Youth gets probation for role in fatality

Service part of sentence in Canton traffic death

Mark Vernier, who in June was found guilty of negligent homicide in the traffic death of Robert Valicento of Canton Township, was sentenced July 20 to probation by Detroit Recorder's Judge Lawrence Silverman.

Vernier, 18, faced a maximum penalty of two years in prison.

Judge Silverman ordered Vernier, a graduate of Redford Catholic Central High School, to continue his education and to perform 100 hours of community service before his college classes begin, or during Christmas vacation.

Vernier, of Milford, does not have to pay restitution to Valicento's family, but will be charged a $30 probation fee.

The judge said Vernier can report to his probation officer by phone while attending school.

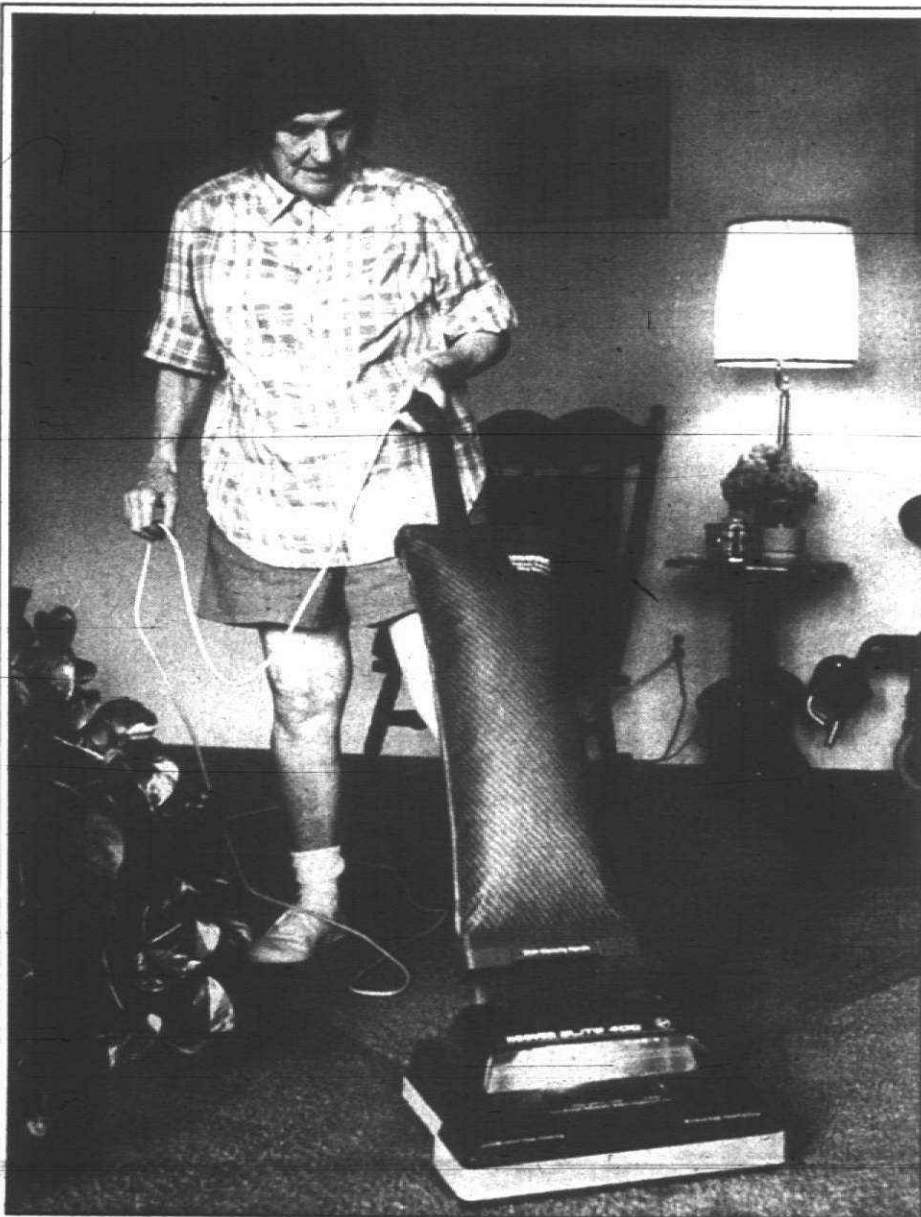

Vernier, a part-time employee of Exquisite Landscaping Inc. of Northville, was southbound on Ridge on his way to a job site when the accident occurred on Oct. 13, 1989.

Vernier, who was driving a Ford Ranger pickup truck, testified that he met his employer at the corner of North Territorial and Ridge roads about 4 p.m. His boss, waiting in a jeep, signaled to Vernier to proceed south.

Vernier said he looked left, right and left again and saw open road before crossing North Territorial. He said he blanked out after that and doesn't remember striking Valicento, 68, who was traveling east at 45 to 50 m.p.h. in a 1988 Crown Victoria LTD. Valicento's car rolled into a ditch, and he was pronounced dead at the scene.

Valicento, a retired Detroit Fire Department captain, was returning home from a visit with his daughter, Priscilla Krenicki, of South Lyon.

In addition to his daughter, Valicento is survived by his wife Mary Valicento of Canton; daughter Patricia Carlton of Canton; son Robert Valicento of Livonia; mother Filomena Valicento of Detroit; brother James Valicento of Detroit; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

After being released from an institution in 1980, Gizela worked for years as a maintenance worker in an office, which was good practice for keeping the apartment shipshape.

Opened doors work wonders for 2 women

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

Gizela and Josephine both smile so often and so broadly — laughing about breakfast or about the latest trip to the mall or even the scariest movie of the summer, "Arachnophobia" — that you might think their whole lives have been one chuckle after another.

Hardly.

Both of them spent 40 years in jail for crimes they didn't commit. The prison? Oakdale Regional Center in Lapeer. The crime? Not thinking as quickly as the so-called normal people who once deemed it fit to lock people away for life for being different.

Gizela, 69, and Josephine, 72 — state regulations prohibit the use of their last names — were released to a group home 10 years ago when the state decided to stop institutionalizing so many people. Four years ago, they left the group home for a life on their own in the Carriage Cove apartments in Canton Township.

And, they say, life has never been so sweet. Recently, state officials thought they might like to move to another apartment with a balcony; not on your life, they said. They've never been happier anywhere else and they aren't about to move for anyone or anything.

GIZELA AND JOSEPHINE spend their days in ways that might seem mundane — if you hadn't spent so much more truly mundane time behind closed doors and walking institutional halls.

Most mornings it's breakfast at John's Coney Island, where the help treats them like family. Most afternoons it's soap operas. Sundays, it's a trip to one of the malls and usually a movie. To them, life has become one day at the beach after another, or, perhaps, a endless monologue with a steady stream of punchlines.

When they were released from Oakdale, they were found jobs by Wayne County Living Services, a service of the state Department of Mental Health. First, they both did light assembly work in a non-profit day program; later, Gizela was promoted to a work crew that had contracts cleaning local business offices.

Both have recently retired. They are in a supported-independence program, which means that paid members of non-profit organizations under contract to the mental health department assist them during the day. They may be driven to the bank, or taken on an outing to Greenfield Village, but they take care of the nuts and bolts of their daily existence. They do apartment chores, decide their agenda for the day, do a bit of light cooking at dinner time.

Board not anxious to meet with CBE

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Plymouth-Canton school board members aren't enthusiastic about a proposal by newly-elected Trustee Les Walker to meet with representatives from Citizens for Better Education. CBE is a conservative Christian group that supported two candidates in the June election.

CBE, which claims a local membership of more than 2,000, objects to the use of R-rated movies and other controversial materials in the classroom.

Walker presented the idea during a board discussion of goals and objectives at the recently restored Cherry Hill School, in Canton, Monday night.

"I'd like to meet with representatives of Citizens for Better Education to get a better understanding of their concerns," said Walker. "When I was on the board before, each meeting with CBE involved some sort of challenge. There is some segment of the community that holds viewpoints I don't agree with, but I look for an opportunity to cure some of those rifts."

TRUSTEES E.J. McClendon and Roland Thomas said they didn't see the point in setting up a workshop or meeting with CBE.

"I wouldn't know how to put together a suitable agenda. They can avail themselves of the citizens' comments portion of the agenda," said McClendon.

"I think there are times when trying to develop a dialogue becomes more harmful than helpful."

Said Thomas: "I have no problem with it, as long as there aren't accusatory remarks, finger-pointing and blame being placed. I need to better understand them.

"I'm willing to sit and listen to them at a workshop or during citizens' comments. But I will not get into name-calling. I'll get up and walk out," Thomas said.

Board President Dean Swartzwelder was lukewarm to the idea as well.

"In my past dialogue with people in that group, we've explained our position and they tend to say we're not sensitive to them. In the past we've been very unsuccessful in having positive dialogue. I'm somewhat reluctant to have a dog and pony show."

Trustee David Artley said he's willing to "talk to anyone at any time . . . People see them as ultra-conservative, but they're not necessarily ultra-conservative."

Young actor braves perils of 'show biz'

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

For breakfast, served after reveille at 6 a.m., there were slimy eggs, brick toast and waffles.

Lunch was really disgusting too, with entrees like doctored veal.

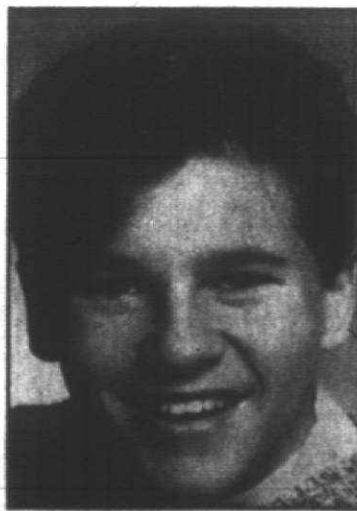

Dinner consisted of such dishes as cold macaroni and cheese the consistency of rubber, "really sick" mashed potatoes and sloppy joes made from leftover chili.

But as David Burtka of Canton sees it, stomaching the food at Interlochen is just part of the price to be paid if you want to end up on Broadway some day.

THE 15-YEAR-OLD actor, singer and dancer survived his stay last month at Interlochen, where he attended a two-week musical theater program after winning one of three scholarships awarded by the University of Michigan.

The tough assignments weren't reserved for the cafeteria.

"Interlochen was lots of fun; it was hard work though. It's one of the hardest things I've ever done," said Burtka, who has been acting professionally since he was 12 years old. For the 17 teens chosen from stretch/jazz class at 8 a.m., followed by a vocal class where students learned 16-bar auditions actually used on Broadway.

"Then we had a lecture class, where we had to take notes and tests. We learned about Broadway and off-Broadway, composers and lyricists, and the proper way to act at an audition," said Burka, who performs with and does choreography for Detroit's Peanut Butter Players.

Students also learned there's nothing unusual about shelling out $60 for a ticket for a Broadway play.

"After that we had another performance class, where we worked on a show." To top off their two weeks, the actors performed the musical — which featured "Coffee Break" from "How to Succeed in Business without Really Trying," "No One is Alone" from "Into the Woods," and a tap number called "City of Angels" from a new Broadway show for their parents and other students.

"After lunch was rest time, where we had to sleep. We needed the rest," said Burka, who received his first lessons in tap dancing compliments of his grandmother, Eleanor Zajas, who as a youngster performed at the Fox Theater.

THERE WAS an hour after that to swim, play volleyball or write letters before tap class.

Bed check was at 10. "It was really strict, but I learned a lot about vocal technique, jazz, and dance technique," said Burka, who studies piano and voice and hopes to add modeling and commercials to his activities this summer.

"We learned a lot of stuff about Broadway."

In addition to performing with the Peanut Butter Players, a theater group geared for young audiences based at the downtown Players Club, Burka has appeared at the Baldwin Theatre in Royal Oak and the Marquis Theater in Northville, where at age 12 he played "John" in "Peter Pan." (While in a harness singing "I'm Flying" at the end of Act I, the wire broke, and Burka beat the curtain to the floor. He luckily escaped with just a few bruises.)

Burka, an accomplished gymnast and swimmer, has had numerous lead roles in Plymouth Park Players productions.

Burka credits his East Middle School chorus teacher, Shelby Holcomb, with getting him involved in theater.

"She encouraged me to pursue it. She helped me out; she's really a neat person," said Burka, who performed in solos, small groups, plays, chorus, dances and concerts at East.

There was lots of ribbing back then from boys at school, less from the girls.

"I did get a lot of teasing because I wasn't in basketball or football. I liked to sing and dance," said Burka. "I hope I get famous one day and can laugh in their face."

In high school, he has enjoyed working with drama coach Gloria Logan. "We're so lucky to have these ladies. She's one of the best directors I've ever worked with," said Burka, a fan of Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly.

"She's just great, everyone loves her."

Burka, who lives with his parents and 18-year-old sister, Jennifer, says he knew the stage was for him from the get-go.

"It was scary at first, but once I'm on stage, it's like no one's out there. It's what I love to do, I knew it right from the start."

"I love the applause, the lights, the costumes, everything about it. Just being up there."

David Burka of Canton played the lead in "The Robber Bridegroom," a rompin'-stoppin' musical set in 1790 and performed by the Plymouth Park Players at Centennial Educational Park last spring.

The Plymouth Landing was inadvertently omitted from a recent story about Plymouth restaurants and their Wayne County Health Department inspections.

The Landing was given a score of 60 points of a possible 100 in an April inspection.

According to public health sanitarian Nancy Workman, The Landing's kitchen is "very clean. They have a lovely operation and a good chef who knows food-handling processes."

The Landing lost points because salad dressings were at improper temperatures and raw meat was stored on an upper rather than lower shelf. The restaurant needed weather stripping on the back door and a system to divert water should the sink back up, she said.

Breakfast serves drug education

Marvin Umholtz of Canton, senior vice president of the Michigan Credit Union League, flips a flapjack at the DARE pancake breakfast.

At left: Abby Spanos, 5, of Canton, daydreams between bites of pancakes Saturday in downtown Plymouth. Below: Former Ohio resident Susan Owen of Plymouth feeds her 11-month-old son, Benjamin, an Ohio State fan, at the DARE breakfast Saturday.

To help raise money for supplies for the Drug Abuse Resistance Education program, an estimated 6,000-plus pancakes were served Saturday in downtown Plymouth.

The event also helped publicize the DARE program. This fall, all Plymouth and Canton fifth graders will be instructed in the program.

Taught by uniformed officers, the program seeks to teach kids how to resist peer pressure to use drugs. Officers also seek to win kids' trust and show the law is on their side, by eating lunch and taking recess with kids on days they're scheduled to teach DARE.

"I think it was a success," said Canton Off-Leader Schemanske, one of four Plymouth-Canton DARE officers.

He said that while raising money for supplies was nice, "It's just as important to get the word out about DARE."

The money raised through the pancake breakfast will be used to buy DARE T-shirts, mugs and baseball hats to go to kids to publicize the program.

Schemanske said $1,500 in supplies were sold to the general public at the 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. pancake breakfast, at the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union, 500 S. Harvey.

He said that while exact proceeds haven't been determined, about 2,000 tickets were sold at $3 for adults and $2 for kids.

Dog foils arson attempt; sends culprit off with bite

A German shepherd said no to arson Sunday morning, possibly taking a chunk out of a teen who was seen fleeing from a garage he had tried to set on fire on Wales.

The dog's owner heard him growling at about 5:15 a.m., then watched the yard after she let him out. Almost immediately she heard someone holler out "Ow!" then saw a youth hop the fence and flee on foot.

Police were called. They reported they could smell gas, and they found burn marks on the garage roof, on the rear wall of the garage and in the grass. Damage was minimal. The dog's owners say they have been feuding with a nearby family.

Police checked with local hospitals to see if anyone was treated for dog bites but reports were negative.

ALL WET: Police summoned to apartments on Honeytree to settle a domestic dispute Saturday afternoon found a man standing fully clothed in the clubhouse pool, clutching his small son and arguing with his ex-wife, who was high and dry.

crime watch

The man, 27, eventually showed police a court order from Maine saying he could take his son there until Aug. 25. When she refused to allow him to take the boy, he grabbed him and jumped into the pool.

The boy told police he wanted to stay with his mother. They advised the man to contact his attorney.

CON JOB: The Jo-Ann Fabrics store on Ford was bugged by a con man Friday morning. He showed up wearing an olive-colored uniform and said he was there for a free examination and estimate.

His exam took him into a back room and then into an employee locker room. Moments later, he said he needed to get a flashlight, left the store and never returned. That afternoon, two employees discovered that a total of $100 was missing from their purses, which were in the locker room.

The store's assistant manager told police an exterminator company had been called earlier about possible problems, and that's why she let the man have the run of the store. Police were checking whether any employees of the exterminator company match the description of the thief.

MISSING LIST: A complete set of Yamaha golf clubs, bag, umbrella and gloves were taken from a garage on Provincial early Sunday morning. A New Hudson man had car trouble Sunday afternoon and left his '86 T-Bird parked on I-775 at Ford Road. When he returned Monday morning, a window had been broken out and his $250 AM-FM stereo stolen. Also on Monday morning, someone broke into a '90 Chevy Beretta parked at a Cavalier address and stole $732 worth of stereo equipment.

School board OKs plan to level modular classrooms at Graham

By Ted Schneider
staff writer

The 15-year-old portable classrooms adjacent to P.D. Graham Elementary School will be torn down.

The Wayne-Westland school board recently voted unanimously to approve the demolition of the four modular buildings, which were used to accommodate booming enrollment during the mid-1970s.

Part of the Wayne-Westland school district is in Canton Township.

As enrollment declined, the annex was used less frequently and began to deteriorate, school officials said.

"The floor joists have deteriorated and the support frame is rusting severely," said Jerry Weidemann, district executive director for buildings and grounds.

Weidemann said the units were used on a limited basis last year and are no longer needed.

Wayne-Westland School District

The district serves southeast Canton.

"I THINK it's time we get the kids out of the mobiles and get them into classrooms," said board member Sylvia Kosorowsky-Wlasek.

Portable classroom annexes at Edison, Schweitzer and Walker Schools are still in good shape and will be used again next fall, said Woody London, associate superintendent for business and operations.

Portables at those buildings are used primarily for music classes, London said.

The Graham portables will be removed without charge by R.J. Taylor Corp., a Taylor-based construction company. The company will receive full salvage rights in exchange, school officials said.

"The floor joists have deteriorated and the support frame is rusting severely," said Jerry Weidemann, district executive director for buildings and grounds.

change, school officials said.

Disconnection of utilities and site restoration will be the responsibility of the district at a cost of $4,000, London said.

The district will save $4,200 over Sheridan Construction Co.'s low bid of $8,400 for the demolition job.

This week's question:

Should the terminally ill have the right to die, if that's what they choose?

We asked this question outside the Canton Post Office.

"No, they shouldn't. I'm a missionary — I just got back from five years in Taiwan — so that's my Christian perspective."

"Yes, I do. I think that very strongly. If it was me, I'd want the choice and I wouldn't want someone making it for me, especially if it was living hell."

"No. What I would like is not to be attached to some machine, but to die naturally."

"If a family is well off and can afford to keep a family member on life support, that's fine. But for people who are economically hard off, they should have the right to decide."

"Yes, I work in the hospital field, and it's just a matter of legalizing it."

"Yes, if it was me, I'd want to die if I knew there was no hope or if I was in pain."

2 women flourish in freedom

MARY DUNBAR of the Life Center Inc. in Livonia has been with the two for six years. "Their progress over the years is phenomenal. They've improved their decision-making skills. They've learned that if they can't do it, no one is going to do it for them," said Dunbar.

"When they first moved here, I'd say 'What do you want for dinner?' And Gizela would say, 'Whatever they want,'" said Dunbar. "Or if we were shopping for shoes and I'd ask her what shoes she wanted, she'd say 'Whatever they want.'"

The same "they" who had decided to lock her up when she was a young woman, who had decided what she would do for nearly every waking moment for 40 years.

"Now, she gets the shoes she wants, and she cooks what she wants for dinner. I can't believe how well they've done," said Dunbar.

So well, in fact, that the health department featured them in a booklet on the subject called "A Decade of Progress," touting the successes of non-institutional care. So well, too, that mental-health experts from throughout the United States and as far away as Australia and England have been to their apartment to share their story and a laugh.

JO ADMITS to a crush on Warren Beatty, though she says her favorite Dick Tracy character was "the girl with the white hair" — Madonna as Breathless Mahoney.

Gizela can't name her favorite movie — "I like so many of them" — but there's no doubt about their No. 1 choice this summer, "Arachnophobia," a movie that has audiences screaming out loud, jumping in their chairs, and propping their feet up on the seats in front of them to keep them away from any creepy-crawly things on the floor.

"Ah! That was a funny one. So many spiders," said Gizela, her face breaking into its wonderful smile, her eyes lighting up.

Board not ready to meet with CBE

"CBE doesn't have some of the structure some other groups have, like I CARE. They don't have files and established goals. There's just not one hard rock of granite to talk to."

TRUSTEE CARL Battistilli said he's willing to listen to CBE.

"During the campaign I had an opportunity to hear their personal points of view, but they don't have an identifiable structure, something I can hang onto. CBE has never been able to put on paper their organization's goals and objectives."

Trustee Barbara Graham, who was elected with the help of CBE, said there's no reason to meet with CBE right now.

"At this point in time, it doesn't seem like we need to talk to them, unless they have an issue to discuss."

"I don't think it's my duty to examine their by-laws," she added. "The other groups mentioned are under our wing."

Graham said CBE members still have problems with educational materials used in Plymouth-Canton schools. "This is still an issue with them," she said. "There are some materials they feel have no use in the school district. Others feel there is a use."

Walker said, "Part of the reason for bringing it up was to see if there was an avenue for communication. I'd agree the citizen comment portion of the agenda is there and I really don't see a need at this point to do anything further. I would like us to keep our minds open."

Diane Daskalakis, who started CBE, and Diane Stamp and Robert Anderson, CBE-backed candidates in the last election, were unavailable for comment.

Engler feels GOP heat over school aid vote

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Gubernatorial hopeful John Engler says he was right to support a state Senate bill cutting categorical school aid to many suburban districts, even though fellow Republicans have criticized his vote.

"The Oakland County legislators voted correctly in terms of the districts they represent. In terms of the state interest, I voted correctly," said Engler, R-Mount Pleasant, the Senate majority leader.

Senate Bill 830 cut aid to many well-off suburban districts in Oakland County and western Wayne County by $50 million through a process called "recapitulating." Rep. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, a Senate candidate in the Aug. 7 primary, denounced the bill and called Engler's vote "misguided."

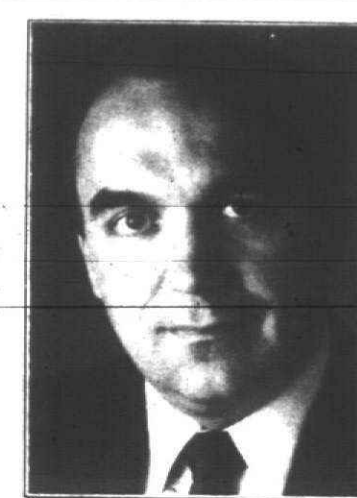

Gov. James Blanchard, a Democrat seeking a third term, supported cutting suburban categorical aid and signed the bill.

ENGLER, in a recent interview with suburban editors, said, "We made a decision to continue our pursuit to improve equity between school districts." The wealthiest districts in the state spend more than $8,000 per pupil, the poorest about $2,500.

"We argued for additional priority to education by adding money to the budget. We added some, but we reached a point where the Blanchard administration was refusing to go further."

"To fulfill the policy objective of not letting the gap between the richest and poorest districts get wider, we expanded the recapture," he said. This involved changing the weight given to family income and local tax base in the formula. "School financing is ever more dependent on property (local taxes)," said Engler. In his mid-Michigan district, he cited Midland, where schools gained $1 billion in tax base with the opening of a Consumers Power Co. plant on top of the Dow Chemical Co. investment, while neighboring districts "got not a dollar. That just isn't fair."

"In terms of the state interest, I voted correctly."

John Engler
R-Mount Pleasant

"This was a majority decision of the Legislature. It wasn't just John Engler's decision."

BUT HE OPPOSES consolidating smaller, poorer districts, a bill sponsored by Sens. Jack Faxon, D-Southfield, and John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek.

The governor has proposed 100 school districts. I've rejected that. I oppose mandatory consolidation, said Engler, a 41-year-old career legislator with 20 years seniority.

Nor does he favor the goal of House Education Committee chair William Keith, D-Garden City, of eliminating all categorical aid and putting everything in the general state aid formula.

State categorical aid helps cover Social Security, pension benefits, special education, pregnant teen programs, transportation — 26 categories in all.

"CONCEPTUALLY, where Keith stops short I advocate taking the next step — free the student and parent to decide which school district they wish to choose from and where, within the district, they want to attend."

Engler calls the present system — where pupils must attend the assigned school within their districts — "monopolistic and socialistic."

He advocates a free market system for public education. "We have excess capacity in some districts and we're out of room in the districts next door," he said.

"Money alone doesn't determine quality of education. There are many other intangible factors I'm not certain big is better. The biggest in the state is the Detroit school system, and that's failing the greatest."

"Schools of choice" bills have been advocated in both the House and Senate but have failed to pass.

Engler called improved education a key ingredient in making Michigan competitive in a world economy.

TO OTHER questions Engler responded: "An Engler Commerce Department will focus on expanding exporting of what we already do" rather than luring foreign investors.

"We need to be teaching and assisting Michigan manufacturers and processors in opening up our markets in those countries."

Foreign investors have come to the U.S. "like gangbusters, and built their plants everywhere but Michigan with the single exception of a plant. (Foreign investors) have the newest plants, the best processes. But many plants are non-

Commission race heats up primary

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Western Wayne voters will decide a number of races in the Tuesday, Aug. 7 primary, but they'll have to scan down to the county commission section to find the area's most spirited race.

With no challenger emerging to take on county Executive Edward McNamara, the county's hottest race could be in the commission's 12th district.

There, Kay Beard, D-Inkster, faces a stern test in the Democratic primary. While Westland councilwoman Terri Reighard Johnson is considered the strongest challenger, the ballot also includes Hilliard Hampton Jr., an Inkster school board member and local party activist. Deborah Miller of Garden City is also on the ballot, but has not campaigned for the seat.

The district includes Westland, Garden City and Inkster.

Beard said the race is an effort by county Executive Edward McNamara to unseat her and pack the commission with McNamara supporters. Challengers, however, have characterized Beard as old-fashioned and out-of-touch with constituents needs.

Beard's traditionally strong support from union households, veterans groups and party regulars would appear to make her the favorite, but the outcome could turn on who gets their voters to the polls.

A STRONG performance by Reighard Johnson in Westland and Hampton in Inkster could spell an upset. Though the winner will face Republican Gerald Cox of Garden City, a Democratic primary win almost guarantees election in the heavily Democratic district.

It would be considered a bigger upset if former state Rep. Jack Legel of Detroit unseats incumbent Commissioner Kevin Kelley, D-Redford, in the 9th District race. Kelley, winner in a special election last year to fill the unexpired balance of Richard M. Mingo's term, is backed by AFL-CIO and UAW groups, as well as county sheriff's deputies and Detroit police and fire fighters.

The winner will gain the seat in the fall. The mostly Democratic district that includes Redford and a section of western Detroit. No Republicans or third party candidates are on the ballot.

In another commission race of note, GOP candidates Linda Chuhnan and Victor Gustafson both of Canton, face each other in their party's 11th district primary. Chuhnan is a former township clerk. Gustafson is vice chairman of the township planning commission. The winner will meet incumbent Milton Mack, D-Wayne, in the fall. The district includes Canton and several other communities.

In the 10th district, Commissioner Susan Heintz, R-Northville Township, faces no challengers of any party in her bid for a third term. The district includes Livonia, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township.

With no race of his own, McNamara has turned his attention to another ballot issue — a 1-mill county operating tax renewal.

Levied since the mid-1960s, the 1-mill tax would be renewed through 2000, should voters say yes.

Though subject to Headlee rollback, the 1-mill tax raises an estimated $24 million. Without it, McNamara said, the county might have to close a floor of the county jail and curtail senior citizen, park and health care programs.

The 1-mill levy translated to $37.50 a year on a home assessed at $75,000.

The 1-mill voted levy is part of 8.07-mills in county taxes. The figure includes 6.07 mills in non-voted operating taxes and an additional 1 mill, approved by voters in 1988 to build a new county jail.

Challenges abound in state House races

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Whether a sign of dissatisfaction with the Lansing establishment, or re-emergence of an extremist political movement long thought dead, most of the area's incumbent state legislators face challengers in the Tuesday, Aug. 7 primary.

While two challengers link themselves to Lyndon LaRouche, a political extremist recently found guilty of tax evasion, others cite environmental and abortion issues as reasons for their candidacies.

LaRouche candidates ran in several statewide races four years ago, but were largely absent from the ballot in 1988.

Whatever reason, there will be more-contested primaries this year than in 1988.

TWO YEARS ago, only one of the area's six state representatives — John Bennett of Redford — faced a primary challenger.

This time, there are two Democratic Party challengers in the 34th district primary. Bennett faces James Bailey, his challenger from two years ago, plus newcomer Frank Bradley Jr.

Bennett, chairman of the state House Corporations and Finance Committee, is stressing his quarter-century of legislative experience. Bailey is stressing environmental issues. Though all three candidates oppose abortion, only Bradley favors a constitutional amendment banning abortion outright — even in cases where the mother's life is in danger. The winner will face GOP candidate Mark Steinhauer in the fall. Though all four candidates are from Redford, the district also includes a section of eastern Livonia.

Other incumbents facing challengers include: • Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, who will meet Kathleen Keen-McCarthy of Plymouth Township in the 36th District GOP primary. Health care issues, including abortion, are key to the race. Law is pro-life. Keen-McCarthy, an Oakwood Hospital administrator, is pro-choice.

The winner will meet Democratic candidate Dennis Shrewsbury of Plymouth in the fall. The district includes the Plymouth and Northville communities, as well as eastern Canton.

• James Kosteva, D-Canton, who will meet Robert Bell of Romulus in the party primary. Kosteva, considered an expert on environmental issues, is author of a bill that would prompt recycling and composting by banning yard waste from landfills or incinerators by 1994. Bell is a self-described follower of LaRouche.

The winner will face GOP candidate Dolores Carmichael of Romulus in the fall. The district also includes Wayne, Van Buren township and Belleville.

Incumbents challenged in state races

Justine Barnes, D-Westland, who will meet David Hayer of Westland in the party primary. Barnes is a five-term legislator and chairwoman of the House Senior Citizens and Retirement Committee. Hayer, like Bell, is a self-described LaRouche follower.

The winner will meet GOP challenger Kenneth Raupp in the fall. The district includes Westland only.

Incumbents William Keith, D-Garden City, and Lyn Banks, R-Livonia, are unopposed in their party's primaries. Keith will face Republican Donald Mullett, also of Garden City, in the fall for the 33rd district seat. Banks will face Democrat Robert Burnett, also of Livonia, for the 35th District seat.

There is limited primary action in area state Senate races.

William Faust, D-Westland will face 12th District challenger James Stamp of Belleville in the area's lone contested Senate primary. No Republicans have filed for the seat. Westland is one of the district's nine communities.

A GOP primary for the 10th District seat held by George Hart, D-Dearborn, fizzled when Dearborn attorney Frank Guido withdrew. GOP candidate Mark Koldys, also of Dearborn, remains in the race.

The district includes Garden City. There is no primary for the 6th District Senate seat. Incumbent R. Robert Gaskie, R-Northville, will face Democrat challenger Patrick McDonald of Livonia in the fall.

IN OTHER races, the area's lone U.S. Congressional primary pits Republican challengers Burl Adkins and Glen Kassel of Westland against each other for the right to meet incumbent William Ford, D-Taylor, in the fall. Adkins, a Southgate businessman, defeated Westland real estate agent Kassel, two years ago. The district includes southern Livonia, Westland, Garden City and Canton, among other communities.

In one other race of interest to western Wayne residents, six candidates seek election to a new Wayne County Probate Court seat. Candidates include Peter Bec of Northville, Deborah Blanchard of Grosse Ile, Patricia Campbell of Detroit, Robert Costello of Detroit and Sean Kavanagh of Livonia.

Campbell is a probate court referee; Costello is a 36th District Court magistrate. Bec, Blanchard, Cahalan and Kavanagh are attorneys in private practice.

Though voters may only vote for one candidate, the two top vote-getters will advance to the fall ballot.

Mettetal

Safety an issue in purchase

THE RECENT CRASH of two planes in Plymouth Township that left three dead gives extra weight to delaying a possible purchase of Mettetal Airport by Canton Township.

Also, two days after the fatal crash a Cessna 172 single-engine flipped as the pilot tried to abort a take-off from Mettetal on Joy and Lilley roads. The plane skidded across Joy Road into Plymouth Township before flipping and landing on its top.

Because of those incidents, we think Canton should find out what Plymouth area residents think about the purchase before they forge ahead.

So far the arguments in Canton have been about the financial burden that would possibly fall on the township, if Mettetal was purchased. However, in the Plymouth area we think it's safety.

Sure, airport and federal aviation officials are correct when they say the airport wasn't involved in the crash. The plane wasn't taking off and accidents do happen.

BUT THEY weren't acknowledging that the accidents probably wouldn't have happened over the skies of Plymouth Township if the airport wasn't in Canton.

We suspect that such accidents could also happen over the skies of Canton Township. And that's why we think Plymouth and Canton residents should be heard on safety issues.

And that's especially important in light of a new fact that came out recently in the Canton Township issue over a possible airport purchase. That fact is that if the township uses federal and state money to buy Mettetal, it will be an airport forever. It had at first been rumored that it would remain an airport for 20 years.

Just that alone tells us that something is funny about the whole airport deal. It should have come out earlier.

The airport purchase process is moving along. An airport study committee was expected to make a recommendation to the board of trustees this week. The final decision, however, lies with the board of trustees.

The Mettetal Airport purchase is expected to be discussed during the Canton Board of Trustees

Because of those incidents, we think Canton should find out what Plymouth area residents think about the purchase before they forge ahead.

So far the arguments in Canton have been about the financial burden that would possibly fall on the township, if Mettetal was purchased.

meeting Wednesday, Aug. 8, in the administration building. This will be the first time the board will publicly review the purchase.

Airport committee members say they concentrated on how much the airport will cost the township.

We think the board should broaden the focus of the committee by directing members to look at other issues, like safety. It should also consider the concerns of Plymouth area residents. Plane crashes don't respect municipal boundaries. It's not too late.

THERE ARE just too many questions about the proposed purchase to be answered before it starts going down the pike.

If Canton gets locked into having Mettetal as an airport forever there will be future safety concerns. We believe FAA officials when they say that few people on the ground are hurt when there is a plane crash.

There is a fact that is true because most small airports are in sparsely populated areas. That's true now in the western portions of Plymouth Township and Canton Township.

But it won't be that way forever, even though Mettetal would be forever.

The western portions of both townships are growing and in the future will probably be densely populated.

We're not saying we're opposed to an airport purchase. We are, however, saying that somebody should put the brakes on the deal until the safety angle can be looked at and until Plymouth area residents have their say.

Forfeiture laws

Stricter guidelines are needed

TAKE FROM the bad guys and give to the good.

That seems to be the Robin Hood philosophy behind the controversial state forfeiture laws that allow police to seize property and money thought to be the result of drug profits.

The seized money and property is then used directly or otherwise to help police wage the war on drugs.

The booty often goes far beyond the suitcases full of hundred dollar bills that often accompany drug transactions. Up for the snatching could be a home, car, plane or even mom's jewelry . . . anything used to manufacture, distribute, dispense, process or acquire a controlled substance," the law states.

And what is taken these days is hardly peanuts. Last year, the Oakland County Narcotics Enforcement Team seized nearly $5 million in cash and property.

Forfeiture laws result in "legalized breaking and entering by the police," complained Steven Fishman, an Oakland County defense attorney who was interviewed for a recent Observer & Eccentric article on the subject.

No way, countered Donald Reisig, director of the Michigan Drug Agencies, in another story. Forfeiture is a very effective way of "hitting them (dopers) in the pocketbook," he said.

ACTUALLY, THIS is one debate where both sides truly have merit.

Reisig is correct when he says that many dopers "are not going to be bothered by a small fine. But take away their contraband, or the fruits of it, and they're going to feel it."

But, if attorneys like Fishman are to be believed, there have been serious abuses of forfeiture laws.

Should the mother of a slain drug kingpin lose among other things a portion of her 700-piece jewelry collection through forfeiture — even though she has never been criminally charged with a drug offense?

That's exactly what happened last month when a U.S. District Court jury decided that the government had a right to take Basima Kalasho's property including: a $260,000 West Bloomfield home, two cars and the jewelry.

We're not prepared to knock the jury's verdict, but it seems to be going hard on someone who hasn't been convicted, or even charged, with a narcotics offense.

No, this legalized grabbing seems to be getting out of hand. Clearly strict state guidelines are needed concerning what can be taken from whom. Forfeiture laws are a key weapon in the drug war. Let's make sure the laws are only hurting the guilty.

Forfeiture laws are a key weapon in the drug war. Let's make sure the laws are hurting the guilty.

ANOTHER WORRISOME thing about forfeiture: It sometimes results in squabbles between the law enforcement agencies involved in a drug bust.

At that end of last year, that's exactly what developed between the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office and three police departments over a whopping $577,000 confiscated from an alleged Troy drug dealer.

The hot issue was who got to keep the cash. The problem of equitable split of dope booty is sure to come up again. We're surprised it doesn't happen more often.

Dope dealers are a mobile lot. They're not always going to be doing their deeds in the same place they're caught. Some method has to be devised to see that the one who milks the cow gets most of the cream.

It seems that the forfeiture laws and the resulting windfall are complicating things. Police and prosecutors should remember that their job is to get the bad guys, not quibble over their cash.

Readers' recycling tips

are interesting, fun, too

IN A PREVIOUS column, I described this newspaper's commitment to using recycled newsprint to reduce the need to cut living trees for paper.

I also asked readers to send me suggestions about how people could recycle newspaper themselves. I got a fair number of interesting responses.

One came from a nice person in Northville who wrote:

"Like a lot of organic garden enthusiasts, I use newspapers . . . between the planted rows of seeds. This holds back the weeds, at the same time giving much needed mulch in times of drought."

"It is an easy matter to hold down the papers with small rocks, and with ensuing fall of rain, to add more papers to the paper mache which results. The paper degrades by itself and is dug into the ground in the fall along with compost."

Several readers suggested that old newspapers, when torn up or shredded, could be used in place of plastic foam to stuff cushions of porch and garden furniture. To avoid the wet paper mache effect, I suggest you take your cushions in before rain or even a heavy dew.

EDITOR & PUBLISHER, a trade magazine, ran a piece which described a farming use involving shredded newspapers as bedding for cattle. The result proved to be a "clean, comfortable and absorbent bedding for cows that is free of bacterial contamination."

from our readers

EMTs should be applauded

To the editor:

It was with interest I read your recent article entitled "New Rotary award honors officer, firefighter for daily work." The Canton Rotary serves praise for their recognition of the important contribution made to our society by members of the police and fire services.

Unfortunately, no mention was made of the third vital portion of the emergency services triad — the paramedics. Using methods and high technology developed during and after the Vietnam War, Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs) have reduced suffering and saved countless lives with commitment and service.

The most highly trained — Advanced EMTs — bring pre-hospital advanced life support to the patient's side and provide essential care long before the patient would otherwise receive it at a stationary facility. In caring for their patients under all types of conditions, EMTs routinely expose themselves to danger and hardship. They are truly heroes, and deserve the public's appreciation and gratitude.

It turns out that preserving the environment is easier — and more fun — than it seems at first.

The same E&P piece quoted a story from the UK (United Kingdom) Press Gazette which quoted a farmer in Somerset who "discovered that the nutritional value of newspaper is similar to that of straw bran." It mentioned a picture in The Guardian which showed the man's prize Charolais happily munching "tons of old newspapers." The story ended: "It is not known which titles they prefer."

Another reader suggested that instead of using the exploded polystyrene pellets that are so ubiquitous (and non-degradable) in packages sent through the mail, senders can use torn or shredded newspapers. "Far less damaging to the environment," he wrote.

WHEN I WAS a kid, I remember taking old newspapers, rolling them up tightly and tying them with thin rope. We then soaked them in chemicals according to the following recipe:

In a sink big enough to hold a rolled-up newspaper, run enough water to cover the roll. Dissolve as much table salt (the yellow flakes from the sodium) and cream of tartar (for red flames) as the liquor will hold. Be sure not to inhale the dust.

Carefully dissolve powdered copper sulfate in the liquid to provide green and blue flames.

We soaked the logs thoroughly, then set them out to dry in the air. We put the dried rolls away with the wood.

Later, when we had a nice fire going in the fireplace, we'd put one of those paper logs on top, and in no time we had all kinds of colored flames — yellow, red, green, blue, violet.

AND NOW THAT we have a 12-week-old puppy at home, the first step in housebreaking is paper training. We put puppy in the back hallway for the night and lay a section of a newspaper on the floor. If he has to do his business, he learns to do it on the paper.

Enjoy. It turns out that preserving the environment is easier — and more fun — than it seems at first. Phil Power is chairman of the company that owns this newspaper. His award-winning column will appear periodically.

Soccer mom calls foul

Susan Cadwell, non-resident

I am writing this letter on behalf of my son and all select team players.

My son made the select soccer team in our city. Of course, we were glad. However, when we saw the ad in the paper for Canton Express select tryouts we were encouraged by coaches and others to try out. We were told what a wonderful program Canton had, so we did. On the fourth day of the selection process, we were told that there was a residency rule. Only four boys who were not residents could make the team.

I have no problem with residency rules, but rules need to be established before the selection process begins. Why was the rule made up on the fourth day? This suggests some implications I find quite disturbing. The ad in the paper did not say anything regarding residency nor was anything said the first day of tryouts. Why? Was it in effect then?

I really don't believe this is any way to run a select program. Select by definition means picking and choosing the best from anywhere. It is conceivable a team could have no members from their city. That's the chance you take when you have a select team.

I really feel this process of making up rules as you go along is unfair, and certainly not an example to young boys of good sportsmanship.

Opinions and ideas are best when shared with others. That's why the Canton Observer encourages its readers to share their views with others in the From Our Readers column.

Submitting a letter to the editor for publication is easy. Letters should be typewritten or printed legibly and kept to 300 words. Letters must be signed and include the address of the sender.

Names will be withheld only for the best of reasons, and the decision to do so will be made by the editor.

Letters should be mailed to Editor, Canton Observer, 744 Wing, Plymouth 48170.

Her sentence could be a gift

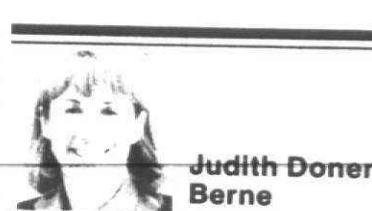

POLITICS. THAT'S WHAT Beverly Luther called the sentence her daughter got for supplying liquor to teenagers involved in a fatal car accident.

Debbie Luther, 19, recently pleaded no contest to the charge of furnishing alcohol to minors. She was sentenced to seven days in jail, two years' probation and 50 hours of community service. She was also fined $150 in court costs and ordered to attend drug and alcohol treatment programs.

"This is politics, quite frankly," the Rochester Hills mom said. "We're not talking about a kid who's a drunk or a junkie. We're talking about a sophisticated, level-headed young lady. And the court treated her like trash."

In my mind, the court gave Debbie a gift. A chance to pay the penalty for a tragedy for which she had some responsibility, to become educated about drug and alcohol abuse and perhaps a way to ameliorate some of the guilt she is certainly feeling.

I understand Beverly Luther's motives. I spent a number of years overprotecting my first child — the one on whom you make the most mistakes.

By the time the second one came along, I had progressed.

SO EVEN WHILE it was happening I was grateful for the following experience.

She had just turned 16, passed her driver's test and was finding every occasion to show off the temporary permit you are given until the real license comes.

It was her first Saturday night to use the car. She had a date and she was driving.

We were the usual nervous parents, laughing it off — everything will be fine. About 11 p.m., the telephone rang. This is the Orchard Lake Police Department, the voice said.

Q. Our school district had to make some cutbacks. We lost, among other programs, our gifted and talented program which my fourth grade daughter was in. Why are important programs always picked out when cutbacks are made?

A. Because when school opens this September, there must be teachers in each classroom to greet the children.

You can't close down two fourth grade classrooms, leaving the children with no teacher, to support a gifted and talented program no matter how enriching the experience.

Your district had a "pull-out" program with the teacher in a specific area where children came to her and then returned to class. Pull-out programs, (gifted and talented) or otherwise, always go first during cutbacks.

My views of gifted and talented programs sometimes differ from some of my peers. Districts which primarily use IQ and test scores for "gifted" identification end up with the IQ cut off point was 133. Her child, a 130 IQ, was no longer "gifted" and could not get into her new school's 133 IQ program.

The challenge to school districts is to develop other in-class enriching experiences for children.

One specific step is to infuse the gifted and talented learning activities that existed in your program into the regular classroom. However, this takes considerable in-service and commitment by building principals and teachers.

We need gifted and talented programs. If for no other reason we recognize the talented athlete and spend considerable money on enriching athletic experiences for them.

As an aside, we must realize the number of gifted and talented students in a school district is always determined by the amount of money the district has to operate.

If a district does not have enough money for a gifted and talented program, it obviously has no gifted and talented children.

It is amazing how when money becomes available gifted and talented children become available.

This is not a slam at those districts who can afford it; their residents pay for it. It is not a slam at those districts that can't afford the program; they simply don't have the money.

However, it is a reality that gifted and talented children are in every school district whether a program exists or not.

Keep in mind there are many quality teachers in the regular classroom who are offering challenging experiences of the same nature you will find in a gifted and talented program. Knowing who those teachers are, hopefully when those teachers' daughter, will result in the enriching experience you and all parents want for their own.

Dr. James Doyle is a former assistant superintendent in the Troy School District. Questions for this column should be sent to Doc Doyle, c/o Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

It was an important learning experience at a critical time in those growing-up years. She was made to face the consequences of her actions through the system — not left off to try and get away with something again.

I have no idea whether Debbie is Beverly Luther's first child — the one on whom you make the most mistakes. But I think she is doing her a disservice to attack the system rather than helping her accept and handle the penalty.

And if her punishment also sets an example for others in a community hard hit by the deaths of young people in traffic accidents, then it is an even more far-reaching gift.

Q. Our school district had to make some cutbacks. We lost, among other programs, our gifted and talented program which my fourth grade daughter was in. Why are important programs always picked out when cutbacks are made?

A. Because when school opens this September, there must be teachers in each classroom to greet the children.

You can't close down two fourth grade classrooms, leaving the children with no teacher, to support a gifted and talented program no matter how enriching the experience.

Your district had a "pull-out" program with the teacher in a specific area where children came to her and then returned to class. Pull-out programs, (gifted and talented) or otherwise, always go first during cutbacks.

My views of gifted and talented programs sometimes differ from some of my peers. Districts which primarily use IQ and test scores for "gifted" identification end up with the IQ cut off point was 133. Her child, a 130 IQ, was no longer "gifted" and could not get into her new school's 133 IQ program.

The challenge to school districts is to develop other in-class enriching experiences for children.

One specific step is to infuse the gifted and talented learning activities that existed in your program into the regular classroom. However, this takes considerable in-service and commitment by building principals and teachers.

We need gifted and talented programs. If for no other reason we recognize the talented athlete and spend considerable money on enriching athletic experiences for them.

As an aside, we must realize the number of gifted and talented students in a school district is always determined by the amount of money the district has to operate.

If a district does not have enough money for a gifted and talented program, it obviously has no gifted and talented children.

It is amazing how when money be-

State park offends true camper's soul

IT'S LIKE going to an Irish wake and being served pink lemonade. It's a disgrace to the Great Lake State, a diluted abomination.

It's an Upper Peninsula state park campground, and it offends the soul of any true camper.

Three campsites packed into the square footage of my suburban subdivision back yard.

Guys selling bundles of firewood for $1.50 apiece — and so-called campers buying them!

Electricity, and people plugging TVs and microwave ovens into the outlets!

Hot showers! And I have it on good authority that in the women's room there was a lineup at the sink because so-called campers were plugging in blow dryers!

There's a phone booth, which is a justifiable concession to those who want to check up on folks back home. But to use it to order pizza?? Shame, shame.

CAMPING USED to be living at one with nature. You didn't have hot showers, faucets or flush toilets. You drank clean water the way the Creator intended — pumping it, by hand.

If you felt the need to be clean, you ran into Lake Superior and stayed there for a half-hour. It made you shiver so hard that you shook the dirt right off. Saved on soap and washcloths. Built character, too.

Womenfolk didn't bother with blow dryers and cosmetics, and they looked just fine. In fact, I think a woman's beauty is enhanced by a crop of freckles, a coat of sweat and a few mosquito bites.

CAMPING, WHEN I was introduced to it, meant tents. There were two kinds — the cabin tent with two-by-two wooden posts, and the umbrella tent, with its iron, dog-legged skeleton posts.

Both were made of heavy canvas. Many of the umbrella tents made a concession to luxury by having floors.

Anyone with a camping trailer, why, you expected them also to bring along a flowerpot full of pansies. But even those trailers weren't the size of railroad freight cars like the "recreational vehicles" of current vintage.

Grandfathers were permitted the use of a 3-hp outboard motor. Any other self-respecting angler rowed a boat to the deeper fishing waters. The sign that a male child was reaching manhood was to maneuver a wooden rowboat quietly along the edge of the lily pads, not to see how many acres of fish spawning beds he could tear up with an in-board-outboard or jet skis.

MOST FOOD came from cans or this fish you could catch, not pizzerias. You could augment the diet through a major form of camper recreation — berry picking.

Wild strawberries came first, followed by blueberries, then red and black raspberries, always pronounced "razberries."

Most wild berries are on the tiny side, but an old-timer told us how to find blueberries the size of golf balls instead of the size of peas.

"Sonny," he said, "the reason wild berries you tourists pick along the roadside are so small is they ain't got the proper kind of natural fertilizer."

"Now, the best berry fertilizer known on the face of this here earth," he continued, "is grizzly bear manure. Yessir. The bear eats berries and relieves himself in the same general area, and the manure fertilizes the ground, and pretty soon you have the most humungous and nutritious berries y'ever saw."

And they're easy to find, too. Shucks, all you gotta do is keep hiking until you find a pack of grizzlies eatin' berries. Ya chase the griz away, and ya got the berries all to yerself. Yessir."

That was when camping was called "backpacking."

The next development in Michigan, I fear, will be the Department of Natural Resources developing a strain of walleys that can survive in lakes heated to Jacuzzi temperatures.

UM-D to offer new fall kindergarten program

An open house will be held 6:30 p.m. Monday to introduce the new kindergarten program being offered this fall by the University of Michigan-Dearborn Child Development Center.

The open house will be at the classroom site, a newly-remodeled modular building on the UM-D campus near the historic Henry Ford Estate-Fair Lane cottages which house the child development center. The site is adjacent to both the estate with its mansion, powerhouse, gardens and meadow and the UM-D Environmental Study Area.

The program is open to all children who will have reached the age of 5 before Dec. 1, 1990. Classes begin Sept. 5 and run Monday through Friday for 37 weeks to June 14, 1991. Either full-time (8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.) or half-time (8 a.m. to noon) enrollment is available. Extended care hours from 7-8 a.m. and 3:30-5:30 p.m. are available at an additional charge beyond the kindergarten tuition. Affirmative action scholarship aid is available.

Kindergarten program coordinator Maureen Molloy and other staff members will be available to answer enrollment, scholarship and tuition questions. For more information, call 593-5424.

UM-D child center earns national accreditation

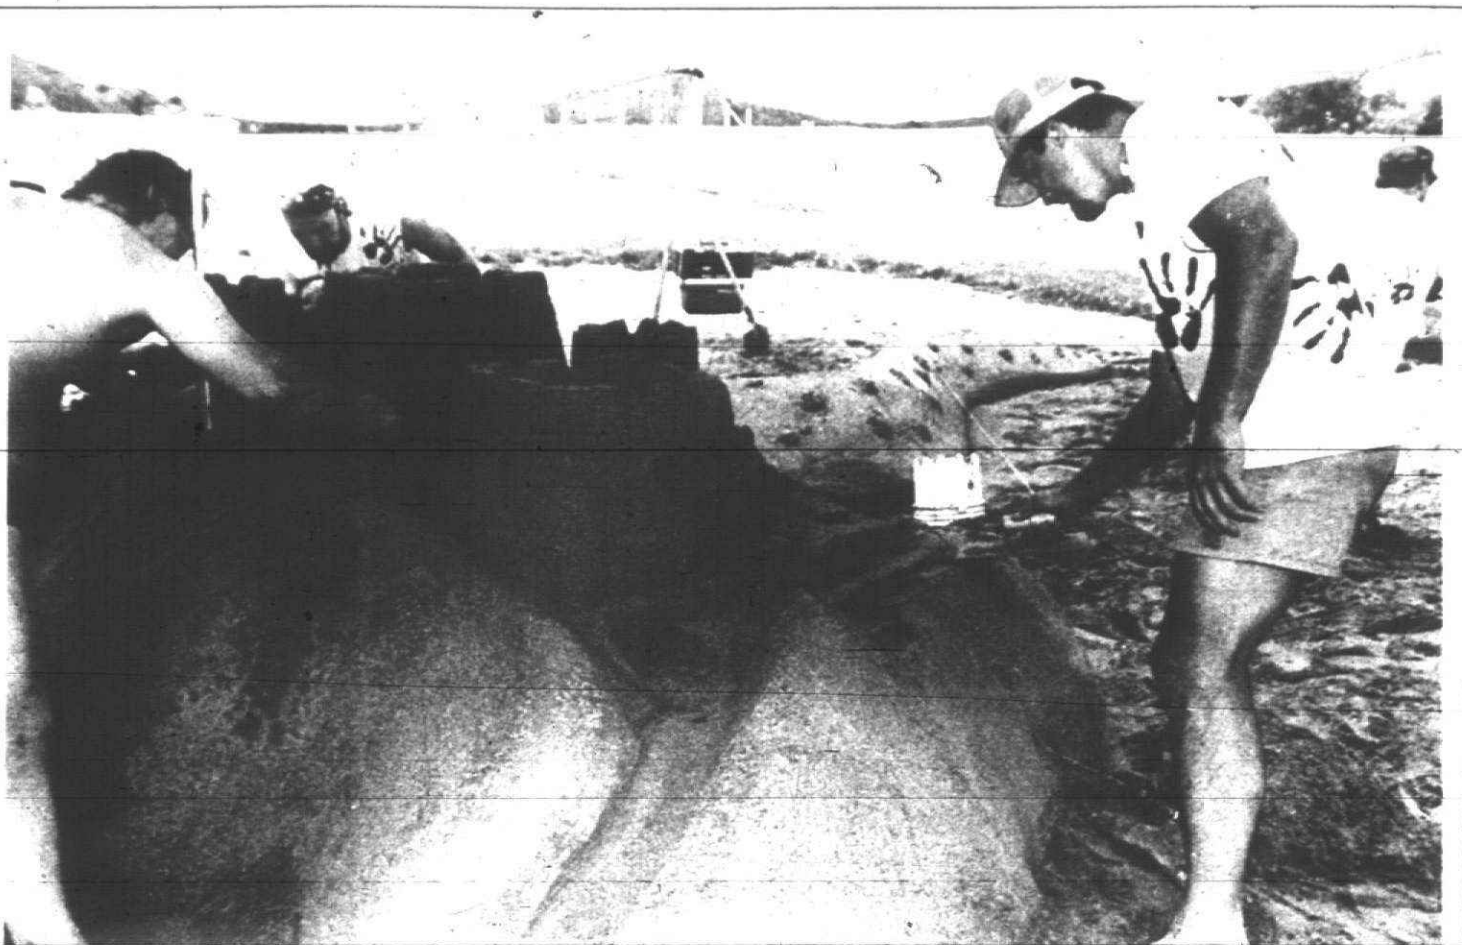

The Child Development Center of the University of Michigan-Dearborn has received accreditation from the National Academy of Early Childhood Programs. Of the 3,502 licensed child care centers in Michigan, the UM-D program is one of only 34 in the state to have received this accreditation as of June 1990.

The National Academy of Early Childhood Programs recognizes child care centers which meet stringent national standards of quality in early childhood programs. The academy is sponsored by the National Association for the Education of Young Children, the nation's oldest and largest association of early childhood professionals.

The accreditation process included an on-site study of the center and review by a three-member national commission. The final report noted that the center met and exceeded a variety of criteria including providing activities appropriate for toddler and preschool age children, having well-qualified and trained staff, meeting health and safety standards and offering opportunities for parental involvement.

Rosalyn Saltz, directs the UM-D center. It enrolls 90 children ages 1 to 6. The program will be extended in September 1990 with the addition of a kindergarten classroom on the UM-D campus.

Kids learn the basics of cooking

Gary Burton could just get to the point where he does all the cooking for his family.

Gary, a third grader at Winchester Elementary School in Northville, is only 8 but he's a pretty good cook. He makes pancakes and waffles at home on a skillet, getting some help from his mom who turns on the stove.

"I could make a peanut butter and jelly sandwich by myself," said Gary, who considers hot fudge sundaes his favorite food. "I could make myself salad, probably."

Gary's among those who participated in a "Half Pints in the Kitchen" class offered this summer by the Plymouth Community Family YMCA. During the six class sessions, kids ages 5-8 learned a great deal about cooking.

Gary Burton makes sure every last drop of batter gets into the muffin pan.

"They help measure and they help pour," said Bonnie Graham, class instructor. During one session, children made zucchini muffins, and each child had a chance to help grate the zucchini.

GRAHAM, A Plymouth resident, took care of more dangerous tasks, such as cutting up food, putting things in the oven and taking them out when done. She didn't worry all that much about spills on the floor or table, taking time to clean up when needed.

The kids learned how to measure various ingredients. They made such things as milk shakes, no-bake oatmeal cookies, and a sunshine salad of plain yogurt, honey and pineapple. A recipe for "Edible Peanut Butter Play Dough" added to the fun during one session.

"They all want to bake every time," Graham said. Children liked sampling the fare and taking home some of what they made to their families.

Good nutrition was emphasized throughout the class, and children also learned a thing or two about table manners. They were reminded that it's impolite to rest elbows on the table or to chew with an open mouth.

"They're very good. They listen and they remember," she said.

The class, held at the YMCA office, included crafts activities and play time. Children learned about the importance of sharing and taking turns.

THEY PUT together a recipe book describing what they'd made in class. Ryan Haddad, 7, particularly liked the no-bake oatmeal cookies.

"I might come back here because I like it," Ryan, a second grader at Our Lady of Good Counsel School in Plymouth, said of the class. He considers ice cream his favorite food.

Gary Burton also enjoyed his time in the class.

"This is the best one I've been to in the YMCA so far." He learned about table manners, ingredients for different foods and "how to set the table."

Gary has some ideas about things he'd like to fix when he's older.

"Soup, that would be hard," he said. "Pork chops."

The YMCA also offers a similar course for preschool children, Graham said. The "Half Pints in the Kitchen" class has been offered at

Being a Girl Scout has enriched her life

By Julie Brown
staff writer

JoAnn Beurmann learned a lot about leadership as a Girl Scout.

"My leadership skills came from my Scouting experience," said Beurmann, who is now on the staff of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. "I really did get a lot of leadership."

Last November, Beurmann took over as the council's field director for Plymouth, Canton and Northville. Her duties include recruiting scouts and volunteers, retaining members and supporting programs. She maintains contact between Girl Scouts and volunteers and those in the council office in Ypsilanti.

Girl Scouting's been a way of life for Beurmann. She became a Brownie in elementary school and continued on to become a Senior Girl Scout in high school.

"I went to camp as much as I could," said Beurmann who spent a number of summers at Camp Narrin in northern Oakland County, and was a counselor in training there as a teenager.

AS AN ADULT, Beurmann's continued to be involved. Prior to taking the paid job of field director, she worked as a volunteer.

Beurmann and her husband live in Brighton Township. They have four children, sons ages 13 and 7 and daughters ages 11 and 9. Beurmann's older son used to be a Boy Scout and both daughters are Junior Girl Scouts.

Beurmann's husband grew up in Brighton, and is an attorney who practices in that Livingston County community. JoAnn Beurmann moved to Brighton with her parents

"I feel like a native of Brighton, really."

When Beurmann was growing up, her family was involved in Scouting. Beurmann's mother was her troop leader for a while, her dad was a Boy Scout leader, and her older brother was a Boy Scout.

Her family lived in Berkley and moved to what was then Farmington Township in the early 1960s. Beurmann graduated from North Farmington High School in 1985, and attended Ferris State College for one year.

"I went to work in insurance," said Beurmann who continued to work in that field off and on until her third child was born.

SHE BEGAN as a Girl Scout volunteer by helping with a Brownie troop. After that, she became a leader of her own troop. Beurmann's mother took on the leadership of another Brownie troop, and they worked together on planning activities.

"It was fun and I really enjoyed it," Beurmann said of her work with that troop in Hartland. "Girl Scouting is just something I've always loved. I enjoy the girls. It's such a wholesome atmosphere for girls."

Beurmann went on to work as a troop leader with her own daughters. She's still involved with their troop activities, although no longer as a leader.

Taking over as field director has required that Beurmann make a few adjustments. As a leader, she concentrated on her troop's activities. She now needs to think about the needs of Girl Scouts in several communities who range in age from kindergarten Daisy Scouts through teenage Senior Scouts.

Beurmann appreciates the help of the many capable volunteers from Canton, Plymouth and Northville.

"They make my job so easy, they really do." The volunteers are busy people, but find the time and energy to support Girl Scouting, she said.

SHE'S PLEASED with efforts the Girl Scout organization has made to keep up with the times. Girls now learn about various career options, and work on proficiency badges in a number of areas.

"They can do so many different things." Some local girls are working on a video project at the Omnicon studio in Canton, and that video may be used by the council as a recruiting tool, she said.

Girl Scouts also work on community service projects, including blood drives for the American Red Cross and projects to protect the environment. Many girls worked on recycling and tree planting projects this past school year.

"I think that's good for the girls." The Contemporary Issues program helps older girls deal with issues of peer pressure, sexuality, literacy and others. Scouting activities for girls of all ages are designed to enhance self-esteem and build confidence.

"Scouting does a real good job on that."

Getting older girls to stay in Girl Scouting is a challenge. In some circles, being a Scout isn't considered the thing to do.

"That's what we're trying to overcome. I wish the older girl numbers were higher. We have them, but I just wish we had more. We're working on it."

The Wider Opportunities program gives older Girl Scouts chances to travel throughout the U.S. and other countries. Teenage girls also can be counselors in training or program aides, working with younger girls. Beurmann was a program aide as a teenager.

'My leadership skills came from my Scouting experience.'

— JoAnn Beurmann

She plans to continue as field director "as long as they want me. It's been a childhood dream that finally came true."

She'd like to finish her degree when her children are older and most likely will study business. Beurmann's hobbies include cooking, and she took a course in French cooking from a Detroit-area chef Keith Famie.

Beurmann also enjoys basket weaving and sewing, and makes some of her children's clothes. She made five bridesmaid gowns for her niece's wedding and has sewn prom dresses.

"I'm kind of a crafty person." Her family's also involved in activities at the First Presbyterian Church of Brighton. Their children participate in a number of activities, including sports and Scouting, and that keeps Beurmann and her husband busy.

She appreciates the support her husband has provided. Originally, she'd planned to wait until her children were a bit older to return to the workforce, but decided the time had come to work for the Girl Scouts.

"My family's very supportive. Everything worked out."

Pastor's glad path led him to Plymouth

By Julie Brown
staff writer

The Rev. Mark Barnes was 16 when he preached his first sermon.

"I'm 47 now, so that's been a little while," said Barnes, senior pastor of the Plymouth Church of the Nazarene. "I really felt like God wanted me to be a preacher, and have felt that ever since that time."

Barnes, a Canton resident, has been at the Plymouth church for six years. Before that, he served for about five years at a church in Rock Island, Ill. He and his wife, Lucy, are glad they came to Michigan.

"It's the best place we've ever lived. Plymouth is a tremendous place."

They have been impressed with the friendliness of the people they've met.

BARNES GREW UP in Tennessee and began studying at a Christian boarding school in Kentucky at age 15. After high school, he studied for several years at Kentucky Mountain Bible Institute.

He completed his bachelor's degree at Trevecca Nazarene College in Nashville, Tenn., where he studied education and psychology with a minor in history. More recently, Barnes earned a master's degree in church management from Olivet Nazarene University in Kankakee, Ill., in 1987.

His ties to the Nazarene church go back to early childhood.

"My folks became Nazarenes when I was 5 years old."

They had been Methodists before that time.

Beliefs of those two churches are similar, and are based in part on the teachings of John Wesley.

The Nazarene church tends to be more evangelistic, Barnes said.

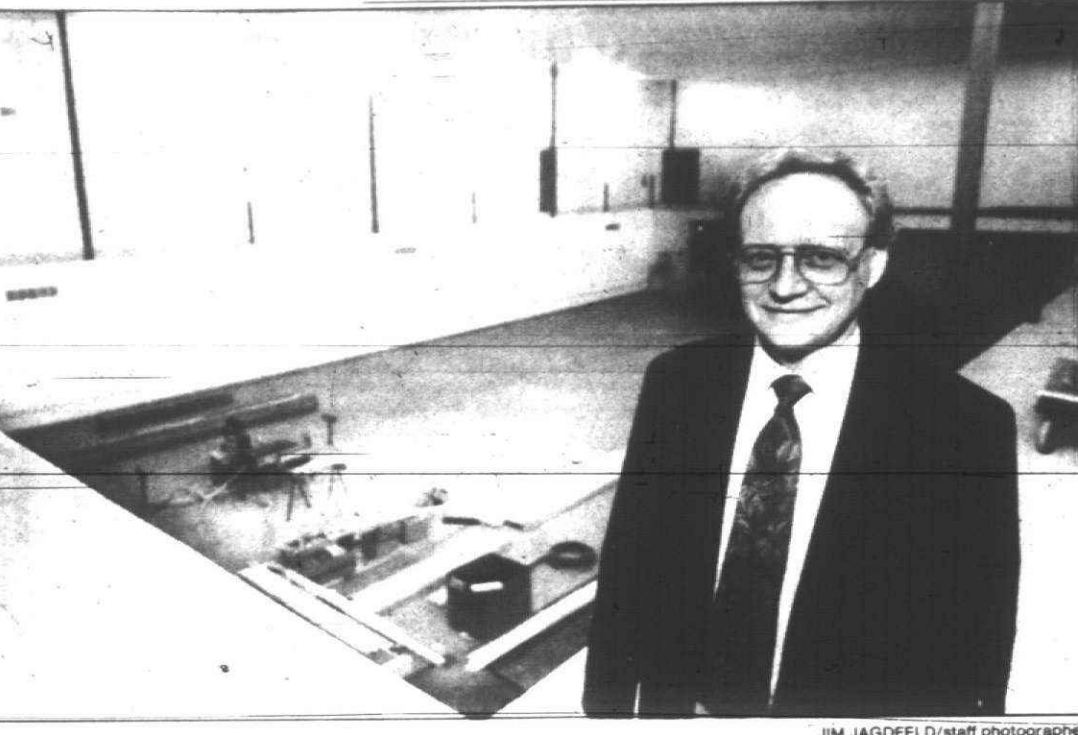

BARNES IS responsible for preaching at Sunday morning and evening services, and leads Wednesday evening Bible study sessions. He and his staff call on those who can't come to church services, and visit church members who are hospitalized.

Barnes particularly enjoys preaching, and spends time each week researching and writing sermons. He's also involved in district-level activities for the Nazarene church.

The Rev. Mark Barnes has served as pastor at the Plymouth Church of the Nazarene for six years. He and others at the church are looking forward to seeing construction of the new sanctuary completed.

such trips.

Barnes has seen other parts of the world as well. After the African trip, he traveled around the world and met with missionaries in Indonesia. He and his wife took an anniversary trip to Ireland and England this past spring.

Closer to home, they enjoy spending time in the Amish areas of Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania.

"It sort of settles life down a little bit to be among those people. Just seeing the slow pace with the people who don't have to have everything we have."

BARNES ALSO enjoys playing racquetball and doing woodworking in his free time. These days, he's keeping busy with a building project at the Plymouth Church of the Nazarene.

Worshippers moved to the new site on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township about three years ago. Construction is continuing, and Sunday morning and evening worship services are in the nearby Pioneer Middle School cafeteria.

Other church functions are in the new building, and the office is in that building. Church members hope to have the construction work done by early December, and are looking forward to worshipping in the new sanctuary.

THE SANCTUARY will seat about 500 on the main floor, and a couple of hundred more in the foyer or along the balcony.

Eventually, the sanctuary area will be surrounded by six classrooms, three on each side. The sanctuary's design will allow it to be used as a gymnasium and large meeting room.

One church member, Chuck Krappitz, did stained glass windows for the sanctuary that include such phrases as "Enter to Worship." Krappitz does that kind of work as a hobby.

Worshippers are working on the new building on a "pay as you go" basis, and won't have any debts to worry about when the work is done. Many church members are volunteering their time and talents to assist with the construction.

"That helps a lot," Barnes said.

WEST BERLIN

By Pat Hanna Kuehl
special writer

Berlin, West Germany: The Berlin Wall is down and this is the place for peace-lovers to be. If Gorbachev is right, and Europe becomes "one house," this will be the split-level living room, business place for statesmen, artists, intellectuals, gathering tycoons and free spirits out for a good time.

Both Berlins are exciting places to visit nowadays. While life on what was the west side of the wall has long been turned on full volume 24 hours a day, the come-to-the-cabaret spirit is just starting to ferment in East Berlin.

Take the five-star deluxe Grand Hotel at the famous intersection of Unter den Linden and Friedrichstrasse, for instance. Open three years, the star of the German Democratic Republic-owned Interhotel chain has been ranked with the 200 best hotels in the world by the New York-based Leading Hotels Association.

At the Silhouette Restaurant, on the Grand's sixth floor, an epicurean dinner for two, elegantly served to the accompaniment of a six-piece dance band, runs more than $200 with wine. Yes, they take Visa.

Such glimpses of new developments on the other side of the border add to the sense of adventure of visiting both Berlins.

See contrasts everywhere you turn.

CHECK THE glitter of the glass, chrome, and steel contemporary architecture of West Berlin-buildings the sassy citizenry has dubbed the Battleship Gallatica (the convention center), the Pregnant Oyster (the congress hall), and the Lipstick and the Powder Box (the Kaiser Memorial Church).

Then cross through Brandenburg Gate and rest your eyes on the grandeur that was Old Berlin in the rundown mansions that line the Boulevard Unter den Linden, the majestic Cathedral, the classical lines of the art treasures on Museum Island, the restored St. Nicholas Church where Berlin was founded 753 years ago.

For insight into the 1000 points of annoyance that made so many of East Berlin's baby boomers head west, take a taxi to the outskirts of the city to see the dreary looking pre-fab high buildings the East German government threw up to meet its quota of 2.5 million apartments by 1990.

BRODERSEN

The Kurfurstendamm in West Berlin enjoys a unique touch; it is the No. 1 shopping avenue in Germany. The streets are always bustling, day and night.

A DAY OF RECKONING

The Brandenburg Gate stands behind the Berlin Wall. The new freedom of East Berliners has attracted curious visitors from around the world since the wall was opened in November 1989.

THEN, CHECK out the old workers' row houses much closer to the city center in the Suesemannstrasse area, and imagine what an American restoration expert would do with those old jewels! The East Berliners, just beginning to realize their charm and convenience, are adding modern plumbing and central heating.

There's at least a two-year wait to move in. The current aging occupants knew they had a good thing and wouldn't leave for "better" quarters in the distant high rises.

With shortages causing long waits for everything from housing to automobiles (it has been at least 10 years for a car), even East German marks piled up, allowing a few luxuries. East German marks were converted to West German marks recently, so now there is only "the mark."

FOOD SPECIALTY shops near the Alexanderplatz stock Belgian chocolate, Viennese coffee, American herb teas and the most prized delicacy of all, bananas.

Drop by the Moskau Restaurant, which used to be the best restaurant that accepted East German marks. Dinner at the Moskau has been a steal for U.S. military occupying troops who could dine well for $10 in black market marks. It's still a good buy.

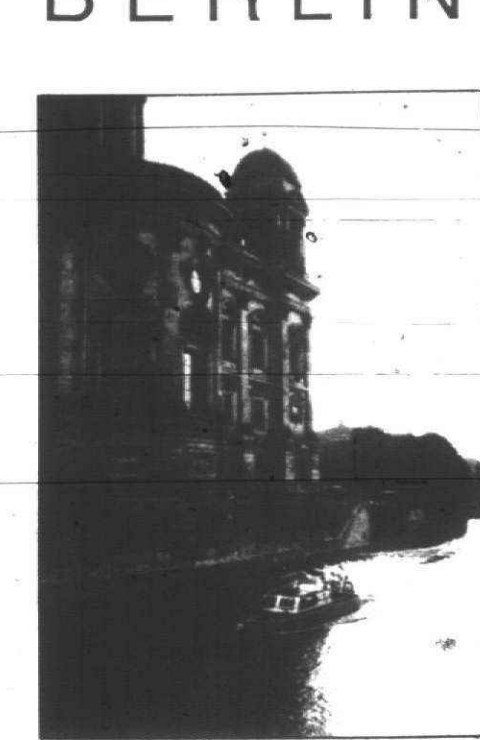

Spend an evening at the German State Opera, the Comic Opera, or the Metropol Theater (musicals) or the Puppet Theater. Calibre is high, ticket prices relatively low. Tickets are available at the central tourist office, the Reisebüro der DDR — on the Alexanderplatz, at the theaters or at hotel service desks. It's wise to reserve seats well in advance.

Window shop the designer shoe boutiques. Those beautiful shoes are so prized, an East Berliner will pay several months' salary to own a pair. Vanity knows no nationality.

The statue of Vladimir Lenin still stands at the head of Lenin Allee. Follow the route from the city center to the outskirts to view life, socialist style. On one side you'll see office buildings and apartments, on the other factories spewing thick, black smoke. Pollution is a new concern here. In the midst of it all is the highly respected Charité Medical Center, where GDR research on AIDS is underway.

SURPRISINGLY, WEST Berlin, with its big gay population, has largely ignored the AIDS problem. After the Tourist Office, on the street level, the other at the Multivision Berlin theater on the third floor.

The tourist office will tell you about the present and future attractions — international film, music and art festivals, sports events and special exhibitions. The multimedia show is a highly entertaining capsule history of the city's 753-year past. "Berlin," says the narrator, "is a catastrophe, but a lovely catastrophe. If anything bangs, it bangs here!"

Three blocks away, you'll find KaDaWe, the largest department store in Europe, filled with treasures of every kind. KaDaWe offers a far better selection of Czech crystal than you'll find in Prague, and here they'll ship it home. Don't miss the sixth floor food hall, a gourmet fantasy with delicacies to devour on the spot or to take out.

You can find all you ever wanted to know about Berlin in two stops at the Europa Center: One at the Berlin Crowds gather around the wall to celebrate a moment in history. Many visitors chisel bits of stone off the wall to remember these historic days in Germany.

Who's been to Berlin lately?

Has anybody out there been to Berlin since the wall came down? We've been talking about that ever since our advertising department joined Lufthansa in sponsoring a trip to Europe Oct. 2-13; the first stop is East and West Berlin.

Our advertising department will be pleased to know I gave them that plug, but you'll be pleased to know that I didn't have to. This trip has nothing to do with the editorial department, and our ad manager is nice enough not to nag me for what advertisers call "editorial support."

The trip inspired some conversation, however. Such as "Do we still say West Berlin and East Berlin?" and, "Has anybody been to Berlin since the wall came down?"

I travel more than anyone else around here, and I haven't been to Berlin. I started calling my traveling friends, and none of them have been to Berlin since the wall came down.

We've all seen it on television, and Bernie Weiss of Lufthansa's Southfield office tells me that his airline is reserving all their equipment for upcoming flights from Frankfurt to Moscow, Leningrad, Prague, Warsaw, and other parts of Eastern Europe. He's been to Eastern Germany but not to Berlin since the wall.

ACCORDING TO Bernie all the border paraphernalia is still in place: five-mile-per-hour signs, mirrors that look under cars, 16-foot-long man-high barriers that can stop a car dead, but nobody is using it.

The law says that Americans still need visas for East Berlin, and it seems a smart idea to get one. But at the moment, nobody seems to be asking for them. You can get a 24-hour visa at the border after filling out a lot of papers. Ask for a multiple visa if you plan to go back and forth more than once.

Some hotels, especially Interhotel, will arrange your visa, which is supposed to be enough if you have a written confirmation in your hand when you cross the border. The Grand Hotel will pick you up at the airport in West Berlin, visa in hand.

Bernie and our advertising director Dick Brady were presenting the trip to local travel agents last week, so I invited myself. I thought, surely one of those travel agents had been to Berlin since the wall came down. But they hadn't.

I started phoning my out-of-town travel writing friends and found Pat Kuehl; she was working on a story for the Boston Globe when I called. "Yes, I've been to Berlin since the wall came down," she said, and I nearly dropped the phone.

Her story is featured in this section. But I don't give up that easily. I want to hear from YOU, my neighbors. Surely somebody out there has been to Berlin since the wall came down.

I want to hear from you, because our mandate on this page is to meet national standards of travel journalism while telling the world's story from your point of view. I would also like to hear from you about other conversations we might have about travel. Questions, answers, requests, reader reports. Your favorite cruise. Your favorite fall trip.

August is here already, but you still have time to pack the cheese and crackers, chill the fruit bubbly and grab a picnic blanket. They've already started the music.

It's time for those happy rituals that prompt us to stake out a patch of park lawn and listen to melodies under the stars.

Some of Michigan's young musicians have been so busy this summer that they have hardly had time to unpack. Richard Bae of Bloomfield Hills, Amy Gallagher of Rochester Hills, David Lau of Birmingham, Tara Speck of Troy, Kenya Stone of Southfield, Megan Smith of Farmington, Jenni Rose of Canton were just a few of the 95 young musicians who arrived home recently from an international tour sponsored by Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp. The Blue Lake Youth Symphony Orchestra played in West Germany, Austria, Hungary and France, stayed home two days and took off on a Midwest tour.

Blue Lake's International College, a jazz band and choir, and their International Symphony Band, have also been playing the European musical scene this summer.

You may not have heard those young musicians in Paris, but you can still follow the music at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp.

At least a third of the 3600 young musicians who become "campers" at Blue Lake every summer are from the tri-county area. They go north in the summer to hone their skills in music, dance, art and theater. You can see and hear them, plus stage and TV performers, in open amphitheater comfort.

The campers will be sitting rapt to the music of jazz drummer Louis Bellson, husband of Pearl Bailey, and the famous Cab Calloway, during Jazz Night Aug. 4 5:30-11 p.m. The faculty band, known as the Blue Lake Monster, will also perform, featuring David Steinmeyer. Tickets range from $12.50 to $25.

You can see "Mark Twain on Stage" Aug. 11 or the 150-voice festival chorus Aug. 18. Write to Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp, Crystal Lake Road, Twin Lakes, 49457 or call (616) 894-9026.

And Blue Lake is only one of the places that make Michigan music this summer. Michigan's summer sound parties are as plentiful as the notes in Van Cliburn's piano.

Interlochen, the world's first fine arts camp, puts on more than 450 professional and student summer events, many of them free of charge. Guests this summer include Izuhak Perlman Aug. 8. For more information call 276-9221.

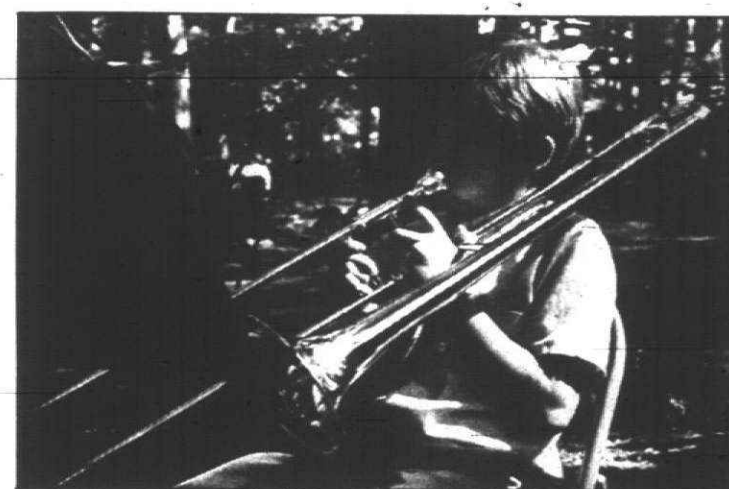

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra is into its summer festival season at Meadowbrook. On Friday nights in Fenton, music thrills from the gazebo at Fenton Mill Pond. On Saturday nights music plays in the waterfront parks of Pentwater, Grand Haven, Alpena, St. Joseph, Bay City, and more. Folk tunes are part of ethnic weekends in Detroit's Hart Plaza. In Bay View (adjoining Petoskey), more than 40 musical programs are presented in an eight week season.

JAZZ BUFFS should be in Detroit during Labor Day weekend, Aug. 30 to Sept. 3, when The Miller Lite Montaux Detroit Jazz Festival, one of the three top world jam sessions offers more than 200 concerts, free daily performances in Hart Plaza and ticketed concerts, clinics, and club concerts around town. Call 259-5400 for more information.

There are about 200 symphony orchestras in the state with a regular schedule of concerts and guest artists in Detroit, Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Midland, Saginaw, Flint, Kalamazoo, and more. When you visit, consult local events listings.

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra does everything but windows in its annual summer show at Meadow Brook — Beethoven, Belafonte, and "Bye Bye Birdie", fireworks, classics, Mathis, Mancini and Roberta Peters. Call the festival box office for tickets, 377-2010.

Lovers of John Philip Sousa and the true toons of a great band won't want to miss the splendid Detroit Concert Band. For information, call 886-0394.

Colosseum on the fritz

(AP) — Pilgrims during the Dark Ages believed that if the Colosseum fell, Rome, and the world, would fall, too.

Maria Letizia Conforto, an architect with Rome's Superintendency of Archaeology, hastens to explain that the 1,900-year-old monument is not about to collapse.

A year ago however, monitoring devices were installed at suspected weak points, Conforto says, but it will take a few seasons of computer-analyzed data to know if expansion and contraction of brick, travertine and tufa are due to changes in weather or are cause for alarm. Tourists are not allowed to wander the walled channels under the center stage. The channels once held scenery that was raised to the stage and lions and tigers that were sent into combat.

As part of a planned restoration, Rome's superintendent of archaeology, Adriano La Regina, envisions covering the restored passageways with a removable platform so that tourists can stand center-stage like the ancient performers did and marvel at the arches tiers.

Berlin: one house, two levels

Compulsive monument-collectors can board tour buses at every other corner, but you'll get a more vivid picture of the two Berlins just by people-watching on the Ku'Damm or Unten den Linden.

West Berliners are the ultimate extroverts. Young (more than half the 2 million population is under 30), bright, independent spirits, their favorite word is "tolerant."

East Berliners tend to be patient, placid types, conditioned by a lifetime of waiting in long lines to buy anything from tea to taxi service.

But things are changing rapidly. Give an East Berliner a chance, and he'll tell you exactly where he was and what he was doing when the word came that the wall was coming down. Then you might get another surprise.

"We went over to West Berlin to have a look," recalls

Gerd Bethke, duty manager at the Grand. "Then when we saw how expensive things are over there, we came back home. There have been government subsidies here for everything from housing to education to medical services. We didn't know how much things really cost until we saw the prices over there."

Bethke and his friends, all in their 40s, decided to stay put. They appreciate their new freedom, but for the most part, they'll use it for round trips to the United States and other places they've only seen on TV.

"When you are no longer young, you don't want to take chances. I am accustomed to the ideas of socialism. I like the idea of equality and social security, not such big differences between the rich and the poor," he says.

"But I am a realist. I know changes are necessary. I'd rather stay and help improve conditions here than try to start a new life somewhere else."

East Berlin soldiers converse with visitors from the west side. Prior to the opening of the wall, this type of socializing would not be tolerated.

Saturn's dealership rings begin to grow

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

As now ex-General Motors chairman Roger Smith prepared to take "that last ride," as the media is abuzz over the secrecy surrounding the as yet unavailable Saturn car, as industry watchers wonder can GM's $3 billion gamble compete on a world market — things are happening on the local scene.

Southeastern Michigan auto dealers — excited about the impending launch of the Saturn car line — are beginning groundbreaking ceremonies for what they hope will be successful business ventures.

With new design characteristics, a manufacturing processes that includes state-of-the-art assembly, a Japanese-like management/labor team approach and a new marketing strategy aimed straight at the heart of the import car market, GM execs hope Saturn will make a big impact.

Don Massey, who held groundbreaking ceremonies Tuesday for a Saturn dealership behind his Massey Cadillac in Plymouth Township in western Wayne County, said he became interested in acquiring a Saturn dealership when the new car line was first announced.

"The spirit, the cooperation, the high quality — Saturn is going to be a very good car," Massey said. Saturn, he added, will help to re-establish American quality and superiority in automobile manufacturing.

Massey allowed he probably could have acquired any number of dealerships — including a foreign car franchise — but he wanted a Saturn dealership because the philosophy of customer service mirrors his own philosophy.

"And perhaps there's a little (patriotism in selling an American car) too," Massey said.

MASSEY SAID his first Saturn dealership — a $2 million investment — will be open in early to mid-November. The first shipment of cars should arrive shortly after construction is completed.

Massey also plans to open dealerships in Lansing and Farmington Hills, he said.

Other Saturn dealerships in Michigan will be in Clarkston, Troy (owned by David Fischer), Ann Arbor, Warren and Grand Rapids. Albert Serra, who owns a Chevrolet franchise in Grand Blanc in Genesee County, was awarded a Saturn franchise which is now under construction near Clarkston at I-75 and Dixie Highway in north Oakland County.

Serra said he became interested in acquiring a Saturn franchise as soon as GM announced plans for the new car company seven years ago. "I've always thought GM franchises were good ones so I (inquired) early on."

"At the time it was a very exploratory thing, but we wanted to put our hat in the ring," Serra said.

Serra said that while the relatively few number of Saturn dealerships adds a certain exclusivity to the car, he doesn't believe that the car is intended to be exclusive.

'The spirit, the cooperation, the high quality — Saturn is going to be a very good car.'

"It's obviously not going to be a high volume car at first — we don't know how many sales we're likely to see," Serra said. Serra said he likes the cautious approach Saturn is taking.

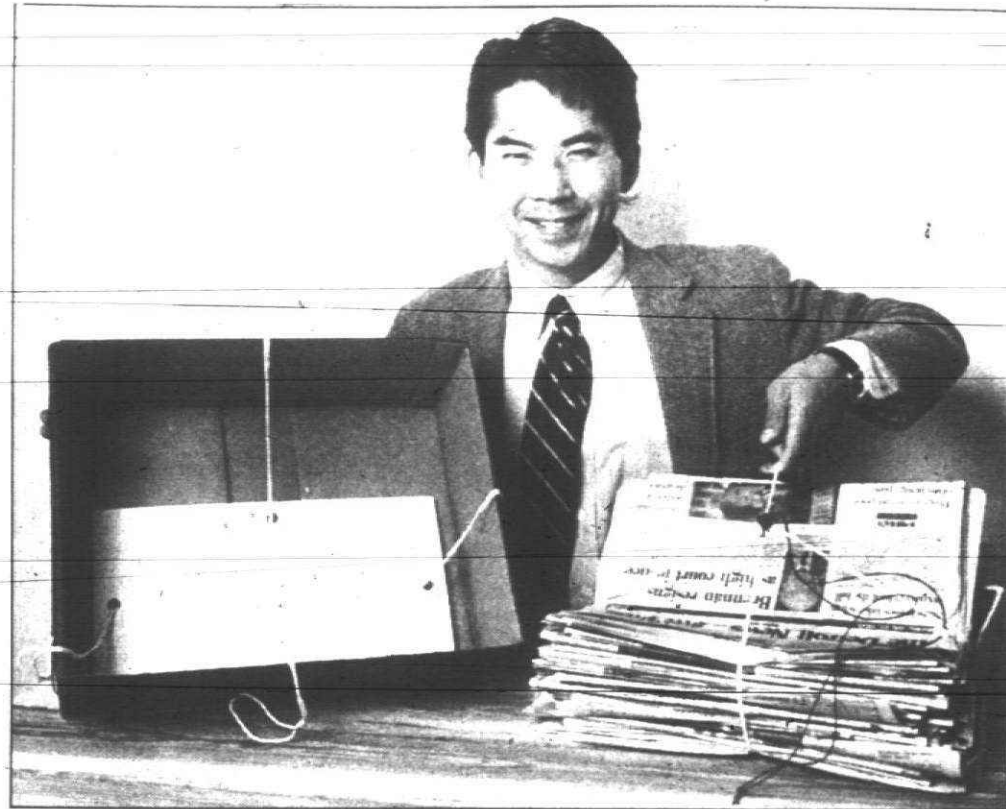

"If we have too many dealers too soon no, one's going to make it," he said.

DONALD HABEREK, public relations spokesman for Saturn, said there are several reasons why only four local dealers were chosen for Saturn franchises in southeastern Michigan, but key among them are the dealers' record of customer service.

"Essentially, these are people who are really interested in providing the ultimate in customer satisfaction," Haberek said.

The emphasis on customer service is part of the Saturn market area approach, he said. Instead of having Joel Kaji demonstrates the Newspaper Quikwrap. Papers are placed in the box to accumulate. When the box is full, the wrap-around string is pulled up from the side of the box and tied, simply and neatly bundling the pile.

Student engineers simple method to bundle papers

Build a better mousetrap, it is said, and the world will beat a path to your door.

Joel T. Kaji, a 27-year-old Farmington Hills resident and graduate student at the University of Michigan, is out to "trap" piles of newspapers that seem to multiply around the house.

His simple invention — Newspaper Quikwrap — is a cardboard box and a wrap-around string that provide an easy way to store, then bundle and tie newspapers.

The corporate world hasn't beaten a path to Kaji's door yet.

But he's pounding the pavement trying to wholesale the product to municipalities and businesses as promotional tie-ins to recycling efforts.

He's convinced about a half dozen stores to buy the product wholesale to re-sell at retail or to allow him to sell on consignment. He's also targeting groups that might want to use Newspaper Quikwrap as a fund-raiser.

"THE IDEA probably came to me a year and a half ago," Kaji said. "As a grad student, I lived in a house where we had at one time three daily newspaper subscriptions. You can imagine the amount of newspaper that built up in time.

"I thought what could we do to make it easy? Tying was time consuming, messy. No one wanted to do it. You stuff papers into bags, but they would get overstuffed and the bags would break apart."

"I thought about some bundling concepts. After trial and error and revision, I came up with what we have here."

Retailers, economist huddle on prospects

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

Reading palms, throwing stones, divining the future, gazing at crystal balls, studying tea leaves — foretelling the future isn't easy.

But that is what several financial and development experts were asked to do using equally mysterious economic indicators, retail data, statistical models and perhaps even a little intuition at a conference sponsored by the International Council of Shopping Centers in Dearborn recently.

The topic? Retail in the 1990s. The answer? It is probably not as dark as some fear, but there are some challenges in the coming years.

Herbert S. Miller, chairman and chief executive officer of Western Development Corp., the developer building Auburn Mills, said only retailers who accept and react to the changing customer will succeed.

"To understand the changing face of retail in the U.S., you must first go back to basics," he said.

Miller said although it sounds like a cliché, today's shopper is a smarter customer than 10 years ago, and the overall determining factor is price.

"In a 1980 poll, customers ranked price as the fifth most-important factor in deciding what to buy — in 1987, price was ranked number one."

More than 65 percent of all consumers will wait for an item to go on sale, Miller said, "so price is very important to consumers."

WHEN COUPLED with a shrinking middle class, less disposable income, the rising cost of housing, and the trade and budget deficit, retailers are going to have to be twice as smart to survive.

"Consumers are more fashion-conscious, less store loyal and more product loyal," he said. "The successful retailer must change to accept this."

People are still interested in what department stores have to offer, but they also want more for their money. "Department stores offer selection and service, but not price."

Frank A. Newman, chairman and chief executive officer of F&M Distributors, said the ready availability of new shopping space has prompted a lot of new retail ventures.

Warehouse clubs, off-price appliance and clothing stores, office supplies, super sports shops — the proliferation of these and others is leading to a shakeout in the 1990s, Newman said.

"Retail," Newman said, "is a very easy business to get into; it's also a very easy business to get killed in."

Retailers learned several lessons in the 1980s, he said. "One, bigger is better; two, specialty is good; three, provide a nice atmosphere."

But those lessons are no longer appropriate in the 1990s. "In the 1990s, we'll find too big is bad, being a specialist is not enough and people don't buy out of a need for recreations (and therefore don't need for atmosphere)."

David L. Littman, senior economist and first vice president for Manufacturers National Bank, said unless significant changes are made in Michigan's laws and business climate, he would be hard pressed to predict another boom decade like the 1980s.

Before retail can boom, the local economy must improve, Littman said.

"For us to succeed, taxes and inflation rates must fall."

Automobile sales must grow by 2.7 percent, just to maintain the status quo, Littman said. Auto sales must grow by 3 percent for the local economy to grow.

To attract and retain business, Littman said Michigan must be able to compete with other states for businesses.

MICHIGAN'S INCOME tax, which is 28 percent higher than the national average, and property tax, which is 30 percent higher than the national average, need to be reduced, he said.

Workmen's compensation costs — which are also higher in Michigan than in neighboring states — must also be cut.

Littman added Michigan legislators must refrain from increasing the minimum wage beyond federal limits, decrease the inheritance tax and ease intrastate trucking and franchising laws — all of which put a heavy burden on Michigan businesses.

"But there is good news," Littman said. Inflation and interest rates are down, and retail sales have grown at a higher than average rate.

Barbara Bryant, director of the U.S. Census, told retailers the population in southeastern Michigan has shifted substantially during the 1980s. Final numbers are not yet in, but in the last 10 years, Detroit has lost 14 percent of its population, Wayne County, including Detroit, has lost 9 percent, and Oakland has gained 4 percent.

RETAILERS WANT to be near the population so investment will be traditional full-service dealers, Saturn dealers will have more autonomy in tailoring their sales and service facilities to handle the various ways car buyers select, purchase and service their cars.

Saturn's marketing strategy — emphasizing customer service and high quality — is being tailored to compete with the foreign imports that also emphasize those qualities.

Haberek said. "What we're trying to do is bring import buyers back into the GM fold," Haberek said.

Saturn dealerships are being targeted for areas in which the Japanese imports have made their greatest inroads, Haberek said. "The West Coast has the highest penetration of Japanese imports so that's where we'll start."

Haberek said dealerships will be located through a rollout strategy.

Most early Saturn dealerships will be located along the West Coast, with others being added in southwest United States, the Midwest and finally the East Coast.

DONALD HUDLER, Saturn vice president for sales, service and marketing, said at Massie's groundbreaking that Saturn has a difficult task ahead. "We have a tough job, but we have a quiet confidence that we'll succeed."

That confidence stems from what Hudler called "a true partnership." The partnership between General Motors, Saturn management, suppliers, workers and particularly dealers will be the success or failure of Saturn.

Dealers, he continued, played a larger role than is normally found in the manufacturing and marketing of automobiles. Dealers were involved in the development of dealership systems, the advertising and marketing strategy, and even in selecting other dealers, Hudler said.

John Michael, with Saturn United Auto Workers (UAW) Local 1853 and an adviser to the Saturn sales, service and marketing team, said there is a real sense of excitement about the Saturn start-up.

"At one time, the launch was just a vision — just a dream, but with every groundbreaking we're getting closer and closer to making that dream a reality," Michael said.

"The really unique thing about this is that it was done with the UAW as a partner rather than an adversary," he continued. "Normally, when you put these two together, you'd better get a full time ambulance because they'll kill each other."

auto talk

too, might be chided, since while none is deliberately reckless, several are absent minded. The two crashes I have been involved in were caused by my falling asleep at the wheel.

I AM also acutely aware of the progress that has been made in car safety. The car I drove at my daughter's age would certainly have let me be killed in the same crash. A college friend who drove the same model as I did died in a much less serious impact.

Belts. When we went to clean out her belongings at the wrecking yard, another small car with a less-serious dent had the too-familiar softball-size crazing of the windshield in line with the driver's forehead — and a bent steering wheel. In back was an empty child seat.

WE ARE, it seems, in the midst of a rising awareness of vehicle safety. For a long time, the efforts to make cars capable of withstanding truly frightening crashes and still protect the occupants has been a facet of engineering pursued with little glamour. It was the overpowered and underbuilt cars that survived a crash and converted it into a minor inconvenience.

Now, perhaps for the first time in history, a safe car seems easier to sell. For every step forward, however, there are a few inches in reverse.

A good deal of government legislation ignores what is known about engineering to best survive a crash and concentrates instead on efforts to protect those who decline to take the most elementary steps to protect themselves.

MOST of the motorized belts being installed are not as effective, and less likely to be correctly buckled, as a fully tensioned, conventional seat belt with the anchor points designed for best fit. Likewise, the door-mounted belt systems, ludicrously called "passive restraints" are legal but clearly not as good as an old-fashioned belt system. Air bags on the other hand, provide an additional measure of protection that is remarkable. But their real benefit is mainly ignored in favor of the ill-conceived notion that they are merely a convenience feature designed to replace, rather than enhance a proper belt system.

AND THERE still are the idiots in the enthusiast press who arrogantly insist that a skilled driver or superior handling car somehow can add to safety as if that tenth of a second before a build impact, the side is somehow under control.

The reality is that a car crash takes place at a speed faster than the reflexes of the driver and sharpening the reflex does little to change what ultimately is a game of chance. Which is why only when the voice on the phone answers, "Yeah, I'm OK. Nobody was hurt."

Student engineers newspaper trap

Kaji, like many novice inventors, found his suppliers in the telephone directory.

The cardboard boxes, manufactured by Gaylord Container of Plymouth, measure 14-by-16-by-6 inches. The twine assembly is put together on a piecework basis at a workshop in Livonia by the Wayne County Association for the Retarded.

The storage box costs $2, 10 wraps around $4.50. Kaji figures the box will last a year, a wrap-around service a week's worth of papers.

KAJI HAS put production on hold until he can dispose of units piling up in his apartment. Meanwhile, he's applied for a patent on the invention.

"A common reaction is, 'It's so simple, why didn't I invent this?'" he said. "What makes my product unique is it provides a method of tying and bundling."

"It's been a real gratifying experience," Kaji said. "I've gone from concept stage to salable product. I haven't made back my initial investment. I feel I'm close to a lot of things. A lot of business has expressed interest."

Meanwhile, Kaji continues to work on the dissertation for his doctor's degree in political science while promoting the Newspaper Quikwrap.

"Once it's established, I could see myself taking on partners," he said. "They could do it (run business) and I could become an academic. Maybe I could sell licensing rights to a corporation."

For now, Kaji, essentially a one-man operation, goes about promoting the product. And searching for a few sales.

Retailers, economist huddle on business prospects in population growth areas like Oakland and west Wayne counties, she said.

But beyond the mere numbers are other significant factors affecting retail sales, Bryant said. For example, baby boomers are 10 years older. Their needs and wants will change considerably in the 1990s.

"They (baby boomers) will change more in this decade than they have in their entire life," she said.

Baby boomer lifestyles will also change significantly. At the decade's start, most baby boomers were single with no children. In the 1990s, baby boomer needs and wants will shift as they increasingly shop for families.

There are also more single-parent households and double-income families than ever before, Bryant said.

The makeup of the population has also changed significantly in the past decade, Bryant said. The number of people of Asian descent has increased dramatically as a percentage of the population, and Hispanics have grown the most in terms of real numbers.

All factors must be considered by retailers in the 1990s, she said. Those retailers which survive in the 1990s will know their target audiences, be disciplined in their buying and what they offer in the way of service, offer better customer service than presently available, and be respectful of the customer.

Savage beast is stalking our streets and highways

"Dad, I totaled my car" isn't the most shocking phrase call a parent gets, since at least it's the kid's voice on the phone, but it's close enough.

For one reason or another, what seems like a lot of my friends have been getting similar phone calls lately. One was a niece hospitalized with severe injuries after a rollover in a car.

Another not an immediate relative, but a friend's neighbor's kid, drowned along with another teenager on their last date after skidding off the road near Brighton. He says 10 teens have died in high speed accidents in the past year in the area.

MY DAUGHTER was very lucky, after a flat out impact in the neighborhood of 20 mph with the side of a full frame U-M station wagon.

The front of the Dodge Omni she was driving crushed as neatly as a wad of paper, as it is designed to do.

degree in political science while promoting the Newspaper Quikwrap. "Once it's established, I could see myself taking on partners," he said. "They could do it (run business) and I could become an academic. Maybe I could sell licensing rights to a corporation."

Long after the immediate shock wore off, it left a chilling reminder that we still face some dark, savage dangers in the midst of the modern, isolated convenience of driving a car.

Few members of my immediate family have been involved in a serious car accident at any time. This progress that has been made in car safety. The car I drove at my daughter's age would certainly have let me be killed in the same crash. A college friend who drove the same model as I did died in a much less serious impact.

I COULD ALSO add another note to the constant refrain about seat belts. When we went to clean out her belongings at the wrecking yard, another small car with a less-serious dent had the too-familiar softball-size crazing of the windshield in line with the driver's forehead — and a bent steering wheel. In back was an empty child seat.

WE ARE, it seems, in the midst of a rising awareness of vehicle safety. For a long time, the efforts to make cars capable of withstanding truly frightening crashes and still protect the occupants has been a facet of engineering pursued with little

Grandparents' money can build kids' IRAs

Last week I commented on a financial survey that underscored the deep concerns Americans face today.

Many believe that America is fast becoming a third-rate power and is doomed to become a mediocre nation. We owe the world more than $600 billion. The GNP is stagnant.

Superimpose on this bleak picture a massive budgetary problem, inadequate domestic savings, a decaying infrastructure, a failing educational system, a turbulent financial market and a strained economic system, and we have a picture of doom and gloom.

IS THERE some hope? Fortunately, there is, if grandparents with substantial estates are willing to pitch in.

In the past I have frequently argued that the most valuable financial resource is time. If your youngsters can start saving for the future at an early age, they would be able to finance their children's education as well as enjoy a secure retired life.

The problem is that, in early years, young men and women are too burdened with their current commitments to be able to save any significant amounts.

However, their grandparents (and in some instances parents) can start putting money into their children's pension/profit sharing (401(k), Keogh and IRA plans. They can also start saving up money for their grandchildren's college education when the children are very young.

SEVERAL BENEFITS can accrue from such a strategy:

1. Up to $20,000 of these gifts to each child would be gift tax free.

2. The size of the estate would be systematically reduced for estate tax purposes.

3. Money invested in qualified grandchildren's college education when the children are very young.

SEVERAL BENEFITS can accrue from such a strategy:

1. Up to $20,000 of these gifts to each child would be gift tax free.

2. The size of the estate would be systematically reduced for estate tax purposes.

3. Money invested in qualified plans would not be taxed during the year of contribution.

4. These contributions would grow at a compounded rate for the longest possible time.

Clearly, the strategy just described is not for everyone. However, it can be extremely beneficial in those situations where large amounts of money can be used to pay for educational and retirement needs of the children and grandchildren.

Wolves capture national honors

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

After surviving close games to win a regional soccer title, the Michigan Metro Wolves assumed the under-16 national tournament would be just as difficult.

That thinking stood to reason but was just the opposite of what actually happened in Woodbridge, Va., last weekend.

The Wolves, with a roster dominated by Plymouth and Canton players but including others from around the metro area, whipped both opponents to claim the United States National Youth Challenge Cup.

In becoming the first Michigan team to win an under-16 boys national title, the Wolves crushed the Bethesda (Md.) Mustangs 4-1 in the semifinal round Thursday and trounced the Clearwater (Fla.) Chargers 5-1 for the championship Saturday.

"We thought the national tournament was a little easier than the regional," Wolves assistant coach Roy Lerner said. "The competition in Region 2 was stronger, and that's a real feather in the hat of those teams."

THE REGIONAL tournament in Kalamazoo was a struggle by comparison. Metro Magic needed overtime to get past Kansas 2-1 in the semifinal and a shootout to defeat Ohio South in the final.

"Once we got there, our kids were fired," said Lerner of the national event. "They just weren't going to be beaten. We played much better in the nationals, with much more intensity, taking the game to the other teams."

Players on the 17-man roster from the Observer and Eccentric area include Matt Lee, John Truskowski, Kerry Zavagnin, Matt Cook and Chris Hayes of Plymouth; Mike Makowiec, Brendan Sullivan and Scott Lerner of Canton; Jeremy Banks and Travis Roy of Livonia; Tim Webb, Marc Cudnik and Steve Schwartz of Troy; and Matt Werner of West Bloomfield.

Rounding out the team are William Boothe of Lake Orion, Steve Weiger of Dearborn and Craig Abraham of St. Clair Shores. The head coach is John Boots, who also coaches the Redford Catholic Central varsity.

Despite their own confidence, the Wolves were considered underdogs by some estimates, according to Lerner. The Bethesda coach, Guy Fraiture, was quoted in print saying he wasn't impressed after watching film of the Wolves in their regional games, Lerner said.

"But they probably were two of the worst games we played," he said. "Obviously, each region feels it's the favorite, but I think we were the unknown going out there."

the Wolves, they silenced the critics by beating the Mustangs 4-1 behind a three-goal performance by Boothe, who gave Metro Magic a 3-0 lead. Weiger scored the fourth goal.

"We were surprised we were able to handle Bethesda as well as we did," Lerner said. "It gave us confidence. We figured if we could handle them, we could handle any of the other teams."

Fraiture later complimented the Wolves, saying they were one of the biggest teams the Mustangs had played and used their size and speed to good advantage, according to Lerner.

"I think they were taken by surprise by our speed and how good we really were," he said.

In the final, the Wolves trailed 1-0 after Clearwater converted a penalty kick, but it was all Metro Magic after that. Zavagnin scored the tying goal, and Cudnik, Roy, Weiger and Banks enabled the Wolves to win going away.

"That was the turning point when we were able to come back after that penalty kick," Lerner said. The Wolves led 2-1 at halftime.

"WE GOT stronger and stronger, and they got weaker and weaker. From then on (following the Zavagnin goal), it was a relatively easy victory."

The Wolves dominated the final, outshooting the Chargers by a 4-to-1 ratio. Metro Magic took 16 shots to Bethesda's 12 in the semifinal, and

HPLM topples Duffy's

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Derek Darkowski's solid pitching Wednesday indicates he could be the missing link in Hines Park Lincoln Mercury's baseball season.

After playing most of the summer in the Virginia Valley League, he returned home to pitch No. 4-seeded Hines Park past regular-season champion Duffy's Plumbing in the opening round of the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoffs.

The left-handed Darkowski turned in a nine-inning effort, scattering eight hits and striking out nine in Hines Park's 10-3 victory at Ford Field.

Hines Park plays Walter's Home Appliance today at 8 p.m., with Duffy's meeting Wendy's, which lost to Walters 11-4 Wednesday, at 5:30 p.m. The tournament continues Friday, with all games at Ford Field.

"It's nice, when I was done in Virginia, that I could still throw some innings before the summer is over," said Darkowski, who appeared in four early-season games with HPLM to be eligible for the playoffs.

"I FELT pretty strong the whole way through. They got their runs early when I walked somebody and then threw a bad pitch."

Darkowski also walked nine batters and hit two but managed to avoid serious damage, pitching out of bases-loaded situations twice.

"I just threw on Monday in Virginia, so I didn't have a real layoff," he said. "That worked out perfectly. I was able to get my offspeed pitch over. In a couple games in Virginia, I had trouble with it, but it was working well tonight. And I had good defense behind me."

Duffy's was not as fortunate with its pitching as three of the four who saw action combined to issue 10 walks and nine hits.

Doug McGregor started, went 1½ innings and got the loss, giving up four runs on two hits and three walks. John Schefka pitched one inning and didn't fare any better, and Bill Wicker lasted 4½ innings before Davey Jones worked the last inning.

"We couldn't throw strikes," said Duffy's coach Rey Fracassi, who was ejected in the fifth inning for arguing with the umpires. "We had a couple of soft balls that went through on the hard ground. In a tournament, you have to be lucky with everything, and we didn't have it tonight."

DUFFY'S TOOK a 2-1 lead in the second inning, scoring on a wild pitch and Mike Kaczmarek's single, but it was never contest after Hines Park scored five times in the bottom of the inning.

After McGregor walked the bases loaded, John Bonham drew an RBI walk from Schefka, and Dennis Szczecowski followed with a two-run single. Mike Culver's RBI single capped the inning.

Derek Humphries drove in the first run with a sacrifice fly, and Bill Terski's RBI single in the third made it 7-2. Hines Park scored three runs in the fourth on two errors and a wild pitch and had only three hits the rest of the night.

Bonham was 3-for-3 and Szczecowski had two hits. Kevin Adams, who drove in the last run for Duffy's, and Kaczmarek also had two hits apiece.

"(Darkowski) was just a little bit wild, and he hit two, and that's not Derek," Hines Park coach Dave Racer said. "But he mixed well. He was always getting ahead of the batters. He had them hitting his pitches."

Hines Park hopes a different approach will work this year in the playoffs.

After going all out to win the regular-season title last year, the team faltered in the tournament, losing the trip to Johnston, Pa., for the World Series to Walter's.

"This year we knew the league was fairly balanced, and we played the season just to make the playoffs," Racer said. "Winning like we did last year didn't do anything for us. We got a trophy, but it didn't put us in a tournament. This year we just kind of paced ourselves."

Walter's opens impressively, 11-4

By Brad Emons
staff writer

The feeling was back for Walter's Appliance, at least on the first night of the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoffs.

The defending playoff champs, who lost four of their final five regular season games, righted themselves Wednesday at Ford Field with an 11-4 triumph over Wendy's of Ann Arbor.

Walter's advances to today's second round of the LCBL playoffs, where they will meet Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury at 8 p.m. (See story above.)

"Our kids played good defensive ball and they came to the field ready to play," said Walter's manager Mike Keller. "Our defense has been hot and cold this season, but today we played good defense and that results in a good ballgame."

The combination of timely defense (no errors), timely hitting (two homers) and good pitching proved to be too much for Wendy's.

WENDY'S, however, jumped out quickly, scoring three runs in the first inning off Walter's starter David Houghtby.

Ken Kleinschmidt doubled in one run and designated hitter Steve Hirschman, who went 3-for-5 (including a solo homer), added a two-run double.

But Walter's got a run back in the first on an RBI single by Joe Sturtz and tied it in the fourth on an RBI single by catcher Tim Crabtree.

In the sixth, recent Livonia Churchill High grad Jason Gabel drilled a line shot homer over the 341-foot sign in left field (off Wendy's starter Tom Kutcher) and Walter's never looked back.

They added another run in the inning when Sturtz stole home and put the game out of reach in the eighth when Crabtree, the Michigan State University sophomore, belted a three-run homer off Chai Chang. (Walter's also scored twice in the seventh with pinch-hitter James Maruszewski singling in a run.)

"Gabel's homer kind of gave us a lift in the middle of the game when we needed it," said Keller.

HOUGHTBY, the lefty from Livonia Stevenson High who played at Henry Ford Community College, got credit for the victory. He allowed five hits before giving way to fireballer Bob Bullach, who fanned two in the seventh.

But in the eighth, Hirschman homered for Wendy's and put two runners aboard with no outs.

On came Chad Wrona out of the bullpen. The right-hander was effective, retiring six of the final eight batters.

Houghtby threw six good innings, but he got tired and it was time to make a change and bring Bob (Bullach) in," Keller said. "Chad then came in and did a nice job."

"In nine inning tournament games like this, you're going to have to use all 17 players."

The first game of the doubleheader (at 5:30 p.m.) pits regular season champ Duffy's Plumbing against Wendy's. The loser will be eliminated.

East all-stars win lackuster contest

By Brad Emons
staff writer

There were few thrills from Mill, nothing hot on the Stover and no Bells tolling.

In a nutshell, the 10th annual Michigan High School All-Star Football Game Saturday at Spartan Stadium in East Lansing, sponsored by Mr. Goodwrench and Oldsmobile, could have used a few spare parts and a re-generation.

The East, represented by Mill Coleman (Farmington Harrison), Eric Stover (Westland John Glenn) and Ryan Bell (Redford Catholic Central), edged the West, 7-6, in a forgettable afternoon. The game was dragged on for over 2½ hours thanks to several PASS-TV timeouts.

And speaking of pass, the word was a misnomer for both teams. The East squad, with Coleman (5-of-6) and Stover (3-of-5) at quarterback, combined for just 16 attempts through the air, while the West launched only 11.

We were looking to establish the running game before we had the backs, too," said offensive guard Dennis Parker of Redford Bishop Borgess. "I pride myself on pass-blocking, but I like to lower the boom, too."

ONE PLAYER who proved he could dip the shoulder and knock a few heads was Detroit Mackenzie's Jerome Bettis, the 235-pound full-back headed to Notre Dame. He led all rushers with 57 yards in 13 carries.

Bettis scored the East's lone touchdown on a 1-yard plunge with 37 seconds left to play in the first half of this game. Said Coleman: "I think I got it right."

During one practice, Cowen reportedly insisted on using the coin despite an offer from a member of the coaching staff to use a five-dollar bill instead as the spot. Cowen refused.

With a 7-0 lead, the East, coached by Taylor Truman's Jim Clawson, high school football's version of Abe Gihon, went into a shell during the second half.

That prevented such things as a crowsfoot hookup between Stover and Glenn and his arch-rival Johnson from Wayne.

"I thought I had one pass to him, but they wouldn't call interference on the play and we were both upset," said Stover, who is unsure about his football

Like all kickers, Cowen's team-mates soon discovered that he had a few idiosyncrasies.

"I HAD TO hold it (the ball) in a particular spot, get the ball just in front of this penny," said Coleman. "I think I got it right."

During one practice, Cowen reportedly insisted on using the coin despite an offer from a member of the coaching staff to use a five-dollar bill instead as the spot. Cowen refused.

With a 7-0 lead, the East, coached by Taylor Truman's Jim Clawson, high school football's version of Abe Gihon, went into a shell during the second half.

That prevented such things as a crowsfoot hookup between Stover and Glenn and his arch-rival Johnson from Wayne.

"I thought I had one pass to him, but they wouldn't call interference on the play and we were both upset," said Stover, who is unsure about his college plans (either football or baseball). "I know Larry. He doesn't live too far from me. We talked about it (hooking up) all week."

"That's the way it goes," said the Western Michigan-bound Johnson, who is fully-recovered from a knee injury. "It was bang and run. It was a run-oriented attack, but I didn't mind. It was a fun game. At least we won."

"WE CAME IN and accepted each other and the unity helped us win the game," said Ryan Johnson, a linebacker from Plymouth Salem. "There was a lot of camaraderie."

Although the Ryans will go their separate ways, Johnson to Eastern Michigan and Bell to Vandy, they struck up a friendship.

"We were a lot alike in a lot of ways," said Johnson. "And I even got to know Stover a little bit and he was an all right guy. I didn't think we'd get along because he was from Glenn (a league rival) and everything, but he was cool."

The temperature on the field (110 degrees), however, was anything but conducive for football.

Because of the heat, both coaching staffs got the maximums out of their 44-man rosters.

Also from Observerland, representing the East, was Pat Wagner, a 6-3, 230-pound guard from Redford St. Agatha, and Nick Kiffner, a 6-1, 205-pound defensive end from Walled Lake Central. The East's defensive coordinator was Chuck Apap (Walled Lake Western), while Bob Sutter (Farmington Harrison) coached the defensive line.

"I'm very happy because I got to work with some great coaches and great kids," said Apap. "We were very determined today, that was the difference. We wanted to shut them out and we were upset when they (the West) scored."

SHONTE PEOPLES, a multipurpose back from Saginaw Arthur Hill, got the West on the board when he scored on a 4-yard run with 9:35 remaining in the game.

But the West failed in its attempt to take the lead when Detroit County Day safety Mike Mostico broke up Matt Snyder's (Okemos) soft two-point conversion pass in the end zone.

But with six seconds to go, things got interesting when Andrew Schorffhar (Adrian) had a chance to give the West the victory. His 37-yard field attempt, however, never got off the ground, enabling the East to take a 6-0 lead in the series. (Perhaps Schorffhar needed somebody to spot him a pass.)

It was a day for the defenses and not the offense.

West linebacker Zeb Jones of Zeeland, bound for MSU, paced everybody with eight tackles.

Also, the MSU-bound Coleman, one of the state's all-time prolific passers, suffered through an uneven outing in his first Spartan Stadium appearance.

COWEN NEARLY had a TD pass in the second quarter, but tight end Charlie Stumb (Grosse Pointe North) fumbled the ball away just before crossing the plane of the goal line on a 15-yard reception.

"That would be typical of the way things went all day long. The first half went well, we ran a lot of plays," said Wagner. "But in the second half the drives were not working, so we went with something else."

"Once we scored we wanted to eat up a lot of the clock," added the man nicknamed "Thrill."

The game, however, must have sent a chill through the organizers of the game, the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association.

Wolves national champs

Webb, the goalkeeper in both games, recorded six saves.

"Everybody played up to his potential, and the scores are evidence of that," Larner said. "Everybody really put out. Everybody played with the intensity necessary to win."

Larner added the Wolves had spent the last two years preparing for such a moment. The team began four years ago as strictly an under-12 Plymouth/Canton outfit, and Mack-

Howes, Larner, Sullivan and Zavagnin are the holdovers from the original team.

With the current roster in place, the Wolves competed in Europe last summer, the Dallas Cup in April and the Robbie International, the foremost Canadian tournament, on the Fourth of July weekend.

The Wolves were 2-0-1 in Dallas but lost out to Las Vegas United on a goal differential. The United won the Region 4 championship but finished fourth in the national tourney, losing to Bethesda in the consolation game.

"That was evidence of how far we progressed," Larner said.

The Wolves became the first Michigan team to win the Robbie and, playing up a year, captured the Little Caesars Bitch Division title.

"(The Dallas Cup) was like a warmup for us," Larner said. "That was our first outdoor competition. We just wanted to get a jump on the league and prepare for winning the national championship."

What's an advertiser to do?

Ad rates in the News and Free Press are up. Circulation is down. Yet, hundreds of thousands of eager, affluent consumers in the Detroit suburbs need to know what you sell. What should you do?

1. Trust the right numbers.

The Detroit News and Free Press' own figures show suburban circulation of both the dailies and Sunday newspaper is down.

At the same time, SPRING's network of 39 Detroit suburban newspapers offers a solid, stable circulation of 530,000. (That represents more than one million readers!) What's more, all SPRING newspapers are audited by either ABC or CAC.

2. Put your money where it counts.

Even using the DNA's un-audited figures, SPRING delivers Detroit's suburban market at a lower cost per inch and a lower cost per thousand than either the News or the Free Press.

In short, your advertising dollar will pack a bigger punch when you place your ad in SPRING.

3. Switch to SPRING.

Lower your cost per ad. Drop your cost per thousand. Hit your budget. And reach the suburban buyers you want to reach.

Put more SPRING in your next media buy.

One call. One order. One ad. One million readers. One heck-of-a-buy.

Westland teams win tourney titles

The sister Westland Federation I and II teams have a lot in common when it comes to Mickey Mantle-age (15-16 year-olds) baseball.

Each team emerged last weekend with district titles in the first step of the American Amateur Baseball Congress national tournament.

And as fate had it, the two teams met yesterday (Wednesday) in the first round of the AABC regional in Coldwater. (Results of that game will appear in Monday's Observer.)

The nine-team regional at Coldwater wraps up Sunday with the winner advancing to the AABC finals, Aug. 10-14 in Waterbury, Conn.

Coach Jerry Pitcher's Westland I squad is no stranger to Coldwater or the AABC World Series at this stage of the season.

The 1985 and '87 national champions gained their sixth straight district title with a 13-4 rout Sunday of Sterling Heights in the finals at Plymouth Stadium High.

The Little Caesars Amateur Baseball League champs ran their record to 31-8, overcoming an early 1-0 deficit on an RBI double by Andy Gagne, followed by a towering two-run homer by Joe Coughlin to make it 3-1 after one inning.

Westland I never looked back, despite some problems on the mound. Coughlin, the starting pitcher, left after one inning because of a back injury.

Dave Roman came on in relief, holding Sterling Heights the rest of the way on three runs, four hits to go along with four strikeouts to grab the victory.

Manager Chet Kapla's team then won by forfeit against Detroit Renaissance in the second round and invoked the eight-run mercy rule to beat South Lyon in the next outing, 12-4.

Guest player Frank Leamed pitched six strong innings, striking out nine.

GREG TAMAS had two hits to pace the Westland II attack.

Brian McAllister, the victim of three unearned runs, was handed a setback in a 3-2 loss to Mount Clemens, but Westland II rebounded in the double-elimination tourney to beat Mount Clemens in the final, 12-2.

Veterans pace Boyle victory

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Boyle Chevrolet's 9-4 win over AJs in the Livonia Men's Modified Fast-Pitch Softball League playoffs Monday was also a victory for the team's older players.

Boyle, trying to mix younger players with remaining veterans this year, finished second to AJs in the regular season, but Chevy gained a measure of revenge in the latest encounter.

Keith McManaway and Jim Foster crushed six-inning home runs, driving in a combined five runs during the seven-run outburst in which Boyle rallied from a 4-2 deficit.

McManaway, a 29-year-old, power-hitting first baseman, tied the score with a two-run homer to left-center field after Rick Dreher opened the inning with a walk.

Foster celebrated his 35th birthday in style by smacking the game-winning, three-run homer later in the inning.

"HE MADE a nice showing on his birthday," said catcher/coach Dave Brubaker, who also turned 35 earlier this summer. "I think we got rained out on my birthday."

Kesson was on board following a fielder's choice and Baker by way of a walk when Foster crashed his two-out, tie-breaking homer to give Boyle a 7-4 lead.

"McManaway and Foster — you're talking about some big guys, strong dudes," Brubaker said. "They outthrew the coverage."

"The old men still have it. We can hang with these (younger) guys. We're just diehard ballplayers."

The oldest member of the team, 43-year-old, world-class pitcher Al White, contributed substantially to the victory. As the winning pitcher, he brought Boyle back from a three-hit, three-run fourth inning by AJs, allowing only two hits over the last three innings.

"Al White took over and shut 'em down," Brubaker said. "These (younger) guys are still green. They've only played 25 modified games. They were exceptional baseball players, and it takes a little bit of seasoning."

"WE PUT seven guys who are 23 or younger out there. We mix in a couple veterans, and it works out well."

Boyle almost waited too long to pull out the victory. AJs scored first on Tom See's solo homer and led 4-0 after 3½ innings. Ron Sikauskas had an

Spartans to play for Bakes crown

Tim Pietila's goal with two minutes remaining lifted the Spartans to a first-round victory Tuesday in the Metro Summer Hockey League playoffs.

The goal broke a 2-2 deadlock, and Ron Storm scored an empty-net goal as the Spartans beat the Lakers 4-2.

The Spartans will meet the Bulldogs, who defeated the Wildcats 6-3 Tuesday, for the Bakes Conference championship at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Plymouth Ice Arena.

In an Eagle Conference double-header tonight, the first-place Wolverines play the Broncos at 7:30, and the Falcons meet the Huskies at 9.

Mark Isel and Joe Bonnett scored two goals apiece for the Bulldogs. Isel also had one assist. Kevin O'Conner notched two goals and an assist for the Wildcats.

For the Lakers in their loss to the Spartans, Mark Beaufait tallied one goal and one assist.

In the final regular-season game Monday, the Broncos took their first win by outscoring the Falcons 11-10.

Rich Nagy of the Falcons tied the score at 10-10 with a 142 left, but Scott Lock hit the game winner with 42 seconds remaining. It was Lock's third goal of the third period and fourth of the game.

Ed Shepler had three goals and two assists for the winners, and Lock also picked up three assists.

SCOTT BOYZK had three goals and one assist for the Falcons, and Glen Revak and Keith Bozyk recorded two goals and two assists apiece.

In the Huskies' 5-4 win over the Broncos, Mike Murnum scored two goals in the last period Sunday, including the winning goal with 1:09 left.

John Mitter and Jason Glaesmer had one goal and one assist for the Huskies. For the Broncos, Jeff Pendell scored two goals, and Lock's total in this game was one goal, two assists.

Also on Sunday, the Lakers handed the Bulldogs their first loss 6-5 as MSHL commissioner A.J. Baker returned to the ice on behalf of the Lakers, the team he coaches.

Mike Kneiding scored twice for the winners, and Baker and Scott Dersch each had one goal and two assists. Joe Burton scored three goals for the Bulldogs, and Joe Bonnett had two goals and one assist.

The Wolverines nailed down first place Sunday in the Eagle Conference with a 10-3 drubbing of the Falcons. Brian Green scored three goals, and Brian Kryger had two goals and one assist.

The Way Moves

Band looks at love and/or sex

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

THE WAY MOVES is a rock and roll band that sings about love and sex. OK, great, put them in line with 10,000 other groups gracing the face of this earth.

"In a way, we've tried to separate the two," said Jordan, whose band, The Way Moves, open for Concrete Blond tonight at Saint Andrew's Hall in Detroit. "We've tried to explore the difference between love and sex on this album."

Songs on "Favor and Disgrace" (Chameleon) tackle love — "Fall Alone" and "Cry to Me" — and sex — "Sweet Thing" and "Kiss." The numbers, though, are wrapped in a guitar-heavy sound, very reminiscent of a 1970s pop-rock outfit reconfigured into a '90s package.

While The Way Moves' music is straight-forward bravado, the band signals a growing trend of up-and-coming bands turning to tried and true formulas geared toward album-oriented radio.

In The Way Moves' case, the plan appears to be working. The band's LP is receiving air play on WCRN-FM in Boston, no small feat, along with a few other radio stations across the country.

Of course, one might be hasty to write off this phenomenon as one mass kiss-up to radio programmers. Then again, who can blame them.

Without the AOR seal of approval, bands languish on the lower rungs of the music industry.

SEVERAL GREAT groups exist, refusing to compromise artistic integrity. Critics love them, but good reviews don't replace bank notes in the wallet.

The Way Moves, one of the top club acts in Chicago, will perform tonight at Saint Andrew's Hall in Detroit.

"There are songs on the record that are mainstream," Jordan said. "Then there are other songs that are esoteric and soft. Generally, what we're going for is mainstream appeal."

"It is (tough). There are so many times in this business when you get caught in nowhere land." The band The Way Moves came from a keyboard band to a hard-edged outfit.

"We dabbled with keyboards in previous incarnations," Jordan said. "That stuff was a little more foam than beer. Things crafted with technology instead of heart and soul have a shorter lifespan."

The lifespan of The Way Moves increased with the band signing with Chameleon Records. The president of the California-based independent label, Stephen Powers, caught the band when he was with Capitol Records. When he left for Chameleon, he signed Blues.

Holden and Marks' addition to the lineup is credited in changing the direction of The Way Moves from a keyboard band to a hard-edged outfit.

According to Jordan, the key is developing a sound that will endure time.

"Have you heard anything from (the band) a-Ha lately?" Jordan asked rhetorically.

The Way Moves will open for Concrete Blond tonight (Thursday, Aug. 2) at Saint Andrew's Hall, 430 E. Congress, Detroit. For information, call 961-MELT.

Paintings reflect bigger-than-life cars

By Linda Ann Chomin
special writer

FLAMES OF red, yellow and blue leap across the intense paintings of award-winning artist Tom Hale. Drenched in color so vibrant they explode with tremendous force, Hale's paintings command your complete and undying attention.

Hale is the man and mind behind the sensitive, wildly colored, highly detailed paintings of classic collector's cars.

"I try to make my cars bigger than life," he said in an interview at his Farmington Hills home.

Using a car's body paint and chrome as a mirror, Hale's paint brush splashes abstract reflections into his compositions, fully revealing himself: the high-energy level, the sensitivity to nature and its surroundings, and, of course, his love for the automobile.

"I go to auto shows all the time," he said. "I shoot a lot of black and white photography. I record the movement of the reflections in the car's body paint and chrome."

"The reflection is all pure abstraction," he said.

HALE ABSTRACTLY paints trees, silhouettes, anything located in the immediate area — portraying them as if seen through the distortion of a wide-angle lens. This theme is reflected in his hotly painted cars and chrome, which mirror their surroundings.

Midnight blues and washed lavender softly illuminate the backdrops in his paintings. "The backdrops are meant to complement all the hardness of the automobile by adding fantasy," he said.

Hale's paintings are a combination of abstract art and precise realism, the realism noted in the carefully researched depiction of a specific make, model and year of automobile. "The cars are all authentic," he said.

Lining the shelves on one wall of his studio sits a complete library dealing specifically with the automobile.

Hale opened one of the reference books to point out a chrome oval rim that surrounded the headlight of a specific model of Jaguar. "An avid collector will know if this is faked," he said, pointing to the rim around the Jaguar's headlight.

HALE'S DETAILED styling of the automobile is indicative of his background.

After graduating from Art Center College of Design in California, he worked 20 years as a designer for General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors. But frustration eventually overtook him, resulting in a search to express himself. His art is the culmination of his longing for creativity.

"My art is slow and time-consuming," he said. "It took three months to complete the big Cadillac. On average for a painting, it takes close to six weeks."

Hale credits his wife of 27 years, Micki, for the "intensity of her involvement, for sacrificing her interests, her career, for the benefit of what we're doing together."

Hale believes that Micki's dedication to "what we're doing together" is directly responsible for the artist he has become.

"I listen to her a lot more than she realizes," Hale said. "Micki has an innocence about her. She gives me the most-innocent, most-honest opinion I'm going to get, whether it's about a current painting or a business opportunity."

IN 1985, Lee Iacocca, Chrysler Corp. chairman, traveled to the People's Republic of China and Japan with three of Hale's paintings, giving them as gifts to high-ranking government and business leaders. In 1987, Hale was selected to signature membership in the conservative American Watercolor Society. These are only two of his many art honors.

Six of his paintings were commissioned and are on permanent display in the Millender Center in downtown Detroit.

Nine years ago, Hale founded the Concours d'Elegance at Meadow Brook Hall in Rochester Hills. This year, he is chairman of the classic car event (see related story), where his work also will be on display.

When asked for advice he would give aspiring artists, Hale said: "One, to work at your art everyday, whether it's for one hour or 10. You need to work at it everyday. And two, you need to believe in what you are doing and go for it."

As for actual tips, Hale said, "I do most of my drawing with a

Art to highlight auction

The annual Concours d'Elegance at Meadow Brook Hall in Rochester Hills has long track record for a happy marriage of art and automobiles.

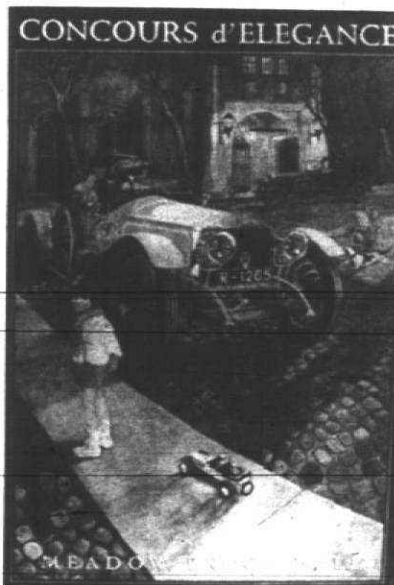

The contemporary paintings shown are concerned with automobiles and, in many minds, the automobiles in this prestigious show are, in every sense, works of art.

The art auction and banquet on Saturday, Aug. 4 preceding the actual Concours on Sunday, Aug. 5, will have a new and exciting element.

Traditionally the high point of the evening has been the sale of the original painting done for the Concours d'Elegance poster.

This year a poster package will be up for bids — the original painting featuring a Rolls Royce London-Edinburgh Silver Ghost plus a silver-plated bronze sculpture of the same automobile, both by Stanley Wanless of Astoria, Ore.

SCANNING THE arts:

• Onward and upward — Work continues on restoring the 129-year-old Newburgh School in Livonia's Greenmead Historical Village to early-20th-century vintage. The one-room schoolhouse, used until 1922, will open Sept. 9. It once stood at Newburgh and Ann Arbor Trail.

A $50,000 state equity grant will cover $50,000 of the $160,000 cost.

Meanwhile, the Livonia Historical Commission plans soon to ask the city council for the go-ahead to seek bids for an architectural survey to restore the 11 original Hill Farm buildings at Greenmead's west end.

"We'll evaluate what needs to be done and recommend priorities for doing it," said Sue Dapfel, commission chairwoman.

The 1989 sale of three acres at the southeast corner of Greenmead to the U.S. Postal Service will help pay for upgrading the farm buildings.

Never weary of talking about her beloved Greenmead, Daniel says:

"I think it's a wonderful place. When restoration of the historic buildings is complete and we begin to put more effort into programming, there's an endless variety of things we can do to have citizens enjoy the past."

"It's such a quiet place. The gardens are lovely. There are lots and lots of different directions that development can go."

Bob Sklar

Therein lies the allure and the potential of Greenmead.

• A classroom bonus — To help teachers make science fun, the innovative Ann Arbor Hands-On Museum is offering a pilot program to schools and community centers in Washtenaw, Wayne and Oakland counties.

The outreach program consists of workshops designed to enrich the science curriculum in grades K-6 through hands-on experiments and demonstrations.

Museum staffers present 45-minute sessions on such topics as the human body, sound, magnetism and light optics. Last year, they visited 11 schools and 700 students; school district stops included Farmington, Livonia and Wayne-Westland.

"Most teachers use the workshops to introduce a curriculum area or to wrap one up," said Cindy Steele, outreach educator. "We offer alternative science programming for teachers who may not have the time or resources that we do."

The workshops are a good way to introduce teachers to the wonders of the museum's 160 hands-on exhibits in science, art and culture.

I've been there and can vouch that the renovated historic firehouse is a great place to take kids in search of fun in an educational setting. Call 1-995-5439 for fees and reservations.

• Budget shakedown — In the wake of a $1.8-million operating deficit for 1990-91, the Detroit Institute of Arts begins a five-day-a-week schedule of Wednesday through Sunday effective next week.

The move will trim $350,000 in expenses from the $30-million operating budget. State funding has been stuck at $16 million for eight years; city funding has been stalled at $500,000 for five years.

Contributions and program revenues are up but not enough to offset inflationary budget increases, said Samuel Sachs II, DIA director.

The cutback in hours didn't come lightly. As Sachs put it: "We refuse to lower the quality of the DIA collection, exhibitions and programs, so the only resort is to trim an already lean annual operating budget and still maintain our strength as Michigan's foremost art resource, ranking among the country's most comprehensive fine arts collections, and featuring a nationally recognized performing arts program."

Westland crafter shapes dolls from days gone by

By Linda Chomin
special writer

WHEN PAM Kovarik talks about her handcrafted, porcelain dolls, her exuberance and energy is contagious enough to make you wonder if the replicas of 18th century dolls have come alive. You will swear that one of them winked.

The deluge of dolls — both German and French, costumed in ivory satin, pearls and lace — fill Pam's Westland home with romanticism and a longing for days gone by.

Two years ago, Pam began making porcelain dolls. Days Gone By is the business, resulting from her work of creating 18th century replicas of porcelain dolls, christening gowns, baby quilts, Victorian lace hats and pillows.

"I will make antique replicas of just about anything," she said.

She spends eight to 10 hours a day working on her creations. "It takes me two months to complete a doll," she said. "The doll's clothing is all handmade. Their bodies can be made of two or three different materials, ranging from muslin cloth, to all porcelain."

"The first step is pouring the liquid into the mold," she said.

DOWNSTAIRS IN her workshop, she demonstrated the next step. The cleaning method begins when the dried greenware is taken from the mold. With her delicate hands, she gently held the doll's head, brushing away with her fingertips any seams or imperfections formed in the mold.

"Greenware will shatter in your hands if you're not careful," she said. "After cleaning the greenware, then it will be fired. Then it will be china-painted."

cours art committee, said he expects this painting/sculpture package by Wanless will command considerably more than the (very respectable) $31,000 that Pete Maier's painting by itself brought last year.

WANLESS, WIDELY recognized as both a painter and a sculptor, has two Rolls Royces in his personal collection.

He was particularly fascinated by the commission to do the London-Edinburgh Silver Ghost, known among collectors as "The Mystery." It is only three feet wide with a 14 1/2-inch wheel base and Wanless said he liked the idea of painting that elegant English automobile against the English architectural setting of Meadow Brook Hall.

In preparation, Wanless made extensive scale drawings and sketches for his two and three-dimensional projects using material from his 5,000-plus volume, auto-book library and many photos supplied by the late Rick Carroll.

He is now working on the 22-foot Seafarers Memorial at the mouth of the Columbia River in the Pacific Ocean. A 14 1/2-foot tide symbolically rises and falls on the bronze, which is dedicated to those who have died at sea. He completed a commission for the National Park Service at Fort Clatsop National Memorial of Lewis and Clark's arrival at the Pacific Ocean and is working on two more large Lewis and Clark Monuments on the Lewis and Clark Trail.

Traditionally the high point . . . has been the sale of the original painting done for the Concours d'Elegance poster.

HALE SAID 12 outstanding automotive artists have been invited to show their work.

In addition to Wanless, they are: Dennis Brown, Diamond Bar, Cal.; Camilo Pardo, Grosse Pointe Park; Ken Dallison, Ontario; Ken Eberts, Temecula, Cal.; Dennis Fritz, Chelsea, N.Y.; Peter Hearsey, The Isle of Man; Dennis Hoyt, Lincoln City, Ore.; Jay Koka, Ontario; J. Paul Nesse, Stillwater, Minn.; and Randy Owens, Vienna, Va. Hale's paintings will be included in the exhibit as well.

paint brush. If I can get the basic lines down and rough them in quickly, I won't have any problems with perspective or proportion later on."

WHEN ASKED about the motivation behind his paintings, Hale said, "I absolutely just love to paint. I've drawn or painted all my life. I was drawing cars at age 7."

"Drawing is so important," Hale said, "I would encourage aspiring artists to learn to draw."

Automotive Magazine, Gale Halderman, director at Ford North American Design Center, and Barbara Heller, head conservator, Detroit Institute of Arts.

Three awards of $1,500 each will be given and other recognition awards will be made.

The Concours d'Elegance, a benefit for Meadow Brook Hall, annually draws about 11,000 people to the famed Matilda Dodge Wilson estate for the one-day event. About 225 of the most treasured collector cars in the world will be on display.

Used items — markers, technical pens, pencils, pens, pad covers, paint tubes, etc. — will be donated

More than 100 exhibitors from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Tennessee, Florida, West Virginia and Ontario will exhibit at the Livonia Wood Carvers Show this weekend.

The 16th annual show will be held Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 4-5, at the Eddie Edgar Sports Arena, 33841 Lyndon.

On display will be decoys, birds, wildlife, miniatures, human figures, whittled pieces, marquetry, relief and chip carving, plus wood-carving tools and supplies.

Hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free. There will be hourly door prizes, carved by the Livonia Wood Carvers Club.

THE LIVONIA Wood Carvers Club is hosting the show. The Livonia

Department of Parks and Recreation sponsors the 300-member club. The club was started 19 years ago by a few wood carvers who brought their work to their weekly senior citizens meeting in Livonia. The interest spread, and now the group has two regular weekly meetings.

A senior citizens group meets each Thursday morning to carve. The evening carving club meets at 7 p.m. Tuesdays. On the third Tuesday evening of every month, the group has speakers, carving sessions and contests.

All groups meet at the Livonia Senior Citizen Activity Center, Five Mile and Farmington roads. For more information about the wood carving show, call the center: 522-2710.

Her dolls provide look at days gone by

This Kovarik doll is dressed in 45-year-old, hand-crocheted lace.

Along the way, she uses china paint to add lashes, and a touch of color to the doll's features. "Then it will be fired again," she said.

After a short pause, she added proudly, "Then it will be adopted."

The dolls eyes are made of glass. All of Pam's dolls are made with porcelain hands and feet, while others also have porcelain arms and legs. The dolls range in price from $30 to $500.

Pam's enthusiasm increased when the attention turned to another of her 18th century replicas, a christening gown that she had made recently for a baby.

"The gown is made of batiste, satin ribbons, pearls and lace, and satin roses," she said, beaming.

Pam Kovarik modeled this doll after her youngest son, Jason.

PAM AND husband, David, who works for Ford Motor Co. have been married 29 years. They have three children, Noel, 27, Mandi, 26, and Jason, 16.

"Sugar Britches was the first doll I made," Pam said. "A lot of the lace that I use comes from Europe, especially Czechoslovakia, where it's hand-crocheted."

Pam sells her creations at art fairs, festivals and private home shows. She recently exhibited in the Farmington-Farmington Hills Founders Festival.

The order time for one of her pieces is "at least two months." Replicas of 18th-century baby blankets start at $50; the lavish ones are $200.

Pam learned the art of making porcelain dolls by attending classes at Dolls by Joyce in Wayne. The school is run by Joyce Murch and husband, Mason.

Today, Pam continues to study the art of dollmaking. "I'm still going to school," she said. "There's so much to learn."

Everywhere you look in Pam's home, you see ivory lace and streams of satin ribbons. From room to room, the china dolls follow you with their eyes. Their porcelain skin blushes as you realize, this is where they come to life.

Monte Nagler

I firmly believe that anyone with an interest in photography can benefit greatly from living with photographs.

AS THE students in my photography classes know, I'm constantly stressing the importance of having photographs hanging in their homes or offices.

I firmly believe that anyone with an interest in photography can benefit greatly from living with photographs.

Let's begin with some of your own pictures. I know that all of you have some favorite slides or prints tucked away that you can't wait to get out and brag about whenever a friend or relative stops over. Well, why not display those favorites?

Perhaps it's that dramatic sunset you just took on your last vacation or the shot of your youngster that captures a special expression of childhood delight.

Whatever the case, it's easy to get pictures up on the wall. Just take those prized slides and negatives to your photo dealer for enlargements.

Any 35mm shot will blow up fine to 8 by 12 without losing quality. Many dealers, local frame shops, even your local K mart, stock pre-cut mats and frames that require minimal effort to assemble.

AS YOUR interest in photography increases, you'll find yourself wanting other photographs to "live with." There may be that memorable shot you fell in love with at the art fair or the striking poster you couldn't resist at the bookstore. Well, why not buy it? Often, a modest investment of dollars will pay big dividends in satisfaction.

You'll discover that living with photographs will keep your level of photographic interest and excitement high. And having photographs to look at constantly will serve as a teaching device... the more you look, the more your knowledge and understanding of photography will increase.

People I know who live with photographs tell me how beneficial it is and how their pictures help keep the creative juices flowing and their appreciation of photography growing.

Try it for yourself... you'll be glad you did. Living with photographs is gratifying indeed.

"Photography" is a regular feature in Creative Living.

Monte Nagler keeps an enlarged version of his photograph of the Great Wall of China on display in his home. It serves as a reminder of a memorable, exciting trip.

Art from '60s revisits Ann Arbor museum

By Jill Hamilton
special writer

Whether you "get" it or not, the pop art and post-art of the 1960s is here to stay. Think about it: Warhol was creating his famous silkscreen Marilyn (Monroe) series almost 30 years ago.

The University of Michigan Museum of Art is currently displaying a collection of works representative of that time called, "The Art of the 1960s: Part I." Every work in the exhibit bears a famous name — Andy Warhol, Jasper Johns, Roy Lichtenstein — an impressive list of some of the most influential artists of that era.

The passage of time has lent a certain air of respectability to these pieces of art that were once so controversial. And while they are now considered mainstream art, they are still quite provocative.

Robert Indiana's 1968 screenprint "Number 8" from the portfolio "Numbers" (pictured) is perhaps the most challenging. It is simply the numeral eight done in four colors — brown, red, light blue and dark blue. Also included is his blue, orange and green "Number 3" from the same series.

These works become most understandable when seen in context with other Indiana works. Most people are probably familiar with Indiana's "Love" series, featuring the letter of the word stacked into a square with the famous tilted letter "o."

There was major exhibition of her large color sculptures at Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum last year. At that time, she said there are many subtle references to the struggles of the Polish people in her work.

Her sculptures are in the permanent collection of the Whitney Museum, the Brooklyn Museum and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

She has a master's degree in art from Columbia University and formerly taught at Yale University.

ward Joseph Ruscha's 1970 lithograph "Lisp" shows to fine effect. On a cheery light blue background, droplets of water (spit?) clearly spell out the word "lisp." It echoes the earlier Dada movement in its focus on not-so-serious subject matter.

Also included in the exhibit is a piece by Roy Lichtenstein, a 1973 screenprint "Untitled" from "The New York Collection for Stockholm Portfolio." It shows a hand pointing directly at the viewer — a la Uncle Sam's "I Want You" posters — done up in bright colors with visible color dots in typical Lichtenstein comic book style. The colors and movement in the piece make for an immediate and riveting effect.

THE WARHOL piece is immediately recognizable to even the most casual art fan. It is black and gray screenprint of Marilyn Monroe from the famous "Marilyn Portfolio."

Warhol makes this particular "Marilyn" his own by adding swatches of color on her cheek and around her eyes. This is pop art at its finest.

The rest of the exhibit — works by Jim Dine, Nam June Paik, Claus Oldenberg and others — is equally fascinating. For those interested in learning about the art of the 1960s, the exhibit is a good place to start.

The Art of the 1960s: Part I is on display through Sunday, Aug. 5, at the University of Michigan Museum of Art, 525 S. University.

Ann Arbor. The museum is closed on Mondays. For information, call 1-764-0395.

Wood sculpture focus — Poland

The Art of Poland Associates of the Detroit Institute of Arts recently purchased "Spoon Altar" by Ursula Karolyszyn von Rydysgard for the Kila's modern art department.

The major part of the funds came from the proceeds of the June 1 Bal Polonais of Detroit.

Zofia Kakarski, chairman of the Art of Poland Associates and Bal Polonais, recently presented the $15,000 check to Jean Hudson, secretary of the board of trustees, Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts.

Among the others who were involved in the project were Alicia Ledwon, vice chairman of the Art of Poland Associates, and Betty Gerisch, chairman of the fund raising committee.

von Rydysgard was born to a Polish farm family in 1942, spent the war years with her family in a forced-labor camp in Germany and came to the United States when she was 10.

There was major exhibition of her large color sculptures at Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum last year.

At that time, she said there are many subtle references to the struggles of the Polish people in her work.

Her sculptures are in the permanent collection of the Whitney Museum, the Brooklyn Museum and the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

She has a master's degree in art from Columbia University and formerly taught at Yale University.

61 artists answered cooperative gallery's call

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

For the nine-member co-lawrence Street Gallery of Pontiac, the first invitational exhibition through Friday, Aug. 3, serves several purposes.

It acquaints the 61 invited artists with the program and it should, by all rights, attract public attention.

This large space is well-suited to a show of this size in which most of the invited are represented by two works. That's a definite plus — two gives a much better idea of what the artist is about than a single piece. The members plan to have this as an annual event and they also hope in the future to make it a juried show. That will help. A juried show generally makes for more even quality and stronger focus.

But for pleasant, middle-of-the-road art of paintings by a variety of area artists, this holds up quite well. And there's no doubt that many people who complain about the outrageous prices charged by big name artists could find attractive paintings here at relatively modest prices.

Particularly refreshing are the acrylics, "Spring" and "Hill Trees" by Danguole Jurgutis of Farmington Hills. Gwen Tomkow of Farmington Hills does right by Michigan in her watercolors "Hope Dunes" and "Bales by Moonlight."

ANN LOVELAND of Orchard Lake is at her best in her large gouache, "Prope." Some of her still life arrangements can get a bit cliché — in "Prope," the linen tablecloth shows how talented Loveland is.

The large collage and mixed media by Troy resident Jean Marie McKnight, "Serenity VIII," really hangs together and has an arresting amber glow about it. A gouache by Nori Geffen of West Bloomfield, "Eden's Inhabitants," is one of the strongest, most painterly works in the show. It's fun to see how well she handles intense, vibrant color.

The contemporary primitives by Arnold Dreifuss of Detroit and the thick oils, "Band" and "Woodward," by Sam Karres of Detroit bring a much-needed level of excitement and dimension to the show. Dreifuss's forays into imaginative fantasy are done with a straightforward, no-nonsense approach. Karres effectively conveys the toughness of Detroit's best-known street.

Next year, maybe 50 artists tops and a juror to weed out the forgettable. Still this is a fine start and definitely worth a leisurely look.

Hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 29 W. Lawrence, Pontiac.

Wood sculpture focus — Poland

The Art of Poland Associates of the Detroit Institute of Arts recently purchased "Spoon Altar" by Ursula Karolyszyn von Rydysgard for the Kila's modern art department.

The major part of the funds came from the proceeds of the June 1 Bal Polonais of Detroit.

Zofia Kakarski, chairman of the Art of Poland Associates and Bal Polonais, recently presented the $15,000 check to Jean Hudson, secretary of the board of trustees, Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts.

Among the others who were involved in the project were Alicia Ledwon, vice chairman of the Art of Poland Associates, and Betty Gerisch, chairman of the fund raising committee.

von Rydysgard was born to a Polish farm family in 1942, spent the war years with her family in a forced-labor camp in Germany and came to the United States when she was 10.

There was major exhibition of her large color sculptures at Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum last year.

At that time, she said there are many subtle references to the struggles of the Polish people in her work.

New house affordability linked to several factors

By Loren K. Swanson
special writer

The decision has already been made to buy a new house, but the question of affordability remains. To figure out how much house you can afford, you must first understand several key terms: down payment, qualifying for a loan and closing costs.

Lenders ask for down payments so that if you default on your loan, the house can be sold and the losses from your transaction can be recovered from the proceeds of the sale. Buyers entering the market for the first time usually must rely on savings or assistance from a relative to accumulate a down payment.

The size of your down payment pays an important role in determining how large a loan you qualify for.

Lenders examine your credit record and the extent to which you are already in debt to determine the maximum monthly payment you can afford.

Most conventional loans (not government-insured) require a 20 percent down payment. But first-time home buyers may not have those kinds of savings. Sources available to them are FHA (Federal Housing Administration) or VA (Veterans Administration) loans.

A loan insured by the FHA normally requires a down payment of 3 percent of the home's appraised value. Their interest rates are generally slightly below those for conventional loans. Qualified FHA borrowers are also required to pay a mortgage insurance premium of 3.5 percent of the total loan amount. A ceiling amount, based on the prevailing home costs in your area in which you are buying, determines the maximum

The VA guarantees loans to people who have served in the armed forces and who qualify financially. No down payment is required if the loan is for $144,000 or less. There is a 1 percent funding fee on VA loans.

Private mortgage insurance (PMI) loans are an option available to those who don't qualify for FHA or VA loans. These loans require a 5-10 percent down payment and are insured by private mortgage companies.

Not all the money you require will be applied to the down payment. A major expense many first-time buyers overlook is settlement or closing costs.

When you apply for a loan, the lender is required by law to provide you with a good-faith estimate of closing costs. Thousands of dollars can be spent in this final step in buying a home.

Closing costs fall in two general categories: points, costs from making the loans, and expenses linked to the actual transfer of property from the seller to you.

Discount points charged by the lender are generally the largest part of your closing costs. One point equals 1 percent of the total loan amount. Points should be a strong consideration in your loan selection. The borrower almost always pays his own points.

Other costs, some of which may be negotiated between the buyer and the seller, include: appraisal fee, attorney's fees, credit report, property survey fee, recording fee, state and local transfer taxes, title search and insurance, and property taxes.

The Michigan Association of CPAs, based in Farmington Hills, also urge prospective home buyers to think also in terms of affordability, investment and tax considerations. CPAs suggest that the total carrying charges of owning a home should not exceed 40 percent of your monthly net income.

If your finances are tight, consider buying a smaller home in a desirable location. You may also want to explore less expensive homes that may involve a longer commute to your place of employment, although these homes may not appreciate as quickly as you would like.

Owning a house can still be a good investment even if the mortgage interest rates exceed the annual appreciation of your house. The reason is simple: In the early years of a mortgage, a larger share of the monthly payment goes to tax-deductible interest rather than principal. In addition, you can generally deduct real estate taxes and points paid to secure a mortgage. What's more, you can defer tax on the gain realized by selling your house by purchasing a house of equal or greater value.

Show time

Curtain rises on media rooms as entertaining stays at home

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

Imagine the explosiveness of "Die Hard" (I or II), the glory of Mozart's music in "Amadeus," the special effects of "Star Wars," the grandeur of Tara in "Gone With the Wind."

Now cram it all that into a 19-inch color television with five-inch speakers in a living room — it's like going to the zoo in the winter.

Now explode the images and sounds onto an 80-inch screen and a surround-sound stereo system and put it in its own room. Call it "in-home theater," call it movies like they're meant to be seen, call it "a media room."

A lot of homes, especially in new construction, are dedicating a room to a media systems," said Robert Hoger, sales manager at Vitex Inc., an audio visual specialist in Commerce Township.

Some enterprising folks may have discovered a simple two-way jack hooks up a television, VCR and stereo system that enables the family room to double as an ersatz movie theater, Hoger said, but that hardly qualifies as a media room.

Most equipment found in media rooms, he said, cannot be bought at the local appliance superstores.

"We work with a lot of specialty products that aren't well known, but are what we need to do the job right."

SPECIAL CUSTOM cabinets, big screen televisions and stereo components built into walls, surround-sound speakers mounted in ceilings, 10-foot screens that drop from the ceiling, projection television in hidden enclosures — all go into making a media room the home entertainment center.

The typical media room, Vitex Inc.'s Hoger said, will cost anywhere from $3,000 to $30,000, but costs can be much higher. Hoger said he is currently working on a project that has cost $70,000 thus far, and may cost $100,000 before it is complete.

The larger systems generally go far beyond the media room. In those projects, several rooms — or perhaps the entire home — is wired for sound with infrared remotes, computer automation or any number of electronic gadgets.

"We're only limited by the customers' imagination and pocketbook," Hoger said.

higher priced homes of the upper and upper-middle class, said David Kellett Jr., vice president with Kellett Construction Co. in Bloomfield Hills.

While hardly common, media rooms are becoming popular in new construction and remodeling or addition projects, Kellett said.

"People who like gadgets and have the money want it all — the cable, the big screen and projection televisions, the stereos — it can be quite extensive."

Screen and projectors dropping from the ceiling, surround-sound stereo systems, deep base, balanced acoustics — it's just like the Jetsons."

ARCHITECTURAL DESIGNER Gail Vandercook, owner of Intrinsic Design in Lapeer County, has designed many homes in Oakland County that include media rooms, she said.

Vandercook designed Kingsley Estate, the Homorama house built by Rochester builder James Joseph.

"I think you have to be a bit of an electronics buff to want this — the whole room can become one electronic gadget," Vandercook said.

"I do a lot of country homes in north Oakland County and you don't see people asking for them there."

"I think the reason you're seeing a lot of them is that a lot of homes have great rooms instead of family rooms."

GREAT ROOMS are the central gathering place in many homes and are not necessarily convenient for watching television or listening to music, she said.

"So we've got the media rooms so things happening in the great room won't interrupt what's going on in the media room."

The media room, with its emphasis on television, music and entertainment, is actually a throwback to the 1950s and 1960s, Vandercook said.

Several decades ago, homes were designed with studies or dens and television rooms, but they were eventually combined into family rooms.

In the 1970s and 1980s, the family and dining rooms joined and evolved into great rooms. Now, as the square footage in homes increases, builders and homeowners are interested in designating a room for home entertainment.

MOST MEDIA rooms are going to be found in the Select lighting fixtures on room-by-room basis

After you have decided on the interior themes, furniture and placement, colors and textures of your new home, you are ready to plan the lighting, according to a designer for Thomas Lighting.

It is helpful to have a blueprint of your new home. While referring to the drawing, list the rooms you wish to include in your lighting plan, as well as the activities that will occur in each room (formal dining, entertaining, conversation, etc.). List the room features, furniture pieces, collections or other items you wish to highlight.

Then place another sheet over your drawing and mark an X where you want decorative lighting, sconces and recessed lighting fixtures. Here are some general guidelines to follow:

- Light colors reflect light; dark colors absorb light. When using deep, rich colors and wood paneling, plan extra lighting in the form of companion wall sconces, a decorative chandelier or recessed accent lighting around the perimeter of the room.
- Warm tones (red, oranges, peaches, yellows, ivories) reflect a flattering light onto the face. Cool colors (blues, greens, grays and darker shades) reflect a less flattering light. In areas such as the bath or bedroom, you may wish to select warm colors for walls, cool colors as accents.
- Brick, stone or other rough wall textures can best be enhanced by a technique called "grazing." A textured wall may be grazed with indirect lighting from sconces, which illuminate upward. A row of recessed lighting fixtures, 10 to 24 inches apart and close to the wall, direct light down the vertical surface to create a stunning pattern of light and shadow.

• Consider the use of dimmer switches for every light in your home. Dimmers allow you to save energy and adjust light to the level desired.

HERE ARE SOME tips for lighting your home room by room.

• Kitchen: Because the kitchen is the site of food preparation, children's activities and paperwork, it requires the greatest amount of light.

Allow three watts per square foot of incandescent sources or about 1 watt per square foot of fluorescent sources for general lighting. A combination of incandescent and fluorescent lighting is ideal.

An island can be illuminated with recessed or track lighting, decorative billiard style fixtures or a simple pendant.

The dining area of a kitchen requires a minimum of 150 watts. Decorative pendants or small chandeliers will fill the bill.

• Dining Room: The lighting for your dining room should be more than a single chandelier. Matching wall sconces provide excellent light that create the illusion of a larger room. Recessed lighting, especially miniature housings, can serve as the hidden sources of accent lighting, positioned above the table and directed toward paintings and furniture.

THE GENERAL rule of thumb for selecting the appropriate sized chandelier is for a 10 by 10 room, an 18-22-inch (diameter) chandelier; for a 12 by 12 room, a 21-26 inch chandelier; for a 14 by 14 room, a 24-32 inch chandelier.

The distance from the table top to the bottom of the fixture should be 30 to 36 inches.

Wall sconces should generally be placed about 68 inches from the floor to the middle of the electrical box. If the sconce is an indirect or halogen source, place it about 76 inches above the floor so the lamp cannot be seen.

• Hallways: Wall sconces provide decorative, effective sources of light for hallways and other areas that may not accommodate a ceiling fixture.

A minimum of 60 watts is suggested.

• Foyer: Selection of lighting for your foyer will depend upon the ceiling height and room dimensions.

A grand, second-story entry foyer requires dramatic lighting with a total of 200-300 watts. A chain-hung lantern or chandelier, supplemented by wall sconces and recessed lighting, would be ideal.

For smaller foyers, surface mounted decorative styles (75-100 watts) should provide ample lighting.

List the features, furniture pieces, collections or other items you wish to highlight.

Real estate investors interested in Midwest

(AP) — The Midwest, California and the Southwest will see the biggest increases in real estate investment in the next two years, leading real estate executives and economists predict.

A study was conducted by Ernst & Young Real Estate Advisory Services and the National Real Estate Index, a computer service that tracks real estate values and rents.

The nationwide survey, mailed in January, compiles responses of 400 real estate specialists to forecast the real estate market for the next five years.

The specialists expect the real estate market to grow more slowly than the consumer price index in the first half of the decade. They expect a sluggish market through 1995, citing recent overbuilding as the major deterrent.

The experts also expect a decline in available capital, including foreign investment. Some respondents expect a catastrophic impact on real estate from the savings and loan crisis, but others believe the largest effect has already been felt.

Despite the overall prediction of a slow market, 28.4 percent of the respondents said their firms would increase investment in the Midwest in the next two years compared with spending in 1989.

BUT IN ONE of the study's contradictions, the specialists appeared less enthusiastic about individual markets in the Midwest. Only one, Chicago, was selected among the top 10 investment markets nationwide, and only two others made the top 30.

— Columbus, Ohio, at 29 and Minneapolis-St. Paul at 30.

"I think part of that's a lack of knowledge," said Michael L. Evans, national director for Real Estate Advisory Services, a branch of Ernst & Young. "I think a lot of people view the Midwest as being Chicago. I think they were looking at the principal cities in each region and perhaps didn't have the information about other cities."

Almost 28 percent of the respondents expect to spend more in California, and 24 percent will invest more heavily in the Southwest, the survey showed.

But 21.4 percent of the specialists expect to spend less on real estate in the Northeast, compared with 17.3 percent who expect to spend more in the region.

That decrease can be traced to the belief of a plurality of the analysts (28.6 percent) that New York City is the most overpriced market in the country for real estate investment.

In another contradiction, Los Angeles finished second in the balloting for most overpriced market but was also identified as the metropolitan market likely to offer the best real estate performance in the next five years.

"I think it reflects the fact that Los Angeles placed high in every category," Evans, who is based in San Francisco, said while in Chicago. "It's just a feeling that the Southern California economy doesn't want to stop. There are probably more cranes per capita in Los Angeles than in any three cities in the country combined."

OTHER MARKETS viewed as overpriced were Boston, chosen by 9.9 percent of the respondents; San Francisco, 7.5 percent; and Washington, 5.8 percent.

Other top overall performers are expected to be Atlanta, Seattle, Washington and Chicago.

The specialists believe Houston offers the best overall potential for real estate investment throughout the next five years. Dallas-Fort Worth was their second choice, followed by Los Angeles, Seattle and Washington.

The survey also examined projected growth in specific property sectors: apartments, warehouses, retail space, and central and suburban office space.

Projected returns are higher for apartments than any other sector, the specialists believe. Projected returns were lowest for suburban office space.

Prospects for building apartments are best in Los Angeles, the specialists said. Atlanta is next, followed by Seattle, San Diego and Washington.

MORE THAN ever, people are spending time at home and that's where they want to be entertained, Hoger said.

"Going out can cost a lot of money, but with video, renting, and cable television, the price of entertaining at home is getting lower."

Equipment, Hoger said, varies with the individual. Big screen televisions are now common in households and are often an integral component of a media room.

THE MAJOR problem presented by big screen televisions, Hoger said, is they are too bulky or large to be concealed.

"The best media room is one where you walk into it and don't know what it is."

"We'll get the customer who wants it to be flashy, to show off the system, but most people want everything hidden until they want it," he said.

Designers get around the "boxiness" of large screen televisions and bulky components by building them into the walls or building special cabinets to conceal them until they're needed, he said.

But projection televisions are becoming a bigger part of media rooms, Hoger said.

"They're more flexible in size — you can make a screen as big or as small as you want."

Projection televisions can also be concealed more easily, he said.

MEDIA ROOMS might also include computerized automation systems that control lights, window blinds, movie screens, televisions and stereo equipment. Some, Hoger said, are even voice-activated.

"You walk into the room, say, 'movie time,' and the lights dim, the shades draw, the projection television and screen drop from the ceiling and the movie starts — it's really impressive," Hoger said. "People like to show them off."

PHASE II CLOSE-OUT!

Isn't It A Shame?

You had no idea, did you, that a seemingly harmless piece of plastic could become an implement of death to an innocent sea creature? Yet it happens, unfortunately, on a grand scale.

Tons of plastic material are lost or dumped into the oceans each year, imperiling the lives of hundreds of thousands of aquatic animals.

Plastic bags, six-pack yokes, fishing nets and other materials can trap fish, mammals, turtles and birds, causing death by drowning or strangulation. Sometimes animals get sick or starve when they eat plastic that they mistake for food.

Pace yourself to help the move

By Monica Perez
special writer

Think of it as an adventure: trashing the things you don't need, paring down to the bare essentials. It may take an active imagination to think of moving as fun, but planning ahead can take some of the groans out of moving. Here are some tips.

One month before:
• Fill out change-of-address cards for friends, family, creditors, publications (usually not forwarded by the post office), clubs and organizations.

• If you're moving out of town, get copies of medical and dental records, including your pet's.

Close out your safety deposit box and organize all personal records: birth and marriage certificates, mortgage records, insurance papers. Gather your children's school records.

• Reserve your time with your moving company or the truck rental if you're moving yourself. Be aware that mid-week moving can be less expensive than weekend, as can moving in non-peak fall to spring months.

• Have a garage sale. Be ruthless in culling items you'll no longer need. Arrange beforehand to have a charity organization pick up leftover items the following day.

• Contact utility companies before your shutoff date. Make sure they have your forwarding address.

• Drain gasoline and oil from power lawn equipment and clean them.

• Organize a box with jewelry and important papers that you want to keep at hand during the move.

The basement stair is shown beneath the second floor stairway.

The formal living and dining rooms extend the full depth of the plan and are positioned to eliminate the wear and tear of daily traffic flow.

The dining room and breakfast room are approximately the same size and are separated by the octagonal kitchen. A bank of closets and pantry are centrally located, and a full bath is available for the first floor daytime use or as a private bath to a bedroom.

The family room is at the rear of the garage. Sunken, it extends to the sun deck and includes a fireplace, a separate stair to the second floor and a wet bar. Laundry facilities are next to the garage entry.

A formal exterior is shown with ornate window and door trim, combined gable and hip roof design and stucco finish.

Plan No. 3320 is computer generated and includes 3,047 square feet of heated area. All W.D. Farmer plans include construction details for energy efficiency and are drawn to meet FHA and VA requirements. For further information, write to W.D. Farmer, P.O. Box 450025, Atlanta, Ga. 30345.
