A program that provides snow shoveling and grass cutting for senior citizens was in jeopardy recently. The Canton Board of Trustees questioned whether the program should be continued. The issue was tabled and will return to the board for a decision likely before the end of the year.

Trustee Bob Shefferly said the program was too important to neglect.

"To me that's something we have to consider and that we have to do," Shefferly said. "These people can't get out and do it and the least we can do is provide the service for them."

Last year 46 residents were involved in the program, said Mike Gouin, Canton recreation director. The seniors who received the service earned less than $10,000 annually for a household

"I think this is one of the programs that we are obligated as a community to follow through and make sure that it is there, Shefferly said.

Supervisor Tom Yack initially recommended against pursuing the program. However, he said sources and bring it back to the board of trustees for a vote.

Light up my life

The Canton Chamber of Commerce invites Canton esses to illuminate their outdoor shrubs and trees with white holiday lights.

The third annual holiday lighting gala will take place at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.
The similar lighting is to create unity among the businesses and to brighten Canton's image.

"We are going to make this one large cooperative effort and show everyone the good Canton has to residents," said Joan Bolek, Canton Chamber of Commerce

Area politicians cheer, fear Engler

By Diane Gale staff writer

John Engler's move into the governor's office brought mixed reactions from Democrats and Republicans in Canton.

Republicans look forward to a change in state politics. However, they note that it likely won't affect the amount of money Canton receives in state funds.

Democrats were nervous about what a Republican governor would mean to the programs they support.

CANTON SUPERVISOR Tom Yack, who ran for office on the Republican ticket, said the governor will have to first deal with the state's deficit.

"It's been a while since we've had Republican leadership in the governor's office and it will create more balance in the legislative process," he said, referring to the state House dominated by Democrats and the state Senate dominated by Republicans.

Engler got just the right send-off for his campaign earlier this year as the first speaker of Canton's Economic Club monthly luncheons. Engler told the crowd that Michigan can do

"We started in the 1980s at the back of the pack and we ended up there as well," he said at the luncheon.

Yack said he was proud Canton got "John's campaign off to a good start.

"It also reflects a more conservative Canton and a general trend toward a more conservative stand on not only economic issues, but social issues as well," Yack said.

Canton Clerk Loren Bennett has long been involved in local Republican politics and his wife Terry Bennett is former chairwoman for the 15th District Republican Party.

"Certainly we have very good access to the state," said Bennett, adding that current legislators, both Democrat and Republican, have represented the township.

"I have some excitement, I support the Republican philosophy and I'm hopeful that with an Engler win there will be a more fair reap-

AREA DEMOCRATS were worried by the election results.

'I'm concerned about what's going to happen to roads," said Wayne County Commissioner Milt Mack, D-Wayne, explaining that county roads are funded from state money.

"One of the big issues is urban sprawl," Mack said. "I'm not sure that Republicans are equipped to deal with that issue.

News of James Blanchard losing came as a blow to state Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, who was closely tied to the Democratic hierarchy in Lansing. The alignment was strongly illustrated when Kosteva was named spons for Blanchard's Michigan Education Trust bill.

"There may be some differences relative to constituent services, projects and grants in that there will be an extra effort," said Kos-

He explained that in the past if there was a problem with roads, for instance, the Michigan Department of Transportation was made up of people who were appointed by the Blanchard administration and were cooperative with local Democrats. "It's not that Engler's people won't be just as cooperative," Kosteva said. "It will be a different team of people involved and it won't be the members of the same team that I am."

Mettetal replaces bumpy runway -

Old strip was dangerous

By Tom Henderson staff writer

Mettetal airport is still up for sale, and it's still at the heart of a controversy between Canton Township and Northville Township. But while the future is bumpy, the present has smoothed out considerably with the installation of a new asphalt runway.

According to Ashley Heimbaugh, the airport's manager, the old run-way, which was about 20 years old, was torn up Tuesday and a new runway put in on Thursday and

Cable gripes tuned in

New system for complaints

staff writer

If you've got those cable television blues, there's relief in sight by way of a township committee that mediates problems.

Twelve residents have filed formal complaints against Omnicom Cable since the Canton Cable Committee established the new program last September.

RESIDENTS COMPLAINED about bad reception; wire equipment problems; cable black-outs; being unable to get cable and charges for a cable guide, which one customer said she doesn't want and doesn't receive.

Omnicom contacted each of the 12 customers to resolve the problems, according to township records. And some, like those who reported bad reception, were easily fixed by replacing defective cable wires.

INDICATIONS OF ARTHRITIS How can you tell if you have arthritis of the knees rathe an a pinched nerve, or the beginning of poor circulation?

First, ask yourself how did the problem come on. In arthritis nitially note pain on walking up or down stairs, or you find difficult to get our of a car, or arise from a chair.

None of these difficulties are present in cases of sciatica or if you suffer from poo

Second, evaluate the nature of your discomfort. Arthritis pain is an ache, concentrated the area of the knee joint. In contrast, nerve injury pain is a numbness that radiates own the leg starting from the thigh and moving to the foot.

Pain from a poor blood supply comes on after you have walked awhile, is sharp, and is ocated, not in the joint, but in either the calf or buttocks. Finally, consider what relieves the pain. In arthritis, resting helps substantially, but takes minutes to hours for the ache to end. In nerve conditions the pain may be worse at rest. In instance of poor blood supply, rest causes the pain to end in moments to minutes, while resuming activity brings the discomfort back immediately.

Roe Street tolerance is needed

To the editor:

I am pleased you are following the controversy over the Roe Street Aftercare Program. The articles from Oct. 3 through 18 attempt to give an objective view. However, the editorial on Thursday, Oct. 18, titled "Tolerance" was especially appreciated. I applaud Dr. Andersen. She has confronted a seeming unsolvable problem - recidivism with drug addiction including alcohol addiction. Her method of helping these people by encouraging a business endeavor may help. How will we know unless we as the public at least tolerate this

The Roe Street controversy has certainly increased the sensitivity of the public to the drug issue. What about further articles on Plymouth's problem with drugs, the impact,

Animal rights column shed light on issue

Over the last several weeks there has been considerable debate in our Plymouth-Canton Observer newspa per over an article written by Jeff Counts. The article, "Animal rights fanatics want to turn the world on its ear," is the focus of the debate.

Clearly the tenor of Mr. Counts' article has stimulated thought. I believe that it intended to stimulate thought. Morever, a good editorial is supposed to stimulate, even provoke hought. Mr. Counts' article was an editorial, it provoked thought and for that he should be commended, not

The question of change in our society whenever it is proposed, and for whatever reason, should be thoroughly discussed.

Clearly, that was recognized by our founding fathers when they established the Bill of Rights, particularly the First Amendment. If those who espouse change cannot defend their position, if they react only with emotion and visceral comments and threats, those of us who are gathering the facts from which to formuate our position should indeed be

The concept being put forth by animal rights activists, whether you believe they are good or not, calls dramatic, permanent change. For all who have yet to decide on the appropriateness of what society is being asked to do, take care not to act on emotion, but be rational and logical. The effects of your decision will be broad and long lasting.

Roasted veggies trendy

Ventured into any trendy restaurants lately? One glance at the menu is all it takes to notice the influence the Southwest is having on our cuisine.

A few weeks back, dinner at Chimayo, Chef Brian Polcyn's new quasi-Tex-Mex spot in downtown Pontiac, turned up Chamo peppers stuffed with three cheeses. Last week, lunch at Chef Ed Janos' upscale Too Chez found another South-of-the-Border stuffed pepper sitting atop a bed of angel hair pasta.

Many of our local eateries are packing up the old steamed and sauteed vegetable routine and replacing what used to be fodder for folks without teeth, with a mixture of roasted vegetables. Grilled green onion strips, shards of carrots, slices of eggplant intermingled with an assortment of green, yellow, red, sweet, tangy, spicy and downright incendiary peppers are the latest food trend to hit the metropolitan Sure, the chefs in these kitchens have $4,000 char-grills. You can easily duplicate chargrilled conditions at home with a $1,500 Jenn Air or $3,500 Gaggenau grill, but what about the folks like you and me with a $299 Harvest Gold Tappan?

THERE ARE SOME tricks left over from my Halloween bag of goodies. For starters, anyone can use a backyard grill to duplicate trendy grilled vegetables. Gas grills are more convenient, and at a recent visit to a discount store, I found a small propane grill discounted from $30 all the way down to $13.99. Resisting the urge to upgrade the Janes Gang's debtridden Visa card, I remembered the old Farberware grill borrowed many moons ago from Momma's fruit cellar. This electric version of the in-home grill produced stunning results.

But not to be outdone with electrics, propane and barbecues, I remembered a visit with international cooking guru Julia Child a few years back and her use of a portable propane torch to singe meringue on a baked Alaska dessert. This intere device, long relegated to a basement or garage workshop, can do wonders for blistering the skins on many of the trendy peppers and vegetables available at any good upscale produce

With the simple flick of a Bic lighter, any basic baked or sauteed vegetable can be brushed with a simple Italian dressing and then torched to glaze with. remarkable results. Better vet. propane torches can be picked up for under $10 at any hardware or building supply shop.

Imagine what flavors can be intermingled into a basic chili by gouging a jalapeno pepper on the tip of a fork and then blistering the skin with the torch. Drop the pepper into a small bag, wrap and allow the skin to steam off, then perform a fine chop and, Voila! Instant flavor. Ditto for green peppers and their flavorful sweet counterparts, the red

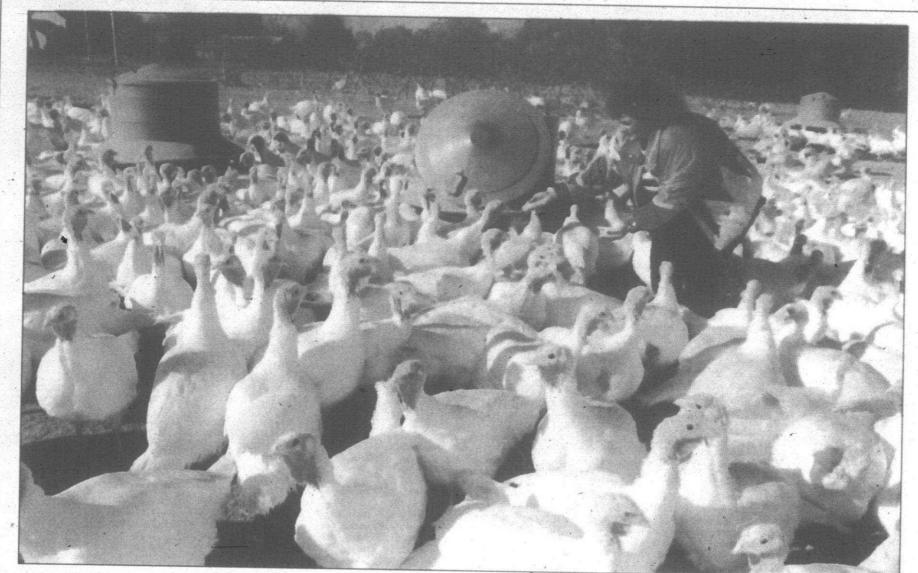

YOURS TRULY likes to slice eggplant about 4-inch thick, place on a greased cookie sheet brush lightly with a bottled Italian dressing, bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes and finish with a subtle glaze of the torch to a delicious golden patina. This will have your vegetable lovers shouting for more. The same procedure can be followed with parboiled carrot slices, plain green onions and fresh nushrooms.

Last week, the torch was used on basic sliced tomatoes topped with chopped basil and a sprinkling of Parmesan. The ssibilities for using a torch in the kitchen are endless.

If you are sick and tired of basic old humdrum veggies, find a grill or torch and get roastin.'

These birds are really fresh

By Arlene Funke special writer

RE YOU LONGING to excuse the pun - gobble a fresh, juicy turkey on Thanksgiving?

At the Roperti Turkey Farm in Livonia, the birds are nourished on a diet of corn, then killed and dressed the day before being sold.

The result is a turkey that is moist, tender and full of flavor, according to Christine Roperti, who runs the farm with her two grown

"Once you have one, you just can't go anywhere else," boasts Ro-perti, a lifelong Livonia resident who attended Ladywood High School and graduated from Bentley

Customers place their orders in advance, then come to the farm to pick up their orders. By Thanksgiving Day, some 4,000 birds will have been sold.

While some people enjoy the convenience of a frozen turkey, turkey connoisseur and cookbook author

Rick Rodgers always prefers a fresh bird.

The taste is full and natural, and I can do without the long defrosting ritual, which invariably leads to a loss of flavorful juices, said Rodgers in "The Turkey Cook-book," published by HarperPeren-

Christine Roperti is the daughter of the late Tom and Mary Roperti, who started a dairy farm in the mid-1940s. After a few years, dairy farming became too strenuous, and Tom Roperti sold his equipment.

Then a friend suggested that he "raise a few turkeys," Christine Roperti said.

He started with 100 and sold to all his friends," she said. "Then he weht to 200, then 500. Now we raise over 4,000 turkeys.

Thanksgiving ritual prompts questions

Some 45 million whole turkeys are eaten each Thanksgiving.

It seems the annual ritual of preparing the sumptuous holiday meal sparks a flurry of questions from

Sweet Lorraine's has good following

Not that many years ago, the stars at 29101 Greenfield were Ron Coden, Charlie Lattimer, Phil Marcus Esser and a host of other top-notch folk art-

That's when the renowned Raven Gallery was in its prime. Today that address belongs to Sweet Lorraine's Cafe and the stars are the yellow fin tuna with Koreaninspired barbecue sauce, Jamaican spicy steak, Cajun burgers, pecan chicken and countless other innovative dishes prepared with the utmostattention and inspiration of Lorraine Platman.

It's to Platman's credit that the mint-colored cafe inspires the same loyalty, almost a reverence, that the Raven once cultivated. Like its predecessor, the cafe provides guests with premium talent: the menu is exciting and the food preparation is superb. There's even a bit of that feeling of camaraderie that once filled the Raven.

On any given night, guests are apt to find the likes of Hungarian goulash soup; pear-and-brie-stuffed enchilladas; avocado tempura; chicken sauteed with cherries, spinach, yellow squash, purple onions and archicoke hearts; and a dessertlike pumpkin cheesecake. Not only are these entrees imaginative and intriguing, but they are put together with such artistry that you feel you can trust the decision to mix ingredents like cherries and squash.

AMONG OUR favorites at Lorraine's are the chicken coated with ground pecans that is sauteed and served with a mustard sauce ($7.95 at lunch and $10.95 at dinner) and the wildly exciting Jamaican strip steak seasoned with hot - and we do mean hot - Carribean spices and then broiled ($11.95 at lunch and $13.95 at dinner). It takes a strong stomach - and a cold beer - to enjoy the steak, but it's such an intensely different taste for steak that we consider it a "must try." By contrast, the pecan chicken delivers what it promises, a delicious and un-controversial entree. Platman obviously enjoys conjuring up all sorts of sauces. Among her specialties are an Indonesian peanut . sauce served with chicken kebobs, a ginger dill sauce accompaning a scallop and shrimp dish, and a spicy creole sauce coating a shrimp and chicken entree. With her sauces, the ordinary becomes sublime. Which is why we couldn't resist trying the yellow fin tuna that was recently featured with a "Korean-in-spired barbecue sauce." The thick cut of tuna had been marinated in rice wine before being broiled. The thick, brown barbecue sauce was placed in a puddle alongside the tuna, giving the diner the option of dipping the tuna - thank goodness.

This sauce, with its ginger and tamari ingredients, was so intense that only a dab was needed to give the tuna a hot, vibrant taste. Definitely interesting, but not for the faint of heart. A cold, oriental noodle viding a refreshingly bland contrast Details.

ten people become defined by a particular skill or talent they have

For example, when I think of Joe Namath, football immediately comes to mind, and when Martha Stewart's name is mentioned, I associate her with eutertaining. If the friends, neighbors and relatives of this week's Winner Dinner Winner were asked to associate her with something, they would surely be unanimous in their choice

Mary Ann Saint, a.k.a. the prizewinning "Cookie Lady," is a widow living in the Bradbury adult community complex in Plymouth. The mother of eight children and grandmother of nine, Saint loves to cook and bake and has more than 500 cookbooks. Although cookies are her specialty, she loves to entertain friends for dinner and recently submitted one of her favorite menus to this column. Featuring turkey meat loaves, a cranberry sweet potato casserole, cabbage salad and prizewinning macaroons, this dinner is as colorful as it is delicious.

SAINT FIRST started entering her cookies in the Michigan State Fair 11 years ago. Since then, she has won numerous awards blue ribbons and even a $300 shopping spree. Her latest honor was a U.S. Savings Bond and certificate from the Archway Cookie Co., citing her for receiving the highest number of points of all the contestants who participat ed in the cookie division at the 1990 Michigan State Fair. Incredibly enough, this is the third time she has won that award.

Needless to say. Saint does do quite a lot of baking but is also involved in other things as well. She has been on the board of directors at Bradbury for three years where they offer many planned activities for the residents. She is also on the board of directors for the Woman's Club of Plymouth which is preparing to celebrate its 98th anniversary. With the holiday season approach ing, Saint is looking forward to host ing her yearly cookie exchange party for the members of her bridge club She recently went on a cruise, and after spending many years of her life raising children is really enjoying herself and having lots of fun.

'Vegetarian Celebrations' is her most efficient book

staff writer

Nava Atlas left home for the Big Apple, with a degree from University of Michigan, and determination to succeed in the art field.

In time she worked in advertising, designed book jackets, book interiors, and decided she ought to tackle the whole package for herself

Her talent and tenacity has since led to publication of three vegetarian cookbooks. Now, she has published her fourth, "Vegetarian Celebrations," which coincided with her most important production of all.

"This was a special book for me," she said, explaining that most of the book was done while she carried Adam, first offspring of Atlas and her husband, Chaim Tabak, also a fine artist. "I did this book very efficiently because I had to finish by Adam's birth," she said.

"I SHIPPEDthe manuscript off one day and the next night my water

With her manuscript complete, and Adam born, Atlas went to work on the design and illustration of "Celebrations" which fortunately was the time Adam slept a lot. Now having passed his first birthday, he needs to be chased around."

For other reasons "Vegetarian Celebrations" is special for Atlas, a vegetarian since age 16.

'Holidays are always a problem for vegetarians and their guests, so invention has to continue as the mother of necessity," she said. Families may want to include their vegetarian members in the fullest '

Nava Atlas' newest cookbook coincided with baby's birth

"Holidays and other special occasions give us a chance to gather with loved ones, reflect on our heritage, celebrate the seasons, enjoy a respite from everyday routines and simply rejoice," said the author.

"And it's hard to think of any celebration in which food isn't central to

Atlas wrote this book for the mother troubled over how to plan a Passover Seder for her new vegetarian stepdaughter, for hosts accommodating vegetarian guests at an overwhelmingly traditional Thanksgiving, and for other similar lead workshops as well as write. Atlas found many semi-vegetarians, and dietary-restricted persons responding. This led her to address the problems of lactose-free diets, low cholesterol and others in her book.

"Vegetarian Celebrations" starts out with the New Year, presenting menus for a curry feast, Japanese New Year and a Southwestern Brunch for New Year's Day.

"The reason I did it in menu style was to benefit busy people and help them organize their time," she said.

Each of her 13 chapters has at least three holiday menus, including Vegan Valentine, a Sephardic Seder, Irish Classics for St. Patrick's Day, a fruitful Mother or Father's Day breakfast, vegetarian barbecue, a family Thanksgiving, Christmas Eve in Southern Italy, Middle Eastern buffet, and substitute main dishes for Thanksgiving Dinner.

Atlas, who said sales are satisfactory so far, hopes "that this will be more of a breakthrough book with its mainstream feeling.'

"This is probably the most indepth book on holiday entertaining for vegetarians and persons who must be milk and/or egg free."
Atlas' other books are "Vegetaria-

"American Harvest" and "The Wholefood Catalog."

Atlas says her next one will combine her writing and design, but the subject is not decided.

6 banana peppers

2 tablespoons Italian salad dressing ¼ cup Monterey Jack cheese, grated 1/4 cup cheddar, grated

6 tablespoons fresh grated Parmesan cheese

Roast the peppers either in the oven, on the grill or with a torch to blister the skins. Place peppers in a brown paper bag, seal and allow to steam for 5 minutes. Shake bag. Split peppers and remove seeds and strings. Brush insides with salad dressing. Divide cheeses and place equal amounts in each pepper. Brush again with salad dressing and bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes or pop under a broiler until cheese melts.

tablespoon dried, crushed paper-thin slices mozzarella cup fresh grated Parmesan Fresh ground black pepper to taste

> Stick tomatoes with a long-handled fork. Using a propane torch, blister the skins and peel. Slice tomatoes 1/4 inch thick and place on a lightly greased baking sheet. Top with slices of mozzarella and sprinkle with Parmesan and just a bit of pepper. Pop under broiler and broil until cheese melts.

Chef's Note: You can do this without blistering and removing the skin, if desired.

CC outduels Chiefs in AA regional final

staff writer

Redford Catholic Central coach Tom Mach offered a concise summation of his football team's 35-22 playoff victory over Plymouth Can-

"Our best defense was our offense," said Mach after the Shamrocks won a Class AA regional championship Saturday at Pontiac Wisner Stadium.

It's not often CC gets caught up in a shootout, but its run-over-them, ball-control offense was more than a match for the Canton defense.

The Shamrocks controlled the clock long enough - and with results - to keep Canton and its potent offense at a disadvantage in a game that saw each team allow a season-high number of points.

"When we got the ball we did something with it," Mach said. "With that (Canton) offense and what they can do with it, that's what we had to

"We did a job when we had to do it. We didn't give their offense too many chances to be on the field. It was really key that our kids came out and played hard-nosed football."

The Shamrocks (9-2) will play Saginaw in the semifinals Saturday at a site that was to be determined Sunday. Canton finishes 9-2.

THE TOTAL yardage was virtually even — CC had 289 yards, the Chiefs 278 — but the Shamrocks' awesome ground attack was the difference in the game.

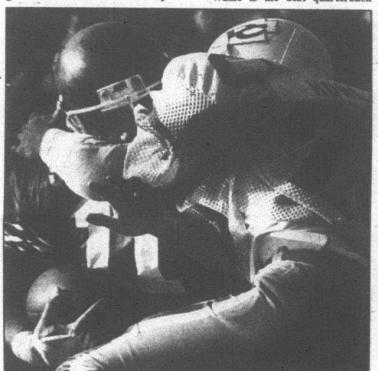

CC rushed for 245 yards with tailback Arshon Stewart getting 164 yards and a touchdown on 31 carries. Bruising fullback Jon Barbara added 70 yards and scored two TDs on 11

"Our offense wanted to control the football and keep it out of (Canton quarterback Karl) Wukie's hands," Barbara said. "I thought we did a good job of that."

When the Chiefs had the ball, they were effective for the most part, and Wukie was largely responsible for

He passed for all three Canton touchdowns, completing 13 of 21 passes for 107 yards, and he also rushed for 102 yards on 11 carries, often taking the CC defense by surprise with his scrambling.

"Wukie is the best quarterback

Canton defensive back Steve Hohl puts a hit on CC fullback Jon Barbara, who was instrumental in the Shamrocks control of the football on the ground.

we've faced all season," CC defensive coordinator Rich Coratti said. "Our defense was hoping the offense could control the ball and keep it out of his hands."

"Wukie is a good quarterback; we knew that," CC defensive end Brian Chaney said. "A lot of times our secondary was getting caught downfield when he was scrambling and he got good yardage."

CANTON COACH Bob Khoenle's biggest pre-game concern was the match up between his defense and the CC offense, which had a 40pounds-per-man advantage in the line. But the Shamrocks were unstoppable on the ground, and that worry became reality.

"I knew they were going to do this to us," Khoenle said. "I was going down to Massillon (Ohio) and get six kids to play, but I couldn't get them across the border.

"We thought we could score if we got the ball, but we never got it. We weren't big enough to take on all of that. I'm not knocking our defense, but our kids are comparatively

The Shamrocks had scoring drives that consisted of 10, nine, 11 and eight plays and covered 67, 63, 64 and 60 yards, leading to their first four TDs.

CC scored off-the opening kickoff on quarterback Jason Carr's 1-yard sneak. But the Chiefs, after losing a fumble on their first play, tied the score when Wukie tossed the first of two TD passes to Mike Wougamon covering 6 and 5 yards.

But each time Canton scored the Shamrocks always had an answer.

"It was a matter of momentum," Mach said. "What I was happy with is we kept coming at them offensively and putting points on the boards."
STEWART DASHED 6 yards around end, and Kerry Zavagnin's extra-point kick gave CC a 14-7 halftime lead. The Chiefs held CC late in the half, and Zavagnin's 41-yard field goal attempt was wide.

Canton had started a drive with the second-half kick, but Wukie was sacked and Dan Gusoff recovered the ensuing fumble for the Shamrocks. CC converted with Barbara running over three defensive backs and bulling into the end zone from 11 vards out.

"Arshon Stewart had a great game, and Jon Barbara had a fantastic run on the third TD," Mach said. That was real key, to put points on the board at that time.'

The Chiefs rallied again, however. A clipping penalty nullified Wukie's 32-yard scoring run, but Canton eventually got the points with his 5-yard pass to Brett Howell, who caught eight passes for 62 yards.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Karl Wukie scrambles for some of his 102 rushing yards Saturday in the Class AA playoff game at Wisner Stadium. Wukie also passed for 107 yards and three touchdowns, but the Chiefs lost, 35-22.

"Our turnover hurt us psychologi-cally," Khoenle said, "but we got the ball again and made it 21-14 with eight minutes to go. I really think if we had held them and gotten the ball

we could have scored again. "Of course, that's all speculation. But because of what we were doing and how we were doing it, I think we could have done it."

Instead, CC responded once more to Canton's challenge. Barbara's second TD run made it 28-14 with 3:54 remaining

THE CHIEFS threw incomplete passes on four consecutive downs and gave CC the ball at the Canton 14 with 3:16 to play. The Shamrocks scored in three plays, Jeff Tibaldi getting the TD on a 1-yard carry.

"I never thought the game was over, even when we had 35 points," Mach said. "Throughout the game, until the end, I felt we had to keep moving on the ground and keep their offense off the field.

"What we did to stop them didn't work as well as we thought, but credit goes to their offense and the quarterback. The way he handles things, anybody would have a hard time controlling him."

Wukie showed why as he directed a five-play, 64-yard drive that ended with 30 seconds left, the Chiefs making the score more respectable (35-22) on Wougamon's second TD reception and Wukie's conversion run.

'We had a great year, won a playoff game and got to the regional final," Khoenle said. "Hopefully, we'll be able to continue this in the future. We also found another year of eligibility for Wukie.

'We felt privileged to play them, and I thought our kids did a pretty good job considering everything."

Salem lives up to top seeding, 49-46

Balanced attack propels Rocks to playoff title

By Brad Emons staff writer

The perspiration was still beading down Fred Thomann's forehead following Saturday night's Western Lakes Activities Association girls basketball final at Northville High.

His Plymouth Salem Rocks took control of things in the second half and then held off a late desperation rally by Livonia Franklin to win their fourth WLAA crown in six years, 49-46.

"For us to step out and get 49 points against a team as talented as Franklin is a good performance for us," said Thomann, whose team finished the regular season at 17-3 overall. "But I didn't know if that was going to be enough against a team like that."

It was more than enough, but the win didn't come without some anx-

Franklin trailed by as many as 14 points late in the third quarter, but began to chip away in the final period with some full-court pressure.

Junior guard Dawn Warner, who led all scorers with 18 points, fired in a three-pointer with 31 seconds left to cut the deficit to 49-44. (She tater fouled out.)

SALEM, meanwhile, couldn't quite seal the final outcome, missing six straight free throws in the final 48 seconds. (The Rocks hit only 15 of 30 for the game.)

Franklin's Tracy Parenti then converted two free throws with six seconds remaining to pull Franklin within three. The Patriots got the ball back after another missed Salem foul shot with three seconds to go, but Patty Shea's desperation heave from nearly three-quarters court failed to hit the backboard as time expired.

It wasn't really a Salem escape, however, because the Rocks lived up to their No. 1 seeding going into the WLAA playoffs. (Franklin was seeded No. 3 in the eight-team bracket.)

"In the second and third quarters our inside players did a great job of controlling the basketball game," said Thomann. "And Emily Guiliani did a nice job inside and good job finishing the plays. She had a great first and second quarter. She also caught the ball nice."

The Rocks used a balanced attack, getting a team-high 14 points from sixth woman Giuliani, the 6-foot junior, and 12 from Betsy McAllister.

Sophomore forward Yolanda Jackson, who gave Franklin fits on the boards before fouling out with $34 left in the game, contributed 10, while senior forward Sarah Ruete

"THAT'S BEEN THE story of our team all year long," Thomann said.

"They all did a nice job." Point-guard Christy Parmucha scored only three points, but was a steadying influence for the Rocks.

"That's as good a floor game as she's played this year," said the Salem coach. "In the second half she played with good court recognition."

Salem trailed 15-10 after one quarter, but the Rocks' match-up zone defense began to take its toll on the Patriots in the second and third

The Rocks enjoyed a 28-26 halftime lead after a basket by Guiliani and a free throw by Ruete, each coming with one second left.

The third quarter was all Rocks, as they outscored Franklin 17-5 to take a commanding 45-32 advan-

Franklin's Julianne Stesiak, who chipped in with 10 points, had the Patriots' only one field goal in the third quarter. Franklin shot a dismal 10 percent during the stretch.

"It was a combination of us going dead in the third period and our offensive rebounding," said Franklin coach Dan Freeman. "We got killed on the offensive boards. We had only five the whole game.

"(AGAINST THE ZONE) we were not moving. You can't stand and beat a zone, you've got to send cutters through. I was not pleased with the third quarter at all, although we came back nicely in the fourth quarter. But you can't afford to have a quarter like that against a team like Salem and expect to win."

Freeman said a lot of the credit goes to Salem's defense."

They made some adjustments defensively from the last time we played them (a 52-46 overtime loss) and it took us awhile to adjust to their adjustments," he said.

Salem was able to keep Warner, who was coming off 40- and 29-point efforts in two previous playoff games, from going on another scoring binge.

"Dawn had come in on a roll and we had to tilt our defense toward her," explained Thomann. "But sometimes that puts your defense in a bind."

"Even with Dawn scoring 18, they

(Salem) took her out of the game," said the Franklin coach. "They did a good job of doing what they had to do

The season, however, is not finished for Franklin or Salem. Both teams are favored to win their respective districts tournaments, which open all around the state tonight.

Let's see now. According to coach Pat Duthie, North Farmington doesn't have to win another league championship in girls swimming for at least 36 years.

The rest of the Western Lakes Ac tivities Association will be happy to hear that after the Raiders won their econd straight title and third in the ast four years Friday. North has become the dominant power in a league where stiff compeition each season makes it difficult for teams to establish an impressive record like the Raiders have. "It's hard to have a dynasty in this eague." Duthie said. "If you win one, that's 12 years worth. This eague is so tough.

"When you win it, you've really done something. We have five great swim teams in this league and others that are coming along. You're also up against great coaches."

ONE OF those coaches and teams was Salem's Chuck Olson and the host Rocks, who were runners-up North compiled 506 points, Salem 459 1/2. First-division finishers included Northville (4011/2), Livonia Stevenson (386), three-event winner Plymouth Canton (373) and Farmngton Hills Harrison (222).

The Raiders entered Friday's finals as the favorite, but Salem wasn't merely concerned about chas ing North.

"Opponents," said Olson, empha had enough depth, certainly enough wimmers, that we ought to be able to swim well here

"When (Duthie) has one of the top teams in the state, he ought to win this. He's got some good kids over there. We were hoping he'd leave some of them home, but they swam real well tonight."

One who did was North senior Kerry Doran, who won the 200-yard individual medley (2:12.52) and the outterfly (1:00.17) and helped the Raiders win two of three relay

RECYCLING IS GOOD

Overcrowded landfills. Garbage

barges no one wants to deal with. Terminal trash.

News.

The good news? More and more people, businesses and industries are finding ways to recycle. It takes more than 6,000 tons of newsprint each year to print The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers plus a number of other publications, so we're doing a number of things to help the solid waste situation: 1. For years we've sold our waste newsprint to a recycling firm.

2.25% of the newsprint we print on is recycled and we're increasing this amount by another 25% this year.

3. Our employees have begun to routinely put officer paper (memos. computer paper, waste copy paper) in recycle bins instead of waste baskets.

Of course, we still deliver thousands of newspapers twice each week. It's our business to bring you news of your local government, schools, sports scene and community events; the news you need to know.

And when you're finished reading your hometown newspaper there are places that will recycle them.

We've listed a few for you on this page because we think recycling is Good News.

Here is a list of recycling centers in or near The Observer & Eccentric circulation area. Please call the center nearest you for guidance in preparing your recyclables

What do an apple, a cow, and a car door have in common?

Recycled newspapers play a role in all three. Apple growers in the northwest use recycled newsprint for packing, farmers use it for bedding instead of straw and auto manufacturers use it in

There are many uses for your used newspapers. iwhy not start saving them today?

IN THE 1950s, THE NUMBER OF NEW HOMES WAS ON THE RISE. NOW IT'S THE NUMBER OF NEW HOMELESS.

EACH YEAR, THERE ARE OVER 25,000 HOMELESS IN SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN.

Every night nearly 1,200 people sleep on the streets of Metro Detroit...in fear and loneliness. Now, more than ever, the United Way Torch Drive needs your donation to help organizations, like the Coalition on Temporary Shelter and Salvation Army, provide a safe and caring place for the homeless to go. Plus your contribution will aid the hungry, work with troubled youths and more. Please, this year, give generously to the United Way Torch Drive. Because for thousands, there really is no place like home.

A grand retreat in Grand Rapids - Ohio

Situated on the outskirts of Grand Rapids, Ohio, The Kerr House was tion owner of the general store, B.F. Kerr.

By Debbie Sklar

Sunny Arizona and posh California may have their share of beauty spas that cater to the rich and fa-mous, but the Midwest has its own shining star right smack dab in Grand Rapids . . . Ohio, that is.

When the Kerr House first opened its doors to the world in January 1980, the world couldn't believe someone would open a spa in the Midwest.

Who would go to the Midwest when they could go to the West Coast or sunny South? Specifically, who would go to Grand Rapids, Ohio, a restored canal town along the banks of the Maumee River, about 25 miles southwest of Toledo and 75 miles southwest of Detroit?

Ten years later, the questions have been answered. Smart people go to the Midwest, people who want to feel their best, improve their lifestyle, enjoy a vacation and return to work relaxed and enerand experience the warmth of the heart of America.

"As a matter of fact, people travel great distances to receive the benefits The Kerr House provides," said owner and manager Laurie Hostetler.

Guests come from all over the United States, including Hawaii and Alaska, not to mention such foreign locales as Australia, Japan, England, Brazil and France. Some guests return with friends or members of their families; some prefer to come alone and get away from

AND KERR House is a world unto itself, according to Hostetler.

It was a cold winter day in 1977, when Hostetler, an enthusiastic curly-haired former Girl Scout leader and yoga teacher, happened across a perfect Victorian mansion on the outskirts of tiny Grand Rapids. It was suffering from extreme neglect, but with the foresight she would later apply to her guests, she could see the perfect specimen it would become with an ample application of loving care.

The home was built in 1880 by the town's first and foremost merchant, not to mention owner of the general store, B.F. Kerr. His benign and bearded presence beams down from the parlor wall, making you wonder what he would think if only he could see his very proper home host to changing groups of liberated ladies in various states of dress padding to the sauna or a

Whether you've driven 50 miles or flown 3,000 miles to get to The Kerr House, you step back in time when you cross over the threshold.

Hostetler said everything in the old home is sturdy and usable and the experience is such that even people who don't care for antiques love The Kerr House

"The comfort and luxurious interior makes them feel right at home," Hotstetler said.

THE FIREPLACES are outstanding with fine woods, beautiful carvings and sculptured tile accents. Two of the fireplaces have divided flues that wrap around breathtaking stained glass windows. Another stained glass widow is over the double doors in the entry, filled with the original furnishings of B.F. and Ann Kerr.

One of the five bathrooms has the original copper bathtub in a walnut frame. And, in fact, the wood throughout the house is to be treasured. The 12-foot ceilings and 10-foot high carved doors lend a feeling of spaciousness.

The loft is huge room (2,500 the roof preserved. The walls, ceiling and carpet are a soft blue, giving many guests the feeling they've

Lace curtains are snuggled inside massive carved cherry or walnut window frames. The finely polished woodwork and carved door frames are finished the same inside the closets as on the outside Yes, the home itself is lovely, but why is The Kerr House so special?

According to Hostetler, the answer is that there are only six to eight guests a week, allowing a warmth among people and continuity of a program that has been called "outstanding" by many

The people who work with the guests genuinely care and are experts at making each one feel special, Hostetler said.

The Kerr House program offers an exercise regime, teaches guests to breathe deeply, how to feel a balance between the mind and body and feel the excitement of functioning at peak capacity on

The Kerr House's primary and most effective - program is five days - Sunday evening through Friday - but weekend packages are available. Shared rooms with shared baths cost $2,150 for five days. A two-day weekend costs $575. For more information or to make reservations, call (419) 832-1733.

Antiques abound in The Kerr House and Victorian features like fireplaces with carved wood mantles and sculptured tile accents have been restored to their former beauty.

In the parlour, guests can lounge on a traditional Victorian set ee with matching armchairs. Some of the furniture in the home dates back to the original owners, B.F. and "Reversal of Fortune" (C-, R, 110 minutes) is a maudlin melodrama that quickly looses sight of its major rationale - Constitutional protections must be guarded with great care no matter how despicable the protected may be. Certainly, the von Bulow family portrayed here have no redeeming characteristics to attract viewers.

This slick production takes a look at the issues in the widely-reported case of Claus von Bulow (Jeremy Irons), accused of attempted-murder cf his wealthy wife, Sonny (Glenn Close). On the run with Run Westy Run

By Larry O'Connor

Run Westy Run is a garage band. Except one wouldn't want to park a Cadillac where this Minneapolis utfit is performing.

Doors might get scratched and the hubcaps could end up missing. Run Westy Run is one of those groups that can be a bit reckless. Their bumper-car frenzy stage presence has earned them kudos in praire-land and beyond. In the studio, the band works in the meticulous manner of a chopshop being scoped out by the cops. This leads to some rather frentic, skittering guitar music that reveals flashes of brilliance along with its fair share of blemishes on "Green Cat Island" - the band's latest LP on Twin/Tone. Lead sing-

ROOM TO ROAM

 Waterboys The Waterboys' last album, "Fisherman's Blues," was an Irish postcard ripe with images of the auld sod and Guinness-induced poetry by Mike Scott. The LP marked a change of direction for the Waterboys, who seemed to prefer sonic anthems until then.

On "Room to Roam," the Waterboys have decided to stick around for another pint of stout. This LP. on Chrysalis/Ensign, delves deeper into area of Celtic folk with homespun ditties from Eire. Not content with sounding only a bit "trad," the Waterboys go the full dolin. For the most part, the band pulls this off - again - with a great deal of charm and eloquence. Numbers like "The Raggle Taggle Gypsy" and "Room to Roam" have an undeniable knee-slapping quality to them, whereas the fiddle-happy "Natural Blues Bridge" runs dan-

This should be a major concern for Waterboys fans. Yet, when Scott sings the flute wispy, "A Man is in distance with music filled with tin Love," there is a warmth and sincerwhistles, accordion, fiddle and manity that transcends the lack of verve in the overall tonality of the album. "Room to Roam" is very much about discovery for Scott, who sings "I'm starting to see a bigger picture/I'm starting to color it in. Scott explores those feelings more to be a rock band.

According to their press release, if we can believe Sire records highly excitable publicity department, the band then became fabulously popular in England, racking up hits in the Top-40 and being praised by New Music Express and Sounds as a "Hope for the '90s." One of their conin depth on "Something That Is Gone," where he does a great deal of certs in England was described as a soul-searching with the somewhat "near-riotous affair."

For once, a record company press department doesn't seem to be yammering away about nothing. Ride is worthy of the praise. The band takes on a tired genre (in this journey. And something tells us Mike case psychedelia) and adds a distinctive and original spin to it. Their songs are heavy on guitars

A wedding ring and a couple of children can change a guy. Just ask Jeff Allen-Mishler. "When I was drinking heavily and single, I would talk about drinking heavily and being single," Allen-Mishler said.

Today, Allen-Mishler's observational style of humor speaks about family, trying to make ends meet and living straight in a crazy world. One-liners are at a minimum. Allen-Mishler doesn't sit down to write; telling stories comes

Jeremy Irons plays Claus von Bulow in director Barbet Schroeder's "Reversal of Fortune," the true story of von Bulow and his retrial for the attempted murder of his wife

Toronto serves up a feast for film lovers

By Raiph Valdez and Martin Bandyke special writers

There's no other celebration of film in North America like Toronto's annual Festival of Festivals. Every fall, a mere four-hour car or train ride will put you in a movie lover's paradise.

This year, the 15th edition of the fest served up nearly 300 films from 44 countries. Everyone in the industry, from low budget directors to mega-buck movie stars, converges at Canada's movie mecca, heightening the excitement of this 10-day party.

It's the place to go to get a jump on some of the newest and the best releases of 1990, many of which have and will make it to Detroit in the coming months.

Dennis Hopper's latest effort, "The Hot Spot," has already showed up in the metropolitan area. Hopper returns to the director chair for the first time since "Colors" with an infinitely more satisfying film noir tale of lust, blackmail and murder.

Don Johnson is Harry Madox, a smug drifter whose number one love interest is the innocent, young and unattainable beauty Gloria (Jennifer Connelly). But Harry meets more than his match in local vamp Dolly Harshaw (Virginia Marsden).

THE TRIO tangle in Texas heat to an unforgettable coundtrack featuring Miles Davis jamming with John Lee Hooker and Taj Mahal in a music lover's dream.

Dealing with subject matter that could easily become overwrought and hackneyes, director Bertrand Tavernier masterfully avoids shallow melodrama and pursues deeper emotions in "Daddy Nostalgy."

Dirk Bogarde, in his first movie role since Fassbinder's 1978 film "despair," is Caroline's (Jane Birkin) seriouely ill "Daddy."

Caroline's extended visit brings out the sweet camaraderie between father and daughter, not shared by Miche (Odette Laure), Daddy's devoted but uptight wife and Caroline's mother. Exquisitely natural dialogue and commanding performances, especially by Bogarde, help carry this powerful, yet contemplative work.

Dysfunctional, the latest American buzzword, aptly describes the articulate but whacked-out characters in the suburban tragic comedies of Long Island newcomer, director Hal Hartley. Last year's "The Unbelievable Truth" set the stage for the modern misanthropes that people Hartley's films.

THE JOKE MAY stay the same, but the punch line is ever changing, firmly establishing Hartley's twisted Americana as a fresh vision with both style and substance.

Director AkiKaurismaki's perfectly realized, heavily ironic comedy "I Hired a Contract Killer" features the welcome return of veteran French actor Jean-Pierre Leaud, star of such classics as Truffaut's "The 400 Blows" and Godard's "Masculine Feminine."

Unjustly fired from his job and deeply despondent, Jean-Pierre hires a contract killer to execute himself, then unexpectedly falls in love and decides that life is worth living again. The trouble is that he can't find his prospective murderer in order to call off his own killing.

Leaud is simply brilliant, his halting English and priceless facial expressions evoking sympathetic laughter.

Director Barbet Schroeder came up with one of the festival's most memorable and enjoyable films, "Reversal of Fortune," the true story of the widely hated Claud von Bulow and his retrial for the attempted murder of his wife Sunny.

In Schroeder's increasingly talented hands, the engagingly quirky tale unfolds with striking performances from the perfectly sardonic Jeremy Irons as Claus, Glenn Close as the tragic Sunny and the supercharged Ron Silver as Claus's defense attorney, Alan Dershowitz.

SUBLIME AMBIGUITIES abound in possibly the most objective telling of the mystery everyone thinks they've already solved.

Director's Monika Treut, Richard Kwietniowski, Pauline Chan, Peggy Ahwesh and Keith Sandborn have come up with a program of short films that kicks off with Treut's "Annie," a charming but lightweight documentary about porn queen and now performance artist Annie Sprinkle.

The following three films are increasingly audacious and inventive. Kwietniowski's "Flames of Passion" is an experimental, black and white, boy meets boy love story set in a train station with hypnotic images and music. Chan's "The Space Between the Door and the Floor" recounts a man's erotic obsesssion with a woman's underarm hair.

Ahwesh and Sandborn's "The Deadman", based on "Le Mort" by author Georges Bataille, is a truly bizarre and original piece of transgressive cinema. After the death of her lover, a woman seeks out the farthest reaches of sexuality and depravity. This naively grotesque and peversely funny work comes from the afflicted minds of two young New Yorkers.

IN THE EARLY 1960s, London's rough East End was the feared home turf of the infamous Kray twins. nightclub owning gangsters whose strangeness and cruelty was legendary.

In director Peter Medak's "The Krays," the brothers' rapid rise and fall is skillfully rendered by Martin and Gary Kemp, ex of the "new romantic" musical combo Spandau Ballet. Renowned stage and screen actress Billie Whitelaw brings an incredible mixture of cynicism and warmth to the difficult role of the cold-blooded twins' smothering mother.

Walking a fine line between trash and treasure, Medak's stylish psycho-drama is most successful when the mood is dark and probing and the sentimental cliches are at a minimum.

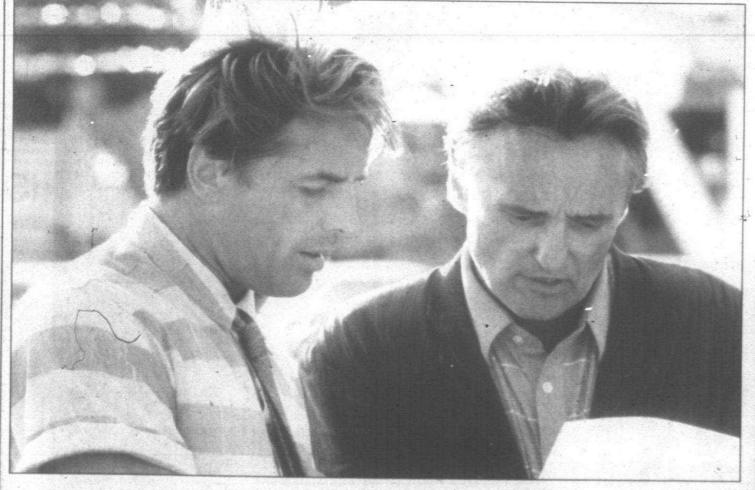

The ultimate irony of director Chuck Workman's "Superstar," a film biography of Andy Warhol, is that Warhol himself would probably have loved the fact that it's really quite bad. Far from a labor of love, Workman was commissioned to make a documentary film about an important artist- and that's all he did.

Attesting to the importance of Warhol's life and work is the fact that this film has a hard time being ruined by the director's lack of talent. Great footage of the Velvet Underground is almost destroyed by Vanilla Fudge music on the soundtrack, while the heavy handed use of Pink Floyd's burnt-out song "Money" dominates scenes of Warhol's obsession with wealth.

IN OTHER HIGHLIGHTS was "Freeze, Die and Revive" by Vitali Kanevski and "Taxi Blues" by Pavel Lounguine, respectively the winners of best film and best director at this year's Cannes fest, Robert Altman's "Vincent and Theo," about the Van Gogh brothers; Jane Campion's "An Angel at My Table," winner of the critic's choice award in Toronto, Michael Verhoeven's perceptive "The Nasty Girl;" Yvonne's Rainer's "Priviledge," and Derek Jarman's rigorous but rewarding "The Garden."

There were a few disappointments — Tom Stoppard's "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead," a who's-on-first routine for college grads; and "The Grifters" by Stephen Frears, where a talented director, cast (Angelica Huston, John Cusack) and a potentiality exciting screenplay (based on a Jim Thompson novel), all add up to tedium.

Martin Bandyke is assistant music director at WDET-FM, where he co-hosts "Dimension" with Raiph Valdez 9 p.m. Sandays.

Dennis Hopper goes over a scene with Don Johnson who plays Harry Madox, a smug drifter, in "The Hot Spot."

NEW generation of artists, drawing on the principles of furniture de sign, is creating innovative products that look as good in a museum as they do in a living room.

In dozens of studios across the United States, these artists are combining materials and designs previously unknown to the furniture world and creating functional art. Furniture that can be used, certainly, but furniture that makes a statement about the owner and artist.

Building Scene CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Monday, November 12, 1990 O&F

If it looks like a wood shake and has the texture of a wood shake, it must be a wood shake - but appearances can be deceiving. This isn't a wood shake, it's molded cement, and its manufacturer guarantees its durability for 50 years.

Raise the roof with cemer

staff writer

Time was, there were few options for putting a roof over your head.

Back when Alley Oop the caveman wandered the plains, there was the natural stone cave roof - it kept the rain away, but lacked aesthetic ap-

Then came early man's first attempts at building. Thatch, sticks and stones served a purpose, but the water damage was terrible every time it rained and the furniture and carpeting constantly needed replac-

So man turned to products made from natural materials, like wooden shakes and stone shingles, and although they had appeal, they had a half life of about two weeks. Then came tin roofs, but there was that cat thing on hot, sunny days.

So man invented asphalt shingles and there was much happiness. They looked pretty good — albeit a bit drab - and the water damage was kept to a minimum.

But now, residential roofing products have taken a leap ahead. In addition to new, multi-colored, longer lasting fiberglass-asphalt shingles, there are other alternatives, including cement shingles made to look like the wood shakes and stone of the past at half the cost and twice the durability.

Ron Nordquist, sales representative for Architectural Roof Tile Inc., a Kalamazoo firm that distributes concrete-based roof tiles throughout the state, said for color, durability and style, nothing beats concrete Styles include a flat tile made to look like natural slate, a semiflat tile with beveled ribs exposed to the surface, a curved tile created to recall the styles of Mexico and Spain, and a rough, uneven pattern that simulates wood shakes.

"You can get the look of (real) slate at about half the cost," he said.

MADE FROM Portland cement, plasticizers, manufactured iron and chrome oxides, and aggregates, cement tile styles include a flat tile made to look like natural slate, a semi-flat tile with beveled ribs exposed to the surface, a curved tile created to recall the styles of Mexico and Spain, and a rough, uneven pattern that simulates wood shakes, Nordquist said.

"They've been making these in Europe for 200 years," Nordquist said of the molded-roof tiles, but today's product is far superior. "It's a 200-year old product with 1970s, 1980s and 1990s technology."

Cement tiles have been in use in the East and South for years, but it is only within the last decade or so that Cement shingles have added thinkness to give the roof character and depth. They are also attached to the roof with an air cavity beneath to add insulation value.

the process has been perfected for use in colder climates.

"In California and Florida, it's probably about 65 percent of the market; in Michigan, it's probably only 4 percent of the market," he said

Probably the greatest advantage to cement roof tiles is their durability, Nordquist said. "This roof will last for 50 years - you may have to re-roof an asphalt roof two or three times in that time.

Tiles are also resistant to the freeze-thaw cycles, Nordquist said. freeze-thaw cycles per day.

Tiles also hold their color indefinitely because the coloring is applied throughout, rather than on the sur-

BECAUSE OF the way it is attached, the molded-cement tile also offers insulation, Nordquist said. Rather than laying tiles directly on the roof, molded cement tiles are mounted on furring strips that create an air pocket between the roof sheathing and the tile, thereby preventing direct heat transmission.

The air cavity also keeps the moisture barrier between sheathing and tile dry. Roof coverings that lay directly on roofing underlayment speeds up the deterioration of the roof, Nordquist said.

Nordquist said that while moldedcement roof tiles are heavier than asphalt shingles, they are not so heavy as to damage the roof. "Structurally, it's no different. It can't be a cheaply made house, but if it's a well-made roof, I can put tile on it."

But cement tile doesn't come cheap, Nordquist said. "It's not for everyone. Depending on the style and (difficulty of) installation, it costs between $400 and $900 a square (roughly 100 square feet)."

Four factors can affect the cost of putting in a cement roof, he said including the amount of cutting, the roof pitch, access to the roof, and the number of stories. "It's about four times the cost of conventional shin-

"The only thing it can't do is save you money right off the bat," he said

Old-time asphalt shingles get new lease on life

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

Don't sell the flat fiberglass/asphalt shingle short - the old stalwart still has a few tricks up it

The old thinking that a conventionally shingled roof needs replacing every 10 years just doesn't apply in today's superior-designed roofing

John Gross, advanced sales representative for Owens-Corning Fiberglas Construction Products Group in Oak Park, said new materials and production techniques on the fiberglass-asphalt shingle has added years to the life of the roof.

"We spent nearly $13 million in the roofing division (for research and development) this year alone," he said. During the 1980s, the wet process used in manufacturing longerlasting shingles was perfected, cold climate sealants were introduced to improve weathering, and the overall strength of the shingles structure was improved.

For the builder and contractor and even for the homeowner, the most important selling point of the shingle is durability, he said. "The heart of the shingles is better than it

The materials put into today's shingles are better suited for roof-

The newer fiberglass-asphalt shingles have greater strength and resist water, thanks to an inorganic, glass fiber mat, which takes the place of the old organic felt.

GROSS EXPLAINED the asphalt shingles of old were made with an organic felt base that absorbed moisture that caused shingles to buckle, curl, blister and swell.

Organic felt, made mainly from newspaper pulp and wood chips, absorbs water more easily, which causes the shingle to break down.

Today's shingles also have improved weathering grade asphalt and better sealed exteriors, Gross

Because of the better materials and manufacturing processes, today's shingles come with guarantees ranging from 25 to 40 years, he said. But perhaps even more important than the physical improvements to the shingles - at least to the average consumer - is the appearance and color of today's shingles.

Gross said that the shingle must perform aesthetically as well as functionally. "The pitch of the roof is getting steeper and steeper so you see a lot more roof."

Traditional roofs with 12 feet fog depth for every four feet of height have given way to 12 feet of depth for every 12 feet of height, he said.

There are strip shingles with, shadow lines, dimensional shingles, and shingles with accentuated blends to create hot spots - things that aesthetically make roofs look better," he said.

Gone are the days when roofs were all gray. Of course, gray is still available, but builders and homereds, greens, browns, golds blacks and even off-whites.

And these colors have different shades to add character to the roof's appearance, he added

In addition to colors, shingles also have different textures today, Gross said. The flat style of shingle is still the most common, but more elaborate "shadow shingles," which create an illusion of dimension and gives depth to a roof, are gaining popularity. Shadow shingles use intense blend drops for vividness and an interrupted shadow line to provide randomness and dimension, he

Look to city, co-op rules to resolve burning issue

We have a number of neighbors in our cooperative who insist on burning leaves on the playground areas of the cooperative. It makes it hard for the kids to play and the smoke makes me sick. The board seeks to ignore this, saying it gives some of the elderly folks something to do. What can I do?

First, the burning of leaves may well be in violation of a local ordinance, which city officials have a responsibility to stop by ticketing or other means. Second, the burning of leaves may be a violation of the cooperative rules, particularly if not done by an authorized person or company. You should advise the board in writing of its obligation to enforce the rules or promulgate new or additional ones, as the case may be, to prevent pollution, maintain safety and to otherwise improve the investment of the cooperative and its surroundings. Perhaps the cooperative can place additional recreational facilities in the playground for both young and the more elderly.

What can be done to stop noise coming from the unit above me in my condominium? The board doesn't seem to do anything about it.

This is one of the most common emplaints in condominiums perhaps because of the proximity of the units to one another, lax codes on sound conditioning and poor construction of buildings, Depending on your particular situation, the conium association or the developer may have a responsibility to do something. Of course, part of the problem depends on whether your neighbor upstairs is acting within 'normal" bounds or is causing noise that is above and beyond reasonableness. In the latter case, you and the association have recourse against the co-owners depending upon the condominium documents. Obviously, more information is needed to an-

Are there any rules or standard eres that pertain to the painting and maintenance of decks? The decks were built by the developer. and listed in the sales brochure of standard features as a private wood deck off of the main living room and shown on the prints as a limited common element. The patios and courtyards are mentioned in the bylaws as being limited common elements, but the decks are not mentioned. The board is trying to determine whether the maintenance of the decks is an association or coowner responsibility. The board has been told by the managing agent that the decks are usually a coowner's responsibility. There are some co-owners who are insistent that it be an association responsibility. The board would incur an asses ment that we are trying to avoid. The board would also have regulations as to the upkeep of the decks if it is a co-owner's responsibility. If the board wishes to make this a coowner responsibility, what should be done to enforce this regulations? It is difficult to determine with any certainty whether the maintenance or painting of the decks is an association responsibility vis-a-vis a co-owner responsibility without reviewing the condominium master deed, the condominium bylaws and the site plan. Relying on the managing agent to give you an opinion is both unwise and inappropriate. The management company should be managing, now lawyering. In addition, if the opinion of the management company is wrong, it may not even have liability insurance to cover its inaccuracies. What the association must do is to obtain a comprehensive legal opinion regarding whose responsibility it is to maintain the decks. Whether an assessment should be levied to pay for the maintenance of the deck is dependent, of course, on whose responsibility it is to maintain the deck. The board may wish to establish regulations concerning the maintenance of the deck. assuming that it has the jurisdiction over the deck area, regardless of who is responsible for maintaining or painting it. If the board wishes to change the condominium bylaws so as to ensure that the co-owner is responsible for the deck, that will require the necessary approval processes set for in the condominium bylaws and the relevant condominium statute. Even the question of what percentage is necessary to amend the condominium bylaws may be the subject of legal disagree-

You have a number of questions of a serious legal nature that should be addressed by the board with the benefit of competent and experienced legal counsel as soon as possible.

Macdonald Carev's words, actions continue on 'Days'

By Candace Havens

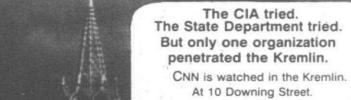

"Like sands through the hourglass, so are the days of our lives." Macdonald Carey first said these words on Nov. 8. 1965, and 25 years later these words are repeated before every airing of Days of Our Lives

Throughout the month of November. Days is celebrating its 25th anniversary along with one of its most enduring and endearing original characters. Dr. Tom Horton, portraved by

Born in Sioux City, Iowa, Carev's screen career began in 1942 after several years of singing and acting on radio and on stage. In 1941 he had a successful stint in Lady in the Dark on Broadway

Throughout the '40's he worked as a contract player with Paramount, playing leads and second leads. He mademore than 40 movies including The Great Gatsby, Odongo, Copper Canvon. Tammy and the Doctor and End of the World.

Cable Commen

By LARK L. SAMOUELIAN Executive Director, SW Oakland Cable Comm.

walked through the studio door, Betty Schelling and her production crew of Vita

Accioli, Fran Dudas, Gretchen Pugsley, Ken Glide, Bob Wightman, Mel Shulman, Linda Newman and Cathy Stolzer were all quietly setting up for the shoot.

This group of warm and professional people are diligent volunteers who produce very fine television.

I was asked by Producer-Director Betty Schelling to host her series entitled, "WOMEN ON THE MOVE." it is quite a privilege to be able to do an interview and then go on to other responsibilities. The tough part however, is forcing yourself to concentrate on a subject intently for a couple of hours and wiping out all other projects. Most of the shows are taped in the morning. I am a morning person, but a "quiet energy" morning person. Though I move around quickly, talking is an effort.

However, I am motivated by the special opportunity to have a conversation with special people who represent a cause or an organization. Guests on "WOMEN ON THE MOVE" are always such caring and interesting people. With an hour to explore the subject matter, the dialogue goes far beyond the superficial level. As interviewer I must concentrate, be curious and work hard to bring out the unique personality of the guests. All these elements insure that the program has the continuity and the dynamics to keep the attention of the television audi-

Interviewing in this manner is very hard, but rewarding. I am always exhausted afterward. Nevertheless, each production has run very smoothly. The preproduction planning and the precision of the production crew is evident in the final product. The guests comment on how laid back and organized everyone is. This is the ultimate compliment to a Producer.

My style of interviewing is to spend a couple of minutes beforehand with the guest. I don't ask them many questions so that I will not lose the important element of spontaneity. I explain to the guest the format of the interview and ask if there are any areas which they do not want me to broach. I approach an interview as if I were writing a book about the person. This encourages them to share details they might otherwise not dis-

In this way an interview becomes much more intimate. The conversation then becomes intriguing to the television audience. They become very involved and feel as if they are sitting there with us.

"WOMEN ON THE MOVE" guests have been insightful and stimulating.

Barbara Levin warmly shared her life experiences as our guest. It was interesting to hear of her career changes and role priorities. She has worked on war missile research and computers; she also has a law degree. She has practiced law in Washington D.C., raised a family and has been a supportive wife of Senator Carl Levin. She was knowledgeable and interesting yet relatively low key. I was impressed with her charisma and drive. Barbara Levin is definitely a woman on the move.

Nancy Swanborg, Marcie BloomVettese and Marlene Kershaw joined us as representatives of Schoolcraft Colleges Women's Resource Center. The Center deals with changes and transitions in people's lives. Programs are available to lend support services, grants and education to women and men who are adjusting to divorce, separation, death or a disability, and need to find paid employment These three women were a wonderful representation of determination and resourcefulness. So many services these days are token but not the Womens Resource Center. Through three different programs they try to secure the most appropriate means of enhancing the potential for success in each individual, while they open a new chapter of their lives.

Botsford General Hospital's Director of Volunteers, Adele Emmer, shared with us the excitement generated through the Volunteer Organizations of Botsford including the Red Cross Volunteers. Volunteer Guild (Gift Shop) and a new program for Patient and Guest Room Service. Nancy Lawton, Doris Gaiser and Nancy Adams spoke on their experiences as they personalize the services provided through Botsford General Hospital. As women on the move, they shared the wonderful experiences that both the patients and they have had through the years, as each benefit from the relationship developed by giving to one another. The Volunteer programs include the entire hospital, spreading hard work among their staff so that the burden is easier for every-

Nancy Schmidt of the Rehabilitation Institute of Michigan challenged our television audience to bring humor into our lives. She told us of the studies and specific cases where a sense of humor has enhanced the lives of people and family members who are stricken with ailments that require extra patience and commitment. Most people think one needs to be happy to find humor in a situation. She suggests that humor is a mind set and that if we look for it and smile, the rest will fall into place. Humor simply makes us feel good and eases tension, therefore, it is healthy and heal-

Candice Bergen identifies with 'Murphy Brown' character

Show going strong in its third season

November 12-November 18

By Mary Ann Townsend In a career that has included stage, televisioin and film, as well as journalism. Candice Bergen has found a role that fits like a glove and allows her to do the comedy she has desired to do since childhood.

She is firmly set in the third season of her critically acclaimed series on CBS, "Murphy Brown."

"I love this character. I love Murphy," Bergen said. "She's a character with incredible heart. with dynamism and real ability at what she does. And, of course, more than anything, I love the edge on Bergen, in real life, has developed many of the same characteristics as her character. An acclaimed photoiournalist as well as an actress, she also has real ability at what she does. Bergen has had photographs and articles published in magazines such as "New York Magazine." "Playboy," "Life," "Esquire," "Vogue," "Cosmopolitan" and "Ladies Home Journal."

As far as incredible heart, Bergen has had a successful marriage to film director Louis Malle since 1980. When she is not filming, they take their young daughter Chloe to their home in France, Bergen has also proven herself a devoted stepmother to Malle's two children. Cuote and Justine.

And, finally, Bergen developed an edge while growing up as the "sibling" of Charlie McCarthy, the dummy of her ventriloguist father Edgar Bergen. "At home the whole thing was sort of like competition. And in a public sense, he was sort of my nemesis, because when I was on my father's show I wasn't allowed the laughs. Mostly the laughs belonged to Charlie."

Now Bergen is in her third year of getting the laughs as television iournalist Murphy Brown, Mixed with the pressures of her profession is quite a bit of humor, from the diverse personalities on the "F.Y.I." staff to Eldin, the housepainter who seems to be eternally working on her apartment.

Bergen said people seem to relate to the situation with Eldin, and newspeople with whom she has spoken fully understand the ironies that come from juggling journalism with home life

"Almost everyone had a story that was the equivalent of hangingup on a Secretary of State to talk to the house painter," she said.

Playing housepainter Eldin Bernecky is Robert Pastorelli. The character is a thorn in Murphy's side, but he is also a source of support once she gets home from the studio.

Pastorelli was born June 21 in New Brunswick, N.J. and was raised in Edison, N.J. As a young boy, he was always in trouble in his hometown and was eventually sent to reform school. There, following his instincts, he started a theater group and developed his passion for acting.

He began performing in local plays throughout New York, and in 1977, made his professional debut in "Rebel Without a Cause" with the New York Theatre Ensemble. Five years later he moved to Los Angeles to guest star in an episode of "Barney Miller," and he has been working there ever since. His feature film debut came in "Outrageous Fortune," and he appeared in "Beverly Hills Cop II."
