When Canton voters go to the polls Tuesday, Nov. 8, they'll be faced with quite a few decisions ranging from who they want for governor right down to state ballot proposals.

Polls at Canton's 24 precincts will be open 7 a.m.-8 p.m. Voters are asked to check their green voter registration cards to make sure at which precinct they vote.

On the local scene, Canton voters will choose which state senators will represent them. In the 8th District, voters will choose between Republican Loren Bennett and Democrat Charles Trav Griffin. In the 9th District, the choice is between Republican incumbent Robert Goake and Democrat Patrick O'Neil. State senators serve for four years and earn an annual $47,723.

For the state House, voters in the 18th District will choose between Democrat Eileen DeHart and Republican Michael Novak. In the 21st District, the choice is between Republican incumbent Deborah Whyman and Democrat Donna Clark. State representatives serve for two years and earn an annual $47,723.

Voters also will be faced with picking a new judge for the 35th District Court in Plymouth. The choice in the non-partisan race is between Stephen

It must have been Halloween. Or maybe it was a coincidence. Exactly 911 posters were submitted by Canton elementary school children in the 16th annual Fire Safety Poster contest.

"That's the true number," said Canton Fire Marshal Art Winkel about the 911 posters judged on Halloween, Oct. 31. "That's the greatest number we have ever had."

Compost leaves

Canton residents are reminded that leaves are compost and should not be placed in plastic bags for curbside pickup by Canton Waste Recycling.

Instead of plastic bags, residents should put their leaves into a 30-gallon reusable container marked "compost" or 30-gallon brown paper compost bags. The bags are available at Mathison Hardware, Aco Hardware, Arbor Drugs, Builders Square, Farmer Jack, Meijer, Kmart, Mans Do-It Center and Richardson's.

The week of Nov. 14 marks the final week this year that compost materials will be picked up by CWR. Under a program developed by the Western Townships Utilities Authority and Browning-Ferris Industries, compost materials produced by Canton homeowners will be turned into humus and made available free in 1995.

CANTON CONNECTION

CWR officials said they are planning a special Christmas tree pickup program this year. For more information on compost regulations call CWR at 397-5801.

Vote Tuesday

Polls will be open in Canton Township 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 8. Voters are asked to check their green voter registration cards to determine their voting precinct. If you have any questions, call the clerk's office, 397-5367.

Pamphlet creates brouhaha

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

If you received campaign literature in the mail that looks like it came from Canton Township and says taxpayers will get a 28-mill increase Jan. 1, 1995 — ignore it. It's false.

"I'm personally trying to take as many calls as possible," said Canton Treasurer Elaine Kirchgatter, whose staff spent a good part of Thursday responding to confused residents.

The pamphlet has drawn the attention and ire of township officials because it appears at first glance to be an official tax increase notice from Canton Township.

The pamphlet — issued by the League of Wayne Voters with a Northville mailing address — urges a vote against Democrat Donna Clark of Van Buren who is running against Republican incumbent Deborah Whyman of Canton for the 21st District state House seat.

The League of Wayne Voters did not return the Observer's inquiries.

Kirchgatter is angered that the voters group would try to simulate Canton's official letterhead and logo — and an erroneous declaration of a tax increase — as campaign literature. Canton did not copyright its logo. To the casual observer, the logo on the pamphlet is similar enough to pass as the real thing.

In addition, the pamphlet also bears an official-looking letterhead, "Charter Township of Canton." The township hall's address is also included. Immediately under that in italic print the pamphlet says: "Office of the Treasurer."

To make matters worse, the pamphlet front declares in big, bold print: "Notice of Charter Township of Canton Property Tax Increase." That's incorrect enough. But in smaller print property owners are advised that as of Jan. 1, 1995, a 28-mill increase will be assessed.

"Inaccurate information is being passed along," said an angry Kirchgatter. "This is a reflection on my office and the township."

"I feel it is grossly negligent on their (League of Wayne Voters) part. I'm appalled that a campaign would go this low," Kirchgatter added.

When the pamphlet is opened it may — or may not — dawn on voters that the front commentary about a tax increase is a teaser. "You'll get one of these if Donna Clark is elected to the state House" stands in bold print on the inside of the pamphlet.

The pamphlet refers to Proposal A and the 28-mill property tax reduction. The pamphlet criticizes Clark's concerns about the proposal.

The pamphlet also notes in fine print on the back that the literature is not endorsed by any candidate committee.

"This is an independent mailing," said state Rep. Deborah Whyman, who added that she had nothing to do

Green forest

Botanist wants to save Miller Woods

By M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Botanist Judith Kelly moved to the community just last summer, but already she has become an advocate for Miller Woods, a climax forest Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is considering selling. The district has asked Plymouth Township if it would be interested in buying the 10-acre woods, which includes an adjacent 30 acres.

Kelly, a botany and microbiology instructor at Henry Ford Community College, told the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education recently that Miller Woods is a "unique natural resource that belongs in public hands."

Once earmarked for a future elementary school site, Miller Woods is used as an outdoor laboratory by the school district and the University of Michigan. The district no longer focuses the need for a school at Powell and Beck roads, given the direction of growth in the community, said Errol Goldman, assistant superintendent for employee relations.

The district recently had the property appraised at $1.25 million.

"The more building that goes on, the less likely it's going to be that it can remain as it is," said district spokesman Richard Egli. "There's going to be change in there whether any of us like to believe it or not. With all the development, it becomes increasingly difficult to maintain it. With more use of the area, there's more vandalism and more dumping."

Kelly researched the woods' history and learned it was purchased from the Miller family with HUD funds with "the stipulation that it remain as open space. The Plymouth-Canton school administration (board) expressed its intention to dedicate the site as a conservation and nature study area in a 1991 resolution."

"Mr. Egli is not monitoring it, so I'm not sure he would be aware of an increase or decrease in damage. The Friends are monitoring it."

Miller Woods merits saving because "it's a rare virgin beech and maple forest that's a fragment of our history. It shows how much of Michigan looked before settlement. It contains trees that are over two centuries old, along with many of the plants and animals that make up this special ecosystem," Kennitz said.

The forest won't deteriorate and die of its own accord, she added. "There's something special about maples and beeches. Saplings can begin growing even in the heavy shade of older maples and beeches. There are always new ones coming along, so this type of forest stays the same over hundreds of years."

The Friends are interested in working with the township. "There are groups and individuals willing to donate for something this valuable. If we had time, we would certainly like to pursue those things," she said.

praisal isn't valid. "I feel it should not be sold since it can't be developed. If road paving is going to be a financial burden for the district, why not sell the land to the township for $1?"

Goldman said the deeds were reviewed by outside counsel. He requested copies of the documents from Kelly. "I saw nothing in the file that dealt with the HUD aspect," said Goldman.

Emily Kennitz is president of the Friends of Miller Woods. Despite what school officials have said, it's the Friends of Miller Woods, not the district, which has maintained the forest. Also, damage and vandalism are not on an upswing, she said.

"Aside from the few adult neighbors who damaged the fence, there is a decrease in damage," since the fence was built, Kennitz said.

"Mr. Egli is not monitoring it, so I'm not sure he would be aware of an increase or decrease

Airport funds in good shape

The financial picture at Canton-Plymouth Mettetal Airport is sound and will continue to improve, according to an auditor's report presented to the advisory board Thursday night.

The audit, conducted at the request of the state Bureau of Aeronautics, covered the period since the airport was purchased by the state of Michigan in July 1993. During most of that time, the airport continued to be managed by the seller, Desert Sand Inc. A new operator, Kitzze Aviation, took over in August.

In the year after the state takeover, the airport had a net income of $23,000, according to the report.

"We said the airport would be self-supporting, and it is," said Randy Collier of the state aeronautics bureau. "That money stays in the airport account and will be used to finance airport renovations. The users are paying their way."

Collier noted that several large expenses, such as payroll and property taxes, will not recur this year, indicating an even better financial projection for the airport. Savings on payroll, taxes, and management fees could amount to income over $150,000, Collier said, "depending on what expenses we have."

Collier also praised Desert Sand's financial management and record keeping. "Everything they did was squeaky clean."

Gay teacher seeks to promote understanding

By M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

It's Mike Chiumento's fervent hope that no Plymouth-Canton student will endure what he went through as a young person.

Chiumento, a West Middle School band teacher, knew he was gay before he graduated from elementary school, but told no one until he was 22 years old, when his self-hatred grew to the point where he became suicidal.

Chiumento, 41, attended Catholic school in New York. "I derived an outstanding education, but I also suffered in many ways," he said. "Church doctrine said there was hell and damnation to pay if you were gay or lesbian."

Chiumento vividly remembers visiting the psychology stacks in the public library in seventh or eighth grade. "I took one of my biggest books with my 'Our Lady Queen of Peace' book cover and tucked a book inside it. I knew the term homosexuality, but not much more," Chiumento said.

"The books I read dealt with it as a perversion. I read that, 'Boys feel this way a lot of times, but usually when they're 18, they sort of snap out of it.' It said shock therapy was being used with some success."

mine, I thought, 'I have great friends, a wonderful family, an outstanding education, and a career I love.' My life was simply great, yet every day, I got up, looked in the mirror and hated myself."

It was at EMU that Chiumento came to a crossroads. "I had suicidal feelings," he said. "I was 22 at the time, and I sought someone out. A priest at the Newman Center on campus was very kind and nonjudgmental. He gave me the name of a counselor."

Danced around issue
Counseling was helpful, "but I danced around the issue. I couldn't bring myself to say the word," said Chiumento.

It wasn't until 1983 that the teacher summoned up the courage to contact a gay and lesbian discussion group in Ann Arbor.

"I got there early on a Sunday night and paced back and forth in front of the house," he said. "I was sure all my parents and students were on that street. I finally got the courage to go inside."

Chiumento said the men in attendance, "who all looked pretty average," discussed problems involving divorce and coming out. "At the very end, I blurted out, 'I'm Mike, I'm gay, and I'm really glad I came, because I've grown up believing it was bad, ugly and evil.'"

Since then, life has been a roller coaster, Chiumento said. "But I've been very fortunate with my family and friends. I can't even recount a bad experience. I think it has something to do with the fact that they knew Mike the person first."

The staff members at West-who, along with students and parents, hold him in high regard - have long known Chiumento is gay. District spokesman Richard Egli said Chiumento is an exemplary teacher, and that "homosexuality in Plymouth-Canton schools is a non-issue. The district reflects society," he said.

"If it really is a non-issue, Chiumento would like to know why his repeated requests to include the words "sexual orientation" in the district's non-discrimination contract language have been ignored.

It's been two years since Chiumento began sending Egli correspondence and contract language from other districts, requesting that Plymouth-Canton's non-discrimination clause be amended. "We have non-discrimination language; why not put some teeth in it?" he asks.

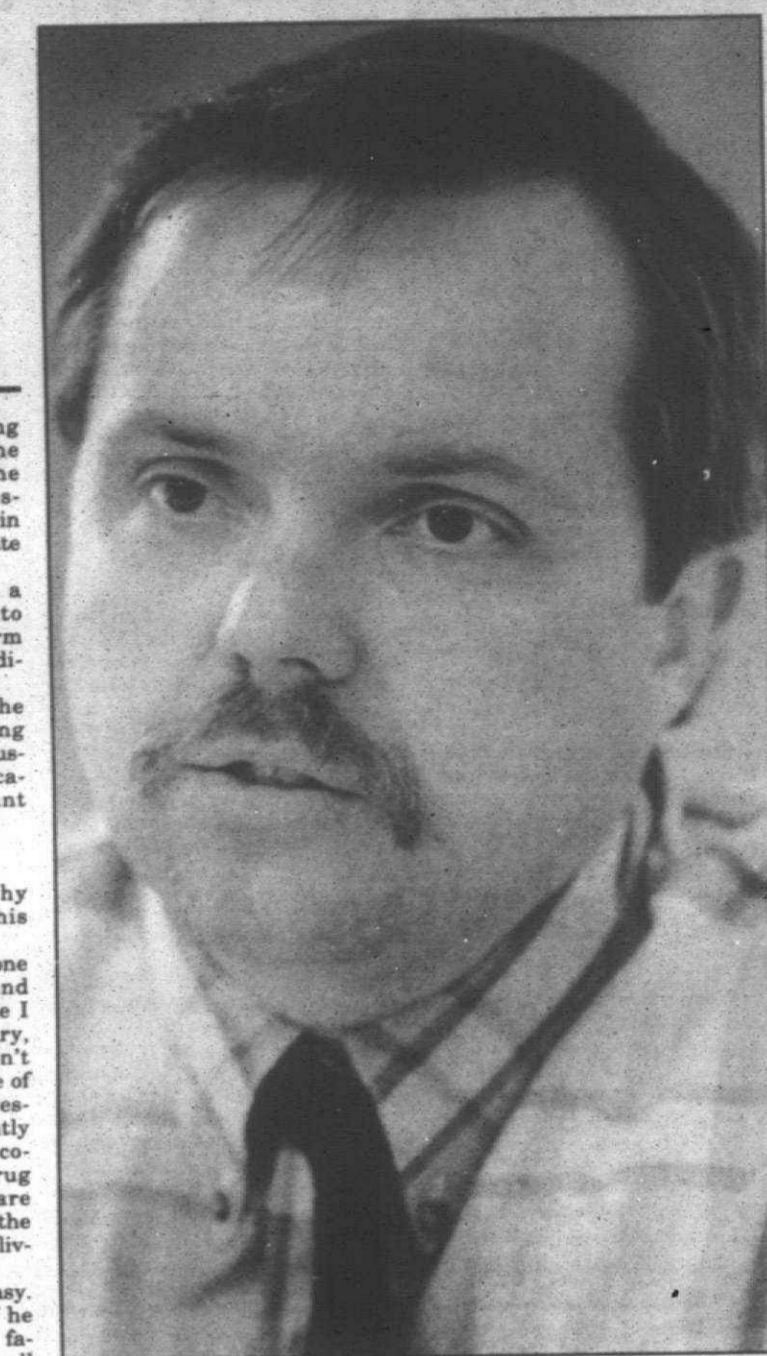

Non-person
He's sent reminders to the district, but has been met with silence. "It's infuriating. It's more hypocrisy," Chiumento said. "They say, 'We want you to be involved in decision-making,' but it's baloney. Instead, you get treated like a non-person."

Egli said Chiumento did contact him requesting changes, but that the district's policies are adequate.

Since Chiumento seized the opportunity of National Coming Out Day Oct. 11 to let others know he's gay, he's been gratified with the positive reaction of students and parents. Many have written or called with messages of support and encouragement.

Chiumento wants to destroy myths and stereotypes about gays and lesbians. He also wants to point out that many gay and lesbian people are forced to live invisibly for fear of losing their jobs.

"I'd like to destroy the myth that gay and lesbian people are inherently evil and sick, inca-

Local educators evaluate state, national standards

By M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Academics will become more rigorous for students and teachers in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools as a result of new federal and state mandates.

The Goals 2000: Educate America Act was signed into law by President Bill Clinton last March, and Public Acts 335 and 339 became Michigan law last December.

An outgrowth of the 1983 report "Nation at Risk" that found there are 23 million functionally illiterate adults in the U.S., the legislation aims to increase educational achievement for all students.

The aim is for American students to become first in the world in math and science proficiency. World-class achievement also is the goal for English, history and geography.

While they foresee obstacles, Plymouth-Canton school officials are taking steps toward that goal. Tom Tattan, executive director for instruction, and Kathy Harendra, the district's curriculum coordinator for math and science, are participating in hearings and review sessions held by the State Department of Education. Revising the state's core curriculum and spelling out exactly what students should learn top the agenda.

"People really need to see where the state of Michigan is going. This begins a new path toward proficiency testing and basically raises standards to a much higher level of content that has to be mastered," said Tattan.

"In math, it's astounding, the dimension of the curriculum that's going to be implemented by the state and Plymouth-Canton with 335 and 339," said Harendra. "We are talking about all students, rather than just students going on and taking electives. We are looking at perhaps switching from two years of math and science to three or four years of math and science."

An extended school day, a longer school year, and more teacher training may be necessary in order to achieve the objectives, said Tattan.

Districts that don't comply with the mandates risk the loss of state funding.

Beginning in 1997, high school juniors will take a new state "proficiency test." Younger students will continue to take the state standardized Michigan Educational Assessment Program test.

The district plans to do what it takes to enable Plymouth-Canton juniors to do well. "The defining factor will be how kids do on the proficiency test. No way are we going to sit still and say, 'Half the kids can't pass the proficiency test,'" said Tattan.

Coverage of a subject will no longer be adequate; students will have to demonstrate an understanding of material, said Harendra. To do so, students will be required to write more in standardized tests.

The mandates raise a financial dilemma, as more instruction and staff training time will be needed, say school officials.

"It starts to beg the issue of time. We're stuffing more and more requirements into a box that's already overflowing," said Tattan, who can foresee eight-hour school days and 10-month school years.

Harendra also foresees the need for more staff development. "For the most part, I think these are good changes. The difficulty comes in the transformation, and getting the training for teachers," she said. "In the past 15 years, particularly in math and science, there have been such changes that people who've been teaching need to look at updating information. Older graduates, and newer ones, depending on what college they attended, don't necessarily have the comfort with technology."

Harendra's not sure American students can be the top achievers in the world, but it certainly is exciting to work toward it, she said.

Students will be up to the challenge, she predicts. "One of the best things about students is that they are able to accept most expectations. I think if the impetus is on a better education, most of them will be receptive to it. They're the ones who have to go out and get jobs."

Boy, 7, rides bicycle into car

Listed below are some of the Canton fire and rescue incidents reported during the past week, as well as fire safety tips and programs available free to the community. Year-to-date runs for the Canton Fire Department: 2,971. In the past week, the department had 80 runs.

■ BICYCLIST HURT

Fire and rescue responded to the report of a 7-year-old boy who rode his bicycle into a car as he crossed Ford Road at Oakview at 5:53 p.m. Nov. 1.

The boy was crossing the thoroughfare when he struck the car. He was transported to St. Joseph Hospital in Ypsilanti with a possible arm and leg fracture.

■ WOMAN HURT

A Canton woman was injured in a two-car accident at Haggerty and Cherry Hill at 7:25 a.m. Nov. 1.

Fire and rescue responded and had to extricate the woman from her car, which was struck broadside. The fire department transported the woman to Annapolis

Hospital, Wayne, from which she was flown to the University of Michigan Hospitals, Ann Arbor. It's believed she suffered fractured ribs and a punctured lung. The other driver was not injured.

■ CAR HITS WALL

An employee of Mickey Shorr, 43729 Ford Road, was injured at 12:30 p.m. Nov. 1 when the customer's car he was driving behind the shop for work accelerated and drove into the back wall of the nearby ABC Warehouse.

The man was transported to Annapolis Hospital, Wayne, for treatment of possible neck and shoulder injuries.

■ STOVE FIRE

No one was injured when food burned on a stove in the Carriage Park Seniors Apartments on Canton Center Road, shortly after 1 p.m. Oct. 30.

When firefighters arrived, they found the second floor of the building filled with smoke and residents in the stairwells. Firefighters helped residents to safety and extinguished the stove.

■ SAFETY TIP

Residents are reminded that with colder weather on its way flames for chimneys and woodburning stoves should be checked and cleaned out. The creosote buildup in the chimneys and can catch fire.

With leaves piling up in the community, residents and businesses are reminded that open burning is illegal — and punishable with a fine — in Wayne County. If you have any questions, call fire prevention, 397-5348.

■ PROGRAMS OFFERED

Canton residents and businesses are reminded that a number of programs are available to them for free from the fire department. Programs include CPR and basic first aid classes, juvenile fire setters, babysitter awareness and tours and department presentations.

■ CPR/First Aid: Groups may sign up for training for adults, infant/child and first aid classes. Groups can be as small as three to four people. Most of the classes are about four hours. Participants receive a card that says they completed the course. The only cost to participants is the purchase of a $12.72 book. For more information, contact Sgt. Jim Davison, 453-4114.

■ Juvenile fire setters: This is a program for youths whose parents, teachers or school principals are concerned about fire setting, or pulling fire alarms or abnormal fixations with fire. Firefighters meet with parents and children.

"We let them know the importance of fire alarms, who would be left in danger if the department had to respond to a false alarm," said firefighter Greg Teller, who works in the program. If counseling is needed for the child, a referral is given. For more information, call fire prevention, 397-5348.

■ Babysitter awareness: These are sessions for youths interested in babysitting. Information is provided explaining what to do in cases of emergency, as well as basic first aid. For information, call fire prevention, 397-5348.

The contest was open to elementary students in all public and private Canton schools. Only two didn't participate: Fiegel and Miller. The new schools (Bentley and Tonda) got involved, too," Winkler said.

There were a few raised eyebrows when the fire department and Canton Chamber of Commerce — contest co-sponsors — received all 911 entries. But the number makes sense when teaching children about safety and emergency situations.

"This was a humongous success this year. It got the word across to all these children. All of these kids are aware of fire prevention. They take the message home to their parents, too," said Linda Shapona, chamber executive director.

Children were asked to illustrate this year's fire prevention theme: "Test Your Detector For Life." The contest coincides with Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 9-15 (when kids were asked to submit their entries) as well as National Fire Prevention Month in October.

Entries were divided between the lower grades, 1-3, and the upper grades, 4-5. The colorful posters were judged by Tony Kwilos, chair of the chamber's fire prevention committee; Shapona; Winkler; Betty Booher of Miesel-Syco; and Gerri Svec of the Canton Public Safety Department.

Candidates address election issues

The following voters' guide on selected local races was prepared by the Livonia League of Women Voters.

Found in today's newspaper are races for state Senate in the 9th District, state representatives in the 19th and 20th districts, and the Wayne County Board of Commissioners from the 9th and 10th districts.

The 9th state Senate race includes Redford, Livonia, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, part of Canton Township, Northville Township, and part of Northville. The candidates are incumbent Republican R. Robert Geake and Democrat Patrick O'Neil.

The 19th state House District includes parts of Redford Township and Livonia. Incumbent Republican Lyn Bankes is being challenged by Democrat Elaine Miller.

The 20th District includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township, part of Livonia, Northville Township, and part of Northville. Republican Gerald Law and Democrat Carolyn Blanchard are the choices in that race.

The 9th County Commission district includes Redford Township and Livonia east of Middlebelt. The candidates are incumbent Democrat Michelle Plawewski and Republican Kirk Najarian.

The 10th County Commission district includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Livonia west of Middlebelt. The candidates are incumbent Republican Thaddeus McCotter and Democrat Karl Burnett.

The league asked each candidate to provide biographical information and to answer three questions, with each answer limited to 50 words.

The information, questions and answers follow.

Patrick O'Neil Democrat 9th Senate District

Patrick O'Neil lives in Livonia with his wife and two sons, ages 7 and 19. He is an attorney in private practice. During the 1970s and 1980s O'Neil spent 14 years on the Inkster City Council. He has also served in community organizations, including the Nankin Transit Authority and the Indian Guides. Currently, O'Neil volunteers as chairman of Hegira Programs, a nonprofit corporation that provides mental-health and substance-abuse services.

1. Do you or would you support proposed legislation that would exclude educating any student who brings guns to school?

Local school boards are better equipped to decide this than the Legislature. I would oppose legislation that would tie their hands. The legislation sent to the governor would require the same treatment for a first-grader who brings a jackknife to school as a fifth-grader who brings a gun.

2. There are those who propose that an alternative to term limitation is campaign finance reform. What recommendation do you have regarding campaign finance reform?

Allow contributions only from individual residents of a district, not from organizations or from out of district. Committees may only exist six months before the primary and must dissolve after the general election. Officeholders must avoid the appearance of impropriety in voting on issues supported or opposed by their contributors.

3. What is your position on subsidizing small businesses and/or low-income individuals to pay for health care?

This is a federal issue, but as a Democrat, I support the concept of financing health care by a means other than as a cost of employment. The high cost of American health care for workers makes it difficult for them to compete in the international market.

Lyn Bankes Republican 19th House District

Lyn Bankes, 53, of Redford Township is a state representative and serves on the House appropriations committee. She attended Schoolcraft College and graduated from Madonna University. Bankes served on the Wayne

R. Robert Geake Republican 9th Senate District

R. Robert Geake, 57, of Northville, attended the University of Michigan, where he earned a bachelor's degree in special education, a master's degree in guidance and counseling and a doctorate in education and psychology. Geake has served on the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees 1969-1972, in the state House 1973-1977 and in the state Senate from 1977 to the present.

1. Do you or would you support proposed legislation that would exclude educating any student who brings guns to school?

I voted for the new law which requires exclusion from school of students caught bringing guns to school. However, they must be provided, and required to attend, alternative educational programs. Simply turning them loose on the streets would only guarantee future problems for them and for society.

2. There are those who propose that an alternative to term limitation is campaign finance reform. What recommendation do you have regarding campaign finance reform?

Campaigns are too expensive, making candidates too dependent on contributions and overly preoccupied with fund raising. I would limit the amount each candidate could spend per election and shorten the time period candidates are allowed to campaign. Current contribution limits and public reporting requirements should be maintained.

3. What is your position on subsidizing small businesses and/or low-income individuals to pay for health care?

15 candidates seek Wayne Circuit judgeships

There are 15 candidates for 11 Wayne County Circuit Court judgeships, including 10 incumbents and five challengers.

Hathaway has been an attorney with the Wayne County Corporation Counsel since February 1992. Before that she worked for Dykema Gossett as a paralegal (1985-86), summer associate (May to August 1986) and associate (1987-92). Hathaway got her law degree from U-D in 1987.

County Charter Commission in 1980. She is a member of the Livonia and Redford chambers of commerce and the Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center board.

1. Do you or would you support proposed legislation that would exclude educating any student who brings guns to school?

I support legislation to make our schools safe. First offenders must be evaluated and decisions made about the best way to educate the student without jeopardizing others' safety. Chronic offenders must be taught in alternative programs away from the normal school setting. Truly dangerous students must be excluded from school.

2. There are those who propose that an alternative to term limitation is campaign finance reform. What recommendation do you have regarding campaign finance reform?

Campaigns should be limited to specified amounts of money dispersed from an objective source which represents no special interests. A small amount of money to each candidate from a public domain would be sufficient. Campaigning would mainly be through televised debates, printed newspaper publications and person-to-person contact.

3. What is your position on subsidizing small businesses and/or low-income individuals to pay for health care?

I believe that the state needs to encourage cost-saving incentives that will make it possible for small businesses and individuals to purchase insurance. Exploring tax deductions for all health insurance purchasers will provide an incentive for individuals to be covered, and consequently health care delivery costs should be lower.

Campaigns should be limited to specified amounts of money dispersed from an objective source which represents no special interests. A small amount of money to each candidate from a public domain would be sufficient. Campaigning would mainly be through televised debates, printed newspaper publications and person-to-person contact.

3. What is your position on subsidizing small businesses and/or low-income individuals to pay for health care?

I believe that the state needs to encourage cost-saving incentives that will make it possible for small businesses and individuals to purchase insurance. Exploring tax deductions for all health insurance purchasers will provide an incentive for individuals to be covered, and consequently health care delivery costs should be lower.

1. Do you or would you support proposed legislation that would exclude educating any student who brings guns to school?

I support legislation to make our schools safe. First offenders must be evaluated and decisions made about the best way to educate the student without jeopardizing others' safety. Chronic offenders must be taught in alternative programs away from the normal school setting. Truly dangerous students must be excluded from school.

POINTS OF VIEW

Canton Township voters face full ballot Tuesday

On Tuesday, Canton voters will elect a U.S. representative, state senators, state representative, a district judge, and county commissioner, as well as vote on state ballot issues and state-wide offices.

In the 13th District, which includes Canton, the Observer endorses Lynn Rivers, D-Ann Arbor, as the best choice to replace retiring Rep. William D. Ford.

Rivers has an established record as a state representative and Ann Arbor school trustee, so we know about her legislative priorities and demonstrated leadership. We find Rivers best represents the diverse needs of the district.

In the primary, the Observer endorsed Bob Geake as the preferred candidate for Michigan Senate 9th district. Geake has not been challenged by a more qualified candidate. The district includes portions of Canton.

In the 13th state Senate district, which includes southern Canton, the Observer has endorsed the Democrat, Charles "Trav" Griffin, in his race with Canton Township Clerk Loren Bennett.

A former mayor of Westland, Griffin has served on the Wayne-Westland Board of Education and 11 years on the city council. He clearly understands the problems of small businesses, the impact of state policies on local governments and the importance of creating new jobs to bolster the state's economy.

For 35th District Court, the Canton Observer enthusiastically recommends Patterson. He is intelligent, articulate and is an active member of the Canton community.

In the race for 21st state House District, the Observer has endorsed the incumbent, Deborah Whyman, R-Canton. She has grown in the job and deserves to be returned to Lansing. She has been active in Canton affairs and has visited schools to learn more about the issues facing education.

A small portion of eastern Canton Township is in the 18th state House District. In that race, the Observer has endorsed Eileen DeHart, a Democrat, who served as a legislative assistant to outgoing 18th District State Rep. Justice Barnes.

The polls open at 7 a.m. on Tuesday and close at 8 p.m. Don't forget to vote.

Remember local and state proposals when you're at the polls

On Tuesday, voter attention will fall on a number of Michigan's jewels — its state parks, state constitution, and the right to appeal are among these.

Here we recap our earlier state and county endorsements. The state constitution, revised last in 1963, provided such improvements as a balanced budget requirement, county home rule and more. Since then, it has been amended, without rewriting it from scratch through a constitutional convention, and all the dangers that imposes. The beauty of our constitution is that change is still possible, when needed, without shattering its core. Therefore, the Observer urges a "No" vote on Proposal A, which calls for convening a constitutional convention to draft a general revision of the constitution.

That same constitution protects our court system, but here there is need for change. The right to move on to the Court of Appeals after pleading guilty is bogging down the court system to the point that dozens more judges are being requested.

Proposal B is prudent: It would restrict criminal defendants who plead guilty or no contest from appealing their conviction without approval from the court. The automatic right to appeal would be eliminated.

Also on the proposal section of the state ballot is one that has bipartisan support, as well as that from private associations and those interested in recreation. It offers many colors, from the blues of our lakes to the greens of our parks and all that they contain.

Unfortunately, our parks have been dulled by a steady funding drought. That should change with the passage of Proposal P for state parks, one that the Observer strongly endorses.

On Proposal C, which pretends to reform the state's auto-insurance industry, the Observer recommends a "No" vote.

We believe auto insurance needs reform, but we're not at all sure that Proposal C will accomplish this noble aim. Proposal C is a referendum on the state Legislature's Public Act 143 of 1993, a revision of the auto insurance law. PA 143 is horrendously complex.

Proposal C is more than 100 pages of complicated calculations and loopholes that will not result in any real reform to ratepayers.

The rate reductions are not guaranteed after six months and the proposal, if approved, permits the insurance commissioner to waive a company's obligation to reduce rates if it is determined the rate reduction would reduce profits below the statewide average.

Kirk Najarian Republican 9th Commission District

1. What would be your main objective as Wayne County commissioner? My main objective is accountability, i.e. to provide the utmost value for the least tax dollar (to hold the line on taxes). I want to make sure my district receives its allotted share.

2. What is your position regarding Wayne County's responsibility to toxic cleanup? I believe the responsibility of toxic site cleanup lies with the property owner, and it is the county's responsibility to ensure that it's done properly.

What is your feeling related to funding and/or building of a new youth home in Wayne County? To my knowledge, the money has not yet been spent on anything. I feel that all monies collected for a specific purpose should be used for that specific purpose only!

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

'Stock' up on broth for warming soups

Many cooks who gladly spend hours in the kitchen baking or preparing elaborate dinners are thrown into a panic when it comes to preparing a simple stock or broth.

Not that there's anything wrong with making a good soup or gravy from a canned or concentrated soup stock, but there's something medicinal about making homemade soup. It helps erase the fall chill, and fills the house with comforting aromas.

Although there are a few tricks for making the stock clear, and especially delicious, all that's really required is to cook the bones and vegetables at a slow simmer. The actual time working in the kitchen shouldn't be more than 15 minutes, and the results will be well worth it.

Different varieties

There are four different types of stock that anyone can easily make; meat, fish, poultry and vegetable.

The meat, fish and poultry stocks are all made with the discarded bones coupled with your basic aromatic vegetables and a bouquet garni. The meat bones can be beef, pork, lamb or wild game. It's virtually impossible to get good meaty soup bones. Neck bones, short ribs, ox tails and stew meat are excellent substitutes.

A good fish stock is comprised of fish bones, trimmings, skin, heads and tails. Poultry parts that make good stock are the feet, neck, back and wings, preferably removed of their fatty skin.

My personal favorite is homemade vegetable stock made with onion skins, carrot parings, potato skins, the leaves from celery stalks, green onion tips and just about any fresh or frozen vegetable on its last legs in my refrigerator.

Enhancing flavor

Once the stock base is determined, anything with bones should be pre-roasted to achieve a great golden color and help the flavor. When I make a homemade beef stock, I douse all the bones with a healthy splash of olive oil and roast them for 45 minutes in a very hot (425 degree F.) oven. You can add a few aromatic vegetables (carrots, celery and onion) if you desire, and a clove or two of fresh garlic would always be welcome.

After the initial roasting, the bones and everything else in the roasting pan are transferred to a stock pot and covered with good, cold water. The roasting pan is returned to the stove and heated just enough so that a good splash of dry wine or water can be used to dislodge any and all of the good things that might have stuck to the roasting pan bottom which in turn goes into the stock pot.

A bouquet garni is inserted, the mixture is brought to a quick boil and then reduced to a slow, steady simmer.

Bouquet garni

To make a homemade bouquet garni, place 5 sprigs of parsley, 1 bay leaf, 2 cloves of garlic, 10 peppercorns and a dash of thyme, marjoram and tarragon in a patch of cheesecloth and tie with string. If you don't have cheesecloth, a paper coffee filter or stainless tea ball can be substituted. Now all you have to do is wait. Meat bones will begin giving up their flavor after being simmered for 10-12 hours.

Poultry bones begin to fall apart after three hours of simmering while fish stock can be made in under 30 minutes with the bones eradicating all their flavor in less time than that.

Homemade vegetable stocks can be simmered for 2-3 hours and then the vegetable parts can be run through a food mill or pressed through a sieve to emit their luxurious flavors and essences.

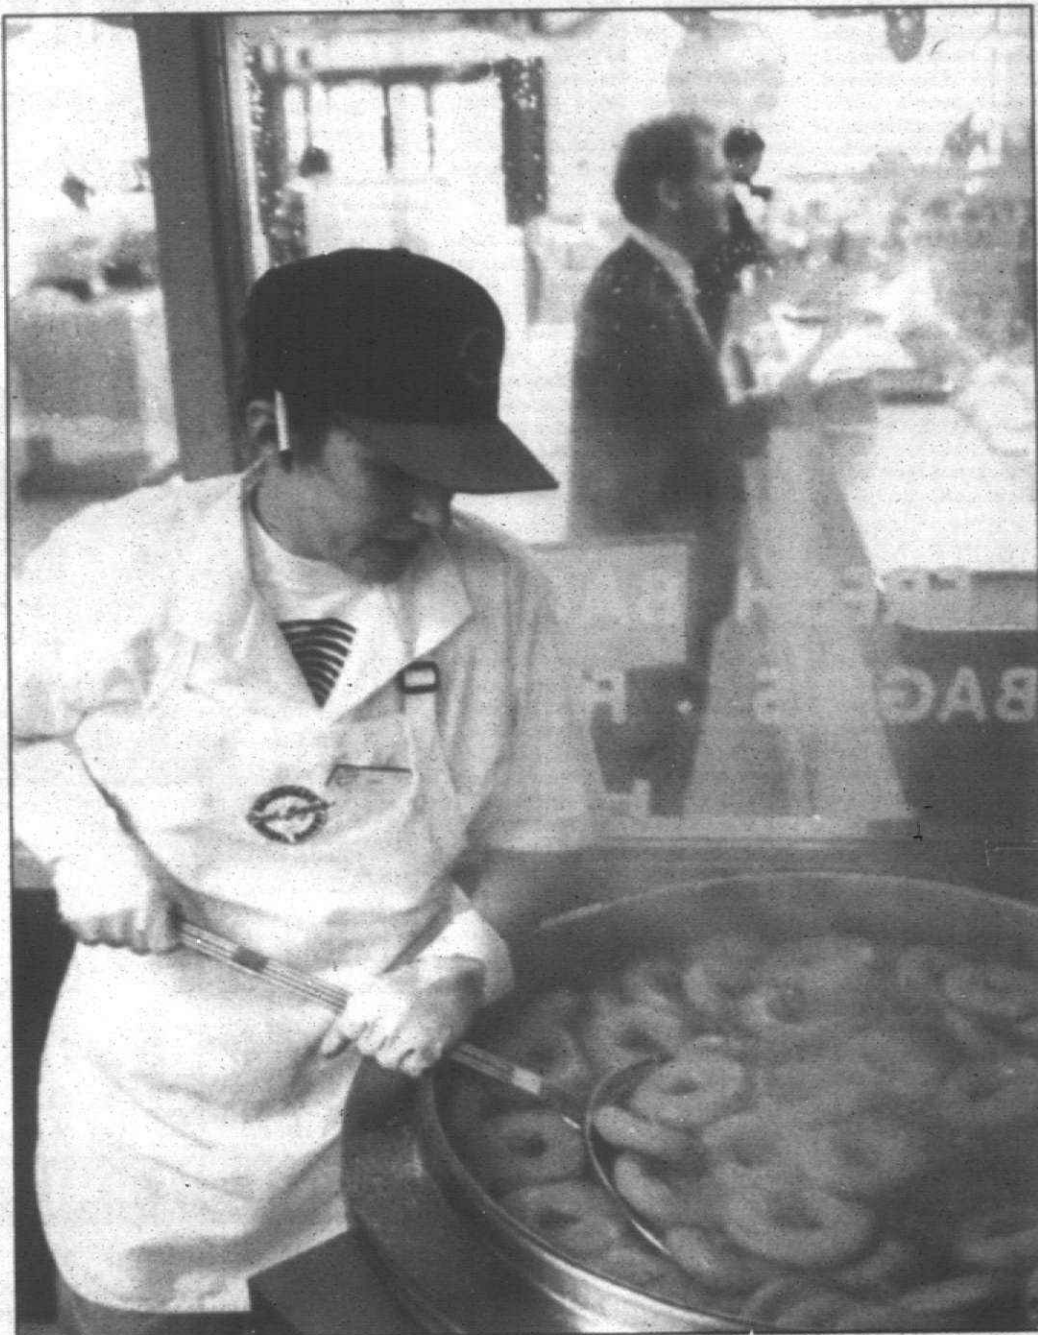

A good stock should always be simmered uncovered so that it can easily be skimmed of fat and froth. Again, I cannot reiterate enough the importance of simmering and not boiling a good stock. Boiling creates a cloudy stock where the fat is churned back and forth into the broth creating a greasy taste in the mouth.

I prefer to skim the fat off my stocks while simmering using one of those handy dandy fat separators. I ladle in the simmering stock from the top of the pot and the fat separator allows me to pour back the stock and remove just the fat. Fat separators are great for gravies and sauces and are available at Kitchen Glamour, Williams-Sonoma and wherever good kitchen equipment is sold.

Hot bagels: A good bagel has to be boiled. Competition is heating up among bakers locally because the healthy, low-fat bagel has risen in popularity. At Bruegger's Bagel Bakery in Farmington Hills, baker Amy Kowalisky manages the boil.

Appetite for bagels is rising

■ Bagels are healthy and growing in popularity, and a new player has entered the local bagel market.

BY BRIAN LYSAGHT
SPECIAL WRITER

You can argue pretty convincingly that the bagel is the perfect food.

At least Howard Goldsmith can, even after a long day of baking at New York Bagel Baking Company, which he owns with his father Harvey.

His company's round, chewy rolls contain no fat, no oils, no dairy products and no preservatives. Bagels are cheap, versatile and lower in calories than most muffins.

"It's a good product," said Goldsmith, a former speech pathology professor who has stores in Oak Park, West Bloomfield Township, Southfield and Ferndale. "That's one of the reasons for me being in the business."

Americans seem to agree. Interest in bagels is rising rapidly, like so much dough. One industry estimate had Americans consuming five billion bagels last year, compared to 500,000 in 1982.

There's dough to be made, of course, and one company positioning itself to prosper on this growth nationally is Bruegger's Bagel Bakery, a Burlington, Vt.-based chain.

Chewy bread has been a 'round' for long time

Here's a little bit of history to go with your bagel.

The first bagel is thought to have been created by a Jewish baker in Vienna, Austria, to thank a Polish king for saving that city from Turkish invaders.

The distinctive roll had the shape of a riding stirrup, in honor of the king's love of riding horses.

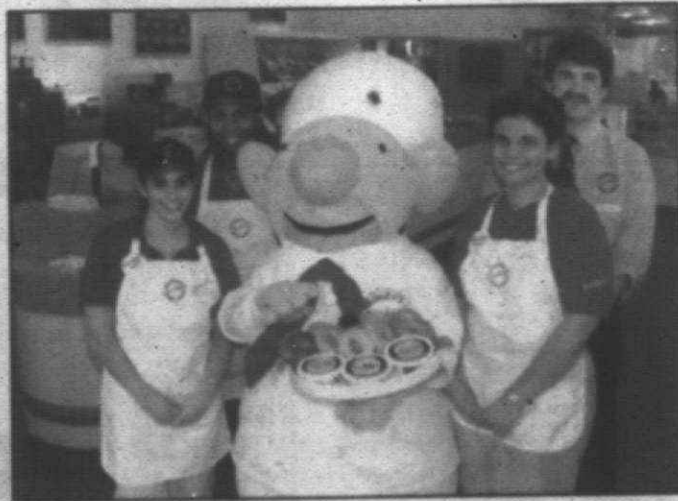

They became popular as gifts for women in childbirth in Poland, and parents gave them to children as teething rings. You can still get teething bagels.

A blend of yeast, malt syrup and flour, bagels became popular throughout Eastern Europe. The art of bagel making emigrated to America with bakers and flourished on the east coast, especially.

Bakers kept bagel recipes a secret, and the New York Bagel Bakers Local no. 338

Napa Valley uncorks exciting new wines

BY ELEANOR AND RAY HEALD
SPECIAL WRITERS

It doesn't matter how many times we visit Pine Ridge Winery in the Stags Leap District of Napa Valley, there is always something new. Owner, Gary Andrus has purchased more hillside acreage, and is terracing it to plant Bordeaux varieties, blending components for his Stags Leap District red wines.

Andrus is also establishing a new winery in Oregon specializing in pinot noir. Yes, this Napa Valley cabernet boy is on the pinot band wagon. His new venture, Archery Summit, makes him neighbors with Burgundy's Drouhin family and their project Domaine Drouhin Oregon in the Willamette Valley, an area becoming crowded with wine-makers searching for the Holy Grail - the best place to make pinot noir.

Andrus garnered new partners and capital infusion has brought his wines back to world-competitive form. His trio of chardonnays is a knockout. The 1992 Pine Ridge Chardonnay, Knollside Cuvee ($14) is stylish with exuberant fruit and integrated oak. The 1992 Pine Ridge Stags Leap District Chardonnay ($22) is as close to a white Burgundy as you'll find in California. The 1992 Pine Ridge Vieilles Vignes (old vines) Chardonnay ($30) is the last of a lineage. The vineyard was lost to Pierce's Disease and is being replanted to Bordeaux varieties.

The 1992 Pine Ridge Merlot from the Carneros District with big cherry and cranberry flavors, attests to the potential for merlot grown in Napa's Carneros region.

East of Pine Ridge Winery, in a small valley that parallels the Silverado Trail, is Carl Doumani's Stags Leap Winery (not to be confused with Stag's Leap Wine Cellars). Doumani, a gregarious man loves life and all its adventures. His winery is the site of the original Stags Leap Manor, a popular get-away for San Franciscans in the last century.

"There are only a handful of exciting California white wines, but there are many very exciting red wines," Doumani contends. Stags Leap Winery has dropped chenin blanc from its portfolio, but petite sirah continues to attract new converts every year. He recommends his 1991 Stags Leap Winery Petite Sirah ($22) with herb-grilled butterflied leg of lamb.

A new project keeping Doumani happy is Benton Lane, an Oregon wine adventure with Napa Valley partner Steve Girard (owner of Napa Valley's Girard Winery). The winery is located in Monroe, Ore., between Corvallis and Eugene. The 1992 Benton Lane Pinot Noir ($14) boasts cherry-berry flavors in a style we describe as simply delicious.

In the Mayacamas Mountains above Napa Valley, Pride Mountain Vineyards is producing exciting red Bruegger's has opened two stores locally this year — in Farmington Hills and Grosse Pointe — and is planning to open one each in Rochester Hills and Canton. They are planning for 15-20 metro Detroit stores.

Nationwide, Bruegger's had 84 stores in 1993, and is projecting 300 by the end of the year.

Goldsmith doesn't say he's worried about the big chain from the east. At New York Bagel, which was started by his grandfather in 1921, they're baking about 5,600 dozen bagels a day, he said.

limited membership to sons of members. These bakers worked in teams: two made the dough and shaped the bagels, one boiled them and one baked them.

In the 1960s, the Thompson Bagel Machine simplified the procedure, allowed production to increase and put the union out of business.

wines from mountain-grown fruit. Winemaker, Bob Foley knows that his cabernet sauvignon, merlot and cabernet franc will develop intense aromas and flavors when grown under low vigor, mountain conditions. Soon a new winery will be under construction and caves will be dug to house barrels for aging wines.

The 1992 Prida Mountain reds ($20) are impressive. Merlot has black cherry and rose petal aromas with notes of clove and allspice. Cabernet franc boasts extracted berry aromas, intense spice and supple mouthfeel while blackberry, cassis and violets introduce the Cabernet Sauvignon, a wine showcasing its mountain origin and big tannin structure.

The 1993 Prida Mountain Chardonnay ($20) has just arrived. We tasted it at the winery

"We're just busier than all get out," Goldsmith said. "It's been our experience that the more competition we have the busier we get. It's just part of business."

Bruegger's is selling bagels in some seemingly unlikely areas — Iowa, Minnesota, even Grosse Pointe and Canton.

But Bruce Phillips, vice president of Quality Dining Inc., the South Bend, Ind.-based franchise operating the Detroit-area stores, said most people know bagels. There is no education necessary for the consumer, he said.

"Murray Lender did it for us," Phillips said, referring to the founder of the company that put frozen bagels in America's supermarkets. Lender increased interest in a product that had ethnic and regional roots — European Jewish and New York — roots.

"People are pretty bagel-iterate, I'm learning, even in virgin bagel territory," said Phillips, a Bentley High School graduate.

Americans love no-fat food, said Larry Galbraith, a bread baker who teaches bagel making at local Kitchen Glamour stores. His classes fill up with people who want to learn how to make bagels at home, Galbraith said. "It's not easy, he added. It took five months of scouring books, experimenting at home and questioning bagel makers before Galbraith came up with a bagel as good as the bakeries.

"It's not easy. The books don't tell you," he said.

Nutritionist Stephen J. Sapienza, a Livonia-based consultant, said that bagels can easily become a high-calorie snack.

"For the most part, bagels are low fat and high carbohydrate. They're an excellent food."

"Typically though, what happens is that people load them up with cream cheese and other things that are not very healthy," Sapienza suggests using a low-fat fruit spread, which will enhance flavor while keeping the calories down. Jellies and jams are fat free but heavy in calories. Low-fat cream cheeses are also good choice, he said.

HOMEMADE CHICKEN NOODLE SOUP
6 cups chicken broth
2 medium sized carrots, peeled, halved and sliced
1 tablespoon olive oil (optional)
6 ounces dried noodles or 9 ounces fresh homemade noodles
1 cup shredded cooked chicken or 2 skinned and boned breasts, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
Bring the broth to a simmer in a large saucepan and add the carrots and olive oil. Simmer until the carrots are soft, about 15 minutes. Slide the noodles into the broth and cook until the noodles are soft. Add the chicken meat and simmer until the noodles are tender. Season with salt and pepper and serve. Makes eight, 1 cup servings.

SHRIMP BISQUE
2 pounds shrimp
1 small carrot
1 medium onion, chopped
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 small lump, peeled and chopped
1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
3 tablespoons unsalted butter
4 medium tomatoes, halved and seeds removed
1 quart fish stock
1/2 cup heavy cream
Salt and pepper to taste
Peel and devein the shrimp, saving the shells. Place the shrimp shells in a pot with the vegetables, thyme and butter. Cook over medium heat until the shells turn red and the vegetables soften, about 10 minutes. Add the tomatoes and 2 cups of the broth to the shrimp shells. Simmer for 5 minutes. Transfer the contents of the pot to a blender or processor and process 2 minutes. Strain the mixture thru a fine sieve. Add half the shrimps to the mixture and simmer for 5 minutes. Purée this mixture in a blender or processor for 1 minute. Combine the shrimp puree with the remainder of the stock and the heavy cream. Season with salt and pepper. Chop remaining shrimp and stir into the simmering shrimp mixture. Simmer for 1 minute. Ladle into bowls and serve immediately. Serves 8.

CLASSIC FRENCH ONION SOUP
5 pounds onions, peeled and sliced
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
10 cups beef stock (can be made with a vegetable stock instead)
1 bouquet garni
2 cups about 1/2 pound grated Swiss cheese (i.e. Gruyere)
8 slices French bread
Melt the butter in a large skillet and add the onions. Stir the onions every few minutes over medium heat until they begin to soften and begin to brown, about 40 minutes. When they begin to brown, stir in 1/2 cup of the stock and turn the heat to high. Stir the onions scraping off any caramelized juices that have clung to the bottom or sides of the pan. When the broth has completely evaporated and forms a brown glaze on the bottom of the pan, add another 1/2 cup of the broth and repeat. Continue doing this until you have used up 2 cups of the stock. Add the remaining broth and the bouquet garni for 15 minutes. Season with salt and pepper and remove the bouquet garni. Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Ladle soup in oven proof bowls and top with bread slices and some grated Swiss cheese. Place the bowls on a sheet pan and bake until the cheese bubbles, about 10 minutes. Serve immediately. Serves 8.

Chowder: Delicately flavored Mushroom-Seafood Chowder features your choice of seafood.

Make a seafood chowder

As the days get chillier, menus turn toward warm comfort foods and among the most popular are soups and chowders. Chowder is an excellent way to increase the amount of seafood in your diet, and seafood is typically low in fat. It's also high in protein and rich in omega-3 fatty acids, a factor that could help protect against both heart disease and cancer.

Center a casual fall dinner around seafood chowder, with some wholesome whole-grain bread and a salad. The thick, creamy chowders that hail from New England are notorious for their use of butter and cream, but new, lower fat versions can produce a robust chowder without any butter or cream.

Using pureed vegetables and skim milk, for example, provides lots of texture with a limited amount of fat. Russet potatoes have a high starch content and so make excellent thickeners for soups (and stews) — a mixture of pureed potatoes and skim milk can be substituted for cream in almost all soups and chowders.

Other lowfat chowder recipes use skim milk thickened with cornstarch or chicken bouillon thickened with flour and canned cream-style corn.

Add nutritious vitamins and minerals to a warm and hearty chowder with lots of chunky vegetables. Potatoes are traditional, but you can add diced carrots, turnips, parsnips, sweet green or red peppers, sliced mushrooms, chopped celery, chopped onion and corn.

Seafood chowders often feature clams, but crab meat, shrimp, scallops and mussels are also popular. White fish such as flounder, halibut, haddock and scrod can be used as well, cut into 1-inch pieces.

In delicately flavored Mushroom-Seafood Chowder, the choice of seafood can be varied according to availability and personal preference. Combine scallops and any white, non-oily fish as described here, or use fish of

MUSHROOM-SEAFOOD CHOWDER

- 4 teaspoons olive oil
- 1/2 cup onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup celery, chopped
- 1/2 cup sweet red pepper, chopped
- 2 1/2 cups sliced mushrooms
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 2 teaspoons of cubes instant low-sodium seafood or

- chicken bouillon
- 3 medium boiling potatoes
- 1/2 pound bay scallops
- 1/2 pound white-fleshed fish, such as haddock or cod
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- 12-ounce can evaporated skim milk
- Freshly ground pepper to taste

Heat the oil over medium-high heat in a large pot or Dutch oven. Add the onion and celery, and cook, stirring often, until the onion is wilted. Add the red pepper, mushrooms, water and instant bouillon. Bring to a boil.

Meanwhile, peel the potatoes and cut them into half-inch cubes. Add them to the pan immediately (even if the vegetable mixture is not yet boiling). Cover and simmer for about 15 minutes, until the potatoes are tender.

Cut the fish into chunks. Drain the scallops and add them to the pan with the fish. Add the thyme. Simmer gently for 2 or 3 minutes. Do not overcook or the fish will fall apart and the scallops will be rubbery. Add the evaporated milk and heat through; do not allow to boil. Season with pepper to taste and serve.

Enjoy venison anytime

During hunting season, venison has long been the hunter's favorite way to replenish meat supplies in the freezer. Today, however, you can enjoy the savory taste of venison anytime, without having to don hunting gear.

Farm-raised venison is less gamey tasting and more tender than wild venison. It is available frozen in some specialty stores and supermarkets or can be ordered through the mail year-round.

Hints for Cooking Venison
Venison has a fine texture, with a flavor similar to beef. It is generally leaner than beef. When prepared properly, the taste of venison rivals the best beef or lamb. Follow these hints:

Choose the cut to fit your schedule. As with beef, venison cuts include roasts, steaks and chops, with roasts requiring longer cooking than steaks or chops.

■ Because farm-raised venison meat is more tender than wild venison, it really needs no marinating. Instead, use light-flavored marinades or sauces to enhance the flavor of the mild-tasting meat.

Quick-cooking ground venison and fully-cooked venison lunchmeats are also available.

Because the fat carries most of the strong flavor, trim away as much fat as possible, leaving only a thin covering to keep the meat from drying out as it cooks.

Remove any sinew or skin before you pan-fry or grill venison. Also be sure to remove the silver membrane around the meat muscles. (You can purchase deskinning and desinewed venison.)

Marinate wild venison cuts from the shoulder or leg to tenderize the meat. Marinate the more tender cuts from the ribs, loin or rump to complement the venison flavor. Fruit marinades, such as pineapple, raspberry or kiwi, accent the venison flavor deliciously.

Because farm-raised venison meat is more tender than wild venison, it really needs no marinating. Instead, use light-flavored marinades or sauces to enhance the flavor of the mild-tasting meat.

Serve venison rare or medium-rare (130 degrees F to 135 degrees F). If it's cooked to 140 degrees F or above, venison dries out and toughens because the meat is so lean.

Pumpkin is delicious, and good for you

The sweet flesh of pumpkins makes delicious soup, salad, stews, side dishes, cookies, muffins, breads, cakes and the ever popular pie.

The Indians were planting pumpkins between corn long before the Pilgrims arrived. The entire pumpkin was used, the flesh, seeds to eat and then the scooped out shell was dried and used as a water container.

Naturally, a supply of seeds was kept for the next year's crop. Pumpkin slices were sun-dried, then ground to make flour.

Pumpkins are rich in flavor, and high in nutrients such as beta carotene which is converted into vitamin A. They also contain some potassium, iron, vitamin C, fiber, calcium and much more. A regular pie pumpkin is usually small, squat, pale, meaty, heavy and sweeter than decorative ones. But any pumpkin can be eaten.

Cooking tips
Pumpkin or any winter squash such as Acorn, Butternut, Hubbard or Turban can be used interchangeably in nearly all recipes. After cutting open, remove the stringy part and seeds before cooking. To bake, arrange pumpkin pieces, skin side down in a greased baking dish. Bake at 375 degrees until tender.

Pumpkin can be steamed peeled or unpeeled. Cook until tender. It goes faster if cut into one-inch cubes to steam. They can also be cooked in water, cut peeled pieces into cubes and boil until tender, just like boiling potatoes.

An excellent and fast cooking method is the microwave. They can be cooked either in chunks, or peeled and cubed in a covered dish.

To season pumpkin, try nutmeg, allspice, coriander, chopped candied ginger, brown sugar, or maple syrup. Fried bacon pieces, sautéed onions and a touch of garlic make a tasty side dish when added to pumpkin. For those that do not like vegetables or pumpkin, mix pumpkin with equal parts of applesauce, banana or crushed pineapple. When making pancakes add a little pumpkin to the batter. Stir cooked pumpkin in some low-fat yogurt with a little brown sugar for a sweet treat.

Slimming ideas

Slim down your favorite pumpkin pie. You can cut the calories from fat from 49 percent to 26 in a pie substituting evaporated skim milk for the cream and using three egg whites for every two whole eggs. An egg substitute can also be used. For the most part, the calories will remain the same but the fat is reduced. To reduce the calories, use a graham cracker crust or bake in a nonstick casserole without any crust.

After you're done with the jack-o-lantern, cook it up and freeze for use later. Pumpkin can be watery when cooked so make sure the pieces are well drained before freezing. Cut into cubes for cooking then mash or put in a food processor to make a puree to freeze.

Pumpkin butter can be made using mashed pumpkin. Add one cup sugar or honey to every two cups of pumpkin and one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon or ginger to each cup pumpkin. Cook this over low heat until thick. Stir to prevent scorching. Refrigerate or freeze — it's great on toast.

Don't forget the seeds for snacking. Wash the seeds to remove any stringy fiber. To dry roast, spread seeds in a single layer on a cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes. When the seeds begin to swell and start to crack, they are ready to eat. Salt to taste. Go easy on adding fat or lots of salt to pumpkin seeds or you'll make something unhealthy out of a good snack.

Ripe pumpkins should be bright colored firm and unblemished. If possible leave two — three inches on the stem if you're going to store them. Store pumpkins in a cool dry place (40 degrees to 50 degrees F.) away from the danger of frost. High temperatures will dry them out.

If you're storing them in the basement, keep them off the floor if possible. Store with care and pumpkins or squash will keep through the winter.

If you don't want to bother cooking your own, there is canned pumpkin and pumpkin pie filling on the grocery shelves. Pumpkin is good for you, besides being a very versatile vegetable.

Dessert: Petite Pumpkin Patch is a festive fall dessert.

Pumpkins make a tasty dessert

Here's a fall dessert idea from Edy's Grand Ice Cream.

PETITE PUMPKIN PATCH
Dessert ingredients
4 tiny pumpkins, about 3-inches in diameter
1 quart Edy's Grand Pumpkin ice cream
Ground cinnamon
Warm Caramel Sauce

Pierce the bottoms of pumpkins with a knife in 3 or 4 places. Microwave on High (100 percent power) 6 to 7 minutes, just until pumpkins are tender when pierced or gently squeezed. Cool.

Slice off tops and scoop out seeds and pumpkin meat, leaving shells intact. Reserve tops.

Use dessert plates and arrange pumpkin shells in middle of plate. Place a large scoop of Edy's Grand Pumpkin ice cream in the center of each pumpkin.

Pour warm caramel sauce over ice cream and around pumpkin on dessert plate. Dust with cinnamon and arrange pumpkin tops to the side of shells. Serve immediately.

WARM CARAMEL SAUCE
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1 cup packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup heavy cream

In a 4-cup glass measure or deep microwavable bowl, microwave butter on High (100 percent power) 45 to 60 seconds to melt.

Add brown sugar and cream and whisk until blended. Microwave 2 to 2 1/2 minutes more until bubbly and slightly thickened. Stir once during cooking. Serve warm. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

Thaddeus G. McCotter is Wayne County commissioner for the 10th District, representing Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville, Northville Township and Livonia west of Middlebelt Road.

Serving his first term, McCotter is vice chair of the commission's environmental committee and its small, minority and women-owned businesses task force. He is also a member of the committees on economic development, roads, airports and public services, public safety and judiciary, audit, and legislative research.

1. What would be your main objective as Wayne County commissioner?

My main objectives as Wayne County commissioner are to stop tax increases, make county government concentrate its time and resources upon performing its state and charter mandated services, and perform the duties of the office in the honest, open and accountable manner the residents of the 10th District demand and deserve.

2. What is your position regarding Wayne County's responsibility to toxic cleanup?

As vice chair of the commission's department of environment and energy, I have supported Wayne County and its communities' efforts with the state to receive more adequate state funding for, and decision-making power over, toxic site identification and remediation.

3. Even though money was earmarked for a new youth home in Wayne County, nothing materialized. Where and/or how was this money spent? What is your feeling related to funding and/or building of a new youth home in Wayne County?

While I opposed it, a majority of the commission voted to use the 0.1-mill money on youth services. I believe the 0.1-mill money for a new juvenile detention facility

Thaddeus G. McCotter
Republican
10th District

must be spent on a new building or renovations of the existing youth home in accordance with the will of the voters in 1988.

Critical of youth home

Livonia Democrat Karl Burnett is a graduate of MacKenzie High School, class of 1968. He has also taken classes at Schoolcraft College and Henry Ford Community College. Burnett is a certified internal organizational consultant for General Motors.

1. What would be your main objective as Wayne County commissioner?

Strengthening the working relationship between the county executive's office and the commission. The commissioner relies too heavily on staff. Minor things such as a charter mandated reorganization plan from the executive (beginning each term) have not been done. As commissioner I'll become a reputation for getting things done.

2. What is your position regarding Wayne County's responsibility to toxic cleanup?

Wayne County responsibility rests in exhausting every possible means of cleaning up our county, preventing it from becoming the responsibility of taxpayers living here. A part of that is participating with city, state and federal government elements. The intent and spirit of state law requires polluters pay. A clean and safe environment that prospers is my focus.

3. Even though money was earmarked for a new youth home in Wayne County, nothing materialized. Where and/or how was this money spent? What is your feeling related to funding and/or building of a new youth home in Wayne County?

One-tenth mill was approved in 1987 for 10 years for a new facility. There are different interpretations regarding the use of these monies. The existing home is overcrowded and unlicensed. Without a renewal a new one will not be started. I would support a well-written renewal providing a new facility in a specific time frame.

Area artists make items to treasure

All of us have hidden talents, passions that absorb our hands and our hearts. Some of us are content to let those talents evolve as hobbies, pleasant diversions to enjoy in fleeting moments. We may garden or cook or knit or paint. Though we may dream of turning our secret loves into careers, we convince ourselves that idle day-dreams are neither practical nor possible.

I think that's why we so admire those individuals who allow the dictates of their hearts to shape their lifestyles. They recognize their talents, take some risks and become entrepreneurs. Their destiny is determined by their ingenuity and a single-minded devotion to their craft.

This column salutes some of our best local artists. West Bloomfield artist Anita Florey sculpts life-like papier-mache animals with storybook appeal. Her billy goat wears a copper bell around his neck and her smaller kittens, rabbits and sheep seem fit for a fairytale setting. Find them standing among the cabbage roses at Marley's in the Townsend Hotel, Birmingham.

If you love Victorian finery, visit Coach House of Metamora, 429 N. Washington in Royal Oak. This holiday season, Greg Valenti and Sue Lindstrom outfit themselves with their signature doll ornaments. Hand-painted porcelain faces peek from beneath elaborate bits of antique millinery velvets, satins and furs. Silk rosebuds and lace crochet adorn hats and collars. See their entire collection at Kingswood Giftorama, Cranbrook Educational Community, Nov. 12-13.

Jennifer Swarts owns and operates Detroit Metalworks, the studio from which she designs jewelry, small objects and home decor items worked in brass, wood, steel, acrylic and glass. A professional metalsmith, Jennifer ensures that her pieces are fun and definitely not boring. You'll appreciate her attention to detail and the fine craftsmanship. Order her earrings, lockets and bejeweled letter openers at Objects of Art, 6243 Orchard Lake Rd., West Bloomfield.

Angel face Everyone needs a guardian angel, and Nancy Garcia and Ann Petersson have created a dozen celestial beings to watch over special people. Each original design has an accompanying poem and holds items related to her particular guardianship. The handmade and embroidered soft sculptures are available at Angel Treasures, 401 N. Main in Royal Oak or by calling the artists' Farmington Hills studio at (810) 553-9354.

When Vera Cohenova creates her earthstone earrings, bracelets and necklaces, she selects the stones for their healing and protective qualities. Each piece of jewelry is life enhancing, coming genuine turquoise (which sustains life) with a variety of gems including amethyst to strengthen courage, carnelian for prosperity and agate to promote joy. She also works in lapis (for respiration), garnets (creativity), rose quartz (stimulates love) and coral (cleansing). She believes that we naturally gravitate to that which we need, explaining our preferences for certain stones. See her unique, Southwest-inspired Veruska jewelry at Mesa Arts, 32900 Franklin Road, Franklin.

Standsouts at this year's Pebble Lane Art and Craft Show in Bloomfield Hills included Jennifer Kirk, whose exquisite Santas sell out in the show's first few hours. She also fashions hip pocket pouches and heart pendants from silk ribbon embroidery, elegant fabrics and yarns. Call (810) 685-9272. Hat designer Javits makes a statement

"There are three kinds of hat women," milliner Eric Javits explained on a recent meet-the-designer visit to Neiman Marcus in the Somerset Collection. "Beginners who want a hat for a special occasion. Javits, who's been making hats since 1978, is the Advanced Hat Wearer's dream. A former artist who studied sculpture at the Rhode Island School of Design, he elevates chapeau creations to an art form.

"There are only a few watering holes here and there where a hat lover can find wonderful hats to wear," he said. "Neiman Marcus is one. Customers with small heads, large heads, a special suit that calls for a custom-made hat, can find or order something from Neiman's."

With the average price, $200 per hat, a Javits' topper is a collectible. Each year he brings out five collections with many classic styles refabricated from season's past. As he points out, berets, straw hats and church bonnets never go out of style. But with the rest of the collection he likes to add new twists and turns to the classics, adorning bowlers, derbies and fedoras with netting, gardenias and ribbon.

"Right now the runways in Paris and Milan show hats with almost every outfit," he said. "Hats that perch, pill boxes, and the cloche are favorites right now. Hats that you see in movies from the '40s and '50s are back for the retro look. They've been rediscovered and popularized by the contemporary customer whose young attitudes and nonchalant hat donning is a way to express themselves."

For a hat to work, to create what Javits calls a "real hat moment," a hat must flatter the face, soften the features, and go with an outfit, he explained. "Hats have a magical power to transform a woman. Men love women in hats. Some women say they feel invisible until they put one on!"

Javits says he designs behind closed doors, testing his ideas on two aides and the 50 assistants who hand-make more than 30,000 hats a year in New York City. After almost 20 years of creating hats, Javits says confidently, "I know my customers and I address their needs."

After the long-hour days and weeks it takes to run his own business, the 38-year-old bachelor enjoys "films, friends and family."

CANTON SPORTS SCENE

O'Meara regains title

Farmington sports editor Dan O'Meara has reclaimed the championship in the annual grid predictions contest. Brad Emons, who covers Livonia-Westland, was dethroned after a one-year reign. O'Meara had a big finish, calling it right on five of six games last weekend for an 11-3 performance. His season total was 104-28 while Emons (7-7) was 98-34. Plymouth Salem, Farmington Hills Harrison, Redford St. Agatha, Trenton and Westland John Glenn came through with wins on behalf of O'Meara. Garden City was a winner for Emons. O'Meara has won the Observer prediction title six of the past eight years.

Panthers win division

Top defender

Steve Balog, a junior defensive end at Saginaw Valley State from Plymouth (Salem HS), was named co-defensive player of the week for the Cardinals after their 30-20 win over St. Francis Oct. 29. Balog was tied for eighth in the Midwest Intercollegiate Football Conference with 4% sacks going into Saturday's games. SVSU was 6-2 prior to playing at Grand Valley State.

Semis!

Canton rolls to region title

■ No sudden jolts, please. Don't wake the Chiefs up just yet — not that anyone could. No, Canton's soccer team deserves to be where it is: Headed for the Class A state semifinals, with a date in Saturday's final the prize.

By C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

Everything favored Plymouth Canton at Saturday's regional soccer final.

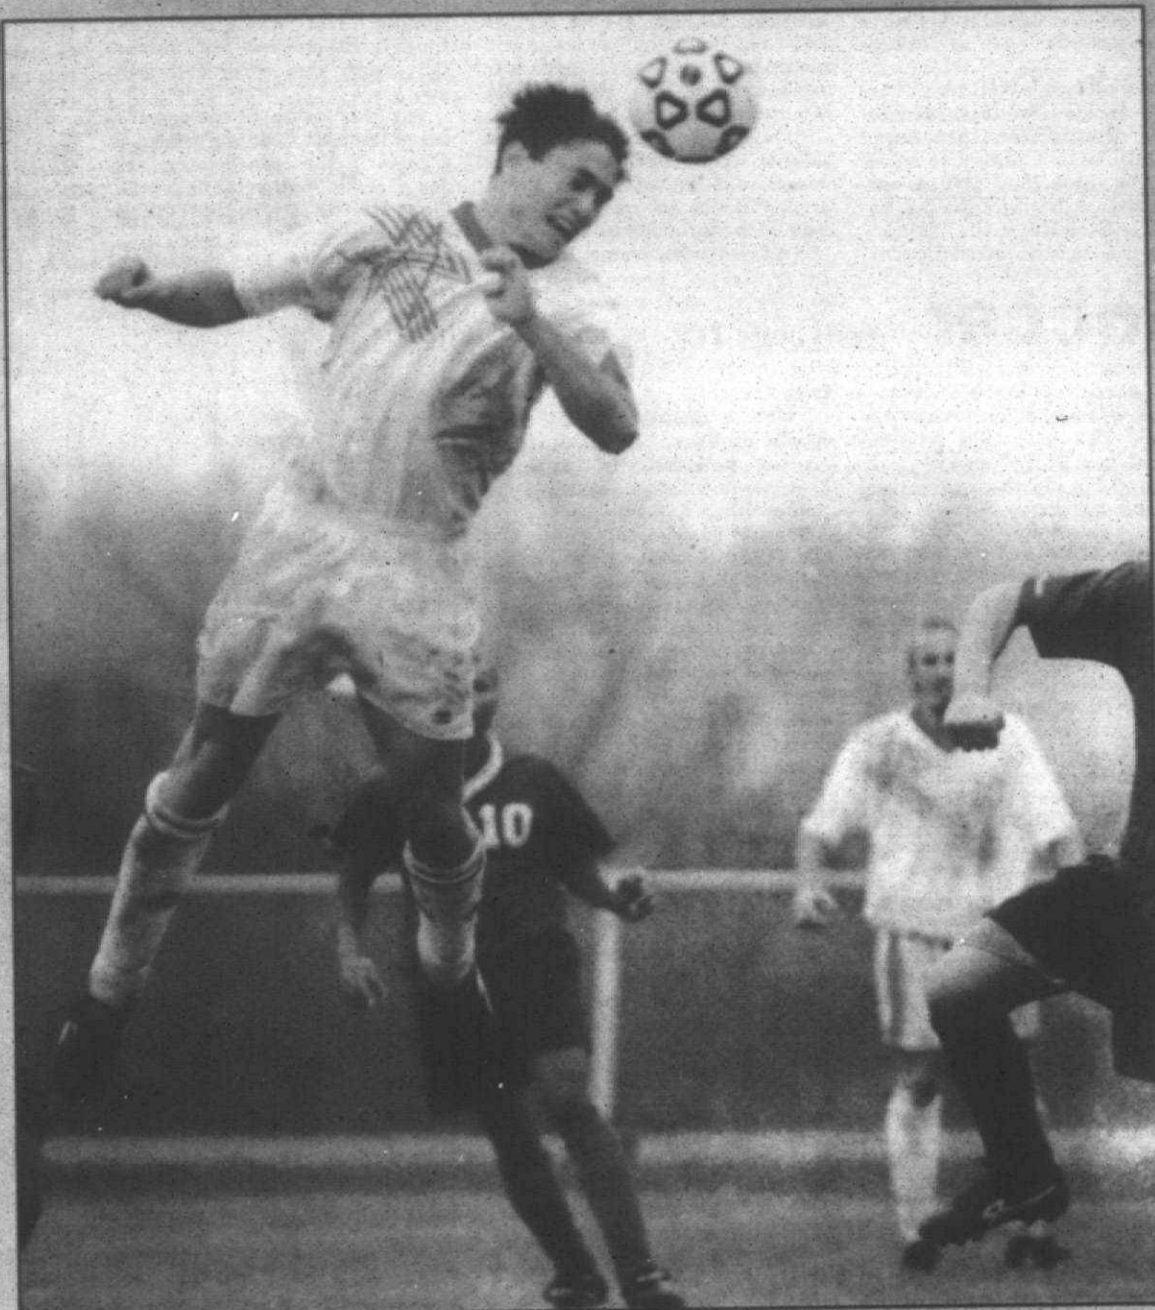

Size, speed, strength of schedule, even the weather — not to mention ability — were all in Canton's corner. Adequate reason why the end result was as well: a 4-1 triumph over overmatched Ann Arbor Pioneer, qualifying the Chiefs for their first-ever trip to the state semifinals. In fact, it's the first time since Coach Don Smith took over in '89 that they've gotten past the districts.

All of which had to get Smith excited, right? "No," he answered, only slightly tongue-in-cheek. "Heck, I haven't been able to sleep the last two weeks."

He could have headed home for a nap early in Saturday's match, played on a soggy Walled Lake Western field. Before 25 minutes had elapsed, the Chiefs had built a 3-0 advantage.

Jeff Flies scored the first two in what proved to be Canton's easiest game of the state tournament (proof again how ludicrous MHSAA officials were in their district setups, Headed for: Canton's Chad Dale wins this air ball with a header. Dale's play (he had two assists) helped the Chiefs prevail; now they're headed for the state semifinals.

Rematch

Salem, Canton to clash in semis

Third time 'round. On Friday, either Plymouth Canton or Plymouth Salem will be playing for the Western Lakes Activities Association girls basketball tournament title. That much was assured when both teams won their first-round games Thursday — Canton walloping Walled Lake Western 61-16 and Salem outlasting Livonia Stevenson 40-27.

Which sets up a showdown between Canton and Salem in one of the WLAA semifinals, 7 p.m. Tuesday at Canton. It marks the third time this season the two cross-creek rivals will meet; the Chiefs won the first, in the consolation round of the Farmington Hills Mercy Hoops Classic, and Salem won the second, a WLAA game played a week later.

The Rocks carry a 13-5 record into the game; Canton is 14-4. The other WLAA semifinal pits Walled Lake Central, the reigning league champion, against Northville.

"I know it's something that's been sitting there all season, waiting to happen," said Salem coach Fred Thomann of the upcoming Canton encounter. "Now we just got to go and make it happen."

"I know they've been scoring a lot of points lately."

Which offers Salem a direct challenge to the best part of its game: defense. "The defensive aspect is definitely the strength of our team," Thomann agreed.

Canton coach Bob Blohm wouldn't argue; he knows what's coming. "As always, it's going to be a tough ball game," Blohm said. "They're a tough defensive team and they're hard to score on. I think it's going to be one of those typical (Salem-vs.-Canton) games."

"The team that plays the best defense and rebounds the ball is going to win the game."

The Chiefs did both in their rout of Western (8-9) as they improved to 14-4 for the season. After surrendering 11 first-quarter points (while scoring 22), Canton completely shut down the Warriors: They scored just five more, managing only two in the second half.

"We got after 'em," said Blohm. "We played some pretty solid defense tonight, and I thought we rebounded the ball well. We limited them to one shot."

"Then all of a sudden we had a spurt of transition baskets and that opened up the game for us."

Three Chiefs reached double-figures in scoring: Kristi Fiorenzi with 16, Amicie Crayton with 12 and Becky Vachow with 10. Western had two with seven apiece — Stacey Neiryneck and Erin Vicary.

In Salem's game against Stevenson, the script was a bit different. The Rocks trailed 17-16 at the half, and only a six-point spurt in the final 1:30 of the third quarter gave them the lead (24-19) entering the fourth.

"We struggled for a long time," conceded Thomann.

They didn't in the fourth quarter. With Shellye Sills coming to life offensively, Salem put the Spartans away with a 16-8 run; Sills accounted for eight of those, bringing her game total to 11. She also had five rebounds. Amanda Abraham, who had nine points, six rebounds and three assists, contributed four fourth-quarter points.

Liz Erickson finished with eight points (including two three-pointers) and seven rebounds, and Kelly Lukasik had four assists and five steals.

Ocelots outscoored, ousted by top-ranked DuPage

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

The match Schoolcraft College's men's soccer team played against the College of DuPage was the kind fans love and coaches hate.

Unless you happen to be a Schoolcraft fan or a DuPage coach...

Two of the NJCAA's best teams tangled in this Inter-regional Tournament first-round matchup, and it proved to be an offensive show.

For the eighth-ranked Ocelots...

with seven of the state's best teams crammed into two districts. The first, and probably pivotal, goal of the game came directly off his corner kick five minutes into the game.

Fliass' corner was right on net. The Pioneer keeper, Eric Gilbertson, tried to punch the shot out...

"Certainly the first goal was a downer, because it came off a situation where the other team didn't really put it in, your own teammate put it in," said Pioneer coach Bill Browning.

Which is something all the Chiefs did throughout the match, utilizing their size in a dominant fashion.

"We tried to come out and play a control game, and a control game is hard to do in the rain and mud and snow and with their extra size and their heading ability," conceded Pioneer's Browning.

Let's not forget defense. The last time Canton surrendered three goals in a game was to Livonia Stevenson in both teams' regular-season finale.

With Canton's size, on a sloppy and slick field, it would have been very tough for a team like Pioneer to mount a comeback.

"Although we handled the ball pretty well on the ground. But I maintain we're stronger with the air balls."

Canton's final score defined Simeon Alleyne's style. Taking a pass from Robert Gumber, Alleyne jockeyed into position with a couple of quick moves and powered a shot into the goal with his head.

Outbattling: Canton's superior size, which Robert Gumber puts on display here, was one factor in Saturday's outcome.

Defense spurs Hawks in win over Chadsey

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Bad weather and a slick field had a disrupting effect on the Farmington Hills Harrison offense Saturday, but maybe it was just as well.

The poor playing conditions seemed to be an even greater negative for Detroit Chadsey and provided an assist for the Harrison defense.

The Hawks scored early while the getting was still good and held on for a 14-6 victory over the visiting Explorers in a first-round playoff game.

Defending Class A champ Harrison traveled to top-seeded South Lyon for the regional final at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Both teams are 9-1.

"The first playoff game always seems to be a tough one," Harrison coach John Herrington said. "A young quarterback's first time in the playoffs is always tough, but the defense held us in today."

The Hawks played with the advantage all the way after sophomore tailback Jason Granger sprinted 55 yards on the first play from scrimmage to give Harrison a quick lead.

It was the third time this year Granger has done that. In the first playoff game a year ago against Dearborn Edsel Ford, he ran for TDs on his first two carries.

"I thought it was a bad play, because we motioned to go off tackle and they had it all covered," Herrington said. "I don't know how we managed to score on it."

"Our line came off the ball real hard," said Granger, who finished with 133 yards on 14 rushes. "I broke two tackles in the secondary and then it was all speed."

Harrison had a 65-yard drive on its third possession to take a 14-0 lead midway in the second quarter.

Sophomore quarterback Kevin Barnhart passed 35 yards to Granger to the Chadsey 8 and, after being sacked, 21 yards to Kevin Bryant in the back corner of the end zone for the TD. Kyle Vessell kicked both extra points.

"I thought we should try running wide early and throwing early before it got back," Herrington said. "It wasn't that the ball was too wet to throw, but the quarterback couldn't get any footing."

Barnhart faced a good rush from a big, quick Chadsey defense and was sacked three times.

The Explorers (7-3) had the edge in total yards, 251-244, and tailback Anthony Hobbs rushed for 109 yards on 26 carries. But Chadsey also lost two of six fumbles, and quarterback Courtney Dinkins was intercepted twice.

problems, the Ocelots recovered well and nearly pulled it out. DuPage's Scott Graham opened the scoring in the 10th minute, netting a ball that deflected in off a couple of SC players.

The Ocelots started to regain momentum in the second half. It manifested itself on the score-board when McCarley netted his second goal in the 62nd minute, this one coming after a Padi Bazzi cross.

McCarley's score touched off a wild ending. Five minutes later, Bazzi beat the defender marking him after taking a pass from McHijazi and lined a shot into the net from 18 yards out, tying it at 3-3.

with seven of the state's best teams crammed into two districts. The first, and probably pivotal, goal of the game came directly off his corner kick five minutes into the game.

Fliass' corner was right on net. The Pioneer keeper, Eric Gilbertson, tried to punch the shot out...

"Certainly the first goal was a downer, because it came off a situation where the other team didn't really put it in, your own teammate put it in," said Pioneer coach Bill Browning.

Which is something all the Chiefs did throughout the match, utilizing their size in a dominant fashion.

"We tried to come out and play a control game, and a control game is hard to do in the rain and mud and snow and with their extra size and their heading ability," conceded Pioneer's Browning.

Let's not forget defense. The last time Canton surrendered three goals in a game was to Livonia Stevenson in both teams' regular-season finale.

With Canton's size, on a sloppy and slick field, it would have been very tough for a team like Pioneer to mount a comeback.

"Although we handled the ball pretty well on the ground. But I maintain we're stronger with the air balls."

Canton's final score defined Simeon Alleyne's style. Taking a pass from Robert Gumber, Alleyne jockeyed into position with a couple of quick moves and powered a shot into the goal with his head.

Outbattling: Canton's superior size, which Robert Gumber puts on display here, was one factor in Saturday's outcome.

Defense spurs Hawks in win over Chadsey

Bad weather and a slick field had a disrupting effect on the Farmington Hills Harrison offense Saturday, but maybe it was just as well.

The poor playing conditions seemed to be an even greater negative for Detroit Chadsey and provided an assist for the Harrison defense.

The Hawks scored early while the getting was still good and held on for a 14-6 victory over the visiting Explorers in a first-round playoff game.

Defending Class A champ Harrison traveled to top-seeded South Lyon for the regional final at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Both teams are 9-1.

"The first playoff game always seems to be a tough one," Harrison coach John Herrington said. "A young quarterback's first time in the playoffs is always tough, but the defense held us in today."

The Hawks played with the advantage all the way after sophomore tailback Jason Granger sprinted 55 yards on the first play from scrimmage to give Harrison a quick lead.

It was the third time this year Granger has done that. In the first playoff game a year ago against Dearborn Edsel Ford, he ran for TDs on his first two carries.

"I thought it was a bad play, because we motioned to go off tackle and they had it all cov-

Hennessy of Law & Order finds new colors for Kincaid

By John Crook

Jill Hennessy believes in the adage that luck occurs when preparation meets opportunity.

The Canadian-born, New York-trained actress has returned for her second year as Assistant District Attorney Claire Kincaid on Law & Order, NBC's critically acclaimed Wednesday drama series. This season Claire has a new partner, prickly Jack McCoy (Sam Waterston) — and story lines thrusting her far more prominently into the action.

"It's interesting," Hennessy says of her role. "My first perception (of Claire) was a young woman, Harvard grad, who basically got into law from a deeply moral standpoint, from a desire to do what's right, to put the bad guy away. The first script I read, she made a lot of mistakes because she wanted to do the right thing. And through the whole first season, she was learning the ropes. I saw her as very dignified, very strong, fighting against a few obstacles in the office."

"This year I see her as much more comfortable in that environment, as not only working from a very strong moral standpoint but also enjoying the process a little more."

In new episodes this season, viewers will find Claire far more prepared to challenge police detectives Lennie Briscoe (Jerry Orbach) and Mike Logan (Christopher Noth) when they come to her with a case she considers too flimsy to take seriously.

"That's what I love," says Hennessy. "It's so much more fun to be able to express that, instead of just standing there silently and raising an eyebrow and thinking, 'What the heck are you talking about?' It's nice to have that allowance this year."

This added complexity in her character strikes the actress as a welcome rainbow after the stormy weather of last spring, when series star Michael Moriarty, who played Ben Stone, abruptly quit the show, accusing the network and producers of caving in to Attorney General Janet Reno's mandate to reduce violence on television.

It was a traumatic period that Hennessy still finds painful to talk about.

"Since I was in most of my scenes with him, and I was in all of the script meetings with him, it happened, basically, right beside me," she recalls quietly. "From my perspective, it was a very sad thing to watch. I'm very disappointed things happened the way they did. But yeah, I was privy to most of the stuff that occurred."

"I don't know what was happening totally from (Michael's) perspective. I only know what I saw in the meetings and on set... In my opinion, I don't think anyone wanted to lose Michael. He had different thoughts on that, and he decided to leave."

The actress says she worried that the producers wouldn't be able to replace Moriarty, a perennial Emmy nominee for his work as Stone. She was ecstatic to learn Waterston had been signed as her new partner.

"For Jill as an actress, it's been so easy, because I don't have to act," she says animatedly. "(Sam) is so interactive, he is so present, and he's an incredibly giving actor, so all you have to do is just be there and listen, and the work just flows out of that. He's fun. His character enjoys the game of law, and Sam enjoys acting! When you're working with someone like that, it's not work. It's just playing. You should see us between takes. It's crazy, it gets pretty weird. He's a lot of fun."

"And with Claire, it's interesting, because coming from Ben Stone, who was much more... concerned about the moral aspects of the case, as opposed to (McCoy), who likes playing the game. I think Claire is in between those two mindsets. Now Claire feels the freedom to express herself, and to maybe try playing the game for once. It's a nice bit of freedom for Claire, I think."

Hennessy says she is resigned to the fact that Law & Order isn't destined to pull Home Improvement-size ratings.

"Sure, I would love it to be No. 1, to be fully appreciated by, boy, everybody in this hemisphere," she admits. "I don't know if it's necessarily for everybody. If you're not into following a very intricate story line, or something that's heavy at 10 o'clock on a Wednesday night, you're not going to be into Law & Order... You know, I guess I do find that frustrating!"

Boitano joins others in skating extravaganza

BY AMY HIBBERT

Eight Olympic medalist winners take to the ice in a competition of skill, talent and strength. On Wednesday, Nov. 9, and Saturday, Nov. 12, Ice Wars: The U.S.A. vs. The World will feature some of the most talented figure skaters ever.

The World team led by 1994 Olympic gold medalist Oksana Baiul will compete against the U.S. team led by 1994 Olympic silver medalist Nancy Kerrigan.

Brian Boitano, 1988 Olympic gold medalist and two-time world champion, is one of the competitors on the U.S. team.

"I like the team idea, because it's not you against another person," Boitano says. "It's your team."

Boitano and Kerrigan are joined by 1992 Olympic gold medalist Kristi Yamaguchi and Paul Wylie, the 1992 Olympic silver medalist.

Baiul teams with Viktor Petrenko,

Annie Potts stars as gourmet chef Dana Palladino in Love & War, Mondays on CBS.

the 1992 Olympic gold medalist, Katarina Witt, the 1984 and 1988 Olympic gold medalist, and four-time world champion Kurt Browning.

Boitano is excited about this new concept. "I think the good thing is that in a team atmosphere you're used to competing against these people head to head, and in this situation, you're a fellow team member."

The skater's scores will be combined to determine a winning team.

SOAP WORLD

Soap couples big news on and off screen

BY CANDACE HAVENS

Fiona Hutchison (Jenna, Guiding Light) and her long-time beau, John Viscardi (ex-Father Tony, One Life to Live), were married at the Grand Canyon on Sept. 16.

Hutchison and Viscardi have been together since they met while working on OLTL several years ago.

Brenda Epperson, who plays Ashley on The Young and the Restless, announced she and her husband, Lorenzo Doumani, are expecting their first child in March.

The actress says she and Doumani were surprised at how quickly she became pregnant.

"We had decided it was time to have a baby, but we thought it would take awhile. Boy, were we surprised. But happily," Epperson says.

It's not known whether Epperson's pregnancy will be written into her story line. Ashley was recently wed to Blake (Michael Tylo) and they are having trouble. It would seem appropriate for a soap opera story line if Ashley were to discover she is pregnant after finding out she can no longer trust her husband.

One of Epperson's castmates, Tricia Cast (Nina), has split from Jack Allocco, her husband of five years. Allocco is a composer for The Bold and the Beautiful. The couple cited irreconcilable differences.

In other news: The wedding of the century is to take place on OLTL this week. Alex (Tonja Walker) and Asa (Philip Carey) are set to tie the knot in Central Park.

Alex will make a grand entrance dressed in full Egyptian garb as Cleopatra and will arrive on a barge that is paddled by servants. But don't expect things to go too smoothly for this couple. Two of Alex's henchmen, Buck (Christopher Murney) and Bulge (Burke Moses), have other ideas for her.

The Buchanan men, Asa, Clint (Clint Ritchie), Bo (Robert S. Woods) and Cord (John Loprieno), are forced to ride through Central Park on horseback to save Asa's damsel in distress. Of course Asa's sons and grandson hope they never find Alex at all.
