The Canton Connection

Business people

The Canton Chamber of Commerce named their small business person of the year last week. Dr. James Gillig, an orthodontist, was given the honor. There were 21 people considered.

"It's all based on what you're doing for the community and you're business ethics and a lot of other factors that enter into it," said Hazen Hiller, chamber first vice-president.

The runners up are: Chamber President Mary Domeier, of Draw Tite; Marcia Buhl, of Michigan Bell and Dr. Bhupendra Hajratwala, of American Educational and Financial Services and Mariner Financial Services.

Historic commission

The Canton Historic District Commission is looking for applicants for appointment to the commission.

The commission meets on the first Wednesday monthly. If you're interested call the Canton Resource Development Division at 397-5417.

Veterans seek Canton widow

The 390th Group H Veterans Association is trying to find the widow of Donald F. May who lived on Warren Road. He was a member of this heavy bombardment group during World War II, flying from a base in England.

A documentary was produced about his WWII Army Air Corps crew. The producers of the documentary would like to get in touch with May's widow.

For more information, call 1-602-990-0925.

Golf discounts

The Canton Parks and Recreation department is selling golf discount coupons for Fellows Creek Golf Course to Canton residents.

The book of 10 coupons provides $1 discounts on 9-hole rounds of golf.

Coupon books are available at the Parks and Recreation office, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, 1150 S. Canton Center. Call 397-5110 for more information.

Proof of residency is required when buying the coupon books.

4-year-old hit by car

A 4-year-old Canton boy was in stable condition at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor Saturday after he stepped out from behind a parked car on Holly Drive and was hit by an oncoming car Friday.

William Hurlin, whose parents, Matt and Carol Hurlin, live on Holly, was playing across the street from his home around 5:45 p.m. Friday when the accident occurred.

"He has some cuts and bruises, but it looks like he's going to be OK," said the boy's father. "I guess you can say he's doing as good as can be expected."

Police described the driver of the car as a Canton woman in her early 20s. According to police, the woman left the accident scene but returned soon afterward.

CANTON TOWNSHIP Lt. Bill Lenaghan interviewed the woman Saturday. He said the case will be presented to the Wayne County prosecutor's office Monday to determine if charges will be filed.

Lenaghan said neither alcohol nor

Schools to cut expenses, not staff

By M.B. Dillon

To ward off financial woes that could result in 1992-93 should Lansing's proposed tax freeze hold, the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education will pare down expenditures in next year's initial budget at its meeting tonight.

The session is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Viewing and Listening Room at Plymouth Canton High School.

"Rather than take the full jolt of $3 million in 1992-93, if the tax freeze holds, we can get a leg up on it and avoid some of the shock to the system," said Board President Dean Swartzweiler.

Trustees will examine $1.5 million in reductions from next year's $75 million budget — none of which will affect staffing — proposed by Supt. John Hoben and Associate Superintendent for Business Ray Hoedel.

SOME OF the recommended cuts include areas such as transportation and safety; maintenance and major products; staff development and athletics at Centennial Educational Park.

Voters on June 10 will be asked to renew 17.74 mills, which represents about half the district's 1991-92 revenues. A public hearing on the 1991-92 budget and a truth-in-taxation hearing are planned for 7:30 p.m., Monday, June 17, at West Middle School.

The budget by law must be passed by July 1.

School officials are proposing a $59.9 million bond issue for a Sept. 24 election. Funding would be used to build two elementaries, add space throughout the district, and to introduce $12 million in electronic technology to the classroom, among other things.

"Some of the items (in the district's proposed 1991-92 budget) could be delayed and be picked up with some of the things that might come with the bond," said Hoben.

Magic Ride

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Bruce Patterson resigned his position Friday on a Canton commission that decides the pay and other benefits for township employees because he is running for Schoolcraft College trustee.

"I don't want anything unflattering to be said about the merit commission," said Patterson of ending a 12-year tenure on the Canton Merit Commission.

Last week, a question was raised about a possible conflict between Patterson's bid for Schoolcraft trustee and his position on the merit commission.

Canton's merit commission ordinance was adopted by Canton voters in 1978.

It says: "No commissioner shall hold any other elective or appointive office, place or position under the United States, State of Michigan, or any city, county or other political subdivision thereof, nor shall any commissioner serve on any political committee or take any active part in the management of any political campaign."

CANTON'S ATTORNEY, C. Gerald Hemming, said there's a question about whether Patterson's constitutional rights would be denied if he weren't allowed to take part in any political activity. He said there were court cases supporting both sides of the issue.

Patterson said he has worked hard to "maintain the integrity of the merit commission" and he wouldn't want any suggestion of wrongdoing or doubt by anyone who comes before the commission.

Patterson said he believed the ordinance was referring to partisan elections. Since the Schoolcraft College race is non-partisan, it wouldn't be necessary for him to step down.

Shopping spree part of challenge festival

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Imagine someone giving you $1,000.

The winner of a drawing at the end of the nine-day Canton Challenge Festival will know exactly how it feels.

Registration for the shopping spree will be behind township hall both weekends of the festival, May 25, May 26, June 1 and June 2. Registration is free.

WOODLAND MEADOWS is donating the cash. The only rules are that the winner spend the money anywhere in Canton sometime in June. The winner's name will be drawn at 4:30 p.m., Sunday, June 2 during the Charity Bowling Tournament at the SuperBowl, Ford Road.

The grand shopping spree is part of the Shop Canton campaign that area businesses started earlier this year.

And some entrepreneurs are going big time. Thirteen Canton businesses bought commercial time on cable television channels, CNN, FNN, USA and ESPN. The Canton Community Foundation negotiated a bulk buy of 600, 30 second spots and reduced the commercial rate 40 percent.

Also, the 13 stores will give away one Canton dollar for every $10 spent. The money can be spent during the festival, in a make-believe Canton Shop, selling coffee mugs, shirts, hats, frisbees and other items with Canton's logo.

dollars are: Elias Brothers Big Boys, Sir Speedy Printing, Maria's Bakery, Charles & Co., Mann's Do It Center, Marine Affiliates, Better Built Fence, Top Value Muffler, Roman Forum, Omnicom Cablevision, DynaCar, Hunan Empire and Dr. Tom Geros.

Friction in the chamber

Director resigns over 'differences'

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Joan Bolek, Canton Chamber of Commerce executive director for the past five years, resigned her position after "differences" between chamber board members.

Bolek quit earlier this month from the full-time post that, she said, paid between $10,000 and $14,000.

Friction between Bolek and board members began, she said, about three months ago when she asked for changes in the office, like more staff and different responsibilities.

"The workload at the office has practically doubled in the last year," Bolek said. "I felt we needed more people in the office. I also had a communication problem with a couple of the board members."

The board declined the request and asked Bolek to step down as director. She was offered a job running the chamber office, which would have included a pay cut.

BOLEK CHOSE to quit rather than take the chamber offer.

"The image of the chamber has changed over the past five years and I think I had something to do with that," Bolek said.

retary for the commission. He applauded Patterson for his dedication. "I think he's done an exemplary job and he's been an outstanding commissioner and probably one of the most thorough and well-prepared person I've ever dealt with," Durack said.

THE MERIT commission has three members. Don Voyles was appointed by Supervisor Tom Yack. Kim McBain was elected by full-time Canton employees. Voyles and McBain named Patterson as the neutral member.

Yack recognized Patterson as the longest-serving merit commissioner and probably better understands the merit ordinance and procedures by the merit commission than anyone else.

"If Bruce gets involved with something he takes it very seriously and he bends over backwards to understand employees' points of view so that they feel like they get a fair hearing," Yack said, adding that the merit commission ordinance possibly needs to be updated.

Patterson also stepped down from the merit commission in 1984 when he ran for 35th District Court Judge. However, after he lost the race he was reappointed to the commission.

Patterson said he stepped down at that time for a number of reasons. "I didn't want any questions to be raised," Patterson said.

Also, Patterson said that at that time, he had three young children, had recently taken a leadership role in his law firm and was pressed for time.

YACK ASKED a rhetorical question: "Who is responsible for overseeing the commission? It can't be the board of trustees, because the board can be part of an employee grievance."

"The commission is ultimately responsible to Canton residents," Yack said. However, he added that it is unrealistic to believe the average resident is aware of the commission. "The press plays a bigger role in Bruce Patterson watchdogging than anybody else," Yack said. Voyles said he had no problem with Patterson serving on the commission and running for the Schoolcraft board. "He's not managing a campaign and he's not elected, yet," Voyles said. McBain was unavailable for comment.

Trustees liked the idea. "I'D LIKE to lend my support to assuming some of the burden in '1991-92," board member Carl Battistilli said. Battistilli works in the West Bloomfield school district where rather than adjust to revenue shortfalls ahead of time, "our board decided to carry on as usual. Now they're pink-slipping 150 employees and 50 teachers. It's the most devastating thing that's happened in 15 years to the district."

Trustee Les Walker said, "I don't think we have much choice." Trustee E. J. McClendon said the idea seems rational, and proposed delaying purchases and making mid-year adjustments, depending on what the Legislature does.

Trustee Roland Thomas asked the administration "to somehow communicate back to the staff so people understand the gravity of what we are experiencing. I'd like to see the superintendent write a letter reiterating why we are doing what we are doing."

This doesn't mean the death knell for middle school restructuring, Hoben said. "We are in negotiations on mid-level. We haven't gone away from team teaching. We are not dead in the water. We are working on a settlement that will allow us to move forward as best we can with the resources we have." Contract revisions are necessary to implement team teaching in the middle schools.

Hoedel presented a timetable for placing the bond issue on the ballot. "We could discuss and finalize the scope of the proposed bond issue at our June 11 regular meeting. June 24 we could approve it at a regular meeting and decide on tentative ballot wording. July 16 we'd get final written approval from the State Board of Education and set a tentative election date of Tuesday, Sept. 24."

CEP bands win first at state competition

The Centennial Educational Park Symphony and Concert bands recently received "one" ratings at the 1991 Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's State Band and Orchestra Festival.

More than 20,000 band and orchestra students from 325 junior and senior high schools participated in 25 locations around the state. These groups had qualified at district festivals attended by more than 1,500 bands and orchestras from more than 1,200 schools throughout the state.

The CEP Symphony Band conducted by James R. Griffith, played "The Glory of the Yankee Navy" March by Sousa, "First Suite in E Flat" Movements 1 and 2 by Holst, and "Russian Christmas Music" by Reed in Class AA.

The CEP Concert Band conducted by Glen A. Adit performed in Class B a program including: "English Folk Song Suite March" and "Rhosymedre" by Vaughan Williams and "Fortress" by Tichell. Each group was judged by a panel of three performance judges and one sight-reading judge.

The symphony and concert bands will perform at the Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium on Friday, May 31, at 7:30 p.m. along with other bands in the CEP Band Program. The concert is free.

speeding appeared to be a factor in the accident. However, the case is still under investigation.

Paul Yeagy, the Hurlin's next-door neighbor, said he was standing in his driveway when he saw William — or Willie — step out into the street.

"The boy walked out from behind the parked car" and was hit by a white car driven by a woman, he said.

"She stopped momentarily, said

"I'm sorry," then got back in the car and drove around him," Yeagy said, referring to the woman driving the car that hit William. At that point, William's mother ran out into the street, picked him up and took him into their house. Neighbors called police.

THE CANTON fire department, an ambulance and the police department responded almost immediately to the call. Paramedics took the boy and his parents to St. Mary's Hospital, where he was then later transferred to the U-M Hospital.

Bob Babcock, who lives directly across from the Hurlin home, said toys William was holding were scattered across the street. He picked them up and returned them to the Hurlins' back yard.

"My gut reaction — they're gonna have to slow down when driving on Holly Drive," Babcock said. Holly Drive is the main entrance and exit to the Holiday Park subdivision on Joy Road and I-275 in the northeast corner of the township. The first block of Holly, where the Hurlins live, has long been compared to a drag strip by neighbors.

"Those of us who live here can't drive out in the morning" because cars are driving down the street and obviously exceeding the 25 mph speed limit, Babcock added.

Staff writers Philip Sherman and Jay Grossman contributed to this story.

Director quits

"When I started it was a part-time chamber and not many projects," she said. "I hope that things continue to grow as they have and I'm sure that they will."

The chamber is looking for someone to fill Bolek's place, according to Hazen Hiller, chamber first vice-president.

"I hope that the chamber is not harmed by the lull in between," Bolek said referring to the open director seat.

"It's hard to operate without a director," she said. "Whoever takes the job, I hope will do a good job."

When Bolek joined the chamber five years ago, Hiller said, it was a part-time operation and "she helped build it up to what it is today."

"Primarily they wanted to get someone involved in recruiting," Hiller said. "We're expanding and we have to make some changes."

"We're going to miss (Bolek)," Hiller said.

Yuppie flu a defense in shooting rampage

By Kevin Brown staff writer

A Plymouth man's "yuppie flu" played a role in the Ann Arbor shooting rampage he is charged with, his lawyer said.

Roger Guiles, 44, is charged with firing bullets from a semiautomatic rifle into the University of Michigan administration building April 19.

CHRONIC FATIGUE immune deficiency syndrome — some have nicknamed it the "yuppie flu" — "will be raised in the case because that's the disease that Roger has," said defense attorney Michael Stillwagon.

Guiles, 44, faces a June 17 trial date in Washtenaw County Circuit Court. He was arraigned in circuit court Tuesday on three charges stemming from the incident.

The charges are discharging a firearm at a building, malicious destruction of a building over $100, and a felony firearms charge.

"There are a series of symptoms that these victims suffer from," Stillwagon said, adding Guiles "has been very active with chronic fatigue syndrome (formerly called Epstein-Barr disease) support groups in this area."

Stillwagon said symptoms include fatigue and sometimes sore throat. "Their ability to carry out everyday functions is limited," he said, adding ability to concentrate is also diminished.

"It's similar to having the flu all the time," Stillwagon said. Those reporting symptoms tend to be from the middle and upper classes, hence the "yuppie flu" nickname.

VINCE LUMETTA, who recently started a chronic fatigue syndrome support group, said he learned how to start such a group from Guiles, around 1987. "Roger is a nice, decent individual, very helpful and always there if you need information," he said.

Lumetta said clinical doctors question the existence of the disease because it doesn't show in conventional blood tests, and there is no known cause.

Still, Lumetta said recent research has shown that 80 percent of those suffering from the disease have an immune system deficiency, and the U.S. centers for disease control "is spending millions of dollars researching the disease."

Guiles did not plead at his arraignment. He's being held in the Washtenaw County Jail in Ann Arbor in lieu of $100,000 bond. If convicted, he could face a maximum of four years in prison.

U-M spokesman Joseph Owsley said that at 2:55 a.m. April 19, a man "came onto Regents Plaza, an open space in front of the Fleming Administration Building, armed with an M14 semiautomatic weapon with a 20-round magazine.

"He shot out the two large entrance doors and the window right above them. Bullets also went through the elevator door while a security guard was in the elevator," he said.

THE GUARD WAS NOT hurt; no one else was in the building. Bullets exited the building and damaged windows and walls in at least four offices.

The shed was broken into and the items were removed, police reports said. There was $70 damage to the door and lock.

Carol Levette played the good fairy to Edie Wysocki's Snow White. And who should appear as the prince? Ed Wendover, the publisher of a weekly newspaper in Plymouth.

But that wasn't all, folks. Annette Sturud strutted her stuff as the stripper, and Jacquie Burkowski as a belly dancer. But there was something for the ladies, too. Bill Baxter showed the crowds his stuff with his rendition of "Bad, Bad Leroy Brown."

Don't cut out vital program

To the editor: An open letter to Dr. Joseph Marinelli: As a parent of a student in the Readiness Program in the Livonia Public Schools, I would like to express my concern over the proposed curriculum realignment that would mean the deletion of Readiness from the 1991-92 curriculum and the installation of several new programs to accommodate the students "at risk."

A Week of Thanks For A Lifetime Of Caring

We salute these caregivers -- our physicians, nurses, employees and volunteers -- dedicated to providing the highest quality medical care to our community. In their honor, we proclaim the week of May 12-18, "A week of thanks for a lifetime caring."

ent program. Learning specialists and tutorial programs will not be able to accommodate these children. They need a broad educational program to accommodate their special needs. The Readiness Program could be a major part of the solution to this evolving educational need, not simply a costly supplemental program.

PLEASE DON'T let Readiness be a victim of such corporate maneuvering. It is too valuable a program to be allowed to lapse while the administration experiments with dollars and cents -- not to mention the caliber of professional educators that will be lost in the realignment shuffle.

MY SECOND question is directed to you as a professional in education: How can you justify cutting a program that is working and saving the educational futures of so many children?

READINESS has evolved to that status of being a routine part of the education program. If there ever was a stigma attached to the Readiness student, it has dissolved. If we institute a new program that pulls the children out of their "routine" first grade classes on certain days, we run the risk of stigmatizing those children and they will have to get over that hurdle of being "special."

To the editor: I am surprised and disappointed that you would advocate that the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees act in a manner contrary to the clear directive of the law.

MADD proud of its work
To the editor: As a former president of the Wayne County chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving (1989-90), I must share a different perspective regarding this organization's growth than that presented by Helen Molnar.

To the editor: Concerning your article on varsity jackets, I was concerned at the very importance of it.

State senator, DSS head boost peace group

By Judith Doner Berne
staff writer

In the wake of the Gulf War, it isn't a great time to be a peacenik — and some members of Women's Action for Nuclear Disarmament (WAND) may have needed a shot in the arm.

We got it, said West Bloomfield resident Marilyn Schechter, from the one-two punch of Agnes Mansour and state Sen. Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor.

Mansour, the former nun, turned Mercy College president, turned DSS director, was keynote speaker for WAND's annual Mother's Peace Day Breakfast, held Friday at the Community House in Birmingham. She is now director of the Poverty and Social Reform Institute.

And Pollack was the recipient of WAND's annual Mother's Day Peace Award for her work in the Michigan Legislature.

Although our state and national priorities are changing, Mansour said, she offered a glimmer of hope for something better.

"I think the public is ahead of our political leaders," Mansour said.

And Pollack urged the 80 members present to fully realize their power. "I look around this room and I see power," she said. "You're affluent, you're educated, you're influential. You need to understand the strength of your own commitment."

"This is not a financially impoverished country," Pollack said. "The problem is not with the resources, it's with the distribution. The problem is with the will. We need to convince our legislators that the money should be spent on our children."

BUT BEFORE giving those assembled the heart to go on, Mansour outlined a bleak situation.

"Our heart as a nation, at least as interpreted by our national leaders, has been military might. That over-preparedness helped to propel us into the Gulf War, the morality of which has not really been addressed because 'We won.'"

It still bears asking if our motives in defending Kuwait were humanitarian or selfish, she told her audience of about 80 people addressing the topic, "Stealth or Health."

• If we went to war, as the President has said, to protect our way of life, then we must acknowledge that it's a way of life which has glaring discrepancies between rich and poor.

• If we did it, to protect the world's energy resources, then we must acknowledge that we do not try to conserve what we have.

• And, if we did it to help bring about a new world order, then why aren't we first creating that order at home where "We are the world's most violent nation."

"We have a foreign policy president, when what we need is a domestic policy president," Mansour said, pointing out the problems of drugs, child abuse and neglect, crack babies, homelessness and illiteracy which are running rampant.

"We blew the nation's wealth in the '80's going from the world's largest creditor nation to its largest debtor nation." Now, the richest 2.5 million people in our country have as much money as the 100 million poorest.

THE MICHIGAN SCENE is also discouraging, as Gov. John Engler dismantles the social service system, Mansour said.

"He wants to Englerize Michigan like Reagan Reorganized the nation" — basically increasing the discrepancy between rich and poor. "Being a humane state apparently is out-moded."

"I don't believe Americans are content with two Americas. We want to be a kinder, gentler nation."

WAND activist Arlene Victor, a Bloomfield Township resident, called for a five-minute break, passing paper and envelopes around for each person to write to Michigan Sen. Carl Levin to convince him to vote to terminate the Stealth B-2 bomber.

Price tag is $865 million per unproven bomber, while the Headstart budget for all states is just $100 million, Mansour said.

State Sen. Lana Pollack

District eyes smoking ban

Smokers attending summer classes in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will have to kick the habit if Superintendent John Hoben has his way.

The district will try a no-smoking policy this summer, and possibly again in the fall.

"At the beginning of summer school, I'd like to see the piloting of no smoking on campus, and I'd like board concurrence," Hoben told trustees at their workshop Monday night.

WHILE SMOKING in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is allowed only in designated areas, the policy isn't enforced.

Errol Goldman, the district's executive director for employee relations, said an administrative procedure permitting the no-smoking policy exists, but it's opposed by employees.

"They would oppose any change to what we are doing now," Goldman said.

Implementing the plan would mean having to come up with answers to "the same litany of questions we've always had," board president Dean Swartzwelder said.

It "would be unwise to launch implementation of a no-smoking policy without first studying the pilot," trustee E.J. McClendon said.

Pewabic Pottery tour slated

The Plymouth Community Arts Council is sponsoring a guided tour of Pewabic Pottery in Detroit.

The tour includes a viewing of the "Table for Two" exhibit. The event will take place on Tuesday, May 21. Car pools will be arranged leaving Plymouth at 9 a.m. and lunch downtown will follow the tour.

Call the PCAC office at 455-5260 for reservations.

Watching his weight fluctuate

There's no doubt about it. I have a great job. Not only do I get paid to write but I also get paid to eat. My job is hazardous to my health.

Nary a recipe gets printed that hasn't been tested. This is great for you, the reader, but wreaks havoc on my waistline. People ask me if I have to watch my weight.

"Yes, I watch it go up and down," is my pat response.

Granted, being a little over 6 foot 6 inches tall allows me to "carry" my weight better and, yes again, I have two pairs of pants, one for the natural me and another for the heavier me.

I also have kitchen cupboards crammed with Ultra Slim Fast, Light Balance Suppers, reduced-calorie mayonnaise and Special K. My freezer has a shelf dedicated to Weight Watchers, Lean Cuisine and the Budget Gourmet. I drink light beer, use light syrup on my waffles, snack on Pringle's Light and use nothing but skim milk.

POLITE PEOPLE tell me I don't have a weight problem but they're never present when I step from the shower in front of the bathroom mirror. I know I have to lose another 15 pounds or so. I also know that if I simply monitored my intake of bread and chocolate, I wouldn't be afraid to sit on one of those $8 lawn chairs from Kmart without fear of it collapsing.

I'm a full-fledged foodie. My membership is up to date at Vic Tanny's. I shun more desserts than I eat and have written off 7-11 Surpees for the rest of my life, opting instead for grapefruit juice, which an ad in the National Enquirer says will help burn calories even while I sleep. I even play "Sweatin' to the Oldies" subliminally during my sleep but wake up the next morning with this insatiable urge to hug everything.

I have no secret to maintaining my weight within a prescribed limit. I have given up "dieting," long ago realizing instead that in order to maintain control of my size I must remain in control of my food intake.

I eat remarkably well, opting for healthier choices whenever possible. Since I would rather catch fish than cook it, 99 percent of my restaurant choices are made by choosing fish. I appreciate the art of proper saucemaking, but it's my opinion that a restaurant be judged more on its ability to do wonders with fish and poultry than with sauces and beef. Most anyone can chargrill an Angus sirloin. Well-prepared fish doesn't need a sauce.

There is one thing I do that has turned into more of a habit than anything else. Drinking water has virtually replaced my casual snacking and two-pack-a-day cigarette habit. I stopped counting long ago but have no doubt I drink at least eight tall glasses of water daily. A trip to 7-11 or the party store now has me checking out the juice selections instead of the diet pop.

WHEN INVITED to dine, anyone who waits on me knows that they better leave the water jug. Even when partying, I make it a rule to have one drink and then follow it with the same size water. Not only does this fill me up sooner but the modifications have meant no more morning hangovers.

But most importantly, I eat well, even at home. I take regular recipes and try to make them more healthy and less caloric, without diminishing the taste. If you are one of those people who thinks that dieting is disastrous, check out the availability of some of the newer health publications. With summer around the corner, do your body a favor, and enjoy yourself in the process.

Grandma inspired gourmet products

By Geri Rinschler special writer

IN JUST a year, Elaine Houlihan's gourmet food line has grown. Based in a state-of-the-art commercial kitchen in Auburn Hills, Houlihan's Culinary Traditions Ltd., now includes 10 fruit preserves, three Italian herbed olive oils and an Italian bread dipping sauce, along with the gourmet applesauce that introduced her to the gourmet world.

Bloomfield Hills resident Houlihan admits she has never attended professional cooking or chef's classes, but she has been cooking most of her life. Inspired by her maternal grandmother, who was born north of Rome, Elaine — or Elena Houlihan as she is known to her family — was making pasta and rolling potato gnocchi by hand at the age of 4. Her fondest memories about growing up in upstate New York focus on the Italian culinary traditions — canning or preserving tomato sauce, making homemade pasta and putting up fresh fruit, preserves and especially applesauce made from a variety of apples near her home in Cortland, New York.

Houlihan, who was professionally trained as a psychologist, said, "I've always loved to cook and for years wanted to do something in the culinary field." With the support and encouragement of her husband, she left a position in business imaging, which she held for a number of years with Eastman Kodak, to research Houlihan's Culinary Traditions.

A year later, in October 1989, she moved into a commercial kitchen. After researching the market for a year, there was no question in her mind that a gourmet applesauce and gourmet toddler applesauce was going to be her initial product. After selecting a source for the finest Michigan Empire apples, Houlihan tested and retested the final formula.

SIX MONTHS LATER she perfected a recipe for Elena's Bread-Dipping Sauce, an idea reminiscent of her grandmother's sauce that was served in individual bowls at the dinner table accompanied by crunchy Italian bread to munch on until the meal was ready.

"It's a zesty tomato sauce, absolutely like my family recipe," Houlihan said. Along with the dipping sauce, three herbed olive oils were added to the line. Unlike other flavored olive oils, these extra-virgin Italian olive oils are blended with crushed garlic and a robust array of herbs.

"The oil blends are sauces designed to be tossed with freshly cooked pasta. I wanted to make a simple sauce that could flavor pasta quickly, in 10 minutes," she said. "I didn't see any herbed oils in the market and realized how few people know how to season pasta with herbs and oil."

Three months after marketing the oils, Houlihan experimented with Michigan fruits and created 10 fruit preserves. Her marketing talents were put to good use designing labels and naming the preserves after American cities which provided the inspiration — Traverse City Tart

Cherry, Atlanta Peach and New York Apple Raspberry, to name a few.

All the preserves are made in small, 40-quart batches. They are hand-stirred and hand bottled. Every batch is numbered and logged by each kitchen employee before shipping.

JUST BRING UP the subject of preserves and Houlihan responds with pride. "There is an art to making preserves." Writing the recipe is only part of the job, she added. You must check the pH levels, make sure each batch has the correct amount of pectin because different crops have a varying amount of sugar and water content.

Most of Houlihan's Culinary Traditions can be found locally at Get Sourced, in Trappers Alley, Detroit; all three Merchant of Vinos shops (Birmingham, Southfield and Troy) the Market Basket, Franklin; the Quorton Market, Birmingham; Muffins and More, Birmingham; and Neiman Marcus, Chicago. As you might expect, this creative cook is always in the process of developing and marketing new products. Houlihan wants to maintain a quality product and does not have any plans to mass produce her gourmet foods, but there is no telling which culinary delight she will bottle next.

RESTAURANT RATING GUIDE

- ★ Average
- ★★ Good
- ★★★ Very Good
- ★★★★ Excellent
- ★★★★★ Superb

DISHING IT OUT

The Old Woodward Grill is a welcome addition to the Birmingham restaurant scene if you enjoy a casual atmosphere that lets you dine in anything from a business suit to a warm up, are a non-smoker (smoking is outlawed throughout) and don't mind that its diverse menu is inconsistent, containing both winners and losers.

Clearly the star of the grill, which is trying to live down its initial sports bar moniker, is a recipe from the kitchen of a sports star — Pistons forward Joe Dumars' Louisiana seafood gumbo.

A bowl is nearly a meal in itself — and a delicious one at that, with firm shrimp and a flavorful — but not too spicy — gumbo.

And, if you're a meat and potatoes kind of guy or gal, you also will score. The Old Woodward makes an excellent hamburger; the prime rib, which comes in three sizes and prices, is delicious; and the Anna potatoes — a house speciality — get raves.

You also will enjoy the eight-inch cheese pizza baked in the restaurant's special California brick oven and a nice assortment of "Super starters," which include a mesquite-grilled shrimp served with an interesting kiwi puree. Daily specials are posted on green chalkboards.

THE GRILL'S BLACK and white checkered oilcloth tablecloths and wood floors are kid proof — and the children's menu is clearly designed with McKid in mind — hamburgers and hot dogs with fries, chicken fingers, fish and chips and grilled cheese at modest prices ranging from $1.95 to $2.95. Plus, the big-screen TVs hanging from the walls will make it seem just like home.

But if you're a grown up and salads are your meat and potatoes, you will strike out at the Old Woodward. The dressing on the grilled chicken caesar varies — one day too mild and the next too garlicky; the cobb salad is very mediocre; and the spinach salad is overly weighed down with thick, hot bacon dressing. Definitely avoid the cole slaw, which is nearly tasteless and nearly non-existent, for the tiniest saucerful is priced at $1.50.

Desserts, too, were a disappointment. The waitress touted the mud pie, only to sheepishly return to say they were just making it and it takes several hours to solidify. Her recommendation for vanilla ice cream on the "Grannie's apple crisp" was also unfulfilled — it turned out they were out of vanilla ice cream. And the warmed-up apple crisp was only fair, as was the "Mile Marker 86" key lime pie, which missed the mark on tartness.

Also, beware some unexpected priciness on wines by the glass — for example, Kendall-Jackson is $5.95.

THAT ASIDE, the Old Woodward is a more comfortable place to be than its two predecessors — Archibald's and Panache. Its young staff is clearly trying hard. It's an appealing lunch spot for those who work, live or shop in Birmingham. It's a hot spot after 5 p.m. Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, when the singles line up. And, as mentioned earlier, it's a great place to take children of any age.

Chef Christopher Tobias, a graduate of the respected culinary arts program at Schoolcraft College and who previously was with Panache, says he has been concentrating on entrees — and will be turning his attention to the rest of the menu. "We opened with kind of a flurry. We need some fine tuning," he acknowledges. We look for this restaurant to move up in the standings.

Pork sausage used in good Italian dish

Having lived in and traveled around Italy, I have had the pleasure and opportunity to taste many of the different types of pasta that abound in that wonderful country.

Although each region in Italy has certain classic and special ways of preparing pasta dishes, variations of different shapes and ways of saucing the pasta are limited only by one's own imagination.

Take, for example, Spaghetti alla Carbonara, which is usually made with spaghetti tossed with a sauce composed of cream, eggs, Parmesan cheese, chopped parsley and bacon bits. My personal favorite, I have had it prepared with chopped onions, prosciutto bits, chopped ham, made with cream and made without. Even the type of pasta used has varied, from fettuccine, which is a wide, ribbon-like pasta, to angel hair, which is the finest of all pastas.

This week's Winner Dinner Winner, Nancy Lesinski of Bloomfield Hills, created her own variation of Spaghetti alla Carbonara by substituting pork sausage, which she happened to have on hand, for bacon, of which she had none. She ended up with a dinner that was well-received by her attorney husband, Steven, and two young daughters and has now become a family favorite. Her winning menu includes recipes for cheese bread, a tossed green salad and a red berry dessert, all quick and easy to make.

BUSY WITH HER two young children and a part-time career as a freelance marketing coordinator, Lesinski supervises from her home the production of company logos and brochures. She also sets up and organizes sales meetings as needed for her clients. She is currently doing marketing for the Madrigal Choral of Southfield, of which she was a member for six years, and has recently applied for organizational skills towards the establishment of a babysitting co-op in her neighborhood.

Thank you, Nancy Lesinski, for sharing your great-tasting menu with us and congratulations on being selected this week's Winner Dinner Winner. Your menu offers validation to that wonderful old saying, "Necessity is the mother of invention," and Winner Dinners, as well.

Until next week, all the best and please keep those menus coming in, especially ones featuring quick and easy summertime meals.

Bulk pork sausage instead of the more traditional bacon gives this recipe a slightly different but equally delicious flavor. This recipe serves 4-6.

1 pound bulk pork sausage
1/2 cup margarine or butter
1/2 cup parsley, chopped finely
4 eggs, well beaten
1/2 cup Parmesan cheese
Salt and pepper to taste

GREEN SALAD

Cut a head of lettuce into chunks. Add your choice of chopped vegetables and serve with your choice of dressing.

RED BERRY DESSERT

Delicious and colorful, either fresh or frozen berries may be used.

1/4 cup flour
2 sticks margarine
4 tablespoons sugar

Mix the ingredients together and press into a 9 1/2-by-13-inch cookie sheet. Bake at 350° for 20 minutes.

CHEESE BREAD

1/4 cup softened margarine
1/4 teaspoon basil leaves
1/4 teaspoon oregano leaves
1/4 teaspoon lemon pepper
1 fresh minced garlic clove
1/2 pound loaf unsliced French bread
4 ounces sliced Monterey Jack or Muenster cheese

These tips help kids to healthy eating

Here are a few tips from the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service on how to help your child develop healthy eating habits early.

- Encourage regular mealtimes with family together at the table rather than in front of the TV.
- Buy snacks that are low in fat, sugar and salt. Include plenty of fresh fruit and veggies, unbuttered popcorn, yogurt or whole grain muffins.
- Limit "fast food" meals and teach children to be selective even at fast food restaurants, opting for fresh salad, fruit and low-fat milk when available. Steer away from greasy hamburgers, fries and heavy dressing.
- Encourage children to help or make their own nutritious snacks.
- Teach children to eat slowly by providing a relaxed atmosphere for eating.
- Encourage children to help or make their own nutritious snacks.

Quivira Vineyards wines debut in Michigan

Are you aware that as a metro-Detroit wine consumer you have among the largest possible wine selections available to you? Wine lovers in Los Angeles, San Francisco, New York or Chicago do not have bragging rights.

Occasionally, a few brands with small production are unavailable in Michigan. Until now, this was the case with the estate-grown wines from Quivira (pronounced kee-veer-a) Vineyards in Sonoma County's Dry Creek Valley.

Just making their introduction are the wines from a winery taking its name from a legendary kingdom of great wealth, believed by early explorers to have been in Northern California, in the area now known as Sonoma County.

Nobody relates the legend better than Quivira Vineyards owner Henry Wendt. "About 1540, the Spanish explorer Coronado on the expedition that discovered the Grand Canyon, befriended a wily Indian who described the extraordinary virtues of his homeland Quivira," he narrates. "Coronado spent the better part of a year searching in vain for the riches of Quivira. Eventually, under torture, the Indian admitted that the story was fabricated.

"EVEN AFTER the confession,

focus on wine
Eleanor and Ray Heald

the legend of Quivira was in wide circulation in Europe. It remained an enticing mystery for nearly two centuries. To the attraction of a wealthy and civilized people was added the belief that a rich and active trade between China and Quivira existed. The belief stimulated the search for a northwest passage since the citizens of Quivira would certainly provide directions to China.

"The story inspired many explorers of the West Coast of America and was immortalized by all the great cartographers of the Age of Discovery."

The Quivira of today is a 90-acre wine estate founded in 1981 by international health care corporate executive Henry Wendt and his wife Holly.

"We are developing a premium wine business from the vineyard up to the bottle on the shelf," Wendt maintains. "The California wine business is evolving toward regional specialization. The Europeans have understood this notion for centuries. In California, regions such as Carneros and Dry Creek Valley will find themselves, with respect to variety, vineyard practice and management. We would like Quivira to be at the vanguard of this trend."

"Quivira wines are a reflection of the estate vineyards that set the tone and distinguish the wines," winemaker Grady Wann contends. "Sound, ripe fruit with intensity and depth of varietal flavor is at the core of all Quivira wines. My goal in making these wines is to preserve the depth and character of the fruit."

Wann came to Quivira after six years at Sonoma-Cutrer Winery. At Quivira he is responsible for produc-

WINE SELECTION OF THE WEEK

1989 Quivira Sauvignon Blanc ($10) has attractive apple, apple blossom, spice and herbal aromas with a nice touch of flinty, mineral elements in the style of a Pouilly Fume. The clean, crisp, fresh fruit flavors are complementary to oysters, soft shell crabs or grilled white fish.

1989 Quivira Zinfandel ($12.75) is highlighted by blackberry, black cherry and spicy black pepper aromas. It is generously extracted with a full, complex, lengthy finish. Serve it with grilled meats for a hit at your next outdoor barbecue.

tion of sauvignon blanc, zinfandel, cabernet sauvignon and a grenache-based wine.

SINCE HE MADE only chardonnay at Sonoma-Cutrer, Wann has spent his spare moments at home fermenting and blending red wines, in his garage, conferring and tasting with other enologists.

The Wendts call their 18-acre sauvignon blanc vineyard Fig Tree Vineyard, in reference to a 30-year-old fig tree amid the vines and also to an interesting flavor component found in the ripe fruit. The entire vineyard is on the floor of Dry Creek Valley, in well-drained soils.

Semillon blended into the sauvignon blanc originates in a five-acre plot planted in 1983.

Twelve acres of zinfandel vines, some dating back to 1963, grace gravelly hillsides. About five percent petite sirah is interplanted as a "field blend," creating a unique style.

Canton grabs firm hold on 1st place

Plymouth Canton moved closer to winning the Western Division baseball title in the Western Lakes Activities Association Thursday.

The Chiefs blanked fellow contender Walled Lake Western 3-0 to run their record to 7-1 in the division and 14-4 overall.

The visiting Warriors, who were co-champs with Canton last year and have lost twice to the Chiefs, are 7-2 and 13-3.

"We really don't worry about these guys being contenders or not," Canton coach Fred Crissey said. "If you win all your games, you're going to win it."

"But it puts us in a situation where we can decide our own fate, and I like that. I like it when we come to the end of the season and we're playing for something."

"You're only in the driver's seat as long as you're winning. However, if you lose, you're in the passenger's seat."

The Chiefs play at Northville in another division game today, and they finish next Monday with a home game against Farmington Hills Harrison.

Scott Kennedy (6-2) pitched a complete game Thursday. He scattered four hits, struck out 11 and walked three. Mike Zelinski was the losing pitcher.

Jason Riggs had two hits, including a two-run single that scored Mike Stafford and Chris James to put Canton on the scoreboard in the third inning. Joe Leahy had two hits for Western.

Canton's Mike Wougamon doubled in the fourth inning, and he scored when there was a passed ball on Stafford's strikeout and the throw hit Stafford in the back for an error.

NORTH FARMINGTON achieved its biggest win of the baseball season Thursday when the visiting Raiders upset No. 4-ranked Plymouth Salem 5-3.

Mark Temple pitched a complete game, and North rallied with three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to erase a 3-2 deficit.

The Raiders are 5-3 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association and 8-6 overall. Salem is 6-2 and 13-3.

The Rocks made three errors and all were costly, according to coach John Gravlin. North's seventh-inning runs were unearned.

In the last inning, the Raiders rallied with a single by Temple — the only ball hit out of the infield — a fielder's choice, two walks, two errors and a wild pitch. North's only RBI came on a bases-loaded walk earlier in the game.

"We'll take the win," North coach Irv Horwitz said. "It was a big game for us."

"It was ours to win or lose," Gravlin said, adding the Rocks threw away a double-play ball in the last inning.

Temple went the distance on the mound, scattering seven hits. He struck out eight and didn't walk a batter.

Scott Rodgers was the losing pitcher, working 1½ innings late in the game in relief of Chris Tomas and Jeff Belisle.

Mike Jehle and Temple had two hits apiece for North, and Salem's Scott Niemiec, Rodgers and Belisle hit safely on two occasions each. Scott Bright hit a solo homer in the sixth inning to give the Rocks a 3-2 lead.

Holmes carries Chiefs

Kelly Holmes had another fine pitching performance Thursday as Plymouth Canton won yet another softball game.

The Chiefs routed host Walled Lake Western 12-1 and improved their record to 10-2 overall.

Canton is second behind Livonia Franklin in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association with a 6-2 record.

Holmes (8-2) went the distance and scattered five hits. She struck out seven to bring her season total to 80.

More importantly perhaps, is the fact Holmes walked only three Thursday and has been consistent in keeping that number down.

"It seems when she gets behind on the batters, she bears down a lot harder," Canton coach Jim Arnold said. "Three walks a game is not bad."

Kris Ford was 2-for-2 and drove in a run for Canton. Danielle Mortiere had two RBI on a bases-loaded walk and a sacrifice, and Sarah Schimmelpfenneg's two RBI were the result of a single and a walk.

Julie Nicastrì and Jenny Sekovich had one RBI each for the Chiefs. Western's Jenny Gross, the losing pitcher, had two hits and Lisa Cybulski the lone RBI.

Salem ready to nail down Lakes crown

Plymouth Salem all but won the Lakes Division dual-meet championship in boys track and field Thursday with an 80-57 victory over visiting Livonia Stevenson.

The Rocks are 4-0 in their division of the Western Lakes Activities Association and have only a meet with winless Walled Lake Central remaining. The teams compete at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday at Centennial Educational Park.

It was also the fourth win in eight days for Salem, 5-0 overall. During the previous week, the Rocks defeated defending WLAA champion Westland John Glenn, won the Observerland Relays and prevailed in their annual Mangan Meet with rival Plymouth Canton.

SALEM OVERCAME the Spartans despite not having some of its top athletes for part or all of the meet, including sprinter Andy Rojeski, who was sick that day. He runs the open 200 and 400 races and anchors the 800 and 1,600 relays.

Due in part to his absence and the fact Salem dropped the baton in the 400 relay when it enjoyed a big lead, Stevenson won every relay but the 3,200 race.

"You can't ask the kids to give it their all four times in so few days," Salem coach Gary Balconi said, "but we hung in there and did our thing. We did what we had to do and won the meet."

"We had two goals and we were successful in both: win the meet and stay healthy. We didn't want to lose anybody going into the regional meet. We lost (sprinter) Steve Burlison a year ago in this meet when he wanted to long jump for the fun of it, and we know what he meant to the team."

As a result of Salem's latest triumph, Balconi is confident the Rocks cleared the last major hurdle of the dual-meet campaign.

"We felt this was the last one on the road to the division title," he said. "Walled Lake has some nice individuals but nowhere the team strength to knock us off. I think that's an objective assessment."

The Rocks had two double winners in individual events. Rob Casler won the shot put (48-5) and the discus (131-7), and Jim Ramsay won both hurdle events with times of 15.8 in the highs and 43.0 in the intermediates.

Salem's Leon Hister had the best long jump of the day at 20-3¼, and teammate Matt Peron was the fastest person in the 100 dash with an 11.7 time.

The Rocks were dominant in the distance runs as usual. Mike Patterson won the 800 in 2:03.1, John Thomas the 1,600 in 4:45.5 and Andy Hellmers the 3,200 in 10:45.

Patterson, the leadoff runner, and Thomas, the anchorman, also combined with Derek Cudini and Steve Bourdreau to win the 3,200 relay with an 8:23.5 effort.

Stevenson's Paul Rockwood won the high jump (6-0) and the 200 dash (23.9), and teammate Rodney Westlake was first in the 400 dash (51.7). The Spartans had relay times of 46.4 (400), 1:34.6 (800) and 3:39 (1,600).

PLYMOUTH CANTON evened its Western Division dual-meet record at 2-2 Thursday with a 78-59 victory over host Livonia Churchill.

The Chiefs, who are 2-3 overall, swept the field events with the exception of the pole vault in which they never compete anyway and won three of the relay races.

Canton's eight individual victories were spread among as many athletes.

The winners in the field events were Mike Teller, shot put (42-10); Dean Benedict, discus (148-0); Mike DeJarnett, high jump (6-2); and Karl Wukie, long jump (19-5¼).

On the track, Canton's Dave Fedorko won the 100 dash (12.1), Josh Walaskay the 200 (24.0), Craig Miller the 400 (52.7) and Mike Ream the 3,200 run (10:43.6).

Washenko helped the Chiefs win two relays and Wukie, Miller and Ream one each.

The 800 team of Paul Chudyk, Wukie, Don Green and Miller had a 1:35.3 time, and Paul Wisniewski, Washenko, Green and Brett Kearney finished the 1,600 relay in 3:37.4.

Jim Carnes, Chris Nelson, Washenko and Ream posted an 8:26.2 time in the 3,200 relay.

Churchill had double winners in Nathan Loosle, who ran the high hurdles in 16.1 and the intermediate hurdles in 42.9, and Jeff Martus, who ran the 800 run in 2:07.5 and the 1,600 run in 4:46.6. The Chargers won the 400 relay (45.8).

Canton pursues 4th title

Plymouth Canton will attempt to win its fourth consecutive Western Lakes Activities Association championship in boys tennis this week.

And based on the results of the dual-meet season the Chiefs rate a solid chance of doing that.

Canton concluded that portion of the schedule last week with a pair of 7-0 wins over Farmington on Friday and Farmington Hills Harrison on Wednesday.

The Chiefs finished 5-0 in the Western Division of the WLAA, 10-0 against all WLAA teams and 12-1 overall.

The league meet will take place Tuesday at Livonia Stevenson. Competition starts at 9 a.m.

"We have a one (for finishing first in the dual-meet season) right now and we're hoping for another one," Canton coach Jim Hayes said, "but there are some awfully good tennis teams out there."

"Plymouth Salem and North Farmington are tied for second place. Livonia Stevenson is right there, and Northville could upset some people."

PAUL HURSMANN/staff photographer

WLAA tennis tournament

Livonia Stevenson's George Gauchey (left) and Plymouth Salem's Fred Staten carry on a conversation following a match at No. 1 singles last week. The two will compete in Tuesday's Western Lakes Activities Association meet, which begins at 9 a.m. at Stevenson. Plymouth Canton is the three-time defending team champion, hoping to make it four straight. The Chiefs finished the dual-meet season undefeated in the league with a 10-0 record.

Take a bow Farmington's Winkel earns 1991 salute

THE GREATER DETROIT Bowling Association has selected Al Winkel of Farmington Hills as the 1991 bowler's "Man of the Year."

Winkel has been one of the more active proprietors in the metro area for many years and has contributed in many ways to the game. Winkel, inducted into the Greater Detroit Hall of Fame this year, has held many offices in the local, state and national bowling proprietors associations and has served on the state bowling council.

Winkel was instrumental in founding the "Kids Bowling For Kids" program to benefit children's charities. He has been a strong supporter of all bowling charity programs and is one of the leading fund raisers in Michigan.

Winkel has received many awards in recognition of his various contributions, including the GDBA Merit-service award in 1986. He will be presented this award at the annual GDBA/DWBC awards banquet at the Polish Century Club on June 20.

Eighty bowlers participated in the "Hall of Fame" tournament at Country Lanes in Farmington Hills a few weeks ago. Winkel was one of the winners. The men's results appeared in Ten Pin Alley, however half of the participants were ladies and these results did not get printed, so I will state for that oversight now. The ladies' champion was Redford's Audrey Siro, who out-dueled Katie Rentie of Farmington Hills in head-to-head competition.

At long last, metropolitan Detroit bowlers can take advantage of having Aleta Sill as one of our neighbors.

10-pin alley Al Harrison

Sill, a leading professional bowler on the ladies' tour for the past 10 years, is offering junior bowling camps this summer at Satellite Bowl in Dearborn Heights and Century Bowl in Waterford.

"The camp is designed to teach both the beginning bowler and the experienced one as well," Sill said. "Whether the youngsters have bowled or not, they can participate in the sessions and either learn to bowl or improve on their current skills."

For more information or registration forms, call Satellite Bowl at 278-7400 or Century Bowl at 666-4700.

The Greater Detroit Bowling Association will hold its annual meeting on Friday, May 17, at Sunnyside Lanes, located at 7191 E. 17 Mile in Sterling Heights.

All leagues should have representation at this meeting. The election of officers will be held prior to the meeting. Be sure your league votes — polls are open 5:30-7:30 p.m.

There will be refreshments served and free bowling for registered league representatives along with prizes based on handicap.

In the most recent competition of the Schaefer Beer Michigan Majors Bowling Association at Lodge Lanes on May 3, some of the local shooters came into the winners circle: Paul Grauser of Westland, Larry Walker of Garden City, Tom Hay of Livonia, Tony Stipack of Redford, Nuzzio Marino of Westland, Ken Kosick of Canton, Chuck Morris of Garden City, Rick Biermann of Garden City and Larry Franz of Redford.

Thunderbolt Lanes in Allen Park is the site of many classic leagues that I wrote about a few weeks ago. This facility saw back-to-back 500 games on April 30 by Al Herndon. It was the first time for such a feat at Thunderbolt. Herndon's three game set was 811.

Garden City's Troy Stis is enjoying some success in venturing out on the professional bowling scene. Stis took first place and $950 in prize money in the BPAA entrants special competition at the BPAU U.S. Open in Indianapolis. Stis will be touring with the pro bowlers and we will hopefully be seeing him appear on Saturday afternoon television.

The "Champion of Champions" tournament is now under way at many of the BCA member centers. This tournament carries a top prize of $15,000 and is open to the top three or four teams in every league in this area. The winning team also receives a free trip to Las Vegas. For more information, call BCA at 557-5297.

There is still time to enter the Hamtramck Singles Classic with its big cash prize list, including $50,000 for first place. The tournament's final date is June 30 at Hazel Park Bowl. Call 546-9070 for more details.

'Future' ride a kick for visitors to Florida

The Streets of New York are highlighted by Ghostbusters and Kofrontation. Projection Central includes Nickelodeon Studios, the Fantastic World of Hanna-Barbera and "Murder She Wrote" Mystery Theater.

San Francisco features the Earthquake and the Dynamite Nights Stunts Spectacular. In Hollywood you can go to the Gory Grooming & Grotesque Horror Makeup Show. And then there is the Expo Center, featuring the Animal Actors Stage, the ET Adventure and Back to the Future — The Ride.

I did them all. Whizzed through the cartoon characters, got swallowed by King Kong, watched the kids get slimed at Nickelodeon, rode to another planet with ET. I even walked across the lagoon to the site of Back to the Future — The Ride.

On the way across the bridge we passed a group of women who had obviously just ridden to the future and back. One of them looked at me straight in the eye and said, "Don't do it!" My feelings exactly!

"Why don't you come with us as far as the pre-show, so you can give your readers some idea of what the ride is like?" somebody asked.

They have a coin-out system for participants who go to each of the three levels of Back to the Future — The Ride. I followed the ramp to the middle level where a familiar character was rampaging around the video monitors.

Doc Brown, the master of time travel, whom we all met in "Back to the Future," was in his usual state of panicked weirdness.

We were led, eight at a time, into a small room, where he told us about that movie villain Biff Tannen, who had stolen the convertible eight-passenger time vehicle and had to be stopped.

Another door opened, and we were led into a second room containing a car and a platform.

"I'm not going anywhere on that thing," I said firmly. "I'll wait right here."

"You can just sit in it. It doesn't go anywhere," a voice said, and the door slammed behind me. I knew I was in trouble when he said over his shoulder, "Leave your camera bags and purses on the platform."

A curl of mist rose and covered us all. When it cleared we were zooming across Universal Studios, clearing the tops of buildings by an inch, crashing through a Texaco sign, ready to drop to almost certain death.

I thought I said, "Somebody get me outta here!" but apparently the video camera came to my mouth.

I HUNG on as we plummeted into a live volcano, collided with dinosaurs, crashed into mountain sides and whirled into outer space. Hey, this is kind of fun. It scared my out of my wits and I loved it.

The man responsible for this mayhem is Douglas Trumbull of Berkshire Riderfilm who did the special effects for "2001: A Space Odyssey" and "Close Encounters of the Third Kind."

It's all done with sophisticated hydraulics that make your car move in time with a film on a gigantic screen. The car never leaves the station. The car never leaves the station.

I hate to admit it, but I enjoyed it. Please don't tell my friends about this. It's taken me a long time to convince them that I will not, absolutely will not, go with them on these scary theme park rides.

"If anybody asks me about Back to the Future — The Ride, I will reply "I prefer the ET Adventure." You can torture me, but I will never admit otherwise.

Creative accommodations abound in east Canada

By Ann Corlies

By far, the best part of a trip to the Canadian Maritimes is staying in the marvelous bed-and-breakfasts and inns. It's the only way to go in that part of Canada.

We stayed in unusual and interesting places, such as a converted barn perched on the edge of an ocean cliff, a 19th-century sea captain's house, several elegant old Victorian mansions and a home in the middle of an apple orchard, where the owners took us via tractor to the orchard so we could pick our own apples. They turned them into delicious apple pancakes the following morning.

The bed-and-breakfast was fittingly called Happy Apple Acres. Many of the B&Bs had interesting names such as Fiddlers 'n' Vintners, Snore by the Shore and Needles & Haystacks.

I'm sure everyone has been caught snoozing in a classroom at least once. Well, so did I on this trip, but it was expected of us. One of our more interesting stays was in a converted schoolhouse where the bedrooms were former classrooms — complete with blackboards on the wall, lockers in the hall and bathrooms little changed from when students were in residence.

At the other end of the accommodation scale, some of the inns were the most luxurious places we've ever stayed, with rooms to suit the queen of England.

The best part was that these places were relatively inexpensive, and most included a very full home-cooked breakfast — far better bargains than B&Bs in the US, or the Canadian hotels and motels.

A few words must be said about the wonderful tourist information and accommodation system in the Maritimes. Before leaving, you should call or write each province's central tourist bureau for copies of the main tourist guides.

They have complete listings of all accommodations available in the province, covering hotels, motels, inns and B&Bs. They also include details, such as number of rooms, bathrooms, dining facilities, prices, location, etc.

Then, unless you've made prior reservations from home, when you enter a province, just stop at the first highway information center and the very helpful personnel there will make reservations for you by making numerous calls, free of charge, until you have just the place you want at the right price.

During a busy Canadian holiday weekend, one tireless agent spent almost two hours on the phone for us securing B&B reservations for the next three nights.

Nova Scotia carries this system one step further. When you visit one of the tourist information centers for the first time to secure accommodations, they will enter your name and necessary information into their computer system, giving you an ID number to use in the future.

Then, no matter where you are in the province, you can call an 800 number, give them the names of places you might like to stay in the next area you plan to visit. And while you're on the line, they'll make the calls for you and secure your reservations. We found this to be the most useful reservation system we encountered anywhere in our world travels.

The following toll-free numbers will get you the information you need: Tourism New Brunswick (800) 561-0123; Prince Edward Island Visitor Services, (800) 565-1287; Newfoundland Tourism (800) 563-8353; Nova Scotia Department of Tourism, (800) 341-6094.

Nova Scotia's CHECK-IN reservation system can be reached, from within any of the Maritime provinces mentioned above, by calling (800) 565-7105.

Washington, D.C. is beautiful, uncrowded in spring months

By Bob DeMayer special writer

Spring is the perfect time for a weekend trip to Washington, D.C.

The town is surprisingly calm before "the storm," also known as the hordes of summer tourists. My brother, sister and I had a wonderful time in Washington recently.

The picturesque rows of Japanese cherry trees along the beautiful tidal basin were in full bloom, a delightful feast for the eyes. Since we had been there several times before, we skipped the usual sites, opting for something different instead.

On Saturday we went to the historic Ford Theater where President Abraham Lincoln was murdered. The theater is set as it was the night John Wilkes Booth shot our 16th president.

In the basement, there is a museum showing a chronology of the events and artifacts of Lincoln's life, including Booth's pistol. It was the night John Wilkes Booth shot our 16th president.

Afterward, we walked across the street to the Peterson House and viewed the blood-stained pillow on the small bed where Lincoln died at 7:22 a.m. April 15, 1865.

For lunch, we had a rip-roaring good time at the ever-noisy Hard Rock Cafe right across the street. Here one can view the memorabilia from rock'n'roll idols that grace every inch of the restaurant's engaging interior.

After lunch, we actually managed

reader's report

to walk all the way to the top of the Capitol steps for a breathtaking view of "The Mall" and the Lincoln Memorial. The Capitol is located on Capitol Hill in a lovely 209-acre park at the meeting point of the city's four sections.

The magnificent five-story Capitol alone covers almost 3 acres. The central part of the building includes the Rotunda, Statuary Hall, the original Supreme Court and the Senate and House of Representatives chambers.

Before heading back to our hotel, we stopped at the United States Botanical Garden, located a few feet from the Capitol. Walking through here is like walking through a tropical rainforest. More than 8,000 varieties of plants from all over the world are on display.

On Sunday, we spent a tiring day at the humongous National Zoological Park, covering more than 175 acres. However, viewing the Chinese giant pandas, Ling-Ling and Sing-Sing, quickly lifted our spirits.

After walking through every inch of the zoo, we enjoyed a leisurely drive through the beautiful United States National Arboretum. The highlight of this attraction has to be the towering and stately Corinthian columns that make you feel as if you are in another time and place.

Trees, shrubs and flowers of every imaginable kind can be found here, including azalea, rhododendron, camellia, holly, magnolia and dwarf conifer. The on-site Herbarium contains more than 470,000 dried plant specimens. A Japanese garden and National Bonsai Collection are also on the grounds.

All in all, it was a very pleasurable, fun-filled weekend. Now, at least, we can say we didn't let spring pass us by.

Neil Armstrong museum entertains Ohio tourists

The space flight gallery emphasizes the Gemini 9 mission. The spacecraft that propelled Armstrong and Maj. David Scott in history's first docking mission in March 1966 is on view. There's also a Gemini space suit, a mock-up of lunar equipment used to train for the moon flight and original space food among the artifacts.

Moving through a sound tunnel, visitors discover the moon rock gallery. Here is Armstrong's Apollo 11 back-up spacesuit and a moon rock. A demonstration lab has either a 12-minute film or live demonstration available throughout the day.

There are no tour guides, but sales clerks and employees, who are never far away, will answer questions. (The most frequently asked question is, "How do astronauts go to the bathroom?" The answer may surprise you.)

Around the corner is the "Infinity Cube." This 18-foot square room is completely lined with mirrors and books pertaining to space travel. The most popular item with children is the space ice cream. (It's good, but not cold.) Adults favor the space peas.

Visitors should allow at least two hours for a visit. The museum is operated by the Ohio Historical Society.

In mid-July the Festival of Flight celebration is held on the weekend closest to the July 20 lunar landing anniversary, this year July 19-21.

The Neil A. Armstrong Air and Space Museum is open 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 12-5 p.m. Sunday and holidays. Admission is $3 for people 13 and over, $1 for children 6-12 and $2.40 for Golden Buckeye Card holders. Ohio Historical Society members are admitted free.

Traveling with kids? Plan first

WASHINGTON (AP) — Travel with the kids? Planning can make it enjoyable, says Brigid Cortright, director of Catholic University of America's Children's Education Center.

Cortright, who has six children and three stepchildren, recalls trips made when at least five of them were less than 7 years old. "With careful planning, it can be fun," she said.

She advises parents to tell children where they're going what they'll see and how long they'll be gone. Tell them what to expect when traveling by public transporation or eating in restaurants. Coach them to talk with new people, shaking hands and introducing themselves. Tell them what to look for at attractions and move them through quickly. Even young children will enjoy museums if they aren't expected to linger at each exhibit.

If you're driving, start at 4 a.m. Most children will sleep for the first four hours of a trip. Break up travel by stopping for a few hours to visit friends or unwind in a park. Make a list of essentials, toys or other amusements to take with you so you don't have to buy them on the road.

THE PLAYS, THE PLAYERS, THE PLACE

Nobody does it better.

No theatre in North America performs the works of William Shakespeare more often — or more passionately — than the Stratford Festival.

Now, for the Festival's 39th season, we invite you to discover the many faces of this immortal playwright. From his greatest tragedy "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark" to the sparkling comedy of "Much Ado About Nothing." And from the magic of "Twelfth Night" to the rarely performed satire "Timon of Athens."

Together with 1991's host of other classic and contemporary plays, theatre simply doesn't get any better than this!

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

Lovers Beatrice and Benedick engage in a delightful battle of wits, joyfully concurring a mutual surrender.

May 4 to November 10

April 30 to November 8

TWELFTH NIGHT

A tangle of comic complications and mistaken identity transpires in this lyrical tale of romance and reconciliation.

May 8 to October 25

TIMON OF ATHENS

In this seldom performed play which is rich with ironic overtones, Shakespeare passionately denounces greed and dishonesty.

June 7 to September 13

Military can visit Sea World for free

Anheuser-Busch Inc., which owns four Sea World and two Busch Gardens facilities as well as Cypress Gardens in Florida, has joined forces with the United Service Organization in a program called Yellow Ribbon Summer.

The program includes a $1.2 million Desert Storm Scholarship Fund for children and spouses of American soldiers killed in the Persian Gulf. The scholarships can be used at any college, junior college or accredited school of vocational training without regard to financial need or academic achievement.

If you're interested, contact USO world headquarters in Washington D.C. by calling (202) 783-8121.

THE PROGRAM also allows active-duty military and reservists and dependents to visit the company's seven entertainment parks free from Armed Forces Day, May 18, through Labor Day, Sept. 2.

The parks include Sea Worlds in San Diego, Calif., San Antonio, Texas., Orlando, Fla. and Aurora, Ohio near Cleveland.

Free admission is also available at Busch Gardens parks in Williamsburg, Va. and Tampa, Fla. as well as Cypress Gardens in Winter Haven, Fla.

The USO celebrated its 50th anniversary in February. It serves more than two million military personnel and their families.

TECUMSEH, MICH. holds its 16th annual historic house tour noon to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, May 18-19. Promenade the Past 1991 includes seven restored houses and the old stone church that serves as a headquarters for the Tecumseh Area Historical Society and the Promenade itself.

Tickets are $5 before May 17, $6 the day of the tour, $5 anytime for seniors and students. For information, call (517) 423-2374.

THE BAHAMAS are offering a new wrinkle, maybe two new wrinkles, to the travel scene. The promotion-minded islands, determined to jump-start a summer season, have appointed Vernal Sands "Director of Sunshine."

His first official act is to launch an adult spring-break promotion that gives travelers a chance to combine college-style shenanigans with other Bahamas attractions at a discount May 24 to June 30. Bookings made by June 20 entitle you to special air and hotel rates, with packages starting as low as $350 for a three-night stay.

It's a promotion, but it brings up an important point. The Caribbean is not much hotter in summer than winter. We go south mid-winter because it's cold here. And we don't usually go to the islands mid-summer because it's hot here. Check it out with your travel agent.

The car in Back to the Future — The Ride seats eight, more than can be said for the standard DeLorean, but doesn't actually go anywhere. Hydraulics and special effects make the "ride" what it is.

'Future' ride a kick for Florida visitors

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

Back to the Future — The Ride, the newest thrill at Universal Studios in Orlando, Fla., opened May 1 after a month of technical rehearsal. Michael J. Fox, who starred in the three versions of "Back to the Future," was on hand for the event.

Was the ride thrilling? The VIPs who attended the opening were given only water or champagne before they experienced the ride, which should tell you something!

If you are a roller coaster fan, you know that exciting moment when you are pulled up the tracks to the very top of an impossible slope, poised to plummet down, down, down.

Back to the Future — The Ride is a different experience. You "fly" at the speed of sound around city skylines, crash through signs, plunge into volcanoes and lift off to outer space, screaming all the way, but your comveyance never actually moves away from the place where you entered it.

Can you be satisfactorily scared out of your wits if you don't physically round a curve at hundreds of miles an hour?

I am a coward at heart, so I had no intention of finding out for myself, but the least I could do for my readers was check out the surroundings.

Universal Studios opened last year as a $630 million joint venture of MCA Inc. (which owns Universal Studios in California) and the London-based Rank Organization. You enter the park at the intersection of I-4 and the Florida Turnpike in Orlando.

You need not pay the admission price to visit the largest Hard Rock Cafe in the world, which can be entered from inside or outside the park.

Admission to the Studios for fun lovers 12 years old or older, including tax, is $30.74 for one day, $51.94 for two days, $24.38 and $41.34 respectively for kids 3 to 11. Ages 2 and under are free.

Many people buy tickets at a discount through air/hotel/park packages. Once you have paid admission, rides, attractions and Nickelodeon Studio tours are free. Parking fees are $4 for cars and $6 for recreational vehicles.

Many of the rides are not suitable for babies and very small children. Universal provides a "baby exchange area" so dad can ride while mom holds the baby, and vice versa.

Like most theme parks, you walk around with a map in your hand. Each area has stage shows, shops, rides, etc. This map is color-coded so you can pick your way through the highlights from the front lot, where the facilities are concentrated.

Neil Armstrong museum entertains Ohio tourists

By Kathy Wall
special writer

At 10:56:20 p.m. EDT, July 20, 1969, Neil A. Armstrong stepped onto the moon's surface and said, "That's one small step for man, one giant leap for mankind."

Armstrong is one of many Ohioans who dared follow his dreams and reach for the stars. The history of these men and women is recorded in the Neil A. Armstrong Air and Space Museum in his hometown, Wapakoneta, Ohio.

Ohio Gov. James Rhodes announced plans for the museum while Armstrong was still on the moon. It opened on the third anniversary of the lunar landing in 1972.

Travelers often spot the dome rising out-of the hillside just north of Wapakoneta on the west side of I-75 near the Bellfontaine Road exit.

Armstrong is the museum's focal point. The F5D Skylancer he flew for the Air Force in the early 60s stands as a welcome beacon to the museum. It's perched at the end of a long runway, or imaginary "lunar landing strip" complete with blue runway lights, that leads to the domed museum.

The entry hall of the futuristic concrete structure is lined with photographs of Ohio's 15 astronauts. Newly appointed astronauts are added as soon as the poster-size photos are available.

The museum is set up chronologically. Beginning with man's earliest attempts at flight, the first gallery contains the Wright brother's Model G aero-boat that flew from the Miami River in 1913. The basket and trophies of Dayton balloonist Warren Rasor are exhibited near the dirigible airframe from the Toledo II, the first manned and powered machine to fly over New York City.

The sloping carpeted walkway leads to the second gallery. Dominating space here is the red and yellow Aeronca 7AC Champion that the 15-year-old Armstrong used to earn his pilot's license. The bicycle he rode to the airfield is also on display.

Jimmy Smits as Walter Stone and Ellen Barkin as Amanda (Steve) Brooks star in "Switch," a comedy of sexual manners.

'Switch': A gender bender

Seven Detroit-area theaters premiered something very special in motion pictures Friday night, an independently produced story about the Afro-American experience in Chicago entitled, "Love Your Momma" (D, PG-13, 97 minutes).

"Special" here relates more to the event than to the film itself which may have trouble at the box office and probably won't receive the kind of nationwide regard its author, Ruby Oliver, expects to follow from this latest release in the Detroit market.

Oliver, currently on tour promoting her film, stopped at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills last week to discuss "Love Your Momma" with film classes.

She — and her long career operating day-care centers in Chicago followed by her current career as a filmmaker — are truly inspirational lessons proving that an individual can do "breaks" and "luck," as often as not, reflect hard work, not divine intervention.

Ruby Oliver has made her own way and made her own film. Speaking about the Hollywood formula, she noted, "You keep saying you don't want to be a star, but you keep buying it so Hollywood keeps making it."

"Love Your Momma" is a family film about a contemporary Afro-American family surviving despite life — and society's — many roadblocks.

The trouble with the film, despite professional looking sets and camera work, is the amateurish quality of Oliver's writing and direction. People don't talk or act that way and life in or out of the ghetto has more snap, crackle and pop than most of "Love Your Momma." It's all very trite and so slow-paced that yawns are in order.

That doesn't add up to good entertainment which is the name of the box-office game. Despite all that, "Love Your Momma" is an interesting social documentary and a fantastic achievement for an independent filmmaker on her own. It's not easy to produce and distribute feature-length films.

Not since Dustin Hoffman's "Tootsie" has gender turnabout been as well portrayed as in Blake Edwards' newest comedy, "Switch" (A-, R, 90 minutes).

CHAUVINIST-WOMANIZER Steve Brooks (Perry King) is done in by three vengeful ex-lovers. Brooks is allowed to return to earth and, if he can find one woman to speak well of him, may proceed to heaven. If not, purgatory and Satan (Bruce Marlyn Payne) will claim another victim.

The Devil is concerned that Illusion (C+, PG-13, 105 minutes), a high-concept film with fairly low resolution.

It helps if you remember the first "FX" where special-effects wizard Rolie Tyler (Bryan Brown) got involved with Detective Leo McCarthy (Brian Dennehy). Whether you saw No. 1 or not, the first half hour of No. 2 is pretty slow in setting up the relationship.

ROLIE NOW invents and sells high-tech toys in a slick Manhattan apartment. He's living with Kim Brandon (Rachel Ticotin) and her son Chris (Dominic Zamprogna) whose father, Mike (Tom Mason), is a New York City detective.

Mike, despite Rolie's help with special effects, is killed while staked out to trap a perverted killer. In the course of investigating Mike's death, Rolie and Leo join forces again and discover a tortuous and complicated case which involves just about everybody and everything in the western world except Josef Stalin.

Snappy dialogue between buddies in these kinds of films usually is a major source of entertainment but, with the exception of occasional flashes from Dennehy, most of the dialogue is pretty flat. In fact, the polish and style expected in such films is largely missing here.

The continuity is also weak with a number of loose ends and, by and large, "FX" is a sterile exercise with Rolie's clever special effects brightening up the anticlimactic sequences viewers suffer through while waiting for the next explosion.

STILL PLAYING: "Awakenings" (B, PG-13, 121 minutes) Robin Williams and Robert DeNiro as doctor and catatonic patient lead to mind too many other films. The doctor's special care and sensitivity lead to temporary recovery but film lacks spark expected from these talented actors.

Brooks charm will work and some unsuspecting gal will fall into line. To avert that, Satan convinces the Supreme Being to send Brooks back to Earth as a female and Amanda Brooks (Ellen Barkin), in a hilarious scene, discovers "he" is a "she."

Barkin's performance in this role of dual mannerisms as well as the other performances plus an intelligent script result in lots of laughs. Despite a slightly sappy ending, it's an entertaining, clever film.

Re-examining '60s activism

Aretha's son goes for rock'n'roll fun

By Larry O'Connor staff writer At some point in the conversation it has to be brought up: Teddy Richards is the son of Aretha Franklin.

This is a great conversation piece, an easy peg for a writer to hang a story on. Yet the fact Richards is the off-spring of the "Queen of Soul" should have little bearing to what's at hand.

In fact, having a famous mother in the music industry tends to cloud the issue.

"They're expecting me to come out and sound like a rhythm and blues crooner," said Richards, sitting backstage at Alvin's recently before a show. "I can understand that. If someone said to me, 'This is George Bush's son.' I might expect him to be a politician."

Richards is a musician whose adulthood as a rock'n'roll guitarist is only exceeded by his drive.

Teddy Richards has played guitar in his mother's band as well as with Al Green, Joe Cocker and Ashford & Simpson. Out on his own, Richards' show is more like the "Teddy Richards Review."

Backed up by a crack four-member band — saxophonist Chris Collins, drummer Brian Morrill, bassist Marcos Gonzales and trumpeter Tom Mucha — Richards burns through his musical journey with an unfettered passion.

His set features an ambitious set of covers, revealing a wide range of influences. Richards stokes up the evening with The Clash's politically rabuncheonous "London's Calling" and uncovers a '60s chestnut by the Strawberry Alarm Clock "Incense and Peppermint."

REVIEWS

DANGER IN THE PAST — Robert Forster

Robert Forster was a co-founding member of the late 1970s-late 1980s Australian band the Go-Betweens, a band that both my editor and the Trouser Press Record Guide agree was under-rated.

A 12-year career of being in an under-rated band is probably not very satisfying emotionally or financially, so the band decided to break up (on the last day of 1989, for all you trivia buffs).

Now, we're seeing the results of the break-up — a bunch of solo projects. First it was Forster's band mate Grant McLennan who worked with the band's Steve Kilbey on a project called Jack Frost. It's a getting airplay on CIMX-FM — give it a listen!

Robert Forster is putting in his own two cents worth with "Danger in the Past," a record that was produced by Mick Harvey who works with the Bad Seeds. Harvey also plays bass, organ, piano, guitar, percussion and helps on vocals.

He sings his tales in a deadpan, sort of out-of-time voice, a little reminiscent of Robyn Hitchcock. Overall, it's fine effort. — Jill Hamilton Face it, Sheila E. is hot. The girl could defrost a refrigerator just by walking by. But she's also a first-rate percussionist and, through her father, ex-sitana sideman Pete Escovedo, heir to a rich musical heritage.

Despite its title and sexy cover art, "Sex Cymbal" (Warner Bros.) is an attempt to stress musicianship over sex appeal. It succeeds about half the time.

The title track, beginning with a snippet of "The Glamorous Life," her 1984 breakthrough hit, re-examines the sex kitten imagery, all over a background of Prince-style funk. That her co-writers are listed as Andrews and Michael Ocelot gives rise to the question: Is this another Prince collaboration? The answer: Probably yes.

Other songs, "Funky Attitude," "Cry Baby" and "Loverboy" among them, aren't bad but are relatively faceless, with drum machines too often replacing Sheila E.'s own drums and timbals.

That's too bad "Sex Cymbal" is an enjoyable-enough pop album, but given Sheila E.'s talent and heritage, it could have been much, much more. — Wayne Peal

A query can sound accusing

Barbara Schiff

Dear Barbara:
Last week while driving with my husband, I found a receipt from a fancy downtown restaurant (one that we have often frequented together). I know that he often takes clients for lunch and so, without suspicion, I casually remarked, "Oh, did you go to...?" You didn't say anything. "So do you have to know everything?", he replied angrily. I feel confused. There was never any suspicion of infidelity, but now I wonder. Why would he react so strongly if he did not feel guilty?
Wondering Wife

Dear WW:
Unfortunately, I was not in the car with you and your husband during this conversation, so I'm not sure that you didn't sound more accusing than you think you did. For example, your comment, "You didn't say anything," is not as benign as asking, "How did you like the food?" If the incident is considered in this way, your husband's defensiveness is understandable.

Also, if there is no suspicion of infidelity on your part, why did you jump on that as the reason for his defensiveness? Many spouses complain of being treated like children by their husband or wife and would object to your question on those grounds, not on grounds of infidelity. Sometimes there is a thought or feeling in our unconscious of which we are unaware. We betray it inadvertently through what we say, the way we say it or through an action. That seems true for you.

Richards follows rocky pursuit

capped off by a Latin-rhythm salsa number. By contrast, "Alone" takes on more of a jazzy tone backed up by Collins' saxophone while "Tonight She Files" showcases Richards' exceptional skill as a rock'n'roll guitarist. Remarkably, Richards doesn't relent. This is in spite of a good portion of the audience at Alvin's exiting with the opening band, Red C. Then again, rock'n'roll is more than an idle pursuit for Richards. He played in several bands during his high school days, but things began taking shape at Michigan State University where he majored in telecommunications. He also met up with Morrill and Gonzales.

"Somehow the three of us would always end up in a band," Richards said.

After graduating from MSU, Richards performed with Al Green, Joe Cocker along with Aretha Franklin's band. The decision to go out on his own six months ago seemed natural.

Except that only a couple of years ago, Richards fronting his own rock band would have been unnatural in some eyes.

Along with his famous mother, the issue of black rock'n'roll bands is an inevitable topic of discussion. Until recently with the commercial success of Living Colour, Tracey Chapman and Fishbone, black artists were pigeonholed by the record industry to a life of rap or soul.

Things, perhaps, have changed for the better. After all, Richards remarks points out, it was the likes of Little Richards and Bo Diddley along with several black blues musicians who laid the foundation for rock'n'roll.

"Initially, you have this chip on your shoulder against the industry," Richards said. "Once you have integrity and write your own music, it bothers you to see an industry have a bias against what you're doing."

"I was taught as a child, though, whatever the wall you can go beyond that."

BEYOND THE WALL for Richards would be a major record deal of some type. Richards and his manager Peter Andrews believes this can be achieved without releasing an LP independently.

He's concentrating efforts playing live in the area, which, in itself, has been an eye-opening experience.

"Berkeley in the Sixties" recalls the protest movement of that era, including the 1967 Stop the Draft Week in Oakland.

A look back at turbulent '60s

Reagan at their most pandering, with LBJ for re-election in 1964 on a peace platform and California Gov. Ronald Reagan stirring up an audience by reporting on the decadence of a psychedelic rock concert and light show.

FORTUNATELY, "BERKELEY in the Sixties" is more than just an anti-establishment nostalgia trip. It keeps a surprisingly clear head when discussing what went wrong with the student activist movement. Escalating acts of senseless violence and negative press generated by arm-wielding groups like the Black Panthers are kept in perspective.

And while many recent documentaries razzle-dazzle with quick cutting but confuse in the process, "Berkeley in the Sixties" plods along with purpose. Unlike many of its original participants, this "Berkeley" knows exactly where it's going and how it wants to get there.

Yvonne Rainer's "Privilege," which plays the Tele-Arts this weekend, is anything but straightforward. It reads more like a term paper (actually, a half dozen term papers) than a film as it discusses rape, nuclear war, homeless people, racial stereotypes, scum-sucking lawyers, and most important, menopause.

DIRECTOR RAINER creates an alter-ego, a black woman named Yvonne Washington, who spends much of the film interviewing an outspoken woman in her 50s about menopause. In flashback, the woman — once an aspiring dancer — relates an unusual period in her life when she lived in a New York apartment building.

Too Much Fun, a Birmingham-based company are producing an innovative earring design, "Spearrings," that are sweeping the nation. Jewelry designer Dave Hudson created the new type of earring for pierced ears with a patented post and catch mechanism, which allows Spearrings to appear as though they actually spear right through the earlobe, rather than attaching to or hanging from it. "It took a year to perfect the design and the response has been electric," remarked Hudson. Currently available in three styles... the spike, vee and hoop in rich colors and metallics. One of a kind, hand-painted silk ties designed by students at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago are available at Koins Clothes on Southfield Road in Lathrup Village. The unusual designs were originally inspired by Chicago retailer interest in creating their own "retro" ties. The Chicago Institute is one of the few schools that teach fabric. Some of the contemporary, abstract designs and floral patterns were adapted from 1940 matchbook covers and artwork from that time.

THIS WINTER, THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN WILL BE STRICKEN WITH DIABETES. THE REAL TRAGEDY BEGINS WHEN THEY'RE TREATED FOR THE FLU.

During flu season thousands of children are stricken with insulin-dependent diabetes. These children are usually between the ages of 5 and 16.

Unfortunately, many parents and emergency-room personnel often confuse the warning signs of diabetes with the flu. Or, in some cases, urinary tract infection.

The major warning signs for diabetes to watch out for are: frequent urination, excessive thirst, extreme hunger, dramatic weight loss, nausea and vomiting. As well as irritability, weakness and fatigue. Generally, these symptoms appear over a three or four-week period, but don't appear as suddenly as flu symptoms. If the child is not treated immediately, his or her blood sugar can go out of control leading to what is called diabetic ketoacidosis. Which in turn can lead to diabetic coma. The warning signs for diabetic ketoacidosis include excessive urination, great thirst, stomach pain, nausea and vomiting, dehydration which can lead to dry lips and sunken eyes, rapid breathing, followed by sleepiness.

So this winter, do something to really protect your child during flu season. Learn the symptoms of diabetes.

Amazing Johnathan ready for prime time

By Susan Steinmueller staff writer

The Amazing Johnathan is getting ready for his most extraordinary venture to date — appearing as host of his own prime time game show.

Even the successful performer himself admits it's pretty amazing. After all, his stand-up comedy and magic show is one built on such offbeat activities as having a puppet hang itself, burning things, beating of seagulls, drinking window cleaner and Drano, and wearing a false arm that comes off when his hand is shaken.

Not exactly prime time stuff. Or is it?

Johnathan gives Merv Griffin, creator of "Wheel of Fortune" and "Jeopardy," a lot of credit for being able to do the show, which will debut in the fall on NBC.

"I SAW my show and actually wrote a game show around my show," said the 31-year-old Detroit native in a recent phone interview from Alaska. "He (Griffin) is really a smart cookie."

Because the show is an extension of his act, Griffin is able to keep his own identity and will not be a "generic" game show host, he said.

"It's a real high energy game show, and we play different games every show. There's nobody doing what I'm doing."

The pilot of "Ruckus" was recently taped in Atlantic City, N.J. The site at Merv Griffin's Resorts International will be where all the shows are staged, in front of an audience of 1,400.

Johnathan, who can sell a 3,000-4,000 seat auditorium in annual visits to Australia, said he actually prefers playing to a larger crowd.

"I prefer big places because you get more energy out of them. But I don't think I'll ever stop working in clubs."

As for television, he has been easing into it for a while. He is a regular on Fox's "Comic Strip Live." He has also appeared on "Late Night with David Letterman" and has been seen on MTV and on HBO's "Young Comedians Special."

JOHNATHAN'S amazing career started quietly enough, as a teenager in Fraser. While at Fraser High School, he performed as a magician in the school talent show.

"I did a couple of the talent shows but it wasn't until I added comedy that things started to happen."

He left Fraser for California. There he sharpened his skills as a street performer in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Harry Anderson, the judge on the popular television comedy "Night Court" shared a street corner with him and was one of the performers who gave him valuable advice, which enabled him to pay his rent and eventually move on to bigger things.

JOHNATHAN is looking forward to returning home to play at Chaplin's West this week.

Family and friends always attend his show. His mother now lives in Birmingham; his father died a few years ago.

"The whole gang comes. I don't play in Detroit but once every few years, so I can fill the room with family and friends."

There's another plus, of course: "Home-cooked meals after being on the road for six months."

What can potential audience members expect?

"It's kind of a violent show. Something will happen every five minutes to either make you sick or just make you laugh."

EITHER WAY, it's sure to prompt a familiar response of "That's amazing."

It seems to be a typical reaction," Johnathan said with a laugh.

The Amazing Johnathan will appear at Chaplin's West, 16890 Telegraph Road, one block south of Six Mile, May 14-18. Show times are 8:30 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday; 8 and 10:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday. Tickets are $5 Tuesday through Thursday; $10 Friday and Saturday. For more information, call 533-8866.

Tim Shepard, 22, of West Bloomfield says navigating will be the trickiest part as he and his friend, Harvey Hammond, plan to lay claim to a record-breaking sail honor — about 14 times — across Saginaw Bay from Tawas to Caseville this month on their 9½-foot sailboards.

Hard sail approach

Shepard has been running, weightlifting and sailboarding in "really high winds" in preparation for the record-breaking sail.

He's going for the world record in windsurfing

Shepard, owner of Windsurf Co. in Keego Harbor, got into sailboarding — or wind surfing — nine years ago when someone threw him out on one in a lake and he played with it.

By Sue Mason
staff writer

SOME ENERGETIC FRENCHMEN may have managed to sailboard 261 miles in 24 hours to set a Guinness world record. But if Tim Shepard has his way, that record will come to a quick demise next week.

The 22-year-old West Bloomfield resident and friend Harvey Hammond, 27, plan to lay claim to the honor with a record-breaking sail — about 14 times — across Saginaw Bay from Tawas to Caseville sometime between May 18 and May 23.

Shepard describes himself and Hammond as "two crazy people," which may be true, considering they will stand on 9½-foot sailboards for 15 hours — weather permitting.

"We should be able to average 25 miles per hour," said Shepard, owner of the Windsurf Co. in Keego Harbor. "We're going to try and do the 300 (miles by sailing both) day and night, so the navigating will be the trickiest part."

THE TWO men believe that during the six-day period, they will be able to get the wind conditions they need to set the new Guinness world record. A attempt with a record-breaking sail was called off after 11 hours and 120 miles because of wind conditions.

At first, the two men considered sailboarding from Port Huron to Mackinac Island like the annual sailboat race. But they switched to the 30-mile stretch across the bay when they realized that high waves on Lake Huron could pose a serious problem for their chase boat. Sailboards can maneuver quite well in rough water, but a speedboat could be swamped by high waves, Shepard said.

"THIS TIME of the year you have to be a realist about getting the conditions you need," Shepard said. "The conditions are usually horrible when the boats race to Mackinac. Sailboards travel faster in the wind. If they have a 15-mile-per-hour wind, they can travel 25 miles per hour."

Shepard and Hammond are ready for the challenge. Since they will be on their feet so long, they have been running, weightlifting and sailboarding in "really high winds."

But before you wince at the thought of those aching arms struggling to hang on to the sail in the waning moments of the effort, technology will help ease the strain. Both men will be wearing a harness that hooks to a rope on the boom so they won't be using their arms constantly.

"Sailboarding isn't a muscle sport, it's more of a finesse sport," Shepard said.

THEY ALSO will have flares and possibly strobe lights for the nighttime stretch and carry back packs full of food (power bars loaded with carbohydrates and protein) and water. The packs will add weight but will work to the sailboarders' advantage. The heavier they are on top in high winds, the faster they will go, Shepard said.

Shepard and Hammond plan to wear dry suits and a hood, depending on the weather.

The two men will sail the distance prior to going for the record "to see what's there." Shepard estimates they will be in 14 fathoms (about 84 feet) of water and will need to find lighthouses in the area to mark the range.

STILL TO be worked out is how to record the effort for the Guinness Book of World Records. They will probably charter a fishing boat to use as the chase boat and also stow gear along the route for sail changes to accommodate wind shift.

They will not be able to touch shore during the effort but probably will be able to stop in deep water. Support people will be able to ferry any needed items out to the sailboarders, Shepard said.

The idea of setting the record popped into Shepard's head after he returned from a two-month stay in Hawaii where he competed in several sailboarding events. But the idea of doing the Port Huron-Mackinac route was something Hammond had considered a few years ago. He gave up the idea because of a lack of sponsorship.

THIS TIME, he and Shepard are relying on a lot of friends in pulling off the record-breaking attempt.

Shepard got into sailboarding — or wind surfing — nine years ago when someone threw him out on one in a lake and he played with it. He fined-tuned his skills on Orchard Lake.

Shepard learned sailboarding the hard way. He recommends newcomers to the sport invest in a three-hour lesson to learn the basics of the sport.

"It's hard to learn without a lesson," Shepard said. "It's a challenge with a lot of payoff in the end."

There are also several misconceptions about sailboarding — that it is an ocean sport and that it's done mostly by young people. Shepard believes there are more sailboarders on lakes than oceans and that a lot of its enthusiasts are older than 30. The younger crowd is "on jet skis," he said.

"SAILBOARDING IS for people who enjoy a challenge and enjoy the payoff after a challenge."

For Shepard, the payoff has included setting up his own sailboard shop. Situated in the Harbor Pines Mall on Orchard Lake Road, the store is a cornucopia of bright color on boards, sails and clothing.

Shepard, whose store has been open less than two months, is making a niche by dealing in beginner and used boards and catering to the high-tech sailor.

The business isn't new to the area. In fact, it's the fourth such shop to open up in the Lakes area in recent years. Shepard decided to start up the Windsurf Co. to fill the gap created when a similar business, in the same mall, closed a few years ago.

And while word of mouth is getting the business off to a good start, Shepard is confident he and Hammond can land a spot in the Guinness Book of World Records.

"This is crazy enough to attract attention. It shows people how fast of a sport it can be and how free you can be. It's a healthy sport, a good aerobic sport."

Americana artist David McCall Johnston touches up the watercolor he painted to commemorate the golden anniversary of the completion of Mount Rushmore.

photos by SHARON LeMIEUX/staff photographer

The work of David McCall Johnston is sold in 62 galleries around the country and even hangs in the Jules Verne Museum in Nate, France. His painting style, fantasy or magical realism, is inspired by folk art.

Artist 'perfect match' to paint Mt. Rushmore

By Janice Tiger-Kramer
special writer

IT SEEMS fitting for David McCall Johnston to paint Mount Rushmore. After all, the work of the renowned Americana artist is almost as recognizable as the monument itself and probably is as lasting as the granite cliff on which the memorial is carved.

Johnston, a Farmington Hills watercolor artist/illustrator whose paintings of American life are sold throughout the country, was asked to paint the national memorial as part of a grand celebration on the Fourth of July to mark its golden anniversary.

The ceremony, also the monument's formal dedication, includes an appearance by President George Bush. An official dedication never occurred in 1941 when the monument was finished. Gutzon Borglum, who designed and supervised the construction of Mount Rushmore, died shortly after the mountain was carved;

Pearl Harbor was attacked just nine months later.

The painting was commissioned by Norwest Bank of Rapid City, S.D., for the Mount Rushmore Society. It's one of three (all by different artists) that will be used to commemorate the monument.

CAROLYN MOLLERS, president of the Mount Rushmore Society and a collector of Johnston's work, contacted the Americana artist last spring when the society began planning the Mount Rushmore celebration.

Johnston was the only artist commissioned by the bank.

"It was a perfect match," Johnston said of the commission. "I don't just paint history, I live it. I was thrilled."

Johnston, whose gouche, or opaque watercolor paintings are an exciting mix of fantasy and magical realism inspired by folk art, just finished the Mount Rushmore painting, which is still untitled.

The 18- by 24-inch watercolor includes the small, turn-of-the-century town of Deadwood, S.D., in the foreground. A parade marches past the tidy, Victorian-style buildings, which Johnston has colorfully painted in a bold, graphic style that he has used so skillfully in book illustrations for Simon & Schuster, Magnum Classics, Harper and Row, Bantam, the New American Library, MacMillan, the Green Willow Press and the Franklin Library.

Behind Deadwood is Keystone, S.D., a mining town tucked into the wooded hills. Mount Rushmore is finely detailed below a broad, blue sky that includes a surrealist illustration of a buffalo and Sioux Indian.

"A LOT of paintings have been done of Mount Rushmore and they're not all good," said Tom Griffith, author of a book about the monument and director of the Mount Rushmore Preservation Fund.

"It's difficult enough to capture the grand scale of the monument, but David has captured the uniqueness of the hills in his unmatched style. We're proud to have his work associated with us."

Johnston's original painting will hang in Norwest Bank in Rapid City, or circulate to the bank's 11 branches, said Kirk Dean, bank president. Copies eventually will be sold through the Mount Rushmore Society as limited edition fine art lithographs and possibly posters. Proceeds from the prints will go to the monument's preservation fund.

Johnston and his wife/business manager, Ruth Mosok Johnson, spent a weekend in Rapid City last fall, not only to study the monument, which majestically stands some 25 miles away, but also to "get a feeling" of the Black Hills.

There, with drills and dynamite, Borglum and his crew spent 14 years carving in incredible detail the heads of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Theodore Roosevelt and Abraham Lincoln.

Design students envision homes from year 2000

What will your life be like in the year 2000? Where will you be working? How much money will you make? Will you have children? Where will you live?

These are some of the questions interior design students at Detroit's Center for Creative Studies-College of Art and Design had to answer in designing their personal homes for the year 2000.

Beginning with an autobiographical outline, each student embarked on a semester-long project to design a 2,800-square-foot home, complete with furnishings and landscaping.

This assignment included a projection of property values, cost of materials and overall job cost estimates.

Representatives from carpeting, fabric and furniture manufacturers met with the students to present samples of their industry's latest designs.

A CONSULTANT for lighting products and techniques discussed designs, trends and applied functionality.

Students' interior/exterior renderings and sketches, along with plans, sections, lighting, material, furniture and color boards, will be on display as part of the college's 65 annual student exhibition and sale May 19 to June 2.

This free exhibition illustrates the college's commitment to and leadership in the visual arts.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekends, closed Memorial Day. Free parking is available. Private tours and receptions can be arranged by calling Janice Bergstrom on the campus, 872-3118.

This year's annual student exhibition begins with a preview party 6:30-10 p.m. Friday, May 17. Tickets are $35 per person.

All proceeds from ticket sales will benefit the visual arts program. Dollars obtained from the sale of student work will go directly to the artist.

For more information on the preview party or student exhibition, call 872-3118, ext. 422.

Situated in Detroit's University Cultural Center, the Center for Creative Studies-College of Art and Design is one of the 10 largest visual arts colleges at the undergraduate level in the United States.

The college is at 201 E. Kirby, directly behind the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Grass clippings boast nutrients

Q: With all the recycling information coming out, I'm wondering if there are ways to save time and recycle, too. For instance, I've always bagged my grass clippings because I thought it was bad to leave them on the lawn. Do you have any information on this?

A: To answer your question, I've melded my own information along with what I learned by calling my "old reliable" - the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service of Oakland County.

It's obviously much quicker to mulch your clippings back onto the grass rather than taking the time to bag them. Other reasons not to bag your grass include the time and money you save by not buying bags, and the waste saved by not adding more plastic and built to landfills.

Besides, it's actually very good for your lawn to recycle your clippings, under most conditions. Grass clippings contain valuable nutrients. If you ordinarily fertilize four times a year, mulch mowing can eliminate one application because the clippings provide about 20 percent of the nitrogen your lawn needs. Since the clippings are about 90 percent water, they decompose quickly.

There are precautions you must take, however. You need a properly designed mulching mower that will cut the grass into small pieces and not leave unsightly piles to smother the grass below.

Mulching mowers should also have optional bagging capability because when grass is growing aggressively, you may need to bag it. Unless you mow very frequently, the woody parts of tall grass will not decompose fast enough and will damage your lawn by remaining as unwanted thatch instead. Clippings that have not decomposed by the next mowing should be picked up.

For more information on any lawn or garden question, call the extension service's garden hotline: 858-0902.

"It was an unusual experience," Johnson said. "Everything I saw was subject matter." For Ruth, the monument was overwhelming: "I felt the enormity of it and what it represents is thrilling."

BESIDES DOING thumb sketches of the monument on his return and experimenting with a vertical or horizontal drawing (he opted for vertical), Johnson did hours of research on the monument and the area. Of the research, the artist says, "I love the search."

Johnston's work, done in the carriage house of his Greek Revival-style house built in 1843, surely inspired by his surroundings and his love of history. The Johnston's stately house, built by Cornelius Davis, is the fifth historic house which has been renovated and occupied.

"I like to surround myself with what I'm into," Johnston said. "The house is just a piece of the puzzle."

Johnston's work, sold in 62 galleries around the country, is available locally at Knoilwood Art Frames and Gallery and the Elizabeth Stone Gallery, both in Birmingham. Prices range from $2,000 to $50,000. Four of his paintings hang in the Jules Verne Museum in Nate, France.

HOROSCOPE

May 12 through May 18

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
While others seem to think you have it all, you will not admit that to yourself. You have accomplished a lot and should praise yourself accordingly.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
It is difficult to look at things from all sides, but it is imperative you do so now. Don't play games with others' minds; it will cause you grief.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
This seems to be a week for dwelling on the past. Don't get stuck on memories. The problems that caused this trip down memory lane will soon end.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

'Reason for Living' not just Jill Ireland's story

Jill Clayburgh lands role in family drama

Christy Bergslien

"Reason for Living: The Jill Ireland Story" is not about the actress, says Jill Clayburgh. The TV movie, airing Monday, May 20, on NBC and starring Clayburgh in the title role, is about families.

Actress Jill Ireland made 35 films in her long career. Almost one year ago to date, she died of breast cancer. But before her death, the actress penned two novels: "Life Wish," chronicling her battle with cancer, and "Life Lines", depicting her adopted son's heroin addiction, overdose and death.

"Reason for Living" is based on "Life Lines" and Ireland's determination to help her son beat the monkey off of his back.

"I think she felt strongly about what she learned from having dealt with her cancer," said Clayburgh of Ireland. "She felt she could help her son deal with his flirtation with death. She felt she knew something about death, and, therefore, she had a way to communicate with him."

The film is really about what you do and where you turn when you have tried everything you can think of to help a loved one. "It's not about her as a celebrity or as an actress," said Clayburgh. "It's a very passionate story about a woman and her feelings for her family, her children, her parents, her own life and her own mortality. People might turn it on because it's Jill Ireland, but I think the book's success is because of its originality. It's not a self-serving book about 'how great I am' and 'how wonderful I am.' It's a pretty soul-searching look."

Originally, Ireland had planned to play herself in the telefilm. She is, in fact, executive producer of the production. When she realized it would be impossible to do so, she made a list of the actresses she would want to see in her role. Clayburgh, nominated twice for an Oscar ("An Unmarried Woman, Starting Over") and once for an Emmy ("Hustling"), made the list and won the part.

Ireland's husband, Charles Bronson, reportedly hasn't read either of his wife's books and was opposed to the making of "Reason for Living." His role will be played by Lance Henriksen ("Aliens"). "It's something that she jokes about in her book and, in fact, the movie," said Clayburgh, noting it was her understanding that things had been worked out with Bronson.

Clayburgh has never met Bronson or Ireland. The materials she used to prepare for her role were Ireland's books, tapes she had made with the show's producers and TV interviews. It is the second real-person role she has played. In 1976 she played Carole Lombard in the biographical film "Gable and Lombard." Such a role demands certain responsibilities, but she looks at it as a challenge.

Academy Award-nominee Jill Clayburgh plays the title role in "Reason for Living: The Jill Ireland Story," Monday on NBC. The biodrama, based on Ireland's bestseller "Life Lines," chronicles the actress' fight to end her son's heroin addiction amid her own battle with cancer.

"I think that the film is about her very human struggle to find an answer, and then to have to try something else," concluded Clayburgh, herself the mother of three. "Parents feel so helpless when these things happen and so inadequate and sort of that feeling that 'Anybody could do it (parenting) better than I could.' I hope that you walk away seeing that nobody does it all that well, but everybody does it as well as they can, and that's sort of all you can ask of yourself."

Aussies co-exist with salt water crocodiles

By Mary Ann Townsend

People the world over are learning how to peacefully co-exist with the environment. But the people in Australia's Northern Territory have an even tougher challenge — co-existing with one of nature's deadliest creatures.

The fifth installment of ABC's World of Discovery, airing Sunday, May 12, tells how the people in Darwin, a tropical coastal city of 73,000 people, live on a day-to-day basis with the threat of salt water crocodiles appearing in their parks, ponds and — literally — backyards.

"They're tremendous animals," said Dennis Kane, executive producer of "Crocodile's Revenge." "They move like lightning," he said of the creatures that can grow to 21 feet long and weigh one-and-a-half tons.

Making a resurgence after near extinction in the mid-1960s, salt water crocodiles are fierce predators capable of attacking from the water onto a beach at speeds of more than 40 miles an hour.

"I believe it's over the past five or six years 25 to 30 people have been taken by salt water crocodiles," Kane explained. In the show, viewers see how government patrol boats travel just outside the city's lights to keep the creatures out of the public's way.

Harry Connick Jr. not taking a breather

By Lisa Otoupal
After putting in nearly two decades of hard work, singer/composer/actor/pianist Harry Connick Jr. is finally becoming well-known to the public.

The Grammy Award-winning singer was born 23 years ago in New Orleans. His parents, both lawyers, owned a record store and continually encouraged their son's talents. When he was 6 years old, Connick performed the national anthem at his father's swearing-in ceremony as district attorney and was soon playing in clubs on New Orleans' famous Bourbon Street.

At 18, Connick moved to New York to attend Hunter College and Manhattan School of Music and, at the urging of a longtime friend, recorded an album which won a Grammy and rave reviews from the New York critics.

The movie When Harry Met Sally gave the film industry its first taste of the talented man's music, and the next year he made his acting debut in Memphis Belle.

Barely stopping to breathe, Connick composed and performed "Promise Me You'll Remember" for The Godfather Part III, garnering him an Oscar nomination. He recently made his prime-time television debut on PBS' Great Performances, has just finished performing on Broadway, and plans to go back into the recording studio soon.

Actor Charles Dutton makes a little trouble in "Crocodile Dundee II" airing Tuesday on CBS.

Sir John Gielgud is a lecherous grandpa in a four-part Masterpiece Theatre beginning Sunday on PBS.
