Voters make the call in Monday's election

Whether your taxes go up, how many teachers lose their jobs, who sits on the school board and whether Plymouth-Canton students will be able to choose their own school are questions voters will decide in Monday's election.

Polls will be open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. June 8.

Superintendent John Hoben estimates that between 15-18 percent of Plymouth-Canton's registered voters will cast ballots. Voter turnout in the past has averaged 12-13 percent. Last June's election, in which voters renewed 17.74 mills and elected two board members, drew 11 percent of the electorate to the polls.

"I suspect we will have a moderate to normal election," Hoben said. "I think with six candidates running for the board, that certainly brings out more than if there was no competition. The millage issues I think will bring out a fair amount also.

As of Tuesday, 400 voters had picked up absentee ballots.

School officials have placed a 1.5mill, one-year tax increase proposal on the ballot, in hopes of decreasing the cuts needed to balance the 1992-93 budget.

The district levies a total of 36.15

A deficit of between $4.3 and $5.6 million is forecast for next year. The schools' budget will be $77 million.

If the millage fails, $4.9 million in cuts will be made. Staff cutbacks will include 56.5 teachers; five administrators; two clerical and 13 custodialmaintenance workers; 10 paraprofessionals (aides) and two special education teachers. Fees will be added and of education existing ones increased to help make Trustees l ends meet.

If the millage passes, $2.1 million cuts still will be necessary. Staff cutbacks would include 10 teachers; five administrators; and two clerical and five custodial-maintenance employees.

Voters will fill two seats on the board

Trustees Barbara Graham and E.J. McClendon are seeking re-election to four-year terms on the board. Challenging them are candidates Carol Bollman of Canton; Jack Farrow of Plymouth: James Mills of Canton and Marilyn

Barricaded gunman surrenders

 A 34-year-old drifter surrendered to authorities on Wednesday after refusing to leave a Canton motel. Based on a tip, police went to the motel to arrest the man on rape charges.

By M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

A barricaded gunman incident ended peacefully about two hours after it began at 7:45 a.m. Wednesday in Canton Township.

The ordeal began at the De Swan Village Motor Inn on Michigan Avenue at Belleville Road when officers and fugitive team members from the Michigan State Police attempted to deliver a warrant and arrest a motel employee.

Marvin Joseph Juen Jr., a 34-yearold transient formerly of Ypsilanti, was wanted on a first-degree criminal sexual conduct charge in Genesee County, said Canton public information officer Tammie Colling. Forcible rape carries a sentence of up to life in prison. Juen was to stand trial on the charge in March, but failed to appear in Genesee Circuit Court, said state police.

Authorities went to the motel after receiving a tip that Juen was there.

Shortly after Juen was found inside the motel office, shielded with bullet proof glass, he told police he had to get something. The manager then came out

Humanitarian duck lover gets stung by police

By RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

While trying to save a stricken duckling last month along I-275, a Canton woman received a ticket from the Michigan State Police.

Nina Wiswell was driving north near Warren Road at 3:30 p.m. May 2 when she saw one live duckling amid the carnage of his dead siblings on the left Wiswell turned around on one of those little roads that are supposed to be used by emergency vehicles only, but she was seen and stopped by a state trooper.

Wiswell trooper to help her save the duckling, but the trooper wrote her a ticket instead for turning around in an unauthorized area.

"He was emphatic in that he would not spend his entire shift looking for baby ducks," Wiswell wrote in a letter to the editor. "I went back to the freeway area and as I drove by, I found that the last baby mallard had also been done in by an automobile." (She said there were six dead ducklings and one dead female adult duck.)

Wiswell went to court last Monday and was fined $65 for using the freeway turnaround.

Told about the incident last Monday afternoon, Sgt. Harry Patton of the Northville post said the trooper did the right thing.

"That's fine and dandy (that people want to save animals), but they don't realize the risk they're taking by using those turnarounds," Patton said. "(Wiswell was) risking her life and somebody else's life for a duck. I don't feel sorry that she got the ticket because that's what the officer is paid to do."

Cantonite directs his efforts to making movies

Canton resident Jeffrey Conlon wants you all to watch channel 56 next Wednesday.

Conlon, 27, doesn't like to brag, but he directed the 30-minute documentary to be shown at 7:30 p.m. that night about the Ypsilanti High School Chamber Singers.

Comprised of the creme de la Ypsilanti Concert Choir, the Chamber Singers are bound for some sort of competition in Austria this summer and need a few more bucks to pay for it.

Conlon could also use a few more bucks, considering that his work these days is primarily that of writing film scripts and presenting them for sale to Hollywood types in California.

A Waterford-Mott High School graduate, Conlon got a bachelor's degree in fine arts from New York University four years ago and has since endeavored to see if there really is no business like show business, as Ethel Merman would have us believe.

While still at NYU, Conlon directed a 20-minute movie called "Game Point" that won him a modicum of attention from left coast movie industry types. The movie is about a street basketball player whose father has Alzheimer's Disease.

Conion got a bachelor's degree in fine arts from New York University four years ago and has since endeavored to see if there really is no business like show business.

Since "Game Point" came out, Conlon has mostly occupied his time writing scripts.

To date, Conlon has finished two feature-length scripts (120 pages each), one of which, called "Dusted," has been submitted to more than 15 people in Hollywood that Conlon met while promoting "Game Point."

"Most people liked the writing," Conlon said, but no one has yet decided to produce the story of two brothers, one a Texas Ranger and the other a crimi-

Conlon's other finished script is not quite as commercial. It's about a New York film student who writes a script for an old movie actress. Perhaps the script's biggest drawback where modern Hollywood is concerned, is its lack of a nubile

But Conlon doesn't care. "I'm not interested in making those kinds of movies," he said.

appliance shopping so much easier. And only Highland has it. The Highland Customer Advisor is a trained professional who earns his or her salary by making you happy-and earns it whether you buy the basic model or the top-of-the-line-or nothing at all. So there's no percentage in being pushy. No incentive to switch you from one product to another.

> No commission. No pressure. No kidding.

You won't believe the difference this makes. Instead of a salesman on your back-you've got an unbiased expert on your side.

Instead of someone who needs to hype-you've got someone who only wants to help. And when you're looking at a large black box full of chips and diodes, with a whole bunch of specifications on the side-honest advice really matters.

> We offer more choices. We offer more help.

At Highland, we have a bigger selection than anybody else in town. So there's at least a chance that you'll find yourself staring at a long row of appliances that look the same, but don't cost the same. Don't worry. The Customer Advisor has a highly-trained eye. Feature for feature, dollar for dollar, he can help you decide what's important to you-and what's an unnecessary expense.

Miracle of miracles, he might recommend a less expensive model than you were thinking of.

And here's another shocker. Nobody at Highland is going to try to scare you into buying more warranty than you need. Our Customer Advisors have no reason to recommend more than you need.

Nobody has a lower price. Nobody.

We check our competitors' prices constantly-to make sure we're the lowest. And they check ours. Anybody who wants to can drop a few prices, run a snap survey and say "Look, we're lower!" But you shouldn't assume that that's still true by the time you see it in an ad.

At Highland, we sell more TVs, more audio equipment, more video equipment and so on than anybody else in Detroit. One reason we do that is we self at a lower price.

If you buy something at Highland and then see it elsewhere for less-we'll give you back the difference. That's a lifetime guarantee. (Details in store.) And if you ever see a competitor advertise a price below ours, we'll give you a price that's lower still.

The best price. And honest advice.

It's a combination you won't find anywhere else but Highland. Our prices are pushy. Our people are not. Come see. Come save.

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

With freedom in mind and euphoria at heart, 1,100 Canton/Plymouth high school graduates have been cut loose from the tether of public schools this week, and various adults are taking pains to prevent anyone from getting killed in the process.

Last year they were successful, perhaps because less than three months before graduation Salem High School seniors Tamara Carlson and Michael Fullerton died after the car they were in hit a tree on Napier Road.

To date this year, no seniors have been killed in traffic accidents, so school district officials and police don't have that advantage this year as they inundate kids with words of caution. So far, said Canton High School Principal Tom MacKenzie, the students have been subjected to "two or three mini talks" on the public address system reminding them to be careful, take extra time at intersections and drive slowly.

Salem Principal Gerry Ostoin has done the same, but "the thing that works the best is to put your hand on their arm and say, 'Take it easy and use some sense when you're driving.

Of course, it helps if there are a lot of cops around too. Canton and Plymouth police officers parked their patrol cars around the two high schools on Wednesday when the seniors fled school for the last time, and Joy Road was closed to westbound traffic for 30 minutes.

"The presence of the police slows down some of the activity that might take place," Ostoin said.

Yet another roadblock on the way to death in a fiery crash is the school district's annual awesome party for graduates, to be conducted Sunday night after the graduation ceremony.

The party, which runs from 9 p.m. to 4 a.m., will include games, prizes, a disc jockey and dancing. For more information, call Farrow at 459-3769.

No on millage

Farrow, Graham best for board

oters on Monday are facing a 1.5 mill property tax request, a school board election and a ballot question on schools of choice.

The Observer recommends voters reject the property tax increase request and the schools of choice question. For school board, Jack Farrow and Barbara Graham are solid choices.

But first the millage request. We're opposed to the tax increase for the following reasons: · State legislators have school financing in chaos, and because of that the Plymouth Canton school district can't plan its budget for next · Local teachers turned down a delayed raise, whereby the 7 percent salary increase slated for this fall would be cut to 5 percent. The school board and administration failed to put the millage increase proposal on the ballot in enough time for the voters to understand the request. Overall, the board and administration just haven't responded quick enough. A key to obtaining salary concessions from the district's teachers was admistrators taking a similar deal. The administrators didn't decide to do that until late last week, after the teachers voted to reject the salary deal. It's just too late.

Voters should use a no vote on the millage proposal as a club to get the attention of the local school board, administration and state

the most realistic candidate of the six, is active in school affairs and is a parent with children in the schools

Farrow knows the state is getting out of the business of financing education. He's looking forward. He is the kind of person needed on the

The Observer also recommended Graham, but not without some reservations. Graham is suspicious of the teaching of sex education and AIDS in the schools. Those programs belong

However, she has been a forceful person on the school board; questioning school programs and helping to explain them to the public. Such a voice is needed.

Schools of choice is another matter. Under ideal circumstances, schools of choice would be a method by which parents could take back the schools from professional educators and force the schools to compete for students.

But under the present situation, choice is nothing more than the busing of students from ning for two slots on the school board. Farrow is one area to another. It won't improve education.

3 signal a stronger OCC board

aurence Imerman, Janice Simmons and Sam Yono stand out from the deep, talented field in this year's race for Oakland Community College trustee

We urge voters to support all three in the Monday, June 8, election.

Imerman, an attorney, impressed us with his thoughtful approach to college issues. We envision the Bloomfield Hills resident as a strong supporter of college technological programs, but not at the expense of sound liberal arts education. Imerman's long involvement with Optimist International, where he's served as a state officer, speaks of his commitment to young peo-

Simmons, vice president of marketing and public relations at North Oakland Medical Center, would appear to fill two needs. A former nurse, the Rochester Hills resident pledges to keep a watchful eye over OCC's many health care programs. As a public relations professional, she could also help guide OCC's marketing strategy - a critically important issue as state aid grows ever smaller.

Yono, a businessman who was recently appointed to the board, admits he's still learning his way as a trustee. We wish he'd become a more vocal member of the board, Still, the Novi resident appears to have a good initial grasp of what the college represents and how it can best serve the community. Area Chaldeans are justifiably proud of Yono's board status - he is also diverse, but stronger.

State trooper foils duck rescue

BY NINA WISWELL SPECIAL WRITER

oft, black and yellow down, a small brown duckbill. These are the characteristics of the mallard duckling in need of being rescued from traffic on the freeway

I was driving north on I-275 when I spotted the mallard near the freeway. He was wandering among his dead brothers and sisters. The family was destroyed trying to cross.

My heart raced. Thoughts ran through my head on how to save the duckling.

Seeing a safe opportunity to turn around and ence "Operation Duckling," my rescue efforts were foiled by a state trooper. He pulled to the side of the road and I beckoned him to follow. But to no avail, he pulled me over, Oh yes, the trooper will help rescue the baby duckling, I thought. My image of what a trooper represented overshadowed my distress. And I kept thinking he will help the baby mallard. As I waited, I watched as he swirled out of his

It didn't take long to shatter my image. Cold and distant, the low, deep voice only stated, 'Good afternoon, Ma'am. Give me your driver's license and registration." I repeated my plea for him to check out the little baby mallard.

Time was lost as he cited me on a violation described as "limited access highway - drove across median." He gave me a tedious lecture on the dangers of the highway. He spent additional time showing me his code/fine book. His priority at the time was misdirected as a hazard was still on the freeway. At any moment cars might try to dodge the baby duck thus creating dditional hazards and problems.

The trooper stated he would attempt to check on the mallard, but he was emphatic in that he wouldn't spend his shift looking for baby ducks baby children-yes, but not baby ducks.

I went back to the freeway area and found that the last baby mallard had been done in by

Seek real story behind census

nied the Census Bureau's recent release of the Michigan figures.

The rich are getting richer while the poor are getting poorer. Median income in Oakland, County, for example, rose a bit over the past decade, while inflation-adjusted incomes for Michigan residents overall fell nearly four percent. Bloomfield Hills families gained 30 percent; Detroit families lost 20 percent.

The big cause was the restructuring of Michi gan's economy away from good-paying jobs in neavy manufacturing. We lost nearly 10 percent of all manufacturing jobs over the last 10 years (Detroit lost 30 percent). Worse, the service jobs that replaced them neither paid as well nor had good benefits. Poverty in Michigan is increasingly concentrated in households headed by females with children. Nearly half such families with minor children are below the poverty level - twothirds if children are under 5.

Enter at this point, of course, Vice President Dan Quayle and Murphy Brown and the persistent political quacking about "traditional family values "

The main political move today seems to bemoan at length the decline of the traditional two-parent family. Fair enough. But have you noticed that most of those quickest to point the finger of blame never propose much beyond benign and noisy neglect to help out?

(This discussion forcefully reminds me of the comment made to folks who are so anxious to outlaw abortion in order to protect the unborn child: You guys are evidently more interested in the fetus before birth than in the kind of life the child will lead after it's out of of the womb.)

The big story about the census data - and one which the big city media of course missed - is the growth and prosperity of the suburbs regardless of the race or ethnicity of suburban-

Nationally, nearly half of Americans now live in suburbs. In Michigan, the communities showing population and income gains were nearly all suburban: Oakland County, Western Wayne County, Livingston County and communities around Lansing. Many of these communities are still largely white; indeed, the suburbs around Detroit are still among the nation's least integrated.

But change is coming. After all, an interest in finding a good place to raise kids, attend decent schools and live in quiet, safe neighborhoods is not confined to caucasians. Minorities of all kinds - blacks, Asians, Chaldeans - are making the move to the suburbs quietly and without big media notice.

It was not always thus

Twenty years ago, some suburban newspapers were running alarmist stories about neighpors protesting when Black families moved in

I remember a long meeting with my staff to talk over what to do. We decided that the race of those moving to the suburbs was irrelevant to the news. Most media now follow suit.

And, today, suburbs like Southfield are actively marketing their ethnic diversity. The population of Southfield's schools - more than half black, 10 percent Chaldean, two percent Asian and the rest white - is featured in promotional brochures and videos designed to attract families and teachers of varied racial backgrounds.

It's a big story hidden in the census numbers: from alarmist news stories to promotional videos. It shouldn't be overlooked amid all the hand wringing.

Millage is supported

n Monday you will be faced with two very important decisions that will make a difference in he quality of education for students within the Plymouth-Canton Commu-

This year, we are asking voters to approve an additional 1.5 mills for one year to help lessen the severity of cuts necessary to balance the 1992-93 operating budget. This request is for only

No one likes to pay additional taxes, and we don't like to ask for taxes. But the fact is, with the changes in funding for out-of-formula school districts, the future of our children is at stake. We need the additional funding to help maintain our educational programs for next year

We expect to have a $4,9 million budget shortfall for the 1992-93 school year. In order to balance the budget, staff cutbacks would include the full time equivalent of 56.5 teachers, five administrators, three clerical employees, 13 custodial-maintenance employ ees, 10 aides and 2.2 special education teachers.

An additional 1.5 mills for one year would raise approximately $2.8 million. This money would help reduce the number of layoffs and severity of budget cutbacks. If the millage request passes, our first priority will be to make restorations in the classroom so that we can maintain our educational programs. Cutbacks amounting to $2. million will still have to be made to balance the budget.

The cost of 1.5 additional mills is a small price to pay for the future of our school children. The cost to a taxpayer with a home market value of $100,000 is $75 a year or $6.25 a month.

The other major issue on the ballot is whether or not Schools of Choice shall be offered within the Plymouth Canton Community Schools. As your board of education, we do not support Schools of Choice. The main reasons we do not support this concept are because of the additional costs and the lack of educational value for Plymouth-Canton students.

Schools of Choice would require the purchase of additional school buses from a budget that is already in deficit. The additional operational costs reuired for transporting students, as well as the open-ended costs for administering Schools of Choice, would be a further burden on district finances. The state is mandating plan ning for Schools of Choice without pro viding adequate funding. We recommend that you vote no on the Schools of Choice proposition. On June 8, your vote on these two vital issues is important to the children of the Plymouth-Canton commu nity. The additional 1.5 mills will be used to maintain many of the educational opportunities for Plymouth-Canton students. The money you spend for this one year will be an investment in our community for years to come. All of the 1.5 mills will be raised n Plymouth-Canton and will stay in Plymouth-Canton.

Please make a positive difference in the education of the young people of Plymouth-Canton. Vote no on Schools of Choice and ves on the millage re-

Millage opposed

ou are to be highly commended by all concerned citizens for your exemplary editorial stand against the profligate Plymouth-Canton Board of Education budgetary poli-Surely, Superintendent Hoben could have demonstrated a stronger and clearer stand much earlier by recommending a voluntary 2 percent cut in salaries of all administrative staff. Had the teachers' union seen such a sincere effort on the part of the upper echelon, the entire financial problem would have been resolved without increasing the taxpayers' burden with additional

Shame on the board members who have failed to admit that the three-year teachers' contract negotiated in advance with a 7 percent annual increase was unwise - way beyond the annual inflation rate. And what is this shedding of useless tears about "Robin Hood" misery dealt the school district by the governor? Are our neighbors' children entitled to less education than our own? Who else should decide that question but the state? Wake up voters or you may find yourself really robbed and not by Robin Hood but by your board of education. Vote "no" on the millage increase on June 8th.

Kosteva wrong

t is hard to believe the state Legislature has devised a ridiculous scheme to take the hard earned tax money from the residents in one community and transfer this money to another school district where it could very well be totally wasted.

The taxpayers in the Plymouth Can ton community pay high taxes and work very hard, through their local gov ernments, to create a safe, pleasant atmosphere and a productive, efficient educational system which is attractive to both business and residential sectors. After all, your community is only as good as your school system.

What bothers me is that James Kos teva, who represents Canton in the state Legislature has voted for this ab surd tax base sharing plan. Maybe Kosteva thinks the Plymouth Canton schools should be punished for some reason; or else maybe the residents of Canton are not paying enough taxes As far as I know, Kosteva is the only member of the state legislature in western Wayne County whose school district is losing money, to vote for this

The idea that this tax base sharing plan is better than a court ordered plan does not make sense to me because it seems the courts are the only hope we have to save our tax dollars. At least temporarily, this plan is tied up in the courts; also, I do not believe anything could possibly be any worse than what the State Legislature has come up

Chiefs on verge of 2nd state crown

Plymouth Canton will play for the state championship in girls soccer for the second time in five years Saturday. The Chiefs won the Class A crown in 1988.

By DAN O'MEARA STAFF WRITER

Christina Stansell began her high school soccer career at Plymouth Canton playing for the defending state champion.

It has taken the Chiefs four years to reach the Class A final again, but Stansell and four other seniors can win a title themselves and also go out as champions Saturday.

Canton (18-0-2) is just one victory from an unbeaten season and its second state title after defeating host Brighton 3-0 in a semifinal game Wednesday.

The top-ranked Chiefs will play Rochester Adams (19-2-1) in the championship game 1 p.m. Saturday at Northville High School. Adams nipped Grosse Pointe North 2-1 in overtime Wednesday.

"I've waited four years for this," Stansell said. "I've waited entirely too long and worked too hard for it to end (short of the goal). Being a senior and this my last year - the last time for all of us playing together - we want to go all the way.

Brighton coach John Davis believes the Chiefs will do just that.

"I can't really see them being beaten in the final," he said. "They're a good, solid team. They've been in the top 10 all year, they play in a good league and they've played all the tough teams.'

The other Canton seniors are Danielle Meyka, Amy Tortora, Kelly Reeves. and Rebekah Raymor, but the Chiefs have relied on virtually all their players for a contribution this year.

Junior goalkeeper Jori Welchans and junior forward Leah Hutko played key roles again Wednesday. Welchans recorded her 13th shutout, and Hutko, who has scored a lot of big goals in the tournament, got two more against Brighton (20-2).

The Chiefs were outstanding on defense, holding Brighton star Becky Ketola scoreless. She had 46 goals this year, including seven in two regional

"She just ate up the defenses over there, so we were hoping to get her free Brighton coach John Davis said. "If (the defenders) weren't as fast, they contained Becky and limited her scoring opportunities."

Hutko scored the first goal with a fine demonstration of individual skill. She got the ball at midfield, turned the defender around and went behind her to go one-on-one with the keeper.

"I saw Tortora down the left line," she said. "I thought of going to her, but it looked like she was pretty well covered. I saw my defender coming at me and just decided to go around her.

The Chiefs led 2-0 at halftime after Tortora headed in a loose ball following a shot. Hutko got her second goal midway in the second half, taking a centering pass from Stansell and hitting a line drive into the net.

"We do that before all the games," Stansell said. "She sits in front of the net, I chip the ball from the corner, and she hits volley after volley. It's a goodluck thing and it's paid off the last few games."

Davis said Canton's depth, its ability to substitute and not lose anything in talent, was critical. That was evident in that the Chiefs played over the loss of starting forwards Britta Anderson (knee) and Colleen Connell (mononu-

Kelly Holmes was chased across the softball diamond Monday before her Plymouth Canton teammates managed to hit her with what remained in the Gatorade bucket.

Thus, it was left for the Chiefs to do in the postgame celebration what Belleville batters could not in the cilampionship game of the district tournament at Ann Arbor Pioneer.

The Tigers not only failed to chase Holmes from the mound but couldn't hit any of her pitches, either. Holmes tossed her third no-hitter of the season in leading Canton to an 8-0 victory and its first district

"I definitely didn't expect (the no-hitter)," she said.

"Last year it was 0-0 going into the fifth inning, and then they just attacked the ball. This year it was the other way around."

The Chiefs supported Holmes with 13 hits, and the first two hitters in the Canton order swung the mightiest bats. Dani Mortiere and Kate Strahan were among five players with two hits, and each had a double and a

"For Dani to have a bad first game (0-for-4) and come back and crush the ball like she did shows the way she plays the game," Canton assistant coach Larry Bober said.

Mortiere started the inning with a triple, Kate Strahan hit an RBI sacrifice fly and Sarah Schimmelpfenneg tripled and scored on Renee Dory's single.

"This is a unique team," Canton coach Jim Arnold said. "This team doesn't get going until the fourth inning. They're just slow starters. But once they get going, you can't stop them."

The Chiefs finished off Belleville (16-13) with six runs in the sixth. Mortiere and Strahan had RBI doubles, Dory and Nicole Sequin had single RBI and Julie Nicastri capped the rally with a two-run single.

Dory, Sequin and Michelle Metzger also had two hits apiece. Mortiere, who leads the Chiefs with a .422 batting average, and Schimmelpfenneg scored two runs each.

The Chiefs needed nine innings to dispose of Pioneer (26-5). Two errors by pitcher Lisa Lamberson allowed Sequin to reach base and advance, and she scored the winning run on Metzger's bunt single.

Holly Miller (two hits) doubled and scored Canton's first run with the help of a third-inning error. Holmes tossed a two-hitter and walked four. Lamberson allowed only five hits and one walk.

Rocks tumble in tournament openers

There will be no repeat performance for defending Class A baseball champ Plymouth Salem.

The Rocks were eliminated in the first round of the district tournament at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School when Belleville rallied to beat Salem 2-1 in eight innings Monday.

The Salem girls met the same fate in softball, losing 4-2 to Belleville in the first district game Monday.

Westland John Glenn defeated the host Pioneers 6-1 and claimed the baseball title with a 12-5 victory over Belleville. Plymouth Canton won the district softball championship.

"It's so difficult to defend a state championship, especially when it's something last year's team did," Salem coach John Gravlin said.

"We had a great pitching performance (from Chris Tomas) and wanted to play John Glenn in the final. We were just a little short on a couple things.'

The Rocks, who finished 15-10-2, were a competitive team that just missed getting a chance to play for the Western Lakes Activities Association title as well.

"I will remember the '92 team in terms of almost, Gravlin said. "This team was so close to accomplishing some great things. I'm not disappointed at all in the effort. We were just a little short.

Tomas went the distance Monday, suffering his first loss after seven wins and three saves.

At one point, Westland John Glenn coach Norm Hoenes feared the Rockets were headed for a loooong baseball season.

Derek Besco's two-run double off the center-field fence chased Coleman in the second inning and gave Glenn a 6-1 lead.

But Kirkey got in trouble in fourth and Belleville (18-8-1) closed to 6-5 when Coleman ripped a Besco, who was pitching to his second batter.

"He's one of the best around right now," Hoenes said, adding Glenn has good pitchers and that was never a concern this year.

And Salter is a hard sell. "In the past I've had kids trans fer in who were supposedly good players but they didn't pan out so I've always been hesitant about getting excited," Salter said. "Indoors Brian was hitting the ball well off the pitching machine but then again sometimes you look good in-

And applicants don't have to qualify as to income or assets.

But few doors are open to prospective borrowers

Just one lender, Reverse Mortgage Co., a subsidiary of Unity Mortgage Corp. based in Georgia, offers the FHA-insured reverse mortgage in metro Detroit.

That office opened in Southfield last month.

"The individual the program is geared for is an older adult who finds himself in a house-rich, cashpoor situation," said Brigit Green, branch manager for Reverse Mortgage Co. "Most likely, they're living on a fixed income supply that's not keeping up with the cost of living."

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development established a pilot program nearly three years ago to insure some 25,000 home equity conversion mortgages around the country.

Basic requirements

Applicants must own their homes free and clear or nearly so and actually live there. Green said.

A formula taking into account an applicant's age, the value of the house and prevailing treasury bill interest rates determines how much someone can borrow.

Normally, borrowers can tap a

Borrowers don't include mortgage proceeds as income and don't deduct accrued mortgage interest on annual tax returns. Green said.

Reverse Mortgage Co. charges a 2 percent origination fee and traditional closing costs like survey, title insurance, appraisal and credit re-

Borrowers or their estates never have to pay back more than what they get at sale even if the property loses value in time.

A session with a HUD-approved counselor is required of all applicants so they fully understand what they're getting into and to cover other personal finance options.

Why no action?

Lack of knowledge about the program and a hesitation to make a major financial move deter many prospective borrowers, Green said.

No one besides Reverse Mortgage is in the game here yet.

"I understand there's a demand. We think it's such a small part of the market we prefer to let other players fill that niche," said Michael Lubig, manager of the mortgage department for Standard Federal Bank, the largest mortgager in the state.

NBD is trying to launch a pilot program in the Chicago market, said Paul Swan, first vice president at the bank

"It's a complex product. It takes a lot of time and effort explaining the complexity of the program to the customer base," he said. "Conceptually, it has a lot of appeal. Practically, the market doesn't seem to be there.

"We think it's a loan that incorporates more risk than we're willing to take," said Al Marshall, manager of business development for First Federal of Michigan.

"We've never offered this product primarily because of involved accounting requirements necessary, said Ariadne Magoulias, spokes-woman for Michigan National Bank.

Awrey bakers: Bob Awrey, chairman, and his son, Tom, president, have steered the familyowned bakery through some trying financial waters since last October.

Bakery eyes turnaround from sour

After re-establishing the Detroit retail trade, Bob Awrey is looking at boosting sales to push his factory operation to full capacity.

A new watch and a fresh start go hand in hand for Bob Awrey and the Livonia bakery that bears his name.

Awrey's wife, Betty Jean, and grown children recently gave him a new watch inscribed for 50 years of service to the company after a timepiece he had received on his 25th anniversary broke. Earlier this year, Awrey reported a small profit for the first three months of operations after losing $2.5 million during a tumultuous 1991.

'We see a future in frozen food service nationally," said Awrey, grandson of the bakery's founder who now serves as chairman and chief executive officer. "We're starting to serve the vending trade, convenience stores and we have re-established retail in Detroit."

The Livonia plant, which employs some 400, is operating only at about 55 percent capacity, Awrey said, so there's plenty of room for growth.

"It's a fact that people still like to eat sweets, that which tastes good," he said. "They talk more than they diet.

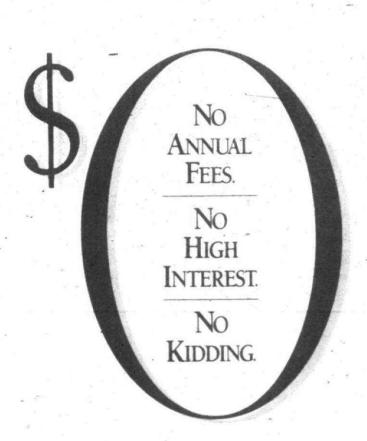

"We have a very efficient, high-quality production plant. Now we have to go out and sell more," Awrey said. "I'm a cockeyed optimist. I have a lot of confidence in people here.

Group offers special care to caregivers

BY SUE MASON STAFF WRITER

Never in her wildest dreams did Missy Poppenger expect to be doing those things for her 25-year-old son that she did for him when he was an infant.

Never in her wildest dreams did she think she would join a growing number of people — husbands, wives, parents and children — who must care for an invalid relative.

She may never have dreamed it, but it happened to the Livonia resident. It happened when her oldest son suffered a massive stroke, followed by a brain hemorrhage and two brain surgeries, more than three years ago.

For three months, she literally lived at University of Michigan Hospital se she could be close to her son. Her life and that of her family was turned upside down.

Poppenger knew what she should do; it was advice she has offered many times to participants in grief support classes she facilitates through the R.G. and G.R. Harris Funeral Home. She did the opposite.

"In grief support, I tell them not to make any decisions the first year, but when it happened to me, I pulled out of everything," she said. "I went from being active in the community to caring for a 22-year-old male. I shut my whole life down for 1½ years and I see other people doing it because they don't want to ask for help."

That may partially explain why Poppenger and Kathy Clark, director of senior citizen program for the city of Livonia, are putting their all into a new support group for caregivers, young and old alike.

Out of whack

The idea for the group surfaced at an "Issues of Aging" program that Poppenger does at the Livonia Senior Center once a month. The speaker a few months ago focused on those things that can cause a family structure to get out of whack.

What found talking to participants after the speech was a roomful of caregivers with no place "to go to let off steam."

Clark and Poppenger decided to put the "Issues" program on hold for six months and focus their energies on the caregivers support group. It met for the first time in May and with very little publicity four people showed up.

One participant was a woman who has provided long-term care for husband. She complained that people would call and ask how her husband was, but never inquired about her state of health.

"It's terrible to say, but a majority of the human race doesn't know how to take care of themselves," said Poppenger. "People need to learn how to give people permission to help them. They need to let others know how they feel."

The group meets on the second Tuesday of the month in the lounge of the Livonia Senior Center, Five Mile and Farmington roads. To accommodate caregivers, two meetings are offered at 1 and 7 p.m. They last about 1½ hours.

The first participants have expressed an interest in wanting the group to be a support group to on another and be able to get information they can "trust and rely on."

According to Poppenger, there's and interest in being able to discuss problems and solve them as well as have access to medical professionals who can be questioned about losses and experiences.

"These people struggle with the issues of caring of a family member and their new role," Poppenger said. "I know. It was difficult for me to suddenly have to do personal care for a 22-year-old male that I did when he was an infant. It was hard for me and it was hard for him to give me that permission.

"When they re put into this new role, it can lower their self-esteem. The whole family structure is changed by it."

For men and women

Poppenger stresses that even though the group meets at a senior center, it is meant for caregivers of all ages and for both men and women. She doesn't want "anyone to stay away because of the location."

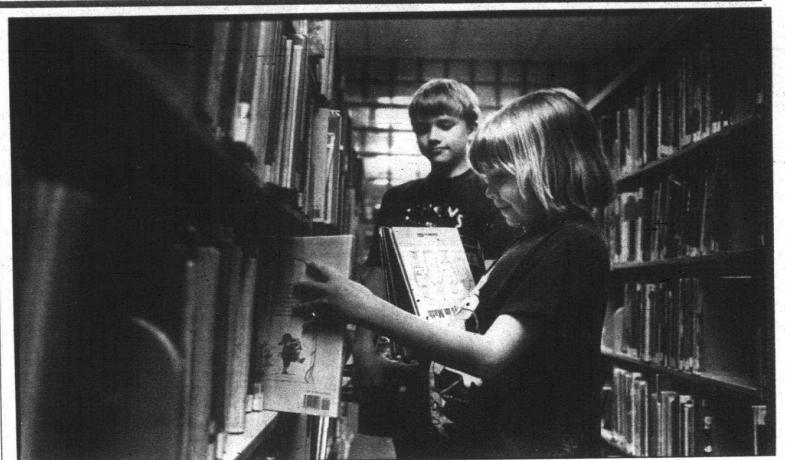

And she also hopes participants will be able to say what they're going through. It is, she admits, a big decision for them to let people into their space.

Poppenger has a lot of experience with support groups through her position as community service representative for R.G. and G.R. Harris Funeral Home. She also is a certified death educator, only one of eight such people in the state, and serves as adjunct counselor and coordinator with grief specialist Dr. John Canine:

"For anyone in the role of a caregiver, it can be a horrible experience," she said. "Your life is turned every which way. They need a lot of backup support from people who can give them good resource information and lift them up.

"I hope people will come and see about this group. Only they can determine if it's right for them. If it's not right, we can find something that is."

The next meetings of the Caregiver Support Group will be at 1 and 7 p.m. Tuesday, June 9, at the Livonia Senior Center, Farmington and Five Mile Road. For more information, call Kathy Clark at 522-2710,

Reading for fun: Plymouth-Canton students will participate in reading programs at local libraries this summer. Danielle and Kevin Blamer were at the Plymouth District Library earlier this week looking for good books. Danielle, 8, and Kevin, 11, are Bird Elementary School students.

Libraries 'book' kids for summer

Even before kids have a chance to wail that summer lament about nothing to do, the Plymouth and Canton libraries have come up with the answer. Their summer reading programs are meant to entertain children and keep them "booked" during the three-month break.

By Julie Brown Staff Writer

Reading for fun will be the name of the game this summer at the Canton Public Library and Plymouth District Library.

Both libraries will again offer summer reading programs for school-age children and Read-To-Me programs for preschoolers. Registration will begin Monday, June 15, at the library in downtown Plymouth, 223 S. Main, and in Canton, 1200 S. Canton Center, south of Cherry Hill.

The main purpose "is to get kids to read throughout the summer," said Michele Monroe, a children's librarian at the Canton Public Library. "Just for fun, just to enjoy it, to read the things you might not get a chance to read during the school year.

"We have a lot of kids who like to read. They really get excited about the summer reading club, which is great," she said.

Paperback fiction's particularly popular with young readers. Many enjoy books from such series as Sweet Valley Twins and The Baby-Sitters Club.

"In the summertime, the fiction is a little bit stronger." Children enjoy reading stories about other youngsters their own age, Monroe said, including books with a summertime theme such as those about camp. Some read non-fiction, including books on animals, insects or plants, while some choose such classics as "Treasure Island" or "Little Women."

Lighter fiction circulates in the summer at the Plymouth District Library, along with other books that appeal to young readers.

"It's a time to enjoy. Some lighter reading is a good thing to do, back off on the studies," said Pam Rawlinson, assistant library director. The program's been offered for a number of years and is popular with Plymoutharea families.

"The reasoning behind it, of course, is to keep the kids reading throughout the summer." That's particularly important for youngsters who've just learned to read, Rawlinson said, and many local teachers encourage families to sign up.

She doesn't have a problem with students reading lighter fiction, such as Sweet Valley Twins books, in the summer.

"Most anything to get them to read is preferable to not reading at all." Often, after children have read 65 or so books from such a series, Rawlinson said, they move on to more challenging material.

"They start looking for something else. You can kind of steer them."

The Plymouth program, sponsored by the Friends of the Library, has a "Reach for It — Read!" theme, based on the summer Olympics.

The program is for students ages 6-12 who read independently. Plymouth participants will begin reading Monday, June 22. For information, call 453-0750.

Fun-filled sessions

As part of the program, several activity sessions will be held at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer: 1 p.m. Friday, June 26, kickoff program for ages 6-8; 2:30 p.m. Friday, June 26, kickoff program for ages 9-12; 2 p.m. Thursday, July 9, gymnastics demonstration for ages 6-12; 2 p.m. Friday, July 31, final party for all participants.

Advance registration for each session isn't required at the Plymouth District Library.

Read To-Me programs in Plymouth, for children age 6 and under, will include: 10 a.m. Friday, June 26, kickoff program at the Plymouth Cultural Center; 10 a.m. Friday, July 31, final celebration with a singer at the Cultural Center.

Canton Public Library participants will also enjoy activity sessions. Programs for first through eighth-graders who read independently will include: 2 p.m. Monday, July 6, magic/ventriloquism show; 2 p.m. Tuesday, July 14, musical program; 2 p.m. Wednesday, July 22, program of songs and stories; 2 p.m. Thursday, July 30, program featuring a clown performance.

Participants must register by phoneor in person for each session. For information, call 397-0999.

Brown-bag story times will be offered for Read-To-Me participants, ages 2-5. Those will be 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Wednesdays, June 24, July 8 and July 22, on the Canton Public Library's south lawn. Advance registration is required for each story time, and can be done by phone or in person. An adult must accompany each child or group.

School-age participants in both communities are encouraged to read books at their own level. When things aren't too busy, librarians enjoy taking time to talk with youngsters about books read.

Kudos acknowledge volunteers' work

Kudos: Sally Rowland, a tax counselor for senior citizens, steps up to receive her certificate. A number of volunteers were honored during the open house.

By Julie Brown Staff Writer

Hard-working volunteers in Canton deserve a break every now and then.

Some of those volunteers took time to relax during an open house at the Canton Senior Citizens Center. Volunteers from all walks of life were honored during the Wednesday, May 27, get-together.

"They do so much work for us," said Dianne Neihengen, senior citizen coordinator for Canton Township. More than 100 volunteers, most of them senior citizens, participate in a variety of programs at the center, and about 80 attended the open house.

"We wanted just simply to say "Thank you' to them because they do a wonderful job," she said. "We couldn't have some of these programs without their assistance. We just couldn't do it."

A flu shot clinic, sponsored by the Wayne County Health Department, is held each fall at the center on Michigan Avenue. Some volunteers help with that project. Others have duties ranging from delivering meals to the homebound to managing softball teams for seniors.

Neihengen knows that the volunteers benefit from their involvement.

"Absolutely. What they tell me is the more they become involved, the happier they feel. We've decided volunteerism is one of the most healthy things you can do, for any age group."

Volunteers received certificates of appreciation, wers were late blooming this year because of the cold temperatures experienced this spring. But now, even they are nearing the end of their blooming season. Trillium are turning lavender, while hepati-ca and skunk cabbage finished blooming a long time ago. And May apple's short blooming season will soon end.

But those who like to watch floa wers should not despair, because when the woodland flowers stop blooming, the meadow flowers begin their display.

Pussytoes are one of the first meadow flowers to bloom. The short white clustered blooms resemble the toes of a cat's paw. They also excrete a chemical which prevents other plants from growing too close. Many may pass by this flower because it is not very conspicuous.

In late spring and early summer, however, a very conspicuous meadow wildflower known as hawkweed blooms. This wildflower - introduced from Europe - has very tall stems emerging from a rosette, or cluster of leaves at the base. Some stems may tower up to 2-feet-tall. Set on top of the hairy stem is a cluster of daisy-like flowers.

Flowers may be either yellow or orange-red. Sometimes both colors grow together in the same field. Although hawkweed produces a seed on a fluffy "parachute" which can be transported by the wind to suitable soil, it also spreads by underground roots or rhizomes. Spreading by underground rhizomes can produce a dense patch of plants whose leaves block out sunlight and prevent any other plants from growing. Since cattle do not eat the plant, cattlemen call this plant devil's paintbrush.

Years ago it was brought to this country to help cure eye ailments. People would see hawks dive into patches of this plant and they thought it was drinking the sap from this plant to help improve its eyesight. Actually the hawk was catching mice not drinking the sap. But because hawks have good eyesight, early healers used it to cure human eye problems.

As you drive along highways and pass by areas disturbed by construction, look for patches of the yellow and orange hawkweed, they really brighten up the landscare.

olor it red, white and blue - the hues of Old Glory on the event's promotional T-shirts. But Canton's first-ever Liberty Fest Fine Arts Show, Saturday-Sunday, June 27-28, will boast a palette of other shades, too.

The accent will be on original Michigan fine art in a potpourri of media: oils, watercolors, acrylics, marbling, jewelry, pastels, photography, clay.

The art show is part of Liberty Fest '92, a brandnew community festival June 26-28 on the grounds of Heritage Park, a newly enlarged, 105-acre recreation complex at 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

Crafts will be sold at the festival but separate from the art show. "Canton has held typical arts and crafts shows before. With this the first year for the festival, we wanted to have an arts event with a little different angle," said Bob Dates, Canton recreation supervi-

Make no mistake: The fine art should measure up, even to the most studied eye. The 50 exhibitors will include top local artists like Jim DeArmond of Plymouth, Sue Argiroff of Livonia, Norma McQueen of Garden City, Sherrie Moore of Canton, Bladen McClelland of Redford Township and Hugh Burley

Co-jurors Sharon Dillenbeck of D & M Art Studios in Plymouth and Julie Giordano of J. Giordano Studio in Northville also will display their work. When jurying, they'll pay special attention to quality.

"I don't want any junk. I want the quality to be very high," says Dillenbeck, a professional artist for 15 years. "I hope everybody realizes we have fine artists close to home. We're going to put Canton on the fine arts map."

Committed to the arts

A Canton resident, Dillenbeck isn't content with drawing township residents to her studio in Plymouth's Old Village. In cooperation with the Canton Parks and Recreation Department, she has developed township-based fine arts programs for kids and

In wake of the depressed economy and the bitter controversy over state arts funding, Dillenbeck and Giordano teamed up to organize last fall's very suc cessful Holiday Gallery Tour in Plymouth and Dillenbeck anticipates more than 50 artists will pass muster for a booth in one of the two lighted, 36space tents at the Liberty Fest Fine Arts Show.

Artwork will range in price from $5 for an un-framed reproduction to $500 up for a framed original.

'Artists will be invited to demonstrate their talents in a setting offering a pond or classic cars as a backdrop," Dillenbeck said. "It'll be a real creative Advanced art students of Dillenbeck and Giordano will serve up face-painting. "They're teenage studio artists who'll receive a quick lesson in how to facepaint," Dillenbeck said.

"It's way not only for them to make some money but also do something creative as an artist," Giordano added.

Red carpet treatment

The $50 booth fee includes a hospitality area for artists. It also includes hostesses who will fill in for artists on break.

"We're really going all out. We're going to treat 'em right," said Dillenbeck, who does portraiture and creates realistic impressionism in pencil, watercolor and

Their hope is to "give fine artists an inexpensive opportunity to show their wares and one more place to market their work where the overhead isn't too high," said Giordano, who works in the same media

In her booth at the show, Giordano, a professional artist for eight years, will showcase her portraiture as well as her drawings of antique cars, homes and pets.

The $5 jurying fee is purposely low, she said, because "we're just trying to get the show off the ground. We'll recoup our promotional costs, but we don't expect any profit."

A victim of the recession, Giordano closed her twoyear-old Northville gallery of Michigan fine art last fall after lease problems and a 30-percent drop in

She calls the Liberty Fest Fine Arts Show a good way to fight the economic downturn.

"Economic times are tough for artists," she said. "It's been a terrible time for most of the artists I've talked to. So we have to do all we can to get our work out there. We can't just sit back and wait for people to come to us.

Bob Sklar is assistant managing editor for special projects.

Westland artist Saundra Weed will award first, second and third place. Best of Show and honorable mentions after judging, set to begin at noon.

"Our goal is to get people inter-ested in the mill," said Joe Benyo, Westland City Council legislative assistant. "We'd like people to come down and meet the folks volunteering their time to restore it to what it was, look over the many changes and become interested in the history."

Ninety-five percent of library patrons in search of genealogy, she said, are interested in local historical records.

The library is stocked with a wealth of genealogy resources and materials - from books to censuses to databases - but they're more general in scope.

The museum's archives boast such resources as cemetery records, pioneer records, letters, scrapbooks, atlases, maps and displays, she said.

To maximize resources and control costs, publiclibraries and historical societies should work together and not compete, she said.

Architects toasted, roasted at Cranbrook

Architects honored their own Saturday at Cranbrook and listened to speaker Brendan Gill chastise the profession for pandering to pedestrian tastes.

BY DALE NORTHUP SPECIAL WRITER

What could be a better setting for an architectural awards ceremony than Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills? This educational community originally gave rise to such design luminaries as the Saarinen family: Eliel, Eero, and Loja; Charles and Ray Eames; Florence were responsible for shaping the built environment with which we are familiar today. Their creative enterprise continues to serve as a source of inspiration for the designers of tomorrow

Eliel Saarinen once said, "Always design a thing by considering it in its next larger context - a chair in a room, a room in a house, a house in an environenvironment in a city plan " So it only seems appropriate that the Detroit Chapter of the American Institute of Architects should continue Saarinen's edict for good design with an awards presentation at Cranbrook on Saturday.

The event dovetailed with the 60th anniversary of the founding of Cranbrook by Detroit newspaper publisher George G. Booth. Birmingham architect Robert Ziegelman, president of AIA Detroit, acknowledged that the primary objective of the awards is to focus public attention on the value of excellence in architecture, which is the most pub lic of all art forms. Rather than handing out awards in a private ceremony as in past years, AIA Detroit this year invited students and educators to participate.

And the winners are:

The 25-year award for the Beckwith residence in Franklin by William Kessler and Associates (formerly Meathe, Kessler and Associates); honor awards to Luckenback-Ziegelman and Partners for the Chester Street parking structure in Birmingham; and to Victor Saroki & Associates for the Merrill Park Town-

Basements: knock on wood

BY GERALD FRAWLEY STAFF WRITER

Houses are made of wood, and basements are poured concrete and concrete block - that's just the way it is in Michigan.

Well, sometimes.

In recent years, Michigan builders have been experimenting with different types of construction materials, and now a Farmington Hills builder is offering permanent wood foundations.

That's right, wood. You know, the stuff that rots, gets eaten by bugs and generally falls apart. Michigan weather would eat it up and spit it out like a wad of bubble gum on a little league base ball diamond.

Wrong. Joseph Blostic, president of B. J. Enterprises in Farmington Hills, is building a house with a permanent wood foundation outside of Ann Arbor. Blostic said he doesn't normally build wood foundation houses - in fact, this is the first and he isn't certain the demand for them will grow in coming years.

A permanent wood foundation is a load-bearing, lumber-framed wall framed with 2-X-6s or 2-X-8s that's sheathed with plywood. It sits on a concrete footing or a bed of gravel or crushed stone. It is constructed much like the standard stud wall.

But there are differences, the most significant being the need to resist backfill and exterior water pressure. For that reason, proper fastening and blocking techniques are critical.

Wood foundations are also specially treated wood treated for use as an outdoor deck is not suitable for a wood foundation.

There are some advantages to homes with wood foundation, he said.

"For one, it's drver," he said. Anyone who has every been in a home with a poured cement or concrete block basement can easily attest to the fact that there is a certain amount of moisture in the air, he said.

A wood foundation is also warmer and insulated," he added.

The real plus for homeowners, he said is the ease of finishing - both on the interior, and in the case of a walkout basement, on the exterior

Installing drywall, paneling or other wall coverings is a fairly straightforward job and can be done by the homeowner. "A hammer, some nails, and that's about it.'

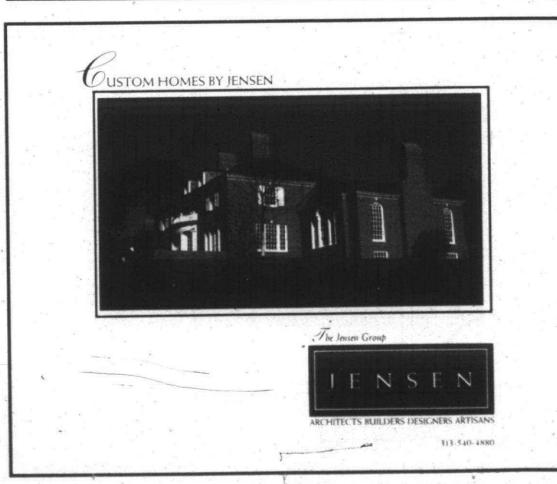

Installing over concrete walls or cement blocks requires drilling and anchoring and is much more difficult, he said.

Blostic said in addition to the home he is currently building, a second client is considering a wood foundation. "People do ask about it, but we don't suggest it on a regular basis.

The drawback to the wood foundation, he said, is it's more difficult for the builder to install and is slightly more costly - at least it was for the first basement he built.

Blostic said with experience, the cost of installing a wood foundation would probably fall. Assuming lumber prices remain comparable to concrete prices, the two would cost about the same.

Weather blamed for housing slip
