The Canton Connection

EXTRA MILER: Charles Olson, known as "Mr. Swim" at Plymouth Salem High School, where he teaches physical education, was honored with the "Extra Miler" award by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education last week.

The honor is bestowed upon school staffers who go beyond the call of duty while on the job.

"His students classify him as a friend first, teacher second and coach third," trustee E.J. McClendon said about the Salem girls and boys swim coach.

"I know more about Chuck than he knows I know. When he was a small boy, Chuck wanted to be a teacher. He was dedicated and never took his eye off that goal. He assisted in teaching swimming while still a student at old Plymouth High School. He lives his values," McClendon said of the two-time Observer Swim Coach of the Year.

Olson was praised for organizing the annual Rotary Christmas Invitational Swim Meet and for enlisting swimmers' help at the Rotary Fall Festival Chicken Barbecue each fall.

Olson received a certificate, cloisonne pin and lunch for two at the Mayflower Hotel.

MASK: The Canton Public Library welcomes the Mask Puppet Theatre to Canton this Wednesday from 7-7:30 p.m. in the first floor meeting room of Canton Township Hall. Mask, an Ann Arbor-based puppet troupe, will present "The Troublemaker Goes to Camp" starring Wally the Weasel. Mask gears its productions toward children in grades K-6 who can sit still for a half-hour performance. Registration begins today by phone or in person after 10 a.m.

VARIETY SHOW: The Plymouth Canton Chieftette Variety Show will begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Nov. 20 and 21, in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High. Tickets at $3 each may be purchased at the door or in advance from any Chieftette. Highlights of the show include a dance number featuring the Chieftettes and their fathers, a drum solo, skits, singers, dancers and bands.

MONEY DUE: Three Canton residents are among those the IRS is trying to locate because they still are due refunds from their 1986 federal income tax returns.

For Michigan some 1,010 refund checks worth $398,743 were returned to the IRS by the Postal Service as undeliverable. The refund checks range in amounts from $1 to $15,116 and average $395. Canton residents due refunds include Marie Bresadola, Lisa A. Todd and Colleen A. Mallus. For information call the IRS at 1-800-424-1040.

YOUTH WINNERS: Two residents are among some 21 high school seniors named regional finalists in the U.S. Senate Youth Intermediate School District contest.

Michelle Johnson of Plymouth Canton High and Mark Rearick of Plymouth Salem High were selected by the Wayne County Intermediate School District from nominees who hold elective offices in high school. Selections were based on achievement, leadership, scholastic standing, articulateness and community involvement.

Debra Parent of Plymouth Christian Academy in Canton was honored with a certificate for being an area finalist. Michigan's two delegates to Washington, D.C., will be announced on Dec. 1.

Morton Taylor-Joy disputes continue

Safety needs, sidewalks sought in on-going talks

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Morton Taylor and Joy continues to be a hot spot for debate in Canton. Recently the topics are the speed limit, sidewalks and traffic safety devices.

Nelson/Ross Properties of Franklin, developers of Coventry Commons East — the shopping mall at the southeast corner of Morton Taylor and Joy — paid for the bulk of the Morton Taylor paying costs. The road was opened from Joy to Warren earlier this month.

Township board of trustees denied a Nelson/Ross proposal Nov. 3 to rezone 9.73 acres on the southwest corner at Joy from commercial zoning to permit apartments.

Mayfair Village subdivision residents, who welcomed apartments as opposed to another strip shopping mall, complained about not being notified of the meeting.

THEY ALSO SAID they missed their chance to discuss the issue because the item was switched from the bottom of the agenda to the top.

Residents, who arrived long after the issue was addressed, complained trustees tried to "ramrod" the issue through without giving residents a chance to comment.

"We moved it up thinking there would be people there to talk about it and they wouldn't have to sit through the whole meeting," said James Poole, supervisor. "If they want it on the agenda next week, I'll put it on. I don't appreciate anyone saying that I tried to circumvent them. It was not moved up to surprise anyone or push anything through."

Explaining one reason why the property was not rezoned, Poole said: "There are a lot of people that don't want those apartments because their basements will flood."

Bob Paszko, Mayfair resident and association board member, said: "I didn't have knowledge of the meeting until the day before the meeting. I'm speaking for myself and not representing any other board members. I got there at 8 p.m. and I found it already happened." Board meetings begin at 7 p.m. the first, second and fourth Tuesday monthly.

Developer David Nelson said he also didn't get a notice in sufficient time to attend the board meeting.

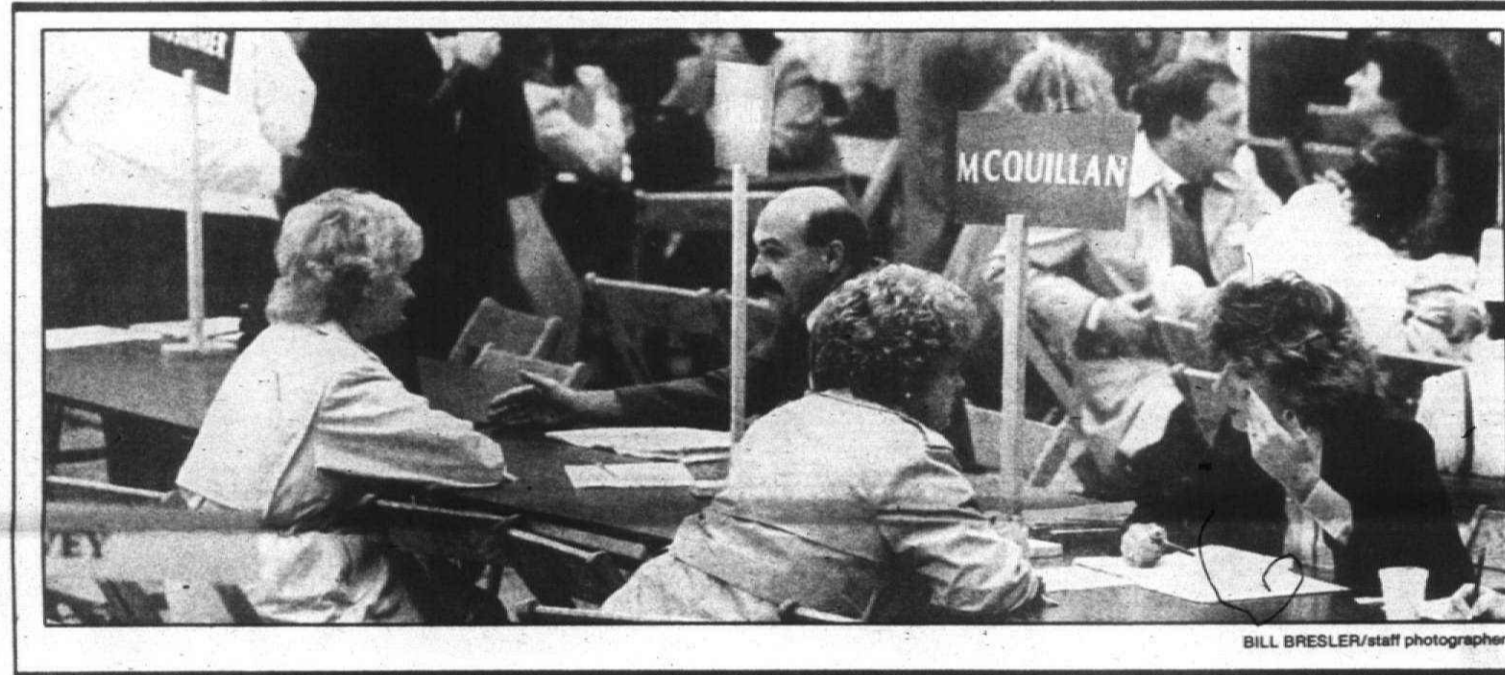

DIANA OATLEY, Windsor Park resident, is worried about sidewalks.

Initially Nelson/Ross planned to lay sidewalks on the east side of the street. But that doesn't help children from Windsor Park subdivision on their trek to Hulsing Elementary School, Oatley said.

Last week, Nelson said he promised to install a sidewalk and those plans remain. However, installation costs on the west side of the street are higher due to uneven ground and poles.

"If the township or other entity wants to pick up the additional costs, he will install the sidewalk on the west side, Nelson said.

Teachers meet parents

This may look like the floor of the New York Stock Exchange during a heavy trading period. Actually this busy scene is the annual parent-teacher conferences at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park. Parents arrived in large numbers Thursday night to talk about their son's or daughter's progress, or lack thereof. No casualties were reported. Teachers were arranged alphabetically so they could be located easier by parents. Because of the conferences on Thursday night, there was no school on Friday.

Schools balk at student competency tests

What the competency bill seeks, 2A

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

School officials are balking at legislation that would mandate competency testing for high school students in Michigan.

The examination would test students' ability in English, math and science. Students who pass would be given "endorsed" diplomas. Pupils who fail would receive "non-endorsed" diplomas. The law would become effective in 1992.

In opposition are the Michigan Education Association, Michigan Association of School Administrators, and the Michigan Association of School Boards. The Michigan State Chamber of Commerce favors the plan.

The bill, passed by the Senate, now is in the House Education committee.

"I hope it sits there for the rest of my duration as an educator," said Kent Buikema, executive director for secondary education for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

"I guess I think the diplomas we give are all endorsed diplomas because we have met the graduation requirements of our school district, and our teachers have certified that they've done that."

"I don't want to get into a situation saying this student is better than that student."

BUIKEMA DOUBTS competency tests would upgrade education or increase school accountability.

"Very often, competency tests result in promoting minimal objectives, rather than in allowing the school to stretch to educate their children to the best of their abilities."

Dr. Michael Homes, Plymouth-Canton assistant superintendent for instruction, questions how accurate competency tests would be.

"My concern is how accurately that kind of test really measures the effectiveness of teacher and student outcomes. I don't think any standard instrument exists that can do that, unless you can come up with some divine instrument that accounts for the vast differences that exist in districts from here to the Upper Peninsula.

"I don't think it would measure anything besides minimal basic skills, and the Michigan Education Assessment Program test does that," said Homes.

Sen. Nick Smith, R-Addison, will explain the bill at an informational meeting at 4:30 p.m., Monday, Dec. 7, at the Wayne County Intermediate

Zoning revamp deadline faces extension

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Canton officials want to have the township's zoning ordinances updated by July 4, but because of scheduling conflicts with a consultant they won't even get started until December.

McKenna and Associates Inc., hired by Canton trustees for a minimum $19,500 in consulting fees, will tentatively meet for the first time with the Canton Planning Commission at 7 p.m. Dec. 7, at township hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road south of Proctor. The public may attend.

Initially McKenna representatives were to meet tonight, but conflicts in schedules caused the delay. Subdivision association board members previously vowed to attend the meeting to have a hand in the changes.

The task is to update Canton's zoning ordinances, which are designed to promote orderly growth by specifying how land can be used.

Township officials have targeted July 4 as the completion date, an optimistic estimate considering it took five years the last time the zoning ordinances were revamped.

"This is the beginning of many meetings," said Loren Bennett, planning commissioner.

"We'll be setting the ground rules for where we'd like to be nine or 10 months from now when it's completed. Their expertise is to put down in ordinance form where we want to be."

PLANNING COMMISSIONERS have talked about tackling:

- Sizes of residential lots, especially in Canton's western portion.
- Consistency in the style of fences.

- Subdivision streetlighting concerns.
- Commercial and industrial landscaping requirements providing more greenery to serve as a buffer from pillars of concrete.

- The long-disputed problems with sign regulations.
- Outdated agreements between the township and developers about land uses and other glitches.

Canton's image would improve if the township permitted only major developments — like hotels, restaurants and large office complexes — along the I-275 corridor and major thoroughfares enhancing township entrance points, commissioners have said.

Smaller problems that have been a nuisance more than anything else involve the organizational structure of the ordinance, like the absence of an index.

The current ordinance was adopted in March 1980 and has been revised many times since. The piecemeal changes sometimes didn't coincide with earlier amendments resulting in inconsistencies.

Schools seek more awareness for health ed classes

By Tedd Schneider
staff writer

An informed parent is a level-headed parent, Wayne-Westland school officials believe.

They hope to create a high level of awareness about possible changes in the district's teen health program to avoid what they called "misguided fears" that have plagued similar changes in other suburban districts.

Ronald Somers, school district executive director of secondary education, and Rebecca Cabral, heading up a committee making a year-long study of teen health needs in the district, agreed that educating the public is a top priority.

"If we make sure people are informed right from the start about what we're trying to accomplish, we should be able to avoid any controversy," said Cabral.

The most recent controversy involved the Taylor School District, where the school board reversed an earlier decision to open teen health clinics in Taylor's three high schools.

BOTH CABRAL and Somers stressed that the Wayne-Westland study is in its preliminary stages and no decisions have been reached on whether or not the district's health program will be modified.

The study, being done in cooperation with Annapolis Hospital, will be paid for with a $20,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Public Health awarded Aug. 30.

Cabral said the study should be complete by next spring and formal recommendations probably completed next July.

THE TAYLOR board backed down from the original proposal after a large number of parents protested the move because they were under the impression that birth control devices and information would be made available to students through the clinics.

The proposed clinics were the result of a study similar to the current Wayne-Westland project.

Development fallout rising in Morton Taylor-Joy area

Another concern raised by residents is the speed limit on Morton Taylor from Joy to Warren. Initially residents thought it would be 40 mph, but last week the county announced it is 35 mph. Residents want it to be 25 mph — at least during school hours.

Also, Mayfair residents are seeking traffic safety devices because "approximately 400 children must cross Morton Taylor to get to Hulsing Elementary School," according to a letter written by Mayfair residents to Wayne County executive Ed McNamara.

Nelson/Ross has put aside $20,000 in an escrow account for traffic lights on the east side. However, Wayne County has the final say whether the lights are installed.

These concerns follow an uproar last year about Coventry Commons East, when residents filed a lawsuit against Nelson/Ross. Meanwhile, homeowners and Nelson/Ross held meetings to air concerns and to reach compromises. In fact, tentative concessions were reportedly proposed between the developer and residents if the township approved rezoning the southwest property.

Archdiocese bishop meets parents in sex class talks

Leaders of a group protesting materials used in voluntary sex education classes at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Plymouth last week met with a bishop from the Archdiocese of Detroit to detail their objections.

A follow-up meeting with Bishop Moses Anderson, auxiliary bishop for the west region of the archdiocese, will be held in a couple of weeks, said Michelle Forton, a leader of the protest movement.

"It was a very amicable meeting," Forton said of the nearly three-hour session in the Good Counsel rectory. "We did go over a few objections — not all. He did say he'd look at them."

Meanwhile, the classes — as well as protest efforts — will continue, Forton said.

About two dozen people are actively involved with the protest, she said.

The group, Concerned Catholic Parents of Plymouth, objects to the New Creation Series of sex education materials.

"It's too much, too soon and too detailed for kids," Forton said. Some parts of the series also go against church doctrine by delving into birth control, she added.

The group has picketed classes and passed out flyers after Mass at Good Counsel and bought advertising in newspapers to publicize their cause.

'Cat in the Hat' Kids' book has existential meaning

AP — Anyone who has been a child in the last 50 years remembers Dr. Seuss' "Cat in the Hat" — that slyly grinning storybook cat who teaches two young children, home alone, into "all kinds of fun that is funny."

Overcoming the strident objection of their pet fish, the boy and girl let the cat in, ushering in an afternoon of adventure and mayhem: The cat juggles their fish, drops him into a teapot, flies him from a kite and then summons Thing One and Thing Two, who, like demon spirits, unleash more chaos.

For decades, the story has charmed children and given parents hoarse throats because of children's insistent demands that it be read "just one more time" with not a word skipped.

The book, ripped and raggedy-edged, sits on book shelves, under beds and between couch pillows in child-inhabited homes everywhere, and that makes good sense. But what is the "Cat in the Hat" doing in a recent issue of "Tikkun," a liberal publication that critiques politics, culture and society?

THAT'S AS appropriate a place for it as on a child's bookshelf, in the view of Betty Mensch and Alan Freeman, a couple who co-authored the essay, "Getting to Solia Soller: The Existential Politics of Dr. Seuss."

Dr. Seuss an existentialist? Mensch and Freeman, both State University of Buffalo law professors, are on their third go-round with Seuss. First they read "Horton" themselves as children. Then they read the "Grinch" to their older children, now teen-agers, from their first marriages. Now they are back to "The Cat in the Hat" and "Green Eggs and Ham" with sons James, 4, and Jeremy, 18 months.

As they read and reread the charming whimsy, particularly in "The Cat in the Hat," but in many other Seuss books as well, specific themes and social messages seemed to surface.

"I kept puzzling about the peculiar relationship between the cat and the fish," said Freeman.

In researching material for a class they teach on "Animals and the Law," they found continuing references to cats as satanic figures with demonic powers, particularly in medieval times. When Freeman's sister reminded them that the fish is an ancient Christian symbol of morality, the theme of the struggle between the two natural enemies clicked nicely into place, they said.

"THE FISH is conventional morality, the super ego in Freudian terms," said Mensch. "And Thing One and Thing Two are purely amoral, totally pleasure-seeking beings."

While the fish chastises, frets and scolds, telling the children to be totally obedient rather than to be active forces, the cat presents the existential dilemma of how to fashion morality without giving in to outside forces, said Freeman.

Freeman describes himself "as holding onto a resolute political consciousness of the '60s."

He credits Seuss with capturing

Man convicted in cleaners holdup

A Novi man accused of armed robbery at a Plymouth Township cleaners last August was convicted of the charge last week during a bench trial that lasted just more than two hours, according to Plymouth Township Police.

John Germain, 34, was convicted by Recorder's Judge Dominick Carnovale, said Officer Erik Mayernik, who investigated the complaint and testified during the trial. Germain was found innocent of firearm possession during the commission of a felony, Mayernik said.

Sentencing was scheduled for Nov. 25. Germain was remanded to Wayne County Jail to await sentencing.

Germain was accused of confronting employees and grabbing $105 from a register at the One Hour Martinizing shop at Ann Arbor Road and Sheldon after using the restroom on Aug. 17.

An employee at a nearby business observed some suspicious activity at the time and reported a license number of a car, Mayernik said.

Germain was traced as a result of that investigation and later identified as the robber during a lineup, Mayernik said.

Germain has served three previous prison terms for felony convictions, Mayernik said.

On Oct. 30, Germain sustained minor injuries when crashing through a window while trying to escape custody in 35th District Court following arraignment on a larceny charge out of Northville.

Germain was freed after posting $10 percent of a $50,000 bond when he was charged with the cleaners robbery in Plymouth Township.

PC area picked for 'Why Say No!' campaign

The Plymouth-Canton area will be the scene of several activities in a metro Detroit "Why Say No!" campaign.

The week-long program of high school assemblies, regional rallies and concerts urges young people to avoid abusive behavior and embrace positive solutions.

Gary Zelesky, a nationally known youth speaker, will address students at Plymouth Salem High School on Tuesday Morning, Nov. 17. On Wednesday, he will be at Plymouth during the week. Like Zelesky, they all will speak to students about drugs, alcohol, immorality and negative peer pressure.

Zelesky's insight into these issues is drawn from academic studies as well as personal experience. As a youth in Los Angeles, he was involved in the drug culture and its lifestyle.

Today he challenges teenagers to accept responsibility for their own situations. His approach mixes humor with practical experiences.

The "Why Say No!" week will climax with a concert Saturday night, Nov. 21, in the Masonic Temple in Detroit. Petra, one of the most-popular Christian bands in the U.S. will perform. Becker and her band will be a warm-up act for Petra that evening.

Zelesky this week also will appear at Cherry Hill High School, Fairlane Christian School, Fairlane Assembly, Eastern Michigan University, and Southfield Christian Academy.

"Why Say No!" was organized by

Mainstream, a network of youth workers in metro Detroit, including representatives of more than 200 churches.

Much of the activity, including the Salem High assembly and the rally Wednesday night at Calvary Baptist, will be documented by Christens Video, the local show whose shows are seen on Omnicon Cablevision Channel 15. Christens Video also will host Petra in an exclusive studio interview.

More adults are going back to college

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

Despite declining numbers of young people in the general population, enrollment is up at area colleges, in some cases to record levels.

"That was our goal, to go over 4,000 for our 40th birthday," said Dr. Edward Meyer, the dean for administrative services at Madonna College. The school has 4,003 students enrolled for the fall term, an all-time high.

Madonna, S'craft share in growth

Both the declining numbers of young people in the general population and the fact that more people enter the work force with bachelor's degrees, graduate degrees become more important.

"It used to be that getting a bachelor's was a major accomplishment. Now it's almost understood that you'll get a master's," said Buik.

Eastern Michigan and the University of Michigan-Dearborn are also at all-time highs, and most other colleges show at least modest increases.

School administrators say the reason for increasing attendance, in the face of a society that is growing increasingly older as the baby boomers hit middle age, is that schools have changed the way they do business. As America's population has aged, the schools have worked harder to enroll adults.

Madonna got a head start in adult education, though more by accident than design. Certainly, in 1947, the last thing on anyone's mind was a declining population of 18- to 22-year-olds.

"We started out as a traditional college, to train sisters to teach," said Meyer. "By the time they were able to take courses, the sisters were older. So, we've been in adult education all of our history."

Two-thirds of Madonna's students are non-traditional. (The traditional student starts college out of high school and graduates in roughly four years.) The average student there is 30, said Meyer. Programs include fire science, hospice care and sign language/interpreting.

Meyer said the college began branching out into adult education in the early '70s. "A lot of schools, then, were still holding on to the traditional organization, geared to the high school graduate," said Meyer.

This month, a $1.3 million Educational Development Center will be finished.

SCHOOLCRAFT COLLEGE's regular enrollment is up 1 percent over last year, to 8,622 students. The school's continuing-education program, however, is up a healthy 20 percent this year to 3,466 students, and is up 129 percent since 1983.

The continuing-education courses for the winter term vary widely, reflecting the interests of the prospective student - from basic computer applications to supervisory management training to investment strategies to watercolor painting.

The school is active in retraining employees in the private sector. When Republic was gobbled up by Northwest and Metro Airport became a regional hub, Schoolcraft got the contract - and a $1.5 million Private Industry Council grant - to train the hundreds of new employees.

Schoolcraft is actively seeking more retraining business. In 1986, Schoolcraft, Oakland Community College and five other area community colleges were paid a total of $3.4 million to retrain 11,100 workers for 132 Detroit businesses.

OTHER ENROLLMENT figures:
MSU's southeast regional center - Enrollment is about 600, up 12 percent in the last two years. The center is one of seven the school operates, an outgrowth in the 1960s of the need to retrain teachers. The school's center is in its fifth year.

University of Detroit - Enrollment is down half a percent, to 6,101. Traditional course programs are "our bread and butter," according to Diane Praet, director of institutional research. The typical student is older than at larger, four-year schools, with about 2,100 in the just-out-of-high-school category. The school is branching out into private-sector retraining, with nursing courses in several area hospitals and intensive language programs being taught to executives of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

The school is branching out into private-sector retraining, with nursing courses in several area hospitals and intensive language programs being taught to executives of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

The school's peak year was in 1961, when 10,957 were enrolled. "But we've been real stable over the last six years," said Praet. She said graduate enrollment was the highest in 10 years.

Wayne State - Fall enrollment is 30,377, the highest in a decade and a 5.6-percent increase from a year ago. Enrollment in graduate programs is up 10.2 percent to 7,927.

Enrollment in lifelong learning programs, not counted in the regular enrollment figures, is up 7.6 percent. The latest figures available, for spring of 1986, show 704 students from Livonia, 426 from Redford, 307 from Westland, 193 from Canton, 146 from Plymouth and 110 from Garden City.

The school's enrollment figures include students in the College of Lifelong Learning, which operates nine centers, including Birmingham Groves, Southfield and Livonia Bentley.

When we opened the Bentley center (in the fall of 1986), we did a direct mailing. Usually, if we've targeted our audience well, we get a response of about 15 percent. But we got a response of 11 percent in the Livonia area, which is a very high. There's just a real interest in continuing education there," said Joann Condino, the marketing director for the College of Lifelong Learning.

Students can work toward a degree if they choose. She said there are about 1,800 students at Groves this fall. Figures were unavailable for the Bentley and Southfield centers.

Eastern Michigan - Preliminary enrollment is at 22,375, up 4.8 percent over a year ago. When late registration is added, the figure will hit about 24,000, an all-time high, according to Susan Barley-of the admissions office.

The school is traditionally oriented, with the average student a 19-year-old woman, according to Barley.

In 1983, 77 percent of the undergrads were under 25; in 1987, only 69 percent are under 25.

The school has accurate address information on about 6,500 students, of which 557 are from Livonia, 288 from Westland, 197 from Redford, 158 from Canton, 119 from Garden City and 105 from Plymouth.

In addition, the school has 816 students in non-degree, continuing-education programs.

Appealing to kids brought parents to Mayflower

(Part 5)
When Ralph Lorenz returned to the Mayflower Hotel after serving in World War II, he promoted an idea that predates by many years the merchandising employed by McDonald's and other fast food chains today.

Lorenz decided to attract parents to his hotel dining rooms by appealing to their children. He mailed letters to 1,000 children, addressing them by name. The children, most of whom had never received a letter personally addressed to them, were invited to the hotel's "Johnny Billington Clean Plate Club."

Each child accompanied by his or her parents received a free meal. Each youngster who cleaned his plate received an English half-penny. The response was remarkable. From that first of several mailings, 925 children and their parents came to the hotel.

The Mayflower was still promoting the Johnny Billington Club in the early 1950s when the Hudson family arrived here from the east. I remember because our son, Bruce, was a member.

past and present

there were 72.

LORENZ WAS serving his second term as president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce. He was also becoming recognized in Michigan and on the national scene. He was vice president of the Michigan Hotel Association and active in the work of the National Hotel Association.

In January 1954 the board of directors of the hotel company decided to lease the Mayflower to Lorenz for a period of 20 years. They didn't want to lose him. In announcing the lease story, the Plymouth Mail reported that Lorenz had received many attractive offers from hotel groups throughout the country. Lorenz had his own reason for staying at the Mayflower. When offered a job with one of the nation's largest hotel chains, he declined, saying: "I don't like reporting to anyone in a higher position. I like to push my own buttons."

TEN YEARS AFTER Lorenz leased the hotel, the hotel board suggested that he become its owner. Lorenz was quick to agree. At that time, 135 shareholders remained of the 252 who had bought shares in 1926. Ralph and Mabel Lorenz acquired all of the outstanding stock at $21 a share. The stock had once sold as high as $33 and as low as 25 cents a share. With $11 in dividends investors had received during the hotel's profitable years, those who had kept their stock for the preceding 38 years just about broke even.

During the year he bought the hotel, Lorenz acquired the building on Main Street across from the Mayflower. It was built by the Oddfellows in the 1920s. He remodelled the structure and called it the Mayflower Meeting House, continuing his Colonial/Pilgrim fathers theme.

the Wiedman Parking Lot adjacent to the hotel, opened in January 1982. It was, perhaps, the first Michigan Economic Development Corporation project built that used air rights over public property. The lot is owned by the city, which leases the space above it to the hotel.

AT SOME TIME in their lives, all of the six Lorenz children have had a hand in the family business. Although Shelia, Rick and Kirk are no longer employed at the hotel, sons Scott and Randy have succeeded their father in running the Mayflower.

Scott is general manager and Randy manages the Round Table Club. Creon Smith, who has managed the in-hotel restaurants for the past 17 years, is also part of the operation. Ralph Lorenz, without whom the Mayflower Hotel might have been another casualty of the Great Depression, spends his time nowadays with son Rick, promoting his latest idea: the sale of luxury condominiums they are building on Ann Arbor Trail behind the residence where Ralph once lived.

Cigarette tax boost gets cool reception

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Legislative action this week could determine whether a proposed cigarette tax increase goes up in smoke — and with it Wayne County's plan to eliminate $130 million in debt.

The nickel-a-pack cigarette tax is considered the most controversial of three revenue enhancement proposals put forth by the county. It is also the only one designed to eliminate past debt.

"I think there's some kind of rough consensus on the other proposals, as well as on indigent health care," deputy county executive Michael Duggan said. "But what will happen on the cigarette tax, we don't know."

With the increase, the state's cigarette tax would rise to 26 cents per pack.

"Obviously, the cigarette lobby is going to fight it," said Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton. Kosteva is the only western Wayne County representative on the House Taxation Committee. The committee is expected to debate the cigarette tax Wednesday in Lansing.

might not be the only ones out to sabotage the proposal, Kosteva said.

"There's a number of other proposals out there. Some may be obstacles thrown in the county's way," Kosteva said. "When some outside legislators see there's going to be something that would benefit Wayne County, they try to promote their own special interest projects."

Alternative proposals would use the cigarette tax increase for AIDS research or aid to public schools.

In addition to the cigarette tax increase, the county proposes a 30 percent tax on Metro Airport parking and increases in circuit court filing fees.

Those proposals have a good chance of passing, according to one legislator.

"I don't see much opposition to them," said state Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville. Geake is vice chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

The parking tax and circuit court fee increases would be used to balance next year's county budget. The health care agreement would prevent future debt.

Wayne County Executive Edward

McNamara is counting on the cigarette tax increase to pay off county bonds. The bonds would be issued to pay debts owed the state, primarily for health care services.

Under a complex formula, cigarette tax money would be distributed to all Michigan counties. Tax money would be used to finance jails and youth camp operations. The $20 million Wayne County expects to receive would "fire up" money currently spent on corrections for use in paying off the bonds, McNamara said.

THE COUNTY also proposes restructuring its indigent health care program. That proposal isn't included in the bills pending before the state Legislature.

The county's financial relief package is expected to make its debut in the state Legislature this week.

Bills are expected to be introduced into the state House of Representatives on Tuesday, in time for the House Taxation Committee meeting the next day.

"If it's introduced Tuesday, I would expect it to be on Wednesday's agenda," Kosteva said.

Exec drafting budget cuts

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Wayne County executive Edward McNamara will cut $10 million from the new county budget if state legislators don't approve a package of bills designed to get the county out of debt.

Bills are expected to be introduced in the state House of Representatives on Tuesday, Dec. 1. A program about the services of the Knights of Columbus.

9:30 p.m. . . . Videotunes.

Wayne County's $229 million general operating budget is broken down into five major headings. County Executive Edward McNamara is considering $10 million in budget cuts through such major items as the county jail, contained in the sheriff's allocation, indigent health care, contained in the health and community services allocation. Many county offices, such as the clerk and treasurer, are mandated by the state or the county charter and couldn't be eliminated.

dated programs include the county parks system.

Road maintenance is financed separately through state gas and weight tax revenue transferred to the county.

The county budget demands $10 million in new state-approved revenue. Without the revenue, the budget wouldn't be balanced. The county

ARTHRITIS CAN BE A PAIN IN THE NECK

You likely consider rheumatoid arthritis as a condition that involves the hands and wrists. But rheumatoid arthritis can reach any joint, including the neck.

However, if a patient with rheumatoid arthritis complains of neck pain, the doctor cannot conclude that the individual has a flare of arthritis and that more medicine is in order.

There are at least three causes for neck pain in such instances, and each cause has a separate treatment.

First, the pain may come from the shoulders with radiation of the discomfort to the neck. Second is the involvement of the upper cervical (neck) vertebrae with rheumatoid arthritis, or in the lower cervical vertebrae, the start of osteoarthritis. Third is muscle tension, or, the ill effect of bad posture on muscles already impaired by the presence of arthritis.

The person's answers to the doctor's inquiries usually helps to clarify the cause. Often the doctor will order x-rays, as they provide a better basis than examination alone to gauge the extent of damage to the neck.

The Plymouth Inn
The Gracious Alternative

Someone you love is growing older and needs just a bit more support than he or she can get in their current living situation. A nursing home isn't the answer. Normal activities like eating and dressing aren't a problem. But you would be happier knowing someone was there to provide gentle encouragement and firm support when needed, in a non-institutional atmosphere.

The answer is The Plymouth Inn, a magnificent residence for seniors who want their independence but need some supervision as well. Consider some of the many advantages:

- Spacious mini-suites for those who desire extra comfort and privacy.
- Deluxe semi-private accommodations, richly appointed, with private lavatories and showers.
- Conveniently located near Plymouth, Northville, and Livonia, with easy access to major highways.
- Tranquil landscaped grounds and lovely common areas.
- Three delicious meals served in our central dining room by a friendly, attentive staff of professionals.
- Extensive, varied social programs and recreational opportunities.
- Game room, chapel, beauty parlor and lounges, all designed with the special needs of our residents in mind.

The Plymouth Inn welcomes your inspection visit. When you see what we have to offer we think you will agree that The Plymouth Inn is a very special place where your loved one can feel secure, yet independent. We invite you to call today for an appointment.

MEET THE NEW
DOCTOR IN TOWN

Hi, I'm
Dr. Thomas J.
Gerou, D.C.

PROFESSIONAL QUALIFICATIONS

Did you know that becoming certified as a chiropractor requires a minimum of six years of highly specialized college training?

Today's Doctor of Chiropractic must complete 4,485 hours of classroom instruction and pass a rigid chiropractic board examination before earning a license. In most states, continuing educational seminars must be completed for annual license renewal.

PERSONAL BACKGROUND

In addition, I have completed courses in Physiotherapy, Nutrition, and Acupuncture; and hold a Bachelor of Science degree in Human Biology from the National College of Chiropractic, and a Bachelor of Science in Biology/Physiology from Eastern Michigan University. Post-graduate studies included Applied Kinesiology and Sacro-Occipital Technique. While in college, I received Honors for Exemplary Academic Achievement. In 1984-86 I was honored to be named to the FCER Boston Marathon Team. To further my continuing education, I have received special training since college in Scoliosis from Dr. Mawhiney, and Pierce-Stillwagen Technique from Dr. Pierce. And, I have visited a number of other Chiropractic clinics to study their methods and procedures including: Drs. Tickel and Fyler Clinic in Oswego, Illinois, and Dr. Kendall at the Baypointe Clinic in Walled Lake.

Additionally, I devote three days every month attending a nationwide seminar in Chicago, Illinois, to stay current on the latest Chiropractic advances.

This is the kind of training and professionalism I offer you. If you have hesitated visiting a chiropractor, perhaps you didn't know that chiropractors go to such great lengths to continue their education and provide you with the latest techniques and the most qualified service. So, you see, what you don't know, can't help you. Call me today and let me help you.

Did you know that the symptoms most commonly treated by chiropractors are:

- |                                    |                                    |  |

Big meal a labor of love

Just got off the phone and, once again, find myself with a "no ifs ands or buts" invitation to Thanksgiving dinner at Momma's. Every year I try to coerce the matriarch of the family into having the traditional family dinner at my house but, alas, to no avail.

Tradition. The fiddler on the roof had no idea what he was getting us all into when he sang those famous words. With six brothers and sisters, all of whom have long since flown the coop, many with families of their own, I will once again refrain from making calls for two days before and at least two days after to Momma's house because she will be so busy preparing the traditional Thanksgiving feast.

One thing to take thanks for this year, as in the last few years, Momma will refrain from stuffing the turkeys and putting them in roasters two days before the gala food orgy. I can remember being sent behind the garage to look for two of the "biggest, cleanest bricks" I could find so that Momma could wrap them in foil to hold down the lid of the roaster because the turkey was so big the lid wouldn't hold tight.

ALL THE KIDS would gather 'round the dinner table with large bowls, and each was given an entire loaf of bread that had to be torn apart in just the right size for the stuffing.

After a day or two of drying, the onions were chopped by hand. (Momma didn't then and still doesn't believe in food processors.) A large cast-iron kettle was filled with water, and what looked like the grossest innards of the turkey were added to make the stock.

After simmering the neck, gizzards and whatever else was hidden in the cavity, for hours on end, the resulting broth was then strained and used to moisten the bread cubes that by now had been heavily seasoned with sage, paprika, salt and pepper.

A few years ago, I asked Momma, with her nylons rolled down to her ankles and curlers in her hair, what the precise measurements were. She laughed and said her only measuring utensil was her tongue and tastebuds and that I should start out light and keep adding and stirring till it tasted "just right."

After the turkeys were stuffed, the traditional pumpkin pies were then prepared. When asked why Momma wouldn't think of coming to Thanksgiving dinner at my house, I was told that it was because "you make pie crust in a machine."

WHILE WHIFFS of pumpkin, cinnamon and nutmeg filled the kitchen air, the coleslaw was chopped, again by hand. Marzetti's slaw dressing? I asked. You've got to be kidding.

On Thanksgiving, while all of us kids were eating cereal in front of the TV, while watching the old Hudson's parade, Momma would concoct her secret casserole of sweet potatoes, honey and brown sugar.

During the commercials, we ventured into the kitchen to assist in the delicate placing of marshmallows in the casserole. Eat one, place one. Eat one, place one. No wonder Weight Watchers does such a great business.

The dining room table, even with two leaves added, was too small to get everyone comfortably around, so immediately after the parade, my twin sister and I had the job of setting what used to be the ping-pong table in the basement, with dishes that were only used on this great holiday and at relatives' funerals.

Paper plates were out of the question, even though no one really enjoyed the fact the gravy always seemed to slide off the potatoes and into the cranberry sauce (canned, of course). Since my dad had to leave for work at 4 p.m., the gravy was prepared and forced through the sieve with the back of a soup ladle.

FRESH ROLLS, made while we were still sleeping, were popped into the oven and precisely at 2:15 p.m., the family was called to the table. Before being seated, we would all gather around, hold hands and bow our heads and recite. I can still remember Dad stopping in the middle of grace and telling my brother to "speak up."

After Dad left for work, the table was cleared and more room (and turkey) was made for the onslaught of relatives. Uncle Ray, Aunt Phyllis, cousins, and relatives seen only twice a year poured in, and again, at 5 p.m., another dinner was pronounced.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Pamela Lincoln of Canton and daughter, Shelby, 2½, look forward to Thanksgiving, when the festive dinner will include Lincoln's recipe for Florentine Spinach Stuffing, as well as other tasty dishes to surround the plump turkey.

Favorite ways to stuff bird

When it comes to stuffing a turkey, many readers of Taste have their own special family recipes and are willing to share them.

Dozens of readers answered our request for turkey stuffing recipes. Nine of these recipes, all submitted by women, are presented on this page. One of the most appealing is a recipe for Florentine Spinach Stuffing, which Pamela Lincoln of Canton printed on one of her own article recipe cards.

She agreed to make some stuffing, ahead of Thanksgiving, to illustrate the recipe she prepares for the holiday feast. The recipe originally appeared in a magazine, she said, but turned out to be rather bland. "I spiced it up a little," she said, with a smile.

Turkey stuffing recipes on this page represent a variety of cultures and countries. We're offering the recipes, along with comments, in the readers' own words. Here's the recipe for:

FLORENTINE SPINACH STUFFING

For 20-22 lb. turkey

- 1 lb. sweet Italian sausage, cut into small pieces
- 2 tsp. butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion, finely chopped (½ cup)
- ½ cup finely chopped celery
- ½ cup finely chopped carrot
- 2 large garlic cloves, minced
- 1 lb. fresh mushrooms, chopped
- 1 tsp. dried basil — crumbled
- 1 ½ tsp. dried thyme — crumbled

- 1 pkg. (14 oz.) cube stuffing mix
- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) chopped, frozen spinach, thawed and well drained
- 1 can (14 ½ oz.) ready to serve chicken broth

Cook sausage in butter until browned in a large skillet, stirring frequently. Stir in onion, celery, carrot, garlic, mushrooms, basil and thyme. Continue to cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until vegetables are tender and mushrooms are cooked through.

In a large bowl, toss together stuffing mix, spinach, broth and vegetable mixture until stuffing is moistened. Makes 10-11 cups.

Note: To serve as a dressing, spoon stuffing into a buttered 3-quart casserole. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for approximately 45 minutes, or until heated through.

This is an old family recipe, handed down for quite a few generations. I was told it's a French recipe. It's a very wet and dark dressing and very different. Our family loves it, but if you don't like onions you might not think it's so great. The thought of having this on Thanksgiving makes my salivary glands work overtime.

TURKEY STUFFING

20-24 lb. turkey

12-15 lbs. bermuda onions grind giblets and brown grind onions and add to giblets
add 2 tsp. salt, pepper and 2 tsp.
summer savory per frying pan

This takes 2 large frying pans. Cook covered for 2-3 hours or until tender. Keep moist by adding onion juice and by cooking slowly.

When cool add 2 eggs — no bread. Stuff the turkey and put in refrigerator overnight.

Enclosed please find my recipe for turkey stuffing. I've always received compliments and requests for the recipe. Hope you like it.

CORNBREAD STUFFING

Makes about 8 cups

- 1 cup raisins
- 2 cups turkey stock
- 1 ½ cups chopped celery
- 6 tsp. butter
- 1 cup chopped shallots or scallions
- 12 cups coarse cornbread crumbs
- 1 cup roughly chopped, cooked bacon
- 1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
- 1 cup sour cream
- 3 eggs
- 2 tsp. ground mace
- 1 tsp. freshly ground pepper
- 1 tsp. celery salt

Put the raisins into a large bowl and cover with stock. Let sit 1 hour.

Saute the celery in 2 tsp. of the butter over medium heat 8-10 minutes or until tender. Add the remaining butter and shallots and saute until lightly browned. Put celery and shallots into a large bowl and add the cornbread crumbs, bacon, walnuts, raisins, and stock. Mix well.

Add sour cream, eggs, and spices and combine thoroughly. Saute a small amount in a pan with butter and taste for seasoning.

MA ROZMAN'S TURKEY DRESSING

About 2 loaves of bread. Soak in milk to make moist.

Boil liver and gizzard together till done.

Grind liver and gizzard, chop 2 small onions. Fry all together with ½ pound bacon.

About 6 eggs, parsley, onions, 2 or 3 large stalks celery.

Salt and pepper, pinch of sage. Mix all together.

Has been in family for many years.

Thanksgiving meal was a labor of love

Then Aunt Anne and Uncle Johnny would come. Aunt Anne would always tote her famed cinnamon rolls, wrapped in three layers of foil. No one really cared for the rolls because this was "turkey day." Anyway, cinnamon rolls were made for breakfast, or so we were told. The party was still going strong, even when Dad returned from his afternoon shift at the steel mill. I think this is one reason why there's no school the day after Thanksgiving.

Sound familiar? I hope Thanksgiving at your house is filled with as many memories and good thoughts as we had. Here are a few of Momma's old tried and true recipes that could be translated into measurements. Hope you enjoy as much as I have. Bon Appetit!

GIBLET GRAVY

4 tbsp. pan drippings
3 tsp. flour
3 cups liquid from cooking giblets and neck turkey liver, gizzard and heart, chopped fine
salt and pepper to taste

Place pan drippings in a heavy saucepan and add flour and brook over medium heat until it browns. Stir constantly to remove as many lumps as possible. Add the cooking liquid to the browned flour and stir until smooth and thickened over medium heat. Add liver, gizzard and heart. Season with salt and pepper. Press through a fine sieve to remove any lumps.

CANDIED SWEET POTATOES

6 large sweet potatoes
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup water
1 1/2 tsp. butter or margarine
2 dozen large marshmallows

Scrub potatoes and boil in water until tender. Drain and remove the skins. Cut in quarters and place in an ovenproof casserole. Make a syrup by boiling the sugar with the water and butter for five minutes. Pour over sweet potatoes. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes, basting frequently with the syrup. Top with marshmallows and continue baking until marshmallows are browned.

SAGE AND ONION STUFFING

12 medium onions
3 cups stale bread cubes
1 tsp. chopped parsley
2 tsp. sage
1/2 stick (1/4 cup) melted butter
5 ribs celery, chopped fine
salt and pepper to taste

Eleanor J. Auld

This is my Grandmother Gourley's recipe for turkey stuffing from Nova Scotia, Canada. My kids say it is "the best."

1 dozen large onion rolls
1 bunch green celery
5 or 6 medium onions
1 cup chopped pecans or walnuts (or both)
1 tsp. each of dried herbs summer savory
thyme
sweet basil
a pinch of dill
salt and pepper to taste
1/2 lb. of soft diet margarine
1 cup hot water

Patricia S. Redner
Orchard Lake

Following is my turkey stuffing recipe

2 cups thinly sliced celery
1 8 oz. can sliced water chestnuts
1/2 lb. sliced fresh mushrooms
1 medium onion, chopped
1/2 green pepper, chopped
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 8 oz. pkg. herb seasoned or sage onion stuffing
1 to 1 1/2 cup chicken bouillon black pepper, poultry seasoning and sage to taste

Saute vegetables in butter in large skillet. In large bowl combine vegetables, stuffing, bouillon, and pepper and seasonings.
For casserole stuffing, place prepared stuffing in buttered casserole. Cover and bake in 325 degree oven for the last 30 minutes the poultry is roasting.

1 cup fresh or frozen blueberries, thawed
1/2 cup white wine vinegar

Here are more readers' recipes for turkey stuffing. See page 3 for more.

refrigerator. Shake them up a couple of times a day while they dry. This will take around a week.

The night before you want to make the stuffing, cut up a whole bunch of green celery into small pieces, and enough onions to make at least two cups full of each, and store them in plastic bags in the refrigerator. Combine these with the dried onion roll cubes the next morning. Add the cup of chopped nuts. Mix together all the dried herbs and whatever salt and pepper you desire. Toss all these things together.
Melt 1/4 pound of diet margarine in one cup hot water. The "diet" margarine is essential if you are at all concerned about a kosher dinner. It is non-dairy and is marked "parve," which means it is neither meat nor dairy. If you are still concerned about kosher, you will have bought a kosher turkey, and your roasting pan will be one that has never been used for non-kosher meats.

MIX ALL your stuffing ingredients with this melted margarine and water, using more hot water if the stuffing is too dry. It only needs to feel moist. Stuff the turkey, packing it in fairly tightly (against all advice from most cookbooks). Put the turkey in a covered roasting pan, with a tiny amount of water in the bottom, or put it in an uncovered pan and seal it up tightly with aluminum foil over the top.

All the juices will stay inside and give you the moist, tender, moist turkey you have ever eaten. For a 12- or 14-pound turkey, bake it in a slow oven (about 300 degrees) for 4 hours or so.
You will have left-over stuffing. Put it into a greased shallow pan and cover it with greased aluminum foil and bake for the last hour of the turkey baking. When the legs are falling off the turkey, take it out and enjoy. Of course, you don't have to be wanting a kosher meal to make this stuffing, but the onion rolls from the Jewish bakery are really essential.

Here's another turkey stuffing recipe for you. It's really hot and spicy.

HOG HEAVEN STUFFING
1 lb. spicy pork sausage (Bob Evans)
1 small onion
1 cup chopped celery
1 12-oz. bag seasoned croustons
1 egg
1 tsp. sage
1/2 cup water (approx.)

Saute sausage, onion and celery. Do not drain. Combine with croustons, egg and sage. Add water a little at a time until dressing is moist.

3-4 tsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 1/2 tsp. finely snipped fresh basil or 1 tsp. dried basil, crushed
1/2 cup salad oil
4 cups torn mixed greens
1 apple, cored and sliced
1/2 cup sliced fresh mushrooms

In a blender container or food processor bowl combine blueberries, vinegar, sugar, salt and pepper; cover and blend about 30 seconds or until blueberries are pureed. Sieve mixture; discard skins. Add basil to blueberry mixture. Transfer to a screw-top jar; add oil. Cover and shake well. Chill. Shake again just before serving. To serve, arrange greens in a large salad bowl. Top with apple slices and mushrooms. Drizzle 1/2 cup of the vinaigrette over all. Toss to serve. Store remaining dressing in refrigerator. Makes 4 servings.

Festivals accent Hungary, France

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

Festivals featuring the foods and wines of the province of Alsace in France are drawing diners to Detroit-area hotels.

The Hyatt Regency Dearborn, which presented the Hungarian Hyattfest in September, is featuring "Hungarian Hyattfest II" through Friday at the hotel's La Rotisserie Restaurant. At the Omni International Hotel at the Millender Center in Detroit, the Fete d'Alsace continues through Tuesday, Dec. 15.

Each festival has its guests. The five-member Ferenc Szent Gypsey Orchestra, on tour from Budapest, entertains diners at the Hyatt Regency with its wonderful music. Food is prepared by a seasoned team of culinary experts from the Atrium Hyatt Budapest.

Hubert Trimbach, whose family has been making wine in Alsace since 1626, was guest of honor at a recent luncheon at the Omni. He spoke about the wines of Alsace and those from Trimbach being served at the festival.

Here are recipes for a couple of dishes from the two European areas being spotlighted.

RIBSTEAK A' LA ESTERHAZY
(From the Hungarian Hyattfest)

3 1/2 pounds boneless ribsteak
7 ounces cooking fat
3 1/2 ounces butter
3 1/2 ounces onion, pared and peeled
9 ounces carrot, pared and peeled
9 ounces parsley root, pared and peeled
3 1/2 ounces flour
2 lemons
10 ounces Zoldstivan white wine
23 ounces sour cream
5 ounces bone stock
salt, ground pepper, bay leaf, sugar, mustard, parsley, green peas

Pound the sliced ribsteak, salt, dig in flour and pre-try both sides. Place the pre-fried ribsteak into a deep skillet and cover. Put a little butter into the left-over cooking fat and saute until light brown by adding flour. Put in the minced onion and continue to saute, diluting with stock made from soup bones and white wine.

Salt, season with bay leaf and ground pepper, bring to a boil, and pour over the ribsteak. Steep covered over moderate heat. When the broth begins to reduce, replenish with a little soup bone stock or white wine. Chop the mixed vegetables in julienne strips.

Saute in butter with minced onions, salt and pepper lightly, and continue to saute with minced parsley until partly cooked. When the ribsteak is nearly tender, put in the partially cooked vegetables and season with ground pepper, sugar, mustard, filtered lemon juice and a little grated lemon rind. Stew the ribsteak in this flavorful sauce over medium heat until done, making sure that the pan juices are kept rich, shallow filled with plenty of sour cream, and slightly piquant. Serve macaroni, spaghetti, steamed rice, or potato smothered in parsley as a side dish. Festoon with ribbons of sliced vegetables braised in butter.

POULARDES AU RIESLING
Chicken in Riesling
(From the Fete d'Alsace)

2 small chickens, about 2 1/2 pounds each salt and black pepper
1/2 cup butter
1 onion, quartered
1 clove garlic, chopped
2 cups Riesling wine

12 ounces fresh mushrooms, sliced thinly juice of 1 lemon
2 cups Creme Fraiche, or heavy cream

Quarter the chickens and season with salt and pepper. In a skillet, brown the chicken pieces lightly in 1/4 cup of the butter. Add the onion and garlic and pour in the wine.

Saute the mushrooms in another skillet with 1/4 cup of the butter and the lemon juice. Drain mushrooms and reserve. Keep hot.

Pour the mixture of butter and lemon juice over the pieces of chicken and simmer, covered, for 30-35 minutes.

When the chickens are cooked, place them on a hot serving platter and spread the mushrooms over them. Keep warm.

Boil the pan juices until reduced to half the volume. Stir the cream into the pan juices and let cook for 5 minutes or until thickened. Stir in the remaining butter.

Taste for seasoning, then strain the sauce and spoon over the pieces of chicken.
Preparation time: 45 minutes.
Cooking time: 45 minutes.
Suggested wine: Riesling.

You don't have to cook whole turkey

AP - Once, the only way to cook turkey was to stuff and roast a whole bird at holiday time, stuffing yourself, too, and eating leftovers for days. Now, thanks to fresh and frozen turkey portions, you can prepare turkey for two or a few anytime. Here's a rundown of the convenient turkey portions available:

BREASTS

You'll find whole breasts weighing 4 to 7 pounds, breast halves and breast quarters. These all white meat cuts are available fresh, frozen and smoked (fully cooked). Roast or grill.
Turkey breast tenderloins are the whole muscle on the inside of the breast. Turkey breast tenderloin steaks are 1/2-inch-thick, lengthwise cuts from the tenderloin. Broil, grill, pan fry or microwave.

Turkey breast steaks are 1/2- to 1-inch thick crosswise cut from the whole or half breast. The turkey breast also can be sliced crosswise into 1/4- to 3/8-inch thick, boneless pieces called turkey breast slices or cutlets. Use these portions as a substitute for boneless chicken breasts or veal cutlets. Broil thick pieces, pan fry or microwave thick or thin cuts.

DRUMSTICKS

Economical drumsticks are available fresh, frozen and smoked. When cooked, the meat is ideal for recipes calling for diced turkey, such as casseroles and salads. Braise, stew, roast or microwave.

est part of the wing, that weigh about 8 ounces. Braise, stew or microwave.

GROUND TURKEY

This mixture of dark and white meat is sold in 1-pound tubes. With less than 15 percent fat, it's an ideal substitute in recipes calling for lean ground meat.

SPECIAL PRODUCTS

At the deli counter, look for turkey ham, bologna, salami and smoked link sausage. You'll find frankfurters and breakfast turkey sausage in the meat or freezer case.

Since when is it a crime to turn 18?
Of course turning 18 isn't a crime at all. However, turning 18 without registering with Selective Service is.
That's why we need your help. We need parents to tell their sons to register with Selective Service within a month of turning 18. And we need teachers, friends, employers and others who can influence these young men to reinforce the message.
Why? Because, for one reason, it's the law. But in addition to risking prosecution by not registering, your son or young friend is disqualifying himself from eligibility for federal student loans, federal employment and job training programs.
America's future security depends upon today's young men registering with Selective Service on time. Having a complete registration list saves our country six vital weeks in mobilizing its manpower should Congress ever declare a national emergency.
All of today's 18-year-olds and all of tomorrow's 18-year-olds must be informed about the registration requirement.
You can help. Ask a young man you know if he is registered.

Filmmaker Warren Miller's (above) "White Winter Heat" features daredevil sports action such as these windsurfers challenging the waves.

'White Winter Heat' captures hot ski action

Internationally known filmmaker Warren Miller has attempted to capture the power of skiing on film in his new feature-length release, "White Winter Heat," presented by Audi Quattro, WJR-AM Radio and the Metro Times.

"White Winter Heat" will be shown at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Michigan Theater in Ann Arbor; 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 25, at Detroit's Ford Auditorium, and 3 and 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 28, in the Royal Oak Music Theater.

His 38th ski film in as many years, "White Winter Heat," is a humorous adventure, produced, written, directed and narrated by Miller with his cameramen filming action — all woven together with Miller's characteristic humor.

"White Winter Heat" was filmed on four continents — from the mysterious alpine beauty of the New Zealand Alps and the romance of summer skiing in Las Lenas, Argentina, to the hottest skiing spots in North America.

It contains ski sequences of helicopter skiing in British Columbia, cliff jumping, as well as windsurfing in Oregon's River Gorge, a mountain bike race, horse racing on the ice at St. Moritz and a 75 mph bobsled ride with Miller's "you-are-there" camera techniques.

To capture the exciting footage, Miller and his crews logged over 300,000 air miles and drove 25,000 miles to film 200,000 feet of film.

Tickets are available at all Ticketmaster locations, and at each theater box office, or may be purchased by calling 423-6666.

Same crime, different punishment

SEVEN DEATHS, SEVEN DEALS

What started as a homicide in Detroit triggered an investigation into the inequities and injustices being committed in the courts throughout the state of Michigan.

Records showed similar crimes did not receive similar punishment. And proved punishment rested more on a judge's philosophy than on the crime committed.

Within days after the publication of a story that documented this information, the Michigan Supreme Court made some changes.

Changes that wouldn't have occurred if a few reporters at a Detroit newspaper hadn't been looking for a story.

It's an example of how individual rights can be protected when the public is kept informed.

It's an example of how a free press works in a free society. And what could go on without it.

To get printed information on the role of a free press and how it protects your rights, or to discuss any free press issue, call the First Amendment Center at 1-800-542-1600.

Salem hits high gear, defeats Chiefs in final

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

And still champion — Plymouth Salem.

The Rocks left no doubt they deserved to keep the Western Lakes Activities Association girls basketball trophy Saturday night as they KO'd Plymouth Canton 57-42 to claim their third straight title.

In boosting its season record to 19-1, Salem started fast and raced to an 18-2 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Dena Head, who has played on all three championship teams as have fellow seniors Keri McBride and Stacy Sovine, collected 21 of her game-high 26 points as the charged-up Rocks had the game well in hand by halftime, 35-16.

"I don't think we came prepared to play any differently than we normally do," Head said. "The lead doesn't say anything until the final seconds tick off."

"This championship is great, but Thursday's game means a lot more," she added. "That game will be the test for our team."

SALEM AND the Chiefs, who have been the losers in each of the last three WLAA finals, will meet again at 7:30 p.m. Thursday when they square off in the first game of the Class A district tournament at Salem.

"Can't wait," said Canton coach Rob Neu. "We're delighted to get to play these guys again."

"We'll look at the film, make our adjustments — and we'll come to play."

In retrospect, it's possible the decisive point in Saturday's game was the opening basket. McBride dropped in a three-pointer shortly after the opening bell, and the Rocks never looked back.

"That was a big score, because that put us back on our heels," Neu said.

girls basketball

IF THAT was a turning point, then the game was decided in the first quarter. Salem led 11-0 before Susan Ferko, who led Canton with 17 points, broke the ice with two free throws at 3:22.

But Head converted a three-point play, Jill Estey drove the baseline for two and Head scored off the fast break to put the Rocks on top by 16 at the end.

"Being able to start like we did helped us for 32 minutes," Salem coach Fred Thomann said. "We put them in the position of playing catch-up, and that's a tough position to play from."

Salem's 2-3 zone defense was the biggest factor in establishing a lead for the Rocks.

The Canton girls had trouble shooting over the combination Krug in the middle and either McBride, Sovine or Shelley Bohlen on the sides. The Chiefs were forced to shoot off balance, and Head and Estey were there to hassle them whenever they tried to put the ball on the floor in the post area.

"I THINK putting them in a position where it was really hard for them to score was a key for us," Thomann said. "I thought the kids had tremendous intensity tonight, especially at the defensive end."

Canton didn't score a field goal until Ferko put back a rebound at 6:55 in the second quarter. The points came a little easier after that, but the Rocks were still too tough on defense, too efficient on offense and too far ahead.

Because Salem shut the Chiefs off inside, Canton had to work the ball around more than usual. But that set up the Chiefs for some turnovers and left them vulnerable to the quick hands of Estey and Head on the perimeter.

Neu said he thought the Chiefs, who have lost three times to Salem during a 15-5 season, played well once they recovered from the bad start, but credited the Rocks with playing at an even higher level.

"I won't take anything away from our kids, because I thought they played well, but Salem was outstanding," he said. "They did a nice job of using their athletic ability at the guards and height advantage inside."

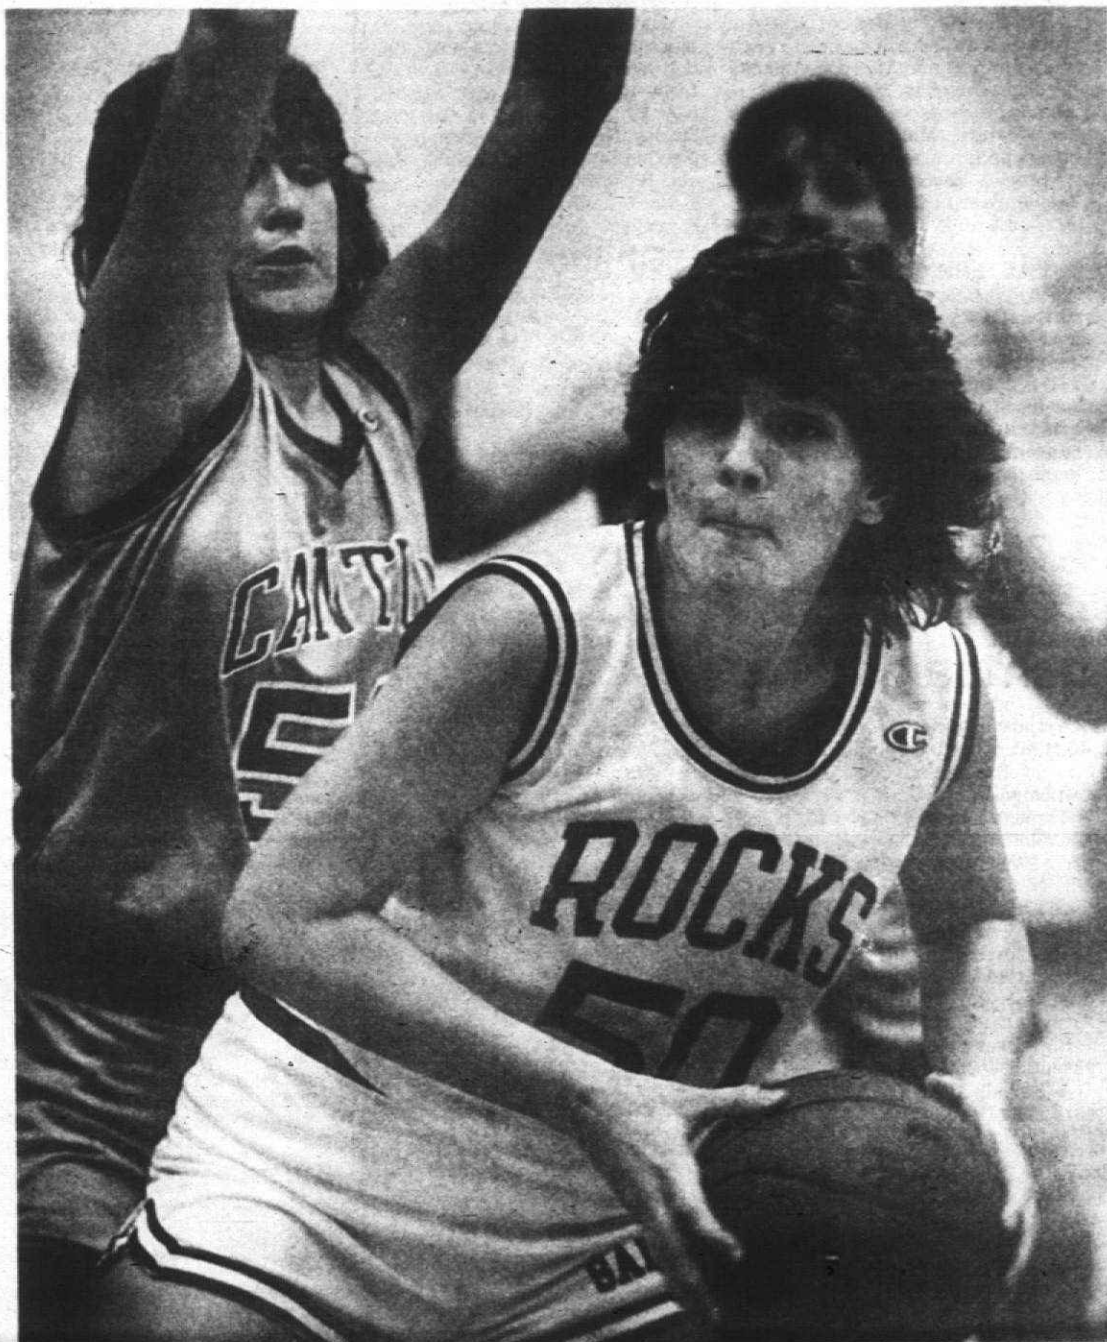

Canton got within 15 points (37-22) early in the second half on baskets by Candi Jones and Ferko and free throws by Boluch. But the Rocks, beginning with five points from Krug, scored the next seven and outpointed Canton 11-2 the rest of the quarter.

KRUG'S TWO field goals — one resulted in a three-point play — came on offensive rebounds and were an example of Salem's alert play around the basket. The Rocks had some fast breaks, but most of their points were scored on second attempts.

"They're a team that doesn't allow many break opportunities," said Thomann of the Chiefs. "When that happens, you have to figure out other ways to get your points."

"When something is not working, you have to find out what is, and the kids did a real fine job of doing that tonight."

Estey added eight points for the Rocks, Krug and McBride seven apiece. Jones and Boluch, who was scoreless in the first half, had eight points each for Canton.

Churchill nips Chiefs to capture swim title

It was one of those rare competitions that actually pleased coaches from both teams.

Livonia Churchill proved to be the winner Thursday at Plymouth Canton in a showdown for the Western Division girls swimming title. The Chargers were hard-pressed to keep their dual-meet record perfect, edging the Chiefs 88-84.

"It was a come-from-behind win for us," said Churchill coach Lawrence Hein. "We were down 10 points after the diving and Canton was ahead 72-70 going into the last relay."

The Chargers won the meet — and the division title — by taking first and third in the final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay. Jenifer Danner, Ann VandeLaare, Katie Hamann and Audra Martin teamed for the victory in 3:52.5. Canton was second in a school-record 3:54.4 and Churchill took third in 4:09.4.

BUT THE MEET may have turned in the Chargers' favor a few events earlier. In the 100 butterfly Hines opted to pull Martin, his best in the event, substituting Hamann in her place. Hamann helped make the switch work by winning the fly in 1:05.28.

"It was a key change for us," explained Hein. "Martin usually swims the fly. Putting Katie in let us put Audra in the back. That gave us another win and kept Canton from going one-two on us in the 100 backstroke."

Canton's twosome of Cassie Cummins and Jean McLenaghan in the back worried Hein. But Martin won the event in 1:03.17. Cummins was second in a school-record 1:03.9. Had Canton indeed swept the top two spots (McLanaghan took third), it would have won the meet.

MARTIN WAS one of two double-winners in individual events for Churchill. She also captured the 200 individual medley (2:12.8). Cathy Ankenbrandt won both the 50 (26.47) and 100 free (58.63) for the Chargers.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Danielle Dickinson reaches the finish of the 50-yard freestyle sprint. She was runner-up to Churchill's Cathy Ankenbrandt with a 26.99 time. The Chiefs came up four points shy in their division showdown.

Nicole Drake won a pair for the Chiefs, taking the 200 (2:01.05) and 500 (5:14.72) free.

Churchill's Angie Neville won the 100 breast (1:13.01) and the Charger team of Beth Marcy, Neville, Lisa Roselle and Ankenbrandt were first in the 200 medley relay (2:02.05).

Canton's only other winner was Amy Van Buhler in the diving (176.05 points).

Chief coach Hooker Wellman was pleased with his team's performance in defeat. "The kids swam great times," he said. "Churchill maybe should have won by more. I'm looking forward to the league meet."

So is Hein. "I expect the league meet to be very competitive," he said. "North Farmington's ranked sixth in the state and has to be the favorite."

The Western Lakes Activities Association meet will start Wednesday with swimming preliminaries; diving prelims are Thursday. Finals for both will start at 7 p.m. Friday. Plymouth Salem will host all three days.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

The splashing continues after the race with Nicole Drake's post-event activity. Drake gave Canton first place in the 200 and 500 freestyles.

Shamrocks edge Sterling Heights

By Brad Emons
staff writer

What's this, Air Mach? Redford Catholic Central stumped the experts Saturday, taking a page out of former San Diego Charger coach Don Coryell's notebook, using the forward pass to beat previously unbeaten Sterling Heights for the Class A Region IV football championship, 10-7.

The win sets up Boys Bowl II, a confrontation between CC (10-1) and Birmingham Brother Rice (10-1) for the second time this season. (CC won the first meeting in double overtime, 10-7.) The two Catholic League rivals will meet in the state semifinals at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 21 at Walled Lake Central High School. Rice also advanced, winning the Region III crown with a 27-13 win over Grosse Pointe South.

CC coach Tom Mach, whose teams are known traditionally for their grinding offensive ground game, had other ideas against the massive Stallions defense as junior quarterback Scott Hauncher, in his best outing of the season, completed 12 of 23 passes for 133 yards and one touchdown.

"OUR PLAN was to go right at them like we do against everybody else," said Mach. "But if we're not having success at running the ball, we have other things we can go to."

The Shamrocks dominated statistically, running 55 plays to the host Stallions' 31. CC rolled up 253 yards total offense to Sterling Heights' 193.

But nearly half of those Sterling Heights yards came on one play, an 80-yard touchdown run by quarterback Chris Demetral with 6:59 left in the first half to give his team a 7-0 lead. (George Badalow added the extra point.)

Prior to that score, CC marched twice inside the Sterling Heights 10, only to come up empty. Pete Elezovic first missed a 30-yard field goal and then fullback Lee Krueger was stopped short of a first down on fourth-and-1.

But Elezovic later redeemed himself, kicking the game-winning field goal, a 19-yarder, with 4:21 left in the game.

But the key series in the intense battle occurred just before halftime when Hauncher directed 78-yard TD drive in less than two minutes, completing five straight passes capped by a 9-yard scoring toss to Jeff Szajnecki with only 18 seconds left.

"IN THE FIRST HALF we played well, but we just didn't get the first downs when we needed it," said Mach, who led CC to the state title in 1979. "But that was one of the best last-minute drives I've ever seen at CC. Our quarterback showed tremendous poise, waiting and then hitting his secondary receiver."

"In order to keep on winning in the playoffs you've got to have that poise in key situations. This is only his second year of playing quarterback and he has a lot more confidence than he did in the early part of the season. He's played 11 games now and he's starting to see the whole field. He's reading the defenses much better."

Hauncher, faced with a crucial fourth-and-11 situation in the final quarter, connected with Johnston on a 17-yarder over the middle for a key first down, setting up Elezovic's game-winner.

But Hauncher didn't do it all himself, as CC's offensive line — Toby Heaton, Mike Firestone, Kurt Ross, Ted Rieple, Lou Yeager and Erik Knuth — provided more than adequate protection.

AND CC'S DEFENSE once again held up its end of the bargain, stopping the Stallions' last-ditch try for victory.

With less than three minutes to go, Demetral hit four of six passes, marching his team down to the CC 20.

But the Shamrocks' right side of the line stopped Rich Pyszel on a sweep, 2 yards short of the first down marker on fourth-and-three with just over a minute remaining.

"It was a quick pitch using our best blocker and best runner, all we needed was a first down," said Sterling Heights coach Bob Miles. "If I had to do it all over again I might have run something different."

"It was a good play, a surprise because I anticipated a pass," said Mach. "They ran a good play, but our end normally reads that pretty well."

Lake Superior GLC cage pick

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Every year it's the same thing: The Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference women's basketball coaches pick one team to win the title at their pre-season media meeting, and every year Saginaw Valley State upsets.

Once again, SVSU was chosen to finish second despite a 15-1 mark and a title a year ago, and even with four of their top six scorers back and a string of four consecutive titles. Lake Superior State was picked to win the title at Monday's meeting in East Lansing.

Chosen to finish third was Grand Valley State, with Oakland University fourth, Northern Michigan fifth, Ferris State sixth, Hillsdale seventh, Wayne State eighth and Michigan Tech ninth.

SVSU coach Claudette Charney thinks she has the talent to repeat, especially if two Observerland players come through — 5-foot-9 sophomore guard Marie Becker (from Redford Union) and 5-8 freshman guard Jessica Handley (Plymouth Salem).

"Becker worked harder than anyone this summer," said Charney. "She is really driven. She really loves the game."

Handley "will take very little time adjusting to the college game. She's a strong, solid player and a good passer. I can see her as our point guard of the future."

Eagles crush Sacred Heart

Plymouth Christian Academy closed out its regular-season schedule with a 24-point victory over Bloomfield Hills Sacred Heart in girls basketball Thursday.

Three players scored in double figures as the Eagles rolled up a first-half lead and coasted to a 59-35 win on the loser's floor.

Juniors Diane Benson and Shelly Oxley paced PCA with 16 and 13 points, respectively, and Elaine Priebe scored 11. Benson and Priebe also had seven rebounds apiece, and Priebe added four assists and four blocks.

The Eagles, 8-12 overall, outscored Sacred Heart by 11 in the second quarter and led 32-15 at halftime. PCA was 9-of-22 shooting free throws, the opposition 4-of-15.

Janine Praelange, the floor leader for Sacred Heart, got in first-half foul trouble and went to the bench. Without her, her team was especially vulnerable to PCA's press, and the Eagles were able to steal the ball with great frequency and score easy baskets.

Priebe sparked PCA's 19-point second quarter with eight points, and the Eagles were 7-of-12 at the line in that period.

PCA will play Lutheran Westland in a Class D district game Friday, Nov. 20, at Taylor Baptist Park.

exercising options Myrna Partrich Light hand weights are a great benefit

Dear Myrna: I have been taking exercise classes for years. Finally, I've switched my aerobics to non-impact or low impact. I come to your studio. I especially enjoy your new high/low impact fat burner and high/low impact intermediate class. I like the combination and variety of aerobics. Can you give me some information on using hand weights in such classes. How am I benefitting?

Joan M.

You definitely are gaining great benefit from using light (one- to two-pound) hand weights in a low impact class, both cardiovascular benefit and upper body muscle toning.

For the most part, in our normal every day routines (walking, climbing, stairs, etc.) we do not include enough upper body movement. You rarely will get upper body workout unless you seek it in an exercise class, or some type of upper body weight machines or free weights.

One of the characteristics of low- or non-impact classes is the use of upper body to achieve full cardio workout. Movements of the arms, especially with weights, can elevate the cardiovascular load considerably without added stress to the legs.

For many people, keeping the arms active — with or without added weights (while legs are executing low-impact movements) — will elevate the heart rate to a target zone. In addition to the cardiovascular benefits, all of the arm, chest, shoulder and back movements contribute to stronger muscles and a toned appearance.

In my opinion, nothing looks more beautiful on a woman than a pretty, well defined upper body.

If you have exercised for years, you may need to include light weights — hand held or wrist — in your workout to increase the cardiovascular load. Safety is the key here! It is important to start with a one-pound weight — maybe never increasing beyond one pound.

With any arm or upper body motions, your movements must be done carefully to avoid injury. If movements are done too quickly, you will create a force and momentum that can take a limb beyond its normal range of motion in the joint. Repeated action of this may cause ligament, tendon and joint problems.

Thank you for complimenting our new class — high/low impact aerobics. We think the combo will be safe, interesting and fun. If the class description does not include weights, do not feel strange about using them anyway.

Let's not forget one of the most common questions: Will I build big muscles? The answer is no.

While working with weights will help to increase muscle endurance, it will not produce large, bulky muscles. You develop bulk by lifting heavy weights for several repetitions, as in weight training or body building.

In aerobics, the light weights will simply give your muscles more definition and your body lots more stamina.

Believe me, if you are up for it you will see a big difference. Have fun!

(Myrna Partrich, co-owner of The Workout Company of Bloomfield Township, is happy to answer any questions readers may have regarding exercise. Please send your signed questions to: Sports Department, Myrna Partrich, 1225 Bowers, Birmingham 48012.)

Unlucky Ocelots hope for better basketball

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Talk about ominous beginnings. Dave Bogataj has had his share as Schoolcraft College's mens basketball coach already.

He was hired less than three weeks ago when former coach Bob Wetzel abruptly resigned. He has already lost two promising recruits, Andy Grazulis (from Westland John Glenn) and Joe Miskovich. Grazulis left after Wetzel quit, personal problems have sidelined Miskovich.

So Bogataj is just starting to get to know his players and their abilities; only now are his offensive and defensive concepts starting to sink in.

And the season-opener was last Friday — on the Friday the 13th.

"I'm not superstitious or anything," said Bogataj before his team's game against Flint Jordan in the Macomb CC Tip-Off Classic. "I'm not going to be carrying a box of salt onto the floor."

Maybe he should. Just for luck. Because the Ocelots may need it, particularly early in the season.

Nothing particularly foreboding about that, except the three-games-in-four-days scheduling. After that, though, it gets serious.

SC starts its Eastern Conference season Dec. 9 at home against Macomb, a team expected to challenge for the title. In the 10 days that follow, the Ocelots play every other title-holding, including defending regular-season champ Highland Park CC (Dec. 12) and conference playoff winner Oakland CC (Dec. 16).

In the weeks ahead, the Ocelots will play both Detroit Jordan and Flint Jordan at home (Nov. 27 and 28) before going on the road for three straight: at Kellogg CC Dec. 2, at Adrian College (vs. the junior varsity) Dec. 4 and at Owens Tech Dec. 5.

Cabrini) is well aware of his team's — ahem — shortcomings. "We're going to be short," he said. "We have to be very conscious of the defensive boards and limit the other team to one shot."

BUT THAT'S only part of what SC must do to succeed, according to Bogataj. "Shooting well and not turning the ball over are the two most important things for us to do," he said.

Shooting and ballhandling are two of the Ocelots' strengths, with guards like 6-foot-1 Mike Sullivan (from Dearborn Divine Child), 6-2 Deon Frederick (Detroit MacKenzie) and 6-2 Steve Hawley (Westland John Glenn). "They all shoot the ball real well," said Bogataj. "And they play well together."

In the frontcourt, 6-4 Ladon Tate (Bellevue) will man the power forward post. "He's a big, thick kid, an excellent border man who shoots well," Bogataj said.

Brad Ridgeway (Farmington Harrison) is the team's 6-8 center. "His strength is his shot blocking," his coach said. "He's got a good hook and jumps well, but he's inexperienced."

Other players expected to get considerable playing time are Mark Claiborne, a 6-3 forward (Wayne Memorial) who Bogataj called "one of the best post-up people we have," and 6-4 Andy Stephens (Plymouth Christian).

SC will play "up-tempo. We have to just so (opponents) don't press us. We'll be in perpetual motion, like water bugs. We're working hard to get into our offense quickly to get easy baskets, because we're not physically capable of jumping over people."

— Dave Bogataj
SC basketball coach

On defense, the Ocelots will play mostly man-to-man. "That's going to hurt us the first couple of games until the kids get it down," predicted Bogataj. "We'll play a lot of match-up zone, too, and we'll do a lot of things to take away the game."

So what kind of team can SC be? With a new coach, new players and no time to mesh their talents, theirs will be a difficult road at best.

Area gymnasts compete

Three Plymouth-Canton girls placed among the top gymnasts in a recent United States Gymnastics Federation compulsory meet at Gym America Club in Ann Arbor.

Rebecca Allison, a junior at Plymouth Canton High School, competed in the Class I Senior Division. She was second on the vault and uneven bars, fourth on the balance beam, fifth in floor exercise and fourth in the all-around.

Lindsay Crews won the vault, beam, floor exercise and all-around competition in the Class II Junior Division. She also was ninth on the uneven bars.

Heather Gillig, a student at Pioneer Middle School, competed in the Class III Children's Division and placed seventh on the balance beam.

Allison is the daughter of Tom and Kathie Allison of Plymouth, Crews the daughter of Bob and Barb Crews of Canton and Gillig the daughter of James and Sandy Gillig of Canton.

• VOLLEYBALL TRYOUTS
Tryouts for the girls volleyball teams at Plymouth Salem and Canton high schools are set for this week.

For Salem students in grades 10-12, there will be an organizational meeting in Room 2703 at 2:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 16. Tryouts will last until 5 p.m. Monday, 2:30 to 4 p.m. the following days.

Salem freshmen will meet Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 3:30 p.m. in the boys gymnasium balcony. Tryouts will last until 5 p.m.

Canton tryouts also begin Monday, Nov. 16. For details, students should contact coach Allie Suflety in Room 2703 of the Salem building during the day or the athletic office in Phase III.

• MEN'S RACQUETBALL
A men's racquetball league is scheduled to begin play Wednesday, Dec. 2, at Rose Shores of Canton. Canton Parks and Recreation is sponsoring the league, which will have court times at 7:30 and 8 p.m.

The fee is $82 per person, which includes all court times and awards. The league will meet for 12 weeks and will be divided into divisions based on individual ability.

An organizational meeting will take place the first night. League openings are limited. For information, call Bob Dates at the parks and recreation department at 397-5110.

• SPORTS SALE
The Third Annual Used Sports Equipment Sale is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 5. The sale will take place on the first floor of the Canton Township Administration Building, 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

The public may sell its used sports or recreational equipment. Sellers can bring their equipment to the administration building on Thursday, Dec. 3, between 6 and 9 p.m. to be priced and tagged.

The seller sets the price, with 15 percent going to the parks and recreation department. Volunteers will be on hand to do the selling, so the owners need not be present.

Participants in the sale can collect their money or pick up unsold items 2-3 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 5. For information, call Bob Dates at the parks and recreation department at 397-5110.

• YOUTH HOCKEY
The Plymouth-Canton Hockey Association has started a Beginning Mini-Mites program for youths between the ages of 4 and 7. The program takes place 4-5 p.m. Saturdays at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The charge is $5 for the first week and $2 for every week thereafter. The program is geared toward children with no previous skating and/or hockey experience up to the level where they are ready for organized hockey.

Children are required to have proper equipment: elbow pads, skates, a hockey helmet and a hockey stick.

For more information on the Mini-Mites program, call Ron Hayes at 455-7226 or the PCHA at 397-0111.

Lions end grid season with 3 wins

The Plymouth-Canton Lions made it a clean sweep in their final games of the 1987 season, winning all three contests with the Belleville Cougars.

The freshmen blanked the Cougars 12-0, the junior varsity eked out a 7-6 victory and the varsity punched out a 14-0 triumph. The freshmen ended the season with a 3-3-2 record, the junior varsity 4-4 and the varsity 6-1-1.

Jason Perko and Jim Beesley scored the freshman team's touchdowns. Both extra-point attempts were unsuccessful, but the Lions' defense did its part by keeping Belleville off the scoreboard.

Scott Wilson accounted for the JV's only score, and Pat Martinez scored the crucial extra point in Plymouth-Canton's one-point victory.

Matt Roney got the varsity started with a 45-yard touchdown pass reception. Matt Kuzavinski scored the other TD and an extra point, and Steve Hohl passed to Boyd Rudy for the other extra point.

Metroparks' candidates' goal: marketing

By Philip A. Sherman staff writer

A new executive director for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority will be chosen by the authority's board of commissioners from a list of six internal and three external candidates.

Their decision is expected at the board's Dec. 17 meeting.

The HCMA board Thursday interviewed internal candidates to replace outgoing director James Pompo. Pompo resigned and is expected to step down by next March. Each candidate was scheduled for a 20-minute interview.

INTERNAL candidates interviewed were:

- Gary Bartsch, superintendent of Hudson Mills, Dexter-Huron, Delhi, Indian Springs and Huron Meadows Metroparks.
- Ernest Burkeen Jr., superintendent of Lower Huron, Willow and Oakwoods Metroparks.
- Frank Sudek, secretary and purchasing manager.

EXTERNAL candidates interviewed were:

- Kenneth Smith, superintendent of Lake Erie Metropark.
- Gregory Almas, personnel officer.
- William Sherman, deputy director.

HCMA is a five-county agency operating 13 Metroparks, including Kensington, Stony Creek and Metro Beach.

BOARD MEMBERS asked candidates similar questions, including what new ideas they would institute as director, what services the parks should offer by the year 2000 and whether they would make the region, or an individual commissioner's needs their primary concern.

Overnight camping was prominent among new ideas several candidates said they would investigate.

A majority of the candidates also indicated the need for a stronger marketing program to promote the parks, programs and facilities.

All candidates said they would try to strike a compromise between needs of the region and individual commissioners, but added the region should come first.

OVERUTILIZATION was on the mind of Washtenaw County member Robert Marans, who asked pro-marketing candidates how they would maintain the quiet and solitude of the Metropark wooded areas.

Answers ranged from Sherman's, who said they would have to meet any expansion, to Burkeen's, whose strategy included programming the use of parks to meet seasonal and individual groups' needs.

After the last interview, the board voted to ask Pompo and Oakland board member James Clarkson to pre-screen external candidates.

Pompo said he had eight applications but probably could disqualify all but three. The board decided to interview those three candidates in a special meeting at 10 a.m. Dec. 3.

A THIRD motion was approved to stop accepting applications for the position as of 4 p.m. Friday, Nov. 20.

When interviews are finished, the board will go into closed session to discuss the merits of each candidate.

The new executive director will be voted on publicly Dec. 17.

Pompo's salary is in the $60,000 range, according to a previously published report.

This was the first meeting for commissioner James Young, chosen to succeed Clifton Heller, who died last Sept. 26. Wayne County member John C. Hertel and Macomb County member Thomas Welsh were absent for the interviews.

The only thing a kid should be getting in school is smarter.

Unfortunately, what too many of them are getting instead is drugs. With your help, it doesn't have to be this way.

There is a program called "Schools Without Drugs: The Challenge" that can help you deal with the drug problem in your community or school.

Find out about it. The smarter you are about what works against drugs, the better chance our kids will understand how dumb it is to take them.

IT COSTS A LOT TO SAY YES TO SUICIDE PREVENTION.

BUT WE CAN'T AFFORD TO SAY NO.

An alarming number of teenagers find life too difficult to cope with. More and more of them are taking matters into their own hands. To prevent these suicides, the United Foundation Torch Drive supports 21 agencies in the tri-county area that offer help.

Last year, you helped fund suicide prevention services with $6.1 million. This year, the need has grown. Your contributions must help more teens in need of counseling, shelter and crisis intervention.

So please give more to the Torch Drive and help fund 153 health and human service agencies in the tri-county area. Agencies that not only help troubled teenagers, but also provide services to the handicapped, the elderly, the unemployed, the abused and much more. It costs a lot to say yes. But, when it comes to teenage suicide, we can't afford to say no. GIVE...FOR ALL THE GOOD YOU CAN DO.

Ruel Lavender croons Lionel Ritchie's "Say You, Say Me" at Unique Television at Northland Mall in Southfield, one of several local recording studios that let the average person record his or her own music video.

TV tunes

Everyday people turn rock-video stars

By Brian Lysaght
staff writer

Harold Dickson wants to be a rappin' superstar.

"I've been rappin' since I'm 16. Now I'm 18. I really wanna make it to the top," he said.

He writes his own words. His songs speak of "streets, girls and love," he said.

Dickson spoke a moment after he had cut his first video. The project took all of one-half hour. It cost him $30, which he plunked down because he wanted a video to show somebody — talent scouts or agents in the music business.

He went to Unique Television at Northland Mall in Southfield to make the video.

The project began when he recorded his words on top of a UTV beat-track of bass and drums. With the audio tape made, he moved to UTV's video studio, where he mouthed the words of the audio recording while a camera rolled.

TWO STORES IN metro Detroit — UTV and Guest Artist Recording and Video Studios in Farmington Hills — are bringing music video production to the masses. They took production out of Hollywood and into the shopping mall and made it affordable.

Granted, these videos won't make the one-gloved man look bad, and they aren't Steven Spielberg productions.

But they are relatively easy and

"If they can count to four, we can make them sound respectable."

— Sheldon Rott

Guest Artist Recording and Video Studios

relatively cheap. And if it's true that everybody wants to be a star, one of these numbers may provide the most direct path to stardom. You don't have to sing well or read music, but it helps if you can keep a beat.

At either store, you pick a song, preferably a familiar one, and are provided with headphones and a sheet with words and music.

Your song selection plays through the earphones — music only. After a dry run with a store employee who directs you from behind the counter or through the earphones, you sing the words into a microphone.

You can stop there — take the audio and run — or get filmed while singing.

The stores' owners say that although some pros come in, most of their customers are good-humored amateurs having fun or serious amateurs who will use their recording to get their foot in that mythical door.

"IF THEY CAN count to four, we can make them sound respectable," said Sheldon Rott, whose wife, Carol, runs Guest Artist studios.

If they can't carry a tune? No problem, said Rott. Store employees can turn up music and echo to bury the vocal track.

UTV opened two months ago at Northland Mall. Two partners, one an engineer, the other a business expert, call the project an experiment that has gone well so far. They declined to give their name for this story, saying it might jeopardize their daytime corporate jobs.

The store has 1,200 musical tracks, including rock, country, pop, gospel and big band tunes. But UTV has been deluged by the rappers like Harold Dickson.

"It appears that the women are into singing stuff, and the guys are into rap," said one of the owners, who added that Detroit is one of the rap capitals of the world.

UTV responded with three rap tracks which vary in rhythm from fast to medium to slow. Unlike the singers, the rappers record their own words to the music track.

Detroit is also the gospel capital of the world, and many gospel groups and individual singers also record there. Some groups bring their own music tapes and do only the video.

UTV IS SET UP to have fun though, so anyone can come in to make a video, said manager Sandra Campbell.

"It's like singing in the shower," Campbell said. "Everyone sings in the shower."

While tape quality is pretty good at these shopping mall studios, it is not equal to professional recording or film studios.

A basic video — Beta or VHS — is $30 at UTV. A cassette tape along with the videotape is an extra $3.50.

There are other extras: Rappers can get synthesizer riffs added to

Finnish hospitality can knock tourists down to the carpet

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

There is something about staying in Seppa Summanen's hotel in Pieksamaki, Finland, that gives me a mild hangover.

It may be lying face down on the carpet drinking champagne under the table with flowers, candles and small Finnish and American flags around me. (Read on: This is not quite what it seems.)

Maybe it's the jellied vodka eaten with a spoon or the shot glass of Koskenkorva, a vodka-like drink sold only in Finland. Seppa's rule is that you must drink one glass of Koskenkorva with every crayfish, and the crayfish are small.

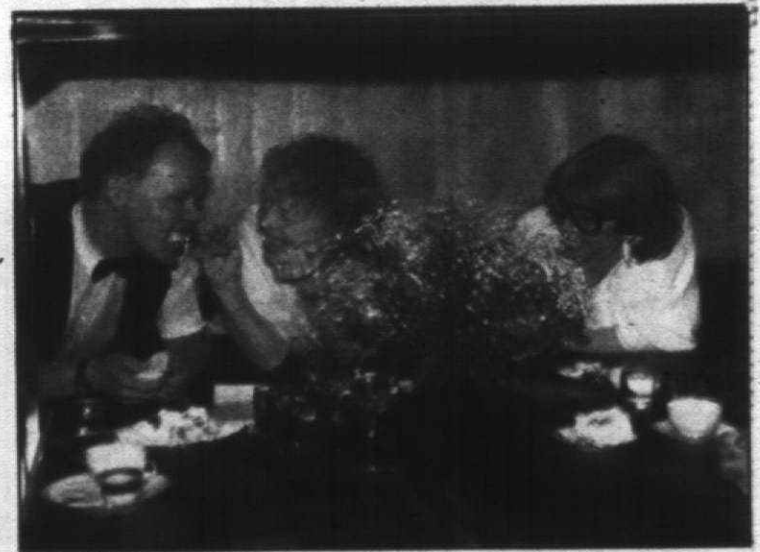

Whatever it is, I am in exactly the right place for a cure: the sauna. Not with Mr. Summanen, of course. The Finns don't sauna coed except as a family.

SEPPA SUMMANEN is the general manager of the Hotel Savonsolmu in Pieksamaki, in the lake district of Finland, four hours by train northeast of Helsinki. You've probably never heard of Pieksamaki unless you are one of the thousands of Finnish families that emigrated from Finland to Michigan, or unless you tap your toes to that popular Finnish song "Blues on the Pieksamaki Railroad Station."

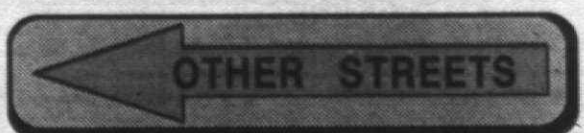

Most Americans touch down briefly in Helsinki on the Baltic Sea to the south or in Lapland, land of the midnight sun and the reindeer to the north. But very few go where the Finns and other Europeans go, to the huge network of lakes in the middle.

"Fatal Beauty" (C-) (R) 110 minutes.
Whopie Goldberg as a narcotics cop in a pink convertible starts out fast and funny. Sam Elliott is a good adversary and eventually her boyfriend. The story delivers a strong message about drugs but ultimately a poor, unrealistic plot and an excess of violence make this an unpleasant experience. Reviewed by Kathy Gujor.

"Hiding Out" (A) (PG-13) 99 minutes.
Jon Cryer is excellent portraying 17-year-old stockbroker hiding out from the Mob by faking it as his cousin's (Keith Coogan) high-school classmate. Top comedy, suspense and romance as second time through high school teaches him what's important in life.

"The Princess Bride" (A-) (PG) 98 minutes.

Last Cavalry charges on with Wild West rock

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Rollin', rollin', rollin'. Get those doggies rock 'n' rollin'.

It doesn't take a crack of the whip to get Last Cavalry in full throttle. This five-man band plays like it was the last show before the Alamo.

Last Cavalry produces a spirited brand of country 'n' western rock 'n' roll that would knock John Wayne off his saddle.

Some would call it cow punk or stagecoach punk. Drummer Dave Youngquist prefers to call it "tumbleweed thrash."

LAST CAVALRY'S music has all the needed elements for a good country twang. Their original material contains plenty of references to whiskey, women and trains.

"Mike (LaBrie, lead guitarist) actually works for the railroad," Youngquist said. "See, we have roots."

But none of the band members were pickin' and a'grinin' before Last Cavalry evolved. Their musical backgrounds vary from jazz to surf punk.

And the turn to a more rootsy brand of music almost evolved by accident two years ago.

"I was living in Birmingham, and we couldn't rehearse because of the neighbors' would scream," Youngquist said. "Terry, Dale and I would practice with an acoustic guitar and a snare."

"That was the only way we could play. When you're left with acoustic guitars, there's not much else you can do."

THE ROOTSY tunes began to appeal to them. Little did they know rock with a country edge would become fashionable as bands such as the Replacements, BoDeans and the Brandos have taken the same route with relative success.

"When David first told me about doing country music with high energy, I thought it was crazy," said Terry Burns, lead vocalist for the band.

Now it's again with this confused might find daft are Burns' stage antics.

He firmly embraces the axiom: Have wireless mike, will travel.

During one of Last Cavalry's high-energy numbers, Burns can be found in numerous places, least of which is the stage. He likes to run into the audience and, at times, share a table with some of patrons as he sings.

RECENTLY Last Cavalry won a new music contest, sponsored by Suckers and Oakland University radio station WOUX-AM, at St. Andrew's Hall. The top prize was a chance to audition for a record company. Last Cavalry will be featured on a compilation compact disc of artists to be released around Christmas. The first-of-its-kind compact disc, produced by Creative Audio Group in Troy, will be released internationally.

"Of course, a tour down South is an eventual goal as well. They figure their act will go over real well in places such as Austin, Texas."

Basket of plenty

'Tis the season for pigg'n' out, and during the holidays hardly anyone in their right mind (smile) would dare go on a diet. So why not order up a bundle of tempting munchies for your favorite relative, friend or co-workers. The fixings inside this basket will certainly fill in any gaps they may have in planning their holiday feast. This striking arrangement includes five pounds of pistachio, a giant stick of hard salami, dried fruits and mixed nuts, Italian calabrese bread, brie and cheddar cheeses and a sage herb planter. Oh, yes, a sampling of the store's wide selection of coffees and teas along with a couple of bottles of spirits, too. Deposit on the baskets is required or use your own. Prices vary according to order. Merchant of Vino stores, Southfield and Birmingham.

Sittin' pretty

If you're going to make turkey the center of attraction at your holiday feast, ol' Tom may as well sit pretty on this heavy ceramic platter big enough to hold a 25-pound gobbler and all the trimmings. Beautifully glazed autumn colors make this a treasure you'll want to use all year, not just at Thanksgiving time. $125. At all Jacobson stores. Matching side dishes (not shown) $15 each.

Coo- for baby

The thick, soft blanket and matching stocking cap for baby are handmade on a knitting machine. The light and dark color patterns are reversed on opposite side. Available in a variety of colors for boys and girls. Caps come in two sizes: infant, with ear flaps; and children 2-10. Once baby is too big to be wrapped in the blanket, it can always be used for keeping warm at football games or in the family room, "couch potato" style. Special order only, allow 3-4 weeks for delivery. Blankets, $50; hats, $19.95. At The Rocking Horse, 725 S. Adams, Adams Square Mall, Birmingham.

Party down

There's a message behind this special occasion name and address book and it's that you can have fun keeping track of the special party VIPs in your life. As the cover indicates, this is not your run-of-the-mill phone book. Little black book aside, this one rates public attention. $28. The Male Room, 6009 Orchard Lake Road, W. Bloomfield.

A word to be wise

Prono to soleciam? No desire to footie? Why not fulfill your onomatopoeian all year long with quick-fix for a dull vocabulary. You'll get praise from all besides a new ability to carry on very impressive conversations. Marmel Gifts, Farmington Hills.

STREET WISE

Mr. Turkey Trot

The time is right for running in the streets at the fifth annual Thanksgiving Day 10K Thursday, Nov. 26, in downtown Detroit. Most runs are held with a few hundred runners and a spectator total in double digits. This run, though, will attract about 5,000 runners and up to half a million observers. OK, so they all aren't there to watch a run — most of them are there for the annual parade, but they cheer like crazy as the runners come by, giving the runners a thrill pretty hard to match in other cities, on other routes. The run is called the Mr. Turkey Trot 10K this year, in honor of a new sponsor, Bil Mar Foods of Zeeland, which makes Mr. Turkey products. It will begin at 8:20 a.m. and features live coverage by Channel 7. To get an entry, call 963-4300 or check with local running stores. The fee is $8 by Nov. 20. Race-day registration is $10, 6:45-7:45 a.m. in Hall C at Cobo Hall. The winners of the men's women's and wheelchair division will get to ride a float in the parade, though not, unfortunately, with Santa.

Buffalo bill of fare

Buffalo Wellington will be the main course of a wild game dinner at 5 p.m. Sunday at MacKinnon's Restaurant in Northville. The exotic dinner is sponsored by the Cheese and Wine Barn of Plymouth. Tickets are $55 per person. (MacKinnon's, 126 E. Main, Northville; 453-1700.)

Outlying Areas - a continuing story

"WHEN BUYING A SUIT, TELL THE STORE CLERK PRECISELY WHAT YOU WANT. THIS PUTS YOU IN THE AUTHORITY POSITION."

"IF HE DOES ATTEMPT TO PUSH MERCHANDISE ON YOU, SHOW HIM THAT YOU ARE ANNOYED."

"YES, I'M LOOKING FOR A SOLID GREY WOOL SUIT."

"BECAUSE YOU HAVE SPECIFIED YOUR REQUIREMENTS, THE SALESMAN WILL NOT ATTEMPT TO PUSH MERCHANDISE ON YOU."

"THIS WILL ASSERT YOUR COMMAND OF THE SITUATION."

Everyday people become rock-video stars

Continued from Page 1 their tracks for a few dollars. There is also a $99 "superpack" video, popular among rappers, which includes two cameras instead of one, and effects like double-frame alteration, posterization and freeze-frame.

GUEST ARTIST RECORDING and video studios opened two years ago as an audio recording studio. The Rotts are veteran professional musicians. She began recording for Decca Records under the name Vicky Carol when she was 17. They played together for several years, he as bandleader and she as singer. Guest Artist has two small audio recording rooms. A third room with camera mounted on the wall functions as video and audio recording studio. Carol Rott added the video service a few months ago to meet demand. The idea for the place came to her because she wanted to put her music experience to use, and when friends told her of a small recording store at Universal Studios in California. She said her customers record for different reasons, but they often come back. Businessmen record on their lunch hour. Parents bring their kids in. "The public created more ideas than I had originally imagined," said Rott, 48, who lives with her husband and four children in Farmington Hills.

A WOMAN ONCE came in and cut a "Dear John" letter, Rott said. Guest Artist also does demo tapes for models, actors and singers. "The video gets in where they don't," Rott said. She counsels customers to pick a familiar song. The store can adjust a song's key to fit a singer's voice and offers advice if requested. Though it's not quite the real thing, people can see that the recording business isn't as easy as it seems, Rott said. A one-song video runs $19.95. Add $5 for an additional cassette tape. A one-song cassette tape is $9.95, a two-song cassette is $17.95. The cassette tapes can be played in a car stereo, and the videotape in the VCR at home. A touch of bravado might help the recording artist.

Myra Huddleston gives Ruel Lavender some last-minute instructions before he heads into the recording studio.

said Rott, who has seen more than a few customers squirm at first sight of their video. "I think you have to like yourself. Not too many people are comfortable seeing themselves."

First of all, all job interviews are important since they give you experience in interviewing. Interview with every recruiter that comes on your campus just for the experience. Plus you will be more relaxed when you know the job is not the ultimate one you are looking for.

You are putting yourself under undue pressure with the feeling you have to have a job ready and waiting when you graduate in May. That will make interviewing difficult for you. Relax, give yourself a break. The right job will turn up. Take the interviewing routine as part of your education not an appearance before a firing squad. Here are some basic tips. Follow these and your appearance will be relaxed. Greet the interviewer by name as you enter the office. If necessary, check the pronunciation with the re-

The yucks stop here

The national touring company of the Second City comedy group will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Michigan Theater in Ann Arbor. Second City, of course, was the launching pad for such comedy stars as John Belushi, John Candy, Bill Murray and Dan Aykroyd. (Michigan Theatre, 603 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor; 666-4755.)

Flute fling

Jazz flutist Alexander Zonjic will perform at the Detroit Symphony League's Fall Fling '87. The fundraiser will be Wednesday at the Radisson Plaza Hotel in Southfield. The event will begin at 6 p.m. with a cash bar and hotel tour, followed by the concert at 7:30 p.m. and a complimentary sweet table at 9 p.m. Tickets are $15. (Radisson Plaza Hotel, 1500 Town Center, Southfield; for more information, call 652-6803.)

Toy wonder

You're never too old for toys — it's just that your taste in playthings changes. As an adult, you're liable to prefer hot tubs to Hot Wheels or Lord alligators to Hasbro potato heads. All sorts of "toys" for adults — exotic cars, furs, yachts, jewels, etc. — will be on display at the Adult Toy Show at Cobo Hall in Detroit. The show will be 7-11 p.m. Friday, noon to 11 p.m. Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission will be $10 for adults, $5 for children 6-11. Cobo Hall, downtown Detroit; for more information, call 224-1010.

Halberstam to speak

Pulitzer Prize-winning author David Halberstam will speak at the next lecture in the University of Michigan-Dearborn/Ford Motor Co. High-Tech Series. Halberstam will appear 5-6:30 p.m. Tuesday at Fairlane Manor in Dearborn. Halberstam, who won the Pulitzer Prize at age 30 for his Vietnam War coverage in the New York Times, is the author of such books as "The Reckoning" and "The Best and the Brightest." There will be no admission charge. An hors d'oeuvre reception will follow. (Fairlane Manor, 19000 Hubbard, Dearborn; for more information, call 271-0233.)

Bargain hunters, such as this new-car shopper at Bill Brown Ford in Livonia, opt for no-frills cars because they can do without all the little extras — especially the extra bucks in purchase price.

By Phillip A. Sherman
staff writer

No frills cars still a hot option

I want a new car. Stripped. Nothing on it. Stick and a heater. Skip the cloth seats and carpeting; vinyl is my life. I want to flood the car to clean it. I don't drive lying down so it doesn't matter if the seats recline.

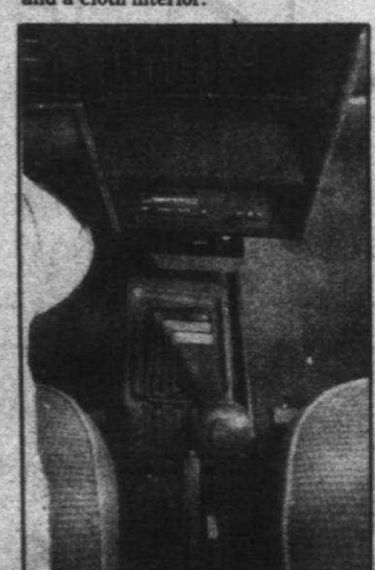

I want cheap. Equity shmequity. I'm not embarrassed to say it. It's transportation, not a home. Paint? Why? In metro Detroit, home of metal-eating salt, it will hiss and bubble like Efferdent after one season anyway.

Can such a car, suds to some, "economy-minded, entry-level transportation" to others, still be purchased without much ado? Absolutely. Despite the auto industry's preoccupation with cars that talk, tires that grip the grip of Velcro and stereo systems that outclass many home units, a sampling of area car dealers indicates they know their market and stockpile to please.

TAKE THE VW Beetle, granddaddy of the stripped-to-go genre. Out of production now for a decade, it's been replaced by the Fox, said Tim Sullivan, general manager of Tom Sullivan Volkswagen in Southfield. Unlike its cantaloupe-shaped predecessor, the Fox is a sleek sedan that carries several features as standard equipment. A basic Fox, Sullivan said, includes a rear-window defogger, reclining velour seats, four-speed stick, carpeting, front-wheel drive and the same water-cooled engine found in more expensive models. Sullivan said this one has a base price of $5,990. "Demand has overridden supply,"

Sullivan said, adding he has between 30 and 40 orders to fill at any given time for the Brazilian-made car.

For $5 more the Pontiac LeMans becomes available, said John Tournaud, sales manager of Shelton Pontiac Buick in Rochester. Tournaud said the new LeMans replaces Pontiac's T-1000 and also includes now-standard, formerly optional features such as front-wheel drive, carpeting and a cloth interior.

Everything you need — and nothing else — can be found in the spartan interior of this stripped-down Ford Escort.

"We can't keep them in stock," Tournaud said.

FOR A FEW dollars more, specifically another $4, you can put a little laococca in your life and a cigar in the ashtray of an Omni American. Bill Steckel, sales manager of Chrysler Crestwood Dodge in Garden City, said the $5,999 car "was supposed to be eliminated from the fleet but was brought back because it's a virtual sellout."

A standard package on the Omni includes a rear-window defogger, remote control exterior driver's mirror, time-delay windshield wipers, a rear-window wiper and tinted glass. Steckel said the rear wiper and tinted glass are part of the standards recently introduced, relatively speaking, to the package.

Everything in this class, it should be mentioned, comes with a stick shift. Some are four-speeds, some are five.

And none of these cars comes with air conditioning, a possible blessing in disguise. Evening along on the freeway in a four-cylinder economy wheel and flipping on the air duplicates the situation Capt. Kirk runs into every week when the Klingons are closing at warp speed and the Enterprise dithers on crystals die.

CRYSTALS ASIDE, Mike Schriber, sales manager at Bill Brown Ford in Livonia, said Ford's new automatic shoulder belt is part of the standard package on the Escort. Normally base-priced at

Despite the auto industry's preoccupation with cars that talk, tires that rival the grip of Velcro and stereo systems that outclass many home units, the stripped-down model is still a very popular option for many car buyers.

$6,186, Schriber said a dealer-incentive plan rips $860 off the sticker, dropping the Escort to $5,688 until Dec. 2.

The successor to the Pinto, Escort has front-wheel drive, carpeting and cloth seats that used to be considered optional equipment, Schriber said. The Escort also includes semi-styled wheels, a cargo-area cover and a cigarette lighter.

It's also possible to lease a modest machine, unbeknownst to many who think leasing means loading a car. David Kolb, leasing manager of Hines Park Lincoln Mercury Merkur in Plymouth, said Ford's and $6 monthly payments of $169.40 will get you Tracer with, as he put it, "a key and a heater."

But it's more than that. The Tracer, Mercury's new entry into subcompacts, comes with a stereo, dual-power exterior mirrors, a five-speed transmission and a fuel door release. Kolb said. Going 48 months on the lease drops the monthly payment to $166.03, he added.

At Anderson Honda in Bloomfield Hills, "the little things you notice" make the difference on the just-re-designed Civic, said Dan Haven, sales manager. Haven said one of those little things is the windshield, which is sealed to the frame and cuts road noise.

For $6,400 the new Civic has no radio but offers disc brakes, double-wishbone suspension (the same as in more expensive models, Haven said) and high-performance driving qualities.

OF COURSE, no-frills is a relative term. Stripped to some people means a stereo with only two speakers. But you'll notice a sun roof isn't standard on any of these cars.

And it's the only piece of equipment not standard on the Spur, the Rolls Royce entry-level car.

What is standard? It starts with air, climate control; stereo; power windows, seats, mirrors and door locks; a leather interior; automatic transmission; and it's made by hand, said Joe Stewart, sales manager for Don Massey Cadillac in Plymouth, which also sells Roll Royce.

All for just $110,000. Too much? Then try the Bentley, which sports the same equipment, is made by Rolls, "but is not as prestigious as a Rolls," Stewart said. It's only $95,000.

Some tips for that first job interview

Dear Joan:

I'm one of many college seniors hoping to have a job lined up by December ready and waiting for me when I graduate in May. Could you give me some basic simple tips I wouldn't forget even in the throes of a nervous collapse as I face my first job, important job that is, interview. T.B., Northville

First of all, all job interviews are important since they give you experience in interviewing. Interview with every recruiter that comes on your campus just for the experience. Plus you will be more relaxed when you know the job is not the ultimate one you are looking for.

You are putting yourself under undue pressure with the feeling you have to have a job ready and waiting when you graduate in May. That will make interviewing difficult for you. Relax, give yourself a break. The right job will turn up. Take the interviewing routine as part of your education not an appearance before a firing squad. Here are some basic tips. Follow these and your appearance will be relaxed. Greet the interviewer by name as you enter the office. If necessary, check the pronunciation with the receptionist. Unless you are looking for a job in sales, shake hands only if the interviewer makes the first move. If you are looking for a sales position, assertiveness is part of the job, so you will be expected to offer your hand immediately. Wait to sit down until a chair is offered and never sit down before your interviewer has been seated. Don't smoke, regardless of what your interviewer does. Do your homework and know as much as possible about the company and hope I am seriously considered as a candidate for the position we discussed. Your company's reputation for quality and the pride in association of everyone I met increased my enthusiasm to join the company. I'm looking forward to hearing from you.

I hear so much about getting ahead in the '80s, how to be aggressive in office politics, how to know your enemies, what's right and what's wrong in office politics, that I'm downright confused. I have an MBA from Harvard, but I don't feel prepared to face some of the conflicts I hear take place in corporations today. Am I being naive about how business operates? K.M., Birmingham

Dear Joan: Am I required to send a thank-you note to the campus interviewers? I've been going through so many interviews lately I haven't been keeping up with the 24-hour rule. B.W., Royal Oak

Send a thank-you note to an interviewer within 24 hours if you want to work for that company. If you're interviewing only for practice with some companies then don't feel obligated unless you feel you need to practice writing thank-you notes. Example of simple and proper note: "I found our interview infor-ative and encouraging. It was profitable for me to hear your comments on the plans for WS&S Sons. I know I will be an asset to your company and hope I am seriously considered as a candidate for the position we discussed. Your company's reputation for quality and the pride in association of everyone I met increased my enthusiasm to join the company. I'm looking forward to hearing from you." Dear Joan: I hear so much about getting ahead in the '80s, how to be aggressive in office politics, how to know your enemies, what's right and what's wrong in office politics, that I'm downright confused. ## 8-tracks untracked

By Wayne Peal
Staff writer

Whatever happened to eight-track tapes anyway?

Prerecorded tapes passed vinyl LPs in consumer preference a few years back, but it was cassette tapes that led the way. Eight-tracks are nowhere to be found on industry sales charts.

But if you (and your record collection) came of age in the early 1970s, there probably are a few eight-tracks still sitting in your closet, dust-covered and unplayed for years.

Let's say you dug them out and thought you'd sell them to raise money for a new CD player. Think there's a market? Think again.

There's not much demand for old eight-track tapes in western Wayne County.

"When we first opened up, we sold a lot of them, but we haven't sold any in a long while," said Carol Garbus, owner of Desirable Discs, Garden City. "Demand seemed to dry up all at once."

THERE ISN'T much demand in Oakland County either.

"There's no market in this area," said Alan Kovan, owner of Play It Again Records, Southfield. "We get phone calls from time to time, and we usually direct people to the east side or downriver. There's still some folks with eight-track players there."

On the other hand, let's say you finally got your dad to sell you his '74 Dodge Polaris (you know, the road monster with the power plant under the hood), and you'd like nothing better than to pop the new Springsteen album in its eight-track deck while tooling down Telegraph. Think it's available?

"I'd say we stopped stocking eight-tracks around 1984," said Fred DeCoopman, a buyer for the 23-store Harmony House chain, Troy. "Manufacturers stopped making them, and the market just dried up. I guess the same thing will eventually happen to LPs."

Not much chance of having an eight-track player installed in your '87 Audi either.

"I don't think we've even had a request in a year or so," said Pete Constantakis, manager of Cartunes Stereo Center, Westland. "All the manufacturers we deal with stopped making them. Nowadays, you can get a CD player that will store up to 12 discs at a time for your car. I guess no one wants to bother with eight-track."

EIGHT-TRACKS were supposed to provide the last word in portable, personal stereo. But despite a few years of heavy sales in the early 1970s, the rectangular cartridges never really caught on with the public.

Here's a few reasons people didn't like eight tracks:

- Unlike continuous cassettes, eight-tracks were divided into four programs. Tapes would change programs, often with a loud thud, right in the middle of long pieces of music. "A lot of the problem was that some of the players were noisy," DeCoopman said.

- Worn tapes would "bleed", meaning audible parts of one song would appear at strange and mysterious times in the middle of another song.

- Tapes jammed frequently and were subject to "highway crunch." Unwound eight-tracks once rivaled beer cans as a roadside eyesore. "Eight-tracks had a lot more trouble tracking than cassettes," DeCoopman said.

- Inferior bootleg copies of popular tapes appeared at numerous roadside locations with alarming regularity. And bootlegs contributed nothing to artist or record industry coffers. According to industry legend, none other than Jerry Lee Lewis himself once visited a few bootleg-selling truck stops, baseball bat in hand, to let them know what he thought of their sales policy.

Even through a low-budget car stereo system, eight-tracks tended to sound flatter and muddier than cassette tapes. "Cassettes have much better sound quality, much better sonic range," DeCoopman said. "Plus there's now compact discs as well."

What to do with those old eight-tracks? Keep them. After all, probably they're a part of your past that transcends mere monetary value.

Some classics on 8-track

Another generation had its 78 rpm records; ours has eight-track tapes. Today both forms are more valuable for the memories, not the music, they hold.

Here are a few eight-track tapes I'd listen to today (if only I could find my old player).

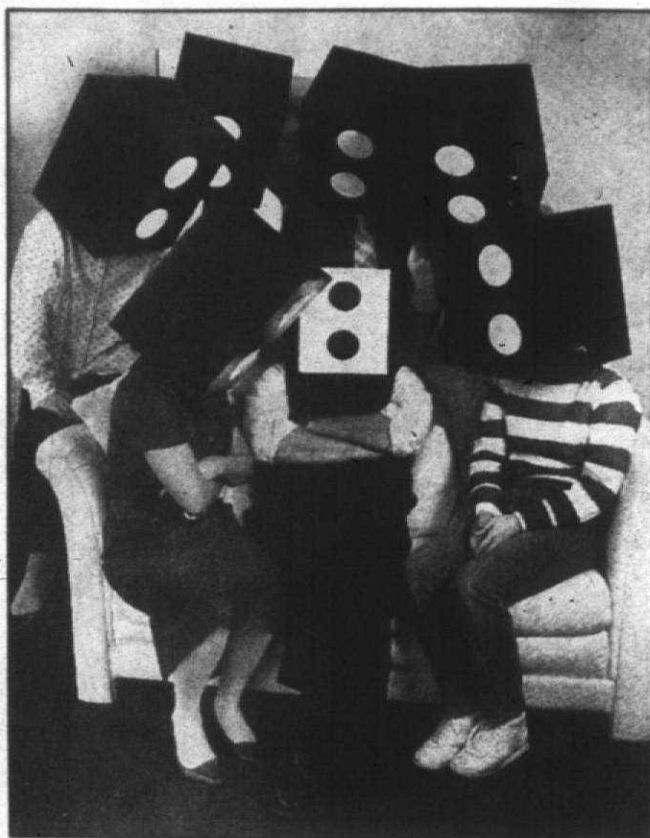

- "Stardust," various artists. — This is the double eight-track soundtrack of a British movie that featured pop star David Essex, Larry "J.R." Hagman and Ringo Starr. Never saw the movie, but the soundtrack is pretty good. Half contains early-'60s U.S. rock, Del Shannon's "Hats Off to Larry" springs to mind; half contains copycat versions by the Stray Cats — not the '80s revival band but a made-for-the-movie group with Essex and Who drummer Keith Moon. Never saw it as an LP, either.

- "In Concert, 1973 Anniversary Show" — Confession time: I bootlegged this one myself. Taped it right off the radio, when it was simulcast with the old late-night TV show. Quite a party too, with the J. Geils Band, turning in a nastier version of "First I Look at the Purse" that graces the "Full House" LP. It also included Mott the Hoople's "All the Way from Memphis," an ad mentioning the Who's just-released "Quadrophenia" and this benediction from host Sly Stone: "I don't know ya, but I'm learnin' to love ya as time passes." Don't bust me, music police, I lost the tape a long time ago.

- "The Sound of Elegance," various artists. — My dad got the brand-new luxury car. This made-for-GM tape was my end of the deal. Duke Ellington's on it, Chet Atkins, too. And there's lots and lots of strings. Great (though sadly unused) make-out music. Dad sold the luxury car just after I got my license.

Don't bet on Beta

By Kevin Brown
Staff writer

If you own a Beta video recorder, maybe you beta think about switching to a more popular VHS model.

That's what most VCR and tape rental dealers say, as VHS continues to take over the market. Even Beta owners are admitting the format is on its way out.

Still, Beta is the better-quality format, most video fans say. And if you seldom rent movies — now mostly in VHS — your Beta system can survive quite nicely in a VHS world.

Opinions vary on just how long Beta will survive.

Fred Friedman, a buyer for Fretter Superstores based in Livonia, won't say the format is dying out.

"Let me be a little more blunt — it's dead," he said. "We buried it as a company about 12 months ago."

Why? "There were no sales in it," Friedman said. "Only certain manufacturers like Toshiba, Sanyo and Sony are turning out Beta machines, but only in the high (price) end."

"On top of all that, software (prerecorded video cassettes in Beta) has stopped."

BUT OTHERS say it's premature to report the death of Beta video technology. Because if Beta is deceased, a formidable living-dead legion of Beta VCRs and rental tapes haunts several area rental stores and dealer showrooms.

Still, some larger metro Detroit video rental outlets, including the Blockbuster Video chain, no longer carry Beta tapes.

"We do VHS only," said Steve Eckersley, a Blockbuster Video assistant manager. Beta tapes "are few and far between," he said, adding "about 3 to 4 percent" of his customers ask for Beta.

"It's really a small number," he said, "even though Beta's the better format."

So why is Beta failing? Sony, which developed Beta, charged licensing fees considered too high by other video machine manufacturers and prerecorded movie makers, say several local video dealers. This sparked the development of the VHS format.

Others maintain that rival VCR makers only sought to avoid paying licensing fees to Sony, so they came up with a different system, VHS.

"Sony priced themselves right out of the market," Eckersley said.

"VHS did a better job of marketing," Friedman said, "through ads, and better prices." Yet, he said Beta "really was a good system."

PHYSICALLY, the systems differ in size and how tape travels past playback-record heads. Beta tape passes by heads as audio cassette tape does, while VHS tape passes around heads in a "W" configuration. Beta tape cassettes are also smaller, as are Beta VCRs.

Local video fans differ on the relative quality of the two systems. Some say improvements in VHS technology make it Beta's equal; others maintain Beta is best.

John Watson, owner of Uptown Video in Rochester, said that while most customers choose VHS, "there's a noticeable difference between the two." Beta is the better-quality format, he said, adding it's the format preferred by TV stations.

"That was probably true four years ago but VHS has certainly caught up," said Gerry Dervish, owner of Troy Video. He quit carrying Beta tapes six years ago.

Dervish recalled a dealer demonstration of VHS vs. Beta which he attended.

"Even our Beta expert couldn't tell the difference," he said.

BUT BETA backers beg to differ. "I'm an electrical engineer," said Joe Case of Rochester Hills, to explain why he prefers Beta.

Why is VHS second best? "The numbers just aren't there," he said. "That is, numbers of lines of resolution that make the Beta video image sharper, better signal-to-noise ratios, and more, he said."

Case, who also owns a VHS machine, said he doesn't rent movies often. "If I do I just play them on my laser disc player and record them on my Beta machine," he said. "The stuff that I go for is high-resolution stuff."

Of the apparent demise of the Beta format, Case said, "The mass market is not concerned with high quality. The market just doesn't care. . . . I just don't see it (Beta) living too much longer."

Rene Aquilina, a computer systems analyst with Texas Instruments in Livonia, bought his second Beta recorder two years ago.

"I'm an electrical engineer by trade; I usually like state-of-the-art equipment," he said, especially Beta sound quality.

Aquilina says he mainly uses his Beta VCR to tape TV programs, although he occasionally rents movies.

"You have to be selective in the places you go to," he said. Aquilina said he patronizes a Discount Video chain store in Livonia, which still carries Beta tapes.

AS SOME tape rental stores bail out on Beta, other dealers see an opportunity to fill a void.

"We specialize in Beta; we have more (tapes) now than we ever had," said Joel Savela, manager of Network Video in Troy. "Forty-five percent of our business is Beta and growing," he said.

Savela acknowledges that more movies are available in VHS, but said most major films can be found in Beta.

"There's so many people that bought Beta recorders over the last five years, it would be almost insane to stop making them."

"I find it (Beta) to be better quality than any VHS I've had. Most of our customers swear they have better pictures with less problems."

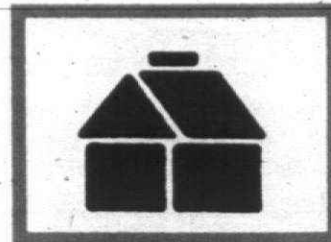

Still, Savela said "it's hard to say" what the future holds for Beta technology. He predicts Beta will be around for at least the next five years.

Meanwhile, some video fans and retailers predict that eight-millimeter video, used in portable video cameras, could some day succeed VHS as the dominant VCR format.

Stay tuned.

IT IS WISE to select window treatments early in room planning, not when the project is nearly finished. This is because it is best to begin with the largest element in any room, walls, floors and windows. From there, move to large furnishings, then smaller pieces and accessories. This results in better coordination.

That's ideal if you are starting from scratch, but if you are redecorating you do not have all that freedom. Often the question then becomes "What kind of window treatment with X style of furnishings?" Unless you are doing a restoration, don't worry.

Deeply ruffled tie-back draperies are country French in feeling but they are a nice surprise in an eclectic setting. Vertical and miniblinds were introduced for a contemporary look. Either can be used by themselves. It is much more stylish to give your windows a layered look, i.e. curtains with tie backs, tie backs with miniblinds, shutters, wood slat blinds or verticals.

A slat daron curtain with a deep hem (12 inches) takes on an important air. Add an overlay of lace or insertion of lace and the curtain becomes that much more important.

WHILE I LOVE decorating windows, there are instances when I say leave them perfectly bare. Why? The view. If you have a spectacular view, you have probably paid for it. I say enjoy it. Try a large tree or plant in an interesting container on either end of the window.

The vast majority of people feel glass is a cold, unfriendly surface. During the day the view eliminates that feeling. At night, the unfriendly feeling settles in. If you are one of those people, cover the window. But in doing so, remember to extend far enough beyond the window so that your treatment will clear the glass when you want the view. If you are using a shade, make sure you are far enough above the window to house your shade and clear the glass.

If you have a need for noise control, if you can hear the noise from the street or your neighbors, fabrics and wood are like sponges when it comes to sound. They absorb it.

In covering your window, always think of the look from the outside in. Never use color that is seen from the street.

THE DESIGNER look is "in" in bedding. Matching or correlating sheets, pillow cases, shams and comforters are all available.

I saw an interesting color combination at J.C. Penney at Northland. The background of the sheet and matching accessories was putty color. It had a mini print of marine blue and brown running through it. The top sheet had a wide border of the print. Looking at the top sheet, a drapery treatment came to mind. The sheet with the border railroaded — several joined together — would become a valance 18 inches deep over full-length tie-back draperies of the mini print. This is an inexpensive and fashionable way to treat your bedroom. Remember, you must line your sheet when it becomes your drapery.

Q. With a full-time career, housework is getting me down. It's so repetitive and I feel I can never win. Am I the only failure around?

A. No. You certainly aren't. In fact, a feeling of failure is a universal problem for today's women — especially mothers. There are far too many reasons to list in the space allowed here, but let's touch on a couple:

First, by whose standards are you a failure? First of whose's? (Circumstances were different for her.) Your friends or relatives? (Do you see their homes during normal living or do you only compare yourself to their prepared guest conditions?) How about TV and advertising? (Homes on TV shows are only stage sets. Surely you don't believe everyone lives like that all the time. And advertising is designed to make you feel guilty for not living up to the goals of the advertised product.)

My own philosophy is that order equals serenity but perfection is a waste of time. In other words, so long as things are in reasonable order, it's OK to have a little dust in the corners.

After you've considered your standards carefully realize the importance of planning. Help your family understand your frustrations and enlist their cooperation. If there are four of you, remind them that all of you working just 15 minutes a day can accomplish what it takes you an hour to do alone. Then involve the family in dividing up chores according to who will most probably accomplish the prescribed tasks (or on a rotation system) and set aside specific times daily for each to do their work.

A touch of old Charleston in community's midst

WHEN DOES new construction look like charming historical renovation? Is there such a thing as unintentionally fabricating a city's history? Millcreek Building Co. and architect Ronald Mayotte & Associates of Troy may have inadvertently created a past for Birmingham that it never had.

They've just completed three townhouses on Henrietta south of Brown and once the landscaping settles in and the snow edges the roofs, they'll look like they've been there for a generation.

Mayotte said he was after a "New Orleans French Quarter feeling" when he designed the residences of mottled beige brick with lots of wrought iron trim, balconies, interior courtyards and arched doorways.

THE LOT SIZE was a challenge. Each is about 43 feet wide and 122 feet deep. Each townhouse is about 2,500 square feet with a gracious great room, approximately 26-by-18½ feet, with a fireplace and three sets of French doors opening onto a spacious deck. The foyer is generous as is the kitchen nook and powder room. Upstairs is a large master suite and two more bedrooms connected by a second full bath. The third bedroom, facing Henrietta, has two sets of French doors opening on to small balconies could easily be used as a library or upstairs sitting room.

It is the privacy, convenience, large spaces, beautiful detailing inside and out which makes these homes so charming.

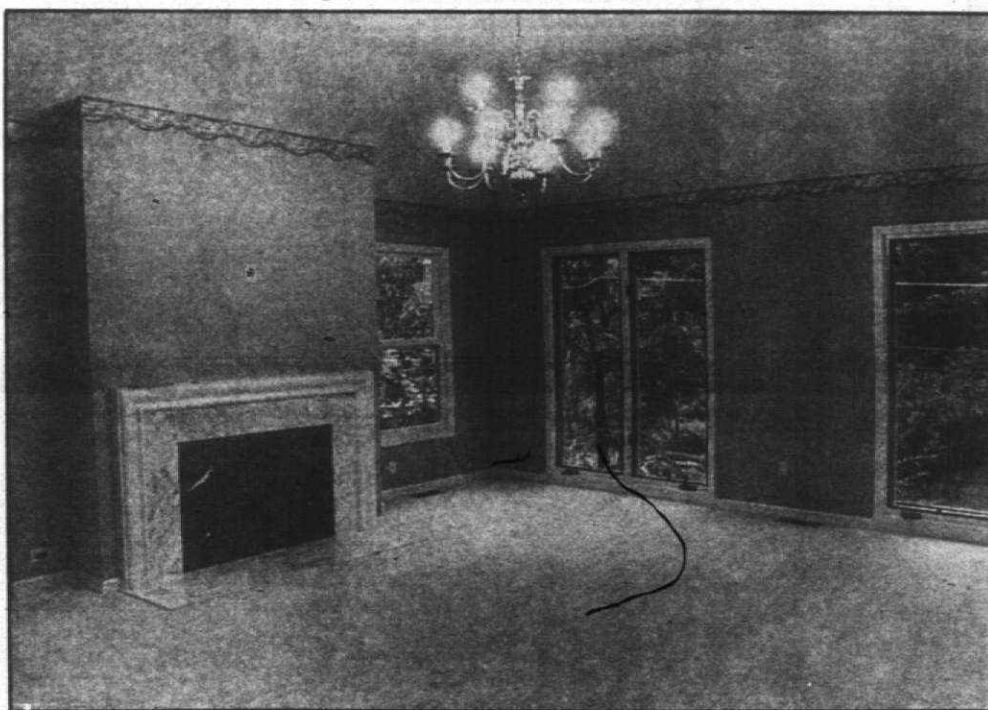

Bill Saracino who, with his brother-in-law, Michael Guerra, organized the Troy-based Millcreek Building Co., about 10 years ago, said he is building three similar townhouses in Bloomfield Township and will be doing more in Birmingham as well. He said, "This was built on spec and sold when it was a hole in the ground."

The workmanship on the inside as well as the outside is done to suggest the elegance of a Charleston townhouse. Well, whether it's South Carolina or Mississippi, the idea is to combine quality and appealing style with contemporary convenience and materials.

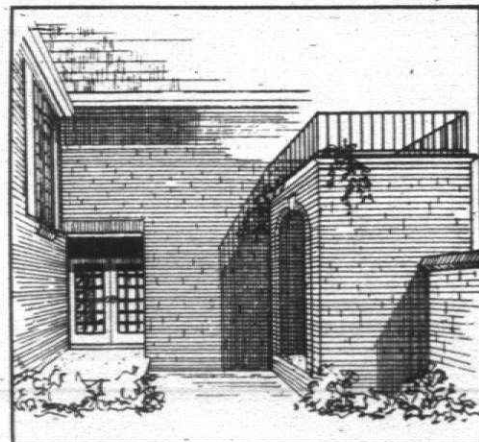

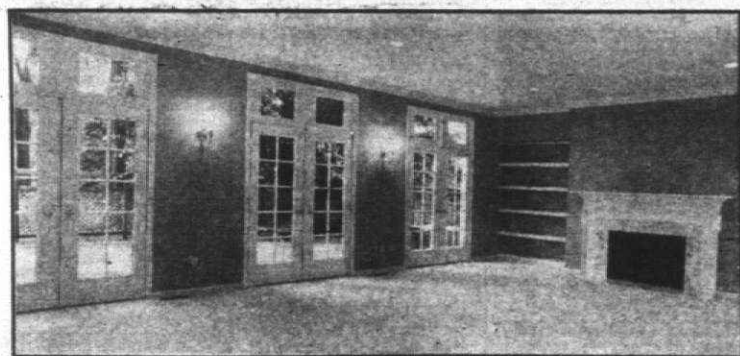

And the townhouses do what Mayotte said he visualized from day-one, "something comfortable that would blend into the neighborhood."

Mottled beige brick complemented with balconies with ornamental railings, interior courtyards and arched doorways help create the feeling of elegance of a Charleston townhouse in the Millcreek townhouses in Birmingham.

The master suite has a fireplace and two floor-length windows. Decorative molding is a beautifying focal point.

The living room (above) has three sets of French doors opening onto a spacious deck. At the left is a drawing of an interior courtyard that comes with each unit.
