Veteran trustee defeated BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

How could a veteran school board member and humanitarian as esteemed and highly regarded as trustee Dr. E.J. McClendon not be re-elected to the Plymouth-Canton school board?

Son of Challenge Fest nears

Sometimes organizations change the name of something to make it seem like something new or to create a semblance of industry

Witness the Navy's change from Shipboard Overhaul Assistance Team to Integrated Logistics Organization in 1982. Same outfit, different handle. (Maybe they just got tired of the SOAP acronym.)

Last year's Challenge Fest (the third of three that began in 1989) focused mostly on a lot of participation-type activities including a passel of athletic. events.

But man was made to tinker, and the Challenge Fest committee figured the summer fete could use a face lift, tune up, overhaul, or whatever other fancy metaphor you care to use.

Perhaps the most significant change is the addition of a whole bunch of mu-booked tunemeisters ranging from The Larados (billed as the "Deacons of Doo-Wop"), to a country band, a jazz band, church choirs and an Army band. (There's no word yet if Army recruiters will be milling about with butterfly nets.)

The reasoning behind this, if you're still reading, is the construction of a massive amphitheater on the bucolic grounds of newly named Heritage Park. With seating enough for several thousand festive festival aficionados around the stage, it only follows that organizers

Canton man wins Wayne-Westland board seat

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

A Canton Township man was elected to the Wayne-Westland school board on Monday.

Francis "Bud" Winter, a former principal at Wayne Memorial High School, rode the anti-incumbent wave onto the board, along with Richard LeBlanc, a General Motors worker.

The two will fill four-year terms on the board, bumping off incumbent Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek.

She blamed her loss on a strong anti-incumbent mood and "a mudslinging campaign" by her political enemies. Another incumbent, Kathleen Chorbagian, didn't seek re-election.

Winter easily captured the most votes in a field of eight candidates, but LeBlanc had to fend off a strong challenge from former board member Mathew McCusker to claim victory. ÷

McCusker, one of three incumbents ousted last June, fell 141 votes shy of returning to the sevenmember board.

Kozorosky-Wiacek trailed in fourth place, followed by board hopefuls John Albrecht, Steven Lind, Kenneth Raupp and Michael Flemming.

An estimated 4,100 of the district's 68,000 voters went to polls, marking a 6-percent turnout that exceeded school officials' expectations. Turnout is usually lower in a school election that has no tax issues on the ballot.

In an interview Tuesday, Kozorosky-Wiacek congratulated the winners and wished them luck in their "difficult task." She said she hopes they will work with Superintendent-designate Larry Thomas to provide equal educational opportunities for Wayne-Westland's 16,000 students.

"Naturally, I am disappointed with the results," she said. "But considering the strong anti-incumbent movement in our country today and the mudslinging campaign by supporters of the previous administrations, I believe I did pretty darn good."

She came under fire from numerous critics such as former Superintendent Dennis O'Neill, who stepped down late last year under pressure from Kozorosky-Wiacek and three other board members.

Kozorosky-Wiacek blasted campaign literature that accused her of being power hungry and selfserving.

"I would have hoped that the voters would have chosen substance over sleaze, but unfortunately sleaze won out," she said. "Until the voters say 'no to this type of campaigning, then these people most responsible for it will continue."

The toppled incumbent said she has "no regrets" about her decisions and that she believes the district will be better because of them. She indicated she will never seek another school board seat.

Winter, a retired educator and 63-year-old Canton resident, and LeBlanc, a 33-year-old Westland resident, had many of the same supporters in their election bids.

Monday night, Winter celebrated his win with at least 100 supporters at the Wayne Community Center. LeBlanc gathered with a core group of his campaign workers at the former Palace theater in Wayne.

Winter attributed his win to voters "who want to see education put in perspective." The board has been embattled by political infighting for more than à year.

Winter also pledged that his decisions "will be motivated by what's best for the students.

LeBlanc said his victory stemmed from "a concerted effort" by his volunteers.

"I could not have done it myself," he said.

LeBlanc said he wants the board to become progressive, rather than reactive, and he wants the board to strive to overcome differences and "really start making things happen in Wayne-Westland."

When they officially take office July 1, LeBlanc and Winter will join board holdovers Vicki Welty, Laurel Raisanen, Fred Warmbier, Andrew Spisak and Leonard Posey.

Voters nix plan to select school

BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

In no uncertain terms, Plymouth Canton voters turned thumbs down to a proposal that would have allowed students to choose their own school within the district. But the ssue isn't dead.

Under state law, the district is now exempt from choice for two years. At that time, the district must repeat what it did this year appoint a committee to draft a choice plan and put it to a board vote. If the board rejects the plan, it will again go to the voters, according to Superintendent John Hoben. Reflecting a statewide trend, no votes greatly outnumbered yes votes in Monday's election. No votes totaled 6,869 and yes votes

Backed by Gov. John Engler, schools of choice seflects one of the hottest trends in education. The theory is that introducing competition into schools gives families more control and improves educational quality.

District officials recommended a no vote, citing open-ended transportation and administrative costs in exchange for no guaranteed imovement in educational quality.

Plymouth-Canton precinct workers said the ballot wording confused some voters. Some were under the impression the plan would have ermitted Plymouth-Canton students to attend schools outside the district and students from other districts to go to school here.

One voter said that was the key ssue that drew her to the polls. " usually vote in all elections," said Feresa Juarez of Plymouth Town ship after voting at Farrand School Monday afternoon. "The schools of choice issue is the main reason I'm here. I'd say that right now, with the way the budget is, it's not something we should be doing. And real-

You had no ideal did you, that a seemingly harmless piece of plastic could become an implement of death to an innocent sea creature? Yet it happens unfortunately on a grand scale

Tons of plastic material are lost or dumped into the oceans each year, imperiling the lives of bundreds of thousands of aquatic animals Plastic bags, six-pack vokes, fishing nets and other-materials can trap fish, mammals, turtles and birds, causing death by drowning or strangulation. Sometimes animals get sick or starve when they cat plastic that they mistake for food.

But plastics pollution is preventable

he Canton Community Foundation added almost $17,000 to its assets June 4 with a golf tournament and sports memorabilia auction. A team from Stankezich Grading (Mark Stankezich, Steve Young and Glen Young) took first place in the golf scramble at Fellows Creek, scoring 14 under par. The second-place team consisted of Paul Joiner, Dan Gourlay, Bill McKinney and Darren Kent, scoring 13 under par.

Bruce Patterson led the third-place team, which finished at 11 under par. Patterson's partners were John Nagy, Justin Patterson (Bruce's son) and John White.

Head organizer Bill Joiner reported that 54 teams participated, raising $12,000 for the foundation.

The concomitant auction raked in almost $5,000, getting $180 for a Pete Rose autographed bat among other things nemployment rates in Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton dropped in April, the most recent month studied by the Michigan Unemployment Security Commission.

Unemployment down

The rates were also lower than those reported in April last year.

Rates dropped as temporary and seasonal workers left local job markets, said F. Robert Edwards, MESC director.

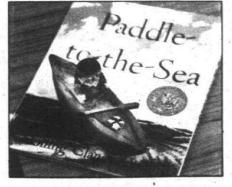

"The smaller work force size resulted in lower unemployment rates in most areas," Edwards said.

The MESC reported the unemployment rate in Canton for April at 4.7 percent with 1,050 unemployed and 21,250 employed. That compares to a 5.2 percent unemployment rate in March and 5.4 percent unemployment in April 1991.

In the city of Plymouth, the April unemployment rate was 3.5 percent with 175 unemployed workers and 4,650 employed. The unemployment rate in March was 3.8 percent. The rate reported in April 1991 was 4 percent.

Pupils go to sea in the classroom

The kids in Pat Trout's 4th grade class took a trip to the Atlantic via a project that had them chipping away at wood blocks under the direction of carver Alkan Moran.

Perhaps the kids in Pat Trout's fourth grade class will never see the sea. But that doesn't mean they can't imagine getting to the Atlantic via the Great Lakes.

The trip taken in the students' minds was helped along by Tanger School custodian Alan Moran who taught them to fashion a wood canoe from balsa wood, using pocket or steak knife.

And through that simple project the 30 kids learned their Great Lakes geography, said Trout.

The project came up when the class was reading "Paddle to the Sea," a book about a wood carver who makes a small wooden canoe with a native American in it, drops it in the waters of Lake Superior and eventually ends up floating to the Atlantic.

Trout hatched the idea with Moran, a veteran carver of 30 years, and they put the kids to work.

The kids spent about a month on the project, carving two or three days a week

And the results?

"It looks more like a real boat," said Ronnie Quinn, 10, of Canton, commenting on his hollowed out affair.

Jenny Sowels, 10, of Canton made sure there was food aboard her canoe. "I put packages in it," she said. Said Moran: "Some stayed with the drawing and others went further." But no matter how far the students went, they certainly are more well traveled than most other fourth graders.

Finished product: Amy Hauk holds her finished canoe.

Thad Pearl wanted to be in control of his own future-so he moved to Oakbrook Common.

"I know, if I ever need added assistance or skilled nursing, someone is nearby," he says. "This is very important to me because I want to keep the burden of my possible future health care needs from falling on my children."

Thad has found that "companionship, and the chance to make new friends are added benefits." Also, he smiles, are Oakbrook Common's "pleasant surroundings and friendly staff."

"Many of my friends also have moved to Oakbrook Common," remarks Thad. "That's because everything here is so good. I'm glad to be here."

ment policymakers.

Simply put, pollution prevention means not making pollution in the first place, instead of making it and then cleaning it up. Industries are embracing this common-sense approach by rethinking how products are made and used. Regulators are incorporating pollution prevention strategies into environmental policies. A critical review published in the May issue of the "Journal of the Air & Waste Management Association" provides

Solving problems

Why pollution prevention is pref erable cuts across air, water and land pollution issues. It solves problems before they occur, and can be practiced by industries, schools, sinesses and everyone in their homes

Often, it makes economic sense because it can lead to improved production processes, afford the use of less-expensive and safer materials during production and lessen the liability issues associated with using, generating or disposing of hazard ous wastes.

Pollution prevention helps to safeguard the environment, the surrounding community and workers.

Areas where pollution prevention strategies can be incorporated are: product design, process design, lant configuration, information and control systems, human resources, research and development, suppliers' role and relationship and organization.

The Pollution Prevention Act of 1990 states that "pollution should be prevented or reduced at the source whenever feasible; pollution that cannot be prevented should be recycled in an environmentally safe manner, whenever feasible; and dis-ronment should be employed only as a last resort and should be conducted in an environmentally safe manner.

Undoubtedly, new environmental regulations will include pollution prevention practices as part of their overall goals. The Clean Air Act Amendment of 1990 is one such piece of legislation that already incorporates pollution prevention strategies.

Industries involved

The BPA has published a summary of 20 successful pollution prevention projects by industry. These projects have been implemented in many industries: metals fabrication, manufacturing of non-electric machinery, lumber products, electronics, textiles, petroleum fuel products, chemical products, printing and publishing, and transporta-

The Air & Waste Management Association is a non-profit technical and educational organization with nearly 13,000 members in more than 50 countries. Founded in 1907, the association provides a forum where all sides of environmen tal issues are considered.

Traffic tickets Fines getting out of hand t's time to take a look at how police ticket folks and at how the fines get handed out. In recent weeks a Plymouth Township man received a $205 parking ticket in Hines Park, where he and friends were playing softball and drinking beer. It's the kind of thing folks do in parks.

Then there was the case of a Canton Township woman who stopped on the side of I-275 in an attempt to help a baby duck, part of a family that had been hit by cars. Because of her efforts, she received a $65 ticket from the state police.

In both cases, the miscreants were guilty of, at best, using bad judgment. However, the fines meted out by the cops were disproportionate to what the two had actually done. They weren't fines, they were taxes

Let's face it, most traffic tickets are the result of a momentary lapse of judgment, not out of any quest on the part of the individual to be a law breaker. In most cases a warning works.

That's especially true in the Hines Park incident. The man ticketed is a 25-year-old college student who certainly has better places for his money than in the coffers of the district court system. A $25 or $50 fine would have been enough. Again, when a traffic fine is more than $200, especially for parking, it's a tax.

In the case of the Canton woman, we can understand the state trooper's concern. The life of one person is worth more than 1,000 ducks. And keeping people from harming themselves on the freeway is a smart thing to do. But again, a warning and a lecture from the cop would have been enough. Instead, the court and cops took $65 away from a waitress who works hard for her money.

We have our suspicions about the 35th District Court anyway. Most of what they do is place a tax on the normally law abiding residents of Plymouth, Canton and Northville.

That tax money is being used to add space to the court house, and this comes at a time when the state's economy is in decline. It's time for police officers, judges and court workers who feed at the public trough to get real and realize that they're not enforcing the law, they're taxing

The entire subject of Hines Park is troublesome. The Wayne County Sheriff's Department, which patrols it, has made it nearly unusable by the public.

We're trying to tell our kids to say no to drugs, but we give them few alternatives. Kids are suppose to be in parks playing baseball, looking at members of the opposite sex or just fishing in the Rouge River.

It's time to re-examine the role of police and courts. They're not supposed to be the faxing unit of government they have become Things are out of wack and it's time for a enviable position: It has the opportunity to ensure not only the rights of women but to advance education for our young people to decrease the need for abortion

The U.S. Supreme Court shortly will announce its decision in the Pennsylvania case that many agree will end the current federal protection accorded to abortion under the historic 1972 Roe v. Wade. While the Supreme Court probably won't make abortion illegal nationwide, the court will likely let the question of abortion rights rest with the states.

' In Michigan, that's not such a hot proposition, since Gov. John Engler and the majority of the Legislature are openly pro-life. Without Roe . Wa'de, the state reverts to its restrictive abortion law that allows abortions only in the event of the mother's health, rape or incest.

As it stands now, the state Supreme Court on Tuesday upheld Michigan's ban on Medicaid abortions for the poor, further supressing what has already become the underclass in a growing de facto caste system.

Women should have the right to self-determination, and that includes family planning. Without that control, there is no control of relationships, careers and life plans. Reasons to end a pregnancy run the gamut - not wishing to raise a child alone, economics or refusing to bring another life into an already bad family situation.

as a means of birth control, rather than relying he Michigan Legislature finds itself in an on pre-gestative methods. The latter may be a result of lack of information. Michigan's Legislature should adopt a comprehensive package that addresses all those concerns and, in the wake, perhaps even please those who vehemently oppose abortion. The package should provide for:

• Access to abortion for all women. Let women chose what to do with their bodies. If abortion is banned in Michigan, rich women still have the option of traveling to other states for a safe, legal abortion while poor women must choose between a back alley clinic or an unwanted pregnancy

• An updated adoption law that would make it easier for couples and singles to adopt. Children also would benefit from laws to trim red tape. Having difficult adoption procedures and a ban on abortion would force a glut of children into foster homes without showing a true regard for those new lives.

• Mandatory sex education in the schools. It's not a popular topic, but young people need correct information to keep them free not only from unwanted pregnancies but also from sexually transmitted diseases. Discussing sex is the role of the family, but statistics for teen pregnancy, abortion and sexual disease show the family isn't doing what is necessary to protect children.

The Legislature before its July 2 summer recess has time to plot out a comprehensive plan. Legislators are sadly mistaken if they believe There are the small number who use abortion pro-choice advocates will take the "old ways" lightly -- or without a fight.

It is time to change the relationship between this community and its public schools. We need a closer, more active and more trusting relationship.

We also need more trust in the relationship between the employees of this school district and the school board.

Toward these ends, I offer the follow ing promise: No one will ever be penalized in any way for being honest with me I may not like what you say, but I will listen. I may not always be able to give you the answer you want, but I will always be honest with you. We have many problems to solve in public education. Without honesty between us, we can solve none of them.

I look forward to serving on Plymouth Canton Community School Board over the next four years.

Jack Farrow, Plymouth

Kosteva wrong

t is hard to believe the state Legis lature has devised a ridiculous scheme to take the hard earned tax money from the residents in one community and transfer this money to another school district where it could very well be totally wasted.

The taxpayers in the Plymouth Canton community pay high taxes and work very hard, through their local governments, to create a safe, pleasant at mosphere and a productive, efficient educational system which is attractive to both business and residential sectors. After all, your community is only as good as your school system.

What bothers me is that James Kosteva, who represents Canton in the state Legislature has voted for this absurd tax base sharing plan. Mavbe Kosteva thinks the Plymouth Canton schools should be punished for some

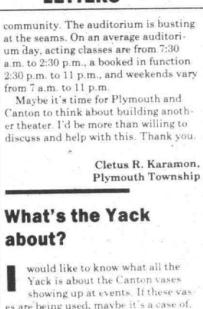

The idea that this tax base sharing plan is better than a court ordered plan does not make sense to me because it seems the courts are the only hope we have to save our tax dollars. At least temporarily, this plan is tied up in the courts; also, I do not believe anything could possibly be any worse than what the State Legislature has come up with. -

Summer camps, classes

The Observer/ THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 1992

Variety marks New Morning enrichment program

New Morning School in Plymouth Township, offers a variety of enrichment classes for youngsters ages 3-14 this summer.

Science and math camps will be offered for children 6-12 years old. The School Successes Program for academic enrichment or skill reinforcement is available for children in the second through eighth grades. Discovery Days classes offer a range of workshops from preschool computers to art and music to theater production. Class are offered for children ages 3-12.

Science and math camps are scheduled in August. Each science camp is one week long and meets from 9 a.m. to noon.

Science Camp I centers on how things work. Students will learn about sound, light, electricity the ecology of trees and the energy of sun, wind and air.

Science Camp II centers around the theme the way we work. Campers will learn about the cell structure of plants, animals and people, solve the mystery of Henry New Morning, participate in a fitness olympics and find our how humans are alike and different from feathered and furry friends.

The science camps will be directed by Sharon Bono-Beaton and Kevin Galbraith. Bono-Beaton is an educator with the Ann Arbor Public Schools and has taught at the Ann Arbor Hands-On Museum. Galbraith is a first grade teacher in Ecorse Public Schools

Math camp is a new offering this summer taught by New Morning teachers Issy Sand and Rita Heaven. All activities will be activity oriented, centering around the creation of a cookie company. Students will purchase ingredients, cook and distribute profits. Campers will apply math skills in a variety of ways that give meaning to numbers. Pentathlon games, which are problem solving and strategy games, will challenge students to use their reasoning skills. The camp is appropriate for those excelling in math as well as those who are having difficulties.

Science and math camp fees are $95 for a one-week session. There is a $10 discount for a second sibling enrolled and a $10 discount for the same child enrolling in second or third week of camp.

Registration is due by Friday with a $25 deposit.

Discovery Days and production workshops are offered the month of July. Each class is $44. Most classes also have a materials fee of not more than $2. Production workshops cover many aspects of drama from set design to makeup to the performance. Around the World in 6 Days is the first workshop July 7-16 for those ages 7-11. Bremen Town Musicians is set for July 21-30 for those ages 7-11. There will be a performance for parents on the last day. Production workshops are directed by New Morning music teacher Laura Gardella and Suzanne Rauch, a registered Suzuki teacher.

Session I (July 7-16) classes include: Preschool Computers for youngsters 3-6 years old, Stitch, Cut and Glue for those 7-10 years old, 5-4-3-2-1 Blast Off, a class that explores the solar system, for those ages 5-18, Creepy Crawlies for those ages 4-7, Hammer, Cast and Build for 6-8 year olds, Computer Samplers for those ages 3-6 and Rockets and Bridges for those ages 7-10. Session II (July 21-30) classes include: Preschool Computers, Draco the Dragon for those ages 6-8, Puppet Carnival for. 4-7-year-olds, Super Sleuths II, a problem-solving class for 7-10-year-olds, Wiggles and Giggles for those ages 3-6, Kites and Castles for those 7-10, Fun Foods and Crazy Crafts for those ages 6-8 and Author, Author for 7-10-years-olds.

The School Success Program (Mondays through Thursdays July 6-30) is designed for those in grades 2-4 and 5-8 (as of September 1992).

Grades 2-4 will study word and language skills, math facts and concepts, learning projects and organizational skills.

Grades 5-8 will study language arts and math skills, note-taking strategies, organizational skills and study and research skills.

A two-hour pre-test session is optional for $55. A written report will be provided at the end of the session. Parents will be asked to complete a school history questionnaire. Class fee is $48 per week.

The School Success Program is taught by New Morning teacher Kathy Kerekes.

Classes are held at a 12 to 1 student/teacher ration with a parent aide. Classes accommodate students who are academically advanced as well as those who have specific learning disabilities.

For more information, contact the school at 420-331.

Kennedy to stay in school

S cott Kennedy of Plymouth has decided to return to West Palm Beach Community College next year than sign with the Toronto Blue Jays, who drafted him in the 11th round of the recent free-agent baseball draft.

Kennedy, a former Plymouth Canton pitcher, was drafted out of high school by the Detroit Tigers last year but opted for school then, too.

He described the Toronto offer "as more than fair, well above the average for that round," he said. "Since I didn't get to pitch last year, I thought it would be better for me to go to school another year.

"They were trying to get me to meet them half way, and I was staying firm with my asking price. If they had come up with what I was asking, I probably would have signed."

Kennedy, who was 10-4 with five saves, 130 strikeouts and 47 walks in 84 innings at Canton a year ago, was academically ineligible at West Palm Beach and played only in intra-squad and scrimmage games. He is pitching for Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League this summer.

"We'll see what happens next year, whether I go to school or sign," Kennedy said. "My dream is still to play professional baseball one day."

Tigers draft CC's Kapla

he Detroit Tigers drafted Redford Catholic Central ace Scott Kapla of Canton in the 42nd round of the Major League Baseball Draft for amateur players.

The All-Observer and All-Catholic pitcher, infielder and outfielder has already signed with Eastern Michigan University.

"I'm open to discussions, but chances are I'll be at Eastern," Kapla said after Saturday's 5-4 regional semifinal loss to Westland John Glenn.

Major League draft rights have changed. As the rule stands now, the Tigers can retain the rights to Kapla for five years.

"Scott is a good kid and comes from a good family," Tiger scout Mark Monahan said. "I've been watching him since his sophomore year. He's progressed and we expect him to progress even more. I think he'll get even bigger and stronger. Scott has all the tools."

Mustangs win tourney title

he Mid-America Mustangs won three games and captured the 16-and-under championship of the United States Slow-Pitch Softball Association tournament at Canton last weekend.

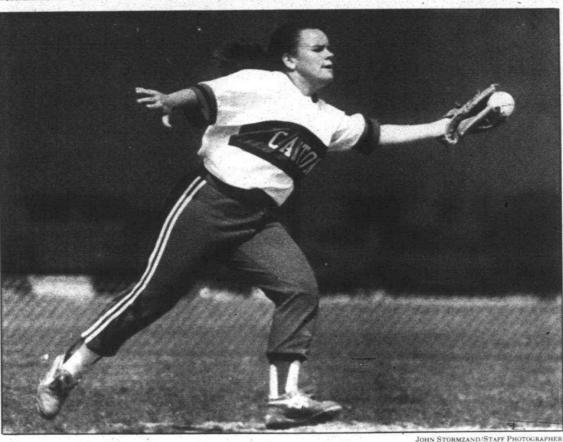

The Mustangs defeated South Farmington 20-8 in their first game. Stacy Sinke (Canton) scattered 12 hits but didn't walk any to earn the victory.

Lisa Rozum (Canton) was 4-for-4 with three RBI, Heidi Wahl (Southfield) had three hits and drove in four runs and Colleen Wutke (Garden City) added two hits and two RBI.

The Mustangs won 28-2 over their Mid-America sister team, the Marvels. Amy Geary (Farmington Hills) was the winning pitcher, allowing just five hits and five walks.

Leslie Dickerson (Belleville), Sue Huber (Canton) and Stephanie Smith (Garden City) had four hits aplece. Huber hit a home run, had six RBI and scored three runs. Geary helped her cause with three hits, and Aimee Breil (Canton) added two.

The Mustangs clinched the title with a 26-9 rout of South Farmington as Sinke picked up her second

Chiefs chase state title

Flint Kearsley will be the opponent Friday morning when sixth-ranked Plymouth Canton plays a semifinal contest in the Michigan High School Athletic Association softball tournament.

BY DAN O'MEARA STAFF WRITER

Plymouth Canton's first appearance in the state softball semifinals was a long time coming for the veteran players on the team.

The Chiefs (31-3) have been an Observerland power for the last four seasons but never won district or regional championships until this year. Now Canton is on the verge of winning it all this weekend at Battle Creek.

The sixth-ranked Chiefs play Flint Kearsley (34-9) in one semifinal while No. 1 Jenison meets Grosse Pointe North in the other. Both games start at 10:30 a.m. Friday in Bailey Park. The final has the same starting time and site on Saturday. "We're fired up about going; we've been waiting for this all year," said junior pitcher Kelly Holmes, the Canton ace for three years running. "No matter who we face I'm sure we're going to play our best ball. "Working together the last few years working together the last lew years is starting to pay off. We have great hitters and we're playing great defense, so maybe this is our year. It's about time."

If the Chiefs are to be successful,

Holmes, who developed a riseball during the winter and combines that with the fast, drop and change, is 52-8 in three years with 10 career no-hitters and 618 strikeouts.

While Holmes gets much of the notoriety on the Canton team, it hasn't affected her attitude or the team concept the Chiefs employ so successfully.

"She'll throw seven days a week," Canton coach Jim Arnold said, citing her dedication and desire. "She's a total team player. A lot of kids like that would get pretty big-headed but not her. "Kelly does her job on the mound and keeps the score down, and the job of the other players is to score some runs. It's been a complete team effort. There is no one individual star on this team."

A good supporting cast in the field helps to make Holmes a better pitcher, and the Chiefs mesh the different aspects of the game well in that regard.

"She knows, if the other teams start hitting her, we have one of the best defenses around," Arnold said. "So she pitches with complete confidence." The Canton batters will be challenged by a rare left-handed pitcher in Kearsley senior Christina Lee. "We faced one left-hander this year and we're going to work on that this er in Holmes, Canton's hitting ability has been overshadowed this year, but the individual stats tell a different story.

The starters and their batting averages are: senior third baseman Nicole Sequín (.422), junior shortstop Dani Mortiere (.406), senior first baseman Julie Nicastri (.377), senior outfielders Holly Miller (.358) and Sarah Schimmelpfenneg (.355), senior catcher Renee Doryf (.347), junior second baseman Kate Strahan (.297) and freshman outfielder Sara Rowe (.275).

Sequin also has scored 39 runs and batted in 27, Mortiere 38 and 20, Schimmelpfenneg 37 and 28, Nicastri 31 and 31. The Chiefs are hitting .348, as a team and have scored 226 runs while giving up only 65.

"There was a rumor Canton had the pitching but didn't have the hitting." Arnold said. "A couple coaches said to me 'Man, whoever told me you couldn't hit was wrong.' It was a secret for awhile, but this is a good time to come alive."

Arnold believes a plus for the Chiefs is their relaxed but focused attitude, confident in their knowledge of the game and ability to play it.

"They don't get nervous or uptight," he said. "Nobody has intimidated us this year and I don't expect to be intim-

Walter's, Hines Pk. post wins

Walter's Appliance of the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League won two games over the weekend, improving its record to 3-2.

Friday at Ford Field, Walter's defeated Tecumseh Green Giants, 8-0, behind solid pitching from Bryan Pheifer and Dave Wood.

Pheifer blanked Tecumseh for the first four innings, while Wood tossed the final three and struck out four.

Former Redford Catholic Central and Henry Ford Community College standout Paul Pirronello led the offensive attack with three hits, including a triple and homer. He had four RBI. Joe Brusseau (Borgess High and Madonna University) added three hits, including a triple.

On Sunday, Walter's split a twinbill with Wendy's of Ann Arbor, winning the opener, 10-2, before losing the nightcap, 12-6.

In the first game, Steve Ross (Redford CC and Henry Ford) was the winning pitcher, hurling the first five innings. Sean Henkel went the final two and struck out two.

Walter's belted 11 hits, including three apiece from Kevin Young (Farmington High and Central Michigan), Jason Gabel (Livonia Churchill and CMU) Jeff Schaffer (Livonia Franklin), Wendy starter Rob Clem allowed seven runs in the first inning and took the loss.

In the second game, Wendy's tallied eight runs in the third inning en routeto the win.

Mike Grahl (Madonna) was the winning pitcher, going the first four innings. Chad Grieve finished.

Grieve sparked Wendy's offensively with two hits and five RBI.

Mike Coleman was the losing pitcher for Walter's, allowing seven runs in 2^{1/3} innings. Lou McKaig finished the game and gave up the other five runs.

Hines Park sweeps

Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury is coming off a solid weekend, winning three games and improving its record to 4-1. On Friday, Hines Park edged Wendy's, 8-7, thanks to a three-run homer from Keith Bozyk (Redford CC and Adrian College). Wendy's collected four hits. Jason McDonald (EMU) sparked Wendy's with a three-run homer. On Sunday, Hines Park won the opener, 3-0, while dropping the secondgame 4-3.

In the first game, Brandon Endicotte suffered the loss for Caesars, going the distance and striking out three.

In the nightcap, Scott Rodgers (Plymouth Salem and Kent State) was the winning pitcher in relief of starter Scott Kennedy, the Toronto Blue Jays draftee out of Plymouth Canton High.

South Farmington as Sinke picked up her second pitching win. Wutke led the champs with four hits, Huber and Jones three each.

South Farmington, after the Mid-America Motion forced a second game with an 8-7 victory, won the 14under title in a 20-6 romp. Much will depend on the arm of Holmes, who is 22-2 with 270 strikeouts and 45 walks in 163¹/₉ innings. Only nine of the 33 runs charged to Holmes have been earned, giving her an ERA of 0,39. week," Arnold said. "I don't foresee any problems. This team has been hitting the ball well, and it's just a matter of seeing the ball from the other side." Because it has an outstanding pitchidated at this stage of the tournament.

"I think we're as good as anybody we're going to see. We'll just go out there and have some fun and play some ball."

Delwal lacks offense

Delwal could only muster four hits Friday, losing to Caesars 9-2 at Ford Field.

Rockets roar into semis of Class A state tourney

It was mid-May and Westland Hoenes admitted, "I was ready to put the bats and balls away." The struggling Rockets looked Plymouth Salem's girls track team showed consistency throughout an undefeated dual-meet season, but coach Mark Gregor still found a turning point. It came during Salem's 70-58 win last month over Plymouth Canton in the annual Mangan Invitational. "If I could pinpoint a turning" point it was when we swept the 200 meter dash against Canton; the girls really came together and bered in themselves," said Gregor, the Observer's 1992 Coach of the Year. "From then on they believed they could win the conference (Western Lakes) and do well at regional.

The Rocks, who won the WLAA with a 5-0 dual meet record, were 7overall and took second at the Class A Belleville regional. Salem qualified 10 athletes for the state meet in nine events, and the 104 points scored at regional were the most ever by a Salem team.

Gregor just finished his fifth year at Salem and he was assisted in '92 by Tom Garrett and Jay Blaylock. The youthful Rocks were led by junior Tonya Wheeler, the 400-

What could this man possibly tell you about running a retail business that you don't already know?

A lot.

harlie Mouser is not only an ternational retail and advertising consultant he's more. Much more. Charlie gives you the straight scoop. This isn't one of those seminars where you sit there and pretend you know what concepts are being discussed. You'll know because this man puts his ideas and advice in language that is fresh and dynamic with a chuckle thrown in for people who like to laugh

Why is Charlie about to do four seminars in our hometowns?

Because we've asked him to come. Local chambers of commerce are also showing their support as co-sponsors. We're interested in the economic health of the communities we serve. We figure if a business person uses just one of Charlie's ideas and that idea leads to one more customer or one more sale, it was worth it.

And while we're on the subject of worth, you will be able to hear Charlie for little or nothing All you need to invest is a few hours of your tin Some people are suspicious of "free" things. How often have you heard, "If it doesn't cost anything, it can't be very good?"

That's not the case here Charlie's good. Darn good. Come and find out how good.

Select a seminar! Are you a morning person or does your schedule allow you to devote an evening to new ideas? You decide Bring your supervisors and sales staff-the more the better! Decide quickly because , as you can see, these seminar dates are just around the corner.

Buck paradise: Price point variety stores like Dollar Tree, where everything sells for $1, must do high volume business to turn a profit, said Frederick Marx, a Farmington Hills marketing consultant.

Price point shoppers seek bargains

There's no such thing as sticker shock at stores where all merchandise is the same, low price. Several stores that sell everything under the roof for less than $1, $10, or $13 have popped up in the area. One analyst, however, doubts they'll all survive.

How's this for a shopping adventure - everything in the store priced at $1 or less. Dollar Tree, Dollar Bill$ and Everyof kn thing's a $1 have proliferated in Observer & Eccentric communities in recent years. The variety stores offer all kinds of knick-knacks, all for a buck.

You don't want to fuss with comparing clothing and accessories in a widerange of prices?

Then go to a store like 13 Below, where the maximum price on any woman's fashion in the place is $13, or Dots, a competitor where the top price is $10. Those stores, too, have popped up in malls and shopping centers throughout the metro area.

The concept is called price point shopping.

"It makes it very simple for the customer," said Rob Laški, general manager for the 13 Below chain. "We find people are absolutely thrilled they can

Few waves seen in breakup of GMF Robotics marriage

BY GERALD FRAWLEY STAFF WRITER

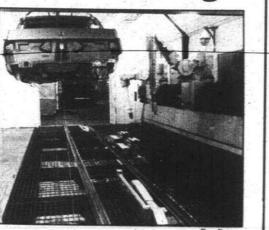

General Motors Corp. is getting out of the robotics business, and the industry is buzzing with speculationabout whether this is good news, bad news or mere scuttlebutt around the water cooler.

General Motors announced last week that it was selling its half interest in the Auburn Hills-based robotics manufacturer to its venture partner Fanuc Limited, which already owns the other 50 percent.

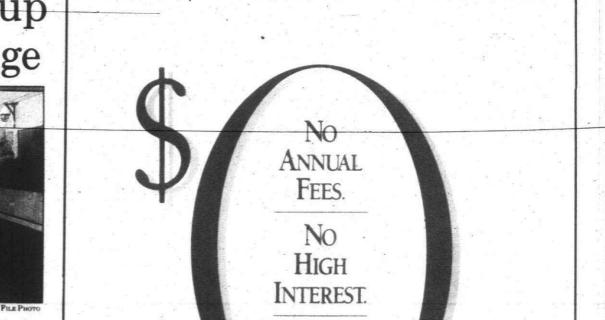

Don Vincent, executive vice president of the Robitics Industries Association in Ann Arbor, said the news prompted calls from people throughout the industry.

"On the surface, it appears to not be a big deal," he said. General Motors is selling its shares to raise money and refocus its energies on its main business.

Vincent said robotics sales were down slightly last year to about $470 million in 1991 from $485 million in 1990, but currell works and in the state of the state 1990, but overall capital spending by manufacturers was down.

Dave Conner, marketing manager at Bosch Automation Products in Plymouth Township, said although the news of the sale was a surprise, the actual sale isn't likely to have much of an impact on the automation industry.

Bosch Automation Products recently entered a partnership making GMFanuc an authorized integrator of its products.

There is no reason to expect a change in the relationship following GM's recent decision to divest itself of its interests in GMFanuc, he said.

As for changes in the way GMFanuc does business, Conner said despite the association, GMFanuc did and will continue to have customers other than General Motors.

"We're no less optimistic about our relationship this week than we were last week," he said. "We see the (divestiture) pretty much as a paper change."

Conner speculated that GMFanuc could become an even stronger force in the market, if for no other reason than it gaining its own identity from General Motors. "Total autonomy can only benefit the company."

When two companies join in a partnership, like Bosch and GMFanuc, they do so primarily for a business reasons.

"Relationships are driven by the end user more than the two companies saying if we get into bed together we can really do something."

In the case of General Motors and Fanuc Limited, they got together for a purpose that is no longer needed and so the two are going there separate ways, Conner said.

"Does it even make sense for an auto maker to be in the robotics industry anyway?"

Thomas Getts, director of sales and marketing at the Farmington Hills-based laser processing motionsystems developer Robomatic International U.S.A., said the sale could open up opportunities for other robotics manufacturers. Little difference: Players in the robotics industry see few changes occurring because of General Motor's pullout from GMFanuc.

Ties between General Motors and Fanuc Limited often precluded other robotics firms from doing business with GM, he said — and sometimes to GM's disadvantage.

Under the old relationship, it wouldn't be unusual for GM to spend millions of dollars on research and development for a particular application so GMFanuc could manufacturer it for the automotive giant.

That isn't very efficient when independent firms already had the products General Motors needed and could provide them without the wait or cost, he said.

If another robotics manufacturer were to bid on a project for the car company, GMFanuc usually won. "GMFanuc always received the nod in a tie," he said. In the short term, that could change with the sale.

The sale may also have an impact on the new entity. "GM has put substantial amounts of dollar in R&D. Will Fanuc Limited do the same? I don't know but my guess is they will probably be more conservative."

A less well-funded Fanuc Limited may be a less formidable competitor, he said.

On the other hand, he wondered whethen a Fanuc Limited unincumbered by the General Motors name will become a greater competitor for other automotive manufacturers like Ford and Chrysler.

Kazumasa Arima, president of VSI Automation in Auburn Hills, said his company probably won't notice any changes because he has never directly competed with GMFanuc.

"Our products are quite different from GMFanuc," he said. While that larger company devoted its energies to developing large manufacturing machines, VSI Automation clients are mainly automotive small parts suppliers.

High note: Creon Smith, co-owner and general manager of the Mayflower Hotel, was recently honored by members of the Plymouth Symphony League. Smith was given a pen and ink drawing of the hotel.

The PSO's a vital part of the community and such cultural activities enrich the quality of life for all, he said.

"The people of this town are just really unique. It's something that has existed for a long time. They made commitments so that we've got a nice place to live.

Smith works with league members throughout the year. "I'm just overwhelmed by their commitment. It's terrific." All league members should receive awards, he said.

"They deserve it, because they do all the work." They're busy raising families, doing other volunteer work, and in some cases work outside the home, but still find time to support the symphony. The least others can do is attend PSO concerts, "enjoying the byproduct of the work these people are doing," he said. Smith has in many cases donated use of Mayflower facilities for PSO functions, helping the group make a profit, said Tidwell, a Plymouth Township resident.

"He's just bent over backwards and done so many things. He's just done everything he could do for the league."

Board members and league group chairwomen were also honored June 1. The league has seven different groups, with each responsible for at least one fund-raising project a year.

BY SUE MASON STAFF WRITER

There was a time when you stayed in the hospital until you were well enough to go home. But such thinking has changed today, in part because of skyrocketing health care costs.

These days, an illness that in the past may have meant a minimum of a two-week's stay in the hospital has been pared down to four days or so as insurance companies make a move to contain costs

But with all things not being equal, it is the patient about to be discharged from the hospital who isn't quite ready for home who's caught in the middle. Enter the Transitional Care Unit.

Occupying a wing of University Nursing and Rehabiltation Center in Livonia, TCU is possibly the first of its kind in the state. It is part of a joint venture between the Health Care and Retirement Corporation of care, the former offers transient care. It operates as a recovery center for patients who haven't quite recovered.

> America and The Chi Group Inc., an Ann Arbor-based health care consulting firm. The plan is to open similar units at HCR skilled care facilities in Plymouth (Plymouth Court) and Bloomfield Hills (Georgian Bloomfield).

"This is a hybrid," said Harry Dalsey of The Chi Group. "And these are patients who would be sitting in the hospital waiting to go home. The intent here is to get the patient back home; the intent is not to institutionalize them."

Different style

To escape the negative images of a nursing home, the TCU has its own entrance and its own nursing staff. Doctors visit on a daily basis and the staffing is equal to what would be found in a hospital.

The rooms are set up like hospi tal rooms with electric beds, call lights, TV and telephones. Not found in the hospital are the couches and tables and chairs for visiting and meals sans bed pillows.

And like hospitals, the unit is capable of providing occupational, physical and speech therapy.

But what sets the hospital and TCU apart is how it is staffed. The TCU uses more aides and licensed practical nurses under a registered nurse's supervision

The nurses work 12-hour shifts and HCR has made a point to hire nurses who are accustomed to the clinical challenges the patients

Senate's chiropactor bill is painful to state physicians

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Chiropractors would be able to perform more therapy procedures under a bill passed by the state Senate.

But Republican critics say it will cost insurers and employers more, damaging Michigan's competitive status

"It's a turf battle," said sponsor Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, noting medical doctors fought it. "Physicians have always had an attitude against chiropractors.

'Chiropractic is a way to treat lower back pain in contrast to surgery and pain pills.

But Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, argued unsuccessfully the bill should be set aside until companion bills can be prepared. These bills would amend the workers comp and auto insurance laws, among others, so that chiropractic costs wouldn't be covered.

Without them, we are increasing health care costs in this state," said Dillingham.

The Senate approved SB 305 on a 24-14 vote and sent it to the House. Among area senators, only Robert Geake, R-Northville, backed Dunaskiss' bill.

Opposed were Republicans Michael Bouchard of Birmingham and David Honigman of West Bloomfield and Democrats Jack Faxon of Farmington Hills, William Faust of Westland and George Hart of Dearborn.

The main change from the 1978 law is to allow chiropractors to use massage, mobilization, electricity, traction, heat, cold, air, therapeutic ultrasound and rehabilitation but not lasers.

Dunaskiss' bill, as first drafted, would have allowed chiropractors to diagnose and treat the entire "mus-

culoskeletal" system

The Health Policy Committee, however, narrowed it back to its present scope - the spine and adiacent tissue.

The bill also expands the number of diagnostic tests chiropractors may use. "I don't see it as a cost increase," said Sen. Jack Welborn, R-Kalamazoo, defending the bill. "I see it as an option - a choice of treatments an individual may want."

Welborn said chiropractic treatments may actually be cheaper than MD surgery and prescription drugs.

The Senate's only physician member, John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, was the bill's harshest attacker. He denied the "turf war" charge, saying "Chiropractors do their thing. Physicians do theirs.

There's very little interplay. "This bill has everything to do with keeping medical care costs down. An organization representing 90 percent of the employers (state chamber) is saying, 'Hey, don't do this to us.

The Senate rejected Schwarz's unusual amendment - to tie Dunaskiss' bills to workers comp, auto insurance and four other bills that have yet to be introduced.

But floor leader Phil Arthurhultz, R-Whitehall, objected: "You can't tie-bar this to a requested bill. That (Schwarz) amendment stops this bill dead in its tracks."

BOB SKLAR Old house gaining a new lease on life

S quint at the old house in the morning sun and, for a fleeting moment, you're taken back to when families like the Bartletts and Travises farmed the Canton Township countryside.

But gaze too long and the house's sorry state — the chipped clapboard, sagging overhang, boarded windows and missing stairs — jolts you back to reality.

Portions of the Bartlett-Travis House, originally at Warren and Canton Center roads, date to Canton's frontier days in the 1830s.

The township rescued the house from the wrecker's ball in 1989 after code requirements thwarted a developer's bid to convert it to offices. For many years, it had been divided into apartments.

When the developer made the house available, the township moved it to a wooded, 20-acre site on Ridge Road in the Cherry Hill Historic District.

Local historians plan to furnish the house with do nated heirlooms and open it for public viewing.

"After we moved the house, we discovered more about it," said Melissa McLaughlin, Canton Historic District Commission secretary. "These old houses are reluctant to give up their secrets. Often, they dictate what you do."

The two-story, 11-room house is two houses in one. When the Bartletts bought the land in the 1850s, they built a Greek Revival-style house next to a smaller post-and-beam-construction house. About 1870, they joined the houses and added a second level to the smaller house. By fall, the township hopes to spruce up the house's drab exterior.

Architectural delight

Structurally significant, the house boasts examples of four early architectural styles: 1830s postand-beam construction, 1850s Greek Revival, 1870s Italianate and 1890s Queen Anne.

The Queen Anne wraparound front porch was too rickety to move but it'll be replaced. "We saved some of the columns as a guide for when we reconstruct the dimensions of the porch posts and reapply any capital details that might've been on them," McLaughlin said.

. The ornate, Italianate iron railing around the small front porch was stolen a few days before the move, but McLaughlin hopes to find a reproduction.

"Four different eras of 19th-century life here in Canton come together in this one house," McLaughlin said. "As you go from room to room, we hope the different architectural and decorative styles will be evident."

McLaughlin underscores how the pioneering families who lived there "recycled, added on and combined — early forms of modernizing and home improvement — instead of tearing down and rebuilding."

Costly endeavor

Walk the rolling land of a pioneer village setting while enjoying handmade pottery, blownglass, jewelry and paintings as 180 artists and artisans converge on Greenmead Historical Village at the Livonia Fine Arts and Crafts Festival this weekend.

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN SPECIAL WRITER

If you're tired of street and sidewalk art fairs, imagine yourself in the heart of a historic village, enjoying the outdoors as you browse through hundreds of booths filled with handmade crafts and fine art. Imagine yourself at the 16th annual Livonia Fine Arts and Crafts Festival, Saturdaynia Fine Arts and Crafts Festival, Saturday-Sunday, June 13-14, at Livonia's Greenmead Historical Village, Newburgh at Eight Mile.

Imagine walking 104 acres of rolling land as Joshua Simmons did in 1826, at a time in Livonia's early history when "wild beasts were abundant and the only roads were Indian trails and new paths laid out by the settlers and marked with blazed trees."

Take in the handmade pottery, glass, jewelry, country crafts, photography and paintinga by 180 artists and artisans from 10 states. Watch as nearly 30 of the exhibitors paint, or hand-craft their wares before your eyes.

"That's really a nice show. It's a nice setting," said potter Kathy Sandberg of Plymouth.

Exhibiting for the fifth straight year at this major art extravaganza hosted by the Livonia Arts Commission, Sandberg shares a booth with functional potter Ken Barnes of Northville.

Multidisciplined potter

Sandberg crafts functional and creative pottery, ranging from large bowls and porcelain platters to fish lounging on fins in a variety of sizes and poses. Hand-thrown on a potter's wheel, the fish, their mouths gaping wide open, hold potpourri, soap, candy or whatever your imagination allows.

"I like all the attributes of clay. With clay, you can go as deep as you want," Sandberg said. "I like to take a piece and play with it, work with it and ideas."

the $100,000 needed to move and stabilize the house in Cherry Hill. That didn't include site work.

It'll cost at least $85,000 to finish structural restoration. "Completion is at least two years away," McLaughlin said.

"We feel badly about that," she added, "but we're gung-ho with Sheldon School's restoration. With grant money restricted these days, it's very difficult to work on two projects at once. The paperwork is mind-boggling."

Sheldon School, an 1868 one-room, brick schoolhouse, is on Michigan Avenue, west of Sheldon, at Sheldon Corners, a state historic site. The one-room schoolhouse is being restored for community-service office use. That three-year project, including land purchase, asbestos removal, architectural drawings and construction, will cost upwards of $300,000. Grants will cover the bulk of the cost.

Meanwhile, the Bartlett-Travis House restoration fund received a boost in the form of a $500 donation from Helen Hasselbach in memory of her husband, Freeman, a lifelong Canton farmer, who died this year.

Long-range plans call for the house to be the showpiece of a turn-of-the-century working farm, complete with livestock, crops, pasture, implements and demonstrations. Features will include the smokehouse, corn crib and barn siding from the Hasselbach farm. A capital drive will raise development money.

The farm will provide "a feel for Canton's agricultural past," said Marta McCabe, Canton Historical Society president.

"We see the farm not only as a source of cultural enhancement and family enjoyment, but also an educational opportunity, a means to experience a way of life that no longer exists," McLaughlin said.

"It'd be a way of life almost all of us can trace our heritage to."

Alaska's beauty stirs painter's brush

By Linda Ann Chomin Special Writer

Alaska's natural lures beckon artist Virginia Janus Benda to return to where animals roam free and scenery remains untouched.

After a 3½-week trip to the rugged 49th state last September, the Farmington Hills resident returned home with a passion to paint "all of the scenery and vastness of it all."

With enthusiasm and energy levels zooming, she

ARTIST CALL

Fine artists, photographers and jewelry makers may apply to be part of the first-ever Liberty Fest Fine Arts Show from Saturday to Sunday, June 27-28, at Canton Township's newly enlarged Heritage Park, 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

The juried 50-booth show will be part of Liberty Fest '92. The family fair will include a classic car show, music and entertainment, fireworka, youth has created an outpouring of translucent watercolor, ink and dye on rice paper, oil, acrylic, and handmade paper assemblage.

The Livonia Arts Commission showcases 35 of these new works through July 3 in the first one-person show at the new art gallery, on the second floor of the Livonia Civic Center Library, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

"I've traveled all over the world — Mexico, Paris. Alaska is the only place that keeps haunting me," Janus Benda said. "Alaska must be the only state left where nature is virtually undisturbed by man. It's undeveloped. There was so much raw nature there. I would like to be able to go back to Alaska, stay there awhile and paint on location."

Rising at 5 a.m., Janus Benda works 5 to 14 hours a day, six days a week in her studio. Her zeal impresses the viewer in the landscapes, florals and abstracts, all created within the last nine months. "I enjoy what I do. I love it," she said.

sports, food and dedication ceremonies for the new recreation complex.

Original fine art will be showcased under large, lighted tents. There's a $5 jurying fee.

The $50 booth fee includes a hospitality booth for artists as well as hostesses who will provide relief for artists on break.

For an application, call co-juror Sharon Dillenbeck at D & M Studies and Gallery in Plymouth: 453-3710.

IN ON THE TUBE

Westland artist Saundra Weed will have two of her bridal gown designs featured on Kelly & Co. on Channel 7 at 9 a.m. Friday, June 12. Her studio, Artistic Images, produces interchangeable fashions and jewelry along with the wedding gowns that she began designing 12 years ago.

SEASON'S CLOSE

Three Cities Art Club closed its season with a tribute to former club president Jim DeArmond, who is moving to Montana. The tribute came at a picnic at club member Betty Elliott's Plymouth home.

Club meetings will resume in October, 6:30-9 p.m. the first Monday of each month in Dunning-Hough Library, 223 S. Main, Plymouth. Call Sue Argiroff, club president, at 422-8106, or Kay Fill, program chairwoman, 455-5805. 2D*

The Congregational Church of Sirmingham is at 1000 Cranbrook Road, at the corner of Woodward and Cranbrook Road in Bloomfield Hills. Its members include more than 500 families who live in the three-county metropolitan Detroit area.

Juror from Cranbrook

Juror Greg M. Wittkopp, curator of the Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum, narrowed the entries to about 50 eligible for prizes, then singled out the quilt for the $300 Juror's Choice Award and six other works each for $100 Merit Awards. Two of the Merit Awards, made at the juror's discretion, went to artists for the work they entered in the show, rather than to individual works of art. Wittkopp is responsible for the preservation and development of Cranbrook's permanent collections as well as the museum's day-to-day operations. Merit Awards went to:

In celebration: • "Chicken Itza," a wood sculpture by Hamtramck artist Eric Cranbrook Mesko. Wittkopp cited the sculp-Academy of ture for its visually abstract quality Art Museum and use of materials. "It straddles curator Greg the edge between found objects and M. Wittkopp, ones that are specifically cut and chosen for a purpose."

• "Dumpster Kid," a cebachrome print by photographer David Allison of Missouri. Wittkopp described the photograph as "technically masterful."

• Diana Gamerman of Madison Heights, whose oil paintings, "Old Main" and "Roses," were cited for their painterly qualitites and skillful use of paint on paper and canvas · "Threads of Memory," a watercolor painting by Connie Lucas of Canton. Wittkopp paid particular attention to the watercolor; a tongue-in-cheek commentary on art and popular culture.

The painting, appearing at first as a near-mosaic of masks, paired great art works from the past with icons of contemporary culture. Almost lost among the masks is a rening back to explore its visual dering of the artist's own face reflected in a hand mirror. "This is a nice comment on contemporary culture and the way that it has pervaded all aspects of our life," Wittkopp said

 Gail Ryder, a Birmingham art ist whose abstract pencil drawings, "An Idea of Order" and "Another Idea of Order." were included in the show. Wittkopp noted the architectural sense, and calligraphic elements within the drawings. "You can see space being divided in a two-dimensional manner," he said.

• "Untitled," a collage by Geno Tiseo of Bloomfield Hills. The combination of pressed flowers, handmade paper, bark, ribbon and a scattering of leaves was a successful combination of natural, found and created items in a work reminiscent Victorian era shadowboxes, Wittkopp said.

"For me, it was 'a real pleasure and treat to juror an exhibiton like this one," Wittkopp said in concluding the daylong judging.

The show demonstrated the suc cessful work of artists, both professional and amateur, who take their craft seriously, he said.

"Their lives are enriched by the act of creating this work. It's very inspiring to see this body of work and the creativity that it represents. This is especially important at a time when creative expression is coming under increasing attack and regulation.

Artists enjoy a personalized French lesson

BY MARY KLEMIC STAFF WRITER

A group of area art students walked in the footsteps of the masters in a trip to southern France last month. The fruits of the 10-day journey - artwork by the students, including one from Plymouth - are shown in an exhibit through June 22 at the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association, 1516 S. Cranbrook Road

"It's not a tour, it's a painting trip," said BBAA instructor Leslie Masters, who also teaches at Schoolcraft College in Livonia. "We split our days - half in the art museums, the other half painting . . . Every-

The 22 participants met for two critiques. They finished up the acrylic, watercolor and pastel works back at the BBAA the end of May

Before leaving on the trip May 3, the class met once a week for six weeks, each week studying a different painter: Cezanne, Van Gogh, Matisse, Picasso, Bonnard and Vasarely. "So many painters painted in southern France,"

Masters said. Masters, an artist, gave daily painting instruction on location in Vence, Nice, Arles, Aix and southern ndscapes. Former BBAA instructor Joyce Nagel, now of South Carolina, gave pastel demonstrations and instruction. Frančoise Vernoux, a former student of Masters, was trip guide. Special highlights of the journey included visits to the Vasarely museum, the outside of which resembles one of his paintings, and to Cezanne's studio in Aix. which featured the artist's cane and backpack. "It's kept as if he just walked out the door. So we really got a flavor of Cezanne."

Giverny, France, about two years ago to visit Monet's home. She went on the group trip last month both as an artist and a teacher.

"Everybody got very excited about going. The students had all levels of painting experience. The spouse of one of them who accompanied the group had never painted before but got into trying it. Partici pants talked enthusiastically about the trip. 'It was very wonderful. It's a wonderful part of the world," said Peggy Lind Klarr of Bloomfield Hills, a watercolor artist. "The flower market was beautiful." "I think that the old architecture was my favorite thing," said interior designer Andrea Tama of Farmington Hills. 'Just the diversity . . . Everywhere you looked, the variety of texture. Everywhere you turned around, you didn't know what to paint first. The diversity of the Masters, former BBAA assistant director, had gone group. We could all be standing in one place and see something (different).

"It was great," said retired art teacher Bill Horning of Waterford. "It was really neat to be there." Patty Tapper of Farmington Hills relished the friendly cafes, where group members could talk for three or four hours at a stretch. "I never had the opportunity to be by myself and have 24 hours to paint," she said.

"It was heaven, it was inspiring. I liked the marketplace, I liked the colorful, carnival (atmosphere), Everywhere you looked was something else to capture."

"It was wonderful, a lot of wonderful memories." said retired commercial artist Frank Van Dusen of Livonia. "Everytime I work on something it brings back memories . . . To see the French countryside, it's very impressive.

Houses rate as the main event

As it's never been suggested that I attend an Optimists Anonymous meeting, I'll pass on promoting the potential "rescue" of the city of Detroit based on the construction of a new subdivision along Jefferson

Yes, it's great to see houses going up instead of being demolished. And what former resident doesn't hold at least a bit of a soft spot in their heart for the old hometown?

But are any of these reasons for suburbanites to cross Eight Mile or Telegraph for a trip to the Detroit Homearama? Perhaps not.

Sentimentality aside, there is one good reason to go. And that's the houses. Perhaps more than any Homearama in recent memory, this parade of homes is one to which the average buyer can relate. Which is not to say that if you've seen one moderately priced house you've seen them all. Don't expect to see Plain Jane bungalows and ranches from the cookie cutter school of design.

Colonials, Victorians, split-levels, contemporaries, traditionals, Cape Cods - all have been custom built, showing that a reduction in size needn't be a limiting factor for creativity. Features such as additional bathrooms, walk-in closets and game rooms that are missing in yesterday's housing stock are nicely incorporated in these houses. And extras that once were found only in pricey houses are available in the Homearama models. Ceramic fireplaces, skylights, master suites, cathedral ceilings, central vacuum systems, tray ceilings and whirlpools are some of the extras in Homearama models that builders say buyers want.

And they should know. Before the first crowds made the turn on Dickerson just about every model was sold. Builders like Janet Compo of Farmington Hills were signing up buyers for the next phase of the subdivision

So should we expect to see future Homearamas with houses in the more affordable price range? Not necessarily

Like auto makers, builders make more money on larger houses. But success feeds on success, and if there's anything builders have learned in Detroit, it's that buyers of smaller homes are interested in the whistles and bells found in larger homes. And it's those goodies that can spell profit for a builder.

Buyers who think of "affordable housing" as a euphemism for cracker box housing should demand more of builders. Innovative design need not be costlier to build than using the same dreary floor plan time after time.

Homearamas have always served as a showcase for the best work of builders, decorators and landscapers. The Detroit Homearama has placed parameters on the professionals in terms of size and expense. But it was those limitations that forced them to be more responsive to the average buyer.

Homearama continues through June 21. Hours are 3-10 p.m. weekdays, noon to 10 p.m. weekends. It is located at Jefferson and Dickerson, about four miles east of I-75.

Whet diners' appetite with visual excitement

One restaurant buzzword of the '90s is "casualization" in both food and restaurant decor. Fallen by the wayside are the power lunches that defined the '80s, chic and pretentious dining establishments, and the panache of the "celebrity chef.

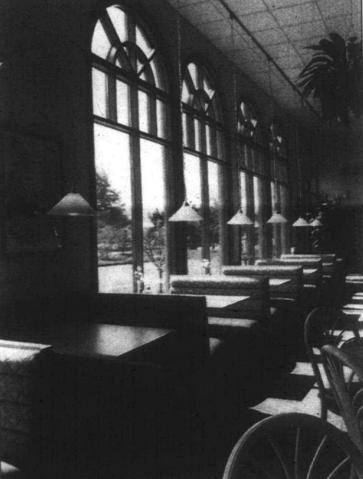

In addition to food, restaurants must draw the public with visual appeal. "You eat with your eyes," says Baltimore restaurant consultant Diane who believes in identifying one Neas. umbrella concept for a restaurant and sticking to it, from the menu right down to the tablecloths on the table Baltimore interior designer Rita St.

Clair agrees that people have become more interested in visual excitement as a backdrop to the dining experience. 'The old ideas of maintaining a quiet atmosphere have been all but thrown out," she said. "We're not as concerned with acoustics as we used to be. People want a higher noise and lighting level.

"They want to feel part of a crowd, and they want to see what they're eating. People don't want pretension but to feel comfortable in a relaxed setting.

Architecture to a restaurant can be compared pretation.

"A restaurant is like a three-legged stool," said Tom Wilscam, owner of a Sizzler franchise that recently opened in Westland. "You have food, atmosphere and service. All three are equally important."

"It's difficult to say," said Gary Wright, design project manager for General Mills Restaurant Inc. "If you consider Walt Disney World and the different restaurant designs there, can you say whether architecture brought people in - the atmosphere created - or were they hungry, a captive audience and they had to eat?

"You don't know if it's the food, atmosphere, service to people or location." Wright added. "I think it (architecture) plays a substantial part. For any nationwide restaurant, initial perception is recognition of the building."

Architecture may not be important at the highend of haute cuisine or the low-end, moms-andpops where people go strictly for food, said Ron Rea, a designer and partner with Peterhansrea in Birmingham.

But it does become a factor in the highly competitive middle ground. "You're trying to give them a dollar value good food, reasonably priced, in a good atmosohere," Rea said. "Visuals of the exterior and interior will excite them. They will go in for the way it (building) looks. Then it's up to the operator to make sure they're served well, the food is good."

"I never tell my clients design will make their business. It will assist them have better business," Rea said.

General Mills owns and operates Olive Garden and Red Lobster restaurants. An Olive Garden recently opened in Novi. Another is under construction in Canton.

"Our buildings have a certain number of square feet, the number of seats is constant and so is the kitchen," Wright said. "The exterior is customized according to the community you go in.

"We can take a base footprint and change the appearance of the footprint and the skin to make it look like many different types of buildings."

Clay tiles can give a Mediterranean appearance, vertical parapets and glazed tiles convey a more modern look and different kinds of bricks and awnings treatments present other images, Wright said.

Many municipalities require certain kinds of appearances as far as brick work, roofing colors and lighting fixtures for conformity within a business district.

Structural changes will shift according to local building codes and unusual local conditions Earthquakes are a concern in southern California Snow piles up on roofs in the Midwest. Wilscam's Sizzler has a high ceiling, pastel colors and extensive use of glass.

"Most restaurant buildings here, in my opinion are kind of dreary," he said. "They're made of of brick. They're dark. The big thing (about Sizzler) is an openness feeling. Glass in front is designed to make people feel good, just like background music.

"Philosophically, I think people eat out to have needs served. It's an escape. When I go out, I want to relax. It's just not to feed my stomach. I can go home and cook my favorite foods," he said.

Wilscam said he requested the company's newest prototype when selecting a design for his Westland restaurant.

"Architecture is an important function," Wright said. "It gives people the first impression they see and know of the restaurant. As they go through
