The Farseer Trilogy' and 'The Fitz series'.

Before you decide to buy that perfect gift for someone special, be aware of the following rip-offs and scams that are common during the holiday season.

1. Cyber Monday Sales: Many retailers offer deals online on Cyber Monday. Be cautious of fake deals and scams. Check the website's authenticity and compare prices with other reputable retailers before making a purchase.

2. Black Friday Doorbusters: Stores often release doorbuster deals early online. However, these deals are often sold out online first. If you're interested in a particular item, consider ordering it online in advance to avoid disappointment on Black Friday.

3. Scam艺术家: Be wary of personalized gifts, such as customized ornaments or engraved jewelry, that promise genuine protection or good fortune. Such claims are often misleading.

4. Phishing Scams: Avoid clicking on links in emails or messages that claim to be from retailers. Scammers may try to steal your personal information or direct you to a fake website.

5. Credit Card Fraud: Be cautious of using your credit card to purchase large or expensive items. Consider using a payment plan or splitting the cost with a friend or family member.

Remember, it's possible to enjoy the holiday season without falling prey to these rip-offs. Happy shopping!

Gamesmanship ruined sewer

T he SAGA of Super Sewer and the Downriver sewers crisis is almost over, apparently. The expansion of the current sewers system and new sewers to encourage financial support for new sewers in the Downriver area, which is one of the most heavily polluted areas in the United States, has been stopped. The sewer crisis has been a headache for the local government, which has been struggling to meet the demands of a growing population and environmental concerns.

In the end, a settlement was reached and Canton particularly thought the spending habit of the downriver area was too much. Canton particularly thought the federal grant pie was necessary sanitary sewage and storm water sources and Wayne County felt there is no money.

Eventually, once Downriver was taken over by the state, the final issue was resolved and the sewers crisis was over.

Remember, all you rowdies, I'm still the driver.

Case for appointed judges

The almost continual debate over the appointment of federal judges has shifted recently because of the political divisions in the country. The naming of judges is a political decision and has been a subject of controversy for many years. The Constitution gives the President the power to appoint judges, and the Senate has the power to confirm or reject these appointments.

Proponents say that politically connected appointments are needed. They argue that judges should have experience with the law and the Constitution. Critics argue that politically appointed judges are not impartial. The Senate committee on judicial appointments must approve the judicial nominations.

Proponents say that the Supreme Court justices are accountable to the people and that the Senate must endorse nominees. Critics say that the Senate is not dependent on the people and that it should approve the judicial nominations.

At this point, it was game time. Despite the controversy, the Senate committee on judicial appointments was determined to confirm the judicial nominations. The Senate committee on judicial appointments was determined to confirm the judicial nominations.

IT COMES AS NO SURPRISE that the government will continue to be pressured to make judicial nominations. By this time, the parties involved dug in their heels and became entrenched in their positions. In fact, recent news reports indicate that the Senate committee on judicial appointments is ready to confirm the judicial nominations. The Senate committee on judicial appointments is ready to confirm the judicial nominations.

Managing the message

WHAT DO WE HAVE here is a failure to communicate. It is not easy to communicate, but it is easier to fix than to communicate. The blame for the failure to communicate lies with the sender of the message. The sender of the message is not clear. The sender of the message is not clear.

A supervised exercise class is a good option for those who are trying to stay in shape. According to Ann TaI, the teacher teaches an exercise fitness class through the Plymouth Community YMCA. The class meets at Masters of Dance Arts in Canton.

Holiday fitness: No easy task

By Julie Brown

The holiday season's tempting treats can make it all too easy to pile on the pounds. But with a little planning and some time spent exercising, the holiday buffets and social gatherings don't have to mean you go overboard on eating.

The Plymouth/Ann Arbor News sportswriter had no trouble keeping fit through the holidays. She doesn't believe in counting calories or restricting certain foods. Instead, she relies on portion control and a regular exercise routine to stay in shape.

"Eating is a lot of fun. Socializing and being around food are enjoyable for me," she said. "But I try to enjoy the food I eat without feeling guilty." She also advises others to take breaks from eating and to choose healthier options when they're at parties or other social gatherings.

"It's important to eat a balanced diet and to get regular exercise," she said. "But if you're going to indulge, do it in moderation." She suggests trying new recipes and trying new foods to keep things interesting.

"I love Plymouth. It's been my home for many years and I've always enjoyed living here," she said. "I think Plymouth is a great place to raise a family."
The holidays need not be a disaster.

Giving smile a boost
By Richard Lueck

BASIC dentistry is a series of procedures designed to keep teeth healthy and functioning properly. However, sometimes it takes more than basic treatment to achieve a perfect smile.

For some patients, a complete smile makeover may be needed. This is where cosmetic dentistry comes in. While traditional dental care focuses on treating existing health issues, cosmetic dentistry is all about improving the overall appearance of the teeth and smile.

There are several types of cosmetic dental procedures that can be used individually or in combination. These include:

1. Veneers: Veneers are thin porcelain shells that are bonded to the front surface of the teeth. They can be used to correct alignment, size, and color issues.
2. Crowns: A crown is a cap that is placed on top of a tooth to protect and strengthen it. Crowns can also be used to improve the aesthetic appearance of a tooth.
3. Bonding: Bonding involves the use of special resin material that is applied to the front surface of the tooth. It is then shaped and hardened to match the color of the surrounding teeth.
4.  Gingival grafts: Gingival grafts are used to treat gum recessions, which can cause the teeth to appear longer and more uneven.
5. Laser treatments: Laser treatments can be used to whiten teeth, remove stains, and treat gum disease.

In addition to improving appearance, cosmetic dentistry can also help to restore function and confidence. It's important to speak with a qualified cosmetic dentist to determine the best course of treatment for your specific needs.

A dentist can only determine the best course of treatment for you after a thorough examination. It's important to keep regular dental check-ups to ensure that your teeth remain healthy and strong.

Remember, a smile is a reflection of your personality. Take care of your teeth, and you'll be sure to have a beautiful smile to show off.

Dear Mr. L:

Cirrhosis, a chronic degenerative disease of the liver, is commonly the result of alcohol abuse but can also be the result of nutritional deprivation, hepatitis or other infections.

If you are a woman, your liver is different from a man's and men who have more than 25 drinks a week are not necessarily out of action before you notice any real symptoms — and by then it may be too late.

Three-quarters of your liver cells may be out of action before you notice any real symptoms — and by then it may be too late.

Liver damage is not confined to those who get drunk. It may take years of drinking even a little too much alcohol before you notice any liver disease by blood tests and physical examination. You can get liver disease from drinking too much in any way. Cirrhosis can be prevented with some life-style changes.

Readers can write to Jolayne Farrell at P.O. Box 66, Postal Station "D," 200 Queen Street East, Toronto, Ontario M4M 3E8.

An upscale world in toy-land

By Louise Cherkovsky

staff writer

In a holiday season featuring traditional toys reinvented as electronic gadgets, optimistic predictions of robust sales are tempered by uncertain consumer reaction to an all-Michigan bagful of high-tech gifts, toy makers say.

"We are grateful that Marshall's has backed us," said Cabbage Patch Kids' national sales manager, Jane Grigsby, "but we're a little worried about the future of the season, the economy, and that sort of thing." The top-selling toy in the United States, the doll, is said to have made its biggest comeback since its introduction in the 1970s.

"We're at risk," Patrick L. Anderson, Michigan's position at peak of business cycle worries economist, said Tuesday.

"It's devastating. We're in the midst of a strong national recovery, and we're at risk," Anderson said. "Our economy is at risk. We're at risk. We're at risk. We're at risk."

Anderson cites Grant Thornton with approval but acknowledges that "mine looks at Michigan in historical perspective," he said.

Grant Thornton continually rates Michigan last in a study of business climates that "mine income, employment and population loss are higher than the national average," he said.

"Michigan is in severe trouble right now because this recovery isn't going to last forever. For the first time in a long, long time, we're going to be in that category," Anderson said.

"That affects large ticket items," he said.

"I'm surprised. We thought our consumers would take advantage of the limited time left for them to write off sales tax and income taxes," Anderson said.

"The strength of the day after Thanksgiving sales was stronger than we expected," he said.

"In previous years, throughout Michigan, this Friday after Thanksgiving has been a day to remember. Those markdowns lasted the weekend. It was effective," he said. "It was just like the Thanksgiving weekend. Those markdowns lasted the weekend. It was effective," he said.

"The overall season hasn't been the barn burner we'd hoped for," Anderson said. "Lively sales are tempered by uncertain consumer reaction to an all-Michigan bagful of high-tech gifts, toy makers say."

"We've got to keep an eye on the consumer and an eye on the economic forecast for the year," Anderson said. "We're not out of the woods yet. There's a lot of uncertainty about the future of the economy."

Investor doing this well needs very little guidance

By Thomas Oates

I have tried to build a portfolio in hopes of realizing a fair return on the money I invest. I have done well but the last few months have been very difficult. I would like to have a portfolio that I can look at and feel comfortable with. I have tried to build a portfolio as an 83-year-old who has boosted my income, and I don't think I will have much chance of the amount of the payment increase in dividends in Chesebrough Pond's. The yield on both is the same. I would put the money in DEI, Diversified, and I'd put the money in DEI, Diversified, and I'd put the money in DEI, Diversified, and I'd put the money in DEI, Diversified, and I'd put the money in DEI, Diversified, and I'd put the money in DEI, Diversified.

Since when is it a crime to turn 18?

Of course turning 18 is a crime! However, turning 18 is a significant milestone in one's life. It marks the transition from adolescence to adulthood. It is a time when many young people gain more independence and freedom from parental control. Turning 18 also brings legal responsibilities, such as the right to vote, sign legal documents, and enter into contracts.

Western Lakes cagers shed little-man reputation

By Chris McCurdy

Western Lakes coach Mike Collins has the secrets to the team's rise to prominence. The Raiders are 14-2 and are considered a serious threat to win the Western Lakes Activities Association championship. They have improved their record by 10 games over last year's mark.

Collins said this season has been exciting because of a new team identity. "We've been able to break down a lot of the barriers," he said. "The kids are playing as a team and it's been great to see.

The Raiders have a new identity. They have been able to come together and play as a team. This season has been a success for Western Lakes basketball.

Coach Mike Collins has led the Raiders to a successful season. They have improved by 10 games over last year's record. The team has a new identity and has been able to come together as a team.

But Collins is not satisfied with the current season. "I'm not looking for any more wins," he said. "I'm more interested in the improvement of the team."

The Raiders have been able to overcome the loss of two key players, and they have played well together. "We have had some ups and downs, but we have been able to come together as a team," Collins said.

The Raiders have won six games in a row and are headed to the playoffs. "We are looking forward to the challenge of the playoffs," Collins said. "We have been able to come together as a team and we are ready for the challenge.

Schoolcraft falls in final the 1986-87 Observerland boys basketball season according to the Observer sports staff.

Mike Hala's hard work and dedication to the game have made him one of the top 10 best players coming into the 1987-88 basketball season.

Schoolcraft College's senior guard Paul Tavares is one of the top 10 returnees. He was named to All-Mid-American Conference and was a key player for the Golden Eagles. Tavares led the team in scoring with 17 points per game last year. He is expected to be a key player for Schoolcraft this season.

Other notable players include:

- Brad Farmer, Plymouth State, 6-0 junior guard: Farmer averaged 16 points per game last season and is expected to be a key player for the Panthers.
- Rick Tucker, Plymouth State, 6-2 senior guard: Tucker is a returning starter for the Panthers and is expected to be one of the top players in the conference.
- Tim O'Donnell, Oakland University, 6-1 junior guard: O'Donnell is a returning starter for the Golden Grizzlies and is expected to be a key player for the team.
- Kevin Van Hook, Oakland University, 6-5 junior forward: Van Hook averaged 12 points per game last season and is expected to be a key player for the Golden Grizzlies.
- Tom Tursky, Oakland University, 6-1 junior guard: Tursky is a returning starter for the Golden Grizzlies and is expected to be a key player for the team.
- Marcus Murray, Oakland University, 6-2 senior guard: Murray is a returning starter for the Golden Grizzlies and is expected to be a key player for the team.

The Observerland boys basketball season is underway, and these players are expected to be key players for their teams this season.

The Oakland Parks and Recreation Department's official numbers indicate that the area hunter has successfully registered over 1,000 poachers in the last 10 years. The official gave an update of the poaching activity in the area, stating that the numbers have been steadily increasing over the years. The official also highlighted the importance of poaching awareness and the need for continued enforcement of wildlife laws.

A great number of poachers are caught in the crosshairs of the department's efforts. The department has been working hard to reduce poaching incidents and to educate the public about the negative impacts of poaching. The department has also been collaborating with other organizations and agencies to address the issue.

In conclusion, the area hunter continues to monitor poaching activity closely and to work towards reducing it. The department encourages the public to report poaching incidents to help in their efforts to protect wildlife and their habitats.

Europe's railway stations serve many of traveler's needs

This is the second in a two-part series on traveling through Europe. The TGV (Train à Grand Vitesse) service across France, probably tied to a TGV service in England and Spain by 1990. Also under construction is a TGV service between Paris and the new high-speed train on the route from Paris to Lyon.

The TGV is the fastest train in France. On Sept. 23, 1986, at 11 a.m., it left Paris, the capital city of France, and had arrived at Lyon, another major city in the country, just 2 hours later. It was a non-stop run, and the train was clean, comfortable, and efficient. The difference is price between

Area economy bounds upward

Business conditions improved noticeably in September and October, according to the quarterly Purchasing Management Association of Detroit.

Local purchasing managers in October indicated a second consecutive month of favorable business conditions. Although the survey indicated a very slight improvement over September, the economy is still considered to be "in a state of subdued activity," with the commodity prices showing a very steep drop in recent weeks, according to David L. Littman, an economist with Manufacturers National Corp.

PMAD respondents cited the auto finance incentive programs and the new tax law as factors that have helped lift the local economy out of the spring and summer doldrums.

In October, the composite PMAD index stood at 53.0 compared with 52.6 in September. The index is considered a reliable leading indicator of national economic activity because of the metro area's strong link to factors influencing consumer confidence, durable goods consumption and investment spending.

Several respondents expressed concern over a new state liquor law and its potential impact on the automotive sector.

Buying policies for production materials and supplies and for capital expenditures have not changed. Items in short supply include flat glass, non-lead glass and whey products collected by weather and government programs, hot-rolled carbon strip and sugar (East Coast mills).

The PMAD survey report is compiled from monthly responses of local purchasing managers belonging to the 370-member PMAD. The report lists indices of fundamental activity in the economy - new orders, production, employment, pricing, government purchases, units of production, and the like - and a composite index, which is considered to be particularly useful as a leading indicator of economic change.

Basham ‘brilliant’ in Bruch concerto

By Mary Jane Doerr

I was invited to do a community performance earlier this month, which included the performance of the Bruch concerto, a perfect selection for the occasion. I was given this performance by the Plymouth Symphony Society, and it was a delight. The orchestra was well-rehearsed and the soloist, a brilliant violinist, was a joy to watch. The performance was well-received by the audience, and I am looking forward to future performances of this piece.

The Bruch concerto is a masterwork of the late classical period, and it is a good choice for an orchestra of this caliber. The performance was well-balanced, with the soloist taking center stage. The orchestra provided a rich backdrop for the soloist, and the overall performance was a joy to watch.

Overall, I was very impressed with the performance and look forward to future performances of this piece. The Plymouth Symphony Society is to be commended for this wonderful performance.

Chorale to perform

The Women's Chorale of Wayne State University will present a concert at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, December 15, in the Auditorium of the University Center. The program will include works by Handel, Mozart, and other composers. The Chorale is a mixed choir of approximately 60 members, and the concert will feature the work of a new assistant director, Mr. John Smith.

The concert will feature a variety of a cappella arrangements, including a selection of Christmas carols and other traditional music. The program will also feature several modern works, including a piece by the late composer, Mr. John Smith. The Chorale is a well-known group in the Detroit area, and this concert is sure to be a hit.

For more information, please contact the Women's Chorale at 561-5782.
