Asleep at the wheel?

During a long debate at a Canton Township Planning Commission meeting over an ordinance that would restrict the parking of recreational vehicles at houses, one commissioner closed his eyes for a moment.

A resident, who was later chided for his comment by other residents at the meeting, said he didn't appreciate the commissioner, Richard Kirchgatter, sleeping during such a crucial discussion

Kirchgatter quickly retorted that he wasn't sleeping and that he was carefully listening to every word. In fact, Kirchgatter said, he wasn't going to have someone tell him how to listen to a meeting.

parking battle rages

By Diane Gale

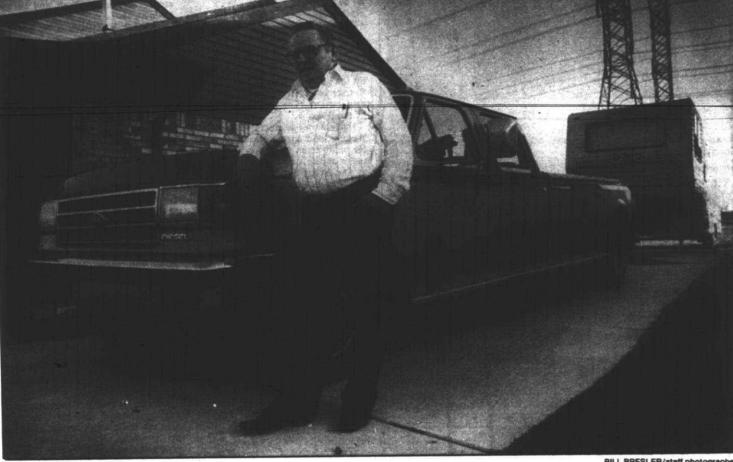

A Canton man and a Flossmoor, Ill., man share the battle about what they can and can't park in their driveways. And the issue is catching on nationally.

Jim Minx of Flossmoor, a Chicago suburb, is making a federal case about a law in the swanky community that says he can't park his pick-up truck in his driveway. His attorney, Richard Hutchison, filed a federal lawsuit claiming the ordinance is unconstitutional.

MEANWHILE, Fred Beinke of Canton Township says a similar ordinance being considered locally is unconstitutional and discriminatory against recreational vehicle owners.

'It definitely will segregate us as people whose rights will be taken," said Beinke. He parks a travel trailer and truck in the driveway of his Fair Oaks house east of Sheldon.

RV owners throughout the township have been angered over a proposed ordinance requiring RVs be kept 150 feet from property lines. The ordinance also would limit storage around houses to 24 hours before and after use. Currently, the time limit is 48 hours. Residents say the ordinance would effectively their RVs from subdivisions.

Supporters of the new ordinance modify the ordinance, chairman argue that RVs don't belong in neighods and some RV owners take advantage of existing rules by their vehicles on the 'planting"

John Burdziak said. "We're going to gather all the information, comments and recommendations and go over the whole thing and come up with a proposed ordinance," Burdziak said Friday. The Beinke's added on a cement side drive to accommodate the RVs.

"The 150 foot set-back was a little extreme," he said. "I think we've all agreed to throw that out."

Burdziak also said the proposed 24 hour loading and unloading limit would be eliminated and likely the BEINKE SAID he'll seek assistance from the American Civil Liberties Union if the township insists on passing the tough restrictions.

A $600,000 bill to pave a half-mile stretch of Morton Taylor Road from Ford to Saltz roads in Canton will be paid by the township, an area developer and Wayne County in a continuing effort to piece the road together.

Someday, 20 to 30 years from now, Morton Taylor will go through the township," according to Canton engineer Tom Casari.

for a half mile at Palmer Road north. The completed road will one day relieve traffic on Sheldon and Lilley roads, according to Alan Richardson. Wayne County engineer.

The half-mile section was needed so a proposed single-family home development on Morton Taylor wouldn't be stalled.

Work on homes start by the end of the year, according to Hal Rosin, who represents the property owner, Shellye Korash.

Korash wanted to put in an asphalt road from Saltz to Keystone just short of Ford Road - to allow construction, said Rosin, owner of Dearborn Realty.

However, after she received county approval to lay asphalt, township and county officials said they wanted to upgrade it to concrete.

"The township said we want it to be a concrete road and to adhere to help pay for it," Casari said.

KORASH WILL pay about $150,000, the amount that would have been spent on asphalt. The township and county will each pay $225,000. However, the township will cover the county's share until next year, because the project is in the county's 1990 budget, Richardson "It (concrete versus asphalt) in-

Berlin Wall opening surprises area Germans

"I hope it remains in effect for keeps," said Scherer, who has visited West Germany and West Berlin. "I hope there isn't going to be any sort of reaction from hard-liners in the East German government.

"I VISITED East Berlin 10 years ago," Edith Scherer said. "It's very bleak with rows of houses, one house just like the others. It was so sad you couldn't go there."

Could reunification of the two Germanys follow soon? "I don't think so, not right away but maybe in the next century," she said.

Report: Suburbs need to help city schools

Suburban school districts must 'give something back" to the Detroit public schools, according to a new report expected to shape Michigan education policy in the 1990s. Cooperative efforts must begin between Detroit and its suburban neighbors for Michigan to remain economically competitive, according to a report compiled by nationallyrecognized demographics expert Harold Hodgkinson.

Regional magnet schools for academically-talented students - located in Detroit, staffed by suburban districts and drawing students from both - were among Hodgkinson's

The report was issued Thursday. State Superintendent of Schools Donald Bemis hailed it as "an incredibly important document" that would be used to shape education policy in Michigan.

Metro Detroit's racial polarization with suburbs predominantly white and the inner city predominantly black, compounds the situation, Hodgkinson said.

Movies not substitute for education

When we elect members to the school board we expect them to find out what is happening with our tax dollars. Therefore, we are in favor of a member going into a classroom and suggest others do the same. Both of us have been teachers and would not object to officials entering the lassroom - that is unless we had something to hide.

We have the feeling that teachers show movies in class, irrespective of rating, as a means of sensationalism to attract students or to relieve the necessity for preparation. We read that 90 students signed up for British Literature. How many do you think would sign up for British Literature if "R" rated movies were not part of the course? We do not think that movies designed for entertainment are a good substitute for education. Venison cooking

Heralding from a very blue-collar family in Wyandotte, I recall that November always hailed the start of hunting season.

For someone like me who shuns weapons of any kind, hunting season was the one time of year when I joined the men of the Janes gang in attempting a strange bonding ritual. We set off to the woods in the hopes of returning with enough food to fill the Kenmore deep freeze for the winter.

More often than not, we returned with a trunk full of dirty clothes and smelly sleeping bags rather than a deer.

To this day, many of the Janes men still set off, some for weeks at a time, stalking the deer, the bear, the antelope, the moose and whatever else the great north would surrender to the sound of

Now it's always been known that I was the "weird" one of the family. To this day, when I accompany the great hunters, I would rather sit in a hunting blind and watch the deer approach, photographing them in their natural habitat rather than blowing a hole the size of a melon in their

BUT REALITY sinks in fast when I see hundreds of dead deer strapped to car trunks and roofs, making their way back to suburbia and a gaggle of cooks who know only how to fry thin strips of venison tenderloin in a cup of bacon drippings while chewing bread with the other hand.

There is more to cooking venison than one might imagine. For the record, venison connotes the flesh of any antlered animal, not just deer.

Any deer hunter worth his weight in sugarbeets knows that venison should always be aged before eating or freezing. With cold weather fast approaching, you will notice many great hunters hanging their bounty in the garage or shed for a few days before butchering. Actually, for optimum results. young deer should hang for at least one week, with older, bigger-rack deer hanging for up to three weeks. Temperature should be at least 34-36 degrees to avoid spoilage. If the thought of keeping the car in the driveway for that long a time upsets the household. check out freezer or meat locker

Venison lends itself best to corning (cooking with other liquids), curing, drying, smoking and sausage making. Because the animal is very active, the meat has a tendency to be tough (muscular), and grinding the meat with small amounts of fat to make venison burger is probably the most widely used form of venison around

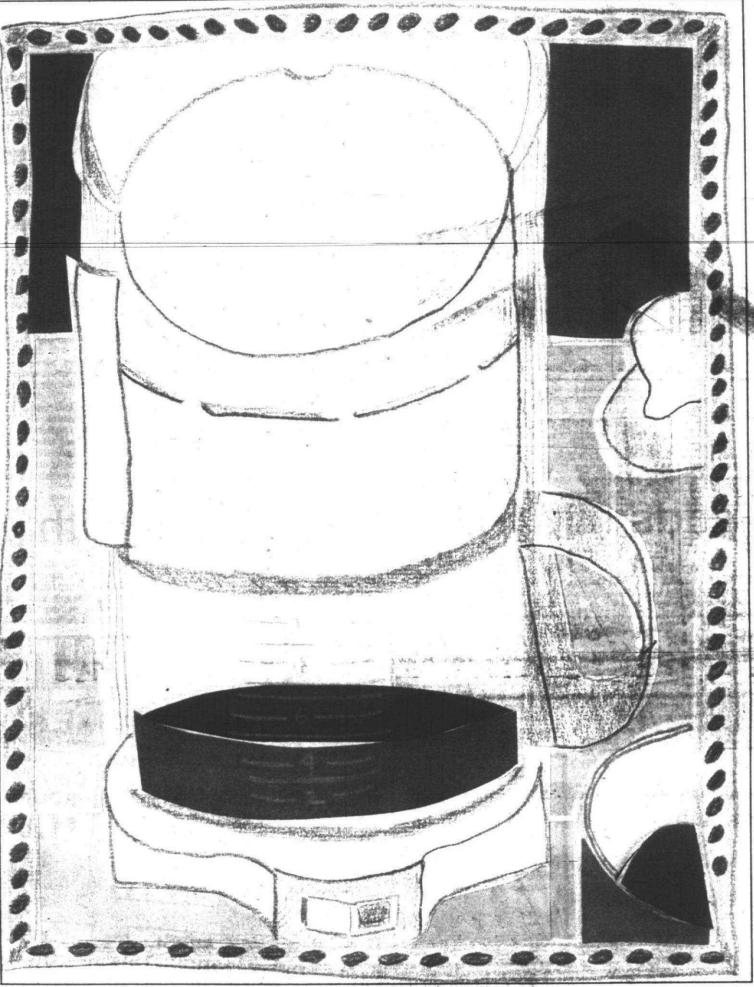

THE TENDERLOINS, rib steaks and roasts, and loin roasts are the most prized and taste re markably good when cooked in covered dutch ovens, clay pots and casseroles to keep the moisture in. Venison roasts and chops can greatly benefit from the use of marinades. A simple soaking in cheap red wine will produce a stew that is tender, moist, juicy and very flavorful, with the flavor of the wind helping mask a possible "gamey" taste that usually accompanies the meat.

Salt pork makes an excellent larding for venison roasts. Never use deer fat as the flavor and smell will surely soil the final product. A wrapping in bacon strips is also useful while broiling or baking to insure a moistness and good flavor.

I have observed the butchering of many a deer, and while a sea soned pro might enjoy the challenge and benefits of cutting up lenge and benefits of cutting up your own carcass, it's best to leave the butchering to a pro. Jack Prabue, owner of the Porter House butcher shop in Plymouth, says he will process more than 100 deer this season. He cautions hunters from hanging their own deer for aging, mainly because of uncontrolled temperatures that occur, which results in spoiled occur, which results in spoiled

Luckily, specialty coffee is fashnable. Restaurants are grinding beir own coffee beans. Specialty cournet coffee bean shops are springing up all over the place — in malls, department stores and gift shops. If ever there was a time to create the perfect cup, it's now.

First, you need to buy the right coffee. High-quality specialty coffee is essential.

ALTHOUGH YOU can find specialty or gourmet coffees in grocery stores as well as gourmet food shops the difference can be as exaggerated as night and day.

You may pay a dollar or two more for coffee bought at a gourmet shop or coffee bean store, but the essence of the brew will bear little resem-blance to those made from interior beans found in most grocery stores, pre-packaged or sold in bulk. Specialty coffees taste better than the mass-market beans because the specialty coffee shops and gourmet shops buy better beans. The proof is

Julia's back. The queen of the American TV kitchen has just published a new cookbook. It has been nine years since we've seen a cookbook from Julia McWilliams Child. "Julia Child and More Company" was her last book that, along with "Julia Child and Compawas written as companion to her PBS-TV cooking series.

If you're an avid Julia Child fan, you're undoubtedly familiar with her other cookbooks. "The Way to Cook"

Since 1961, Child's books have been references on how to cook, as opposed to recipe collections

"The American ambassador of French cooking," Child was here for craving French food and ways to cook it. Now, almost 30 years later, she is still teaching us how to cook.

As Child says in the opening pages f "The Way to Cook," "This new book was written for a new generation of cooks who have not grown up with old traditions.

Salem runner-up in state

Athens wins title 1-0 over Rocks

By Jim Toth staff writer

The play seemed innocent enough - a high lob down the field heading toward an opposing defender - that Troy Athens soccer coach Tim Storch decided to take time to deliver some instructions on the sideline.

No problem. All the veteran Red Hawk coach missed was the deciding goal in Saturday's boys Class A state championship game played at Bloom field Hills Andover. Fortunately for Storch, it was one of his Red Hawks, John Farley, doing the scoring.

The senior forward, no stranger to scoring goals, pulled the ball loose from a Plymouth Salem defender 14 minutes into the first half and calmly deposited the ball behind Rocks goalkeeper Matt Tudor to provide the difference in the Red Hawks 1-0 triumph

"I saw it was a long ball from our sweeper that was going to one of their defenders," began Farley of the winning tally and his 19th goal of the season. "I just stepped in front of a lazy pass he made and I knew I had it."

"I DIDN'T SEE the goal," said Storch. "I turned my back and was giving instructions. All of a sudden I heard some yelling - I turned around and saw the ball in the back of the net.

The state title was the fourth for the Red Hawks this decade and completed a sweep of high school soccer for Athens in 1989. The girls squad, also coached by Storch, claimed the Class A crown in June with a 1-0 victory over

"This is a super win for us," beamed Storch after the game. "We beat a quality team by playing superb defense. I don't think they (Salem) have seen a defense like ours

Salem coach Ken Johnson echoed Storch's assessments.

'Troy Athens put us out of our style by pressuring us," explained Johnson, who watched his high-powered offense come up empty for the fourth time this season. "They are tall, quick and very physical.

THE RED HAWKS, who finished the season with a 20-2-3 ledger, kept Salem's offensive stalwarts Jeff Gold and Greg Christensen, for the most

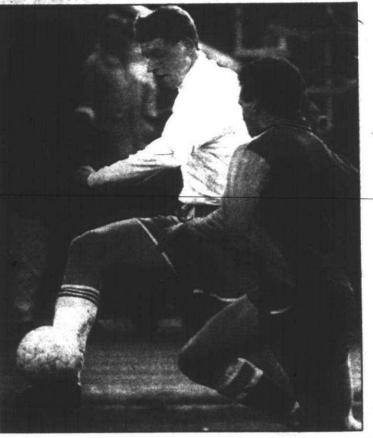

Shaun Childress, Chris Miller, Todd Peterson and Tyrone Schindler continuously applied pressure on the Salem forwards, forcing the Rocks to cough

When the Rocks managed to maintain control, Athens senior goalkeeper Mark Slimak proved equal to the task. Slimak was credited with eight saves, including a diving stop in front of the net off a Brad Fisch boot with less than one minute to play.

"I thought we would do it in the second half," said Johnson, who watched his team drop a 2-1 decision to the Red Hawks during the regular season.
"We wanted to come out and score a goal, but we couldn't. Losing to a team like Athens is a good way to go down, if you're going to lose."

The final stats proved the game to be as close as the final score. Both teams fired 10 shots and Athens held a slim 4-3 advantage in corner kicks.

"BEING A FORMER goalkeeper, I have always said that defense wins you state titles," said Storch. "It doesn't hurt to have a Mark Slimak, who I think is the best keeper in the state, back there either. He made a save in the first five minutes that I think set the tone for us."

The title win was the first for the Red Hawks boys squad since 1984 "We had a great run through the early 80s, winning titles in 1981, 1983 and 1984," recalled Storch, who has compiled 190 victories in his nine seasons as boys coach. "We kind of hit a dry spell since then so this win is significant in that it is the perfect culmination of getting back on top."

"We started the season off slowly, but then we came together as a team," said Farley of the Red Hawks success. "We knocked off Troy in the districts and I think that set us on our way. This is a great way to end the season."

staff writer

Susan Ferko and Stacey Thompson scored 17 points each Saturday to lead Plymouth Canton to a 54-39 win host Salem in the championship of the Western Lakes Activities Association girls basketball tourna-

The title was the second straight for Canton and the first under new coach Bob Blohm.

The Chiefs, who beat Lakes Division co-champ North Farmington Tuesday in the semifinals, gained valuable experience in a playoff atmosphere. With Class A district play beginning today throughout the state, Blohm knows the Chiefs will have to play at or above the level they played during the WLAA tourney to continue their success.

Canton, which exited the state playoffs last year after losing in the district final to Salem, improved to 17-3 overall. The Chiefs play the winner of the Northville-Livonia Ladywood game Wednesday at North ville.

"We can't get any readier for the districts," Blohm said. "I thought overall this was a good performance, because this is a big rivalry for both "THE KIDS worked real hard, but now we look forward to the districts. It's one game at a time, and you have to focus one game at a time. If you don't, you have a problem, because it's a one-game elimination."

Said Ferko: "We've got to get ready for the districts. We've got to forget about this and go for the dis-

These bikers are easy to like...

That's because they are a great bunch of conscientious kids who have turned in their Observer & Eccentric newspaper collections accurately and on time.

Their routes take them out into all kinds of weather all year long.

So what better way to show our appreciation than a 10-speed bike? Because these 12 youngsters are exceptional carriers, they were allowed to enter our annual drawing for a new bike. They are winners in every way!

Just for laughs

Taylor Mason has carved a niche for himself in the world of laughs. With his sidekick Romeo, a shapely piece of foam that laments the loss of the last great puppet job, and keyboards, Mason is making a name for himself on the comedy club circuit. See Page 5D.

On Tuesday and Friday evenings, the gymnasium of Southfield's McIntyre Elementary School is filled with swashbuckling sounds, thanks to students of the Fencing Academy

Fencing by any other name

By C.L. Rugenstein special writer

Monday, November 13, 1989 O&E

Slash . . . slash . . . parry . . . slash.

On the rocky top of a movie mountain in "The Princess Bride," two men bound around, fencing furiously and left handedly. "I know something you don't know," says Inigo Montoya — adventur-er, rogue, mercenary — taunting the black-clad Dread Pirate Roberts — actually the hero, Wesley. 'What's that?" Roberts/Wesley askes.

Ripost . while leaping and spinning and generally looking like he's having a ball fending off his opponent.

Fencing scenes like that and others from costume dramas have sent many an aspiring swashbuckler lunging off for lessons.

It looks like fun. It is fun. And it appear

"It's physical chess at high speed," said Mark Masters, former fencing coach at Birmingham's Roeper School, now of Philadelphia.

But fencing also is hard work.

At a Friday night session of the Fencing Academy of Michigan-Southfield recently, Masters compared it to learning to play a musical instru-

"PEOPLE DON'T realize the high level of neuromuscular coordina-tion it takes," he said. "It takes 4-5 years of repetitive motor skill every day to develop the physical strength, stamina and speed (for competitive

But Masters himself was lured to the sport by reading the classics like "The Three Musketeers." Other FAMS members started fencing in high school or college as a lark and ended up getting hooked on the sport.

David Porter, assistant coach at Wayne State University, where the women's team just won its second NCAA championship in a row, started when he was 20. A girlfriend at Appalachia State University in North Carolina "dragged" him into a fencing class where he discovered "God made fencing just for me," he said.

FAMS president Charlie Schneider started at age 15, while he was in high school. Schneider was captain of the WSU fencing team in 1974 and went on to fence in the world championships, held in Spain, Italy, Holland. England and Venezuela.

Fencing is a sport that can be enjoyed recreationally by people of all ages, but for competitive purposes, the younger a person starts the better, said Gil Pezza. The head coach at WSU for the last six years, he started fencing when he was 4.

"There was a woman fencer living in the same apartment building ere we lived (in native Milan. wanted us to do a sport."

HE FENCED on the Italian national team and was a finalist in the world championships in Istanbul in 1974.

Fencing enthusiasts are fortunate to have a number of top notch teachers in the metropolitan area. Both Pezza and Porter are masters, certified to teach other fencing coaches. Both also are on the U.S. Fencing Association coaching staff. Pezza also was named to the NCAA national committee in September.

Both teach at FAMS, along with Yuri Rabinowitz, another master and former head coach at the University of Detroit.

While students of all ages are welcome at the club, the instructors would like to see more young people - ages 8-12 - getting into the "More people are getting involved with fencing because of the junior development program the USFA started about nine years ago," Pezza

FOR POTENTIAL fencers who'd like to see what goes on at a meet, Detroit is hosting the North American Junior Circuit Fencing Tornament Friday-Sunday, Nov. 17-19, at Oakland University's Shotwell Pavillion,

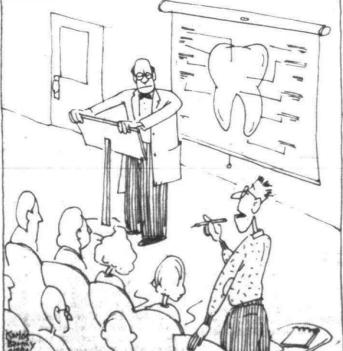

About 150 fencers from across the United States are expected to compete for points that could land them a spot on the national junior team and possibly a spot on the 1992 U.S. Olympic Team.

The tournament will be noon to 11 p.m. Friday, 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. There will be five events — men's foil, epee and sabre and women's foil and epee. Admission is free, but there is limited spectator space. Oh, and by the way, . . . happy swashbuckling.

is swashbuckling

Warp Factor Karlos Barney

'Pyonnea? Isn't that what happens to your gums when you drink the water in Mexico?"

Yuri Rabinowitz, fencing master and former head coach at the University of Detroit, offers pointers to a student at the Fencing Academy.

. slash . . . parry . . . slash.

For those of you who need a translation of the fencing moves, a slash is a sweeping stroke, parry the turning aside of a thrust and ripost the sharp, swift thrust made after parrying an opponent's lunge.

Don't consider yourself a pro just because you know a little terminology. It takes more than that to become a promising Errol Flynn or Dread Pirate Roberts

To start, you need a mask, glove, jacket and foil as well as a plastron liner for the jacket for added protection. That can set you back between $100 and $125. Although clubs like the Fencing Academy of Michigan-Southfield provides equipment for beginners.

If the sport is to your liking and you envision swashbuckling your way through competition, there's more costs — fencing pants and shoes and electronic weapons. Scoring in competition is done electronically so add on another $200-300. And for competitive foil and sabre fencing, there's the expense $80 and up — for a metallic mesh worn over the target area of the torso.

 Then there's the lesson. FAMS offers lessons twice a week for one hour in 10-week segments for $70 a session. The class are held at Southfield's McIntyre Elementary School 7-9 p.m. Tuesdays and Fridays (call 355-1326 for Grosse Pointe, which are always looking for new members. And while the Fencing Society at Oakland University is primarily a student organization, it won't turn away people from the Rochester area interested in learning fencing.

AND REMEMBER, you don't become a master fencer in 10 weeks, sc

If you get in to competitive fencing, it's time to figure in things like fencing bags and the cost of traveling to different competitions.

And then there's the weapon. And then there's the weapon.

Three types of weapons are used in fencing. Beginners generally start out with the foil — light weight with flexible binde originally developed as a training weapon. It's target area in fencing is the front and back of the torso and points are scored with the tip of the blade.

There's also the epec. Twice again as heavy as the foil, it has a stiffer blade. It's target area is the entire body. Like the foil, points are scored with

The last weapon is the sabre with a part rectangular and part Y-shaped blade. Its target area is the torso.

Apparently, Strieber is developing a new literary genre, the "documentary novel." "Communion" purports to recount actual experiences. Prior to the movie, his first film work, Strieber's highly successful career was confined to writing.

Strieber wrote the screenplay based on his book and is also credited as the producer along with director Philippe Mora ("A Breed Apart." LITTLE GOOD may be said for two of the movies that were screened this week. Fortunately, "Drugstore Cowboy" (Z, R, 100 minutes) is one of those films that seldom appears on local screens. Let's through this foolishness. There's no keep it that way.

Dubrovnik is a picturesque town of stone and red tile roofs against the green mountains and completely wrapped in its 13th century wall.

A second — inexpensive — look at Europe

By Iris Sanderson Jones contributing travel editor

Last week we published a letter from two couples who want to visit Europe together. They've all backpacked the continent at one time or another, and now they want to do it comfortably, but economically. We explored traveling by bed and breakfast through the Republic of Ireland, with possible post-trips to the United Kingdom; all Englishspeaking. This week we'll explore a southern alternative, coastal Yugoslavia.

Stand on the wall that surrounds the perfectly preserved old city of Dubrovnik and look out to sea. Venetian sailing ships once filled the harbor below, but the sailing masts that mark the docks now have come in from holiday resorts and islands up and down the Dalmation coast of Yugoslavia.

Tiny white wake lines crease the blue water, ferries cruising back and forth from Dubrovnik to Italy, 110 miles away across the Adriatic Sea, to Venice, in its silted lagoons, and to some of the thousand islands that scatter the 500-mile strip of seacoast from Italy in the north to forbidden Albania in the south.

It is easy to imagine the Greek galleys, the Roman merchantmen, the war ships of Hungary and Turkey, the long boats and the round boats of Venice, the sea vessels of all those invaders who ruled here one century after another.

Tourism is the main coastal industry now, so invaders still come from all directions, on sailboats, in tour buses and cars along the Magistrala, decorating the ancient beaches, exploring walled cities in their storybook settings along the Adriatic Sea.

The sun worshippers drive in from Europe or get off their planes from the United States. Every single one of them is headed for Dubrovnik.

Dubrovnik is the modern name of the old city-state of Ragusa, which once had a fleet of 2,000 ships. The word argosy is a corruption of ragusy or raguses, meaning a ship of Ragusa.

ACCORDING TO Viktor, a local man who drove us downhill to the old city, the present highway follows the route that caravans took into the city in the minth century, bringing silks and spices from the east to the merchantmen of the west.

"There is a disco now in the Laparette, where the caravans were quarantined outside the walls for 40 days before they could enter the city," he said.

Dubrovnik is the most popular jourist destination in Yugoslavia, so I had seen the postcard pictures taken from the mountaintops, from the cable car that lifts above the town and from the hotels that climb down cliffs on either side of the old city.

Nothing prepares you for the picturesque town, sitting there in stone and red tile roofs against the green mountains, completely wrapped in its 13th century wall. Legend says that Richard the Lion Hearted was shipwrecked near the offshore island of Lokrum on his way to the Crusades and lived to rule England.

Neither cars nor bicycles can enter the old city. We walked through the Pila Gate and down the wide main street, the Placa, for about 600 yards, between historic buildings and tiny shop fronts to the opposite wall and the harbor.

Teens in jeans and T-shirts sat on the stone bridge that crosses the moat, and around the Onofrio Fountain. We walked the undamaged medieval wall, toured the Church of Svetii Pas, which survived the devastating 1667 earthquake, and bought aspirin in one of Europe's oldest pharmacies, built in 1318 in a Franciscan monastery.

STUDENTS FLEW balloons and ate ice cream around Roland's Column, where state decisions have been announced by the town crier for 500 years. Around this plaza are Dubrovnik's treasures — the Clock Tower, the Sponza Palace, the Rector's Palace.

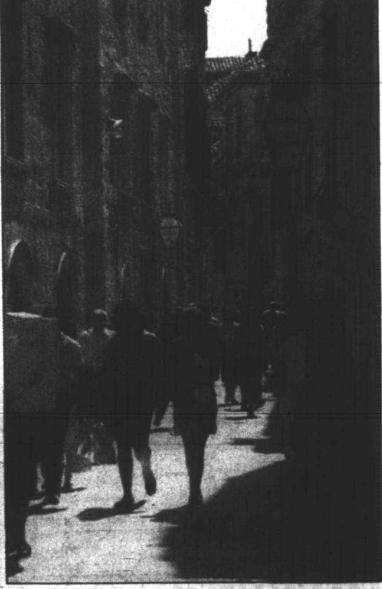

We had lunch at a colorful sidewalk cafe and then climbed the staircase streets that lead a few blocks uphill to the wall. Children played with dolls in ancient doorways. Women sat in the sun or shook quilts out windows. Men did the ongoing work of restoration.

Tourists overwhelm Dubrovnik.
Only intrepid travelers brave the crowds of July and August, when the city is a stage for the Dubrovnik Summer Festival. We rented a car and drove south to Montenegro, smallest of Yugoslavia's six republics. The name means literally black

Life is not all speient history on the Adriatic coast of Yagoslavia. There are cars and casinos and seafood restaurants in new towns outside every walled city. We could have looked for Roman and Greek artifacts in Cavtat, but we sat instead under colorful umbrellas and watched the windsurfers and the sailboats no by Sunbathers can choose their beach style — sand beaches, pobble beaches, nude beaches. There are even beaches in Cavtat and Igalo where you can plaster yourself with thermal mud and let it dry in the sun.

Igalo is at the estrance to Boka Kotorski, known in English as the Gulf of Kotor and to locals as The Boka. Hike the eight-mile see promenade to Hercig-Novi.

There's plenty of shopping to be found in Dubrovnik's old city, which neither cars nor bicycles can enter, while boats dot the harbor of Hercig-Novi.

If you are lucky, a Yugoslav like Barney Popovic will walk you down-hill past 600 years of Turkish, Venetian and Spanish forts to the sea. Barney was on vacation when we found him. Without him we would never have seen the red and green markers on the houses.

"MONTENEGRO WAS the center of the 1979 earthquake and all our old buildings are being restored," Barney said. "Red means it was damaged so badly that it must be torn down. Green means that it's OK or can be restored. This kind of historic preservation is very important to Yugoslavia.

"The workers of Serbia gave 1 percent of their wages for 10 years to restore Montenegro."

It is great fun to take the car ferry across the 300-yard-wide strait that cinches the Boka in half like an hour glass, but we saved that for the return trip and drove the Magistrala highway, by now a ledge between mountain and sea, to Risan, where Illyria's last queen threw herself into the sea rather than succumb to the Romans. Then on to Perast, to the two tiny islands that sit 400 yards

One island was built by nature and holds the ruins of a Benedictine monastery and a stand of cypress trees that mark the graves of ancient sailors. The second island, made by man, holds the Church of Our Lady of Skrpjelo.

Sister Sophia was waiting when our small boat pulled up to the church, known in English as Our Lady of the Rock, its blue dome and blue bell tower are bright against mountain and sea. Sister Rozamunde, the only other resident, was fishing nearby.

"Any luck?" Sister Rozamunde raised her shoulders in a universal shrug.

"No dinner tonight," Sister Sophia said with a grin, as she led us into the church, past walls covered with silver votive plaques given by grateful sailors over the centuries.

"FIFTEENTH century fishermon found a painting of the Madonna and child on a reef below this spot," she said, pointing to a brightly colored painting in a golden frame. "The people of Perast decided that the Madonna wanted a church built here, so they began to dump old fishing boats, rocks and debris on the reef and eventually they created an island."

Time has a different tempo here on the Adriatic, than it does on Fifth Avenue or Rodeo Drive. It was 200 years before the island was born and the church built. They still bring debris on garlanded fishing boats to shore up the island during the annual summer festival. Islands don't stand by themselves, they need work.

Perast is a national monument because of its importance in maritime history. The admirals and sailors of medieval Venice learned their craft at the naval school here. Peter the Great sent 60 young Russians to Perast in 1698 to create the first Russian fleet.

The seafarers of Montenegro are a fiercely independent people. When the Turks tried to invade this bay they were stopped by a huge chain strung across the entrance to the harbor.

Ten miles beyond Perast, where the Boka ends its 20-mile journey in from the sea, is the medieval city of Kotor, tucked into a steep mountain fold that rises directly out of the sea into the sky. All of these medieval towns have a Venetian style, right down to the clock tower and the plaza, but I know of no other city in the world wrapped in a wall from the sea to the top of a mountain and down again.

KOTOR WAS BADLY damaged by the 1979 quake. The first building restored was the naval museum, with its maritime history of the Boka, where the first maritime fraternity in the Mediterranean area was formed in 809.

Old stories always start with "according to legend," and according to legend, Kotor bought its patron saint and associated relics for 300 pieces of gold from a ship driven into port by a storm in the year 390 AD, its hold full of sacred relics from the Near East.

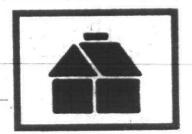

If you go to Yugoslavia, try to get a package tour that covers air and hotel and then either rent a car or a sailboat. Hotels like the Belvedere in Dubrovnik or the Croatia in Cavtat are large, but may have group rates. Yugoslavs recommend the Argentine hotel for $50 to $75 in Dubrovnik.

I would love to stay at the Dvorac Sorkocevic in a manor house six miles out of town at the Dubrovaic Marina, about $50 for two. Don't miss overnight or a meal at the Hotel Syeti Stefan, down the coast beyond Budva, $50 to $75 off-season. It's a walled island, once a fishing village, now a hotel.

Sailors should know that the Adriatic Club of Yugonlavia and Zadar SAS are building marinas and expanding charter fleets. For more information, contact the Yugonlav National Tourist Office, 630 Fifth Ave., Suite 210, New York, N.Y. 10020.

If you have a travel question for Iris Sanderson Jones, send it to Street Scene, 35251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

HE SCANDINAVIAN Symphony will present the second concert in its 60th anniversary season at 8 p.m. Saturday in Southfield High School auditorium, Lahser at 10 Mile roads, Southfield.

Tchaikovsky's "Little Russian" Symphony No. 2 will open the program. The symphony finds its themes in Ukrainian folk songs and strongly reflects the influence of other noted composers such as Musorgsky, Borodin and Glinka on Tchaikovsky's work.

The orchesta will also perform the "Pastoral Suite" by Swedish com-poser Lars-Erik Larsson. Larsson gained international recognition as a composer and conductor during the 1930s and was supervisor of the Swedish radio orchestras.

IT HAS HERE that he developed a new type of radio program consisting of poetry readings interspersed with music. The "Pastoral Suite" was compiled as a concert from one of these "lyrical suites."

The third work on the Nov. 18 program is the "Violin Concerto, Op. 26" by German composer Max Bruch. Bruch son of a noted musical family and by age 11 was already composing for chamber and symphony orchestra. Today, some 70 years after his death, Bruch's violin Bradbury Thompson, one of the 20th century's pioneer designers, will speak at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the deSalle Auditorium, Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum, 500 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills.

The lecture, sponsored by Westveco Corp., is free and open to the design community. For reservations, call 645-3323.

This is in conjunction with "Bradbury Thompson Design," a retrospective of his work on display at the Museum Nov. 14 to Dec. 3. Thompson designed the formats for Mademoiselle, Art News, Smithsonian and more than 35 other magazines. His new book is, "Bradbury Thompson: The Art of Graphic Design.

Livonia:

will celebrate American Music Week Friday with appearances by planist Fedora Horowitz and Wayne State University composer James Hartway and his jazz quartet.

The concert at 8 p.m. in Churchill High School, Joy and Newburgh roads in Livonia, will be under the baton of music director and conductor Francesco DiBlasi.

Back by popular demand, De-troiter Horowitz will perform "Variations on I've Got Rhythm" by George Gershwin.

Since 1980 direcor of the Lyric Chamber Ensemble in Detroit, Horowitz was born in Romania where at age 12 she made her debut with the Romanian Radio Orchestra. She was graduated from the Bucharest Conservatory, later emigrating to Israel where she performed with the Israeli Broadcasting Orchestra. She made her New York debut in

JAMES HARTWAY'S own composition, "Country Suite for Jazz Quartet," will feature Hartway on piano; Christopher Collins on saxophone; Dan Pliskow, bass; and Jerry McKenzie on drums.

Hartway is professor in the de-partment of music at Wayne State and chairman of the division of composition and theory.

Most recently he was commissioned to compose works for the Detroit Symphony, the American Artist Series, the Meadowbrook Music Festival, the American Guild of Organists, the Lyric Chamber Ensemble, the Michigan Opera Theater and the Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit. His music has been recorded, choreographed and performed internation-

Winter art fair

The annual Ann Arbor Winter Art Fair will celebrate its 16th season this weekend at the University of Michigan Track and Tennis Building on Ferry Field on State Street.

The fair, which drew 14,000 visitors last year, will include some 260 artists and crafts people from 27 states, who work in a variety of media - paintings, jewelry, sculpture, glass and much more.

Admission is $3; children under 10 admitted free with an adult. Chamber music will be played throughout the fair. Sitting areas and food concessions will be available. Hours are 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

ghten up that 'power image

Q. My attache is always packed with stuff and very heavy. Are there guidelines for organizing it?

A. The attache is the finishing touch to the power image. I often wonder how many are carried only for effect, or - as women sometimes carry their purses - more out of habit than out of need.

you need to carry it at all. Do you lug it along because you actually use it, or is it more of a security blanket because you "might need it"?

If you carry work home "in case you get around to it," why not leave it at the office and relax and enjoy your after-hours freedom? One wife jokingly remarked that her husband only brings his case home to trip you work on at home could be left there until completion.

IF YOU use your attache to call on clients, be careful of what's inside. Good preparation is key here. When making a round of calls, only the current client's file and the forms you will actually need in your attache not allow my Realtor to post a for sale sign except during certain hours on Sunday. I find that to be offensive and a deprivation of my First Amendment rights. Do you have any comment on it?

Condo group denies sale sign

This is a difficult question. First, there is the competing interest of the condominium association's right to enforce certain aesthetic restrictions versus the right of the co-owner to sell his unit and to, in effect, display a sign, which is an expression of free speech constitutionally guaranteed. My understanding of the ruling of the courts is that so long as reasonable limitations are placed upon signage for a reasonable purpose, that some limitations are appropriate and enforceable. On the other hand, an absolute prohibition on signs would create serious constitutional questions. In your situation, it appears that the board has issued a reasonable restriction not totally prohibiting your right to display signs, but merely limiting it to reasonable hours. It may be that they should loosen up a little and allow your Realtor to show your premis by signage on Saturdays as well as Sundays during afternoon hours.

I am thinking about buying a con-dominium in Lake Tahoe and am dominium in Lake Tahoe and am concerned about my ability to police the activities when I am not there. The comdominium has a management company as well as a rental agent who takes care of leasing. There is also some time-sharing aspects to the condominium with which I am not totally familiar. What do you suggest I do?

It appears that you are not totally

It appears that you are not totally clear in your own mind as to exactly what type of condominium you are purchasing, i.e., whether you are buying into a time-share condominium in which you only purchase the use and enjoyment of a condominium for a certain period of time, or whether you are, in fact, getting simple title to a condominium that is rented out by you through a leasing agent. My best advice to you is to get a copy of the condominium documents and have an experienced condominium lawyer review them so that you are totally clear in your own mind as to the consequences of your purchase. You should also look nto the economic and tax considerations regarding the leasing of your unit and your right to use the premises under the restrictions of the particular condominium in question. I can't stand the noise emanating from my neighbor's unit above me. I have written the association and they say that it is an internal problem between me and my neighbor. What can I do?

Your condominium association may be wrong in totally denying responsibility with respect to this particular problem. It all depends, of course, on the extent of sound transmission emanating from one unit to another. Moreover, there may have been defective construction in rebeen defective construction in re-gard to the unit spacing between you and your neighbor so that either the developer may be responsible or the

It's called Woodridge Apartments. It's the most perfect combination of luxury and comfort I've found. And I love being just a couple of minutes from the great malls to shop-who doesn't?!) I also love the tennis and pool right here, and the fact that I have covered parking for my car.

The rent makes sense to me too. Since

Hotel industry hangs 'full' sign on region

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

It is doubtful southeastern Michigan will see more hotel development in the near future.

That's the word from BDO Seid-man, the Detroit-based accounting firm, which annually compiles a metropolitan Detroit hotel market summary. The report, released Monday at the Embassy Suites hotel in Southfield, is BDO Seidman's fifth annual summary.

Five years of continued hotel growth has almost saturated the market, according to Wanda L. Spencer, senior manager at BDO Seidman. Low demand, stricter zoning and a resistance on the part of banks to finance further projects will slow hotel development.

The number of hotel rooms in metropolitan Detroit will increase from almost 23,000 rooms in 1988, to almost 26,000 in 1989, Spencer said. In 1990, approximately 2,800 more hotel rooms will be added to the mar-

Market absorption has not kept pace with the supply, Spencer said. In 1988, hotel rooms in metropolitan Detroit were occupied 63.2 percent of the time; by the end of 1989, the occupancy rate is expected to drop to 60.3 percent. (See accompanying story on occupancy rates.)

Hotel development will begin to taper off as the demand declines, but not enough to offset lower occupancy rates in 1990, which she expects will fall to 58.9 percent, Spencer

Metropolitan Detroit may see development of super economy hotels, like the Quality Inn corporation's Sleep Inn, and perhaps even a few extended trip hotels, Spencer said, but the full-service hotel market is saturated.

"Average daily room rates, which peaked in 1986 (at $61.59), are expected to begin recovering by year end 1989 to approximately $58," Spencer said. In 1988, the average daily rate in metropolitan Detroit was $57.50 because of a boom in budget and mid-priced hotel developments and a highly competitive

Fewer room additions in 1989 and a healthy economy will enable hotels to increase rates slightly and still stay competitive, Spencer continued, but an oversupply of rooms will keep room prices low

According to BDO Seidman's annual hotel market summary, the Observer & Eccentric coverage area market mirrors the metropolitan Detroit market trend.

The Troy/Madison Heights market, which had an occupancy of 69.2 percent in 1988, declined to 64.6 percent in 1989. The report attributes the decline to an 8 percent room supply increase and a 3 percent room demand increase. The 133-room Fairfield Inn was the Troy/Madison Heights market's only addition in

The planned February 1990 open ing of Marriott's 350-room hotel in Troy will result in a 12 percent growth in room supply and a 1.8 percent occupancy drop to 64.6 percent, the report says.

Average daily hotel rates slipped from $61.31 per night in 1988 to $60.32 per night in 1989 after the opening of the mid-market Fairfield Inn. BDO Seidman expects average daily rates to climb to $67 per night in 1990 with Marriott's entrance in the market.

In the north Woodward, Rochester Hills, Auburn Hills market, which includes Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills, occupancy rates fell from 65.9 percent in 1988 to 59.7 percent in 1989. The report attributes the decline to a 54 percent room supply increase following the Holiday Inn, Signature Inn, Fairfield Inn and Courtyard by Marriott openings. The market is expected to see an increase of about 31 percent in room supply in 1990 in this area that will reflect the final absorption of the four hotels and the Hilton Suite hotel's partial opening, according to the report. Occupancy is expected to decline to about 54.8 percent in 1990.

Average daily hotel rates fell from $61.87 per night in 1988 to $60.09 per night in 1989 as a result of an increasingly competitive market and the economy hotels influence, according to the report.

BDO Seidman expects rates to rebound $1 to $2 in 1990.

In the I-696/Lodge corridor mar-ket, which includes Southfield and east Farmington Hills, hotel occupancy dropped from 54.6 percent in 1988 to 52.1 percent in 1990. Marginal demand increases were surpassed by room supply increases, the report

In 1990, BDO Seidman expects occupancy rates to increase 53.4 percent, the first increase in five years because of slowing hotel room development and the completion of I-696.

An oversupplied market in 1989 resulted in average daily hotel rates falling from $64.20 per night in 1988 to $63.56 per night. BDO Seidman expects the average daily rate to rebound slightly in 1990 - to about $65 - because of slowing growth.

In the I-275/I-96/west corridor, which includes Livonia, Novi, Canton and Plymouth townships, occupancy rates fell from 64 percent in 1988 to 61.8 percent in 1989.

Despite the area's booming office market, BDO Seidman stressed the supply of hotel rooms - including Marriott and Marriott Courtyard in Livonia, the Hampton Inn and Super 8 hotel in Canton, the Wyndham Garden hotel in Novi and the Signature Inn in Plymouth - ex-

With plans to open a 160-room Hotel Barronette in Novi, the 240-room Embassy Suites and 240-room Compri hotels in Livonia, room supply will increase, resulting in an estimated 1990 occupancy rate of about 55 percent, according to the report.

Average daily hotel rates declined slightly from $52.86 per night in 1988 to $52.76 per night in 1989, because of increased supply. BDO Seidman expects average daily rates to increase only nominally in 1990 to approximately $53 per night for the the demand market will catch up."

EMBASSY SUITES Southfield general manager John Farmer said it will take two to three years for the market to regain its previous vigor.

"No one is getting more market share unless they steal from someone else," Farmer said. "The whole country is overbuilt right now - we basically have too many hotel rooms and not enough bodies to fill them."

Suites, the Radisson and the Marriott - will probably retain most of their business. Farmer continued, but the threat of economy hotels continues to loom.

If any hotels are built, they will probably be economy facilities. "I couple years, but I think people will come back to full-service hotels,"

Gone are the days when there was relatively little competition between economy and full-service hotels, he said. As the market gets tighter, fullservice hotels will begin educating customers more about what they offer. Holiday Inn-Auburn Hills generthat in some cases, hotels get a jump on an area.

show that readers are more interested in those items and to your ad will be those who are

1. Give the reader specific accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.
