School officials got a little slap-happy at the end of their last meeting. But Superintendent John Hoben was being serious when he updated the board of education on the expansion of the board office, now under way at 454 S. Harvey.

"If we vacated this building, we could move up the completion date to May from August," said Hoben, adding that temporary offices could be set up in the vacant Farmer Jack grocery store on Main Street or in school facilities

"Wouldn't it be appropriate for Dr. Hoben to have his office in Hoben Elementary?" asked school board president Dean Swartzwelter.

The superintendent probably would be asked, "Is this building named after your father?" he added. "Yeah, Farmer Jack," said Trustee Dave Artley.

An office at Farmer Jack would mean Hoben "could have a walk-in cooler," said Trustee E.J.

Swartzwelter blamed the 'We've worked all day; it's the end of the year and everyone wants everything done before the new year - it gets crazy," said

Runway clear for airport authority

By Kevin Brown staff writer

The Mettetal Airport authority is ready for Most Plymouth city commissioners say they'll vote tonight to join Plymouth Township trustees in creating an authority to run the Canton airport. Five of the city's seven commissioners said last week they'll likely vote tonight to create the authority. Touted by Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, the authority would use federal money to buy the airport and operate it.

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack, who opposes keeping the airport alive with public money, said, "This is obviously a major decision, but it appears they spent more time studying bag-tag (the new city garbage plan) than Mettetal.

"And this one's going to cost them a whole lot more than bag-tag," Yack added.

"I feel that if we're going to be a full-service community, and I mean by that the whole community, the airport is a vital aspect of that," said Mayor Dennis Bila, who said he'll vote to join an authority.

Further, "I'm convinced that no city-of-Plymouth dollars would be utilized now or in the future in support of the airport," he added. "One of the major considerations I have in this is the opportunity to expand the post-secondary education in the area," said Commissioner Ralph (Jack) Kenyon.

Some airport backers maintain Schoolcraft College officials are interested in presenting aircraft-industry-related classes at Mettetal.

"I think Schoolcraft and community colleges can do great things. I am very inclined towards that," Kenyon said.

Commissioner Ron Loiselle said, "I'm leaning in favor of the authority," but said he wants to review information to be certain "that it's not going to cost the taxpayers any

"Basically an airport is always a positive asset to a community," he said, adding it can

"They may or may not use it but it never hurts. It's an asset many communities don't have," Loiselle said.

Commissioner Jerry Vorva said last week, "I'm keeping a real open attitude, still gathering information," adding he hadn't decided

"My gut reaction is if you were to put it on a ballot it would lose two or three to one, but I want to be fair to all parties."

Cable board eyes hiring consultant

By Diane Gale staff writer

Cable television programs and costs in the future depend on the agreement the township cuts with the cable provider.

The Canton Cable Committee will recommend Tuesday that the board of trustees hire a consultant to help hammer out the details of a franchise agreement.

They're suggesting Canton pay $47,000 to hire Larry Monroe of Municon. Trustees have the final say and will decide at a future board meeting.

"I feel strongly that this is the way to go," said Phil LaJoy, Canton trustee and cable committee chairman.

"We've talked to all the communities that he (Monroe) has served and he does do what he promises," LaJoy said. "Cable is a lot more complicated than you would think. The cable. companies certainly get pros to work with them and we thought that's what we need for us."

ruary 1995. Canton must begin the renewal process by February 1992 to make changes in the agreement.

The consulting fee will span a twoyear period of work for the consultant, LaJoy said, which will include reviewing the current cable ordinance, as well as the entire cable franchise renewal process.

'We spend a lot of money on attorneys for the township," LaJoy said. "If you look at what we're not getting from Omnicom and what we should be getting it's not a significant amount of money. I'm not saying that $47,000 is not important. I

Judge takes aim at the right to die

Judge James Garber is tackling the controversial right to die issue in the midst of a hurricane of debate that includes life, death and suicide The 35th District Court judge, who says that an individual has the right to refuse medical treatment, Garber said. "In most terminal cases, and I don't know what that means, there's medical certainty that the person will die - usually about five days - when the machines are turned off and glucose is

In almost all states, Garber said, it's all right for terminally ill patients to have a respirator turned off and food and water removed. Instead of waiting the three to five days before the patients die those terminally ill people should have the option of requesting a lethal shot, he said.

Strict guidelines and mandating a tribunal review of each case are necessary, he said.

Does the state's interest in preserving lives mandate that a person live for those remaining three to five days? Garber asked.

GARBER TOSSED away other thesis ideas in favor of the right to die question during a time when suicide and the law are making the headlines on a daily basis.

For instance, suicide machine inventor Jack Kevorkian was cleared of murder charges last week by 52nd District Judge Gerald McNally. He was charged with first degree murder for using a machine to help Janet Adkins, diagnosed as having Alzheimer's disease, commit suicide.

Last week an Oakland County judge threw out the murder charges against Kevorkian saying that Michigan needed better laws to deal with

Canton police try to peddle bikes, but find few takers

staff writer

Need a bike but can't afford to buy one?

The Canton Chamber of Commerce and Canton police want to give away 17 bikes just in time for Christmas. But that's not always

To get a bike all you have to do is prove that you're a Canton resident and sign a form saying that you're in a low income bracket, said Joan Bolek, Canton chamber director.

BUT SOME people refuse the bicycles once they see them, she said.

"Some of the people come into the chamber for a bike for their kids and say: 'My kid's bike is better than that.' And they don't take it," Bolek said.

Also people accepting bicycles must pick them up at the chamber office and sign a release form saying that they recognize the bikes used and that the chamber is not responsible once they leave the office

This year the Canton police department has recovered all kinds, colors and sizes of bicycles. Right now there are about 100 bicycles crammed into the Canton property

If police can't find the owner within six months it's offered to the finder and if the finder declines it goes to the chamber to be given away as charity, said police property officer Carol Luelleman.

"The majority of bikes aren't claimed," she said. Bolek said the chamber has some bikes there were never picked up the last time the police department gave them the bicycles. We put posters up in stores and a few people came over and looked at them and didn't want them," Bolek said.

MOST OF the bikes likely were stolen, discarded and found by someone who turned them over to

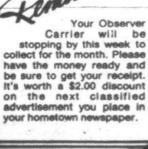

The common link between all the bikes is that none of them have licenses, said Pat Nemecek, Canton police spokesman.

"There's no license numbers so we can't follow through to find the owner," Nemecek said. "Some people will buy a $200 bike, but they won't buy a $1 registration fee."

Bicycle registration cards are $1 and available at the Canton Clerk's office in the administration building on Canton Center south of Proctor Road. Bring the bicycle serial number in with you.

Canton at odds over Mettetal

Efforts to save Mettetal Airport in Canton Township, through government intervention, have taken on an almost incredible tone.

My position on this issue has been clear since the Canton Township Board rejected a municipal purchas of the airport on Aug. 8. But since those who insist that government save this airport refuse to give up, it's a good time to restore perspecabout which Canton simply doesn't care, we have given more than ample-time to supporters of public ownposition. They have done neither.

We were first asked to purchase the airport in fall 1989, at which time the Canton board expressed no interest. In February, airport supporters approached me again asking that we reconsider. I agreed to recommend to the board a study. I recommended the appointment of a citizen's committee, which spent five months gathering information.

After six of the 10 committee nembers recommended the purchase, the information was reviewed by the Canton board. A majority of the board simply did not interpret the information in the same way and voted 5-2 in opposition to the pur-The four committee members who

They claimed my office had somehow censored vital information that showed the purchase should be made, for the purpose of rigging the study. If the study had been rigged by me, I wonder why six committe members took the position opposite mine. And if arguments to save the airport were compelling and documented, why would I not have voted

This has led to allegations that I control public bodies like the Canton planning commission, in spite of the fact that most of the planning commission was appointed by previous boards before I took office. I make no effort to control the boards and commissions that serve the residents of Canton. My contacts are limited to written correspondence and an occasional apearance before the Mettetal Airport is a small, recreational facility that has almost no impact on local economic growth. As supervisor. I have made economic development one of my top priorities an effective vehicle by which to achieve that goal, I would have a hard time not supporting it.

I do not believe, however, that an airport with a volume of 11 operations per day (according to the fixed base operator of the airport) is much of an asset for anyone except the small number of pilots who use it for recreation. Secrets of good pie crust

Whenever foodles gather, even during the holidays, you will find them taking subconscious notes about other foodies creations. presentations and flavors. One of the most-asked questions I get throughout the year has to be Where did you get that?"

Surprisingly, many of the answers revert to suggestions gleaned from reading basic starter cookbooks such as "Betty Crocker's Cookbook" or the provervial foodie favorite.

"Larousse's Gastronomique."
All kitchens, regardless of your cooking talent, should include at least one or the other of these two

Take pie crusts for instance "Betty Crocker's Cookbook" has three full pages devoted just to the basics of making good pie crust. One page includes fullcolor photographs more than adequately describing the rolling and fluting techniques alone. Ten or so additional pages have indepth material on making fruit pies, meringue pies, custard pies and lattice tops.

One might ask why I rely on such cookbooks, especially when I have a Momma and friends who can make crusts from scratch without the aid of a Cuisinart, pastry blenders or $75 rolling. pins. To this day, Momma still uses the old wooden-dowel rolling pin she received for a wedding present 54 years ago, beating out the likes of my ball-bearing rolling pin with eight or nine swift presses of the wrist.

THE ANSWER is simple. When you start with good ingredients, you make a good pie crust. Personally, I need the basic information these books offer with regard to amounts, along with other bits of information such as what happens when you use a self-rising flour instead of an all-purpose variety.

Here are a few examples of . just what I'm refering to, compliments of Betty Crocker

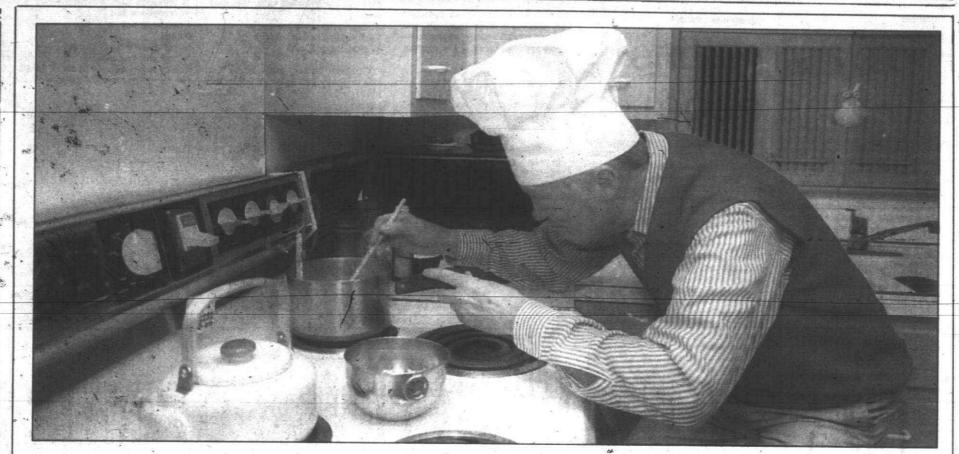

To make a perfect pie, use the right bakeware. Choose heatresistant glass pie plates or dullfinished (anodized) aluminum pans. Never use shiny pans or the pie will take on a soggy bottom crust. Momma never knew why stainless pie pans were a no-no She just knew from experience that her Corningware pans made better crusts than stainless.

To cut in shortening evenly, use a pastry blender. If you don't have one, use two knives with the blades almost touching one another. Momma suggests that a small wooden-handled meas fork with larger separated tines works just as well. The food processor creates too much friction, which causes heat from the rapidly turning blades making the possibilities for a tough crust too

If using a self-rising flour, omit the salt. Pastry made with selfrising flour will be mealy and tender instead of flaky and tender from all-purpose flour

FOR A LESS-floury-tasting crust, use a pastry cloth. Momma disagrees with this one, claiming that anyone who knows his or her way around the kitchen should know you only need to lightly flour the pin and board for optimum results. If using a board use it only for crusts and bread, never to chop garlic or slice fish. Marble glabs, although pricey, keep a discreet coolness, making the crust easier to roll, although Momma claims she wouldn't know where to keep a big, old marble slab and instead relies on her old wooden board. The list of suggestions and helpful tips for the world's best pie crust could fill this newspaper section, but if your momma doesn't do pie crusts, it might be a good idea to invest in a good basic cookbook like Betty Crocker's. It makes a great gift idea for a new homeowner or someone who doesn't have a momma to call for help.

Bill Hayes — the business executive known as the Candy Man to his family — makes toffee for gift giving, in kitchen of his Birmingham home.

Gifts from the Candy

special writer

OMEMADE CANDY, according to Bill Hayes of Birmingham, is the ultimate in gift giving. Hayes should know

Dubbed the Candy Man by the women in his life — wife Lynn, four adult daughters and a young granddaughter — Hayes draws upon family tradition to turn out batches of delectable fare fit for holiday gifts.

"It's the ultimate compliment," Hayes said of his unique sweet treats. Preparing gifts of homemade candy makes for a personalized effort. You're putting yourself out for someone else. It sends a message, 'I like you.' "

It is a message Hayes has sent countless times to colleagues, friends and family. In an interview over shrimp cocktail and chef's salad served in a private dining room of the stunning Standard Federal building in Troy, where Hayes is a vice-president, Bill and Lynn talked about the Candy Man and candy crafting in traditional farhily style.

"I've been cooking since I was a youngster. My mother was very ill. I was an only kid. She taught me to cook from her bed.

"I grew up doing many things, but one thing I always enjoyed was cooking," Bill said.

His mother was an excellent cook, according to Lynn, who recalls memorable goodies prepared by her, "wonderful assortments of Christmas cookies, the kind nobody makes anymore because they are so involved."

Reflecting on his youth, Bill also spoke of nightly card games, acand homemade fudge.

His choice of preferred recipes today are those of his mother, "Grandma's recipes that she kept on three-by-five cards. She had a lot of them and they go way back. I take them out every once in a while and just look at them."

Lynn continues, "His candy recipes are old standards from his mother, real old times. Some can be improved. Others can't really be improved at all. They're near per-

EACH OF THE HAYES' daughters enjoys cooking and one, Jody Roeder, has Grandma's original cooking book, a leather-bound tome of handwritten recipes that carries 'great sentimental value" to the family. Other daughters are Wendy Davis and Katie and Jill Hayes.

Because the entire family enjoys cooking, the kitchen gets crowded during family get-togethers.

"With five or six busybodies in the kitchen, I have to muscle my way in," Bill says with a laugh, falling back on an old expression he likely used when the girls were

"It can be a real rhubarb." The real rhubarb for Lynn is simple logistics.

"Candy making is a slow process. Each batch is small. The real problem is it's not possible to make enough. His production line is never as big as those who deserve be remembered, she said.

"I'll tell you something else," Bill adds. Making candy is expensive." Then he launches into a chatty list of helpful candy crafting hints, based on years of experience.

"The big thing is temperature. A thermometer is the key. When candy gets to the cracking stage, you jump on it instantly and remove it from the flame

"Use only the best ingredients you can buy. What's the definition of good chocolate? Taste

"Pans are important. Use good utensils. In cheap aluminum, candy burns instantly.

"Pay strict attention while cooking. When making candy, you better be there all the time. You have to stay in the kitchen."

Bill's strict adherence to these tips means consistently good results, yummy fare fit for giving.

For "extra pizzazz, expand certain ingredients. If it calls for 1 1/2 cups of chocolate, and you really want to make it great, use 2 cups. If it calls for 8 ounces of nuts, use 10 or 12 ounces." He chops nuts by hand to assure consistency.

shop." says Ridley. "We were still just wholesaling tea breads and muffins. We were renting ovens from a caterer in his off hours. When the muffin dough ran over onto the pans, the help trimmed off the crispy edges and snacked on them.

Then I started taking them home, and my sister-in-law said, 'Hey, you've got a good thing here. You should market them.' Well, you can't very well go around peddling the edges of muffins, so I didn't give it Then we opened the store in Troy, and we started putting muffin edges on the counter as samples. On the days when we didn't have any, customers were so crestfallen that we felt guilty. Then we began to think, 'Maybe we really do have a good thing here,' and the rest is his-

WELL, SORT OF. It takes a special kind of intelligence to take a scientific approach to muffin edges, but Ridley (with a fine arts background) and Jacobs (a calligrapher) had the right stuff.

We owe a lot of our success to Frank Farrugia of FAF Co. He not only had confidence in us, but from the beginning he gave us practical advice and helped us find the right equipment," Ridley says.

Frank found us an old pizza dough roller in a former pizza shop in Southfield. We experimented with muffin dough until we developed one thick enough to accomodate the

"Before that, we had a separate shift at the store, 10 people with rolling pins starting at midnight. Everybody hated the muffin chip shift.

Muffin chips come in several flavors. The most popular recipe, "Nuts Over You," includes eight kinds of nuts. The treat is sold in four states and has just become available in area Kroger stores. An airline in the South is considering replacing bags of peanuts with bags of muffin chips.

The cousin/partners - they finis one another's sentences and obviously enjoy each other's company credit Ed Jonna of The Merchant of Vino for much of their success. He was one of the first to carry muffin chips, and he was the prime mover behind their entry into retail.

RIDLEY SAID, 'He called us in February and said, 'You're ready to enter the retail market. I found a shop. You have to take it. Well, it was right next door to his store. To have him want us next door was a real vote of confidence. We looked at the store on Thursday and opened the following Monday

family-tested winner dinner

the thought of entertaining at this time of the year can almost make a grown woman cry.

Somehow, it all seems so overwhelming. But this week's Winner Dinner Winners, Halina Grossu and Carol Spencer, have found a way to take the "pain" out of entertaining by joining forces and cooking together when one or the other has a party.

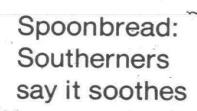

Through the 13 years of their friendship, they have pooled their recipes together, resulting in many elicious and memorable meals. Bearing in mind that people often invite friends and relatives into their homes at this time of the year, these elegant but easy recipes are perfectly suited for upcoming holiday get-Grossu grew up in Vancouver, British Columbia, and has lived in Birmingham for six years. The mother of three teenage daughters, she is a property specialist for Electronic Data Systems. She enjoys cooking and often prepares the chicken and wild rice casserole for company, as it can be made ahead and frozen, and is the type of entree that fits in well with her busy life.

SPENCER IS a longtime resident Birmingham and has two children. She has worked as a part-time bookkeeper for her husband, a dentist, for the last five years.

Great friends, she and Grossu enjoy playing bridge as well as golf and tennis. They have had lots of fun together over the years and stories their escapades are always a source of fun and good-natured teasing. Spencer's recipe for Tropical Salad Supreme beautifully comple ments the chicken dish, making for a delicious menu that you will use over

The location of vineyards in Sonoma County's cool Green Valley appellation brought Iron Horse owners to the realization that they had vineyards in the ideal climate for sparking wine production.

The Blanc de Noirs "Wedding Cuve" is 100 percent pinot noir. Deding on the vintage, the Brut is a blend of 60 percent to 85 percent pinot noir with chardonnay. The Blanc de Blancs is 100 percent chardonnay. Brut Rose is also 100 percent pino noir but emphasizes a full-bodied Iron Horse Vintage Brut ($22) emphasizes the depth of pinot noir with added finesse of chardonnay. Iron Horse strives for flavor depth with creamy palate textures. An attractive bouquet highlights fresh California fruit.

Maison Deutz Brut Cuvee ($18) boasts appley aromas with a hint of toasted bread. It leans to a Blanc de Blancs style due to the majority of white grapes in the olend. Complete malolactic fernentation contributes to the wine's elegance and finesse.

Forrest Tancer says. "Climate, more than technology, is the difference. Sonoma County's Green Valley appellation offers an extended growing season, allowing for proper grape maturity and flavor development. "There's not one style that needs to be pursued. Style will be dictated by the climate and the people making the wine. I'm striving for flavor depth, particularly in the mid-palate. Additionally, I want the beauty of California fruit showing through.

Salem defeats Rats again

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Plymouth Salem's basketball team went to school Friday night and earned a passing grade in its biggest game to date.

In a showdown between a pair of unbeaten Class A powers, the No. 6rated Rocks defeated seventh Ann Arbor Huron 60-50.

"We haven't been tested, and good teams have to win the close games." Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "The players handled it well at the end and knew how to finish it off.

'We showed we could play with one of the better teams in the state tonight." The game was a rematch of last season's first-round regional contest in which eventual champion Salem nipped the River Rats 73-71. The Rocks are 4-0 this year, Huron 3-1.

ONCE AGAIN, it was a case of Salem demonstrating to an opponent that stopping Jake Baker - at least attempting to do so - won't stop the Rocks. Salem had one of its most balanced scoring nights with four players in double figures.

Baker was held to his lowest total of the season with 11 points, but 6foot-5 teammate K.C. Kirkpatrick responded with a team-high 13 points. Baker also had 11 rebounds and Kirkpatrick 10. Demond Brown played a good defensive game against Baker, holding him to three field goals, and the River Rats collapsed on the Salem star any time he had the ball near the

"At times Jake was triple and quadruple teamed in the post," Brodie said. "But he was able to find the open player, and KC was able to get his opportunities. Baker had one of his finest games (32 points, 14 rebounds) against Huron in the regional last season, but coach Harold Simons knew stopping Baker wouldn't do the job en-

"I think any team would make a mistake if it just tried to stop him.'

basketball

he said. "He sees the floor too well and (the other players will) can it."

IN ADDITION to Baker and Kirkpatrick, guard Chris Tebben, who is usually limited to playing the point and passing, scored 12 points and John Hoffmeyer 11. Shooting guard Mike Mulder added eight.

"I'm not known for my shooting," Tebben said. "I'm getting better, but I'm still not a Mike Mulder out there.' Brodie also cited the play of 6-5 Cliff Lee, who had nine rebounds and "took care of the basketball in key situations." Hoffmeyer and Mulder had six rebounds apiece. Huron was minus 6-5 center David Amos, who hasn't played since the season opener because of stress frac-tures in both legs. In his absence, the Rats were lacking an inside game to contend with Salem and relied primarily on their perimeter shooting.

'Up to now, it hasn't hurt us because of the competition we faced. Simons said.

Huron guard Eric Culliver scored a game-high 17 points, which included 8-of-12 free throw shooting. Brown had 13 and guard Craig Thomas eight.

"The key in this game was our defense, not so much our ability to score," Brodie said, emphasizing the fact Salem held a team averaging 80-plus points to 50. "They were shooting the ball off balance, and we were flying people at them.'

TEBBEN HAD probably the biggest basket of the game when he made a triple that gave the Rocks a 50-46 lead midway in the last quar-

It came at a critical juncture and put Salem in a stronger position heading down the stretch. The impetus from that basket allowed the Rocks to take control of the game.

"He (Curtis Howard) was talking to me, telling me to shoot it," Tebben said. "I'm confident anyone on the team could make a shot in that situation, and it happened to be me.

"I felt we were getting stagnant at the end of the game. I didn't care if I scored or not. I just wanted to make something happen."

Knowing he isn't usually a scorer, the Rats played off Tebben and dared him to shoot whenever he had the ball alone on the wing. He missed a couple trey attempts earlier, but Huron's strategy backfired this time. "He hasn't lit the nets on fire," Brodie said, "but he's not a toad out there; he can shoot the ball. They dared him to hit one too often, and he knocked one down.'

HURON HAD two misses and two turnovers on its next four possessions, while the Rocks stretched their lead to 54-46 on free throws by Mulder and Kirkpatrick

In the last minute Baker added it out with four straight free throws. Salem was 24-of-29 at the line, in-'cluding 13-of-17 in the last quarter. The Rocks were 16-of-39 from the floor, Huron 18-of-58. Kirkpatrick, who missed the first two games with a pulled hamstring muscle, scored 11 of his 13 points in the second half, taking the ball to the hoop on strong moves from the wing for either a layup or free throws.

The first two games were so tough, to sit down and watch everyone else play," he said. "I think it was an advantage to come back real hungry. When you sit out and look at all the action, you want to be a part of it.

Salem moved in front 25-22 following a 22-22 tie at halftime, but the Rats ran off 10 unanswered points. Culliver hit three straight perimeter shots and Brown canned a

But the Rocks responded with eight points in a minute to lead 33-32, and the game stayed close until Tebben's triple.

Raiders win close game

By C.J. Risak staff writer

"I can't take this stuff," said North Farmington basketball coach Tom Negoshian. Not that the final resulf of the Raiders' game at Redford Union displeased him. No, not at all.

North had just collected its first victory of the young season. And as Negoshian described it, "A win's a win. It goes into the left column."

The scenario the Raiders have adopted for their games is what bothered Negoshian. RU: climbed back from a 12-point first-half deficit to within a basket of victory before succumbing, 57-56.

Such last-second dramatics are becoming commonplace for North. In its three games, the total number of points separating the winner from the loser is four. North lost to Berklev 51-49 and to Birmingham Seaholm 49-48,

At least the Raiders were on the winning side. Which is more than RU coach Tip Smathers could boast.

"This was a tough loss," said Smathers. "We're going to have to work on execution-type things. In a close game, those things really North Farmington began its boys swimming season Thursday with an impressive, 104-82 victory over visiting Novi.

The Raiders started by winning the 200-yard medley relay in 1:45.59. Jonathon Kershaw, Chris Knoche, Mike Drelles and Keith Lee comprised

It was one of just four firsts for Knoche, who also won the 200 freestyle and the 500. He swam a leg of the 400 freestyle relay, too. Knoche finished the 200 freestyle in 1:55.14, the 500 in 5:11.03. Kershaw, Lee and Drelles, the anchorman, combined to post a 3:33.08 time in the last event Drelles also won the butterfly with a 57.57 time, and teammate Grant Shively took first place in the breaststroke at 1:10.82. North's John Juliano was the winner in diving, compiling a 212.80 things are magnified. There weren't any real mistakes committed by the Panthers down the stretch that upset Smathers. Indeed, they may have followed instructions too closely.

The Raiders competed Saturday in the annual Western Lakes Activities Association Relays but don't have another dual meet until Thursday, Jan. 7, when they visit Northville.

The final seconds provided a prime example. Bill Malecki's short jumper with :10 remaining would have given RU the lead, but it banged off the side of the backboard and was boarded by North's Bill Chwalik. Chwalik was fouled by Paul Nowak with :06 to play.

Chwalik's first free throw in the one-and-one was woefully short. RU got possession, and Malecki sped upcourt for a final shot. But before he could get it off, timeout was called - at the other end of the court, by his own teammate, who was following orders.

"We wanted a timeout right away, after their (free throw)," explained Smathers. "But we didn't get it."

Instead of letting Malecki get a shot off against a defense in disarray, the Panthers stuck to instructions and finally got their timeout but with just :03 to go.

similar, according to Smathers. The Panthers followed instructions exactly, with no deviations. When the first two options on the play broke down, RU's Chris Mulka went to the third. Instead of taking a shot, he lofted a pass toward Malecki; the buzzer sounded before a shot could be attempted.

"The kids scrapped," Smathers added, obviously pleased with the comeback effort. Indeed, RU's zone defense smothered the Raiders, holding them to two points in the final 4:40. North aided the Panther rally by committing a pair of turnovers and missing two one-and-ones in the last four minutes.

The RU comeback actually started in the final 90 seconds of the third quarter. Trailing 50-41, Mulka scored three baskets to bring RU to within 50-47 entering the final period. A 5-2 Raider spurt to start the fourth put them up 55-49 before the

Plymouth Salem obviously did a lot of things right in its first wrestling dual meet

The Rocks, who crushed Livonia Churchill 66-6, achieved every one of their nine individual victories by pinning the opposition. Furthermore, all but one of the pins happened in less than three minutes. "Right now the young kids know a couple of positions to get into, and they happen to be pinning," Salem coach Ron Krueger said. "So that's good. "When you have a lot of young kids, you don't know what's going to happen, but when we fell we happened to fall on top of them." The fastest pin of the match was the first. Freshman John Moran pinned Jason Samel-ko just 12 seconds into the 103-pound bout.

Scott Martin followed with a 46-second pin over Scott Gibson at 112. Veteran wrestlers pinning for Salem included Dan Bonnett in 2:35 over Matt Cooper at 119, Jeff Shumate in 5:34 over Andy Brown at 140, Jeff Coleman in 1:10 over Ryan Beversdorf at 145 and Charlie Apigian in 2:41 over Jeff Belisle at 171.

Salem sophomore Wade Langdon and senior Ken Coker were forfeit winners when the Chargers voided the 189 and heavyweight divisions, respectively. Churchill's only wins were a pair of decisions. Craig Shipley (125) edged Chad Wilson 9-6, and Rod Karadsheh (152) defeated freshman Nate Obudzinski 6-1. The Rocks wrestle at Livonia Stevenson

Wednesday night and will be host for a fourteam quadrangular meet Saturday with Holt, Adrian, Flint Kearsley and Belleville.

FARMINGTON HAD some encouraging results in its first wrestling dual meet

The Falcons are expected to be one of the stronger teams in the area this year, and their 43-24 victory over Plymouth Canton supports that contention

"We're coming off a 3-13 season, but we've got everybody back," Farmington coach Al Beyar said. "I expected to be improved, and it appears we're on the right track.

"We had a good performance from the team in general tonight."

Farmington won four of the last five bouts to erase a 19-21 deficit and win the match going away. Chris Kresl pinned Bill Buslepp in 1:08 of their 152-pound contest to put the Falcons

John Lane pinned (5:02) Matt Berris at 112, Rob Sutton decisioned (9-1) Mark Armstrong at 119, Jon Duff pinned (1:04) David Yack at 125 and Steve LeMieux defeated (6-1) Jim Carnes at 130.

Canton, however, won the next three bouts to regain the lead, 21-19. Justin Reed pinned (1:09) Dave Clinard at 135, Joe Hunter won a decision (16-8) over Jason Holiday at 140 and Liam Rentz scored a technical fall (16-0) over Joe Goudeseune at 145. At 171, George Young of Canton defeated Steve

Q. As a Junior High School teacher, I can't find many good materials on solid waste and recycling appropriate for my students.

A. Yes. There are some good materials available. First stop should be your school library and/or media center. The Waste Information Series for Education (WISE) is a K-12 curriculum that was developed by the Department of Natural Resources in conjunction with The Michigan Department of Education. This complete curriculum package is being distributed to all public and private schools throughout the state this fall. It should be in your school now. This curriculum is divided into four grade grouping targeting a specific concept. The lesson plans are designed to be incorporated into existing subject areas: English, Sciences, Math, Social Studies, Home Economics. In addition to the lesson plans, background information for the teacher is provided. Worksheets, transparency masters, fact sheets and material lists are also included with each lesson plan as well as learning and behavioral ease and my aunt is caring for him at home. She could use some time for herself. Is there a day care center that will care for Alzheimer's patients that isn't too expensive?

A. The Alzheimer's Association runs a program on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Barnum Health Center in Birmingham. The center accommodates 15 clients. Transportation is arranged by the clients. Lunch is supplied by the family and the program does provide a light snack and beverages. Persons are eligible for the program if they suffer from Alzheimer's or other irreversible demantias, are residents of Wayne, Oakland or Macomb counties, are ontinent of bowel and bladder and if they are confined to wheel chairs, are able to attend to personal needs The purpose of the program is to give respite to caregivers by providing supervised adult activities in a day care setting. The program provides socialization and recreational activities based on each participant's individual level of cognitive and physical functioning. Fees are based on ability to pay and range from no cost to $13 per four hour session.

A new day care program will soon be opening in the Virginia Park Senior Center in Detroit. For

A. The Waterford Senior Citizen 'Drop-In Center" has an adult day care program called "Encore." The program is designed to provide a caring and protective environment for frail adults and to give respite for the caregivers. It offers individualized care including personal as sessments, activity programs and counseling and referral. Recreational activities include arts and crafts, exercise and day trips. There are, however, no medical services.

The program runs Monday-Thursday. The charges are $20 for a five hour or half day program and $30 for the full day. Lunch and two snacks are included. Transpor tation is available to Waterford residents at $4 per day.

won't get beans for Christmas.

In this season of joy and good cheer, it's hard to believe that there are children who will go hungry this Christmas

For the Salvation Army it is not at all unimagin able. But it is unacceptable. We want every child-and every adult-to have a special Christmas meal. That's why our staff and volunteers spend countless hours distributing and prepar ing food for the needy during the holidays. And we will continue to provide food, shelter and clothing in the cruel months to come. Your donations make it possible for us to help. A Dickens of a festival

In Holly's famous, or should that be infamous, Battle Alley, ghosts that wandered the pages of "A Christmas Carol" come alive, joining in the mirth and merriment of the city's Dickens Festival. Find out about this jocularity on Page 6D.

Works of 'art'... that are skin deep

By Joanne Sobczak special writer

Perhaps you're the one at a loss to find that truly unique Christmas gift or birthday present. Or may be you would like to "pin" your heart forever on your beau for Valentine's Day.

Maybe all you want for Christmas is a tattoo or two. The House of Tattooing in Westland and Etera tour of the old and the new in artistic designs beyond your imagination and befitting your taste and your skin.

Tattooing is fast becoming a fashion trend, and for the wearer, it's a permanent one. An old world custom dating back to Egypt and 1300 B.C., tattoos are associated with the stereotypical bikers, sailors and soldiers. Today, they are turning up on people from all walks of life.

"We get everybody," said Terry "Tramp" Welker, owner of Eternal Tattos. "Policemen, firemen, machinists and some professionals like engineers.

Welker views himself as and artist who transfers his clients' "fana philosophy that can be found on the business cards and his T-shirt. Welker and his partner and manager Chris Page see as many as 60-70 customers a week at their studio.

ACCORDING TO Welker, about 40 percent of the customers are 'First, I draw the design up, then I'll transfer it to their skin and work from my outline. I draw the outline using a (electrically powered) single needle.'

women who usually select more feminine drawings like flowers or unicorns. But times are changing and it's not unusual for a female client to request a larger piece.

"People come in here with their own designs now versus years ago when they would just pick some-thing out," said the Brighton resident whose arms and side reflect several incidents in his life as well as his philosophy. He lists dragons, lions, eagles and an "unbelievable number" of Tasmanian devils as the most popular choices.

Being in the buiness for 14 years, Welker has the method down pat.

"First, I draw the design up

(which is approved by the customer), then I'll transfer it to their skin and work from my outline," he said while beginning to trace with a special pencil a sword on a client's arm from a sheet of paper. "I draw the outline using a (electrically powered) single needle. "After I finish the outline, I do the shading

A 10-day healing process generally completes the job. Like a doctor, Welker send his clients home with a care/treatment plan that prevents infection and keeps the tattoo from scabbing which would

THE TRICK to obtaining a beautiful tattoo is in a daily application of Neosporin, an over-the-counter antibiotic cream, while protecting the body marking from excessive sun or chlorinated water

Welker charges a minimum of $20 for a small rose, heart or name. The tattoo artist advises against names because the tattoo is permanent and the relationship may not be.

The average tattoo costs about $60-70 and takes about 15 minutes to apply, depending on size. Full back pieces take several one-hour sittings and can run in the hundreds of dollars, he said.

Marty Woodlan at the House of Tattooing (and it is a house) not only provides an assortment of patterns, but also does cosmetic tateye. In addition to eyelining, he also creates eyebrows, liplines and beauty marks. His female clientele is 40-70 percent of his business. Beauty marks aside, the cosmetic procedures have benefitted many who by accident or birth have lived with flaws that made them selfconscious.

LIKE WELKER, Woodlan is a naster at his art. He's ing for 19 years and brags that even the health department representative who approved the premises returned to have a tattoo done

The Westland resident and his two partners, Duane Fager and Charlie Dufresne, take care of from three to 15 people a day, six days a week. The customers include doctors, lawyers, nurses and musicians.

Some people make better candidates for tattoos than others. Women, for instance, take color better because their skin is softer. The skin of people with outdoor occupations tends to be tougher. And con-

Ouch — How to undo a tattoo

Viewers probably chuckled about the Sieko watch commercial that aired awhile back. In it, the actress announced that her husband, who had purchased the watch, was no longer around, but her Sieko still was.

Well, guys and gals, there's another romantic gesture that may even outlast a Seiko - a tattoo, particularly if it's your sweetheart's

. That's why Terry "Tramp" Welker at Livonia's Eternal Tattoos prefers a customer not select a name for the skin engraving. A tattoo is permanent and one can never anticipate that the relationship will be the same.

One of his clients recalls having Welker tattoo a girlfriend's name on his body several years ago. When asked why he didn't advise otherwise, Welker said the client seemed quite sure about what he wanted.

"I knew I wanted the name, but it was my girlfriend who decided she didn't want me," the customer chuckled.

That's not unusual, according to Dr. Howard Weissman, who had a female patient who wanted the name John removed from her breast. "She knows Bob now; she doesn't know John anymore," said Weissman. The patient had double trouble because it was a homemade tattoo. Weissman and his partner, a physicist, while researching the use of an Argon laser for cosmetic hair removal, found it dissolved tat-

THE ELECTRIC needle commonly used by tattoo artists injects color at a consistent level beneath the skin's surface, making removal easier and with little scarring. But the needle depths of homernade tattoos, done by hand, are at various levels.

In short, his patient's tattoo could be removed by laser, but with excessive scarring. But it was worth the scar to the woman who was in a new relationship, according to Weissman.

A graduate of the College of Osteopathic Medicine in Des Moines, Iowa, Weissman specialized in nuclear medicine. For the past seven years, he has been using the Argon laser to destroy unwanted hair. Argon is an element, a greenish blue gass. The Argon laser beam recognizes every color but greenish blue which made it well suited for blood and dark colors.

"We were actually shooting for the blood ves sel that nourishes the hair root as well as the hair itself," he said. While pursuing that method, the two-men discovered a successful way of eliminating spider veins in the skin with similar good results

Weissman admits using an Argon laser to remove tattoos isn't new; others have done it before him. But with the laser in his office, he was able to provide an additional service. He has removed about 150 tattoos.

By Jill Hamilton special writer

Southgoing ZAK is a band that takes its name seriously. They are named after a character in one of Dr. Seuss' book and, at past concerts, the band has been careful to pay tribute to the good actor.

Dan Bellus, vocalist for the band, doubles as the "Seuss-orator" in what is called "Uncle ZAK's Dr. Seuss storytime sing-a-long." Porter (1893-1964) wrote mostly for theater productions and, later, movies. His songs were adapted by pop and jazz singers like Ella Fitzgerald and Frank Sinatra.

Porter wrote about love and romance, and some songs, "Love for Sale," for example, were banned for supposed explicit lyrics. He accurately depicts both the joy and pain that love inspires. In "Ev'ry Time "Ev'ry time we say goodbye/I die a little/Ev'ry time we say goodbye/I wonder why a little/Why the gods above me/Who must be in the know/Think so little of me/They allow you to go.'

of a let-down. The songs were bland mid-tempo numbers, seemingly indistinguishable from each other. Perhaps your disappointment was so great that you swore off Edie and Co. forever. Perhaps your anti-Edie resolve was strengthened by hearing their wretched Bob Dylan cover.

If that's the case, then give ole Edie another chance because "Ghost of a Dog" is a much better record than its predecessor. There's no instant hit like "What I Am" but, overall, the album is much more diverse, enjoyable and, well, mature.

As on the last album, Brickell writes most of the songs and lyrics. (She got her Cinderella-like start with the New Bohemians after downing a few shots of booze then joining them on stage. But, if after that, she wrote two albums worth of music and lyrics, then she must have music. The songs range from the rehad some sort of musical training previous to her drunken debut). ops a relationship with Lou (Bob Hoskins), the local shoe merchant. Kate just dives into the local pool and swims for gold.

ONE OF THE film's greatest strengths is the carefree romantic attitude synthesized so well in Rachel's character. Both Mrs. Flax and the film never lose sight of the importance of family and of personal, stylish self-expression. While having a good time is their chief priority, value and worth lurk just beneath the surface.

June Roberts' well-written screenplay prospers with Cher's breezy delivery. Winona Ryder's voice-overs commentary - so often humorously and pleasantly at odds with the action and images on the screen. adds immeasurably to the film's appeal. The photographys terrific, too.

But the film centers on Cher and Winona - both are appealing with adolescence and maturity intermixed. Both are child/women who synthesize femininity's most appealing qualities. A 'Dickens' of good time along Holly's Battle Alley

By Phyllis Kreger Stillman special writer

"Roasted chestnuts! Get your hot roasted chestnuts here,

"Hot cider! Warm your hands on a cup of hot cider!

Dirty faced merchants hawking their wares from outdoor booths on a cold December day, wearing knickers and torn gloves. Street people entertaining the crowds then passing the hat. Sleigh rides behind horses, fingling with bells.

The little pedestrian alley looks and sounds like a scene from a Dickens' novel. You might even expect to see Scrooge walking purposefully to work, scornfully eyeing Christmas decorations and chiding holiday shoppers.

In Holly's Battle Alley that's exactly what you'll see, but watch out, Scrooge doesn't take kindly to folks who aren't working, and he's not afraid to tell them so!

Holly is offering the Christmas spirit to visitors to the little town. With a downtown which boasts Victorian storefronts, Holly is a natural for the Dickens Olde Fashioned Christmas Festival. Joining Scrooge are other characters Christmas Ghosts, Bob Cratchit, Tiny Tim and Old Marley in tales of a Dickens' Christmas.

MOST OF THE activities center around Battle Alley, which was originally known as Martha Street. In the early 1900s, Martha Street was lined with bars and taverns. Holly was a railroad town in those days, with two different lines running through the village.

Railroad workers would visit the taverns on Martha Street. Later, when spirits were high, fights would break out between groups from the two railroads. After a particularly raucous brawl, Martha Street became Battle Alley.

Now Battle Alley is home to all kinds of shops, selling romantic Victorian merchandise, antiques and gifts.

During the Dickens Festival, the alley is also crowded with outdoor merchants. Many provide food baked potatoes with all the trimmings, chargrilled sausage sandwiches, hot cider, funnel cakes, spiced almonds and, of course, roasted chestnuts

There's also booths with unique gifts. One sells ocarinas - small, round carved flutes. Another sells unusual kaleidoscopes, including a huge one on a pedestal. Still another sells handmade dolls.

The already festive atmosphere is enlivened more by all sorts of entertainment. There is a family of iugglers - a father and his two sons, who juggle a flaming torch, a fry pan and an egg, cooking the egg in the pan over the torch as a fi-

THERE IS A sword swallower, and you can stand up close while he swallows the torch and watch him struggle not to gag. There's also a myriad of choirs and carolers, and even a brass band.

One of the most outstanding acts in Battle Alley this year is the Imagine That! troupe — Gideon Quilp and Mrs. Peerybingle. They snare hapless shoppers into helping them with a variety of comedy skits throughout the day. In one, Mrs. Peerybingle teaches manners to an impatient dragon. In another, greedy pirates sing about their ex

The structured has weathered several fires, reopening in 1980 after the last one as a restaurant only. The setting is clearly Victorian with lace curtains, stained glass in the windows, old-fashioned mirrors and prints and an axminster

The menu features many creative offerings - dishes like chicken strudel at lunch and roast lingonberry duck at dinner. The surroundings are beautiful, the service is pleasant, if somewhat slow, and the food is very good. Reservations are suggested during the festival. Call (313) 634-5208:

HOLLY RESIDENTS seem to enjoy the festival, which is in its 17th year, as much as the visitors. Volunteers serve as the Dickens characters and provide much of the entertainment, and most of the booths are manned by people from the area.

The whole town celebrates, decorated with simple, old-fashioned garlands and bows. Local people just seem to want to be there. Eve Dennison used to own one of the shops in Battle Alley. She's retired now, but has a booth during the Dickens Festival.

Undoing a tattoo is a pain

"SAY YOU HAVE a red piece of tattoo; when the beam is absorbed by the red, it's actually burning it." he explained. "If I can do it in several visits, I can just burn it gently each time then the person forms new skin.

"It has to be a period of time just enough to destroy some of the pigment and not the deep tissue.

Weissman, who recently retired from practice, said he removes the tattoo with a series of visits based on the size of the body marking. The average design, like an anchor on the arm, takes about a half dozen sittings that last about 20 minutes. spaced out by at least two weeks. That gives the skin a chance to develop a scab and the flesh to heal, he said

There is no infection because bacteria can't exist at 10,000 degrees and there is no need for aftercare, he added. The total cost is $300. Patients with green or greenish blue colors in the tattoo would be referred to a physician with a ruby laser. That laser uses a ruby crystal and recognizes all colors except red.

The scarring is very little unlike the carbon dioxide laser (also used in tattoo removal) which is not color sensitive and will remove anything,"

There is a layer of yellowish white fat beneath the epidermis, the outer layer of skin. The Argon laser beam, if it reaches that level, will bounce back, but a carbon dioxide laser won't, producing a major scar.

IN THE PAST, tattoos have been removed by surgery, skin abrasives, carbon dioxide laser and acid, but Weissman believes those may all be unnecessary with the Argon Laser.

But he stresses that it's not a miracle worker.

Persons considering a tattoo should take into consideration the advice of professionals like Welker about the permanancy of the pattern selected. (A tattoo should be perfect in gloss and color for about 15

"You can't tell how the person's skin is going to take color, whether the person is black or white," Woodlan said. "On a dark-skinned person some of the brightness isn't going to be as vivid in a lot of cases. But in some cases, it might not make much difference. It's more the body's metabolism

Woodlan added that he recom-

There are sayings about the mixture of beauty, vanity and pain. No matter how professional, a tattoo artist can't prevent pain, but Woodlan said that what pain there is isn't "IT FEELS LIKE a sunburn while someone is scratching you," he said. 'Your body produces a chemical, endorphin, the body's own morphinelike painkiller. As an artist continues to tattoo the skin, the body sends the endorphin chemical to that area and a natural numbing process begins.

By the time the outline is finished the inner area about to be shaded and colored is so anethesized that the rest of the procedure is relatively painless, Woodlan said.

Library display explores social history

Right: Andrew Koziol of Redford Township saves World War I collectibles, a hobby he began four years ago after reading the 1960s comic book, "Enemy Ace."

By Janice Tigar-Kramer special writer

ACOLLECTION of books and graphics offering a glimpse of U.S. social history of the past 200 years is on display through Jan. 15 at the main Detroit-Public Library, 5201 Woodward, in the Detroit Cultural Center.

Ten local residents are among the 14 Detroit-area collectors whose memorabilia is included in the sixth annual exhibit, titled, "Detroiters Collect."

Sponsored by the Friends of the Detroit Public Library with the Michigan Center for the Book, the theme of this year's show is, "Americana."

"America is still young, so there is a variety of material to collect," said Dorothy Manty of the library's community relations department. "We want people to see that book" collecting covers all subjects and can be a satisfying hobby."

Besides being a diverse show with displays ranging from automotive art and history to black genealogy, exhibitors have interesting and unexpected reasons for starting their collections, Manty said.

FOR ANDREW Koziol, 13, of Redford Township, the youngest exhibifor, collecting World War I material began four years ago after reading, "Enemy Act," a comic book printed in the 1960s.

After his mother told him about Boy Allies, a series of war novels written for boys from 1915-19, Koziol began tracking down the books in local and out-of-town used book stores. He has 16 of the 26 volumes.

Besides owning about 200 books on the war, the Redford Catholic Central High School freshman collects war pictures and postcards, hats and uniform buttons.

"History has always been my favorite subject," Koziol said. "But I started my collection because, at the time, I didn't know of any other collectors."

His exhibit includes the first American edition of All Quiet on the Western Front printed in 1929.

FARMINGTON HILLS Mayor Jean-Fox had a difficult time deciding what books to include in her exhibit about the country's founding fathers and famous poets.

Fox, author of several local history books, has a library of about 12,000 books, which mostly include American and English classics and American history books.

"I started collecting simply because I've always loved books and reading," said Fox. "As a child, I remember our house had bookcases filled on each side of the fireplace."

Included in her display are books about George Washington and Thomas Jefferson, a first edition by poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and a set of poetry books by James Whitcomb Riley. Fox also displays the poetry books of Edna St. Vincent Milay, which she bought at Hudson's in the 1940s for just $1 in the 1940s for just $1.

George Weibel of Livonia became interested in American Indian tools and arrow heads as a child after spending the summer on his aunt's farm in the wooded, Missouri Ozarks south of St. Louis.

Weible, assistant city attorney for Livonia, still visits the land that has been in his family since the Louisiana Purchase. Today, he brings his grandson along to search for artifacts.

"Tve always liked to walk that country," Weible said. "Collecting the artifacts was just something to

The display of books on Indian history, farming tools, hide scrapers, food grinders, axes and arrow heads represents about 20 percent of Weible's collection.

WELDON PETZ, a former principal in the Farmington schools for 21 years, became interested in Abraham Lincoln at age 10 when his parents gave him a book about the 16th president. Petz did his master's dissertation on Lincoln. He now is a well-known lecturer and authority on the president.

"At first, I didn't realize I was a serious collector," Petz said. "My interest grew through the years."

Besides material on the Emancipation Proclamation, his display includes books on the president's youth, campaigns, family and public appeal.

A display of Michigan documents by Karl Pall of Farmington Hills includes the first Michigan Legislative Manual published in 1837.

It also includes an original Witherall Code, one of only 300 books printed in the 1800s that states the laws of the territory of Michigan.

Besides legislative documents, Pall displays the original sheet music of "Michigan My Michigan." Pall began collecting the Michigan memorabilia in the 1950s at age 15 when he was a student of government in public administration at Wayne State University.

A representative for the American

A representative for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, a public employees union, Pall still uses many of the old books when doing research for speeches and papers.

"Many of the problems government faces today were problems in the past," he said.

OTHER LOCAL exhibitors include Eve Biocourt of Birmingham, who displays textiles. Milton Shapiro of West Bloomfield displays a collection of Thomas Jefferson material, which he began collecting just five years ago.

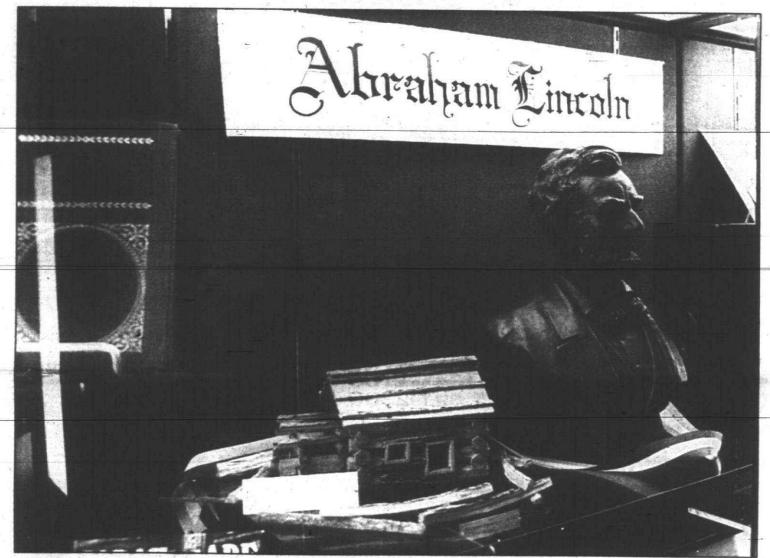

An exhibit of genealogy material by Davene McKinney shows how the Southfield woman traced her family back eight generations to the 1700s. The display includes ancestry charts, census records, slave inventories and genealogy books.

Other collections include automotive art by Lee Kollins of Orchard Lake, and World's Fair memorabilia by Alex Krentzin of Birmingham.

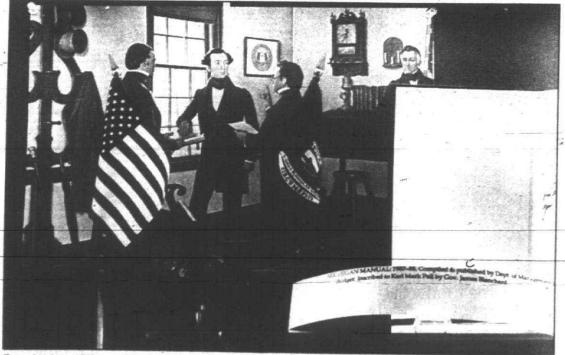

Visitors also will see displays about World War II, the Detroit Police Department, the Broadside Press and black political campaigns.

Besides exhibits by Detroit collectors, the public library displays automotive history, original sheet music, material from the Burton Collection and several rare books.

Exhibit viewing hours in the third-floor exhibit hall are 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday-Saturday and 1-9 p.m. Wednesday Admission is free.

Weldon Petz, a retired Farmington school principal, is a collector of Abraham Lincoln memorabilia.

Chart tasks to assure they're done by holiday

Q: Every year, I go into a quiet panic about whether I'll be ready for Christmas on time. This year is no exception. There's so much to do and so little time #ft to do it! Can you give me some insights that might help me?

A: The first thing you need to do is to calm down. Take a little time to pull back from the hubbub and find a quiet spot where you'll be undisturbed for a little while.

Close yourself off in your office or bedroom or sit in a bubble bath. If you can't find solitude at your home or office, take a long walk or go to the library or to a chapel.

Do some stress-relieving

Do some stress-relieving exercises such as taking some slow deep breaths and gently rolling your head and shoulders. Close your eyes and visualize yourself in a calm, serene, safe place free from any turmoil. Stay there mentally until you feel yourself calming down and your muscles relaxing.

Once the panic is gone and you can think more clearly, chart out the days left before Christmas on one or more sheets of paper. Begin writing in what you need to do, assigning those tasks to the days you want to get them done.

organizing

Dorothy Lehmkuhl

Next to each task, estimate the time to accomplish each one and add 20 percent for odds and ends. This will give you a realistic view of your time vs. your tasks.

As you list your items, think through the steps it will take to achieve each one. For instance, to bake cookies, you'll need the necessary ingredients.

If you don't h

If you don't have them, you need to make a shopping list and set aside time to buy them. For parties you'll attend, you'll want to set aside time ahead to assure your clothes will be ready, what you need to take, if you need a sitter and so forth.

Don't expect to complete this chart all at once. Make a good start, keep it closs by and add to it as you go. Put the chart, with other associated papers, into a brightly colored folder for easy retrieval.

Each day, assign the specific times you'll tackle each task, starting with the most important items. If you have more things to do than you have time to do them, choose which actions to eliminate.

Don't keep delaying things because you'll end up with a terrible crush in the end. And don't stay up too late to accomplish everything because you'll end up exhausted and may ruin the holiday for you and those around you.

those around you.

Christmas isn't the time for martyrdom, so be reasonable and ask vourself. "What will happen if I don't

. (fill in the blank: bake a certain recipe, buy that last little decoration, etc.). Life will no doubt progress just fine without that one little

Keep telling yourself that, ready or not. Christmas will come and go and you'll get through it just fine. Laugh off things that don't get done with a hearty, "Ho, Ho, Ho!" And value most the people around you, not "things."

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals. transportation, or merchandise— is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information

Stick to the facts and reap the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more nterested in those items and services they know are within their price range

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicat that many people don't understand such abbreviation as Elk (eat-in kitchen) or wsw (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative

Perhaps the most important area of your home to accessorize is the entryway; it sets the tone

Accessories: the most important furnishings

In this age of the eclectic interior, accessories may be your most important furnishings.

Pillows, throw rugs, collections on display, unusual lamps, intriguing wall decor - all make rooms more personal and interesting.

The key to a pulled-together look is to create a sense of continuity using shapes, patterns, themes or colors.

For a country interior, for example, you might accessorize with rustic antiques or folk art items and place a handmade rage rug on the floor. You could drape your windows with lace and use lace to cover a table and throw pillows.

Repeating patterns is a subtle but effective way to create continuity. The obvious way to do this is to use the same material on several furnishings - for example, selecting a tablecloth to match your drapes. A more subtle but equally effective approach is to choose accessories with patterns (scrollwork, scallops, geometrics) found on woodwork, doors, mantels - even window panes and Antiques are among the most indemand accessories, perhaps because they convey a sense of time and history. To get ideas on accessorizing with antiques, tour historic houses or, whenever you travel, stay in period-decorated bed and breakfast inns.

One attractive practical trick used by innkeepers is to cover an antique tabletop with a custom cut piece of glass; between glass and tabletop, place a crocheted or lace doily. This forms a lovely base for a lamp or

TOUR THE ULTIMATE historic home, the Hearst Castle in California, and you'll see to-die-for art deco and Tiffany lamps and authentic collections of art objects from ancient civilizations. You can create the same look - without spending a king's ransom - with reproduction items found in gift and specialty

Perhaps the most important area of your home to accessorize is the entryway; it sets the tone for the whole house. Tour model homes, and you'll see massive potted plants, huge vases or urns, expensive-looking oil paintings - all grouped artfully together just inside the front

Other secrets of model home designers include placing a dramatic object (such as a sculpture or floral arrangement) on the living room coffee table to create a focal point, using potted trees (real or artificial) to fill space in homes with vaulted ceilings, placing oversize pillows on sofas and beds to lend a sense of coziness and covering window cornice boxes with fabric that matches furnishings

In the bathrooms of model homes, designers often roll towels and stuff them in baskets to lend a touch of luxury. In children's rooms, designers aim for impact with a strong theme, often emphasized by murals or wall graphics, plus something intriguing like a kite or miniature Kit-Hawk handing from the ceiling.

Mirrors make rooms look larger, they also add light. They're normally hung at eye level as are paintings Also consider covering an entire wall - or ceiling - with mirror

If you can't afford original art, start with posters - or if you're proud of a photograph you've taken, have it enlarged and framed. Family portraits, of course, are another option; you might want to place small ones in ornate frames and group them together.

ONE OF THE MOST effective room enhancers is a Persian or Oriental rug - it will make almost any interior look more luxurious. Buy the rug before choosing fabrics for the room because it's easier to match fabrics to a run than vice versa.

Area rugs, in general, are important accent pieces. Did you know designs and colors can be custom ordered. It's possible to have a rug with the same colors and pattern as your wallpaper.

In wall coverings, the selection has never been greater. One unusual and currently popular option is trompe l'oeil (trick the eye). These designs, often similar to murals, have three-dimensional effect that adds depth - and a touch of drama or whimsy - to a room. Another trompe l'oeil effect, achieved either by wallpaper or hand painting, creates the look of a stone surface, such as marble, malachite or granite.

If you've ever felt frustrated becasue the linens, drapes and pillows that your need to make your home perfect aren't avaiable, why not make your own? "The Complete Guide to Home Sewing" by Jeanne Argent (Chilton) has pages of practical suggestions and step-by-step diagrams for everything from slipcovers to tailored lampshades.

Another book, "Decorating with Fabric" by Caroline Clifton-Mogg and Melanie Paine (Prentice-Hall) is full of great ideas, even for nonsewers. For example, toss a bed sheet across a buffet table for a festive look; cover pillows with fashion scarves.

There are many ordinary objects you can transform into stunning room accessories. Brighten your kitchen by painting your child's wood highchair a sizzling color (select a tough high-gloss acrylic). Use a step stool as a plant stand; place silk flowers in unusual containers; replace standard door hardware with stamped brass or porcelain knobs and handles; jazz up your bathroom with a new sink and elegant faucets.

There are trends in accessories: just as in most decorative items-Currently, art glass, metal sculpture and anything ecology-themed (such as rain-forest-pattern patters) is in vogue. Also, items designed by famous architects - such as linens, dinnerware and tea kettles - are popular status accessories.

Of course, any object you love is Economy forces designers to turn to residential work

special writer

Black and red, as color partners, look as equally smart on sports cars what about an entire office done in those two colors?

That's right. Everything inside the offices of Schaerer Design Inc., an interior design firm in Birmingham, is black and red — including cabinets, cushions, staplers, tables, chairs, tape dispensers, even the Rolodex.

"You normally don't see this kind of behavior in an office setting," said Bob Schaerer, the straight-faced president who drew the color scheme from a Sioux Indian blanket, a gift from his grandfather.

But while Schaerer's use of black and red for his own office points to both presentation and practicality, it also serves as a symbol, however contrived, of where the design industry is headed. Heeding a looming recession, eswar in the Middle East and threats of recession, the industry, like most others, is finding itself having to adapt or risk stagnation. Schaerer admits commercial design, which makes up so much of his business, is beginning to slow.

"People are more cautious in the corporate world today," he said. There's work out there, but it's more elusive. At the same time, as the economy gets leaner and meaner, we're switching more to residential and remodeling as opposed to designing the interiors of new commercial buildings."

INTERIOR DESIGN, like its sibling counterpart, architecture, is one of those industries that is insulated from economic tremors to an extent by reason of some unique forces.

Designers ride the wave of new office and commercial develop ments in a strong economy at the expense of taking on residential work. This becomes clear considering it is easier to work on a $28 million project than 14 projects priced at $2 million each

But during a recession, new office developments slow while residential still offers options, and may even increase as people, forced to spend more time at home during an economic tremor, choose to ready the house for the next boom.

There are a lot of forces at work but because a recession might upset vacation plans or formal entertainment plans, people are around the house more saying: 'Gee, we can't afford to move up but we can invest in that addition and we'll be better off when the market turns." Schaerer explained

AND WHILE SALES volumes are larger at the commercial end, and with it profit margins, interior designers are more than happy to renovate older rooms or design new additions - for some work is always better than no work at all.

Lou DesRosiers, president of Des-Rosiers Archtitects, Birmingham sees his firm diversifying in the com-"If there's anything we learned from the last recession, it's that you have to be ready to make adjustments," DesRosiers said.

"We find a lot of people want to homes. We offer everything from color impact to finding the right finish for a dresser or bureau." Colorworks will presents work-shops on Jan. 23 and 30. The first session covers construction and incudes selecting a builder and architect; designing a purchase agreement; financing, specifications; costeffective extras; where to cut corners; scheduling and contractors;

The second is on design and includes selecting the basics; cost vs. design, function and durability; color finishes: lavout a designer.

One session is $20, or $25 per couple. Both sessions are $30 per person or $35 per couple. Design students. and design professionals can attend for $10 per session with identification. For information, call 851-7540.

Caution is urged at condo auction

Can you give us an idea of the fea-sibility of bidding on a condominium

Watch out. First, you will no doubt have to waive your nine-day cooling off period that you normally get when you sign to buy a condominium from a developer. Also, there is, no doubt, a reason why the unit is being auctioned, presumably at below market value. While this may be merely a marketing ploy, it may also be an indication of severe problems in regard to the marketability of the units. You are best advised to inquire into the nature an extent of the viability of the condominium project before you even consider going to the auction. Buying a pig in e, even at a reduced price, will not help you, although there is the possibility that a good bargain can be obtained. All of the considerations that a normal purchaser would have to review in buying a condominium should be undertaken by a prospec-

Once person becomes aware that they are able to express themselves artistically they become willing and even curious to try altrnative mediums. Laura Novak is such a person. Laura is an amateur writer who is attempting to write murder mysteries. She took a writing class in which the instructor suggested that she try her hand at public access television. She then took MetroVision classes with 14 other people.

The television instructors suggested that each person would be more successful in following through with the television experience if they used their personal interests or causes to create a show.

Being a proud mother of twins. Laura created her first program around this subject which is dear to her heart. It made the learning easier and more fulfilling. She followed with two other children's shows, entitled 'Twins: Seeing, Being Double', 'Children's Christmas Celebration' and 'Children's Halloween Special'.

Laura then decided to tackle a more difficult project. She decided to create a documentary style, entertainment special. The theme of her show was an historical musical presentation written and performed by Candace Anderson. Laura secured a grant from the Southwestern Oakland Cable Commission to bring Ms. Anderson to our facili-

Laura Novak's program is entitled "A Michigan Sampler . . . Pioneer Women: Their Lives through song". Candace Anderson is an historian in the Kalamazoo College Area. She researched pioneer women's lives and shared their experiences through song. This led her into their homes, their diaries and their letters.

"Listening to her songs makesone feel as if they were back in time." savs Laura

One song is about a Michigan Black woman who was a slave. had no education and could not read. As a slave she grew up and watched all her children sold into slavery. This woman was one of the speakers at a convention where the women wanted a chance to vote. The woman in charge of the convention heard that she was a great speaker and scheduled her to speak. The crowd was shocked because she was Black; however she prevailed with her eloquence and opinions on voting and she received a standing ovation. From this song you get a feeling of history and you feel like you know the person. Candace's songs are about these kinds of

Kennedy Center honors performing artists

Katharine Hepburn about venereal disease; mother Katharine tirelessly pushed for among honorees

By Mary Ann Townsend

President John F. Kennedy had a dream that one day the performing arts would be duly recognized in this country. To that end, he helped establish the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

Years ago at a fund-raiser for the center, Kennedy said, "Llook forward to an America which will not be afraid of grace or beauty . . . which will reward achievement in the arts as we reward achievement in business or statecraft."

His dream has become a reality. For 13 years, the Kennedy Center has been recognizing those who have excelled in the fields of dance, theater, opera, motion pictures and television in the annual "Kennedy Center Honors: A Celebration of the Performing Arts." This year's honors show, a GM Mark of Excellence Presentation, airs Friday, Dec. 28, on CBS.

The five honorees are jazz trumpeter Dizzy Gillespie, actress Katharine Hepburn, opera star Rise Stevens, composer Jule Styne and screen writer Billy Wilder. Walter Cronkite will host.

At the "Kennedy Center Honors," taped Dec. 2 af the Kennedy Center Opera House, legendary actress Hepburn was moved to emotion when, for the first time ever, she viewed a clip of her Oscar-winning performance in "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner." It was not her performance that moved her, but the fact it was the final film of Spencer Tracy, her co-star in nine Hepburn is known for openly expressing her thoughts and feelings. The second of six children, Hepburn was born Nov. 8, 1907 in Hartford, Conn. to unorthodox parents who encouraged candidness in their family.

Her parents were crusaders. Father Thomas, a distinguished surgeon, pioneered public education women's rights and birth control. It was at a women's suffrage rally that the then 8-year-old Katharine first performed publicly.

By the time she entered her mother's alma mater, Bryn Mawr College, in 1924, Hepburn had considered following in her father's footsteps, but looked at her prospects realistically. "I knew at that time I wouldn't have gone to a woman surgeon," she reasoned. "I felt, 'Well, I better dump that, and I

O: I am writing to inquire about the actor James Garner. I remember some months ago he had heart surgery. However, I haven't seen anything or heard about him in the news or in magazines. Did he go back to acting after his surgery? One other question. When and how did Richard Long of The Big Valley die? - Dixie Muellerleile, Mankato, Minn.

A: I may have missed something along the way, but I don't think James Garner ever had heart surgery. In 1984 he starred with Mary Tyler Moore in the ABC Movie Special Heartsounds. the story of Dr. Harold Lear, who suffered and lived through a series of heart attacks. Garner recently starred in the NBC Hallmark Hall of Fame presentation Decoration Day. Richard Long succumbed to a heart ailment Dec. 21, 1974. He was 47 years old.

O: What can you tell me about a young lady called Erin Moran from Happy Days? She is married and lives in Ventura County. I would like to have her address so that I may write to her. -John Daniels, Chicago, Ill.

A: Mr. Daniels, I must tell you, I have received all your letters requesting this address, and believe me I have looked. Your best chance of receiving information about her is to write to: Screen Actors Guild, 7065 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, CA 90028. Meanwhile. I will ask the readers of this column if they have information on Erin to please write me and I will pass it on to you.

said. 'I'd better become an actor. So I did "

For Hepburn and the entertainment industry, it was a wise move.

For more than five decades, the actress has made an indelible mark on the silver screen. Hepburn's credits include more than 40 feature films (many of which are considered classics), numerous TV movies and more than 30 stage productions. Nominated for 12 Oscars and winner of four, she has obviously achieved quality as well as quantity.

"My career has wavered around, stumbled, fallen, picked itself up, crawled back and jumped," the actress summized. "If I'm confused about some things. I'm sure about one thing. I'm a professional actress. I'm an amateur painter, an amateur sculptress, but as an actress, I'm a professional."

Dizzy Gillespie, Katharine Hepburn, Rise Stevens, Jule Styne and Billy Wilder will receive "Kennedy Center Honors." The GM Mark of Excellence Presentation, airing Friday, Dec. 28, is hosted by Walter Cronkite.

Rams subject to 49ers' revenge

By Steve Paschal

The world champion San Francisco 49ers will have an opportunity for revenge Monday night when they travel to Anaheim, Calif., for a rematch with the Los Angeles Ram's on ABC's Monday Night Football.

It was the Rams, along with the Philadelphia Eagles, who threw a monkey wrench into the muchanticipated showdown between the 49ers and New York Giants with upset victories Thanksgiving weekend. The Giants and 49ers were just one game away from the first-ever meeting between two 11-0 teams when the Eagles upset the Giants and the Rams took San Francisco. To make matters worse, the Rams stopped the 49ers just one game shy of setting an all-time record for consecutive victories. San Francisco had won 18 straight to tie a record set twice by the Chicago Bears and equalled by the 1971-73 Miami

Despite the loss, the 49ers still have an iron grip on first place in the NFC West and appear on course for another record-setting playoff appearance. The Rams, once thought to be a shoe-in for the-playoffs, got off to a dismal start and are battling just to make it to post-season play as a wild card team

Sunday, CBS features a schedule of regional games that begins with either Atlanta at Cléveland, Minnesota at Tampa Bay or Phoenix at Dallas followed by Green Bay at Phil-49ers quarterback Joe Montana (16) is set to take on the L.A. Rams on ABC's Monday Night Football.

Michigan Pioneer Women. Other examples are a fur trader, underground railroad lady, and the woman who started Michigan's first Catholic Church.

The crew for the show fell in love with Candace Anderson, because she was so personable. Her premise is that true appreciation of the happenings of today can only come with an understanding of what came be-

Candace performs her songs in period costume, thereby visually capturing, the imagination and emotions of the television

This was Laura Novak's fifth program. Her plans include involvement with local theatre groups as they become more familiar with videotaping their original works or public domain works. We can also look forward -to seeing another Christmas program which will keep our spirits bright.

From week to week we will hear of more individuals who inspire others to share their creativity through the medium of Community Television, which richly appreciates all of the 'arts'

Daytime TV losing

actors to hopes of success

in prime time

By Candace Havens

Daytime television is definitely on a losing streak as far as its top stars are concerned. Everybody wants to hit the big time, and most are heading to L.A.

to discover their dream. Chances are most are going to be sadly disappointed

It all began a few months ago when

Days of Our Lives lost Stephen Nichols

(Patch). Now they are losing a heartthrob of young and old, Billy Hufsey

It seems Hufsey is leaving because the daytime program ties down his schedule too much and he isn't as free to do other things as he would like to

bc. He reportedly had to turn down more than five feature films because the show's execs wouldn't let him off

You win some. You lose some.

in the outcome.

The folks at Guiding Light aren't faring much better. Michael O'Leary (Rick) has given notice and plans a relocation to Los Angeles. The part will be recast, hopefully by Christmas.

Early next year Robert Newman (Josh) is also relocating to L.A. to pursue a career in prime time. Newman spent some time out test earlier this year and was a great success in his two-show stint on Hunter.

And as if that weren't enough, Loving's Perry Stephens (Jack) isn't renewing his contract. You'll never guess where he's heading - L.A., of course! He recently married his longtime fiancee, Jenny Jackson, and now he's ready to try his luck in prime time. and feature films. The show's execs haven't decided what to do with the character, so they are not going to do anything for now
