Schools push for tax increase

The Plymouth Canton school officials hold revived hope that voters will approve a 4-mill tax hike Monday, June 14, now that voters have sent Proposal A to the scrap yard. A renewal of 17.74 mills will also appear on the ballot as a separate question.

BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

In the wake of Wednesday's statewide election, Plymouth-Canton school officials are relieved Proposal A failed and adamant that passage of the 4-mill tax increase on the June 14 local ballot is a necessity.

The Gov. John Engler-backed Proposal A would have raised the sales tax and lowered property taxes to finance schools. Plymouth-Canton Community Schools projected a $6.9million shortfall if Proposal A passed. or a $4.9-million deficit if it failed.

Plymouth-Canton voters will be asked next Monday to approve 4 mills for two years, and to renew 17.74 mills in two separate ballot ques-

"We hope Gov. Engler isn't vindictive in terms of kids' education," said Ray Hoedel, the district's associate superintendent for business and finance. "Prior to A, he put together an executive plan whereby assessments based on 50 percent would be reduced to 45 percent. Maybe that's being discussed right now in Lansing. Whatever they do, schools - if they are to maintain any stability - need a little there to absorb if there's a major change

"The state could introduce and pass 'gotcha' legislation impacting kids' lives. That could happen overnight," added Hoedel.

Fisher on trial again

A nine-year saga of the eccentric microbiologist charged with murdering his wife by wrapping her face with duct tape continues with a new trial centered on an inmate who claims Charles Fisher bribed him to take the

Fisher was free on bond awaiting his third trial on first-degree murder charges when he was arrested on felony charges of perjury and attempting to obstruct justice. The first charge carries up to five years in prison and the second is a 21/2-year felony.

A jury was chosen and the inmate, Ricardo Bush, took the stand last week in Wayne County Circuit Court. Bush claims Fisher told him in pris-on that he taped his wife's nose and mouth and watched her fade.

Bush, who is serving a 10- to 15 breaking and entering charges, was promised he would get a lower prison term based on good behavior in exchange for his testimony.

Bush told Wayne County Prosecutors that he received $300 in prison tokens from Fisher who Bush said promised to pay him $1,500 if he would say he, and other inmates, broke into the couple's Canton house in 1984.

Fisher allegedly quizzed Bush about details of how his wife, Ella Maria Mercado Fisher, was am-bushed and what their Thornwood house looked like.

Visiting Wayne County Circuit Judge Thomas Roumell remanded Fisher to jail without bond awaiting his murder trial.

Two juries found Fisher guilty of murdering his wife. The first trial was thrown out due to a comment made by the prosecutor, and the second was reversed by the Michigan Supreme Court ruling a diary kept by Mercado Fisher should not have been admitted into testimony, because it was hear

Student performances brighten lives of nursing home residents

BY M.B. DILLON

For students at Central Middle School, this is the sunrise of life. For the residents at West Trail Nursing home, it's nearing sunset. As a host of talented students performed for their elderly neighbors, the two intersected for a while on a recent afternoon. It brought smiles as bright as the noon-

As the residents, most of them in wheelchairs, listened, Michele Baldor read a poem. Delaine Andrzeiewski danced. Natalie Ferin and Erin Griffith read poems. Jessica Carlson danced. Susan Szubeck played the piano. Lauren Campbell danced. Katie Wildfong sang. Kate Szubeck and Elizabeth Elsner also took part in the festivities in the activity room at the Ann Arbor Trail nursing home.

"It's kind of scary," said Jessica, a jazz dancer. "A lot of the people are bed-ridden. "We have come here a few times, and have gotten to know some of the people. At first when you come you have mixed emotions. You don't know if you should feel happy or sad. But then you feel good because you are doing something for them," she said.

Students brought their own taped music. After their show, they visited with the residents.

West Trail maintenance worker and laundry aide Daryl Fair took time out from his duties to catch a performance. "The residents enjoy this. They really like it," Fair said.

"I came a couple times and got so

Clerk says slow vote count demonstrates thrift to thrift for being among the last Wayne County communities to turn in election results last week.

"What counts is accuracy and an inexpensive election," Bennett said. If he hired 20 more people to work the election, Bennett added, the tallies would have been in quicker. But, having those people "milling around" would be a waste, he added.

Bennett said there wasn't a specific problem causing the delay that placed Canton among the final four Wayne County communities to turn in results.

At 11:35 p.m. Wednesday Canton had counted 14,289 ballots cast on Proposal A, a doomed tax plan to cut property taxes and increase the sales

The polls, which closed at 8 p.m., were busy with an extraordinarily high 42 percent of the registered voters casting ballots. Of the total votes, some 3,500 votes, were absentee bal-

Meanwhile, a spokesperson with the Wayne County Elections office defended Canton's late returns.

"Even though some came in later than others, no one came in at a ridiculous level," the spokesman said adding that the travel time for western communities, like Canton and Plymouth Township, are more time-consuming than communities closer to Detroit, like Dearborn.

Tardy results don't affect Wayne County tabulations, he said. There are 33 cities and 10 townships in Wayne County.

"We're here most of the night anyway," the spokesman, who asked not to be identified, said. "Even if a community does have some type of problem, we'll just work on something else until they come in."

Wilcox Mill into a headquarters for the Plymouth Community Arts Council have been scrapped.

The mill, at Wilcox Road and Hines Drive, had been targeted for renovation as a permanent home for the arts council. Original plans called for classroom space, an art gallery and offices.

"There were several factors considered in the decision,' said Christine Ilas, arts council executive director

"Preliminary site tests revealed the need for additional reconstructive work, increasing our original budget, $765,000.

Also, Wayne County officials were not able to win a state Department of Natural Resources grant that would have helped pay for the renovation.

With costs spiraling upward, even before we broke ground, the board felt the mill project would be detrimental to the purpose and programs of the PCAC," Ilas said. An arts council facility com-allow you to properly back out of your garage or a parking space. You must have grip to grasp so you can turn the car's steering wheel. Finally, you require enough freedom from pain and sufficient mobility in your legs to enable you to accelerate and brake quickly.

The ability to undertake the above depends both on your joints and on the car's equipment, thus the second evaluation. Do you have a seat capable of adjusting to the height and distance from the floor you need that day? Have you large or added mirrors to compensate for any neck motion impairment? Is your steering wheel padded or has it a knob added for better grip? Do you have automatic steering and/ or transmission to lessen the strain of shifting and turning? Are your seat belts adapted to your capability to clip the belts in place and can you position the shoulder harness to your body shape?

The third evaluation is your medication. If arthritis drugs leave you light headed or nauseated, do you schedule your driving to waiting until such feelings resolve?

If you are older, then in addition you must also consider your eyesight, coordination, and

Self-tanners aid a summer's glow hough the temptation to bask in the sun is powerful, we all know the results could be evastating. Sunbathing habits have changed drastically.

The "Sun Goddesses" of yesteryear favor pro tective sunscreens or counterfeit tans from a bot tle. There's certainly no need to shun the sun. Though careless exposure and sunburn is destrutive, sunlight is vital for our bodies and our spirit

To take advantage of the positive side of sunlight, skin needs a chemical-free sunscreen that reflects infrared rays while blocking ultraviolet light. Titanium dioxide is a natural protective film that is now being used in sun products to prohibit the absorption of UV rays. It is transparent, PABA-free and oil-free. Ignore the smell

Though these products initially emit a strange odor, not unlike Polaroid film developer, the scent fades and is not indicative of a harmful chemical. Dermatologists endorse self-tanners as the safest nonsun tanning method (100 percent safer than tanning salons). They contain DHA which binds to the proteins in dead cells on the top layer of skin, turning them yellow to brown. The color disappears through natural skin exfoliation.

Other summer skincare essentials include eye greams, post-sun moisturizers and tinted moisturizers that substitute for foundation and include sun protection.

"I love tinted moisturizers," said makeup artist Todd Skog of Lori Karbal in Birmingham. "It's the best alternative to a heavier foundation, especially in summer. Trish McEvoy's product is great. It provides a sheer coverage, yet you feel like you don't have anything on."

Another excellent moisturizer with a touch of color is Complexe Phyto-Hydratant Teint by Sis lev, exclusively at Neiman Marcus. This botani cal beauty treatment is available in three shades.

It's time for our Viet vets to give up bitterness end. Sure, our troops pulled out of Saigon in the early 1970s, and the ones who didn't go came back from Canada a few years later. But the war continues on the home front.

Just ask President Bill Clinton who was heckled during a Memorial Day speech at the Vietnam War memorial in Washington. The guy was just trying | the down payment down on the Musto make peace with the Vietnam veterans and, for his efforts, he was called a draft dodger

It's a label that Clinton and I both wear, if that's what you call somebody who didn't have to go to Vietnam because they were in the draft lottery in the early 1970s.

During the presidential campaign, it came out that Clinton was in the same lottery I was during 1970 and his number didn't come up. Mine didn't either.

Up 'til then, I never considered myself a draft dodger and still don't." The same goes for Clinton.

We were in a lottery. Your birthdate was matched up with a number select ed at random and you were drafted on that basis. In other words, if you were number one, you better start packing, and if you were 365, it was OK to put

For me there was a certain guilt in not going to Vietnam. Most of my friends went. There were all-night parties and then a dawn drive to Metro Airport where we would put a drunken 19-year-old on a plane. It wasn't fun.

Luckily, I had a father who didn't want me to go to Vietman. His contention was that it was a war for the military. The more troops you have: the more generals you need. That means rank and money for career military

Being a World War II veteran, my father contended that was enough for our family, especially since somebody in his family had fought in almost eve-

Even my friends who did go to Vietnam didn't show any bitterness because I hadn't.

Oh, sure there were divisions between those who went and those who didn't. There was a certain bit of snobbery on both sides. I remember friends telling war stories in a newsroom at the paper I was working at and the reporters there ignoring, and even refusing to write about the war. Inteviewing Vietnam vets was seen as being pro-war, which wasn't the thing to be at newspapers in the early 1970s.

However, that division started to evaporate as the 1970s wore on and during the 1980s, Vietnam seemed to slip out of our vocabulary.

But it seems as we baby boomers march toward middle age, things are getting worse. That was evident when Clinton tried to talk to the veterans at the Vietnam memorial. And he was the first president to visit the monument; George Bush and Ronald Reagan head ed for good old reliable World War II events for Memorial Day.

There stood Clinton looking as uncomfortable as a Baptist choir boy on a warm Sunday in Hot Springs when the church service is going too long. He was smiling and trying to keep it together while being booed.

The guy was trying to make amends It's just too bad that the veterans weren't listening. It makes us all victims of the war.

Jeff Counts is the editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Newspapers, who still suffers from Vietnam-era guilt and can remember his draft lottery number. He can be reached at 459-2700.

Suburban lawmakers will be fighting outstate retaliation in the wake of Proposal A's defeat June

They'll have to stave off outstate attacks on "categorical" aid to suburban school districts. They may have to consider raising sales tax revenue by broaden-more items. Don't punish

Sen. Robert Geake, R-North-ville, publicly advised Gov. John Engler against retaliating against anti-A metropolitan suburbs by sharply cutting categorical aids.

"Western Wayne and Oakland counties were crucial components in Engler's narrow election victory," Geake said. "If he were to sign a school aid bill that was harshly punitive to the out-of-formula school districts, I don't know how we could get him re-

Geake said outstaters view southeastern Michigan residents as "wealthy and spending too much on their schools. But since 80 percent of every school district budget is personnel costs, they're really saying we pay teachers too much. I don't think people in this area would agree with that."

'Rattle sabers'

"They'll come after categoricals, rattle their sabers and go for something else, like sales tax exemptions," predicted David Wy gonik, an aide to Sen. George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn.

'What I'm hearing is that since they haven't been successful in raising the rate (to 6 percent in Wygonik said Hart surveyed voters in Garden City and Dearborn prior to the election and found 80 percent opposition to Proposal A. Hart opposed the $2 illion tax shift plan.

But he said Hart is skeptical that outstate lawmakers can muster the votes to strip pension and categorical aids from what they perceive to be wealthy school ing the base - that is, taxing districts. "The schools won't accept such a burden again," the Senate aide said.

> Engler wants to shift pension costs to local districts over three

"I would hope the governor would not retaliate with the school aid bill," said Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, deploring the Us versus Them barriers between outstate and the metropolitan suburbs.

"A couple of things could happen," Faust said. "The Legislature could roll back assessments. Or the 'Robin Hood' (cutting categorical aid to schools) agenda could be advanced which would not bode well. I hope good sense would prevail.

Faust supported Proposal A. His home district, Wayne-Westland, levies the highest school tax rate in the state at 47 mills and would have seen a 20-mill cut if A had passed Wayne-Westland is in deep crap. I'm really concerned. I know we're not alone," Faust said. Faust recalled the state looked at broadening the sales tax base in the recession of 1983.

Geake said the Florida Legislature had a bad experience by expanding the sales tax base to services. "There was such a massiv uprising that the legislature promptly repealed its own law."

ROLL CALL REPORT

Area legislators split on keeping U.S. troops in Somalia

Here's how Observer & Eccentric-area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending

HOUSE

Vote Keeps Troops in Somalia: By a vote of 127 for and 299 against, the House rejected an amendment to bring U.S. forces home from Somalia by June 30. The House then passed a measure (SJ Res 45) authorizing American troops in Somalia for at least another year under the War Powers Act. About 5,000 Gls remain there under United Nations command, down from a peak deployment of 25,000 in 1992.

A yes vote was to withdraw American troops from the U.N. force in Somalia by June 30. Area representatives voting yes were: Joseph Knollenberg, R-Birmingham. Voting no: Bob Carr, D-Pontiac, Dale Kildee, D-Flint, Sander Levin, D-Southfield and William Ford, D-Ypsilanti.

Borrowing for Defense Spending Maintained: By a vote of 188 for and 244 against, the House rejected an amendment deleting $1.2 billion in deficit military spending from a $1.8 billion appropriations bill (HR 2118) for fiscal 1993. The amendment sought to force the Pentagon to get the money from other defense accounts instead of by borrowing. The funding consists mainly of $750 million for operations in Somalia, $295 million for civilian medical insurance claims and $100 million for Air Force patrols over southern Iraq. The House sent the bill to the Senate. A yes vote was to require the disputed military spending to be put on a pay-as-you-go basis. Area representatives voting yes were:

Carr, Knollenberg and Ford.

Yes to New Jobs Bill: The House passed, 287 for and 140 against, a bill to spend $920 million immediately on creating summer jobs for city youth, launching public works projects and hiring more police at the state and local level. The "son-of-stimulus" measure (HR 2244) was a reduced version of the $19 billion White House-sponsored lobs measure that fillbustering Republicans recently killed in the Senate. This deficit because it is paid for by cuts elsewhere in the budget.

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Carr. Klidee, Levin and Ford. Voting no: Knollenberg.

No to Strip Jobs Program: By a vote of 176 for and 251 against, the House refused to strip the jobs and infrastructure bill (above) of $80 million for piloting a new program to quality persons 17-to-30 for the job market. Participants would learn skills, receive classroom instruction and get a $100 weekly stipend for meals, transportation and attending to personal needs.

A yes vote opposed the new program. Area representatives voting yes were: Knollenberg. Voting no: Carr, Kildee, Levin and

Yes to Confirm Achtenberg: By a vote of 58 for and 31 against, the Senate confirmed Roberta Achtenberg as the Department of Housing and Urban Development's assistant secretary for open housing and equal opportunity. Achtenberg, a lesbian, is a civil rights attorney and has been a San Francisco County supervisor. She drew Senate criticism for having used her county post to fight Bay Area Boy scouts over their refusal to accept homosexual scoutmas-

Sail away with all the comforts of home

till haven't made plans for that great sum-mer vacation? Michigan has lots to offer and this summer you'll find me fishing on the Manistee, enjoying the arts and shopping in Saugatuck and Traverse City, eating chicken in Frankenmuth and admiring the natural splendor of the UP.

But if you're looking for something a little different, yours truly just returned from a long weekend of fishing and enjoying the views from a 65-foot houseboat on the absolutely gorgeous Dale Hollow Lake in Tennessee.

Houseboating in the "finger lake" regions of Kentucky and Tennessee is one of the fastest growing vacation destinations sweeping the nation. After spending four days aboard in what was nothing short of a fully-equipped floating condominium, I'm hooked.

This impromptu weekend with seven guys was hastily organized by Mick Livernois, a longtime friend. When the invitation was initially proposed, I had visions of an old tugboat equipped with the

The 10-hour drive was the beginning of what I hought would be the bust of a weekend. I stand

Comfortable quarters

For starters, our 65-foot houseboat had all the kitchen, complete with cookware, cutlery and basic gadgets, our houseboat comfortably slept 10 and included air conditioning, color TV, VCR, stereo and deck furniture.

Knowing that I was assuming the duties of galley chef, I packed a duffel with all the mandatory staples like condiments, basic spices and herbs, a favorite selection of non-stick cookware, and my favorite knife.

Items from a prearranged shopping list with dinner for three days were solidly frozen and carefully packed in insulated coolers for the trip. Relying on a basic camp list organized from past fishing and vacation trips, I packed the necessary kitchen supplies.

Anyone who has ever camped or spent time in a trailer knows the importance of having everything you need, when you need it. Marina and local party stores have a tendency to take advantage of someone in need of a corkscrew or salt and pepper shakers.

Assistant chef

Fortunately, I had the assistance of Mike Ososkie, a graduate of the Johnny Kolakowski School of Culinary Arts in Wyandotte and experienced houseboater who served as co-chef.

With duffels and coolers packed to the gills, we loaded our houseboat and were off for a great weekend of sun, fun and fishing. In all honesty, I couldn't tell you what was better, the weather or the surrounding beauty of the finger lakes region. With all the conveniences of home tucked away in our galley, we ate like kings. Not wanting to feel chained to a kitchen for hours on end, the first night featured grilled steaks (on the supplied gas grill) with baked potatoes and stir-fried broccoli.

Simple dinners

No muss, no fuss, and the only dishes in need of washing were a load of silverware and a non-stick fry pan used to cook the broccoli. Subsequent breakfasts and lunches were self-made because in this case, the chef was either busy playing cards or fishing for the next night's dinner.

Although the fishing wasn't as productive as what I'm used to, dinner number two consisted of some fried potatoes (left over from the previous night's bakers), a few pans of cornbread and some sauteed shrimps.

Since we were in a dry county and white wine was about as plentiful as the fish, the frozen shrimps were defrosted and tossed with a seasoned flour and then pan-fried in butter that was made into a great sauce with the addition of a can

The leftover cornbread was crumbled and used as a coating for the singular five pound catfish which was brought aboard by a lone fisherman, dipped in an egg wash and rolled in crumbled cornbread, pan-fried and served as an appetizer. Our last dinner was barbecued chicken and a Fettuccine Alfredo that was tossed simply and seductively with boiled noodles, some cream, fresh grated Parmesan cheese and a crackling of fresh ground pepper. My shipmates were duly im-

Like caviar and champagne, softshell crabs are an acquired taste. These seasonal delicacies, available mid-May to September, are completely edible except for the face and gills. You don't have to crack claws or pick through a hard outer shell to get to the sweet meat.

The traditional way to prepare them is to season them with flour, pan fry, and give them a squeeze of lemon at the end of cooking," said Tringali. "You can also make a sauce, sautee the crabs, and serve them on top of flavored pasta like tomato basil."

You can also baste them with garlic butter or barbecue sauce and broil or grill about 5 minutes per side. Or bake them at 350 degrees for about 8 minutes." CHEF'S SECRETS

Short order creativity piece of cake for chef

By Joan Boram Special Writer

Eric Haggerty is a lucky man. in 1984, 13-yearold Eric went to Atlanta as assistant to a Swiss chef, a friend of his parents, Kathy and Mike Hag-

At an age when other boys have paper routes, Eric discovered his affinity for cooking and baking. He returned to Atlanta the following summer.

So, in 1986, when the Haggertys began offering English teas at their popular shop in downtown Birmingham, Eric's talent and enthusiasm were put to good use. After school, and during the summer, Eric created light-as-air tortes, Black Forest cake, and classic French brioche and chocolate croissants. For diehard American palates, he made blueberry muffins and carrot cake.

In 1990, the family moved their business to the elegant Bloomfield Hills restaurant, Monchelle Lamour (don't run to your Larousse: they just like the sound of the words). Kathy ran the front of the popular restaurant, Mike did the cooking, and Eric

"We provide a selection of pastries on the dessert menu in the restaurants," said Eric, "But we also offer a more elaborate special order menu. With 24 hours notice, we'll create lemon hazelnut, Italian rum, cappucino, or several other tortes, all with a minimum amount of sugar.

A second establishment, Cafe Lamour, joined the family late in 1992. Located in Southfield, the light-filled room is decorated in a warm French country style. "Dad began cooking at Cafe Lamour," said Eric, "and I took over all the cooking chores in Bloomfield Hills."

Each restaurant is in an office building, and therefore closed on weekends. But don't think the Haggertys get weekends off: they often provide delicacies for weddings, teas or hors d'oeuvre parties.

Eric's most popular creation is the white

Alaskan mousse torte. "We bake the white-chocolate-flavored tortes for weddings almost every weekend during the summer," said Eric. "The average wedding requires about 20 tortes, and by late fall, I'll have made at least 500 wedding tortes. They're very light, and perfect after a heavy meal."

Creativity on short order is one of the 20-year-old pastry chef's specialties. Recently, a customer requested an outstanding dessert for a Kentucky Derby Party only three days away.

'He provided us with tiny horses, and jockeys and split-rail fences," said Eric. "I made a track out of chocolate shavings around the perimeter of a 12-inch torte. The inner circle was green frosting, and we had a florist friend make us a tiny wreath of rose buds. It was so pretty that nobody wanted to eat it — they just kept taking videos.

For a recent hors d'oeuvres party at the Bloomfield Hills location, the dessert menu featured tartlets with fresh fruit and custard; mousse tarts floated in raspberry puree; raspberry Bavarian cakes; espresso tortes and lemon hazelnut tortes. Each of these morsels were about 11/2-inches in di-

"Small size breaks down willpower real good," said Eric, with a knowing smile. "Even people on diets will eat dessert, if it's small enough

Americans are increasingly diet conscious. Given that, why do you suppose these elaborate great red wines of the Medoc, St. Emilion and Pomerol, there is a small southern region called Sauternes, renowned for its presti gious white dessert wines. Here, Chateau Youem rules as queen or Sauternes, but its high price tag ($150) makes it a truly special-occasion wine.

At the foot of Yquem's domain are the contiguous vineyards of Chateau Raymond-Lafon making exquisite wines rivaling those of the queen in many vintages, but at one-fifth the price ($30).

The Meslier family, current proprietors of Raymond-Lafon, reside in the property's modest chateau. They are pleased to have succeeded in re-establishing the reputation of Raymond-Lafon, a property that had fallen into neglect prior to their purchase in Imagine a white wine that ages longer than any red wine in the world: a wine with the richness to complement foie gras d'oie (goose liver nate), the intensity to stand up to Roquefort and viscosity to completely coat the palate.

Contemplate a wine with in tense honey aromas and peach flavors made from botrytis-infected, shriveled grapes picked berry by individual berry. That's the luxurious taste experience of Chateau Raymond-Lafon Sauternes.

What dessert lives up to that?

None, just serve it well chilled as an exquisite finale to any meal. In 1963, Pierre Meslier became director at Chateau Yquem where he managed the vineyards and winemaking of both Yquem and Chateau de Fargues until 1989.

While managing Yquem, Meslier became acquainted with other properties in Sauternes, and when the opportunity presented itself in 1972, he purchased the neighboring property of Raymond-Lafon.

Meslier continued managing Yquem while his wife Francine directed the operations at Raymond-Lafon. Together, the Mesliers have reacquired the original vineyards of the Chateau, raised the quality to that of a great growth, and in 1990, gave this treasure to their children.

Today, with the elder Mesliers continuing as consultants, Jean-Pierre, Charles-Henri and Marie-Francoise have assumed the roles international marketer, winemaker and manager, respec-

The quality of Raymond-Lafon Sauternes is a result of impeccably high winemaking standards and strict grape selection employed in the vineyard.

"Our vines must struggle against the odds to make a great wine," said Meslier. "Our soil is chalk and clay with gravel, not very hospitable to most crops, but poor soil is best for grapes. The extremely humid Sauternes cli mate in September and October would be disastrous for dry, white wines, but it is excellent for sweet dessert-style wines because it encourages pourriture noble (bo trytis cinerea).

The '90s version of George Seurat's "Sunday Afternoon on the Island of La Grande Jatte" is this year's official Detroit Grand Prix poster. Mark Zapico, creative director for D'Arcy, Masius, Benton & Bowles in Bloomfield Hills. cloned the classic for the annual poster contest open to metro Detroit advertising agencies.

"I wanted to bring back a feeling of the past, of a more genteel time on the island, while at the same time bringing it forward to the '90s,' Zapico said. The artist used electronic imaging and hand illustration to duplicate Seurat's style. It's available from Detroit Renaissance (259-5400) at $15 plus postage or at local poster

Be my guest

Aero bed is one way to oblige unexpected house guests this summer — even a 300-pound wrestler. The twin-sized portable mattress inflates in 45 seconds and accommodates guests up to 6 feet 1 inch tall. Plug it in, push a button and inflate to any firmness. When it's not in use, the bed folds into a carrying bag to store for the next round of guests. Makers of Aero bed suggest using the bed-in-a-bag for cottages, dorms and efficiency apartments, too. Folded it's slightly bigger than a backpack. It's practical, surprisingly comfortable and costs the same as a modestly priced twin mattress ($99). Sold only at Jacobson's Home Stores.

Yard Boss proves it's the boss

■ With the help of a silent partner and a big dose of talent, Yard Boss is closing the door on comparisons of the group to grunge bands. One step in that direction is its debut CD "Swollen."

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO

When Yard Boss records its debut CD "Swollen." it's going against the traditional lavering technique to give it a more "live" taste.

"We like it to be like lasagna. We like it all melted together," said lead singer Marty Conselvea, intertwining his fingers together.

Conselyea and guitarist Greg Savela have other hopes about the product. They anticipate it closing the chapter on comparisons to orunge bands.

'Swollen' will set the record straight," Savela said. "We're like an exceptional journey without a destination." Conselvea Yard Boss has attracted plenty of vacationers on its "journey," includ ing two die-hard fans who the band has never met. They stand in front of the band shouting during its set. Before Yard Boss comes on, the duo chants the group's name. 'We don't even know who those two guys are; they come to almost all our shows," Coselyea said. "It

Canton claims regional soccer title

Plymouth Canton is headed to the Class A semifinals in girls soccer again after winning another regional tournament championship Saturday with a 1-0 victory over Northville.

By Larry O'Connor Staff Writer

Both teams thought the answer might be blowing in the wind. But it was Northville that ended up with the subterranean homesick blues.

And, like a rolling stone, Plymouth Canton will go to the state quarterfinals after beating the Mustangs 1-0 in a wind-swept match Saturday to capture the regional girls soccer title at Northville High.

The Chiefs (19-1-1) meet Portage Central for a state semifinal game Wednesday in Jackson. Central (22-0) handed Canton its only loss, 5-2 in the regular season.

Revenge might be an incentive, but a state championship is the biggest jewel of redemption.

To clear the path, senior halfback Amy Westerhold scored a gem of a goal in the first half. The tally came with 17 minutes elapsed but proved to be the winner.

Westerhold hammered a shot that Mustang goalkeeper Jessica Jones parried away. Westerhold followed through on the rebound and slotted it

That, with a strong gust from the north at their back, seemed to send the Chiefs on their way. They couldn't score again, though.

When Canton left the first half one goal ahead, if anything, the situation looked precarious.

Northville, buoyed by the excep-tional play of Jones, had the wind on its back during the second half, but the Mustangs couldn't muster a serious threat.

"I thought they would put a lot more pressure on us in the second half," said Canton coach Don Smith. 'They couldn't seem to sustain the push long enough.

'In fact, I was concerned about us being up by only one goal and giving them the wind.

The Mustangs directed some threatening crosses into the penalty area, but Canton goalkeeper Jori Welchans snared them with little trouble.

In injury time, Northville pressed and earned a corner kick. Welchans came off her line and collected the ball as the whistle blew.

'We adjusted our game plan a little to take the wind into account," said Northville coach Bob Paul. "We just didn't get the scoring opportunities."

Canton did, though. Senior forward Leah Hutko broke through on several occasions. Her nemesis was in a lilac jersey in the opposing goal. Hutko was sent in clear midway in the second half, but Jones went out and dove at her attacker's feet to collect the ball.

A few minutes later, Hutko connected with a piercing drive from 10 yards out. Jones turned the shot over the bar. Afterward, Hutko tapped the Mustang keeper on the arm to acknowledge her heroics.

When the goalkeeper wasn't an obstacle, the referee was a barrier.

Hutko had a goal on a penalty kick waved off by the official, who said she didn't wait for the whistle. Her second attempt rolled wide.

Senior forward Colleen Connell also had a few scoring chances go

In the first half, she curled a shot that Jones had diving to her left to smother. She also was the architect of a dipping cross that the keeper could barely nudge onto the crossbar. Smith said his team could've had at least four goals. He credited Jones for her stellar play in the opposing

"They don't count unless they go into the net," he said.

Asked if he was concerned about the missed scoring opportunities, though, Smith clutched the regional trophy in his arm.

Said Smith: "Not anymore."

Pitching carries Salem to district tournament wins

BY DAN O'MEARA STAFF WRITER

For a baseball pitcher who nearly

Mike Marsella was in complete control Saturday.

Despite a rocky start, Marsella threw a no-hitter against Livonia Franklin and led the Rocks to the Class A district championship at Canton with a 7-0 victory.

Pitching carried the day for Salem, which toppled Western Lakes Activities Association champion Canton in the first round as junior Nirav Kher tossed a three-hit shutout, 3-0.

'That's one of the things we worked at and had to work on all year because we were inexperienced," Salem coach John Gravlin said. The biggest find was Nirav. We knew Mike was going to be a starting pitcher, but he hasn't been quite as consistent as Nirav, who has thrown 14 (consecutive) innings and not given up a run. Of course, Mike has thrown seven. In the final, Marsella hit three batters in the first two innings and was nearly ejected because of it.

he collected himself proceeded to make history - the only other Franklin player to reach base was Pat McCormack, on an error in the sixth inning.

"(The umpire) said one more and I'd be tossed," Marsella said. "It shook me up. I didn't have my control. Plus, my pitches were tailing up and in so that didn't help. I changed my grip and got back in the groove.'

Marsella, who threw a no-no year, found his control and faced just 16 batters over the last five innings. He threw 79 pitches overall, striking out five and walking none.

"It's been 10 days since Mike has had a chance to pitch," Gravlin said. (The umpire) said he worried about the safety of the kids. I said, 'He's a little rusty; we'll start throwing fastballs on the outside part of the plate until he gets his control.' "I had a couple other pitchers I wanted to get innings today, but I couldn't take that chance when he's rolling.' Salem (20-13) will play Ann Arbor

Pioneer in the regional tournament at Plymouth-Canton on Saturday. Sophomore Mike AuBuchon pitched six innings for Franklin, but the Rocks scored a single run in the first and got to him for four in the second. Salem had seven of its 13 hits in the first two innings. Charlie Winstel, who had four hits on the day to raise his season total to - the most by any player in (lin's 10 years as coach, had an RBI single in the first.

The Rocks loaded the bases with three straight hits to start the second. An error scored one run, Bryan Zarosely (three hits) had a two-run single and Eric Kida added an RBI sacrifice fly. "The time to get (Marsella) was

Blazers topple No. 2 Chiefs in final

By Dan O'Meara Staff Writer

As the leadoff batter, Lisa Rozum has scored plenty of runs for the Livonia Ladywood softball team, but none more important than the one she Rozum raced home following an error for the only run as the Blazers shocked Plymouth Canton 1-0 in the championship game of the Class A district tournament at Salem "I was thinking I'd better run faster, because the game is on the line," said Rozum, a sophomore who lives in Canton. "I think the adrenaline carried me most of the way. It was the best run from third to home I've had. Ladywood (21-11-1) advances to the regional tournament at Plymouth-Canton to play the Ann Arbor Pioneer district winner Saturday. The loss was filled with irony for the Chiefs (31-6) and all-state pitcher Kelly Holmes, who threw a perfect game through six innings.

She still ended her career throwing a no-hitter without a walk, but the Blazers capitalized on three errors (all in the seventh inning) to win the game. "Kelly was outstanding today; everything was working for her," Canton coach Jim Arnold said.

"She even looked a little faster today. She really wanted this game. Rozum and Melissa Campeau started the top of the seventh for Ladywood with bunts and reached base on errors. A dropped ball at first on Cam-peau's bunt allowed Rosum to take third, and an overthrow at third opened the door for her to score. "The breaks went our way this time instead of theirs," first-year Ladywood coach Lisa Parsons said, recalling a 4-2, eight-inning loss to the Chiefs in the Canton Classic.

"We knew we had to put the ball in play. The last time we struck out 14 times. We put pressure on them to play defense, because you just don't hit off (Holmes). The last time they sat back and let Kelly strike everybody out."

Holmes, who finished with 958 career strikeouts, fanned the first six Ladywood batters and assisted on five of the next six putouts. But the Blazers started swinging harder and making better contact as the game progressed.

"I started them bunting and slapping at the ball to give them confidence — and it helped," Parsons said. "Once they found they could touch the ball against her, they weren't as intimidated as the last

"The last time they said they were scared going up there because she throws so hard. (The patient strategy) showed she's human and we didn't have Winning pitcher Mary Jo Kelly was nearly as effective for the Blazers, throwing a four-hitter and walking three. Both pitchers struck out eight.

Kelly allowed just one hit through five innings, but the Chiefs got two and threatened in the sixth,

in which Rozum had a game-saving catch in center field. Canton had runners at first and second when Lisa Nicastri hit a line drive that Rozum caught on the run. The inning ended with Tina Schafer (two hits) being thrown out at the plate after a single to right field by Holmes. 'In the end, I didn't throw as much junk because I wanted to get it over the plate," Kelly said, adding it was her biggest victory in four years of Ladywood softball. "I have a good defense behind me and I trust them. The loss was disappointing for the Chiefs, who were state runners-up last year and had hoped to make another tournament run.

"It's not an automatic thing," Arnold said. "We heard a lot of that, and there was a lot of pressure on the kids all season. I tried to downplay it, but it's always on their minds. We had a legitimate shot at it, but you have to have some luck to be there. We had a tough district and it doesn't get any tougher.' By eliminating Canton, the Blazers have put themselves into serious contention for additional

"I think this was a big step for us, and we have a chance to go far," Parsons said. "This definitely is one of the toughest, if not the toughest, games we'll have to play. In first-round district games, Canton and Lady-

"They came out like a ball of fire and we didn't make the plays. When we hit something they made the plays. (Marsella) handcuffed us all day.' AuBuchon followed with three scoreless innings before Salem scored twice in the sixth to make it 7-0. Zarosely and Dave Knight had RBI singles. Jim Cunningham also had two hits for the Rocks. Rob Jansen finished the game for the Patriots (9-19). "For a sophomore, I think my kid pitched a pretty good game. Franklin coach Jim Karoub said. "I don't think he pitched as poor ly as the six runs they scored or him. He was around the plate all day and had nice stuff."

The Rocks also had solid fielding from shortstop John Klask and steady play from Winstel at first base and outfielders Jamie Owens, Zarosely and Eric Stryker. "We're playing almost perfect defense, which is another thing," Gravlin said, adding the Rocks made 25 errors in their first 10 games. "Since that point in time. we've been playing tremendous baseball. You win with pitching and defense and we're doing both of those now.

Gibbons glows over hot new daytime show

By Scott White
"This is a giant shark," says Leeza Gibbons with an uncharacteristically tired note in her usually effervescent voice. She is referring to the workload involved in lauching her new daytime talk show, "John & Leeza
From Hollywood."

"I'm operating on almost no sleep," she says, "because I most especially don't want to shortchange anything or anybody."

The moment of melancholy is quickly replaced by the enthusiasm her viewers have come to know and love from her long tenure on the syndicated program "Entertainment Tonight." Her voice warms again when she begins to speak of "John & Leeza."

"John (Tesh, her co-host) and I are bouncing off the walls," she says. "Somebody's going to have to rein us in"

The new show, which presents an hour of variety entertainment before a studio audience each weekday, premieres Monday, June 14, on NBC. Obvious comparisions will be drawn not only to the highly successful "Entertainment Tonight," but also to the syndicated morning favorite, "Live With Regis & Kathie Lee," the program with which "John & Leeza" will share a friendly competition.

"John and I are both big fans of what Regis and Kathie Lee do," says Gibbons. "I've filled in for Kathie Lee many times. When it looked like ('John & Leeza') was even the spark of an idea, I wrote to them and said. If it happens, it will be because of you gays, because you've been so incredibly successful. They have both been real supportive and very factors. In a let of merkets, we've actually companions, so I think there's certainly plenty of room for everybody."

The new program is as different from "Entertainment Tonight" as it is similar to "Live With Regis & Kathie Lee."

"There will be virtually no similarities between this show and 'Entertainment Tonight," Gibbons promises, "except for the fact that we will have a heavy dose of celebrity guests. 'ET" is a format-driven show that's not very personality intensive. What we hope for 'John & Leeza' is that it will be just the reverse of that. We want this show to be very spontaneous, very freewheeling, with a sense of surprise and a little bit of irreverence, but not to the point of exclusion. It's going to have almost a dishy aspect to it."

Gibbons expects the show's Hollywood location will give it easy access to some of the hottest celebrities and gossip in the show business industry

based talk show, other than 'Arsenio," she remarks. "We're going to play up the fact that we're on the Paramount lot. I mean, right now the Coneheads are running around, the Addams Family is running around, as are all the people who load in to perform on 'Arsenio.'"

In addition, Gibbons and Tesh both have the name recognition necessary to rustle the big stars in.

"Everybody I've mentioned it to ha said 'yes," Gibbons proudly proclaims. "I was on the set of (the upcoming film) 'Demolition Man' the other day and said, 'Sly (Stallone), you gonna do our show?' and he said 'Absolutely. Tell me when you want me.' And I interviewed Richard Marx for a radio special recently. I said, 'you know you want to perform on this show,' and he said, 'Definitely.' Let's face it, this is the most favorable environment you could appear in for a personality. I think we're probably gonna have startups pains for the show, but I don't think that finding guests will be one of them."

STAR NOTES

Donohoe battles dreams in 'Hidden Room'

BY MICHAEL SCOGIN

English actress Amanda Donohoe, known for her penchant for eclectic and challenging roles, is the star of the Saturday, June 12, episode of Lifetime's critically-acclaimed anthology series. "The Hidden Room," which is making its second-season debut.

In "Dangerous Dreams," Donohoe plays a woman whose marriage is threatened by her relationship with her troubled stepdaughter, who is the source of violent premonitions of her family's upheaval that plague her thoughts.

The London-born actress may be best known for her groundbreaking role as C.J. Lamb, the intelligent, attractive bisexual character of NBC's "L.A. Law," which won her a Golden Globe Award for Best Supporting Actress.

Donohoe has never been atraid to accept roles that other actresses would only wince at. Film audiences and fans of director Ken Russell likely remember Donohoe for her portrayal of the prim and proper sex starved English vampire Lady Sylvia Marsh in the underground hit "Lair of the White Worm."

The daughter of British antique dealers. Donohoe studied ballet until the age of 13, when she discovered an interest in acting. She was enrolled at London's Central School of Speech and Drama and soon afterward became a regular on the London stage. Her first movie role came in director Nicholas Roeg's 1987 film, "Castaway," with Oliver Reed.
