Arbor Drugs - the anchor store headed for the proposed Westbrook Plaza - will give $7,500 to 11 Sunflower residents to landscape their side of a wall that will separate them from the shopping center.

'They will get a pro-rata share," said township planner Jeff Goulet about dividing the money.

Attorney Ed Draugelis, who represents developer Mario Tartagglia, announced additional concessions that will be made for the center on the northwest corner of Canton Center and Warren roads.

Planning commissioners Monday recommended approval of Tartagglia's site plan for the $2 million, 25,000-square-foot center that will feature about 12 other retail stores. The Township Board is expected to consider final approval July 12.

"It is good to see - even though some things didn't come about - it was a good fight and a good try," said commissioner Cathy Johnson, referring to efforts at compromise.

The recommendation was the culmination of a number of meetings some heated - as residents demanded the township try to block the center and Arbor Drugs, even if it would lead to denying the developer's request, followed by a trip to court.

Residents demanded that township attorneys and township insurer Michigan Municipal Risk Management Authority be asked their opinions about suing the developer.

"Their comment was that there is no basis for a lawsuit," Yack said, referring to township attorneys. "Given

Canton to keep skateboarders out of parks

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI STAFF WRITER

You can take your Rollerblades to Canton's three township-owned parks, but you'd better leave your skateboard at home.

"I think skateboards speak for themselves," said Mike Gouin, parks and recreation superintendent. There is a high degree of liability that has occurred (in other communities).

An amended park ordinance, adopted by township trustees June 14, prohibits skateboarding; remotecontrol airplanes, helicopters and cars; as well as gas-powered boats on the ponds.

Also prohibited under the amended ordinance are off-road motor-driven vehicles, including minibikes, dune buggies, all-terrain vehicles, snowmobiles, or other, similar motorized de-VICES

Clerk Loren Bennett questioned some of the prohibitions. "I can absolutely accept the logic of not operating airplanes or helicopters. That is an unnecessary risk."

The Flying Pilgrims operate an area, owned by the township, for re-mote-control airplanes on Van Born

But prohibiting gas-powered boats and skateboards was another matter. "For the life of me, I can't imagine why that's a hazard," he said, adding that whatever happens in the parks could always lead to a lawsuit.

Gouin explained that the gas powered boats are noisy. Electric-powered boats are allowed. "It's really going to detract from people using the park - who take their kids."

Bennett asked: "Do people using boats use the park?" Gouin responded: "At some point you have to make a judgment about what activities are compatible." He added: 'We are the only community I know of that provides a place for electric boats."

Supervisor Tom Yack suggested having a regatta for the gas-powered boats in the future.

Bennett also questioned the skateboarding prohibition. "They seem to be almost a public nuisance, and no one wants them anywhere," he said. Where can this activity take place in this community?"

Yack said skateboarders may use their own property or sidewalks. Trustee Melissa McLaughlin asked

Proposal A means lower summer tax bills

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI STAFF WRITER

Taxes. It's that time again. But Canton taxpayers may be pleasantly surprised when they get their summer school tax bills.

"We will do the best we can to answer questions," said Canton Treas-urer Elaine Kirchgatter, referring to possible questions about school mil-lage rates in the aftermath of Propos-Kirchgatter's staff will likely have a notice with state representatives' names and phone numbers for resi-dents to receive more information about the tax reduction.

With the passage of Proposal A in March, taxpayers were divided into two categories for school taxes: homestead, or primary residence; and non-homestead, which includes businesses and second homes or cottages.

The summer tax bill is half of the taxes levied by the Plymouth-Canton, Wayne-Westland and Van Buren school districts. The bills will be mailed June 30.

Homestead taxpayers in the Plym-outh-Canton district will pay 4.1 mills on their summer tax bill. Non-homesteads will pay 13.1 mills. In 1993, all property owners paid 17.86 mills on the summer tax bills and 40.20 mills in winter.

In the Wayne-Westland district, homesteads will pay 4.43 mills; non-homesteads, 13.43 mills in summer taxes. Last year, Wayne-Westland property taxpayers paid 20.03 mills in the summer and 41.94 mills in winter. In the Van Buren district, home-steads will pay 3.88 mills, non-home-steads, 12.88 mills in summer taxes. In 1993, property taxpayers paid 22.67 mills in the summer, 44.58 mills in the win R.

A mill is $1 of tax per $1,000 of as-assed property value. Collection of summer taxes will begin July 1. Taxes are due Sept. 14 without penalty. For every month thereafter that the taxes are outstanding, a 1-percent penalty will be applied.

All other taxes, such as Wayne County, Canton Township, including police and fire, are collected on the inter tax bills.

All property owners will receive a copy of their tax bill, including those who pay taxes through a mortgage company, Kirchgatter said. "We have not put on the tax bill whother they are a homestead or non-homestead," she added.

W-W school workers take pay freeze

BY DARRELL CLEM

Like two other Wayne-Westland employee groups, the union representing custodians, bus drivers and cafeteria workers has accepted a pay freeze for the 1994-95 school year.

The four-year contract for hourly workers also calls for retroactive pay raises of 2 percent for the 1992-93 school year and 2 percent for 1993-94. The estimated cost to taxpayers will be $360,000, said Randy Liepa, the district's chief fiscal officer.

Another 2-percent raise will come in 1995-96, after the oneyear freeze. The district draws about 300 students from eastern Canton Township. The school board voted 5-2

Pancake breakfast adds to airport fun

It was only last year when the real meaning of "giving" hit home for Sue Clark of Plymouth. Clark, a Plymouth Kiwanis Club member, was at the Salvation Army assembling items collected during the group's annual B.A.B.Y. (Basic Aid for Babies and Youth) fund-raiser.

Just as she was finishing putting the donated items together, a Salvation Army social worker wandered in looking for a particular brand of infant soy formula for a needy family

This year, the group is hoping to collect at least $10,000 worth of baby supplies.

Senate considers go-cart bill

State Capitol capsules: The state House of Representatives passed and sent to the Senate a bill to regulate gocart safety sponsored by Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Redford. Bankes' House Bill 5182 was a response to a 1991 fatal accident at Houghton Lake recreation center that claimed a Livonia high school student. It requires operators to post signs announcing the availability of crash helmets and new go-carts to have seat belts and roll bars. The House passed it 89-12.

Opponents included Greg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills, Deborah Whyman, R-Canton, and Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth. Kaza objected that it was over-regulation and said some responsibility should be left to parent.

Under-regulated

Sen. George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn, voiced a loud protest to a new law that will regulate professional boxers but not amateurs duking it out in "tough man contests." Senate Bill 1106, passed last week, amends the Occupational Code.

to let untrained, unconditioned people participate in a boxing ring within a 24-hour period for the second phase of an elimination tournament. But professional fighters must wait 48 hours, and they are trained athletes," said Hart, objecting to 21-13 Senate passage of the bill. The bill exempts amateurs boxing four or fewer one-minute rounds in a two-day period.

Voting yes were Republicans Michael Bouchard of Birmingham, Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion and Robert Geake of Northville. Voting no were Democrats William Faust of Westland, Jack Faxon of Farmington Hills and Hart. Absent was David Honigman, R-West Bloom-

'How ludicrous! We are going Faust, D-Westland, Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, and David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield. "Home should be a safe haven,' said the sponsor, Sen. William Van Regenmorter, R-Jenison.

"We had three levels of home invasion. The House has two: first-degree, if the invader is armed or someone is at home during the invasion — that's a 20-year felony. Second-degree, when the invader is not armed and no one is home — that's a 15-year felony," he said. SB 260 replaces the breaking-and-entering statute as applied to homes

State collects

The state has recovered nearly $2.9 million in environmental cases, including two Oakland County cases, Attorney General Frank Kelley said.

Another $700,000 was paid to clean up a Springfield Township nazardous waste site by Akzo, BASF, Chrysler, Detrex, FederalScrew, Ford, GM, Hoechst, National Steel Corp., RPM, TRW and Uniroyal Goodrich. Kelley said that in the late 1960s both site were used for unlicensed dumping. The state spent several thousand dollars to perform a partial surface cleanup.

Money, not mouth

"Quit putting our money where your mouth is," said state Rep. John Jamian, - R-Bloomfield Fownship, to the federal government.

The second-term legislator introduced a resolution calling on the U.S. Congress to pay for programs it imposes on the states, citing 400 new federal mandates in 1993 alone.

Not only are the mandates costly, but they "strike at the heart of the federal-state relationship," Jamian said, citing of federal and state powers.

Bills would ban topless dancing

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

1000

Local governments could ban topless dancing under a package controversial bills before the state House of Representatives. The bills Tuesday got through the House Local Government Committee on a 7-3 vote with Rep. Penny Crissman, R-Rochester, abstaining. "Are we talking about beaches?" asked Crissman, a former Rochester mayor. "Is your own back yard a public place? I recall charges brought in Florida against a couple in a hot tub. If a couple has a hot tub and there's an apartment building behind them, is that public?"

Crissman and newcomer Lynne Martinez, D-Lansing, were unhappy with the answers they received from John Dolan, attorney for Clinton Township in Macomb County. Clinton is pushing for the power to ban topless danc-

"I'm against this," said Martinez, who voted no. "I'm with Rep. Crissman until these questions are resolved.' "You're regulating public nudity, not obscenity," answered Dolan, indicating the bill could apply to public beaches and golf

Added Rep. David Anthony, D-Escanaba: "I'm not a lawyer, and I'm uncomfortable with this." But his effort to send the bills to the House Judiciary Committee, which handles most crime legislation, failed. Three bills are involved - one each for cities, villages and townships. The key paragraph redefines "public nudity" as "knowingly or intentionally displaying in a public place, or for payment or promise of payment. . . female individual's breast with less than a fully opaque covering." It adds: "A mother's breastfeeding of her baby does not under any circumstance constitute nudity. Existing Michigan law already defines public nudity as display of the genitals. The bills were sponsored by Sen. Gil DiNello, D-Eastpointe, and have been passed by the Senate. They were endorsed by the Michigan Municipal League and Michigan Townships Association.

"We've had calls from several simulation of masturbation and townships. They see a migration sexual intercourse involving eight of these facilities from the cities to the townships," said Pat McAvoy of the townships association. Raquel Bowles, of Macomb's Right to Decency organization, derided the notion that topless dancing is "a career choice. It's commercial exploitation of wom-

She quoted studies and an interview with the owner of a topless bar that 90 percent of the dancers were either abused or raped in early life. Dolan quoted a police report in which a dancer told an undercover officer that the only way she could gain access to other clubs was to dance in the topless place. Replied Rep. Martinez: "Exloitation of women has no bear ng on how to sunbathe.' Meanwhile, Clinton Township is proceeding before the state Liquor Control Commission against owners of Shooters, a Class C li quor licensee on Groesbeck Highway. It charged the bar showcased "nudity, sexual acts," and the women on Sept. 18 and 19 and Oct. 9, 1992. Dolan, the township attorney, told the House panel that bans on public nudity are of "ancient origin" and widely accepted as a proection of public order. He said the U.S. Supreme Court in 1991 upheld an Indiana law requiring dancers to wear pasties and G-strings. Current legislation, Dolan said, avoids the question of obscenity and instead defines public nudity. Current Michigan law bans bottomless dancing, he said, lead ing topless bar operators to argue the law is "a green light" for topless dancing.

Clinton Township has tried to restrict topless bars under its zoning ordinance and was upheld in Macomb Circuit Court, Dolan said. But a federal judge blocked enforcement of the ordinance.

Arts rummage sale shows off new home

The Plymouth

Community Arts Council is getting ready for one of its prime fund-raisers of the year, a rummage sale. But this year it's different: Rummage sale goers will get a glimpse at the group's new headquarters.

BY KEVIN BROWN STAFF WRITER

The new Plymouth Community Arts Council headquarters hosts its first event next month: the third Treasure Mart

Rummage Sale. A preview reception for the sale is scheduled from 4-7 p.m. Thursday, July 14. That's when folks can get a first chance to grab sale items, for a $5 contribution. They will also get a first look at the former Jehovah's Witnesses church which will soon host arts council programs. The new office is at 774 N.

Sheldon Road at Junction, across from the former Highland Appliance headquarters. The group also serves Canton Township.

On Tuesday, council president Karen Tripp looked over the main room of the former church, with 225 theater seats.

While the arts council plans to use this space for performances and also plans to rent it for programs - Tripp said some seats will be removed from the rear to create classroom space.

"We'll probably have 180 seats," she said, adding, "We could run two classes in here if we want to."

The nonprofit arts council sponsors art education programs, student arts awards and scholarships, classroom presentations, the Music in the Park program, and more. The arts council celebrates its 25th anniversary this year.

Tripp said the art rental gallery now in the upstairs of the Plymouth library will move to the former church lobby. To do some needed inside renovations, the arts council is asking handyman volunteers to call 455-5260.

For donations to the Treasure Mart sale, seven drop-off days are scheduled: Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon; June 28, 30 and July 5 and 7 from 4-7 p.m.; July 9 from 9 a.m. to noon; and July 12 from 4-7 p.m.

"We would like to have the donator price the item if possible, they know what it's worth," said Nancy Pilon, who heads publicity for the event.

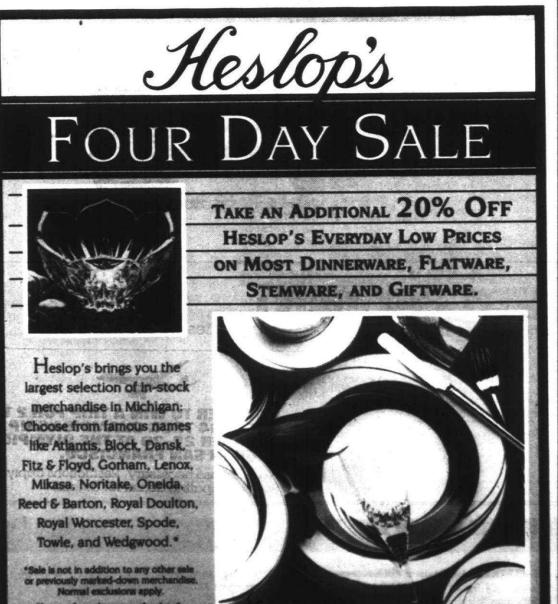

Needed items include works of art including paintings, sculpture, glassware, jewelry, photographs, prints and more.

Also needed are clean household items including furniture, clothing, toys, tools and lawn and gardeh items. Receipts are available for these tax-deductible donations. Unsold items will be given to a local charity

Following the preview reception July 14, there rummage sale happens from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday, July 15, and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, July 16.

Pilon said the arts council raised about $2,000 through the sale last year, to support programs.

TV viewers this spring saw peregrine falcons, an endangered species, nesting on a 33rd floor perch outside a window of the Book Building in downtown Detroit. Three chicks hatched.

The tracking of a rare trumpeter swan from Holly Recreation Center in Oakland County to a private pond in Westland caused a buzz of excitement this spring because the bird had become extinct in Michigan through hunting and trapping in the late 1800s. Those are but two cases of the state Department of Natural Resources bringing metro area urban folks in tune with Mother Nature. The DNR placed the nesting box for the falcons and checked the eggs' progress regularly.

GOP splits over bills governing pharmacy costs

A coalition of employer and labor groups declared "a tremendous victory" over small pharmacists in a state Senate battle that split Republicans

Skateboarding Canton park ban goes too far anton Township has gone too far in banning activities such as skotch ing in parks and the running of model boats in ponds owned by the township.

16A(C)

The move by the township to ban skateboarding while still allowing in-line skating smacks of discrimination. Insurance liability was the reason given for banning skateboarding. However, it's difficult to see any real difference between the two activities.

Such a ban begs the question: Why? We suspect it's because skateboarding tends to attract more kids, while in-line skating attracts more adults.

The only Canton official to vote against the park ban was clerk Loren Bennett, who questioned the direction the township is taking with its parks. He contends they are becoming open space, not places where people can engage in activities.

Along with banning skateboarding, the ordinance prohibits the use of remote-control airplanes, helicopters and cars, as well as gaspowered boats on the ponds. Also prohibited under the amended ordinance are off-road motor-driven vehicles, including mini-bikes, dune buggies, all-terrain vehicles, snowmobiles or other similar motorized devices.

We can understand a portion of the ban. People should be able to walk or run through a park without the fear of being hit by a motorized vehicle. However, prohibiting gas-powered boats and skateboards is another matter. The ordinance is anti-youth, giving teenagers and children the message that they are not welcome in township parks.

Instead of banning activities that attract young people, the township should look for ways to allow them in certain portions of parks, perhaps with supervision from parks and recreation workers.

It's time for the township to give teens places where they can have fun

Judicial race is getting silly

t's the silly season - election time. It might be expected from candidates for Congress, but when they are running for judge, the silliness is a bit undignified.

Political signs are the point of contention in the race for 35th District Court judge that has attracted 11 candidates. The court serves Canton Township, Plymouth Township, Northville Township and the cities of Plymouth and Northville.

Here's the rundown of complaints:

"Criminals beware" appears on signs for Ron Lowe. Taking umbrage to such a contention that criminals should worry about a judge are Kevin Simowski and Dennis Shrewsbury. The two contend Lowe shouldn't be able to promise voters that he will send criminals to prison The signs of Lowe, Stephen Boak, Carol Levitte and Michael Gerou are too large. This complaint came from candidate Simowski. The city of Plymouth agreed to part of the complaint, citing Levitte and Boak for having signs that are too large. However, signs for Gerou and Lowe are fine and legal because they are for business identification.

Such complaints do nothing but trivialize the ater, water everywhere . . . but not a drop to sprinkle on your lawn to-day . . . unless, of course, your address ends with an odd number.

Regional approach to water

In the waning days of this heat wave and resultant "water emergency," many of us are on the odd-even system that regulates outdoor water use. Those with even street addresses water their lawns on even days; odd addresses on odd days.

Actually, a bit of conservation isn't too much to ask if there is a real emergency. and considering the circumstances - a heavy demand for water because of dry weather conditions and an ongoing delivery problem with the supplier - we guess there is, or was.

But when this blistering heat finally eases up and the water mains are repaired and the sprinklers go on again all over southeastern Michigan, we've got to talk about this water situation.

Now please remember: No matter what the politicians or engineers or TV talking heads say, there is no water shortage in metropolitan Detroit. How could there be when its residents sit at the edge one of the largest supplies of fresh water on Planet Earth - the Great Lakes?

No, we're not short of water, probably never | demands on the water delivery system and will be. It's our delivery system that has come up short during this emergency.

Most of us get our water from Detroit, the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department to be specific, and there have been some real problems with that entity over the years. We wonder if Detroit Water - with its antiquated mains and equipment, and shot through as it is with constant city-suburban squabbling - is what we need to supply water judicial race, turning it into an exercise worthy of a student council race at a high school. Candidates should focus on getting their message across to voters on justice and the running of the district court instead of complaining about the signs or activities of their fellow candidates.

to an expanding metropolitan Detroit.

We badly need a regional authority to control anything as crucial as water delivery in an area as large as metro Detroit. And that authority should have . . . well, authority. It would be empowered to set standards and make them stick. It should be vastly different than a toothless planning agency. Its word would be law, and it would put an end to the petty politics that divide Detroit and its suburbs over issues like water. What petty politics? Well, over the years, the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department has been run more as a jobs program than as a water delivery system for everyone in southeast Michigan Suburbanites can serve on the Water Department Board, but only those selected by the mayor of Detroit. Only Detroiters may work for the department. That's petty - and it shuts out a lot of talented people whose only shortcoming is that they don't happen to live in the city of Detroit.

More importantly, we need a strong regional authority that would control the kind of runaway suburban (or should we say exurban?) development that has led to excessive other infrastructure.

State Sen. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, was gutsy enough to propose a regionalized water system for metropolitan Detroit. But, like a lot of good ideas to come out of Lansing last year, it got steamrolled by that juggernaut of education reform that eventually led to Proposal A.

Keep at it, Sen. Honigman. Now it's time for Proposal W - for water reform.

thank The Observer for its coverage of my law suit against Uniland Homes Inc. Also, a special thank you is in order for Joanne Maliszewski, who was kind enough to sit down with me, hear my story, and write the articles. Because of your stories, I believe future Canton homes will be better constructed and will receive more than a cursory inspection from the building department

Several recent articles in The Observer

caught my attention The first article mentioned that no state complaints had been filed by homeowners against the builder. I just want folks to know I wasted my time going through that exercise in futility, only to have the building department try itself and, of course, pronounce itself innocent. The next story said that "response from the township has been less than admirable" and when they responded, "they wanted to come out and put a handle on their potential liability." It also quoted a municipal services employee as saying, "We consider this to be between the builder and the homeowner.'

Why do comments like this not surprise me? Because I learned the building department can do no wrong. Unlike the rest of us, they simply don't make mistakes, and if they did, it is dilemma with Uniland Homes. The local code official promised to do a thorough investigation and get back to me. He got back to me when he and an inspector testified on behalf of

he recent Michigan Senate vote favoring the bill to outlaw teacher strikes is nothing short of outrageous. I am appalled at the irony of the reward system we have developed. It amazes me that teachers should need to strike just to see their needs met. If an NBA All-Star has any qualms with a million-dollar contract, nobody puts up much of a fight. Yet the state of Michigan continually tells our teachers we can't possibly afford to keep them satisfied.

Not one lawmaker in Michigan has ever influenced me as directly as many of my teachers yet look at the salary base of the state legislature. Education is becoming an easy financial cutback, and somewhere we have forgotten that learning is the foundation of our future. If choices are not soon made to recognize the dignity of the educators in our community, we can hardly expect teachers to be dedicated to the children they deal with each day.

In any other business, teamwork has become priority; workers are involved in decision making. This ongoing battle between state government and teachers unions shows how desperately Michigan needs new lawmakers who recognize the place of government in a balanced education system

POINTS OF VIEW

Older, wiser, and a bit crankier Age has its privileges — and its inconveniences adzooks - do you remember the G last time someone called you a voung whippersnapper? I've been exploring that limbo between older and wiser embodied by such pearls of wisdom as "Youth is wasted on the young" or "Age and treachery will always overcome youth and skill," and ultimately "There's no fool like an old

My own fascination seemed to take hold at the age of 35, but I now feel that the occurrence of certain attitudes is most unpredictable. Miles apart, both my high-spirited older sister and a quasi-radical younger friend seem to be similarity screwed loose by what they call "that carnival music" of their Hispanic neighbors.

As an exhausted new mother several years ago, my younger sister called me n shock with the first truly honest revelation of such sudden transition. She described with a quavering voice how, like a woman possessed, she had bellowed out her window to the gang squealing in the street below: "Don't any of you kids have homes?" A dramatic, uncanny catharsis. After all, we had grown up in a neighborhood of tenements and tenants prone to spontaneous combustion.

Sad-sack adults kicked us systemat ically out of every yard and off of every porch in the attempts to secure a moment of peace. Fortunately, we lived a block from the Atlantic Ocean. If you avoided breaking your neck playing on the treacherous, crumbling catwalks, and if you could dart across and back the heavily trafficked scenic route without being flattened, you might fancy yourself a young pioneer in family

DOROTHY MATSU

Now we catch ourselves saying and acting as we never imagined doing before dying. Although glad to be out of the city, now I have mixed feelings about my pastoral setting that often strikes me as a cross between Norman Rockwell and Norman Bates Hearing an unfamiliar sound, I find myself peering out the window like busybody Gladys Kravitz. I choke back the urge to blurt out "Kids these days or "When I was a kid . . . ," the

" or ever homely "Nowadays . . . "Wait — I've got a coupon for that." Morals, morale, music, money and fashion are interpreted by not only the ages, but the stages of individual circumstance.

"Kids keep you young" - if you survive with sanity intact. Shabby advice for adolescent parents, married or not. Pitiful consolation for the weary grandparents bravely resigned to raising both. I inwardly grimace at those who must always send something back at any restaurant with questionable demands dampening the fun of just getting together. On the other hand, like Professor Littleoldman, I research and mark off programs of interest in a TV guide that rivals the Dead Sea Scrolls.

I inexplicably feel compelled to sweep my porch. I still roll my eyes at insincere pandering, but often feel quite violently self-righteous at igno rant displays of bad manners. I shall not choose to live murmuring "I'm getting old" to myself as some sad lament, but rather as another challenge to get it right — the Art of Living.

As for the often unbearable weirdness of being, I am reminded of a Chinese saying: "The only way out of it is all the way through it.'

MEA leadership: out of touch and out of control

n labor relations and Michigan politics, you need to understand that hree parties are involved - management, the union and the members. The union may bargain for what the members want. The union always bargains for what the union wants.

Michigan Education Association propagandists insist that opposing MEA is "teacher bashing " Wrong The space between MEA and the teachers has grown from a crack to a yawning gulf. In the last year, MEA leadership has made more blunders than any political group since the GOP's Goldwater debacle of 1964. Consider

■ Senate Bill 1 - MEA opposed the plan to rewrite school tax laws. It passed overwhelmingly.

Proposal A - MEA fought it. Voters said yes by a 69-31 margin. ■ Governor — AFL-CIO endorsed Howard Wolpe for the Democratic nomination, making him the odds-on favorite. MEA endorsed Larry Owen, raising the price for Wolpe to win the primary. That will irritate Big Labor, whose delegates form a majority of the Michigan Democratic Party.

Owen lost a state Senate race in 1978, lost his seat on the Michigan State University board in 1990, and looked foolish undercutting MSU president John DiBiaggio in support of football coach George Perles. Some endorsement.

■ Partisanship — MEA is part of the Democratic Party structure, standard practice among unions. But MEA also is supporting candidates in Republican primaries — such as Gerry Law against Jerry Vorva in the Plymouth-Northville-Livonia district. Don't they know people can't vote in two primar-

Strikes — Since the current law was passed in 1965 (following the GOP's Goldwater debacle), Michigan has seen 878 governmental strikes - 676 by school unions, most by MEA. In time, MEA made enough enemies, even among unionized blue-collar workers, that the dam of criticism burst, and House Bill 5128 was passed to stop it.

I quote from the State Capitol tour manager's letter of complaint to the principal in which she added it was the worst behavior she had seen in

While a single teacher was involved, note that the teacher was parroting the MEA line. Let's not bash all teachers for the boorishness of one zealot.

Expect endorsed diplomas to change face of education

t's June, graduation season at Michigan high schools.

Most graduating seniors this year will find something new on the diplomas handed them as they cross the stage: seals, each one indicating passage of a Michigan Education Assessent Program (MEAP) standardized assessment test. High school seniors who pass all three tests as they progress through school math, reading and science — will have a diploma with three stickers.

This year's graduates are the first to have their diplomas endorsed by the state as indicating actual academic performance. Up to now, a diploma meant nothing more than that a student had stuck it out for three years in high school without getting tossed out. Applying the MEAP tests as a standard for endorsing diplomas was authorized a couple years back by the state Legislature, acting under pressure from school reformers.

Local endorsement scores for graduates were printed in this newspaper in recent editions.

Not surprisingly, there was some variation among districts across Michigan in the percentage of graduating seniors who earned stickers in all three MEAP tests - and in the reactions of local school officials.

In the Birmingham district, 95 percent of the 41 seniors graduating from Groves and seaholm high schools won three endorsements, a similar success rate to Andover and Lahser in e Bloomfield Hills district.

Birmingham Superintendent John Hoeffler said, "We are really pleased with how well our students performed. It's hard to tell in this eary stage what it means, but we hope in the future it may help businesses predict employees'

In the Avondale district, serving parts of Rochester and Troy, 74 percent of 125 seniors arned three endorsements. James Steeby, as istant superintendent for curriculum, won't be happy until his district hits 100 percent. "The endorsoment has encouraged students to focus on the importance of the (MEAP) test," he said.

School reformers who hoped mere existence ah independent assessment of academic per-formance would change the way schools work ould be encouraged by what's going on at ondale, where the curriculum has been on to stress the kinds of thinking and problem solving skills measured by the MEAP. The same kind of willingness to change can be seen in the Clarenceville district, which covers parts of Livonia, Farmington Hills and Redford Township. There, Superintendent David Kamish called the 1992-93 MEAP scores embarrassing.

This year, Clarenceville administrators made the tests a priority. The results - 84 percent of graduating seniors gained three endorsements were an improvement.

Opinion varies on the value of the MEAPbased diploma endorsements.

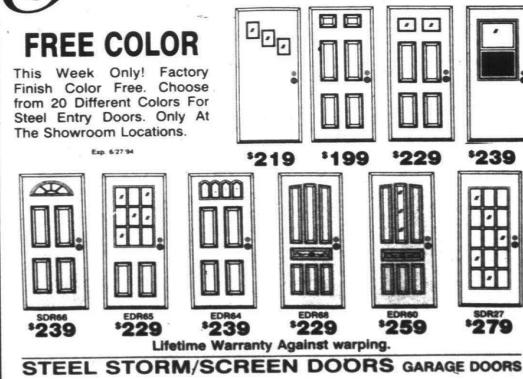

Duane Marsh, executive director of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, thinks that for employers the endorsement system will be "an absolutely used tool. With graduates' minimal work experience, the only thing an employer has to look at to see how they performed is school work . . . There are other criteria businesses use to hire someone, but those without the endorsements might not get their foot in the door.

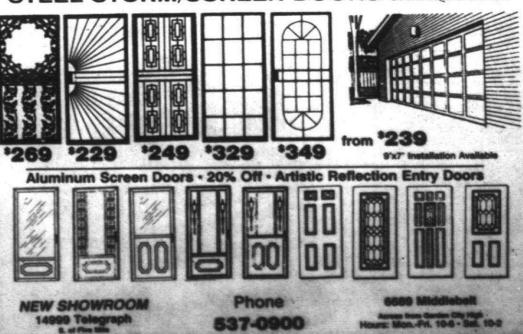

On the other hand, Al Edwards, research and evaluation specialist for the Livonia district, says that "employers didn't check on those kinds of things (test results) in the past and won't in the immediate future. Regardless, the stakes for graduates will go even higher in 1997, when graduates won't get a high school diploms at all unless they receive passing scores on all three MEAP tests, even if they have fulfilled other school requirements for Progress is slow. But believe me, it's coming.

Vet emphasizes dental care for pets

Of all the advancements that veterinary medicine has made in recent years, dentistry may have come the farthest, according to Paul Bloom, veterinarian at Livo-nia's Bloom Animal Hospital.

Dental care for pets involves home care. Appropriate diets and use of the recently developed dental care products are an important first step, Bloom said.

At the veterinarian's office, dental procedures are more complicated in some ways than human dentistry. This is primarily because a pet must be anesthetized for dental work. Unlike most humans, pets can't be expected to sit still while having their teeth cleaned below the gumline or during other complicated procedures.

To ensure your pet's safety, Bloom recommends the use of gas anesthesia and pre-anesthesia bloodwork. The bloodwork helps identify any silent health concerns before anesthetizing the pet. Cardiac and respiratory monitors should be used during anesthesia, according to the doctor.

There is a wide range of options available in dental care. This is a vast improvement over the relatively recent days when the treatment of a problem tooth consisted of extraction. Healthy teeth and gums are vital to your pet's general good health. They are the important first step of the digestive process. A tooth abscess or gum infection, besides being painful and debilitating, can lead to dangerous heart, liver or kidney infections. The dental procedure that most pets require periodically is called a prophylaxis. The teeth are cleaned and polished. Tartar is removed and special attention is paid to cleaning the pockets below the gumline, which are particularly prone to disease.

Some pets just naturally accumulate more tartar than others, so the frequency of cleaning is difficult to predict.

Other procedures that may occasionally be necessary are the repair of tooth fractures, root canals, filling and extractions.

Michigan's amendments to the federal "motor voter" registration bill sailed through the state House of Representatives, but not without a vocal protest.

The federal law requires social service agencies, as well as driver's license bureaus, to register voters. It also does away with Michigan's law eliminating "dead wood" - voters who have been inactive for several years.

Rep. Greg Kaza, R-Rochester Hills, voted no because "the legislative package federalizes Michigan's voter registration laws. It concentrates more power in Washington and reduces local control.

"It resembles other measures to have come before us in that it (raises) serious and troubling 10th Amendment questions," the freshman lawmaker said.

The House passed the bills last week on 90-9 votes. The no votes came from Republicans, mostly the rebellious freshman class. Among those voting no with Kaza were Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth; and Deborah Whyman, R-Canton.

Rep. Roland Jersevic, R-Saginaw, another opponent, cited the language of the 10th Amendment: 'The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.'

Added Jersevic: "The potential for duplication and fraud is increased significantly. Many of the federal mandates in this bill shall fall through court challenges to the federal legislation, the National Voter Registration Act.'

NVRA's purpose is to increase the proportion of Americans particularly low-income people who are registered to vote from 75 or 80 percent to more than 90 percent.

The Michigan bills, now headed for the Senate, would make these major changes:

at social-services, public-health, mental-health, public-assistance, unemployment-comp, and other human-services offices designated by the governor. Historically, city and township clerks - and beginning about 10 years ago, the Secretary of State driver's license offices - have registered voters.

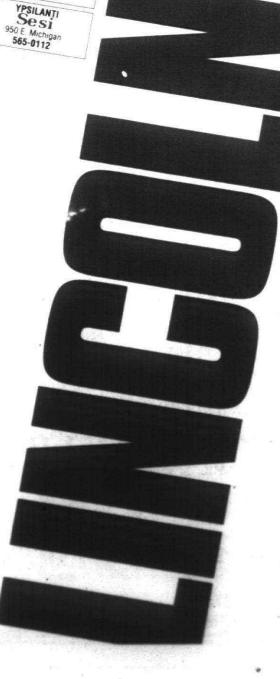

Clerks won't weed out "deadwood" - voters who have been inactive for several years. "Under NVRA, clerks can't cancel because you don't vote. It's a forever file," said Rep. Robert Brackenridge, R-St. Joseph, a former county clerk who co-chaired the House Local Government Committee.

The Secretary of State will maintain an official voter list. City, village and township clerks will be able to access it by computer to make corrections.

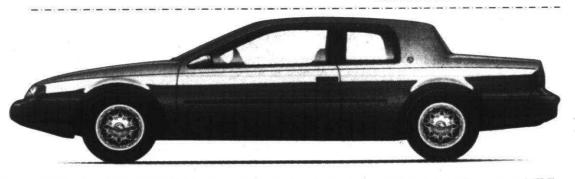

"The technology is faster than the Postal Service," said Christopher Thomas, state elections director. "There will be substantial savings to local government." No longer will local clerks have to handle volumes of paper by sending cancellation notices to voters who have been inactive for several vears.

NVRA was a highly partisan issue in Congress. In 1992 President George Bush vetoed it as "a partisan sham." With Bill Clinton in the White House, Congress in 1993 re-passed it.

Repeat star: Alyson Noune was selected to the all-Observer first team for the second consecutive season. Noune was also an all-Observer pick in basketball.

Experience is normally a key factor in determining an all-star team. Not so with this season's all-Observer girls soccer team: Youth is dominant. A team abundant in underclassmen bodes well for the future of Observerland teams.

BY C.J. RISAK STAFF WRITER

Last season, eight seniors dominated the all-Observer girls soccer first team.

Conclusion: There would be plenty of rebuilding this season, considering all the talent that was graduating.

It proved accurate, at least in part. The Observerland was filled with teams heavy in underclassmen in '94. But that doesn't mean quality was lacking.

Not at all.

Three members of the '93 all-Observer first team return. But this time, just five of the 11 first-team players are seniors; four are juniors, one's a sophomore and another is a freshman.

Another obvious conclusion: Come 1995, it's going to be pretty difficult to find a spot on this team, with six players returning from the '94 first team.

One more thing — the lack of an Observerland team in this season's state final was nothing more than a momentary lapse, an aberration. Count on it. Livonia Churchill made it furthest, reaching the quarterfinals before getting upset by Northville.

Churchill loses two starters to graduation. The rest of the Western Lakes Activities Association is equally young.

Here's the first-team choices, selected by area coaches.

Marie Spaccarotella, Livonia Churchill, forward: It would be difficult to find someone who's made as big a goal-scoring impact in her first two years. As a freshman in '93, Spaccarotella scored 25 goals. She outdid herself this season - she pumped in 27 goals and assisted on 11 others.

Numbers like those are a pretty good reason why Spaccarotelia has been all-Observer the past two seasons. She forces teams to alter their defense to accommodate her. At her current pace - 52 goals in two seasons - she'll surpass 100 before she graduates.

Spaccarotella was also an all-WLAA firstteam pick and an all-state selection

All Lord, North Farmington, forward: Whatever the Raiders accomplished this season could be directly attributed to Lord.

The junior forward (second team all-Observer in '93) was rewarded for her remarkable season - she scored 31 goals and assisted on five others - by being named the WLAA's most valuable player. She was also an allstate selection.

In three seasons, Lord has totaled 70 goals. 'Ali Lord is a fine player with enthusiasm and commitment for to the game," said North coach Kris Galczyk. "With her positive attitude, she has become an accomplished player and leader. She has inborn athletic abilities and continues to work hard to develop her Theresa Cisco, Farmington Hills Mercy, forward: A senior, Cisco made the all-Obse er squad by virtue of a strong final prep season that saw her fill a variety of positions --striker, stopper, midfleider.

A team captain, she led the Marlins with nine goals and two assists, was named all-Catholic League and was Mercy's most valu-able player. She was also all-league academically and graduated cum laude.

Theresa is a complete package player, said Mercy coach Deepak Shivraman. "She has speed, skills and smarts. Theresa can be lethal up front and she can secure the defense with tough play. She is a great leader on and off the field

Aimee Cousino, Livonia Churchill, midfielder: Unlike the roving Cisco, Cousino moved into the center midfield slot as a fresh-Richters was a member of the Detroit Rockers the last two seasons. What he didn't realize when he signed his contract prior to last year was that contained an option for another year.

That's the problem. When Rockers' star Andy Chapman announced he had signed to play and coach the Neon, the Rockers filed a lawsuit to prevent it. The courts sided with the Rockers, which meant not just Chapman but all others with similar contracts could neither switch nor play for both teams.

"I'm under contract with the Rockers, and they won't let us play with the Neon," said Richters. "They just don't want to see Rockers in Neon uniforms. It's really a personal conflict — two rich guys (Rockers' owner Mike Ilitch and Neon owner Bill Davidson) competing for the indoor audience.'

Easy Bowler, invented and produced by Southfield resident Dave Bergman, is a device designed to enable physically limited people to fully enjoy the sport who may not be able to do so otherwise.

A person using this device only has to hold onto a release handle, not having to grip the ball with finger holes.

A 10-pound special ball i made for this purpose. Hall of Famer Cora Fiebig recognized the potential of the Easy Bowler and brought it to the attention of Calloway.

They decided it would make rom some interesting competi tion between regular bowlers of all abilities. It eventually evolved into a method of doing a skins game format, separated ov averages into two divisions.

Boot your PC onto our Information Superhighway.

If you can talk RAM, modems, database, and downloading with the best of them, you're ready for OnLine!, the best BBS* deal in town.

But first, before you read further, you'll need a PC and a modem.

Got 'em. Good.

It lets you access Internet E-Mail (that's the global one with more than four million people all over the world), get updated stock quotes, and the West Coast Movie Review Guide.

Newspapers are another super feature-from the one you're reading right now to USA Today and the Associated Press. In fact, OnLine! lets you interact with us. Let's say you pull up the electronic version of this paper. You read an editorial. You have an opinion. A few keystrokes and mouse clicks and you've let us know where you stand on the local issues we write about. And we'll write back.

Or maybe you want to tell Rush Limbaugh what you think. There are hundreds of discussion areas to choose from, and his is just another one of them.

How about games? Or an indexed PC catalog? Or, get this, the Metropolitan Film Guide that lets you check on cult films, second-run features, children's films, educational and travel features, silent classics and first-run movies.

OnLine! subscribers get all of this and more.

You're probably thinking that OnLine! is going to cost the price of a PC, right? Wrong. What if we told you that you could cruise our info superhighway with access to internet E-Mail and newsgroups four hours a day for just $4.95 a month? That's only $59.40 a year. We've also put together a couple of smaller packages: six months/2 hours a day/$35.70 and three months/ 2 hours a day/ $20.85.

If you're ready to order OnLine! and since you're used to electronic communication, we've set up a voice mail deal. Assuming you have a touch tone phone, just decide which package you want, have your Visa or Mastercard card handy and be ready to tell us your diskette format-3.5 or 5.25-then call

If you are a native of the area, then chances are you have some special memories of days spent at Burroughs Farm Brighton, Michigan. From 1928 through 1981 it was the place to be for summertime fun with cottages, campsites, golf courses, softball fields, swimming and a dance hall enjoyed by thousands of local residents. Burroughs Corporation developed this "playground" or recreational center for use by all employees and invited guests. For 53 years, Burroughs Farm created the kind of memories that still linger today.

Burroughs Farm Today

What happened is something spectacular as golf enthusiasts in the area have already discovered. Oak Pointe Country Club quietly debuted as a private country club in 1992 with new ownership and a new vision.

Club Corporation of America (CCA), the world's largest owner of private clubs, purchased the golf courses and started developing a private country club. Other clubs in the CCA roster include Firestone Country Club in Akron, Ohio, Pinehurst Resort in North Carolina and Mission Hills in California.

Above - Until the 1980's, Burroughs Corporation provided cottages for its employees and guests to reside in while enjoying the recreation at Burroughs Farm.

Oak Pointe Club Members enjoy membership privileges at over 200 other Associate Clubs and Resorts throughout the world.

A Premiere Private Country Club

The focal point of the 700 acre exclusive community is the recently opened 18-hole Honors Course, designed by famed golf course architect Arthur Hills. His remarkable imagination is evident throughout the course, which is indelibly inscribed upon the natural beauty of the terrain.

Driven by Members needs and building for the future, the Club recently unveiled it's tennis/swim complex as a featured Member amenity. Four lighted tennis courts, a heated Junior Olympic pool, snack bar and locker rooms, complete the Oak Pointe offering. In addition to recreational opportunities, Club Members delight in the 26,000 square foot clubhouse which opened in 1993. The best of both worlds is provided in an atmosphere of formal elegance alongside casual settings to accommodate business and social needs.

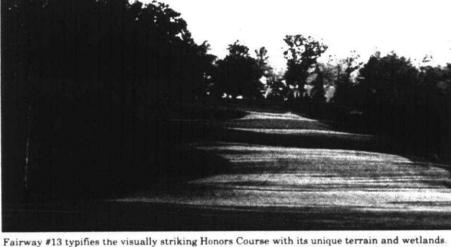

The Tradition Continues

Oak Pointe Country Club is under the auspices of a 29 member Board of Governors comprised of prominent business and community leaders. The Board has been instrumental in developing the Club's membership which has grown to over 200 golfing Members. Oak Pointe Country Club is once again a valued recreational and social amenity for the community.

Membership in Oak Pointe Country Club is limited and by invitation only. To arrange a Club visit or learn more about membership, please call the Club's membership office at (810) 229-4554.

FAMILY ROOM

KAREN MEIER

Room to share especially with that gold chair elcome to the Family Room! What you've got here is a brand-new column. Brand spankin' new! And I've got to tell you, I'm really excited about this!

First, let me introduce myself. I'm Karen Meier and I live on a tree-lined street in Plymouth with my husband of nearly 13 years and our four children. My oldest is 10 and my youngest is almost as new as this column.

I've lived in all sorts of places in my life. The farthest away would have to be Valencia, Venezuela. Right there by the equator. And hot, hot, hot. Just like this past week in Michigan.

And the smallest place I've lived in would have to be Cedar Springs, Mich., the red flannel capital of the world. Population when I lived there - 1,800. Main Street had one stop light and not only that, the mayor used to play the organ in the movie theater every Saturday night before the show started.

And let's see, a place I'd like to go but have never been? That would be Seattle, Wash., to visit my brother whom I haven't seen in 10 years, ever since my first born was 2-weeks-old. That brother writes movie reviews for a newspaper out there and gets to interview all sorts of famous movie stars and has his face on billboards and on the sides of buses. Pretty neat, I must say. So, OK, enough of that.

Now let me tell you a little bit about this brand-new column. In the Family Room, you're likely to find just what you'd expect to find in that room in the house where the family gathers. Comfortable things, pleasant things, and if not altogether pleasant, at least kind of funny. There'll be no harsh stuff, no really sad stuff that has to stay out. I said so.

Now since my own family room in my own house on the tree-lined street in Plymouth was the inspiration for this column, I'll let you see what that room looks like.

Child's game

Here is the family room couch. They just don't make 'em like this anymore. The cushions are indestructible. The children use them in this definitely-against-Dad's-rules game called "Jump Stand." They stack all three cushions one on top of the other, then add other pillows, climb to the top and leap off. Part of the game is to scream really loudly on landing, feigning hideous injury

Getting fit Doctor practices 'assisted survival'

Dr. Roger Ajluni believes that rather than practicing secondary prevention, the medical profession should focus on what he likes to call "assisted survival" - helping people stay healthy. He does it through his Medical Fitness Center.

BY SUE MASON STAFF WRITER

If Dr. Roger Ajluni has one disappointment with the Clinton Health Care Plan, it is its lack of promoting disease prevention. The president 'made an excellent point that the American public, to get more out of their health care dollars, must assume some measure of responsibility" for their care, but he has let politics water down the issue of prevention, according to Ajluni.

The best, viable alternative to the high cost of medical care is the prevention of disease," the Livonia physician said. "It's been proven possible to prevent disease with a change of lifestyle.

Ajluni might be considered a maverick, with what he calls his "assisted survival" philosophy of helping people live healthy lives. An internist, he would like to redefine the role of the physician from treating sick people to promoting quality of life with the prevention of disease. That's the reason he opened his Medical Fitness Center five years

The center may be one of Livonia's best-kept secrets, not that Ajluni wants it that way. He's filled the third floor of the office building he built on Farmington Road with equipment that reads like a who's who in the fitness business Stairmaster, Nordic Trae Healthrider, Lifecycle and Keiser. Track.

Some people might consider what he has done as "unorthodox and crazy." After all, he has spent $3 million creating a fitness center to promote assisted survival. It's for people - not necessarily his patients who wish to promote and maintain their health as well as for those in need of medical rehabilitation. And just because it has "medical" in its name doesn't mean you have to be sick to work up a sweat there.

Ajluni need only look to his cousin, who has been a member for three years, to show what assisted survival can mean. When John first started ounv working out his blood pressure was 150/80. Now it's down to 120/80. "It's just like a family here," he said of the fitness center. "When you don't come, people ask where you've been. They make 'hello' calls if you haven't shown up in a while. They (the staff) walk with you; they check your blood pressure. They poke you in the belly and tell you to cut it out.

Workin' out: Warren Petersen of Livonia does some upper body exercising on an Uppercycle at Dr. Roger Ajluni's Medical Fitness Center.

Shenanigans," my mother would call it

Oh, and this over there, this the most comfortable chair in the room. It's not much to look at as you can see. It's getting a bit threadbare after 13 years and that gold color is rather funky, but I wouldn't get rid of it, even though my husband thinks we probably should. Look at the seat on it - it's huge. All four children and I can sit on that old relic and still have room left over for the cat. On second thought, maybe not; she's pretty fat. Anyway, it's a great chair.

Now from here you can see right through to the front door. And since summer is here the front door stands open from early in the morning to late in the evening. So what happens out there on the porch, or the front yard, or the sidewalk, can be seen, or at least heard from in here. And that includes bits of conversation spoken by passersby as they make their way to the Arbor store up the street. And it includes the clunk of our mailbox shutting after the mail lady stuffs it full of mostly junk every afternoon.

On the waterfront

And right here behind you is the sliding door to the back yard. Look down there, that's the creek. It's right there behind those huge trees the forest, I call it. It's hard to see the creek from here today, but just a couple of weeks ago when we had all that rain, that tame little stream turned into a raging river.

And believe it or not, I've seen that creek overflow its muddy banks and swirl about on the forest floor back there during some mighty storms. That causes a good deal of excitement around here. I've seen folks, grown ones, dressed in their pajamas and boots and rain hats go out during an early morning downpour to see and point and exclaim. All on account of that little creek. That little creek.

You know what? I bet its waters wind up in big, important rivers and busy, noisy ports somewhere far, far away. Maybe that water finds its way to the ocean, somehow. Probably not, but it's neat to think about.

Oh, and of course, right there is the kitchen counter. June is Perpetual Mess Month for that counter. You see, there's the result of last week's end-of-the-school-year locker cleanout day. It's every three months.

Opening the facility was the fulfillment of a dream for Ajluni, and while it has given him "very personal satisfaction," on a professional level, he has found only a few people who share his belief in assisted survival. Hospitals and physicians for the most part focus on secondary prevention, treating the illness, rather than primary prevention, keeping the patient healthy.

"If you have 100 people and five have heart attacks and strokes, the hospital will concentrate on the care of those five and engage in secondary prevention," Ajluni said.

"The other 95 are potential candidates for primary prevention. A change in their lifestyle could postpone or prevent disease. A change in lifestyle could literally squeeze out another 10-15 years.

"But the role of doctors and hospitals up until now has been secondary prevention.

He points to statistics that show assisted survival can work. In 1965, $4 billion was spent in the United States on coronary heart disease.

Heart attacks were common, with six out of 10 people dying from

Summer's here, and for many folks that means adding some color to their pale skin, whether in a tanning booth, at the beach or stretched out on a lounge chair in the backyard.

But exposure to the sun now, even in the tanning booth, can lead to skin cancer later in life.

trees No matter how we choose to name the trees, the forest of death appears alive and well. More and more death is the accepted, and for some, the approach of choice when it comes to a problem. Be it pregnancy, pain or penal conundrum, death is more and more the accepted solution. Each of the issues is larger than it would seem. Be it abortion, or suicide or capital punishment, the basic question remains the same, what is the place of death as a response to problems? When we first heard of the abortion solution, it was presented within the context of incestuous rape cases. Physician assisted suicide has been put forth in the context of the most grotesque pain. Capital punishment has been touted in light of horrendous and heinous crime, as if all violent crime is not heinous in its own way. However, the landscape of reasons has changed. Students, not all by any means, but more than some would guess, write thesis

> Have we perhaps bought into more than we bargained for? Can we continue in the direction we seem to be heading without arriving at this kind of thinking? The logic behind it all is that death is preferable to inconvenience and even overcrowding.

> What kind of future priorities are we building into the world of our tomorrows? What will the people who write thesis papers today decide about our lives when we are crowding a hospital or draining a health care system? Some have already suggested that folks over a certain age should not be allowed medication.

We would like to think that things will not get past the point we want them to. But maybe they already have.

In either case the faster the vehicle is moving the more difficult it is to put it in reverse.

Heart attacks were common, with six out of 10 people dying from them. Twenty-five years later, $122 billion has been spent and the mortality has dropped from 60 percent to 47 percent.

"That cost $122 billion and, even allowing for inflation, the credit for the reduction in mortality doesn't go to the medical profession; it goes to the American people," he said. "Eleven percent is largely due to a change in lifestyle - exercise diet - the other 2-3 percent is what we got for $122

"The evidence is that a change in lifestyle can postpone or prevent cardiovascular disease.

Shared philosophy

Dawn Bowers buys into the prevention philosophy, dividing er exercise time between the Medical Fitness Center and anhas been crowned the Stairmaster queen for her 45-minute to onehour workouts. She also lifts weights, rides the bikes and walks.

"It's hard to get friends to be disciplined and motivated like I am," she said. "I work out five-six days a week, two hours a day.

Bowers works out at MFC three of those days and has found it offers a more personalized service, and has a smaller clientele and a qualified staff. Another plus You don't have to wait for a ma-

Bowers was surprised when she visited the center for the first time. She had thought it was for physical therapy and was surprised to find it so well equipped. She's been exercising at the center three times a week since December and last month spotted something new on the

"Is that the new Covert Bailey bike?" she asked, pointing to one of the exercise bikes. "I just saw that on TV last week."

"We have programs that are set for our individual ability and I think it's helped," she said as they rode side by side on exercise bikes. "My arthritis isn't as bad as it was."

The Bammels are at the center The Bammels are at the center three days a week; the other two days they work out by walking. "I haven't lost much weight, but I've lost size," Don added. "I definitely feel the difference in my interest in the medical profession in the tri-county area. He suspects that a lot of doctors agree with his idea, but it's not financially rewarding. As for hospitals

"I've found hospitals reluctant to engage in this endeavor, I've found that fitness and prevention are not a part of their mission," he said. "They're in the business of taking care of a sick person when they get sick and making money off it.

But such lack of support hasn't deterred Ajluni. The welcome mat at his fitness center is out for anyone and everyone.

Also, one in every three new cancers diagnosed is a skin cancer. Yet most cases can be avoided, according to Balle. "At least 75 percent of all skin cancers can be prevented, if simple precautions are taken against the sun's ultraviolet radiation," he said.

Physicians at Henry Ford Hospital recommend the following precautions to lessen the chances of developing skin cancer:

Minimize sun exposure, especially during the peak sun hours of 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. when the sun's rays are most intense.

Wear protective clothing during prolonged periods in the sun. such as sun hats, pants and longsleeved shirts.

Apply a sunscreen liberally and frequently and reapply every two hours when working, playing or exercising outdoors. A sunscreen with Sun Protection Factor (SPF) of at least 15 is recommended for protection against skin cancer and premature aging of the skin. even on cloudy days because 80 percent of the sun's rays penetrate the clouds.

Beware of reflective surfaces. Sand, snow, concrete and water can reflect up to 85 percent of the sun's damaging rays.

Avoid tanning parlors and sun lamos The ultraviolet rays emitted by these artificial sources are similar to those in sunlight and can cause sunburn, premature aging of the skin and increase the risk of skin cancer.

Protect children by keeping them out of the sun or by minimizing sun exposure, especially those under the age of six months. Apply sunscreens on children older than six months of age. Teach children and teenagers sun protection since skin damage from sun exposure accumulates over a lifetime. The majority of damage from the sun occurs before the age of 20. One or more blistering childhood or adolescent Squamous cell carcinoma is the second most common form, affecting 130,000 people and causing 2,300 deaths in the U.S. this year. It usually appears as raised, red or pink, scaly nodules or wartlike growths that ulcerate in the center

Squamous cell carcinoma is two to three times more common in men than in women and usually found on sun-exposed areas of the body such as the face, lips, neck, arms, hands and back.

Both of these types of cancer have a 95 percent cure rate, if detected and treated early enough.

Malignant melanoma is the most serious form of skin cancer and can be fatal. The incidence of malignant melanoma increased 500 percent between 1950 and 1985 and 94 percent between 1980 and 1989.

Malignant melanoma is characterized by the uncontrolled growth of pigment-producing tanning cells, and may develop from or near a mole. They are found most frequently on the upper backs of men and women, and legs of women, but can occur any where on the body.

If untreated, it can spread throughout the entire body. Statistics show that 75 percent of all skin cancer deaths are from malignant melanoma. In 1993, 6,800 deaths were attributed to it and of those deaths, 4,200 were men and 2.600 were women.

It's high time those children cleared that away, thay pile is starting to annov me big time.

And right next to that pile is the result of my picking 18 pounds of strawberries with the children last Sunday - the zillion containers of strawberry jam and the loaves and loaves of strawberry bread. They're still awaiting distribution or storage. I'm starting to annoy myself big time with that.

And here are the maps from AAA. We're in the final stages of planning our family vacation. This stack of mail balancing precariously on the very top of all of it will be cleared away tomorrow morning.

Tomorrow I'll sort through al that jazz carefully and put it away in drawers or cupboards or the garbage can, wherever it makes sense to put it. Sometimes, I have to put the stuff where it doesn't make any sense at all, like when my sister drops by unexpectedly and I have to hurry up and I can't concentrate. The outing raised more than $6,500 for Hospice Services of Western Wayne County Inc.

Following a buffet luncheon the golfers teed off in a shotgun start for the four-person scrambles event. Four hole-in-one contests offered opportunities for prizes in addition to contests for the longest drive and closest to the nin for both men and women. After the golf event, participants and guests were treated to

Four teams tied for the first place - Ziomek Funeral Home's team of Chris Ziomek, Art Kreinbring, Rod Wesley and Bruno Ziomek; MLW Associates team of Beth Lurtz, Terry Lurtz, Bruce Gerish and Wes Henrickson; Ace Business Form's team of Art Zucal, Pat Zucal, Gary Van-Buren and Chuck Skene; and Phase's team of Pete Burgeron, Joe Savol, Chip Sabadash and Phil Ihlenfeldt.

The men's longest drive contest winner was Mark Wilson, repre senting Bon Secours Home Medical. The men's closest-to-the-pin winner was Carl Taplin, repre-

I'm very thankful for the all the people who made this event possible, especially our generous sponsors and all the exceptional volunteers."

The event was sponsored in part by People's Home Medical of Southgate. According to Brian Palmer, director of operations, the organization "is interested in helping Hospice Services because we believe in their mission of car ing for the incurably ill."

"We want to support Hospice Services anyway we can," he added. "This first golf event was a success, and I'm looking forward to next year's event."

The foundation and the Hospice workers also earned praise from Jim Cantrell, president of Community Federal Credit Union in Plymouth, for a great job put ting on the golf event.

"What a great outing! Everything was well done," he said. Hospice Services was establish ed in 1981 to offer compassionate skilled home-care to those individuals who face an incurable illness. Forest tour recommended to view Kirtland's warbler

WICKI first car all incite a sense of awe.

Endangered species engender the same kind of feeling to many. Each species has survived the test of time, but for various reasons their numbers have declined to only a few. To see one of the remaining few elicits a bittersweet feeling. It is sweet to see it, but bitter because there are few remaining.

Each species is a work of art, sculpted and shaped by time, the environment and interactions with others. Each species is unique, that is what makes it a species. Watching and learning about how each species interacts with its environment makes that species even more interesting.

This past weekend our family saw a rare and unique species of Michigan — a Kirtland's warbler. Currently, it is estimated that there are just slightly more than 1,200 individual birds in the world. Though they were probably never really common, their numbers this year are higher than they have been since counts started in 1951.

We watched a singing male near the road perched on a jack pine, the only kind of tree this bird nests under. It was simply grand to see a survivor of a species whose population had dropped to 334 in 1974 and again in 1987.

These figures are pretty accurate because the Kirtland's warbler only nests in jack pine forests, primarily within two counties in northern lower Michigan. Wildlife biologists can accurately count the entire population within this size area.

If you would like to treat your-

Doug Mason was our guide and not only did he show us a Kirtland's warbler, but we saw Brewer's blackbirds, clay-colored sparrow, eastern bluebirds, upland sandpiper and more.

Meet at the U.S. Forest Service office in either Grayling, or Mio at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday through Friday; or 7:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Saturday and Sunday. Tours only run until July 4, 1994, so hurry.

Know when to water during summer heat

he recent water rationing has reminded us that prudent use of water is essential when we garden. Our lawns can go without water and will become dormant during the hot summer months if water is withheld, but the grass will green up again when it rains without any harm to it.

Drip irrigation and/or soaker hoses direct water on plants and apply it at the soil level, keep the foliage dry, and thus help to eliminate diseases and insect problems.

Plants signal when it's time to water. If they wilt during a hot day, if the soil around them is damp, they will generally recover by early evening, so there is no cause to worry. If, though, the plants don't recover by early the next morning, it's time to water. Don't wait until the leaves shrivel. Watering deeply once or twice a week is better than shallow watering - drip irrigation is perfect for this job and is so simple to do once the hoses are in place.

Several companies make soaker hoses and drip irrigation kits. Moisture-Master by Aquapore Moisture Systems Inc. uses a blend of recycled rubber and polyethylene, and adds ultraviolet inhibitors for long life. Irrigro makes a trickle irrigation kit. It is distributed by Laid Back Enterprises. Wade Rain manufactures Acu-Soaker systems and Rain-Drip produces both soakers and drip irrigation kits. You will find the one suitable for your situation in many local garden supply stores.

Many drought-tolerant plants grow well in our area and are readily available. Your county extension agent can help, or you can consult your landscaper.

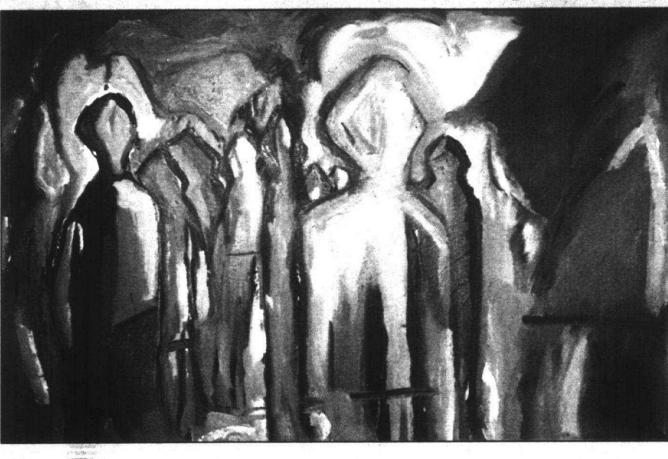

For more information about wise water use in the garden, "Water-conserving Gardens and Landscapes," John M. O'Keefe ($12.95, soft; Storey), gives good advice on the subject.

Dianthus directions

I have had much success growing several species of Dianthus for a number of years and don't pamper them with special watering practices.

During the recent Metropolitan Detroit Landscape Association/Meadow Brook Landscape and Garden Show I was surprised to find that many people didn't know the name of the pretty little flower that graced some of the beds.

Dianthus is a hardy perennial that blooms for most of the gardening season, well into September. The species range from 3 inches to 1 to 2 feet tall and are perfect for edging a bed or in a rock garden. They brighten an area in con

Canton shows fine arts and crafts

Lynnette Anderson conveys the beauty of nature and Native Americans in oil and pastel paintings. Her work will be on exhibit as part of the fine arts and crafts show at Liberty Fest '94 Saturday-Sunday, June 25-26, at Heritage Park in Canton.

ynnette Anderson developed a love for nature while grow-ing up on an Illinois farm. She successfully transfers that love to canvas using an earth-colored palette and style she refers to as abstract expressionism.

Anderson will exhibit paintings in oil and pastel along with nearly 50 other fine artists and crafters at Liberty Fest '94 June 25-26 at Heritage Park in Canton Township (see accompanying story). The fourth annual show, sponsored in part by Canton Parks and Recreation, runs 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Mystical dream-like scenes of Native Americans, impressionistic florals and wildlife done in realism illustrate the 29-year-old Sunday School teacher's amazement with God's creations. Anderson asks "Who else could make something so beautiful?"

"I really love the outdoors and nature. I believe in being aware of your surroundings and having a deep respect for it," said Anderson in an interview at the home she shares with husband Aric and daughters Courtney, 6, and Cristen, 3, in Canton Township.

"I always like to paint what I feel is beautiful and I've always been fascinated with Native Americans because my grandfather's father was a full-blooded Cherokee."

Think taxes before buying vacation home

It's that time of year when thoughts turn to summer vacations and dreams of owning a special get-

There are distinct benefits to buying a vacation home: You have a place available for your recreational use and an asset that may appreciate over the years. However, there's no getting around the fact that vacation homes are expensive to own.

The Farmington Hills-based Michigan Association of CPAs (MACPA) points out that the tax law contains some provisions that can help offset the costs of owning a vacation home. The tax advantages available to you depend on whether you use the vacation home solely for your personal use, or whether you rent it out.

If you buy a vacation home solely for your personal use, you may deduct mortgage interest and property taxes, just as you would on your principal residence. Keep in mind that you may take the deduction for mortgage interest on only one property other than your principal residence. Under the tax law, you can also rent your vacation home for up to 14 days a year without reporting the income to the IRS. However, other than mortgage interest and taxes, your rental expenses are not deductible. Different tax rules apply to rental properties. If you buy a vacation home as a rental investment and don't plan to use it yourself, you may fully deduct costs associated with maintaining and operating the house. including mortgage interest, property taxes, insurance, advertising, broker fees, utilities, repairs and depreciation. Your deduction is subject to passive activity loss limitations, which generally limit your deductions to the amount of your passive income. However, an exception exists that allows you to deduct rental losses of up to $25,000 if you are an active owner with adjusted gross income of less than $100,000. The $25,000 allowance is phased out as AGI increases from $100,000 to $150,000.

If you use the house and rent it, you still may be able to deduct the costs of operating and maintaining your rental property (subject to the passive loss rules). To do so, your personal use must not exceed 14 days during the tax year or 10 percent of the days during the year that the dwelling is rented at fair market rental, whichever is greater. (Fair market rental is the amount you could receive for the house if you rented it on the open market.) However, in determining whether your use falls within this category, it's important to understand the IRS's definition of personal use.

Under the tax law, your vacation home is considered to have been used for personal purposes any day, or part of a day, that it is used by you or anyone who rents it at less than fair market rental. Even if certain family members, including your parents, siblings or children, pay a fair rent to use the house, the IRS still considers this personal use.

Be aware, too, that even if you donate a week at your vacation home to a charitable cause, such as a church auction, that week counts as personal use days.

If your property is rented for 15 or more days during the tax year and personal use exceeds the greater of 14 days or 10 percent of the days the vacation home is rented, your rental expenses are deductible only to the extent of your rental income. As a result, you cannot claim a rental loss.

In addition, tax law specifies that you claim your expenses in a certain order. First you deduct expenses related to obtaining tenants, such as advertising and rental agency fees. Then you deduct interest, property taxes and casualty losses. Next. you deduct insurance, utilities, repairs and other operating expenses, and, lastly, depreciation. The law is structured this way to prevent individuals from taking excessive deductions when there is personal use of a vacation home.

Deductible rental expenses also must be allocated to the days of rental use. Since the formula is complicated, you may want to consult with your CPA to assist you in determining the correct amount of deductible rental expenses.

you from buying the vacation home of your dreams. Just remember that the more you use the house for your own creation, the less you can count on Uncle Sam to help foot the bill. The Michigan Association of CPAs

Developer obligated to solve nagging floor leak

Q. I am a senior CONDO citizen on a limited QUERIES income. I bought a condominium in 1990 and in 1993 water began pour-195 ing into my basement from the floor behind my living 1 room. The floor supports a pre-fab ROBERT M. gas fireplace chim-MEISNER ney.

Apparently, this leak has been going on since construction and the water finally rotted a hole in the floor, which made the leak apparent. I found my ceiling wet in the living room and moved two large chests from either side of the fireplace to find the carpet soaked and rusted, tackodor was had in the carpeting so the carpeting and padding had to be removed. The subfloor revealed multiple water stains a foot or more out from the wall and 20 feet in length.

When I contacted the builder, he waited 60 days to send out a handyman, who admitted he did not know where the water was coming from and proceeded to tar and caulk. Water continued to flow in before a roofer was sent out by the builder and again the leak wasn't fixed.

Our representative wrote the builder, explaining the leak was not fixed and he informed her she was not to write about the leak again.

less and black. Once disturbed, the builder by telephone. Another coowner who had a similar leak was made to wait six months until the repair took place, claiming we are not under warranty.

The association just took over control because of bad management, and I was told the first thing to be done was the roof repairs. The new board called a meeting and discussed the management problems with the co-owners and allowed them to decide my fate. They are still fooling around, and seven months have gone by.

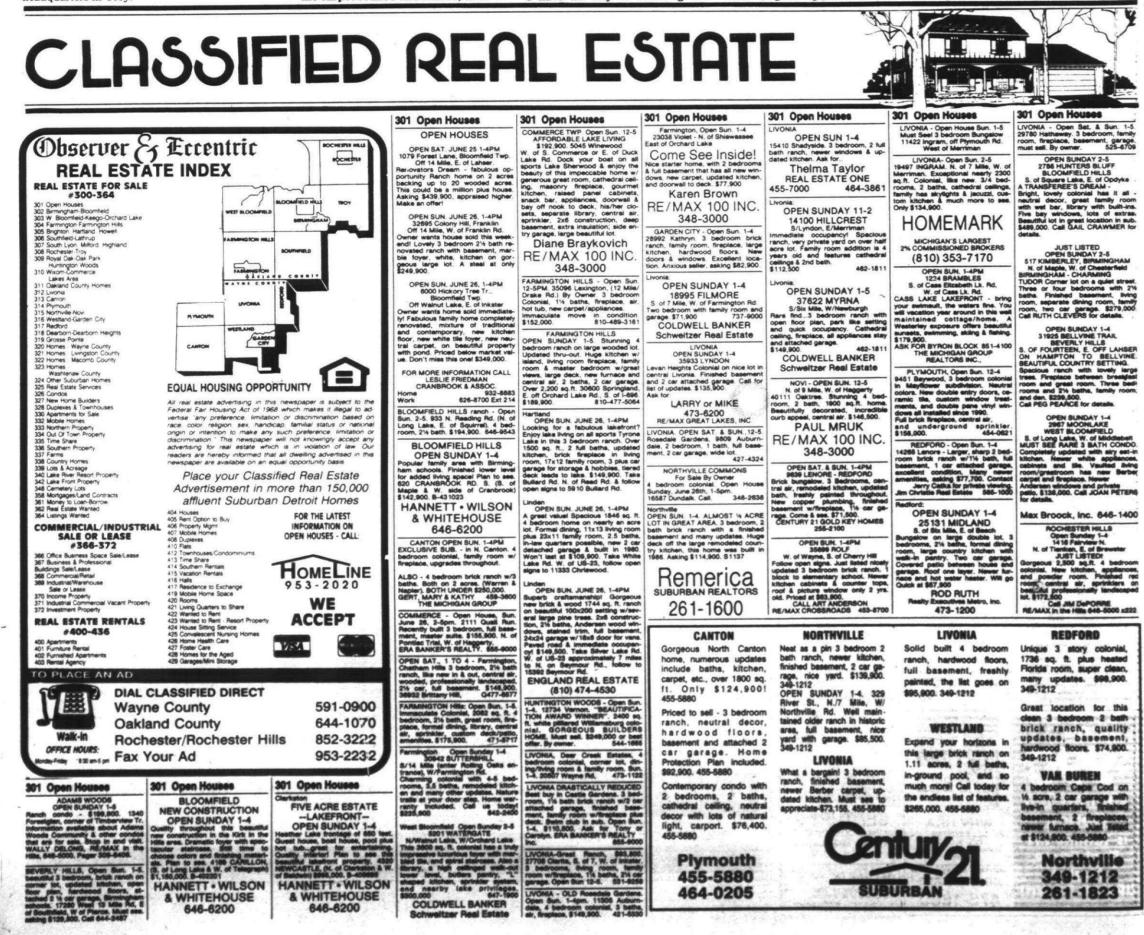

Shouldn't the board be function ing on this management activity? No one seems to care, and I feel helpless because I do not have the money to hire an attorney. I am also concerned about what kind of I have no way of reaching the mold is growing behind my living room wall and what is the condition of the insulation, yet the association expects me to continue giving the management fee.

A. I empathize with your fate. It would appear that the developer has an implied warranty, if not an express warranty to deal with your problem. Check with the city to determine whether the developer is continuing to construct any units, either at that condominium project, or any other, and register a complaint both with the city and the state.

I would write the board, reminding that it has the exclusive responsibili ty to maintain the common areas in the condominium and that it should not be left to a vote of the homeown ers as to whether the board dis charges its legal and professional responsibilities.

More buildings boast polymer panels

A small company that manufactures exterior panels for office buildings is working hard to promote the product to architects and contractors. Polymer synthetic concrete panels offer many advantages over architectural concrete, supports say.

usiness is picking up for Metro Cast, described by its . sales rep as the oldest manufacturer of precast polymer panels in the country. As architects and commercial builders learn more about the product, business should get even better, said Donato E. Paolucci, who started the company in 1971 and moved to Westland five years ago. "You have to constantly promote,"

Paolucci said. "We have to promote to architects where they can specify our product. We never had an association where we pay our dues and someone else promotes.

"Architects really dictate what we're doing," said Al Swerdlow, marketing manager, who projected sales this year in excess of $2 million.

Polymer concrete - a mixture of sand and resin - is lighter, stronger, more pliable and more water resistant than architectural concrete, a mixture of sand and cement. Paolucci said.

"Our work is mostly for institutional buildings and government projects where the money is," he said. "It's usually not smaller shopping centers where they use cheaper materials.'

Projects in process, recently completed or on the drawing board include renovation of the Troy Municipal Building; a new student center at Grand Valley State University near Grand Rapids; a dome for a new church in Canonsburg, Pa.; and two highway patrol buildings off the New Jersey Turnpike.

Five workers at Metro Cast make the precast panels by hand. They mix the polymer concrete, trowel the mixture into molds and build mounting frames. Finish is determined by design of the mold, the amount and kind of sand added to the mixture and troweling experience.

"It's a skill - more than just pouring concrete," Swerdlow said.

In addition to a smooth cast finish, options include limestone-like finish, sand finish, aggregate stone finish and texture finish. When we started out, aggregate panel was the preferred mate-rial," Paolucci said. "Now that's out

"Smooth but groves. Lines. Something you can see," Swerdlow added.

The panels can be welded or bolted to girders of a building.

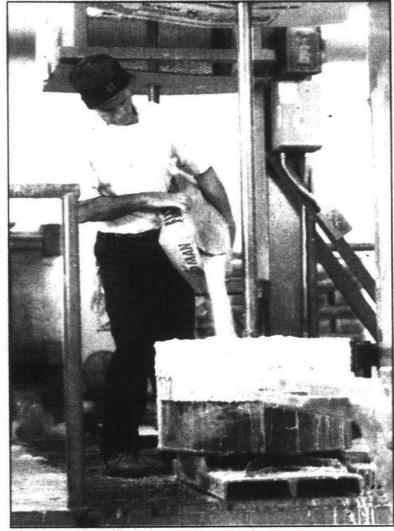

Paolucci said he helped research the polymer process when working for Architectural Research in the early 1960s. That company has since gone out of business, he said. Proponents of the product tout its advantages. "This material, sand and poly mer, doesn't absorb water," said

Escrow fallout: William R. Yaw Jr., a vice president with Standard Federal Bank, describes how the new state school financing plan affected his bank and its customers.

Proposal A to affect summer taxes

BY DOUG FUNKE STAFF WRITE

The final fallout from the great school financing explosion in Michigan is about to drift into suburbia.

Summer tax bills, reflecting a dramatic cut in school property taxes for most homeowners, are due out in July.

This is the first billing notice individuals and mortgage lenders will receive since school property taxes were eliminated by the Legislature in 1993, then partially restored by voters in March via Proposal A.

Homeowners who pay their taxes through escrow accounts serviced by financial institutions have been affected. So, too, have banks and savings & loans.

Standard Federal Bank, headquartered in Troy, is the mortgage volume leader in Michigan both in number of loans and dollar amount.

"We do more lending than the next three in total - NBD, Comerica and First Federal (of Michigan)," said William R. Yaw Jr., senior vice resident and director of marketing for Standard Federal Bank.

The bank services some 221,000 mortgages nationwide, most in Michigan, with an aggregate value of $13.7 billion, he said. Branches are located in every Observer & Eccentric community

Following are edited excerpts from a recent interview with Yaw:

What were the thoughts here at the bank as the school financing drama unfolded?

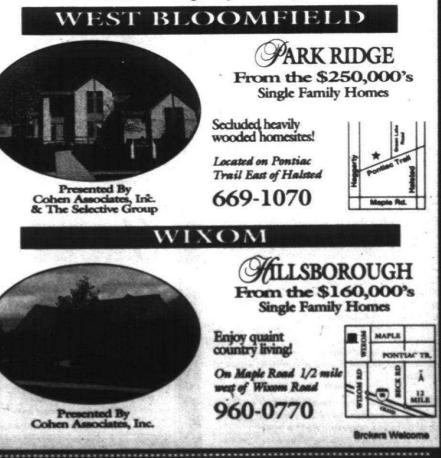

Yaw: I don't think we'd want to take a political position. All we had to do was follow it and stay on top of whatever came out. If it were better (to finance) with a sales tax and transfer tax, so be it.

There were no computer program adjustments of major consequence, nothing that we had to collect any differently.

So what happened to escrow accounts?

Yaw: Escrow analysis typically is done after the first of the year, as soon as your winter tax bills are paid. After we did that, we had to make a readjustment (cut) by state

'We were matching the look of the existing building," she said. Whitton said she would want to study the use of precast polymer panels where people might come into direct contact or perhaps tap them with their vehicles to make sure the product could stand up to abuse

Overall, she would be open to using the panels in applications away from public contact.

"I don't see any real disadvantages," Whitton said. "You can have them made into almost any shape. They produce them very quickly.

Only Metro Cast and a couple others in the metro area make the polymer panels, Paolucci said.

Swerdlow expects that more companies will jump into the sup-"About every six weeks, we run ply business if the process becomes more popular with contractors and architects.

AERBUS-AIREX FACTORY Has Shipped 51 '94 & '95 Class A Motor Homes ORE'S RV to be sold in 10 days (This is a MUST SELL). Wide Body - 102" Why is it the competition never shows a real photograph of their steel roll cage? Could it be they don't have a real steel roll cage? Well, at Rexhall we do, and we're proud of it. Every Airex motorhome is built with our Unibody design. This means we take a complete steel roll cage and weld it directly to the chassis to form a structurally advanced Unibody design. After this, we accume bond Advanced 060° fibernlass to design. After this, we vacuum bond Advanced .060" fiberglass to 1/4" luan, then fasten to roll cage. In the next step, the interior is completely sprayed with polyurethane foam for the finest insulation and structural integrity. Example: First Come, First Serve Suggested Retail - '84,255 Dealers Welcome Once Sold Will Not Be Replaced! Sale Price - *68,975 What Does Not SELL 58 NOW
