Incredible. Stunning. Awesome. Plymouth-Canton school administrators, staff and board members weren't exactly preening as election returns were posted Monday night.

But you could tell they were very pleased with emphatic voter approval of an 8-mill property tax renewal, a 4-mill increase and re-election of David Artley to a four-year term on the school board.

A record turnout of 16,293 - 25 percent of registered voters in the district - participated

For the first time, we're getting an overwhelming victory in the total area and that's a good sign for the schools," Superintendent John M. Hoben said of the tax proposals.

In recent years, Canton residents have tended to support tax increases for the schools, while Plymouth city and township residents have opposed

"EACH OF US can make a difference and a whole lot of people made a difference this time," Artley said. The 4-mill increase was approved by nearly a 6-4 margin, 9,555-6,666.

Voters said yes in every precinct except Allen School, 460-518, and those casting absentee ballots, 796-

The 8-mill renewal won by an even larger margin districtwide, 12.018-4.275.

Artley, who anticipated spending upwards of $5,000 on his campaign, placed first in every single precinct. Artley, a planner and fundraiser, collected 6,168 votes.

Robert J. Anderson, a financial planner backed by the Citizens for Better Education, a group of Christian conservatives opposed to certain teaching materials in the district, was a distant second with 3,166

In the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees race incumbents Mary Breen, Jack Kirksey and Harry Greenleaf were elected to six-year terms. In the race for a four-year term, newcomer Thaddeus McCotter was successful. (For more on the Schoolcraft race, see Page 7A).

A STEADY STREAM of voters trooped to the polls throughout the day. Waits of at least an hour were common in some precincts.

Four tax increase proposals in the district had gone down to defeat in succession during the two years prior to Monday's vote.

It took patience - more than an hour's worth to vote at Canton High School. Folks at the end of the line within earshot of the Little Theater at least were entertained. Pint-sized jazz and tap dancers, dressed to the nines, were staging a dress rehearsal.

Both Artley and Hoben attributed the change in fortune to the tireless work of millage supporters on committees like I CARE and CAFE, Committee for Academic Freedom and Excellence

'It was a different messenger this time - citizen led, staff-supported," Artley said. "They did a dynamite

"They've done a tremendous job

More voters than ever before turned out for Monday's Plymouth-Canton school election - a happening that baffled some, delighted others and came as no surprise to still

At Allen School, the only precinct to defeat the 4-mill tax increase, 980 people had voted by 7:58 p.m. At 8:05 p.m., 15 were still waiting to cast

"I never dreamed we'd be this busy," said Allen election worker Eunice Magee. "I've worked 20some elections, and I've never seen a school election this busy.'

Had they known what was going on at Canton High School, voters waiting at Allen might have felt

At 8:30 p.m., more than 300 people lining one hallway and reaching around the corner, seemingly the length of a football field - killed time reading, talking with folks in line, shifting their weight and doing their best to keep kids, their bedtimes fast approaching, quiet.

Gene Schuler of Canton waited an hour and 15 minutes to vote at the high school

They usually have 600 people vote here," said Schuler, walking to his car at 8:15. "So far today they've had 1,500." In all, 1,747 cast ballots at the Canton precinct.

Debby and Marv Rodgers of Canton waited even longer, but didn't seem to mind.

People in China are dying to stand in lines like this, right?" asked Debby Rodgers.

Rodgers attributed the high turnout to "better coverage, media-wise. I think having more exposure has helped a lot. It wasn't CBE." Citizens for Better Education is a Christian conservative group opposed to Rrated movies and controversial teaching materials in schools. It sup-board race. "If anything, people are deciding they need to support their schools and to be verbal, rather than taking a back seat," added Rodgers.

CBE was partially the reason a

Canton woman went to the polls, however.

"I feel very strongly about voting against someone like Bob Anderson. don't like what he represents, or what he stands for. I don't think things like the 'Wizard of Oz'" are all that objectionable, she said. PRISCILLA BEHNKE of Canton

District plans to rehire teachers

staff writer

The bad news is that residents in the Plymouth-Canton school district will pay higher taxes in the wake of voter approval of a 4-mill tax in-

The good news is that per-pupil spending will be going up by $400, to about $3,900.

The district's budget won't be made final for a couple of weeks. But tentative plans call for the rehir-ing of 24 teachers and the replacement of failing roofs at Hulsing, Eriksson and Field elementary schools at a cost of about $175,000 each, said Ray Hoedel, associate su-elementary buildings after 5 p.m. for extracurricular activities, to restore $225,000 to the textbook budget (now at zero) and to eliminate sports participation fees. Fees next year would have risen to a minimum of $75 per student and a maximum of $225 per family

There'll also be $140,000 in block grant money, $9 per student, available for educational supplies and materials.

This passage gives us two years of stable funding upon which we can continue the progams needed to adequately educate our young people

Series examines animal cruelty

Complaints escalate

Annually, hundreds of animals in Wayne and Oakland counties are shot, hung, set aftre and tortured. Many die as a result of the Last year, 5,122 complaints of cruelty were filed with the Michigan Humane Society, a non-profit organization based in Detroit that maintains shelters in Westland and Auburn Hills.

In the first quarter of this year, the society has already received 1,589 cruelty complaints.

- Of the total number received each year, an estimated 70 percent constitute thoughtless neglect by pet owners who fail to provide adequate shelter, food, water and medical treatment as required by state law.

In these cases, education is the best way to solve the problem, according to the five humane officers employed by the society to investigate cruelty complaints.

The remaining 30 percent of cases are violent acts visited upon helpless creatures. Many incidents are truly horrifying.

New studies suggest that cruelty to animals may set the stage for later acts of violence against people. Yesteryear's child who mistreats an animal may well grow into tomorrow's adult who harms humans. The issue will be explored in a three-part series which begins today on Page 5A. The series will examine links between animal cruelty and other criminal behavior, what is being done about it and ritualistic killing, perhaps the most chilling form of animal cruelty.

A Totally New Concept In Sporting Goods Retailing

When It Comes To Value, We're In a League All Our Own.

There's never been a store quite like the new Sports Giant.
We're more than a store; we're a superstore. We buy directly from manufacturers, completely eliminating the wholesale middleman, so you pay much less. And that's just our everyday prices. If you become a Sports Giant Member, you'll save up to 10% more.

From Tricycles to Triathletes, From Sneakers to Ski Boots, Nobody Offers More. . .

When you walk into Sports Giant, the first thing you'll notice is just how much fun it is to wander around and browse. There's something to fascinate every member of the family; every level of athlete. See how a depth finder works or try on a high-tech walking shoe. Flex your muscles on a rowing machine. Practice your putting, or your tennis serve. We can fit you on a mountain bike or in the most comfortable casual wear. The choice is yours and it's a big one because Sports Giant covers an entire acre. Over 45,000 different items are on our shelves, with more than 600 top brand names.

We Do More Than Just Talk A Good Game.

Sports Giant does more than carry top names at low prices. Our people are here to help you any way they can. You might find them a little crazy, however. Every one of them is nuts about sports. They practice what they preach and most are active enthusiasts in the sports they service. They know the product they sell and how it will perform. They can help you as much or as little as you want so you get the best out of your game or activity.

Over 600 Brand Names Famous The World Over.

We're great name droppers. Just about any sports brand you've ever admired is in our store. The old ones are here, so are the flashy ones from home and abroad. The European ones, the Oriental ones, and of course those from the good ol' USA.

After all these years of putting money into your home, maybe it's time you got something out of it. With Standard Federal's Equity Line loan, you can turn the equity in your house into ready cash. Cash you can use over and over again for whatever you want, whenever you want - like a boat, a vacation home, or college tuition. And you only have to apply for it once. Let us show you how an Equity Line loan can help you and your family open doors to a bright new future.

Apply before July 31, 1989, and pay no application fee or annual fee.

An Equity Line loan is a variable rate loan, and therefore, the annual percentage rate is subject to change.

Former Tiger sporting busy career

staff writer

It has been nearly three years since former Tiger pitcher Milt Wilcox retired from major league baseball but his involvement in sports hasn't decreased.

For the seventh year, he will be holding a baseball camp through the Westland Parks and Recreation Department this month

Wilcox also hosts a sports television program on the PASS cable television station, runs business pro motions featuring sports personalities, is involved in horse racing and breeding and will soon provide color commentary for cable television broadcasts for Toledo Mud Hens

ONE BIG adjustment of retirement, ending the extensive travel required from baseball players, was a mixed blessing, according to Wilcox. "Not traveling was a big adjust ment after 19 years. You get to see a lot of friends you made in other

They said yes to providing youngsters with quality education and no to the Citizens for Better Education, which has charged the district with teaching the occult and satanism in class-

David Artley's school board victory over CBEbacked Robert Anderson Jr by a 2-1 margin shows that the general public isn't buying CBE's

The voters' voice was loud and overwhelming. with 25 percent of registered voters going to the polls. That's a big turnout for a local election.

But now with the devil put in his place, it's time to look at the future, and that's in two years when the 4-mill increase expires

School officials said the increase is a temporary measure needed to cover an expected loss of state aid. Plymouth-Canton will lose state aid for direct classroom expenses when it soon goes out of formula under the state's complex financing system. When it does, it will be able to collect more taxes.

We hope the district remembers its promise.

WHILE SCHOOL officials and backers are saoring their victory, they should remember past nillage and Headlee override defeats. Credibility earned in this campaign could easily be lost.

One of the first challenges faced by the board is a teacher contract that expires in a year. We hope the teachers have learned something about school financing during this recent millage war and that their contract doesn't suck up every available dollar

The board should also look to making peace with CBE. The group's candidate. Anderson, finshed second in the seven-person race. We think the board should reach out to CBE. and talk to its members, at least about some of their less-fanciful concerns. One of those concerns has been that R-rated movies are shown in class-ooms. We think the board should deal with concerns such as this by involving a CBE mer iber in the review of teaching materials.

pointed in CBE. We had hoped that a strong outside group would challenge the district on its fi nancial policies. CBE didn't do that.

Barbara Graham, a CBE-backed board member, visited the schools and made a fuss over a copy of the Metro Times, an alternative urban weekly newspaper

That visit handed I CARE, the pro-millage ommittee, a wonderful issue — censorship. Also, CBE's constant waffling on the two milage questions hurt the group. First, it was opposed to the millages, and then later it was tak ing no position. We were uncertain what its final stand was because of the change.

THE VISIT and waffling obscured the real isues of school spending and responsiveness of the board to residents

Those are the challenges we see facing the poard, and we hope that some group picks then up and runs with them.

We think the board and the educational estabishment in the Plymouth-Canton schools needs to be continually challenged. When a school district has a millage increase in the bag, it tends to get fat and sassy. We don't want to see that hap-

THERE ARE a couple of things that would

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce endorsed the 4-mill proposal, but said that an outside group should review the district's tinances. We hope that happens

Also, during our interviews with school board andidates, we were impressed with what Car Battishill had to say. Voters agreed, and he placed third. We encourage Battishill to stick around. There's work for an informed person like him to do at board meetings.

We are pleased that the two millage questions were approved, and that Artley was re-elected. But we would like to see some fresh blood on the school board to challenge the district. We hope to see Battishill's name on the ballot next year

Legislature: mediocre results

result is likely to be mediocre.

The elderly in our population are interested in living will" or "right to die" laws that will allow their wishes to be carried out if they become incapacitated. There is wide agreement in Lansing. but the debate is gummed up by arguments over fetal rights. No conclusion.

After a debate both technical and emotional, the Legislature passed bills to ease landfill requirements for toxic incinerator ash. Opponents believe any incinerator is a detriment to the environment. Others believe they have worked out an honorable compromise that will allow trash reduction plans to move forward in Detroit, the suburbs and across the state

After another donnybrook, the House passed a bill acceptable to environmentalists to allow the state to keep most of the unclaimed deposits on beer, pop and wine cooler cans and bottles. The cash can go to environmental cleanup. If the compromise sticks, Michigan United Conservation Clubs won't have to go through with a costly. 300,000-signature petition campaign to rescue that money from the industry wholesalers.

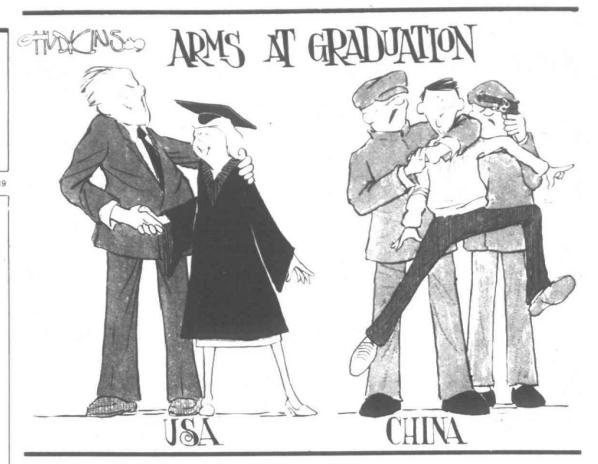

Gov. James Blanchard correctly vetoed a bill that would have let alcohol retailers off the legal hook unless kids to whom they sold also were prosecuted. But the retailers have a point: Kids who buy booze shouldn't get off too easily. KEEP YOUR EYES on two lawsuits that really shouldn't be in court because the problems should have been solved in the Legislature. One is the effort by poorer school districts to get a better cut of Michigan's educational assets. The schools are buoyed by a Kentucky court decision saying the Bluegrass State's school funding

The second suit is by counties and cities to get state funding of trial courts. Michigan has a double standard - one for Wayne County and Detroit (full state takeover), another for the rest of the state (local subsidies).

The student who goofs off all semester and then "crams" for one night might squeak by with a C-minus, but he doesn't learn much. A legislature that operates the same way warrants a similar mediocre grade.

School district battle is a mirror for us all

By Tim Richard staff writer

That petition drive over unclaimed can and bottle deposits is still on - "just to keep a safety net in case the legislation collapses."

That was the word from Michigan United Conservation Clubs spokesman Don Stypula as the state House of Representatives passed a bill saying unclaimed deposits belong to the people and will be used for environmental cleanups.

The bill is on the Senate calendar. "The Senate leadership put it on second reading, bypassing the committee. That is very unusual," said Stypula. That was his good news.

The less favorable news was that senators would hold up the bill until a House committee acts on a companion bill to create a trust fund for the money. The bills are tie-barred, meaning one can't become law unless both do.

MUCC REVERSED its earlier opposition to the unclaimed deposits measure, House Bill 4704, after it was amended to the environmental group's satisfaction.

The formula was changed to put 75 percent into environmental cleanup programs and give 25 percent to the retailers," Stypula said.

Currently, wholesalers keep the deposit money on beer, wine cooler and pop cans and bottles that aren't returned. Estimates of the total take vary from $20 million (industry claim) to $38 million (MUCC's esti

An earlier version of HB 4704 would have split the money between toxic cleanups (60 percent), alcoholism programs (15 percent) and retailers (25 percent). The measure got 71 votes, 12 short of the threefourths needed to amend a voter-approved law

THE REVISED BILL last week sailed through the House on a 100-6

All Observer & Eccentric area lawmakers supported it except Rep. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, who missed the vote

The Michigan Interfaith Council on Alcohol Problems favored the MUCC version. Said newsleter editor Alan B Rice III:

"Backers of (the original) HB 4704 say they don't understand why we are not in favor of their bill, since it not only provides money for environmental cleanup, it would give about $4.5 million a year for alcohol and drug programs.

"It's really very simple. The MUCC petition drive is in complete harmoney with the original purpose of the (1978) bottle bill, namely to clean up the environment from carelessly tossed beverage cans and bot-

"The substance abuse amendment really has very little to do with alcohol and drug programs. Its purpose (was) to pick up votes from those who suppport substance abuse services in the hope of nullifying the MUCC petition drive."

THE MUCC office is handling work on a multi-group petition drive to put its own unclaimed deposit bill on the 1990 ballot.

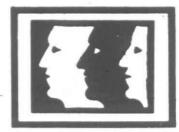

Stypula said Rice's organization this week contributed 500 signatures to the petition drive. Already more than 22,000 signatures have been collected in its quest to get the reuired 192,000 signatures for the

'just in case" ballot proposal. He said petition forms are available by sending a stamped, self-ad-dressed envellope to: Committee to Keep Michigan Clean, PO Box 30235, ng 48909.

Principal's work a labor of love

By Julie Brown staff writer

George Dodson will go to Canada this summer to do some fishing.

"There's a group of us that go up said Dodson, principal at Smith Elementary School in Plymouth. "We have a good, good time."

A fishing trip isn't unusual for Dodson, a Plymouth Township resident. What's unusual is that he won't be back at Smith in the fall.

Dodson has been principal there since 1980 and has been with the school district since 1965. His retirement will be effective June 30. "I won't be here to see the kin-

Elementary School in 1965, and now serves on the Geer restoration committee

That committee's working on renovating Geer, which has been closed since the early 1980s, and plans to open the school to youngsters from the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Students would attend classes there for a short time to learn about school days in years gone by

DODSON'S MEMORIES of his two years at Geer are fond ones. He taught fourth, fifth and sixth grades there

"They were years of magic for me." Some of his former students from Geer, now in their 30s, were able to attend a recent retirement

"I really do enjoy teaching the students," said Carlson, a math/computers teacher at Plymouth Canton High School. "There certainly are other opportunities."

He took a pay cut of about 50 percent at that time, but is still glad he's back teaching.

"I like working with students and I enjoy teaching the mathematics," he said. "It's fun to see them learn."

started teaching high school math in 1969. His entire high school teaching career has been with the Plymouth Canton Community Schools. He has also taught at Schoolcraft College and the University of Michigan.

Carlson is among six Michigan teachers selected as the state's nominees in the 1989 Presidential Awards Program for Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching tional Science Foundation.

"I was certainly very pleased and surprised." Carlson said.

Three teachers, including Carlson, were chosen for their success in teaching math. Three others, including Stewart Schultz of West Bloomfield High School, were chosen for their ability as science teachers

Carlson earned a bachelor of science degree in mathematics from the University of Michigan and a master's degree in math education from U-M. He works mostly with 10th through 12th graders and specializes in teaching computer skills.

His wife, Elizabeth, also taught in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools for a number of years and is now a graduate student at U-M.

Ronald Carlson is past president of the Michigan Association of Computer Users in Learning, having led that statewide educators' group in 1987. Currently, he serves as vice president of the Community Federal Credit Union board of directors.

CARLSON ENJOYS helping students learn and apply what they've learned to solve problems. But he said students won't be able to solve all problems they come across.

That changes every day, but they do get the tools for how to attack a problem," he said.

Some students don't see math as an exciting, growing field. "It is too bad," Carlson said. "A lot of students look at math as a subject that has already been done. Students think all the proofs and theorems are set, and don't see how much opportunity for additional work and study there is. Many of Carlson's students go on to study math and computers in college. He's kept in touch with some former students. 'That's always helpful, to hear from students who've graduated."

The contribution came in the midst of the symphony's business fund-raising campaign. Some 20 volunteers, under the direction of Frank Meterko, a Plymouth Township resident and Ford employee, are working on raising funds.

"This is the most concerted effort we've ever had," said Holly Lubowicki, business manager for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. More than 200 businesses are being contacted. The campaign started in mid-April and will continue for another month.

THE FORD Motor Co. and First of America Bank-Plymouth long have been supporters of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, which will start its 44th season this fall. ### Power Road Baptist plans dedication week

The Power Road Baptist Church, 25275 Power Road, Farmington Hills, will have a church dedication week Sunday, June 18, through Sunday, June 25.

Through the years, thousands people have attended the church. Of hose, several become missionaries, pastors, music directors, youth pastors and teachers. Recently, the church sold its Detroit building. From July 1988 through February 1989, the congregation did not have a building to neet in. They had to rent a location for awhile and even met in a Farmington park on one occasion for Sunday services.

FAMILY FINANCES

and Alan Ferrara

'A danger foreseen is half avoid-

staff writers

This month's column discusses common financial problems gleaned from the responses we have received from readers of this column. This departure from our normal financial profile format is part of our continuing effort to provide readers with insight into actions that can improve their financial lives. Marking the second anniversary of writing this column, we believe that by noting these common pitfalls our readership would be able to make better financial decisions

One of the most common shortcomings we see is a lack of any financial plan whatsoever - much less one that is broad in scope and comprehensive in nature. Frequently, people will spend more time planning a two-week vacation than they will spend planning their entire financial lives. A plan can become the foundation for financial success. Without such a plan, chances for reaching financial goals are considerably diminished

In creating a plan, financial organization is important. Readers request and are sent a data questionnaire if they are interested in being profiled in this column. Many that are returned are incomplete or inaccurate. To make good financial decisions, it is important to have an accurate picture of your current financial condition.

Another common problem is lack of clear goals. Almost everybody has both short-term financial goals and long-term goals Most people overemphasize one or the other

They are either restricting their standard of living unnecessarily to provide for the unknowns of the future (the hoarders) or else they spend every dollar that passes through their hands, making no provision for their long-term financial security (the spendthrifts). Goals and priorities should be clearly established, and then income can be allocated accordingly to reach both short-term and long-term goals.

TO HELP develop goals, think of them in three categories: short term (under two years), medium term (two to five years), and long term (five years and longer). Then develop a financial wish list and place the items on the list into the time frames. Finally, prioritize the items on a scale of one to five

After goals are set and a plan formulated, another common pitfall is failure to follow through with the plan established. It takes persistence to reach many long-term goals. In our society, we have become so used to the idea of immediate results we have instant tea, instant replay, instant gratification - that we have frequently lost sight of the time and patience needed to reach a meaningful goal. Although winning the lottery or receiving a significant inheritance may provide financial security for a few, most of us must build our financial futures through diligence and consistence of effort. Putting aside a moderate amount of money on a monthly basis to help save for a new car or a home is the kind of habit necessary to achieve financial

A second major problem area frequently mentioned is one of controlling expenditures. This is probably the single most common reason peogoals. Note that the emphasis here is on expenditures, not on income. There are people at all income levels who are successful financially, while others at that same income level are unsuccessful financially. There is almost no limit to what one can spend. But it is how the available income is handled that determines financial success

Most people have no real idea of where their money goes each month Only if some dollars just happen to be left over at the end of the month is money put away for the future. Even if modest savings are achieved, frequently they are depleted when a major purchase such as a car or a vacation is made.

It is important to put away a portion of your income each month for long term - to provide for the old man or old woman you will hopefully become one day. As a general rule, 10 percent of gross income is a good target. Start modestly and build up to that target. Again, consistency is important

A THIRD MAJOR area where oversight occurs is in the insurance coverages. Perhaps surprisingly, the most frequent shortcoming here is in long-term disability area. Many people are unsure whether they have any coverage, or mistakenly assume that their employers have provided them with this coverage. Statistically, only about one-third of employees have any long-term disability coverage, and frequently this coverage is inadequate. Coverage should provide between half and two-thirds of predisability income and should last until age 65. The monthly premium on a policy that provides a $2,000 monthly benefit for a 40-year-old would be approximately $65.

Life insurance is another frequently neglected area. Many respondents have the wrong amount of coverage. Sometimes they are overinsured,

Deciphering annual reports

If you find annual reports baffling you're not alone. People try to read them the way they read a book or magazine - and that's a mistake Annual reports are reference works, according to the Farmington Hillsbased Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

You don't read the dictionary the way you read Dickens, and you don't approach an annual report the way you do People magazine

When you are considering an investment or looking for a job, annual reports can be a valuable source of information if you know how to read between the lines. The first section of an annual report usually contains the chief executive's letter to shareholders and management's discussion of the company's condition. The letter generally highlights the company's financial data, summarizes the year's events and describes the company's goals for the future. While the letter to shareholders makes every attempt to put the company's best foot forward, a good letter will point out both the firm's weaknesses as well as its strengths.

To test a chief executive's credibility and gauge past management predictions, review the annual reports of the past few years. Compare projections made in previous years with subsequent results. How did the CEO's promise to increase company earnings fare? Were research and development projects completed on schedule and within the budget outlines by the chief executive?

If read carefully, the section

practically speaking

called "Management's Discussion and Analysis" can provide valuable insight into a company's financial condition and operations. Generally, this section includes information about the company's liquidity, capital resources and operational re-

FOR MANY readers, the biggest mystery of annual reports is the financial statement - also called the 'numbers" section. The core of the financial section consists of a balance sheet and an income statement. The balance sheet shows where the company stood as of a particular date and should be viewed as a snapshot rather than a moving picture. The balance sheet describes what the company owns (its assets) as well as what it owes (its liabilities). The difference between these two figures is the company's net worth or shareholder's equity

While the balance sheet reveals the company's book value, the income statement measures the firm's earnings, costs and profitability. Income statements are also called profit and loss statements, operating statements or income and expense statements. Whatever its name, the purpose is always the same - to detail how much money the company made or lost during the period re-

The income statement matches the amount the company received from selling its goods and other items of income against all the costs of operating the company. The difference between the two figures is the net income or net profit - the proverbial bottom line. This number represents the amount available to pay shareholder dividends or to be the income statement for extraordinary items that don't recur each year, such as a large tax credit or the sale of a subsidiary. Keep in mind that such an isolated event may distort the current year's profit statement

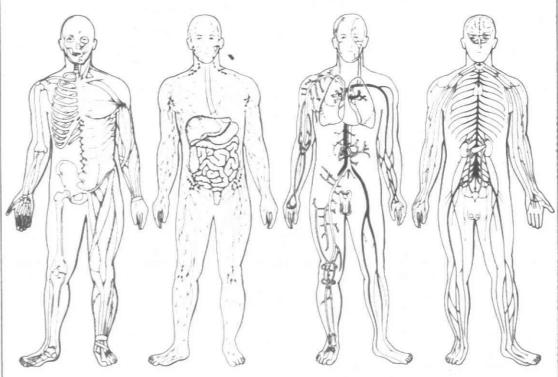

SOME EXPERTS suggest that the fastest way to evaluate a company's financial statement is by reviewing the auditor's opinion, which appears near the end of most annual reports. An independent auditor issues an opinion on the financial statements provided by the company's management. The auditor's primary responsibility is to provide the public with reasonable assurance that the company's financial statements and the related disclosures conform with generally accepted accounting prac-

Last year, the Auditing Standards Board of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants approved nine new statements on au diting standards. As a result, auditors will now have the increased responsibility for detecting and reporting fraud or illegal acts, for evaluating the system of internal control and for considering and disclosing doubts about a company's ability to continue in existence.

Another useful tool in ferreting out important information is the footnote section, usually found at the end of the annual report. If the footnote section is long, read all the items with special care. Footnotes generally serve one of two purposes - either they explain the company's accounting policies or they provide critical disclosures. The condition of the company's pension plan, heavy use of tax benefits, plans to sell a subsidiary or pending lawsuits are all examples of the type of information tucked into footnotes

If you need to analyze financial statements for investment purposes, CPAs advise you to consult an expert for help in understanding the facts behind the figures.

WHEN ONE OF THESE SYSTEMS BREAKS DOW

To perform properly, the human body depends upon several systems. If just one of them develops a problem, it affects the entire body. Which is why we developed another, highly advanced system - Metro Medical Group.

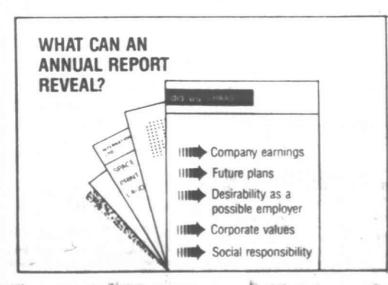

Metro Medical Group is a system of nine medical centers, including a specialty center for rehabilitation and sports medicine.

And Metro Medical Group centers accept most insurance and health care plans, including Health Alliance Plan.

The next time one of your systems needs attention, make an appointment with our system.

OUR FIFTH AND common prob lem area is in estate planning. Perhaps it is natural to want to avoid thoughts of death and dying. But that entirely. Good estate planning will simplify the handling of your affairs reduce taxes and administrative tate planning documents that procosts, and it will give you greater control over the ultimate distribution of your assets.

All too often people don't even have a simple will. Thus, even the most basic estate planning decisions are left to the inflexible rules of the state intestacy laws.

Although a will is sufficient in many cases, often it is desirable to add trust arrangements to your estate planning. Trusts can accomplish a number of objectives that cannot be incorporated into a simple will. Candidates for a trust could be people with minor children or the elder who may worry about their ability handle their finances as they ad vance in years. Those with estates of more than $600,000 should also consider setting up trusts.

2-day conference will examine the Reagan legacy

The eight years of the Reagan Administration were characterized by economic growth, a decline in unemployment, a reduction in inflation and a generally healthy economy. Is this apparent success due to what George Bush in 1980 referred to as "Voo-Doo Economics" or what Reagan called the miracle of Supply-Side Economics? During the Reagan Administration the federal budget deficit reached an mer member of the Reagan Council all-time high as did the U.S. trade deficit. ### Ford will expand facility Ford Motor Co. will spend $97 million during the next four years to expand and renovate its scientific research laboratories in Dearborn.

A 125,000-square-foot addition will provide space for research in response to environmental needs, consolidation of engineering activities from other buildings, and a joint project between Ford's Electronics Division and the integrated circuit This addition will be built in front of the existing facility and linked to it by a 40-foot-wide atrium. The new building will house all the laborator ies for chemistry, physics and metal-Ground breaking for the new wing is expected to begin at the end of the by environmental concerns Major new environmental proand fiber-reinforced composites. • The establishment of an interindustry cooperative program to develop processes for recycling paint sludges and other manufacturing concepts for recycling of plastics

The renovations "will accommodate the substantial changes that have taken place in the focus of Ford's research and engineering effort during the past three decades, said John P. McTague, Ford vice president - Research. "The present facilities, constructed in 1957, were designed during a relatively static time in the industry long before issues such as CAFE and emissions were national concerns, and before the invention of the integrated circuit made use of computers widespread." Emissions, electronics, simula-

23 Michigan firms honored for growth

Twenty-three Michigan companies were honored Tuesday, June 13, for creating jobs and contributing to the economic vitality of the Great Lakes state at a dinner hosted by Michael J. Brenner, managing partner of Coopers & Lybrand's Detroit office, and William Stapleton, area vice president of AT&T. Honorees were named to the Inc. 500 list of fastest growing private companies in the U.S.

The common bond among these companies lies in their exceedingly fast growth. Michigan Inc. 500 honorees had combined gross sales in 1987 of $187,394,000. This was an increase of 1,539 percent during the preceding five-year period.

Robert B. Reich, author of Tales of a New America, as quoted in Inc. magazine, said. "Growth in the industrial belt - Michigan, Pennsylvania, New Jersey - is up. This is American manufacturing, and may be the harbinger of a renaissance in Industrial America." To be included in the Inc. 500 list, a company must have been independent and privately held on Aug. 1988, the day applications were due to Inc. magazine. The 1988 rankings are based on the percentage increase in sales from 1983 through 1987. Each company must have shown an increase in sales between 1986 and 1987, and its sales in 1983 should have been no less than Arbor $100,000 but not more than $25 mil-

ized ticketing company in Michigan. ecently moved to larger quarters in Ringham Farms and hired additional staff to handle its growing business The Los Angeles-based company, nationally, brought in Jeff Kline as new general manager to run the Michigan office now in the Bingham Office Park on Telegraph Road

The 26-year-old Kline, who lives nearby, headed Ticketmaster's Colorado office before he came to Michi gan full-time in March to oversee the new headquarters. Since his arrival, he has introduced a ticket method using wrist bands, to make buying tickets safer and more orderly and to eliminate "camping out."

Giving reasons for the new plan. Kline said, "Parents don't want to worry about their kids waiting overnight to get concert tickets, and Ticketmaster outlets won't tolerate camping out and the problems that

They can make a special trip to buy advance tickets at the box office where the event will take place, they can buy tickets at one of the 70 Ticketster outlets which include Harmony House and Hudson's as well as umerous independent stores, or they can call Ticketmaster direct at 645-6666 to charge tickets over the phone using Visa or MasterCard.

The service charge Ticketmaster adds to ticket prices corresponds to the convenience of the ordering method and depends in part on the event Ticketmaster keeps service charges for family shows lower than for musical events.

Customers who order by phone pay the highest service charge. $1 50-$3 50 per ticket because phone ordering is the ultimate conven ience. Those who buy tickets at the utlet store near their home or business pay a bit less in service charges between $1-$2.50.

Kline said Ticketmaster expanded s office facilities and staff to better serve customers. The office's enlarged phone center includes a training room where new operators practice for a week before going on the floor. ### Class of '89

Clarenceville star wins top honor

staff writer

Sometimes, versatility can earn a person respect.

In this case, it helped Livonia Clarenceville's Roberta Wiggle become the 1989 Observerland Trackwoman of the Year.

Wiggle isn't a member of the All-Observer first-team, but her overall excellence in several events this spring made her stand out among

At the Metro Conference meet held last month, Wiggle was second in the long jump, leaping 15 feet, 41/2 inches; she won the 800-meter run in 2:27.0; and led off the 1,600 relay team that placed first in 4:16.9.

She is a three-time qualifier for the Class B meet in the 800 run and her best leap of 15-7 this spring qualified her for the state in the long jump. Wiggle's time of 15.9 in the 100-meter hurdles was the third best in Observerland.

In short, she does it all.

'She has been running very well. she has a lot of heart and works hard," Clarenceville coach Dick Davio said.

The Coach of the Year is Bruce Brown, who guided Farmington High to its first-ever Class A regional title. The Falcons also won the Western Lakes Activities Association

Steve Timmons, member of the gold-medal winning 1988 U.S. Olympic volleyball team, visited the Observer office recently to discuss his career and the USA-USSR rematch at The Palace on Monday night.

Volleyball ambassador hypes USSR rematch

NOT EVERY DAY an Olympic gold medalist comes walking into your office Make that a two-time

Olympic gold medalist. Steve Timmons certainly turned a few heads when he came strolling in recently. Many recognized the 6foot-5 redhead and his trademark, the flattop haircut. Few, however, could recite his name.

Timmons and Karch Kiraly, members of the USA team, put the sport of volleyball on the map with their awesome display of power during the 1984 and 1988 Games.

They were the home run hitters, the sultans of spike. They were Mahorn and Laimbeer, the Bad Boys of volleyball.

But even though they've gained national notoriety (Timmons once appeared on TV's David Letterman ow), the sport is still searching for nationwide identity.

And that's the reason why Timmons stopped by the Observer. He was here promoting the EDS Stars and Spikes Series, part of a five-city stop, set for Monday, June 19 at the ce of Auburn Hills. That's when the U.S. National Team will take on the silver medalists, the Soviets, in a 7:30 p.m. start.

The 30-year-old Timmons, a native of Newport Beach, Calif. and graduate from Southern Cal, certainly has cashed in on his Olympic Gold.

A FEW of the 1988 U.S. team members have migrated to the Italian professional leagues to seek fame and fortune, making as much as $150,000 per year, but Timmons has stayed put, choosing to make it lucratively - the American way. The money is very good over in Italy, but not quite good enough to get me over there," he said.

Among the ventures he's currently marketing: real estate, RedSand volleyball and beachwear, underwear, a Steve Timmons-autographed opticyellow volleyball, which has already grossed nearly $2 million in sales for

And it doesn't hurt that his future father-in-law is Dr. Jerry Buss, the multi-millionaire businessman who happens to count the Los Angeles Lakers as part of his vast empire.

But despite all his interests, Timmons manages to keep the competitive fires going, while doubling as an ambassador for the sport of volley-

"THIS IS A five-city tour and with a company like EDS (Electronic Data Systems) based here with some 10,000 employees, we hope they all come out for the match," Timmons said. "Without sponsors like that, it's hard for us to compete year-round and to train. You need to bring in the Russians and play them because that's definitely a team we need to see more than once a year. We need to see how we're progressing and how we match up against them Timmons, who led the '88 U.S. squad in kills and blocks, may have gotten everything he wants out of competitive international volleyball.

"I'd just tell her to play hard," he said. "If you try to create something that's not there, you're asking for trouble. It's not a game you should put on any added pressure. "It's a showcase time. We bring

Serving 'town and gown' is Press challenge

By Joan Boram special writer

NTERESTING cities, like interesting people, reveal themselves slowly, surprisingly familiar with unsuspected vistas. Imagine learning that a dear old friend can juggle, or read Sanskrit. How wonderful! Why didn't they ever tell you? Your friendship takes a new turn, enhanced by discovery.

Detroit, too, behind the headlines and the ubiquitous Renaissance Center, holds pleasant surprises.

One such surprise is the Wayne State University Press, a secret so well-kept that even the Wayne State switchboard never heard of it.

"The Press was established in 1941 to publish books for the scholarly and literary communities," explains interim director Alice Nigoghosian. "Everybody knows the saying 'Publish or perish,' but what they don't know is who does the actual publishing. Generally, it's university presses."

The functions of a great university are teaching, research, and dissemination of the results of scholarly inquiry. To assist Wayne to achieve these goals, the Press publishes several scholarly journals, concentrating on such topics as the history of discoveries, 18th century German culture, and population biology and genetics. American Imago, "A Psychoanalytic Journal for Culture, Science and the Arts," was founded by Sigmund Freud and Hanns Sach in

"OVER THE PAST, few years, the mission of the Press has been expanded to include books that are of general interest, but will never become blockbusters. Commercial publishers are less willing today than they were in the past to publish unprofitable books on the basis of literary merit, subsidizing them with the profit from best-sellers."

What would happen if a book assumed a life of its own and sold millions of copies?

Nigoghosian and marketing manager. Patrick. Callahan exchange glances and each smiles knowingly. She doesn't name names, but at least one university press was almost wiped out by a run-away success, a Frankenstein's monster, as it were.

"Their entire program for the year was put on hold. The marketing manager was delivering books to bookstores, and the senior editor was working on the loading dock. The best thing is to sell the rights to a commercial publisher as soon as possible," she said.

It seems that in university publishing, as in religion, nothing fails like success.

Miracles (or catastrophes) aside, the average run of the Wayne State University Press is 1,500 copies, a typical number for a scholarly press. By comparison, the average run for a commercial publisher is 10,000 copies.

NIGOGHOSIAN IS ONE of the lucky few who loves her work, and she displays the artwork for a new book with the same enthusiasm and care that a Tiffany salesperson would lavish on a magnificent gem.

The book, "America's Favorite Homes: Mail-order Catalogs as a Guide to Popular 20th Century Houses," by Robert Schweitzer and Michael W. R. Davis, is expected to sellvery well. Not as well as it would if it came out in time for Christmas, as Callahan points out.

"But we couldn't do as good a job of printing if we had to meet that deadline." Nigoghosian said firmly. She will not compromise the quality of the book, even if it means losing sales. Callahan nods. He knows she's right, but he is, after all, the marketing manager.

Nigoghosian, who lives in Troy, has been with the press since 1961, starting as a "gofer" while an undergraduate majoring in mass communications. She has been production and design manager, editor, and jack-of-all-editorial-trades. Twelvehour days are the norm, and she often leaves her Troy apartment early in the morning, returning late in the evening. "I still can't believe I made a career out of publishing," she said with the air of one counting her blessings. "When I was growing up, you could be a teacher, or a nurse, or a librarian, but that was about it."

"YOU HAVE TO be able to handle anything when you work for a small press," she said. "But we do call upon outside help to supplement our staff of 22 (the number includes clerical help). For instance, we would call upon a free-lance editor for a technical book, and we use free-lance book designers. The book designer for "America's Favorite Homes" was Mary Primo of Birmingham."

Libraries are the largest single type of customer for university press books, with library sales accounting for 30 to 40 percent of all press sales. For this reason, the Wayne Press has traditionally published mostly hardcover books. However, there has been more simultaneous — hard- and paper-cover — publishing in the past few years, as the Press reaches out to the non-academic community.

Poetry, published mostly in paperback, falls into the popular category, although most commercial publishers won't risk it. Nigoghosian is proud of the poetry list, and relates that some of their books have had very good reviews in the New York Times. She and Callahan smile broadly at the memory.

In 1986, the Press launched "Great Lakes Books," an imprint of original and classic regional history.

"Regional" doesn't mean "dreary," as the selection of subjects proves. Titles include "Walnut Pickles and Watermelon Cake, a Century of Michigan Cooking," "The AIA Guide to Detroit Architecture," and "Coleman Young and Detroit Politics." A recent publication is the stunning "Edsel and Eleanor Ford house," with photos by Balthazar Korab and Dirk Bakker, available in both paperback and hardcover.

TECHNICALLY, THE Wayne State University Press is a non-profit institution, and therefore cannot turn a profit. The goal is to break even. Currently, the university provides 25 percent of the Press's operating budget, plus services such as parking and building maintenance.

"A university press faces a continuing challenge to strike a proper balance between its role as representative of its parent institution and its role as a popular publisher," said Nigoghosian. "Increasingly, we're serving both "town" and "gown." Scholarly publishing is a test of editorial wisdom, sound management, and financial acumen."

Environmental statement Photos bring imagery into drawings

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

Barbara Dorchen knows about patience. She knew her new work should be seen as a unit and not mixed in with that of other artists. So, she waited for the right opportunity. Her show at Cade Gallery, 214 W. Sixth, Royal Oak, through June reinforces her belief.

Dorchen has traditionally expressed herself in black and white or monochromatics. In the new work, she adds subtle bits of color, and collages photographs on a number of her pieces. She has also gone from pastel and prisma color on charcoal background to oil pastel and prisma color on acrylic background. While these changes are relatively subtle, the photographs are a new and strong element.

Dorchen said, "I've been taking photographs for a number of years for my own reference." She never thought of using them as any more than that until recently. Now, she said, "I feel the photos are an important aspect of my intent... the whole series is the "Found Object Series"... They're more about nature and environment. The titles indicate a landscape connotation."

But, she said she doesn't think of them as that at all. "When I'm drawing, I'm just drawing — it just comes out that way."

She added, "The photos are a conscious effort to bring content into my work. This is an important concept for me." She said she sees this as the beginning of a whole new body of work.

"Content is something I have been wanting to happen and I didn't know how I wanted to do it."

She said she is careful not to try to make things happen or to make her efforts look contrived. She succeeds when she has a lot of things such as found objects around her and lets them fall naturally into place in her work.

What looks initially like masses of random lines on dark paper in each drawing gradually begins to coalesce into an individual entity. The viewer becomes aware of more color, strong unseen light sources and deep shadows. There is an organic quality to the several large ones, as though things are moving and changing just beneath the surface. This is especially true of the largest work in the show, "Moonrise." There is no photo in this one, nor is one called for. This sensitive work stands out in a room full of good pieces. The photos in some works are better than others, but there is no doubt about the addition of color. She handles that like a pro and it mellows her style a bit without taking anything away from her statement.

All of the elements she uses she said mesh together "to create a personal statement which signifies awareness about the fragility of the environment, the state of nature's precarious balance, the mortality of life and the profound sensitivity expressed through personal concern."

Dorchen completed a bachelor's in art at Center for Creative Studies, has been represented in many regional exhibitions and has work in many private and corporate collections.

Functioning art

The "Flock of Furniture" show at Ariana Gallery, 386 E. Maple, Birmingham, features 10 artists from throughout the country who add art and color to function. The "feeding fish" cabinet and the "cockatoo" chair are both by Greg Jarvis. The child's chair, done in a barrage of color, is by Pamela Morrin of New York. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Saturday. The show continues through June.

Mark calendar for Ann Arbor Art Fair

ment and that's what the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair is celebrating in 1989. Its local founders thought they were developing an excellent event but had no idea it would till be around after 30 years. The Ann Arbor Street Art Fair is the third oldest outdoor art -fair in the United States More important, along with longevity, it has achieved national recognition for presenting high-quality contemporary fine crafts and art on ART FAIRS and festivals have become very popular in the past 30 years. The 1989 Michigan Council for the Arts listing of Michigan Art Fairs lists more than 400 visual arts/crafts fairs or festivals in Michigan alone. The Ann Arbor Street Art Fair ranks in the top 10 nationwide when one is looking for top quality art work and high attendance. Approximately 400,000 people are expected to attend the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair on South and East University avenues in 1989.

The Ann Arbor Street Art Fair is not only special with its record for quality and attendance, it s special in that it now presents concurrently with two other Ann Arbor art fairs. Ann Arbor's central downtown has three distinct shopping THE ORIGINAL juried fair, the Ann Arbor

Street Art Fair, was developed by community members and the South University Merchants. In 1960 and ever since, artists' booths have been on South University Avenue. As the fair grew, booths were added on East University Avenue. By its eighth year the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair was so successful the merchant group on

The State Street Area Art Fair A FEW YEARS later the third merchant area added its own art fair run by the Michigan Guild of Artists and Artisans and now called the Summer Art Fair. ORGANIZERS FOR the three fairs cooperate in many ways. All three fairs work with the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority to bring visitors on shuttles to the downtown area from an outlyng shopping mall. Then circulators move visitors from one fair to another. (The three fairs are within walking distance, but the circulators help get visitors back to their cars or back to the air at which they started.)

In 1960 only the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair existed Then 100 artists signed up by the July I deadline to sell their work on South Universi-Avenue Organizers described the Street Art Fair as an "experiment" at the "local level."

Arbor Street Art Fair will feature 230 artists and their works, from 30 states. Approximately 80 of the artists are new to the Street Art Fair in totally rejuried by slides, and there are new art-

These 230 featured artists are chosen by professional jurges from more than 4.200 artists who applied by the current Feb. 15 deadline.

THE ORIGINAL juried Ann Arbor Street Art Fair, on South and East University avenues, continues to lead in quality of art presented and innovation of related activities. A month before the Street Art Fair, the work of selected Street Art Fair artists will form an exhibit at the Unilospitals. This is the second t reaches special audi

Sculptor builds in a poetic frame of reference

Todd Erickson talks like his sculpture looks. He describes each piece with a poetic, philosophic turn of phrase and says,

"Each has a narrative that goes with it." Like his sculpture, he is an interesting study in contrasts. He describes how exciting it was to live in Detroit's Cass Corridor. yet he is a nature lover who has a bachelor's in biology with an

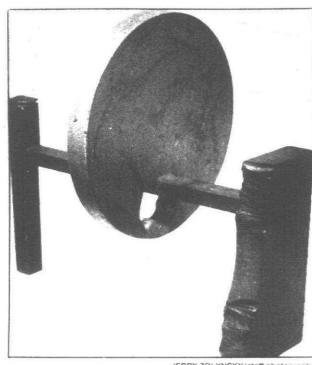

He speaks of urban renewal, but said, "I don't mind things in decay and I have a fascination for rust." He compares trees that fall apart to buildings that fall apart. He said he saw more animals such as raccoons and kestrels (small falcons) in the city than he has seen in the suburbs.

His pedestal and wall sculpture pieces, at Cantor/Lembery Gallery, 538 N. Woodward, Birmingham, through June 24, embody equally strong, unexpected combinations of elements. Several look like wood with a honey gold patina. In truth, they are steel finished with repeated layers of chemicals and stains Parts look almost fragile, yet they are very strong.

"I transform nature into bronze," Erickson said. "I work in two modes — lost wax bronze casting and steel assemblage." ONE PIECE, "Paddle Wheel," has a machine-type connotation. Others are closer to people in their meaning and symbolism. The symbolism falls in layers like the chemicals and stains. It shines through at two or three different levels.

Camus character who struggled desperately to push the boulder to the top of the mountain only to see it roll all the way back down - are relatively uncomplicated. "Wheelies on Woodward" is another whose meaning appears clear. However, the symbolism of a multimedia wall piece, "Imagination of Nature," remains elusive even after Erickson ex

The long, horizontal sticks or rods represent the lay system of magnetic currents in the earth's surface, he said. What looks like a section of fence behind is reminiscent of the hay drying racks he saw when living in Yugoslavia. There are some man made towers, something like those of stones in Ireland and a heavy piece of granite.

This is one of two multimedia pieces in the show. The other is an aerial view of deserted shelter in the city created from things he found near his former Cass Corridor studio. He described the rest in the show as possibly more focused.

WHILE HE obviously likes all of them, he explained the nuances of the "cow field" piece with a warm attachment. "It integrates the cow to the field. They become multiple Todd Erickson images by bridging one layer on top of another until they be-

Owners of Erickson's sculptural works should definitely treat themselves to a first-hand narration. He looks like a park ranger or Boy Scout leader and thinks like a dramatist, seeing the world as a stage and people as wheels or rollers moving at different speeds across it. He successfully transfers his ideas to three-dimensional art using highly unpliable materials and making them look buttersoft. He may spend hours shaping one-inch-square area of steel and flame cut a large section next to it in seconds. His outstanding piece, inspired by the German artist Fredericks' painting of a ruined gothic cathedral, involves both of those ERICKSON'S FAMILY moved to Birmingham when he was in the seventh grade. He graduated from Seaholm High School. Erickson realized about midway through Hope College "that art could be a direction for me," he said. He completed his master's at Cranbrook Academy of Art in 1986, working under Michael Hall in sculpture. After he completed his bachelor's and while he was at Cranbrook, he was a outh worker with the Birmingham schools. Later he began teaching at the Center for Creative Studies, where he is cur rently an instructor in sculpture, foundry techniques and weld ng. He and his wife live in Redford, where he has his studio. Gallery hours are 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday.

Recently I visited a home which truly exemplifies this. Shelly and Joel Newman have such a house in West Bloomfield. Their house looks loved and says welcome. I'm glad you're here. Joel gets credit for the manicured lawn and Japanese garden at the front of the house.

The interior furnishings are eclectic. The Newmans' artifiacts are serious and also fun. A magnificently groomed mar ionette doll graces the side of the family room fireplace. The other side has a suit of armor, a leftover from an Addams

Now is the time to clear out those closets, attics, basements and garages and make some quick cash in the process.

How do you plan a garage sale?

Just follow these simple guidelines:

1. Gather together the items you have for sale. Sort them into appropriate categories and price them fairly.

2. Place a classified advertisement in The Observer & Eccentric by calling one of the numbers below.

Or, if you love to bargain-hunt and would rather shop then sell, be sure to look for our special garage sale listings every Monday and Thursday in your hometown newspaper. Observer & Eccentric classifieds make it easy to earn money and save money. Discover for yourself, today!
