74 teachers will get layoff notices

Seventy-four teachers were laid off, effective at the end of the school year, by the Plymouth-Canton school board at Monday night's regular meeting.

Across-the-board reductions are expected in custodial, food service, secretarial and administrative areas as well. Most of those positions are expected to be eliminated by attrition, said Norm Kee, assistant superintendent for employee relations.

The action was needed due to "economic and budget cutbacks," according to a motion made by trustee Roland Thomas and passed unanimously by the board. Voters last month turned down a millage increase sought by the district to compensate for declining state aid.

Being laid off are teachers "spread pretty evenly between elementary, middle and high school levels with up to two years' seniority" - with the exception of some special education teachers, said Kee.

Pink slips will be mailed this week.

"THIS IS regrettable, but an action that has to happen," said Superintendent John

"It's interesting to note that we just granted tenure to most of the people we just laid off," said Thomas. "I don't like it at all, but it's a necessity due to the budget situation we'll be in in 1988-89.

By pink slipping teachers now, the district is giving employees "as much notice as possible," should they want to look for new jobs. But Kee held out hope many teachers

He declined to estimate how many employees will be rehired, saying it depends on what budget reductions are made and on how many teachers resign or retire.

By laying off 74 teachers, the district is cutting the $1.8 million it needs to trim from the budget, said Kee. Plymouth-Canfringes.

Laid-off teachers are being told that this hopefully is a temporary action, especially for those with seniority. They're being asked not to go job hunting until being as-sured by the district that they won't be re-

Trustee E.J. McClendon said the district, before millage elections, finds itself in kind of a Catch 22.

"If we tell people this is going to happen, we're accused of being threatening. If we don't say anything, we're accused of not being forthright. It's a terrible dilemma to unanimously agreed to repair a bridge at Centennial Educational Park at a cost of $84,800. The work will be paid for out of the 1987-88 and 1988-89 operating budgets.

Until McClendon objected, the action was included in the consent calendar along with the payment of $2.3 million in bills and six

Private jails

Bills offer a timely solution

ONLY ONCE in a political lifetime does a sheriff build a new jail.

Think of any recent sheriff - Gribbs, Lucas and Ficano in Wayne County; Irons, Spreen and Nichols in Oakland - and none built more than one. Some never built any. None could be called "experienced" in jail building.

Against that historical backdrop, consider the package of 17 bills Sen. R. Robert Geake of Northville is guiding through the state Senate. For the first time in Michigan history, it would allow counties and cities to contract with privately owned and operated jails, paying the company a per diem to house prisoners.

Across the land, several companies are gaining the experience in penal facilities construction, renovation and operation that no single sheriff can match. One firm, Corrections Corp. of America, boasts it has former prison system directors and assistants from several states on staff.

GEAKE'S BILLS are modest in scope - al-

Some would amend laws dating back to 1846 by replacing the word "sheriff" with "keeper of the jail." They would make privately owned and operated jails subject to the same requirements as government-owned and operated jails.

So far, debate has focused on county jails, but it's important that some bills would amend the 1909 home rule act and allow cities to hire private jail contractors.

Geake's bills would allow private jails to be called, bothers some people. It shouldn't.

When a prisoner escapes a government jail, the sheriff isn't penalized. But if a prisoner escapes a private jail, the company loses money. County seems to have a highly politicized force, That's a potent incentive to run a tight ship.

Chief supporters are Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara and Oakland County Executive Dan Murphy, which makes us glad voters opted for the executive form of government.

improved conditions, often at great cost. On the supply side, government money is in great demand these days. Voters are likely to see ballot proposals for roads in Oakland County, the community college in Wayne County, the state school finance reform proposal with a sales tax hike, a host of local proposals, and the state-paid abortion question.

It makes sense, then, not to strain the bonding and taxing capacity of governments by allowing private capital to do the building job.

We have one last suggestion of our own: Our leaders should think not only of jails for their government that has tried it has reversed its position. The key point is that if a company jail goofs, the government can award its contract to someone else.

Geake's bills are very, very timely. On the devenue and cities, but of forming consortiums — in other words, a tri-county jail and multi-city jails. Oakland's Murphy has proposed this to his brothers in the Big Four. They agreed it was a nifty idea but haven't followed through.

It's a concept that dates back to the Crusades. Mortally wounded crusaders finding care and refuge during the waning moments of their lives in strangers' homes.

St. Christopher's Hospital in England is credited with reviving hospice care, an idea that is coming to the forefront of alternative care for people who are dying, in the United States.

Nora Anderson and Carol Munsell know hospice quite well. More than six years ago, they decided to become involved in the volunteer, fledgling Hospice Support Services

Anderson got interested in hospice care through gerontology classes she was taking at Maddona College. Munsell's interest stemmed from her work as head nurse in the cardiology/oncology department at Annapolis Hospital.

'I helped set up a Focus on Cancer program at the hospital and got involved in the emotional aspects of cancer," Munsell said. "I went to a few of the (hospice) meetings and started working as a volunteer

"It was hard (to change)," Anderson said. "It was a hard decision to leave a purely altruistic ideal of giving freely of yourself."

Based in Garden City, the organization didn't leave behind its belief in hospice. What it did was reorganize and seek out state licensing and qualification for Medicare certification, fitting in with a move to get hospice care considered a medical benefit.

David Breeden has seen family

"We've lost the family network, I think, in a lot of ways," Breeden, branch director for Plymouth Family Service, a local family service agency that provides coun-seling services to strengthen and support family life.

There have been changes in the think the church was stronger in those days," said Breeden.

More women are now in the paid workforce, and there are more twoincome families than there were in years gone by, he said.

On the one hand, that means many women don't have as much time to be involved with their children. At the same time, we're just beginning to explore the possibilities of men involved with their families, said Breeden, 41, who's the father of two children, both students at Michigan State University.

HE'S FOUND that families these days face many pressures; they have their valuable time.

"That's just a gut sense, really. It's changing, it's different, but it's not ing people is not to become emotionally involved with them, Breeden said. It's not that therapists don't care, but they do need to be able to see the broader picture in terms of what a client or family needs.

"I think counselors do sometimes get emotionally involved. Some counselors do get too emotionally in-volved and they do burn out."

There's a tendency to lose a little bit of the focus, Breeden said, just because of dealing so much with peo-ple who aren't doing well. "I can pretty much separate it out and turn it off."

IT ADHERES closely to its altruistic origins. It has nine paid a ministrators, nurses and health aides and a cadre of 70 volunteers. And while a majority of its funding is from Medicare, it doesn't limit its services to those with medical benefits. Hospice care is available to anyone in need of it.

"Rather than treat the patient's apparent problem, hospice treats the whole person," Anderson said. "Our desire is that they be as pain free as possible and that we foster a quality of life to help them face their death."

The twosome bristles at comments that hospice is a part of the dying process. They chalk up that kind of logic to a lack of under standing of what hospice care is. It is, they stressed, a part of living.

"We're a death defying culture, tive to curative care, it isn't necessarily for everyone, Anderson said.

An important part of its care is the family, and it's one reason the hospice team provides support for both the patient and relatives who care for him or her, she said.

"HOME CARE should not be entered into ill-advised," Anderson said. "We tell families that it's difficult, but if they have enough support and a plan of care, they can come out of it feeling very affirmed at what they accomplished by honoring a wish."

One thing Munsell and Anderson don't believe in is a waiting list. If the number of patients increases, the program adds staff or if the patient is out of the geographic area, it provides referral to the appropriate hospice program.

Insurance will pay for nursing for frail elderly

A not-necessarily-new type of insurance that pays for basic, rather than skilled, nursing home care for people older than 50 is gaining popularity as a hedge against the accelerating cost of growing older in Ameri-

This insurance, unlike Medicare and private health care coverage, pays for the day-to-day unspecial-ized nursing home care desirable for a disease such as Alzheimer's. The insurance has no special name of its own but is known by the name of the company that sells it.

Its benefits are just starting to be made popular by financial consultants and planners who have seen families without such coverage go bankrupt to pay for nursing care.

"YOU'RE LOOKING at essentially the impoverishment of the other spouse to provide aid," said Dan Boyce, a certified financial planner with the Center for Financial Planning in Birmingham. "Five to 10 years ago they only covered skilled care facilities, not custodial or intermediate" care

Boyce said this type of insurance pays the $60-$70 per day basic nursing home charge, a cost typically not picked up by Medicare or private insurers unless at least some skilled care is required. Boyce and financial analyst Steve Zimberg, president of Asset Advisory Services Inc. in West Bloomfield, both pegged Medicare's payout rate for basic care at less than 2 percent.

Without such coverage, a couple's financial picture can become bleak unless the couple is wealthy by today's standards. For example, Zimberg said that at a nursing home's average daily rate of $70, multiplied by what he and Boyce said is the average nursing home stay (between two and three years), out-of-pocket expenses for basic care could reach $75,000.

'Five to 10 years ago they only covered skilled care facilities, not custodial or intermediate (care).'

> — Dan Boyce certified financial planner

It is important to draw a distinction between skilled and basic care. If an individual breaks a hip and requires skilled rehabilitative care outside a hospital setting, it most likely will be paid for by the individual's health care insurer and/or Medicare.

BUT THOSE AGENCIES rarely will pay benefits for a disease such as Alzheimer's. Even though it's an incurable progressive disease typified by gradual memory loss due to neurological damage, skilled care is not required. As the disease progresses and the individual becomes increasingly impaired, families must decide whether to pay for the individual's care in a nursing home facility or care for the individual at home.

Instead, Boyce and Zimberg advise their clients to buy insurance to pay these costs. Boyce said he erally tells clients "to buy it at age 64 — the year before it goes up. There's little chance anyone would use the benefits prior to that." Zim-berg tells his clients "the earlier the better. As you get older it gets more expensive, and you have to buy it when you're healthy."

Training company teaches how to handle high technology

By Filip Fracassa special writer

Manufacturers wishing to increase productivity through high-tech automation are turning to a Farmington Hills-based training firm to educate their workers and bridge the gap between theory and practice.

The 17-employee Advanced Center for Technology Training charges students $1,000 to $1,800 per course to learn robotics, fiber optics, telecommunications, sensors, actuators, computer integrated manufacturing (CIM) and other technological appli-

So far, fewer than 50 have comoleted course requirements since the center was formed.

After spending its first year of op-ration developing training tools and eaching two small classes of train-rs, ACTT is ready to venture into the corporate arena. Right now, the company is pitch-intense training CIM programs

While students during the first ear learned to be trainers, students from now on will be engineers, su-pervisors, managers, skilled tradesmen, executives, lawyers, accountants and factory workers who want to keep up with swiftly changing industry technology, according to marketing director Paul Agosta.

Other potential students are employed workers in inches

ployed workers trying to upgrade skills, unemployed workers who need new skills, robotics buyers and prison inmates who need a skill for aployment upon completion of

"It is clearly ACTT's goal right now to deliver a curriculum in tech-nology that will prepare workers and executives for automation and robotics," Agosta said. "We are not a job-placement service but attempt to instruct theory in a hands-on environment with practical application at a work station.

"College students get simulation but don't actually press the buttons and apply their theories," he said. "We show students the components and illustrate how they function individually and as one. It's a very practical or the students are the said. tical approach."

Chiefs topple Salem in soccer rivalry

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Plymouth Canton served notice Wednesday night it intends to be a major factor in Observerland girls soccer this season.

The Chiefs, playing with emotion and relying on sound defense, upset defending Class A champion Plymouth Salem 2-1 and ran their record

Though Canton was the underdog, it has not been far behind in this rivalry, having tied the Rocks during the 1987 regular season and lost in overtime in the district final.

Obviously, the outcome of the latest meeting means the Chiefs, who were rated No. 6 in the state while Salem was No. 1, have arrived as a soccer power.

"I'm sure it's going to boost us up a little bit," Canton coach Don Smith said. "I told the girls at halftime we weren't playing that well and still we were ahead. That had to be a

SMITH AND SALEM coach Ken Johnson agreed emotion played a role, Smith saying it prevented both teams from giving the sharp performances of which they're capable and Johnson believing it served Canton's interest

"I thought we'd be able to get more shots," said Smith, whose team still had a 20-15 advantage after controlling the play from the middle of the first half on.

"I think we were so fired up and they were so fired up it was like a football game when the teams come out hitting. You can't just kick the ball; you have to smash it."

The Rocks, who are 0-1-1 after facing two top-10 teams in the first week, carried the action to Canton for the first 20 minutes. Salem enjoyed an early shots-on-goal advantage and might have been first on the scoreboard if Canton goalkeeper Jen Saul had not gotten a hand up to

BUT THE MOMENTUM swung decisively in favor of the Chiefs in the last part of the half, and they maintained the role of aggressor with brief exceptions for the dura-

"I knew they'd be tough," said Johnson, adding the game might have been a preview of a possible Western Lakes title match-up down

"(Emotion) gave them an extra step to the ball. They just had that fire in them. The whole team played above themselves; that's the best they've played."

Salem goalie Ellen Schnackel stopped shots by Michelle Lonigro and Lynne Nichols and an indirect penalty kick by Tricia Greenhalge Canton's Jenny Russell scored the game's first goal on a crossing shot.

The Chiefs continued their strong play into the second half, and Salem escaped further damage a couple SCHNACKEL CAME out of the goal to help defender Jennifer Marshall in a 1-on-1 situation, but the ball was centered in front of the open goalmouth. However, Maria Wordhouse stepped into the net and blocked Avana Nash's shot.

Salem had a chance to tie the score after Michelle Minton was tripped up on a breakaway, resulting in a penalty kick. Saul. however. scooped up the straight-on attempt by Tracy Krajewski.

Before the Chiefs went up 2-0, Saul stopped a breakaway by Estey, who was kept in check by Canton's defenders.

"Everybody kept asking me why I didn't put two people on her," Smith said. "but we just play a regular

"We just back up and put pressure on her, and if she beats one person we've got somebody else there to

As the game wore on, it was evident Canton's defense was a determining factor. The Chiefs seemed always to be on top of the play in their end and able to head off any charges

"WE TOOK THE play away them. too," said Smith, acknowledging Salem's defensive effort, also. didn't get a chance to turn and do what they wanted more than a few

What proved to be the winning goal resulted from a Salem mistake. Play was stopped so the Rocks could clear the ball from their end, but the player passed the ball in front of the goal instead of sending it down field. An opportunistic Shannon Meath put the ball into the left corner of the net, giving Canton a 2-0 lead with 15

The Chiefs managed to hold on, but they had to fend off several desperation efforts by Salem, one of which resulted in Minton scoring after a scramble in front of the Canton net with 7:10 remaining.

"Their sweeper just stepped up and cut off the ball," said Johnson in regard to Canton's defensive play "In the second half, they were the better team.

"I think we can beat them, but our timing was off in front of the box. If the penalty kick had gone in it would have been 2-2, and if they had missed (the shot by Meath) we would have

Veteran coach Fred Crissey has taken his ballclubs to Cincinnati and Missouri in previous years, but last week's visit to the Sunshine State was the first for Canton.

"We were able to perspire and do all the things you're supposed to do,' said Crissey of the opportunity for his players to concentrate on just baseball in ideal weather conditions.

MICHIGAN RULES prohibit teams that travel more than 250 miles from playing games with other teams, however. That was the only disappointment, Crissey said.

Pitcher welcome addition

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Good pitching can take a team a long ways in girls softball, and Plymouth Canton coach Max Sommerville thinks sophomore Stacey Thompson could be the key to the Chiefs doing a turnabout.

Canton was 3-17 last year, 2-13 in the league, but the addition this year of Thompson to the pitching corp offers a ray of optimism.

'She looks like she has a lot of potential," Sommerville said. "And it looks like she's going to be able to hit the ball real well, too," he added.

The Chiefs also have seven veteran players and a number of newcomers whom the coach is counting

THE LEFT side of the infield appears to be the most stable part of the team since only two players were guaranteed starting roles

Senior Kelly McUmber, who will start at the critical position of shortstop, heads the list of returnees, and junior Karen Keenan, who came up from the junior varsity team at the end of last season, will be the third Junior Alison Flaskamp is a returning starter at second base, but she was being pushed hard for the starting role by several other juniors, most notably Tina McFarland, a product of the JV team who hits the ball hard. Sommerville said.

First base was one of the major question marks. Junior Stacev Arnold seems to be the prime candidate with senior Cari Herron going ning of the 1988 smelt runs in southern Michigan. The recent spell of sunny spring weather has warmed the rivers, enticing the small, silvery smelt upstream to spawning grounds.

There have been no significant runs so far this spring, but reports from lower Lake Huron indicate there has been some light smelt activity Smelt spawning runs begin when the river water becomes warmer than the lake water, generally when the rivers reach 45-degrees or above. Reports from the Au Gres river, north of Pinconning on the Saginaw Bay, show the water temperature there has already reached 42 degrees. The earliest runs usually begin in the St. Clair

River system, especially at Point Peele National Park. The foot of the Blue Water bridge in Port

Huron, the Sears Dock and Pine Grove Park are also traditional hot spots for the early southern

Michigan smelt runs. LAKE HURON DIPPERS should have little roblem finding smelt this spring. According to Ray Argyle, fisheries biologist with the United States Fish and Wildlife Department, the population of smelt in Lake Huron has nearly doubled in throughout Lake Huron and hydrocoustic equipment (fish finders) estimates the Fish and Wildlife Department surveys the lake each fall. In 1986 they estimated the smelt population to be about 2.2 billion fish. The 1987 survey indicated the population had expanded to about 3.7 billion

With a relatively mild winter and a warm, dry spring, indications are that the 1988 spawning runs will be much improved over last year

"THERE ARE plenty of fish out there," Argyle said."Fishermen don't have anything to worry about in terms of the number of smelt. Argyle also pointed out that in recent years melt been changing their breeding habits. "Over the last few years we've noticed the (smelt) have slowly been turning from river spawners to shore spawners," Argyle explained It hasn't been a major change and there are still plenty of fish returning to the rivers, but we have noticed some changes in recent years.'

Save someone's life with CPR technique learn a simple procedure that can a relatively short time, only 25 save heart attack or drowning victims, or the victim of electrocution or other accidents: CPR.

"The Journal of the American Medical Association" June 1986, reports that without promptly adminstered CPR, it's unlikely that a cardiac arrest victim will be successfully revived. Considering the time it often takes for a paramedic team to reach the scene of an emergency, the presence of a bystander qualified to administer CPR becomes vital.

According to a Seattle, Wash., study, the outcome of cardiac arrest emergencies improved greatly when trained bystanders initiated CPR.

Memorial service set for area printer

Memorial services are scheduled Friday for Robert R. Porta of Dear-forn Heights, a well-known and highly respected printer in the Detroit area for 40 years.

The services will be at 1 p.m. at the Garden City Free Methodist Church, 27414 Maplewood, corner of Inkster Road, with the Rev. Bruce Rhodes to officiate.

Mr. Porta died April 18 in Ford Hospital, Detroit, with interment at Cadillac Memorial Gardens West, Westland. He was 63.

Born May 25, 1924, to Francis and Rose Porta of Altoona, Pa., Mr. Porta enlisted in the Army in 1942, serving in the 3rd Infantry Division during World War II.

He relocated to Detroit in 1947 and married June McIntire the following February.

That same year he became a printer, working for Abbey Press, Dearborn Guide, Greater Detroit and Tas, Inc.

Mr. Porta is survived by his wife, June; children, Mrs. Gerry Wiatr, Robert Porta II, Penny Farnsworth, Cindy Wald, Tammy Ellis, and Tracy Richards; grandchildren, Mark, Jamie and Michael Wiatr, Derek and Chad Farnsworth, Christina Ellis, and Timothy and Christopher Rich-

State stands tall in world of glass

By Manon Meilgaard special writer

S ANY glassblower WILL tell you, glass is the end product of the fusion of a siliceous matter such as powdered flint or fine sand, with an alkali, salt or metallic oxide.

It is also the stuff of which dreamlike forms are made. April is the month when glass

April is the month when glass collectors pour into this metro area in droves to seek the quality of art glass that has made Michigan the foremost U.S. market for both American and European glass.

So successful has this venture

So successful has this venture been, started 16 years ago by partners, Ferdinand (Ferd) Hampson and Tom Boone of the Habatat Gallery in Lathrup Village, and with other galleries following suit, that Governor James Blanchard designated April as Michigan Glass Month for the eighth successive year.

No less than 19 galleries, museums and libraries, including one library and four galleries statewide, are showing art glass this year.

FOR HAMPSON, the combination of art studies and business management at Wayne State University, plus an eye for recognizing the potential of glass as art, has created an American Dream. (There are two other Habatats, in Miami and Chicago).

Miami and Chicago).

"The kind of artwork you see today wasn't around 10 years ago," he said, "but artists have learned to fuse, cast and slump and experiment with new techniques; they've discovered that glass can be cut like bronze. The versatility of glass is tremendous, and we are still only at the beginning."

True indeed. Every conceivable variation of glass artistry is to be found at the Habatat and in other large exhibitions such as that of the Robert Kidd Gallery, Birmingham.

GLASS, IT seems, can be formed into figurative, abstract and out-door sculptures. It can be clear, opaque, cracked, corrugated, layered, painted, beaded, wrapped, made to look like stone or ceramics, and is often combined with other materials such as metals, wood and found objects.

Perhaps the first place to embark on a glass odyssey in the northern suburbs is the Donna Jacobs Gallery in Birmingham, where the ninth annual glass show is in progress with more than 100 examples of small and exquisite vessels, bowls and bottles dated 1400 B.C. to 6th Century A.D.

Many of these are from the farflung regions of the Roman Empire (a few are Islamic) and were used to hold perfumes or cosmetics. Some were made by the ancient core-formed or open form freeblown processes. Several have acquired gloriously iridescent overlayerings or skins, caused by age and interaction with soil, air or water.

Moving on to modern art glass featuring one-person shows, the Yaw Gallery on Woodward (a few doors down from Jacobs) exhibits 12 equally small and delicately formed cylinders, some beaker-shaped and others with a lip, by German artist Isgard Moje Wohlgemuth.

THESE ARE PAINTED in a painstaking method with metallic oxides dissolved in essential oils and the patterns are inspired by both the bold and muted motifs of Japanese kimonos. As in the Jacobs collection, the smallest vessel is approximately 2 ½ inches and the largest 6 by 3 inches.

At Ilona & Gallery of Farmington Hills are nine irregularly edged and beautifully crafted bowl and plate forms by Michigan artist, John Steiner. These incorporate both strong and pastel colors in a graduated, swirling motion. Steiner, who has an master's of fine arts degree from the Cranbrook Academy of Art, is an instructor of industrial design at the Center for Creative Studies.

AS FOR the giant exhibits, the Kidd has around 200 works by more than 60 artists. The Habatat has some 400 objects by around 100 artists housed in two locations—the gallery proper in Lathrup Village and the ultra-modern Triatria office complex in Farmington Hills.

An exciting, lively and often playful show at the Kidd including well-known and up-and-coming. American and Canadian artists is jam-packed with works occupying two floors.

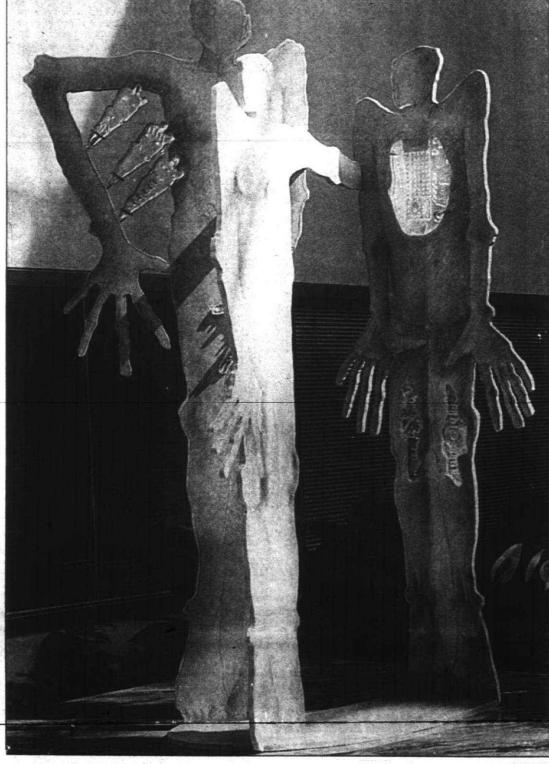

Some of the winners here are Detroiter Paul Webster's layered sculptures of cracked glass painted in cake-iong colors, David val figures enclosed in clear glass, tornado-shaped bowls by Kathleen Mulcahy, the seven-foot-high fun sculptures by Kevin Lockau constructed with telephone poles and glass, and Fred di Frenzi's Neo Post Pre-Raphaelite Biblical figures painted on thick glass with glowing colors.

OUTSTANDING are Robert Palusky's figures and his graceful, sensitively patterned and painted sphere.

As expected, and as a grand finale, the Habatat's 16th annual and second international exhibition is aglow with work by top American and European artists.

Some of the memorable works are Dale Chihuly's flowing, sensual lines in open shell or flower forms, John Kuhn's paneled window in glass and metal with cut, polished and fused inset scenarios, Toots Zynsky's canes of glass, layered and slumped into form and Steven Weinberg's magical "ice palace" shapes inside "ice cube" glass.

BABCOCK TEACHES glass design at the Center for Creative Studies and is exhibiting work in six other-locations during Michigan Glass Month.

Hampson mentioned that less than one percent of artists who apply are accepted, but for the first time, Habatat is exhibiting artists from outside its own stable. One of these is Carol Sharpe, whose sculptures from found objects reveal ingenuity and a nice sense of humor.

"American glass artists are number one," said Hampson, "and Czech artists rate second." Fine work from Czechoslovakia includes a stunning abstract sculpture in heavy burnished, deep amber glass by husband and wife team, Jaroslava Brychtova and Stanislav Libensky.

NBD's new Bi-Weekly Mortgage

- Cuts 9 years off a 30-year loan.
- Reduces interest costs 35%*
- Builds equity almost twice as fast.

What does Bi-Weekly mean, exactly? And how does this new mortgage work? Bi-Weekly simply means you make your house payment every other week. Instead of writing out one large check once a month, you pay half every two weeks. So, rather than making 12 big monthly payments a year, you make 26 small ones every two weeks. The two extra payments make the difference, cutting about 9 years off the life of your mortgage.

The bet 9 years arefree? Right This mortgage you the low payments of a 30-year mortgage, and is fully paid off in just 21 years. In that sense, NBD's new Bi-Weekly combines the best features of 15- and 30-year fixed rate mortgages. Because NBD requires just 10% down, the Bi-Weekly Mortgage is perfect for first-time

Suppose I sell my home 7 years from now...will I have more equity in it? Yes. With the NBD Bi-Weekly Mortgage, you build equity in your home almost twice as fast as a conventional 30-year mortgage. So when you sell your home...or if you want to use the equity in it for any purpose...the equity will be nearly double what it would have been otherwise.

And if I keep my home for the full 21 years...how much will I save? About 35%. For many home buyers in this area, that how much you would save, check the table below.

NBD's new Bi-Weekly Mortgage sounds interesting. But I need more details. Just call or visit one of the NBD Mortgage Company offices listed below. Our home mortgage specialists will get you the information to get started right away.

BEST SOURCE FOR HOMES

BEST SOURCE FOR HOMES

If you have been looking for a home to purchase and assumed that the home of your dreams would pop up in the newspaper ads, you'd be mistaken.

A recent survey by the National Association of Realtors revealed that only 8% of buyers find-their homes through newspaper advertising. Fifteen percent find their home through "For Sale" signs, 3% by knowing the seller, 1% from magazine ads and 4% from other sources. The vast majority of buyers, 64%, find their homes through Realtors. Of course, most of the real estate advertising and signage is done by real estate agencies. So, in the final analysis, 95% of buyers will coordinate their purchase through a Realtor.

The key to successful house hunting more often begins with finding the right Realtor and not the right real estate with finding the right Realtor and not the right real estate ad. In fact, your Realtor will probably have many homes for sale that may never appear in ads or have signs placed in their front yard. It makes sense to use this time-saving associates.

Dolores Gaskell, manager of the office, puts it this way, "we have a lot of people moving from Macomb County to Oakland County. Our two new locations, both here and our newly expanded office in St. Clair Shores, allows people to move and use the same real estate company in both buying and selling."

These expanded facilities are part of the five year, four million dollar expansion plan that Real Estate One is in the process of completing. Every Oakland County office has been doubled in size, expanded, and or moved to larger facilities in the last three and a half years.

Now is the time to clear out those closets, attics, basements and garages and make some quick cash in the process.

How do you plan a garage sale?

It's easy!

Just follow these simple guidelines:

1. Gather together the items you have for sale. Sort them into appropriate categories and price them fairly.

2. Place a classified advertisement in The Observer & Eccentric by calling one of the numbers below.

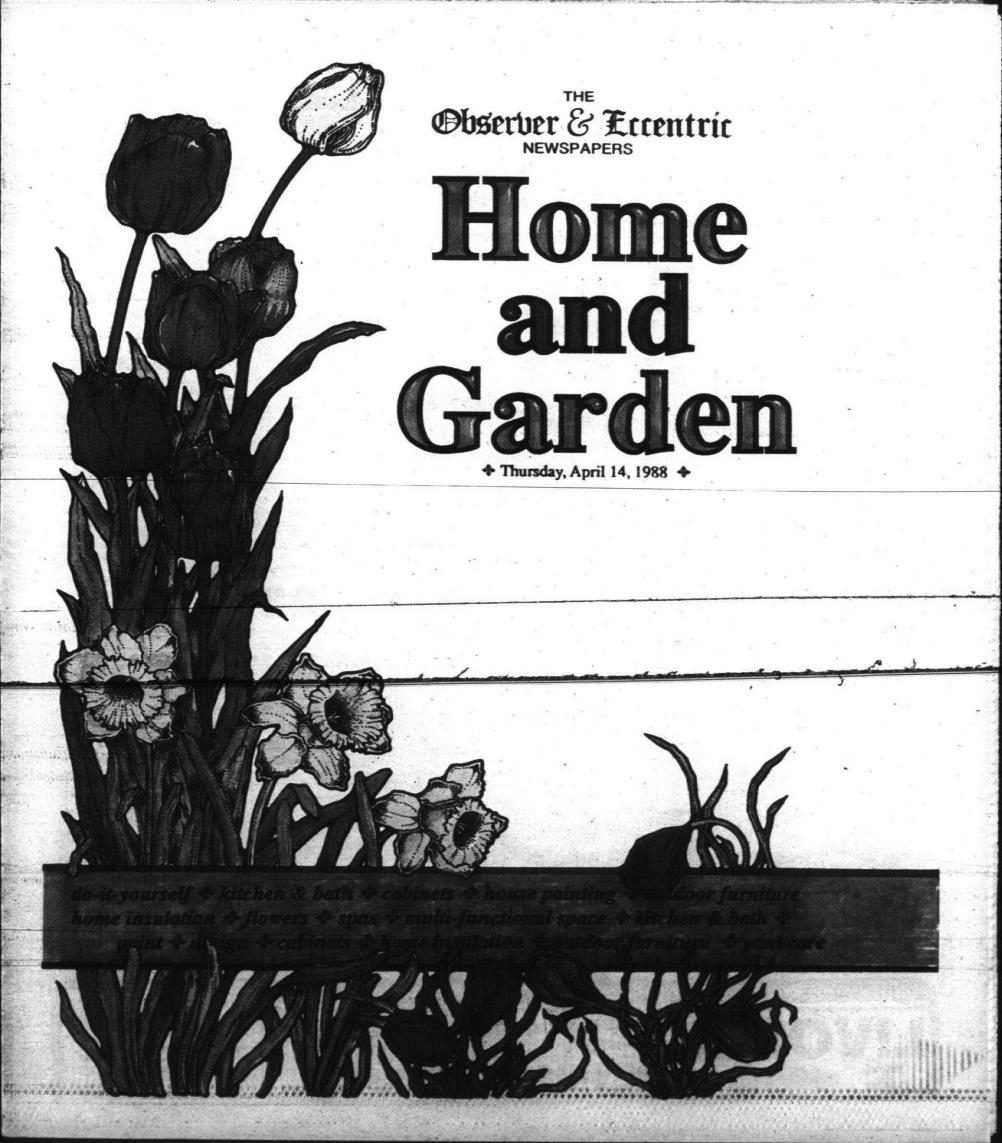

3. Hang signs throughout your neighborhood alerting residents to the upcoming sale.

4. Decide what to do with all the money you'll have after your sale!

Or, if you love to bargain-hunt and would rather shop then sell, be sure to look for our special garage sale listings every Monday and Thursday in your hometown newspaper. Observer & Eccentric classifieds make it easy to earn money and save money. Discover for yourself, today!

having a garage sale."

THEN YOU WANT to advertise your sale. You can post notices on free bulletin boards in stores, at work, at church, or at clubs and organizations.

Put an ad in the newspaper and say you are having a "giant" or "mammoth" garage sale, that you'll have "lots of good junque." Don't put in long lists of items, but be sure to give clear directions to your house, and don't forget the time and days. Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday are the most popular days.

Don't put your phone number in the ad or you'll be bothered with telephone calls with people asking to come early.

As in real estate, location is important. If you're not in a heavytraffic location, be sure to post clearly marked signs all the way in to your sale.

Drive-bys account for a lot of business. Newspaper ads and wordof-mouth are important as well as advertising. And directions to the exact location are important. Take the people from the main streets all the way in to your location with good signs.

COLOR THIS SPRING is dominated by pastels - not the washed-out. blah variety, but tones that are at once vibrant and gentle.

Take your cue from Monet's watercolors, for instance. Monet used soft yellows, setting them off with a splash of lavender here and a splash of pink azalea there. Or he set off those lavenders and pinks with strokes of bright, citrusy greens.

People are trusting the artist's inspiration in combining certain colors they might not otherwise have considered. They're saying, quite rightly, "If it's wonderful in that painting, it will work well in my living room, too.

The Monet watercolor mood is being

Paint manufacturers have made an all-out effort in recent years to make the sheen that has long been considered suitable for woodwork and trim

Finishes that are called eggshell or pearlescent are actually a low level enamel, with a patina that's perfect with the watercolor motif. The image is that of looking into the still, lovely surface of a clear lake. Of course, not all the surfaces are shimmery; matte finishes provide a contrast that enriches the total effect.

EVEN WITHIN A particular home fashion trend these days there are wide variations.

The country look, now undergoing a revival after having been lost in the art deco shuffle, is favored by many for its warmth. But country can be as strong as Ralph Lauren or as delicate as Laura Ashley. It can range from so-Americana Pastels are notable in the country look, too, but they're accented by crisp periwinkle blues and buttery yellows with splashes of fun cast in here and there by bright reds.

Another home-fashion trend centers on the use of neutral shades, which have been used less often in the past several years.

Neutrals are considered safe in times of economic uncertainty; they blend well with everthing and are never offensive. And the popularity of neutral-color leathers has spawned a new spectrum of neutral tones, such as palomino leather, ivory, ecru and bisque. Leather upholstery, it's worth noting, is more practical than you might think; it's quite durable and easy to clean.

Drama and elegance are also favored home environments. The dramatic look features strong clean lines, geometric patterns, and lots of chrome and mirrored surfaces. Black is essential, but it's brightened by touches of coral, watermelon red and vibrant jade in accessories, pictures and objets

ELEGANCE IS CREATED by choosing sophisticated colors and sophisticated combinations of colors. Shades of camel and varying gray tones are used together, combined with slate blues and accented with touches of jewel tones such as ruby red or burgundy. Slate blue may also be drawn together with plum and camel. With bright jewel tones accenting the softer neutral shades, a truly rich inte rior evolves.

The Southwest look continues to march across the country, bolstered by artist Georgia O'Keefe's sensational exhibit at the National Gallery in Washington, D.C. Many of the creative people in home decor will be paying out the marvelous colors of her Southwest sunsets in their fabrics and designs.

traordinary popularity in those wonderful dhurrie rugs. Cotton and rag rugs - which are also very big - are showing some of the loveliest pastels to best advantage.

Colors this spring continue to be warm rather than cool; there's a warm undertone in just about every color. Pink is a fine example; it's a very popular color, but we're seeing warm pinks and peach tones rather than the cooler blue pinks.

The warmth of the colors is indicative of our needs. We turn to warm tones in uncertain times. When we're frightened of the outside world, our homes become a safe haven where we can feel nurtured and protected.

Taking a cue from Mother Nature. balance these warm colors with a touch of cool. The effect achieved, a kind of equilibrium, at once reflects and encourages our hope for the future, our desire to look beyond our current anxieties to the more reassuring times we are confident lie ahead.

Color this spring is dominated by pastels not the washed-out, blah variety, but tones that are at once vibrant and gentle. Another home-fashion trend centers on the use of neutral shades, which have been used less often in the past several years.

Garage sale calls for organization

PUT SIGNS AT YOUR house, and clearly marked directions on major intersections near your home.

You can hold the sale either inside your house, your basement or in your yard, not necessarily in your garage. People will come to your garage sale for many reasons.

They may come looking for a specific item, or they may buy an item on impulse if they think they may have a use for it later. The serious collectors or dealers will probably come early or late.

And some people come because they are bored and looking for something to do.

Common things people look for are appliances, tools, toys, clothing, furniture, books, sporting goods, brica-brac, or new merchandise from business, auctions, bankruptcy sales, etc.

A large display means people spend more time looking, so if you don't have a lot, consider going in with some friends to gather more loot.

Follow these suggestions and you may have a successful garage sale.

Well-designed space is key to productivity

F YOU'RE planning to work out of an office in your home, chances are you'll be spending a lot of time there.

"People who work at home tend to work more, not less," says Judy Graf Klein, architect and author of "The Office Book" (Facts on File).

"Procrastination isn't the problem people think it is," she told Metropolitan Home magazine. "The problem can be tearing yourself away from your work."

Whether you're generating income at home, or just working on occasional projects, you need a special place dedicated to productivity. The home office should be welcoming, personal, comfortable, private and efficient.

Location is a key consideration. You need adequate space, convenient access and seclusion. A desk tucked into the corner of a family room or kitchen might be convenient, but it won't give you much room or peace and quiet.

If possible, find an area you can devote to your work. A den or spare bedroom is ideal; a garage or attic may be adequate, too. If none of these is available, use a folding screen to isolate your office from a larger room. Just be sure the work area is out of the flow of household traffic.

"ANYTHING YOU CAN do to separate work and living areas is to your advantage," says Klein. "I've seen a lot of half-height walls work as dividers in small spaces." A platform is another way to define separate space; so are area rugs.

Chances are you'll need every inch, especially if you're adding a computer, printer and several software packages to the routine collection of desk, filing cabinets, telephone, bookshelves and

You may find you need two desks: one for the computer gear and one for everything else. It also helps to have a second desk so you can spread out to write a letter or open a book or magazine.

Ask furniture dealers and suppliers of office equipment to show you designs that incorporate space-saving extras. For example, some desks have pull-out shelves that slide away when the office "closes up."

When selecting a desk, table or other work surface, beware of highly polished finishes. The shine of marble, stainless steel, glass and glossy woods can cause eye-straining glare.

Minimize the contrast between puperwork and black table, for instance: your eyes will ache if you work with white paper.

IF YOU HAVE A hulking file cabinet, use it for long-term storage. Keep it in the garage or some other out-of-the-way place. For the files you use every day, a rollout cart parked under your desk is probably all you need. (Besides, file cabinets are a reminder of the office drudgery you left behind).

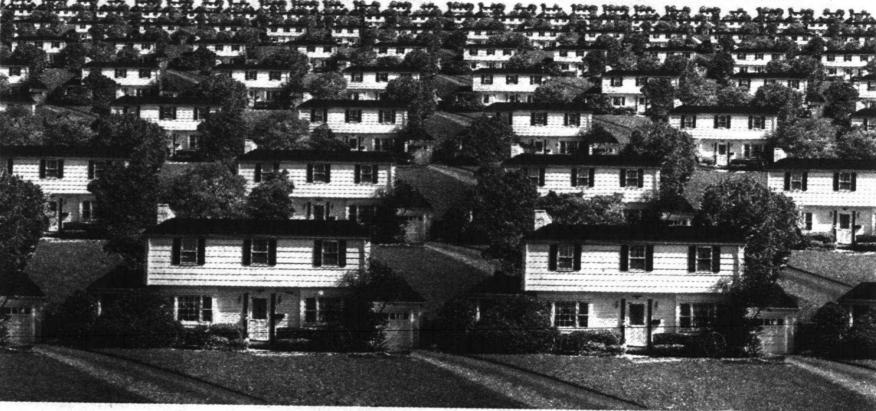

For a homey touch, store phone books, computer paper and office supplies in a credenza or a cabinet, or even an antique armoire. For maximum storage efficiency, however, few things can match modular wall systems. Customize them with closed compartments, drop-down ledges and sliding shelves.

It's possible to have an office in a space as small as a walk-in closet. One way to avoid claustrophobia is to install proper lighting: place a small clampon desk lamp directly above the working surface in addition to an overhead light that brightens the entire area.

If you lack square footage, go vertical with shelves. Try mounting wire racks (the kind often used in kitchens) with bins and baskets arranged for your needs. Add a magnetic bulletin board. You can get a small-scale office chair, but don't compromise on quality.

MERICA'S BACK yard isn't what it used to be. Consider: Eleven million (let the number sink in!) outdoor charcoal grills are sold in the United States each year. Add to that another 3 million gas-fired grills for the upscale "patio gourmet," plus an uncounted number of imported hibachis . . and you have mega-barbecuing.

And there's much more happening behind the hydrangeas than mere burger-making. In fact, while the barbecue grill cooks, folks lounge on high-style casual furniture, kids frolic beneath a vine-covered arbor, and neighbors drop by for cocktails served in coordinated barware.

Once a scruffy patch of green and raked dirt, the back yard has now become the American home owner's newest room.

As the season approaches for firing up the grill, thoughts turn naturally to making the most of a patio, porch, deck or garden — or creating an outdoor area where none may exist.

Providing a space for outdoor fun can be as simple as having a contracconscious, comfortable and durable. This year's trend finds the consumer moving away from beiges and earth tones toward more pastels.

Patio furnishings of the 1980s are fashion-tor pour out a concrete slab or as elaborate as constructing a multilevel redwood deck. It all depends on your taste, lifestyle and budget.

For a laid in a tio surfa cial even

ONE OF THE NEWEST trends — particularly attractive with Southwest design — is unstained redwood decking. Simple and durable, all it needs is a clear protective finish to stand up to the biggest party or strongest sandstorm.

A more elaborate — and more colorful — flooring alternative is tile. An expensive option, whichever of the myriad patterns or colors you select is guaranteed to generate oohs and aahs from impressed guests. For a more traditional look, bricks laid in attractive patterns create a patio surface worthy to support the social event of the season. If you're on a budget, consider interspersing concrete with patterned bricks.

For a country flair, use concrete or wood for a base patio, surround it with a grassy area filled with plants, stones and boulders strategically placed for effect.

Once you've defined the area, you'll need to keep in mind three fundamental needs to turn your backyard into a worthy outdoor room: seating, shade and privacy.

PATIO AND GARDEN furniture, a billion-dollar business, is the fastest growing segment of the furniture industry. Such phenomenal interest means today's porch-potato is demanding, and getting, far more than that old standby, the folding aluminum chair with a grid of green-and-white webbed straps.

Patio furnishings of the 1980s are fashion-conscious, comfortable and durable. And not just the chairs, but also chaises and ottomans, cocktail tables and barcarts, come in a dizzying array of colors and frame styles and cushion options. (This year's trend finds the consumer moving away from beiges and earth tones toward more pastels.)

In addition to fashionable variety among high-end lines (Brown Jordan and Tropitone are two well-received choices), the action is in action furniture — anything that rocks, glides, slides, swivels or swings. If it moves, it's desirable.

Still popular, too, for basic seating, is the traditional garden set of an umbrella table and four chairs (a very basic set costs about $200; a "fully loaded" version could well cost 10 times that amount).

on backyard patios, decks

European styling plus vaunted low maintenance are available in the lacquered resin lines (commonly from French manufacturers like Grosfillex and Triconfort). Other options include PVC-pipe furniture (generally lower price ranges), wrought iron (traditional, but heavy), and wood and wicker.

Not to be overlooked are two classic garden seats that have been revived recently in great fashion colors: the shell-back, cantilevered metal porch chair and the wood Adirondack chair with its slanted seat and broad arms.

When the patio or deck is a small, unprotected spot, the splash of a brightly colored umbrella or awning may be sufficient to shade the lounger during peak sunny hours. One home owner, who liked the look of jaunty, striped umbrellas but whose deck stretched the entire length of his house, stationed five umbrellas in portable stands along the deck rail, for eyecatching pockets of sun and shade.

TO PROVIDE RESPITE from the sun in larger areas, wood shade structures — arbors, pergolas, gazebos are making a big comeback.

They can be used to cover a child's play area, a favored dining spot or a spa. The most successful shade structures are planned with location in mind, to take advantage of favorable course).

Modern bedrooms blossom with the touch of romance provided by canopies and wallpaper.

Beyond boudoirs

Bedrooms mix sleep with shape-up spaces

Back IN THE 11th century no one had heard of bedrooms. The place where everybody slept was one big room, used for cooking, eating, bathing — anything and everything.

By the 17th century, royal bedrooms were the setting for important ceremonies, including weddings. If VIPs wanted an audience with the king, chances are they'd find him reclining on one of his many velvetdraped beds.

Today's bedrooms combine the best of both past and present. They incorporate activity areas, baths and exotic beds into the design — but they're also private.

According to Home magazine, "Amidst the hustle and hurry of daily life, the bedroom is emerging as a tranquil retreat from household hubbub."

When you design your new bedroom or remodel your old one, make it the center of your private life. To keep pace with the times, it should be a retreat from the outside world, a place where you can be yourself. Plan it as aspace that surrounds you with comfort, envelops you with calm, and nourishes your senses and soul.

BEGIN YOUR PLANS by examining your lifestyle. Have you always wanted a private place where you could exercise and watch TV at the same time? Determine what soothes you — simple surroundings or mounds of softness? Would you rather unwind by the fire — or in your own deluxe indoor spa?

And if you love waterbeds but worry about your back, you may find the new "hybrids" give you the support and comfort you crave,

One couple wanted exercise equipment, a TV and an ocean of serenity—all in the same bedroom.

Designer Marilyn Jaeger chose a white and pale gray color scheme, combined with simple furnishings. "Simplicity is deceiving. It requires as much thought as elaborate furnishings."

The bed is in an elevated area, separated from the rest of the room by a sheer white curtain. When drawn, the curtain sequesters the bed from exercise equipment and an audio-video system. One person can watch TV or exercise in private while the other relaxes in bed.

To keep visual distractions to a minimum, Jaeger kept the walls plain — no artwork. All storage is built in. Even magazines are stored out of sight in bins behind the headboard. Accents are gray and chrome.

When the curtains are drawn, the sleeping area is enveloped in a sea of white. The room provides the owners with activity as well as serenity — in a small space.

Designer Tish Hooker thinks bedrooms should have ruffles, lace and piles of pillows. But she also believes many women shy away from such "feminine" bedrooms because they think their husbands would be uncomfortable.

As a result, according to Hooker, a lot of women don't consult their husbands. "They play it safe and do the room in a tailored fashion. It ends up looking like a boring motel room. When I see a room like that, I think the couple must have an uneventful, unimaginative relationship."

HOOKER ADDS, "I THINK a lot of men would say they like pastels and ruffles too, if they were ever asked."

For her own bedroom, Hooker chose a romatic, feminine look with lavender, leaf-green and white sheets in the "Portico" pattern by Utica, the fashion brand of J.P. Stevens.

She used the sheets not only to dress the bed, but also for draperies and for a canopy over the bed. "Ever since I was a girl, I dreamed of having a beautiful canopy on my bed, it adds such an air of elegance to the bed and makes the room special."

Hooker also believes every woman should have her own dressing table. "It's the most elegant way I know for a woman to relax and pamper herself."

Fig. If the idea appeals to you, make it soft and feminine — but don't forget the personal touches. Display photos and mementos on the table to remind you of favorite people and past events.

Give the dressing table itself special meaning. Says Hooker, "I draped my dressing table with my grandmother's antique lace tablecloth and covered my bedside table with a wonderful old patchwork quilt."

If you're remodeling, consider bumping out a wall to make room for a fireplace or tub-for-two. The trend in bedroom bathing is openness.

Kitchen used for more than eating an avocado green and gold laboratory. The family saw it as cramped and inhospitable and visted only for meals. Times have changed.

"The kitchen is now used for more than just eating," says Francis Jones, executive director of the National Kitchen and Bath Association. "It has become a living area, a communications center, a place to socialize '

Today's kitchens are open-plan. There's space for people to gather as, well as for food preparation.

"Two-income couples have placed more demands on family time because time is limited," says Mary Jane Pappas, a St. Paul, Minn., kitchen designer. "They read the mail in the kitchen. sometimes a magazine. The kids may do homework there so they can be with mom and dad while dinner is being prepared."

Families of the affluent '80s not only congregate in the kitchen, they're going all out to make that room the high-tech hearth of the home.

Remodeling is rampant. The resulting no-nonsense kitchens are anything but sterile and cold. Priorities are effiappliances - and a warm, pleasant atmosphere that welcomes family and friends.

If you plan to remodel your kitchen or design a new one, keep your lifestyle in mind. Your kitchen should fit cook and caboodle like a cozy pair of loafers.

"YOU REALLY HAVE to keep in mind those people who actually use the kitchen," says Colleen Langston of Euro-American Kitchens in California.

Langston, who has been a kitchen planner for 30 years, asks clients how often they shop for groceries. "Once a day, once a week or once a month makes a difference. It affects the number, type and size of cabinets and the size of the refrigerator and freezer."

She also asks about pets. "People often don't plan their kitchens with their pets in mind, and then they find themselves tripping over a pet's food

"I always tell people that they should sit down by themselves for a while and really think about how they use their kitchen," says Langston. "Then, if they come to me or any other kitchen designer, they'll have done better for them."

Key elements of kitchen-lifestyle planning are traffic flow, location of major appliances, number of people who use the kitchen and the heights of those people. Also, functions of the room other than food preparation, how frequently if will be used and how much storage is needed.

If there's a remodeled kitchen in your future, you probably enjoy visiting kitchen showrooms and reading magazines that highlight home interiors. Start now to make a "dream kitchen" file of product brochures and photos from articles. Use it to show your kitchen planner what you like and

What's your personal style: Country French or Sleek European? How about nostalgic art deco or simple, elegant Japanese?

Keep style in mind when you plan your kitchen remodel, but feel free to have fun with it.

"THERE'S A WARMING trend in today's kitchen design, and individuality is the new byword," says Metropolitan Home magazine. You may want kitchen such as architectural details or unusual utensils on hanging racks.

Many contemporary kitchens have European styling. "These are sleeker looks," says Anne Patterson, editor of "Kitchen & Bath Concepts," a trade magazine for design professionals. "Knobs are recessed. Appliances are integrated with the cabinetry in a flush arrangement."

Kitchens with Eurostyling often include softer lines, like curved cabinetry. Low-voltage (halogen) lighting is popular. Also hot is the granite look. both real and faux, in laminates and other synthetic materials.

For kitchen colors, white is still the standard, combined with almond. Black is a strong accent in glass-fronted ovens, dishwashers and appliances of all sizes. Finishes for wood are lighter, often pickled.

The kitchen island is one of the most desirable aspects of new kitchens - if you have room for one. Designers orefer 36 to 48 inches between an island and its opposing counters.

An island can serve as an area for eating, cooking and food preparation. It can include a sink, dishwasher, waste-disposal unit, oven, cook-top and lots of storage space.

AND DON'T OVERLOOK the space above the island. Use it to hang pots and tens, install cabinets or hang a hood vent for a cook-top.

The ideal appliance garage has tambour doors, the kind that roll open and shut like a secretary desk. it fits under cabinets, recessed behing the countertop. It can be several feet long - great for hiding blenders, can openers or anything else that makes a kitchen

Cabinet face-lift can save money

AP - If you are remodeling your kitchen and thinking about putting in new cabinets, you might want to consider giving your old ones a facelift instead. As a do-it-yourself project, it can save you money and at the same time get the quality look that you want.

A newly introduced solid oak kitchen cabinet refacing system packages contemporary-styled solid oak cabinet doors, drawer fronts and matching peel-and-stick oak veneer into a stepby-step procedure designed especially for the do-it-yourselfer and one that requires no special tools or carpentry

The system offers a variety of cabinet doors and drawer fronts to accommodate almost any kitchen cabinet you might have. Cabinet doors and drawer fronts both are three-quarters of an inch thick, with door fronts available in two panel styles. Cabinet fronts come in nine standard door sizes: drawer fronts are available in three sizes. Non-standard door sizes can be adjusted using framing strips. The refacing system also includes matching peel-and-stick oak veneer for application over all front cabinet frame surfaces and exposed ends. The veneer features specially formulated pressuresensitive adhesive to provide easy application as well as durability.

THE REFACING PROCESS is a four-step procedure that anyone with basic do-it-yourself skills can perform. Installing cabinet doors and applying the matching veneer is done as follows:

- 1. Remove all old cabinet doors, hinges and catches.
- 2. Match pre-selected doors with the appropriate cabinet door openings. 3. Apply peel-and-stick oak veneer
- over all old face frames and exposed 4. Apply the finish, add new hardware and complete the installation of

Installing new drawer fronts inolves a similar four-step procedure:

1. Remove all drawers from cabinets and take off all handles, knobs or raised moldings. It is not necessary to remove the existing drawer fronts themselves because the new solid oak ones mount over the old ones. The replacement drawer fronts come in three sizes which will accommodate nearly all drawer sizes.

2. Using a hand saw, cut off any lip or overhang on your existing drawer fronts so that they are flush with the sides, top and bottom of the drawer.

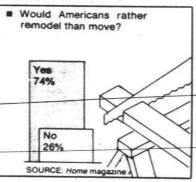

3. Line up the new drawer front so that it centers over the trimmed drawer and covers the drawer opening completely.

4. Apply the finish, then, from the face side of the new drawer front, drill holes so you can attach new drawer handles. In most instances the screws used to attach the handles will be adequate to secure the new drawer front in place. Complete the installation of the drawer fronts.

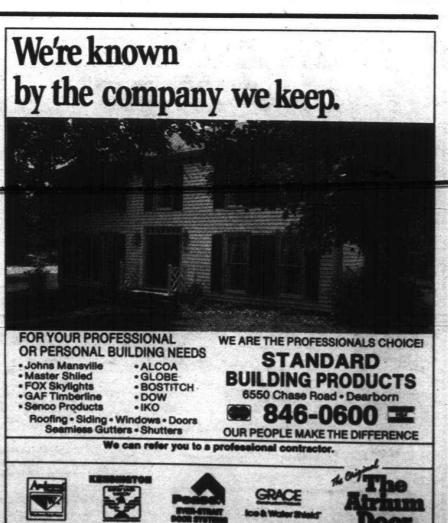

ACCORDING TO MASONITE Corp., which handles the refacing system, the average kitchen is composed of 15 cabinet doors and 11 drawer fronts which take between 16 to 24 hours to reface and finish

For the relatively few hours involved, refacing may be the answer for the do-it-vourself enthusiast Another advantage is less disruption to the normal everyday use of your kitchen. While you are refacing your cabinets, you still have the use of them, and avoid the mess that comes when you tear out your old ones and replace with

Wood furniture, fixtures need special summer care

AP - With warm weather coming, wood furniture and fixtures will need special care, advises wood care authority Homer Formsby

He offers these tips:

• To protect your furniture from the strong summer sun, keep furniture away from direct sunlight and rearrange your furniture so that one piece doesn't receive all the exposure. Install drapes or shades that can be drawn during the sun's strongest hours.

· To protect furniture from high humidity, regularly apply a furniture treatment (not a furniture polish) to replace the wood's natural moisture. (Don't use linseed oil on wood, since it can darken, mildew and let off an unpleasant odor.)

• To protect furniture from summer dirt and dust, "deep clean" the wood by wiping the surface with mineral spirits or furniture cleaner on a cotton cloth, repeating until the cloth remains clean. Once the wood is thoroughly cleaned, regular use of a furni-ture treatment will clean everyday dirt

 Avoid sitting on wood furniture in a wet bathing suit; the moisture can become trapped and leave white spots. To repair the spots, first let the furniture sit for 24 hours to see if the moisture evaporates on its own. If it doesn't, buff the area with a 50-50 mixture of toothpaste and baking soda on a damp cotton cloth.

Introducing Pella's new wood entry door system.

It's taken years to develop the entry door that incorporates beauty with performance. Don't be fooled by the rich wood or that won't warp; split; crack; peel or need frequent refinishing. In short, it's the wood entry door that's built to last, forever. It's new. It's unique. And, it's only at your Pella Window Store.

Nobody's just as good as Pella! Compare...features and affordability!

to be tied to a desk," says Metropolital Home. "They're engineered for endurance. Test drive one thoroughly before you buy; it should fit your body like a glove.

A swivel chair on wheels adjusted to proper height is a must. You need to be able to turn and move from one desk or work space to another smoothly and efficiently. Protect your carpet with a sheet of plastic or Plexiglass, available at office supply stores.

Use a conventional office chair for for reading reports. Moving from chair to chair can keep fatigue from setting in while you're sitting down.

Minimize back and eye strain by making sure your computer keyboard and screen are properly positioned. You should be looking slightly down when you look at the screen - gazing up for hours can cause neck pain.

Spare your shoulders and back by positioning the keyboard at elbowheight - slightly lower - when you're seated.

Glare is often a problem for computer users, too. Window shades or draperies that block out light may be your best bet. Or buy a "glare screen" to put over the surface of the computer's monitor. The screens costs less than $25 and are available from computer dealers and accessory suppliers.

Hanging new look on old windows

F YOU think a window is just a hole in the wall, you're missing what's new in architectural style. Banish casement or sash treatments; windows aren't even rectangular anymore.

Say hello to clerestory windows, half-rounds, portholes, oversized squares, skinny oblongs - and that's just the beginning.

"Today windows do more than just admit light and air," says interior design writer Judith Findsen.

"The right windows can increase the usability of a room without costly reconstruction. And carefully selected and properly installed windows can reduce energy loss."

A really energy-efficient window will be double (or even triple) glazed, with two or three sheets of clear glass with an airspace in between. Double glazing is the most common, and a quality window will have double-glazed glass measuring at least 1/2-inch thick over-

Low-emissivity glass has a thin, metallic, transparent coating. The finish reduces winter heat loss and summer heat gain and filters out ultraviolet rays that fade and deteriorate drapes, carpets and furniture.

Along with skylights, they are one of the most requested "extras" in new buildings. Greenhouse windows also provide a low-cost alternative to the traditional last resort of the city gardener - window boxes

While window boxes make attractive additions to country-style dwellings, greenhouse windows can blend with many architectural styles and moods and add to the resale value of a

For the individualist, stained glass offers the most personal of window treatments. Look for them in antique stores that specialize in architectural cast-offs, a good source for other design remnants like cast-iron fencing and solid wood doors.

Or commission a stained-glass artist to transform a favorite design into a glowing jewel-toned window

Whether you choose traditional colored glass or a simpler, more modern design of beveled clear glass, there are some rules in getting your money's worth in a custom-designed window. First find an artist whose work you admire. Visit crafts fairs and studios in your area to look at samples of the

Selecting fabrics

Selecting fabrics for furnishing or decorating your home? Here are some experts' suggestions:

First, consider how much wear the fabric will get. Obviously, the family room sofa will need to be more rugged than the living room sofa or the guest bedroom sofabed

Tightly woven fabrics hold up better under stress than do loosely woven patterns and prints. Ask your furniture store salesperson for swatches you like, and inspect them osely. Pull hard on the material to see how stress affects the yarns. Does tugging separate them?

Fold the swatch and rub the backing against itself. Does the back stay intact or flake off?

Woven patterns are more durable prints because the design goes all the way through, but prints offer a much wider range of styles, colors and designs. Check for "pilling" on prints by rubbing a pencil eraser on the printed surface; if bits of fabric ball up on the surface, select another fabric. And look look for material protected by Teflon or Scotchguard. pets are starting to fade, remember that tinted windows aren't just for limos anymore

The most effective kinds of window tinting are the very thin window tint and insulation films. These are best applied by professionals to avoid the inevitable air bubbles. When completed, the final result compares to tinted window glass rather than a covering applied to clear glass

Or install exterior curtains over the outside of a window area. Whether roll-up canvas or bamboo curtains, you can let down during the heat of the day when direct sun is on that side of

A vintage-style home might look nice with an old-fashioned awning. Choose among somber neutrals dark green, slate gray or chocolate brown - or pastel coded to your decorating scheme.

For those who like to shut out their sunlight from the inside, blinds still offer the most versatile options. They're not the clunky wood and metal slats our parents used

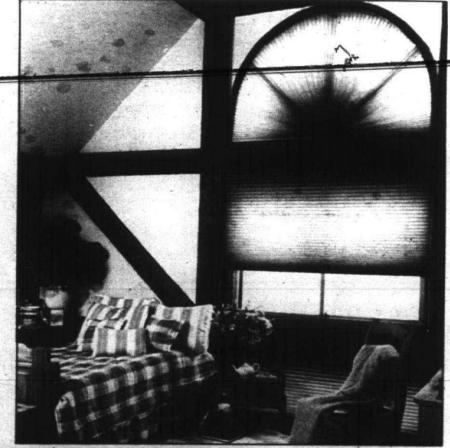

The invention of mini blinds opened up a whole new high-tech look for windows and the new micro-minis (with slats of 1/2 inch) virtually disappear when they are opened. These slatted blinds have long been available in a wide range of decorator colors, but the newest look is graduated color and tex-

Vinyl vertical blinds are an excellent choice for the energy-conscious consumer: They close tightly, creating a storm window effect. With horizontal blinds, 30 percent more heat is lost in

While vertical blinds don't yet come in the wide variety of colors offered by horizontal blind manufacturers, you can find vinyl louvers for unusual window shapes such as curved, slanted, notched, cathedral, bay and A-frames. In addition, they have the added advantage of being easier to clean than horizontal blinds
