Voters elect 3 school trustees

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

On a stormy election day that drew to the polls just 6 percent of the Plymouth-Canton electorate, trustee Susan Feiten of Plymouth Township, Mark Horvath of Canton, and Susan Davis of Canton won seats on the Board of Education.

Only 3,165 voters cast ballots, ranking the turnout among the lowest ever in the district.

Eight candidates vied for three seats. The winners all were backed by the Plymouth-Canton Education Association.

Feiten, an educational nurse coordinator at University of Michigan Hospital, was the top vote-getter with 2,168 votes. Horvath, a reliability engineer with Ford Motor, received 2,046 votes. Davis, director of community services at Growth Works, received 1,220 votes.

Appointed last November, Feiten was elected to a one-year term, defeating Carolyn Bradley and Valerie Greene. Greene received 384 votes and Bradley 360.

Horvath and Davis were elected to four-year terms.

Peggy Kalis finished third in the race for the four-year seat with 1,068 votes. Stephen Kilijanczyk was fourth with 998 votes and Carol Bollman fifth with 367.

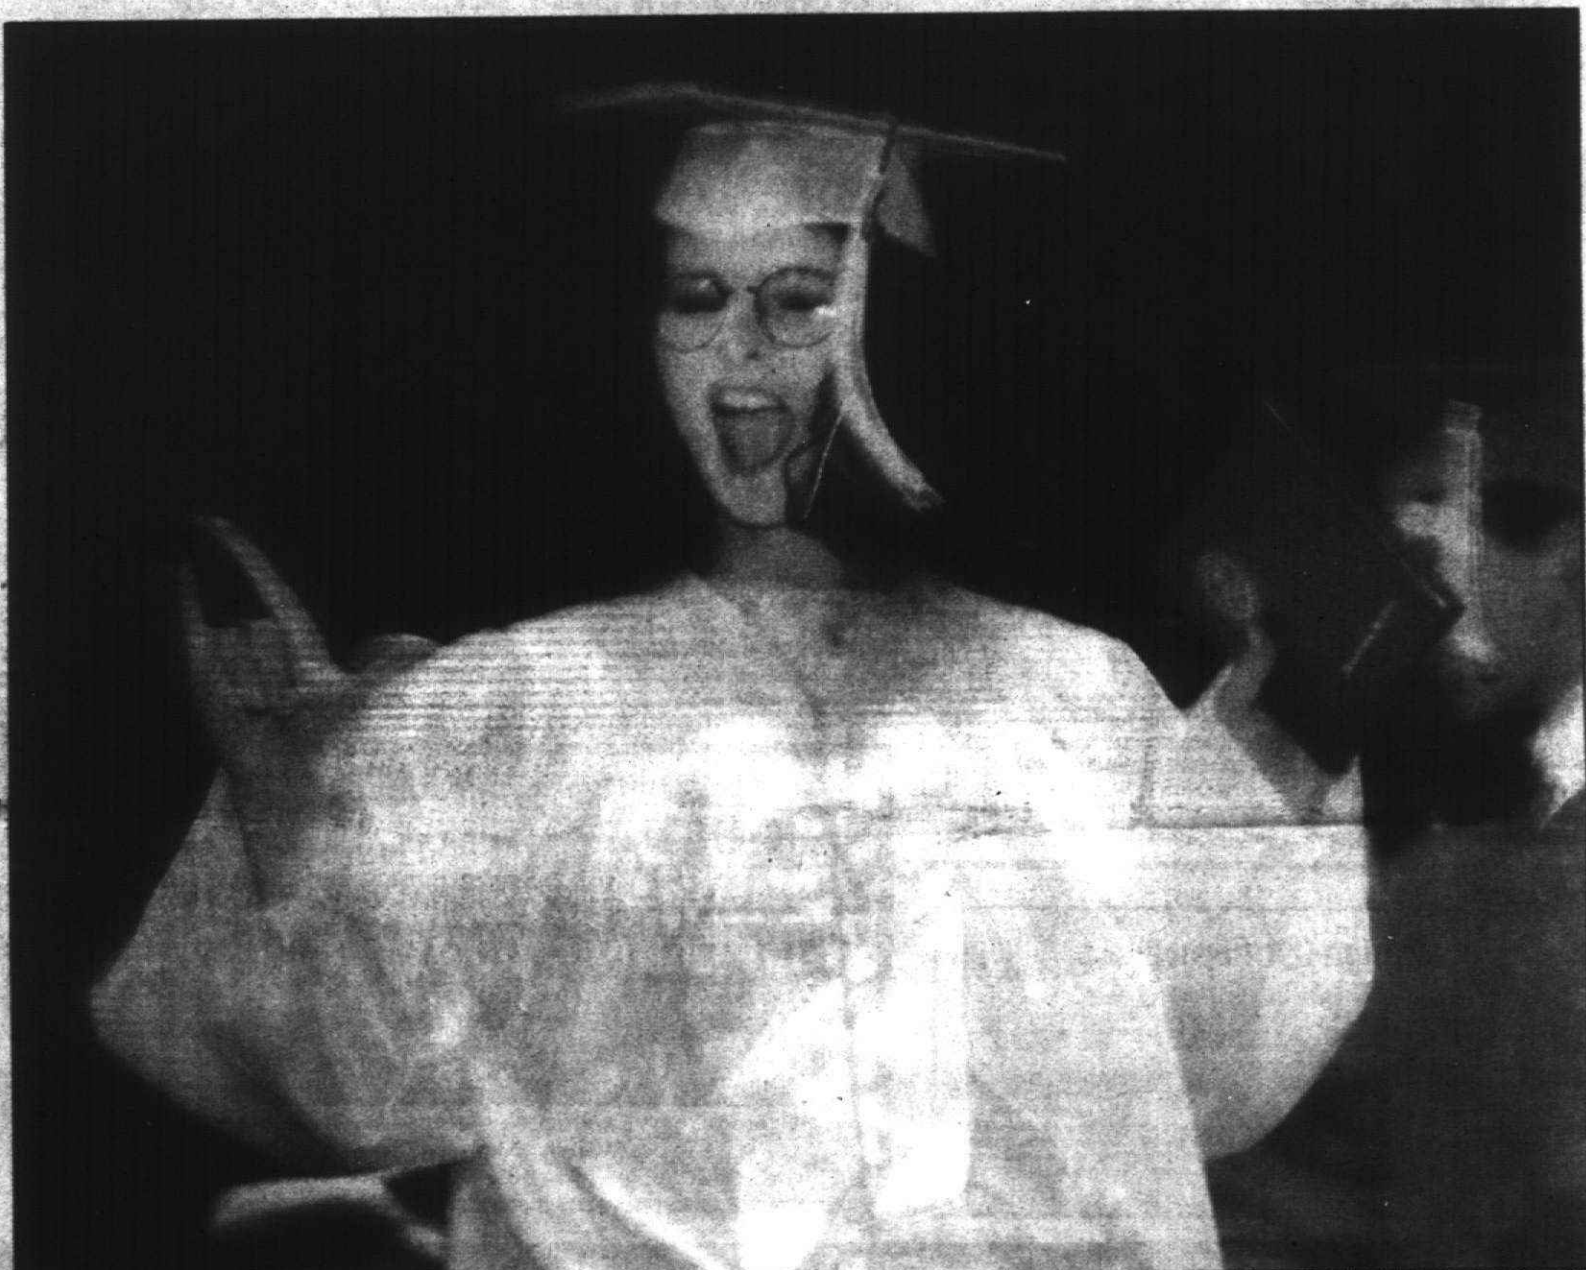

"I'm thrilled at the votes I got," said Feiten, 37. "All along, I felt I was well-received by many groups of people. The support seemed to be there. It's a tremendous vote of confidence. It's a great feeling; I'm very excited."

Like the other candidates, Feiten was disappointed at the low voter turnout.

Given the state mandates, including aligning the curriculum and raising test scores, "the biggest challenge will be figuring out how we're going to finance it," Feiten said. "Our re-

Canton to restrict construction traffic

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

Canton police will enforce emergency orders for construction traffic using a temporary access from Sunflower subdivision onto Maben Road.

"If I say we are going to be out there, we are going to be out there," Public Safety Director John Santomauro told about 30 Maben Road residents Monday.

Residents were informed of a decision by township officials to route construction traffic for Sunflower 11 on a temporary access road across 2.5 acres owned by developer Richard Lewiston on the north side of Maben.

But construction traffic will be restricted to travel from the access road east to Canton Center and be prohibited from making left turns north onto Canton Center.

Construction traffic may not use Beck to enter Maben and may not travel west on Maben from the access road.

"The concern on Maben Road is that the road that leads from Sunflower is destined to become a permanent fixture," said Maben resident Mike Wiktor.

Canton Supervisor Tom Yack and township engineer Tom Casari assured residents the temporary road will be closed no later than Dec. 31. A recorded plat also shows there won't be a permanent road from Sunflower to Maben just west of Arnoldt Williams Music.

"You can see there is no access at all. Each one of these parcels intends to have a home on it," said Yack, who agreed to put in writing there will be no permanent access from Sunflower to Maben Road.

The public safety department's selective enforcement unit will patrol the area under emergency traffic control orders with motorcycles and patrol cars. Signs also will be posted with traffic restrictions.

But Maben residents continued to express concern about safety on the gravel road extending from Canton Center to Beck. Of particular concern are turns onto Canton Center, as well as safety of children along Maben.

"Why do you still insist on going down Maben?" resident Tom Misco asked.

The decision to route construction traffic onto Maben rather than through the Sunflower subdivisions stems from the greater number of homes traffic passes in the larger subdivision. Construction traffic will pass Arnoldt Williams and one house on Maben, Yack said.

Also playing into the decision is the opening of Tonda Elementary School in the fall with children in Sunflower walking to the school when construction traffic is heavy in the morning. The cross section of pavement in Sunflower also plays a role, Yack said.

"What we looked at was the number of impacted people and how to soften the impact," Yack said.

Streetscape project under way

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

Work is under way on Canton's $1.7 million Downtown Development Authority streetscape on a portion of Ford Road.

Work began in earnest in late May, putting utility lines — cable, telephone, electrical — underground on the north and south sides of Ford Road, immediately west of Morton Taylor. That will be completed when a sewer project on Ford, just east of Sheldon, is finished within a week or two.

"If the weather holds, they plan to pour the foundation for the new decorative wall," said Angela Wolosiewicz, DDA project coordinator. DDA officials are expected to inspect the foundation for the wall next week.

Also underground is the wiring for decorative street lighting that will line the DDA district, which runs from Sheldon Road to Morton Taylor. The district will also run north up Sheldon to the first entrance of the Harvard Square shopping center.

In addition to the street lighting, decorative walls, and ornamental paving, the district will boast improved landscaping and berms. At each intersection of the district a limestone sign will be

Library offers reading programs

Canton kids don't have to worry about having nothing to do this summer. The Canton Public Library will again offer summer reading programs for children.

Two programs will be offered, the Read To Me program for younger kids and another for those who read on their own. Most children in the latter program are in first through eighth grades, said Judy Teachworth, department head for youth services at the library. There's some flexibility, however, when it comes to choosing one program or the other.

"The real division is whether they're reading independently or they're having stories read to them," she said. "Camp Read" is this summer's theme.

Registration for each program will begin Monday, June 20, and last through Friday, June 24.

Various contests and incentives will be featured.

Both programs are designed to encourage summertime reading. Teachworth said, with book selection left up to the kids. Last year, more than 1,300 children participated in the two programs, which are offered free of charge.

For information, call the library, 397-0999.

Residents also expressed concern about Maben's 55 mph speed limit. "That's 55 on ideal conditions. It doesn't have to be 60 mph before we issue it (a ticket)," Santomauro said. "We will enforce the law." Sunflower streets are posted at 25 mph.

Yack also asked residents their feelings about closing Maben east at Canton Center — where traffic backs up and Maben residents have difficulty getting out — and building access to Ford Road.

Jewish families form congregation

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

A dream is coming true for many Jewish families in western Wayne County.

On Friday evening, Jewish families from Canton, Plymouth, Westland, Garden City, Northville and Redford will gather to sign a charter officially creating Congregation Bet Chaverim.

"The charter binds the people together," said congregation member Jerry Kaplan of Canton. "People who sign it will become charter members."

The signing comes less than a year after families who came together decided to form a congregation. Right now — and for some time in the future — families meet in each other's homes, including one on Fridays for Shabbat or Sabbath services. They also meet Saturdays once a month for social activities.

"It helps to create a structure so we are a more formal body," said Wendy Sadler of Canton, a teacher at Stepping Stones in Southfield, which is an educational program for intermarried families who have been affiliated with Judaism.

Sadler, Amy Rose of Canton, and Debra Beck of Westland got together from a feeling of being unconnected with similar families. Actually their kids, including some who attended Stepping Stones, brought the families together.

Having a charter for the Reform congregation also means it will receive a tax-exempt status as a religious organization.

Approximately 40 families in western Wayne County are on the congregation's mailing list, with about half as active members. Current members are convinced there are plenty more Jewish families out there who are not connected to a congregation, or intermarried Jewish families.

Pulte Homes, which is building Sunflower 11, is expected to post a bond from which Wayne County Public Services will provide grading and chondoring on the gravel road while construction traffic travels over it.

"I've seen potholes five feet deep and Wayne County doesn't come," a resident said. Yack responded: "In this situation they'll be working off someone else's money."

Residents also expressed concern about Maben's 55 mph speed limit. "That's 55 on ideal conditions. It doesn't have to be 60 mph before we issue it (a ticket)," Santomauro said. "We will enforce the law." Sunflower streets are posted at 25 mph.

Lightning causes damage to two homes

Listed below are some of the Canton police incidents, fire calls and court cases reported during the past week:

LIGHTNING STRIKES

Canton fire personnel responded to two reports of lightning strikes during thunderstorms Monday.

A house in the 46000 block of Gunnery was struck by lightning, although fire personnel found no fire when they arrived. Damage from the strike resulted, causing $3,000 damage. "It is common for us to advise people to call an electrician (after a lightning strike)," said Canton Fire Chief Mike Rorabacher.

Fire personnel responded to another lightning strike in the 45000 block of Middlebury where fire broke out, causing damage to the roof, siding and trusses of the house. Damage was estimated at $10,000. The hole in the house where lightning struck was boarded up, Rorabacher said.

The base of a light pole on Tillotson caught fire during the storm and fell into the street. Detroit Edison was called. Other weather-related runs included an arcing wire on Rochester and a fire alarm malfunction at a business on Lilley.

EXTORTION REPORTED

A Canton woman contacted police

June 11 when she received a telephone call from an unidentified caller who said he was holding her husband hostage and would kill him unless she paid $700.

The woman told police her in-laws in Farmington received a similar telephone call demanding $1,000 for the safe return of their son. The woman told police that when she returned home after work, her husband was not there.

Farmington police tracked the telephone calls to a motel in Detroit, where police were expected to check for the man's van. The man's parents apparently received five telephone calls.

OUR NURSES SEE THEM AS STILL BEING ATTACHED

You stay in your room. Your baby stays in the nursery. And you're each cared for by a different nurse.

A better way

At St. Mary Hospital we offer a better way to begin. A personal nurse takes care of you and your baby together to encourage the best possible start. So your nurse can tell how your comfort level, moods and medication may be affecting your baby. And how your baby's behavior influences you. This new way of caring is called mother-baby nursing.

Mother-baby nurses

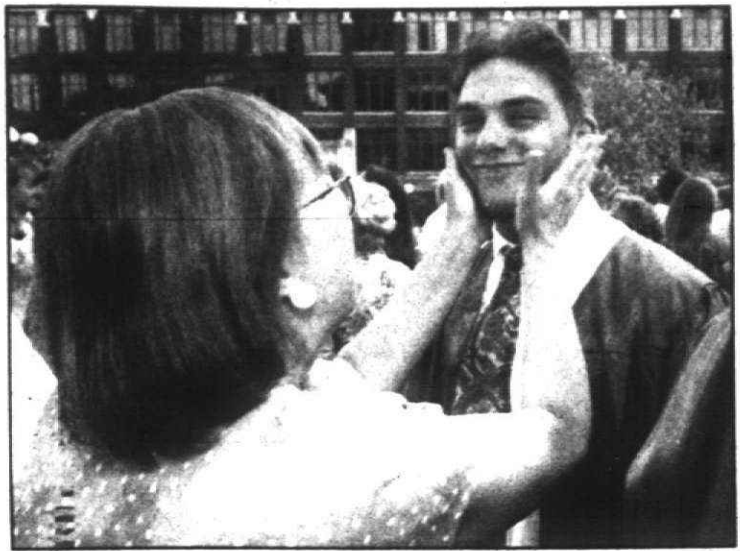

With mother-baby nurses, you can learn by watching the nurse care for your newborn at your bedside instead of out of your sight in a nursery. If you have a question about your baby, the nurse can answer it immediately. You won't have to wait for the "baby nurse."

The Miracle of Life Maternity Center at St. Mary Hospital has mother-baby nursing all the time.

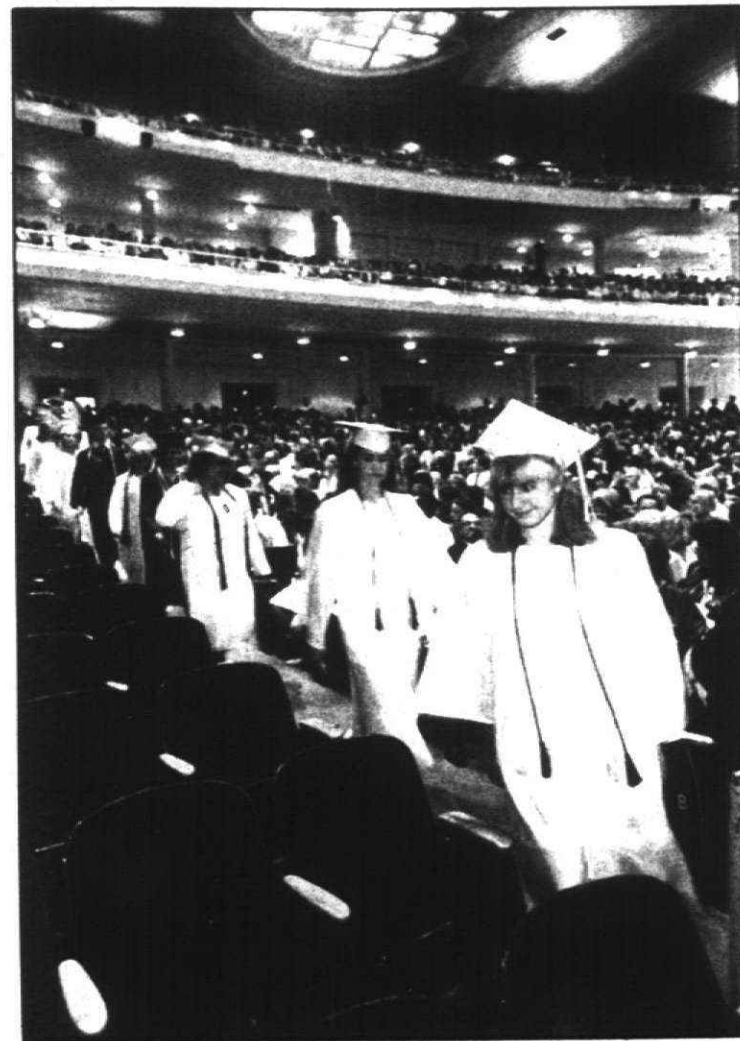

More support, more education. It's a better way of caring. To learn more about the benefits of mother-baby nursing call 313-591-2882. Ask for a free brochure, tour, or physician referral.

sources can't just be revenue. We have to involve people."

Feiten, who has a daughter in elementary school and a son in pre-school, advocates senior volunteer programs and business partnerships.

"We have to be aggressive in identifying alternative revenue sources for schools."

Horvath, 35, said he was surprised at the outcome. "I thought it would be real close. I got great support from a lot of people, but I'm very disappointed at the turnout," said Horvath, who has two children at Miller Elementary.

A factor was "the support of both the bargaining groups and the support I got from the people at Miller, where my wife, Kathy, is real involved."

Horvath plans to address "the respect issue. People have felt that even if their issues were being addressed, they didn't get the respect they deserved. They want to be treated honestly and openly. I'd like to see things more open and less confrontational. I can't change the way the board does things, but I think I can contribute to some honesty and some more respect."

Davis, 49, is the mother of a college-aged daughter and twins who graduated from Plymouth-Canton schools last weekend.

The PCEA rated her qualified, holding back on a full endorsement because of her stand on privatization. Davis has said privatization should be explored as a cost-cutting measure if the district wants to hire teachers to reduce class size.

"I'm not out to get people's jobs, but I think there are some areas where we can operate more efficiently," said Davis.

"My priorities will be the community's priorities. Something people have talked about over and over is the creation of a more friendly atmosphere. We need a user-friendly partnership."

Davis said she'd like to explore an alternative high school and expand K-8 co-curricular activities.

Sharing resources is another goal. "I think we need to combine resources and hook up with our community's libraries and parks and rec facilities," she said. "I don't think any of us can do it by ourselves any more."

This marks the first time three women have served on the board since 1988-89.

The last time four women served on the seven-member board was 1981.

The lowest voter turnout — 1,853 in 1986 and 2,558 in 1987 — also came in elections in which no millage question was posed.

"The turnout wasn't quite as bad as I thought it might be, given the miserable weather," said Dick Egli, the district's community relations director.

"I'm sure there were people who would have voted had the weather been nicer. Overall, there were some really well-qualified people. It was unfortunate we had only two four-year terms and one one-year term available."

Canton student wins scholarship

Mazda Inc. has awarded Jason Danely of Canton a scholarship for a summer experience in Japan through Youth For Understanding (YFU) International Exchange, one of the oldest and largest programs for high school students.

Jason, who has completed his junior year at Plymouth Canton High School, will spend most of the summer living with a host family in Japan, becoming immersed in that country's culture. He has maintained a 4.0 grade point average during his high school years. He has also been active in the Plymouth Park Players theater productions at the high school. He is the son of Dick and Reby Danely of Canton.

Mazda is one of over 50 corporations offering scholarships through YFU to live abroad for a summer or an academic year. Corporations such as Mazda have been sponsoring YFU scholarships for the past 20 years. Currently, over 300 American students receive corporate scholarships annually to travel abroad on YFU exchanges.

Man earns promotion

Yubao Chen of Canton, assistant professor of industrial and manufacturing systems engineering at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, was promoted to the rank of associate professor, with tenure, by the U-M Regents on May 20.

Chen earned his doctoral and master's degrees from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and his bachelor's degree from Xian Jiaotong University in China.

Chen and a colleague recently received a $1.2 million joint award from the National Institute of Standards and Technology, a federal agency that supports research in pre-competitive technology areas.

Catholic league honors Emons

Brad Emons, sports editor at the Observer Newspapers, received the distinguished service award Monday from the Catholic Coaches Association and the Catholic League Hall of Fame.

Emons, who edits the Livonia and Westland sports editions, lives in Plymouth. He is a graduate of Franklin College of Indiana and Franklin High School in Livonia.

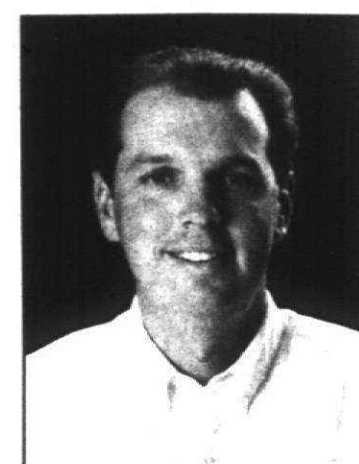

"Brad's recognition by the Catholic League is well-deserved. He is very dedicated to the coverage of prep sports and is regarded by many metro area coaches, athletic directors, reporters and editors — from weeklies and dailies alike — to be the expert on prep sports in Wayne and Oakland counties," said Steve Barnaby, publisher of the Observer Newspapers.

The 14th annual induction and dinner at the Warren Chateau capped a day-long golf outing at Maple Lane Golf Course. Emons, 39, has worked at the Observer Newspapers for 16 years. He is on the board of directors of the Livonia Bowling Club, along with the Heart and Sole Running Club of the Livonia Family YMCA. He is also a member of the Covenant Baptist Church of West Bloomfield.

"On Sunday mornings on our way to church we used to pass the old Catholic Central High School on Outer Drive in Detroit and I'd kid my mom about going to school there," said Emons in accepting his award Monday. "She told me you had to be Catholic to attend that school. I made sure she was here at the banquet Monday to prove that a Baptist could make the Catholic League Hall of Fame."

"This is really a nice honor, and I appreciate the cooperation the schools in our area such as Redford CC, Bishop Borgess, LaSalle, St. Agatha, St. Clement-Bayor (Westland), Tom Liskfelt, Mike Luttenberger, Mike Smith and Tom Sullivan. Honored as athletes of the year were Derrick Alexander (Detroit Benedictine-University of Michigan), Vaughn Bryant (St. Mary's of Orchard Lake-Stanford University), Mary Campans (Harper Woods Regina High School-University of Michigan), Gannon Dudlar (Birmingham Brother Rice-University of Michigan), Michelle Gayney (Redford Bishop Borgess-Western Michigan University), Kathy Hall (St. Clement-Bayor University), Mark Milia (Brother Rice-University of Michigan), and Hazel Olden (Birmingham Marian-Indian State University).

The Detroit area Catholic League is one of the largest and oldest high school athletic conferences in the nation. Since its founding in 1926, the Catholic League has been serving thousands of young people through high school athletics.

Police praise grand jury

Panel will review 3 area unsolved murders

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Observant police departments have put three unsolved homicides in the hopper to be investigated by the newly-formed Wayne County Grand Jury.

However, the secrecy surrounding the grand jury is so tight that officials will reveal next to nothing about all but one of the cases. The veil is necessary, said Wayne County deputy chief prosecutor Douglas Baker, so as not to "teleglyph what we're doing" to people who might be called to testify.

Countywide, the grand jury is expected to investigate 25 cases. Two of them are from Redford Township and Garden City. Livonia police have submitted an unsolved homicide for consideration, but haven't heard if the grand jury will take it up. Livonia police Capt. Michael Murray declined to give any information on the murder in question.

Only in Garden City are police willing to discuss in detail what they've submitted to the grand jury.

The case is the Jan. 12 murder of Karlton Watson, 33, who was shot in his car as he stopped for a red light on Middlebelt in front of City Hall.

"The fact is someone knows what happened. I am positive one of the people I talked to was involved," said Garden City police Detective Sgt. David Harvey. "I have a witness who won't come in. A grand jury can compel him to come in. It gives me some more teeth."

Witnesses saw three men in the car which pulled beside Watson the gunman in the backseat with the driver and a passenger in the front seat.

"There were three people in the car. There could be more in the conspiracy (to commit the murder)," said Harvey, adding he hoped the grand jury procedure could get the investigation moving. "I'm not going to let the case go. I'll work it till I'm old and gray," Harvey said. "I owe it to the Watson family. They are nice people. This was a cold-blooded killing."

Redford Township police Deputy Chief John Buck said his department has asked the grand jury to investigate the three-year-old murder of a gas station attendant.

The grand jury, Buck said, "is a very good idea" and "may cause some stones to be turned." Buck declined to say more about the case for fear of frightening witnesses.

Plymouth Township police Chief Carl Berry said his department has no unsolved homicides. Neither does Canton Township, said police spokeswoman Tamie Colling.

Al George, the Westland Police

Department detective bureau chief, said no unsolved Westland murders have been submitted to the grand jury.

The Wayne County Circuit Court judges approved the grand jury in late May at the request of Prosecutor John O'Hair. The judges decided to go with a one-man grand jury comprised of Circuit Judge Michael L. Stacey, who retires Dec. 31.

Stacey will have the authority to subpoena witnesses and grant them immunity from prosecution. Unwilling witnesses can often be compelled to talk because they can be jailed if they don't.

In Michigan, grand juries can exist for six months before a month extension may be requested. When the extension ends, a prosecutor has to go through the whole process again to form another grand jury.

Baker said the six-month clock begins ticking in late June.

Consumers employees win safety award

Consumers Power Co. employees have won the National Safety Council's first-place award for safety performance in 1993, an honor employees at the Jackson-based utility have earned eight times in the last 10 years.

The National Safety Council notified the utility of the honor after determining that Consumers had achieved the best safety record in 1993 among combination gas and electric utilities with 5,000 employees or more.

The utility's 1993 safety performance included a "Recordable Incident Rate" of 3.13 (recordable injuries per 100 employees), the best in company history. The industry average was 5.7.

It was the second-best year in Consumers history for injuries in 1993, with 760. In 1992, the previous best year, 940 cases were reported.

loss cases due to injury.

It was the best year in the utility's history for the total number of reported cases, including first-aid illnesses, injuries and non-reportable cases, with 760. In 1992, the previous best year, 940 cases were reported.

Area reps split on bill to curb state welfare grants

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Don't call Right to Life "conservative."

The anti-abortion lobby recently pulled the rug out from under conservative state representatives trying to curb state grants to welfare mothers who have more children.

First the House adopted, 62-39, an amendment to the social services budget aimed at discouraging welfare mothers from having more out-of-wedlock children. Later in the day, at Right to Life's urging, the House removed the amendment on a 35-61 vote.

"Right to Life considered it an incentive to abortion," said the amendment's unhappy sponsor, Rep. Jack Horton, a Republican from suburban Grand Rapids and a clergyman.

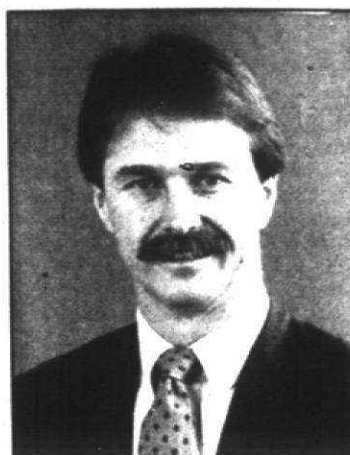

Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton, voted for the Horton amendment both times. "The amendment was in the book a long time, but Right to Life was silent," said Whyman, usually a Right to Life supporter. "Then Right to Life shows up. They turned around 30 votes."

"I went into the corridor to talk to them. I told them I thought it was good policy. They maintain the practice (leveling welfare benefits) increases the demand for abortion. I asked for the numbers. They didn't convince me," said Whyman.

Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, a fiscal conservative but pro-choice, said the anti-welfare amendment "is part of the conservative agenda. They (Horton and Whyman) stood up to a formidable interest group."

Rep. Deborah Whyman: The Canton Republican voted for the amendment both times.

Rep. Jerry Vorva: The Plymouth Republican voted yes both times.

Rep. Lyn Banks: The Redford Republican voted no both times.

Rep. Justine Barns: The Westland Democrat voted against the amendment both times.

Rep. William Keith: The Garden City Democrat voted yes the first time and was absent for the second (equivalent of a no vote).

Not all conservatives were happy about the Horton amendment. Rep. Beverly Hammerstrom, R-Temperance, objected it would "deprive innocent children of base needs. It does nothing to address the issue of lack of responsibility in the parents' actions."

Here is how Observer & Eccentric lawmakers voted:

Yes both times — Penny Crissman, R-Rochester, Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake, Jan Dolan, R-Farmington, John Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township, Shirley Johnson, R-Royal Oak, Creg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills, Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, Deborah Whyman, R-Canton.

No both times — Lyn Banks, R-Redford, Justine Barns, D-

Westland, Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, David Gubow, D-Huntington Woods, Richard Young, D-Deerborn Heights.

Yes the first time, absent the second (equivalent of a no vote) — William Keith, D-Garden City. Other Horton amendments won majorities, although the second-term lawmaker fears they may be cut after the Senate works on it and it goes to conference committee.

"The thrust of my amendments was that for too long, we have focused on alleviating material poverty and neglected behavioral poverty. In essence, we've been handing out cash grants without acknowledging the negative effects they have on the behavior of recipients," he said.

The House approved: ■ Horton's amendment to deduct 10 percent from monthly welfare grants to pay for damages to rental property when the landlord obtains a court judgment. Horton said many welfare recipients found a loophole: They would agree to "vouching" (allowing the state to pay the landlord directly), then unilaterally cancel the arrangement, knowing their wages couldn't be garnished since they have no wages. The amendment allows the landlord to collect rent and damages. It passed 77-21, opposed only by Barns, Berman and Gubow.

■ Denying disability benefits in substance abuse cases. The amendment was co-sponsored by Jamian and Horton. It passed 76-19, opposed only by Barns, Berman and Gubow.

■ Kaza's amendment to deny public assistance to illegal aliens. Approval was on a voice vote.

FINE FURNITURE WITHOUT THE FRILLS
A Look at What You Will Find

The rustic ambience is part of the appeal of Charles Furniture Warehouse. When Cyma Carn's customers drive their luxury cars to the Royal Oak warehouse they're looking for good furniture and a good buy. They are not inconvenienced by the low overhead look of the well-built 1920's warehouse in Royal Oak - it suits them just fine.

"People come in here not knowing what to expect," says Cyma Carn. "Maybe they think the furniture will be in crates or something."

In fact, it's well-displayed and well-lit and Ms. Carn's low overhead is one of the reasons she is able to offer at least 35% off list price and attract so many well-informed customers.

The warehouse was opened 10 years ago and has expanded in size and number of manufacturers represented.

"The people who come here have shopped and can spot the best value. They know what's out there and they know they're getting quality and service at a very good price."

Charles Furniture Warehouse at 222 E. Harrison in Royal Oak discounts all furniture to at least 35% below list price and is open Monday through Thursday and Saturday from 10:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M., Friday from 10:00 A.M. to 8:00 P.M. and Sunday noon to 4:00 P.M. The telephone number is 399-8320.

Wayne-Westland school trustee wins 4-year term

BY LEONARD POGER
STAFF WRITER

Debra Fowlkes, who will keep her seat on the Wayne-Westland school board, said Monday night that "my work has just begun."

The winner of a four-year term in Monday's annual school board election said that the board will soon deal with major issues, such as consideration of a middle-school concept, school attendance boundary changes, and purchase of new textbooks.

Fowlkes, who was named to a board vacancy in mid-January, narrowly defeated challenger Sharon Felan by 162 votes. The election had a turnout of 4.72 percent of the district's 60,000 registered voters.

Candidate Roberta Paquette received 148 votes, although she announced a month ago that she was withdrawing from the campaign to support Felan. Paquette's decision was made after the deadline for taking her name off the ballot.

Fowlkes didn't hesitate to say that Paquette's withdrawal from the race helped her own candidacy on election day.

Based on unofficial tallies to be certified this week, Fowlkes has 1,423 votes, followed by Felan with 1,261.

In an election-night interview at her victory party at the Woodcrest Villa apartments clubhouse, Fowlkes admitted that she wasn't surprised at the narrow margin of victory or the low turnout.

She credited her victory to several factors: "a lot of community support and (school) employees' support."

The winner also had 2-1 margins in the precincts located in her neighborhood in the former Cherry Hill school district, south of Cherry Hill and east of Merri-man.

Felan, who was a board appointee in summer 1992, was defeated in a run for a full term last June. She carried only seven of the district's 30 precincts, mostly by narrow margins, plus the absentee ballots. She failed to carry her home precinct at Schweitzer School, in the district's southwest corner.

The only area where Felan showed any strength was in the absentee ballots, in which she had a 285-177 lead.

Fowlkes, who was named to a vacancy five months ago to replace Leonard Posey, said that while the campaign was hard, the "hard work" will start soon as the school board considers many changes, such as the middle-school concept and attendance boundary changes.

Another problem is the need for the board to "recover its reputation" and build up the district again, she said.

Fowlkes benefited from financial contributions from several school employees' unions, while Felan and her husband financed her own campaign.

The election will also continue the split on the school board.

Fowlkes was supported by board members Matthew McCuaker, Francis "Bud" Winter and Patricia Brown. Felan was backed by board members Vicki Welty, Laurel Raisanen and Richard LeBlanc.

During the campaign, Felan was more supportive of school Superintendent Larry Thomas, hired two years ago, than Fowlkes.

Fowlkes' victory also means that an African-American will continue on the board. Posey was the first minority board member following his appointment to the board several years ago.

McDonald's manager earns honors

Shelby J. Ley, manager at the McDonald's restaurant located on Ford Road in Canton, has been awarded a "Bachelor of Hamburgerology" degree from McDonald's Hamburger University for graduating from the university's advanced operations course. All McDonald's restaurant managers, franchisees, mid-management, and company executives are required to complete this course.

"The importance of Shelby's achievement and training cannot be overstated," said Shirley Rogers, dean of HU. "Like all other McDonald's restaurant managers, Shelby is the chief operations officer of a successful local business."

"Developing interpersonal and human-relations skills is a key part of our curriculum," Rogers said. "These skills help our employees meet the challenges of dealing with a diverse workforce. The curriculum also prepares employees to address questions from our customers on a full range of issues."

Canton man involved in extortion attempt

An unpaid drug debt led to an extortion attempt involving a Farmington man on June 11, police said.

A Lamar Street resident told police a man telephoned and threatened to shoot his son, a 28-year-old Canton Township resident, if he didn't pay $700. Canton police were able to trace the calls to a pay phone near the Grand Hotel in Detroit.

A surveillance unit watched as a man made the call with the victim nearby. Detroit police took both into custody. In a statement to police, the victim told police he spent the night at the motel smoking crack cocaine with three men.

The man who reportedly made the calls wanted to be paid for the drugs the victim used. The victim said the men took his wallet and keys to his van.

It isn't known if charges will be filed, police said.

"It's unclear as to who was doing the extorting," said Michael Wiggins, deputy director of the Farmington Public Safety Department. "In other words, what's the son's role? It appears to be nothing more than to secure money from his parents to pay his drug debts."

ROLL CALL REPORT

Area lawmakers back House GOP plan for Haiti

Here's how Observer & Eccentric-area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending May 27

HOUSE

New Haiti Policy: By a vote of 223 for and 201 against, the House endorsed a Republican-authored measure concerning military rule in Haiti and the quest by many Haitians to flee their country. The non-binding advice was attached to a FY '95 defense authorization bill (HR 4301) that remained in debate. Earlier, the House rejected a competing Democratic proposal that endorsed economic sanctions and other elements of President Clinton's Haiti policy. Both parties ruled out an American invasion.

The main new GOP idea was to establish the Haitian island of Gonave, 15 miles offshore, as a safe haven protected by U.S. vessels. Visa processors would enable Haitians reaching Gonave to move on legally to other countries. Meanwhile, the Organization of American States and United Nations would work with Washington to deliver humanitarian aid to Haiti and install democratic rule. A yes vote endorsed the GOP plan for Haiti. Area representatives voting yes were: Joseph Knollenberg, R-Birmingham, Dale Kildee, D-Flint, Sander Levin, D-Southfield and William Ford, D-Ypsilanti.

Draft Registration: By a vote of 125 for and 273 against, the House refused to free young men turning 18 from mandatory draft registration. The amendment was offered to HR 4301 (above). The vote kept in place peacetime registration. Backers said the Selective Service would continue to operate under their amendment and that, if crisis looms, registration could be promptly resumed. During the wait, available personnel such as reserves could be immediately mobilized, they said.

A yes vote was to end peacetime draft registration. Area representatives voting yes were: Dale Kildee, Sander Levin and William Ford. Voting no: Joseph Knollenberg. Not voting: Bob Carr.

C-17 Aircraft: By a vote of 330 for and 100 against, the House increased from four to six the number of C-17 military aircraft planes to be built under HR 4301 (above). The amendment added $190 million to the 1995 defense budget. Built by McDonnell Douglas, the Air Force's C-17 is designed to transport troops and equipment to global war zones. Supporters hail technical advances such as the C-17's ability to handle runways in the Third World, while critics say U.S. aircraft needs can be better met by alternatives such as retrofitting, wide-bodied commercial aircraft.

A yes vote was to increase C-17 production. Area representatives voting yes were: Carr, Knollenberg, Levin, Ford. Voting no: Kildee.

Military Construction: By a vote of 380 for and 42 against, the House sent the Senate a bill (HR 4453) appropriating $8.8 billion in FY '95 for construction at U.S. military bases. While the bill mostly upgrades housing and other facilities, it also funds base closures ordered by Congress. The bill goes nearly a half billion dollars above President Clinton's budget request to fund some 125 pet projects of lawmakers not recommended by the president.

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Carr, Kildee, Knollenberg, Levin and Ford.

Congress's Own Budget: By a vote of 210 for and 205 against, the House approved a $1.88 billion Capitol Hill budget (HR 4454) for fiscal 1995, up $102 million or six percent from the comparable 1994 appropriation for legislative branch units other than the Senate. When the Senate adds its $500 million-plus, overall spending for Congress and support agencies in FY '95 will total about $2.4 billion.

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Carr, Kildee, Levin. Voting no: Knollenberg. Not voting: Ford.

To Reject Freeze: By a vote of 187 for and 238 against, the House refused to freeze the FY '95 legislative branch budget (above) at the FY '94 level. The amendment sought to block a $102 million increase by cutting or eliminating a variety of Congressional agencies and programs. For example, it tried to eliminate advisory House-Senate committees on economics, taxation and printing and block proposed budget increases for Democratic and Republican leadership offices in the House.

A yes vote was to freeze legislative branch spending. Area representatives voting yes were: Knollenberg. Voting no: Carr, Kildee, Levin and Ford.

Foreign Aid: By a vote of 337 for and 87 against, the House sent the Senate a bill (HR 4426) appropriating $13.6 billion in foreign aid for FY '95, slightly less than the comparable 1994 figure. The countries receiving the largest grants are Israel ($3 billion), Egypt ($2.1 billion), states of the former Soviet Union including Russia ($900 million) and South Africa ($528 million). Among other unilateral payments, $360 million goes to former Iron Curtain states in Europe and the Baltics, $78 million to the West Bank and Gaza, $50 million (in weaponry) to Bosnia-Herzegovina and $20 million to Ireland.

The bill also funds multinational banks that loan money under favorable terms to developing nations. For example, it sends $2.2 billion to the World Bank and $790 million to the Development Fund for Africa. It provides $721 million in global refugee aid and $366 million to organizations such as the International Atomic Energy Agency and the United Nations Environment Program.

Also, the bill appropriates $788 million for subsidized Export-Import Bank loans to U.S. corporations and $220 million to operate the Peace Corps, among other outlays. A yes vote was to pass the FY '95 foreign aid bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Carr, Kildee, Knollenberg, Levin. Not voting: Ford.

Aid to Russia: The House rejected, 144 for and 286 against, an amendment that sought to remove $348 million in economic and democratic development funding for Russia from the FY '95 foreign aid bill (above), leaving only $42 million in humanitarian aid for the former U.S. adversary.

A yes vote was to eliminate all but humanitarian aid to Russia. Area representatives voting no were: Carr, Kildee, Knollenberg, Levin and Ford.

'Motor voter' bills offer ease, flexibility via computer link

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Moving will be easier for voters, drivers and welfare recipients under a package of "motor voter" bills before the state House of Representatives.

A voter can go to any county clerk and apply to vote, "Christie" Thomas, state elections director, told the House Local Government Committee.

No longer will people be caught in snafus between the Secretary of State, the clerk in their former town and the clerk in their new home town. With one computer function, a worker in the Secretary of State's office will be able to:

- Change the address on the person's driver license.
- Register the person as a voter in the new home city or township.
- Cancel the person's old voter registration.

Weeks of shuffling mail between offices will be eliminated, state officials say.

The state bills reached a compromise in the local versus state tug-of-war over who maintains an official voter list, called the "Qualified Voter File." The Michigan legislation will designate the Secretary of State's office as keeper of the list but allow local clerks to make changes by a computer linkup.

House Bill 5531, the key measure, rewrites Michigan's elections code to conform to the National Voter Registration Act (NVRA) passed in 1993 by Congress and signed by President Bill Clinton. The same measure was vetoed a year earlier by President George Bush.

The federal law requires state human services departments — Social Services, Labor, Mental Health and Public Health — to be designated as voter registration agencies. A governor would be allowed to add other departments to the list. The Michigan bill also lists the Civil Rights Department, Transportation Department and Office of Aging as registration agencies.

Democrats shot down a Republican effort to eliminate the list of departments and simply allow the governor to list departments that would be registrars. "I'm hesitant to give one person that power," said Rep. Lynne Martinez, D-Lansing.

Democrats also shot down a Republican amendment that would have taken Michigan out of the program if local units were stuck with additional costs. "It's like auto testing — don't do it unless the federal government requires it," said Rep. Willis Bullard, R-Milford.

Both GOP amendments failed on 6-6 party-line votes on the evenly divided committee. Area Reps. Bullard and Penny Crissman, R-Rochester, voted with their parties.

The package of bills was sent to the House floor on a series of 12-0 votes.

NVRA is called the "motor voter" law because it requires state driver licensing agencies to handle voter registrations, a plan Michigan has used for a decade. Officials estimate about 90 percent of registrations are handled by the driver licensing agency.

Michigan will see these other changes:

- High schools (grades 9-12), whether public or private, could be registrars if the principal so chooses.
- Michigan's system of deputy registrars — where clerks deputize political activists to register voters at shopping centers or factories — will be scrapped.

An application to register must contain not only the name and street address of the person but also the telephone number, driver's license number or state personal identification card number and apartment number.

In order to register, a person must be a U.S. citizen, a resident of the state and locality and age 17½ or older. To vote, a person must be registered and at least age 18.

Persons in jail awaiting trial or sentencing may apply to register. But those convicted of a crime in Michigan, federal or other states' court, and sentenced or awaiting sentence, are ineligible to register.

Leave pets out of July 4 celebration

Celebrate the Fourth of July with your family, but leave your pets out of the festivities for everyone's safety and peace of mind.

This is the recommendation of the American Animal Hospital Association, which offers the following tips for a safe Fourth of July:

- Keep pets away from all fireworks. Burns, hearing loss and eye damage can occur if your pet is too close to explosions.

■ Dispose of all fireworks properly. Pets may eat left-over fragments, developing digestive problems or even serious injuries.

■ Pets who are extremely nervous and frightened by noise may try to run away. Be sure your pet is wearing identification tags. ■ Consider confining your pet in a kennel away from the noise. This method prevents self-injury to the would-be escapee who may jump out a window or hook the leash or collar. Plus, you save your home from any property damage. Very frightened dogs have been known to chew through doors.

Walkathon aids Parkinson's patients

Parkinson's disease sufferers will be the beneficiaries of a walkathon set for 10:45 a.m. Saturday, June 18. The fundraiser will take place at Madonna University in Livonia and at the University of Michigan's Flint campus.

The walk will take place rain or shine. Snacks will be provided on the course, and support teams will be on hand to help weary walkers.

Walkers are asked to raise pledges for the Michigan Parkinson Foundation, a non-profit corporation that provides services and resources throughout the state. The funds will help support patient programs, education, and research to assist the thousands of people in Michigan afflicted with Parkinson's.

Parkinson's disease is a slowly progressive disorder affecting a small region of the brain which governs movement. It's characterized by slow movement, shaking, rigidity of the muscles and imbalance. It can hamper walking, speech, eating, handwriting and other activities.

The malady strikes people of all ages; however, it's most common in people over 50 years of age. An estimated 35,000 men and women in Michigan are afflicted. Neither the cause of nor the cure for Parkinson's is currently known. However, medications can help relieve symptoms.

For more information, call the Michigan Parkinson Foundation at (313) 745-2000. The event is being sponsored by Madonna University Athletics, Sinai Clinical Neuroscience Center, the University of Michigan, Wines Printing Co., and Binson's Hospital Supplies.

Our adjustable rate mortgages have the usual low first-year payments. Except that our first year lasts 60 months.

6.375% INTEREST RATE 6.99% A.P.R.

If you're in the market for a new home or to refinance your mortgage, you're probably looking at both fixed and adjustable rate mortgage loans.

First of America Bank has something that combines the best of both—our Adjustable Rate Mortgages. You'll benefit from a five-year period with a low, fixed initial rate. Which means you can get more house for your money.

After the initial five-year period, your interest rate will adjust annually based on the U.S. Treasury Securities rate in effect at that time. If rates increase, your interest rate is protected and cannot rise more than five percent. So whether you plan to move to another home within five years or stay for a while, our Adjustable Rate Mortgage Loan should be your first step.

And use our pre-approved loan option to find out how much of a mortgage you qualify for prior to writing an offer to purchase.

For more information, talk to your Realtor. Or call any of the First of America Homelight mortgage loan centers listed below, and find out about our wide array of mortgage products.

Workload light for election workers

The low turnout at Monday's school board election in the Plymouth-Canton community left election workers with plenty of time on their hands.

Plymouth-Canton election workers knew it was going to be a long day when 11 a.m. rolled around and just 19 people had voted at the Gallimore Elementary School precinct.

"This is the lightest turnout I've seen in 20 years," said Edith Belanger, an election worker at Canton High School, normally a bustling polling place. "This is the kind of election a candidate can win by one vote."

"If we had a millage, there'd be more, but with just candidates, we're not expecting much," said Carolyn Wendland, precinct chairwoman at Canton High School. Just 72 people had voted by 3:10 p.m. at Canton. By 6:20 p.m., only 118 people had voted.

Slow work: Iva Saunders had plenty of time to read a paperback. By about 6 p.m. only about 118 voters had shown up at Canton High School.

The election made a minor impression on students.

"As long as they (board members) do their job and do it well, it really doesn't matter. It hasn't been played up that much. I just know some board members are against pay-to-play," said Ian Bedford, who runs cross country for Canton High School. "I think the new superintendent will do a good job. I hope he is more in touch with kids than Mr. Hoben."

Bedford's teammate Bob Mayer said he hadn't heard much about the election. "Neither have I," said his friend Adam DeGiorgio, also a Canton runner. Russ Ash, precinct chairman at Central Middle School, said turnout was "terribly light." At 7:15 p.m., just 186 had cast ballots. "We'd normally have 800," said Ash. "We'll be lucky if we get to 200. (They didn't make it. The total was 194.)

"I think it's because there's no millage. A lot of it is that those who are running aren't that well-known. And the papers didn't have that much about the election," Ash said.

School board president Roland Thomas said the fact there were no "burning issues" was a factor.

"I don't think the candidates put out as much literature or as many signs as people have in the past. Signs remind people to vote," he said.

Trustee Jack Farrow likened public schools to garbage collection. "As long as it gets done, people don't care."

Carol Bachmann, a teacher in the district, took time to vote in the rain. "It's hard to get people involved. So when you find candidates who look like they'll be supportive, I want to support them. I'm happy to see candidates with elementary school-aged kids," she said.

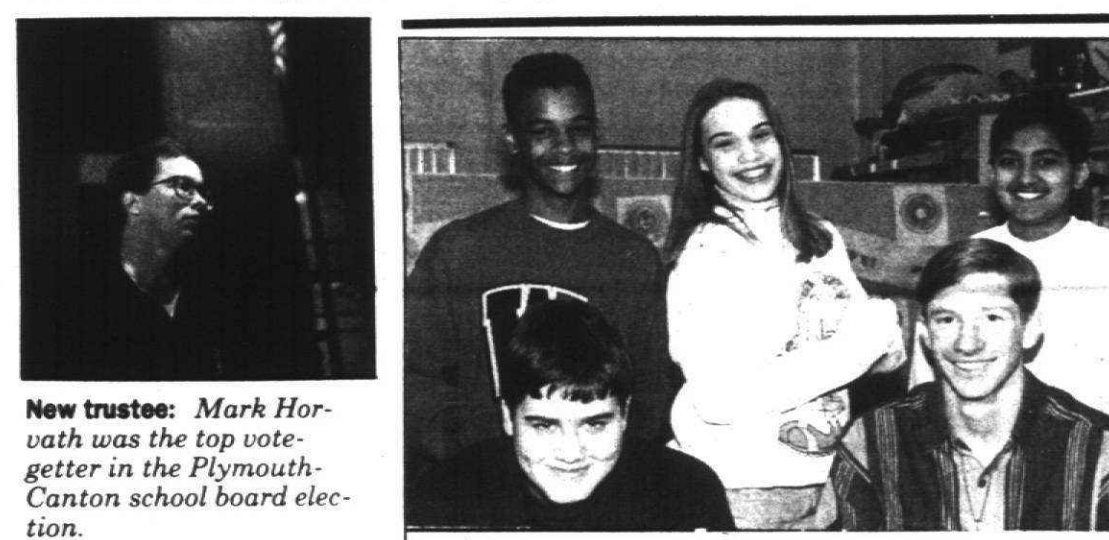

"We live in Plymouth, and have a second-grade son and a new baby. We're really interested in keeping things in good shape in our school district. We feel positive about what we're doing with the schools, and we want it to stay that way. It's important that board members work hard."

Howard Kane of Plymouth made the effort to vote "because I just feel it's a responsibility."

Single Business Tax Legislators balk at wiping out tax

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

State lawmakers are trimming the single business tax (SBT) but have balked at Rep. Susan Munsell's plan to wipe out the unpopular tax and start over.

"This is a carefully crafted, $155 million tax cut," said House Taxation Committee Chair Willis Bullard Jr., R-Milford, defending the leadership's bipartisan plan. "We have a lot of crafty people around here," shot back Munsell, R-Howell, not concealing the bad blood between her and her legislative neighbor.

Munsell got 36 votes in favor and 61 against her amendment to eliminate the $2 billion SBT by the end of 1995, which would have given lawmakers 18 months to pass a replacement.

An accountant with a business in western Wayne County, Munsell sought to have the Legislature duplicate its feat of 1993 when it repealed all school operating property taxes in mid-year and passed a new $10 billion package by Christmas Eve.

"I've heard a lot of complaints about SBT. It generates comments at Rotary and chambers," said Rep. Frank Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge, No. 3 Republican who split with the leadership and backed Munsell.

"What we did (trim SBT) is good policy, but it does not represent systematic change. The Taxation Committee (co-chaired by Bullard and Democratic gubernatorial hopeful, Lynn Jondahl of Okemos) hasn't done the serious review required. This (SBT) doesn't have the same intensity as the property tax," Fitzgerald said.

The Munsell amendment got fairly strong support in the Observer & Eccentric area. Voting yes: Republicans Lyn Bankes of Redford, Barbara Dobb of Union Lake, Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills, John Jamian of Bloomfield Township, Shirley Johnson of Royal Oak, Greg Kuza of Rochester Hills and Democrat William Keith of Garden City.

Voting no: Republicans Jerry Vorva of Plymouth and Deborah Whyman of Canton and Democrats Justine Barnes of Westland, Maxine Berman of Southfield, David Gubow of Huntington Woods and Richard Young of Dearborn Heights.

Absent: Penny Crissman, R-Rochester.

The House went on to pass, by overwhelming votes, five bills that will:

■ Reduce the SBT rate from 2.35 to 2.30 percent beginning Oct. 1.
■ Increase the "threshold" for paying SBT from $100,000 gross receipts to $250,000 for tax years beginning Dec. 31.
■ Authorize the Treasury Dept.

ment to annualize SBT rates.
■ Reduce the alternative profits tax from 3 to 2 percent of adjusted business income.

■ Give SBT credits to employers who hire handicapped workers.

The package was sent to the Senate, where prospects look good. State treasurer Doug Roberts supports it because "it will help our healthy economy continue to grow."

The agreement was negotiated between Bullard, Jondahl and co-speakers Paul Hillebrunde, R-Holland, and Curtis Hertel, D-Detroit.

SBT has been the subject of intense criticism since it was passed almost 20 years ago. It replaced eight other taxes, including the corporate income tax. Essentially it's a payroll tax, allegedly designed by the Big Three automakers, which buy many materials, and abhorred by service businesses whose costs are mainly payroll.

Lt. Gov. James Damman (1975-78) headed a commission to attempt to rewrite the SBT, and Munsell held extensive hearings on it a year ago, but no consensus ever has developed on how to revise it.

Refer to House Bills 4958, 5090 and 5614 and Senate Bills 145 and 1145 when writing to your state senator, State Capitol, Lansing 48909.

Notice: Public Comment Period (FY 1995-1997) Amendments Transportation Improvement Program

Presented by: SEMCOG, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments
660 Plaza Drive, Suite 1900
Detroit, MI 48226 (313) 962-4266

The public is invited to review and submit comments on the Fiscal Year (FY) 1995-1997 Transportation Improvement Program (TIP) during the public comment period, June 22 to July 22, 1994. The TIP is a listing of federally and non-federally funded major road and transit service improvements proposed by various communities, road agencies, transit agencies and the Michigan Department of Transportation. The Federal Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA) emphasizes the public's opportunity to review and comment on road and transit projects proposed for federal funding. This public comment process is part of SEMCOG's overall responsibility for formulating the TIP and for approving projects for federal funding.

The projects are located in the Southeast Michigan counties of Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw, Wayne and the City of Detroit. The types of proposed projects include construction of new roads, widening of existing roads, resurfacing and repair of roads and bridges, large bus and equipment purchases by transit agencies and operating assistance for transit agencies. The TIP document identifies the location of each project, estimated cost, the source of funds and the agency or community which has jurisdiction over the project.

Written comments concerning the projects should be submitted no later than July 18, 1994 to John M. Amberger, Executive Director of SEMCOG, at 660 Plaza Drive, Suite 1900, Detroit, MI, 48226. Verbal responses may also be made, at SEMCOG's Executive Committee meeting to be held in SEMCOG offices (same address) on Friday, July 22, 1994, at 1:00 p.m.

The TIP draft document is available for review starting June 20 at the following locations:

SEMCOG offices (address above)
The Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation (SMART), First National Bldg., 660 Woodward Ave., Detroit.

The Detroit Department of Transportation (DDOT), 1301 E. Warren, Detroit.
The Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti Urban Area Transportation Study, 278 Collingwood, Ann Arbor.

The Ann Arbor Transportation Authority, 2700 Industrial Hwy., Ann Arbor.

The St. Clair County Metropolitan Planning Commission, 108 McMorran Blvd., Port Huron.

Lawmakers OK racetrack subsidy, reject Silverdome aid

Capitol capsules:

Cities with horse racing tracks will get their, but Pontiac is out of luck, the state Legislature has decided.

Livonia, Northville and Hazel Park will get $438,000 apiece as their cuts of state taxes on pari-mutuel gambling under the new Agriculture Department budget.

That's half of what the race track cities were voted in 1979 but about the same as in recent years. Gov. John Engler could eliminate that if he uses his line-item veto power but is expected to sign the bill.

"There also will be an improvement in purses" for horsemen, said Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville.

But the House rejected an effort by Rep. Hubert Price, D-Pontiac, to continue an $800,000 annual grant for Pontiac's Silverdome Stadium. Price cited a 1972 "commitment" of the Legislature to aid debt service for the stadium.

Price's plea was rejected, though he got a hand from Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield. "Normally I'd say it (Silverdome aid) is a lost cause," said Berman, "but there's a new commercial by the governor promoting World Cup soccer. The governor tells people how wonderful it (Silverdome) is. We have a change of attitude by the governor's office." The House went on to approve the bill by a 103-5 vote. All area members voted yes.

More prison time

Convicts won't get "good time" — just bad time — under two new "truth in sentencing" bills approved by the House of Representatives. Senate Bills 40 and 41 go back to the upper chamber next week for concurrence in amendments.

Currently convicts can have their minimum sentences reduced by 25 percent by earning credits for good behavior. The new bills will require them to serve all of their minimum sentences but allow prison wardens to tack on more time for institutional infractions.

"I am elated," said the sponsor, Sen. William Van Regenmortel, R-Jenison, after the House's 106-0 vote. The bills were prompted by ex-con Leslie Allen Williams' 1992 killing spree in Livingston and western Oakland counties. Sitting in the House gallery was Linda Clark, whose husband was slain by five teens during a 1993 store robbery in a Flint suburb.

Consecutive terms

Convicted repeat felons would have to serve consecutive prison terms, under an amendment sponsored by Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham. A judge would be allowed to impose back-to-back sentences on those convicted of violent and assaultive crimes where they had two prior convictions for similar crimes.

Bouchard's amendment went into a sentencing guidelines bill passed last week by the Senate and sent to the House. Currently, felons receiving more than one sentence may serve them concurrently.

"Had this amendment been in place at the time that Leslie Allen Williams was first convicted, there would be four young ladies alive today," Bouchard said as the bill was sent to the House.

AIDS test OK'd

Emergency medical workers exposed to blood or bodily fluids could request the patient be tested for the AIDS virus and hepatitis B under a House-passed bill sponsored by Rep. Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills.

Current law prohibits hospitals from notifying emergency personnel of test results for HIV and hepatitis B, Dolan said. Under her House Bill 4348, emergency workers would be informed of test results.

"Gloves, eyewear and other protective devices are often rendered useless when (emergency crews are) grappling with broken glass and freeing pinned drivers," said Dolan, whose bill now goes to the Senate.

INTRODUCING The New Life Center at Providence Park

Where families are born...close to home

A COMFORTABLE ATMOSPHERE

Imagine giving birth in a comfortable, home-like atmosphere where you make many of the decisions about your birth experience. And then, think about being able to go home within 24 hours after your baby is born. Well, the New Life Center at Providence Park in Novi offers all that, and it's just minutes from home.

A UNIQUE APPROACH

It's a new beginning. A new way of thinking. And an alternative to traditional hospital births*. The New Life Center at Providence Park was born from the success of the New Life Center at Providence Hospital, where for generations, thousands of women have had wonderful, nurturing, family-centered birth experiences.

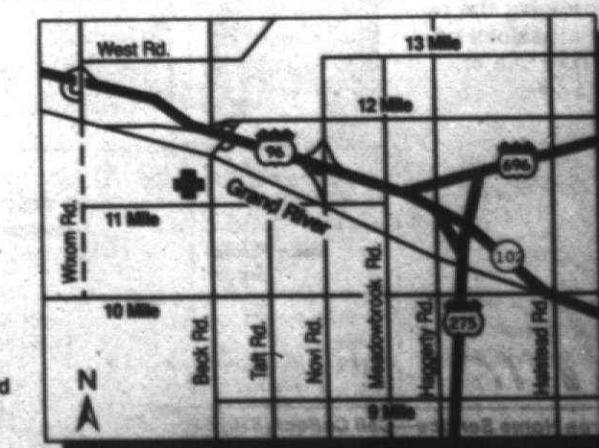

THE CHOICES ARE MANY

From the moment you choose to have your baby with us, many decisions are yours. You may choose to go natural or to have an epidural. You may also prefer to share the event with your loved ones. But the best part is giving birth in a relaxed, home-like atmosphere and having your baby by your side. What's more, a nurse will come to your home for private, follow-up visits. Because that's the kind of extra care, attention and education people expect from Providence.

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF But don't take our word for it. Call 1-800-806-BABY for an appointment to see what the New Life Center at Providence Park has to offer expectant families.

School election Board must find a new role

Following Monday's elections, the Plymouth-Canton school board has two new faces and a giant mission: Find a new role.

The state has taken over the role played by school boards. Proposal A took away much of the taxing power, and new state educational mandates are forcing changes in the way children are taught.

What remains for the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is to figure out how to spend the money to meet the educational mandates.

The new faces on that board are Susan Davis and Mark Horvath, both of whom were elected on Monday. Also winning election to the board was Susan Feiten, who was appointed earlier.

The three are well-suited to the challenge. Their fresh attitudes will be an asset. We hope the new board members can get past the previous school board's mind-set, which has been to blame the state for every problem facing the district.

Also, those fresh attitudes will be needed to reinvent the role of the school board in its move from a policy-making, taxing unit to one of local caretaker.

Here's our suggested agenda to reinvent the role of the school board:

- Involve more teachers in decisions. Unless teachers buy into change, it just won't happen.
- Appoint school board members to serve as liaison members to other governmental units in the school district. That would mean a specific board member would be the contact person for the city of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township and the library systems in both Canton and Plymouth.

■ Invite other government leaders to attend school board meetings. Included should be State Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, and State Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton. Relations between the state representatives and the school board have been strained for years, especially in the case of Vorva.

■ Make it a priority to share resources with the community. Recreation and library services should be top priorities. One of the best examples of how government doesn't work exists at the Plymouth Salem and Canton high school libraries. They close the minute school is out, with students flooding Canton and Plymouth public libraries, putting a strain on their resources. Meanwhile, the schools are spending nearly $12 million to put computers and interactive video in classrooms. It's an example of what is wrong with education. Educators go after the exotic, but can't manage to keep the libraries open for kids who need to do research or want to do their homework after school. The practical is ignored in favor of the expensive.

■ Help define a new role for school Superintendent Charles Little, who takes over in July. Outgoing Superintendent Mike Hoben, out of necessity, was forced to spend much of his time dealing with the constantly shifting school finance scene. Proposal A settles much of that and will allow Little to spend time learning the communities and the needs of the students.

Serving on the Plymouth-Canton school board during the coming year should be exciting for the new members. There will be changes, and managing change is never easy.

Honor dad on his special day

Sunday is Father's Day and dads throughout the Observer area will be treated like royalty - if only for a day. The first Father's Day was celebrated in Spokane, Wash., in 1910.

The idea of setting aside a special day to honor fathers was that of Spokane native Sonora Smart Dodd. She wanted to honor her own father, a widower, who had devoted 21 years to raising six children.

Father's Day was not declared a national holiday until 1972, when President Richard M. Nixon signed a congressional resolution declaring the third Sunday in June as Father's Day.

Father's Day is the fifth largest card-sending holiday of the year, according to American Greetings. An estimated 102 million Father's Day cards will be sent this year.

In honor of Father's Day, a Connecticut research firm conducted a poll and recorded the top 10 answers to this question:

"When you think of advice or typical things that fathers say, what expressions come to mind?"

- The top 10 answers were:
1. Be careful.
 2. Do the best you can.
 3. Great job.
 4. When I was a kid...
 5. Do as I say, not as I do.
 6. Get a good education.
 7. How was your day?
 8. What did your mother say?
 9. Your mother is always right.
 10. I'm proud of you.
- Sounds familiar, doesn't it?

Congratulations, graduates!

As a community newspaper we devote a lot of space to the good things that young people are doing. And now, at the close of the commencement season, we take this opportunity to congratulate members of the Class of 1994 as they embark on a new phase in their young lives.

We remind the general reading public that these are the same kids you have read about the last few years because of their academic accomplishments and their athletic prowess. They are the teen-agers who volunteer in local nursing homes, spend time at inner-city soup kitchens, and volunteer in a wide range of activities helping others.

To members of the Class of 1994, as you leave high school and head on to new challenges, we remind you that education and training will be the key to your financial success in a changing economy.

While you are studying hard in whatever higher education endeavor you elect, take time to give back to your community and thank those who have helped you along the way - parents, teachers, sisters, brothers. And remember the words one local principal delivered to her soon-to-be graduates: "Today's world is crying out for healing, peace and charity."

Let it begin with you.

Thanks

Thank you very much for your editorial concerning the Arts Center purchase in which the city worked cooperatively with the Plymouth Community Arts Council and the Jehovah's Witnesses Church owners to facilitate the transfer of that property. Thank you also for mentioning those city department heads who worked so well at following the direction of the Commission.

I agree that this is a good example of how the members of the Plymouth City Commission can and do work cooperatively for the good of the entire community.

There were many people who worked on the successful completion of this project, including City Commissioner Stella Greene, former Mayors Jim Jabara and Jim McKeon, Randy Lee, Karen Tripp-Oppe, and many others in the community.

We appreciate your positive response to our efforts, and hope that we can count on your support in the future for such other issues as joint fire services, Old Village improvements, and our efforts on the impending budget for fiscal year 1994-95.

Thank you for your help.
Dennis F. Shrewsbury, Plymouth

A renaissance

On behalf of my whole family, I want to thank each and every one of you who packed the Penn Theatre for the benefit premiere of "Renaissance Man." It was a night we will never forget.

I am especially happy that the proceeds from this premiere will be used wisely and well by a truly worthy civic organization, the Plymouth Community Arts Council. Your generous support is greatly appreciated as are the efforts of Cafe Bon Homme, Ernesto's, the Penn and the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps. All of you deserve a special round of applause for the contributions you made to this wonderful event.

It is nights like these which make me realize that the best career move I ever made was deciding not to move to Hollywood. I don't believe I could find any place quite like Plymouth in which to write and, more importantly, raise a family. However, I don't want to say this too loudly or Plymouth will be overrun with screenwriters moving here from Los Angeles.

Once again, thanks for a truly memorable evening. Let's do it again soon.
Jim Burnstein, Plymouth

Blinded

In part of his Memorial Day speech, state Rep. Jerry Vorva asked the audience to close their eyes. He is an expert at this; as he blindly follows John Engler, blindly bashers teachers, and blindly supports under-funding education.

If he, Engler, State Sen. Robert Geake, and State Rep. Deborah Whyman would open their eyes, they would see that they, not teachers, are hurting America's greatest resource - educated American children.

Brian R. Kolka, Canton

Teen helps

Ever since I moved to Canton last summer, I have been frustrated with your newspaper delivery policy. I have never seen another newspaper that does not require their news carriers to put rubber bands or bags around the paper. Oh yes, I know the carriers are supposed to put it in the door or under the mat. But, even the most dedicated carriers can not prevent the papers from blowing all over on days when the wind is so strong that my rubber doormat blows across the porch, or when people aren't home soon after delivery to retrieve their paper. The result is that our neighborhood is constantly littered with newspapers blowing all over.

My complaints to your circulation department about littering our neighborhood have gone nowhere. I was told that carriers can purchase rubber bands or bags for the papers if they wish to. Well, realistically, delivering papers is not a high-paying job, so, how many young are going to want to cut into their wages further to purchase rubber bands? I feel these items should be provided free of charge to all carriers. I've even told the circulation department that I am willing to pay more for my newspaper subscription to cover this additional cost to the paper, and I bet most other customers would be willing to do the same in order to avoid having to chase their paper all over the yard.

Well, one windy day last February, I finally just canceled my subscription to the paper in protest of your delivery policy. The person I spoke with in your circulation department could not have cared less. However, you have a newspaper carrier on staff who does care, and I want to bring this young man to your attention.

His name is Steve Clausen. Steve not only does an excellent job delivering the Observer, but he has also won me back as one of your customers.

You see, when I canceled my subscription, I explained my reasons to Steve. This young teen was not only understanding, but he handled my complaint much more professionally than the adult I spoke with in your circulation department. And then Steve went a step further. Three weeks after I had canceled my subscription, Steve rang my doorbell and handed me a newspaper with a rubber band around it. Yes, to win me back as a customer, Steve has started rubber-banding his papers. And the real clincher is that purchasing those rubber bands probably cost Steve more than he makes off of my subscription. But Steve is a conscientious young man who cares about keeping his neighborhood litter free. And, what a tremendous difference his rubber band efforts have made on our street.

I was not even acquainted with Steve until he started delivering my paper, but based on what I have just told you about him, I sincerely hope that you will honor him as news carrier of the month. I've never seen a more deserving candidate. I would also like to strongly urge you to consider Steve for the award of news carrier of the year. He is a real asset to your paper and our neighborhood.

True love

Father's Day prompts special memories of life with Dad

GUEST COLUMNIST

KATHY KEENMON

■ We discovered each other too late and now it is time to say goodbye too soon.

I don't know how to tell you this," the voice on the other end of the phone began. My brother, Jerry, who rarely calls me was telling me a child's worst fear. "Dad is in a coma, we really don't know if it's a stroke or a heart attack."

He explains that four of my brothers are on their way to Traverse City.

Mom and dad wanted to go north and visit Gaylord with their very good friends - friends they had met there nearly 20 years earlier. They walked the beaches near their old summer home, visited once-familiar places and reminisced.

Their plan was to stop and spend a day or two in Traverse City with family. Dad was very proud of the video he had just received for his birthday - a video of his life and he was eager to have his family view it.

Oh, my poor mom. How will she ever get through this? At his bedside, taking one look at him, I knew. He looked peaceful, as if he no longer belonged to us. When the doctors verified that he was indeed brain dead, I knew we would soon say goodbye.

As I sat there holding his hand, wiping the tears from his eyes, I reminisced about the past; the good and the bad. I glanced at the calendar and realized it is Father's Day 1994.

Only six months earlier, we had a major confrontation. The reasons aren't important, only the result. Dad and I came to a better understanding of each other. As we wept and apologized, we spoke of the future. A week later, he telephoned me from Florida to say, "Let's start over, I love you." I had never heard these words from this man. This man who now lies dying before me. Suddenly I understood and, more importantly, accepted the effects of dad's generation. Men didn't weep, confess their love or show their feelings. They certainly didn't do diapers or windows either.

My father didn't have a fancy title or earn a six-figure income, the so-called characteristics that society says equal success. But as I gathered photographs to recapture his life on video, I recognize what a truly successful person he is. He raised seven responsible children, five boys and two girls. He was a loving grandfather and cherished his eight grandchildren. He married a woman who devoted herself to him and they had many wonderful friends. This is success.

We discovered each other too late and now it is time to say goodbye too soon. Happy Father's Day - I love you... goodbye.

Report: A lot of sound and fury signifying . . .

Neither fish nor flesh. . . That's the best way to describe the "Michigan School Report" unveiled last week by Gov. John Engler. He describes it as an "official" look at test scores, graduation rates, dropout rates, staff-student ratios and pay levels.

It isn't official. And finding your school's results can be a horrendous task.

You would think a report evaluating schools would be available at your local principal's office, right? Or maybe at the intermediate school district office, eh? Or maybe it would be distributed to the news media?

Hardly. Engler's news release said the data "soon" will be available at chambers of commerce, public libraries, America Online (a computer service) and Internet (another computer service).

My colleagues and I did some hunting. The Ann Arbor public library had a paper copy. The Civic Center Library in Livonia, one of the state's 10 biggest cities, didn't have it at all. An LCC librarian was kind enough to check Internet twice, and it took until Monday (six days after release) until the "Michigan School Report" was available.

My call to the governor's news office was referred to a functionary who said copies were being mailed to newspapers. I asked if my papers were getting one. To make a long story short, she said that in Oakland County (where we have nine newspapers) a copy went to the Oakland Press - our competitor. A fat lot of good that does us. The Livingston County copy was supposed to go to the Livingston County Press, one of our papers; instead it was handed over to a competitor.

At that point, the Engler functionary turned defensive and referred all further inquiries to Jim Sandy at the Michigan Chamber of Commerce.

TIM RICHARD

Sandy turned out to be more cooperative. It seems the "Michigan School Report" was the work of Michigan Business Leaders for Educational Excellence, "a loose-knit coalition of business organizations. We've worked with the governor's office to extract the data," he said.

The report used official numbers from the state Department of Education, derived from data supplied by school districts, but wasn't a state document. "We've tried to structure it in a more readable form," Sandy said.

The chamber was ready to release the stuff June 3, but Engler's staff wanted the governor to "unveil" it in the Olds Plaza Building where he hangs his hat. His signature is on a five-paragraph introduction. Hence my conclusion that the report is "neither fish nor flesh," in the words of Shakespeare and other poets.

Joe Lunchbucket would have a difficult time accessing the data, as the computerists say.

Well, how good is this report that's neither fish nor flesh?

I looked up the suburban high school nearest my home and learned its enrollment for the last three years has hovered near the 1,900 mark. Tenth grade math MEAP scores were 30.7, 32.2 and 38.4, low numbers but an upward trend. I gather these are the percentages of students who passed, although the report doesn't say so. On reading for information, they scored 53.1, 56.5 and 62 even over the last three years, also upward. Science numbers were similar. The school is accredited by the North Central Association.

The district spent $5,900 per pupil, and average teacher salary was nearly $41,000.

The test scores meant little until I compared them with the Detroit high school I attended back in the Pleistocene Era. My alma mater's math scores were 0.9, 1.0 and 1.2; reading, 50.1, 42.6 and 31.3; science, 15.9, 12.2 and 17.8. It has University of Michigan accreditation.

The unveiling that began with a bang ended with a shrug.

Religious right's concerns must be addressed head-on

I have been struck in recent times by the increasingly apocalyptic cast to our political life.

It surfaced, of course, with Pat Buchanan's remarkable speech at the 1992 Republican National Convention: "There is a religious war going on in this country for the soul of America. It is a cultural war as critical to the kind of nation we shall be as the Cold War itself, for the war is for the soul of America."

Earlier this month, backed by "the religious right," Oliver North won the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate in Virginia. His acceptance speech included this line, directed at President and Mrs. Clinton: "This is our government, you stole it, and we are going to take it back."

Last week a group, called "Christian conservatives" by the media, took over the Republican Party in Texas. The chair of the platform committee won a standing ovation by asserting that the party platform is "still pro-life, it is still pro-family, and unlike the Democrats," it reiterates our belief in traditional Judeo-Christian values."

This rhetoric is powerful stuff. It uses words as weapons, not to describe reality. And it is being launched by people who fully intend to change history, not merely adjust it.

And there's no doubt that traditional Republicans are concerned that the influx of true believers into the GOP will drive away the moderate center, just at a time when Democrat Clinton looks increasingly vulnerable. That's why former Gov. Bill Milliken criticized the increasingly intolerant quality to our politics last month and why his remarks are still rattling the cages of Republican conservatives like Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson.

Still, people don't get as motivated and angry as this for no reason. Even though I don't agree with many of their conclusions, I think we should calibrate and try to understand what lies at the heart of the single most passionate force now driving our political system.

More than three-quarters of people polled recently agreed that "the United States is in moral and spiritual decline."

I was reflecting on this as I flipped through the pages of The New York Times Magazine last weekend. What I saw (and how it made me feel) give some glimpse into where these people are coming from.

The first ad, for Rastee Lauder sun block, featured a topless lady walking on the beach, carrying a baby. A few pages further on, an ad for a Victoria's Secret bra asserts, "Some curves you just don't get from working out." Certainly sex sells, but I wonder whether our commercial culture has made sex more a sport and less a passionate caring of committed people for each other.

■ I think we should calibrate and try to understand what lies at the heart of the single most passionate force now driving our political system.

The main feature is on Michael Milken, a convicted felon whose junk bond manipulations probably did more to undermine the structure of American business than any single individual in history. Now released from prison and sick with prostate cancer, Milken has started a foundation to find a cure. Why, I wondered, are we now obliged to learn how wonderful rich, white-collar criminals are once released from prison?

Next, a terrifying piece on the tribal slaughter in Rwanda, complete with particularly gruesome pictures.

Then came a shorter article on people who, evidently bored with mere hallucinogens, get their kicks by inhaling the dried venom of the Colorado River toad. I could only wonder what my 12-year-old son would do if he got his hands on that.

My conclusion, after all this musing: There is something out there, strong enough and alarming enough to cause a significant fraction of our people to invite political apocalypses. And before we in the media lurch to trivialize them by labeling them "the religious right," we'd best look squarely at what is making them so upset.

County group wins job training grant

A state grant of $1,169,900 has been awarded to the Wayne County Private Industry Corp. to provide job training and readjustment services to dislocated workers.

The grant is part of more than $22.6 million in statewide dislocated worker grants funded by the Job Training Partnership Act.

"Experience has shown that the earlier workers are assisted in a layoff or plant closing, the earlier they are re-employed. Services in addition to training and retraining may include career counseling, skill assessment, basic skills training, labor market information, job development and job referrals, and placement assistance," said Gov. John Engler.

Last year, more than 7,200 laid-off individuals completed dislocated worker programs with 4,950 being placed in jobs.

The grant will be administered by the Michigan Jobs Commission. The commission, which was established last year by the governor, helps existing businesses expand and create jobs, and has consolidated more than $400 million in job training programs. It works to improve the state's business and regulatory climate.

Award-winner

Jennifer Russell finished her collegiate athletic career last fall, when the Kalamazoo College soccer season ended. But the awards keep pouring in for the Plymouth Canton graduate.

The latest: Russell received the Kalamazoo College's Senior Athletic Award, presented by the department of physical education to the outstanding female athlete. Russell finished not only as the Hornets' all-time leading scorer (118 goals in 75 matches), but as one of the top women scorers in NCAA history.

She was first team all-Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association all four of her years at Kalamazoo, and three times was named MIAA player of the year. She led the conference in scoring every year.

A two-time All-American, Russell also posted a 3.51 grade-point average, majoring in health science.

Soccer champs

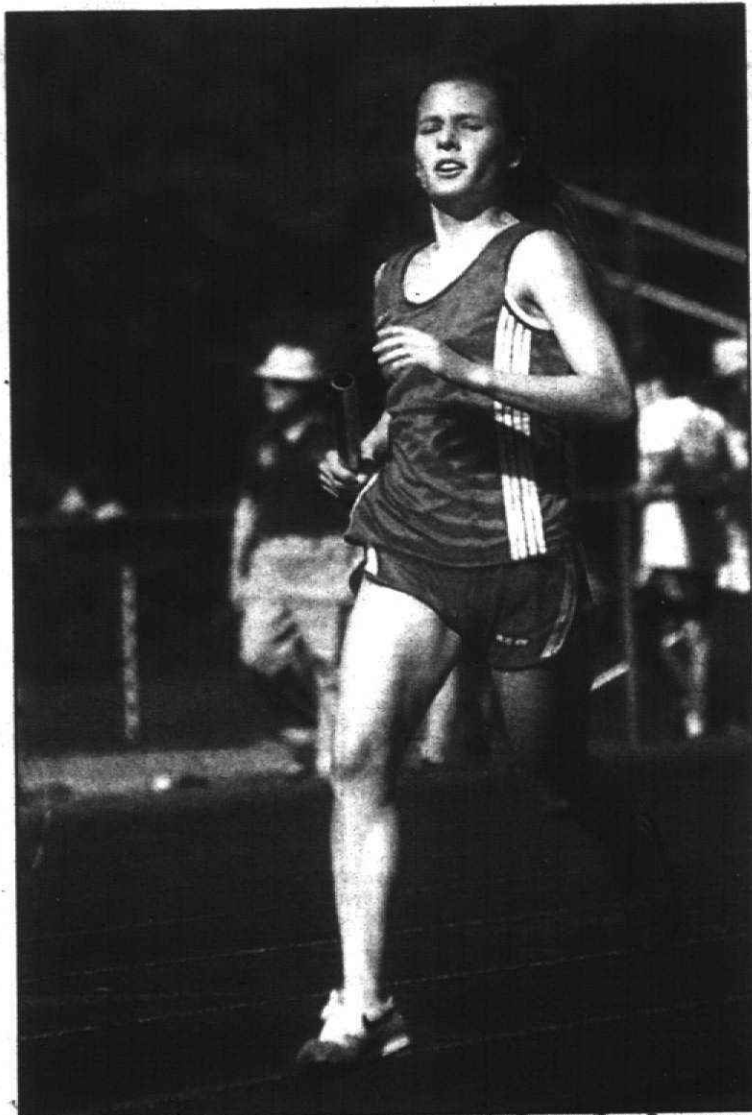

The Canton Hornets under-12 boys soccer team collected their division title at the Findlay (Ohio) Invitational last weekend. The Hornets, coached by Al Davis, Jim Dent and Steve Furr, beat Bay Thunder 10-0 and the Livonia Meteors 7-2 Saturday, then knocked off the Findlay Heat 1-0 Sunday.

In the final, the Hornets prevailed 2-0 over the Warren County Warriors. Team members are Nick Allen, Rob Ash, Justin Bruner, Trevor Davis, Matt Dent, Ian Evans, Jason Furr, Brian Guzowski, Steve Hulin, Danny Jaeger, Matt Kardel, Adam Keller, Aaron Krueger, Graeme McDonald, Jean Peltier, Billy Voyles and Brendan Welsh.

The Plymouth Kicks under-13 boys premier team also hauled in a first-place trophy at the Findlay Invitational — their seventh first-place finish in the last year. The Kicks beat the Perrysburg (Ohio) Yellowjackets 4-0; the Novi Jaguars 4-0; the Strongsville (Ohio) Sidekicks 4-0; and, in the championship, the Maumee (Ohio) Express 3-0.

Crusaders simply seek improvement

When a team loses 30 of 32 games, changes must be made. But how many, and how drastic? Madonna University basketball coach Bill Sharpe has wrestled with those questions since the conclusion of last season as he sought recruits to help his struggling team.

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

This could be interpreted as one of those "You call that good news?" statements. But we'll go with it anyway.

Madonna University's men's basketball team has all but three players back from last season's squad. Which sounds pretty nice — until one remembers that last season, the Fighting Crusaders' first in men's hoop after a five-year absence, they managed to win just two of 32 games.

Not only that, they weren't too close to winning any of the others.

And the guys who are gone — Kurt Carlos, Shawn Branum and Sam Kuehn — were starters much of the time. Branum is trying to transfer to another school to play; Carlos already has, enrolling at Murray State. Kuehn, a promising 6-foot-8 center and sophomore-to-be, quit the team.

Doesn't sound too good for coach Bill Sharpe. Problem is, it gets worse.

A sizable player Sharpe was counting on to help is also gone. Ken Taylor, a 6-7 strong forward from Westland John Glenn who was academically ineligible last season, did not make grades.

But all is not gloom for Madonna. Sharpe would be among the first to attest to that coaches' oft-repeated belief — the best thing about freshmen is they become sophomores. And one thing Sharpe had last season was freshmen.

Nine on his 13-player roster, to be exact. Which is the foundation of Sharpe's good news: Eight of them (all but Kuehn) will return. And they bring with them both experience and an attitude.

"This is the only 2-and-30 team that thinks maybe they've got a better handle on this thing than we do," said Sharpe. Translation: The Crusaders may still be young, and they may still lose more than they win next season, but they fervently believe they can beat anybody.

Sharpe has not been idle in the so-called off-season. He has signed two players he believes can help his team immediately, and is still busy recruiting.

The first recruit is Mike Maryanski, a 6-9 center from Madison Heights Bishop Foley. With the loss of Kuehn and Taylor, Maryanski will be much-needed; the Crusaders still lack size. They have just three other frontcourt players between 6-5 and 6-8.

The second signee is Brandon Lemley, a 6-foot point guard from Utica Stevenson. Lemley attended Central Michigan last year and was among the final cuts from the team — which means he has four years of eligibility remaining.

"They like their guards big or very quick," said Sharpe of CMU. "He's quick, but not that quick."

Interchanging

Ocelots gaining ground with versatility

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

Five back. Four signed. Another possibly returning.

That brings the count of Schoolcraft College men's basketball players to 10 — so far.

In examining this group, coach Dave Bogataj — whose 1993-94 squad finished 8-18 — sees a basic difference. He would refer to it as interchangeability.

"I'm real pleased because we've added a unique depthness," said Bogataj.

That means his newest players can each do a lot of different things. Earlier, he signed a pair of Livonia Franklin graduates, 6-foot-4 Jason Maschke and 6-3 Mark Baluk.

Bogataj has added two others: Stass Cavin, a 6-3 swingman from Dearborn Heights Crestwood, and Doug Walters, a 6-foot point guard from Belleville.

Cavin can play either shooting guard or small forward, "which is the position we're looking for," Bogataj said. And Cavin did it well for Crestwood.

BASKETBALL

He led the Chargers in scoring, averaging 24 points a game, and was one of their top rebounders. "He runs the court very well, and he rebounds," said Bogataj. "He's a little small, but he jumps well. And he's very aggressive."

Which sounds very much like Bogataj's earlier assessment of Maschke and Baluk: "Both played outside and at power forward. Both are hardnosed, tough kids. I think they're going to help us all over the place."

Bogataj agreed there was a strong similarity between the three of them. "(Cavin) has the same demeanor as Maschke and Baluk. All of them are aggressive, hardnosed, above-average athletes."

He added that Cavin's decision-making and attitude make him all the more attractive. "He makes great decisions. In the style of game we play, the three-man (small forward) has to pass and handle the ball, and he can do that.

"His temperament is another of his attributes. He plays under control."

The same can be said of Walters, who has more than basketball to lure him to SC. Walters would like to be the second current Ocelot to play both soccer and basketball (point guard Fadi Bazzi is the other).

Like Cavin, Walters was an all-Mega Conference choice last season. "His greatest attribute is he played at Belleville," said Bogataj, "and they had some great scorers up front, so Doug had to run the show."

"He can score, but he has a true point-guard mentality. He's a distributor, and he plays good defense out on top."

Talk about interchangeable: SC could have a pair of soccer players dividing time at point guard.

Walter's is 5-3 on the year.

Taylor and Cogswell each knocked in two runs.

Winning pitcher Mike Zielinski hurled a complete game. He scattered seven hits and three walks, while fanning eight.

Shawn Pensak (Madonna) went 2-for-3 with four runs scored. Petersen, hitting .429 on the year, added two hits and three RBI.

Brandon Herrin led Wendy's with two hits and three runs scored.

On Friday, Walter's hammered Little Caesars in a game at Ford Field, 10-5.

Jamie Oliver, with relief help from Butler in the seventh, was the winning pitcher.

Walter's out-hit Caesars, 13-7, as Petersen led the way with three hits, including a double, and three runs scored.

Schaffer went 2-for-2, including a solo homer in the second inning. He knocked in four runs and scored three times.

DeAndre Jamison collected two hits and scored twice for Caesars.

Youthful best defines the 1994 All-Observer girls track team. Eight of the 12 members in the individual events are underclassmen, including all four field-event honorees.

Still, it's hard to overlook the efforts of four seniors — Plymouth Canton's Ndu Okwumabua and Lana Boroditsch, Livonia Stevenson's Bridget MacKinnon and Plymouth Salem's Sarah Makins — who provided Observerland with some memorable times and distances in recent years.

Canton again had the best team, winning the Class A regional championship before facing some rugged competition in the state meet.

It's time to reflect on all of the accomplishments for '94:

INDIVIDUAL EVENTS

Allaha Gordon, shot put, N. Farmington: The junior already holds school records in the shot put and 100 meter hurdles. She threw the shot 37 feet, 2 inches and ran the hurdles in a time of 16.3 seconds.

She was shot put and discus champion in the Western Lakes Activities Association meet and also won both events at the Farmington public schools meet. She placed seventh in the shot put at the state Class A meet, second in the discus and third in the discus at the regional meet.

Gordon also was fourth in the shot put and discus at the Oakland County meet. "Allaha is a competitor, she has consistently risen to the level of competition," coach Bill Pinnell said. "Allaha has had a real positive attitude all season and has worked hard on her shot and discus technique."

Devon Kennedy, 200 dash, Farmington: The senior placed second in the 200 dash at the Class A regional and 5-6 for second place in the state meet. She established meet records, clearing 5-4 at the Warren DeLaSalle Invitational, and clearing 5-5 at the Clarkston Invitational.

"Courtney is a dedicated, hard-working athlete," coach John Kitchen said. "She has many versatile talents in track and field."

Colleen Lesondak, high jump, Livonia Stevenson: The junior holds Stevenson's school record, clearing 5-6 for first place at the Class A regional and 5-6 for second place in the state meet. She established meet records, clearing 5-4 at the Warren DeLaSalle Invitational, and clearing 5-5 at the Clarkston Invitational.

"Colleen is a great competitor," coach Paul Holmberg said. "She made her best jumps when they counted the most — at the regional and state meets."

RUNNING EVENTS

Sarah Makins, 100 hurdles, Plymouth Canton: The senior had a personal best time of 1:54 and won the Class A regional to qualify for the state meet for the second straight year. She was undefeated in 14 dual meets the last two years, placed second at the WLAA meet and third at the Spartan Relays. Makins was fifth at the Lyle Bennett Relays at Central Michigan University, third at the Ann Arbor Track Club Meet of Champions and led the shuttle hurdle relay team to victory at three meets.

"Sarah had an outstanding track and field career," coach Mark Gregor said. "She is held in high esteem by her teammates and coaches. She always arrived with a determined attitude and always left with the goal of improvement the next time she competed."

It's time to reflect on all of the accomplishments for '94:

Kelly Kohler, 300 hurdles, Redford Union: Kohler, a junior, qualified for the Class A state meet in both hurdles events. Her time of 4:11 in the 300 hurdles is a school record and it also gained her first place in the dual meet and the regional.

The Panthers' top point getter, Kohler also has a 4:25 grade point average. "She is a tough competitor, hard working and a leader," RU athletic director Jim Gibbons said. "She's self-motivated, a pleasure to coach, and a great example for younger athletes."

Ndu Okwumabua, 100 dash, Plymouth Canton: A three-time selection on the All-Observer first team for the 100 dash, Okwumabua leaves Canton with six WLAA championships and three regional titles in her four-year career. She is the school record holder with her time of 12.2 in the 100 dash, set last year. She also cleared 5-5 for a school record in the high jump and has run on the 400 and 800 relays, which hold school records.

Okwumabua was regional champion in the 100 dash and runner-up in the high jump this year. She anchored the 800 relay team that was a regional champion and a runner-up at the WLAA meet and also was anchor of the 400 relay which was second at the regional.

Okwumabua carries a 3.5 GPA and sings, too.

"Ndu has accomplished nearly everything possible as a track athlete," Canton coach George Prygodski said. "She is the most versatile athlete I have had the privilege to coach. We will certainly miss her next season."

Devon Kennedy, 200 dash, Farmington: The senior placed second in the 200 dash at the Class A regional and 5-6 for second place in the state meet. She established meet records, clearing 5-4 at the Warren DeLaSalle Invitational, and clearing 5-5 at the Clarkston Invitational.

But he should help. How much? Well, don't expect any rave reviews or predictions out of Sharpe, not after last year's "I'll be disappointed if we aren't at least .500" pre-season remark. "You're not going to hear out of me this year the kind of hype you did last year," he said. "This year, it's going to take a lot of patience. All I want to see this year is improvement."

Which, he said, would be winning three games instead of two. Sharpe thinks the improvement is already visible. Guard Christian Emert and forward Brandon Stone (from Plymouth Salem) have shown the most, he said.

Attitudes are different, too. And Sharpe said he plans to alter his coaching strategy a bit. "We have better post-up players this year, so I think we'll do more of that," he said, instead of relying on his run-and-gun attack. His own ideas on building the team have been restructured as well. "We learned a lot," Sharpe said of his first season. "We tried to do it half-way, with both junior college players and freshmen."

Watering ban prompts flurry of calls from residents

By KEVIN BROWN

The watering ban was expected to be lifted today, said local government officials who this week fielded hundreds of calls from residents with questions about the ban.

After implementing a ban on some Oakland County communities over the weekend, the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department ordered a "temporary mandatory ban on unnecessary water usage" on Monday for all customers including Plymouth and Canton to last through Wednesday.

Local government officials said this would give the water department time to fix a broken water main in Ferndale that sparked the ban.

Generally, the ban applies to watering of lawns and gardens and car washing by private homeowners. But rainfall late Monday eased the problem, a Detroit water official said.

By 2 p.m. Monday — before the rains came — about 100 Canton residents had called the township offices on the watering ban.

"Basically they want to know things like, is there a water ban," said Susan Kopinski, an office manager overseeing water billing for the township.

"They also want to know what kind of enforcement there is, they see their neighbor watering, it's basically do your civic duty, help us out, that kind of thing," Kopinski said.

"Some have asked, 'If I have new sod can I water it?' I tell them they can't," she said, adding, "It's only until Wednesday."

Officials in Plymouth and Canton said they would respond to complaints about neighbors watering in spite of the ban, and would likely give a warning before writing a ticket.

Officials in Canton, the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township reported no problems with water service or water levels due to the main break in Ferndale.

Tom Hollis, Plymouth Township public works director, said township water levels "are exactly as they always are," adding township offices got several calls early Monday from residents wondering if there were water restrictions. In the city of Plymouth, "We received multiple calls over the weekend from people wanting to know if there was a ban, they wanted to report neighbors watering their lawns," said Paul Sincok, department of public works director.

While the city police department would respond to complaints of outside water use, Sincok said the policy would be to give warnings, rather than write tickets.

Meanwhile, residents of north-west suburbs were also asked by the state Department of Public Health to reduce water consumption due to the dry spell.

Robert K. Scranton, associate director for state and local relations at the Michigan Department of Public Health, on Monday asked that water customers "avoid nonessential uses such as lawn sprinkling, car washing, filling of pools or performing other activities that use large amounts of water."

"Commercial and industrial users are also being asked to reduce unnecessary water usage. In the event voluntary compliance to reduce water usage is unsuccessful, mandatory reduction measures may become necessary at a later date," said Scranton. "It is critical that every water supply maintain positive pressures on their system at all times to avoid the possibility of infiltration or back-siphonage of contaminants into the water supply system," said James Cleland, chief of the water supply division at the health department.

I saw Feinstein perform at the former George Burns Theatre in Livonia and really enjoyed the show. He puts a lot of heart into his performance. Paired with one of our area's finest orchestras — the Birmingham/Bloomfield Symphony, it promises to be an evening to remember.

Feinstein is inspired by artists such as Irving Berlin, Cole Porter and George and Ira Gershwin. Feinstein's catalogue of albums includes "Pure Gershwin," "Live at the Algonquin," "Michael Feinstein Sings Irving Berlin," "Isn't It Romantic," and the children's record "Pure Imagination."

His latest album, "Michael Feinstein Sings The Jerry Herman Songbook," features medleys from "Hello, Dolly!" and "Mame."

The Big Apple Circus performs in an intimate 1,972 seat circus tent where no one sits more than 50 feet from the action in the ring. The production incorporates aspects of traditional theater including aerial acts, clowning, mime, juggling and acrobatics. There's a special focus on classic equestrianism.

Each season the show is centered around a theme. This year's show, "Carnevale In Venice" recreates the splendor and spectacle of Venice during its most festive season as the circus ring is transformed into Piazza San Marco.

Circus founder and artistic director Paul Binder and his design team create visual splendor with Donna Zakowska's extraordinary costume designs, James Leonard Joy's Venetian set, complete with bridges and canals and Jan Kroeze's innovative lighting. Michael Christensen, director of clowning, applies his comic touch infusing the show with a spirit of merrymaking.

Music by composer Linda Hudes draws from both Italian folk song and opera.

Carnevale In Venice stars an international roster of the world's most exciting circus acts. Highlights include:

■ From Italy, Romano and Alfredo Colombaioni, one of Europe's best loved comedy teams, present classic clown routines with a contemporary twist and freewheeling improvisations, co-starring audience members.

■ From the People's Republic of China, the internationally acclaimed Shenyang Acrobatic Troupe, the country's most prestigious troupe, will thrill audience members with their original aerial act using trapezes and bungee cords.

■ From the United States, elephant trainer Ben Williams presents a heartwarming family act featuring his wife Darlene atop incomparable elephant star Anna May and teaming six-year-old elephants Amy and Ned and Ben's daughters, eight-year-old Stormy and five-year-old Skye.

■ World-renowned Danish equestrienne Katja Schuman, joined for the second season by her father, legendary 78-year-old master equestrian Max Schuman, presents a high-spirited comedy act featuring Katja's stallions.

The circus' Michigan debut is being presented by Gary Wasserman as a Detroit-Windsor International Freedom Festival event.

"The Big Apple Circus is the best family entertainment event I've ever seen. It has a unique power to thrill and engage kids and adults alike," said Wasserman who also serves as first vice chairman for the Michigan Thanksgiving Day Parade and chairman of the Detroit-Windsor we have been successful at Pine Knob we can make Meadow Brook even better."

Jim McCue, director of events for The Palace and Pine Knob, sees the addition as another opportunity to deliver quality entertainment to the people of metro Detroit.

"We foresee keeping many of the traditional types of shows that have become Meadow Brook staples — children's shows, jazz, classical concerts, rock and roll revues and cutting edge type new music," said McCue.

mas Carol," "The Hot L Baltimore" and "The Wizard of Oz" at the Bonstelle Theatre and in numerous shows with the Dearborn Players Guild and New Concepts Theatre.

When is a dream not a dream? When it's a play about a dream! Barry Kornhauser wrote "This is Not a Pipe Dream," a rollicking tale about the early life of Belgian Surrealist painter Rene Magritte.

Magritte wanted to be an artist even as a very young boy, but his father called his wish "a pipe dream." Encouraged by his mother, the boy follows his dream.

The play helps young audiences to discover the true power of dreams and the triumph of the imagination by creating a unique theatrical environment that utilizes word plays, wisecracks, acrobatic pratfalls and slapstick repartees.

Magritte was famous for works that feature everyday things or beings presented in ways that are different from the way that they normally appear.

Many of his paintings feature people, especially men wearing bowler hats, whose faces are either turned away from the viewer or obscured by objects.

"This is Not a Pipe Dream" is being directed by Reid Downey, a member of the Wayne State Theatre faculty. Kate Bernard of Livonia and Neil Carpenter-Altier are designing the set. Drew Franklin is designing the lights, and Mary Leyendecker is designing the costumes.

Also of note for children is a Father's Day children's show at the Strand Theatre in Pontiac featuring the Chenille Sisters. Kids can hop to the beat 2 p.m. Sunday, June 19 as the Chenille Sisters sing, dance and draw kids into their whimsical world. The sisters will perform at the Strand, June 16-22. Call 875-8284 or Ticketmaster 645-6666 for tickets.

Michigan writer's 'Wolf' stars Jack Nicholson

The seed for "Wolf," opening Friday at metro Detroit movie theaters, was planted over 15 years ago when screenwriter Michigan native Jim Harrison dreamed he turned into a wolf.

As "Wolf" the movie opens, Will Randall, a Manhattan book editor haunted by fears of losing his job, drives absently along a remote country road one snowy Sunday night. Suddenly, he's forced to slam on his brakes and a dark figure looms for an instant ahead. There is a jolt, and his car skids off to the side of the road. He emerges, cautiously, and follows a thin trail of blood which leads through the snow to a great dark wolf.

Will can't see it at first, but the beast is alive. As it rises to escape into the night, it bites him on the wrist. From this moment on, Will's life begins to change. The transformation is subtle at first, as his senses become more acute and his perceptions of those around him sharpen. With each passing day he is drawn deeper into the mystical feral spirit of the wolf.

For Will Randall, nothing — not his job, not his marriage, not any part of his life — will ever be the same again. Jack Nicholson stars as Will Randall in Mike Nichols' "Wolf," a romantic thriller which also stars Michelle Pfeiffer (as the one woman who gets close to Will), James Spader (as his colleague), Kate Nelligan (as his wife) and Christopher Plummer (as his un-forgiving employer).

PREVIEW

The screenplay is written by Harrison and Wesley Strick. Douglas Wick is producer, with Neil Machlis and Robert Greenhut as executive producers. "Wolf" is released by Columbia Pictures.

Producer Douglas Wick seized on the idea of "Wolf" when Jim Harrison first mentioned it to him. At that time, Harrison was merely considering the concept. He and Wick spent a year shaping the impulse into a story.

Harrison, one of America's best-known contemporary novelists, was born in Grayling, Mich. In 1960 he graduated from Michigan State University with a degree in comparative literature, and that year he also married his high school sweetheart. They still live in Michigan where they have raised two daughters.

It was the Kafkaesque aspect of "Wolf" that first appealed to director Mike Nichols. "Like 'Metamorphosis,' this is a poetic expression of an inner state," Nichols says. "It's a metaphor for the experience of becoming different from everyone else and leaving humanity behind, which is kind of a nightmare that happens to people in the middle of their lives. There's also the idea that, one the other side of such horror, there is something that isn't necessarily only dark, that endings aren't necessarily endings, and metamorphoses and changes aren't necessarily only bad."

Nichols stresses that Will's transformation into a wolf is not necessarily something to be envied. "Becoming a wolf is not preferable to remaining a human being. How can it be? It's dark, frightening."

"After Will begins changing, the things he sees have a heightened quality — his apartment becomes even more claustrophobic and cluttered, the ceiling becomes lower, the bar and grid motifs are more apparent, the walls close in. MacLeish House, the publishing company where Will works, is extremely cluttered with books and paper. Will's own office is tiny, and the colors are flat, brown and depressing," said Bo Welch, production designer.

In sharp contrast to this is Alden Manor, set on rambling grounds and surrounded by deep woods. It is here that Will finds most alive, and where he finds Laura, who becomes his salvation.

Nicholson has always been intrigued by the idea of playing a werewolf. "I had an idea that I wanted to do it for years," he says. "This was back before the new special effects revolution. I wanted to call it 'Wolfman, No Makeup.'"

It is Laura Alden (played by Michelle Pfeiffer) who understands Will, and who offers him her love regardless of the consequences. She is the daughter of Will's unscrupulous publishing magnate boss, Alden (played by Christopher Plummer).

"I think that Laura is somebody who, all her life, has had all the things that other people are supposed to want," said Nichols. "But in reality she is so unhappy. She's never been able to make anything work to her satisfaction."

Wild side: Will Randall (Jack Nicholson) discovers his wild side in "Wolf," a Columbia Pictures Re-

So she's drawn to powerful experiences. Beneath the surface of her princess' life are tragedy and despair. She also has a sense, as Will does, that in some way the world is ending. And she's deeply pained by the cruelty of the world and the suffering of its victims. When she meets Will, she's very touched by his pain and openness, and also by his sense of defeat, because she also feels defeated. As he begins to feel empowered, revitalized as a new creature, she's more and more drawn to him.

"Wolf" marks a reunion for Mike Nichols and Jack Nicholson, who have worked together on three films previously — "Carnal Knowledge" (1971), "The Fortune" (1975) and "Hush" (1986).

Rebellious daughter: Michelle Pfeiffer stars as Laura Alden in "Wolf."

How to protect pets from summer heat

The American Animal Hospital Association offers a few tips to protect pets during summer heat waves.

Cars are potential death traps during the hot summer months because inside temperatures can quickly climb to more than 120 degrees on even a mild sunny day. It's best to leave your pet at home while running errands during hot weather.

If you absolutely must leave your pet in a car, the following is recommended:

- Open windows and vents as wide as possible without providing an escape route; or put your pet in a well-ventilated cage inside the car and open the windows fully.
- Provide fresh water.
- Check the car every 10 minutes.
- If your pet is panting, has a staring or anxious expression, does not obey commands, has warm, dry skin and a high fever, rapid heartbeat or is vomiting, lower the body temperature quickly with cool water — either by immersion or by spraying thoroughly with a garden hose.

If your pet lives outdoors, make sure there is adequate shelter for protection from the midday sun and heat. Outdoor kennels should be well-ventilated and in a shaded area. There should always be some shade for the pet to get out of the sun.

Also, make sure there is plenty of fresh drinking water available to your pet. The bowl should be placed in a shaded area where it cannot be heated by the sun.

Exercise is important, but overexertion during hot weather commonly causes heat stress. Avoid excessive exercise during hot days.

DNR seeks helps naming peregrine falcon chicks

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources is looking for a few good names for the three peregrine falcon chicks born around Mother's Day at the Book Building in Detroit.

The birds, which were identified as two males and one female on May 31, are expected to stay with parents Pop and Judy at their Book Building nesting site until fall, when they are expected to leave the nest.

The names, which will be announced in July, will be selected by a committee of people appointed by the DNR. A trio of names or a single name can be submitted. People should send their suggested names to Birdwatch, DNR, 38980 Seven Mile Road, Livonia 48152. Entrants should include their name, address and phone number.

WICI honors Chrysler Corp. spokeswoman

Karen Stewart, international spokeswoman for Chrysler Corp., was honored by the Detroit Professional Chapter of Women in Communications Inc. with the organization's 1994 National Headliner Award.

Stewart, a Detroit resident, was recognized at WICI's Matrix dinner at the Ritz-Carlton in Dearborn recently.

The award recognizes women who, through their personal and professional accomplishments, have served as catalysts for the progress of women. It's the highest honor WICI can bestow.

Stewart has broken new ground for women. As an international spokesperson for Chrysler, Stewart traveled in countries where women weren't allowed to drive, and faced journalists with little or no experience in working with professional women.

■ The award recognizes women who, through their personal and professional accomplishments, have served as catalysts for the progress of women. It is WICI's highest honor.

She is the first automotive spokesperson in 25 years to win National Headliner honors. She started on the management track at Chrysler in 1986 as the first female spokesperson on corporate issues and breaking news.

Stewart served three years as Chrysler's manager of international media relations. She was WICI's Detroit chapter president in 1984-85, during which time the chapter earned the outstanding professional chapter award for meeting its goals for new services, membership growth, programming and community leadership.

She implemented the chapter's first strategic planning committee and created the past presidents' council.

A graduate of Central Michigan University where she founded both the WICI and Public Relations Society of America student chapters, Stewart wrote for the campus newspaper and interned for the Dow Chemical Company.

She worked for the Metropolitan Detroit Convention and Visitors Bureau and the Michigan Credit Union League. She's volunteered for the Detroit-Windsor International Freedom Festival, United Way of Southeastern Michigan, American Red Cross, Historic Indian Village Association and the Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Stewart also served on Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer's Transition Team. A crusader for literacy, Stewart played an instrumental role in Chrysler's "Running Start" program which recently celebrated the four millionth book read by kindergarten through 12th-grade students. She tied this benchmark by leading the four millionth van produced by Chrysler with books signed by journalists worldwide and donating it to the Highland Park School District.

CC students raise money for missions

The students of Catholic Central High School have raised $11,200, which will be donated to various Catholic missions.

Each student gave nearly $12, averaging into an overall increase of $2,765 over last year's total. This has been the best mission year in the school's history.

Catholic Central is an all-male college preparatory high school in Redford Township. Students come from throughout western Wayne County.

Time to pay tribute to Dad

So what do you say about Dads and their being celebrated on their special day? He has the strong shoulders that carry the weight of the family and has the sturdy arms that provide a fence of security, a safety net that catches children, spouse and even the family's beloved pet that scratches at his feet when he comes home from work and chews the sports section.

Dads deserve their special day and many more like it, so let him take off his face of the tough guy on his day and blush like an innocent child, the child that's hidden deep within, while the family caters to him. He's worthy tenfold over.

To all you good Dads out there who wear the coat of fatherhood like a soldier wears his military uniform, you wear it proudly. And just like a steadfast soldier coming home from war with medals of distinction dancing on his chest, soldiers speak little of their bravery, sacrifices - a humble hero standing in the shadows, no songs sung to, just doing what he has to do.

Like all good Dads who are driven - sticking to a mission like "Crazy Glue" to paper and finishing like a champion runner crossing over to victory, we believe and trust you. We believe, follow and trust because you do and go forward with boldness.

You have a knack for making things better - you're a winner, even if others think the race was lost. Never mind that, keep doing the driving, but never feel less, if, occasionally, you ask for directions, you're still a great driver... a leader.

I hear you, Dad, even though you may whisper like fathers often do to keep peace, when you say Mom's special day gets a little more spangled and inches more banner than you on your day.

Well, Dad, again don't let that trouble you, since you yourself have diligently for years marched to your own drummer.

You keep a pace that many count on for playing down a moment in the sun, leaning not to notoriety, but just being there. Being there is what keeps families whole; being there for the long haul matters.

Your presence fills voids - the children's void of not having you around sticks like that "Crazy Glue" even though they may go on. Nevertheless, Dad, you're part of what goes into a full cup; you give it a zesty flavor.

Dad, you carve out roads for the family to forge on. You're also the roots of our existence, roots that aren't easy to pull up since they're anchored in the foundation of your fathers before you.

Great Dads are firm, strong, but flexible enough to allow their offspring's branches to grow to their fullest potential. Fathers appreciate each budding branch, seeing it as wonderfully unique.

So come on, Moms everywhere, let's take deserving Dad out for dinner. All right, kids, time to get Dad a dozen roses.

Dads, this is the time we take out each year to say, "job well done." We also pause to say just how much we love you, Dad.

Happy Father's Day, Dad, from us.

Adult Scouter earns Thanks

Garden City resident Edna Eastman has been presented with one of the most distinguished awards an adult volunteer may receive in the Girl Scout organization, the Thanks Badge II.

Eastman has been an adult volunteer with the Girl Scouts for 26 years. She has served in many different roles and has given service significantly above and beyond all expectations.

Only four Metro Girl Scout Council volunteers were honored with the Thanks Badge II this year out of 8,500 registered volunteers.

"Truly remarkable individuals like Edna make the Michigan Metro Girl Scout Council a contributing factor to the success of thousands of girls in southeast Michigan," a council spokesperson said.

■ Before the kids get firmly entrenched in front of the TV... before the summer doldrums set in, pull out the road map and plan some warm-weather adventures involving the entire family.

Here it is, almost summer vacation. Time to plan a summer filled with family fun minus MTV and Nintendo and the lament that there's nothing to do.

From day trips to places close to home, the metropolitan area offers plenty of things for families to do and see. So much so, your kids may want to schedule some plain ol' playtime.

A place to start is the Detroit Cultural Center, and the first stop is at the Detroit Science Center, 5020 John R. The center is a "hands-on" science exhibit where many scientific principles are demonstrated, or you can demonstrate them yourself. There's also the space theater with an Omnimax projection screen, showing "Search for the Great Sharks" on weekdays and "The Rolling Stones at the Max" on weekends.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $6.50 for adults, $4.50 for children 4-17 years of age and senior citizens, children under age 3 free. For information, call 577-8400.

Next stop is the Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward Ave. The museum offers more than 100 galleries, featuring sculpture, textiles and paintings, as well as the famous Diego Rivera wall murals. The museum is open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily and features a natural habitat for more than 200 wild animals viewed from an elevated walkway. Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for senior citizens 62 years and older, and 50 cents for children age 2-12.

The Belle Isle Aquarium is the nation's oldest freshwater aquarium and offers a look at a wide variety of aquatic life. The neighboring Anna Scripps Whitcomb Conservatory is a greenhouse conservatory filled with tropical flowers, ferns, palms, a lily pool, and formal and perennial gardens. Both are open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The $1 admission gets you into both buildings.

The Dossin Great Lakes Museum, on the island's Strand Drive, provides an excellent maritime history of the Great Lakes. It includes scale models of ships, artwork, and artifacts from salvaged shipwrecks - as well as special exhibits like its current one, "Michigan's Prohibition Navy." Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday. For information, call 267-6440.

Another popular attraction during the summer is the Detroit Zoological Park, 10 Mile Road at Woodward Ave., Royal Oak. One of the country's great zoos, it houses more than 1,000 animals, most in their natural habitats.

The zoo is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Admission is $6 for people 13-62 years of age, $4 for those 62 years and older, $3 for children 2-12 years of age, and free for children under 2. Parking is $3 for cars and vans, $6 for buses. For more information, call 398-0903.

Heading west from Detroit, swing by Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, which is reinventing summer vacation with a Summer Festival June 18-Aug. 22. Performances, hands-on activities, and encounters with America's great inventors will fill the largest indoor-outdoor museum in the country.

In addition, there will be four special weekends - "Celebration of Emancipation" June 25-26, "Colonial Life" July 9-10, "A Taste of History" July 23-24, and "Pageant of Power" Aug. 13-14.

Museum and village hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Admission is $11.50 for adults, $10.50 for senior citizens 62 years and older, $5.75 for children age 5-12, and free for children under age 5. Admission to the museum and village is separate; however, combination tickets with unlimited access to both sites for two days are available at $20 for adults and $10 for children age 5-12. For information, call 271-1976.

The museum also is offering four two-week Tech-Trekker camps

The museum is open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, and noon to 4 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $4 for adults and $2 for students and senior citizens, but you can save money by calling ahead to schedule a tour. Prices drop to $3 for adults and $1 for children. It seems everyone wants to head for the border, what with the favorable exchange rate and Casino Windsor. Granted, the main family attraction of Boblo is no more and the casino isn't for kids, but there are still some interesting places to visit.

It features a completely restored 1850s homestead of classical revival architecture and a costumed staff demonstrating such things as baking and blacksmithing. The homestead also offers a variety of special events through the summer, including Kid's Day July 10, a militia muster July 23-24 and a craft fair and blueberry social Aug. 20-21.

What counts is the spirit in which we choose to live

RABBI IRWIN GRONER

Somer set Maugham, an outstanding novelist of a generation ago, indicated in his autobiography, that his stammering was one main reason why he started writing. A physical defect, he pointed out, can be of utmost value to anyone, especially one who is striving in the arts. It may increase the depth and range of his insight. In his struggle to overcome the handicap, the artist becomes something he otherwise might not have been. To prove his point, Maugham cited the testimony of other lives and made a convincing case. The poet Byron had a club foot, novelist Dostoevsky suffered from fits of epilepsy, scientist Pasteur was crippled by a paralytic stroke. Beethoven, the genius of music, became deaf. Milton, a supreme poet, was blind. Moses, the highest of the prophets, was slow of speech. So runs the record of biography. Much of the greatest achievement in the world is the product of handicap people. How did they do it? Each of us needs to learn their techniques because all of us are handicapped in some way. Rare indeed is the person who does not feel a sense of inadequacy, failure or deficiency in some aspect of ability or function. To sink into self-pity is not the answer. It simply means deterioration and barrenness. We must accept ourselves, our powers and our limits, not grudgingly, but graciously. Since we all have difficulty in accepting the given and are reluctant to face facts, we engage in hypothetical thinking. If things were a little different... If my nose was not so big... If my parents were not so poor... If I had chosen a different profession or vocation... If I had seized the right investment opportunities... If I had not made the mistake of marrying Harry or Gwendolyn... How much better the whole prospect would have been if some of the "details" were different. Maturity involves acceptance. Each person enters into life with handicaps and imperfections. A central task each of us faces in the formation of any identity is acceptance of those defects and limitations which are our destiny. Self-acceptance is a prelude to responsibility and creative change.

It is impossible to delete those deformities and weaknesses, which we are all tempted to despise, without completely altering the person. If we do not like our lot in life, there are many others like us. We must beware of the subtle ways in which we cripple ourselves by rejecting the given terms in which life is granted to us. Furthermore, there are usually some parts of any particular given world which can be changed or mastered by our will. There is almost always an area of freedom available to everyone. Those creative personalities indicated above — the ones who have suffered from obvious handicaps, but succeeded in the arts — have shown us how great and useful life can be despite apparent limitations. What counts is the spirit in which we live — our courage, determination and imagination, our mastery of ourselves and our sympathy for the plight of others. Rabbi Irwin Groner is with Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield. If you have a question or comment, call him at 953-2047, mailbox number 1862, on a touch-tone phone.

The film is designed to get viewers to think about where they stand with God, according to the producer-writer-director, Rich Dickinson said. "It offers a great opportunity for youngsters to have fun while learning about the faith of biblical people."

Pastor Don Cave of St. John Lutheran added that he is "extremely excited to offer this quality day-camp experience to not only my members but to the community."

The intention is to teach about God's love, mercy and grace through stories, the two ministers said. The content of the biblical stories will be emphasized along with helping the children learn to retell the stories thereby helping reinforce their faith.

2 churches offer day camp

Youngsters can enjoy a day-camp experience in a Christian setting as part of a Christian day camp being offered by Emmanuel Lutheran Church of Livonia and St. John Lutheran Church of Farmington.

The day camp will be 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday, June 20-24, for youngsters in kindergarten through the sixth grade. The camp will be at Emmanuel Lutheran, 34566 Seven Mile Road, between Farmington and Wayne Road. Cost will be $30 per camper for the week.

The day camp will be a blending of activities and faith experiences. It will be staffed by four college students through the Lutheran Outdoor and Retreat Ministry in Michigan.

The overall program will consist of activities, which allow the camper to work with and retell the stories as well as share their own faith story. Moses, Ruth, Mary, the Lost Sheep and Peter will be the focus.

The typical day will include Bible study, arts and crafts, nature activities, devotion and singing. The theme will be "Story Quest — Rebel Rousers with Good News."

"After looking at the material, I am impressed with the quality and creativity of the program," Emmanuel Lutheran Pastor Walter Dickinson said. "It offers a great opportunity for youngsters to have fun while learning about the faith of biblical people."

Pastor Don Cave of St. John Lutheran added that he is "extremely excited to offer this quality day-camp experience to not only my members but to the community."

The intention is to teach about God's love, mercy and grace through stories, the two ministers said. The content of the biblical stories will be emphasized along with helping the children learn to retell the stories thereby helping reinforce their faith.

The ministers stressed that youngsters will have an opportunity to learn and share the basic biblical stories and that the camp will not emphasize a Lutheran perspective rather the Christian story.

Enrollment is limited and each participant will be asked to bring a sack lunch and fill out registration and health forms. For more information about the day camp, call Emmanuel Lutheran at 442-8822.

The gardens are open 8 a.m. to sunset daily, with maps of the trails available for a cost of 25 cents. But leave your pets and picnic basket at home. Picnicking and pets are prohibited. The conservatory is open 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily, and admission is $2 for adults, $1 for kindergartners through 12th-graders.

If you feel like heading out toward the Irish Hills, one place to stop is Hidden Lake Gardens off M-50 in Tipton. The 670-acre arboretum provides an outstanding display of Michigan flora as well as a nature center and greenhouse. The gardens are open 8 a.m. to dusk daily and admission is $1 per person weekdays and $3 per person weekends. For information, call (517) 431-2060.

Not that far from the Irish Hills is Jackson, where you can stop by the Michigan Space Center, 211 Emmos Road. It's a tribute to the nation's aerospace and shows the exciting history of space travel, including original rockets, lunar rovers and other space artifacts.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and noon-5 p.m. Sunday. (Doors closed to new arrivals at 4:15 p.m.) Admission is $3.50 for adults, $2.50 for students and senior citizens, and free for children under age 5. There's also a family rate of $10.

Summer may also be a good time to take the family to Lansing for the day. While there, take a tour of the State Capitol Building on Capitol Avenue. With the restoration, you can see things like the English glass floor tiles, copper and iron chandeliers by Tiffany and Co., and an impressive dome of hand-worked trim. Tours start every half-hour 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, and noon to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. For information, call (517) 373-2348.

At 208 N. Capitol Ave., you'll find the Michigan Historical Museum, the official state museum. Its displays highlight people, places, organizations and events that were important to the state and its history. It's open 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, and 1-5 p.m. Sunday. For information, call (517) 373-3559.

For a midsummer break, take in the children's series, "Three Cheers for Children," of the Ann Arbor Summer Festival, which runs June 18 through July 10. Gemini and Friends will take to the stage at the Power Center at 1 p.m. Sunday, June 19. The award-winning musical duo will be joined on stage by a specially formed chorus made up of children from local youth choirs.

At 1 p.m. Sunday, June 26, the Wild Swan Theater will present "The Firebird," a spellbinding fairy tale set in medieval Russia, and at 1 p.m. Sunday, July 3, it will be "The Great Dinosaur Mystery," a fun-filled 60-minute musical for children.

For information on ticket prices or to order tickets, call the Power Center box office at 764-2538. For more information or a free brochure, call the festival office at 747-2278.

As summer starts to wind down, you can start a family tradition by attending the 15th annual Michigan Renaissance Festival, "Dare to Dream," on Dixie Highway between Pontiac and Flint. Filled with 16th century merriment, reserve tickets are on sale through July 31 at $9.95 for adults and $4 for children 5-12 years of age (regular prices are $11.95 and $5.95 respectively, children under 5 free).

Animals, animals and more animals are the highlights of the fairs, and there are two you can take in as a fitting close to summer. Get in the spirit at the Wayne County Fair at the Wayne County Fairgrounds (off the Belleville Road exit of I-94) Aug. 9-13. Then take in the Michigan State Fair at the State Fair Grounds, Woodward at Eight Mile, Detroit, traditionally held the week before Labor Day.

Take The Next Step At Wayne State University...

If you are ready to take that next step toward earning your four-year degree, we are ready for you.

Last year approximately 5,000 students transferred to WSU from some 500 community colleges and four-year schools across the country. They are taking classes at our main campus in the University Cultural Center in Detroit or on one of our satellite campuses while others go to our University Center at Macomb Community College.

Some of the reasons students come to Wayne State:

- Strength of our academic programs — international reputation
- Cost — the only Michigan public university with a negative increase in tuition costs over the past decade based on inflation
- Financial aid — During 1991-92 WSU awarded $50 million in aid to students

So go ahead and take the next step. Simply clip and mail the attached coupon and we will send you more information about transferring to Wayne State.

Most preachers offer God's forgiveness if you meet a condition. These include baptism, repentance, faith, etc. BEFORE God will show mercy to a sinner. All such acts are based on the HUMAN WILL. Does your preacher CONTRADICT
Romans 9:16? So then if it is NOT OF HIM THAT WILLETH, NOR OF HIM THAT RUNNETH, BUT OF GOD that showeth mercy.

Graphologists gather for 'The Write Slant'

The American Association of Handwriting Analysts and the American Handwriting Analysis Foundation will sponsor a joint conference, "The Write Slant," open to graphologists and people interested in learning more about graphology, July 13-16, at Weber's Inn in Ann Arbor.

Handwriting analysis — graphology — is a projective tool to evaluate character. It is used in personnel selection, document examination, police work and family counseling.

Many of the world's leading graphologists will attend the conference. Speakers include Renate Griffith of Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada; Rena Nesos and Lorraine Herbert of London, England; Rudi Danor of Israel; Paula Sassi and Dr. Robert Chard-Yaron of San Diego, Calif.; Dr. Ron Kraus of New York; Dr. Mark Selter of Rhode Island; Rose Matousek of Chicago, Ill.; Dr. Ed Peoples and Nadella Claypool of Denver, Colo.; Dr. Erika Karahs of Pebble Beach, Calif.; Liz Mills of Livonia and Roger Rubin and Felix Klein of New York, N.Y.

Daily admission tickets are available as well as full registration. For registration information, write to conference chairperson Ricki Sharrott at 29007 Forest Hill Drive, Farmington Hills 48331, or call her at (810) 583-7669.

Writer has desire to be outstanding, make an impression

GRAPHOLOGY PROFILES

LORENE GREEN

I am 31 years of age. I have been married for 13 years and have an 11-year-old son. In the last year I have moved to Livonia and most recently, after 8 years have changed employers. I am right-handed. My long love in hobbies is tennis and (I) play as often as time allows, along with spending time with my family.

I welcome any comments and am looking forward to your response.

P.C., Livonia

Dear Ms. Green, I look forward to reading your column. Although I've always stayed away from handwriting analysis and palm readers in the past, recently I have had a growing interest.

I have said this before, but I feel it needs repeating. People who have a desire to express their individuality and hunger for freedom break away from the copy-book handwriting style they were taught in school and develop one of their own. This calls for the courage of an independent mind. Today's writer is one of these people. She is primarily concerned with the details of day-to-day living. Mundane events are all-encompassing. Abstract theories are left to others. When she wants something, she wants it now! She has a strong need for status and stroking. A desire to be outstanding and make an impression on others can also be seen.

Seemingly, this young woman has moved away from the security of the past and is willing to take more risks. She can deal with new ideas and step aside from conventional ways.

It appears that our writer was raised in a home with more female influence than male. While she has a strong need for independence and the control of her own life, she also has a need for emotional support from the mother figure at times. This has a way of creating ambivalent feelings.

Outwardly, we see a poised young woman who is cool under pressure. She exercises control over her emotions. Being somewhat cautious, she does not make impulsive decisions. She takes time to consider how a given situation or decision will affect her personally. A little tendency to overanalyze her own importance seems like a possibility.

She has the ability to stand alone and rely on herself and her inner convictions. Some reluctance to accept authority figures is suggested here. Dealing with people who try to impose too much authority over her could cause problems.

Obviously, she does not always learn from past mistakes, so she may continue to make the same mistakes over and over. Unfulfilled signs are present.

Our writer has the type of intelligence that promotes efficiency.

Her mind works in efficient, productive and original ways. She is objective and discerning, with a bias for unembellished facts. Quickly, she grasps the fundamentals and eliminates the superfluous. She can also simplify complicated information to deal with it more effectively.

She is aware of time and can be irritated with delays and/or red tape. She is a self-starter. Her mind is ever working ahead coming up with viable ideas.

This is not a long-range planner. She prefers immediacy of results and efforts. Her direct manner helps her to move things right along. Occasionally, she can be a little too relaxed, thus slowing down accomplishment. In matters of importance to her, she can become assertive.

In social and interpersonal relationships, she is not without charm. More often, however, she is matter of fact and direct. Her succinct style may be somewhat of a problem to those on the receiving end. More sensitive people could be offended when she states her viewpoint point blank. With those who need to feel her warmth and personal concern, her directness may work against her.

There is some reticence to discuss personal matters with others. So few probably know her intimately.

Dear Ms. Green
I look forward to reading your column.
Although I've always stayed away from handwriting analysis and palm readers in the past, recently I have had a growing interest.

being possible areas of aptitude or enjoyment.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first-person singular. Age, handedness and signature are all helpful, and objective feedback is always welcome.

This is a woman of inner resources. She is versatile and has creative talent with art and music

Adams

Al and Fran Adams of Plymouth celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on March 12 with a reception and buffet dinner at the Cornerstone Evangelical Presbyterian Church in Brighton.

The celebration was attended by their children — Sandy Bessert and husband Harold of Hartland, John of Livonia, Jeff of Howell and Pam Mason and husband Jim of DeWitt — and their grandchildren — Kim Bessert and Jeremy, Lindsey, Kelly and Abby Mason.

Some 100 friends and family members gathered for the celebration that included a multitude of family pictures and the dress and Navy uniform the couple wore when they were married.

After dinner, the Mason grandchildren sang a song and daughter Pam sang a medley of songs particularly meaningful to the guests of honor. The couple's mothers were also introduced by granddaughter Kim, and the honorees were treated to a videotape depicting their 50 years together.

As the guests left the party, they were presented with a gold ornament, handmade by Fran, as a remembrance of the occasion, and each guest was given a balloon to release when leaving. Attached to each balloon was an explanation of the celebrated occasion and the couple's address. A response has already been received from someone in Canada.

Unlike their 49th anniversary celebration, which was spent at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, where Al underwent an emergency quadruple heart bypass surgery, the Adamses continued their celebration with a return trip to Key West, Fla. That's where he was stationed with the U.S. Navy and where they began their married life together.

The Adamses, who have lived in Plymouth for 40 years, met in Dearborn, when Fran was dating Al's brother. They were married on March 11, 1944, in the Chapel at the Grosse Ile Naval Base.

A homemaker, she was committed to her family activities, church programs and various school and community projects. She also worked at the former Wayside Gifts in Plymouth for 18 years.

ARTISTIC EXPRESSIONS

Ironical statement: In "The Volcano," George Graveldinger depicts a peaceful tourist at rest, oblivious to the explosion about to occur behind him. His paintings are on display in the Livonia City Hall.

Artist brushes everyday life with color, whimsy

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

George Graveldinger paints character sketches focusing on the ups and downs of human nature. Portraits of these whimsical, introspective figures with exaggerated features along with a few landscapes, 30 paintings in all by the Southfield artist, remain on exhibit through June 30 in the lobby of Livonia City Hall, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

Graveldinger, who compares his vibrant paintings to lush fruits, cooks up a storm of vignettes spotlighting everyday life. Don't miss the opportunity to taste these delightful dishes rendered in Graveldinger style, a wink-and-a nod dramatizations of characters we all know. Whether it's a guy on vacation in a faraway destination oblivious to the fact the volcano behind him is about to explode, or a bride waiting with a puzzling expression on her face, Graveldinger paints them all in rich color, vivid and alive. A sketchbook carried with him everywhere he goes belies the origins of the paintings.

"I have a love affair with human nature. It's the spontaneity, the freshness I try to capture. Whether it's characters in a restaurant or in the doctor's office while you're waiting, you try to imagine what's going on behind the magazines," said Graveldinger.

"I keep asking why I'm here? What is it all about? I try to tune in to the heartbeat of the universe. What I strive for in my work is if the piece keeps drawing you back, making you wonder about what's going on."

Although Graveldinger graduated from the Society for Arts and Crafts (now Center for Creative Studies in Detroit) in 1951 after studying with the likes of Sarkis Sarkisian and Guy Pallazzola, it wasn't until he retired in 1983 from Chrysler that he found time enough to paint seriously. Except for a few works in the exhibit, nearly all of these treasures were painted since the first of the year.

When you meet the prolific painter, a colorful character himself, he is most likely in between painting sessions at the Scarab Club or Michigan Gallery in Detroit, the art department studios at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills or his own Southfield studio. Keeping on the move, keeps him fresh, he likes to say.

Splatters of red, blue, green and yellow cover him from head to toe, telling the story of the series in progress. Graveldinger likes to have at least five paintings dealing with the same subject matter going at the same time. Some, like "The Offer," deal with the universal theme of men and women involved, to one degree or another, in the chase.

"I like doing man-woman relationships that you can read into. There's a proposal of one kind or another, perhaps accepted, perhaps rejected," said Graveldinger, pointing out that a camera wouldn't give you the soul of the person.

In "The Beach Master," a male tourist with a belly bigger than a beach ball lies like a beached whale on the sands of Vero Beach in Florida, a bevy of bathing beauties behind him. Not only the composition but a strong orange palette depicts the whimsy of the situation loud and clear with a knack specific to Graveldinger.

"I love strawberries, raspberries and cherries. I like to think of my paintings as lush fruit. I try to make the painting appetizing, lush, almost like you'd like to eat it in a sense," said Graveldinger.

"I love color. They're like people. They all have their own statement: mysterious, inquisitive, happy, sad."

In the city hall show, Graveldinger keeps subject matter light, unlike the bulk of his paintings created on more potent themes ranging from stark political statements to those dealing

Garden walk to benefit Greenmead

■ Ambitious gardeners turn smaller, plain-Jane yards and acre lots into neighborhood showplaces loaded with foliage and colorful plantings. Get a look at seven unique gardens during Livonia's fifth annual garden walk Saturday, June 25.

BY JANICE TIGAR-KRAMER
SPECIAL WRITER

Hardly a gardener on this year's Livonia garden walk made it through the ruthless winter of '94 without losing a specimen or, in one case, a row of exotic plantings.

But, like most nursery stock, gardeners are a hardy lot. So the fifth annual garden walk hosted by Friends for Development of Greenmead will go off without a hitch, says chairwoman Rosemary Farabaugh.

The tour of seven robust gardens around Livonia runs 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, June 25. Tickets are $7 in advance or $8 the day of the walk.

Advance tickets are available at all Livonia libraries; Livonia City Hall, Farmington Road and Five Mile; and Simmons/Hill House Museum and Cranson/Hinbern House in Greenmead Historical Village, Eight Mile and Newburgh. On tour day, tickets will be sold at Greenmead and Livonia Civic Center Library, at Farmington Road and Five Mile.

Proceeds will help restore the Alexander Blue House (see accompanying story), which sits in the historic village near Newburg Methodist Church. The 144-year-old, clapboard building was the office of Alexander Blue, a local farmer, township official and Justice of the Peace from 1846 to 1874.

"The tour draws more people every year from as far as Lake Orion," said Janet Bennett, Friends for Development of Greenmead president. "I often hear people say they begin their summer with Livonia's garden walk."

"After the tour, people say they didn't know a particular area was even in the city. Our committee looks for gardens all year, and we always seem to come up with a location that people aren't familiar with."

Last year, nearly 700 people toured the city's residential gardens. This time.

Visitors will see how ambitious gardeners have turned smaller yards into elaborate landscapes and how double lots and acreage have been portioned and filled with exotic plantings, foliage, wild flowers and ponds. Visitors also will see unique decking, gazebos, brick paving and garden ornaments galore.

"Gardening is a popular pastime. I see more and more people out fixing their yards, and I'm hoping the garden walk has something to do with that," Bennett said.

The 1990 walk was an inspiration for at least one gardener, who turned a plain back yard into a showplace for this year's walk.

"I saw gorgeous yards on the tour and thought I could do something to ours," said Bob Alankas, who'll have cut protei flown in from Hawaii on tour day.

Alankas and wife, Lee, are fond of the island, so their 70- by 140-foot yard has an exotic theme - for starters, a year-round hot tub, flanked by seven hosta varieties,

Art camps to help kids hone creative skills

Summer art camps in Plymouth are gearing up to begin the week of June 20. Turn your children's free hours into creative learning experiences through an exploration of the visual arts.

The choice of camps broadens this summer. Returning are D & M Art Studio's weeklong camps held in cooperation with Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department. New this year are day camps run by the Michigan Art Exchange, an artist's cooperative gallery, which opened in February.

Both camps offer basic drawing and painting classes.

Photography, sculpture, batik crayon, paper collage, weaving, fun jewelry and the Japanese art of Oshabana using a collage of natural materials like dried flowers and leaves to create delicate two-dimensional artworks will be offered by MAE artist members starting June 20. A chalk walk, scheduled for one session, allows students to design murals on the sidewalk. A photograph will then be taken and transferred to frame or wearable art.

"This is a prelude to our fall art classes," said Plymouth resident Frank Kuszak, MAE co-owner.

"Kids have no where to express their creativity when school is out. Here, they will complete an entire project and take it home each day.

The cost is $9 a class. We give them a break if they sign up for the whole week ($40)."

On alternating weeks through the end of August, MAE camps run 10:30 a.m. to noon and 12:30-2 p.m. An art show will be held at the end of the summer in the 1,100-square-foot gallery for participating students. Art camp teachers include Judith Shellhass, Diane Tassemyer, Canton resident Connie Lucas took the $150 second-place art award for her watercolor titled "Peachey Clean" as part of Henry Ford Community College Focus on Women Program's 20th annual Women's Recognition Week.

She was one of 14 women honored for their artwork and essays. The juried artwork featured two-dimensional works by female artists.

ON EXHIBIT

Livonia Arts Commission presents "Interiors by Architects," a new traveling exhibit of the American Institute of Architects Detroit Chapter, June 27 to July 30 in the second-floor Fine Arts Gallery at the Livonia Civic Center Library, Farmington Road and Five Mile. It features 12 interior architectural projects designed by chapter members, many award winners.

The purpose of this exhibit is to heighten public awareness of this important aspect of our professional practice and to recognize outstanding efforts," said Stephen Sussman, chairman. Reads one of the exhibit's information boards:

"Architects shape the environment in which we live and work. They are masters of form, shape and space. However, is also a practical side to their design of interior spaces. Architects save their clients time and money through their experience in building codes and municipal interaction, construction costs, timing and fast track completion, budget planning, legal requirements and document sealing, and coordination of engineering disciplines."

Hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Showroom helps buyers customize new house

An upper-end residential building company has taken a different approach to moving the deal from A to Z. A centralized showroom with fixtures, tiles and appliances separate from on-site models enables staff members to concentrate on areas of expertise.

It's all about choices for buyers. That's how the Selective Group, headquartered in Farmington Hills, promotes its one-of-a-kind New Home Center in Southfield.

Buyers who order a house at any of Selective's building sites decide on shingles, siding, brick, bath tile, kitchen tile, ceiling tile, cabinet face, doors, faucets, sinks and lighting options from a central 3,500-square-foot showroom instead of at site models.

"No other builder in town offers the choices we offer and no one has a set-up like this," said Ellen Whitefield, vice president of New Home Center services. "This was a major commitment to make choices easier."

Only Selective buyers can visit the New Home Center. Purchasers make decisions over three visits.

During the first stop, buyers meet with a member of the design staff and receive an introduction to the construction and selection process.

The second visit deals with exterior selections - brick, stain and shingles - cabinetry and countertops, appliances, preliminary plumbing, fireplace and interior trim.

The third visit concerns interior color, flooring tile colors, hardware,

Many choices: Buyers at Selective Group's New Home Center can move in individual shingle, siding and brick sample panels to see how they match.

Angel sale: Hundreds of figurines, pieces of jewelry, cards, tapes, books, posters and artwork - all with an angel motif - are available for sale from Denny Dahlmann at Angel Treasures.

Angels spell success at gift boutique

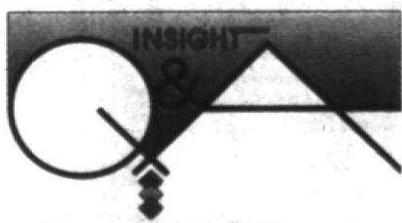

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

Denny Dahlmann has led an exciting life during his first 47 years on this planet.

He's worked as a teacher, written a book, officiated in the short-lived World Hockey League, built miniature golf courses and set up new stores for the Dunham's sporting goods chain.

Last November, the West Bloomfield resident started his own business, Angel Treasures, a boutique featuring gift collectibles, in Royal Oak. It's been heavenly, so to speak, ever since.

Sales have exceeded expectations. Investors have already recouped their initial outlay. Customers have descended on the 800-square-foot store like angels to a sacred shrine.

The personable Dahlmann acknowledges that the timing of his business opening couldn't have been better - just before the holidays and with recent television broadcasts and a major national news magazine featuring pieces on angels.

Dahlmann has found another niche for expansion - helping other people start their own Angel Treasures on a consulting basis.

Following are edited excerpts from a recent interview:

Where did you ever get the idea?

Dahlmann: I was doing a miniature golf course in Corpus Christi, Texas, and saw a card shop with some angel statues in it, little figurines. I thought it was interesting.

When I went out to California, I saw a store with a lot of angel merchandise - jewelry, crystals. It wasn't a card shop, but a gift store with a lot of angel merchandise.

I said this would be a great business to get into. I can do this. I can merchandise a store around angels from doing 25 sporting goods stores, from my background.

I came back here and explained my idea to a couple of people. Every one said it was a great idea, that I should do it in Royal Oak.
