New plans in works for Arbor

The proposed shopping center will feature an Arbor Drugs. The planning commission recently recommended approval of the project and it will be considered by Canton Township in July.

Plans are in the works for a shopping center that is expected to feature a second new Arbor Drugs in Canton.

"They submitted a revised plan," said Canton planner Jeff Goulet. "They added 7,000 square feet."

Developer Andrew Ansara late last week submitted plans for a 25,000 square-foot center on 8.1 acres on the northeast corner of Cherry Hill and Sheldon roads.

The proposed shopping center is the second that is planned to feature an Arbor Drugs as an anchor. The Canton Planning Commission recently recommended approval of a site foot center on the northwest corner of Warren and Canton Center roads. The Westbrook plan is expected to be considered by township trustees in July.

Ansara's revised plan for Cavalier Corners, formerly known as the Cherryhill Shopping Center, is larger than the original plan for an 18,000square-foot center. The plan will be considered by planning commissioners July 11.

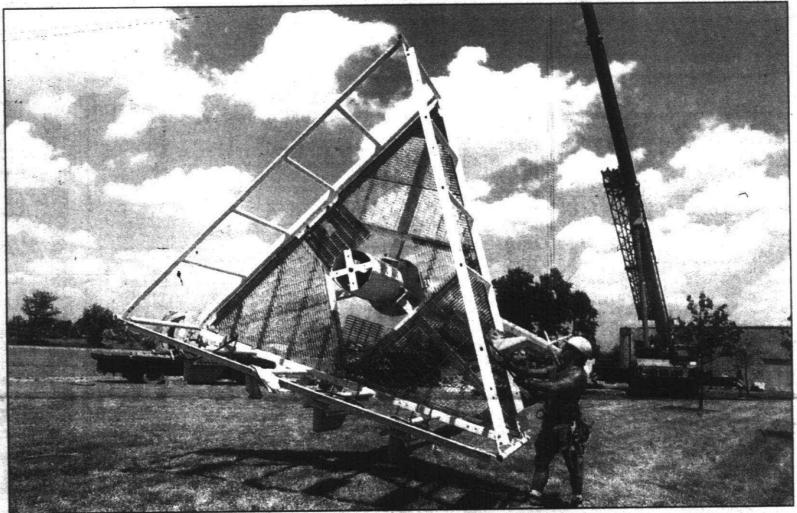

"They had gone through one re-Goulet said of the original plans, for which the developer was tural features.

Goulet said he also was notified that developer Sam Arabbo plans to resubmit plans for the proposed Century Commons shopping center at Haggerty and Palmer. According to township officials who met with Arbor representatives, the drug store chain has not made a commitment for a store in Arabbo's proposed center.

Unlike the Westbrook center, Cavalier Corners and Century Commons are each part of planned unit develop-capital improvements at Lowell Middle School and Gallimore Elementary are potential major expenditures, said Superintendent John Hoben.

"In the future there will be a need south of Joy Road for a middle school. More will be needed along the lines of technology, perhaps with a bond issue in the future," he told the board. "As the debt goes down, you should look at another proposal and extend it into time. It's painless and it allows you to rectify a problem."

School Board President Roland Thomas said it's time to decide what to do about Lowell, the middle school leased from Livonia.

"We're certainly looking at lan guage in the PUDs. We're looking at the architecture (of the proposed center)," said Canton Supervisor Tom Yack.

Unlike the Westbrook property, the Cherry Hill-Sheldon property is deeper, allowing a wider buffer between residents in Cavalier Village subdivision immediately north of the proposed center. The residents would be separated from the center by a storm water pond with trees around it and employee parking, Goulet said.

Meanwhile, residents in Century Farms subdivision have gathered petition signatures opposing Century Commons or any strip mall next to their homes. They also are involved in a letter writing campaign to public officials. Residents also have been in touch with the state Department of Natural Resources to check the Century Commons land for wetlands.

Arbor Drugs will give $7,500 to 11 Sunflower residents to landscape their side of a wall that will separate them from the Westbrook shopping center. Developer Mario Tartagglia also agreed to provide decorative lighting at the are needed for potential tenants center's entrances on Canton and Arbor Drugs employees.

But agreement could not be reached for connecting entrances for Westbrook and the existing First of America bank, which will share the corner with the shopping center. The developer also did not want to give up parking spaces to create additional landscaping at the center. The developer said the spaces, more than required by the township,

Local lawyer stresses caution

BY MARY RODRIQUE

With temperatures in the 90s, boating enthusiasts are taking to the waterways like bees to honey. And Michigan's 875,000 registered boats - more than any other state - make for some of the busiest, most harrowing water traffic in the country. "The majority of accidents on the water occur for the same reason they occur on our highways alcohol," said Donald Krispin, a Redford Township attorney specializing in maritime law.

INTRODUCING

The New Life Center at Providence Park

Where families are born...close to home

Imagine giving birth in a comfortable, home-like atmosphere where you make many of the decisions about your birth experience. And then, think about being able to go home within 24 hours after your baby is born. Well, the New Life Center at Providence Park in Novi offers all that, and it's just minutes from home.

A UNIQUE APPROACH

It's a new beginning. A new way of thinking. And an alternative to traditional hospital births* The New Life Center at Providence Park was born from the success of the New Life Center at Providence Hospital, where for generations, thousands of women have had wonderful, nurturing, family-centered birth experiences.

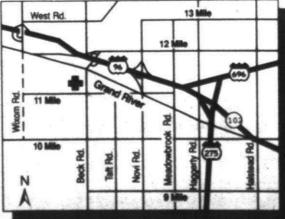

THE CHOICES ARE MANY

From the moment you choose to have your baby with us, many decisions are yours. You may choose to go natural or to have an epidural. You may also prefer to share the event with your loved ones. But the best part is giving birth in a relaxed, home-like atmosphere and having your baby by your side. What's more, a nurse will come to your home for private, follow-up visits. Because that's the kind of extra care, attention and education people expect from Providence.

COME SEE FOR YOURSELF But don't take our word for it. Call 1-800-806-BABY for an appointment to see what the New Life Center at Providence Park has to offer expectant families.

The new student services center at Schoolcraft College will be named after college president Richard W. McDowell Schoolcraft's president since 1964, McDowell, 57, was hired in 1981. He is the third Schoolcraft president to have a building named after him. "Schoolcraft is indeed a very special place," McDowell told the board last Wednesday after it unanimously voted on naming the building. "I'm as proud of it as you are.

After almost nine months of construction, the 61,000-squarefoot, $7.8-million building is on schedule and on budget for comin January 1995, according to Adelard "Butch" Raby, Schoolcraft's vice president of business.

Designed by Redstone Associates of Southfield, the building occupies an acre to the south and west of the library. According to Raby, all underground utility work is complete.

Water, gas and electric services are operable. Structural steel erection is complete, with all exterior concrete block in place. The exterior face brick is complete.

SMART, DDOT consolidate routes

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

The SMART and Detroit bus lines have consolidated four major routes and are offering more service to Wayne, Oakland and Macomb county residents.

As of June 25, the Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation provides 100 percent of the bus service on Michigan Avenue from downtown Detroit to the Ford truck plant in Wayne, and on Jefferson Avenue from Mt. Clemens to Flat Rock.

Detroit Department of Transportation buses have taken sole possession of the Woodward/John R route, which runs from downtown Detroit to to the Oakland Park Towers near Oakland Mall in Troy. DDOT buses have also taken over a downriver route on Fort Street.

Before the consolidation, both bus lines served the same routes:

SC board plans road trip

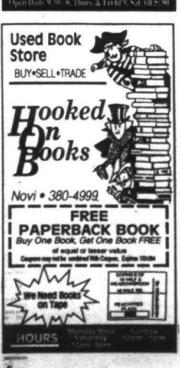

Schoolcraft College trustees agreed Wednesday, June 22, to hold some of their future meetings outside their usual environs on the main campus in Livonia.

"We should occasionally get out of this room and into the district," said board Vice Chairman Harry Greenleaf.

Greenleaf suggested that trustees could hold future meetings in the Clarenceville, Northville and Plymouth/Canton school districts. Trustees already meet once a year in Garden City at the college's Radcliff campus.

No times or places have been agreed on yet, but the next 12 meetings are scheduled for the following dates: Aug. 24, Sept. 28, Oct. 26, Nov. 16, Jan. 25, Feb. 22, March 22, April 26, May 24 and epublican state Rep. Deborah Whyman will host a town meeting 7:30-8:30 tonight in Canton Township Hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

AROUND CANTON

Town meeting

Whyman of Canton will present a report on the state Legislature, including the budget process and how government works.

Whyman is expected to speak for an hour and open the meeting to questions from the audience. Whyman asks residents who wish to attend to call her office, 517-373-2575. She would like to know how many plan to attend so she has enough handouts to distribute.

Free concert

anton Parks and Recreation Services kicks off its 1994 Summer Concert Series at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, July 7, in the Heritage Park amphitheater.

The popular Tom Hewitt Band - guaranteed to bring back Motown memories - will provide the entertainment for the first of eight free concerts throughout the summer.

Concert-goers are urged to bring lawn chairs and blankets. Refreshments and concessions will be available. The concert series is sponsored by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Services and Waste Management-Woodland Meadows Landfill. For more information call parks and recreation, 397-5110.

Reading program

he popular Young Adult Summer Reading Program has just begun at the Canton Public Library. Youngsters 13-18 years of age are invited to participate in the eight-week program, with the theme of "Beyond Stine: Mystery and Horror Tales to Keep You on Edge."

Weekly drawings with prizes donated by local businesses, bookstores, music stores, restaurants and the library, highlight the program. Stop by the adult department information and reference desk to pickup your bookmark and detailed information. For more information, contact the library, 397-0999.

A service that really delivers

■ When Bill Sheehan of Plymouth retired from Ford Motor Co. he started looking for a business to start. He found one and it really delivers. His firm delivers restaurant food to homes in Plymouth and Canton.

By Joanne Maliszewski Staff Writer

You know what it's like. You're just home from work. The last thing you want to do is cook dinner over a hot stove. And you don't want to go out either. Bill Sheehan of Plymouth knows the story. That's where his new franchise Takeout Taxi comes in handy. It delivers the restaurants to you.

"We haven't stereotyped our customers. People from all types of income levels use the service," said Sheehan, who opened the Plymouth-Canton service about three months ago. The first service opened in the Livonia/Northville/Farmington area. A third just opened to cover Westland, Garden City and Dearborn.

You should have received in the mail the booklet featuring 20 participating restaurants in Canton and Plymouth. "This is an exact replication of the menus in the restaurants," Sheehan said. The booklets are updated every three months.

It's a pretty simple system. You pick your meal from one of the restaurants. You dial Takeout Taxi, 513-9000, to place your order. "We

The only thing as pleasant as buying a Saturn is leasing one.

We hope you've heard how unstressful we try to make it for you when you visit a Saturn showroom. (Because who needs more stress, right?) Anyway, we take the same approach to leasing as we do to everything else. So if leasing a Saturn is better for you than buying one (and we can help you figure saturn: that out), then great. The only important thing is to find out how pleasant driving a Saturn can be.

Canton growth

Managing success a challenge or folks in our township it didn't come as much of a surprise that Canton is the second-fastest growing community in southeastern Michigan. We've seen the photos of people waiting in line overnight to buy a house and the prices of some homes hit nearly

The title of second-fastest growing means that Canton Township officials have been doing the right things for both residents and businesses in our community.

But it also means Canton will have to do a good job in the future of managing its own success. That translates into maintaining the quality of life as the population grows.

And Canton has taken some steps toward that. One of the best moves has been to require larger lots in the western portion of the township. That has translated into a larger tax base not only for Canton, but also for the Plymouth Canton schools.

But where there is high intensive development, there are bound to be problems and to us the test of Canton's government comes when those conflicts arise

The Canton Township Board was put to a test recently in a showdown over the proposed construction of an Arbor Drug store at Canton Center and Warren.

Residents objected to the location of the shopping center near their homes and the erection of a concrete wall.

The township couldn't stop construction because the land has been zoned for commercial development for more than 30 years. However, the board and township staff members came up with a compromise. Arbor has agreed to give 11 residents of Sunflower subdivision affected by the proposed construction $7,500 to landscape their side of the wall.

Such compromises are the methods that Canton Canton should continue to use to manage its success.

There will be more situations like the Arbor Drug show down. Canton is still growing this this year. From January through May, the township building department recorded 297 residential building permits compared to 228 in the same time period in 1993. Canton should be proud of the development it has attracted, but at the same time officials should stay on guard to make sure that the things that brought people to the community are retained

Empowerment: On menu for 4th or most of us, the Fourth of July means nothing more than another three-day weekend filled with backyard cookouts, fireworks, parades, or maybe a trip up north. Rarely do we spend time thinking about the revolutionary act, the defiance to the established world order that the Declaration of Independence really was. It was a document put together by businessmen, farmers and shopkeepers who basically said they had a right to govern themselves. Such an idea doesn't seem very radical by today's standards, but more than 200 years ago, in a world ruled by kings and rich landowners, it was revolutionary Those ideas are as alive and powerful today as they were in Philadelphia on that hot July night when they were penned by Thomas Jefferson. Just stop by a local school board or government meeting and listen to the people complain about how they're being treated by government. When a resident stands up to speak out, he or she is using one of the most powerful ideas in the Declaration of Independence:

Government exists for the people. That idea was as powerful a weapon against the rule of English kings as it is now against the bureaucrats who often forget that they work for us and not the other way around. Over the years we've had those who would try to control, kill, or modify our version of democracy expressed in that document. Those threats have come from the political right and Republicans use the phrase "family values" as though they own them. They use it as a way to discredit gays. It's a simple ploy to take a political voice away from a portion of our society.

Those on the left are just as guilty. Political correctness is their version of attempting to take the political voice away from those who see things differently and wish to express

But saner souls will prevail. It just takes a couple of simple acts. Speaking up at government meetings, writing letters to elected officials, and voting give us power.

Suburban communities are having primary elections in August. Traditionally the turnout swing an election. Those groups often have a single agenda. They aren't concerned about "We the people."

Our job is to vote in those elections. The Declaration of Independence established the idea that government should do the best job it can for the largest number of people.

But we can't rely on a more-than-200-yearold piece of paper. We have to make sure that document is alive. And the only way to do that is to become involved in our communities.

Think about it as you celebrate on July 4;

The day of April 30 dawned with miserable cold and wet weather, yet these faithful souls came out armed with shovels, crow bars and sledge hammers. Together they broke down the entire first-floor walls and ceilings and hauled it all out to the Dumpsters. We filled more than two Dumpsters over that weekend

On a second work weekend, we continued to work on the second floor and removed all the walls and filled yet another Dumpster. Undoubtedly this weekend will list among other "incomparable" weekends for the faithful volunteers of the Canton-Plymouth area.

Paul Denski Jr., owner of C.W.R., gracious ly donated the use of the Dumpsters and hauled them away for us. We are lucky to have such a good friend in Canton. Gordon Noakes, owner of E&V Plastic Plating, generously loaned us three men for two days to pull down the ceilings and break down the walls on the second story to expedite the demolition process. We are thankful for his help. The community volunteers numbered many over the four working days. A simple thank-you seems inadequate to express the Historic District Commission's gratitude to these folks. They worked hard, and they worked long and accomplished much. They suffered plaster dust, unidentified falling debris, chilling dampness and mud to help preserve a piece of Canton's heritage.

Thank you all so much for helping to "jump start" the renovation of the Bartlett-Travis house. We couldn't have done it without you. Terri Bennett, Canton

It's no wonder, then, that two centuries later men and women will celebrate America's independence in much the same way as those who started the holiday did: enjoying a cold beer. Hospice offers alternative to assisted suicide

BY CATHY CLOUGH

n the wake of all of the controversy about the legalization of physician assisted suicide, I felt compelled to write and share a little about hospice. Hospice is a viable and, hopefully, the referred alternative.

I've worked at Arbor Hospice as director of bereavement services for almost nine years and have been involved in helping hundreds of people deal with their grief after the loss of a loved one — most having life-limiting

I can think of many of these people who would have been robbed of some special quality time with their loved ones if he or she had chosen to leave this world sooner.

Hospice, not only helps a patient manage pain, but our philosophy of care is based on the fact that the patient is living, not dying. A person's last days or weeks are often times the most meaningful part of his life.

It can be a time when goodbyes are said, broken relationships are healed, when forgiveness is given or received

Hospice is about maximizing the quality of life when the quality of that life can no longer be increased. Can you imagine a "good death?"

We have lots of them in hospice care. It's important to know that hospice neither hastens or postpones death. When a person agrees to become a hos pice patient, he also agrees that no lifesaving measures will be taken to prolong his life when he's ready to go.

Many people think that hospice is a place. It's not a building, but a way of caring for people with life-limiting illnesses. Hospice care is normally done in the home, where most people want to be - with their families. A registered nurse is assigned to each patient and his family and heads up the "team" of hospice personnel who are available to each family. The team consists of home health aides, volunteers, a social worker, a chaplain, a physical therapist, an occupational therapist and, in the case of Arbor Hospice, an art therapist.

We even have a team of professionals

Hospice, not only helps a patient manage pain, but our philosophy of care is based on the fact that the patient is living, not dying. A person's last days or weeks are often times the most meaningful part of his who specialize in working with children who are dying or facing the impending death of a loved one. The registered nurse is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. She attends the death of each patient and, as often as possible, the funeral.

Advocates of physician assisted suicide cite uncontrolled pain as the reason they choose this option. Pain can be horrifying but, in almost all cases it can be managed successfully. Patients with long-standing chronic pain need to be encouraged to seek help through the pain clinics at most medical centhe very purpose of helping people who are suffering with chronic pain. Patients have to be "patient" and work with the clinic. People become discouraged because, often, their pain has not been taken seriously by the medical profession. Their pain will be taken seriously at a pain clinic. Hospice nurses are experts at controlling cancer-related pain. They become advocates for the patient in speaking with the doctor and recommending medications that they feel will work. They don't quit trying until they've managed the pain successfully

How did I get involved in hospice? Eleven years ago my husband, Don Nafe, a Plymouth dentist, was dying, and I was privileged to be able to keep him at home. At the time our three boys were 5, 9 and 16, the younger two not able to understand at all what was happening to their dad. Our nurse ordered a hospital bed to be set up in our iving room and taught me how to administer the pain medications he needed to control the pain. By giving him the drugs before the pain had a chance kept comfortable at home. He was surrounded by the people he loved 24 hours a day, and we could all participate in his care. The kids could see nim in the morning and before they went to bed and didn't have to go to hospital, which can be a really scary place for kids. I have no doubt in my mind that we made the right choice. Those last days were full of love shared by all of us, and I'll never forget them. I wouldn't have traded that time for any-

So, as you can see, there is an alternative to physician assisted or self-inflicted suicide. Hospice is that alternative. Speaking for the families left behind, hospice care is the best option. I know - my life has been forever changed because of hospice.

State's legislators competing for new tax cuts candidates for paring: ■ State income taxes on retirees' investment earnings - dividends and in ■ The single business tax — widely loathed, though no two interest groups can agree on how to change it. "In 1993, Michigan personal income increased 4.9 percent to $193.8 billion,' said the Senate Fiscal Agency, a legislative staff group that monitors the

"This rate of growth was slightly faster than the overall growth in total U.S. personal income of 4.7 percent. In 1992, Michigan's personal income increased 5.6 percent.

Result: Revenues rose fast, too. At the end of May, the Senate Fiscal Agency estimated the state's general t's a fat year, and Lansing is looking fund would be nearly $406 million in the black by the end of the fiscal year the black by the end of the fiscal year, Sept. 30. Thus, at current tax rates, the state would be collecting too big a share of incomes.

So the Legislature cut $155 million $80 million in the single business tax, $75 million in income taxes on private pensions. Next year will be fat, too, SFA said.

But rather than store away more in the budget stabilization fund, alias the "rainy day fund," lawmakers are looking at long-term tax cuts. The issue started as a skirmish over government versus private pensions. In days of yore, governmental employees teachers, faculty and state bureaucrats - were considered to be underpaid. So their pensions aren't taxed.

Today many governmental employ-make more than workers and reirees in the private sector. There has been a move on either to tax governmental pensions or to stop taxing private pensions. This year's result: Exemptions on private pensions were lift ed dramatically to $30,000 for an individual, $60,000 for a couple filing

Not good enough, said Rep. Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake. She said half of retirees collect no pension - governmental or private - and deserve a break on their dividends, interest and capital gains. Dobb lost the battle but may win the war. She apparently found an ally in Sen. Joanne Emmons, R-Big Rapids "I will raise the issue in my committee," said Emmons, chair of the Senate profitability Finance Committee. "I hope to have it ready by September."

Rep. Susan Munsell, R-Howell, failed in a dramatic move to junk the entire single business tax. A member of the House Taxation Committee, Munsell reasoned that the only way to reform SBT would be to duplicate what legislators did a year ago with school property taxes — repeal SBT effective at the end of 1995 and start over.

Born in 1975, SBT is basically "value added tax" - its base is a business' revenues minus what it buys. That covers business income, payroll and interest, with some adjustments. There's a $44,000 exemption for small firms. Farm income is entirely exempt. Total yield is about $1.8 billion.

Complaints are many: It's too light on manufacturers, which spend a lot on materials; it taxes jobs; it disregards

Munsell held hearings in 1992 on SBT's problems and received a mixed bag of suggestions. But if Michigan businesses don't agree on a solution, they do agree there's a problem. So it's likely lawmakers will try again. Tim Richard comments on the state po-

Photos: We lose credibility when seeing isn't believing

"Photographs don't lie."

We all grew up believing in those maxims. And rightly so, because the image of reality produced by a photograph was — by definition - an accurate representation of what really was

Technically, there was simply no way that a photograph could be altered so as to change enviewer's being aware something fishy was going

Of course, pictures could be airbrushed to remove an unfortunate mole on the arm of a model or cropped to eliminate an unsightly smokestack on the edge, or even juxtaposed and reprinted so that two people who never met appear to be talking in the same room.

But using any of these devices is fairly obvious to the careful viewer. And, more importantly, none made it possible to alter entirely the one-to-one correspondence between image and reality which provided the foundation of credibility for generations of newspapers readers, moviegoers and slide viewers.

But today's computer technology makes it easily possible to scan a photograph into a computer, digitize the image, and manipulate it in virtually any way a skillful technician wishes. One can, for example, place by computer a third eye in the middle of a person's forehead; the resulting manufactured image is indistinguishable from the real thing. You can't tell if the picture is real or manufactured.

All this came into focus a couple of weeks ago when Time magazine got into hot water for running a computer-altered image of O.J. Simpson on the cover. The original photograph showed Simpson in a police lineup looking unhappy at being charged with murder but recognizably the handsome, friendly fellow we knew from the Hertz commercials. The Time cover had been manipulated by computer to make him look much darker, more somber, more threatening. Most critics panned Time for, in effect, lying

When this technology first came on line and we have it, and use it for making the bright, full-color pictures you see in this newspaper -I was concerned about precisely this point: If we acquire the technical capacity to alter pictures, how can we maintain our credibility with our readers and our standards as ethical newspaper

I wrote an internal memo way back in 1991 on this point and asked our staffers to come up with a suitable response. It didn't take long for John Reddy, our vice president for news matters, to lay down our policy, entitled "Image Integrity" and printed here in its entirety:

S'craft executives get pay raise

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

Schoolcraft College trustees last week approved pay raises for executive administrators and classified employees and improved President Richard McDowell's benefit package.

McDowell's salary of $99,600 wasn't changed, but his performance-based bonus was increased from $10,000 to $10,500, his contract was extended until June 30.

1997, and he received a $9,500 annuity that he may cash in upon retirement.

The 12 executive administrators were granted pay raises of 31/2 percent. The new top five salaries

■ $90,616 for vice president of instruction Conway Jefress.

■ $83,722 for vice president of student services Barbara Geil.

■ $83,722 for vice president of business services Adelard "Butch" Raby.

■ $79,418 for dean of educational services Ronald Griffith.

■ $77,831 for dean of instruction Louis Reibling.

The 58 classified employees which are mostly college-trained professional-level people, were granted pay raises of 4 percent. Trustees also approved a change in the system used to calculate bonuses for executive administrators that will result in bonuses 1 percent higher.

Summer season opens with a late rally — and a tie

Hockey returned to Plymouth Ice Arena for its 13th summer when the Metro Summer Hockey League began operation Sunday. And if the first game was any indication — a three-goal, gametying third-period comeback.

By C.J. RISAK STAFF WRITER

The honor befell the Spartans and the Lakers, but in the end, neither could claim victory.

Those were the teams that opened the Metro Summer Hockey League's 13th season in Sunday's first game at Plymouth Ice Arena. And it seemed the league's first win of the season would go to the Lakers, designated the visitors, after they opened up a 3-0 lead midway through the last peri-

But if anything, the MSHL is rarely predictable. That was confirmed once again when the Spartans battled back with three goals in the final five minutes to salvage a 3-3 tie.

Bob Nagy netted the Spartans' last two goals, scoring with 3:55 left — the assist going to Chris Peters — and then tying the game at 3-3 with 1:29 to play, assisted by Vic Decina and Steve Senterfit.

The Lakers broke out on top with second-period goals by Brian Cronan (assisted by David Lambeth) and Brett Williams (from Dan Esterline and Carl Schumacher). They made it 3-0 on Williams' second goal of the game with 7:22 left in the third period, assisted by Matt Allen.

The Spartan comeback started with a power-play goal by Paolo Decina with 4:51 remaining, assisted by Senterfit and Peters.

■ WILDCATS 9, BULLDOGS 3: This game, the second played Sunday at Plymouth, was close for two periods.

But no longer than that. The Wildcats scored four unanswered goals in the third period — three coming from James Mitchell, who had four in the game — to pull away from a 5-3 lead to the triumph. It was the Wildcats' second four-goal run of the game; their first, coming in the second period, gave them a 5-2 lead.

Bobby Davis scored the Wildcats' fourth third-period goal, and he assist-ed on all three of Mitchell's goals. For the game, Davis collected a goal and five assists.

Other Wildcat goal-scorers were lan Crockford, Kevin Berger, Dale Domas and Brady Priest.

The Bulldogs got a goal and an assist from Cory Almas. Kevin Beaudoin and Quentin Sventy also scored.

■ BRONCOS 5, WOLVERINES 1: In Sunday's third game at Plymouth, three first-period goals was more than the Broncos needed to post the victory.

Ron Pietila, Chris Archer and Tom Larson scored for the Broncos before the Wolverines got a goal late in the opening period from Scott Lock. The Broncos iced the victory with a secondperiod goal from Paul Mazaris and a third-period score from Eric Laho.

Garden City still in playoff hunt

BY STEVE KOWALSKI STAFF WRITER

While doubleheaders were being postponed because of rain Sunday afternoon at Livonia's Ford Field and Westland John Glenn, another twin bill was played 15 minutes away at Garden City Park.

Consider it a Mother Nature for the Garden City Collegiate team.

Garden City benefited, winning doubleheader against Little Caesars, 10-7 and 11-6.

That Garden City Park was playable at all amazed coaches around the LCBL.

At Ford Field, Walter's Appliance and Del Wal started the first inning of Game 1 before the umpires postponed the doubleheader. A doubleheader at Glenn between Westland Federation and Wendy's never got under way.

Garden City coach Fred Holton was thrilled since his team won for the third-straight time to move to 6-9 and remain in the hunt for one of the four playoff

Maybe they should rename it Garden City Beach.

"Our field holds a lot of water, 'cause when it's dry, it's just pow-der," Holton said. "And after the game started, we had a light mist for about 10 minutes and that was

"It put me back in the hunt with 15 games to go," Holton said of the first-year team. "Six and nine is not bad. I'd like to play .500 ball for the season. I'd be happy."

Bad weather has stalled most teams, none more so than Westland Federation.

With the washout Sunday and another two days earlier against Wendy's, coach Joe Vondracek's Westland team remains at 10-4 and falls from first place.

Hines Park Lincoln Mercury has vaulted into first place with an 11-4 record and 22 points, followed by Westland and Caesars, each with 20 points. Westland has played five fewer games than Caesars, the only team not to have a postponement.

Westland has games res-cheduled for July 7, 12 and 14, all against Wendy's at John Glenn High School.

When it rains 3 inches like it did in that period of time, it will cause everyone some problems,' Vondracek said.

LCBL commissioner Gary Gray said all the postponements are "a major headache

Games have been re-scheduled already for July 11 and 18 at Ford

"You need to re-schedule umpires, fields, and there's not a lot of open dates," Gray said. "This is more postponements than we've had in some time."

Here are summaries of the games that were played:

■ GARDEN CITY 10-11, CAESARS 7-6: Little Caesars' Dave Roman (Livonia Franklin/University of Detroit-Mercy) hit a solo home run in the first inning of Game 1 at Garden City but it was mostly downhill from there Sunday for coach John Moraitis' team.

Garden City scored two runs in the second, four in the third and two more in the fourth to give winning pitcher Justin Black (Garden City/Siena Heights) enough support.

Jason Holton (Garden City). Brian Hicks (Redford Catholic Central), Mark Rutherford (Livonia Churchill/Eastern Michigan) and Josh Reeber had two hits each. Holton drove in three runs, Rutherford and Reeber had two RBI and Hicks one RBI.

Black struck out five batters and scattered five hits to improve to 2-2. Bryan Theobald hit a tworun homer.

DSO concerts celebrate America

■ Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra will present an encore to last summer's sold-out concerts. BY KEELY WYGONIK

If you haven't made plans for the Fourth of July weekend, consider taking your family to see the Detroit Sympho ny Orchestra perform at Greenfield Village in Dearborn. Concerts will be presented on the Village Green Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 1-3. The DSO will be performing two different programs of American Music including "July 4th on Broadway," 8:30 p.m. Friday, July

1; and the "Second Annual Salute to America," 8:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, July 2-3. Tickets are $15 adults; children ages 5-12, $7; and children under 4, free. Parking is free, and concerts will conclude with a fireworks display. Tickets are available at the Orchestra Hall Box Office, Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum, (313) 271-9150, all Ticketmaster Ticket Centers, or by calling 645-6666.

Bring beach style lawn chairs or a blanket to sit on if you like to sit near the stage so you won't block your neighbor's view. There's plenty of room on the sidelines for people who prefer regular lawn chairs.

You can bring a cooler, and picnic lunch, but no glass containers or alcoholic beverages. A variety of box lunches will be offered for sale, along with hot dogs, frozen custard and ice cream, soft drinks, lemonade, beer, wine and other alcoholic beverages.

There were plenty of restrooms, and people to give directions. Be sure to buy tickets advance, they sold out last year. Toothless wonder target of big search in 'Baby's Day Out' ruthless. He's toothless. He's 9-month-He's old Baby Bink, the target of a big city search in the newest John Hughes' production, "Baby's Day Out" opening Friday at metro Detroit movie theaters.

Joe Mantegna, Lara Flynn Boyle and Joe Pantoliano star in this 20th Century Fox film written by John Hughes and directed by Patrick Read Johnson.

Hughes describes his new film as a real baby movie in which the baby is the star.

'It's our job as filmmakers to make you believe that he is actually spending a whole day on his own in the big city," Hughes said.

The real comedy comes from the three guys who are unable to capture the baby.

'I was challenged by the idea of having a hero who doesn't talk, who doesn't even really think. He's just having a lovely day outside the nursery, unaware that he's ever in any danger," he said.

After an exhaustive nationwide search to find the right babies to play Baby Bink, the filmmakers cast identical twins Adam Robert Worton and Jacob Joseph Worton as the adventurous infant.

In addition to the Wortons providing just the right look, the Mantegna, who will also star this summer in "Airheads," performed in Woody Allen's "Alice,"

"The Godfather, Part III," "Bugsy" and "Body of Evidence."

Boyle's film credits include "The Temp," "Red Rock West," "Dead Poet's Society" and "Pol-tergeist III."

Pantoliano has appeared in "The Fugitive," "Risky Business," "Empire of the Sun" and 'Running Scared.'

"Baby's Day Out" also stars Cynthia Nixon, Fred Dalton Thompson, John Neville and Matthew Glave.

"Baby's Day Out" also marks the directorial debut of Patrick Read Johnson.

"I was hoping for a project that would capitalize not only on my technical effects experience, but also would utilize my creative, theatrical background," Johnson

Among the many formidable challenges Johnson faced during production was coaxing the right performance from his young stars. For example, one day Johnson would be up on a crane waving a bunch of toys and gadgets, trying to get the baby to look up; on another he'd be lying on the ground

When 12-year-old baseball fan Billy Heywood inherits the Minnesota Twins from his grandfather, it's a dream come true, like the Mets winning the '69 series or the team you root for going from last to first.

"Little Big League," a Castle Rock Entertainment release starring Luke Edwards, Timothy Busfield and Jason Robards, is set to open this week in area theaters

"Baseball was made for kids. and grown-ups only screw it up, said Hall-of-Famer Bob Lemon.

The Twins are languishing in a slump, so kid Billy makes himself manager of the team, the first owner/manager in baseball since the venerable Connie Mack. It's a daring move, young Billy explains you wanted me to do something constructive this summer."

"Little Big League" puts young Billy Heywood in center fieldamid an assortment of colorful characters. For a chance at a winning season, the 12-year-old needs to help his team rediscover the "child within" and love for the game. Ironically, along the way, Billy is forced to rediscover his youth as well.

"Little Big League" also stars John Ashton, Dennis Farina, Kevin Dunn and Jonathan Silverman. The film is directed by Andrew Scheinman with a screenplay by Gregory K. Pincus and Adam Scheinman.

The producer is Mike Lobell. and executive producers are Steve Nicolaides and Andrew Bergman.

Learning from the kid: Lou Collins (Timothy Busfield) discusses baseball strategy with 12-year-old managerowner of the Minnesota Twins, Billy Heywood (Luke Edwards) in Castle Rock Entertainment's "Little Big League" coming to theaters this week.

found my bookmark the other day. The one Mrs. Engel gave me, with the handstitched flowers and my initials, KM, on it. It was stuck behind the cushion of that gold chair I was telling you about last week. I'm sure glad I found it. It not only reminds me of where I am in this really long book I'm reading now, but it always reminds me of the kind-hearted and gentle woman who gave it to me and who just retired from teaching 30 years in the kindergarten classroom.

Thirty years, imagine that!
On her last day, which would be exactly two weeks ago today, Mrs. Engel ended a most remarkable journey. An incredible one really. The journey had lasted 30 years and had taken place in one room. She had brought love and songs and laughter and learning to more that 1,500 5-year-olds during those.

It was September of 1963 when Joan Engel began teaching at Smith Elementary School in Plymouth. Her principal way back then assigned her a classroom, the second one on the left in the far hall. And that was her room . . . for 30 years

Thirty years later, once the good-byes were complete, the very last group of Mrs. Engel's kindergartners went out into the sun-splashed day, met their Moms and Dads on the sidewalk and went home for the summer. And she got ready to go home for good.

A couple days later, my two oldest children, Tony and Carmen, both former kindergartners in Mrs. Engel's room, and I walked up to school, hoping to find her still there. We had a loaf of homemade strawberry bread we wanted to give her.

On the way, I asked Tony and Carmen what they had liked best about kindergarten, about Mrs. Engel. Tony piped up first. He liked the "Clean Up" song - "Clean up, clean up, it is time to clean up, put your toys away . . . " Mrs. Engel, he told me, made cleaning up pretty fun whenever she played that song on the piano. The bouncy, happy sounding music, he figured, helped do that.

Carmen liked "doing" art with Mrs. Engel. All that gluing and cutting and painting and crayoning and folding and never hearing "don't" when it came to making a creation. That was the best, according to her.

As we made our way across the practically empty school parking lot, Tony noticed that one of the three cars there had a license plate holder with Brighton, Mich., written on it. Mrs. Engel's car, we guessed. We hoped. Imagine, Tony said, driving all that way every day for all those years to teach kindergarten. We agreed she was one of the most dedicated people we had ever met.

We walked into the school and down the main corridor all the way to the end. And in the second classroom on the left in the far hall we indeed found Mrs. Engel. She was there boxing up books and sorting through 30 years of stuff. That once busy, noisy classroom was now quiet except for the solitary fan blowing the sultry hot June air around and the radio, perched on the piano, which was softly playing classical music. She sat in her rocking chair for awhile, taking a break, and we came in.

For the next hour or so she shared with us some of the things about the journey of hers which had spanned three decades. She had actually begun teaching in 1962, the year before she came to Smith. She had just graduated from Eastern Michigan University and she had just married her college sweetheart. Emil.

The newlyweds moved to New Jersey; Emil was stationed at Fort Dix. Joan landed a job teaching kindergarten in nearby Mt. Holly. She had to sort of make do that year because she was in a regular sized classroom as opposed to the kindergarten-sized classroom. A kindergarten classroom, she explained, is bigger. The littlest students, it seems, need the most room.

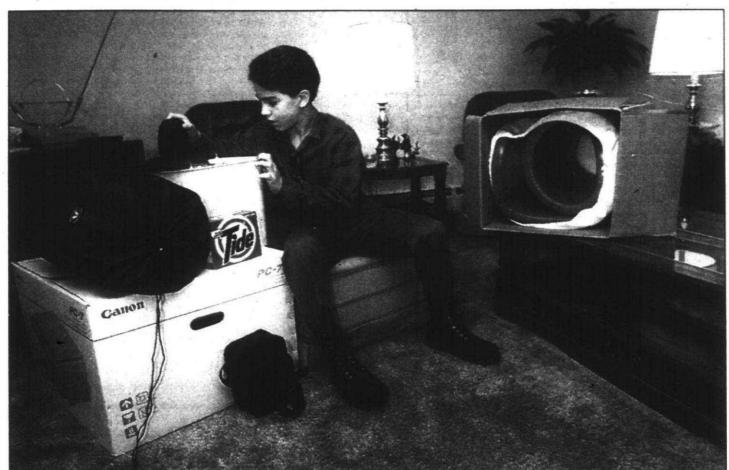

The following year Mr. and Mrs. Engel moved back to Michigan. And Mrs. Engel was hired to teach kindergarten at Smith School. When she saw the room she would be teaching in, she was delighted. It was big! It was a real kindergarten classroom. It had lots of room for a housekeeping area and building block area and painting area and reading corner. And room for a piano.

The piano. She played music on it for the children every day. She played during snack time when they ate graham crackers and drank milk. (Back in the old days, the school provided the daily snack.) She played when the children napped on their nap mats. And when recess was about to begin. And when it was time to clean up.

She told me that her love of music was what drew her to kindergarten teaching in the first place. That and art. Kindergarten. Music. Art. They all sort of went together. I suddenly remembered the conversation Tony, Carmen and I had had on the way to school. Her love for these

Around the world - in 60 days

Jeff Larmee is seeing the world, and he didn't have to enlist in the military to do it. The 15-year-old is on his way to Siberia, where he will spend almost two months helping build an orphanage for Teen Mission International.

By Sue Mason Staff Writer

By the time Aug. 22 rolls around, Jeff Larmee will have circumnavigated the world. He'll have made stops in places like Orlando, Fla.; San Francisco, Calif.; and Anchorage, Alaska; and visited some less familiar locations like Moscow and Khabarovsk, on the border with China.

Quite an accomplishment, considering he's only 15 years old, but the Livonia resident isn't making the two-month-long journey to land a spot in the record books. And it's far from being a pleasure trip.

Jeff's adventure is sponsored by Teen Mission International, and by the time he returns to his Livonia home, he will have helped to build an orphanage, called Noah's Ark, in the Siberian town of Tertezh.

"At first, I didn't think I wanted to go, but now I really want to go and see what it's like," said Jeff. "My friends think I've lost my mind. They'll be here, relaxing, swimming, having fun. I think they'll have a better summer in the way of relaxing, but in the way of experience, that'll be me."

Jeff left June 24 for Orlando, Fla.. He will spend 10 days at a camp on Merritt Island, where he'll meet and train with the other 35 members of the team. There the group will learn to work with bricks and mortar and work on physical conditioning in a boot-camp setting meant to build camaraderie among the members.

National effort

The teens come from throughout the United States; California, Florida, Texas, Washington, Maryland, Nebraska, Minnesota and Massachusetts are among the states listed on the roster. And while the organization is under the auspices of the Baptist Church, a multitude of religions are represented. Jeff is a member of Clarenceville United Methodist Church in Livonia.

Teen Mission International will'send more than 40 such teams throughout the United States and the world to work on projects this summer. Jeff's team is one of two that will be in Siberia, each working on a different project.

"It's a very well-run organization from what we've heard and seen," said his mother, Lynne. "I think we're pretty relaxed about his going because of the organization. I think the reason he's not apprehensive about going is because we've had exchange students ever since he was 15 months old."

The team will fly west to California and Alaska before crossing the Pacific Ocean to Khabarovsk. There the group will board a trans-Siberian train for a 2½-day trip to Krasnoyarsk, followed by 55-mile bus trip to Tertezh.

The orphanage is being built for two missionaries who since the 1980s have been taking in homeless children ages 4-16 in Tertezh. They have run out of room in their home and need more space to meet the needs of the their extended family.

Each team member was assigned a different tool to bring. Jeff's was a 12-foot metric and inch tape measure that the family eventually found at Northside Hardware in Wayne.

"I should have known; they have everything there," his mother said with a laugh.

His other equipment includes a bucket, clothesline and clothespins for doing his laundry, laundry and dish soaps, silverware, sleeping bag, and a foam-rubber pool float that will double as a mattress. He also is carrying his Bible in a leather zipper case, which Jeff said "is like my certificate to go." That will be used as part of evangelical services on Sundays.

Limited space

With space at a premium on the trip - room is needed on the airplane for the team's food and equipment - Jeff is limited as to how much clothing he can bring - two pairs of work pants, one long- and one short-sleeved shirt, and 12 pairs of white cotton socks, but an unlimited number of underwear.

"That's good, or he'd be telling them, I can't work today because I have to do my laundry,' " his mother joked.

He also has a pair of steel-toed work boots - "I'll probably set off every alarm in the airport," he said, tapping the toe of one boot; a pair of Tom Cruise-style sunglasses, minus the mirrored effect - "That's so they can see your eyes"; and 12 rolls of film.

The team members will stay in tents at the job site. Their work day will start at 5:30 a.m. and go until 9:30 p.m. with an hour for personal business, like writing letters to his parents and friends and relatives who helped with donations to cover the $3,000 costs. They will work 5½ days and rest the other 1½ days.

Jeff also needed $1,000 for emergency expenditures and souvenirs. He worked a deal with his parents. If he raised $500 by saving his birthday gifts and money from his Observer newspaper route (his mother will fill in while he's gone), his parents would provide the other $500.

Jeff got the idea about doing a Teen Mission from a cousin who did one two years ago. That cousin offered plenty of advice to make sure he makes it overseas. That advice was basically to rest up before heading to Florida. Jeff's cousin didn't, and wiped out during boot camp. He ended up working on a project in the United States.

And travel isn't anything knew to him. Two years ago he went to Europe - "That was for pleasure and I stayed in houses" - and biked 250 miles across Michigan with his father, Larry, camping the entire way.

Construction work is something which interests the Livonia Stevenson freshman. He plans to attend the Livonia Career Center to study home building, and his eventual career goal is to be a journeyman carpenter.

"He's learned an awful lot about building skills in his wood class and built his own clubhouse when he was 12," Larry said. "He's known what he's wanted to be for a long time."

When the work is done, the team will travel by train to Moscow - or Switzerland if there's political unrest - for a week to readjust and see the sights. An Aeroflot jet will bring them back to New York.

The Larmees are confident Jeff will have a good experience and bring back lifelong memories. It's part of his nature.

"Jeff's pretty independent and outgoing," his father said. "I think he'll probably miss Sonny (his 1-year-old cocker spaniel) more than us."

Modeling hopefuls vie for Swift response

Taking a stroil:

Prospective models tried to convince Swift Kids representatives that they could work for clients like Target and K mart.

By Christina Fuoco Staff Writer

As RuPaul's "Supermodel" blared over the speakers at John Casablanca's Modeling & Career Center in Plymouth, about 200 well-scrubbed and sharply dressed children strutted their stuff, hoping to make it their career.

The aspiring young models tried to convince Clifford Finn, director of the Swift Kids branch in Miami, Fla., that they had the "exceptional sparkle and personality" to model for the likes of Kmart, Target and Sears.

Shying away from the runway, a few kids didn't have as much enthusiasm as they thought. Ashley Hernandez wasn't one of those. She eagerly volunteered to show the other kids in her group how it was done.

group how it was done.
"I love doing this," she said as she quickly moved her head back and forth while walking down the runway.

Finn was in the area to scout for kids to model in advertisements for his clients, which also include Lee Jeans, Johnson & Johnson, Hasbro, Playskool, Spiegel, Kids R Us, Toys R Us, Bloomingdale's, Fruit of the Loom and Macy's.

Many Bible teachers fear Romains 9 because IT CONTRADICTS THEIR IDEAS. They say God loves everyone, when v. 13 says "Esab have I HATED." They deny unconditional election, when v. 6 says "They are NOT ALL ISRAEL, which are of Israel." When SOME JEWS claimed salvation, Jesus said they WERE OF THE DEVIL (John 8.37, 39.44). If you are sincere, we urge you to worship God with us.

It has been shown that watching wildlife improves the disposition of patients in a senior care facility, why wouldn't it help at a place of work? I can't believe that people watching birds at feeders I've seen outside businesses would reduce productivity. In fact, I think it would provide those needed moments of diversion that people need to make the day go more smoothly.

Since some of the thousands of people who enjoy wildlife are the people you see around you everyday at work, why not suggest some habitat enhancement that would help enhance everyone's day?

Travelers beware of weekend highway work

Traffic will be free and clear of most construction on the state's 9,290-mile highway system over the Fourth of July holiday, the Michigan Department of Transportation said in a press release.

M-DOT is suspending all road and bridge work, except emergency work, detours and on jobs where barriers can not be conveniently removed. Following are the few areas where traffic may be slowed over the holiday.

Western Upper Peninsula: In Houghton County, the bridge carrying M-28 over the Ontonagon River in Kenton is restricted to one lane controlled by signals.

In Menominee County, the bridge carrying US-41 over the Little River is restricted to one lane controlled by signals.

In Marquette County, traffic on the bridge carrying M-35 over the middle branch of the Escanaba River is restricted to one lane controlled by signals.

Eastern Upper Peninsula: In Mackinac and Schoolcraft counties on US-2, expect lane closures and a temporary traffic signal at the railroad bridge within the limits of a resurfacing project from M-77 to M-117. Northwest Michigan: In Mason County, the M-116 bridge leading to Ludington State Park is reduced to one lane controlled by sig-

West Michigan: In Newaygo County on M-20 at the White River east of White Cloud, traffic will be detoured around the construction area.

In Muskegon and Norton Shores, US-31 will be reduced to one lane in each direction at Sternberg Road interchange. In Muskegon, US-31 Business Route will be reduced to one lane in each direction from Laketon to downtown.

Saginaw Bay/Thumb Area: In Saginaw County, traffic on M-46 over the Tittabawassee River is restricted to one lane in each direction.

In Huron Count,y traffic carrying M-53 over the Pinnebog River is restricted and controlled by signals.

Southwest Michigan: In Allegan County, traffic on the bridge carrying M-89 over the Kalamazoo River is reduced to one lane in each direction.

Time machine: Redford sculptor Todd Erickson's "Memory Vehicle" was featured in the Michigan Outdoor Sculpture Exhibition in Southfield last summer. The work speaks to the golden age of the auto industry.

Consider sculpture to complete garden

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN SPECIAL WRITER

ow that the last plant has been tucked snug in its bed, it's time to think about adding the finishing touch to your garden with sculpture.

Whether you choose an original artwork by Marshall Fredericks or a reproduction of a Michelangelo, sculpture sets the tone for an outdoor environment evoking a range of feelings from peacefulness and serenity to reflective or light-hearted.

"It's really the crowning touch of the garden or lawn," said James Slezinski, senior landscape designer/horticulturalist and vice president of Goldner Walsh Nursery in Pontiac.

Slezinski gave a seminar on making your garden a work of art through the use of sculpture at the fourth annual "Gardening from the Ground Up" conference presented by Schoolcraft College in LIvonia and Perennial Favorites of Waterford.

"Garden sculpture can be the focal point of a little vignette. It can be classical, elegant, religious or meditative. Sculpture can be fun. It can be whimsical. It can set different moods, depending on what you want in your landscape," Slezinski said.

Sculpture in any environment makes a statement about the owner. Although you wouldn't consider sculptor Todd Erickson's work garden sculpture, his fine art looks great in an outdoor setting. Erickson, who incorporates found materials from industry and nature into work documenting social and political issues, has several large-scale sculptures in the yard and garden of his Redford Township home.

"My sculpture ties back into my love of nature, the growing of plants. I garden and I bird watch. That's part of who I am," said Erickson.

How do you go about choosing a piece of sculpture that reflects you? First, it's important to define the term garden sculpture as well as determine the style or look, you're after. Garden sculpture can be anything from a one-of-a-kind work by an artist to a reproduction of a classical Greek figure. Boulders, bird houses, fountains, sundials, weathervanes, antique farm tools and implements, jardinieres, urns and planters, whimsical statuary and outdoor lanterns are all classified as garden sculpture, according to Slezinski.

"Besides three-dimensional sculpture, there are wall plaques and reliefs. All types of vertical art can be used. Functional sculpture like a bird bath is a piece of art on its own," said the Orion Township resident, who studied ornamental horticulture in college.

"Consider the style or look you're after. Is it classical European or Oriental, traditional Americana, contemporary, rustic or natural? All styles can be comfortably fitted into a formal or informal design. A typical European garden is very symmetrical with classical sculpture or statuary like Michelangelo's 'David.' There is no overkill. Everything is harmonious and fits together. On the other hand, Japanese gardens have a variety of textures and forms with little color. They're effective all four seasons."

Chameleon Galleries in Plymouth carries a variety of contemporary garden sculpture hand-crafted by artists.

"I tried to find artists who did bird houses and bird baths and outdoor lanterns. All of our bird feeders are one-of-a-kind," said Denni Englehart, gallery co-owner with husband Jim. "They're made for outdoors. They're all handcrafted and can't be damaged by the sun."

Contemporary clay goldfish ponds with an Oriental flair by Craig Easter would go nice in a little cove or grove. One- and two-dimensional steel squirrel and cat sculptures by Jim Milar

Artistic packaging goes high-tech

Livonia firm's niche is creating holographic packaging that blends art and technology. What's more, marketers say this dazzling packaging helps sell products.

BY JANICE TIGAR-KRAMER SPECIAL WRITER

It's an ideal merger of art and technology and a marketer's dream come true - the use of holograms for packaging and advertising.

The commercial use of holograms was bound to happen, says
Lee Lacey, president of HoloSource Corp. in Livonia, but how it came about is a quirk.

After a cover story on holography ran in the March 1984 issue of National Geographic magazine, Holo-Source was overwhelmed with inquiries from cutting-edge advertisers around the country who recognized a commercial use for this high-tech imagery.

"After the article, I started thinking how holograms could be marketed. So did a lot of people," said Lacey, whose company set out in 1982 to make three-dimensional holographic images (X-rays) of human organs as a diagnostic tool.

"The phone rang off the hook. People wanted to know how the image is made, what the commercial opportunities are, how much it costs."

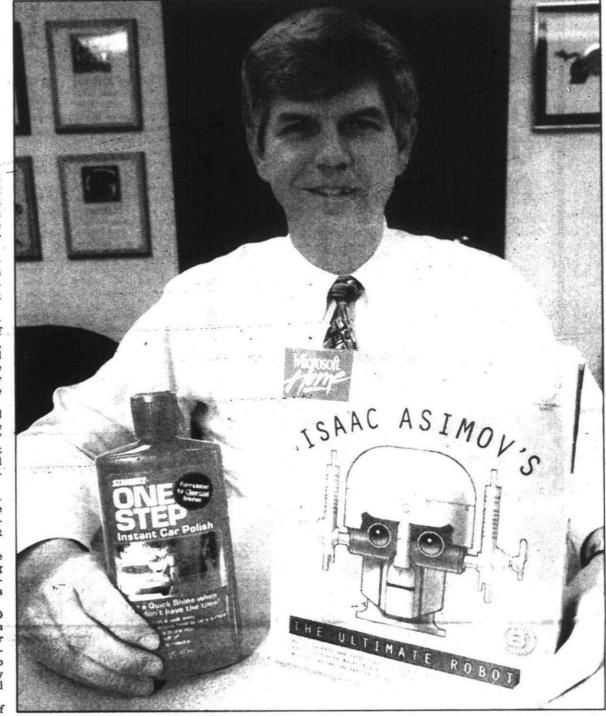

Lacey is still involved in the medical applications, but making 3-D images for advertisers is responsible for the firm's tremendous growth, he said.

As elusive as it looks, a 3-D hologram is created in a darkroom with the use of intersecting laser beams. Even the colorful, empossed holograms that seem to have endless depth are made by laser and can be transferred to all sorts of printed materials.

Emmett Leith, a University of Michigan professor from Canton, and Juris Upatnicks, an Ann Arbor researcher, created the process used to make almost all holograms today.

"I never dreamed we'd be doing some of the applications we are today. The packaging we do for so many consumer markets is decorative, but it also conveys a message," said Lacey, who co-founded the business in 1986 with partner Robert Levy.

Today, the firm's focus is high-

"When we developed the holography process in the early 1960s, we never expected it would find such a wide variety of interesting and creative uses," Leith said. "What's going on today in advertising is dazzling."

Magic of kaleidoscopes colors Plymouth gallery

By LINDA ANN CHOMIN SPECIAL WRITER

Mesmerizing and magical, kaleidoscopes create dazzling visual experiences that delight and lift the spirits. Patterns reminiscent of stained glass, stars and flowers take shape before your eyes as images emerge from images again and again.

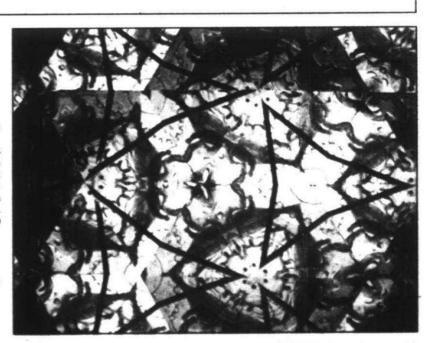

Denni and Jim Englehart, coowners of Chameleon Galleries, bring the magic to downtown Plymouth by presenting more than 100 handcrafted kaleidoscopes in an exhibit continuing to July 3.

"Everyone relates to the beauty of the images. Young, old - it doesn't matter. You can't be unhappy when you look at them. They make you smile," said Denni Englehart.

"Fireworks Captured," the largest exhibition of kaleidoscopes in Michigan to date, features the work of 12 of the best artists in the country, including Henry Bergeson, Tom

STYLISH INTERIORS

The Livonia Arts Commission presents "Interiors by Architects," a new traveling exhibit of the American Institute of Architects.

"This exhibit provides a visual display of 12 noteworthy interior architectural projects designed by our local chapter members," said Stephen Sussman, chairman.

"The purpose of this exhibit," he added, "is to heighten public awareness of this important aspect of our professional practice and to recognize outstanding efforts. Many of the projects included are award recipients.'

The exhibit runs June 27 to July 30 in the Fine Arts Gallery on the second floor of the Livonia Civic Center Library, Farmington Road and FiveMile.

Hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays.

Full disclosure binds broker; bed and breakfast a no-no

Sales associate Susan Ruffino of West Bloomfield has joined the Bloomfield Hills office of RE/ MAX in the Hills, 1400 N. Woodward, Bloomfield must be, of course, full disclosure by the broker and informed consent by both par ties and the broker must make full and truthful disclosure of all known facts and exercise due diligence to protect the interest of both principals, unless he is strictly a middle man.

Even with full disclosure, however, the broker and the broker's agents must conduct themselves in accordance with their agency responsibilities and act fairly to both parties.

Q. We live in a homeowners association in a rural area where there is a deed restriction restricting the use of the property to residential purposes of one family. One of the members of the association wants to open up a bed and breakfast. Is that, in your opinion, a violation of the restriction? The people that own the home plan to oper ate the bed and breakfast while they are using the property as their primary residence

A. Assuming that the deed restric tion is unambiguous, it would be my opinion that the restriction would preclude the home's use as a bed and breakfast since it was presumably the intent of the covenant to prohibit use other than for a single-family resi

Obviously, operating a bed and breakfast creates more than a singlefamily residence and the association should consider its legal alternatives, including injunctive relief, There is a recent Illinois case that conforms with the analysis, although it is not

penny-wise and pound foolish. They turned down the opportunity to hire the best property manager because of a schism on the board and because they wanted to save a few pennies per unit owner per month. Instead, they hired a property manager who is a buddy of the association's attorney. I see what can best be described as an unholy alliance between the two. Please

A. Too often, the '90s dictate unhoalliances between managers and lawyers who are too economically dependent on one another through a source of referrals. This can interfere with their respective abilities to represent the association, particularly if a dispute arises between the association and its management company or

The sound of hammer against nail can again be heard at a luxury condominium community in Oakland County. The site has several attractions, none bigger than a private, 13-acre, spring-fed lake.

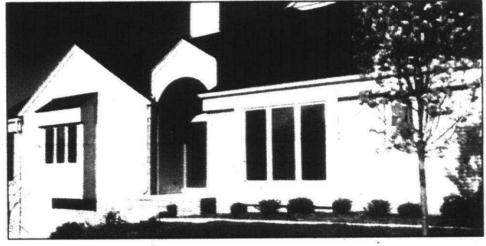

By Doug Funke

Work has begun on the latest phase at Hillpointe on Mirror Lake, an attached condominium community nestled between a private lake/wetlands and the West Bloomfield Woods Nature Preserve.

Some 32 units already are occupied and as many as 19 more may yet arise on the secluded 45-acre site, off Pontiac Trail, between Halsted and Orchard Lake roads, in West Bloomfield.

"I like the area, and I like condo living," he said. "The first thing I do in the morning is open the drapes and I feel better."

The view is stunning. The condos are on a hill overlooking the water. The spring-fed lake supports ducks, geese, heron and redwinged blackbirds. Deer and fox have been spotted nearby.

"We felt we'd be appealing to a little older group that didn't want to fool around with landscaping or snow removal," Kahrnoff said. "We were right. We have a lot of people who have homes in Florida. I don't see any school buses in here.

JOHN STORMZAND/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHERMAT NAME-

Selling creativity: Rick and Maureen Young have established a consulting business to help clients become more creative. There's plenty of opportunity, the couple says.

By Doug Funke

Rick and Maureen Young of Farmington Hills took job buyouts from Ameritech Publishing about 14 months ago to develop what they believe is a unique consulting business - Breakaway Concepts.

Creative thinking is their product. "We want to give people the ability to solve problems and pursue business and educational opportunities with many times the alternatives they currently have," said Rick, director of development.

"It's always a challenge to be creative," said Maureen, director of marketing.

They've developed a booklet, The Instant Idea Source, a newsletter prototype, Creative Stepping Stones, and in-person seminars.

The husband-wife team has just started scouring for clients and is looking for that first break.

Following are edited excerpts from a recent interview at their home, which doubles as an office:

How do you inspire creativity? Rick: Edison, the Wright Brothers and Henry Ford didn't create new ideas. They took ideas that existed and
