Hunter safety

Two hunter safety classes are being sponsored by the Canton Police Department and the Department of Natural Resources.

The first two-session class is Oct. 13 and Oct. 20, followed by the second two sessions on Nov. 3 and Nov. 10. The classes run from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. and attendance is mandatory both days of the same

DNR regulations require that all first-time hunting license buyers born after Jan. 1, 1960, complete a hunter safety course before getting their licenses.

The program is for anyone 12 years old or older.

No reservations will be taken. The classes will be filled on a firstcome, first-served basis and will be limited to 100 people Participants are asked to bring a bag lunch and a pencil. There is no charge for the classes.

Call Canton police information officer Pat Nemecek, at 397-5344.

Crime and punishment

Macomb County Prosecutor Carl Marlinga will be the guest speaker at the next Canton Economic Club meeting at noon Wednesday, Oct. 16, at Geneva Presbyterian Church

Marlinga has been at the center of notorious cases recently, including the case involving the beating death of Alex Stachura.

Marlinga announced last week that the youths who beat Stachura would be charged as adults.

Halloween party

Services has begun registration for its annual Halloween parties for Canton children ages 12 and under which will be Saturday, Oct. 26, at the Canton Recreation Center.

The party for ages 3-7 will be 9:30-10:30 a.m.; ages 3-12, 10:45-11:45 a.m.

The parties are free and will feature cartoons, games, refreshments and prizes. Children should come in costume

"Canton really doesn't have any-thing in place to meet the needs of the poor," said Rev. Bill Myers, pastor of Faith Moravian Church.

The Plymouth United Way coverage does not include Canton. Township residents are referred to Southeastern Michigan United Way agencies in Livonia and Dearborn.

Canton officials don't have a preference of which agency provides the services, as long as it's provided in Canton.

Myers tells a story about a widow in his congregation who has three children and is seriously ill. One of her children is having behavioral Officials call services shaky said, because another service is so

CANTON RESIDENTS can use Plymouth Family Services on a full fee basis, $60 a session, but services are not available on a sliding fee scale based on family size and income. That lower rate is only avail-

The reason for that is that we receive money from the Plymouth Community United Way. The idea is that Canton does not officially participate in the Plymouth Community United Way Fund drive," said David Breeden, Plymouth Family Services

"It's always been a dilemma for us, because the Plymouth and Canton communities blend in so many ways including the school system."

Breeden said he would like to solve the dilemma.

"We would love to somehow be more available to the people of Canton," he said. "It seems a naturalfamily service."

The answer, he said, lies in an officially recognized fund drive that includes Canton.

I welcome an open dialogue that might contribute to a resolution.

PLYMOUTH FAMILY Services offers a support group for single Canton parents. The free program is provided from money donated by the Canton Community - Foundation, which provides human services for people in need and sponsors art and community programs.

'Canton is an island of which no services are available in time of need," said Bill Joyner of Canton

A teacher, or any other employee in Canton who donates to the United Way, can contribute to the fund thinking it would help Canton-residents, he said.

Joyner and Myers-are suggesting that people who make such dona-tions designate that the money should be used for Canton residents They also noted that Canton foundation organizers are researching how the organization can fund human services needs. Marie Marrow, director of the Plymouth Community United Way, said that years ago Canton officials chose to be part of the United Way of Learning for Everyone in Canton used just the right keys to unlock learning problems for Plymouth resident Joyce Johnson's two daughters.

Johnson turned to John Tenbusch's new business this summer rather than hire a tutor for her 12-year-old daughter, Jenny Johnson said she was happy with the results, especially after learning that Jenny increased her reading level two grades.

"Mainly they were talking about increasing her confidence level. Johnson said adding that her daughter is more relaxed about taking tests.

Confidence building is one of the main ingredients at the Canton Center Road business.

About 65 percent of the pro-gram is the Wehrli Performance Training Program, Tenbusch said adding that the remaining 35 percent is a combination of building confidence and ability

THE PROGRAM worked so well with Jenny, Johnson said, that she decided to enroll her other daughter, Kelly, who is attending Schoolcraft College. Kelly didn't like taking tests, either.

"I'm going to get Jenny back in as soon as Kelly is done so we can continue her growth," Johnson said. "She is at her grade level, but I think she could use a little

Reader backs 'fake' clinics

To the editor:

I read with great interest the article on the front page of the paper concerning "fake" abortion clinics, Sept. 23. As I read through the article, I couldn't help but notice that all of the allegations against these "clines" were made by Tracy O'Connor, who just happens to be employed by Northland Family Planning clinic I am quite familiar with what types of services AAA Crisis Pregnancy Center offers. You see, I've donated small amounts of money to centers like this, along with a baby crib that my last born outgrew. I am aware that just as the Yellow Pages state, AAA Crisis Pregnancy Center is an "abortion alternative." I strongly urge you to saunter into one of these pregnancy centers to see for yourself what they offer. My experience is that they will offer women a free pregnancy test, a listening ear, a movie to show what the procedure of abortion really is like in regards to the fetus, and offer "alternatives" (just as the ads state).

Please tell me, is there anything "false" and "misleading" or "confusing" in that? If I were 16 and pregnant and confused about my future, in a hurry to "fix" my problem, I

Local representatives, senators vote to extend jobless benefits

Here's how Observer & Eccentric area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes for weeks ending Sept. 20 and Sept. 27. HOUSE

TO EXTEND JOBLESS BENE-FITS - By a vote of 283 for and 125 against, the House approved up to 20 weeks of additional unemployment benefits for those who have used up their initial allotment of at least 26 weeks. The bill (HR 3040), which was sent to the Senate, has a price tag of $6.3 billion.

Similar legislation died in August when President George Bush withheld the emergency declaration needed to exempt it from the "pay-as-you-go" discipline of federal budget law. The new bill makes the emergency automatic when the measure is signed into law. The House (below) rejected an amendment raising taxes to pay for the extended benefits.

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods, William Ford, D-Taylor, and Sander Levin, D-Southfield.

Voting no was William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

TO PAY FOR JOBLESS BENE-FITS: By a vote of 65 for and 341 against, the House rejected an amendment to pay for the $6.3 billion jobless benefits measure (above) by a tax increase if President Bush fails to declare the expenditure exempt from the 1990 budget act.

ADDED JOBLESS BENEFITS By a vote of 69 for and 30 against, the Senate sent to conference with the House a bill (S 1722) providing up to 20 additional weeks of jobless checks to those who have used up their initial allotment of at least 26 weeks. The one-shot measure would be in effect for less than a year, with its $6.2 billion cost added to the deficit. The White House called the Democratic-drafted bill veto bait and supported a pay-as-you-go GOP alternative (below).

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Michigan senators Carl Levin, D. and Donald Riegle, D, both voted GOP JOBLESS BILL - By a vote of 57 for and 42 against, the Senate nixed a Republican alternative to S 1722 (above) providing up to 10 additional weeks of jobless checks at a one-time cost of $2.4 billion. Rather than increase the deficit as would the Democratic bill, the GOP offering was to have been financed by proceeds from the government tightening student loan collections and auctioning certain radio frequencies.

A yes vote opposed the GOP plan for extended jobless benefits. Levin and Riegle voted yes

TO FUND B-2 BOMBER - By a vote of 51 for and 48 against, the Senate tabled (killed) an amendment to eliminate B-2 bomber funding from the fiscal 1992 defense appropriations bill (IR 2521). The vote preserved $3.2 billion to build four B-2s in addition to the 15 already au-

Canton's impressive effort beats Salem

Sara Larson was a member of Canton's second-place medley relay team. There weren't many events the Chiefs didn't win as they defeated Salem in the dual meet.

By Dan O'Mear

Plymouth Canton coach Hooker Wellman figured the Chiefs had a pretty good team in girls swimming this year, but he didn't realize how good until Thursday night.

"I found out they're a lot better than I thought," Wellman said after Canton defeated visiting Plymouth
Salem 105-81 to remain unbeaten after three dual meets.

"I knew by the end of the season we would be good, but it's amazing what the Salem meet brings out. Now our kids know what a good team they have."

After seeing enhanced performances from a number of swimmers, Wellman was even more optimistic about their chances as a team and individuals later this sea-

But he acknowledged he must restrain his own enthusiasm and not overtrain his swimmers.

"WE'RE GOING to have fun tonight and tomorrow, but then we have to get the kids back to good, hard work without getting them hurt," he said.

"When you have a meet like this, you can't wait to get them back in the pool and work them (so they will go faster and be ready to taper later). At the same time, you don't want to overwork them and lose them."

The Chiefs were led by Jill Mellis and Katie McWhirter with two individual wins apiece. Mellis also helped Canton win the 400-yard freestyle relay, and Amy Kodrik set a school record in diving with 247.45 points.

Mellis defeated Candi Bosse of Salem in the individual medley (2:20.91) and the butterfly (1:01.90), dropping four and two seconds off her respective best times. Bosse went 2:23.31 and 1:02.51, respective-

"There were a lot of real close races that I knew would be close," Wellman said. "Bosse is a senior and one of their hardest working kids. That gave Jill Mellis and our whole team confidence."

"We swam better in spots, and we swam worse in spots," Olson said. "Those were two real good swims for Candi, but Miss Mellis was just a little faster."

MELLIS, WHO qualified for state in the butterfly, was the leadoff person on the 400 relay. Individual winners Janet Roberts and Jeni Cooper combined with Susan Pritchard and Mellis to win that race in 3.55.52.

"I figured they would beat us in the 200 medley and 200 freestyle (relays), and I thought we could beat them in the 400 free," Wellman said.
"We had to stay within two points (8-6 in both relays), and I thought we could make up enough in other events."

events."

McWhirter won the 200 freestyle (2:07.17) and the '500 freestyle (5:43.15), Cooper the 100 freestyle (57.21) and Roberts the backstroke (1:07.04).

Wellman said the fact it was only Canton's fourth meet (third dual) and the seventh (fifth dual) for Salem was an advantage for the Chiefs. Furthermore, Wellman compiles the list of top times and had access to that much more information about the Books, he said.

"By and large, I can tell you what 90 percent of his kids are likely to do, so it's not a great excuse," Salem coach Chuck Olson said. "They swam well in (their dual with North Farmington), and they swam even better

"We like to swim good competition, so we're going to keep Canton on our schedule for another year," he said.

Western Lakes Activities Association and 3-2 overall Salem won its second straight, ending a three-game win streak by the Falcons.

Farmington's plan was to keep the Rocks from Farmington's plan was to keep the Rocks from putting the ball in Hister's hands and force Zantop to run instead. That worked well in the first half as Zantop either gave the ball to Burke or ran himself.

Salem eventually solved the dilemma, Hister broke loose for 115 yards on 16 carries and the Rocks used their grind-it-out offense to put distance between them and Farmington.

"THEY WEREN'T going to let us pitch to (Hister) on the option," Salem coach Tom Moshimer said. "They came at us bent on stopfootball ping Leon from running the ball and destroying our reads in the triple option.

"The only way we could get it to him was to toss it on the quick pitch. We made a couple minor blocking changes. Once we narrowed it down to what we were going to do, then we just ran 3-4 different plays and we executed them."

All three backs had big games, Zantop rushing for 109 yards on 17 attempts and Burke 83 on 20 carries. Hister dashed 35 yards to score, and the other three rushing TDs were 4-yard runs.

Salem's ball-control offense is reflected by the fact it ran 71 plays to 46 for the Falcons. Salem had drives of 12, 17, eight and 12 plays leading to its first four TDs and a 27-15 lead.

"A good punishing ground game will wear down

"A good punishing ground game will wear down people," Moshimer said. "If you're getting 3-4 yards a crack, the defense is staying on the field and the down chains keep moving, that takes a lot out of (an opposing team)."

Despite the 20-point difference and allowing Salem to control the ball, the Falcons played well overall, but coach Bernie Call wasn't content with a moral victory.

"WE THOUGHT we could make it a lot closer," he said. "Take away the (Zantop TD) pass and we're going in leading 7-6 at halftime.

"To come over here and beat them after a big win last week (over Westland John Glenn) would have been asking a lot, but we believed we could beat them. We're going to come back, and we're going to knock somebody off."

Salem scored first with 0:31 left in the first quarter, but the Rocks missed the extra-point kick and watched Farmington's Chris Marting (113 yards on 11 carries) return the kickoff 78 yards for a TD and 7-6 lead after Mike Giese converted the PAT.

The Rocks began a drive at their 9-yard line midway in the second quarter, but it looked as if time would run out and the Falcons would lead at halftime, especially after an illegal procedure penalty put Salem back on the Farmington 31.

But Zantop threw a fourth-down pass to Pat Martinez, who reached out to catch the ball between two defenders as he crossed the goal line with 50 remaining. Burke ran for two points and Salem led 14-7.

Patriots take OT win from Canton

By Brad Emons staff writer

Livonia Franklin rolled the dice for the second straight week, but this time the numbers were more favorable.

The Patriots, minus their starting quarterback, delighted their homecoming crowd with a 6-3 overtime victory over a stunned Plymouth

Jason Facione, a 6-foot-2, 185-pound senior, crashed in from the 1 on fourth down to beat the Chiefs.

It was only a week earlier that the Patriots were stopped on fourthand-1 in a 23-16 OT loss at Northville. (The Patriots, who squandered a 16-point fourth quarter lead in that game, also lost starting QB David Little to a shoulder injury.)

Facione, who normally plays tight end, lined up deep in the backfield during OT, carrying the ball down to the 2 on an 8-yard run.

Fullback Aaron Shakarian (92 yards on 15 carries) was then thrown for a 1-yard loss and Facione was met just short of the goal line on third down.

"They (the officials) my knee was down, but I told coach (Armand Vigna) I could get it in right over Shakarian, or give it to Shakarian and let me block because he was running great," Facione said. "I just took on the linebacker inside."

Salem boys win key Lakes dual

The Plymouth Salem boys cross country team took a big step toward winning its third straight Lakes Division title in boys cross country Thursday

The Rocks defeated perennial contender Farmington 26-31 at Cass Benton Park and ran their record to 3-0 in their half of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Salem, 4-0 overall, has division duals remaining against Livonia Stevenson this week and Walled Lake Central on Thursday, Oct. 17. The Falcons are 3-1 in the division and 3-2 overall.

"The loss cost us the division title, no question about it," Farmington coach Jerry Young said. The Falcons have Westland John Glenn remaining as their only Lakes opponent.

Things looked good early for Farmington as Dave-Clinard crossed the finish line first in 17:10. Teammate Mario Nordini followed in second place at 17:13.

But Tom May, Farmingon's third top runner, had to pull out of the race with an ankle injury. The result was the next four finishers were all from with an ankle injury. The result was the next four finishers were all from Salem.

"It was a little tougher than we expected," Salem coach Geoff Baker said.

"We knew they had Clinard and we knew Mario was within our top five, but we didn't expect him to place second."

Senior Derek Cudini took third 17:32, and juniors Jon Mickevicius (17:53) and Justin Richardson (17:55) followed in fourth and fifth. Senior Jayson McDonald's time of 18:02 was good for sixth overall, and senior Steve Boudreau completed the Salem scoring with an 18:17 time and eighth-place finish.

"That was a nice pack, but the times still have to be coming down together," Baker said.

Farmington's John O'Dell (18:15) broke up the string of Salem finishers with his seventh-place finish, but the Rocks took the next two places with Boudreau and Matt Cifaldi (18:32).

Farmington's John Duff finished 10th (18:48) and John Lane 11th (18:52). "If we had May, it may have made a difference," Young said. "We had three good runners today, but it takes five to win."

PLYMOUTH CANTON improved to 2-1 in the Western Division of the WLAA with a 15-47 victory over host Livonia Franklin at Nankin Mills Thursday. The Chiefs are 2-2 overall.

Canton freshman Casey Moothart was the top runne. with a first-place finish and time of 17:27. The Chiefs slammed the door on the whole when Dave Yack (17:29), Tim Czerniawski (17:32), Chris Burns (17:33) and Dave Washenko (17:55) cantured the next four places.

Washenko (17:55) captured the next four places.

Shawn McNamara (18:07) and Paul Chudyk (18:14) served as blockers and helped to break up the Franklin scorers, finishing seventh and ninth.

Coach praises unrated Rocks

By Dan O'Meara

Plymouth Salem has won its last four games in girls basketball, and North Farmington coach Lance Davis thinks it's time the Rocks got some recognition.

"The people who do the rankings, if they saw this game, would know Salem should be ranked in the state," said Davis after Salem defeated the visiting Raiders 59-23 Thursday.

The Rocks, who played a difficult pre-league schedule, are 1-0 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association, 3-0 in the WLAA and 5-4 overall. North is 0-1, 1-2 and 2-6.

Defending WLAA champion Salem is heading in the right direction, according to coach Fred Thomann. "If we continue to come in here and work hard, something good will happen," he said. "Our team is at the beginning stages of reaching its potential."

The Rocks, who were upset by North in a regular-season game last year, were determined to prevent a repeat and all but decided the issue with a 22-4 margin in the first quarter.

"THAT WAS one of the things we talked about before the game; we didn't want that to happen," Thomann said. "The kids did a nice job of applying themselves and working through this game."

Salem led 30-13 at halftime and outscored the Raiders 16-4 in the of her game-high 18 points in the first period and eight in the third. Emily Giuliani, another senior post player, got her 14 points in three quarters.

"Our inside players did a nice job of getting open, and we did a great job of delivering the ball to them," Thomann said. Cyndi Platter added eight points for Salem, which had a 27-7 advantage in field goals made. Karen Seremet scored 12 and Carey Perkins nine for the Raiders, who were 6-of-24 shooting free throws. "(The Rocks) ran the floor and did what they had to do to take control of the game," Davis said, "but I'm proud of my girls. In the past they would have backed down from Salem, but they didn't do that tonight...

"Obviously, we're not as talented as Salem, but it was a step in the right direction as far as intensity."

"I thought we came in ready to play and Salem executed very well. There were no gimme baskets. Salem did what it's capable of doing and earned its points."

Busy cooks: Don't stew over dinner

Invited some good friends over last weekend, and while on the phone extending the invite, was asked the usual "What are you. preparing?" When I responded 'stew." the phone went silent for what seemed to be forever. Let's face it, most folks don't go to a chef's house to slosh stew...

Recently however the stewing rage is resurfacing. Personally, l can't say I remember it sinking The Janes Gang-was raised on stew. Later on in cooking school stew was called ragout, paprikash and goulash. Now again, "stew" seems to be the proper colloquial term to identify a savory blend of potatoes, vegetables and the most tender meat you can sink your mouth

THINK ABOUT it what else can be made ahead, reheated mistreated and still come out tasting lovely? Most folks think that just because stew is so reliable that it doesn't belong on the tables of the food connoisseur To them I say, "Let them eat

Mama Janes used to get out the old pressure cooker and precook an English blade cut roast. She'd add a few vegetables and potatoes, and some of the best oread-soakin' gravy ever - a hearty meal was offered to all. Some nights we dined "fancy style" and served the stew over rice or noodles. THE FRENCH are noted for their excellence in stew making. Their process utilizes two main French ingredients that have fallen by the wayside in this day of microwaves and boxed cake mixes; namely, wine and time

While interesting herbs and spices, fresh vegetables, and the discreet use of wine can make a fabulous stew, the true success lies solely in the method of cooking. A stew that has boiled on high power with as much agitation as a washing machine will cook no faster than one gently urged on the simmer setting.

Everyone knows that boiled meat will prove to be tough and stringy, and the gravy will be muddy with the flavors "boiled

Always simmer with wine for several hours so that the true taste of the vino can "marry" the remaining flavors into a rich, happy family. Of course, other liquids can be used for braising. fresh vegetable juices

Now. I'm not talking crock-pot cookery here folks; however, such an electrical contraption is acceptable when you just can't get your hands on a big, old, heavy cast iron dutch oven. Le Creuset makes an affordable enameled cast iron dutch oven that not only makes the best stews, but can double for just about anything from a casserole to a soup pot.

IT IS recommended that the "skin" that forms on the top of pot while cooking be removed. Allowing a large pot to simmer for hours will not only produce this so-called "skin" but also will surface an oil or grease slick.

A gravy ladle or bent oversized kitchen spoon works best to remove this without the overmixing that could easily turn a tender pot of stew into barbecue helper. When it come to thickening, I personally don't feel the need to make everything as thick as 20W 50 motor oil. Some people like a substantial sauce and use a roux to Mama sufficed with dissolving flour in milk and whisking through a sieve so as not to get any lumps. I guess if it was truly necessary, I would thicken with some cooked, pureed vegetables or incorporate the silky rich taste of cream and egg yolks.

Whatever your preference fork-tender meat and vegetables in a luscious sauce can be an easy shment to a busy cook in the stewpot, if not in tics, the whole is often more than the sum of its parts.

Vodka, like whisky, is distilled from a fermented mash. It is made neutral in character, odor and taste by distilling to a very high proof, dijuices. The Screwdriver uses vodka with orange juice while the Bloody Mary incorporates tomato juice Traditionally, vodka was drunk straight, ice cold, in small glasses accompanied by sharp flavored appetizers like smoked fish and caviar.

AMERICANS HAVE also come to enjoy vodka straight, directly from the freezer, on the rocks or straight up in a chilled snifter. Premium vodka is for sipping, not quaffing. The best are clean, perfectly neutral spirits with an elevated viscosity that promotes a silky mouthfeel.

The following premium vodkas are listed in increasing order of our taste preference. Wyborowa (Veeba-roya, Polish) neutral aromas, thin mouthfeel, slightly alcoholic aftertaste; Stolichnaya (Russian) perfume and citrus zest aromas, clean, viscous, tastes like it smells: Tangueray Sterling (English) perfectly gant finish; Stolichnaya Cristall delicate lemon, citrus aromas with com-

New feature has ethnic flavor

first page of Taste we're introducing a new feature — "A Taste of . ." which spotlights the cuisine of an ethnic group.

People are hungry for news about the changes in the Soviet Union. To help satisfy reader appetites, we're serving up an appetizing sample of food from, the "Russian Soviet Federated Socialist Republic.'

A different ethnic group will be featured every month. In November, look for "A Taste of Malta."

In addition to information about food, the articles will list coming events, and ethnic organizations for people interested in rediscovering their roots. Suggestions are welcome, call me at 953-2105. If I'm away on assignment, my voice mail will answer for me. Don't hang up, leave a message.

AN OPEN sign lays face down on a table, waiting for a session with the bombarder, a 60,000-volt machine that removes impurities from the tube and creates a vacuum before either argon or neon gas is added. The bombarder also "excites" the gas, creating the recognizable neon effect.

Ostoin, a glass-blowing tube clinched between her eeth. "It's something different all the time." The 25-year-old Farmington resident's world is neon bright and rightly so. It's her job. Ostoin is, so to speak, Alternative Visions Neon of Redford, a small shop that specializes in neon signs and art.

"It turned out that I enjoyed it." After school, she spent two years at Unique Neon in Roseville, honing her skills. Once she began feeling dread not being able to do it," she struck out on her own, doing freelance work for a sign shop in Troy while getting her Redford shop in order.

'The best analogy I can think of is typing," she said, heating a glass tube in the blue flame that blackens a green grease pencil mark. "They can teach you where the keys are, but it's up to you to work up to speed." Without-missing a question, she pulls the tube from the flame and bends it, checking it against a heat-

He injects life into his words

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Chris Smither's craft has always been known among his songwriting peers. But a billboard with neon lights is needed to trumpet his talents to the general public.

His voice is resonant, conveying a variety of blues-inspired emotion and reflective timber. Smither's gen ius, though, lies in the seemingly effortless finger-picking style of gui-

His lyrics are injected with life amid the jaunty inflections supplied by guitar. The words to his songs almost seem to bounce when Smither performs.

"I do like to think the two (guitar and lyrics) are well mixed," said Smither, who performs Saturday, Oct. 12, at Birmingham Unitarian Church as part of the La Casa Folk Music Series. "Guitar comes easier to me. I usually have the guitar orchestration down well before the lyrics . . . I agonize over the lyrics for the most part.

"In a way, the guitar is a smooth way to lure you into that, sort of a way to slip you into the song. In a way, the songs sound similar in the beginning . . . It's a seduction.'

IN ADDITION to folk audiences around the country. Smither's music has seduced people like Bonnie Raitt who recorded both "Love You Like a Man" and "I Feel the Same." He's garnered respect mainly through the grassroots efforts of live performances and from his peers.

The arduous songwriting process Smither endures could help explain a recording career that has only included five albums since 1970. He also did an album that was never re-

His latest LP. "Another Way to Find You," (Flying Fish) was recorded in the studio with a live audience.

The 18-song effort reveals all the hallmarks of Smither's ability to convey contradiction and desolation so eloquently. "A Song for Susan" is one of the most wrought with emotion, dedicated to his common-law wife Susan Metzger who died two

Smither pours out his soul in the tender acoustic number, chronicling all of its confusion and disillusionment. The first few verses of the number were written when he first met her. The latter part was penned six months after her death

The concluding lyrics leave a lump in a person's throat.

I believe in plenty of nothing/ Nothing is always in this room, but I don't need nothing/I've got nothing here without you.

Many of Smither's numbers are from personal experiences. Early in his career, he moved from New Orleans to the brimming folk scene on

The transplanted Southern singer stayed in touch with his roots, even if he didn't realize it.

"IT'S ONLY recently that I became aware of how much New Orleans has affected me," he said. "I always had people tell me before they could hear it in my work.

"I think it's been in the last four or ive years. New Orleans music and musicians have received so much attention recently. I listen to the music like the Subdudes and say, 'Yeah, that's the way to do it."

On his next album, Smither said he'd like to work with rhythm section in order to develop a bigger "I would like to do an acoustic album that will make me sound 10 feet tall."

Also, like, many singer/ songwriters, Smither wouldn't mind a little more in the way of commercial success. A major label deal would help in that pursuit, but he's

House of Freaks add 2 occupants

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Then there were four.

Of course, this tried-and-true formula is hardly a milestone in the annals of rock'n'roll. But this is the House of Freaks we're talking about

The Richmond, Va., outfit made a symphony of racket with just a gui-tarist and a drummer and gathered a legion of followers along the way.

Those familiar with the band know guitarist/vocalist Bryan Harvey and percussionist Johnny Hott have never been too content with anything for any extended period of time.

And five years of just being a twosome grew kind of gruelsome.

"It almost became a parody," said Harvey, who's group rolls into Industry in Pontiac Thursday, Oct. 10, to support of their major label release debut, "Cakewalk" (Giant). "We felt that (being a two-man band) than the music. We'd hear things like, 'Oh, you're not bad for a two-man

Rest assured, though, the House of Freaks didn't add guitarist Steve McCarthey, formerly of the Long Ryders, and bassist Bob Rupe, formerly of the Silos, just because of a few off-handed remarks made by members of the record-buying public. This outfit has been more about sound manipulation than commercial capitulation.

Evidenced by three cracking LPs, two of which were distributed by Rhino Records "Monkey on a Chain Gang" and "Tantilla." And, of course, the recently released "Cakewalk" on the Warner Bros. subsidiary Giant.

BOREDOM HAS always been the catalyst for Harvey and Hott, who attack all the previously held theories of what a rock'n'roll band should be. Using an odd variety of percussion - in this case a gear shift and garbage can lids - along with quirky rhythms, House of Freaks present an aural plethora of musical styles such as rock, folk, blues and country.

As a duo, the House of Freaks could sound bigger than life. But 'Cakewalk' realizes the full potential of a musical foundation laid five years ago when Harvey and Hott moved to Los Angeles and began kicking up a ruckus.

New members McCarthey and Rupe, both from Richmond, have helped make that possible. You definitely sort of fall into the four-man band cliche," Harvey said. Now we know we can take it down to the two-man thing. We have a lot more range this way

In the process, House of Freaks veered away from a growing trend of two-member bands with Flat Duo Jets, Chickasaw Mudd Puppies and Timbuk 3. Though Timbuk 3 has forsaken their boom box and is touring as a foursome.

'Oddly enough, all these bands are different," Harvey said. "Maybe you have to be really imaginative when there's only two of you. Such could be said for House of Freaks. Banter can be heard between members between cuts on

'Catwalk' and the various noises alone makes one feel they've accidentally walked into a basement recording session. Even a Richmond telephone directory was used, creating a sound by flipping pages ("They have a different sound than a New York phone book. There's more of a slap than a

THE REINS haven't tightened with the band signing to Warner Bros label. "They just think of us as a bunch of weird guys," Harvey said.

The band bypassed any pre-production before going into the studio for its major label debut. Harvey and Hott selected 14 songs and picked out what sounded best, using production talents of Dennis Herring (Camper Van Beethoven, Timbuk 3 and Throwing Muses).

All of which kept things interest-ing while recording. Restless energy inspires the band and Harvey can't fathom a day when there won't be enough of that around. When I'm really fed up with it,

I'd probably go back to school and teach history," he said. "I think why teach history, we keep going is it's like driving on a country road and you want to see what's around the corner."

House of Freaks will open for School of Fish Thursday, Oct. 10. at Industry, 15 S. Saginaw, Pontiac. For information, call 334-1999.

Bryan Harvey and Johnny Hott, who founded the House of Freaks five years ago, decided to add guitarist Steve McCarthey and bassist Bob Rupe to their lineup.

'A Woman Named Jackie' is a bad call for NBC

A compelling life becomes TV pulp By Suranne Gill

October 7-October 13

"A Woman Named Jackie?" "A Fish Called Wanda?" A book and movie of those titles, respectively. wre products of the late 1980s. The latter was intended as a farce; the former has become one.

With baseball playoffs the sole province of CBS. NBC executives consider October the optimum time to offer counterprogramming for women Translation: Here come the lives of the luscious and tawdry.

First up is a six-hour miniseries about Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis. Based on C. David Heymann's book, "A Woman Named Jackie" airs over three nights beginning Sunday, Oct. 13.

Like kids playing dress-up, TVmoviemakers just can't seem to resist a chance to restage a glamorous or tragic moment from the canon of real life. A favorite subject, of course, is the Kennedy family.

If we didn't know they were real, it would be easy to believe they had sprung fully formed from the mind of Judith Krantz or Danielle Steel. Their saga spans the 20th century and includes the key elements of money, ambition, heroism, adultery, politics and premature death. It takes place in glittering locales, and there are enough characters for a soap opera.

But we do know they're real, and there is still a majority of viewers (albeit a shrinking majority) who remember the original Kennedys and their times.

Then

Twenty-eight-year-old Roma Downey, born in Northern Ireland in the year John Kennedy died, can be forgien for the miscalculation of taking the title role in "A Woman Named Jackie." It is harder to overlook the bad judgment of executive producer Lester Persky ("Poor Little Rich Girl. The Barbara Hutton Story"), who cast an actress of insufficient range for the part and allows several important narrative errors and omissions.

A primary irritation is Downey's failure to age past 30. Even as a 59year-old grandmother-to-be, Jackie looks more liker her son's date than a mature woman Scenes involving the deaths of Marilyn Monroe and John F. Kennedy (both in part two) actually border on the obscene. Monroe is, as usual, a pathetic sex object for the voyeuristic camera. Kennedy, on the other hand, seems to have died of a flesh wound. With irresponsible callousness. Persky and director Larry Peerce actually give us shots of actor Stephen Collins' head-intactafter the shooting.

Compensations are few in "A Woman Named Jackie"-even Downev's 170 costume changes eventually lose their appeal.

William Devane, in a scenerychewing role as "Black Jack" Bouvier, has one fine speech in which he gives his young daughter a pen talk that must last her the rest of her life. Collins gives a respectable reading in the almost unmanageable role of John F. Kennedy. and Josef Sommer is believable as the machinating Joe Kennedy. Billionaire Aristotle Onassis is almost sympathetic in the hands of actor Joss Ackland ("Shadowlands," "Lethal Weapon 2"), who politely refuses to steal scenes from Miss

Take us out to the ball game CBS.

Roma Downey ("The 100 Lives of Black Jack Savage") stars as Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis in the three-part NBC miniseries "A Woman Named Jackie." beginning Sunday, Oct. 13. William Devane. Stephen Collins and Joss Ackland also star

NBC is Notre Dame's unive

best recruiting tool

By Steve Paschal

When executives at NBC Sports made the decision to bring regular-season college football back to the network after 26 years, they decided to do things in a big way. And they did, signing an exclusive five-year agreement to broadcast all "Fighting Irish" home games.

Who can blame executive producer
Terry O'Neil, himself a Notre Dame alumnus, for acting giddy about the deal? After all, five of the top six all-time highest rated college football games involved Notre Dame. Over the last three seasons, TV audiences for Notre Dame games have been 52 percent higher than the average for college football telecasts, and, in the last decade, Notre Dame has played in the three highest rated college games.

The partnership between the university and the television network was forged in a struggle involving the College Football Association and a court battle between the NCAA and the universities of Georgia and Oklahoma over rights to negotiate television deals. But, by taking advantage of the situation, NBC and Notre Dame have set what could be a dangerous trend in college football recruiting.

In making a major financial commitment to one school, NBC's fortunes have become irrevocably linked to the success of that school's football program. Pandora's Box is open.

Brooklynites are pleased with CBS' series Brooklyn Bridge. So pleased, in fact, the president of the borough of Brooklyn, N.Y., Howard Golden, has awarded the show's creator and producer, Gary David Goldberg, a special citation. Goldberg is - surprise - himself from Brooklyn.

The Commitments already has another commitment. The Snapper, a sequel to the critically acclaimed film about working-class Irish youth, is already in the works.

Who says you can't go back? Scenic Livingston, Mont., is the setting for a modern-day western called Keep the Change, being filmed by TNT. William Peterson (Long Gone, Hard Promises) stars as Joe Starting, a contemporary cowboy straddling the fence between the past and and the present. Emotionally and professionally adrift, Starling returns to his boyhood home of Montana, where he lets his life move toward the past rather than the future. No airdate has been set for Keep the Change.

A Seattle-based seafood restaurant is back on the air with its "Dances With Clams" commercial, ignoring lawsuit threats from Orion Pictures, according to The Hollywood Reporter. The Ivars Inc. ad is a spoof of Keven Costner's Oscar-winning film "Dances With Wolves", and features Norwegians on horseback watching a Costner look-alike dancewith giant clams.

The company pulled the spot off the air in April after the movie's distributor threatened to sue, but fans of the commercial flooded Ivars with phone calls and letters asking for its return. After that, "we just got more nerve," says Ivars' President Scott Kingdon. Costner himself siad he liked the commercial, wondered why it was pulled and even asked for a copy.
