The Canton Connection

Tax abatement

American Yazaki has been granted a 50 percent tax abatement for eight years on a soon-to-be completed facility on Market Street allowing for expansion of their existing facility. The Canton board of trustees recently approved the tax break.

Canton's largest manufacturing facility on Warren and Haggerty roads has operated since 1985.

Veteran's memorial

Donations are needed for Canton Veterans Memorial, which will honor all veterans from all wars.

It will be erected on township hall property.

Individuals and organizations that would like to work on fund-raising project should contact: John Spencer, at 397-5421 or Tim LaGrow, at 981-2848.

P.O. Box 871025, Canton, 48187.

The granite alone is $30,000 and the total cost of the memorial is estimated at between $50,000-$60,000.

No parking

No parking signs from 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. from Monday through Friday will be erected in Sunflower subdivision.

The board of trustees approved the signs after residents complained of problems with juveniles parking in the area and creating a parking problem with residents.

The signs will go up on Admiralty between Gainsborough and Spinning Wheel and on Embassy from Brunswick to existing signs just north of Plum Hollow.

Dice roll

The Canton Chamber wants a gaming license, so the board of trustees, officially recognized the chamber as a non-profit organization.

Warren paving

The paving of Warren Road east of I-275 is expected to be complete, with the road open to traffic, within four weeks. Before the road is re-opened, there will also be a traffic signal installed at Warren and Haggerty roads.

Out of danger

Peace Corps volunteer Gillian Lyon of Plymouth was completing her three-month training earlier this month in the African country of Zaire when violent political unrest in the country moved the U.S. government to remove Peace Corps volunteers, her mother Lynn reported.

Gillian, 25, a Plymouth Salem High graduate, soon found herself in a first-class hotel in nearby Brundi as Peace Corps officials decided where to assign her. She's now serving in Mauritania in northwest Africa, her mother reports.

Winning slogan

Lisa Stevens of Plymouth Township was recently awarded a gift certificate as she was named winner of a contest to come up with a slogan telling the public not to put plastic container lids in recycling bins. The slogan: "Lids in the trash or it will cost you cash."

Racist newspapers distributed

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Shortly after one-time Ku Klux Klan grand wizard David Duke placed second in the Lousiana primary race for governor, a newspaper packed with racial slurs was delivered in Canton.

And some residents were infuriated.

Mary Sidick, who lives in Fellows Creek subdivision, said her neighborhood was flooded with, "Racial Loyalty" newspapers.

"THE PEOPLE I spoke with said they thought it belonged in the rubbish," she said. "I've lived here 15 years and it was the first time we ever got something like this. We are multi-cultural and multi-ethnic. We are a rainbow subdivision."

Pat Ward, Fellows Creek homeowners association president, said she received about 10 calls from residents complaining about the paper.

"Most of the people were just furious about it," she added.

Sidick noted that it's hard to find out whose behind the publication.

"No one I talked to actually saw the delivery," Sidick said.

A Warren post office box number and telephone are printed at the top of the paper. A taped message indicates the only way you can contact the group is by writing.

The beginning of the taped messages last week said: "Victory, victory, victory, . . . " which apparently refers to Duke's election race.

Another phone number is a "hotline" for racial jokes.

A logo on the masthead said: "Dedicated to the Survival, Expansion and Advancement of the White Race." Later in the paper, Hitler is quoted on his views of man and nature.

Homosexuals, Jewish people, blacks and other ethnic groups are attacked in the paper and on the joke line.

A short random Observer survey of Canton residents showed disdain for the paper.

RICHARD CANTIN said he was dismayed.

"I thought it was really ridiculous that they would pass it around the neighborhood. I don't know why it would be delivered around this neighborhood. There are a few black people living in the subdivision, and I felt bad for those people.

"We're not prejudice people. We live next door to a black couple and my wife wanted to take it off their porch."

Mary Smith, of Whittier Street, said she and her husband read a couple of lines and were turned off.

"That was enough for us to pitch it," she said. "This neighborhood is full of different nationalities. I think that it's pretty bad that people have to write that kind of stuff about different nationalities and say that they don't belong in this country."

Lisa Thomas didn't even read a couple of lines.

"I saw the title and threw it in the garbage, she said adding that it upset her.

"I see no reason for that. I work in an integrated school," Thomas said adding that she doesn't appreciate the message the paper gives to children or adults.

Canton police information officer Pat Nemecek said the paper and others like it surface periodically.

"It usually feeds out of the high school," he said. "It's a very limited faction."

Schools get into Halloween spirit

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Parents, teachers and principals in Plymouth-Canton won't recognize their own kids Thursday.

Disguised as Ninja Turtles, ghosts and goblins, witches, werewolves and Little Mermaids, they'll invade their homes, schools and streets in search of Halloween fun and treats.

HERE'S A ROUNDUP of what's planned at elementary schools throughout the district on Oct. 31:

- At Allen, there'll be a parade in and around the school at 2 p.m. Thursday, featuring the whole student body in costume.

Allen's PTO is sponsoring a Halloween skating party from 6:30 p.m. - 8:30 p.m. at the Skatin' Station Tuesday, Oct. 29. Admission is $2. For more information, call 451-6500.

- At Bird, students will stage a Halloween play and a musical entitled "The Little Ghost" Halloween morning. The annual school and neighborhood parade will begin at 1 p.m., proceeding through the neighborhood and past Tonquish Creek Manor where Tonquish residents will be outside awaiting the big show.

Remember safety, police say

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Halloween's meant to be a fun time for kids, but it's also a good idea to give some thought to safety.

"The way society is today, you have to watch more carefully," said Officer Ron Kaminski of the city of Plymouth Police Department.

He and other police officers want kids to have fun this week celebrating Halloween, but to do so safely. They have several suggestions for trick or treaters and their parents.

"Try to discard masks if possible and that's of course because of the vision," Kaminski said. Face paint or makeup's a better choice, as it means a child's ability to see won't be reduced.

"Urge the children to use the sidewalks if they're available and stay out of the street," he said.

IT'S A GOOD idea for trick or treaters to carry a flashlight, as doing so makes them more visible and makes it easier for kids to spot obstacles. Putting reflective tape on a dark costume makes a child more visible to passing motorists, Kaminski said.

"They should have a planned route set when they leave the house," said Officer Pat Nemecek of the Canton Department of Public Safety.

It's best to stay in familiar neighborhoods close to home. Nemecek recommends that children be accompanied by a parent or by a responsible older child.

Other Halloween safety tips include:

- If masks are worn, eye holes should be large enough to that children can see clearly.

Great Pumpkin Caper in store

If you're a kid who likes Halloween, Canton is the place to be this week.

Several elementary schools in the area plan Halloween parades at about 1 p.m. Thursday. They include Bird, Smith and Gallimore schools.

Also, a Halloween carnival will be held at Field Elementary School from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Halloween Night. Carnival type games and candy are geared toward children 3-10. The evening is an alternative to door-to-door trick or treating.

Field is on Haggerty Road between Cherry Hill and Palmer roads. Food and drinks are available. For more information call, Canton Community Church, 397-5863.

IN DOWNTOWN PLYMOUTH, several events organized by the chamber of commerce and billed under the heading "The Great Pumpkin Caper" opened Sunday.

Parties for costumed kids 3 to 12 years old were yesterday at the Canton recreation building.

County expects cash from softball tourney

By Diane Gale

A pitch by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara won Canton the nod to host a senior softball tournament next year.

The Canton Softball Center will host the National Softball Championship that's expected to bring roughly 4,000 players and sideliners from around the U.S. and Canada.

And while they're here, county officials are predicting that they'll leave $3 million in their dust.

McNamara won approval for the September tournament from the Senior's Softball World Series Incorporated.

Beyond the economic boost, a county spokesman said the tournament is also great for the county's image.

"Four thousand people will be coming from across the country and Canada to have a great time," the spokesperson said.

LAST YEAR, 80 teams from 25 states and three Canadian provinces played in the world series held in Greensboro, N.C.

Currently, there are more than 7,000 registered players in Seniors Softball World Series, Inc.

"This shows how much senior softball has grown," said Diane Neihengen, Canton senior citizen director.

Locally, Neighengen said, Canton's senior softball leagues have grown in popularity, too.

The township has two men's teams, one for players 55 and older and the other for players 65 and older; one woman's team and one co-ed team.

Canton's men's league has stepped into the international arena by playing teams from Windsor.

"All of our teams are looking forward to tournament next year and it's an honor to have it in our community," Neihengen said.

For more information about joining a senior softball team, call 397-5444.

Area schools plan Halloween fun

● At Eriksson, there'll be a school-wide parade featuring costumed creatures in grades K-5 around the school grounds starting at 1:15.

● At Farrand, there'll be a Halloween parade at 2:15. Students will march around the school, across the streeet and back before attending parties in their classrooms.

● At Fiegel, where students last week ran a minimum of a mile in the Jack O Lantern Jog, there will be a Halloween parade through the neighborhood at 1:30 p.m.

● Field Elementary will host its Halloweeen parade at 2:30 p.m. The route wil be in and around the front of the building, with the last stop in their classrooms for Haloween treats.

● TEACHERS AT Gallimore — who will be in costume themselves — have planned classroom celebrations as well.

"I don't think there will be a room that won't be having a party," said Claudia Harrison of Gallimore. "Kids will enjoy it. It will be a fun Thursday."

The Halloween walk will begin at 1:15. Students will parade through the school, out the north doors, around the building, through the playground and briefly into the neighborhood.

"Parents who want to watch are encouraged to stand on the south sidewalk of the playground, or in the cul de sac on Tillotson," said Harrison.

Teachers at Gallimore — who will be in costume themselves — have planned classroom celebrations as well.

● At Hoben Elementary, the kindergartners will have their own parade at 10 a.m. The whole school will march in a parade set for 1:15.

● Hulsing's Halloween parade is planned for 1:45 p.m. Residents on Fleet and Arlington streets should best beware of aliens and goblins in the area about that time.

● Isbister's annual Halloween parade will be at 1:45 p.m. Students will proceed through the schoolyard into the neighborhood behind the school.

● At Miller, there will be individual classroom celebrations and a parade at 1:45. Movies including "Otherwise Known as Sheila the Great," "Harry the Dirty Dog," and "The Mole and the Car," an animated Hungarian tale, will be shown.

● At Smith, there'll be a parade along a few streets in the neighborhood beginning at 1:30 p.m. Classroom parties will follow the parade.

Police offer trick-or-treat safety tips

● Kids should cross streets at corners.

● Trick or treaters should travel in groups.

● Drivers need to be extra careful on Halloween.

● Parents should check candy before it's eaten by the child. Anything that looks suspicious or is unwrapped should be discarded, along with fresh fruit from an unknown source.

● If parents discover candy's been tampered with, they should report the problem to police immediately.

● Some residents choose to pass out non-food items, such as baseball cards or coins.

● Children and teens shouldn't stay out too late on Halloween.

CANDY CHECKS will be available at area McDonald's restaurants. McDonald's officials are working with the city of Plymouth Police Department and will offer a metal detector candy check 5-9 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 31, at McDonald's of Plymouth, 220 W. Ann Arbor Road.

Both McDonald's of Canton restaurants, 44900 Ford and 40241 Michigan Ave., will offer candy checks 6:30-9 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 31. McDonald's officials are working with Canton police officers and Canton Kiwanis Club members on the project.

"We've been getting a lot of calls from other communities that are no longer doing things like that," Nemecek said. The free service has been offered for a number of years in the Plymouth-Canton community and has been well-received.

Local police officers encourage parents to be aware of their children's whereabouts on Devil's Night, Wednesday, Oct. 30.

"We haven't had that much in the way of vandalism," said Kaminski, who teaches drug abuse prevention through the D.A.R.E. program at Smith Elementary School in Plymouth. His children who are 8 and 12 enjoy going out on Halloween.

Nemecek's children are 2 and 3, so they're a bit young to venture out too far on Halloween. He hasn't seen major problems on Devil's Night, but encourages residents to keep their lights on that night and on Halloween.

"We've had problems, but luckily they've been minor." Police patrols throughout the community will be increased for Devil's Night and Halloween, with a special emphasis on subdivisions, Nemecek said. That strong police presence helps to prevent major problems.

is ringed with more than 200 pumpkins — drew scores of kids and parents to the park.

The pumpkins will remain on display until 7 p.m. Wednesday, when winners of the carving contest will be announced.

Also Wednesday, a costume contest is scheduled for 5:30-6:30 p.m. Wednesday in Kellogg Park. Winners will be announced at 7 p.m.

But these events are just a warm up for the main event — trick or treating downtown 5:30-7 p.m. Wednesday.

"IT'S A WONDERFUL tradition," Toney said, adding the event is roughly seven years old. "I think it says a lot for the community."

It features kids in costume making the rounds of downtown businesses for treats, the day before Halloween.

Money donated to pay for the events is from First of America bank. Running the events this year are Steve Socha and Dick Gillis and members of the Plymouth Knights of Columbus.

Also, Omnicom is offering an alternative activity for children on Devil's Night, The cable company is providing four premimum channels to all subscribers from 4 p.m. until after midnight. Some of the features being shown that night include Red Wings Hockey, Peter Pan, PT109, Top Gun and Inside the NFL.

And at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 31, members of the First Baptist Church of Plymouth will form a large circle of cars in the parking lot. Children are invited to walk around the circle and receive treats.

Also Wednesday, a costume contest is scheduled for 5:30-6:30 p.m. in Kellogg Park.

At 7 p.m. everyone will go into the Fellowship Hall gym for games, refreshments and costume judging. Prizes will be awarded for the most original costumes portraying people or animals mentioned in the Bible.

And just in case you want to make sure there aren't metal objects, like pins, in your child's candy, Canton is putting on a free detection test at Canton's two McDonald's restaurants, at 44900 Ford Road and 40241 Michigan Avenue.

The program is sponsored by Canton police and the Canton Kiwanis. Candy will be run under a metal scanner free of charge.

Police also recommend that residents keep their lights on, especially on Devil's Night.

on the agenda

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education will meet at 7 p.m., Monday, Oct. 28 at the board office at 454 S. Harvey in Plymouth.

Set for 7 p.m. is an executive session to discuss a personnel matter. Roll call will be at 7:30 p.m. The superintendent's report will cover Public Act 25 and the P.A. 25 district-wide committees to be set up; state aid; schools of choice; announcements and the Schoolcraft College joint meeting.

There will also be various items requiring board action.

clarification

A story on the Plymouth-Canton school bond project and the two elementaries it will finance should have said that for one elementary, officials are considering sites in south Canton and northwest Plymouth Township, as well as a site on Joy Road between Beck and Ridge.

The second school will be built on Warren between Canton Center and Beck.

"The second site is really under investigation," said associate superintendent for business Ray Hoedel.

Farmers market to close as harvest season ends

Canton farmers have packed it up for another year.

The Canton Farmer's Market ended its season on Saturday and it the Plymouth farmer's market at The Gathering just off of Kellogg park opened for its last day of the season Saturday, Oct. 19.

Fran Toney, Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce executive director, said, "The farmer's market went very well — the vendors and farmers were very pleased this year."

AMONG SOME OF the more unique items offered this year were bonzai trees and peaches and cream muffins, to go with the usual assortment of nursery flowers, hanging and flowering plants, dry herbs, New York-style cheesecake, baked goods, and all kinds of farm produce.

The market is open from 7:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Saturdays from mid-May through mid-October. The market closes for just one Saturday, during the Plymouth Fall Festival.

"Rita Secord was the market master, she really did an excellent job this year," Toney said.

"We have our regulars," Toney said, who on some Saturdays included U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell.

"People really enjoy it, they buy a cup of coffee and spend time in the park," Toney added.

Of the vendors, she said, "We get most of the same people back year after year, it's like a family."

Joan Ciccone carries a box of mums to her car, after shopping at the Plymouth farmer's market, just off of Kellogg Park.

That family spirit was evidenced when after the city stopped commercial garbage pickup this year, vendors worked together "and they would leave it cleaner than when they came," Toney said.

Woman charged in drug bust

A Westland woman was arrested last week after police searched her apartment and found marijuana, cocaine and heroin, a police officer said Friday.

Linda Gross, 41, was arraigned Tuesday in Westland 18th District Court and charged with possession of marijuana with intent to deliver, possession of cocaine, and possession of heroin.

The apartment contained just small amounts of cocaine and heroin, Westland police Sgt. Michael Gould said, but police found two pounds of marijuana with a street value of $3,200.

GROSS HAS been scheduled for a preliminary examination in 18th District Court on Thursday. The hearing will determine whether she should face trial.

She has been released from the Wayne County jail. A $25,000 bond had been set.

Acting on tips from what Gould described as cooperative individuals, police obtained a search warrant and went to Gross' Venoy Pines Apartment in the Venoy-Warren Road area Oct. 21. She wasn't present during the search.

However, police arrested her after she returned to her apartment later that day.

Gross could face one to seven years for possession of marijuana with intent to deliver; one to 20 years for possession of cocaine; and

We want to know about your successful hunting season. Whether you bagged a buck or a doe with rifle or bow, give us a call to report the kill. We'll publish your name. Call us at The Observer at (313) 459-2700.

WE AT the Canton Observer have revived an old northern Michigan tradition, the community buck pole.

In northern towns, hunters annually bring their buck or doe to town to hang them on the pole for all to see.

We're also asking hunters to bring their deer to our office so we can take a picture.

Here's our list:

Jim Cosens, 36, of Canton, killed a deer Oct. 22 in the Mount Pleasant area.

Todd Getz, 21, of Canton, killed a six point buck on Oct. 13 near Baldwin.

For more information, call Jeff Counts, the editor, or Kevin Brown at 459-2700, between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Also, we'll take pictures of you and your deer during office hours. We're located at 744 Wing St., Plymouth.

crime watch

A man with a raspy low voice called Canton police last week and announced that a bomb would go off at 7:30 a.m.

"Our schools have done enough damage to our children," he told police. "You'll feel the first blast at 7:30 a.m."

Police reported that the call was a false alarm.

SUSPICIOUS PICTURE: A man who was picking up his mail at Marine and Annapolis Circle reported that a car passed by and a woman in the passenger seat jumped out and took a picture of him.

When the man asked what she was doing the car sped off.

He said he didn't recognize the woman and wanted to know who was taking the photo and why.

INSIDE THEFT: A mother on Heritage told police that she suspected her 21-year-old daughter of stealing $20,950 worth of jewelry.

AUTO BREAK-IN: A brown 1983 Chevrolet Citation was reportedly broken into last week.

A car phone, valued at $200 and a $50 radio were taken.

In another incident, a blue 1988 Ford Escort was reportedly broken into last week at Carriage Cove Apartments. A $50 pair of sunglasses were reported stolen.

RECYCLING BIN STOLEN: A recycling bin, valued at $5 to replace, was reported stolen from in front of a house on Ayrshire last week.

These are only a sample of the many reports that were recently filed with Canton police. For police and fire emergencies, call 9-1-1 and for business calls, dial 397-3000.

Girl, 12, fair after being struck by car

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Angela Lim, 12, of Canton was in fair condition with a broken leg Friday at Ann Arbor's St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after being struck by a car Wednesday morning near her school bus stop.

Angela, a seventh-grader at Central Middle School, was crossing Morton Taylor just south of Candlewood before her bus arrived when she was hit by a 1991 Ford passenger car. The vehicle was driven by John Sherman, 33, of Canton, who was not ticketed.

"She tried to get across when she shouldn't have gone across," said Canton Police Lt. Larry Stewart. "The officer indicated she just about made it across when she was hit on the right side. We got a lot of 911 calls from neighbors who heard the kids screaming and the screeching of tires."

SHERMAN WAS northbound on Morton Taylor. Angela, who lives on Candlewood, was crossing Morton Taylor eastbound and was struck when she walked in front of the vehicle, police said.

It was clear, dry and not yet light when the accident occurred at 7:35 a.m. Central students Mark Wolf, 13, Katie Foley, 11, and Matt Kapoint, 13, witnessed the accident.

'She tried to get across when she shouldn't have gone across.'
— Lt. Larry Stewart, Canton Police

Morton Taylor, a four-lane road that extends from Joy south to Warren in a residential area, is not heavily traveled.

Canton EMS transported Angela to St. Joe's. A hospital spokeswoman said Friday that she was in traction and will be in the hospital for at least six weeks.

Sherman, who was not speeding, was unhurt. His car received minor damage.

THE INCIDENT MARKED the 89th personal injury accident recorded this year in Canton.

Richard Egli, Plymouth-Canton schools' community relations director, said Thursday that Angela "seemed to be improved late last night (the day of the accident).

"They're not sure whether they will have to put a pin in the leg."

Egli said there was no crossing guard at the corner. There never are for middle school students, he said.

"We recognize that middle school kids are at a point in their development where they have no problems crossing the street. They're able usually to miss cars, or have cars miss them. So it's really unfortunate to have something like this happen.

"We would hope that she has a speedy recovery," said Egli. "It's certainly fortunate that it was not more serious than it was."

Manufacturing firm wins award

Loc Performance Products Inc. of Plymouth, a 100-employee manufacturing and assembly firm, was recently presented an award for its work to supply Operation Desert Storm troops with tank parts.

The award, for outstanding performance and exceptional support of Army material requirements, was awarded by the Army Tank-Automotive Command.

It was presented by Deputy Commander James B. Smith to all employees at a recent reception on the shop floor and accepted by president and founder Victor Vojcek.

Vojcek founded the company more than 20 years ago in Taylor and moved it to Plymouth, his home town, in 1975.

His companies generate annual sales of more than $20 million.

Family wins mower suit

Sears Roebuck & Co. has yet to decide whether it will appeal a Wayne County Circuit Court decision granting $2.6 million to a Plymouth Township couple whose son was killed in a lawn mower accident in 1986.

A jury reached the verdict Oct. 15.

Sears sold the mower to the neighbors of a Plymouth Township couple whose 11-year-old son was killed while cutting their lawn. The tractor-mower he was riding slipped backward down a slope, slid into a pond and overturned. Aaron Lowman drowned in the pond.

"At this point, we're still reviewing the verdict and have not made a determination as to whether there will be an appeal," said Greg Rossiter, a Chicago-based Sears spokesman. "It's something our attorneys are going to have to decide."

The 10-horsepower mower was tagged at time of purchase in 1966 with a warning label, indicating the machine should not be used by anyone under the age of 17.

"That would be fairly standard," said Rossiter. "Sears generally has always gone beyond the letter of whatever voluntary standards there are. I am certain that we did go along with those recommendations. And there are operating instructions that along with safety precautions are listed for the operation of the mower or any machinery Sears sells."

The Lowmans' attorneys were unavailable for comment.

City seeks help for downtown identity crises

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

In hopes of improving the downtown business climate, city officials are seeking some professional help.

The downtown development authority has hired planners Hyett Palma, Inc. to survey businesses, landlords and downtown shoppers.

The cost of the study and consulting work will range from $10,000 to $15,000.

CITY MANAGER Steve Walters, who also heads the DDA, said a survey and recommendations prepared by planners outside the city would be more influential than one performed by local business people.

That's partly because a local group could be viewed as favoring the concerns of its members.

'Right now there's no place to go to find out what retail space is available.'
— Steve Walters, City Manager

"It's more valid because outsiders have fewer pre-conceived notions," Walters said.

While several firms offer planning services for business areas, Walters said Hyett Palma has experience working with cities like Plymouth.

"Their orientation is toward traditional downtowns," he said, adding the firm can show a link between historic preservation and a marketable image.

A company representative is scheduled to meet with the DDA on Thursday. Also planned is a tour of downtown with some DDA members and with volunteers who will conduct surveys.

Among items the planning firm will seek to identify are the downtown's selling points and what causes businesses not to locate downtown.

The planner puts together "a plan and a set of tools" Walters said — items ranging from brochures geared to soliciting interest from prospective businesses to establishing a central place for information on downtown business.

For a business wanting to locate downtown, "Right now there's no place to go to find out what retail space is available," Walters noted.

City officials say an assessment of what ails downtown business is essential to the current downtown rejuvenation effort — which includes plans for a downtown streeet-scape renovation.

To prevent crime in Tucson, police use sensitive, highly sophisticated surveillance equipment: Tim, Rose, Gert, Anthony, Yvonne, and Ramon.

Citizen participation is critical to police effectiveness. Do you care about your neighborhood enough to help protect it?

The Case of The Tucson Tip-off.

In a particular neighborhood in Tucson, Arizona, folks were having a real problem with burglaries and break-ins.

They started talking to each other about what they could do. They got fed up. About 400 people went to the police for advice. They learned about surveillance. They got to know their beat officers. Citizens and police became partners in crime prevention. In just three weeks, 17 arrests were made and burglaries went down 30%. And Tucson is only one case where people successfully worked to beat crime. To find out more, write: The McGruff Files, 1 Prevention Way, Washington, D.C. 20539-0001. You can make a difference. Restaurant protest is first test of local police pact

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Beyond its social significance, the Cracker Barrel Restaurant showdown is the first test of Wayne County's new mutual assistance police pact.

And the pact's survival could depend on how much police assistance is going to cost and who is going to foot the bill.

The Van Buren Township eatery has been in the national spotlight for several weeks as gay rights advocates continue protesting Atlanta-based Cracker Barrel's policy of firing homosexual workers.

Since the local restaurant's September opening, police from 19 area departments have formed a dividing line between protesters and restaurant patrons.

Like Operation Desert Storm, the effort has proved a tactical success. Despite criticism from some protesters, police are generally credited with keeping a tense situation from boiling over.

But also like Desert Storm, questions linger over who will pay the bills once police and protesters have gone home.

Thus far, all 19 participants — including Livonia, Redford, Westland, Garden City, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton — remain squarely behind the effort.

"The reaction from our communities has been outstanding," said Dearborn Police Chief Ron Deziel, who is pact coordinator.

Departments send full-time officers, some on overtime pay, under terms of the pact.

"I know we sent nine officers the other weekend," Livonia Mayor Robert Bennett said.

Others also sent equipment. Canton has sent its mobile command truck, according to public safety director John Santomauro.

All support has come at each community's expense.

"Under the mutual aid pact, it's up to the individual communities," Deziel said. "Really, anybody can find themselves in a spot like this. Even a big community like Livonia could have troubled providing adequate police."

But faced with tight budgets — and, in some cases, declining state aid — leaders in some local communities wonder how long they can keep providing assistance.

For Livonia, the request for additional police protection comes at a time when the city is reeling from the loss of about $900,000 in state racetrack dollars.

While that money wasn't directly earmarked for police, Bennett said the city has discussed cutting police operations near Ladbroke Detroit Race Course as a result.

Other communities have also expressed concern.

"We have talked about the whole Cracker Barrel issue," said Dan Gilmartin of the Conference of Westen Wayne, an intergovernmental forum for area cities and townships. "We're going to be discussing the issue further with our police chiefs next month. By then, we all might have some idea of cost."

Several officials have said they were frustrated by Cracker Barrel's unwillingness to discuss the issue with them.

"It is frustrating that they don't seem to want to come to the table," said Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano.

Sheriff's deputies have stood ready to transport anyone arrested, from either side, to the county jail.

"We would have been there anyway," Ficano said. But the sheriff added he hasn't yet totaled his department's cost. "I couldn't even say what it was yet," he said.

While county police departments had long helped each other, the current pact grew out of the August 1987 crash of Northwest Airlines Flight 255.

"There had always been mutual assistance," Deziel said. "But after the crash, there were some people who wanted something put in writing."

Not only is the Cracker Barrel picketing the new pact's first test, it's also prompted the biggest police operation in years.

"I can't remember anything like it," Canton's Santomauro said.

Even though community leaders may question the pact, Gilmartin said he was confident it will survive.

"There's always been mutual assistance and there always will be," he said. "I think our communities understand the need."

Ruling says no public money can be used to fight recall

City commissioners may not use city funds to fight a recall, Attorney General Frank J. Kelley has ruled.

In an opinion sought by state Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, Kelley said, "(A) municipality may not use its funds for the purpose of paying expenses incurred by city commissioners in the defense of a recall petition arising out of their performance of their duties as elected officials."

Michigan has many restrictions on use of governmental funds to influence elections, Kelly said, citing:

- His 1979 opinion that township boards may not pay legal fees for a court fight over recall signatures.
- His 1965, 1979 and 1987 opinions that "governmental bodies lack constitutional or statutory authority to expend public tax moneys to influence the outcome of an election."
- A 1940 state Supreme Court decision that the Wayne Count board lacked authority to use public funds to secure legislative reapportionment and never should function as "propaganda bureaus."

Pumpkin patch picnic

Take one beautiful fall day and mix together with a pumpkin patch and you've got the makings of a perfect picnic. Louise Weber of Westland puts the finishing touches on a picnic lunch for (from left) Cory Ernschwender, 3; Zachary Weber, 2 and Steven Ernschwender, 5. Livonia's Wilson Barn, on Middlebelt and West Chicago roads, provided the setting for this afternoon picnic. The pumpkins — all 42 tons of them — were part of the pumpkin fest which was sponsored by Friends of the Wilson Barn and the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department.

Press rights for students

The public is invited to participate in a discussion surrounding the rights of the student press at 7 p.m., Wednesday Oct. 30 on the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College, Building J, room 306.

On the panel will be State Rep. Lynn Jondahl, D-Okemos; Tom White of the Michigan Association of School Boards; and Ken Siver, a Southfield school administrator who has been active with state and national organizations representing student newspapers.

The debate will revolve around Jondahl's legislation which will broaden student journalists press freedoms.

Those interested in attending should call Barbara Hulme at 953-2101 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

An admission of $8.50 includes pizza served at 6 p.m. The event is sponsored by the Detroit chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists.

We all share in blame for David Duke

Jeff Counts

THERE'S ALWAYS A David Duke around, but nobody usually listens. In Louisiana they're listening these days to the former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan. Liberals blame Bush. The reality is we're all to blame.

The Republicans have brought the race issue to their campaigns and elitist, northern, white liberals have so destroyed the Democratic Party that southerners and other former Democrats have been left without a political party. It's no wonder they turn to Bush and Duke.

The reason those folks left the Democratic party is that liberals have made issues out of gender, race and sexual preference. They've spent the last 30 years in Congress passing laws that give minorities extra rights, and in doing so, they've taken the Democratic Party down the tubes.

When Bush calls the Democrats the party of quotas, it sticks for a reason.

WHEN YOU GO down that road of giving one group more rights than another, there's always going to be resentment. Race or gender-based politics are not attempts at making the world better, they're just movements to punish another group.

The Jim Crow laws used in the South after the Civil War to keep blacks down are not much different than civil rights laws used to create minority groups with extra rights. Both sets of laws were and are on the books to punish another group.

David Duke is out to punish blacks, Hispanics and women, and white liberals are out to punish white southerners and anybody who works in a blue collar job.

Just look at the move to limit the terms of politicians. On the surface it sounds like a nice reform movement, but in reality it's an anti-blue collar and anti-southern campaign. That's because in blue collar areas and in the South, voters tend to send the same people back to Congress.

The move is just another liberal plan to punish folks they don't like.

And the folks they're out to punish are Democrats, the same Democrats who are voting for Duke.

INSTEAD OF trying to limit terms and create more minority groups with extra rights, liberals should be worried about rebuilding the Democratic party and convincing white southerners and blue collar voters to come back and vote with their economic interests.

But to do that, the Democrats are going to have to rid themselves of the rights nannies and punishment mentality and go back to economic issues that help the entire population rather than just a few selected minority groups.

There's also a bit of hypocrisy about the stance of northern, white liberals. While deploring racism, they have for more than 100 years practiced a brand of racism against southern white people that has also had an impact on blacks.

The south was kept poor after the Civil War and it wasn't until the 1930s that some states were reconstructed.

Ironically, that's how the KKK got started. It was a way for white southerners to defend themselves from the occupying armies of the North and the carpetbaggers.

And now we've got the KKK rearing its white shrouded head again. Racism is a cause, but liberals and reformers share the blame.

It's about time to get back to our populist roots and out of the rights frenzy that is really a guise for punishing groups of people.

Priorities are confused

To the editor:

Our leadership in this country and its priorities are most confusing. Forty-six years after World War II, we are still defending Germany and Japan with standing armies while they steal our markets. We pacify the Persian Gulf, while women walking their dogs in Central Park are being slashed to death by bums. We seal the border of Saudi Arabia, but cannot close our own to illegal aliens flooding into our southern states.

Official reports show illegal immigration is rising at an unprecedented rate, could be as high as five million this year alone. Massive immigration could destroy our way of life, we could wind up a strife-ridden replica of a third world country.

Past civilizations such as Egypt, Hellenic Greeks and last but not least Rome were plagued by this problem also.

Vision may be a nightmare

To the editor:

The parting comment in your recent "Points of View" column contained in the "Southfield Eccentric," (October 10, 1991) that necessary fiscal and human resources must be sufficient to meet the "vision" of Mental Health Department Director, James K. Haveman, Jr., hit the mark in regard to a vision which may well be a "pipe dream" regarding adequate care of persons with serious mental illness.

Mr. Haveman's "vision statement," enumerated earlier this year, may dissolve into a delusion in the coming months and years without sound social services and mental health policy to support it, and the dollars to implement it.

As a social worker in the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health system, and a resident of Oakland County, I question how the administration of Governor John Engler, and Mr. Haveman, expects the already under-funded system of mental health care to meet the needs of the many thousands of people recently cut off from the General Assistance program, many of whom are also recipients of mental health services who will not qualify for the state disability program which replaces it. Many persons will lack the "qualifications" needed to be declared disabled. Many, without an income and a home, will seek hospitalization in a state psychiatric hospital in order to "qualify" in the coming months.

I fear that current policy and budget reductions in the departments of Social Services and Mental Health may well evolve a vision into a hallucination. Thousands will suffer without the basic requisites of food and shelter. This transfer of responsibility, from the Department of Social Services to the mental health system, community- and institutionally-based, will not save taxpayer dollars and can only result in the decimation of the lives of thousands of persons with disabilities already denied the rights of citizenship — a job, a safe place to live and adequate health care.

If not an hallucination, the vision may well be a nightmare.

Homosexuals after rights not big bucks

To the editor:

Having read your manipulative and deceptive editorial entitled, "Gays are after big bucks, not rights," I am convinced I must work harder as a gay/lesbian activist to ensure that opinions such as yours become less and less discernable amid the crescendo of choruses for gay rights.

Contrary to your interpretation of the gay rights movement, it is about civil liberties and inalienable rights, not "big bucks."

We do not want special treatment, but we expect and demand a level playing field for all people regardless of race, religion, national origin, gender and sexual orientation.

Yes, sexual orientation Mr. Counts, not "sexual preference," which implies gay and lesbian folks have a choice in the matter.

Our only choice is whether or not to be silent in the face of discrimination and blatant injustice, which you help to propagate when you suggest we are not a legitimate minority.

YOU CONTEND we draw attention to ourselves for financial gain. That is not our agenda. We march, we protest and we lobby for our lives, the right to own our lives, to be who we are without fear of economic, professional or personal repercussion or reprisal.

Your editorial implies that lesbians and gay men, unlike blacks, women, Hispanics and Asians, can pass within mainstream society if we choose to do so. Thus, you say we do not merit minority status.

Your opinion isn't new, Mr. Counts. People have long said to lesbians and gay men, "If you people wouldn't flaunt your sexuality, you wouldn't have any problems." You tell us to hide, or worse yet, to disguise who we are, suggesting that we not only lie to our families, friends and employers, but to ourselves as well.

The psychological costs of putting up such a facade over a lifetime are too numerous to go into here.

Anyway, Mr. Counts, your position is one that has long been ardently advocated by anti-gay activists.

THE OBJECTION is invalid on several levels. First, not all gay people can hide their sexual orientation; second, the ability to pass has nothing to do with minority group status.

I must give you an "A" for effort, no matter how insidious and deceptive your tactics may be to thwart us in our fight for civil rights. In the midst of widespread economic hardship, how better to set the majority against us than to imply that we are an economic threat?

It is not surprising that someone such as yourself would mount an economically-based attack on us.

Your thinking seems to run along these lines: "Yeah, yeah, uh, if homophobia alone won't work anymore, I'll make heterosexuals feel economically threatened by those homosexuals who think they should be given minority status. If I do that, that'll surely steepen their uphill climb to a level playing field. Yeah, yeah, that's the ticket — cloak homophobia in a new disguise; homophobia shrouded as fiscal responsibility."

Mr. Counts, this attack you have mounted, this smoke and mirrors routine, will not work — not even during this Halloween season. Your readers can see through your masquerade.

A HOBBY TO CONSIDER IF YOU HAVE ARTHRITIS

If you have arthritis, it seems you are always retreating. You have to accept a lesser score, a slow dance, or content yourself with a simpler design or drawing.

You may wonder is there any recreation you could take up in which you might excel? There is such a hobby: napping.

Doctors place great emphasis on the need to keep going with arthritis, but there is a place for rest, even a necessity for it. Retiring to bed earlier, and remaining longer in the morning is not the answer. Such a schedule is actually harmful to your joints as prolonged inactivity creates as much pain and stiffness as overuse.

Napping is the solution. You should, if possible, set aside at least 15 minutes and hopefully as long as an hour so you can sleep during the day. Certainly the fatigue is there, often as much a part of arthritis as painful, swollen joints.

It is the ability to sleep that calls for training, concentration, learning and self control. You need to achieve a state of relaxation difficult to attain during the day. You require an inner discipline that belies your apparent indifference to the goings on around you.

If you can master this craft, you gain control of your arthritis in a way no medicine can equal.

MichCon offers to help needy maintain service

Alfred R. Glancy III, chairman and chief executive officer of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. (MichCon), recently announced that the utility will offer increased involvement with community agencies and greater shutoff protection to help former General Assistance (GA) recipients keep their heat on this winter.

Glancy, speaking at a company forum designed to alert community agencies about the utility's winter help efforts, said that MichCon's newest program, the General Assistance Protection Program (GAPP), would provide guaranteed winter shutoff protection to those who pledge to meet new minimum payment requirements.

"It is unfortunate that additional cuts in the safety net programs designed to help low-income Michigan residents come at a time when people are most vulnerable — at the onset of another cold Midwestern winter," said Glancy.

"MichCon is especially concerned that our customers, fearing they have no other options, will allow their gas service to be discontinued."

The new program, which begins Nov. 1, requires a $50 per month pledge, an agreement to direct the Michigan Home Heating Tax Credit to MichCon, and enrollment in MichCon's conservation program. Interested customers should call their MichCon customer service representative for more information on GAPP enrollment.

In addition to GAPP, MichCon is working with local community agencies to notify customers of the need to enroll in assistance programs designed for all customers. These programs, such as Project HEART, Heat Bank, and the Budget Plan have grown with the generous support of MichCon customers and shareholders to help thousands of needy residents keep the heat on. For customers facing the most severe hardships, such as those in need of overnight shelter, MichCon is also providing funding for a Salvation Army shelter program.

"Anyone can face temporary financial difficulties which can create hardships, particularly when faced with winter heating bills. MichCon is committed to reducing those hardships, and to reduce the overall costs to our customers as much as possible, while we work together to find long-term solutions to our economic problems," Glancy said.

'Car piracy' legislation sparks heated debate

By Tim Richard
staff writer

"Car piracy" would be a specific crime under a package of state Senate bills, but many supporters don't want a mandatory 10-year prison term attached.

The Senate approved, 16-13, a non-record roll call amendment to attach the mandatory minimum penalty to Senate Bill 507.

"I support it. Car hijacking has reached epidemic proportions," said Sen. George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn. "In four days there were 28 carjackings. Watch next weekend's paper." Hart's district includes Garden City.

DEMOCRATIC SENATORS broke into a bitter, intra-party debate over whether the bill is anti-Detroit.

"You cut social services and put (black Detroiters) in prisons," said Sen. Jackie Vaughn III, D-Detroit, opposing mandatory imprisonment as a "death penalty for Detroit. He was joined by Sen. David Holmes, D-Detroit.

"I've never heard anything so profoundly ignorant as the previous speaker (Vaughn)," said Sen. John Kelly, D-Grosse Pointe, sponsor of the bill and supporter of mandatory sentences.

"Forty-eight percent of people don't go downtown any more, and 70 percent of Detroiters are afraid to go out in their neighborhoods.

"Yes, there is a proposed death penalty for the city of Detroit, senator (Vaughn), and you just made it. Yours was one of the most outrageous, immoral statements I've ever heard anyone make."

The mandatory imprisonment amendment was sponsored by Senate Democratic leader Art Miller of Warren. It was the only part of the nine-bill package debated Thursday.

Acting floor leader Robert Geake, R-Northville, halted debate at noon. The bills are due for further action some time this week. The mandatory sentence amendment could still be removed.

JUDICIARY Committee chair William VanRegenmorter, R-Jenison, opposed mandatory sentencing.

"The bill makes it (car piracy) a 15-year felony. The firearm statute applies (two years for use of a gun in any crime). But if we deal with a 10-year mandatory minimum, the prison population will grow much worse," said VanRegenmorter.

He warned senators against falling for the "crime of the month" syndrome. "We have to resist the temptation to put mandatory sentences on a crime that has caught the public attention," he said.

There is no mandatory sentence for crimes of rape, manslaughter or child torture, VanRegenmorter added.

Other bills in the package allow juveniles to be tried as adults without a probate court waiver.

House may vote on assisted-suicide bill

By Tim Richard
staff writer

State representatives this week may try to force a vote on a bill prohibiting assisted suicides.

"The bill is lodged in (Rep.) Perry Bullard's committee," said Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, author of the Senate-passed bill.

Discussion of Senate Bill 32 surfaced Thursday in the wake of news that Dr. Jack Kevorkian had assisted two more suicides in northern Oakland County.

THE SENATE March 30 passed Dillingham's bill, making assisted suicide a four-year felony, and sent it to the House.

There, Speaker Lewis Dodak, D-Birch Run, referred it to the Judiciary Committee headed by Bullard, D-Ann Arbor.

Bullard never has held hearings and has called the bill "poorly drafted." He wants Senate action on his own "living will" bill.

Bullard and Dillingham are on opposite sides of the abortion issue. Bullard openly scoffs at "so-called Right to Life" groups who back Dillingham's abortion regulation efforts.

DILLINGHAM said Rep. Michael Griffin, D-Jackson, would offer a discharge petition to force the bill out of Bullard's panel. Griffin is a major anti-abortion leader in the House and heads the House panel on congressional redistricting.

"Mike Griffin's a lot more important to the speaker than Perry Bullard is," Dillingham told reporters following Thursday's session.

He said the medical profession should "put Kevorkian's lights out" — lift his medical license.

"He (Kevorkian) has gone from terminal illness to a chronic condition" in aiding suicides, said Dillingham, a former mortician. "What's next? Mild depression?

"This guy has gone from 'Dr. Death' to 'Dr. God,'" Dillingham said.

KEVORKIAN, A retired Royal Oak pathologist, stirred up the controversy in mid-1990 when he aided the terimnally ill Janet Adkins of Oregon in committting suicide in an Oakland County Park.

Wednesday at dusk, Kevorkian called Oakland County authorities to report he had aided two more women's suicides in the Bald Mountain State Recreation Area.

They were Sherrie Miller, 43, Roseville, ill with multiple sclerosis, which experts say is rarely fatal; and Marjorie Watts, 58, of rural Berrien County, with a painful hip disorder.

Oakland Prosecutor Richard Thompson charged Kevorkian with murder in the Adkins case, but a district judge dismissed the case, saying Michigan law doesn't clearly prohibit assisted suicide.

Miller paces Rocks to win over Canton

By Ray Setlock
staff writer

Most basketball players don't get a standing ovation when they foul out. But most aren't Plymouth Salem senior center Darcie Miller.

When Miller left Saturday's game at Plymouth Canton, she had 26 points and the Rocks had an eight-point lead with under two minutes remaining.

The Rocks maintained their lead with Miller on the bench and defeated cross-campus rival Canton 51-47 in a contest between the top teams in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Salem improves to 9-0 in the WLAA and 11-4 overall. Canton falls to 8-1 and in the league and 12-3 overall.

"Miller is one of the best players in our area," Canton coach Bob Blohm said. "She's one of the best in the state for that matter."

Miller said she was pleased with her performance but preferred to share credit with her teammates.

"They did a good job of getting me the ball," she said. "Luckily for me, I scored when I shot it. My shot was definitely on today.

"IT ALSO feels really good to have a big game against Canton because they are a rival of ours."

Salem coach Fred Thomann said Miller did the job in the low post.

"She was real strong down there (in the post)," Thomann said. "I really thought she was awesome. But our perimeter people did a good job of getting her the ball."

The Rocks led 12-11 after one quarter, but Canton rebounded to take a 23-22 halftime lead.

Salem managed to limit Canton standout Stephanie Gray to five first-half points. The junior center finished with 23 points and eight rebounds.

"We didn't do the things we wanted to on offense," Blohm said. "We rushed a lot of our possessions and ended up losing the ball in transition."

Salem caught fire in the third quarter, outscoring the Chiefs 15-6. Canton trailed 37-29 early in the final period.

GRAY TRIED to bring Canton back late in the half, scoring 16 points in the fourth quarter. The Chiefs narrowed the margin to 45-43.

But Salem went on a 6-0 run with a Miller layup, Cyndi Platter jumper and a pair of free throws from junior guard Christy Parimucha. Gray scored four points in the final 38 seconds, but it too late for the Chiefs.

"They showed just how explosive they can be offensively," Thomann said. "They are a good offensive team. The key for us was holding them under 50 points.

"What you saw out there today is the way we play basketball at Plymouth Salem."

Junior forward Cyndi Platter chipped in 10 points for the winners. Senior center Emily Giuliani pulled down 10 rebounds.

Sophomore guard Britta Anderson tallied 18 points and eight rebounds for Canton.

"Offensively, we were too rushed and, defensively, we were not quick or smart," Blohm said. "I'm going to have to continue to show the girls what I need and hope they respond."

Salem earns crown

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Plymouth Salem coach Ken Johnson responded with a "we'll need it" after well wishers greeted him with "good luck" prior to Saturday's Class A final.

But on a slick Northville High field, Salem pulled off the shocker thus far in the state boys soccer tourney, a 1-0 triumph over Livonia Churchill, last year's state runner-up.

"It's the best feeling in the world, nothing beats it," said senior forward John Truskowski, who scored the game-winning goal from Tom Baker with 4:29 remaining. "There's a lot of gratification, especially when it's the game-winner."

It was back on Oct. 7 when Churchill, ranked No. 2 in the state coaches poll and No. 1 in Observerland, man-handled the host Rocks, 3-1.

"And it could have been a lot worse," Johnson reminded. "The last time they just demolished us. They used the wide-open spaces on our big field to go around us. Man for man we don't match up."

BUT ON A narrow, rain-soaked pitch, the Rocks made the most of the conditions.

"This time we had a plan and it worked," Johnson said. "We used an extra defender. We had Brian Kirby back there. I thought we played pretty well in the back. Churchill is a good team, but you can't move the ball as well when it's slick."

With senior sweeper Matt Lee anchoring Salem's five-man defense, the Chargers' intricate passing attack was nullified.

"We just didn't have any intensity," said Churchill coach Mark Mason, whose team finished 16-2-3 overall. "They (Salem) marked our key players so well. And with the smaller field, there was no room left out there."

Churchill's big offensive gun, senior Michael Gentile, sat the bench during the final 18 minutes with a foot injury.

"He got kicked in the ankle, he tried to go on it but was unable to run," Mason said. "This is disappointing, especially for our seniors. We figured we were better than last year and we had some of the best players, but we just didn't put it together on this particular day."

TRUSKOWSKI, beating the young Churchill defense down the left side, fired a penetrating shot at Churchill keeper Jeff Cassar, who partially blocked the ball but was unable to keep it from trickling past the goal line for the game's only score.

"It's tough to play with two forwards," Johnson said. "But Truskowski and Joe Perron ran 50 miles out there, it seemed. And we played pretty well in at the back with a freshman goalie (Paul Dood). The last few games he's been great. We brought him up early this year and he got the experience."

Salem will take a 14-4-2 record into tonight's regional semifinal matchup against top-ranked Livonia Stevenson (7 tonight at Centennial Educational Park).

Most observers were looking forward to a Stevenson-Churchill matchup after the two teams tied twice by identical 1-1 scores.

"It was the extra defender and our spirit that won it," Johnson said. "The boys wanted it. It's the best game we've played all season. It's the best feeling I've ever had in coaching."

And that's coming from the coach who won the 1987 state Class A girls title.

STEVENSON 4, DEARBORN 2: The Spartans, who had allowed only eight goals entering the district final at Dearborn, led 3-0 on goals by Travis Roy, Jeff Thomas and Adam Carriere. Stevenson is 16-0-3.

Dearborn's Fadi Bazzi scored the first of his two goals just before halftime as the Spartans led 3-1 at intermission.

Bazzi scored his second goal with 19:15 left in the game, narrowing the Stevenson lead at 3-2.

Senior Todd Krzisnik iced the win late in the second half.

Rocks rumble through N'ville defense

By Dan O'Meara

Leon Hister had an inauspicious start Friday night when he lost a fumble on the first play from scrimmage in the Plymouth Salem-Northville football game.

But that was the only bad thing that happened to Hister, who rebounded with 196 rushing yards and two touchdowns while leading the host Rocks to their fifth consecutive victory, 35-14.

The 5-foot-9, 182-pound senior tailback has 1,256 yards and 15 touchdowns this year.

"Leon is as good a back as there is," Salem coach Tom Moshimer said. "In my opinion, he's the best back in our conference."

Salem improved to 6-2 overall and kept alive its hopes for a spot in the Class AA playoffs. The Class A Mustangs fell to 5-3 and saw their hopes for a second consecutive post-season appearance dashed.

THE ROCKS used a powerful ground game to dominate the first-half clock and lead 14-0 at halftime.

Salem ran 35 plays to Northville's 19 and rolled up 199 of its 370 yards in total offense in the first half.

The Rocks stayed away from the triple-option attack until late in the game, running straight-ahead power plays and capitalizing on the wet, soggy field conditions to rush for 328 yards.

Fullback Dan Burke added 85 yards and a TD on 16 carries. Quarterbacks Pete Zantop and Rob Kenney combined for another 46.

football

"That's what we planned to do," Moshimer said. "We figured we were stronger than them and, given the field conditions, thought we could control the ball.

"I felt our offensive line could get off the ball and power into them. I felt our defensive line would get after (Northville quarterback Ryan) Huzjak and put pressure on him. We played pretty well on both sides of the ball."

Huzjak finished with 18 completions and 25 pass attempts for 252 yards and two TDs, but most of that came late in the contest after Salem had taken a 20-0 lead. The Rocks held Northville to 21 rushing yards and 273 overall.

THE WET field seemed to hinder Northville's run-and-shoot offense early in the game. After the rain stopped and the field began to dry, the Mustangs became more proficient on offense, but Salem already had command of the game.

"I was scared, nervous about tonight," Moshimer said. "They're a dangerous football team. (Huzjak) is as good as anybody around here.

"The advantage sometimes goes to the passing team. It's a little tougher for the defensive player than the receiver on a wet field, because they know where they're going."

After the Rocks turned the ball over in their end at the start, the Salem defense stopped Northville with an Ed Gundry interception.

The Rocks began an 80-yard, 12-play drive late in the first quarter, and Hister darted 11 yards to the end zone on the first play of the second.

A Northville drive fizzled and Salem had another time-consuming offensive series, scoring 18 seconds before halftime when Zantop passed 19 yards to Mark Cirella. A holding penalty had pushed the Rocks back from the Northville 10.

"(Cirella) made two great catches against Walled Lake and another tonight," Moshimer said. "When they're putting that many guys up there (to stop the run), it's hard to protect Pete. But the play action usually gets a guy open, and Pete has been putting it right on the money."

THE ROCKS used some trickery to keep their second TD drive going. Chip Wadowski threw a floater from punt formation that Colin Trombetta caught for a 23-yard gain and a first down at the Northville 47. Salem ran 10 straight running plays before Zantop's TD pass. Burke ran for the two-point conversion.

The Rocks scored on their first possession of the second half to lead 20-0. Salem started at the Northville 35 after a punt and scored in six plays — Burke charging 14 yards up the middle for the TD.

After a second Gundry interception was nullified by a pass interference penalty on first down, the Mustangs put together a 16-play scoring drive. Huzjak passed 12 yards to Jamey Miller with 10 seconds left in the third quarter to make it 20-7.

The Rocks sandwiched two more scoring drives around a second Northville TD.

Salem went 82 yards in 15 plays and 53 in nine to take leads of 28-7 and 35-14 on Hister and Kenney runs of 2 and 22 yards, respectively. Huzjak connected with Miller for a 68-yard touchdown pass in between.

The Rocks were No. 5 in AA-Region II last week, but No. 4 Adrian's upset of No. 1 Ann Arbor Pioneer didn't help Salem's chances. The Rocks nonetheless have done well since losing back-to-back games to Farmington Harrison and North Farmington early in the season.

"The credit goes to our players because they didn't fold after losing to North," Moshimer said. "They came back and played the best game of the year against (Westland John) Glenn. We had some games when we didn't play all that great, but the last two weeks I think we've played very well."

Hohl leads Chiefs to football victory

Senior tailback Steve Hohl rushed for 242 yards on 38 carries Friday, powering Plymouth Canton past host Livonia Stevenson 9-7 in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover game.

The Chiefs have won two of their last three games and the Spartans are 3-5 overall.

Canton scored on a 31-yard field goal by senior kicker Jeff Nafe in the third quarter and a 1-yard run by quarterback Kevin Shankie.

Stevenson, which was held to 167 total yards, scored early in the first quarter on a 2-yard run by senior tailback Chris Lehti.

The Chiefs had 284 total yards. Shankie completed four of 12 passes for 52 yards.

Junior tailback Micah Leitzau led Stevenson with 55 yards on three carries. Senior linebacker Chad Myers was the leading tackler for the Spartans, who have lost three straight.

Canton concludes the 1991 campaign Friday night when it plays Plymouth Salem in the annual season-ending contest between rivals. Salem will be the home team at Centennial Educational Park. Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m.

Raiders, Warriors capture WLAA titles

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

North Farmington was a contender but not the favorite Wednesday in the Western Lakes Activities Association girls cross country race at Cass Benton Park.

When it was over, the Raiders were champions, however.

North outran division winners Livonia Stevenson (Lakes) and Walled Lake Western (Western) to capture its first WLAA girls title.

The Raiders put three runners in the top 10 and five in the top 17, finishing with a 45-point total. Stevenson, the defending champion, was second (54) and Western third (92).

The boys race went according to form with WLW winning its second straight title in a runaway. The Warriors scored 22 points, Farmington Hills Harrison 78 and Lakes Division champ Plymouth Salem 85.

"WE COULDN'T have asked the girls to run a better race," North coach Bill Pinnell Jr. said. "They ran a smart race all the way through. They knew what they had to do and they did it."

cross country

Pinnell said some of his runners didn't run as well as they could have when the Raiders lost a dual meet to Stevenson. Eighteen seconds was the difference in that meet.

"So the girls came in believing they could win," Pinnell said. "Our strategy was to get out in good position but be a little back in the pack.

"At the mile mark, everybody was pretty much in position. We talked about picking it up in the second mild and getting into finishing position. We told them not to give up any places in the last mile."

North's Emily Shively was the individual winners, finishing 27 seconds ahead of Stevenson's A.J. Koritnik, who had edged Shively in the dual. Keegan Keefover was sixth, Alicia Crossland ninth, Jenny Weh 12th and Lisa Wantuck 17th for the Raiders.

Stevenson defeats Rocks

Stateranked Livonia Stevenson dunked Western Lakes Activities Association Lakes Division rival Plymouth-Salem, 124-63, in a girls swim meet Thursday.

The host Spartans won 10 of 12 events, increasing their overall record to 5-1. Salem is 4-5 overall.

Individual double winners for victorious Stevenson: Mandi Falk, 200-yard individual medley (2:17.71) and 100 butterfly (1:01.7); Jamie Anderson, 200 freestyle (2:04.45) and 500 freestyle (5:25.73); and Jennifer Knapp, 50 freestyle (26.11) and 100 breast stroke (1:10.58).

Stevenson's other individual winner was Nancy Warson in the 100 freestyle (54.33). Jill Knapp finished second in the 200 IM, but made her state qualifying cut (2:19.71).

The Spartans also won all three relays.

The Knapp sisters, Falk and Jamie Billiard captured the 200 medley (1:59.02), while the foursome of Warson, Anderson and the Knapps took the 200 freestyle (1:48.05).

In the 400 freestyle relay, the quartet of Falk, Warson, Anderson and Lisa Morrison won in 3:56.39.

Salem winners included Kristin Staeckpoole in the backstroke (1:09.39) and Katie Williams in diving (227.65 points).

PLYMOUTH CANTON, despite eight first places by Livonia Churchill, defeated its WLAA-Western Division foe Thursday at home and remained unbeaten in seven dual meets, 95-91.

Canton's Jill Mellis won the butterfly (1:03.4), Janet Roberts the backstroke (1:06.0) and Amy Kodrik the diving (238.95).

The foursome of Roberts, Mellis, Kelly Larson and Jeni Cooper captured the 200 medley relay (1:58.9).

Ellen Lessig broke her own Churchill school record in the 100 freestyle with a time of 54.7. She also captured the 50 freestyle (25.1) and was a part of two winning relay teams.

Jamie Strauch, Sarah Bayley, Kim Gruska and Lessig finished first in the 200 freestyle (1:47.9), while the foursome of Tara Ditchkoff, Liz Sorokac, Strauch and Lessig were victorious in the 400 freestyle (3:47.2).

Ditchkoff added firsts in the 200 and 500 freestyles with times of 2:04.3 and 5:22.7, respectively. Sorokac was also a double victor, capturing the 200 IM (2:18.7) and 100 breast stroke (1:14.95).

The Chargers fell to 7-2 overall.

NORTH FARMINGTON, led by double individual winners Karrie Kranz and Carrie Worthen, defeated crosstown rival Farmington 102-84 in girls swimming Thursday.

The host Raiders are 3-4 in dual meets.

Kranz won the 200-yard freestyle (2:01.9) and 100 freestyle (56.75), Worthen the individual medley (2:23.14) and breast stroke (1:14.03).

Both were on two winning relay teams, also.

Worthen, Sherri Richardson, Becky Ashburn and Kranz won the 200-freestyle relay (1:51.35), and Shannon O'Brien, Worthen, Richardson and Kranz comprised the winning 400-freestyle relay team (3:58.29).

North diver Mandy Terrell won that event and set varsity and pool records with 251.10 points.

The Raiders also took first place in the 500 freestyle with Richardson swimming 5:35.42 and the backstroke with Erica Vincent finishing in 1:11.38.

Warriors dominate WLAA boys event

opened up on A.J. on the hills," Pinnell said. "Alicia was 10th in the dual meet and ran a fantastic race today.

"WE WANTED Keegan to be in the top 10 and she ended up sixth, and Weh dropped her time by 40 seconds from the dual. We've been bringing Jenny along slowly because of injuries early in the year, and she had been pointing to this meet.

"We talked about hitting our peak form at this time, and we've been entering that phase in the last week. It's starting to show and I think we have a couple good races left in us."

Koritnik was second for the Spartans, Bridget MacKinnon seventh, Stacy Prais 11th, Kelly Prais 14th and Gail Grewe 20th.

Stevenson coach Paul Holmberg said his girls went out fast and expended a lot of energy early in the race.

"My kids wanted to win so badly they tried to win it from the start of the race on, and you just can't win a cross country race like that," he said. "It was not for a lack of effort.

"After the first mile, we had five of the top 10 places. Five were under 6:20 and one was under six minutes. We were running dead after that and didn't have enough left to finish the race."

HOLMBERG AND WLW coach Mary Bellinger complimented the Raiders on running a fine race.

The Warriors were minus two varsity runners — Jennifer Ray (strained ligaments) and Jody Reimer (foot stress fracture). Plus, Wendy Proos had a dizzy spell on the unusually warm day in late October and might have become dehydrated, according to Bellinger.

"I thought, if we had been healthy, we would have to race Stevenson," she said. "North Farmington ran a real strong race and deserved to win. I think they're a good team and they had their injury problems at the beginning of the season."

The WLW boys, ranked No. 2 in the state, dominated their race by placing three runners in the top four and five in the top nine.

Western's Bill Crosby broke 16 minutes and won the event. Jim Sweetman was second, Matt Wright fourth, Art Schuetzler sixth and Chris Crosby ninth.

"I'm real happy with the way the kids ran," WLW coach Dennis Keeney said. "There are some good runners in this league, and you have to be fired up and ready to go fast."

KEENEY HAD studied the results of the Kensington Valley Conference meet involving top-ranked Milford Lakeland on the same course earlier in the week. The Warriors were expected to qualify Saturday in regional competition for the state meet.

"Of course, we're looking down the road and comparing us to Lakeland," he said. "We ran slightly better times, which is encouraging, but neither one of our fifth men is running the way you need to win a state meet."

Harrison, runner-up in the Western Division, had the third-place runner in Jason Zdyrski and was 27 points better than Salem.

"We were running for second and we accomplished that," Harrison coach John Reed said. "We didn't go in with lofty goals and think we could catch Western. We might not have run as well and finished third or fourth.

"Our goal is to make it to state. Zdyrski should be one of the top kids in the 'B' meet.

Madonna tops N'wood

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

Talk about traveling through unfamiliar waters . . .

There are a couple of volleyball teams in the NAIA's District 23 doing just that. It's been five years since Northwood Institute has been anywhere but at the district's summit.

Until last Thursday, that is. Now the Northwomen find themselves a step short of the top spot — courtesy of Madonna University.

The Lady Crusaders know what it's like to be close, but not quite good enough — a position they have now relegated to Northwood. Meanwhile, they must adjust to being top dog.

Madonna gained that position in convincing style, sending Northwood down to defeat — its first district loss in five years — in three-straight games, 15-13, 16-14, 15-6 at Madonna.

"I thought we played exceptionally well," said Crusader coach Jerry Abraham. "We played great defense. We kept everything up off the floor and just didn't let them get into their game.

"We never had any breakdowns."

THERE WERE opportunities, however. The first game took 45 minutes to play as the two teams sprawled for every ball and scratched for every point. With the score tied at 13-13, there were four side-outs before another point was scored.

Madonna got it, on an Evette Sluder dink that hit the top of the net and spun over for a point. An Elena Oparka kill closed out the game, in the Crusaders' favor.

The second game was much the same. Madonna's biggest lead was three points, but Northwood battled back and led 10-8 before the Crusaders tied it at 10. It was tied at 11 when a Tonia Smith service ace and two kills by Dana Hicks-Finley put Madonna up 14-11.

Northwood rallied, though, tying it at 14 and putting the Crusaders in jeopardy of folding under the pressure. But it didn't happen; the Crusaders scored twice, blocking a pair of Northwood kill attempts to post the 16-14 win.

"They had that hunger," was how Northwood coach Kevin Fagan explained the match. "Tonight, they were hungrier than we were."

IT SHOWED in the third game, certainly. The two teams were each 5-0 in district play coming into the match, and their evenness was evident in the first two games of the match — the biggest lead for either side had been four points.

Not so in game No. 3. The score was tied at 2, after that, Madonna outpointed the Northwomen 10-1 to take a commanding 12-3 advantage. Kristy McFadden closed out the match with a kill in a 15-6 final-game victory.

It was Hicks-Finley, though, who spurred the Crusaders. She finished with 25 kills and 11 digs, and the admiration of the opposing team's coach.

"She was the difference tonight," said Fagan. "She was awesome. Every time there was a situation where we needed a play, we couldn't make it. But she came through for them."

It wasn't all Hicks-Finley. Oparka had 20 kills, Smith contributed 12 kills and 11 digs and McFadden finished with nine kills. Jenny Sladewski led the defense with 18 digs, Maureen Paulin added 13. And Penny Baker was near-perfect in her setting.

This isn't the end, though; Madonna hasn't won anything yet. The Crusaders, 34-10 overall, still must beat Aquinas College Tuesday, then have to capture the district tournament to reach the NAIA Tournament.

But they've certainly staked solid claims to both.

S'craft netters defeat Macomb

Behind the high-powered attack of middle-hitters Kari Van Deusen and Renea Bonser, Schoolcraft College rolled to its seventh win in eight Western Conference matches with a 15-9, 15-3, 15-4 victory at Macomb CC Thursday.

The Ocelots are 25-8 overall.

Van Deusen had 17 kills (a .271 kill average) and Bonser added 11. Stephanie Jandasek collected eight kills and Keli Haeger had 31 assists-to-kills.

Chiefs rally to win

Plymouth Canton overcame a sound performance by Farmington Hills Harrison to win 52-47 in girls basketball Thursday night.

The Chiefs, who had won 10 consecutive games beading into a Saturday showdown with Plymouth Salem, trailed 36-32 after three quarters but outscored Harrison 20-11 in the final period.

Sophomore guard Britta Anderson scored nine of her 15 points and junior center Stephanie Gray six of 15 in the fourth quarter.

Freshman guard Erin LaCosse made a three-point basket with seven seconds remaining to get the Hawks within three, 50-47. Anderson clinched the win for Canton with a pair of free throws.

"We're competing game in and game out," Harrison coach Pete Mantyla said. "This was our best overall team effort in terms of how well we executed and how hard we played. All the girls played with a lot of heart."

Senior center Heather Hopkins had 14 points and nine rebounds to lead the Hawks, 9-8 in the Western Lakes Activities Association and 3-12 overall.

Freshman forward Krista Snow contributed 11 points and nine rebounds to the Harrison effort. Freshman point guard Kelly LaCosse played well, and Erin LaCosse, who also scored nine points, has started to give the Hawks some much-needed perimeter scoring, Mantyla said.

The win improved Canton to 8-0 in the WLAA and 12-2 overall. The Chiefs trailed 21-20 at halftime.

"We didn't attack their zone very well," Canton coach Bob Blohm said. "They stuck around for a while and started feeling pretty good about the game. Had they been a little better at the line, it could have been a different game."

The Hawks made 15 of 30 free throws, Canton eight of 12.

"In the middle quarters, I didn't think we played very well," Blohm said. "We got some rebounds in the fourth quarter and finished off nicely. Rebounding the ball is a big concern for us right now."

PLY. CHRISTIAN 30, HURON VALLEY 19. Sophomore guard Nancy Kobernik scored 10 points Friday, lifting visiting Plymouth Christian Academy (2-1 in the MIAC, 11-2) over stalling Westland Huron Valley Lutheran (0-3, 4-8).

Sandi Dengel, a senior center, scored 10 for the Hawks.

PCA defeated Huron Valley earlier this season by 17, so Huron Valley wanted to keep the game close this time.

"We looked over at each other for almost two minutes," Plymouth Christian Academy coach Dennis Horton said. "I guess they were trying to keep it close. I think that we're pleased that we won, under the conditions that we were dealt. We didn't shoot very well (12 of 51 from the field).

MARIAN 76, LADYWOOD 51. Michele Coughlin pumped in 21 points and had seven steals Thursday, leading Birmingham Marian (11-4, 5-2) to the Catholic League Central Division victory over Livonia Ladywood (9-7, 3-5) in a game played at Redford Catholic Central.

The Mustangs enjoyed a 46-20 halftime lead and never looked back.

Stephanie Storen chipped in with 15 points, nine rebounds and a school-record 12 assists. Tara Walsh added 12 points.

Andrea Putti scored 10 in a losing cause.

REGINA 52, MERCY 31. The host Marlins lost another one-sided game to Harper Woods Regina in the Central Division of the Catholic League Thursday. The Saddelites defeated Mercy 71-42 in an earlier game.

The Marlins are 4-3 in the division and 10-5 overall, Regina 6-1 and 12-3.

"The story was in the first half again," Mercy coach Larry Baker said, referring to Regina leads of 12-4 and 27-13 at the end of the first and second quarters.

"They scored 20 points in the first quarter last time. It was more reasonable this time, but we didn't get anything going offensively."

Regina's 6-foot-2 center Paula Sanders neutralized Mercy's Laure DeMattia as an offensive threat for the Marlins.

"They took us out of our inside game, and that accounted for our low point production early," Baker said. "We never got into an offensive rhythm."

Mary Bieñewicz led the Marlins with nine points. Katie Heffernan had seven and Kathleen Berrigan four.

Gretchen Super had 15 points and Kristen Francis 14 for the Saddelites, who outscored Mercy 14-11 in the third quarter and 25-18 in the second half.

Post players lead Rocks past Glenn

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Plymouth Salem won the war in the paint Thursday, resulting in a 51-36 Western Lakes girls basketball win over Livonia Stevenson.

The host Rocks got 25 points from center Darcie Miller and 15 from 5-10 forward Cyndi Platter en route to their ninth straight win.

Miller, a 6-foot-1 senior bound for Valparaiso University of Indiana, also blocked eight shots and grabbed 11 rebounds. Platter, a 5-11 junior, added 11 rebounds.

Miller hit 12 of 21 shots from the floor, while Platter made seven of 14.

Meanwhile, Stevenson's inside duo of 5-10 senior Teresa Sarno and 5-11 junior Karen Groulx combined for just 20 points — 11 and 9, respectively. They shot a combined six of 29 from the floor.

Sarno was in early foul trouble, picking up a pair right at the start. She had three personals by halftime Salem held a 27-16 advantage.

STEVENSON CUT the deficit to nine after a near-standoff in the third quarter, trailing 33-24.

The Spartans then made a run, cutting the deficit to three, 37-34, on a Sarno free throw with 4:01 remaining.

But that's when the fast-breaking Rocks turned it up a notch, outscoring their opponents 14-2 down the stretch. Christy Parimucha's only basket of the game, with 1:40 remaining, gave Salem a commanding nine-point lead, 45-36, putting it out of reach.

"It's these kind of games that you have to be in if you're going to be tourney tough, and I thought we responded well," Salem coach Fred Thomann said. "We had great scoring opportunities during their run, but we just didn't convert. It was a just a matter of going back to making the shots."

Despite some dry spells offensively, Salem's defense remained constant.

Rocks guards Parimucha and Leslie Gotts were able to wear down Stevenson's sophomore point-guard Mo Drabicki, who had an outstanding first-half to keep her team in it.

"We just had to keep the defense going and keep challenging on the other end," Thomann said.

REBOUNDING also played a pivotal part in the final outcome.

"We didn't have to go out and guard their guards," Stevenson coach Chuck Hebestreit said. "The way they shoot from the perimeter, our guards should have sagged in more. But our big people didn't box out. You could tell by the number of second and third shots they had. They controlled the boards to win the game."

Sarno, who did not get a shot off in the first quarter, had just five rebounds on the night.

"Lori Shingledecker, a guard, led us with 11 rebounds, and that tells you something right there," Hebestreit said. "Getting her (Sarno) out hurt us, but we were lucky she was able to play a full game with all the fouls.

"We're still inexperienced, and we're still showing the effects of having only one senior (Sarno). We have to run the play through four times if need be. We have to show more patience."

Black Market members Mitch Purdy, drummer, James Megerian, bassist, Bob Monteleone, guitarist, and vocalist Larry Duncan have come up with "Tropical Rock," a collection of work spanning 10 years.

Marketing rock with their reggae

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Four white musicians immersed and inspired by the joyous sounds of Jamaica, Black Market followed their muse with the most sincere intentions.

Theirs was an enthusiastic musical journey into the realm of stripped down, pure roots reggae. Even the people in Kingston embraced them for their eagerness and authenticity when the band performed there in 1982.

But Black Market changed. Some would say they were merely sidetracked.

After the vibrant, undiluted reggae heard on the band's debut album, "Air Freight," in 1983, Black Market countered with a fairly straight-ahead rock'n'roll album "Cool & Deadly" in 1989.

Did they betray their original vision, bowing to the commercial demands of radio and the club scene? Perhaps so.

Vocalist Larry Duncan prefers to think of the LP as exorcising the rock demons that lurked within.

"We had to deal with the fact that some people felt we were compromising a little bit," said Duncan in a telephone interview, "But I would say (it) was more in terms of trying to extract that album we all kind of had in us, that rock'n'roll album we had thought about.

"Instead of trying to marry the two, we tried to keep them separate."

By acknowledging their rock'n'roll influences, Black Market came clean. The challenge as the band marks its 10th year together is finding happy median of two vigorous musical forms.

'But I would say (it) was more in terms of trying to extract that album we all kind of had in us . . .'

— Larry Duncan

"TROPICAL ROCK," the group's third release, offers evidence that Black Market can answer the call. The 11-song offering is part retrospective, part introspective to what direction Black Market is headed.

Some numbers date back to 1980 when the drummer Mitch Purdy, bassist James Megerian of Farmington, guitarist Bob Monteleone and Duncan formed the outfit to explore the sounds of the Caribbean, perfected by masters such as Bob Marley and Peter Tosh. One song, "Big Bamboo," captures the mood and inspiration of Black Market who recorded the number in Jamaica.

Although "Tropical Rock" is a collection of work spanning 10 years, the hard-edged sound of Black Market is a common thread throughout the package.

"We know we're not a true, roots reggae group," Purdy said. "Even in a major reggae outfit they've always tapped into a little bit more than their own music such as jazz, soul and rock. To us, Jamaican style music has always been a hybrid."

As other reggae outfits have found, the music doesn't lend itself for commercial opportunities. Although the Black Market's first album was highly acclaimed and gigs opening up for Bob Marley's The Wailers, Steel Pulse and Third World followed, the success didn't parlay into radio air play or a record deal.

The hard rock feel of "Cool & Deadly" helped change Black Market fortunes, at least made their music a little less alien to radio programmers and club owners.

"IF THINGS went our way," Duncan said, "we could call the shots and bring it back full circle and play the kind of reggae music we enjoy playing, which is reggae with a rock'n'roll slant to it."

For band members, though, the memories of traveling to Jamaica and performing in Kingston clubs for the first time remain vivid. Purdy recalls being nervous at first, touching down at the airport wondering if they would be accepted.

Understandably, audiences were skeptical of four white guys trying to play reggae, Black Market won them over.

"The thing they were looking for was sincerity," Purdy said. "They don't want someone to bastardize the music for profit and that's not initially what we wanted to do. We got together to play this music because we loved it."

But what would those same people in Kingston say to this reggae turned rock'n'roll turned reggae outfit?

Said Duncan, "I think they would enjoy it."

Black Market will perform three shows in the area — Tuesday, Oct. 29, at Metro Cafe, 326 W. Fourth St., Royal Oak, 542-1990; Wednesday, Oct. 30, at Juke Box, 4616 N. Woodward, Royal Oak, 549-2233; and Sunday, Nov. 3, at The New Wagon Wheel, 2950 16 Mile Road, near Rochester Road, Troy, 689-8194.

It's no parking for Karma

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Lick and stick the postage stamps. Park the Karma is well-packaged and ready for delivery to any major record company.

On this night, the cramped stage at the Exit Club is the band's mailbox.

Anyone could decipher that the four-member band buys into the theory that sexuality sells. Lead singer Lori Wyatt moves seductively throughout the performance, swaying her hips and obviously not afraid to use her femininity to draw attention.

First clue? There's the smoking rendition of Nancy Sinatra's '60s tribute to go-go footwear, "These Boots Are Made for Walking," during which Wyatt saunters up and puts her leather-clad foot on display for some sheep-ish-looking male.

Hasty assessments and rash judgments may be easily made here. But when Wyatt swings her long brown mane back and growls the lyrics to the band's "I Can't Live Without You" ("I want to touch you/I want to love you/I want you to make me scream."), the clear intent is to make men stand in line with polar bears for a shower under icebergs.

"I've gotten some interesting reactions," Wyatt said later. "You get your complaints. I was standing near the stage before one of our shows and some woman handed me a hate letter, saying I was harming the image of women.

"I THINK I'm an artist. I can be anything I want to be."

Who can argue with that? Then again, Park the Karma was born out of debate and division.

The band was formed earlier this year from the remains of Walk the Dogma. A rift occurred, leaving a majority of Walk the Dogma members to form the Hope Orchestra.

Drummer Kerry Gluckman already had hand-picked guitarist Jake Smith. Smith, in turn, suggested the singing talents of Wyatt.

Bassist Raquel Salaysay recently joined on as a expatriate of the short-lived, all-female outfit The Truncheons. Salaysay doesn't care to talk about The Truncheons.

Park the Karma is very much a separate entity. The band fancies itself as something alternative, but actually owes more to hard-rock sensibilities.

Part of the reason is lead guitarist Smith, who never met a power chord he didn't like. He also cranks up a few windmill swings, a la Pete Townshend, for exclamation points during the live shows.

Smith estimates that he's been in more than 100 bands — he even auditioned for Walk the Dogma four years ago and didn't make the cut.

"I've never been in a band as serious as this before," Smith said.

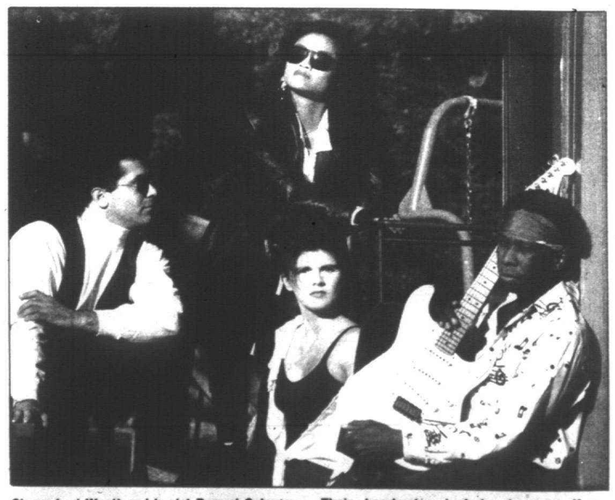
CERTAINLY, Park the Karma has some serious objectives. The band keeps busy performing live shows in the area and plans to release a self-titled compact disc.

The eight-song offering offers a buoyant collection of scorching hard-rock numbers. A majority of the songs are written by Wyatt, who prefers metaphors to depict the human condition, such as in "Social Napoleons," a sax-infused commentary about posers.

Her vocal style may owe more to the hard-rock style of Chrissie Hynde and Pat Benatar than anything, although Wyatt admits her onstage persona differs greatly from her demure one off stage.

"I'm really mellow," she said. "Then this other self comes out. I'm not obnoxious in real life."

Park the Karma will have a record release party Friday, Nov. 15, at Lili's21, 2930 Jacob, Hamtramck. Appearing with them will be Twiggy Barbust.



Singer Lori-Wyatt and basist Raquel Salaysay make up the female half of Park the Karma. Their bandmates include drummer Kerry Gluckman and guitarist Jake Smith.

Hey, you can 'beam me up' to these local fanzines

Jill Hamilton

This column has mentioned topics like environmental degradation, Rush Limbaugh and the proliferation of strip malls, but the thing that got readers most riled up was a comment on the lack of fanzines around these days.

None too surprisingly, everyone who was irate about the subject happened to produce a fanzine of their own. So, in the interest of keeping the peace, here's a look at some of the 'zines produced right here in our own backyard.

For those who don't know what the heck we're talking about here, a little review is in order. Fanzines are tiny magazines, usually printed with a ditto machine, that are written by folks with a yen for publishing and a little extra time on their hands.

For a full list of fanzines from around the world, write to: Factsheet Five, 6 Arizona St. Rensselaer, N.Y. 12144-4502. While you're waiting for that list, try one of these 'zines:

U2 And Them Some (send $1 to Amy Johnson, 14154 Hubbell, Livonia 48154) — As you may have guessed, this small booklet is dedicated to extolling the virtues of U2. But, since U2 hasn't put out an album in several years, Johnson fills her pages with other tidbits of info like a reader survey (sample question: How many times did you see the movie "Ghost Dad?") and the music from the theme song to "Green Acres." The style is perky stream of consciousness. In Johnson's letter to "Left of Center," she complimented this column, saying "I sort of really enjoyed it." Gee, thanks, I guess.

Protect Yourself — A Woman's Survival Guide on Campus (send $1 to Allen Salyer, P.O. Box 1551, Royal Oak 48068) — Kudos to any man who can put out such a serious anti-rape 'zine. This earnest booklet advises women how to avoid rape with a slew of tips and article clippings. Their motto is "Read this. Copy it. Pass it along to a friend. Protect yourself. If it offends you — too bad."

Infantazine (send $1 to 501 Avis Drive, Suite 1, Box 130, Ann Arbor 48104) — Every part of this 'zine is sure to offend someone. It treads the line between funny and disgusting. Their motto is "Something to read." The style is the rantings and ravings of a madman. Sample article title: "How and Why to Hate the Aliens". The troublesome thing is, the author seems to be serious.

Hailing Frequency (U.S.S. Intrepid, P.O. Box 1094, Dearborn 48121) — This isn't really a fanzine, but it's the newsletter for the local Star Trek club. "Lt. Commander" Lorraine Hefner describes the club as an "alternative life style that we hope will lead to peace, caring for humanity, scientific discovery, advances in education and wholesome social interactions." Sentient beings who believe that "Star Trek" is more than just a TV show, but rather a set of guidelines to living one's life should contact the address above.

A few months ago, State Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, introduced legislation to establish a Michigan Registry of Bothersome Practices. The tongue-in-cheek resolution would allow folks who are bothered by things like junk mail and those little subscription cards that fall out of magazines to get them officially registered with the state. The resolution is currently "in committee" where Bullard guesses "it will most likely never see the light of day again."

But if it does, here are some suggestions of bothersome things for the registry:

(1) Unfunny comic strips like Garfield and Funky Winkerbean. The Hall of Famer in this category is Nancy.

(2) CD maxi singles with seven remixes of the same song. Listening to the same song seven times in a row is not healthy.

(3) The cost of food at the movies. It works like this: The "wee junior drink" is two bucks, the large drink is $2.50. So, you opt for the good value and end up with the obscenely huge bucket o' pop and hungry man, family-size barrel o' popcorn. What a bargain.

(4) Infotainment TV shows. I'm hoping that these show peter out from lack of material. After all, there are presumably a limited number of brutal crimes involving strippers.

(5) Local TV News. The hair-do's, the egos, and the lack of any actual news are bothersome enough but the worst part of these shows is their preoccupation with violent crimes. If on a given day, they don't meet their quota of local violent crime, they will show footage of violent crimes that happened in other cities.

The other thing is their copycat mentality. A few weeks ago, there was a plane that almost crashed at Metro Airport. It didn't crash or anything, but since the all news crews were already down there, they kept covering the non-event.

Every 15 minutes or so, they'd break into regular programming to say something like, "We're at the scene of the place where the plane almost crashed. The plane is still fine and everyone is still unharmed."

To beef up this kind of thorough news coverage, they interviewed bystanders who had witnessed that, indeed, the plane did not crash.

If you know of some bothersome practices that you'd like to gripe about, jot 'em down and send them to Left of Center, The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

The Cat's Meow

FJ Designs have copied from various buildings — mostly stores, churches and schools which have a lot of character and historical significance — from throughout the United States for its Cat's Meow Village, so named for the little black cat painted somewhere on each piece. The latest additions are the Franklin Cider Mill and Franklin Community Church, painted and silk screened on half-inch thick, 4- by 5-inch blocks of wood. The Franklin pieces are priced at $10.95 each, with a gazebo available for $6 as a companion piece for the Franklin Community Church. They're available exclusively at Concourse Card and Photo in the Bloomfield Plaza, Telegraph and Maple roads, Bloomfield Hills.

Solid handles are transformed into key rings ($15.50) and barrettes ($18), while hollow handles serve as vase pins ($25). They available at the Apple Wreath, 32626 W. Seven Mile, Livonia.

New from Discovery Toys where children learn to experience the world around them, the recycling truck (from Germany) features durable rubber wheels that will explore all terrains, two recycling containers and a manual dumper at the back for emptying out the bins. In bright primary colors, the recycling truck will give your child hours of fun while using gross motor and life skills.

STREET SENSE
Marriage is a commitment

Barbara Schiff

trained therapist and experienced counselor, write to Street Sense, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

Dear Barbara,

Wow, you struck a nerve with your last column on abuse, but I want to go back to your latest column. Mike from Birmingham is a good example of the old double standard. Women who supplement sexual intercourse with masturbation are perceived as nymphomaniacs. Men, on the other hand, are just "boys being boys." I think Mike needs to grow up and realize that masturbation with the help of porno films isn't normal behavior.

Sue from Westland

Dear Sue,

Thanks for the note. Thanks especially for giving another opportunity to comment on masturbation.

To refresh the readers' memories, Sue's note refers to a column published a month ago. A woman wrote that she wanted to break up with her fiance because she found him masturbating to a pornographic film. She was raised to believe this was wrong and was disgusted by it. I advised her to follow her instincts and break up with him.

Mike from Birmingham then wrote to say he was vehemently opposed to my advice. He stated that masturbating is a normal behavior and that the woman in question was intolerant. He was even more incensed by my approval of her intolerance.

This is a complicated issue. I hope today's column will clarify how I think of it. Yes, Mike, masturbation is a normal behavior for men and women. If you are single, then enjoy your sexual pleasures as you like. The woman who wrote was contemplating marriage. When such a commitment is explicit or implicit, the frame of reference changes. Now you have become part of a two-person society, and this is a problem of two people.

Ideally, marriage can provide a unique experience for mature intimacy. It can offer an opportunity to achieve the security to be fully giving with another person. This level of maturity and intimacy cannot be achieved through self-stimulation. If one spouse is able and willing to relate in a thoughtful and sensitive manner, then behavior not in kind by the other is hurtful.

If you are a person who desires a relationship at this high level, then my advice is not to settle for someone who is clearly not interested.

To repeat, I hope this clarifies this difficult subject.

Barbara

Dear Readers,

The column on Sept. 16, in which I asked you to write in with stores of women who were willing to put themselves in danger resulted in an outpouring of letters. This may illustrate how prevalent abusive relationships are among readers of this column or in this culture.

Therefore, for the next few weeks, the letters will be printed without comment. All of the women who wrote deserve to be heard, many of them exposed their deepest fears for the first time in their lives.

I want to make it clear that any letter sent to me is absolutely confidential. This can be accomplished in two ways. One, writers can change the demographic facts in the letter they send so they will not be recognizable, or two, it can be written naturally, which I prefer, and I will change any identifying details so that anonymity can be preserved.

I hope many of you will contribute your personal reactions to the following letters, and when all of them have been published, I will print my personal reactions and yours. I also hope that in the future, readers will continue to express themselves as these women have. The benefit to other readers could be more than my comments.

Barbara

Dear Barbara,

Your Monday, Sept. 16, Eccentric article re: "Luck — Abuse" has prompted this letter.

Until comparatively recently, abuse of women has never been brought to light. Today there are articles and still more on the subject and rightfully so. Having lived with a verbally abusive man for 40 years, I have a question for you. WHY is the male so often like this? Perhaps if one had some insight to HIS problem, one could cope.

Why am I still with him? In my day, perhaps, a matter of pride in not letting the world know that my marriage was hell, that I had made a mistake, that divorce was so uncommon and such a social taboo, that working women (of people I knew) was unheard of then, the responsibility of financially raising children alone was terrifying.

In my case, I cannot understand his need to blame me, to undermine, to demean and humiliate. I never know at what second he'll "blow up," leaving me shattered and 'devastated. I'm always on guard. All it has accomplished is for me to withdraw. What has he gained and why has he robbed me of a loving, companionable relationship?

I feel he has and will always betray me in any situation, particularly in front of the children —, hence one can't expect much respect from them.

Am I really a woman of low self-esteem? Am I a female wimp or nurturer always hoping for something better? (When do I give up?)

Why his need to dominate, to control? What is this in the structure of so many males? What do they think they gain — certainly not the respect that they seem to be seeking.

Kenneth Branagh ponders the fate of England as he contemplates the impending war with France in the film he also directed, "Henry V," now available at video stores.

Fantasy fuels an uneven 'Miracle'

tickets please
John Monaghan

In an Irish seaside village, teenagers Jimmy and Rose follow strangers from the train station and fashion elaborate stories about their lives. When a beautiful blond woman blows into town, their imaginations race.

Jimmy thinks she has killed someone and has come here to run away from the crime. Rose considers the story overly melodramatic, but encourages him when he tries to uncover the truth.

The story that follows could have easily fallen into a sappy teenage male fantasy, another "Summer of '42." But "The Miracle" is something else entirely: an often compelling, ultimately disappointing examination of fantasy, reality and the power of raw emotion over solid storytelling.

I was more or less prepared. Irish-born Neil Jordan previously wrote and directed "Mona Lisa," a complex underworld story that offered style over content. "The Miracle," playing exclusively at the Star John R in Madison Heights, is considerably more personal.

THE FIRST half hour hums along solidly. Niall Byrne and Lorraine Pilkington are extremely entertaining as two kids bound together by their imaginations. They've tried to develop a romantic relationship, but are such good friends that kisses leave them cold.

The entrance of Renee (Beverly D'Angelo) shakes things up for both of them. While Jimmy pursues her, even prays to a statue of Jesus that he will get her in bed by the end of summer, Rose sets out to tame an animalistic young elephant trainer from the visiting circus.

Renee does have a tainted past. You sit there for almost an hour knowing her secret and groaning because she refuses to reveal it to Jimmy. If judged solely on the merits of its script, "The Miracle" would be an all-out flop.

But director Jordan and his talented cast make the best of the often inspired moments, including the musical ones. D'Angelo has a fine voice and belts out a pair of Marlene Dietrich standards from "Destry Rides Again," a stage version of which brings Renee to town.

The film more or less succeeds in creating a credible relationship between Renee, who is almost 40, and the teenage Jimmy. When she is asked to volunteer a song at an after-show party, he quietly sneaks behind her and accompanies on piano. He possesses an amazing talent for music, as well as a fiery Irish temper.

IRISH ACTOR Donal McCann plays Jimmy's father, a saxophonist with a mediocre bar band. He is both proud and vexed by his son's natural talent and further frustrated when he discovers the object of the boy's affection.

As individuals, and sometimes together, the characters are well-drawn and believable. Ultimately, you have to give the film a lot of breathing room. For me, it helped to consider the romantic melodrama as an altered, hazy product of these teenagers' very fertile imaginations.

SCREEN SCENE

Barnagh: Good as 'Henry'

When the English needed a morale boost while World War II was raging, Laurence Olivier provided just the movie with his version of Shakespeare's "Henry V."

Here was a hero of epic proportions, a king who lead his outnumbered army to kick some French butt and gaining French provinces to which Henry had hereditary claims through his mother. No need to mention that Henry died 7 years later at age 35 and all the territory he won was lost. You take comfort where you can find it.

Actor-director Kenneth Branagh downscales the size and pagentry somewhat as he tackles "Henry V." That's not to say he doesn't want to create a larger-than-life character. Branagh, not a large man, makes a big first impression entering into the great hall back-lit and with his face shadowed.

The crown prince who had given his monarch father so much consternation, now has some nobles concerned about his ability to rule. But the lords and knights soon learn that it isn't the fun-loving Prince Hal on the throne.

And the nobles certainly had plenty of cause to be concerned about their new monarch. Just look at the company he kept.

BRANAGH, WHO adapted the play for the screen, and now video, does a nice job blending scenes of Henry, Falstaff, Mistress Quickly and the rest of the crown prince's gang into reminiscences and memories. For Falstaff and the others, Hal's a friend, but there is no love for King Henry.

Most of that group ends up badly one way or another. They never understand what the young king clearly grasps. However fond he is of his old friends, with their less than sober and honest ways, he has to distance himself if he is going to be a strong ruler.

Branagh does a good job showing Henry's sense of loss at putting away his youthful antics and taking on the heavy responsibility of a ruler. It's like a right of passage to being king as he weeps at the battlefield hanging of an old friend for thievery.

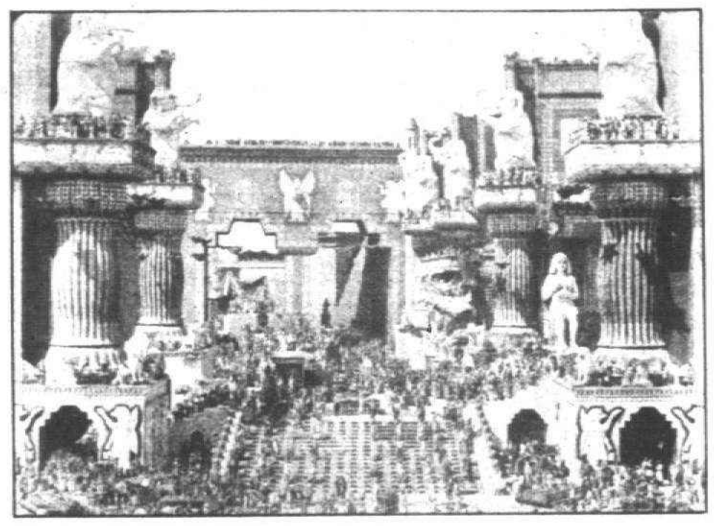
Starting with the sound of horses' hooves in the fog and the whistling waves of arrows, the battle scene at Agincourt is stirring. Branagh, down in the mud and blood in the thick of battle, rallies his small army to move "once more into the breach."

The film is filled with terrific supporting performances by veteran British character actors such as Brian Blessed, Ian Holm, Alec McCowan and Robert Stephens. The wonderful Derek Jacobi opens the film with the prologue on an open stage — wearing a '40s-cut topcoat — and provides running commentary throughout.

PAUL SCOFIELD brings a weariness to the sad-eyed, dignified king of France, whose arrogant, thick-headed son pulls him into a war he senses will end badly for his country.

In his scenes attempting to woo a French princess to solidify his holdings on the continent, Branagh turns on the boyish charm and self-deprecating humor. He fast-talks the princess (played by real-life wife Emma Thompson), whose grasp of English is limited.

The movie is well-paced through Branagh's direction and adaptation of Shakespeare. As with other Shakespearian histories, a little reading about the events beforehand usually helps.



Declared D.W. Griffith's greatest work, a restored version of the silent film, "Intolerance," with an orchestral performance of the original film score, will be shown at the Michigan Theatre in Ann Arbor Saturday, Nov. 2.

Pumpkins aren't just for carving

I can remember when pumpkins were big orange balls that had a couple of eyes, a triangular nose, and a toothy grin that stretched from ear to ear.

We spread out newspapers on the basement floor, cut a large circular hole in the top and — yuck! — started the "scooping" of the seeds that never tasted the same when mom baked 'em as when they were bought at the store in 10-cent packages.

After we were covered with "pumpkin guts" to our elbows, we carefully traced the facial design we wanted.

For some odd reason, my pumpkin eyes were always a little crooked and most of the teeth broke as we tried to push out the cut form.

TRY AS WE might, we could never understand why the dome lid always shrunk after being scorched with a candle.

Speaking of the candle, can you remember a special ride to the five and dime just to get a small votive-type candle?

Needless to say, many years passed before I realized that there is more to pumpkins than just jack-o-lanterns.

And it wasn't just a simple old pumpkin that piqued my culinary curiosity. I can remember the first time we tasted persimmon; we thought our mouths would freeze into an eternal pucker.

Why did a fruit that looked so ripe taste so bitter? Ah ha! Persimmons are one of those strange foods, like spinach, that all grown-ups would use to torture children into eating.

I can't ever remember liking pumpkins or persimmons as a kid, just knew that I "had to try" them, as momma also persisted. I'm glad she insisted, because now is the season to really enjoy these unique fall bounties.

THESE TWO autumn favorites now have a permanent place in my cooking repertoire. Variety is my key.

Pumpkins turn into a hearty "stick-to-your-ribs" soup, and creamy smooth casseroles with walnuts.

Persimmons make great jams, jellies, breads and cookie bars.

The persimmon season is relatively short, but since the puree freezes beautifully, it is possible to cook with persimmons all year round. Simply cut the fruit in half, scoop out the pulp, remove the seeds (if any) and mash by hand, or use a processor.

Three persimmons will yield about one cup of puree. Be sure the fruit is very ripe.

It should be almost red and fairly soft, yielding just ever so lightly when squeezed.

Pumpkins are available for a considerably longer period; anyone who has tried the fresh pumpkin puree knows that it has a flavor all it's own.

However, if you find yourself short on time, canned pumpkin is acceptable — but only in the case of a real emergency.

THE SMALLER pie pumpkins make the best eating squash in town. They can be boiled, microwaved, or baked similar to an acorn or Hubbard squash.

If you think a fresh pumpkin pie makes your mouth water, fresh pumpkin, topped with a little butter, a sprinkling of brown sugar, and a sprinkling of cinnamon and nutmeg is almost like heaven.

Pumpkins and persimmons are appearing in just about every grocery and produce market this time of year. Pumpkins will be available until the end of November.

Persimmons will be available until sometime in early December.

Pumpkins and persimmons are as much a part of autumn as falling leaves and frosty mornings.

Krystal Raub (left), Gundella and Ashley Raub present Halloween treats - apple butterscotch pie, meatloaf sandwiches, fruit slaw, and apple pork meatloaf.

TRICK-or-TREAT

Serve up apples and a slice of the future

By Marion Kuclo "Gundella"
special writer

BEFORE THE arrival of Christian missionaries, the religion of Scotland was Druidism. The tenets of that religion were never written down, but passed generation to generation by Druid priests who had committed them to memory.

Early Celtic people, celebrated the rites of Druidism publicly, and although the original meaning of these rites may have been forgotten, many have survived to this day as folk customs. The observance of Halloween is one example.

CELTS BISECTED the year at Betane (May 1), and Samhuinn (Nov. 1), which marked the beginning of summer and winter. They celebrated these days with festivals that began on the eve before.

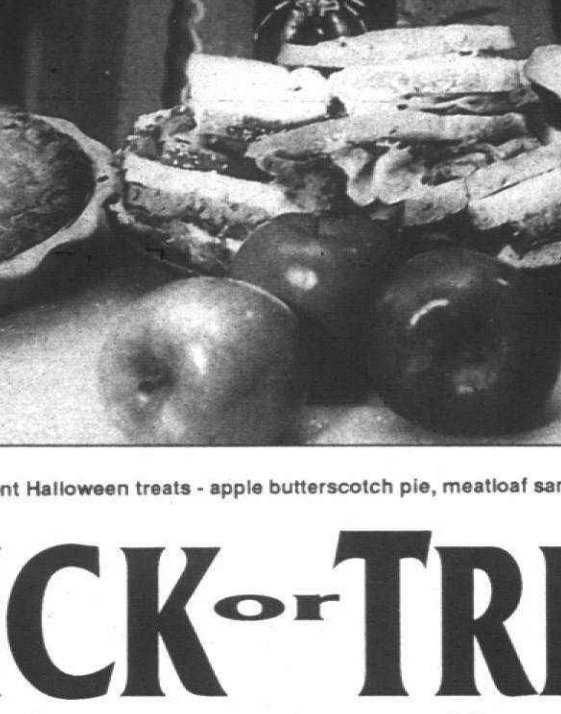
Samhuinn (or Samhain), marked the entrance of winter, the season of the earth's death-like decay. Thus, it became a day of remembrance of the dead. It was believed that the souls of the departed were apt to revisit their old homes during this season.

Combine this with the fact that Oct. 31 is one of the four major witches' sabbaths of the year, and it is easy to see the connection between ghosts and witches with Halloween, as we know it today.

Samhuinn is still an extremely popular festival. It is widely celebrated in Scotland and the United States by people who don't know its origin, or believe in ghosts or witches.

In Scotland, apples are associated with Halloween as strongly as pumpkins are here.

EVEN IN the United States apple cider, candied apples and bobbing for apples are often part of the observance of this special day.



Ashley Raub can't wait to eat fruit slaw and apple pork meatloaf.

Apples are also frequently given as treats to the little goblins who come begging at the door.

Halloween is, of course, always a popular time for the telling of fortunes. In Scotland apples are used in many ways to foretell the future.

A girl can take several apple seeds, naming each with the name of a prospective suitor and place them near the fire, waiting to see which is the first to pop. That will reveal the name of the one most likely to be in her future.

At the hour of midnight, you can take an apple and go alone into a room with a looking glass. Cut the apple into nine pieces. Standing with your back to the mirror, eat eight pieces, and throw the ninth piece over your left shoulder.

Then turn your head over the same shoulder, and look into the mirror. There, you will see the face of your future mate — or, so the story goes.

IN OLDEN DAYS, a game called "the apple and the candle" was played on Halloween. A small wooden rod was suspended at the end of a cord, and hung from the ceiling. A lighted candle was fastened at one end of the rod, and an apple at the opposite

The rod was then set twirling. Each person took turns trying to bite the apple, without burning himself or singeing his hair on the candle. Of course, he could not touch either the rod or the apple with his hand.

Nowadays, fire is eliminated from this rite, and the apple alone is hung by a string from the ceiling and swung to and fro, while the participants attempt to catch it in their teeth.

Halloween refreshments always include several apple dishes, since this is the time of year when they are at their best and are most plentiful.

Prize-winning cook shares secrets

JIM RIDER/staff photographer

Eleanor Froehlich shows off the Recipe Endorsement she received from Better Homes and Gardens magazine.

By Keely Wygonik
staff writer

What is relaxing to one person is sometimes work to another. We all know people who sew beautifully, play a musical instrument, or make things.

Eleanor Froehlich of Rochester whose recipe for Baked Deviled Orange Roughy was featured in the September issue of Better Homes and Gardens Magazine, makes jewelry, sews, and enjoys attending the symphony and other cultural events. But her favorite pastime is cooking, and entering cooking contests.

"WHEN COOKING is a hobby you don't think of it as work," said Froehlich a retired Birmingham Groves High School English teacher who likes to enter, and frequently wins cooking contests.

"I've always been interested in cooking, ever since I was a young child. My mother didn't like to cook. She was happy to have me take over in the kitchen."

Her talents know no bounds. Froehlich has won prizes for her entrees, salads and desserts. She enjoys cooking ethnic dishes including German, Italian and French.

In 1984, she entered her first cooking contest. "I liked the challenge, you had to create a recipe using three products — an Armour product, a Leroux product, and Silverstone cookware."

She created a Dutch Pancake with spiced apples, bacon and a liqueur syrup topping that was cooked in a Silverstone pan. The entry took first place.

Although cooking contests are for amateurs — rules disqualify professional chefs and people who work in the food industry — it's not an easy thing to do.

Recipes must be original, use the sponsor's product, be made with easily obtainable ingredients, not be too involved, and have wide appeal.

Her secret tip for people thinking

Humor brings Frog's Leap Winery recognition

focus on wine

Eleanor and Ray Heald

Most wineries have a "founding" story to tell. None is more humorous than that of Frog's Leap Winery.

The winery's name, a take-off on California's famous Stag's Leap Wine Cellars in the Napa Valley, bespeaks the good humor of owners John Williams, his wife, Julie, and partner, Larry Turley.

Winemaker John Williams details his story back to his family roots in New York State dairy country. As a Cornell University sophomore majoring in agriculture, he ran out of money and accepted a work/study program with an assignment in Hammondsport, N.Y., at the Taylor Wine Co.

"EVERYTHING ABOUT wine was instantly appealing," Williams said. "It was a perfect blend of my agricultural interests, family tradition and history. My work experience caused me to revise my major to an enology/agriculture degree."

In 1975, during his senior year spring break, Williams secured a $69 Greyhound Ameripass and visited California's Napa Valley for the first time.

"The trip out took five days," he recalls. "I planned to camp in Napa's Bothe State Park, but it was full. I noticed an abandoned farmhouse across the road from the park and pitched my tent there for the night.

"Early the next morning, I was awakened by the roar of a motorcycle. My tent flap was ripped open by this six foot, six inch man who queried, 'What the hell are you doing on my property?' "

The property owner was Larry Turley, a San Francisco physician who had owned the parcel for only a week.

"In an attempt to appease his anger, I offered him some wine that I brought with me," Williams said. "I told him my story and this was the start of a friendship that led eventually to Larry becoming my partner in the winery venture."

FOLLOWING GRADUATION from Cornell, John enrolled in the UC Davis enology program and took his first winemaking position in New York State. After three years, he moved back to California to become a winemaker at Spring Mountain Vineyards.

On the side, Turley and Williams were making homemade wine. "By 1981, Larry wanted to make so much wine, I said, 'Go get a license,' " Williams said. "He did just that, then announced to me that we were 50-50 partners."

The partners raised the start-up capital by selling their motorcycles for $5,000 each. That year, they produced the winery's first 700 cases of wine. In 1988, Williams left Spring Mountain to become full-time winemaker at Frog's Leap Winery.

The humorous "frog" label and motto, "Time's fun when you're having flies" together with the word "ribbit" imprinted on each cork, brought immediate attention to the wines.

While well-placed humor continues to attract consumer enthusiasm, Frog's Leap is seriously engaged in organic grapegrowing in its vineyards. The seven growers used as additional sources of fruit are also practicing organic techniques, where among other specifications, composting has replaced organic fertilizer.

Recently, Frog's Leap Winery was officially recognized as a California Certified Organic Farmer.

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

Half of Frog's Leap's 24,000 case production is sauvignon blanc. "We're not in the business of turning sauvignon blanc into a chardonnay-style wine," owner/winemaker John Williams emphasizes. "On the other hand, overtly grassy sauvignon blanc is not my preference."

1990 Frog's Leap Winery Sauvignon Blanc ($12) confirms Williams' remark. Bright, melony fruit with pear accents greet the taster. Crisp, pear-like flavors dominate the palate with just the right touch of varietal grassy nuances. The finish is lengthy and flavorful.

1989 Frog's Leap Winery Zinfandel ($14) is approachable and eminently drinkable. "This is our pizza and pasta wine," Julie Williams maintains. Ripe blackberry fruit character with well-married oak make this an appealing and balanced red wine.

Goblins will gobble up apple delicious party treats

See related story on Taste front.

DIP FOR APPLE SLICES

½ lb. cream cheese
⅔ cups mayonnaise
¼ cup catsup
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons prepared horseradish
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon salt

Beat cream cheese and mayonnaise together until fluffy. Add remaining ingredients, and mix well. Chill. Serve as a dip for unpeeled red apple slices.

FRUIT SLAW

3 apples
2 bananas
½ cup French dressing
1 cup chopped celery
3 cups shredded cabbage

Wash and core the apples, but do not peel. Slice very thin. Slice bananas. Pour french dressing over the apples and bananas, and toss lightly with a fork. Add celery and cabbage. (Red cabbage is especially nice in this salad). Mix well. Makes six servings.

PORK AND APPLE LOAF

(This recipe is said to inspire romance, when shared with your favorite sweetie. But it is also good for putting the whole family in a congenial mood.)

1 egg well beaten
¾ cup evaporated milk
1 cup uncooked oatmeal

Combine these ingredients and let stand for ½ hour.
Mix together:

1½ lbs. regular bulk pork sausage (such as Bob Evans or Jimmy Dean)
1½ lbs. ground beef
2 tart apples (coarsely diced)
1 medium onion (chopped)

Combine with egg mixture and work in:

½ teaspoon rosemary
1 teaspoon accent (or favorite seasoned salt)
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon regular salt

Use your hands to mix well. Pack tightly into greased loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees, 1 hour, or until done. Serve hot with pork gravy or applesauce, or cold in sandwiches with your favorite mustard.

BUTTERSCOTCH APPLE PIE

Apples, peeled and sliced (enough for a well-filled 9-inch deep dish pie, piled high)
1 pkg. butterscotch pudding mix (not instant)
Pastry for a double crust pie
2 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons sugar

Place the apples in a bowl with the dry pudding mix. Toss until each apple slice is completely coated with pudding mix.

Put this apple-pudding mixture into a pastry lined pie dish, and cover with top crust. Flute edges, and cut vents in the top crust to allow steam to escape.

Brush top crust with milk, and sprinkle with sugar.

Bake 45 minutes, or until done, in a 375 degree fahrenheit oven.

Cooking champion offers tips about entering cooking contests is to make good use of the sponsor's product. It's also important to know your recipe, what it's supposed to look like at different cooking stages, and to carefully read the contest rules.

"I'VE BEEN in cook-offs where the ovens were 50 degrees off. Since I knew the recipe, I knew to turn the oven up," she said.

Where do ideas for original recipes come from? "I read and collect cookbooks," said Froehlich. "And I take what I learn by traveling and try to adapt the recipes to American cooking methods. Dining experiences can be inspirational. If I enjoy something in a restaurant, I'll try to duplicate it at home."

Her winning orange roughy recipe was a variation of a dish she had in a restaurant near Stratford, Ontario.

Primarily self-taught, Froehlich attends cooking classes, and watches cooking videos. She encourages novice cooks to keep trying, and not give up. "I learn through my own cooking. My garbage can and I have a lot of secrets," she said. Her advice to beginning cooks is:

"START WITH an easy recipe and read it thoroughly. Measure everything out, and put it on the kitchen counter in the order that it's to be used. That way you don't have to worry about starting a recipe and not being able to finish it because you're missing an ingredient.

"Once you get good results you'll want to start experimenting by changing recipes around."

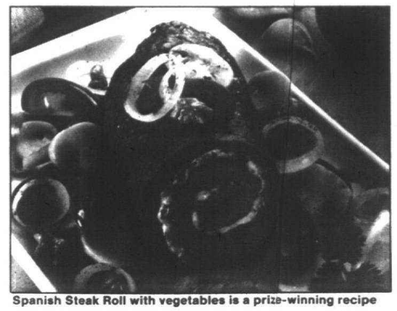
Simply elegant steak roll



Spanish Steak Roll with vegetables is a prize-winning recipe

The grand prize winner in the National Beef Cook-Off is entitled "Spanish Steak Roll with Sauteed Vegetables." The recipe, by Sandy Collins of Wheat Ridge, Colo., reflects the new American cuisine with a simple range-top version of a beef roll-up served with a colorful fresh vegetable melange.

For copies of the 1991 prize-winning National Beef Cook-Off recipes, send a self-addressed, business-size, stamped envelope to National Beef Cook-Off, 444 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill. 60611-9909.

SPANISH STEAK ROLL WITH SAUTEED VEGETABLES
Preparation time: 20 minutes
Cooking time: 9 to 11 minutes

1 ½-pound boneless beef top sirloin steak, cut ¾ to 1 inch thick
1 teaspoon garlic powder, divided
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
2 teaspoons vegetable oil, divided
1 teaspoon butter
¾ teaspoon salt, divided
1 each red and green bell pepper, cut lengthwise into thin strips
1 small white onion, thinly sliced
1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
½ cup chopped walnuts
¼ teaspoon chili powder
1 tablespoon dairy sour cream
1 can (4 ounces) chopped green chilies, drained
Lemon slices
Cilantro sprigs

Pound boneless beef top sirloin steak to about ¼-inch thickness. Sprinkle with ½ teaspoon garlic powder and pepper. Heat 1 teaspoon oil and butter in 12-inch heavy frying pan or griddle over medium-high heat until hot. Panfry steak 5 to 7 minutes for medium-rare (150 degrees F) or to desired doneness, turning once. Remove steak to heated platter; sprinkle with ½ teaspoon salt. Keep warm.

Add red and green peppers, onion, mushrooms and walnuts. Cook 2 minutes, stirring frequently. Add remaining ¼ teaspoon garlic powder, ¼ teaspoon salt and chili powder; continue cooking 2 minutes, stirring frequently. Spread steak with sour cream; top with chilies. Starting at long side, roll up steak jelly-roll fashion; secure with 6 wooden picks. Spoon vegetables around steak roll, garnish with lemon slices and cilantro sprigs. To serve, carve steak roll between wooden picks; remove and discard wooden picks. 6 servings.

Nutrient data per serving of steak roll and sauteed vegetables: 232 calories; 12 g fat; 468 mg sodium; 72 mg cholesterol.

Chili champ Paul Huyck of Farmington Hills said he had a "sensational" time at the World Cookoff Oct. 20 at the abandoned Tropico Gold Mine in California.

He didn't make the finals, but he's not discouraged. "What a party!," he said. "It was incredible. There were 87 cooks, most of them had competed in the world cookoff before. I was one of three people who were there for the first time. I definitely plan to try to requalify." Huyck said he learned a lot and talked to other cooks.

PAT WILHITE, office manager at the Lark restaurant in West Bloomfield, was one of the 111 World Cookoff judges. She'll be home on Monday.

Christmas is coming, and Ursula Rymart of Livonia is already thinking about cookies. She's planning to make a variety of cookies for a family party on Dec. 7, and wanted to know how to keep them fresh.

Lois Thieleke, home economist for the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service, said cookies can be frozen in air-tight containers. It's very important to make sure the cookies are dry, and completely cooled before you freeze them.

If you put the cookies in plastic freezer bags, get as much of the air out of the bag as possible. Air creates moisture. Don't freeze frosted cookies. Freeze the cookies, and frost them closer to the time you'll be serving them.

A reader called and wanted to know how long eggs and canned chicken broth keep in the refrigerator.

Thieleke said it's best to store eggs in the carton on the bottom of the refrigerator. They'll keep up to eight weeks. Eggs stored in egg keepers on the inside of the refrigerator door will keep one to one and a half weeks.

The American Egg Board has a new booklet on the care and handling of eggs. Send a self-addressed, stamped, legal-size envelope to The Incredible Edible Egg Number 33, P.O. Box 733, Park Ridge Ill. 60068.

If you open a can of chicken broth and use only part of it, pour the rest in another container. It will keep in the refrigerator for three to four days. Better yet, pour it in an ice cube tray and freeze it. When it's frozen, put the cubes in a plastic freezer bag, and you'll never waste another can of chicken broth again.

Marleen Allen of Redford is looking for a starter for sourdough. I looked all over, I'm still looking, and can't find one. If you've got a recipe for sourdough starter, please call — Keely Wygonik, Taste editor, 953-2105.

All's fare in air travel

Joe Hallissey, the dean of Detroit-area travel agents, calls it Creativity versus Insanity. We were at the fall meeting of the American Society of Travel Agents (ASTA) at the Hilton hotel in Windsor and the subject of the evening was air travel.

You have seen the insanity in action in newspaper advertisements: discount prices in big letters for one-way tickets that can only be bought on a round-trip basis, coupons, and a hundred other ways to fill airplane seats in a super-competitive travel world.

You, the consumer, tell the airline that price is your first priority, so they twist and turn to satisfy that need and still make a buck.

When you have problems with the side effects of discount pricing, you complain to your travel agent, who has no control over the process and must be a combined business genius and wizard to keep up with changing fare structures and stay in business.

IF YOU'RE confused about air fares, you're not the only one. I know many of the national public relations directors of the airlines; the standing joke among them is that they don't know what the fare is until they read it in the newspaper.

Hallissey, of Hallissey Travel Service Inc., is a former national president of ASTA, the organization that includes both active members, who are travel agents, and allied members, who are representatives of cruise lines, airlines, hotels, convention bureaus, etc.

Chapter Chairman Carlene Howe of Hudson's Travel Service introduced the airline panel to the group so they could bring us up to date. Alitalia has new $700 round-trip fares from Detroit to Rome via Chicago. Mexicana Airlines celebrates its 70th birthday this year as the oldest commercial airline in North America.

Northwest will complete its merger with Midway this month and starts working with Carnival Cruise Lines on trips out of Detroit in November. KLM starts twice a week non-stops from Detroit to Amsterdam in January.

American Airlines will start a Chicago to Berlin flight in April 1992. Delta celebrates the 20th anniversary of Walt Disney World with a new non-stop to Orlando leaving Detroit at 11:55 a.m.

TWA had business saver coupons for sale for a few days, so business travelers could fly round trip anywhere in the US for a maximum of $500. If you blinked you missed that one.

THE QUESTION period was particularly active at this meeting. Why do you keep advertising one-way fares? Allan Aikin for American Airlines: "Somebody cast the first stone and you have to match it." Carolina Miranda of USAir: "We advertised round-trip fares and they looked expensive against other one-way ads so we changed back." Rodney Johnson, Northwest: "Price is what gets the attention of the customer. We're all trying to get bodies on the airplane."

Are non-refundable fares refundable? USAir announced in August that they will let you retain the ticket for one year and apply it to future travel, with certain conditions and a minimum $75 service charge.

The general message: if it is absolutely essential that you change a non-refundable fare, you will get further by going through your travel agent than by going directly to the airline.

What about bereavement fares? Most airlines have them but make no mistake about this: they will expect you to deliver documentation about the hospital, funeral home etc. Don't kill Aunt Milly off just to get a refund, it won't work.

If I have any message for you in the middle of all this, it is to find a good travel agent, let him get to know you, let him help you. I've said it a hundred times: a travel agent is your best friend and he/she doesn't cost you a cent.

Pearl Harbor braces for anniversary

By Micky Jones
special writer

I was riding my bike down Glenn Avenue when a neighbor stopped me with news of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. Most mature men and women can remember exactly where they were and what they were doing when they heard the news on Dec. 7, 1941.

To commemorate the 50th anniversary of what President Franklin Roosevelt called "the day that will live in infamy," the National Park Service and the U.S. Navy have scheduled four days of special events in Honolulu for Dec. 4 through 7.

Sheraton Waikiki Hotel will be the headquarters for a convention of some 2,000 members of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association during that time.

Most of the special activities will take place at the U.S.S. Arizona Memorial Visitors Center in Pearl Harbor. The navy is preparing to handle as many as 25,000 visitors, expected to converge on the site during the four-day remembrance program. Free shuttle buses will carry visitors to the center from the parking lot of Aloha Stadium.

Participants and guests are expected to include President George Bush, Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney, several governors, senators and hundreds of members of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association. Specially honored will be the 50 surviving men who were actually on the Arizona when it sank, taking 1,177 crew mates to a watery grave.

MORE THAN 1,100 bodies remain entombed in the sunken battleship which lies beneath the glistening white memorial structure that was completed in 1962.

Half of the 2,403 people killed on the island of Oahu on that fateful day were on the U.S.S. Arizona. There were only 68 civilian casualties.

The Japanese attack was concentrated on the ships and planes in Pearl Harbor but six other military bases on Oahu were also bombed and suffered casualties during the early morning attack.

The National Park Service has planned special programs for each of the four days of the commemoration. The U.S.S. Arizona Memorial, which is about one-quarter mile offshore from the visitor center, will extend special consideration to U.S.S. Arizona and Pearl Harbor survivors and to the relatives of those who perished.

All programs will be free and will include several band concerts, guest speakers and a special dawn memorial service on Saturday, Dec. 7.

Two-thirds of the 150 seats on each Arizona Memorial shuttle boat will be reserved for survivors and relatives of victims so the general public may encounter extended waits for trips to the memorial and may not be able to visit on a particular day due to heavy visitation.

Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney will be the keynote speaker at a ceremony at the National Cemetery of the Pacific high on a hill overlooking downtown Honolulu.

THE CEMETERY, in Punchbowl Crater, contains the graves of thousands of servicemen and civilians who lost their lives in the Pacific area during World War II. Among the endless rows of granite headstones is that of Ernie Pyle, veteran of World War I and probable the best-known war correspondent of World War II. Nearby is a huge memorial structure containing maps and murals illustrating the major battles of the Pacific theater.

The U.S. Army Museum at Fort DeRussy is on Waikiki Beach between the Hilton Hawaiian Village Hotel and the Outrigger Reef Hotel. It contains weapons, artifacts and displays depicting military history from early Hawaiian warfare through to Vietnam.

The museum is housed in Battery Randolf, one of six Oahu coastal fortifications built between 1908 and 1915. It is open daily except Monday and the admission charge is right; it's free.

On a recent visit to Honolulu, I was invited to tour Pearl Harbor on an exclusive VIP launch operated by the U.S. Navy. Nicknamed "the Admiral's Tour," it utilizes a 31-passenger launch for a harbor tour including Ford Island, shipyards, the submarine base and a stop at the U.S.S. Arizona Memorial.

The two-hour VIP tour program starts at 9:15 a.m. on a small dock near Aloha Stadium every Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. The tour is available to active and retired officers of all services having the rank of Captain or higher, their immediate families, survivors of qualified officers as well as governors, senators, congressmen and their families.

CIVIC OFFICIALS, leaders of industry and commerce, the media and heads of major organizations such as the YMCA and the Red Cross also qualify for the V.I.P. tours on a space available basis. Qualifying individuals can make reservations by calling Petty Officer Green at (808) 471-9727.

Anyone planning to be in Honolulu during Pearl Harbor week this year should make hotel and rental car reservations immediately since both will be in short supply during the commemoration.

For information on the Pearl Harbor commemorative activities, contact National Park Service, USS Arizona Memorial, 1 Arizona Memorial Place, Honolulu, Hawaii 96818 or telephone (808) 422- 2771.

Day lives in infamy for many

"After exhaustive search it has been found impossible to locate your son Lowell Earl Valley, fireman second class, United States Navy, and he has been officially declared to have lost his life in the service of his country as of Dec. 7, 1941. The department expresses to you its sincere sympathy."

That is the telegram received by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Valley when their son died at Pearl Harbor. Lowell Valley of the USS Oklahoma, was the first citizen of Ontonogan, Mich., to lose his life in WWII.

We received that information from Lowell's sister Lillian Cassedday, who now lives in Niles, Ill., and apparently read our request for information about Midwesterners who had been at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese bombs struck on Dec. 7, 1941.

HERE IS a letter from veteran Robert P. Boys, whose son Terry R. Boys still lives in Bloomfield Hills:

"As a former resident of Farmington Hills on Wayburn West, I thought I would drop you a line. We left Farmington Hills 10 years ago and now live in Florida.

"I was on board the USS Maryland on Dec. 7 as 5th Division Topside Gunners Mate. We have been back to Hawaii several times and we have visited the Arizona Memorial. We would love to go for the services this year but don't think we can make it."

Janet E. Dufty, Caseville, Mich.:

"At the time Pearl was bombed we lived in Naval housing on Pearl. Luckily my Dad (being stationed at Pearl) was out on sea duty to the Philippine Islands on that fateful day, was returned to us safely, and was able many years later to retire, completing his Navy career.

"I remember the day vividly, watching the planes, bombs and bullet streaks in the air. My brother was only three weeks old at the time, being a colicky baby at night, he and Mom were still sleeping. I awoke Mom, insisting she come to my bedroom window and take a look at the activity. To this day I can see and hear her saying, 'My God, it's the Japs.'"

R.L. MITTELSTADT, Howell, Mich.:

"On Dec. 7, 1941, I was a crew member of the USS Maryland BB46. I enlisted in the U.S. Navy in October of 1938 and retired in February of 1959."

More Detroit suburban homeowners

The SPRING Newspapers' circulation more than doubles the daily suburban circulation of either The Detroit News or Free Press.

In fact, SPRING's suburban circulation is greater than the two metro dailies' combined.

And that's not all.

According to the 1991 Belden study, SPRING reaches more of the affluent suburban shoppers who have more—and spend more.

▶ 182,800 more suburban homeowners than the daily News (88,500 more than the Free Press).

▶ 171,000 more suburban Do-It-Yourselfers than The News (89,400 more than the Free Press).

▶ 100,600 (and 52,800) more suburban linen and bedding buyers.

▶ 64,400 (and 31,000) more suburban buyers of major appliances.

Simply put, one order in SPRING delivers more.

Shouldn't you be advertising in SPRING more?

To get all the facts, call your SPRING representative.

SPRING is the network of 50 Detroit suburban newspapers published by the Adams, Associated, Heritage, HomeTown, and Observer & Eccentric groups. Call (313) 953-2150.

HOROSCOPE

By C.C. Clark

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)
An important event will take place at work or school. To ease your mind, make certain you study and are well prepared for what might happen.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
It seems as though the whole world is in a bad mood, but it may be a case of not being careful about what you say. Listen to yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
All of a sudden it seems everyone simply can't live without you, which leaves you with little time for yourself. Evaluate your priorities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
You may feel pressured into making a decision regarding finances. Postpone the event, if at all possible, to a more optimum time.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)
Don't let other people's achievements get in the way of what you want to do. Worrying about what they have done will cause you to get off track.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
Try being a little less judgmental when dealing with a family matter. You may not be aware of the entire story. Finish half-completed projects.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Change is good in a relationship with a loved one, and you need to accept it. Just because you can't agree doesn't mean everything is over.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
Domestic tranquility is what you wish for, and it just might happen. Family members should be more open to discussion.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
You may feel a bit edgy; working around the house is just what you need. You'll be amazed at how quickly you can accomplish projects.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
Love relationships are improving for you. A close companion has some money-making ideas and you should take notice. Show your appreciation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
Romance is in the air for lucky Virgos. Be prepared to be knocked off your feet with some amazing facts you'll learn about a close comrade.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
You deserve some time off to have some fun and just kick back, but you may have to convince everyone else of that fact.

STAR NOTES

Busy Jay Thomas happy juggling jobs

By Steven Alan McGaw

Actor Jay Thomas (caustic Jerry Gold on Murphy Brown) has a full schedule and likes it that way. In fact, he's stayed busy since age 16, when he took a job doing stand-up comedy in nightclubs in his native New Orleans, unbeknownst to his parents. He's been on stage, or in front of a camera, or behind a microphone, ever since.

After a college-football stint that was plagued by injuries, Thomas dedicated himself to success as a performer. Moving to New York, he soon found a niche in many off-Broadway productions, including the hit Isn't It Romantic? and extensive work with the Playwrights Horizons group, alongside actors Patti LuPone and Ken Olin.

Coincident with his theatrical success, Thomas made his mark as a comedian and radio personality. When he moved to Los Angeles, Thomas continued to work in radio. His morning show on KPWR-FM is among L.A.'s most popular wake-up calls.

Television, however, is where the versatile performer has found his greatest success, first as Remo DaVinci on Mork & Mindy and a few years later as Eddie Lebec on Cheers. Thomas also played numerous guest roles on series including Family Ties and Almost Grown before landing the role of Jerry Gold on Murphy Brown. Whatever happens next, Thomas is sure to stay busy.

Ghosts and ghouls haunt cable this week

By Dan Rice

'Tis the season to be frightened, and Hallo-weirdness abounds. Higher-brained creatures have found appeal in the macabre since the dawning of the twilight, and the definition of horror has evolved along with society. The Victorian fear of sexuality found expression in the novel Dracula, and the Industrial Revolution created a loathing of a machine-crazed world that welcomed the films Metropolis and Frankenstein. On Tuesday, Oct. 29, A&E Stage presents Fear in the Dark, a study of our telling fears featuring clips from period horror films and interviews with filmmakers George Romero and Wes Craven, and novelists Stephen King and Anne Rice.

Scary creatures are yours to discover on The Discovery Channel Halloween night, Oct. 31, with three hours devoted to education about your trepidations and fears in Ghost, Ghouls and Goblins.

LET'S TALK

Where's Julia? Reader wants to know

By Taylor Michaels

Q: How could you print Kiefer Sutherland's address and not include the address for Julia Roberts as well? Please print her address in the near future. —Bill Davis, Austin, Texas.

A: Sorry about that; I try to answer only the questions I'm asked. Now that you've asked, you can write to Roberts c/o ICM, 8899 Beverly Boulevard, Los Angeles, Calif., 90048.

Q: I am a big fan of Cree Summer of A Different World. I would like to have an address so I can compliment her for her great work and inspiration. —Antonio Dixon, Selma, Ala.

A: You can write to Cree Summer c/o Carsey-Werner Company, 4024 Radford, Building 3, Studio City, Calif., 91604.

Q: A friend of mine told me Kevin Costner and Whitney Houston are working on a new movie — some kind of suspense thriller. She also said they will be involved in a romantic relationship. Is this true? What is the name of the movie? What is it about? When will it be released? —Linda McClain, Portland, Ore.

A: The movie is tentatively titled The Bodyguard. The movie starts shooting in November, so, barring any problems, it should be out in the summer of 1992. I haven't read anything about the plot, so I don't know if Costner and Houston will be romantically involved.

Q: Where can I write to Christina Applegate of Married...With Children? —Jeff Timmons, Corning, N.Y.

A: Write to Applegate c/o Columbia Pictures Television, 3400 Riverside Drive, Burbank, Calif., 91505.

Q: I really enjoy reading Danielle Steel's novels and was wondering if you could get me an address for her. —Lori Mattson, Hibbing, Minn.

A: Write to Steel c/o Dell Publishing, 666 5th Avenue, New York, N.Y., 10103.

Q: Can you please give me Christian Slater's address? —Samantha Williams, Greenville, N.C.

A: Write Slater c/o CAA, 9830 Wilshire Boulevard, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212.

Q: What happened to To Tell the Truth? It was one of our favorite daytime shows. We find ourselves watching less television since we get tired of so many shows being dirty. We miss clean, wholesome entertainment, the way television used to be. —The Richards, Keokuk, Iowa.

A: The game show with host Bud Collyer was canceled in 1967, then ran in syndication from 1969 to 1977.

As for the content of today's television shows, some folks would say they're trashy, while others (including myself) appreciate more realism than we got in Donna Reed and Leave It to Beaver. I want to see how a single mother of four feeds her children, keeps them from dropping out of school and away from drugs. I want to know how parents talk to their children about sex and how couples discuss birth control. Televison programs are not always pleasant, but then again, life isn't always peachy.

Julia Roberts

Q: Will Dark Shadows return this fall? I was very impressed with the new version of the show, as I am an old Dark Shadows fan. —Mark Davey, Chateaugay, N.Y.

A: There are no plans to return the NBC series, which starred British actor Ben Cross, to the air. It didn't have the ratings to keep it alive.

FAMILY FARE

'Way Cool' shows kids a way to fit in

By Chris Carpenter

By mixing a smattering of young, high-energy hipsters with a squeaky-clean rap duo and stirring in more than a dash of propriety for flavor, the new syndicated children's show Way Cool attempts to bake humble pie for the gumball group. Whether or not youngsters swallow it depends largely on how old they are.

The half-hour series consists of a hodgepodge of skits and music orbiting around a theme of the week. Humor is used as a tool to reshape potentially petrifying situations, and soon family, friends and mankind are laughing with you, not at you.

Kids the cast's age will likely realize the crises they face are more grown-up than the ones whitewashed on the show, but younger children may identify with the junior-high lingo (goob, knob, dude, etc.) and situations, perhaps absorbing a lesson in socialization in the process. We learn it's not the end of the world to have bad hair, be scared of spiders or speak in front of the class.

Special merit goes to the producers on at least two counts: not creating mere mind candy when it would have

Joan Van Ark of 'Knots' wins literacy award for portrayal

Joan Van Ark of Knots Landing was presented with the Star in Literacy Award by the Literacy Volunteers of America on Oct. 1. Van Ark was recognized for her performance as Valene Ewing, who helps an illiterate waitress learn to read this season on the series. Knots Landing airs Thursdays on CBS.

Speaking of the Ewings, where's J.R. now? J.R.'s real-life counterpart, Larry Hagman, recently finished directing "The Landlord," an episode of NBC's In the Heat of the Night, starring Carroll O'Connor.

Charles Dutton makes trouble for the man from the Outback in Crocodile Dundee II, airing Saturday on CBS.

On Fridays, David Keith plays a backwoods con man on NBC's comedy series Flesh 'n Blood.

Arliss Howard (Iran: Days of Crisis) is set to star in the new NBC thriller 'Til Death Us Do Part. Howard will play real-life hotshot prosecutor Vincent Bugliosi (known for putting away Charles Manson), who's intent on convicting a con man of a double murder. Co-starring in the film are Rebecca Jenkins, Embeth Davidtz and John Schuck.

Bugliosi received his law degree in 1964 from U.C.L.A. Of the 106 felony cases he tried in eight years as an L.A. prosecutor, he lost only one. He is also the author of the best seller Helter Skelter and And the Sea Will Tell, which was made into a TV miniseries last season.

This 'Northern' star has a twinkle in her eye

Actress is a down-to-earth discovery

By Suzanne Gill

The cover on the press material reads, "Elaine Miles, Star." Who?

Miles plays Marilyn Whirlwind, the unflappable angel of "line one" in Dr. Joel Fleishman's storefront office on "Northern Exposure," airing Mondays on CBS. Her qualifications for stardom are unorthodox, and her story is charming. . .

Miles never set out to be Marilyn, Hollywood's most successful American Indian actress had worked at a series of minimum-wage assignments, including a McDonald's job that lasted half a day, when she accompanied her mother to a Seattle casting call for the low-budget summer-replacement series.

"I was so proud," she says, of that first, fast-food job. But, "to work at McDonald's, you have to be quick.

"The lady put me on milkshakes. She said, 'That's easy for you to do.'

"That particular day, everybody wanted milkshakes. I was trying my best, you know, and she came back and said, "Elaine, can you speed it up a bit?' And I just looked at her like, 'I'm trying the best I can.'"

Milkshakes oozed on the counter and customers began walking out. The manager fired her, little knowing that the benign, wordless gaze she had witnessed would be the key to Miles' success.

A woman of few words, Marilyn Whirlwind relies on her poker-faced composure (which is known to give Dr. Fleishman fits) to achieve results. Neither defiant nor stoic nor martyr-like, Marilyn's outward calm gives her an air of good sense and, occasionally, indulgence that seem to have their source in an inner wisdom.

Miles probably wore that characteristic expression as she waited for her mother to audition for the part of Marilyn.

"I was just sitting there waiting for my mother and (the casting agent) talked me into auditioning for the part." Both women were called back to read for the producers, and Elaine got the part. Her mother was cast in a cameo role as Mrs. Anku, wife of the ailing medicine man. The arrangement suited them both, says Miles, because "my mom's got other things to do."

During her first day on the set in tiny Roslyn, Wash., Miles was awestruck as she met the other actors, particularly Barry Corbin, whom she remembered from "Urban Cowboy." But the full impact of her casting coup came with her first paycheck.

"I thought there was a typo or something. I thought, 'No way.' Because the most I ever made was, like minimum wage.

"I wanted to go buy everything. Seattle was there waiting; the mall was waiting for me." She intended to cash the check, but cooler heads prevailed.

"The lady at the bank, her name is Glenda; she's seen me grow up. She said, 'You've got to open a checking (account). 'I looked at her and said, 'Checking? You mean I can have a checking account?'"

Asked how she views the portrayal of American Indians in the series, Miles recalls some negative comments over an episode in which she appeared at a Cicely powwow in her own Cayuse-Nez Perce tribal outfit. Alaskan Indians were upset "because they do not have powwows up there." (Miles is a Women's Northern Buckskin traditional dancer.)

"I had to remind them that this is TV, you know. They have things on TV that don't relate to things that Caucasian people do, and you (white) people don't complain about that."

Such is the wisdom of Marilyn Whirlwind.
