Voters say 'A' is OK

Voters gave Gov. John Engler a victory by nearly a two-to-one margin on Proposal A. The voter turnout was 46 percent in Plymouth, 53 percent in Plymouth Township and 43 percent in Canton.

BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

The Plymouth-Canton community gave Gov. John Engler what he wanted: a convincing victory for Proposal A, which will fund education by increasing the sales tax to 6 cents, and drop school property taxes to 6 statelevied mills.

By a two-to-one margin - 2,247-939 - Plymouth voters in all six precincts passed Proposal A. Turnout was high, with 46 percent of voters going to the polls.

In Canton Township, an unofficial total of 11,149 voters passed Proposal A with 4,069 voters casting "no' votes. The proposal passed in all of Canton's 26 precincts. Turnout was 43 percent, among the highest ever for a special election in the township.

The pattern in Plymouth Township was similar. According to unofficial totals, Proposal A passed 6,935 to 2,297. Proposal A succeeded in all precincts and the 53 percent turnout was among the highest for a Plymouth Township special election.

Local results mirrored the state's overwhelming approval of the propos-

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education favored neither plan, as projected per-pupil revenues were identical under either Proposal A or the backup statutory plan.

Ray Hoedel, Plymouth-Canton associate superintendent for business, was pleased with Proposal A's pas-

Even though you can no longer deduct your property taxes, there is no way you're going to lose. The property tax break is a big one," he said.

From the schools' standpoint, Proposal A beats the backup statutory plan, Hoedel said. There's the potential for going out for up to 3 mills through 1997, which would cover the next three fiscal years. It certainly gives districts a little extra breathing room.

To pass millage under the statutory plan, districts would have had to do so as an intermediate school district, sharing revenues.

"It would have been tougher because it would have been an intermediate levy and a form of tax base sharing," said Hoedel.

The statutory plan didn't go over very well in this community in particular because our state equalized valuation is higher per student than say Inkster, Garden City and other districts in Wayne County.

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack was both surprised and pleased with the margin of victory.

"Most people would never have guessed at the margin. Everything I saw up until the election pegged it at 54 or 53 percent," he said.

"I think for a lot of property taxpayers in Canton, this is going to be a really good deal. It's going to be very

'Overall, I think it's going to keep a positive business climate for Michigan. I give voters a lot of credit that they were able to work their way through the misconception, distortion and lies to sort out for themselves what was best for them.'

Hoedel is optimistic that the sales tax will "provide the long-term revenue growth and stability we have been seeking.

"The question as to any of the strengths or weaknesses is going to remain until we get into this a few years. We'll have to see where the revenue estimates come out. We're concerned, and I'm sure they are in Lansing, too," Hoedel said.

An analysis by the House Fiscal Agency shows both the sales and income taxes have grown steadily over the past 15 years, Hoedel said.

Unlike school board president Roland Thomas, Yack isn't convinced it's unwise to base school funding on a tax as potentially unstable as the

"The sales tax has been a little less stable than the property tax. But if you recall, the part of this that has been unstable has been local school district's ability to get millages passed," Yack said. "That part of the

A worthy cause: Children at Rosey's Romper Room Child Care in Canton hopped for the second annual Hop-A-Thon for leukemia, raising $1,100 this week. Among the 28 hoppers were J.D. Comps (left), Michael Adams, Megan Moyer, Marissa Jordan, Katie Stradtner, Rachel Koelzer and Samantha Ward.

Kids hop to help others

It wasn't the impending visit of the Easter bunny that got 28 pre-school children hopping Monday morning at Rosey's Romper Room Child Care in Canton. The kids hopped for a total of two minutes each for a worthy cause: to help fight leukemia. "We explain to them it is to help kids their age get healthy and feel bet-ter," said owner Rosemarie Alberty. "It is a disease that really strikes young children."

And the kids did their very best.

We explain to them it is to help kids their age get healthy and feel better. It is a disease that really strikes young children.'

Rosemarie Alberty, owner Rosie's Romper Room

In the second annual Hop-A-Thon, they raised $1,100, a little less than last year's effort. But there were more kids hopping last year.

The kids are asked to hop for two minutes. They also get pledges from people. As the kids do their thing, their hops are counted. If a child hops 290 times in two min-utes, that's $29 toward the cause.

All money raised from the Hop-A-Thon will go to the Leukemia Society of American, Michigan Chapter.

Rules on rubbish enforced

By JOANNE MALISZEWSKI STAFF WRITER

Canton Waste Recycling is now enforcing its rules for rubbish collection, composting and recycling.

"For the longest time we have taken everything we could," said owner Paul Denski. "The rules were in existence for 15 years but we really never enforced them.

"We're trying to make everyone aware. We are here to provide a service," Denski said. The penalty for not complying is that CWR crews will not pick up materials.

In the past, residents have loaded containers or bags too heavy to lift and in some cases bags have split open, leaving garbage in residents yards.

All of CWR's 15,000 customers should have received the 1994 curbside trash and recyclable guidelines. If you haven't received one, call CWR at 397-5801.

No spring cleanup

Other changes also are in store for CWR customers. Unlike past years, there will be no spring cleanup day (usually scheduled in May) this year because the facility, 42020 Van Born, will be open all year - 24 Fridays and Saturdays - to accept those items you usually dropped off. The facility will open the second and fourth weekends of each month, except for holidays.

"If you can get the stuff here, it's fair game," Denski said.

If there is an item that you can't take to the facility and would like it picked up, Denski can refer the job to Henning Brothers Disposal at a price.

Canton eyes grant money for tree plantings

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI STAFF WRITER

Canton Township is going to try for a second year to use grant money to help plant more than 400 trees along major roads.

An application has been made to the Small Business Administration for a $30,000 grant to add to Canton's $45,000 match. The trees would be planted along Warren Road, between Haggerty and Beck; Palmer Road, between Haggerty and Canton Center; and at certain spots on Sheldon Road.

Last year, grant money was used to plant trees along Sheldon Road, from Joy to south of Palmer.

The purpose of the grant is to stimulate small business, which is accomplished by giving the contracts to small businesses and requiring that the trees be bought from small businesses

Township officials already had plans to plant trees along the roads. The 1994 budget includes $45,000 for the trees. The additional $30,000 grant money would allow the township to plant about 450

The only problem could be along Warren, where the planting area is limited because of the place-ment of drains, said Canton Supervisor Tom Yack.

■ The purpose of the grant is to stimulate small business, which is accomplished by giving the contracts to small businesses and requiring that the trees be bought from small businesses.

If the township is successful, the grant would be awarded May 31. Work must begin on the project by Sept. 30 and be completed by Sept. 30, 1995.

Observer area state representatives and senators reacted to the overwhelming passage of Proposal A with a mixture of surprise, cautious optimism and anxiety

Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, a supporter of Proposal A from the beginning, disagrees. "That is a red herring," said the senator whose district includes Livonia, Redford, Plymouth and Canton. "You could say the same thing about income tax. During a recession when people are out of work, the state collects less money. The people have made the right decision. We have the revenue to fully fund education with this package.

Legislators seem to be split on plan (for school funding) be in place before we did this," said Sen. William Faust, D-Westland,

Family first: Amann ends race for Congress

BY SUSAN ROSIEK

Wayne County Commissioner Bryan Amann ended his race for U.S. Congress Monday, about one month after entering the race. Amann said he was doing so for the "good of my young family."

Amann also said he would not seek re-election to the Wayne County Commission. Instead, he'll practice law, care for his family and "get back into public service sometime in the future, but I don't know where or when."

"I am convinced that in the near future I cannot in good conscience compatibly serve as a congressman for the 13th District while serving as a father for my young family," wrote Amann in a statement to his supporters. "After spending five days last week in Washington, D.C, I have a greater appreciation for what it takes to serve in Congress. The rigors of representation in Washington, D.C would require that I would have to uproot my family but not be around to nourish its growth.

"Although I am deeply concerned about America and I recognize the opportunity for me to serve in Congress may never come again, my family's needs will never be greater than in the next sevyears. My family comes first." Amann said.

"The perceived power in Washington, D.C. holds a fraction of the magnetism of a strong and loving family. Congress will thrive without me, but my family would not," he added. Amann was the first Democrat to announce for the seat long held by his mentor, Democrat William D. Ford, who announced his retirement in late January.

The only other declared candidate in the race for the 13th District is Republican John Schall of Ann Arbor, formerly of Livonia. Observer communities in the 13th District are Garden City, Westland, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township and the southeast section of Livonia. The district also includes part of Washtenaw County.

Candidates reportedly exploring a run for the seat are Democrat David Geiss, a former aide to Ford, and Republican Cynthia Wilbanks, a former aide to U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell. Westland Mayor Robert Thomas also has been mentioned as a possible contender in the Democratic primary.

Amann insisted his departure about "me and my family" and not about support or raising mon-"or some brokered deal." Some had speculated that Amann would have a tough time raising the necessary money be cause he could not garner United Auto Workers money or support He said his fund-raising had taken off and he also had lined up an impressive list of endorsements in the short time he was in the race. They included a host of officials from throughout the district.

"Washington, D.C. has changed dramatically since I've worked there. Every moment they're not legislating, these people are out raising money," said Amann, add-"The tough part is, I don't think the time will come again for me to run for Congress, but I'm a father and that time won't come again either.

A Wayne County commissione

since 1991, Amann and his wife, Mary, have two daughters, Lindversity, is running as a Republi-8, and Lauren, 5. The can. Democrat Ken Warfield, the Amanns live in Wayne. In private life, Amann is an attorney with the Livonia law firm of Brashear, Tangora and Spence. Amann said he would not seek re-election to the county commission because "others had plans and announced for the seat, and it wouldn't be fair to upset their plans now." The commission district includes Canton Township.

McNamara seeks new term

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara declared his candidacy for a third term last Friday at his annual St. Patrick's Day party at Laurel Manor in Livonia.

A crowd of more than 1.000. including Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer and numerous candidates for statewide office, were on hand for the announcement.

"We have done so much and there is still so much to do," McNamara said in a press release.

A Livonia Democrat, McNamara was elected to the county's top office in 1986 after many years as Livonia mayor.

The prospect of creating new partnerships for Wayne County gave McNamara the incentive to run, he said. "We have a number of initiatives where we are bringing government, the community and the private sector together," he said. "I want to bring those partnerships together, and use that momentum to move Wayne County forward."

Among McNamara's recent accomplishments are:

■ The start-up of the new HealthChoice insurance plan for the working poor.

■ The creation of a county department of the environment.

Expansion of Metro Airport.

Changes

Canton takes a look at new master plan

Canton Township is revising its master plan with an eye to keeping farm land and to acknowledging the use of property. A March 21 public hearing will be held on the plan.

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

Reinstituting the agricultural land use designation - its deletion angered some land owners when they got triple-digit assessment increases in 1993 - is among the changes in the first phase of a comprehensive plan for how Canton should develop.

"This does not affect zoning," said planner Jeff Goulet, referring to the land use element, which is a facet of a comprehensive plan or blueprint for Canton's future.

The public is invited to attend a public hearing on the land use element at 7 p.m. Monday, March 21, in the board meeting room, Canton Township Hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

Planning commissioners will consider adoption of the plan following the hearing, during which time residents can voice their opinions.

Master plan and more

The final comprehensive plan will be more than a master land use plan. It will include policies for utilities, transportation, recreation and land use.

The revisited map will show land use categories, such as agricultural, rural residential and commercial. These are not zoning districts. We are trying to make that differentiation. This provides a basis for future development," Goulet said.

Here's a peek at some changes in the proposed master land use plan and policy document:

■ Reinstituting agricultural designation in western Canton. Most of the land is already zoned agricultural. The lack of that designation on the master land use plan caused headaches for farmers and large land owners last year when assessment increases reached three digits for some, in part because of a residential designation showing the potential for development.

Rural residential (one dwelling per two acres) will remain on the map. But it has been reconfigured to include a little more land in the northwest section.

"This is an area that doesn't have any facilities to serve it so it can't support development," Goulet said.

Land on the north side of Michigan, west of Beck, which has been designated light industrial, has been changed to research park. "It's more compatible with residential than commercial uses would be,' Goulet said.

Commercial uses are slightly reduced. "One of the concerns of the community is that we have commercial corners near neighborhoods. We are re-evaluating some of those areas to see in the future what is the most viable use," Goulet said.

Land use change

A recent example of such a change is the Villa Maria subdivision on two acres at the corner of Palmer and Lilley. Originally zoned for commercial, developers got it rezoned to single family and plan to build homes.

Because there have been few specific guidelines to help planning commissioners make their decisions, policies covering issues such as density of residential land and the intensity of commercial development, are included. Definitions and the intent of zoning districts, such as agricultural, also are included.

"You can't look at the map and see what you can and can't do," Goulet said. "You need to look at the written document. It provides review standards for different ac-

The document also includes strategies such as the need to reevaluate the forest preservation ordinance and the need to use the research park designation. "There are certain things that need to be done. It provides an action plan for future planning activities. We can go back later and see what strategies we have accomplished," Goulet

The utilities and transportation portion of the comprehensive plan should be completed by mid-year, with the recreation portion by the third quarter. "We'll have the whole thing done opinions. The final comprehensive plan will be more than a master land use plan. It will include policies for utilities, transportation, recreation and land use. by the end of the year," Goulet said.

Anyone who would like to review the proposed land use element of the plan before Monday's public hearing may stop by the planning department in township hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road

Let's hope the commission moves quickly to clear the way for development of bed and breakfast establishments in Canton.

Such places to stay are worth their weight in taxes and character to a community such as Canton. They add diversity to an area that has plenty of motel space, but has nothing for the bed and breakfast fan. Also, the encouragement of such businesses is a way to preserve older homes that can often be white elephants.

Older homes require much maintenance, often too much to make them valuable as a residence. However, that changes when they can be

Health plan not free

D. Matsu, Plymouth

ill Clinton is out selling his health care package to senior citizen groups with the three words they love to hear: free, plastic

He's telling them, when his Socialized Medicine Plan gets in, they will no longer pay anything for medical treatment, medicine, hospitals or nursing homes. Everything will be free,

When they need medicine, they just take their plastic bag to the pharmacy, hold it open and the pharmacists will drop in all their pills, free of course. And should they go into a hospital or nursing home, they can be assured their days can be spent playing bingo without a worry about cost.

Wake up senior America and other Americans as well. There is no free lunch out there. Sure our health care needs reform, but not by giving up your freedom. Get a copy of Bill Clinton's plan, and all others for that matter, and read them, underline them, question them. Then write your congressmen and tell them not to do us any favors. Remember they are always exempt from plans they force on others. If you think government-run health care will be great, visit a V.A. hospital, look at the facility and talk to inpatients, outpatients and discharged patients. Follow their care and progress. Better yet, the next time you need hospitalization, check yourself into a VA hospital. Get a real taste of it. Visit an Old Soldier's home; see how your government takes care of its senior veterans.

Under Clinton's Socialized Medicine Plan, you will be giving up your rights to get second opinions or medical treatment from outstanding medical centers like the Mayo Clinic, Cleveland Clinic, Boston Clinic or Sloan-Kettering.

If you want real assurance about government medical treatment after the age of 50, look at the socialized medical programs in England and Holland. In an attempt to control soaring costs in England, no person over the age of 50 gets kidney dialysis. The government chooses youth over age for treatment. In Holland, seniors are afraid to go to the doctor because government doctors can now refuse to treat them if they feel the cost of sustaining their life is too great.

These are not fantasies, but you need to read to find out for yourself. Anything the United States government runs doesn't have a good track record for quality or efficiency. What makes you think socialized medicine will be dif-

Don't be fooled by the word free; find out what it is really going to cost you. Don't be so ready to give up your freedoms of choice and quality for a promise from the government. Remember, Hitler also offered a form of socialized medical care. The thing he didn't tell the people was it would cost them their lives.

Job skills are key element onday morning I went down to the Fox Theater to catch President Clinton's ppening speech at the Jobs Conference. Driving in, I was struck at how easy the rush hour drive was. Who would have thought that morning rush hour traffic in Oakland County is ots worse than Detroit! Plainly, a lot of jobs have moved out to the suburbs. It's worthwhile reflecting why. Begin with the history of the automobile industry, when the rise of manufacturing and the tremendous increase in labor productivity made possible by assembly line technology spurred a great demand for labor at wages that seemed mpossibly high at the time.

Faced with the choice between $5 a day and life on the farm, countless thousands of people moved north to the manufacturing centers. They didn't need great job skills. For most, all they had to do was turn up on time and withstand long hours and boring work. For that, they got good-paying jobs with good benefits and a ticket to the middle class.

But then other countries discovered how to do assembly lines, with equally unskilled labor, but paid at wages far below American standards. And suddenly, with a giant sucking sound, it seemed as though our manufacturing jobs were going to previously underdeveloped countries. America and Europe had a big unemployment problem. And we had a Jobs Conference in Detroit.

What to do? There are two schools of thought.

One is to argue that the unemployment problem is caused largely by governmental policies which drive up the cost of labor so that employers are deterred from hiring.

- The solution, therefore, is to attack these policies where possible and to tolerate — indeed, encourage - jobs at very low pay, the only way new jobs are ever created. Trying to do anything about job training or workforce skills is silly, in this view, because the workings of the free market will resolve everything.

I happen to think this school of thought is both dangerous and wrong.

-- It's dangerous because it's a recipe for systematic impoverishment for many of our people. It's wrong because in ignoring the skills part of the equation it neglects reality. Consider the following breakdown of unemployed people in

■ Those with no high school degree: 12.6 per-

■ Those with a high school degree: 7.2 percent. ■ Those with post high school training: 5.7 per-

■ Those with a college degree: 3.5 percent.

necessary for high productivity and for good

Plainly, skills do matter. So the question is how best to help both employers and workers act in both their interests

Historically, the marketplace in skills is pretty poor. Think of truck driving and cosmetology schools training folks at great cost for jobs that don't exist. Suppose, instead, that the job-training system concentrated on information about or the second-straight year, a Plymouth Canton gymnast has reaped one of the state's most prestigious awards.

Best gymnast

Adrienne Brenner was named the Michigan High School Gymnastics Coaches Association senior gymnast of the year. The award is decided in a vote of the state's coaches and judges.

Last year, the first season the award was presented, Canton's Kim Reynolds was honored.

Ability is just one of the criteria used to determine the award-winner. Canton coach John Cunningham's definition: "It's based on citizenship, academics . . . it's someone you'd really be proud to have as your daughter. Someone who would serve as an ambassador of gymnastics."

Brenner filled all those requirements, according to her coach. She carries a 3.8 grade-point average and is a National Honor Society member, she's been part of Canton's student senate, and she's been the Chiefs' team captain the past two years.

"She's highly regarded by coaches and judges all over the state," said Cunningham. "I'm superpleased Adrienne was chosen. She's just a super Brenner's best apparatus is the balance beam, although she's a solid Division II all-arounder, said Cunningham. "She has decent scores, eightsomething in everything. She's very consistent."

In the beam, her season-average of 8.37 was just short of the 8.4 average needed for automatic All-American status.

Brenner was one of six on the ballot, all of whom were nominated by their coaches.

Slow-down can't save Salem

■ The plan seemed sound, but to overcome superior talent a team's execution must be perfect. Plymouth Salem came close Tuesday in its boys basketball regional opener against highly regarded Detroit Pershing, but the Rocks could not overtake the Doughboys.

BY C.J. RISAK STAFF WRITER

Last year, Plymouth Salem discovered what it would be like to try and play Detroit Pershing straight up. It wasn't much fun - the Rocks lost by 31 points. This year the strategy would be different. It wouldn't be pretty, nothing the fans would appreciate, but Salem coach Bob Brodie figured it would give his team a better chance.

'Our offense was designed to slow the game down and get some good scoring opportunities," said Brodie. We can't go toe-to-toe with them. I know it looked like we were stagnant, but it was difficult trying to score because of their quickness:

Brodie's game plan gave the Rocks their shot. With 31/2 minutes left in the game, they were within seven points. That was as close as Salem could come, however, eventually ending its season with a 45-32 loss in the first round of the Class A regional tournament at Highland Park Tues-

Since 1970, Chuck Olson has been involved in coaching swimming in Plymouth and Canton. In that span of 24 years, he cannot remember a relay team from this area winning the Class A state

The best he can do is guess last happened said. That, he thought, is when a Plymouth High School medley relay finished first.

Such questions will be easier to answer now. Olson's Plymouth Salem team enjoyed its best-ever state meet performance last weekend at the University of Michi-

Birmingham Brother Rice won the Class A title with 147 points. Ann Arbor Pioneer was second with 140, followed by Birmingham Groves (129.5), Redford Catholic Central (88) and Grand Haven (75). North and Salem scored 70 points apiece.

Plymouth Canton had 37 points, finishing 12th.

The meet produced a pair of double winners in individual events (Lansing Eastern's Cameron Mull and North's Jon Kershaw), but neither of them accounted for more points than Salem's Fred Locke. The senior was a part of both the Rocks' wins and placed in the top eight in two other events.

"He's been pointing toward state meet all year," said Olson of Locke, who finished seventh last year in the 50-yard freestyle in 21.6. "Every year, he just got better and better. Last year, he wasn't even our No. 1 sprinter coming in.

That changed pretty quickly.

However, he converted just 2of-9 floor shots and was 0-for-2 from the line. Making matters worse, no one on Salem stepped up. The Rocks' leading scorer was Adam Hammons with eight points. Sanj Seth had six. Pershing got 14 from Mr. Basketball candidate Willie Mitchell, 11 from Robert Johnson and nine from Muzorewa Adams.

The game's pivotal point came late in the third quarter. Salem had scored five straight to pull to within 27-18 with 4:41 left. However, the run ended there; the Rocks had chances to extend it, but managed to make just 2-of-6

In that same stretch, Johnson popped in a pair of three-pointers over Salem's 2-1-2 zone defense. Instead of going into the last quarter down a half-dozen, the

Brodie reluctantly brought them out of the zone defense which he felt helped controlled the game's pace. Salem responded with its best offensive burst of the game, scoring 10-straight points pull to within 39-32. Threes by Justin Marcis and Seth, com bined with two baskets by Hammons, made it a game again. For a little while, anyway

Hammons' basket at the 3:35 mark gave Salem its final points. Doughboys' coach Johnny Gos-ton wasn't surprised by Salem's defensive choice. "Not at all," he said. "We expected it. "But," he added, "we had the lead, so it was OK." Indeed, Goston wondered why Brodie waited so long to come out of the zone in the last quarter. Brodie's reply: "I think we might have done it a little too soon. They figured out what we were doing and spread (their offense)

Salem's final real chance came with two minutes left. An offensive foul against Pershing's Keon Henderson gave the Rocks the ball. Both Seth and Head put up triple-tries; both missed. Two turnovers by Head in the last 1:18

According to Goston, what Saem saw defensively wasn't anything special. "No gadgets, no gimmicks," he said. "Just a straight man-to-man. But I don't think they handled it too well."

two pitchers were able to record win in Florida, but several others picked up the slack for the Fighting Crusaders.

After losing two of their first three games, they went on to win eight of their next nine. Pitching standouts were Jim Solak, who went 2-0 with a 1.97 earned run average and 20 strikeouts in 133 innings; T.C. Raptis, 2-0 with a 2.76 ERA in 13 innings; and Sean Henkel, 1-0 with four saves, a 1.34 ERA and 11 strikeouts in 62/3 innings. At the plate, there were sever al superb performances. Center fielder Scott Anderson batted .375 and led the team in hits (18), runs scored (18), doubles (four) and stolen bases (9-for-9).

BASEBALL

He also had two triples, a home run and eight runs batted in. Third-baseman Jeff Pendell had 11 hits, batted .355, scored 10 runs, was 5-for-5 in stolen bases and drove in a team-high 11 runs. Other standouts: Aaron Jones, .417, two doubles, three

itis, .375, one homer, six RBI; Solak, .294, two homers, six RBI; and Dan Taylor, .348, nine George was particularly impressed with the play of his reshmen, Jones and Taylor. Taylor filled in for starting shortstop Jeff Miller, who suffered a deep thigh bruise in the fourth game and didn't play two errors in eight games. Madonna ended its trip last Friday in Cocoa Beach by beating Swarthmore College (Pa.) 9on Solak's three-hitter and Stonehill College (North Easton. Mass.) 5-0 on a two-hitter by Mike Grahl (five innings, one ings, one hit).

March 10, the Crusaders played a doubleheader in Jacksonville against University of North Florida and split. They lost the opener 4-2 and won the nightcap 8-4. McKaig took the loss in the opener; Raptis was the winning pitcher in the second game, with Henkel getting a

In a single game on March 9, Madonna defeated Maryville University (St. Louis) 5-4, Henkel getting the win in relief of starter Ryan Grabetz. Chris Gajewski's run-scoring single in the seventh won it. On March 7, the Crusaders won twice, 9-4 over Malone College (Canton, Ohio) and 17-4 over Lock Haven (Pa.). Solak got the win in the first: Butler won the second in relief of Grahl. The win streak started March with a 4-0 win over New Hampshire, Joe Jentzer earning win, and an 8-4 win over Wilmington College (New Castle, Del.), with Craig Benedict the winner. A day earlier, the Crusaders played three games:

to Radford University (Va.), and beat Delaware Tech 3-2. McKaig and Kugelman lost in the first two: Grabetz won the that man will never be able to solve them all. In fact, when one mystery is pursued, new mysteries or questions arise that NOWICKI were not thought of before. Scientists, naturalists and curious people throughout the ages have wondered how things work in the natural world. How things work is often easier to answer than why they work that way.

The natural world is full of many mysteries

One question that people often ask me is "Why don't all the leaves on oak trees and beech trees fall off in fall?" I've never been able to give people a reasonable answer until I watched some squirrels in my backyard the

In fall, water is cut off from the stem to the leaf because of scarlike tissue that forms at the connection. This tissue creates a separation and the leaf falls to the ground. Some oak and beech leaves do not form a complete layer of scar tissue and thus the leaf does not fall off.

That is the standard explanation of how leaves fall off the branches and why some do not, and maybe the story ends there. But why do oak and beech trees do it more than any other kinds of trees? What advantage could the tree derive from not losing all its leaves, if any?

If we could "think" like a tree for a moment, let's branch off with some reasons why it produces so many acorns or beech nuts. When a nut matures and falls to the ground it sprouts into a young tree. If it lands in the shade of the adult tree, it will not survive because it cannot get enough sunlight to produce food.

So the tree needs something to move the acorns to an area where they might survive. Squirrels eat nuts, but they also bury them for future use. Some of those nuts will not be found and may then grow into a new tree. Thousands of nuts must be produced in orde for a few to survive.

Oak and beech trees produce an abundant crop of nuts every three years, on the average. Between those years, it's harder for squir rels to find enough food, but the oak and beech trees want the squirrels to stay around so they can disperse their nuts when they branches all winter provide excel-lent insulation for maternity nests. All other leaves are on the ground soaked with melted snow. So my speculation is that there is an advantage for oak and beech trees to keep some of their leaves on the branches all winter. By doing so, squirrels will remain in the area even during years when

Girl's longing for a pet leads to 'Monkey Trouble'

Eva Gregory (Thora Birch) really wants a pet. And Eva's par ents really don't.

To them, paws and fur aren't part of the family plan. Mom (Mimi Rogers) believes her nine-year-old daughter can't keep her room clean, much less care for a pet. Her stepfather (Christopher McDonald) says no because he's hyper-allergic to animal hair. Still, despite all the objections and excuses, Eva just can't live without a pet. And neither can Shorty Kohn (Harvey Keitel) in "Monkey Trouble," opening Friday at metro Detroit movie theaters.

Shorty, a two-bit hustler, has made quite a Fagen-esque living over the years by training a capuchin monkey to entertain and "lift" the crowds along the Boardwalk at Venice Beach. Trained to relieve admirers of their wallets and jewelry without their knowledge, the monkey also burglarizes

Now, a couple of uptown crooks want Shorty to put the monkey's felonious skills to work in a heist that could land them all on easy

But Shorty has a problem. He's abused his pet a little too much and his monkey is on the run. Desperate, he sets out to find his missing link at any cost in.

Miles away, Eva is startled by a small capuchin that suddenly leaps from a tree. Captivated by the creature's comical antics, she decides to claim his as her own.

As their bond develops, Eva quickly learns that caring for her new friend, whom she names Dodger, is not going to be as easy as she first though. He goes to the bathroom on the floor, is hard to control, and he's a pain to hide from her friends and her unsuspecting parents.

In the ensuing days, Eva discovers Dodger's dubious talents and attempts to break him from his life of crime. Just as he starts to make progress, she gets blamed for his pocket-picking.

Caught in a growing web of deceit. Eva finds it difficult to deal with her own dishonesty, and she must find a way to set things straight before her monkey business is exposed. But Shorty is onto her and he wants his mealticket back.

Writer/director Franco Amurri says his daughter, also named Eva, was the inspiration behind "Monkey Trouble." "She wanted a dog so badly," recalls the direc-tor. "And the key issue in our house became whether an eightyear-old could be responsible enough to care for a pet.'

A father's love was Amurri's primary motivation for making the film. "I wanted to tell a story based on my own experiences and observations of my daughter's world," he said.

"If I was going to dedicate two or three years to a project, I wanted to make a film my daughter wouldn't have to wait 10 years to see. In the end, I wanted to make a film that families can enjoy together.

Although in real life, Amurri's daughter's longed for a dog as a pet, when developing the story for the screen, the writer/director felt 'a monkey would present more interesting possibilities than a dog or a cat

That one change would eventually translate into enormous challenges for the filmmakers, and resulted in a pre-production period of almost a year and a half.

During that time, an elaborate search was conducted to find a specific type of capuchin monkey to star as Dodger, who is in virtually every scene in the film. The search was complicated by the fact that although there are some 30 sub-species of capuchins, none had ever been trained to appear in a film.

In addition to teaching Dodger the rudimentaries of screen acting, his trainers were faced with the challenges of having him, run, retrieve, climb trees, perform tricks on the back of a moving bicycle and hang from a flying kite, all on the director's cue.

A New Line release, "Monkey Trouble' is rated PG, (Some material may not be suitable for pre-

The film, a moving account of a man's search for destiny, is punctuated by the usual pratfalls. On a far deeper level, the intrepid, now-retired police Lt. Organ concert features music from silent films

Organist Lee Erwin, heard by millions of Americans on the Moon River program on the NBC radio network, and as organist, composer and arranger for the various Arthur Godfrey shows on CBS, will perform some of his original silent film scores at the Mighty Wurlitzer pipe organ at the Senate Theater, 6424 Michigan Ave., west of Livernois, in Detroit, on Saturday, March 19, at 7 p.m.

Erwin began accompanying silent films in the 1920s and since has composed and performed brand new scores for over 70 of Hollywood's masterpieces from the silent era. He has played on virtually every soap opera originating in New York City.

The concert is presented by the Detroit Theater Organ Society which offers monthly programs on the former Fisher Theater pipe organ. Tickets are $10 at the door. For information call 894-4100.

FAMILY LIFE

EARTHA DEYAMPERT

his reminder is to parents about dropping off sick children at the day-care home or center. A family day-care home provider in Livonia left a pleading message on my voice mail to please explain to parents about the necessity of having backup care for children too ill to participate in daily activities.

She wanted readers, who have children enrolled in early childhood education/prescl ool programs, to be aware of the problems, particularly the discomfort children often experience when they are ill, and their need to be home. The Livonia family day-care provider wanted this printed so that it might help other child-care professionals who might have similar problems

First of all, all families who have child en enrolled in day care need a responsible, accessible, available person to serve as a backup or as a substitute caregiver. This backup person should be used occasionally when the child is too ill to go to day care, provided the parent cannot care for the ill child at the time, and when the daycare center is closed for whatever reason.

When children are first enrolled in a preschool program, during the interview or enrollment process, the director or provider will ask if parents have backup caregiving arrangements. The center or day-care home director usually will give parents a handbook that goes into detail about their health policy and procedures for handling sick children. It should further explain what action the staff will take when children become ill while in care.

Keep kids at home?

Parents know their children, and the childcare professional expects them to. Parents are the primary caregivers and know the little signs their particular child will give to signal all is not well - a tug at the ear, an unusually quie: nature, sudden whining or clinging to a parent.

Children often show parents signs of not feeling well in ways sometimes only parents can tell. That's what makes parents better at giving their child that special emotional, nurturing support needed when they are ill. Possible medication, bed rest, and a favorite soft toy and parents are the best remedies for flu, ear or tummy aches, and other childhood illnesses that often prevent children from attending day care.

Children should stay home or should be sent ome when these signs occur:

(1) Fever - If a child has a temperature of 100 degrees or above taken by mouth, 101 degress or above taken rectally or 99 degrees or above taken under arm

(2) Diarrhea - If child has two loose or watery stools, even if there are no other signs of illness. This may occasionally be caused by new foods a child has eaten, but may call the parent to find out if this is the likely cause.

(3) Vomiting - Any vomiting is a reason to send a child home. The exception is babies who may burp up food following a feeding (this is not vomiting). Motion sickness (from use of play equipment or riding in a car or other vehicle) which goes away after the motion stops would not be a reason to send a child home.

(4) Rash - Any rash illness should be checked by a physician. Any red or blotchy marks on face, trunk or arms and legs is a reason to send a child home. The child should remain at home until well after chicken pox, measles, rubella and other viruses have subsided. A child with scarlet fever should be treated with an antibiotic for 24 hours before returning to day care.

If a physician diagnoses a child as having Fifth disease, the child does not need to stay at home if he or she feels well. The exception is allergy and mild diaper rash already known to the parent are not reasons to send a child home.

(5) Crying and complaining for a long time Anytime a child is not him- or herself and is complaining about discomfort or just cranky and crying more than usual for that child.

(6) Injury - Whenever an injury is serious enough to need a physician's attention, a parent should be contacted to take the child home.

While not an emergency situation (no need to have the child picked up immediately), children with impetigo, lice, pinkeye, pinworms, r ngworm, scabies and thrush (candida) should remain at home until successfully treated.

Parents be attentive to their child's signals and symptoms of illness before hand. A parent being attentive when symptoms first occur and taking necessary action can help a child to recover faster. Thus, by calling your child's pediatrician, or giving a child needed time to simply rest,

Yoga shapes up body and spirit

For most people, getting in shape means working up a sweat in aerobics class or pumping iron at the gym. But for those who aren't into those kinds of workouts, there's yet another way that can get your body in shape physically and spiritually · yoga.

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW

If aerobics is a Corvette and weightlifting is a Dodge Ram, is yoga a Yugo?

Yes and no. Yoga isn't flashy like aerobics, and it won't give you a Charles Atlas body. But it can tone and stretch your muscles, tweak your posture, regulate your breathing and wash away the tension that dogs you like an IRS agent with a quota.

"A lot of the people who come to yoga are the people who can't do aerobics and can't jog," said Shirley Gill, who teaches yoga in the Clarenceville schools' adult education program. Even folks with artificial limbs and arthritis will find yoga agreeable with their disability,

"The rest of the world is saying, 'Hurry up and get it now,' " while yoga "helps you accept that everything doesn't have to be done quick-

Yoga is a 5,000-year-old life-embracing philosophy that is part spiritual and part physical exercise. It's not a religion per se, but some people use it to feel closer to God.

Bloomfield Hills resident Pamela Spiro, who teaches yoga in Birmingham, is Jewish, but uses yoga as "my way of connecting with God every day." To Spiro, yoga "is just about giving love and receiving love."

Although "most people don't want to hear about the spiritual aspect,' Spiro said, "it all leads to the same

The Encyclopedia Americana of 1991 defines the yoga philosophy . man's bondage results like so: " . from identification of the soul with the body and . . . his liberation is attained through the knowledge of their separateness. The soul's essence, pure intelligence, is obscured by mental activities, whose suppression is the main purpose of

However, most yoga instructors here concentrate on the physical ex-

Livonia resident Karen Farkas has been a yogi (someone who practices yoga) for 25 years. Before yoga: "I never did anything athletic; I hated gym," Farkas said. After yoga: "I feel confident in my body. I know I'm strong. I'm very strong.'

Yogo practice promotes a felxible and young spine and a strong back,' added Farkas, who has taught voga for about eight years in the Livonia Continuing Education program. Yoga is a slow, deliberate form of exercise, Farkas said, emphasizing the stretching and releasing of muscles that bring a "tremendous sense of relaxation.

Still, voga is not easy either.

Because it's so challenging it tends to give you this sense of selfconfidence, self-acceptance," Farkas said. "It increased my self-confidence a hundred fold."

Jana Kelly, a social worker who teaches yoga part-time in Southfield and Birmingham, got hooked 20 years ago when she saw yoga demonstrated on television. Kelly describes yoga as "internal (and) very mental. It's kind of a personal vacation. It nurtures self-care, which can be very helpful to people.'

Some humans are turned off by the internal and mental portions of the practice, Kelly said. "I'll do the body work, but don't tell me about God," she said they say.

And that's entirely possible. The Yoga Association of Greater

Detroit will have its 11th Yoga Day on Saturday, April 16, at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggery Road, between Six and Seven Mile roads in Livonia.

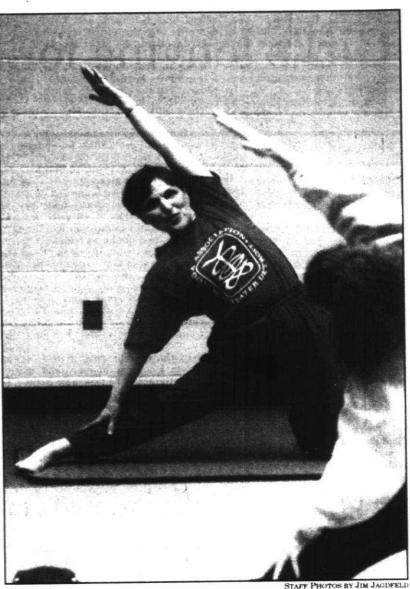

The day is divided into four sessions made up of six sub-sessions, each covering a different aspect of yoga. There will be six to nine instructors per session, all gleaned from the ranks of the yoga association, including Spiro, Farkas, Gill and Kelly.

For $45 you may partake of all four sessions. Two sessions cost $25. A hot vegetarian lunch will be served for $7.50. Those attending may also bring a sack lunch. For more information call Schoolcraft College Continuing Education at (313) 462-4413 or the Yoga Association Coordinator at (313) 293-0224. Class size is limited and pre-registration is required.

Those attending should bring an exercise mat and blanket and dress for exercise.

Kelly said the program is designed to benefit beginners and current practitioners alike. Kelly will person

Roberta Zarea, on the other hand, is still learning. Her 6-year-old daughter was diagnosed with ADD last March. She also has an expressive language disorder and audio processing disorder.

'She's unpredictable; she's not consistent in her behavior and her learning skills," Zarea said. "It's very common to have other learning disorders with ADD."

Dow is president and Zarea is a member of Children and Adults with Attention Deficit Disorder of Northwest Wayne County, which will sponsor a workshop for parents and professionals at the Holiday Inn Livonia-West on Saturday,

The workshop will focus on "Activating Parents and Professionals in the Special Education Process." Running from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., it will be presented by CAUSE (Citizen's Alliance to Uphold Special Education).

The workshop will delve into such topics as the law, participation in the individual educationplanning process, initiating due process, communicating effectively, resolving conflicts, and laws on adaptation of the workplace for the disabled.

The cost is $20 for box lunch, materials and workshop; or $13 for the materials and workshop

CHADD is a parent-based organization formed to better the lives of individuals with ADD and the people who care for them. It also promotes teamwork and partnership between parents and schools. "Parents and schools have to be positive and supportive of each other, rather than fighting with each other," Dow said. "And parents need to be assertive and know their rights. "We try to educate parents and give them support; we try to educate the community. But our biggest challenge is working with the schools for the betterment of the child.

Zarea's daughter and Dow's three sons are among 1.75 million American children who have been diagnosed with and treated for attention deficit disorder. It's estimated that another 1.75 million will go undiagnosed into adulthood.

Children with ADD are characterized by symptoms of inattentiveness, impulsiveness and sometimes hyperactivity which start before the age of 7 and last for at least six months. In all, there are 14 symptoms of the disorder, and a child must exhibit eight to be diagnosed with ADD.

"Impulsivity is such a factor that that's what gets them into trouble," Dow said. "They don't think before they act, and a lot of what they do isn't age-appropriate. They're emotionally immature, so they do a lot of things that aren't age-appropriate."

Children with ADD need to be taught what is acceptable and not acceptable, but a lot of the ordinary behavioral techniques don't work. One that does work is ignoring the negative behavior and emphasizing the positive behavior.

But ignoring the negative behavior can draw comments from strangers, even family members, who don't understand why a parent isn't dealing with an unruly child, according to Zarea.

Most times the hyperactivity subsides as the child gets older, but residual effects of ADD - like the inability to focus and stay on task - remain. And as the child gets older, he or she learns coping mechanisms, so ADD isn't such a disability,

"No two children with ADD exhibit the same symptoms or require the same help," she added. That's why it is so difficult for the schools that want to have a formula for educating these kids, so parents and schools have to work together to come up with an individualized program.

Keepers rally set tor men

A large gathering of men is expected to converge Saturday, March 19, for the Michigan Wake Up Call of the Promise Keepers.

The rally, at the Detroit First Church of the Nazarene, 21260 Haggerty, north of Eight Mile in Farmington Hills, is a prelude to a larger gathering in June when more than 50,000 are expected to attend a Promise Keepers gather ing at the Hoosier Dome in Indianapolis, Ind.

The purpose of the March 19 Wake Up Call is to inform men about what Promise Keepers is and to bring them up to date about the June 3-4 Midwest rally.

Speakers at the Wake Up Call who will talk about special issues facing men include the Rev. Edgar Vann of Second Ebenezer Baptist Church in Detroit, Randy Hekman of Michigan Family Fo rum and Dave Putnam of the Promise Keepers. The 55-voice Anderson University Men's Choir will perform.

Admission is free for the March 19 rally, which will be from 9 a.m.

Promise Keepers, founded in 1990 by Colorado University head football coach Bill McCartney, is a Christ-centered ministry dedicated to uniting men through vital relationships to become godly influences in their world.

The initial goal of Promise Keepers was to fill Colorado Uni versity's Folsoni Field with 50,000 men to honor Jesus Christ and to learn more about becoming men of integrity. That goal was realized at Promise Keepers 1993 in

The organization has enlarged its vision to gather men in stadiums throughout the nation with the goal in 1994 being to hold conferences at six stadiums - in In-Portland, Ore., Anaheim, Calif., Dallas-Fort Worth, Texas, and

"For as by one man's disobedience (Adam) many were made sinners, so by the OBEDIENCE OF ONE (Jesus) shall many be made righteous" Romans 5.19. Some believe a CHURCH must approve a minister and administer proper ordinances before a sinner can be saved. But is a "Church" plus Jesus "one?" God accepts the work and obedience of JESUS ALONE when He saves a sinner!

Acrylics on canvas catch curator's eye lymouth's Carol Walkiewicz had never exhibited her artwork before, despite dabbling in the world of acrylics and brushstrokes for upwards of 30 years.

But Atrium Gallery's Pat Jania of Novi jumped at the chance to exhibit six of the former Westland resident's contemporary acrylics on canvas. "It takes awhile for artists to finally make that decision to sell their work," Jania said. "She finally made that decision. And this is her first show. We like to present unusual styles and unique pieces," Jania added, "and these are entirely different than anything we've had because they're so contemporary - and we consider ourselves a contemporary gallery.

'It's exciting because they're so different." Four large abstracts and two smaller paintings by Walkiewicz are on exhibit through March at Atrium Gallery, 109 N. Center, in downtown Northville. They range in price from $150 to $750.

The work exudes a floral feeling even though it represents just a series of short brushstrokes. Says Jania: "It's bursting forth with color, like the opening of a flower. The flow of color is quite in-

Despite what the eye sees, Walkiewicz doesn't set out painting in still life. "It's more a feeling she manages to create on canvas through the movement of her brushstroke," said Jania, gallery co-owner with Heidi Eizelman of Farmington

An art teacher at Annapolis High School in Dearborn Heights for the past 27 years, Walkiewicz flirts with realism but prefers abstraction when at the easel in her home studio.

'Abstraction lets me express myself better and, besides, I enjoy it more. Sometimes I have a theme in mind, but other times I play with colors, shapes and forms. I don't want every piece to say a partic-Jania's floral interpretation doesn't surprise Walkiewicz, who likes to grow flowers in her garden. "I like natural things like plants and flowers, and that's probably apparent in my work.

The 4-year-old gallery carries a lot of blownglass. Walkiewicz' pieces especially complement those of Birmingham glassblower Stan Megdall.

'Some of our prettiest pieces from Stan have a jewel tone — teals, magentas, golds, lapis blues. purples, deep colors instead of a pastel look," Jania said. "Carol's pieces have that quality.

As a youngster growing up in Grosse Pointe Woods, Walkiewicz loved to design and make things. Often, she experimented with different materials. She remembers transforming gift wrapping into an animal or a doll. Later, she made doll clothes from her own designs. I was never much of a pattern person," she said. "I've always wanted to design things Walkiewicz didn't start to paint until college. She earned a bachelor's degree in design from the University of Michigan and a master's in art education from Eastern Michigan.

Plymouth taps new arts director

■ The Plymouth Community Arts Council begins its 25th year with a new executive director and promising plans for new, expanded headquarters.

By Janice Tigar-Kramer

A Latin phrase engraved in a Pewabic tile on Randy Lee's desk sums up her philosophy of the arts: "Art is long and time is fleeting.

That's a loose translation of Hippocrates, and one I heard my dad say many times growing up. I didn't completely understand it then. Years later, my sister and I saw the phrase on a wall at the Detroit Institute of Arts — suddenly the meaning was clear," said Lee, newly appointed executive director of the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC).

Lee took over the part-time position in January month from Chris-tine Ilas, who left for a full-time job with a Farmington Hills marketing firm. Ilas will stay on the board of directors as a volunteer and handle communications and promotions, said Karen Tripp, PCAC president.

"This job is perfect for me because it blends the two areas I'm most enthused about - education and promotion of the arts. I'm looking forward to making things that I've been committed to actually happen," said Lee of Plymouth.

The executive director's job is one of two paid positions at PCAC, a mostly volunteer-driven group with 350 members. The council promotes the arts through exhibits, art rental, classes, concerts and education, such as the Picture Person/Music Appreciation program it brings to Plymouth-Canton schools.

It also sponsors the Damaris Student Fine Arts Awards and adult art education at Center for Creative Studies, Detroit.

Randy has unsurpassed passion for Plymouth and for keeping arts activities happening here. I think she's put in 80 hours a week since she took over and the job only calls for 25," Tripp said. "Christine's (Ilas) marketing know-how helped increase the council's visibility. Now we need to increase programming to meet the community's needs. Randy's education background can only enhance the council and its programs."

PCAC celebrates its 25th anniversary this year and plans a longters downtown to the former Jehovah Witnesses Kingdom Hall, 774 Sheldon Road.

The Plymouth City Commission approved preliminary plans Feb. 7 for the arts group to buy the 4,000-square-foot building on a land contract arrangement with the city.

PCAC's annual operating budget is about $100,000, which comes from fund-raisers, program fees, memberships, grants and donations. And like most other arts groups, it hasn't seen much state support since the mid-1980s, when Michigan Council for the Arts and Cultural Affairs grants were around $7,000 a year.

So, like her predecessor, Lee says fund-raising will be a priority. "Arts groups in larger communities may not be suffering as much as smaller places because they have a greater population to draw from. Smaller arts groups need to look to other sources of income and beef up programming to reach more people. We'll enhance our efforts with corporate fund-raising," Lee said.

In addition to aggressive fundraising. Lee has five other long and short-term goals:

the former Jehovah Witnesse building by spring 1994 and begin renovations. The church includes a stage for concerts and has the space needed for art/music classrooms and the art rental gallery, now at Dunning-Hough Library.

 Add programs for senior citizens, including monthly art appreciation classes and three to four yearly trips to the Detroit Institute of Arts.

 Generate more volunteers, which translates into new ideas, Lee said.

 Increase programming. Increase membership.

Lee taught first grade in Ann Arbor before sons Christopher and Matthew, now age 19 and 17 respec tively, were born. She's been a PCAC volunteer since 1983 and, be fore becoming executive director, agreed to co-chair its murder mystery fund-raiser earlier this month at Laurel Manor Banquet & Conference Center, Livonia

She also co-chairs Plymouth Study Group, whose membership includes 150 Plymouth-area women. and is director of Excellence in Education, a Plymouth-based group that awards study grants to Plymouth-Canton youths.

She hasn't dabbled much in arts and isn't a musician, but Lee's appreciation of the arts is strong and deeply rooted. Her family, who moved from Livonia to Plymouth in 1969, fostered the arts with regular outings to the Detroit Institute of Arts, theater and symphony, she Tulips by the bunches have sprung up at the Palette Guild's annual art show, continuing through March 31 in the lobby of Livonia City Hall, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

Along with spring flowers, 17 members of the club display landscape, still life, portraits and genre scenes in styles ranging from realism to abstraction and impressionism.

Media include oil, watercolor, acrylic, mixed, pastel, collage, colored pencil and oil pastel, all reasonably priced from $30 to $500.

"It's a pretty good show this year," said chairwoman Evelyn Henry of Redford Township. "We have a diversity of work.

Ralph Glenn, chairman of the art department at Madonna University in Livonia, judged the 86-piece show, awarding first, second and third place as well as eight honorable mentions.

First place went to Helene Zelenka for the oil triptych, "Tulips No. 1."

"Overall, the quality of the show was very high on the basis of very effectively being able to handle their technique subject matter," said Glenn, a Bloomfield Hills resident. The tulips," he said, "were very Hedwig Reineke won second place for a dynamic "Volcano," painted in watercolor. Explosions of orange color the work with a lively energy.

Employee training a Village Green key

BY DOUG FUNKE

There's no sense reinventing the wheel as far as a Farmington Hills apartment construction and management firm is concerned.

An in-house orientation and training course based on similar programs on board before it was instituted have at McDonald's and Disney has made a difference in how employees approach their work and profitability, a key Village Green Management executive maintains. "Our main goals, number one, are to increase the level of performance of all our employees," said Terry Schwartz, CEO of Village Green Management. "Second would be better performing communities for our

"Third, having highly qualified people translates to a better bottom line. We add value to the assets of our clients," he said.

All new employees participate in a laylong orientation program that inludes such topics as human resources, fair housing and stress man

Those inclined to the management and leasing side then have three days of training in company operations omputers and two days in sales.

Maintenance specialists have their own courses after the first-day orien-

A two-year, post-graduate executive intern course is available for employees who aspire to higher management. "Our employee turnover is considerably lower than it was in the '80s,' Schwartz said. "Last year, with 70 communities, our site manager and maintenance supervisor turnover rate was 17 percent. In this industry, you're looking at 50 percent. "Our employees have a greater understanding of client goals and objectives than most others in this business," he said. "Because of that, there's more focus. And consistency.

"We manage probably the most diversified portfolio of anyone in the U.S." Schwartz said, adding that Village Green oversees about 12,000 and I would question the authority of

Boulder Park: upper-end condo living

There hasn't been all that much new residential construction in Bloomfield Hills recently, mostly due to a lack of building sites, one developer/builder maintains. That's why he fig-

Boulder Park in Bloomfield Hills isn't your typical subdivision, even for Oakland County.

Just 10 detached condominiums will be built on a 3.90-acre site off Woodward Avenue, north of Lone Pine Road. Wineman & Komer Building Co. in Southfield developed the parcel and offers two models - the Classic, 3,100 square feet with a base price of $445,000, and the Regency, 3,400 square feet at $475,000.

The association fee for maintenance of the common grounds, collection of trash and snow removal is $200 per month.

"People here are well established in their careers and are looking for less obligations in work and maintaining houses," said Richard L. Komer, president of

Tom Wilson - Executive of the Year

BY DOUG FUNKE STAFF WRITER

Tom Wilson, a Rochester Hills resident, may be the ultimate insider's insider.

The 44-year-old actor turned business executive is president of the Palace of Auburn Hills, Detroit Pistons, Pine Knob and Detroit Neon.

He must be doing something right

Since the late 1980s, the Palace became the first arena named Best New Venue and Arena of the Year in successive years by Performance magazine. The Pistons won two NBA championships. Pine Knob experienced a refurbishing.

"To have a successful organization, you have to have a passion for it, not only the work, but for the people in the organization and everything the organization stands for," he said.

The personable Wilson also is involved with the wider community, including the Boy Scouts of America, CATCH, William America, Beaumont Hospital and the American Cancer Society.

Wilson obviously commands respect for his capabilities and accomplishments. He recently was selected Executive of the Year by the Oakland Executives Association, an organization for professionals and senior corporate managers.

Following are edited excerpts of a recent interview with Wilson:

What do you see as your role being president of so many different enterprises?

Wilson: For the most part, when there are so many different entities, your main responsibility is to get good people to work for you and with you - I like with you better - provide some direction for these people, then get out of their way.

How do you prepare for a job like yours?

Wilson: It's marketing, public relations, sales. It's all of the same things you do whether you sell widgets or rock 'n' roll. I was an actor in California and I would film at the Forum with the Lakers. I got to know the people. I went from acting to working in the marketing area for hockey and basketball. When I started here, there were five people working for the Pistons. Almost everything you do around here, I've done.

A lot of people with the Pistons came in with telemarketing. That's probably one of the toughest jobs there is. Only the strongest survive. That's how I came up.

When we were at the Silverdome and we had a lot of promotions and the trucks came in, I was down there, myself, unloading. You have a basic business background - I majored in business administration at Wayne

State - and you get in sports. Over the course of 15 years, I went from basketball, to the Palace to Pine Knob, each one being a logical extension of an-

What's your typical day

Wilson: I come in around 6 a.m. and work out and get upstairs between 7:30 and 8. From then on, there is no typical day.

I believe in managing by walking around. The more places you are, the more information you're able to disseminate and the more you're able to

I may spend some time talking with Billy McKinney (general manager of the Pistons) about the team, then talk with the marketing people and then I'll spend time with the financial

You do have a life as far as planning out a schedule, but many times you are led by what's going on around you. Some (meetings) are impromptu, some I walk in on and become part of, some are scheduled.

What's your management philosophy?

Admired executive: Tom Wilson, who oversees an entertainment empire in suburban Detroit, has been selected executive of the year by an association of professionals and senior corporate decision makers.

Wilson: I think trust is a huge factor in working with people. And giving them the ability to fail is important - in addition to giving them the ability to suc-

I think loyalty is very important. You have to show that every chance we get. We have very little turnover here. Top people have been here 15 years.

The other thing is I think you have to set a tone - commitment to excellent you talk about - below which you cannot step. How many people work for our various organizations?

Wilson: About 256 Everything from marketing, to box office, to regular security, personnel, TV, radio. Payroll not including players) is probably over $10 million per year. We have another 1,000 to Simple, honest, straightforward. How else would you expect to lease a Saturn?

A DIFFERENT KIND OF COMPANY. A DIFFERENT KIND OF CAR.

(1 Blk. W. of Telegraph)

By now, you've probably heard about the Saturn buying experience. No hassles, no pressure, no fuss, just common courtesy, along with a pretty great car.

Well, the way we see it, your experience shouldn't be any different if you want to lease a Saturn. After all, what could we possibly gain by making things any less Straightforward than they have to
