Man faces charges in stand off

By Kevin Brown staff writer

A man who police said threatened to kill himself, someone else and "blow a few things up," was jailed Sunday after a 2½-hour stand-off with police.

The 45-year-old man's name was being withheld by Plymouth Township police early Monday, pending his arraignment in court.

"We're seeking possibly one felony and two misdemeanor counts," said Sgt. Robert Antal.

The man, who had 18 rifles of different calibers in his home, had rigged a .22 caliber rifle in his basement to a trip wire, police said.

Police were called at 8:20 p.m. to a house on Pine Trails Court, just north of Joy and west of Beck. The man's son had called police and told them his father had barricaded himself in the basement, telling family members not to come down or he'd do something drastic, Antal said.

FIFTEEN AREA police officers responded to the call. Officers from Plymouth, Canton, Northville and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department were represented.

During the stand-off, the man came out of the house several times, Antal said, but did not talk with police. He also refused to talk with a police hostage negotiation team, which several times tried to talk with him by phone, Antal said.

Police eventually arrested th man by detonating a firecracker-like explosive that throws a bright light to disorient a suspect, Antal said.

The man did not hold his wife or son hostage in the house and apparently did not brandish a weapon during the stand off.

Heat and humidity are an unhealthy combination

staff writer

Prolonged exposure to heat and humidity can take its toll during these long summer days.

Dr. John McCabe can attest to that. He's the director of emergency services for the Catherine McAuley Health System in Ann Arbor, and has seen -patients suffering from heatstroke come to the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital emergency room.

"This is when we see them," said McCabe, an M.D. In heatstroke, the body loses its ability to regulate temperature. The patient may have

If you browse through this month's Michigan Out-of-Doors magazine and notice the 1991 Wildlife Art Awards winners, you'll see rabbits drawn by a fourth grader from Menominee, an eagle painted by a Sturgis stu-dent, and water lilies and a frog drawn by an art student from Marquette.

Among the nine winners chosen from 7,400 entries from public and private schools throughout the state - is Jaclyn Ther of Canton. Schools were allowed just one entrant.

JACLYN WAS A sixth grader at Pioneer Middle School last year when she entered her drawing of a mockingbird, done with colored pencil on a pastel-dusted hackground.

"Also, we had to do a short essay that told where (our subject) lived and what he ate," said Jaclyn of the contest sponsored by the Michigan ,United Conserva-tion Clubs. Entries had to feature a native Michigan animal in its natural habitat.

Student gets a taste of Washington politics

While most of us watched happen ings in the nation's capital on the evening news, Canton resident Ronda Linford, 16, went to Washington, D.C., and met with the nation's movers and shakers.

She'll have some exciting stories to tell about her summer vacation working as a Congressional page when she returns this fall as a ju to Plymouth-Salem High School. She worked in Washington from June 9 through July 6.

She said she was especially lucky to be there during the Fourth of July.

School board won't act on promotion

The Wayne-Westland school board refused Friday morning to act on an administrative recommendation for a new athletic directors at John Blenn High School.

The recommendation, which involved promotion of the Wayne Me morial High athletic director. "isn't in the best interests of the students at the two high schools," said board president Sylvia Kozorosky Wiacek after the board held a 90-minute closed meeting to discuss the proposed administrative changes.

Superintendent Dennis O'Neill wanted to upgrade the duties of Neal Thomas, Wayne Memorial assistant orincipal, to include those of athletic director and promote William Hawley to assistant principal/athletic director at John Glenn High School.

Hawley has been a 17-year physial education teacher and athletic director at Wayne Memorial.

Hawley's promotion would have required school board approval since e would have gone from one bargaining unit to another. Thomas' roposed appointment as Wayne athetic director could be made by the superintendent and doesn't require board approval.

Summer is prime time for pickles

I can remember when the Janes Gang owned a cottage just off Point Pelee. As soon as we crossed the Ambassador Bridge, we made the first ritual stop at a now defunct fireworks shop.

The second stop was a bakery in Essex for crusty, hard dinner rolls that tasted equally good with peanut butter for a snack or slathered with margarine with dinner. As I near 40, the mind still recalls the name: The Essex Dairy, which was also the stop for

The third stop was the proverbial Brewers Retail that would slide down a case or two of Old Vienna for dad, Uncle Pete and whomever else decided to venture on over.

WE KNEW the beach was close at hand when we could smell the pickle vats at the Heinz-57 pickle and catsup factory, just south of beautiful downtown Learnington

I never liked pickles till one day, after the umpteenth free tour, an avant-garde tour guide reached over and grabbed a still warm jar of just-bottled dills from a bustling assembly line. Now I can't get enough.

Jarred pickles have a taste and reputation all their own. Anyone who has ever gone to a Jewish deli and tasted a crispy new dill knows what pickle nirvana is all

Jarred pickles have a taste and reputation all their own. Anyone who has ever gone to a Jewish deli and tasted a crispy new dill knows what pickle nirvana is all

Speaking of pickle nirvana, try Dorothy's pickles at Getsie's Pub in heautiful downtown Northville! Good news. This is prime pickle

Those little pickling cukes planted with love and cared for throughout the blistering days of June and humid days of July are want them too big, for they might he mistaken as weapons. This is one instance where smaller really

IF YOU have a cool basement. consider a trek to an old-time hardware store for a classic pickle crock. Available in just about any size, from one quart to about 40 gallons, the specklybeige crocks will hold enough to delight pickle munchers for months to come.

Sliced and stuck into a Bloody Mary or chopped and slathered on hot grilled brats and dogs, fresh homemade pickle just can't be beat. For these of you pickle aficionados who can't wait the obligatory weeks or months for crocked pickles, there are alternative recipes that produce excellent results in a matter of days, or even in a matter of

Of course, anyone who has ever made pickles knows that if you make one jar, you might as well make 10. Of course, any of the recipes provided will do either. But in this cook's opinion, it pays to work a little more and enjoy a lot later.

The most difficult aspect of making pickles is sterilizing the jars and making sure the lids fit. Yours truly uses his dishwasher for this task, firing up the hot water heater to full blast to glean the hoftest of water and then ising the hot drying method. There are many books on the market filled with information on pickling everything from apples to zucchini. The library is a great source, as is your local county extension service.

It's all made from scratch

By Joan Boram special writer

OE BREWER, owner of Farmington Bakery, is one of those lucky people who discover their avocation at an early age. Brewer has been baking and cooking since he was 12 years old.

You might think that he started at his mother's knee, but, actually, he discovered his calling at Paul's Hamburgers, a Farmington institution where he cleaned the parking lot and peeled onions and potatoes.

"Then I got a job at the Raleigh House, as apprentice to pastry chef Walter Lan-glough." says Brewer. "I learned two things from Walter: patience, and, nothing goes out unless it's perfect. No such thing as "That's good enough."

After six years at the Raleigh House, Brewer worked as pastry chef at Oakland Hills and Knollwood country clubs, and at local French and Italian bakeries. In 1987. he bought the 51-year-old Farmington Bakery in downtown Farmington

"THE ORIGINAL owners were Swedish, and I'm Swedish-German." says Brewer. 'Swedish people from the area were accustomed to coming here for cardamon braids and limpa, a Swedish rye bread flavored with orange rind. It was only natural that I continue to specialize in Swedish breads and pastries.

Not only does Brewer do all the baking himself, but he does it all from scratch.
"All of my breads except the ryes are made from a sponge. The ryes are from a sourdough. I don't use buttercream out of a bucket; I make my own with real butter.' says Brewer.

As Brewer speaks, Loretta Ball, who works at the counter, is wielding an icecream scoop, placing precise mounds of oatmeal-raisin cookie dough on a cookie

IN THE showcase are "sprinkle cook-- sugar cookies topped with multicolored sprinkles. They are not perfectly round "cookie-cutter" cookies. Each cookie is somewhat irregular in shape, the edges are curled, and some are thicker than others. Definitely hand-made.

There are a dozen kinds of bread, fresh from the oven: Tokyo bread, dipped in milk before baking, and sprinkled with sesame seed; potato bread; cinnamon raisin; sour rye. All have been baked in a 50-yearold stone brick oven. And Brewer uses the traditional wood peel to remove the bread

Joe Brewer, owner of the Farmington Bakery, wears braided dough on his head and holds a princess torte covered with marzipan topping. Shown below, left to right, are various specialty breads, a fruit flan and braided cardamon bread.

But it's the pastries - ah, the pastries. The interior of the cozy shop has recently been painted stark, shiny white, and the pastries stand out like gemstones against

There are small tortes, a little larger than a cupcake: lemon; strawberry; ambrosia, topped with a slice of mandarin orange; and even chocolate cream.

"People like them because one is just about enough for two people." says

Well, maybe - but it's a safe bet that those two people fight over the last crumbs of the Black Forest torte.

THE SHOP offers three tables for two, where shoppers or moviegoers can stop for a pastry and coffee. For the lunch crowd, homemade sandwiches and salads are waiting, along with the "pizza roll," a Chicago-style pizza, with cheese, sauce pepperoni or sausage, folded in half.

Brewer has just completed six months of study at the American Institute of Baking, in Manhattan, Kansas

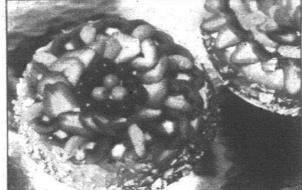

"I took the bakery technology course, because I'm most interested in research and development," says Brewer. "Right now, I'm trying to fit canola oil into a lot of my recipes. I think that's going to be the next trend, following oat bran."

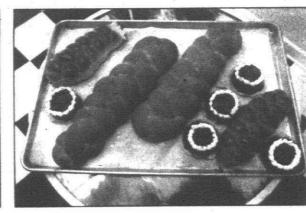

Is a baker constantly tempted to eat his own goodies?

"Not the pastries," says Brewer. "But I love my doughnuts. I make the only doughnuts in the area from a sponge. Others just dump a mix from a bag into a bowl, add water and yeast, and mix. Maybe my customers wouldn't know the difference. But I do. I make those doughnuts for

DISHING IT OUT

All you really need is one rich spoon-ful of the velvety shrimp bisque; one fork-forced marriage of sun-dried cherries, bibb lettuce and creamy walnut dressing, or one sliver of shrimp stuffing and Dover sole dabbed into champagne

That one taste is really all you need to know that dining at Opus One in Detroit is a special gastronomical delight.

Of course, while you or your waistline may only need that one bite, this is no place for the meek of calorie or wallet. Be prepared to give up your diet and more than $100 per couple for the experience.

And, what an experience!

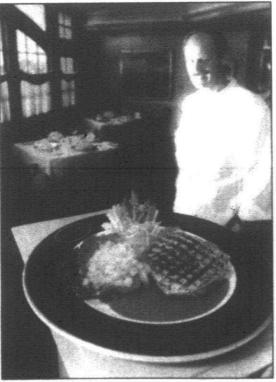

Jim Kokas' elegant 4-year-old restaurant features picturesque window views, live piano music and soft-lighted rooms of pleasing pastels with a French country air.

IN KEEPING with the name, the menu features symphony references. On a recent visit our "prelude" was duck pate bursting with pistachios and sun-dried cherries baked in a crust and served with both a raspberry coule and a zesty, fruit salsa (an inspired blend of nectarines, peaches, onion, lime juice and cilantro). It's a true culinary adven-

Our other appetizer featured two monstrous scallops breaded in almonds, resting on a sliced red onion and served over apple/Roquefort dressing. The scallops absorbed just a slight bit of onion, and they combined nicely with the subtle, sweet sauce.

The next course featured soups: the veal consomme garnished with zucchini slivers starts salty and ends with a rush of pepper. Far more enjoyable was the savory shrimp bisque with each individual flavor - shrimp, sherry and cream - distinctive yet melodious.

For the salads, we sampled the house version, Opus

My summer memories have al- 2 teaspoons olive oil ways been filled with the mouth-wa- 1 teaspoon seeded and minced jalatering flavors of sweet, ripe watermelon and cantaloupe, juicy peaches and nectarines, tangy pineapple and plump red cherries that burst in

Before summer's end, bring some zing to your usual summer eating by taking advantage of the abundance of delicious and nutritious fruits well Serve over broiled chicken or available

Creativity is the key when dazzling up recipes with summer fruits. They can be used as part of any course at any meal. Fruit is an excellent source of fiber, vitamins and minerals and can add a refreshing new flavor to favorite recipes. Always remember to wash the fruit carefully before using it.

TRY BEGINNING your meal with a different kind of appetizer. Fruit Kabobs With Strawberry Dip make a tasty first course or a perfect snack on a hot August day. Take advantage of those wonderful plums, peaches strawberries and kiwi.

Fruit is also a terrific way to spice up chicken or fish, and I mean spice up. Citrus Salsa adds an exciting zip with a Mexican flair. For a more subtle tasting chicken using summe fruits. # WHAT WE LEARNED FROM THE JULY 7 STORM.

LOOKING BACK.

It was the worst storm in the 88-year history of Detroit Edison. When the 70 mile-an-hour winds, rain and lightning stopped, more than one in three of our customers was without power. And all of us had learned some unforgettable lessons.

Among the most vivid lessons is the most obvious: Nature at its worst is more than a match for man at his best. Quite simply, when a storm can rip trees apart like inconsequential twigs, power lines are going to go down. Lots of them.

Detroit Edison people can tell you first-hand how destructive this weather front was. Over 5,000 of them worked up to 16-hour days repairing the damage and restoring power. Over a thousand employees who usually work in offices were out guarding power lines to warn people away. Dozens of retirees came in to help with the task. Within 12 hours, we were arranging to get help from other utilities. Crews from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Ontario helped with restoration efforts.

During the week, we handled more than 175,000 outage-related phone calls from customers.

When the power went out, many of us learned about how many things electricity does for us. And tragically, we were also reminded of its hazards.

LOOKING AHEAD.

If any good came of this storm, it told us how important it is to continue our aggressive programs to speed restoration, improve communication with customers, minimize the impact of damage and prevent the damage in the first place.

In the third year of a six-year, $1.3-billion program aimed at putting us among the most reliable companies in the nation, we're speeding up our tree-trimming, maintenance and reliability construction cycles.

We're building new substations and adding hundreds of new circuits to improve the reliability of our system.

We're training more people on our computerized storm outage analysis system every day. And while NO electrical network could have handled the massive destruction of the July 7 storm, under anything approaching "normal" storm conditions, our outage analysis system can save precious hours and days in restoring power. Because it allows us to localize trouble spots, even down to specific pieces of equipment, like transformers, instead of going out and searching for them.

We're even working on technology that will allow us to turn off power to downed lines remotely.

By the end of the year, we also will have a whole new computerized phone system. One that will work with more speed, and more lines. So customers can get through to report outages more easily and more quickly.

Like you, we hope we never see another storm like this one. But because we learn a little more every time out, if something like this does come again, maybe it will disrupt your life a little bit less. And things will be back to normal a little bit sooner.

A good part of your life.

The Livonia YMCA Premier Soccer Club has a regional champion

The Michigan Hawks '74, a girls under-17 team coached by Tom Coyne, captured the U.S. Youth Soccer Association's 12-team Region II tournament Wednesday in Sioux Falls, S.D. with a 2-0 victory over Ohio North at Tomar Park.

The Hawks are one of four teams advancing to the USYSA Nationals, which kicks off next Thursday at Tranquility Park in Omaha, Neb. The Michigan State Champs open the four-team tourney against Texas. The other matchup pits teams from Califor-

Natalie Neaton, who attends Detroit Country Day School in Birmingham, scored what proved to be the game-winning goal on a header in the first half.

Kristen Westveer (Troy) added an insurance goal in the second half.

Goalie Kristi McGough (Troy Athens) recorded her third tournament shutout as the Hawks dominated from start to finish in the 105-degree heat. Their defense allowed

THE HAWKS opened tourney play with a 3-0 win over a wild card entry from Missouri, followed by a 2-2 tie with Nebraska and a 5-0 triumph over Missouri's state

In the tournament's pivotal matchup, the Hawks defeated long-time nemesis Ohio South (Beechmont Blitz), 2-0, on goals by Ragen Coyne (Livonia Stevenson) and Kara Nance (Rochester Adams).

The Blitz had beaten the Hawks the past two years in regional play, including a 1-0 victory last year.

"The kids were really geared up to play,"

Coyne said. "Just a great effort by every-body. Technically and tactically they were superb. The kids were surprised.

Coyne called Neaton a "runaway freight train up front."

"She created havoc with their defense," said the Hawks coach, who credits assistant coach Brian Borde with designing an effective game plan.

Borde is an Olympic Development coach and head coach at Ann Arbor Huron High. "He came on board with us about a month ago and he's done wonders," Coyne said.

ROUNDING OUT Hawks' national-bound contingent: Tracy Morrell, Alicia Smith, Lisa Thomas and Shannon Wilkinson, all of Stevenson High; Dana Pososki, Livonia Churchill; Patty Shea, Livonia Franklin;

Filling a need for Quality Con-struction/Plymouth Elks, Niemiec took the mound and guided the team to a 10-4 victory over North Farm-

Quality/Elks split a double-header Friday with Concealed Security II, losing the first game 10-6 and winning the nightcap 6-5, and was 13-8 heading to a crucial weekend of Little Caesars Connie Mack Federation

Because of a late start due to Salem reaching the state final - and winning the Class A championship in the high school season, Quality/ Elks had for, possibly five games, still to play.

Quality/Elks was scheduled to play double-headers with Livonia on Saturday and Westland on Sunday. A third game with Ypsilanti II was possible Saturday if the opponent wanted to play the game.

THE HEAVY late-season schedule was expected to put a strain on Quality/Elks pitching and necessitated Niemiec's role reversal Thursday. The team had to wait until the completion of play Sunday to determine if it had made the playoffs.

Niemiec, who made one pitching appearance last year, went six innallowed only two hits but Scott Rodgers struck out the side in the seventh. Aaron Rumberger filled Niemiec's usual role behind the plate.

Mike Wougamon, the leadoff batter, had three of the team's eight hits and had everything in the cycle but a home run. Wougamon, Jason Riggs and Jason Crain scored two runs each. Mark Henry had two hits and one RBI.

In the first game Friday, Dan Gus-soff had two hits, including a tworun homer, for Concealed Security. Mark Temple went the distance to get the win.

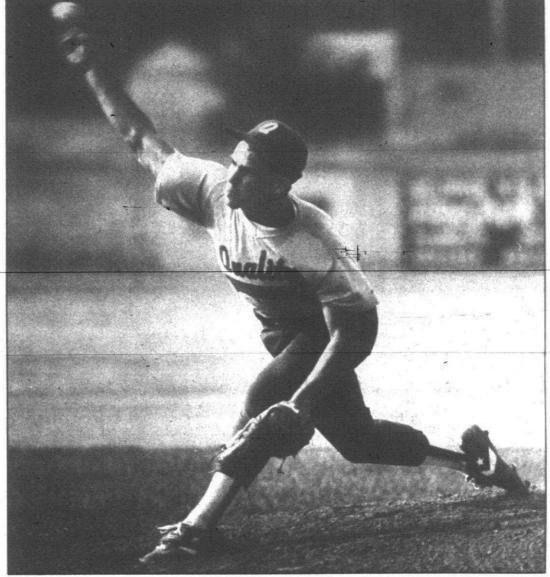

Scott Kennedy started and went four innings, taking the loss. Concealed had seven runs, four hits and eight walks off Kennedy, who struck out five. Jeff Paluk finished the game.

Riggs and Kevin Craggs had two hits apiece for Quality/Elks, and Niemiec had an RBI single.

Walter's Appliance finishes on winning note

Instead of directing his frustration at an umpire, Redford Little Caesars coach John Moraitis spoke out Friday about his players' attitude after losing to Walter's Appliance, 7-3, in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League regular season finale at Ford

The loss was the sixth straight for Caesars, which finished the regular season at 16-11-1, three games behind champion Walter's. Moraitis was ejected from Wednesday's 14-4 loss to Walter's by home plate um-pire Chuck Brady, but this time he had no run-ins with Brady, who was on the basepaths.

Despite the loss. Caesars is one of four teams that have qualified for the league playoffs, which begin July 31. Walter's is the No. 1 seed at 20-7-

"We ended up in second place, but

I'm not bragging or nothing like that," Moraitis said. "I don't see any momentum, and there was no intensity today. When we were losing today. I looked on the bench (from the third base coach's box) and saw players telling jokes, laughing, no one was rooting each other on. I'm not out here for myself. I'm out here for Caesars led 1-0 in the first after leadoff man Earl Johnson doubled and later scored on a passed ball, but Walter's scored two runs in the third and four in the sixth. Jay Gabel, of Livonia Churchill, hit a two-run home run in the third to score Jerry Koester (Westland John Glenn) from second for a 2-1 lead.

Four straight hits during Walter's fifth-inning rally helped send Caesars' starting pitcher Jeff Bates to

Paul Pirronello (Redford Catholic Central and Henry Ford Community College), Koester, Bob Bullach (Farmington) and Gabel had consecutive hits, and an RBI single by Craig Overaitis (Livonia Franklin and Henry Ford) also contributed to

Anthony Chandler delivered an RBI single in the seventh to finish Walter's scoring.

Chris White, the first of three Walter's pitchers, earned the win in three innings of work.

Walter's coach Mike Keller is cautiously optimistic about the playoffs.

DELWAL 4, FIEGER 3: Delwal stayed in contention for the league playoffs Wednesday with a narrow win over Fieger and Fieger at Ford Field.

Tim Bruce limited Fieger to one earned run, struck out nine and walked two over seven innings to win his fourth game against one loss. Fieger's Dave Ve ood suffered the loss in going the dis tance and scattering only five Delwal Delwal's Jason Ahee broke a 3-3 tie in the fifth with a two-out single that scored Eric Sumpter from third base.

Leading Fieger's attack was Todd Fracassi, who was 3-for-4, and Aaron Mach who had an RBI on a sacrifice. Matt LeMieux had a fielder's choice RBI for Fieger and teammate Bill Flohr had an double. The two teams met again Friday, but details were unavailable

HINES PARK 5, CANUCKS 3: Bill Terski (Madonna University) had a three-run homer in the fifth Wednesday to carry Hines Park to a win over the Canucks at Plymouth Canton. Mike Culver (Canton) had two hits to support the winning pitching of Chad Logan, who moved his record

TOTAL TRAVEL 9, WENDY'S 8: Total Travel won a wild game Wednesday with three runs in the bottom of the seventh at the University of Detroit

A walk to Gary Devine (Farmington Hills Harrison) forced home Rob Mac-Donald (Harrison) with the winning run Total was cruising with a 6-1 lead into the sixth inning, before starting pitcher Darren Clark ran into trouble.

Wendy's scored seven runs in the top of the seventh to take an 8-6 lead, and Scott Nielsen had to come on to end the rally Gary Devine, Kevin Young (Farmington) MacDonald and Jason Lichtman had two

Bulldogs remain unbeaten

The Bulldogs rallied from an early deficit Thursday to remain the only unbeaten team in the Metro Summer Hockey League.

The Bulldogs, who lead the Bakes Conference with an 8-0 record, were down 1-0 in the first 11/2 minutes to the Spartans but bounced back with a 14-3 win.

Rob McDonald paced the rout with five goals and three assists. Tony Guzzo, Duane Roe and Dave Weber added two goals apiece. Guz zo also had four assists, Roe and Weber three each.

The Wolverines stayed atop the Eagle Conference despite losing 7-6 Wednesday to the Lakers, who have the misfortune of being behind the Bulldogs in the Bakes. The Wolverines are 5-3, the Lakers 4-3.

Rob McDonald paced the rout with five goals and three assists. Tony Guzzo, Duane Roe and Dave Weber added two goals apiece.

Jim Mitchell scored four goals, and Mike Krygier's second goal was the game-winner with 1:15 left in the game. Chuck Carvey picked up four assists, Krygier two and Mitchell

The Wolverines were led by a pair of three-goal performances by Joe Burton and Paul Goleniak, who got his second straight hat track. Burton also had two assists, teammate Tim Osborn one goal and four assists

The Broncos, who share second place in the Eagle Conference with the Huskies - both with 4-3 records - crushed the Falcons 13-5 Thurs-

Jody Pemberton and Eric Bilyeu also recorded hat tricks for the winners, and Joe Bonnett had an amazing seven assists to go with his two goals.

Bilyeu had a pair of assists, too. Larry Pilut scored a goal and had two assists for the Falcons.

The Huski's got two goals apiece from Mike Kneiding and Tim Vosnick while defeating the Wildcats 7-5 Wednesday. Kneiding also had four assists, Scott Lock three.

Jerry King scored two goals and Mike Olszewski assisted on three goals for the Wildcats.

The conference standings are as Bakes: 1. Bulldogs, 8-0; 2. Lakers, 4-3; 3. Wildcats, 3-4; 4. Spartans, 0-7-

Eagle: 1. Wolverines, 5-3; 2. Bronros and Huskies, 4-3; 4. Falcons, 1-6-

Majestics sweep pair

The Farmington Hills Majestics swept a softball doubleheader Thursday from the Farmington Fantastics to remain undefeated in the Commercial Carpet Corporation Girls Fast-Pitch League, 10-0 and 16-5.

Krista Miller pitched a one-hitter in the first game for the Majestics (4-0) and Erin Wiehe was 3-for-3, including an RBI double. Katie Kenny's bases-loaded double was the big hit of the second game. Kathy Misteravich was 2-for-2, and Debbie Dziekan was the winning pitcher.

The Livonia Commanders lost their first game while splitting a twin bill with the Farmington Hills Diamonds, and the Canton Cobras swept a doubleheader from the Livonia Lasers to force a tie for second place with the Commanders. Both teams are 3-1. The Diamonds won the first game 9-3 behind the one-hit pitching of Karen

Seremet. Michelle Romig had two hits and one RBI, and Erin Proctor also drove in one run. The Commanders rebounded with a 15-3 win in the nightcap. Tracy

McManamon was the winning pitcher and had two hits as did teammates April Switala and Niki Italia. One of Italia's hits was a solo homer. Colleen Baker was the winning pitcher in both games as the Cobras swept the Lasers 10-1 and 19-1. Tina Schafer and Nicole Sequin had two hits and one RBI apiece in the first game. Sequin had two hits again in the nightcap, both for extra bases (double, triple). Renee Dory slammed a two-run homer for the Cobras, and Heather LaGrow also had two hits.

To be part of the solution, not part of the problem.

Times change. There was once a time when we thought that providing the very best community news coverage was enough.

Today it's not. Today we have a responsibility not only to our readers and advertisers, but also to our environment.

That's why 30% of the newsprint we put on our press has been recycled. This will increase when our other suppliers bring recycled newsprint on line later this year

Our communities and the entire State of Michigan face a solid waste crisis

There used to be 624 Type II landfills in Michigan*. The trash from your home, your neighbor's homes and the businesses in your town goes into a Type II.landfill. As you read this, there are only 71 of ther still open and licensed to do business. That's 71 in all of Michigan's 83 counties Estimates say one-third of these will be out of business in less than five years

So what can a business like ours do to be part of the solution and not part of the problem?

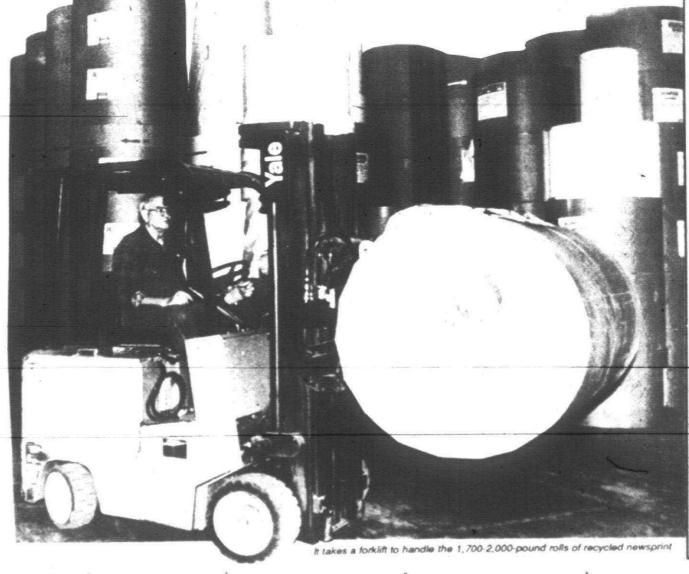

We're buying and printing your newspaper on recycled newsprint. We're looking for other recycled products to use in our business. We're recycling all of our newsprint and office paper. We're working to increase public awareness at it participation. We're encouraging our readers to recycle.

How can you help? Why not begin with this newspaper recycle it along with others you may have collected. Then start buying recycled products. Spread the word about those landfills. and recycle this page by sharing it with a friend

And if you are already recycling—thank you.

WE DON'T COVER WORLD NEWS, BUT WE CARE ABOUT THE WORLD

m. Wednesday to Saturday. Hanaiakamalama, the Queen Emma Summer Palace in the Nuuaa Valley, is maintained by the Daughters of Hawaii in a charming Victorian setting with a dash of Hawaiian show

Queen Emma was born in 1836 and later became the wife of King Kamehameha IV. Tucked back from a busy highway on a slight hill, the ummer getaway home is surprisingly private.

The small palace is filled with priceless and exquisitely handmade urniture, such as the koa wood cradle for Emma's son; his godmother was Queen Victoria. The large feather plumes signifying royalty sway in the cool breeze that travels literally in the front doorway through the house and out the back

Pearl Harbor attack survivors are sought

Are you a survivor of Pearl Harbor? Were you there when the Japanese planes dropped their bombs on the fleet of ships based in Hawaii on Dec. 7, 1941? Are you a relative of one of the 2,403 service men and women killed in Hawaii on that day, the day that the United States became an official part of World War

If you can answer yes to any of those questions, you will want to know about the preparations being made for the 50th anniversary commemoration of Pearl Harbor in December 1991. The commemoration will begin on Wednesday, Dec. 4, and will culminate with special services aboard the USS Arizona Memorial on the morning of Dec. 7.

Pearl Harbor survivors, and the families of those who died there on that day, will be the special guests throughout the week's events. They will be given the first seats on the shuttle boat that runs to the Memorial Dec. 7, even if that means that you and I must stay behind.

The USS Arizona Memorial is operated by the National Park Service in conjunction with the U.S. Navy. The memorial structure spans the sunken battleship U.S.S. Arizona. A shuttle boat runs regularly between the memorial and the shoreside Visitor Center.

The center is off the Kamehameha Highway, State Highway 99. Visitors typically start arriving early in the morning to avoid lineups, because they are allowed into the center in groups, identified by the number of tickets given out over a particular period of time.

A National Park Service Ranger gives a brief talk before leading visitors into the the-ater for a documentary film on the Pearl Harbor attack. You will see the Japanese planes launch their surprise attack at 7:55 a.m., and the 1,760-pound armor-piercing bomb that hit when the Arizona exploded at 8:10 a.m.

The Oklahoma rolled over after the torpedos hit. The California and the West Virginia sank at their moorings. The Utah capsized. The Maryland, Pennsylvania and Tennessee were damaged. The Nevada was the only battleship that got away intact. Groups then board the shuttle operated by the U.S. Navy for the short run to the memorial.

The white curved sides of the memorial actually form a grave marker for the servicemen who died defending the U.S.S. Arizona on that December Sunday in 1941. The assembly area, open to views of the sea, contains a wall listing the names of the 1,177 sailors and Marines killed aboard the battleship.

As a special tribute to the ship and its lost crew, the navy permits the American flag to fly daily from the flagpole attached to the severed mainmast of the sunken ship.

If you are a survivor of Pearl Harbor, there are people who want to hear from you. Contact Joe Niemitz at the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association, 3346 Manoa Road, Honolulu, Hawaii, 96822 or telephone (808) 988-2025.

Please contact me as well. We are planning a story about Pearl Harbor in the fall and would like to include survivors and their families. Send a postcard to 22000 Springbrook, Suite 206C, Farmington Hills, Mich. 48336.

An island stop to visit such places as Waikiki Beach can break up what can be as long as 15 hours of flying time from the Midwest to Asia.

Taking a little R&R in Hawaii

By Christina Zarobe special writer

Hawaii is not just for honeymooners and family vacations anymore. Strategically located between Asia and the U.S. mainland, this island paradise has attracted a new type of tourist - the business traveler.

As U.S. corporations have increased their business trade with Japan, Korea, Taiwan and other Asian countries, Hawaii has become a common stopover between East and West.

The layover may be only for a day or two, but a weary business traveler can still get a taste of the rich Hawaiian and Polynesian culture as well as some much needed rest and relaxation. An island stop breaks up what can be as long as 15 hours of flying time from the Midwest to Asia. The key to a Hawaiian mini-vacation is knowing in advance what you want to see and how long and how complicated the exeursion will be. By applying the same business practices used in the financial world - research and a bit of time management - a stopover can offer nearly as much as a full vacation.

Renting a car is the best way to see Oahu, the most populated of the islands and home of the capital, Honolulu. With a map in hand, getting around Oahu is not difficult - remember, you're on an island so don't panic about getting lost.

Midwesterners find convertibles almost irresistible, but remember that part of the reason Hawaii has such colorful rainbows is because of its frequent, misty rains, known here as "liquid sunshine." They are not storms that will drench your car interior and belongings, but expect things to be damp-

Iolani Palace, built in 1882, is the only palace in the United States. The official residence of King Kalakaua and Queen Liliuokalani, the last monarchs of this island kingdom before its overthrow in 1893, the palace is conveniently located in downtown Honolulu at King and Richards streets.

Pad around the palace with your guide, wearing cloth slippers that protect the soft wood floors, and you'll receive a concise history of a crucial time in Hawaiian history.

Despite the island's isolated position in the Pacific, King Kalakaua was fond of European finery. Notice the Bohemi-an crystal and the Parisian china in the royal dining room. The Hawaiian Koa wood used on the graceful stairway is as rich as the legacy of royalty in the is-

While the monarchy ended tragically, gives visitors a sense of the flamboyance of the king's lifestyle. Balls were held in the crimson and gold Throne Room, with guests spilling out onto the lanai that encircles the palace. The king would entertain until dawn along with his guests, who were not allowed to leave before the king.

A couple from Oklahoma City were touring the palace when they recognized a plant stand in the royal bedroom. It was a reproduction, similar to a plant stand they had bought at a flea market

Bill and Kathlyn stayed in the Maui Islander, $65 or less for a big room with kitchen facilities three blocks from the water. It was in the town of Lahaina not far from Kaanapali, the historic whaling waters of the island.

"It's great to watch the whales come in to give birth to their young in March," Bill said. "You used to be able to go out and pet the whales, but the government stopped that. You can still look at them.

Bill specializes in little off-theroad spots that the tourists don't usually find. "If you take the road west from the airport and go north up the west coast, you drive through a rock; if you park on the other side, you'll find a long rubber rope that local people use to climb down to a very private beach.

"Or take the long curving road that is cut out of the mountain to Hana on the other end of the island. You find one-lane bridges and waterfalls. You can climb the waterfalls and keep going beyond them.

Steel Pulse's David Hinds gets a kick out of telling the story.

A mother takes her daughter to a reggae show featuring Steel Pulse. Daughter's never heard of the band or reggae music for that matter.

After the show, Hinds meets mother and

"She says 'I don't like reggae, but I like you." said Hinds in a telephone interview. "That's enough for me."

The anecdote, though, sums up the crossover appeal Steel Pulse has garnered since emerging from working class Birmingham, England in the mid-70s. But at what price?

Like recently, Steel Pulse enlisted the services Stephen Bray to produce a one cut, "Can't Get-You (Out of My System)," on the band's latest MCA release "Victims."

Really now, Stephen Bray? This is the producer who has been known to collaborate in the musical neighborhood of Madonna and Breakfast

Guest appearances and high-tech tendencies aside. Steel Pulse is not minus heart and soul. The band's musical perspective is just different.

FORMED BY keyboardist and vocalist Selwyn Brown and Hinds, Steel Pulse found an immedi ate following on the English punk circuit buoved by the reggae explosion that would also filter its way into themusic of The Clash and The Police.

"Other reggae bands would be listening to other reggae tracks and other reggae bands. We were listening to things that other reggae outfits wouldn't even have in their house. I remembe coming homefrom school and listening to people like Jimi Hendrix and the Climax Blues Band.

Hairstylist Photi of Salon 313 in Farmington Hills says the '90s man will trade in the pulled-back ponytail look of Steven Seagal and sport the dirty hair look of actor Mickey Rourke. Here he updates Tom Leach's short haircut.

'90s man: Being himself, not someone else

By Debbie Sklar special writer

The 1960s brought us mod clothing, Bob Dylan and Sean Connery as "Bond . . . James Bond."

The 1970s introduced us to Alan Alda, pastel-colored leisure suits and opennecked polyester shirts, accented with gold chains. . . lots of gold chains. . In the 1980s, it was Richard Gere, the

In the 1980s, it was Richard Gere, the return of the bow tie and punk rockers with stiff spiked hair . . . and safety pins as facial ornaments.

What about the 1990s? After all, we're in the second year of the last decade of the 20th century, aren't we? What can we expect our men to look like as these years go

If you've been star watching lately, Dennis Quaid and Mickey Rourke are only a couple of the celebs that are opting for the dirty hair look. According to stylist Photi of Salon 313 in Farmington Hills, dirty hair is the look for the '90s.

"A lot of men are opting for this dirty hair look because it's more masculine," he said.

How does one get that look?

"A lot of it has to do with the cut," Photi said, "and by using a lot of pomade — a perfumed ointment for the hair."

PHOTI SAID men should say goodbye to ponytails and exchange them for more conservative looks — "Men want to look like men in the '90s — they want to be themselves and not someone else."

He added that the styles of the 1950s are making a comeback — "Hair is a lot shorter in the back, just barely touching the collar."

And what about hair coloring?

"The older gentleman is going back to his natural gray and the younger guys are going toward the more conservative direction — they're not coloring their hair," Photi said.

And what about all this environmental stuff that's got Hollywood's brightest and best men and women (mostly women) on a recycling bandwagon? Is the '90s man going to be an avid participant?

According to environmental attorney David Fink, who has offices in Lansing and Farmington Hills, the '90s man will be concerned about the quality of his life.

"As he is becoming increasingly aware of the consequences of living in a throwaway society, issues such as toxic waste, industrial pollution and refuse disposal will continue to loom over the country's future and dominate the public psyche," Fink said. "I think the man of the 1990s will be more concerned about the quality of his life, possibly more than was deemed in the past."

"WHETHER IT'S about family life, quality of recreational activities to the natural environment, men will be more active."

However, Fink "hates to think that the man of the '90s is going to be stereotyped that easily." He hopes that in the '90s, the excess of the "me" generation and the simplicity of the radicalism of the '60s are left behind.

"The man of the '90s is going to be a man who looks for quality of life for himself and his family," he said.

self and his family," he said.

And what would the man of the 1990s be without fashion? Are we going to go back to the days of the John Travolta disco look? White three-piece suits with platform shoes?

"No way," said Chris Cosola, owner of Maxwell's, a men's clothing store in downtown Birmingham. "I sure hope not, that would be frightening."

Cosola said men in the '90s will definitely become more fashion conscious.

. "They're really moving toward quality," he said. "What we're seeing in the marketplace is men who are going to be wearing more comfortable clothes. It's not the case of the clothes wearing the man anymore, it's the man wearing the clothes."

Cosola said men will be sporting clothes that are less confining, more stylish and more Euro-traditional — "I guess you could call it a retro look back at the '40s."-

SHOULDERS OF coats will be bigger, with cuffs and pleated slacks making a comeback — "the styles of Clark Gable, Gene Kelly and the Prince of Wales, guys that had great style."

Charles Rothstein, a 32-year-old investment banker for Andover Capital in West Bloomfield, is hoping to see a return of "more traditional values" in the 1990s.

"Instead of the 'me' generation, I hope that people, men included, will return to a more traditional way of thinking," he said. "I think we will be more family oriented and people in general will have more concern for what's going on around them."

Through his job, Rothstein sees men being more concerned about health and physical fitness. They also are more concerned about their "fellow man," he said.
"The '20s men was more into over-

"The '80s man was more into overspending and overextending," he said. "The '90s man is more into the savings and investment mode."

Rothstein himself has returned to traditional values and said goodbye to the days of conspicuous consumption.

ARE MEN OF the '90s more concerned about their weight? Are big biceps the issue or is a more lean physique a concern? Well, according to Dr. Richard Mark, who has a family practice in Yosilanti.

Plymouth, Garden City and Madison Heights, more and more men are coming in for regular health exams. "Maybe that's a sign of the '90s — men

"Maybe that's a sign of the '90s — men are really more concerned about their health, more so than before," said Mark, who also has ties with Weight Watchers — he's part of the family that serves as one of the board of directors. "It's funny, even though we're supposed to be in the midst of a recession, a lot of people are signing up for Weight Watchers."

Like Rothstein, Mark said he sees an extension of the '80s physical fitness craze spilling over into the '90s. He also sees the big, bulky muscular body on its way out. So what's in?

"A lean, level headed man who has general concerns about the way he looks and about relationships," he said. "There are an awful lot of people out there that once dated numerous people. Now they have become more monogamous because they're worried about sexually transmitted diseases. I've been doing a lot of AIDS testing."

So, according to our experts, the man of the 1990s is going to be a breed apart from Richard Gere, Alan Alda and Sean Connery. He's going to be lean and mean, well-dressed in a '40s get-up, with dirty hair and environmentally active.

Makes you wonder what the year 2000 will bring, doesn't it?

Art fairs to boast potpourri of wares

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

ELEBRATE THE arts at one of the largest fairs in the the Ann Arbor Arts Fair Wednesday-Saturday, July 24-27.

Nearly 1,000 artists will exhibit their work during the dog days of July in a celebration of art, music, theatrics, fun and food.

During the four-day event, artists display paintings, drawings, print making, ceramics, sculpture, glass, photography, 2-D mixed media, 3-D mixed media, metal/jewelry, wood and fiber.

Three separate art fairs line the streets of Ann Arbor during the midsummer festival of the arts - the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair, the State Street Area Art Fair and the Summer Art Fair sponsored by the Michigan Guild of Artists and Artisans.

THE ANN Arbor Street Art Fair has delighted fair visitors for 32 years. This year, it features 196 artists from 35 states.

We like to think of the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair as being on the cutting edge, with emerging as well as established artists. There are 57 new artists, not a part of the fair last year. Glass, fiber and wood categories were rejuried this year," said Susan Froelich, coordinator of the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair.

'Stephen Zeh from Maine is a traditional basket maker who will be demonstrating during the fair. He's bringing a log, stripping it and making baskets." Froelich said

Zeh, who works in the tradition of Maine woodsmen, Penobscot Indians and the Shakers, will demonstrate the ancient art of basketmaking at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. each day on East University in Booth 112.

THE 24-YEAR-OLD juried State Street Area Art Fair features 200 artists. Organized in 1968 by a group of State Street merchants, it is located in the heart of the State Street shopping district

Now in its 21st year, the Summer Art Fair features 540 booths with almost 580 exhibiting artists. Sponsored by the Michigan Guild of Artists and Artisans, the fair includes an Imagination Booth where families can create works of art for free. The art activity area is at the U.S. Post Office Plaza on Liberty Street.

"The fair has lots of good places to eat, where you can sit and refresh yourself," said Shary Brown, coordinator of the Michigan Guild's Summer Art Fair.

THE ANN Arbor Transportation Authority provides shuttle and trolley service during the fair from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Wednesday-Friday and 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday.

Visitors to the fair are encouraged to park free at Briarwood Mall, off I-94 on State Street, and Pioneer High School, Main at Stadium, and take the shuttle bus to either the Main Street area or the South University area. The fare is $2 for adults ($1 each way). Children 7 and younger ride free. Call 996-0400. The Art Fair Trolley operates between the three fairs, charging 50 cents per passenger, free with a shuttle ticket

The Ann Arbor Street Art Fair is on South University East University and Church Street.

The State Street Area Art Fair lines Maynard, Liberty, Thompson, William, and North University.

The Summer Art Fair is on State Street from South University to William, Liberty Street from Ashley to Fifth, and Main Street from William

Fair hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday-Friday, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, July 24-27.

Artists exhibiting at the State Street Area Art Fair come from all over Michigan and from other states, but Bruce Migdal may be the only one to come from Guatemala.

He spends nine months in Guatemala, then comes north in the summer to sell his work through art fairs around Detroit and Chicago.

MIGDAL HAS been passionately interested in art as long as he can remember. He studied fine arts at Wayne State University, but considers himself largely self-taught.

'I don't think art is something that can be taught or learned," he says. "It's something you're born with."

Art is so much a part of his life that Migdal has never seriously considered doing anything else, despite the financial hardships of supporting himself as an artist.

'It's very hard to do, and it gets harder when the economy is bad," he said."It's a little scary now. But I'm willing to sacrifice and do it. It's who I am. That's my life."

After 21 years of painting fulltime, artist Thomas LeGault of Plymouth creates a traditional northern Michigan landscape bathed in a pink mist, in record time - an hour and a half to be exact.

"After all these years of painting, I've become more and more efficient," said LeGault, appearing in the Summer Art Fair in Ann Arbor July 24-27. "I guess I'm loosening

'I enjoy these people here in Michigan. Michigan is so much warmer, so much kinder," LeGault said. In LeGault's "Quiet Cove," a light-

"I like to tell stories with my work," said Pat Dunn-Bremner of Birmingham.

Hers is a story worth telling. Dunn-Bremner began painting in the 1960s using the mediums of oil paint and drawing for expression. In the 70s, she set aside art "to raise four kids as a single working parent." She remarried in 1981; 1982 found her

How interested are you in selling your home?

Interested enough to spend a few moments and discover the best place to advertise the fact that your home is for Good. We knew you were intelligent. In fact, more than 40% of our readers have college degrees or better.

And if knowlege is power, let's look at a few powerful facts: this newspaper, the one you're reading right now, reaches some of the most affluent households in Wayne and Oakland counties:

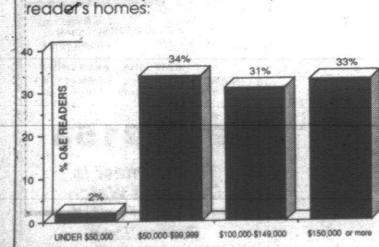

That's a median household income of more than $50,000-$10,000 more than the income of the people who don't read our newspapers. So when you advertise in your Observer & Eccentric newspapers, you not only reach thousands of smart people, you reach people with substantial incomes.

Now, that's something to smile about.

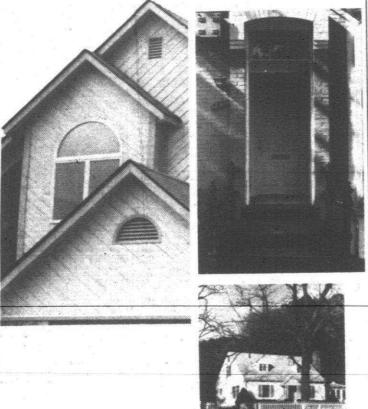

Our circulation area has 90% home ownership and look at the value of our FACT: When you advertise with us you will reach 9 out of 10 adults in the Observer & Eccentric market area who have read weekly classified advertising."

FACT: 91% of the adults in our market area who had read classified advertising in the past seven days had read it in the Observer & Eccentric*

So, we can offer you one quarter of a million adult readers and a very rich market, what else do we have for you? How about an award-winning newspaper - a newspaper that people trust and look forward to reading? One that reaches 25 communities with important local news that's not available anywhere else.

By the way, did you know that all those little ads in the back of this newspaperthe ones placed by people like you - are published in all 12 newspapers? Therefore, when you advertise anything from a hom to a home, you will automatically reach this huge, interested reading audience.

What else can we say? We've had years of experience in publishing newspapers and are proud of our record for successfully putting home buyers in touch with home sellers.

In fact, we've just introduced HOMELINE.** a great new way to find out about open houses simply by using your touchtone

Be sure to mention it to your Realtor* so that when it comes time to show your home, it will be described on HOMELINE.

Spectators attending the 1991 U.S. Senior Open at Oakland Hills Country Club should have no problem finding a place to park, according to tournament director Bud Erickson.

There has been a 10-percent decrease in the number of available parking spaces on the site because of an expanded driving range, but that shouldn't have any negative effect, he

Approximately 9,000 spaces remain, and that should be enough to accommodate everyone. In addition, there will be a number of rental sites off the course grounds but in the vicinity where people can park.

All parking at Oakland Hills is located on the north course. The cost for parking there is included in the ticket price, and ticket holders will be directed to that area when they enter the course gates. Ticket prices are $15 for practice

Pat Croswell, club professional at Oakland Hills Country Club, has spent 80-90 hours per week over the last month preparing for the upcoming U.S. Senior Open. Croswell has served as club pro since 1987.

Pro prepares club for play

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Pat Croswell's golf game and sleeping habits haven't been the same late-- all because he's trying to make Oakland Hills Country Club the same friendly host it has always been.

Croswell, the club pro at Oakland Hills, said he has spent about 80 to 90 hours per week in the last month getting the club ready for the U.S. Senior Open. Croswell isn't alone in his en-

He has four assistants and 1,200 members volunteering their services to make sure the seniors will enjoy this stay as much as in 1981, when the last U.S. Senior Open was held here.

Oakland Hills has a proud tradition of hosting majors, including five U.S. Opens, two PGAs, a Western Open, Ladies U.S. Amateur, and two World Carling Opens.

The last major hosted by Oakland Hills was the U.S. Open in 1985. Croswell, an assistant at the time under Al Mengert, had just turned 30

"I'M AN OLD 36 this week," he joked. "The other night I came home and passed out at 8 o'clock in my room with the light on, too weak to turn it off. But it's worth it. I've enjoyed it all and look forward to it. We do a lot of planning and a lot of work trying to build on the great tradition of Oakland

"The people that make it possible and successful are the members. Sometimes they don't get a pat on the back, but they should. They love the club, love the Detroit area and love the game of golf.

Croswell, who lives in Birmingham with his wife Debbie and 6-year-old son Matthew, took over as the club has four assistants - Jon Helmker. Mike Erickson, Bruce Cunningham and John Swanson - who come in handy considering the last 21/2 years of Croswell's tenure has been spent thinking about and organizing the U.S. Senior Open.

Croswell was an assistant pro at Oakland Hills from 1981-86 so he knows what it took to make the '81 Senior Open and the '85 U.S. Open a

Despite having played thousands of rounds on Oakland Hills, Croswell doesn't anticipate giving any advice on how to play any of the holes.

"The thing about the Senior Open is a lot of them are coming back to Oakland Hills for the fourth, fifth time: guys like (Lee) Trevino, (Jack) Nicklaus, (Arnold) Palmer, (Gary) Player.' " Croswell said.

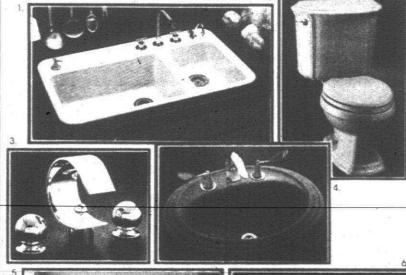

CROSWELL TAKES pride in Oakland Hills' reputation, saying there are only "15 clubs in the country like it." The golf shop at Oakland Hills, which Croswell helps oversee, is ranked among the top 20 in the country in total merchandising. Croswell said three tents of golf merchandise will be set up on the golf course throughout the tour-

Croswell, a native of Columbus, Ohio, and one of nine children, began his career as a club pro at Ashtabula Country Club in Ohio, where he holds the course record for 18 holes with a 65. Despite having a fine background in the sport as a player, Croswell has never won any major tournaments as an amateur or pro, he said.

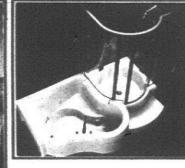

At Oakland Hills he's more concerned with the well-being of his players and the upkeep of the club.

Longest ball may hold the edge

By Bill Parker staff writer

The famed South Course at Oakland Hills dubbed "The Monster" by Ben Hogan after the first round of the 1951 U.S. Open - has served up its share of exciting major golf tournaments. With the course in its best condition ever, according to Oakland Hills head pro Pat Croswell, the 1991 U.S. Senior Open, scheduled for July 25-28, could also become a

"(The course) won't be a lot different than it was in '81 (the first time Oakland Hills hosted a U.S. Senior Open)," Croswell said. "The fairways are in a little better condition. The ground crews have been working real hard. Overall, I'd have to say the course is in the best condition I've seen it in during the 11 years I've been here. The roughs will be up and the greens will be fast.

"The '81 Senior Open was a great tournament. The roughs were up and the fairways were fast. (Arnold) Palmer won with a 9-over, but I'don't think it will take that (to win) this time. With good weather, even-par could be enough. If it gets windy, maybe three of four over and if it rains and the course gets soft, maybe they'll get under par a little."

UNITED STATES Golf Association rules call for the fairways to be cut from 1/8 to 1/2 inch with the intermediate rough at 11/2 inches and primary rough at three inches. The undulating greens will also provide a challenge with Stimpmeter readings of 10 or more across the course

With 18 new tees constructed in the fall of 1988. plus extensive fairway improvements and new sand in all 118 bunkers, I think the course will be as tough a challenge as it was during the 1985 U.S. Open," said Oakland Hills Golf Course Superintendent Ted

The new tees actually make the course play shorter than it did during the '85 Open of the '81 Senior

"The tee changes were made to improve the condition of the course," Croswell said. "The tees on eight, 10 and 13 are a little different. The 13th offers a new angle with a better look at the green.'

The par 70, 6,718-yard "Monster" features four par-3s, 12 par-4s and two par-5s. The front nine plays 3,329 yards and the back nine plays at 3,389. Both are par 35s. The course was 6,798-yards for the '81 Senior Open and 6,996-yards for the 1985 Open.

CROSWELL FEELS the golfer who can drive the ball well will have an advantage in this year's Senior

'Someone who can drive the ball could do well because of fairway bunkers that are in the 230 to 270yard range," he said. "The guys that can drive the ball well, hit a good long iron and make the putts will be in there. The greens will also be tough. The greens here at Oakland Hills are full of undulations, contours

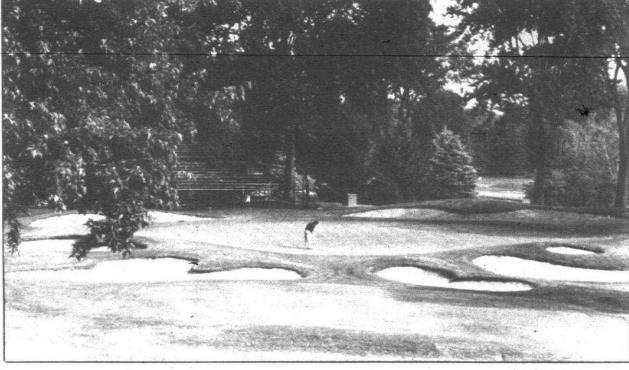

The 18th hole, a 447-yard, par-4, dogleg right could provide for a thrilling finish if the scores are tight. The 18th was ranked first in the '85 Open with a scoring average of 4.470. It recorded the fewest pars and the most double-bogeys of the tournament.

Oakland Hills Country Club celebrates it's 75th birthday by hosting the 1991 U.S. Senior Open, July 25-28. Competition will be held on the 6,718yard, par-70 South Course. The shorter front nine is a 3,329-yard, par-35 while the back nine offers a 3,389vard, par-35. Following is a brief profile of each hole as seen through the eyes of Oakland Hills Golf Professional Pat Croswell.

Hole 1 - 419 yards, par 4: Starting from an elevated tee, this hole is beautifully framed with bunkers on both sides of the driving area. The bunkers are cut into the fairway, narrowing it to 25 yards, and thus placing a premium on accuracy. The hole normally plays downwind, leaving the pro with a medium iron to a large, undulating green. The right side of the green is bowl-shaped and is an easy hole position. If the hole is positioned on the left-hand terrace or the difficult back right plateau, par will be a good score.

Hole 2 - 499 yards, par 5: This hole is a slight dogleg left with fairway bunkers from 230 to 270 yards from either tee. A good drive will put a player in position to go for the green on his second shot, but if he decides to lay up short of the four bunkers protecting the front of the green, he will be faced with a delicate pitch. The putting surface is two-tiered with the upper tier sloping away from the player. If the pro can avoid fairway bunkers, birdies will be easy to come by. In 1985, T.C. Chen scored the first known doubleeagle in a U.S. Open at this hole, which yielded the most eagles (four), most birdies (153), fewest bogeys, and no double bogeys.

Hole 3 - 183 yards, par 3: This hole, the first of four great par-3s, is usually played into a headwind with a long iron. The green is angled at a right-to-left diagonal with two deep bunkers guarding the left side of the green and single bunkers right and long. The putting surface has two small crowns in the front middle and front right, and a small plateau in the back. This classic par-3 was the 'setting for David Graham's playoff victory over Ben Crenshaw at the 1979 PGA Championship.

Hole 4 - 423 yards, par 4: The player's key objective on this dogleg left is to avoid the series of deep bunkers and the group of trees on the left side of the fairway, which gradually slopes to the right, toward two more bunkers. The landing area is only 24 yards wide, making this a difficult driving hole. The second shot, which is downhill to a green protected by five bunkers, plays shorter than the yardage indicates. The putting surface runs from back to front with the toughest hole location being the slightly elevated position on the extreme left side

Hole 5 - 426 yards, par 4: This hole, again, demands a very accurate drive, since the trees on the left and two bunkers on the right protect the landing area. The left side of the fairway offers the player the best location to play his second shot to the large green, which is protected by a large bunker on the left and a deep bunker on the right. The putting surface slopes from back to front with severe contours and crowns. Missing the green long or right can be fatal, as T.C. Chen discovered in the final round of the 1985 U.S. Open when he made a quadruple bogev-8.

Hole 6 - 353 yards, par 4: This is the shortest par-4 on the course. The landing area for the tee shot is protected by two bunkers on the left and a group of trees on the right. Most players will use a fairway wood or long iron to play short of the last bunker cut into the fairway. The second shot is uphill to the deepest green on the course. The putting surface is tearshaped with two distinct levels. The narrow back position is the most difficult, forcing the player to select enough club to carry to the top tier of this deep green.

Hole 7 - 398 yards, par 4: With

Trevino gives flair to tournament field

By Jim Toth staff writer

The reasons behind the continued growth in the following of the U.S. Senior Tour are plentiful. Many surround the presence of Lee Trevino.

THE RESERVE OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY

A true fan favorite and one of the most colorful personalities the game has ever known, Trevino has given as much to the game and received more than most in return.

In 25 years of competition on the PGA and Senior Tours, Trevino has cashed in more than $4 million in prize

He enters the 1991 U.S. Senior Open as the tournament's defending champion. Last year at Ridgewood Country Club in Paramus, N.J., Trevino edged out Jack Nicklaus by two strokes to earn first place prize money.

Tackling the 6,718-yard layout at Oakland Hills is nothing new to Trevino, who last played here in 1985 in the U.S. Open.

"IT'S A great golf course," Trevino said of Oakland Hills during a recent conference call hookup. "1985 was the last time I played it and I remember it is long and you always have to worry about putting.

With the course playing shorter, it gives everybody a chance.

One year later, the United States Golf Association decided to lower the qualifying age from 55 to 50. Its reasoning was that reducing the minimum age would make for a more competitive championship.

Those changes, along with the presence of Trevino, Nicklaus, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Gary Player, the Senior Tour has grabbed some of the spot, light away from the regular PGA Tour

Since joining the PGA Tour in 1967, Trevino has claimed the top spot 27 times, racking up close to $3.5 million

Twibell, Allis team as TV hosts

By Brad Emons staff writer

Like for many Americans, the game of golf continues to grow on ABC Television commentator Roger Twibell.

"When I was a youngster, the closest thing I got to golf was caddying one day at the Kansas City Country Club, the course where Tom Watson learned to play," recalls Twibell. "It was one of those deals where the guy I was caddying for would throw his club up into a tree and say, 'go fetch it kid.' So that was the end of that. At the time I had no interest in the game."

Twibell, 41, and Peter Allis will serve as hosts for the 12th U.S. Senior Open at Oakland Hills, calling the action for ABC's third- and fourth-round coverage, 3:30-6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday

Dave Marr will provide analysis, while essayist Jack Whitaker will conduct interviews and present an overview of this major Senior USGA Tour event. Ed Sneed, Judy Rankin and Bob Rosburg will serve as on-course reporters, beginning with the seventh hole on Saturday and Sunday (ESPN will handle live coverage of the first two rounds: noon to 2 p.m. and 4 to 6 p.m. Thursday and Friday.)

"I was a football, baseball and basketball player originally," Twibell said. "But my knees are shot now so there was only one thing left to do. I guess I'm typical of a lot of people who

BUT AT THE urging of his father. he went the college route, first to a junior college in California, and then to the University of Arizona where he played football as a center.

When his knees went bad, Twibell ended his football career and journeyed back to the University of Kansas where he earned his degree in 1972. Twibell is now a 5-handicapper who Like many of the Senior Tour players, Twibell needs a cart to get around these days.

After the Senior TPC was concluded last month in Dearborn Twibell was able to sneak in a round at Oakland Hills

> BECAUSE THE SENIOR Open is a 72-hole event. Twibell said the format may favor a younger player.

> "(Lee) Trevino won on the same type of classic course last year at Ridgewood (Country Club in Paramus, N.J.)," Twibell said. "He's a guy who immediately comes to mind. even though he's had a struggling kind of year. You have to hit a lot of different kinds of shots, which Lee can do !

Twibell also believes that upstate New York club pro Jim Albus, the surprise winner at last month's Senior TPC in Dearborn, could strike lightning again.

"He's one of those great club pros who chose to stay in one location and raise a family," Twibell said. "He's what I'm talking about, a young 50, a strong guy who hits the ball long. Ironically, it was Albus who stood up to the pressure at Dearborn and Lee kind of crumbled (during the last round).

"It's going to be a very different course because everybody who has been driving around in carts will have to walk because it's a USGA event. That's why you have to look at the vounger seniors many make the cut, Erickson said. The low 60 golfers and ties play the last two rounds, plus anyone within 10 strokes of the leader

There will be plenty of sites along the course where spectators can see the action, too. Bleachers will be located on 10 holes - most on the back side - and the driving range, providing a total of 6,000 seats

'People can walk and follow their favorites or sit and watch all of them, Erickson said.

BLEACHERS WILL be stationed around the greens on Nos. 3. 5. 9 (near the clubhouse), 10, 12, 13, 15, 16, 17 and 18. There will be 1,040 seats at No. 17 and 2.500 at the 18th hole.

No. 16 is the most famous hole on the course and a favorite of many spectators, according to Erickson.

"People like to sit down there, because it's pretty and it's the signature hole of the golf course." he said. "It was made famous by Gary Player's shot in '72 that enabled him to go on and win the PGA Championship. He birdied the hole from an unlikely spot on the course."

Spectators will be able to cross the fairways in designated locations once players are off the tee, but they will have to wait for instructions from the course marshals.

Oakland Hills is expecting an attendance total between 80,000 and 100,000 for the week-long tournament, Erickson said. Oakland Hills has accommodated one-day crowds of close to 40,000 for other major tournaments.

'Oakland Hills has never had a problem with the USGA where they had to limit attendance," Erickson said. "Nobody need fear he'll be shut out or that we won't be able to accommodate him if he wants to come out and see some golf.

IN ADDITION, the Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce is providing a shuttle service from downtown Birmingham to Oakland Hills. The shuttle, provided by Kids Kab Children's Charter Transportation Service, will be available from Monday through Sunday

Customers can pick up the service in front of either the Birmingham Theatre, the Townsend Hotel, the Barclay or the Village Inn. The fare is $2 per passenger.

Experienced hosts a major must

By Marty Budner staff writer

So here it is. Oakland Hills is hosting another major championship

No big deal you might say. They're experienced at doing such things

And you're right. Oakland Hills officials have tournament operations and preparations down to a tee. And they should, considering this is the 11th major golf championship the club has hosted since its founding in 1916.

Despite that ability to deliver successful golf majors, however, it is no easy task to play the gracious host.

Oakland Hills officials formally signed to accept the 12th annual U.S. Senior Open Championship of the United States Golf Association way back in October of 1987. They've been working steadfastly ever since preparing for the week-long list of official activities which begin today and end with the final round on Sunday.

But none of that would be possible without the tremendous dedication and sacrifice of the prestigious club's membership.

The tournament committee which is in charge of preparing for this annual event begins with the four-man executive committee of Robert G. Wood (general chairman), Robert S. Giglioti (executive vice chairman), Alvin H. Maass (executive vice chairman) and

E.M. (Bud) Erickson (tournament di-

BUT THAT'S just the start of the organizational chart. From there the list evolves into 44 different committees with more than 1,200 volunteers ranging from office workers to financial assistants to transportation coor-

It's an impressive display of service among club members. And, according to Wood, it's something the majority of members sincerely savor

"The membership really enjoys these tournaments and I'll give you an example of how dedicated they really are," said Wood, who also was general chairman for the second annual U.S. Senior Open which Oakland Hills hosted 10 years ago.

"Back in 1981 a club in Pennsylvania had contracted to host the tournament. But late in the year of 1980 they canceled their contract with the USGA That left the USGA with a situation where they had a tournament but no one to host it.

"So the USGA came to us, knowing that we had just completed the 1979 PGA and we had all the committee people in place and all the operational experience and they asked us on short notice to take on the 1981 seniors. They said if you would do that we would also give you the 1985 Open.

"The only way the board of directors decided we would agree to do that is if the membership agreed. So we sent out a ballot to the membership asking them how they felt about it Eighty-six percent of the membership voted in favor of hosting the '81 (senior) tournament and having the '85

Oakland Hills officials feel committed to golf. The prestigious Bloomfield Township course has an outstanding national reputation for hosting tournaments, and members go all out to uphold that lofty tradition

· Members believe Oakland Hills is simply a championship caliber course and are anxious to watch the professionals challenge it. They be lieve the course has the main ingred ients of a major test - from difficulty and stature to beauty and style.

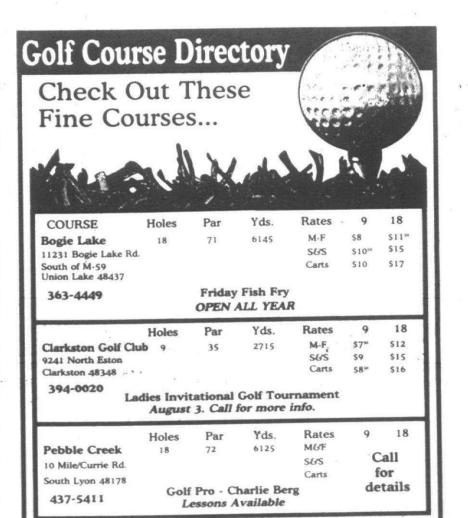

• Finally - perhaps the biggest reason of all - by hosting the U.S. Senior Open the club hopes to land another professional golf major. For in-stance, Wood said the club has all but locked up the 1996 U.S. Open.

"When we decided to host the '91 Senior Open, we talked with the USGA about the possibilities of host ing the U.S. Open in '95 or '96," said Wood. "We never did think we would have a chance to get the '95 Open because it is going to be the centennial year for the Open. three bunkers lining the left side of the fairway and a small pond along the right side, players may decide to avoid disaster and lay up short of the hazards. Anyone using a driver will need to aim to the left side of the fairway since the landing area slopes toward the water. The green on this dogleg right is narrow and protected by bunkers both left and right. The putting surface is the flattest at Oakland Hills and deceptively fast from back to Hole 8 - 415 yards. par 4: This is another difficult driving hole - the toughest test on the front nine for the field in the 1985 U.S. Open. The bunkers cut into the fairway in the landing area place a high premium on an accurate drive. It is difficult to make par from any tee shot left of the fairway since the first bunker has a high lip, forcing a short-iron recovery shot. A clump of pine trees left of the bunker usually 'demands a pitch-out as the only recovery shot. From the fairway, the second shot is a long iron or wood to a large green with bunkers both left and right. Any shot long will leave the player with a difficult pitch from a downhill lie to a green that slopes from back to front. It's no wonder the most bogevs (182) were made here in 1985.

Hole 9 - 213 yards, par 3: This is the most difficult par-3 at -Oakland Hills, despite Ben Crenshaw's hole-inone here during the second round of the 1985 Open. At 213 yards, a long iron or fairway wood will be needed to reach the large, undulating green. The deep bunker protecting the right front and side of the green may be frequented the most of any bunker during the Senior Open. The green has a narrow terrace on the left side, running from front to back, and there is a small crown in the middle right. The green slopes sharply from front to back, which makes pitching and putting very difficult.

Hole 10 - 418 yards, par 4: When Donald Ross designed Oakland Hills, the first hole he created was the magnificent opener to the tortuous back nine. The hole begins from an elevated tee some 20 feet above the landing area and again there are fairway bunkers to narrow the drive zone. Just past the bunkers, the fairway slopes severely to the right and, as a result, the longer hitter may choose to play a fairway wood off the tee to avoid having his hall roll into the long rough. The uphill second shot is played to a green guarded by bunkers both left and right. The green has a ridge running through the center, with the left side difficult to hold since the green slopes away from the player. In 1924, Bobby Jones made two bogeys and two double-bogeys here and eventually finished second, three shots behind CyriHogan fired a 2-iron to within five feet and made birdie on the way to his classic final round of 67.

Hole 11 - 395 yards, par 4: This hole is a slight dogleg right played from an elevated tee. With deep bunkers on the right side of the fairway, the best position for the second shot is from the left side since it is much wider than it appears from the tee. The second shot is uphill all the way to a narrow, bowl-shaped green flanked by two bunkers left and right. The green is two-tiered with the back of the green four feet higher than the front. Any putt above the front hole location requires an extremely delicate Hole 12 - 558 yards, par 5: The second and last par-5 starts from an elevated tee some 40 feet above the landing area. The fairway is one of the widest on the course with a cluster of bunkers on the left to catch errant drives. Most players will lay up short of a strategically placed bunker on the left side of the fairway, 70 yards from the green. The putting surface has a steep slope starting at the right front and running to the back left. The higher right plateau is the most difficult pin position when placed to the far right side of the green. This hole will vield its share of birdies.

Hole 13 - 162 yards, par 3: This hole, the shortest par-3 on the course, features a green that sits below the tee and is tightly enclosed by five bunkers. The green contours are classic Donald Ross. A deep bowl in the front places a premium on club selection to any hole position on the back half of the green. The player has to protect from going over the green since it is very difficult to play the bunker shot and still keep the ball on the back ter-

Hole 14 - 448 yards, par 4: The first of five extremely tough finishing holes, No. 14 is a slight dogleg right. Trees line both sides of the fairway, with the group on the left being the most challenging from which to recover. The difficulties of the approach make this par-4 a true classic. With a good drive the second shot can be played with a long iron to a green terraced front left and back right. The putting surface is protected with front bunkers both left and right with a swale running from the front of the green to the back left. Any hole position on the right or left terrace makes par a good score.

trying to be the best club pro I can

"My golfing will come around in September." Croswell said.

at Oakland Hills will deserve some time out on the links.

Hole 15 — 380 yards, par 4: Perhaps the most underrated hole on the course, this is a sharp dogleg left with a single bunker in the middle of the fairway 240 yards off the tee. The safest tee shot is to play short of the bunker, although some players will try to gamble and pinpoint a shot between the bunker and the trees on the left side of the fairway. The second shot will be played with a middle iron to a slightly elevated, inverted saucer green flanked by bunkers left and right. Its surface features numerous contours and crowns, making the putting extremely treacherous.

Hole 16 - 396 yards, par 4: The 16th, the signature hole at Oakland Hills is remembered as the place where Gary Player's birdie sparked his victory in the 1972 PGA Championship. Although the green is wide on this dogleg right, it is the shallowest on the course and is only 18 yards deep on the right side. The green is guarded by a small pond both front and right, and the bunkering behind the green is severe with four bunkers on guard to catch and long shots. The putting surface has a razorback running front to back, but a key is driving the tee shot in the fairway, which enables the player to control his second shot to the very shallow green.

Hole 17 - 185 yards, par 3: The green is elevated some 30 feet above the tee on this demanding par-3. The green has a ridge running from the front right to the back center and a small crown at the left front. Since the putting surface is surrounded by bunkers, a high shot is necessary to hold the green. The back right pin position might well be the toughest on the course. Andy North clinched the 1985 U.S. Open here when his shot from the deep right-side bunker stopped just inches from the flagstick.

Hole 18 - 447 yards, par 4: One of the finest finishing holes in golf, the 18th at Oakland Hills retained its rugged reputation in the 1985 U.S. Open when it recorded the fewest pars and the most double-bogeys. The dogleg right is protected by three bunkers on the right as well as by bunkers and out-of-bounds on the left. The second shot is played to a slightly elevated green protected by deep bunkers in front. The shallow green requires a high shot to hold the putting surface, which features a large humpback running from the back middle and flattening out toward the front. Any ball on the opposite side of the hole will make two-putting a tough task
