Slain girl's mother to address court

Before two young men are sentenced for murdering her daughter, Deborah Hulbert of Canton plans to take the stand and tell Washtenaw Circuit Judge Henry Conlin "how many lives they've destroyed by taking one life."

The Victims' Rights Act provides that, among other things, victims or their relatives may make pleas at sentencing to impress upon the court that a crime has caused suffering and pain.

Steven Stamper, 18, of Ypsilanti Township will be sentenced Friday for second-degree murder in Washtenaw Circuit Court in connection with the shooting death of Mary Anne Hulbert, 13.

A jury found Stamper guilty of murdering Hulbert after a weeklong trial last month. Hulbert's body was found in a Superior Township field in Washtenaw County in January 1987.

Stamper could be sentenced to life in prison.

CHRISTOPHER MACHACEK, also an Ypsilanti Township 18-year-old, will be sentenced in connection with the same crime Oct. 28.

When appeals and paroles are being considered, 'the court will know about the torment they've caused. I can't go down a road or see a field without thinking about it. I see Mary running, and I hear her screaming."

-Debbie Hulbert victim's mother

Machacek was tried separately and found guilty of first-degree mur-der in an earlier trial. Machacek's sentencing, originally scheduled for Oct. 14, was adjourned for a two weeks at the request of his attorney.

First-degree, or premeditated murder, is punishable by mandatory life in prison with no chance of DEBBIE HULBERT said she wants her statement on record so that when appeals and paroles are being considered, "the court will know about the torment they've caused. I can't go down a road or see a field without thinking about it. I see Mary running, and I hear her screaming.

According to testimony, Hulbert thought she was pregnant by Machacek. Machacek and Stamper took her to a field where they intended to induce a miscarriage by shooting rifles into the air. An autopsy showed Mary was shot seven times, and that she was not pregnant.

Debbie Hulbert has distributed thousands of fliers to businesses and homes in .Plymouth, Canton, Westland and Wayne, urging residents to write Conlin before the sentencings.

Trustee candidates say development top issue

By Diane Gale staff writer

Development in west Canton is heavy on the minds of six trustee candidates vying for four openings.

Elaine Kirchgatter, John Preniczky, Bob Shefferly and Hank Whalen are Republicans. Matie Ostrum and Edwin Rasmussen Jr. are Democrats.

'We need to come up with a four or five year plan as to what we will do in the township as far as development on the west side," said Rasmussen, explaining the importance of meeting with homeowners Whalen, who said promoting a full-time supervisor for four years tops his priority list, promotes a better development program than we've seen so far."

"I would like to see more aesthetic contributions by developers, . . . like trees and sidewalks," Whalen said, and township needs "a higher caliber of establishment."

THE "RATE and type of growth" in the next "five or 10 years" is a top concern, said Kirchgatter, a trustee incumbent who was appointed to serve part of a vacated term.

Preniczky, on the board for a full

And three months later, U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Taylor, is still basking in the glow of the nation's new plant-closing law.

The law was proposed by Ford as far back as the mid-1970s and bitterly opposed by President Reagan. Its passage represented a sweet political triumph for the Congressman, for Democrats in general and, Ford said, for millions of American workers who previously could have been

Treasurer hopefuls have served township

By Diane Gale staff writer

Treasurer candidates Gerald Brown and Carol Bodenmiller are familiar political figures in the township.

Bodenmiller, a Democrat, concentrates on what she'd do in the legislative capacity while sitting as one of seven trustees on the board. On the other hand, Brown, a Republican, is more concerned about the way he'll invest Canton's money.

BODENMILLER, a trustee from 1978 to 1984, said her record shows she's worked hard in volunteering for board subcommittees and other programs dealing with township problems.

"After having served on 'two boards with two supervisors and both boards were controversial . . I was able to stick to the issues and not get involved in the conflicts," Bodenmiller said.

Brown, a one-term treasurer in-cumbent, said he's proven he's frugal and careful in choosing only safe, 'quality'' investments.

nual salary of $96,000

The court considers criminal convictions and cases that have an automatic right of appeal. The docket includes civil cases seeking review. The breakdown is 52 percent civil and 48 percent criminal, according to a court spokesman. In 1975, each of 18 judges handled

Last year the state Legislature created the new judgeships to help ease the expanding caseload. "The main reason is that each year the court has to request from the (Michigan) Supreme Court assignments for visiting judges," said Byerlein. But, he added, the new appointments will not eliminate totally the need for visiting judges. "Last year over 70 judges from circuit court. Detroit Recorder's Court and retired judges served." Appeals court judges hear cases on panels of three. Last year there was a total of 8,186 filings, and 7,502 cases were disposed of, according to Byerlein.

By using visiting judges, the court can stretch its number of panels from six (made up of the 18 judges) to nine (one visiting judge on each three judge panel). Each panel hears 42 cases per month. "The visiting judges have their own work which slows (rendering) their opinions," Byerlein said. After Jan. 1, 1989, there will be 24 judges, which means the court can immediately begin operating nine

Y. Gladys Barsamian, 56, has been assigned to the Wayne County probate juvenile division since January 1975. She has been presiding judge of that division for six years and chief judge pro tempore for two years. A resident of Plymouth Township, Barsamian is chair of the Juvenile Law Committee, State Bar of Michigan, and on the board of directors of the Metropolitan Detroit Youth Foundation, Downtown YMCA where she was honored as a "Wornan in Perspective" in 1981) and Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children. She received both her bachelor's and law degrees from Wayne State University.

Thomas J. Brennan

Barsamian said a primary reason for her candidacy is that probate judges have been excluded from act ing as visiting judges in the appeals

"Historically probate judges have not been allowed to sit, yet (probate issues) are expanding rapidly at the review level," she said. "Those sitting have little expertise in that area. The decisions are not too reflective of what the suit is Thomas J. Brennan, 66, has been a circuit judge for the past 16 years. Prior to his election to the Wayne

Halloween is less than two weeks away and the season's festivities are in full swing.

And a good way to get in the mood is to visit one the the area's haunted houses. Region 16 chapters of the Michigan Jaycees have prepared their haunted houses for frights and fun. Thousands of people, young and old, will visit these area haunted houses. Last year more than $75,000 was raised in the region by haunted house projects and was invested in community service proj-

Some of these chapters have been running haunted houses for more than 10 years and have given back to their communities tens of thousands of dollars in the form of food baskets for the needy, shopping sprees for youth, senior citizen outings and dances, park improvenents and other projects.

Victims rights Proposal B is not the answer TO ONE CAN ARGUE with the claim that individuals have rights. Our country was founded on that premise. It is a policy guaranteed in the U.S. and Michigan constitutions and left up to interpretation through legislation and the courts. The problem comes when officials try to quantify those rights by cluttering the state constitution with amendments like Proposal B which is on the Nov. 8 ballot. Proposal B addresses the rights of crime victims, an area now covered under legislative statute. If approved, the Crime Victims Rights Act would place in the constitution a litany of rights that would include the right to fairness and respect, protection, notification of legal proceedings, restitution, an assessment against convicted defendants and enforcement of the act.

AT BEST THE proposal is a Band-Aid approach to a much larger problem. Proponents of the proposal claim the constitutional amendment would remove the statute's vulnerability to weakening by the courts and the Legislature.

The problem comes when officials try to quantify those rights by cluttering the state constitution with amendments like Proposal B which is on the Nov. 8 ballot.

They add that the proposal would form a basis for legal action, if necessary.

The better approach would be to shore up the victims rights act with an educational effort for the judiciary and police officers, stiffer court sentencing and an emphasis on due process for

More students are learning Japanese here

By Mary Rodrigue staff writer

Japan's increasing international influence is inspiring more and more Americans to learn the language.

Although high school foreign language programs are still rooted in Romance languages like French and Spanish, a few districts, including Birmingham, are offering Japanese at the high school level with plans to expand at the middle school level.

Japanese language and culture classes are more common at the community college and university levels. At Schoolcraft and Madonna colleges in Livonia, at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn and at Oakland University in Rochester, students are filling classes in Japa-

And at places like Wayne State-University and the University of Dearborn campus, quests for Japanese courses have officials considering adding it to the curriculum.

'The Japanese presence is becoming more visible. Japanese is becoming the second most important language as we move toward the 21st century," said Frank Hubbard, who teaches classes in beginning, intermediate and advanced Japanese at

He started to teach Japanese in 1985 and draws students from Flat Rock to Ann Arbor, he said. Journalists, businessmen and women, educators, attorneys, accountants, doctors even employees of Japanese restaurants are among his students.

"I taught one entire family of four," he said.

Currently Hubbard, who is also

Dearborn city treasurer, is working with the Dearborn Public Schools to create a Japanese course for gifted high school students.

At Madonna College, Robert Rann teaches beginning, intermediate and advanced Japanese.

SOUTHFIELD'S TWO public high schools offered Japanese last year. And foreign language department chairs for the Redford Union and Plymouth Canton school districts have been trying to implement Japa-

"I'm very interested in Japanese finding qualified teachers is a problem," said Alex Mestas, RU foreign language chairman.

"Also personally I'd like to learn Japanese," said Mestas, who has long been attracted to the Japanese

Struggling over tax-funded abortions

Nancy White of Plymouth Township believes Medicaid funding of abortions should continue. The president of the League of Women Voters of Michigan says her group opposes a ballot proposal prohibiting the use of tax money to fund abortions.

By Julie Brown

ANCY WHITE BELIEVES state funding of Medicaid abortions should continue. As a result, she's campaigning against Proposal A on the

Nov. 8 election ballot.

"We're working to oppose Proposal A," said White, a Plymouth Township resident and president of the League of Women Voters of Michigan.

In 1987, the Michigan Legislature approved a petition presented by opponents of Medicaid abortions that prohibits use of tax money to pay for an abortion for a woman receiving public assistance. Such an abortion would be allowed only if needed to save the mother's life.

Proposal A asks if this law should be approved. A "yes" vote would stop Medicaid-funded abortions. A "no" vote would continue Medicaid funding of abortions.

The League of Women Voters of Michigan has joined the People's Campaign for Choice, a coalition campaigning for a continuation of funding for Medicaid abortions.

White, who's pro-choice as an individual, sees the ballot proposal as a question of fairness.

"It's an equity issue dealing with the funding of abortions," said White, a homemaker and community volunteer. "We see it as an injustice."

Medicaid was set up to help equalize the health care system in the United States. Low-income families are entitled to the same health care as others are, and shouldn't be denied care, she said, adding that Proposal A doesn't affect the health insurance of public employees, she said.

"YOU HAVE to wonder about the unfairness," White said. "It looks like an attempt to chip away at that (abortions), doesn't it?"

White has worked on Proposal A, although she's not as active as some others are. As state League of Women Voters president, she's working on other issues as well.

White's not sure what the outcome will be on Nov. 8, but expects it will be close.

"I think we'll have to wait to see."
Livonia resident Elaine Donnelly, who's working with the Committee to End Tax-Funded Abortions, believes her side will prevail at the polls.

"I'm confident of that," said Donnelly, a political activist and freelance writer. "The majority is with us and with the legislature."

Public support of a ban on Medicaid funding for abortion cuts across income and other lines and even many voters who favor freedom of choice will vote yes "because they're troubled about the use of tax money," she said.

Donnelly is legislative chairwoman for the Republican Women's Federation of Michigan and state issues committee chairwoman for the Michigan Republican Party. She recently signed on as a speaker with the Committee to End Tax-Funded Abortions.

Donnelly views the ballot proposal issue in narrow terms. A total of 36 other states do not use tax money to pay for abortions, and the overwhelming majority of Medicaid abortions done in Michigan are not medically necessary, she said.

"It's going for people who are coming back more than once," she said, adding that many poor women are using abortion as a form of birth control. 'We need to work toward correcting the societal problem.' Many women live in conditions much different from those of the middle class. Poverty, lack of education and lack of opportunity take their toll.'I think we have to deal with that.'

— Kay Baldrica president, Canton BPW

DONNELLY also is opposed to legalized abortion. "It's a violent act; it's a tragedy," and the procedure is "contrary to everything medicine is supposed to do," she said.

Donnelly also objects to claims that Medicaid abortion funding reduces welfare costs. She questions both the validity and the intent of those claims.

"It doesn't say much about our society or how we care for children," she said.

Other area residents aren't as involved in working on Proposal A issues, but have thought about their own beliefs.

"It's just a personal choice sort of thing," said Johnson, a homemaker and former teacher. "But I do believe in the rights of women."

Johnson is president of the Plymouth branch, American Association of University Women, and "prochoice has been AAUW's stance for a

The AAUW has, at the national level, favored freedom of choice, and while the Michigan Division supports continued Medicaid funding of abortions, the Plymouth branch chose not to take a position, she said.

"That is such a hotly debated issue," Johnson said. "Individuals have the right, of course, to speak out in any way they see fit."

Even though she's concerned about there being more unwanted children in the world, Johnson said abortion shouldn't be used as a form of birth control.

Canton resident Al Mickus sees the issue differently. He's opposed to Medicaid funding for abortion and believes abortion should be illegal.

"ABORTION is wrong," said Mickus, a lifelong Catholic and member of St. Thomas A Becket Church in Canton.

A district manager for the Detroit Free Press who plans to retire soon, Mickus believes abortion is contrary to the word of God. People should

Yes or no?

Answer's not so simple for 'A'

Coverage of elections tends to focus on prominent people and issues, while grassroots efforts get little or no recognition. The following stories look at Proposal A, which will be on the Nov. 8 ballot, and the local people who are working for and against it.

By Sue Mason staff writer

Yes or no?
On the surface, it will be a simple answer for a not-so-simple question
. . . a simple answer for a dispute

answer for a not-so-simple question
... a simple answer for a dispute that has spanned almost two decades
... a simple answer that may be felt across the United States.
On Tuesday, Nov. 8, voters will be asked whether or not they approve of Public Act 59 of 1987, a state law that prohibits the use of state tax money for Medicaid abortions. If the answer is yes, Michigan will become the 38th state to stop paying for Medicaid abortions.

If the answer is no, Michigan will remain one of nine states paying for Medicaid abortions.

The referendum issue, Proposal A, is yet another skirmish between prolife advocates and their pro-choice counterparts. But this is a skirmish that some, including the likes of feminist Gloria Steinem, believe could set the stage for a challenge of Roe vs. Wade, the 1972 U.S. Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion. The battle isn't a new one for either side, but the focus is.

The Committee to End Tax-Funded Abortions isn't arguing about choice. It is taking direct aim at another hotly contested issue in Michigan — taxes.

Its message is clear to voters: "not with my money you don't." And it not only is attracting pro-lifers, but also pro-choicers who are tired of high taxes. A statewide TV-newspaper survey this summer showed that residents wanted to scrap the Medicaid abortion program by a 2-1 margin.

IN 1985, Michigan picked up a tab of $5.8 million for 18,500 abortions. The committee argues that money could be better used to help the state's poor and that many women use the procedure as a form a birth control.

They also point to doctors who have found a lucrative business in performing Medicaid abortions, especially one doctor who collected $453,440 from the state in 1985.

On Tuesday, Nov. 8, voters will be asked whether or not they approve of Public Act 59 of 1987, a state law that prohibits the use of state tax money for Medicaid abortions. If the answer is yes, Michigan will become the 38th state to stop paying for Medicaid abortions.

"We're really looking at who should pay for elective abortions," said Barbara Listing, who chairs the Committee to End Tax-Funded Abortions. "Since 1977, the Michigan legislature has voted 18 times to end this use of taxpayer dollars, but 17 times a veto by the governor has allowed tax funding to continue.

"Michigan voters now have a unique opportunity to decide this tax issue, and we are encouraging an end to this policy. We know the consequences of these abortions, and unfortunately, when we win, it will not end abortions, but it will take Michigan out of the abortion business."

While the committee is focusing on the tax issue, the People's Campaign for Choice, a statewide coalition campaigning against Proposal A, and its new-found ally, the State League of Women Voters, are crying

They claim their opponent's "sophisticated" and simplistic approach to the abortion issue is a disguise for their long-term goals — an end to abortions.

They contend that the proposal would penalize poor women by denying them access to a medical procedure because of their financial status. A lot more than $6 million is at stake in the election, they say.

PEOPLE'S Choice contends that the state will end up spending more money on welfare recipients, not less, if Proposal A passes. The state's social services director agrees.

Patrick Raboock who is pro-

Patrick Babcock, who is prochoice, estimates the state spends about $7,070 on the first two years of care for each baby born to a welfare mother. If voters end Medicaid abortion benefits and just 20-percent of the mothers carry their babies to term and keep and raise them, the taxpayer's bill for hospital delivery and two years of care would be $27.7 million in 1989, he said.

"Proposal A goes too far," he said.
"If it is adopted, Michigan law will prohibit Medicaid funding for for abortions, even in the case of rape or incest . . That would not only be unfair, it would be cruel."

"As a nurse who remembers the tragedy of desperate women frantically seeking abortions, I refuse to return to a two-tier health care system," said Pam Dooley of the People's Campaign for Choice. "The opposition is portraying this as a tax issue. But the cost of compulsory pregnancy goes far beyond birth costs for many years."

Pro-lifers say that just the opposite is true, pointing to a study done in Ohio and Georgia in 1978, after federal and state support of Medicaid abortions was terminated.

The study showed a decline in the number of births among Medicaid-eligible women in those two states, a sharp contrast to Michigan that same year. The study also showed that even with Medicaid abortions, births among welfare recipients increased slightly in Michigan, the committee said.

PRO-LIFERS say that study shows poor women either found the money through private sources for an abortion, had the baby and either kept it or put it up for adoption, or used some form of birth control.

Will the pro-lifers be victorious

Nov. 8 or will the pro-choice forces keep Michigan from being a "bellwether" for the rest of the country?

The success of one or the other may well be determined not by the well-known supporters they parade before voters, but instead by their grassroot efforts.

Food, Drug Act: Alive, well

Throughout the course of the year, the Consumer Mailbag column refers many times to the FDA (Food & Drug Administration) in answering your questions or in passing along information.

It seems appropriate to highlight the many consumer protections the FDA and the Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act) offers us on its 50th anniversary.

In 1938, President Roosevelt signed the federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act into law. There is "no law with more practical benefits in our daily lives than the FD & C Act," said Dr. Frank Young, commissioner of food and drugs.

This law surpassed the 1906 Act by giving the FDA the responsibility of insuring the safety of products that command one quarter of every dollar we as consumer spend.

Despite warnings of the 1906 law's lack of consumer protection, most consumers assumed they were well protected.

Little did they know they were eating apples sprayed with arsenicladen pesticides or using a weightreduction product, Marmola, that contained enough desiccated thyroid to cause serious health problems or applying untested cosmetics, including an eyelash dye that caused one death and 18 cases of permanent

Terry Gibb

DESPITE these tragedies, it took the Elixer Sulfanilamide tragedy in 1937 - in which a new liquid form of the drug sulfanilamide, which was tested for taste, appearance and color but not safety, killed more than 100 people — to force the FD & C Act into law.

The FD & C Act of 1938 is significant because, rather than outline punitive measures, it stressed hazard and consumer protection.

New drugs could not be marked without adequate testing to insure safety. False or misleading statements on drug labels were now illegal. Warnings of the potential hazards of drugs were required.

And for the first time medical devices and cosmetics were included under the FDA's authority.

By requiring pre-market product testing for safety, the new law promoted consumer protection. It tried to prevent injury and deception rather than just punishing guilty manufacturers after the damage had Another significant benefit of the FD & C Act is that it has served as a basis for later laws and regulations to deal with public health concerns. The 1906 Act took 25 years to get passed. The FD & C Act took five years and a tragedy to win passage.

The FD & C Act has focused on the need for consumer protection and fueled a new national consensus of the consumers' right to protection.

Passage of later amendments to the FD & C Act, while not totally free from debate, have reflected a greater spirit of responsibility among government, health professionals, manufacturers and the con-

Mrs. Y.M., Western Reader

Dear Mrs. M .: The helpless feelings that you are experiencing are usually due to a combination of fear, embarrassment, guilt and sadness. For so many of us, dying is so far removed from everday experience that we just don't know what to do.

Dr. Robert Buckman, a cancer specialist and assistant professor at the Toronto Bayview Regional Cancer Centre at Sunnybrook Hospital, University of Toronto, has written a book on this distressing subject.

This is the first book written specifically for the friends and family of a dying person. It explains not only how to talk to a dying person, but also how to listen to what the dying person is saying.

Other difficult issues that Buckman deals with are how to talk to doctors and nurses; when to seek guidance from other professionals; how to approach spiritual questions; why it's important to know what's going

Newlywed struggle: spending vs. saving

By Alan Ferrara and Dan Boyce special writers

Local financial planning experts reviewed the data of the famity profiled here and made general recommendations based on the participants' resources and goals. The information is for educational purposes only; references are not intended as discrimination or endorsements by Observer & Eccentric Newspapers or the advisers interviewed.

To receive a free financial planning brochure or to obtain a questionnaire to have your finances reviewed in this column, contact the Center for Financial Planning, Dept. 100, 877 S. Adams, Suite 202, Birmingham 48009 or call 642-4000.

Most people have aspirations to reach certain financial goals. At the same time, their desire to live the "good life" often pre-empts the ability to reach those goals. Achieving the appropriate balance between current needs and future goals is a central objective of financial planning. Finding that balance is the focus of our discussion with this month's profiled couple, Alan and Terri Miller.

Alan and Terri were married four months ago and rent an apartment in the Plymouth area. Alan, 26, works as a draftsman in a small architectural firm; Terri, 28, works in the accounting department of a local hospital. Their salaries are $24,000 and $32,000 respectively.

In our brief discussions with them, there is a clear lack of agreement on their financial priorities. For Alan, financial security is represented by having a home and building a solid base of savings. For Terri, security means surrounding herself with nice possessions and enjoying the fruits of their labors. We think there is probably room for both objectives, but it will require flexibility and a willingness to compromise.

Alan has seen to it that they have a solid foundation for their financial planning. Their insurances are adequate in each of the major areas (life, health, disability, auto and renters' insurance). Also, due to recommendations in this column, Alan has insisted that they draft simple wills shortly after they were married. Another plus for them is they both have steady incomes and fairly secure jobs, although Alan realizes the fortunes of architectural firms can change suddenly.

THEY AGREE THAT they would like to own a house in two years. But John is concerned that their savings balance has not increased since they were married. He is frustrated after only four months. He had insisted that Terri pay off all of her charge accounts shortly before they were married. Recently they bought some furniture and found themselves with an $1,800 balance. John finds this disturbing.

Terri, in contrast, wants to upgrade their dining room furniture and wants to plan a major vacation next summer. She believes that with a combined income of $56,000, they should be able to afford these ex-

In reviewing their finances, we suggest that Alan be more patient in the accumulation of their assets. Terri needs to understand that she can't have everything at once. We suggest they pay close attention to prioritizing their desires.

Although they have not made progress toward building a nest egg to purchase their house, it is not unusual to have a number of one-time expenses after a wedding. If there is still no progress after a year, then Alan's concern would be better founded.

Terri needs to understand that there will never be a shortage of consumer goods on which to spend their money, no matter what their income level. The key here is to prioritize their goals, begin setting aside some savings to reach their highest priority long-term goals and then live within the bounds of their remaining income.

WE RECOMMEND that they track their expenditures during the last months of 1988. In December or early January, they should sit down together to review their income expectations for 1989 and then create a month-by-month spending plan that reflects their combined priorities.

At the end of each month in 1989, they should examine their actual expenses and compare them with their earlier projections. It may not be practical to keep track of each penny spent, but certainly any major expenditures should be noted. Because they plan to pay most items by check, this should make the job easi-

They should not be concerned if there are minor variances in their projected and actual expenditures. But if there are major expenses that crop up unexpectedly, they should carefully examine the impact of those expenditures on their other goals.

Alan wonders about saving for retirement. He asks, "Should I be putting money into my company-sponsored 401K plan for my retirement?" We suggest that he should allocate a small portion of his income into this tax-deductible plan. Perhaps $1,000 per year is a realistic target at this time. This helps establish the habit of saving regularly for retirement.

Because their more immediate goals include the purchase of a house and establishing emergency reserves, any additional savings should be put toward those goals. By the time he reaches 30, he should target at least 10 percent of his income toward retirement. This is extremely important because neither Alan nor Terri has a generous pension plan at work. Thus, the majority of their financial security at retirement will be provided by their own savings.

Alan was considering a proposal to buy $100,000 of life insurance for a premium of $1,800 per year. He believes that the build-up of cash values in the policy would be another good means of saving for retirement. At this time, we would recommend against the purchase. He has adequate life insurance without the additional coverage, the proposed policy is quite expensive, and any retirement savings are more appropriately done at this point through his 401K plan.

If Alan and Terri can agree to spend the time to assess their most important goals, prioritize them and allocate their resources to their most important priorities, they should be able to reach a comfortable balance between their current standard of living and their future financial security. Though this task is not always easy, it is highly rewarding. It is time well spent.

Add K mart to sporting goods roster

By Anne Fracassa special writer

Troy-based K mart Corp. officials are banking on the increased demand for sporting and leisure-time equipment to make their Sports Giant sporting goods "super stores" household words.

Analysts last year cited $32 billion annual sales in the sporting equipment industry, and they predict a doubling of those sales by the end of this year.

The first two Sports Giant stores will be in the Woodland Square Shopping Center (on Plymouth Road across from Wonderland in Livonia) and in the Madison Commons Shopping Genter (on John R, south of 14 Mile, Madison Heights).

"The Detroit area and especially all of Michigan has every kind of recreational activity available to residents," explained Charles White, general manager and chief executive officer of Sports Giant, a division of Builders Square, K mart's Texas-based subsidiary. "There isn't very much a Michigan resident can't do in this state, and that's why we've chosen this as our test market."

Spring openings are scheduled for the 50,000-square-foot stores whose primary competitors will be Dunham's, MC Sporting Goods and Herman's Sporting Goods, according to White. "Our competition can mostly be classified as speci-

"Our competition can mostly be classified as specialty stores, catering to a common sports enthusiast," he said. "Sports Giant will be a lot more, catering to competitive and non-competitive consumers." THE STORES WILL offer "market-competitive" pricing, but all customers will be offered discount pricing ranging from 5 to 10 percent for in-store merchandise through a membership program. Although the membership dues have not been established, White said they will be "nominal."

"We also plan to provide the service needs of all our customers. Each store will have services such as racket stringing and bicycle repair, team clinics and members-only special promotions."

Sports Giant will offer boat and swimming accessories, scuba, fishing, camping, lawn toy, skiing, golf, tennis, hunting and exercise equipment. Athletic and sports apparel and athletic and sport footwear will be sold.

Team equipment for baseball, softball, soccer, football and bowling, including special order equipment and supplies, will be sold.

"There will be an even mixture of products that will appeal to the general public as well as the sports enthusiast," White said. "Sports Giant will actually be centered around 12-14 specialty shops, each with its own experts in the field available for consultation. Our ski shop will be 10,000 square feet alone."

Our ski shop will be 10,000 square feet alone."

White said success of the store hinges on knowledgeable employees available for personalized service. Each Sports Giant will employmearly 100.

"Pricing will also be a factor in our success. The size of our stores will allow full-service needs to our customers in an industry that has been basically self-serve until now. With all that in mind, plus providing quality, brand-name merchandise, we see expansion to other areas of the country possible within 10 months of our grand opening.

"We've tailored the stores carefully. None of them will compete with our present K mart facilities; rather, Sports Giant will enhance them."

2 Brink's play name game

By Pat Murphy staff writer

How important is the company

"Worth fighting over," say two area home security firms contesting for the right to use the name

"Brink's" in their company logo.

Brink's Alarm of Livonia has been using the name for 12 years and should be allowed to continue, said founder Ronald G. Handloser.

"I didn't have any link with Brink's when I founded the company," he said. "I just picked that name because it seemed to denote money and security. But I had the name first, and I should be allowed to keep it."

But Brink's Home Security said it should have exclusive rights to the name because it is a subsidiary of the Pittston Co. of Darien, Conn., which also owns Brink's Inc.

"We have a legitimate right to use the name," said Timothy P. Sass, branch manager of the the company that opened in Livonia two years ago and subsequently moved to Farmington Hills as business blossomed.

Hoping to clear up any confusion — as well as to solidify its claim on the name — Sass contacted the Michigan State Police about Handloser using the name.

"We are involved because the Burglar Alarm Contractor Act of 1978 requires us to monitor home security systems and their installers," explained Lt. James L. Baird, commander of the Private Security and Investigator Section of the Michigan State Police. "We're not on anybody's side. Our concern is that installers are properly licensed and comply with the law."

BAIRD SAID records show that officials connected with Brink's Home Security have a valid license while there is some question about Brink's Alarm.

The home security business is a growth industry in the Detroit area and other metropolitan centers, according to a spokesman for the Burglar and Fire Alarm Association of Michigan.

Within the last 15 years the percentage of homes with burglar/fire alarm systems has increased from 2 to about 10 percent nationally, said Carl Romano, president of Audio Sentry in Fraser.

"More people are concerned about crime and personal safety," Romano said, and they are increasingly willing to invest in a home system that generally cost between $600 to $2,100. Handloser said he realized the potential 12 years ago when he founded Brink's Alarm and subsequently turned the business over to his daughter, Marilyn "There's a good living in that business if you're good and you work hard," he said.

Handloser said he and his daughter have worked hard to establish a customer base as well as a good reputation. "We should keep the Brink's name. We've had it all these years, and now they want us to change. It's the big company against the little guy."

BUT THE STATE police say it's a matter of complying with the law. "So far, we have tried to resolve the matter administratively," said Baird. "But if that doesn't work, there are criminal sanctions.

"Hopefully it won't go that far. Handloser could clear this matter up quickly if he'd just change the name of his company and go through the proper license proce-dure," Baird said.

Handloser said he and his daughter have already taken steps in that direction. "We also have 'Apex Alarm' (with the same address in Livonia)," he said.

His daughter balks at the thought of being forced to change the name. "We've been incorporated all these years, and it just doesn't seem right to have to change just because this other company wants to keep the name," said Marilyn, a 1985 graduate of Bentley High School who attended Schoolcraft College.

Both Brink's companies claim to install a quality home security system at reasonable prices. Besides having the same name, they have little in common.

Brink's Alarm is basically operated by Marilyn Handloser, with occasional help from her dad, from the family home at 32825 Summers. "We have a lot of satisfied customers," Marilyn said.

Brink's Home Security has about 20 employees, said Sass, and occupies about 2,000 square feet of space in Technology Park at 27260 Haggerty Road in Farmington Hills. "We offer a fine product, and we're in business to stay," said

THEN ALL the rhetoric about Vietnam has faded, the individual remain and stories of great human courage will endure as testimony to mankind's very best qualities.

Thursday, October 20, 1988 O&E

One such testament is Air Force Col. Iceal Hambleton (Ret.) whose harrowing story behind enemy lines n Vietman is the subject of Gene Hackman's latest film, "Bat 21." Hambleton was in town recently with producer Gary Neill, promoting the movie. Always concerned with the difference between illusions on the screen and what happens in real life, I asked how accurate the film is. Neill responded, "That's where we've got you. Everything you see three to four days because so much of his experience was all the same." The colonel noted, "The first six days I was in a little area, not moving at all, an area about twice the size of this table (luncheon table set for eight), that was the hole I had gotten myself into. "You see, on my way down, parachuting down, I contacted 'Bird-dog' (an Air Force rescue pilot played by Danny Glover). He was circling in the area where I went down, and he followed me to the ground so he knew where I was going to hide.

"THE AIR FORCE'S directions to me were, 'Stay right there, and we'll be in to get you." But the colonel was not so lucky. His story continground fire and weather all going bad at the same time - so they couldn't get in to pick me up at first light. That went on for six days. I would be tedious on the film to show me in a hole for six days when the big action came on the seventh day after I started to move."

Neill remarked that the story is incredible. "The first thing that came to me when I read the script: How could this all happen to a guy, and he's still alive?" There are no snakes or animals in the film, a departure from the usual Hollywood jungle picture. The colonel, who doesn't like snakes, said, "I didn't run into any wild animals which that country is famous for. saw two great big snakes just as I got to the river, and I threw a little stick at them and they took off. Mosquitos were the only problem I had." Producer Neill recounted a "snake story," which occurred during filming on the island of Borneo in Malaysia. "We were the first to film there, and there were a tremendous number of problems in getting permission, accommodating local customs and so on. One of our trucks ran over the village's pet snake, and we had the entire village up in arms, so we paid compensation.

The title "Home" is really a double entendre. It's not the home of warmth, family, happy memories and contentment but rather a home for the insane where sadness, loneliness and melancholy prevail.

The setting is an English garden with a wrought iron table and two chairs. We first meet two elderly gentlemen (Harry and Jack) played by Howard Egan and Tom Hinks. They banter back and forth about boarding school, military life, poli tics, the weather and related subjects that have filled their British upper class lives. It's rather jolly good stuff. Hinks at times loses his British accent but more than com pensates with his attitude and obser-

Which of these meals does your heart the most good?

We're more concerned than ever about what we're eating these days. But a lot of people in metro Detroit don't have that problem. They're just trying to figure out where their next meal is coming from. Which is one reason the United Foundation supports 154 different agencies, including local food assistance programs such as the Salvation Army and the Gleaners Food Bank. And programs that help counsel troubled families, assist the unemployed, fight infant mortality and just give some people a new start in life. So, give generously to the Torch Drive campaign and fill out your pledge card now. It could be somebody's meal ticket.

Give, for all the good you can do.

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals. transportation, or merchandise— is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Prétend vou are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW. (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a

5. Run on consecutive days your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephon salesperson or outside sales representative.

Erin Olson of Salem was second in the breaststroke and a member of the medley relay team Tuesday in the dual meet with Dearborn. The Rocks lost a close one to the stateranked Pioneers, 92-80.

Canton survives scare from Rockets, 44-42

Plymouth Canton coach Rob Neu gave thanks to Amanda Bell and the clock Tuesday night after the Chiefs edged Westland John Glenn, 44-42, in a girls basketball thriller.

Bell scored 12 of her 14 points in the fourth quarter for state-ranked Canton, which improved its overall record to 13-1.

Glenn (7-5) had the last possession and a chance to tie the game or win with a three-point basket, but the ball went out of bounds off a Canton player as time expired.

Glenn coach Pat Bennett was unable to convince game officials that one second still remained.

"Thank God we won," Neu said. "They're always tough at home. I don't think anyone expected it to be that close, but on behalf of Glenn, they kept coming. We needed a (close) game like this."

Canton led 20-16 at halftime and took a 34-30 lead into the fourth quarter. Bell made six of 14 field ing from the outside the gap to 57-56 on a free throw and then forced a Franklin turnover.

Central's Kelly O'Hanlon, who led the Vikings with 20 points, rimmed out a a five-footer as the buzzer sounded.

Tonya Smith added 16 points as Central fell to 8-6 overall.

SALEM 56, CHURCHILL 18: Host Plymouth Salem led, 28-7, at halftime Tuesday, coasting to its 11th win in 13 Salem increased its lead to 41-7 after three quarters, outscoring Churchill 13-0 in the first eight minutes of the second half. Still, both coaches had nice things to say about Churchill, a team that is 4-9

"Athletically, they were pretty good,"

Salem coach Fred Thomann said. "They did a lot of nice things defensively. We never were able to get on a roll against them — and we've been scoring a lot of points lately.'

Said Churchill coach Dave VanWagoner: "We played with a lot of intensity. And we never quit. We just got beat by a better team."

Jill Estey sparked Salem with 18 points and Teri King added 15. Sarah Ruete contributed eight points and Lydia White grabbed 13 rebounds for the Rocks. Carrie Blanchard scored nine to lead Churchill.

Sophomore guard Erin Harvey made her first start for Salem, contributing six

"She handled the ball well," said Tho mann. "And her real good quickness made a difference in the team defense."

W.L. WESTERN 55, STEVENSON 35: Michelle Hall led visiting Walled Lake Western with 26 points Tuesday, including 20 in the decisive second half. Western moved to 6-7 overall, and Livonia Stevenson fell to 1-12. The game was a crossover in the Western Lakes Ac-

The Rocks let it be known they deserve to be considered one of the top outfits, also.

Salem beat out defending champion and Western Lakes Activities Association power Livonia Churchill to capture first place.

The Rocks scored 386 points, the Charges 345. The host Tigers were next (178) followed by Dearborn Fordson (136), Westland John Glenn (94) and Livonia Franklin (51).

We were a little surprised, pleasantly surprised," Salem coach Chuck Olson said. "I'm not quite sure how Churchill approached the meet, but we wanted to do well.

"I KNOW THERE was a homecoming dance that night at Churchill, and they swam some of their kids early in the meet. But they all swam. We didn't swim our strongest lineup,

The Chargers had a lot more first places, but Salem won the meet with excellent depth. Jenny Ezzo had the Rocks' lone first, scoring 325.75 points to win the diving.

Salem placed three girls among the top 12 in every event and, in some cases, had three in the top six.

We went in with the idea we wanted to experiment and see how the girls performed under those conditions," Olson said.

"We didn't think too much about winning the meet, to tell you the truth, but it's an indication we're definitely progressing."

Salem's depth showed in diving, in which it also captured third, fifth and ninth places.

THE ROCKS WERE second in both relays, too. Sarah Andrews, Andrea Alex, Erin Olson and Jodi Thomas swam 2:04.83 in the medley relay, and Nicole Bosse, Dawn Shiek, Tammy Hickey and Stacie Anderson finished the freestyle relay in Three of the relay swimmers helped with runner-up finishes in solo events: Andrews in the butterfly (1:08.47). Anderson in the 500 free style (5:46.9) and Olson in the breaststroke (1:13.17).

Megan Andrews contributed a pair of third-place swims in the individual medley (2:33.99) and breaststroke (1:15.4). Jennifer Syria was third in diving with 299.15 points, and Trish Hill was third in the backstroke Salem's No. 2 unit of Julie Hickey, Jane Seidelman, Thomas and Katie Vesnaugh contributed a third place in the freestyle relay (4:09.01).

The victory also gave the Rocks an emotional lift, coming just two days after losing a dual meet, 109-63, to rival Plymouth Canton.

"Coming off the loss to Canton on Thursday, it was hard to tell how they were going to react," Olson

"THEY DIDN'T LET that bother them, and they went out and swam another good meet. The meet with Canton wasn't disappointing - the score was - but we came back Saturday and swam very well."

On Tuesday, the Rocks put together another impressive showing but came up short in a 92-80 loss to

Harrison, Glenn to decide '88 title

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Like all football coaches. Westland John Glenn's Chuck Gordon and Farmington Harrison's John Herrington talk about the need for a balanced offense. In the case of their undefeated teams, that hasn't always been necessary during the first seven weeks of the 1988 season. But you get the impression they're quite serious - and even concerned

- about it this time. In the biggest game of the year between two Observerland teams, defending champion Glenn visits Harrison for a rematch of last year's Western Lakes Activities Association final, won by the Rockets 14-6. The Hawks are ranked No. 1 in Class B, the Rockets No. 5 in Class A. Both teams are 7-0. Kickoff is at 1 p.m. Saturday.

to tailback Bryant Satterlee, who has rushed for 942 yards and 15 touchdowns. He needs just three more TDs to break the school record set in 1985 by Tony Boles, now the star running back for the University of Michigan.

But Glenn threw the ball successfully last Friday to beat North Farmington 20-6 and win the Lakes Division championship. The Rockets may have to do that again.

I don't see us pounding the ball on Harrison," Gordon said. "They're too good. That's why I think we'll have to mix it up."

When the Raiders ganged up to stop the run, quarterback Eric Stover completed nine of 14 passes, throwing for 118 yards and all three of his team's TDs.

"They're an excellent running team, but now we know they can throw the ball real well," Herrington said. "We were glad when (former

A Man's Gotta Do Wbat A Man's Gotta Do

Livonia Stevenson played opportunist again Wednesday, capitalizing on a late Livonia Churchill mistake to repeat as Western Lakes Activities Association boys soccer champions, 2-

The Spartans continued their mastery over Churchill when Eric Schwedt punched in a shot off indirect free kick from Derek Williford with just over eight minutes left in the match pitting the state's No. 1 and No. 3 ranked teams in Class

The score resulted from an untimely foul by a Churchill defender only eight yards away in front of his own goal.

With ball angled slightly to the side of the net, Williford lofted a pass to the right of the Churchill wall, finding Schwedt wide open. The Stevenson senior popped a header past keeper Jovann Prapovski, who got caught out of position.

"They (Churchill) were on us in the second half, out we have that heart," said Stevenson coach Pete Scerri, whose team will take a 12-0-2 record into the state districts. "You can play good defense, do well in the midfield and make great saves, but the only thing that counts is putting the ball in the net.'

CHURCHILL'S John Gentile, who made a sensational play on a breakaway only to have the goal disallowed by a handball violation in the first half, put the Chargers in position to win it when he scored on a drive down the right side with 16 minutes to play. But the Chargers seemed to go into a shell after tying the count at 1-1.

'We started playing defensively and that's always a real danger for some reason after you score," said Churchill coach John Neff. "I don't care what sport it is, it always seems to be that way after you score and we were guilty of it." During the regular season, when the two teams battled to a 1-1 tie, the play was wide open.

The second meeting was no different. Churchill appeared to carry the play early, but its momentum was stopped when Gentile's goal, after a discussion between the head referee and inesman, was nullified.

1-0 lead with a little over nine minutes left in the half when Williford, moving up from his defensive position drilled home a 20-varder after a

"THEY'RE A GREAT stoppage of play team," said Neff of Stevenson. "That's where they excel. Both of their goals came after stoppages of

But despite the loss, only the second in 15 games for the Chargers, Neff was not disappoint ed in his team's effort. The Churchill coach also realizes his team could get another crack at the Spartans next Wednesday if his team gets past Northville in Monday's district opener.

"We had as many good scoring opportunities a they did, maybe not as many as we had against them the first time we played, but I thought we played them straight up tonight," said Neff, whose team fell to 9-2-1 overall. "We're not going to change anything against them the next time. I was a good game and they (Stevenson) are a darn good team.' Scerri credited the defense, consisting of Williford, Kurt Will, Aaron Brown and Mark Thomas (replacing the injured Bob Dimitriou), as a stabi-

Macomb whips SC

The showdown for bragging rights in Region 12 soccer was a no-show. Schoolcraft College hosted Macomb CC Saturday in a game that annually determines the regional representative in the preliminary round of the NJCAA tournament. The two teams tied 2-2 in their first meeting this season at Macomb, so this game figured to be for all the marbles.

If it was, the Ocelots needn't plan on any playoff trips. They were routed 5-0 in a match that started rough and ended with body counts more important Macomb won it with simple strategy - they outhustled, outfought and outplayed SC. Three good reasons why they outscored the Ocelots, but there's more: The Monarchs showed more composure. As the goal count mounted, SC's frustration grew.

"WE'VE NEVER been dominated the way we were today," said Ocelots coach Van Dimitriou.

The game was 10 minutes old when the mistakes started to take their toll against SC. Macomb's Jeff Janisch got the ball in the left corner and keeper Chris Moore came out to challenge him — but he missed the ball. Janisch put it into the open net and it was 1-0.

The second goal deflated SC further. Attributed to Joe Riesterer, it was scored by Ocelot defender Doug Sobolak, who was trying to punch the ball back to Moore. That was difficult enough to swallow; the third goal changed the complexion of the match Eight minutes into the second half, a throw-in from the right side ended up on Riesterer's foot in front of the SC net - but not for long. 3-0, Monarchs That's when play really began to degenerate.

SC's attack never did get on track. The Monarchs got two more goals, one an easy score by Marc Mattia after a centering pass from Jim Kazanowski, the second a penalty kick by Mike Ross, called when SC defender Phil Neumajer deliberately deflected a Mattia shot with his hand to save a goal.

The win gives Macomb CC a 9-1-2 overall record, 4-0-2 in the region. SC slipped to 4-1-1 in the region, 6-2-2 overall Redford Catholic Central clinched at least a tie for the Catholic League's Central Division title and berth in the Prep Bowl (Oct. 29 against UD-Jesuit) with a 26-7 football win Saturday over Harper Woods Notre Dame in a game played at Livonia Clarenceville.

The unbeaten Shamrocks (7-0, 4-0) can win the Central outright Saturday night against Warren DeLaSalle in a game at Roseville Memorial

CC quarterback Scott Haucher was on target against Notre Dame, completing 12 of 17 passes for 136 yards. He opened the scoring with a 7-yard TD toss to tight end Lou Yeager in the first quarter, capping a 13-play, 64-yard drive.

Hauncher later added a 1-yard TD run in the third quarter, capping a 65-yard, 17-play march. Senior fullback Lee Krueger scored CC's other two TDs, each on 1-vard runs, in the second and third quarters. The second quarter score was set up by a Chris Johnston inter-

Notre Dame averted the shutout when DesJuan Reynolds scored on a 1-yard run with 6:21 to play. But it wasn't enough as the Irish

Polishing a gem of a concert hall

By Brian Lysaght staff writer

Thursday, October 20, 1988 O&E

BRIGHT FUTURE for Detroit's venerable Orchestra Hall may be waiting in the wings just offstage. Workers were busy last summer on refurbishing projects. A major fundraising campaign for a major addition is under way.

The ceiling and cornice were painted original colors - rose-pink and bronze-gold, the marble floors were polished and the mahogany paneling replaced. These are relatively small efforts in a very large improvement project for the building, which turns 60 next year and which will become the home base for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra again.

Upstairs, in artistic director Gail Rector's office, is an architect's rendering of the building with a strikingly new entrance and a new building to the north, the $14 million project that supporters say will equip Orchestra Hall for its future and then some.

"We're doing it so Orchestra Hall will be here forever and ever," said Paul Ganson, Orchestra Hall president and Detroit Symphony bassoonist. The ceiling paint in the lobby, he noted, is archival quality and "need never be replaced."

The price tag includes $4 million for improvements to the hall, $6 million for a new "service pod" and $4 million for a new grand entrance.

Besides the restoration work in the lobby, a new heating and cooling more practical as well as comfort-part by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's commitment to move back to Orchestra Hall from Ford Auditorium for the 1989-90 season.

The move should mean stability for this building, which in spite of its outstanding acoustics, came perilously close to falling to the wrecking ball 18 years ago.

The symphony's classical series, which will be staged there, is worth about 80 dates beginning next fall.

"It will provide a great deal of usage for the hall from the state's premier performing group," Ganson

Thus more security, stability and esteem, he said. It will also link the two institutions, as Ganson said, 'The hall is for the symphony and the symphony is for the hall."

In 1971 this hall, which was built for the symphony, had neither security nor stability. It had been empty for more than 10 years except for pigeons

Its last tenant had been the Church of Our Prayers. One day a security guard at a bank across the street alerted a developer, Richard Magon, about the workers seen inspecting the building.

By chance, three of the most popular bands from the Paradise will play Orchestra Hall in a special series this year - Cab Calloway and His Orchestra, Oct. 29; the Duke Ellington Orchestra, Jan. 7; and Count Basie Orchestra, March 11.

The auditorium, which seats 2,018, lacks the space for a crowd to mingle comfortably before or after concerts or during intermissions, Montgomery said.

"Rock-A-Bye-Baby," a one-day exhibit and sale of crib and doll quilts, will be held 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday at Somerset Mall of Troy. The exhibit, featuring the collection of Merry Silber of Birmingham and those of other nationally known collectors, is sponsored by the Children's Museum Friends as a fund-raiser for the facility in Detroit's Cultural Center.

As a special tribute for the event, Silber designed a quilt to be given as a prize. It was made by Marsden and Cunningham, nationally known Michigan quiltmakers. The theme is the horse in front of the Children's

"When I saw the horse, I thought, we must have a quilt to make some more money for them," Silber said. She also designed and donated quilts for an Orchestra Hall benefit and for Birmingham Temple's 25th anniver-sary celebration.

The entire event is being orchestrated by Eva Boicourt of Southfield, who also curated the "World of Textiles" exhibit currently on display at the County Galleria. This is the third of her fund raising events this year for the benefit of the Children's Museum. The first two drew large crowds. Silber said that her quilts (25) that are in the "Rock-A-Bye-Baby" exhibit that aren't sold will be given to the Children's Museum for its permanent collection. Other quilts on display will be from the Esprit collection (Amish quilts), Mary Stickler, Kempf Hogan, State Senator Jack Faxon and Sandra Mitchell.

The hour-long, award-winning film, "Hearts and Hands," about quilters and quilt making, will be shown at 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. And Silber will give free appraisals of doll and baby quilts which are brought in during the show.

The Children's Museum, a division of Detroit Public Schools, dates to 1917, making it the third oldest museum in the country. MILFORD POET Thomas Lynch was there to help writers "free their imagination to rummage through their word hoard."

Lynch is often (and unfortunately) billed as Milford's undertaker poet." It's true that he is one of the "sons" who run the Lynch & Sons Funeral Homes. It's also true that many of the poems in Lynch's first poetry collection, "Skating with Heather Grace," (Alfred A. Knopf, softbound, $9.95) deal with death. But life swells throughout this slim, lusty volume and demands equal if not top billing.

In Lynch's poems, life is ironic, embarrassing, inconvenient, laughable and infinitely sad. So is "It's the Irish in me, I'm afraid," Lynch says. The townland of Moveen, the Lynch ancestral home on the west coast of Ireland in County

Clare, is the setting for many of these poems.

Mother-daughter artists to exhibit

Edee Joppich can paint, but she can't sew; her daughter, J.J. Brown can't paint but combines embroidery with fabric and beads to make original, wearable art. For the mother and daughter who make their imprints in the world of art, but in media are worlds apart, the realization of their need for creative expression is a special bond.

Brown will exhibit their versatility and artistry as parent and child as well as collaborating artists. The show is now under way in the Southfield Parks and Recreation lobby gallery, and will continue through Oct. 28. An opening reception will take place tomorrow from 6-9 p.m.
